International Day.

Wednesday's Big Attendance at the Fair Duplicated.

Fully Thirty Thousand Pleased People in Queen's Park.

The Exhibition Buildings and Grand Stands Swarm With Spectators.

Ring Contests and Special Attractions Up to the Mark.

Presentation of a Gold Medal to the Clever Midget Jap—Results of the Races—Prize Winners in the Poultry Department—Some of the Notable Exhibits Described—Machinery Men Have a Grievance.

Yesterday was, as in former years "International Day" at the great Fair, and it was no exception to the rule as far as attendance is concerned, great crowds arriving by train from all directions, an unusually large number hailing from across the line. From an early hour in the morning the sight-seers streamed in the direction of Queen's Park, and it is estimated that fully 30,000 people passed through the turnstiles. The different railroads carried more passengers than on any other day of the week, and that is saying a great deal when Wednesday's traffic is taken into consideration. Farmers were also present in large numbers, despite the fact that Wednesday was their special day. The weather was all that could be desired, though early in the morning it looked as though rain would mar the proceedings. In the afternoon the races took place and all passed off without a hitch. In the course of one of the events, a little boy who was standing inside the railing ran on the track just as the horses were on the home stretch, but fortunately for him he managed to get out of the way, though none too soon. The Seventh Band was again in attendance, and made the afternoon pass all the more pleasantly by their excellent music.

THE ATTRACTIONS.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. A. D. Holman, as he stepped on the platform in front of the grand stand during the progress of the Japanese performance in the afternoon, "it affords me great pleasure in presenting, on behalf of Mr. W. J. Reid, this beautiful gold medal to the youngest of this troupe. It is in appreciation of services rendered at this Fair, and well does he deserve it. Though the youngest acrobat appearing in public (being only 5 years of age) the feats he performs are something marvelous, and it is doubtful if any superior can be found.' At the conclusion of this brief address he pinned the medal on the youthful Jap's breast, and as he did so, a hearty round of applause burst from the thousands present. At this the little fellow made a graceful bow and went on with the remainder of the performance, which consisted of feats of tumbling, slack wire walking, dancing and swinging. Another feature was the balancing, one of the troupe having on his shoulder a long pole at the top of which another member was executing some difficult feats.

The Japanese fireworks were good.

Clifford Calverley, the high wire specialist, gave another of his interesting performances, consisting of walking with baskets on his feet, dancing and running across the wire to the tune of the "British Grenadiers."

Some good hurdle-jumping was also done by some of Mr. Adam Beck's hunters. When one of the horses was about to clear a hurdle it fell, but both rider and horse escaped unhurt.

Prof. Freyer's intelligent dogs and W. C. Coup's trained horses also gave their usually interesting entertainment.

THE RING.

The attractions on the track consisted of four events and a final heat of the pony trotting race. The various events passed off remarkably well, and no dissatisfaction whatever was heard about long delays between the heats, as, unlike yesterday, such was not the case. The credit for this is due to Messrs. W. J. Reid, J. H. Brown and F. B. Leys, who were in charge, and to their efforts is due the success of the afternoon's sport. The judges were Messrs. T. D. Hodgens, London, and John King, St. Thomas; and Mr. Laurie, Simcoe, while Messrs. J. D. O'Neil and N. Sage, of London held the watches.

THE PONY RACE.

The first on the programme was the final heat of the pony running race postponed from yesterday afternoon. It was to decide for first money and was between Maud S and First Attempt, and resulted in a victory for Maud S, who came under the wire a neck in advance.

THREE-YEAR-OLD TROT.

This race was noted for the continual breaking of Ruler Wilkes, who seemed unable to settle down. In the third heat Lulu G and Little Jim had a hard run for first place, but Lulu G proved the better horse of the two, while Little Jim was put back to third place for continual breaking. This decision gave Ruler Wilkes second money. Summary.

Three-year-old trot; 2:50 class; purse, $200:

Lulu G, b. f., Forbes, Easson & McTavish, Stratford	1	1	1
Ruler Wilkes, b. s., Urich Pierce, Strathroy	2	2	2
Little Jim, b. g., Thos. Pierce, Chatham	3	3	3
Whistle Bird, b. s., Schielauf, Bros., West Lorne	4	dis
London Chief, b. s., Robt. S. Smith, London	dr
Egmatfa, b. f., Angus Sinclair, Toronto	dr
Hanmoon, O. A. Coates, Bothwell	dr

Time—2:40, 2:42, 2:39½.

THE STALLION TROT.

It was after several attempts that the horses got away together in the first heat. Fleetfoot and Danmore both kept pretty even throughout, the former eventually winning, but not without a hard struggle. In the second heat there was nothing exciting, but in the third all the horses were well bunched at the finish. Danmore, who took first money, is a splendid horse and needs no urging whatever, while Fleetfoot very often breaks. Summary:

Stallion trot; 2:50 class; purse, $100:

Danmore, b. s., John Lankin, Granton	2	1	1
Fleetfoot, bl. s., F. J. Henry, Glencoe	1	3	2
Major Rooker, bl. s., J. N. Wilson Ridgetown	4	2	3
Montreal, c. s., A. J. McCarthy, Ingersoll	3	4	4
Lowell, b. s., Alva Ketchum, Delhi	5	dis
Jimmy R, ch. s., Joseph Wilson, Stratford	dr

Time—2:37, 2:39½, 2:38, 2:35.

COLONIST WINS.

The running race came next, and among those entered were Colonist, who won the Queen's Plate at Toronto a few years ago. Topsy B was also on the list, and it was doubtful as to who would win, though Colonist was the favorite. The first heat was hotly contested, between these two, but the rest of the field was distanced. Colonist was badly lamed and it looked as though he would retire, but he entered the second and won by a short distance. Summary:

Running race, best 2 in 3; purse $100:

Colonist, bl. g., Northgreaves & McWilliams, Drayton	1	1
Topsy B, b. m., R. Beattie, Wingham	2	2
Pigeon Wing, b. m., Wm. Simpson, Parkhill	dis
Repeater, b. g., Jacob Lewis, Hartford, Ont	dis
Nettie, b. m., W. J. Mitcheltree, London	dis
Abbey, b. m., J. J. Power, Albion, Mich	dr

Time—1:15 1:22.

PONY TROT.

This race probably created more amusement than any other event of the day. In the first heat the final pony had not turned on the home stretch when Tommy S went under the wire, and in the succeeding two heats, the judges evidently thought it not worth while to give the positions of all the contestants, as it was an instance of "the last being first," as the leaders were all put back for running. In the second heat Mr. Thos. Trebilcock took charge of Tom T, but fared no better than before. Summary:

Pony trot, half mile heats:

Topsy, W. Barclay, Georgetown	2	1	1
Tommy S, bl. s., H. Simon, London	1	2	2
Lorne, A. Beaton, West Lorne	4		3
Ilderton, R. Paisley, Ilderton	7	3
Arab Chief, G. Dobie, Glencoe	5
Maud S, J. W. Greece, Dresden	3
Tom T, rn., Thos. Trebilcock, London	6
Topsy B, R. J. Williams, London	dr

Time—2:05, 2:10, 2:09.

MACHINERY MEN PROTEST.

For several seasons exhibitors of implements and machinery have been dissatisfied with that portion of the grounds into which their display is crowded. Already they have petitioned the Fair Board and, they claim, have been treated with silent contempt, and given to understand, in so many words, that the machinery exhibitors were not running the Western Fair. This year the manufacturers decided to take decisive action and make a firm stand in an effort to obtain recognition from the Fair authorities. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon 40 manufacturers of agricultural machines and implements held a meeting at the machinery hall to discuss the matter of the accommodation and position that is accorded them by the board of directors of the Western Fair Association, and to come to some definite arrangement as to what course would be best for them (the manufacturers) to pursue in respect thereto in the future. The firms were represented by a member of each in person. They were: Massey-Barris, Toronto; D. Maxwell & Sons, St. Marys; Noxon Bros. & Co., Ingersoll; B. Bell & Son, St. George; Neely & Durand, Dorchester; Adams & Sons, Paris; B. Thom, Watford; Chatham Manufacturing Company, Chatham; W. T. Buchanan, Ingersoll; Richardson & Webster, St. Marys; Watson Manufacturing Company, Ayr; R. McPherson' London; J. Fleury's Sons, Aurora; Coulthard, Scott & Co., Oshawa; T. Coleman, Seaforth; Gowdy Manufacturing Company, Guelph; Mercer & Co., Alliston; Frost & Wood, Smiths Falls; Cockshutt Plow Company, Brantford; Wilkinson Plow Company, Toronto Junction; Wortman & Ward, London; Jas. W. Proven, Oshawa; Gould, Shapely & Muir, Brantford; Manson Campbell, Chatham; Waterloo Manufacturing Company, Waterloo; R. Woon & Co., Oshawa; Waterous Engine Works Company, Brantford; George White & Sons, London; Macpherson & Co., Fingal; John Goodison, Sarnia; Sawyer-Massey Company, Hamilton; Bain Wagon Company, Woodstock; Snowball Wagon Company, St. George; Lockarre Fence Company, Ingersoll; H. A. Stringer, London; Erie Iron Works, St. Thomas; McCormick & Co., Chicago; J. S. Corbin, Prescott; Brantford Spring Tooth Harrow Company, Brantford; Lightning Sickle Grinding Company, Ridgetown.

John A. Sanderson, of Adams & Son, Paris, was unanimously chosen as chairman, and Stephen Noxon, of Noxon Bros., Ingersoll, as permanent secretary. After considerable discussion it was decided that the only way open to obtain redress was to draft a petition to be signed by the above firms, as well as any others who were prevented from attending, but who may be in sympathy with the movement, asking the Fair directors for many needed improvements and accommodation, and that if they fail to grant the same, each and every manufacturer interested will withdraw his exhibit from the Western Fair entirely until their wishes receive proper attention. The permanent secretary is to draft the petition in accordance with the above and mail it to each firm for signature. When completed it will be presented to the Board of Directors requesting a definite reply in ample time for the manufacturers to make their arrangements accordingly. This met with the approval of all present. Each firm is in earnest and they have freely pledged themselves to heartily support the combined action of the meeting.

