the Anglo-Russian Agreement.

Considers It Preventive of a Possible Collision.

Bicycle Funeral at Folkestone-Baron Russell and Ambassador Choate Banqueted.

London, May 2.- The Marquis of Salisbury and Mr. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury and government leader, announced in the House of Lords and in the House of Commons respectively the general drift of the Anglo-Russian agreement regarding the spheres of influence of the governments of Great Britain and Russia in China, as they have already been made known. Lord years. Salisbury said that he hoped that Russia would consent to the publication of the text of the agreement when it arrived in a few days. His lordship emphasized his anxiety not to appear to attach exaggerated importance to the specific stipulations of the agreement, adding: "But, of course, I attach very much importance to the signing of this agreement, because it is a sign of the good feeling so desirable between the governments of Russia and England. PREVENTIVE OF A COLLISION. His lordship further expressed the hope that the good feelings thus illustrated would extend to the peoples of the two nations. This agreement, he $2,600 For modern two-story brick residence, Wellington street, near Victoria possibility of a collision between the possibility of a collision between the two governments in China, "and, therefore," he said, "it is a guarantee of the future agreement for a long time to come. I trust that it will lead to future agreements on other matters."

CHINA TO REMAIN INTACT. The Anglo-Russian agreement with reference to spheres of influence in China is not in the form of a conven-tion, but is set forth in a note, duplicates of which have been exchanged between the Russian minister for foreign affairs and the British ambassador to Russia. The preamble states that both countries agree to uphold the integrity and independence of the Chi-

AS SEEN IN BERLIN.

It is the belief in political circles in Berlin that, now that England has relinquished the open door policy in China and given her adherence to the sphere of influence there, Germany must follow suit. The Tageblatt says: "The first consequence of the Anglo-Russian agreement must be that Germany, too, must declare the Hoang Ho Valley to be her sphere. It would be a farherself to the province of Shang Tung." CHARACTERISTIC CONSERVATIVE SUGGESTION.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Douglass Harry Coghill (Conservative) asked the ministry if the foreign office had instructed the representative of Great Britain at Washington to make representations to the government of the United States as to the great injury caused to various branches of British trade by the existing American tariff, and to urge the advisability of withdrawing a tariff so unfavorable to Great Britain. In reply, Right Hon. William St. John Broderick said that it was not usual to make representations to a foreign power upon its tariff policy, except in connection with some specific negotiations. The government did not consider instructions such as the member suggested would be likely to result to the benefit of British commerce.

NO AGREEMENT WITH RHODES. London, May 2.-In the House of ommons, the Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach announced that the government had failed to come to an agreement with Mr. Cecil Rhodes respecting the proposed guarantee to the Cape-to-

Cairo Railway. The announcement was greeted with cheers by the Radical members of the house.

BICYCLE FUNERAL. A bicycle funeral took place in Folkestone yesterday. The undertaker carried the coffin, containing a baby, strapped to the handlebars of his wheel. The mourners followed on bicycles.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION.

United States Ambassador Choate and Baron Russell of Killowen were the principal guests at the banquet of the Hardwicke Society. Lord Russell, Bar," devoted his speech to the merits and demerits of the American judicial system, remarking that he had always wondered "how the bad system of choosing judges should have produced such a long line of distinguished men." He paid a high tribute to the United States supreme court, and coupled the toast with the name of Mr Choate, whom he characterized as "the latest of the notable men, mainly lawyers, the United States have sent us, who have striven worthily and successfully to maintain the high traditions of their nation."

Mr Choate, whose reply was in a humorous vein, after observing that the Americans had followed the example of the English, and made themselves at home in several new portions of the said that justice was administered in the United States to the satisfaction of the people, while litigation was much cheaper there than in England, and people who had grievances were, therefore, encouraged to seek their remedies in the courts. On both sides of the Atlantic, he remarked, lawyers seemed to be inspired with the same sentiments

Aguinaldo's Agents Again Visit the American Camp

Under a Fiag of Trucs-They Renew Their Plea for a Cessation of Hostilities-Probable Fate of Captain

New York, May 2.-A Manila dispatch to the Evening World says, "The insurgent peace commission, which left Manila on Saturday with Gen. Otis' ultimatum that he would accept nothing from the rebels but unconditional surrender, has returned with new propositions for a cessation of hostilities. The same two agents of Aguinaldo came into camp again under a flag of truce, and renewed their plea for a cessation of hostili-ties pending a final settlement. AN INDIAN SHOT

Outcome of the St. Regis Roservation Tribal Troubles

Cornwall, Ont., May 2.-Jake Ice, a St. Regis warrior, was shot and instantly killed at St. Regis by a government police officer, Col. Sherwood, yesterday. Four chiefs were arrested. The cause of the trouble was the objection of the St. Regis band to submit to the Indian act and allow an election of chiefs to be held. It appears that the Indians broke open the door of the agency at St. Regis, and in attempting to rescue their companions, who were in custody,, and refused to withdraw. Things looked so desperate that the chief decided to fire his revolver. The shot took effect in the arm of the ringleader, Jake Ice, but did not stop him. The chief fired again and killed him instantly. The other Indians then withdrew. These were the only shots fired. No one else was in-Mr. Sherwood gave himself up and is awaiting the decision of the coroner's

AT NAPANEE!

The Bank Robbers, Pare and Holden, Escape.

Unlocked Doors With Skeleton Keys and Dug Through the Brick Walls

-Pare Was the Artist. [Special to The Advertiser, per G.N.W.] Napanee, Ont., May 2.-This morning at 6:30, when Turnkey Clark made his rounds of the cells he discovered the corridor open leading to Bank Robber Edward Pare's cell, and upon further investigation discovered that both Pare and his companion in crime, W. H. Holden, had escaped during the night. Everything has the appearance of Pare having done the job.

THREE SKELETON KEYS

were found in an old coat in his cell. The doors of his own and Holden's cells were both unlocked, and the locks so tampered with that they cannot be worked. The brick wall between Pare's cent and the adjoining one had been dug through from Pare's side, the bricks being piled under Pare's coat. It would appear that Pare had previously unlocked the adjoining cell from the corridor while confined there during the daytime. When Pare reached the corridor he wrenched a piece of iron bar about 15 inches long from the steam heating fixture. PARE RELEASED HIS PAL. After accomplishing this he entered the corridor leading to a hall in the back of the jail, and proceeded upstairs to the eastern corridor, where his chum Holden was confined. He unlocked this corridor door, getting access to Holden's cell, which he unlocked at once. Then the two safe-robbers proceeded to the door leading to the jailyard. The lock of this door Pare evidently could not pick, as he had PRIED IT APART with the iron secured from the steam heater. When once in the yard, the men's work was about completed, as all they had to do was to pile up a lot of cordwood to within five feet of the wall top, which is about 20 feet high. Then they went back to their cells and tied their woolen blankets together, fastening one end with a large cordwood stick and throwing the end to which a stone was attached over the wall. WHEN LAST SEEN. No idea can be formed as the time of their escape. The last seen of them was when the turnkey visited the cells at 7 o'clock last night. The county had become economical and dispensed with the services of the night watchman, although one had been retained to watch in the day time. The news of the men's escape caused about much excitement in town as did the bank robbery itself.