THE EVENING ATTRACTIONS.

The grand stands were all crowded again at night and the performance was as usual first-class. The Japs could not complete their aerial ladder act owing to the prevailing breeze that ruffled the canvas canopy spread overheard to enable the balancer to watch the top of the 25 foot ladder. The rest of their specialty was vigorously applauded. Calverley did his high wire performance and the audience got a perfect view of him by the aid of calcium reflectors. He omitted the chair act. The horses and dogs were again much admired, and Prof. Kershaw's lime light views of the World's Fair on canvas were good, those typical of scenes on the Midway Plaisance being especially so. The fireworks were all that could be desired. This was the last evening performance, there being none to-night.

STOCK-BREEDERS' DAY.

To-day will be the closing day of the Fair. Heretofore the exhibition has been attended by a large number of breeders, who appreciate the action of the Fair Association. The speed trials will be as follows:

Two-year-old trotters' stake, half mile heats, best 3 in 5, Canadian-bred horses	$200
Pacing race, mile heats, open to all, best 3 in 5	100
Trotting, open to all, mile heats	100
Best single turnout, style and value considered, bona fide property of exhibitor and driven by him—1, gold medal; 2, silver medal.

The attractions may all be seen to-day as well as on any of the former days. Calverley will do his high wire act, the Japs their inimitable juggling and Broncho Bob and Miss Trixie Slocum their fancy shooting. The performing dogs and horses will also be present.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

Among other notable exhibits will be found the following:

The Most Attractive Exhibit Not at the Western Fair This Year.

The great attraction to the left on entering the main building for the last four years was the display of W. S. Bryers Barkwell, consisting of those fragrant and lasting perfumes for which his store is so noted. In this building hundreds of ladies used to throng, attracted by the delicate and refreshing odors of these perfumes, with their handerchiefs extended to the spray of the atomizer, till they were almost saturated; but this year we miss the refreshing spray in this building, and instead of delicate odors there is nothing but pure air for the heap of crowded humanity huddled together in the close atmosphere. Owing to pressure of business Mr. Barkwell could not be induced to take part in the exhibit this year. His display is missed more than perhaps any or all others; but any callers at his drug store will receive the same privilege that was accorded them on previous years at the fair, and it is certain they will receive as hearty a welcome at 268 Dundas street as they ever did at the Western Fair. Many will avail themselves of this kind offer. 77u

The Leading Washer.

The double action washer is exhibited at the Western Fair this year, and is situated directly in rear of the W. C. T. U. hall. Schultz Bro., of Brantford, are the manufacturers, and have, since the introduction of this machine, made and sold between 4,000 and 5,000. It is one of the wonders of the age, and does double the quantity of work of any other similar machine in the same length of time, with less labor and no extra rubbing on the board. On Thursday afternoon an exhibition was given and four blankets or counterpins, two quilts and fourteen shirts were put in the machine and each lot turned out in twelve minutes or less. Since these washers have been introduced in London, less than six months ago, over 100 machines have been sold and in many of the public institutions the old machines have been discarded and replaced by the Schultz, which is giving the best possible satisfaction. Another great feature of this invention is that it holds the clothes together throughout the process, and for each seven movements of the handles the clothes make one revolution.

The Bell Pianos.

The name "Bell" has long been associated with all that is to be desired in a good piano or organ, and throughout Canada this instrument has a warm place in the affections and homes of thousands of families. Those who have once used the Bell organ assert they will use no other, as bushels of unsolicited testimonials readily testify. And not only this but the Bell organ once had, the housewife is apt to give her hubby no peace until he goes one better and procures a Bell piano. Then the mother's happiness is complete, the father is satisfied, the sons are pleased to spend their evenings around the family fireside, and the daughter can hardly be persuaded to take her meals and let the piano alone. The Bell has come by its good name honestly, and for durability, tone and finish they stand unrivaled. The price, too, is within the reach of everyone. Even with wheat as low as 60 cents a bushel and three spans of horses selling for what one used to bring, the farmer can yet afford a Bell. Not only the farmer, but the workingman is within easy reach of these wonderful instruments. The price is not placed so high that the humblest should be afraid to venture. Messrs. G. & A. Burness, the hustling general agents for this district, can be found with the exhibit, ever willing to show off the merits of the Bell, and ever ready to complete a sale. The down town warerooms are on Dundas street, south side, a few doors west of Clarence street, and if you cannot make up your mind to purchase during the Fair they will be always happy to meet you at the store. Don't forget the place; don't forget that the Bell leads, and don't forget that the price is within reach of everyone, and you included.

London's First Electric Car.

The electric car belonging to the London Street Railway Company attracts many curious visitors who walk through and admire it. The car is situated in the machinery hall and is a beauty. It is bigger every way than the largest horse cars now in use on the London streets. The doors are wider, the roof higher, and the windows probably twice as large. The car is 25 feet long and will seat 50 persons. Twenty people can stand with comfort on the platform. The car will be put to use in London West on Oct. 15 and will be lighted and heated by electricity. The upholstering is of Wilton carpet, the woodwork is of quartered oak and cherry, while the seats are supplied with springs.

Wortman & Ward's Exhibit.

Among all the exhibits of farm implements and machinery none can be found to surpass that of the Wortman & Ward Manufacturing Company, the well-known London manufacturers. The firm is showing this year their celebrated Spade-Harrow, Hay Fork and Elevator and Daisy Barrel Churn. The spade-harrow is considered by every farmer who has used it (and many hundreds have) to be the best, and its work superior to all others in all kinds of soil. The hay fork and elevator is a great labor-saving device, and by means of it the farmer is saved many an aching back and tired arm. Unloading is rendered easy and expeditious, and no farmer should be without one. The price is moderate and within reach of everyone. The Daisy Churn is well known and extensively used by dairymen. Its merit is demonstrated by the fact that the firm is the only one in Canada that ever received first prize or diploma for a revolving churn. Representatives of the company may always be found in attendance at the exhibit, and orders can be left at the grounds.

Doyle's Fire Proof Wood Cement.

This important article is again represented at the Fair, and is attracting much attention. The silicate, of which the paint is composed, is taken from Shallow Lake, in the township of Keppel, some nine miles from Owen Sound. It first attracted attention from the fact that the principal strata or layer was being manufactured into cement in large quantities by the Burchard Portland Cement Company, who this year have contracts for over 100,000 barrels. So important has the industry of removing this silicate become, that within the last two weeks the Grand Trunk have completed a line of railway from their Wiarton branch into the works. The paint has been critically tested by painters in every section of the country and has also been accepted and approved of by the different fire underwriters' associations, the companies composing which have, in order to show their faith in the fire-proof qualities of the material, fixed their rates on buildings covered with the same at first-class rates. It is especially adapted for roofs and buildings, houses, barns, etc. Mr. Doyle, the proprietor, with permission refers to the London Mutual Insurance Company, the Dominion Insurance Company, and also leading companies doing business in Manitoba and the Northwest, where the Doyle Fire-Proof Paint Company anticipate a large sale.

CONCISE CULLINGS.

The situation at Rio is unchanged.

Three new cases of small pox were reported Thursday morning in New York.

The Chicago Evening Journal was sold at auction Wednesday to Dr. Farrar for $163,000.

The New York Clearing House loan committee on Thursday cancelled $1,430,000 certificates.

At Reading, Pa., the Pennsylvania Hardware Works, employing 500 hands, has resumed work on full time.

There is no truth in the report of a train on the Newport News Road having been held up by train robbers and three or four people killed.

J. D. Ling, of Rochester, N. Y., committed suicide by laying his head on the Central road Thursday morning and allowing a train to run over it.

BURNED OUT.

Southampton Suffers to the Extent of About $7,000.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 21.—Fire completely destroyed the commercial block and partially destroyed Mrs. Stansfield's confectionery store this morning. The commercial block was occupied as follows: Miss M. A. Harner, glass, crockery and groceries and dwelling; John Woods, groceries, drygoods and dwelling; B. Belyea, groceries, boots and shoes and dwelling; D. Teahan, Commercial Hotel. Some of the contents were saved. Losses and insurance not known yet. The block was valued at $7,000 and Mrs. Stansfield's shop and dwelling at $300. Cause of fire unknown.

UNITED ANGLICANS.

Close of the First Synod — Religious Teaching in Public Schools Deemed Necessary — Election of a Primate.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—The first general synod of the Anglican Church in Canada closed last evening. A message from the bishops stated that in their views religious teaching in public schools is absolutely necessary. The lower house concurred. Both houses agreed to send a committee to attend the convention of the United States to be held in Minneapolis in 1895. No change in the basis of the constitution is to be made without a two-thirds vote of each house.

The House of Bishops elected Bishop MacWray, of Rupert's Land, as primate of Canada and metropolitan of the Province of Rupert's Land. It was decided that both he and Bishop Lewis, the eastern metropolitan, should be created archbishops. The bishops recommended that the metropolitan of each Province now in existence should be designated archbishop of his see. In other words, Canada will now have two archbishops of the English Church and three as soon as British Columbia becomes a Province.

The lower house favors triennial meetings. A motion carried that the next meeting be on the second Wednesday in September, 1896.

An important message sent down from the upper house was a basis on which the bishops said the church would welcome a union with other Christian bodies. A feature of the basis was the acceptance of the Holy Scriptures and of the Apostles' Creed, of the two Sacraments of Baptism and the Supper of the Lord, and of the historic episcopate.

A New State.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. — The House committee on territories has decided to report a bill for the admission of Utah as a State.

M. B. Curtis' Trials.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—M. B. Curtis has written his friend Hugh Coyle, of this city, that he will go on the stage again as "Sam'l of Posen." He says his trials cost him $30,000.

Consuls to Canada.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The President to-day nominated as consuls Edwin F. Bishop, Buffalo, at Chatham, Canada; John S. Derby, of Maine, at St. John, N. B.; and Joseph Whalen, Buffalo, at Prescott, Canada.

Steamboat Race For $5,000.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 21.—In the race to-day between the whaleback Christopher Columbus and steamer Virginia from Chicago to Milwaukee, the former won. The time for the 85 miles was 4 hours and 15 minutes. The purse for the winner was a check of $5,000.

Inspection of Emigrants.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21.—The conference between the representatives of the Canadian steamship lines and railroad companies and Secretary Carlisle and Superintendent Stump, representing the Government of the United States, relative to the inspection of immigrants coming into the United States from Canada, held at the Treasury Department this afternoon, resulted in an agreement being signed satisfactory to both parties.

Higher Prices for Coal.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The Retail Coal Exchange of New York has recommended that dealers charge 25 cents a ton more for coal after Oct. 1. The Coal Exchange cannot dictate what the price of coal shall be, as such action would be a violation of the law, but its "recommendations" are generally carried out. White ash coal sells now for $5 50 a ton and red ash for $6. The retail dealers claim they are forced to make an advance, owing to the recent advances in the wholesale market.

Sir Henry Norman Withdraws.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Sir Henry Norman has withdrawn his acceptance of the viceroyship of India on the ground that his strength is unequal to work so arduous.

Revolver Record Broken.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Andrews, of Woolwich, in a revolver contest at the London Rifle Club, made 42 points, the highest possible score. He placed every shot within a two-inch ring at twenty yards.

Home Rule for Scotland.

GLASGOW, Sept. 21.—At the conference of the Highland Home Rule League held here to-day resolutions were passed strongly demanding home rule for Scotland and condemning as grievously wrong that the crofters should be hunted to Canada so that sheep might take their places.

Triple Tragedy in London.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—As Daisy Montague, a ballet girl, was returning from the Empire Theater at 1 o'clock this morning she met and was accosted by two men in the Euston-road, near King's Cross station. Miss Montague was acquainted with both, but on her expressing a preference as to who should see her home a quarrel ensued. The result was that one man shot the girl and the man whose companion he was a few minutes previously. The murderer then committed suicide. All three were dead on the pavement.

Royal Family and Offices.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The question of the appointment of members of the royal family to important and lucrative places in the public service was again brought up last night, Mr. Morton moving a reduction in the estimates in order to protest against the appointment of Prince Louis, of Battenberg, who was described by Mr. Morton as a German gentlemen, to the important post of adviser and inspector-general of fortifications. Sir M. Kay-Shuttleworth, secretary of the Admiralty, said in reply that the appointment of Prince Louis of Battenburg was made in the ordinary course, and not because he was a relative of the Queen. Prince Louis was naturalized as an Englishman in 1868, and he was an efficient officer. Mr. Morton's motion for a reduction of the estimates was then negatived without a division.

A Chronic Wife-Killer.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 21.—The police have just made an arrest that promises to make a sensation similar to that of Deeming, the Englishman hanged in Australia a few months ago for the murder of his three wives.

A Dutchman named Hendrick Dejong last June was married to a young English girl named Sarah Sewitt. The honeymoon was spent in Holland, and within a few weeks the girl disappeared. It was supposed that, having grown tired of Holland, she had gone back to England.

Dejong, it was subsequently thought, had procured a divorce, for in August he married the sister of an Amsterdam innkeeper. She also disappeared within a short time of the wedding. The brother's suspicions were aroused and the police were notified.

The Amsterdam officials communicated with the English police and Dejong was arrested. It is said that he is wanted for other and similar crimes in England. The police of the two countries are following up his record and searching for the bodies.

Vice and the State.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—In the House of Commons last night questions were asked regarding "Chakla" women in the Indian cantonments. Some time ago the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India, appointed a committee to inquire into the rules, regulations and practice in the cantonments and elsewhere in India with regard to immoral women. The object of the committee was to ascertain how far the practice accorded with the resolution passed by the House of Commons in 1888 in opposition to the compulsory examination of women and licensing. The committee reported that the system and the incidental practice described did not, and the statutory rules, so far as they authorize or permit the same, do not accord with the accepted meaning and intention of the resolution of the House of Commons. Last night George F. Russell, parliamentary secretary of the India Office, announced to the House in response to the questions asked on the subject, that the Government would promote a bill dealing with the subject, which is the State regulation of the vice.

Big Fire in Leeds.

LEEDS, Sept. 21.—The Central Market in this town was burned to-day. The loss amounts to £40,000.

Safe in Port.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The steamer P. Caland having in tow the Maasdam, before reported with her crank pin broken, has arrived at Plymouth.

Death of Baron Churchill.

LONDON, Sept. 21. — Baron Churchill died here yesterday.

Count De Bylandt, Dutch Minister to Great Britain, died at Aix-les-Baines, France, yesterday.

Riotous Strikers.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Striking miners are rioting at Hednesford, Staffordshire. They have piled up and are burning coal trucks. The police who tried to break up the mob have been repulsed. The mob now has full possession of the town. The military have been summoned to restore order.

Cholera Record.

HAMBURG, Sept. 21.—During the past 24 hours twelve new cases of cholera and three deaths were reported.

At St. Petersburg the new cases of cholera now average 60 a day. The deaths from the disease reach almost the same number.

At Buda-Pest the cholera is spreading among the wealthier classes.

Glut of Grain.

GLASGOW, Sept. 21.—The granaries here are choked with American grain and are unable to receive incoming cargoes. Importers are therefore seeking storage facilities outside of Glasgow. The grain market is glutted by the overabundant supply. Merchants have taken advantage of the situation to buy heavily, believing that bottom prices have been reached.

Imprisoned Miners Sing Hymns.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Rescue parties worked all last night and to-day to rescue the eight miners entombed yesterday by the collapse of the shaft in the Dolcoath mine in Cornwall. This afternoon they could hear the eight men singing hymns. They redoubled their efforts and will probably tunnel through the intervening rocks and rubbish before morning. It is believed that all eight men will be got out alive.

Playing at War.

GUENS, Hungary, Sept. 21.—The army maneuvers that had been in progress here and the country hereabouts closed to-day, and the palm of victory was awarded to the army of the north. The men and horses are suffering extreme exhaustion. Numerous accidents occurred during the fighting. It is reported that two officers and several privates were killed. The Eleventh Hussars received an order to advance upon the enemy. The bugle sounded the charge and the hussars moved forward at a gallop in splendid style. Suddenly horses and men were seen toppling over. They had come unawares upon a wide and deep ditch and the hussars went down, as though their ranks were swept with grape and canister. Many of the regiment were seriously hurt. Only 30 men and horses emerged from the ditch in condition to resume the charge. Emperor William has left the field of the operation and gone to Mohacs.

THE G. T. R. SHOPS.

Sir Henry Tyler and His Party at Sarnia.

SARNIA, Sept. 21.—Sir Henry Tyler and his party were here to-day. Sir Henry said that as far as they were concerned they were prepared to state their exact position, which is simply as follows:

"That if the town of Sarnia, in conjunction with Point Edward, were prepared to handle the matter that the company would, on the necessary bonus being given, build their shops at Point Edward and round houses in Sarnia. That while they were not in a position to be impeded in any way by conditions and provisions which to a large company were somewhat troublesome, they simply wished to say if such a proposition was acceptable to the people that the company were ready to carry out their part to the arrangement."

The result of the meeting seems to meet with general approval, and the necessary arrangements will be made at once to allow the citizens an opportunity of expressing themselves in regard to the matter.

Sir Henry and the other officials leave this afternoon for a tour of inspection of the company's interests in the United States, after which he takes the steamer for England.

Mine Disaster in Pennsylvania.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 21.—By an explosion of gas in the Lance colliery No. 11 of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company at Plymouth this afternoon five men were instantly killed and five others seriously injured.

Yellow Fever Victims.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Russian schooner Liggo, which sailed from Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 8, has arrived at Portland with yellow fever on board. Captain Kirtsen and the second mate died of the disease at sea.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 21.—Two new cases of yellow fever, one suspicious case and one death from the disease were reported to-day.

At the Big Show.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 21.—Paid admissions at the World's Fair to-day 197,402.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—An accident occurred this morning on the movable sidewalk which extends the length of the Casino steamboat pier at the World's Fair grounds, and a large section of the sidewalk was torn from its fastenings. The seats became derailed and slipped over, throwing 200 passengers violently on the pier. Many passengers were severely bruised and cut.

The Peabody Medical Institute

BOSTON, MASS.

53rd YEAR.

As this renowned institution near approaches the competition of a third of a century of unparalleled success and usefulness in the treatment of all nervous disorders, from whatever cause arising, it is fitting that the public should be informed why it has become a fixed fact among the medical phenomena of this century, and why it will remain so. The chief reason is the physicians employed are qualified by training, education, earnestness and zeal, and peculiar genius, adaptation and attention to this special department of pathology and therapeutics. With their treatment it will be wise for the afflicted to bear in mind that there is no cause for despair or even despondency.

In recognition of the pre-eminent skill of the chief consulting physician of this institute, W. H. Parker, M.D., the board of officers of the National Medical Health Association, on Jan. 1, 1876, conferred upon him the gold and jeweled medal, accompanied by a series of flattering resolutions for the prize essay (The Science of Life or Self-Preservation) on nervous maladies. The presentation was noticed at time of its occurrence, not only by the Boston press but by all the leading journals throughout the country.

William H. Parker, M.D., may be consulted in person or by mail, at the Peabody Medical Institute, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass. Prospectus FREE. Send now. xxv

Some Very Interesting Papers, Histories of Cases and Discussion Thereon —Successful Surgical Operations by Local Doctors —An Important Report.

TUESDAY EVENING.

An address on surgery from Dr. W. H. Hingston, Montreal, was the first thing on the programme, and was received with a vote of thanks.

The address of Dr. F. R. Eccles, London, on the treatment of displaced kidney, was received with applause and led to a great deal of interesting discussion. Dr. Bethune, Seaforth, Dr. Bell, Montreal, and Dr. Lapthorn Smith, of Montreal, took part in the talk. The latter drew attention to the fact that displaced kidney was hardly ever to be found among males, while it was commonly found among the females. "I had my attention drawn to this fact," said Dr. Smith, "when one night I heard some young men passing my window from their club and discussing a society belle. One said, 'Well, I can't for the life of me see where she keeps her 30 yards of intestines.' (Laughter.) They were wrong in their figures; they meant 30 feet. I wish Dr. Eccles had had time in his excellent address to speak of the ounce of prevention as well as the pound of cure. I'll speak of the compression of woman's waist by means of corsets. While we cannot probably effect the abolition of the corset, we might all use our influence in the modification of that garment. The corset might be worn a little looser, a little less tight or a little larger.