Busy Men Have Brain-Fag

So rapidly do the brain cells of a busy man waste away that about one-fifth of the blood of the human body goes to the brain to build up the wasted tissue. When the blood becomes thin, weak, and watery, as it usually does in spring, the brain and nerve cells are starved for want of proper nourishment and there follows brain-fag, headache, nervous dyspepsia, incapacity for brain work, failing memory, fear to venture, sleeplessness, irritability and despondency, and at last paralysis, nervous prostration,

There have been many farcical council meetings held at the city hall recently, but last night's was the biggest farce of them all. One instance is sufficient to indicate the manner in which the nineteen "fathers" of the city dispatch municipal business. To appoint a caretaker at Queen's Park, with a salary of $450 a year, engaged the undivided attention of the entire council for one solid hour. No wonder that the moved in amendment that an appromeeting was not adjourned until 12:30. The most important work done was the adoption of Ald. Douglass' motion to lay only cement walks and fix the percentage to be paid for them by the rate-payer and by the city in ten-year debentures. When the bylaw is brought in the percentages may be placed at 50 to 50, 40 to 60, or 60 to 40. A motion by Ald. O'Meara to reduce the number of wards to four was all but adopted. It lacked one vote only. All the members

PERMANENT WALKS. Ald. Douglass presented the report of the board of works, which included a clause reaffirming the board's indorsation of Ald. Jolly's motion re the construction of permanent sidewalks, and priation be made in the estimates for laying plank walks, but instead that the council agree to pay 50 per cent of the total cost of all permanent walks, in accordance with the act recently passed by the Ontario Legislature. Ald.

Pritchard seconded.
Ald. Jolly objected, on the ground that Ald. Douglass' resolution was not an amendment to his motion, but required notice.

While dissatisfied with the ruling, Ald. Jolly proceeded to advocate the adoption of his own motion in preference to that of Ald. Douglass. Ninety-nine out of every hundred persons he had spoken to were pleased with his scheme. he said. He produced eight petitions, sufficiently signed, and had others, which just lacked a signature or two. Altogether they represented petitions for 17 blocks in No. 2 ward, and he was satisfied he could make the total to 25 before the next council meeting.

Ald. Rumball pointed out that the walks would cost just the same to put down under either system. The question was simply as to the way of paying for them. He was opposed to Ald. Jolly's motion, because under it the ratepayers with small frontages and large assessments would get a larger rebate than their walks would cost. He preferred Ald. Douglass' system, because it provided for doing away with plank walks altogether, and was far more equitable for the ratepayers with the large frontages on the outskirts of the city. It was also a simpler system than Ald. Jolly's. Ald. Jolly, in answer to the last statement, said it would not make a day's difference in office work to carry out his system. Ald. Winnett raised the question of legality. Ald. Rumball replied that in Hamilton it was claimed that the scheme was legal. The council there had adopted grant the petition on hearing Ald. it, and were going to carry it out. However, it would not be legal to put down a permanent walk if there were a contra petition sufficiently signed.

City Auditor Jewell had been in Hamilton during the day with Ald. Rumball, and explained to the council the details of the scheme. Ald. Jolly's scheme was very good, but the Hamilton scheme was much better. The result under it, in ten years, would be astonishing. It would mean a wonderful improvement in the city, and would not be a burden on the ratepayer. During the next ten years 115 miles of permanent walks could be laid, and the cost out of the general rate would not be more at any time than 1½ mills. Of course, repairs to plank walks would be a big item at first.

Ald. Parnell strongly supported Ald. Douglass' amendment. Ald. McCallum moved to refer the matter to No. 2 committee. Ald. Drea-Ald. Jolly supported this. His own motion had been danced back to No.

2 committee for three months, and this new scheme needed as much, if not a little more consideration, he said. Ald. McCallum's motion was lost. Ald. O'Meara said the council could not get over putting down some new plank walks. He was informed that the council would be bound by their present action for a year only. The Hamilton scheme was adopted on the following vote: Yeas—Ald. Rumball, Pritchard, Douglass, O'Meara, Carrothers, Reed, Winnett, Graham, Mailoch, Garratt, Plant, Wilkey, Parnell and Greenlees—14. Nays—Ald. McPhillips, Jolly, Dreaney, McCallum—4.

The hespital committee's report excited a lot of dispussion. It recommittee cited a lot of discussion. It recommended payment for three extras, costing $234. Chairman Jolly would not move the adoption of any of the clauses. The architect, he said, was working in favor of the contractors, instead of the city. Ald. WANTED FOUR WARDS ONLY.

Ald. O'Meara moved the wards in the city be reduced to four, and that Dundas and Wellington streets be the dividing lines. Ald. Douglass seconded. It would reduce the number of aldermen and the number of committees, said Ald. O'Meara. They had seven committees now, which was a great bill of expense. He could not conceive of any alderman who did his duty being afraid to seek re-election in a large territory.

Ald. Rumball moved in amendment to take steps to do away with wards altogether and reduce the number of aldermen to twelve. It was the ward system made the assessment of the street railway on a scrap iron basis

Plant believed that were the question of abolition of the wards submitted to the people at the were the question of abolition of the wards submitted to the people at the next election it would be carried by an overwhelming majority. However, with the present legislation it was not possible. He favored Ald. The motion was ineffective without a two-thirds vote. The mayor was a silent spectator. He had exchanged places with Ald. Jolly, and although urged to vote would not do so.

Ald. McPhillips gave notice of motion to discontinue the annual grant to the police benefit fund, also notice to exact $1,000 from the Bell Telephone Company for the privilege of opening up city streets.

Paine's Celery Compound Is World's Great Health Restoring Agent.

It matters not whether your trouble be rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, dyspepsia, nervous prostration or some nasty blood disease, Paine's Celery Compound possesses virtues sufficient to meet your case and overcome your sufferings.

Diseases of any kind that have mani-fested themselves in the winter, and have fastened their deadly grip in the spring months, are terribly perilous to life, if allowed to run into the heat of summer. This is the time to grapple with disease, and Paine's Celery Com-pound is the only sure friend and helper of the sick.

The work of disease-banishing and health-restoring already accomplished this spring in Canada by Paine's Celery Compound is marvelous and astonishing, judging from the many letters received from cured people, supported by the indorgation of leading druggists and merchants to whom the cured people are known. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can honestly claim public recognition. Its work is neverfailing and sure. It first cleanses the blood, causing the life stream to run pure in every artery and vein of the body. It quickly restores lost strength; it gives perfect digestive vigor, sweet sleep and lasting strength.

Washington, May 2.-Captain Abercrombie, who is conducting the expedi-tion exploring the Copper River route to the Yukon country, says: "A hospital has been organized for the care of destitute miners. While the conditions are distressing, so far as the destitute are concerned, the worst is over."

F. C. Goodwin, of Oakland, Cal., whose legs are black with scurvy and whose knees are bruised by contact with the ice, tells an interesting story of his experiences. While camped in the interior, has partner, Wesley Scheidecker, of Grand Ridge, Ill., fell sick with scurvy, and soon became unable to travel. Goodwin strapped him on a sled and started to the coast. After four days of terrible struggles he reached the Chitna River, but his partner was frozen stiff. Continuing, his journey alone, he found Dixon Hutton, of Memphis, Tenn, and T. B. Cooper pitched six innings, and the only hit got off him was a terrific liner to second, which was too hot for Mohler to hold. Seivers was touched for a triple and a single in the eighth, and gave one base on balls in the same inning. McConnell is a very good backstop. He works the pitcher for all he's worth, and throws splendidly. McFadden, London's firstbaseman, handles himself beautifully, and seems able to take care of everything coming his way. Auburn Was Much Too Easy a chance to show what he could do. Cope, on third, did very creditable work, and looks like a favorite. Jones, in the right pasture, covered a wonderful amount of ground and made a brilliant running catch in the ninth that won bouquets from the bleachers. Frank, the utility man, replaced Bab-bitt at short, when the latter sprained his ankle running to first, in the fourth inning. Frank made the longest drive of the game. Carey covered the left field in good style, managing, however, to drop a long fly. Carey made one of his long drives, which was greeted with enthusiasm, as a reminder of last year's work; but fleet as he is the ball was fielded so cleverly by Hennecke that Carey went out at third by a hair's breadth. Howels is very fast, and evidently can take good care of the middle pasture. Cowen, of Point Edward, replaced Carey in the last half, just to show what he could do. He made a clever catch, and looks like a ball player. Cooper made a very neat bunt, which counted him a single. Neither Frank nor Babbitt, the shortstops, had an assist or put

True Comfort for the Aged and Others afflicted with Costiveness and Paralysis of the Eowels.