Dr. Eccles again spoke of his method of rectifying a displaced kidney and methods of keeping it in place. Referring to the former speaker's remarks with regard to corsets the doctor said: "I told my patients to tighten the corsets above and open them below the waist."

Dr. H. S. Birkett, Montreal, then read a paper on "Thyrotomy for large sub-cordal spindle-shelled sarcoma." After some remarks by Dr. Osborne, Hamilton, on the case referred to in the paper, the chairman adjourned the meeting to meet at the Tecumseh House for supper.

THE BANQUET.

A splendid banquet was given to the visitors by the local members of the profession at the Tecumseh House, beginning after 9 o'clock. About 200 sat down. Dr. Hodge presided and introduced the toast list. "The Queen" was honored with the National Anthem. Dr. Hingston, of Montreal, and Dr. Praegar, of British Columbia, responded for "The Dominion" in witty speeches. Dr. Harrison, of Selkirk, spoke on behalf of the Ontario Medical Association.

The chairman in toasting "Our Guests warmly welcomed the visitors. He regretted the meeting was at the same time as the Western Fair, as it had interfered with arrangements. Dr. Sheard, the president, replied warmly. Drs. Canniff, of Toronto, and Birkett, of Montreal, also spoke to the toast. Mr. C. W. Davis sang and the "Ladies" were proposed by Dr. J. S. Niven, vice-chairman, and championed by Drs. Thorburn and Anglin.

Thursday Morning.

The session was opened at 10 a.m. by the president. Dr. Holmes, of Chatham, read the first paper, the subject of which was, "Two Cases of Laparotomy for Unusual Conditions." It was discussed by Dr. Atherton, of Toronto.

Dr. Bell, of Montreal, spoke of some unusual conditions met with in hernia operations. Drs. Canniff, of Montreal, and Bethune, of Seaforth, discussed it.

NEXT PLACE OF MEETING.

The report of the nominating committee was presented.

It first recommended that the next place of meeting be St. John, N. B.

Dr. Canniff did not favor going so far. Few, if any, physicians came from that section to the annual meetings in Ontario.

It was explained that St. John was tacitly promised the meeting next year in view of London getting it this year, on account of the movement westward to the World's Fair.

Dr. Praegar urged the claims for British Columbia for 1895.

The St. John recommendation was adopted.

THE NEW OFFICERS.

The report, after a few amendments, resulted in the election of the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—Dr. Harrison, Selkirk, Ont.

General Secretary—Dr. F. N. G. Starr, Toronto.

Treasurer—Dr. Small, Ottawa.

Vice-President for Ontario—Dr. F. R. Eccles, London.

Vice-President for Quebec—Dr. Stewart, Montreal.

New Brunswick—Dr. Christie, St. John.

Vice-President for Nova Scotia—Dr. Muir, Truro, N. S.

Vice-President for Manitoba—Dr. Spence, Brandon.

Vice-President for Northwest Territories—Dr. Newburn, Lethbridge.

Vice-President for Prince Edward Island—Dr. Taylor, Charlottetown.

Vice-President for British Columbia—Dr. McKechnie, Nanaimo.

Provincial secretaries elected were: Ontario, Dr. I. Olmsted, Hamilton; Quebec, Dr. Anglin, Montreal; Nova Scotia, Dr. McKeen, Cowe Bay; New Brunswick, Dr. McLaren, St. John; Prince Edward Island, Dr. Johnston, Charlettetown; British Columbia, Dr. Walker, New Westminster; Manitoba, Dr. McDairmid, Winnipeg; Northwest Territories, Dr. Calder, Medicine Hat.

Thursday Afternoon.

It was nearly 4 o'clock when the members returned from their pleasant trip to the asylum and picked up the broken threads of business again.

Dr. A. McPhedran opened with a carefully prepared and closely reasoned paper on "Medicine," and covered as much of that wide field as limited time would permit. It brought out an interesting discussion.

In order to facilitate matters the medical and surgical departments were divided, those more interested in the former adjourning to another room.

THE SURGICAL SECTION.

Dr. Ferguson, of London, contributed to the surgical section the history of a remarkable case, which involved three operations (for cholecystostomy) upon the patient, a young married woman, the complaint being very painful. Over 80 gall stones were extracted and in their preserved form were exhibited to the convention. The patient was also present, and the point of the abdominal incision was examined by the physicians present. Dr. Ferguson was congratulated upon the successful issue of his treatment.

"The anatomical relations of a large malignant growth in the neck with a secondary deposit in the lung" was the title of a well-written paper by a young physician, R. Primrose, of Toronto, who was highly commended for his able effort.

The chairman, Dr. Cameron, of Toronto, called upon Dr. Meek, of London, to report an operation performed by the latter that morning. Dr. Meek responded and exhibited a huge growth which had been cut from the abdominal regions of the patient, a woman. Dr. Cameron, one of the most eminent surgeons in Canada, approved the skill and apparent ease with which Dr. Meek performed the operation, though differing from him in diagnosis of the case. Dr. Eccles said he had also witnessed the achievement and was inclined to agree with Dr. Meek as to the causation.

THE MEDICAL SECTION.

Dr. Moorehouse, London, presided over the medical section.

Dr. Arnott discussed "Some of the uses of sulphuric acid," and the resultant discussion elicited some new ideas.

Dr. Hodge, London, presented three cases (a brother and two sisters) of Friedreich's Ataxia, which proved very interesting.

Other papers were read by Dr. McKeough, Chatham, on "The Prophylaxis and Treatment of Puerperal Eclampsia," and by Dr. McCallum, London, on "The Meaning of Motion."

THURSDAY EVENING.

The first business of the final session was the submission of a lengthy report on behalf of a previously nominated committee by Dr. Praegar, of British Columbia, which epitomized, recommended the adoption of some scheme by which a physician of one Province might practice in any other Province through the agency and authority of a Dominion Medical Examining Board—a supreme organization for Canada. The report also suggested the advisability of establishing this same co-operation between England and Canada.

Dr. A. B. McCallum, of Toronto, said they could not hope to see accomplished in their generation any such result as set forth in the motion. Medical practice came under Provincial jurisdiction. There were some universities which did not give medical degrees. So long as in Quebec there was such a difference of views existing as to the character of a curriculum, so long would the present anomaly in Quebec exist. By this motion they would give the privilege of conferring degrees on Laval and other French-Canadian universities while withholding it from some in Ontario. He suggested that the different universities send representatives to this association and, if possible, agree upon some united plan of action.

The president ruled that the motion involved legislation ultra vires of the powers of the society. On Dr. Cameron's suggestion it was, however, tabled.

Dr. Wesley Mills, of Montreal, one of Quebec's leading physicians, followed with an interesting and unique paper on "Peculiar Forms of Sleep or Allied Conditions." The doctor said he had secured a hibernating ground hog and had watched its habits carefully for four years. He had also paid attention to several peculiar cases of human lethargy and cited the instance of a man named "Sleepy Joe" who would lay in an comatose condition with brief intermissions to respond to nature's calls, during several months of the year and awake in the latter part of the spring active and vigorous, and also of an old woman who was bedridden and in a like state for thirteen years, during which she only spoke twice. The learned doctor held that the cases of the animal and the human being were analogous and were equally evidences of the hibernating principle.

Dr. McCallum, physiologist, of Toronto University, said it did not follow because a person slept long in the day, or for a month or year, that it was a case of hibernation. He did not know that he would accept Dr. Mills' theory that the cases cited were analogous.

Dr. Mills defended his position. The symptoms were analogous, and as he was an evolutionist it seemed to him the cases were phases of the same hibernating tendencies.

Dr. H. A. McCallum, London, quoted Dr. Bucke's opinion, which was that sleep dated back to the tides and corresponded to the two periods of rest during the tides.

Dr. D. C. Meyers, Toronto, gave a paper on "Multiple Neuritis," and Dr. A. A. Reeve, Toronto, on "Ophthalmic Memoranda." The latter was favorably criticised.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The president, Dr. Sheard, of Toronto was asked to leave the chair and his successor: Dr. Harrison, of Selkirk assumed it. Dr. Harrison said it was his duty to thank the association for electing him as president. John Wesley said that the thing that would astonish a man most when he got to heaven was the fact that he was there. (Laughter). No one was more astonished than himself to find himself president. He would wash his hand of all responsibility for the choice. (Laughter). But he would take off his coat and work. (Applause).

It was moved by Dr. Praegar, seconded by Dr. McCallum, Toronto, that a vote of thanks be tendered Dr. Sheard for his efficiency as the presiding officer during the meeting. This was carried amid applause, and the recipient gracefully acknowledged it.

Dr. Mills proposed a vote of thanks to the profession of London for the very cordial reception given the visitors. The physicians of the city had left their work to assist in entertaining them at a very busy time; in fact they set almost a dangerous example by the profusion of their hospitality. (Laughter.)

Dr. Cameron seconded this, and it was carried amidst applause.

Votes of thanks were also tendered the general secretary (Dr. Birkett, of Toronto) and to the railways. The 26th annual meeting was then closed.

Much Depends Upon the Point of View

"When I was a young fellow," said a middle-aged man, "I used to think that when a man got to be 30 he would be quite a mature sort of a person; but there came a time when I changed my views on this subject materially, and thought that a man of 30 was a mere youngster. I thought then that possibly a man might at 50 think that he was taking on years somewhat, but I don't look at it in that light at all now; I now regard a man of 50 as one who is just beginning life."

Spruce gum costs over $1 a pound wholesale, to those who chews to buy it.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

A Frugal Meal.

It's house-cleaning time. Every one tired and cross; every thing out of place and wrong end foremost. No time to fool away in cooking; no fire, probably; no appetite, perhaps; no comfort, certainly.