One to three of Radway's Pill, once in twenty-four hours, will secure regular evacuations from the bowels. Persons who, for 20 years, have not enjoyed a natural stool, and have been compelled to use injections, have been cured by a few doses of Radway's Pills.

Persons advanced in life often suffer from indigestion, and from paralysis or inability to evacuate from the bowels; likewise from urinal difficulty. We have the evidence of a large number of aged persons, from 70 to 80 years of age, who have been cured of this defect (who were compelled to resort to injections to empty their bowels) by the use of Radway's Pills. Two or three pills every night, in all cases insure a natural evacuation from the bowels and a regular flow of urine. In cases where there is Irration of the Bladder, the Resolvent should be used alternately with the pills. If these organs are kept regular, life may be extended to a much longer period. By keeping the Liver, Stomach. Bowels and Kidneys in a healthy condition, the blood will continue pure and dissolution checked. This great desideratum is within the reach of all by the use of Radway's Pills and Resolvent. Drastic Aloetic Pills, in persons of advanced age, hasten dissolution; irritates and wears out the bowels and coats of the stomach, destroys the absorbents, so that these vessels are incapable of assisting in the repair of the body's waste. If Radway's Pills and Resolvent are used by the aged, life will be prolonged to the full measure of time. Another great end is secured by nourishing the body with these remedies—the faculties will remain in a healthy condition. A weak, feeble and decaying body enfeebles the intellect and clouds the brain.

Mr. Frost on Transportation.

One of the most practical and instructive speeches during the recent debate in the House of Commons was that delivered by Mr. F. , Frost, the member for Leeds and Grenville. Mr. Frost is the well-known manufacturer of agricultural implements, and his views are those of a far-seeing and successful business man, with unbounded confidence in the future of the country. He addressed himself chiefly to the transportation question, which he is well qualified by experience to discuss. It is one of the most important and immediate problems which Canadian statesmen must solve, and Mr. Frost conveys in a clear and concise manner a great deal of information concerning It, which every Canadian should know.

Mr. Frost in opening pointed out that a very large portion of our products were sent to the market through the United States, and we were building up the seaports and cities of that country. The present Government at once set to work to remedy this unfortunate condition of affairs. The first thing to be done was the deepening of the canals. The Government found that vessels going through the lower part of our canal system were only able to draw mine feet of water, and to carry 25,000 bushels of wheat, while larger steamers running from Duluth and Fort William could discharge their cargoes of 100,000 bushels, and in some cases 200,-800 bushels, at Buffalo, where a great city has grown up, and where there are 57 elevators ready to receive the grain and to tranship it immediately to barges through the Erie Canal down to New York. Consequently only onetenth of all the traffic from the Canadian Northwest went through Montreal. The Government immediately commenced the deepening of the Canadian canals, and on this work some four or five million dollars has been spent. "Will any honorable gentleman in the Opposition stand up here and say that it is not a wise expenditure?" asked Mr. Frost.

The speaker avowed that as a result of this we shall be sending down vessels containing 100,000 bushels of wheat next fall. This will reduce the cost to the consumer and will be the means of adding to the price of grain, not only in the Northwest but all over Canada. It will also be the means of securing an additional traffic from the Northwestern States which, all things being equal, will go by the way of the St. Lawrence as the natural route to the sea. While we had excellent products, the best of every kind, our farmers were not getting full value for these er facilities for getting them to the best markets. The Government took this matter up in a business-like way, and we had before us today, compared with three years ago, almost a transformation scene. In the west, as a result of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, the farmers of Alberta have been geting from 15 to 20 cents a pound for their butter. Through the energy of the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Sydney Fisher, in establishing and reopening creameries in that section of the country, the farmers have been making large amounts of money, and large numbers of Northwest cattle have been going to the Kootenay mining section, in British Columbia. Again, the Intercolonial has been, through the energy of the Honorable Minister of Railways and Canals, Mr. Blair, lifted out of the rut into which it had got, and is now placed on a paying basis. The traffic is increasing rapidly, and the competition to benefiting the farmers of Canada.

The antiquated condition of the Montreal harbor had also claimed the attention of the Government, and in this connection Mr. Frost paid an eloquent tribute to the zeal and energy of Hon. Mr. Tarte. The people of Ontario had entire confidence in the Minister of Public Works. He was a man of pluck, a man of energy, a man of honesty, a man of truth and a man of chility. When he had anything to say before this Government came into power, he said it, and he proved that he was right. Reverting to the Montreal harbor question, Mr. Frost said:

"The harbor of Montreal is, after all. the great heart of the commercial interests of Canada. As every business man knows, the city of Montreal should have the very best equipment possible for the transhipment of the products of this country into oceangoing steamers. That harbor is present antiquated. The harbor of Portland has had $12,000,000 or $15,000,-000 spent upon it; the harbor of New York has had $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 spent upon it; the harbor of Boston has had $20,000,000 spent upon it. These ports consequently are so fitted out to-day that they take the products of the United States and Canada as well at one-half the price that is charged at the port of Montreal, and until that is rectified, all that the Government may do for the transportation of the products of the farm at Montreal will be

The speaker dilated on the immense traffic that would result from the settlement of the Northwest. Thousands of immigrants were coming to this country, including many from Michigan and the Northern States. Everywhere in the United States there are inquiries about Canada. In the last three years our development had been marvelous. The foreign trade had increased $104,000,000, and domestic trade had almost doubled. Throughout the land every manufacturing and mercantile establishment was busy. The exodus had ceased. Prosperity was everywhere apparent, and it was the duty of the Government to leave nocontinuous and permanent by pro- duces as many Finns

"I have a few figures here to submit with regard to freight rates. I find that the freight rates over the railways to Fort William are the same, but down to Buffalo the rate is three and one-eighth cents, including eleva-tor charges. Vessels carrying 25,000 bushels of grain, going down to Mon-treal through our canals, have to pay from six to seven cents per bushel, but from six to seven cents per bushel, but if we have the canals deepened to four-teen feet, then vessels carrying 100,000 bushels of grain through to Montreal will do so at the same price as to Chicago or Buffalo or New York, and probably just a little cheaper. Will not that be a great benefit to the farmers of Canada? Will that not give them fully two or three cents a bushel more for their wheat? In the Province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories; which export 30,000,west Territories; which export 30,000,-000 to $5,000,000 bushels of wheat, that would mean practically $1,000,000 more in the pockets of the farmers. that not take away their grievances and their continual cry against heavy freight charges? Will not $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 put into the farmers' pockets instead of going into transportation and dock charges in Montreal be a benefit to the country and justify all the expenditure now being made by the Government in deepening these canals and putting this country in a position to ship cheaply our products at the very lowest possible expense?"

The supplementary advantages of the proposed Atlantic fast line and Pacific of the permanent walks, so as to leave cable was also pointed out. Mr. Frost them high and dry after every rainwarmly praised the work of Hon. Mr. Mulock, and affirmed that penny postage was an aid to every business man in the country. "Personally I can say, speaking for our own company, that a very few days after the penny postage came into use, our firm took the amount that we would save and increased the wages of our workmen ten per cent."

This announcement by Mr. Frost was received with cheers in the House. eliminating torpedoes, submarine boats, The speaker deplored the fact that the Americans had been permitted to capture the greater part of the Klondike trade, because of the Senate's action in throwing out the Yukon Railway bill. Mr. Frost denied the allegation that the Government had broken pledges, and twitted Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster, and other members of the Opposition with the non-fulfillment of many of their own promises. The Government had made a grand record in the three years of its existence. Mr. Frost concluded:

"I say that we have never before had a Government in Canada that can appeal to this country with greater confidence than the present Govern-ment; and if we are today a prosperous, a contented and a happy people, I say that we owe it largely, in addition to what Providence has done for us in bringing about the great change which has taken place, to the ability and to the energy of the present Government of Canada."

The Truce of the Bear.