No Pearline—that's the cause of it. A little Pearline, when you're cleaning house, makes the whole thing smooth and easy. With anything about the house that isn't hurt by water, you can save time and hard work by using Pearline. You won't have to use that rub, rub, rub, in getting the dirt off. And that saves other things, your paint, for instance.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 313 JAMES PYLE, New York.

—"Knoxonian" in Canada Presbyterian has this good word for the doctors of medicine:

—Should one of our wards be so unfortunate as to lose his situation—and remember it is not always the boy's fault, for employers are sometimes cruel—we can find him another.—[Dr. Barnardo in Toronto Empire.

It is not so very long since Dr. Barnardo was severely reprimanded by a British court because he gave away a boy to a man in Canada whose address he did not know, and all trace of whom he failed to find when ordered by the courts to produce him. Where is that boy now? What fate may await boys or girls handed over to strangers as the lad in question was?

—You cannot destroy your fish and have them, too. That has been proved in every part of Canada. In the past streams have been "fished out" of the finest trout that, under careful management, would have supplied a substantial proportion of the people's food. In the great lakes, the same story has to be told of fishing out of season and killing fish by unsportsmanlike methods. And now a commission of experts has been investigating the rapid disappearance of salmon in the Columbia River. They report that the numerous nets, seines, traps and other devices that fill the lower Columbia from Astoria a long distance upward, and the reckless slaughter of the fish by the canners are the cause of the scarcity of salmon. An endeavor will be made to have joint legislation agreed upon by the Legislatures of Oregon and Washington with the object of remedying the evil. We have heard it said that Fraser River, B. C., methods are not the most approved. It would be a pity if an industry like salmon canning, which has proved so profitable, should be destroyed by a failure to heed the warnings that have come from almost every stream and lake on the continent. The fish cannot be recklessly sacrificed for ever.

RESULTS OF "COMBINE" RULE.

Mr. Sutherland, M.P., at the recent great meeting of electors in Arthur, made a significent reference to one of the many bad results of the policy of high taxation:

"He reminded the audience that the Conservatives had promised by protection to dot the whole country over with bustling factory towns. He took one illustration of the benefits of protection from his own town of Woodstock. The manufacturers of agricultural implements formed a combine to increase the price of their goods to the farmers. The result was that a large firm who had obtained a money bonus of $35,000 and privileges equal to almost as much again from the town to employ about 500 men, had shut down. They found that they could make more money by joining the combine, ceasing operations, and so they closed down, regardless of their promises to the municipality and of the interests of the workingmen who had been in their employ. One of the men at the head of that combine had become a millionaire. The papers throughout the country were sounding his praises as a generous man. He had given $100,000 to erect a music hall for the people of Toronto. It was said that he was a Christian and that he had given large sums to some of the churches. Where did he get the money? Mr. Sutherland did not say that he had robbed the people, but the Government had done it."

Woodstock is not the only place where industries have been demoralized, in order that monopolists in Toronto and Montreal might control the output. There are few cities or towns in this Western district where similar results have not flowed from the high tax policy.

THE ROMANCE OF COAL OIL.

In the annual report of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Industrial Statistics, just issued, Prof. Albert S. Bolles has inserted an elaborate historical and statistical account of the production of petroleum in Pennsylvania, its consumption and exportation. Scarcely 30 years have passed since the first barrel of refined oil was offered for sale. Notwithstanding this, the exports rank fourth in the list for value, and are surpassed only by cotton, breadstuffs and provisions. For the year ending June 30, 1864, the total exports were 23,000,000 gallons. Five years later they had increased to 100,000,000 gallons, in 1874 to 200,000,000 gallons, and in 1891 to 700,000,000 gallons. A larger percentage of the oil product of the country is sent abroad than of any other except cotton. The exports are principally to European countries.

The reduction in the price of petroleum in the United States is quite as noteworthy as the increase in production, quantity and exportation. A gallon of oil in bulk cost in 1861 not less than 58 cents; in 1892 not more than 3½ cents, or hardly one-seventeenth of the old price. Pipe lines aggregating 25,000 miles in length have been laid, and 9,000 tank cars have been built, which, if forming a single train, would extend 65 miles. Besides these cars, and a number of bulk sailing and other vessels, 59 bulk steamers are now employed in transporting the oil to foreign countries. The value of the Pennsylvania oil wells and lands is estimated at more than $87,000,000. Sixty-five million dollars more must be added to cover the value of the plant employed in producing crude petroleum. This valuation does not include the pipe lines, tank cars, the great fields of tankage, the costly refineries, docks for exportation, nor the fleet of bulk vessels carrying the product to foreign shores. The estimate of total capital required for the production, manufacture, and transportation of petroleum and its products is not far from $300,000,000.

The chief reasons why coal oil has fallen to so low a price in the United States, and to a certain extent in Canada, is to be found in the improved methods of refining and the making of money out of what was formerly regarded as waste material. At one time, the refiners annually bought huge quantities of wood or coal for fuel. Whole forests were purchased to provide the intense heat needed for a series of stills. But a London man invented a means whereby the waste tar that had previously been run into streams or buried in the earth could be turned to account as fuel, and an enormous saving was effected by the refiners of both countries. To-day, the by-products of the United States refineries are of decided and growing importance, and an expert tells us that the question is, given superabounding by products, what new applications can we find for them? In the market of 65,000,000, the answer is in scores of shelves laden with proof that the oil well is a formidable rival to the cotton seed, the olive tree, the pitch pine, the asphaltum lake, the gas retort, and even to the busy bee as she spreads her wax. Speaking broadly, this expert tells us, when dilating on the oil exhibit at the World's Fair, the treatment of crude oil is by distillation and little more. Petroleum as it flows from a well may be considered as a mixture of a variety of substances ranging all the way from gasoline to tar, each with its own boiling point. If heat be gradually applied in a still and increased the gasolines and naphthas pass off first, then the illuminating oils, next the lubricators, until nothing is left in the still but an almost solid black cake. This kind of treatment is called fractional distillation. Fractional distillation is often modified, and for a good reason. By a happy accident befalling an eye quick to see the golden hint in it, Mr. Joshua Merrill, in 1867, began to apply heat to a still in such a way as to augment the yield of illuminating oil, while at the same time its quality is bettered. In processes of this type, known as "cracking," the elements of the crude oil rearrange themselves into a quite different group of products from those obtained by fractional distillation. One of the products due to the treatment originated by Mr. Merrill is an odorless engine oil; a specimen of it used for 90 days on machinery at the fair is shown at Chicago unimpaired in lubricating quality.

Let us glance at the products of the stills, successively ranked as they are from a benzine, two-thirds the specific gravity of water, to a carbon pressed for duty in an arc lamp. Gasolines deodorized fill jar after jar, one particularly fine brand being used for the intense clear flame in which the bamboo filament of an incandescent bulb unites with the platinum wire which is to lead in its electric current. Other brands melt the solder in canning machines. Gasoline, we can see, has an ample variety of chemical applications; it dissolves rubber for paterproof clothing; it removes grease from the fleeces of sheep; flaxseed reduced to meal is placed with it in a percolator, effecually separating the flax oil. With care, gosoline can be made to destroy moths in furniture and clothing; an entomologist with a pint of it can painlessly kill a thousand insects, with, what is of importance to him, the least possible distortion of leg and wing. In the manufacture of paints, varnishes and lacquers, deodorized naphthas have manifold utility. As substitutes for turpentine they are used as thinning ingredients; in such japans as are baked, naphtha is better than turpentine, in that it dries quicker and does not run. Naphtha goes to form a capital wood stain for shingles, and a wood filler serviceable as a first coat to the painter and varnisher. Combined with rosin and cheap metallic oxides it makes a paint good enough for barrels and the like. Besides all this it yields inexpensive lacquers for the decoration of iron and tinware. At the other pole of usefulness with the brush, let it be said that a French artist has recently proved that naphtha is an admirable medium for color, as it mixes perfectly with the pigments of a pallette, and on the canvas soon evaporates completely.

Petroleum is also used for fuel, but not to any great extent in Canada, because of its relative price when compared with coal and wood. Weight for weight, it has twice the efficiency of coal, as captains of naphtha launches are well aware. In Russia locomotives use petroleum, and so do steamers on the Black and Caspian Seas, with much benefit in replacing the frightful labor of stoking by the gentle motion of an automatic pump. It is quite likely that in the quickening of ocean transit, and in the navigation of the air, fuel oils may yet play a prominent part.

When from petroleum all the oils have been driven off there remains in the still a residuum which looks about as worthless as anything can. And yet, plied by modern alchemy, from that murky sediment is derived paraffine, a mineral soap stock, wax white as snow, asphaltum for paving, tar for roofing, and carbons, to shine as petroleum's haughty rival, the electric light. The paraffine is made into candles, and renders leather, wood and paper waterproof, as testify certain wrappers for cartridges, pasteboard egg cases, sheets of caramel tissue, and butter platters of thin veneer. Wax, in its unrefined state, is applied to building paper; purified and bleached, it is moulded into the semblance of fruits and flowers; it is even worked up into chewing gum. Of kin to all these are the vaselines, perfectly deodorized, which never grow rancid, and which are shown at the Chicago show in a wide variety of emollients and face paints.

These facts are given to show how it has become possible for the United States refiners, after 30 years' experience, to reduce the cost of their coal oils, in bulk, from 58 cents a gallon in 1861 to 3½ cents a gallon during the past year. In what other industry has science permitted such wonderful improvements and adaptations in the same space of time?

That Tired Feeling

The marked benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. B. Emerton, a well known merchant of Auburn, Maine, says: "About five years ago I began to suffer with very severe pain in my Stomach, gradually growing worse. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia complicated with Liver and Kidney troubles. I improved at once and am certainly very much better and feel more like working.

Living on Little Money.

A Former Londoner's Entertaining Narrative.