The Anglo-Russian treaty just concluded may prove to be momentous and far-reaching in its effects for viding Northern Africa between them. If reports be true, Russia and Great Britain have adjusted their differences by the same process in China-not by an actual partition, but by an understanding that when the time of China's dismemberment comes-as it apparently must-each power will concede the other a definite sphere of influence. Russia is to be paramount in Manchuria, the great northern province, which already swarms with Russian troops, and is pierced with Russian railways. To all intents and purposes, Manchuria is now an integral part of the Czar's empire. Great Britain's sphere of influence is, of course, the Yang Tse Kiang Valley, the richest part of China, comprising nine vast provinces, with an aggregate population of 200,000,000. Within this zone are the most fertile areas and the greatest mineral deposits in the kingdom.

The treaty is probably as much triumph for British gold as for British diplomacy. Russia must have British capital for the financing of her great internal enterprises. This was the confession of M. de Witte, the Russian Finance Minister, in a secret memorandum to the Czar, a copy of which mystertously reached the London Times. Russia's accumulations of gold for years past have been largely employed in establishing her currency on a sound gold basis. She has also been put to a severe strain by the trans-Siberian Railway, so that she has no surplus capital for the sorely-needed development of her natural resources. She is even unable to cope with the famine and pestilence which periodically sweep over the peasant population. Russia must have money, and Britain has the money bags. But British distrust of Russian political designs has not conduced to Russia's borrowing powers in the British money market. The Czar's advisers realize that to obtain British gold they must first obtain British goodwill. This was probably the inspiration of the present treaty. The Chinese embroglio at one time threatened to drag the two nations into war, but the cloud is now happily lifted. It has long been the belief of many British statesmen that if Russia and Great Britain could reconcile their respective ambitions in Asia, it would be the best guarantee of the world's France, it is reported is sorely aggrieved by the new treaty. She had looked for large extensions of French influence in China through co-operation with her powerful ally, but she should know by this time that the Franco-Russian alliance is merely a thing of ink, not blood.

The Council Meeting.

The City Council last night approved

one reform and rejected another. The proposal to reduce the number of wards to four had two features to reunder the present arrangement. The population now varies from 4,000 in the smallest ward to 9,000 in the largest. This is not so important as the prospect that a reduction of the wards would modify the evils of the ward system, though we should prefer to see the system abolished altogether. It is hard to understand why the mayor, who prefers to deplore the ward-grabbing spirit, should have shirked the vote on this question.

The Council did a good stroke by proscribing the unsightly plank walk. The effect will be a reduction of this year's tax rate by at least one mill. It comes at a convenient time to cover up the financial shortcomings of last year's Council, and to save the present Council from the wrath of the taxpayers, which would follow an exorbitant rate. The new system should result in the beautifying of the city, but care should be taken in the construction

Gold is "the sinews of war" without a doubt. That is why Russia doesn't care to fight. The spirit is willing but the sinews are weak-

Among other things the Czar's disarmament conference at The Hague this month will consider the possibility of minimizing the horrors of war by dynamite, etc. Embalmed beef might come under this heading, too.

Within the last four months Great Britain has concluded written treaties with Germany, France and Russia over the division of territory. Uncle Sam should hurry up if he wishes any of the remainder of the earth. Or has he too much on his hands now?

President Kruger has been boasting that the Transvaal is the greatest gold-producing country in the world. He should thank the Uitlanders for that. The Transvaal would have remained a cow pasture if the sleepy old Boers had had their way.

Canada is not greatly concerned over the proposed increase of the British duties on wines. Our wine exports are practically nil; but the imports of Australian wines into Great Britain last year were 710,863 gallons, compared with 56,000 gallons in 1884. The trade has grown steadily.

> Mr. McInnes, M.P., has a bill before the House at Ottawa providing that Asiatics must be able to read and write English before being admitted to Canada. The bill is too sweeping altogether. If Japan were to require all foreigners to read and write Japanese before entering that country, how many would ever get in?

The Roman Catholics of London have reason to rejoice over the marked reduction of the debt on St. Peter's Cathedral. Before long they should be able to undertake the erection of the steeples. The Protestant community feel a local pride in the magnificent edifice, and would share the pleasure of their Catholic fellow-citizens in seeing It finished and crowned.

The enthusiasm which Primrose Day still inspires in England cannot be attributed to the personality of Disraeli. His reputation has greatly suffered since his death. The world knows him to have been a brilliant charlatan-an opportunist without a conscience. He was not an Englishman by blood or by mental constitution. Then why is Primrose Day celebrated so heartily? The explanation seems to be that Disraeli represents in the popular mind the imperial, not to say the jingoistic, idea. The success and audacity of his foreign policy contrasted with the less showy and less daring diplomacy of today, tend to exalt him in the imagination of a certain class. It is the sentiment and not the man that is worshipped.

MR. RATZ ON THE OIL DUTY

The Member for North Middlesex Op poses the Motion for Free Oil-It Would Oripple the Canadian In-

Ottawa, May 1 .- During the debate upon the proposal to put coal oil upon the free list, Mr. Ratz (North Middlesex) spoke strongly against the motion, Mr. Ratz's remarks were as follows: Mr. Speaker, while I do not claim myself to be an ardent protectionist, I must confess that I am in favor of the principle that our own people should as far as possible produce whatever may be required in Canada, so long as they do so at a fair living profit. It is a well-known fact to anyone who is at all acquainted with the oil business, that if oil is placed on the free list it will cripple the Canadian oil produc-ing industry. As has been stated, crude oil is now reduced to $1 40 per barrel, and it is well known that in the oil districts there are a large number of wells which produce as low as half a barrel per day, and some even less than that. Now, as crude oil is worth only ing the colors produced by the best Eu140 per barrel, such a well would ropean professional dyers.

her of wells in operation, which are worked at the one pumping establishment, they could not be worked at all. It is a very well-known fact that at the present time there is no money in producing oil. If my'honorable friend from Saskatchewan (Mr. Davis) could show that he can in any way get at the refiners without crippling the producers I would very heartily support him. But the party he is after is not the party he would catch by such a resolution as the one now before the house. Suppose, for instance, the industry were closed off altogether, we know the Standard Oil Company have got the United States by the throat, and have control of the oil industry there. If, as I say, the Sarnia refinery was closed tomorrow, there is no other refinery in Canada could start up to compete with them. The Standard Oil people would simply send in their oil here from the other side, and place it on the Canadian market at their own price, so that nothing whatever would be gained by the passage of such a res-olution as this. We would simply be burning American instead of Canadian oil, and there is no guarantee that we would get American oil at a reduced At the present time we have thousands of workmen employed in the Canadian oil industry; and that indus-try would be closed if oil were placed on the free list. Even if the price of coal oil is a cent or so a gallon higher in the Northwest Territories or in the Maritime Provinces in consequence of the duty, we cannot frame a tariff that will suit every corner of the Dominion; we must frame it to be in the general interest of the Dominion as a whole. Mining of oil is different altogether from mining for anything else. You simply drill your hole, and if you smallest 154.

are fortunate enough to make a strike. well and good; but if you are not so fortunate, you will simply have a hole which is not worth a five-cent piece. I know a company which spent several thousand dollars in prospecting in my riding. I sank several holes, but not one of them proved to be of any value whatever. There may often be indi-cations of oil where it is not found in paying quantities. Even in the oil re-gion of Lambton and Essex a large amount of money has been spent in sinking wells which have proved to be dry. Pinkering with the tariff on oil would simply cripple the whole oil industry. If it were certain that the tariff would not be interfered with, prospecting for oil would go on to a greater extent than it does, but the uncertainty of the tariff keeps people back As has been stated by the honorable member for East Lambton (Mr. Fraser), coal oil can be bought wholesale at the present time at 81/4 cents a gallon, which, I think, is a very reasonable price. Of course, if, as the honorable member for Saskatchewan (Mr. Davis) says, freight rates are so enormous, the reduction of the duty would not in any way affect them. I do not think we should do anything to cripple the oil industry when we are not sure that it would result in giving us cheaper oil. I think it would be a great mistake to place coal oil on the free list.

There is no part of the world which has such a black record for wrecks as the narrow Baltic Sea. The number in some years has averaged more than one a day, the greatest number of wrecks recorded in one year being 425, and the Local Market.

Today's market was the smallest for some time, offerings being light in all lines. The farmers are busy in all sections seeding and plowing, and cannot get away Green stuffs were not very plentiful and were soon disposed of. Rhu-barb sold at 30c to 35c per dozen bunches, and for the single bunch 5c, of 3 for 19c. Lettuce sold readily at 29c a dozen bunches, or 3 single bunches for 10c. Asparagus was selling for 80c a dozen bunches on Saturday, but today had dropped to 25c and 30c. A few radishes were offered and sold at 40c a dozen bunches or 5c a single bunch. Green onions went a 5e a bunch, or 30c a dozen bunches. Potatoes (cooking) were offered at 85c for a single bag, and went at 75c then large quantities were purchased.

Few plants were offered. Toma-toes were selling at $2 per dozen boxes, or between 20c and 25c per single box. Sales on the hay market were very slow, and offerings light; prices ranged from $8 to $9 30, according to qual-

Eggs sold at 10c to 11c in large lots, and at 12c to 13c in single dozens. Butter in single pound rolls ranged from 13c to 14c. Little poultry was offered, and the same with meats. Prices were about the same.

A couple of loads of greenhouse flowers were offered and sold readily. No apples were offered. Little or no grain of any kind was offered.

The American "rush" habit is largely responsible for the evanescence of American female beauty. Ignorance of the laws of health, and carelessness bear the rest of the burden. Nine-tenths are in the tion, which produces sallowness, freckles, moth patches and that acweariness which sometimes exhaustion, OR DISEASE. yet they will not take attend to their health. Their motto is, "By and by." Some are slaves to household work—their carpets and the washtub are killing them. Others are slaves to fashion and frivolous pleasures; none of them will give an hour to serious meditation. If they did, they would realize whither they are traveling. Pills and cosmetic powder will not mend matters. These women need inward cleans. ing; that alone will make their complexion clear as a baby's! Clover extracts and clover teas did the work for our grandmothers. Karl's Clover Root Tes will do it for you. It is even more efficacious, for it contains other herbal ingredients efficacious, for it contains other herbal ingredients which increase its marvelous alterative powers. Why not try it this Spring? The Whirl of Wheels.

Dufferin avenue, because of the splendid bit of macadam east of Wellington street, is a favorite course for cycles. The other evening the man who observes things, undertook to count the number of wheels passing a given point in a given time. He found they were passing at the rate of 20 a minute, or 1,200 an hour.

It is an interesting panorama. There seems to be no age limit in the riders. Little tots scarcely big enough to walk pedal gaily alongside of portly and dignified grandmammas. In the procession are sedate society women, with smart costumes and attentive escorts; merry parties of shopgirls, who chatter like magples and revel in the joys of pure air, invigorating exercise and pleasant companionship; youths who ride with a fine assumption of careless ease, and cast sheep's-eyes at the girls; boys who set the hearts of the timid quaking by a law-defying tendency to scorch, and who mercilessly guy the awkward, the ungainly, and the unfortunate; preoccupied businessmen trying more or less successfully to steal away from the cares that infest the day. It is a and factories. For cycling brings light and color to eyes and cheeks, from which the light and color had been banished by the weary round of daily

RULES OF THE ROAD.

There are so many wheels on the street nowadays that the rules of the road should be treated with much more respect than they are by a small percentage of the riders. It is only a small percentage that are careless, and cause danger to a large number, simply by neglecting to observe the common rules of the road, understood and observed by every sensible and thoughtful rider. It is for the careless few that these little reminders are given. In the first place, keep to the right, if it is in the least possible. You have a right on the right side of the road, and the other party is then responsible if you get tangled up in an accident, says the Toronto World.

Another thing which most riders know, but, unfortunately, some do not, is, who has the right of way on the devilstrip. For the benefit of the people who don't know, but would like to, and for the caution of the warned but absolutely ignorant, it can be said again that parties riding south and east on the devilstrip have the right of way, and other wheelmen must turn out for them. It is dangerous to pass on the devilstrip. The width is not sufficient fo. the safety of the two passing riders. Therefore, there must be a rule, and the person who does not obey that rule is either ignorant of it or else is a reckless fool, not only endangering his own body, but that of other people who are trying to conform to that which is conducive to mutual safety.

Ladies have just as much right to observe this rule as men. Of course, male riders will turn off the strip at the last second to let a lady go by, but they simply do this out of courtesy, and their inner thoughts of the lady would make her feel sad if she received a photograph of them. Another point that it would be well for all riders to observe is carefulness in passing a rider ahead. Always go to the left, excepting in extreme circumstances. The rule is to go to the left, and if you do so it will save you a smash-up that is bound to come some day if you insist on doing otherwise. These are the principal rules of the road, and, if you can't remember them, paste this in your hat.

Although the daily consumption of water in London per head is less than 30 gallons, the East London Water Company characterizes this as a waste both reckless and criminal.

Slaughtering Deer

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Letter No. 2.

The following is a copy of an open letter, sent to the Honorable Mr. Gibson:

Hon. J. M. Gibson:-Dear Sir,-You will please find inclosed a printed letter dealing with the recent change in our game law, as regards the killing of deer in the water. I feel that you will say that I take altogether too serious a view of this matter. I do not think so. I consider it is a very sericase of "all the world on wheels." But ous matter. If ever there was an isthe pleasantest sight is the young wo- sue in this country that required what men and young men from the stores is called heroic treatment, this is one. We stand today practically disgraced in the eyes of the people of the adjoining provinces and states. By some means we have been induced to enact what is called retroactive legislation. The day will come, and soon come, when we will be as much ashamed of the law that was passed a few days ago as we are now of the fact that at one time we had a law authorizing us to burn each other as heretics. You will say: "Oh, that is altogether different." True, the facts are somewhat different, but the principles involved are precisely the same. Both were at one time the law, viz., burning each other, if we chanced to hold different opinions on some points as to our salvation, and murdering deer in the water. Both were repealed, in keeping with the progress and intelligence of the age. One has been reenacted, it does not matter which. Let us suppose a case in point-A man and his son are coming home from church. The boy says to his father 'Pa, I read something the other day I fear I did not understand. It said that at one time if a man did not go to such and such a church and say that he believed so and so, he would be arrested, and if he still persisted they would hang, or perhaps, burn him at the stake. Surely that cannot be true?" "Yes, my son, it is too true. That used to be the law in several countries. But, happily, we have outlived all such monstrous laws. They have been repealed, I hope, for ever. The same man and a younger son are sailing on one of the beautiful lakes in Muskoka. Time, A.D. 1925. The son says: "Oh, pa, what magnificent woods. What is in them.

They must be full of game?"

"Yes, my son, the woods are, indeed, grand; but I am sorry to say there is nothing in them. I am told that the only thing in the shape of game in the whole district are a few porcupines. I can remember when these woods were full of beautiful deer. You could see their white tails they bounded through the woods, and they had large antiers on their heads. They were noble animals." "That must have been splendid. What became of them, Pa? Where did they go to? Did the men shoot them?" They did shoot some of them; but the most of them were killed with clubs. You see, in the fall, large numbers of men used to go up to Muskoka to hunt. They sent hundreds of hounds out into the woods. The hounds ran the deer into the water, to take to the water being the only means the deer had to escape from the dogs. Men were on the lakes in boats, and knocked their brains out with clubs and oars "Oh, that was cruel. Did the constables not arrest them?" "No, my son, the law allowed that then. Of course, such a thing would not be tolerated now. People were not be tolerated now. People were comparatively ignorant in those days. The deer would be protected now; but, unfortunately, there are none left to protect." I expect to be answered as follows: "My dear sir, you are wasting your eloquence. The amendment complained of was recommended by the and game commissioners. They are responsible for it." I have heard this given as a reason before. That does not change it. It does not seem to me to matter whose fault it was,, whether it was the com-missioners, the ministers or the private members, or all three. Let whoever the shoe fits wear it. In the meantime a grievous wrong has been done by somebody. The deer in our forests

DWIN MEYERS MAY DIE

Sail for Bonser Was Refused at the Police Court This Morning - Number of Assault Cases-Colonel Elliott's

The blotter at the police court this morning contained a number of assault ases, and one of these is an extremely serious affair, as it may result in the death of one of the parties concerned.