Mr. Thomas Martindale, formerly of this city, now a prominent merchant of Philadelphia, moved by the talk about hard times in the United States, writes for the Philadelphia Inquirer the following lively account of how people in this city and elsewhere got through the hard times of 1857:

I was told that it was a real estate panic, that people had gone crazy on buying and selling lands, houses and lots, that values had been largely inflated, and the crash came and distress swept over the whole country like a tidal wave. It was in 1857, and I was but 12 years old—too young to know much about the cause of the hard times, but old enough to appreciate its effects. I was the eldest of twelve children, eight of whom have arrived at manhood and womanhood. My father was as industrious, as plucky and nervy a man as ever lived, really and truly, in his sphere and in his way a hero. My mother, a fitting wife to such a man, patient, cheerful, economical, an everlasting worker, and with a happy faculty of making the best out of everything. We were living in the city of London, Canada, and my father's wages were $1 25 a day. Think of it—$1 25 a day to feed eight vigorous appetites, to clothe, house and educate a cottageful of children; $32 a month to pay for house rent, heat, light, to supply the table and furnish clothing, warm and thick, a needed protection against the rigors of a Canadian winter. How it was done, and no doubt it can be done even now, and to tell how may point out a lesson for these troublous times of '93, which are bound to bring in their train distress and suffering.

My father was a stern believer in paying cash for everything; he abhorred a bill as "nature abhors a vacuum." And as nature always rushes with storm and fury to restore and fill in the void, so did he "cry aloud," and spared not, when anything, no matter how small, was bought and not paid for. Herein is lesson number one for hard times—"pay as you go."

We had a house with quite a plat of ground, say three-eighths of an acre, which I, as the eldest, dug with spade and shovel, and in which was grown potatoes, cabbage, turnips, carrots and saffron. The first four vegetables we buried during the winter in trenches lined with straw, and heaped high up with earth, so that the penetrating frost (often the thermometer was in the thirties below zero) could not reach them; the saffron we cured and sold to the drug stores. Here, then, we had an abundance of vegetable food for the long winter at little cost. We kept a couple of pigs, which fattened on the refuse of the garden during the summer, and in the fall were killed, the meat smoked and cured and hung up on the rafters, the ruddy, bronze-hued hams, shoulders and sides even now to my imagination appearing more succulent and appetizing than anything I have ever seen since, and the sausages my mother and sisters used to make, those strings of fat and luscious sausages that had no suspicion of "strange" fillings in them, sausages that we all knew were cleanly and nicely made, and which hung in festoons from nails driven into the wall behind the big wood stove—oh, they were fine! In the summer of 1857 every spare hour that I had was utilized in chopping chips for firewood off the stumps that then were dotted over the commons in all directions. We kept a cow, and she, our "rural divinity" (as Burroughs calls her) was left to wander at will on the commons, supplementing her sparse picking with an occasional foray into some garden whose front gate yielded to the gentle touch of her horns in pressing down the latch. We sold what milk the family did not need, and realized a little ready cash in this manner. We kept chickens, and among them was a game cock that oftentimes served to cheer me up from my hard, never-ending duties by seeing him whip the neighbors' roosters. I confess it now, that I would leave the wood I was sawing, the cow I was milking, or the garden I was digging to watch this little fellow "do his antagonist up" (even at the expense of a sure thrashing if my father should catch me neglecting the work.) My mother took shirts to make from the stores, upon which she and my sisters worked by the light of the tallow candle many and many a night until the late, late hours. We made our own candles. I can still see the moulds hanging ready for their tallow fillings, and still remember how careful we had to be in withdrawing the candles from the moulds so as not to break them. My father was a believer in buying goods in quantities. He would go to the mill and buy and pay for a sack of cornmeal of 100 pounds, and say 50 pounds of oatmeal. The cornmeal served us for breakfast and the oatmeal for supper, year in and year out, and having plenty of milk we fattened and became ruddy and vigorous upon this cheap but nutritious diet. Then in the late fall after the frosts had come a hindquarter or a forequarter of beef would be purchased at from 4 to 5 cents a pound. This would be frozen and kept frozen until it was all used up in the spring.

My father mended or cobbled our shoes. Mother made our clothes both for the boys and girls, buying the materials by the piece. She knit the stockings and warm woolen mittens, and when any one of us was sick, the homely remedies of castor oil or ipecac—up or down—were resorted to, the doctor was not called in, for the child surely got well. There was no money to expend for medical treatment, and no need of tonics. The wholesome living, pressing economy, hard work for one and all (for every one had to do his or her share) was the best tonic. Coffee was a luxury unknown in its pure state; but roasted rye was a good substitute, and no need was there of tea, excepting when the minister would call, when the little treasures of china would be brought out, a cake made with a few currants in it, maybe a chicken would be killed (for in those days the ministers had a singular fondness for chicken) and a pot of tea would be brewed to warm the good man's heart. With all the planning and turning to make both ends meet, there was always a little laid aside for pew rent, and a little for a "rainy day," and so the winter of '57 passed and '58 and '59, and gradually the sun of prosperity began to dawn upon us. I had gone to work in '58 at a salary of $1 50 a week, which had been increased gradually until my wages made a snug addition to our household receipts, and a next brother younger than I bringing in his quota, he having also obtained work at a small salary. I remember well, as if it were but yesterday, taking part in a concert given at a band of hope celebration, where at the age of 14, in the winter of 1859, I whistled the variations to a then popular negro melody, called:

HARD TIMES COME AGAIN NO MORE.

"'Tis a sigh that is wafted across the ocean wave,
'Tis a song all that is heard along the shore,
'Tis a dirge that is murmured around the lowly grave,
Oh, hard times come again no more.
'Tis the song, the sigh of the weary,
Hard times, hard times,
Come again no more;
Many days you have lingered around our cabin door,
Oh, hard times come again no more."

The song and chorus, with the whistling accompaniment, was encored again and again, and it came to me like a revelation from the clouds that the hard times had rolled by, for the people in the hall caught up the refrain of the chorus and sang it with might and main, as if singing out of the very depths of their souls:

"Many days you have lingered around our cabin door,
Oh, hard times come again no more."

If it then should come to pass that, whether by reason of the silver trouble, the tariff revision, or from the undoubted fact that we have all, every one of us, been living too extravagantly, that the whole nation has come to consider what in 1857 were undoubted luxuries—now as actual necessities—if we have all been paying too much for amusements, too much for our eating and drinking, too much for our apparel, our house furnishings, our housekeeping, too much for rent, is it not well to stop and think, to look back at what most men of mature years have passed through in years of adversity, and deduce a wholesome lesson therefrom?

Your French chops at 30 cents a pound, your print butter at 50 cents a pound, Java coffee at 38 cents, tea at $1 or $5 do not make any better men or women than cornmeal at 2 cents, oatmeal at 5 cents, rump steak at 15 cents, with syrup or mutton fat instead of butter, and with home-made clothes in place of tailor-made garments. Although it is true that the luxuries in dress and eating are much more congenial to our tastes, and if this present depression should be more far-reaching in its consequences than our pen can now fathom, if it should last for a longer period than we now expect let the worst come that can come, those who resolutely "hew to the line," cut their "garment to the cloth" and who withal are cheerful and contented will emerge from the struggle like the sun breaking the murky clouds, brighter and better. They will have more self-reliance, more feeling for others, more real charity; for

"Affliction is the wholesome soil of virtue;
Where patience, honor, sweet humanity,
Calm fortitude, take root and strongly flourish."

THOMAS MARTINDALE.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Cattle—Ten cars on sale; 7 cars 1,400 to 1,450 lbs sold at $5 20, and most of the other stock was peddled off.

Sheep and Lambs—Only 12 cars on sale, 5 cars of which were fresh receipts, including one car of Canadas. The load of Canadas were taken as an order, and were very good, bringing $5, but they were the only load here and were wanted; a choice deck of 76 lb lambs also went as an order at $4 60 and good 68 lb at $4 50. The outlook is improved only in the fact that most of the old heldover stock is out of the way, but the unfavorable reports from the eastern markets give no encouragement to shippers.

Hogs—The market was steady to strong for good grades; common to fair stock also ruled firm; good to choice Yorkers brought $6 80 to $6 90; choice ends, $6 40 to $6 60; mediums and packers, $6 65 to $6 90; pigs, $6 40 to $6 60.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: "English wheat is in good request. New crop is quoted at 1s, and old crop at 6d advance; foreign wheat is 6d dearer; malting barley is firm; oats have risen 3d; corn is up 6s; flour is from 6d to 1s per sack higher. To-day all the markets were firm. New England wheats were in demand at the advance quoted above; foreign wheats were also held at higher rates; both malting and grinding barleys were 1s dearer; corn, flat and round, advanced another 6d; beans and peas were 'well held.'"

AN UNFOUNDED ATTACK.

Untruths Regarding the Seventh Battalion Band.

A Fabricated Yarn About the Young Liberal Bugle and Drum Corps.

Under the heading, "Who Sanctions This?—Seventh Battalion Bugles and Drums Used for Grit Parades and Sideshows—Major Hayes Resigns," the Free Press of Thursday morning had the following:

"Trouble is brewing among some of the officers of the Seventh Battalion in consequence of the manner in which the drums and bugles of the bugle band are being cared for. It leaked out that all the instruments, with the exception of the inferior drums used in the band that heads the boasted Hyman fleet, are the property of the battalion. Also that the bugles and drums being used to attract the attention of visitors at the fair grounds to one of the sideshows held under the auspices of the association are also Government property. These facts might never have come to light if Capt. Graham had not desired to take the bugle band with his company to St. Thomas the other evening, whither they went at the invitation of the colonel of the city battalion there, and in the interests of the regiment. When Capt. Graham made the request for the services of the band to Major Hayes, who is also adjutant, that officer raised some objections. The Grit band matter was alluded to, and the major got angry and resigned. Col. Payne used every effort to straighten out the difficulty, and the resignation will probably be reconsidered. Meantime it is pertinent to ask the commanders of the 'fleet,' 'Where did you get those drums?'"