John Bonser, son of George Bonser, 79 Beech street, West London; a pale, thin youth of 16 years, is in fail charged with assault, and Edwin Meyers lies at his home with a fractured skull, and in an unconscious condition. Meyers' life is in danger, and in consequence young Bonser was not allowed bail. The case has been postponed to await developments. As mentioned in last night's Advertiser, Bonser claims that leyers, with other boys, attacked him fter he had left work on Friday, and hat the blow was delivered in selfefense.

Percy Sharpe, son of J. F. Sharpe, of 8 College street, Toronto, appeared on the charge of assaulting Col. Joseph Elliott, a retired British officer, aged 76 On April 24 Col. Elliott, who resides in Orillia, was coming west from Hamilton. At Woodstock some unpleasantness arose between the colonel and Mr. Sharpe and his father, J. F. Sharpe, over a seat which the colcnel had vacated for a moment or two. When the colonel returned he mistook Mr. Sharpe's seat for his own, but on discovering his error apologized. He found two young ladies occupying his seat, and he requested them to leave. Young Sharpe took exception to the colonel's manner toward the ladies. An altercation followed, which ended in an assault upon Col. Elliott at London. The case was settled by Sharpe paying the costs, amounting to $2 10.

A charge of assault against Christo-pher and William Taylor, preferred by Robert O. Pollard, was withdrawn. Another assault case, in which Agnes Ready and Millie Morgan figure, was adjourned until Thursday.
Two drunks were discharged.

THE MISSING MEN

Lieutenant Gillmore and His Company Heard From.

Manila, May 2-2:55 p.m.-The first authentic information regarding Lieut. J. C. Gillmore and his party of fourteen men from the United States gunboat Yorktown, who were captured by the Filipinos on April 12, was received today at the hands of Major Arguelles, of the staff of Gen. Antonio Luna. It is in the form of a list of the missing men, and is signed by Lieut. Gillmore. The lieutenant reports that he and his party have been brought across the mountains from Baler, where they were captured. This information was brought in response to a note which Maj.-Gen. MacArthur sent to Gen. Luna by Major Shields and Lieut. Hayne, and which those officers, bearing a flag of truce, carried across Gen. Luna's lines yesterday evening. The note, after asking for information regarding American prisoners in Gen. Luna's hands, con-cluded with the message that he (Gen. MacAnthur) would be pleased to meet

This letter is called forth by General Weyler's recent mysterious conferences with Carlists of the Balearic Isles and Republicans of Barcelona.

AFTERNOON CABLES

Queen Victoria On Her Way Back to England.

London, May 2.-Queen Victoria started for England from Nice today. A large deputation of laymen waited upon the Archbishop of Canterbury and York at Lambeth Palace, Monday. They declared confidence in the archbishops and bishops, and expressed the hope that they would succeed in restoring harmony in the church. An unusual scene occurred in Christ Church, Piccadilly, upon the occasion of the marriage of a prominent colonel, well known in society, who was di-vorced from his first wife. The opponents of the remarriage of divorced persons interrupted the curate in the performance of the ceremony, and read a protest, declaring that the colonel had a canonical wife living. The congregation hissed the objectors, who were forcibly ejected frim the church.

The Paris Figaro, in its publication of the testimony given in the Dreyfus proceedings before the court of cassation, continues the deposition of Lieut. du Paty de Clam, who, in the course of his evidence, said that when M. Cavaignac became minister of war he (du Paty de Clam) wished to warn him of Lieut.-Col. Henry's forgery, but the minister refused to see him until after an interpellation had been made. When he told the minister that he had doubts concerning certain documents. M. Cavaignac replied, "Mind your own business." This statement, the Figaro says, produced a sensation in the court, and du Paty de Clam became frightened, and asked him to have it suppressed. The witness further said that Lieut. month of April: Consumption 14, pneu- | Col. Henry alluded to General Mercier when he wrote to his wife. "You know in whose interest I have acted." Replying to a direct question, du Paty de Clam said: "General De Boisdeffre promised to cover me; now he sacrifices me.'

TOWN SITES

On New Railway Lines-Government's Attention Called to an Important Matter.

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, May 2.-Mr. Blair made an important statement today at the railway committee, in reference to railways in British Columbia. The matter came up on the British Columbia Southern Railway bill. Mr. Bostock spoke at some length on the bill, pointing out that the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was owner of the road, was in the habit of exploiting town sites in the west. He cited a case in connection with this road. Mr. Blair said that under the Crow's Nest Pass Railway subsidy act the government had power to deal with the location of stations, and they intended to do so. He also sa.d that on account of the reports against ranways in the west of a similar character to that Mr. Bostock mentioned, he intended suggesting that the railway committee of the Privy Council get power through the general railway act to deal with such matters. So an amendment to the act of this kind would be prepared this session.

UNITED STATES WAR LOSSES. Washington, May 2.- A memorandum has been prepared at the war department, comparing the losses in the Spanish war with the first year of the civil war. The aggregate strength of troops employed during the war with Spain was approximately 275,000, cov-April, 1899, inclusive. During this time the dead from all causes were 6,190, or 21/4 per cent. The mean strength for the first year of the civil war was 276,-371, with an aggregate loss by deaths Madrid, May 2.—General Polavieja, of 19,159, being a percentage of 6.8 per

> SOCIALISM'S RED BANNER IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 1.—Six thousand Socialists assembled in Union Square last night to celebrate May Day. Conspicuous in the parade were about 150 women, members of the Working Wo-men's Association of the Socialist party. The Stars and Stripes were greatly overshadowed by the banners of red. Resolutions were adopted, concluding as follows: "Capital is doomed, with its Anglo-Saxon, Franco-Russian and triple alliance with their insatiable greed, incurable class restrictions, murderous class rule and violent class conflict. It, represents war, riot and despotism on a far more war, riot and despotism on a far more stupendous scale than did the feudalism which it supplanted. The twentieth century is clearing away. Barbarism is giving away to civilization, and from San Francisco to Moscow, from Cour D'Alene to Carmaux, the cry is 'Proletarians, unite!'

The opportunity, owing in a measure to his father's maneuvers, did not easily arrive, and vexed, irritated, he sat down to lunchean, resolved at any risk to get The thing was, would Gwyn be too some time to himself afterwards. Still, ill? That she must risk. At least, she aware he must not create suspicion, he never had he felt so grateful to Captain Jack, whose spirits rose apparently as his friend's lagged.

Indeed, whether Jack had taken his merry sister's hint suggested in the lines from "Duncan Gray," or whether he could not resist Lady Mary's beauty and sweet disposition, he paid the latter so marked an attention that more than once the Honorable Merton Gower's brows contracted dubiously.

On Marian's part, she seemed un-aware of the slight. She bore herself as usual, confined her talk chiefly to her father and uncle, but lost no expression or movement of her cousin.

Thus, when they arose from the table, she alone perceived him slip away from the room, and somehow she divined his intent. Jealousy, like love, the perceptive faculties.

"Lady Mary," she said, breaking into a conversation she was having with their guest, "you flattered me requesting to see my sketch-book. I will fetch it now if you are sure it will not weary

"I shall be delighted. Mr. Rowland Gower has spoken so highly of your skill that he has rendered me impa-

"Indeed! I thank him," rejoined Marian, with a touch of sarcasm. "I trust he has not, in trying to make himself agreeable, led you to expect too

Ere she closed the drawing-room door Marian glanced bacg into the apartment. Her father and uncle were talking politics in the window recess; Lil was working the pair of gorgeous-hued slippers for "somebody," while Captain Jack had already dropped into her place by Lady Mary.

"They will not miss me," reflected Marian glanced back into the apartof jealousy at Captain Jack's falling away selzed her. "Never mind," she murmured between her thin lips; "at least she shall never call Rowland 'hus-

Moving softly up the broad staircase, she paused a second outside her cousin's door. She heard him within, which showed her surmise as to where he had gone was correct. Her own apartmen was not many yards distant. Entering it, she left the door ajar. She desired to watch Rowland. If her idea proved wholly right, she had a plan which she believed would annihilate Gwyn and Lady Mary as rivals for

Hardly had she taken her place than her cousin came into the corridor. His manner was hurried, and, as he glanced quickly round, Marian saw him thrust something white, like a letter, into his pocket. Again she was correct. She even was it visible. Before five minutes her cousin appeared, walking rapidly down it. Her thin lips thinner from compression, Marian asked herself where he was going. To see Gwyn? No. If so, what need of the letter? From her espionage of the previous night, she felt sure their meetings were clandestine. Old Daniel and his wife were ignorant of them. Hence, Rowland could not go to the cottage. Therefore that note, probably making an assignation, was to be secretly delivered, no doubt as many others had been.

Could Ro. land mean to marry Gwyn? She burst into scornful laugh. He, the son of Merton Gower-he who one day, if his father's ambitious views were realized, and his party generous, would be one of the legislators of the land-wed the fisher girl, Gwyn Rebna?

Why, then, interfere? Because she was jealous of another gaining even the semblance of Rowland's love. Because she knew Gwyn was beautiful, clever, and feared, by some subtle womanish scheming, she might gain a power over her cousin that would make him hers before he was aware. Besides, Rowland was so strange in his ideas, and possessed such high notions of honor. "In love," she murmured, "women are so keen, men so blind. But I will save fortunate wreck! Oh, forescuer of my uncle Gower!'

this time Rowland had disappeared. It would be impossible for him to return under ten minutes, so she was secure from detection.

Assured of this, she went to his room, to see if she could find there any clew as to when and where the assignation, if assignation it were, was to be

Rowland had been writing, and evidently in haste. Notepaper was scat-tered here, pens there. He wrote a large, bold hand, and always used quill pens of the softest. Marian knew this,

She was not mistaken. The bletting-pad had been recently used. There were thick down strokes upon it, perfectly unintelligible under that aspect. But Marian was not ignorant of a means to make them otherwise. Approaching the mirror, she held the blotting-pad before it. The reflection placed the lines in proper position; and, after a little time and difficulty, she deciphered this: party today see you possible too ill cliff-path usual time eight The last words and initial were most distinct, being wettest when blotted.

Marian now saw her surmise was correct in every point. It was certain the foot of the cliff-path, as furthest from the hamlet, was their usual place

Returning the blotting-pad, an elation at her heart, she fetched her sketch-book and hurried back to the drawing-room, where she saw, by the absorbed interest of Lady Mary and Captain Jack in their conversation, that she had not been missed. "Well, let him marry her," she thought, disdainfully, her mind at the moment being too full of crushing Gwyn to feel anger at her lover's de-

Lil, with surprise, had also observed the change in her brother, not, it must be confessed, altogether with displeasure, yet with some trepidation as to his happiness, for her quick eyes had already perceived the plan the Honorable Merton Gower had mapped out rehas a wonderful power in sharpening specting his son and Lady Mary Em-

"Jack," she found occasion to whisper while Lady Mary, under Marian's guidance, was inspecting the sketchbook, "I am ashamed of you! So soon false to your colors! What a fickle, butterfly-lover you must be! sighing and dying at one woman's feet until another appears.".
Captain Jack was confused, but tried

"You misread me, Lil," he said. am not false to my colors; only a fellow can't be mute to all other women because he loves one." "Loves! It's my opinion you don't know what love is! Do you love Marian today as you did yesterday?"

"Yes. Still." he added, his conscience pricking him, "a fellow couldn't be blamed if his devotion did tire, when he gets less encouragement than a dog to beg for sugar." laughed Lil, "is it the fox finding the grapes sour?"

Captain Jack tried to look angry. Then his lips twitched into a smile. Perhaps he saw and seized the excuse. "There may be some truth in that, Lal," he rejoined; "for the grapes, as represented by Marian Rylands, are sour to me. Confess it, despite what you said yesterday."

"Well, yes," replied Lil, gravely, after a pause, "my opinion has altered. Whether it's jealousy or love, Marian is too engrossed with her cousin to think of you."

Her brother looked rather uncomfortable. Truth is not always flattering. He had lived much with his regiment, which had been abroad in places where refined feminine society was not. Thus, on his return, of an inflammable temperament, he had been ready to cast himself at the feet of the first pretty girl he met.

Though occasionally piqued at Marian's slights, they only urged him on to worship, and he verily believed his love smiled as she ran to the window. It was of the most sincere and loyal deon to a shrubbery, through scription, until he had seen, as it were, which a path led to a side gate, se startled into consciousness by the loveplaced that only from her chamber liness of Lady Mary. Still, he blushed at his own defaillance, and his sister's words grated harshly on his nerves. "Jack, hear me," said Lil, with a significant glance towards the Honorable Merton Gower; "for your own happiness, control your feelings." "I understand," he sighed, looking in the same direction. "I fear it is as you say, and will be cautious. But how about Gwyn Rebna?" "Rowland may love her, but it is impossible he could marry her. Reflect, Jack, his father would forbid such a union, and rightly."

Government Will Go On With the Redistribution Bill.

The Drummond Railway, Pacific Cable, Senate Reform and Other Questions

To Be Taken Up-Colonel Hughes Wants Canadian Troops for the Imperial Service.

Ottawa, May 2 .- This afternoon the minister of finance will make his budget speech. While it is impossible to do more than hazard a speculation as to the intentions of the chief custodian of the country's fiscal affairs, it is safe to say that there is no probability of any important tariff change being announced.

The chief interest yesterday centered in the announcement by the pre-mier as to the business which the government proposed to bring down.

The premier said: "I shall now give to the house the information asked on Friday last by Mr. Foster with reference to the business of the house—that is to say, in so far as government business is concerned. Tomorrow my honorable colleague, the minister of finance, will deliver the budget speech, and after debate on the budget has been exhausted, the government will proceed with the two resolutions on the order paper, namely, the Pacific cable and the Drummond County Railway purchase. The measures still remaining to be introduced are: First of all, the senate resolu-tion, of which the house has already had notice; and then the redistribu-tion bill and certain resolutions in aid of railways and the supplementary estimates. In addition to these there may be one or two other matters of minor importance, but still of some moment, which may be introduced. All these measures I have announced, and even those I have not announced will be introduced before the business now before the house has been completed." CANADIAN TROOPS FOR BRITISH SERVICE. Lieut.-Col. Hughes moved that in the opinion of this house, having in view the growth and development of Canadian trade, the assisting to perfect the union of Great Britain and her colonies, and the maintaining of the commerce, prestige and integrity of the British Empire, Great Britain should be given authority to enroll a brigade of Canadian officers and men for the imperial service abroad, and that Canadian seamen should be afforded opportunity of serving in the British navy. Col. Hughes made an ardent speech in support of the motion. The corps, he said, should embrace all arms of the service, and with the strength of 5,000 it would only be in proportion to one to every 1,200 of population. He had long looked forward to the day when Canada will form an integral portion of the British Empire. He referred with approval to the voluntary offer of our New Zealand kinsmen for service in the Samoan Islands, and said that the same spirit is abroad in Canada, and in addition to the military associations between Great Britain and her colonies he looked forward in the no distant future to an alliance between Great time it is Mr. H. Hogg, conductor No. Britain and her colonies on these lines. 207, residing at No. 81 Fuller street, who He suggested that retired British soldiers should be given farms in Canada. Dr. Sproule (Conservative) opposed the motion. He held that when it was expected to have men become soldiers for six or seven years and then return to industrial pursuits, a great mistake was being made. His experience was that old soldiers were not by any means good settlers. He did not approve of encouraging the military spirit in Can-

Mr. Ellis (St. John) pointed out that the British authorities can now recruit in Canada, and Canadian sailors can serve in the British navy.