It is almost unnecessary to say that inquiry in the proper quarters revealed the fact that there is no foundation for this attack, as the most casual inquiry would have convinced the Free Press. The Young Liberal Bugle and Drum Corps bought and paid for their instruments. Anyone who is skeptical on that point can be fully convinced by applying to R. S. Williams & Co., music dealers. As to the Seventh Battalion side of the story, the commanding officer must be allowed to speak about it. He has sent the following letter to the Free Press, which the ADVERTISER has been requested to publish:

To the Editor of the Free Press:

I notice in this morning's issue an article headed "Who Sanctions This?" Then the article proceeds to state that the bugles and drums of the Seventh Battalion Band are used in the "Grit parades and sideshows," etc. This assertion is incorrect. Some of the buglers, no doubt, are members of the Liberal Drum and Bugle Corps, and as citizens please their own political leaning and play with them. But the Seventh Battalion Bugle Band has not been on any parade except with its own corps or unit thereof. In regard to the "Grit Band" being alluded to by one of the officers of the Battalion to Major Hayes, the adjutant, that is untrue.

It looks as if the writer of the article in this morning's paper wishes to injure the regiment by rehashing politics. There has been quite sufficient of such in the past. It is the last place that politics should play a part; for it requires the united efforts of our citizens, irrespective of party, to maintain an efficient and well-disciplined regiment. H. PAYNE, Lieut.-Col.,

Commanding Seventh Battalion Fusiliers.

London, Sept. 21.

Ho! my sisters, see the banner
Waving in the sky,
Are you broken down, discouraged?
Courage! help is nigh.

On that banner read this legend;
"Suffering women, hail!
Pierce's Favorite Prescription
Ne'er was known to fail."

The success of this remedy is wonderful. Its record is unparalleled. It has cured thousands of cases of female weakness, irregularities, and all diseases peculiar to the sex. It can always be depended on to do exactly what is claimed for it. All the proprietors ask is a trial. That will convince the most skeptical of its wonderful virtues. Price ($1) refunded if it fails to give satisfaction. Guatantee printed on every bottle-wrapper.

GENTLEMEN,—I was troubled with chronic diarrhœa for over three years and received no benefit from all the medicine I tried. I was unable to work from two to four days every week. Hearing of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, I began to use it. Am now all right. JOHN STYLES, Bracebridge, Ont.

SUMMER SPORTS.

THE WHEEL.

J. W. Stocks, the English racer, has lowered the recent records established by L. S. Meintjes at Chicago. Stocks created new records from 3 to 63 miles on Aug. 30, on the Herne Hill track.

THE TURF.

Two well known English race horses have just changed owners—Buccaneer for $22,500, and Blue Green for $20,000.

Malcolm Forbes, owner of Nancy Hanks, will pay no attention to the challenge of Directum's owner. Mr. Forbes refused to discuss the challenge, but his friends say he will entirely ignore it.

Mr. McCalmont, the owner of Isinglass, took a bet of £5,000 to £100 against his colt for the Derby when Isinglass was a yearling. He also took a bet of £12,000 against £1,000 for the Two Thousand, Derby and St. Leger, and the unbeaten colt landed the three. Mr. McCalmont has made a present of £3,000 to Jewatt, his trainer.

BASEBALL.

Joe Hornung is being roasted by St. Louis critics for incompetant umpiring. They say his vision is bad and his hearing imperfect.

One of the queerest tricks in baseball was worked by Washington against the Chicagos in their last series. Farrel was at bat, and after having two balls called on him asked Kittredge to sweep the plate, the pitcher having the ball. The little catcher obligingly went for the broom, and Stricker, who was on third, stole home.

The rule of placing the pitcher back five feet ruined several of the king twirlers, among them Keefe, Crane, John Clarkson, Lovett and Haddock. And yet those men welcomed the change and voiced the belief that it would be of great benefit to them.

CRICKET.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 21.—The Australian cricketers sailed for the United States yesterday on the White Star steamer Germanic.

It is understood that Rev. F. W. Terry, who so ably captained the Canadian cricket eleven against the Americans, and also hit up a century for himself in the recent international match, has been asked to take charge of a parish in Alberta, N. W. T., and has accepted the call. He will leave for the Northwest in the near future, and thus his services will be lost in the coming match with the Australians and many important events next year. Last year Mr. Terry was a teacher in Upper Canada College.

The trial heats will be rowed on Oct. 4, 5 and 6, and the finals at the regatta on Saturday, the 7th.

ATHLETICS.

Fitzsimmmons, the middleweight, gleefully says he will fight Corbett for the purse offered by the Coney Island Athletic Club, and $35,000 to boot.

Six thousand people saw the Napier-Vanheest fight for $2,000 at New Orleans last night. The Australian (Napier) was beaten after 28 rounds. It was a brutal spectacle.

MOTHERS AND BABIES.

Wise mothers of the present day have lost faith in the old systems and rules for nourishing infants. Medical science, and a careful study of the principles of dietetics has done much to sweep away false ideas and notions as to how the baby should be fed. An eminent medical writer says: "There can, I think, be no theory in regard to the diet of infants, except one founded upon the study of the composition of human milk, and an attempt to imitate it." Dr. J. M. Fothergill, of London, Eng., that great authority on the subject of infant feeding, declares that Lactated Food is the nearest and surest approach to mother's milk, and he places great value upon this valuable food as a nourisher and builder. The best medical writers on this continent, who give special attention to infant dieting, are all agreed that Lactated Food is unsurpassed for building up and fortifying the weak system.

Mothers need not hesitate about using Lactated Food for their babies, seeing it has such strong recommendations. A full sized tin will be sent free to any mother who has not yet given this food a trial. Send full address to Wells & Richardson Company, Montreal.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

LUCK, OR PLUCK?

He soon discovered that she did not know everything, but whatever she did know she talked of so glibly that he could not help enjoying the position of listener. She did not often show earnestness about anything that to him was more than trifling, but when she did go out of her customary mode for a moment or two she was saintly; he could think of no other word that would do it justice. He had not liked her manner to his own mother, for a first the girl treated that estimable woman as a servant, and did it in the manner which makes most servants detest most young ladies; but had she not afterward, with her own tiny fingers, made a new Sunday bonnet for Mrs. Hayn, and had not his mother, in genuine gratitude, kissed her? Should he bear malice for what his mother had forgiven?

The young man merely admired and respected Lucia; of that he was very sure. Regard more tender he would have blamed himself for, first, because love implied matrimony, which he did not intend to venture into until he had seen more of the world and perhaps gone to college; secondly, because he did not imagine that any such sentiment would be reciprocated. He came of a family that through generations of hard experience had learned to count the cost of everything, even the affections, like meat of the better country people in the older states. He had also an aversion to marriages between persons of different classes. Lucia was to him an acquaintance—not even a friend—whom he highly esteemed; that was all.

His father thought differently, and one day when the two were in the woodland belonging to the farm, loading a wagon with wood to be stored near the house for winter use, the old man said, abruptly:

"I hope you're not growing too fond of that young woman, Phil?"

"No danger," the youth answered promptly, though as he raised his head his eyes did not meet his father's.

"You seem to know who I mean, anyhow," said the old man after throwing another stick of wood upon the wagon.

"Not much trouble to do that," Phil replied. "There's only one young woman."

The father laughed softly; the son blushed violently. Then the father sighed.

"That's one of the signs."

"What's a sign?—sign of what?" said Phil, affecting wonder not quite skilfully.

"When 'there's only one young woman' it's a sign the young man who thinks so is likely to consider her the only one worth thinkin' about."

"Oh, pshaw!" exclaimed Phil, attacking the woodpile with great industry.

"Easy, old boy; 'twasn't the woodpile that said it. Brace up your head; you've done nothing to be ashamed of. Besides, your old father can see through the back of your head, anyhow; he's been practicin' at it ever since you were born."

Phil seated himself on the woodpile, looked in the direction his father was not and said:

"I like Lucia very much. She's a new face; she's different from the girls about here. She's somebody new to talk to, and she can talk about something besides crops, and cows, and who is sick, and last Sunday's sermon, and next month's sewing society. That's all."

"Yes," said the old man. "It doesn't seem much, does it? Enough to have made millions of bad matches, though, and spoiled millions of good ones."

Phil was silent for a moment; then he said, with a laugh:

"Father, I believe you're as bad as old Mrs. Tripsey, whom mother's always laughing at because she thinks a man's in love if he sees her daughter home from prayer-meeting."

"P'raps so, my boy—p'r'aps—and maybe as bad as you, for every time there's a bad thunder-storm you're afraid the lightning'll strike the barn. Do you know why? It's because your finest colt is there. Do you see?"

Phil did not reply, so the old man continued:

"I'll make it clearer to you. You're my finest colt; there's more lightnings in a girl's eyes than I ever saw in the sky; you don't know when it's going to strike, and when it hits you you're gone before you know it."

"Much obliged. I'll see to it that I keep myself well insulated," said Phil.

Nevertheless, Phil studied Lucia whenever he had an opportunity—studied her face when she read, her fingers when they busied themselves with fancy-work, her manner with different persons, as it changed according to her idea of the deservings of those with whom she talked. At church he regarded her intently from the beginning of the service to the end, analyzing such portions of prayer, hym, or sermon as did not seem to meet her views. He even allowed his gaze to follow her when she looked more than an instant at other young women, in the ignorance of his masculine heart wondering which of the features of these damsels specially interested her; his mother could have told him that Lucia was merely looking at bonnets and other articles of attire, instead of at their wearers. He wondered what she thought; he told himself where her character was at fault and how it might be improved. In short, he had ample mental leisure, and she was the newest and consequently the least understood of his various subjects of contemplation.

It is impossible to devote a great deal of thought to any subject without becoming deeply interested, even if it be unsightly, tiresome and insignificant. Lucia was none of these, for she was a pretty girl. It is equally impossible to see a familiar subject of thought in the act of disappearance without a personal sense of impending loneliness and a wild desire to snatch it back, or at least go in search of it. Therefore, Philip Hayn needed not to be in love, or even to think himself so, to be conscious of a great vacancy in his mind as the train bore the Tramlay family rapidly toward their city home, and to determine that he would avail himself of the invitation which the head of the family had extended.

CHAPTER II.

"Husband," said Mrs. Hayn to her husband one night, when the person addressed was about to fall asleep, "something's the matter with Phil."

"A touch of malaria, I suppose, said the farmer. "He's been gettin' out muck earlier than usual, and spreadin' it on the ridge of the pasture. The sun's been pretty hot, though it is October, and the hot sun on that sort of stuff always breeds malaria."