OBJECT OF THE MILITIA SYSTEM. Dr. Borden, minister of militia, admitted Mr. Ellis' argument that British regiments can recruit in Canada, and remarked that a general order to that effect had recently been issued. He differed from Dr. Sproule as to the undesirability of old soldiers as settlers, but coincided in his opposition to the encouragement of the military spirit. The whole object contemplated by our militia system was to be able to defend ourselves in case of attack, and to aid the civil power of this country in case of trouble within our own borders. He did not think we should look beyond that. We had enough to do at the present time to perfect our militia system Canada had done much for imperial federation by her preferential tariff. Col. Hughes consented to withdraw

Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not fall in the suggestion of Mr. McInnis that the census should be taken in 1900 instead of 1901. It would require a serious constitutiontl change, though he realized it would give British Columbia her just dues and enable Canada to make a better showing at the Paris exposition. Mr. Foster was told by the minister of customs that for the six months of the current fiscal year, ending Dec. 31, 1898, imports of sugar from British West Indies amounted to 9,-049,020 pounds, valued at $121,901, as against 6,254,924 pounds, valued at $124,804 imported during the corresponding period of 1897. In reply to a question regarding the existence of a number of lotteries in the city of Montreal under the guise of associations or societies for the promotion of art, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the minister of justice is engaged in the preparation of amendments to the criminal code, and probably this matter would be included in the amendments.

BOSANQUET.

Bosanquet, May 2 .- Mr. George Watt of Thedford, evidently believes in enterprise. He is about to build a jam factory right in his berry patch. The new industry will no doubt be a great boon to the industrious-inclined people in the vicinity, by furnishing employment for many persons. Also it is in the wind that the proprietors of the evaporator in the same village are to increase the capacity of their factory.

Thedford is lively just now. Mr. James Watson, of Lake Shore, is off for a visit to his aunt and cousins in Delaware State. It is hoped that the change will improve his health, which has been delicate all winter.

Louisville and Jefferson, Ind., were visited by a violent earthquake about 8 o'clock Saturday night. Considerable damage was done in a number of drug stores, where bottles were smashed and medicines spilled. In several of the places of amusement the spectators became panic-stricken and made a bolt

PROHIBITION

Mr. Flint Will Ask That It Be Enforced by Provinces.

Ottawa, May 2.—The prohibition resolution which Mr. Flint, M.P., will introduce in the House of Commons within a few days will call for the passage of a general prohibitory law, to apply to any province or territory which by popular vote of the qualified electors may accept the same. It will be provided in the proposed bill that the vote shall be taken at the time of the general federal election, and the law, when carried, must remain in force at least four years before a vote for repeal can be put.

SEVERAL STRIKES

Many Operatives in Toronto Quit Work -Mechanics Want More Pay.

Hamilton, May 2 .- All the garmentworkers employed on contract work for John Calder & Co. are having a holiday as a result of a strike of the pressers They complain that the clothing made by the contractors for John Calder & Co. is roughly handled by the ware house examiners, and necessitates much work being returned to be redone. They think they should be paid for the extra work. In consequence of the pressers strike, between 400 and 500 employes are Toronto, May 2.-Workmen in several branches of industry went out on strike yesterday. They include: Molders, 175; bricklayers, 275; cigarmakers, 120, and stonecutters, 60. In each case, however, it is expected the difficulty will be settled in a day or two, or at most, by the end of the week.

In the case of the molders, one of the largest firms, the St. Lawrence foundry, employing 34 molders, accepted the terms of the men, and the operatives went back. In this case, masters and men agreed on 25 cents an hour as the rate of wages, and the dispute hinges only on the amount to be paid for overtime. Other firms are expected to fall into line immediately. In the case of the cigarmakers, four factories out of seventeen in the city have accepted the new schedule drawn up by the men.

In the case of the stonecutters, the strike is against a reduction in the scale proposed by the masters.

Winnipeg, Man., May 2.—The carpenters, plumbers and gasfitters of Winnipeg went out on strike yesterday until the scale of wages is readjusted. It seems probable the men will be told to continue work at the scale proposed by their organization. The plumbers and gasfitters are asking for 40 cents per hour as a minimum wage. They have been receiving 30 cents.

Diabetes Was Getting the Victory Over Rim When He Began to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills-Then the Tide Turned and He Was Saved,

Toronto, May 1 .- Still another member of the staff of the Toronto Street Railway comes forward to testify to the unequaled efficacy of Dodd's Kid-tells his story. Here is what he says: "Diabetes kept me in continual misery, and nightly agony for three years. My blood got so impure that I thought I could never get it restored to its natural purity. I was tortured by dizziness, which grew to such an extent that I had to quit work. I lost flesh and strength rapidly, and, in short, I thought it was 'all up with me. "I used different remedies, but got no good from any of them, until a friend recommended Dodd's Kidney

"I had no idea they would help me, as I had been disappointed so often, but I decided to try them. The first box gave me wonderful relief. The dizziness vanished, and by head became as steady as ever it was. Three boxes completed my cure, and today I am sound and well, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The best way to ascertain the real merit of Dodd's Kidney Pills is to cest them. There can be no deceit then. A trial costs very little, and it will settle all doubts for all time.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2 50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. James Constable, Seaforth, Ont., writes:- "Ever since I can remember I have suffered from weak action of the heart. For some time past it grew constantly worse. I frequently had sharp pains under my heart that I was fearful if I drew a long breath it would cause death. In going up-stairs I had to stop to rest and regain breath. When my children made a noise while playing I would be so overcome with nervousness and weakness that I could not do any thing and had to sit down to regain composure. My limbs were unnaturally cold and I was subject to nervous headaches and dizziness. My memory became uncertain and sleep Weak Heart Action

deserted me. "I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at Mr. Fear's drug store, and as a result am very much better. I have improved in health and strength rapidly since commencing this treatment. The blessing of sleep is restored to me. My heart is much stronger, and the oppressive sensation has vanished. I can now go up-stairs without stopping and with the greatest of ease, and I no longer suffer from dizziness or headache. It seems to me the circulation of my blood has become normal, thereby removing the coldness from my limbs. I can truly say that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done me a world of good."

Mr. A. D. Wilson, of Clearwater, Man., is emphatic in his statements regarding this remedy. It has cured him completely and he does not hesitate to give a history of his case for the benefit of his fellow sufferers. This is what he says: "I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best thing I know of fer weak and nervous people. When I first commenced taking them I was in an extremely weak condition. I was nervous and easily startled, sometimes I would start in my sleep and it would be a long time before

I could get asleep again. Shortness of Breath and Dizziness.

'Shortness of breath and dizzy spells would come over me at times and often I thought that my end was near.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed all that. They have strengthened my nerves and built up my health so that I am a new man. I consider them simply wonderful."

is real-it is a hit or a miss, and these people are failing to make it a hit. It is not how much we know, but how we utilize what we do know. One of the greatest hits was the hit on intoxicat-ing liquors. There were hits on two different lines, action and expression, and misses by the want of both. The speaker's last point was hits and misses in the home. After the lecture the Rev. Mr. Morrison moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Clark, which was heartily responded to by Mr. Wm. PRECAUTIONS

Water Commissioners Will Enforce the Bylaw Regarding Lawn Service -Estimates for the Year Adopted.

The regular session of the water commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, with Chairman Jones, Commissioner Little, Mayor Wilson, Engineer Moore, Secretary Ellwood and Inspector Plastow present. The lawn service bylaw will be strictly enforced, as the commissioners fear that the supply at Springbank may run low. The bylaw allows use of lawn services from 6 to 8 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and 6 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The inspectors will keep watch and report all offenders to headquarters, and summonses will be issued for their appearance in court.

The estimates for the year, which have already been published, were adopted. An application of John Thompson to who visited the place between 3 and have the water main extended to the corner of Regent and Colborne streets was referred to Engineer Moore.