"I wasn't talkin' of sickness, said the wife. "The dear boy's health is as good as ever. It's his mind that's out o' sorts."

A long, soft sigh was the farmer's only reply for a moment. It was followed by the remark:

"That city gal, I s'pose—confound her!"

"I don't see what you want her confounded for; she hasn't done anythin'. They don't correspond."

"I should hope not," said Hayn, with considerable vigor. He now was wide awake. "What could they write about? You don't s'pose Phil could write anythin' about our goin's-on that would interest her, do you?"

"No, but young people do sometimes find somethin' to exchange letters about. You and I didn't when we were boy and girl, because we lived within a stone's throw of each other, an' you couldn't keep away from our house after dark, but Philip and——"

"For goodness sake, old lady," interrupted the husband, don't you go to settin' yourself down at your time of life by gettin' the match makin' fever. There isn't the slightest chance that——"

"I didn't say there was; but boys will be boys."

"It doesn't follow that they should be fools, does it—not when they're our boys?"

"Tisn't bein' a fool to be interested in a rich man's daughter. I've often thought how different your life might have been if I'd had anything besides myself to give you when you married me."

"I got all I expected and a thousand times more than I deserved." This assertion was followed by a kiss, which, though delivered in the dark, was of absolutely accurate aim.

"Don't put it into Phil's head that he can get more than a wife when he marries; 'twill do him a great deal more harm than good."

"I'd like to see the dear boy so fixed that he won't have to work so hard as you've had to do."

"Then you'll see him less of a man than his father, when he ought to be better. Isn't that rather poor business for a mother in Israel to be in, old lady?"

"Well, anyhow, I believe Phil's heart is set on making a trip down to York."

"Oh, is that all? Well, he's been promised it, for some day, this long while. Something's always prevented it, but I s'pose now would be as good a time as any. He deserves it; he's as good a son as man ever had."

Mrs. Hayn probably agreed with her husband as to the goodness of their son, but that was not the view of him in which she was interested just then. Said she:

"If he goes, of course he'll see her."

Again the farmer sighed; then he said, quite earnestly:

"Let him see her, then; the sooner he does it the sooner he'll stop thinkin' about her. Bless your dear foolish old heart, her ways and his are as far apart as Haynton and heaven when there's a spiritual drought in this portion of the Lord's vineyard."

"I don't think the Tramlays are so much better than we, if they have got money," said Mrs. Hayn with some indignation. "I always did say that you didn't set enough store by yourself. Mrs. Tramlay is a nice enough woman, but I never could see how she was any smarter than I; and as to her husband, I always noticed that you generally held your own when the two of you were talking about anything."

"Bless you!" exclaimed the farmer, "you are rather proud of your old husband, aren't you? But Phil will soon see, with half an eye, that it would be the silliest thing in the world for him to fall in love with a girl like that."

"I can't for the life of me see why," said the mother. "He's just as good as she, and a good deal smarter, or I'm no judge."

(To Be Continued.)

WILL IT VISIT US AGAIN?

Many people are now asking the question: "Will la grippe visit us again this autumn?" While we devoutly hope our Canadian people will never again feel the iron grip of the monster, we would warn our readers that the disease still exists in sporadic form in some sections of the neighboring republic. While the mysterious life-destroyer is on the North American continent we cannot consider ourselves as safe from danger.

At this time we would kindly warn the nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic, sleepless, and all who are overworked and run-down, to put themselves in condition to successfully fight with la grippe if it invades our land. The weak, sickly and diseased are always easy victims for the unwelcome visitor. In the past thousands have fortified themselves by using Paine's Celery Compound, and have never felt a touch of the disease. Paine's Celery Compound puts the whole system in a perfect condition of health, and enables young and old to face la grippe even in epidemic form, without incurring danger. If you are not feeling well, if you lack vigor and activity, be assured the system requires toning and strengthening. Nature's true medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, will give you a new life.

Rabbits have been revived after receiving a shock of 2,500 volts and 20 amperes, a shock more powerful than is given in the execution of murderers in New York.

A bottle of Angostura Bitters to flavor your lemonade or any other cold drink will keep you free from Dyspepsia, Colic Diarrhea and all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine Angostura, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Physicians are made, not born—no boy ever yet took naturally to medicine.—

Facts About Dyspepsia.

Wrong action of the stomach and liver occasions dyspepsia. Dyspepsia in turn gives rise to bad blood. Both these complaints are curable by B. B. B., which acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood, and tones and strengthens the entire system, thus positively curing dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood and similar troubles.

In Madagascar a dissatisfied husband has only to give his wife a piece of money and say; "Madam, I thank you," and, according to the laws of Madagascar, he is divorced straightaway.

A Man Made Happy.—GENTLEMEN,—For five years I have been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim for it.

LEGAL QUERIES.

LYNDEN.—How long has B to be a resident of a municipality before he is liable for poll tax? ANS.—There is no limit as to time. He is liable to pay where he now resides unless he produces a certificate of having paid poll tax for the current year to some other municipality in Ontario.

FENCE.—A divided a line fence and put a good capped wire fence on his half. B put a slack, slimpsy one. To whom must A apply? Can trees grow over on A and encumber his ground? To whom can A go for redress? What is a lawful fine? ANS.—An award of the fence-viewers of the township must be obtained by A to compel B to properly fence his half of the line fence. B may be compelled to lop off the overhanging branches of the tree in an action brought by A for damages after notice to B to cut off the overhanging branches. A lawful fence should be defined by a bylaw of your township. It is usually four feet six inches, and so constructed as not to allow horses, cattle, sheep, swine or geese to pass through. The award of the fence-viewers as to the line fence should settle the description of the fence to be erected between you and B.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Gives Good Appetite.

GENTLEMEN,—I think your valuable medicine cannot be equalled, because of the benefit I derived from it. After suffering from headache and loss of appetite for nearly three years, I tried B. B. B. with great success. It gave me relief at once, and I now enjoy good health. MRS. MATTHEW SPROULE, Dungannon, Ont.

A grocer who had a lot of Limburger cheese for sale advertised it as an "unapproachable bargain."

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

An outsider asks: "In a 'driving storm' does Jupiter Pluvius hold the reins?" No; he let's them go.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Ward Four Assessment.

The assessment rolls for ward four have been completed, and from them the following statistics are gleaned, giving a comparison between this and last year. The population has increased from 6,286 to 6,463, a gain of 177. The assessment on real estate last year was $2,231,055, this year $2,256,585, an increase of $25,530; on personal property last year $28,900, this year $31,750, a gain of $2,850; on income in 1892, $30,800, this year $29,100, a decrease of $1,700. The total for last year was $2,290,755, and for this $2,317,435, a gain of $26,680. Statute labor taxes in 1892 $163 as against $209 this year, an increase of $46.

Death of Mr. Jacob Weyler.

For about six weeks past Jacob Weyler, an old resident of Delaware township, has been gradually sinking, and on Wednesday he passed peacefully away at the ripe age of 82 years. He had been a resident of Delaware township, and lived on the same farm for 45 years. He was born in Germany and spent some fifteen years in London, Eng., and Egypt before coming to Canada. His wife has been dead for seventeen years and for some time he has been living with his nephew, Mr. J. M. Kaiser. He was always of robust health and took part in a great many political struggles. He was reeve for more than one term and was a justice of the peace. In politics he was always a Liberal. The funeral will be held on Friday, the burial taking place at Lambeth. One daughter only is left to mourn the loss.

Sir Henry Tyler and the Car Shops.

Sir Henry Tyler talked car shops at Stratford as well as in London. The Stratford Herald reports him as thus dealing with a civic deputation:

"The deputation took the opportunity also to discuss briefly with Sir Henry the question of car shops. It was gathered from Sir Henry that a decision as to location would be reached very soon, probably within three months, and $100,000 had been the best offer so far given, but in such places as London and Sarnia there was already the nucleus of shops, so that $100,000 in these places would be equivalent to perhaps $150,000 from Stratford. A great difficulty in Stratford was want of sufficient land contiguous to the locomotive shops for the car shops as well, to bring the two under the one management and also allow room for expansion. However, it was largely a question of bonus, and if Stratford had an offer to make he would be pleased to receive it. In the event of a satisfactory offer being made, there would be no time lost in the erection of the shops. The deputation was most courteously and agreeably treated by Sir Henry, and after a quick walk through the locomotive shops his train moved off towards Sarnia. Sir Henry remarked he had had a swim in Lake Erie this morning and hoped to have one in Lake Huron to-night or to-morrow."

Marriage of a Guelph Young Lady.

On Tuesday evening, at Guelph, Miss Nellie Ker, of that city, was married in the Dublin Street Methodist Church to Mr. D. McFarlane Woolley, of Simcoe. Miss Ker was well known in London, being a frequent visitor here with relatives and friends. The church was crowded by admiring friends, she being a willing worker in church and Sunday school circles for some years. The bride was given away by her brother, W. B. Ker. Miss Lottie Wheatley and Miss Emily Ker were the bridesmaids, and W. S. Carpenter and Edward Shearer groomsmen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Scott, of Galt. Little Pearl Wheatley acted as maid of honor, and Master Harold Hunt, of London, son of E. N. Hunt, and cousin of the bride, acted as page. He was attired in a suit of pale yellow satin and deep garnet plush, and performed his part well. After a reception the newly-married couple left for the west amidst congratulations.

CIVIL WAR IN BRAZIL.

Rebels Likely to Succeed—The President's Confession—Loss of Life in Battle.

MONTEVIDEO, Sept. 21.—In capturing Niethroy Admiral Mello obtained a large supply of coal, provisions and ammunition. The Government forces lost 60 killed and 120 wounded in the fight.

The rebel fleet now consists of six warships, three torpedo boats, many tugs, transports and launches. All of them are well provisioned.

Mail advice, received here state that President Peixoto knew ten days ago that his defeat was certain. He defied the revolutionists only because the Ministry so advised him. It is reported that the State of San Pavlo has decided in favor of the rebels.

Rio Grande city will be attacked by land and sea by the rebels.

Mr. James Armstrong, of London, says Duncombe's Dark Pills have cured him of Dyspepsia. Good for them.
