Costly Conflagration at Railway City Big Store Gutted

Destructive and Spectacular Fire in the Heart of St. Thomas This Morning Did One Hundred Thousand Dollars Damage to Baldwin-Robinson Company—Firemen St. Thomas Chief Magistrate, Who Asked London To Help Fight the Flames. Made Gallant Fight Against Heavy Odds -Adjoining Stores Were in Great Peril.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, Feb. 6.—One of the most destructive and most spectacular fires seen in St. Thomas for some years, broke out at 9 o'clock this morning on the premises of the Baldwin-Robinson Company, Limited, originating in the furnace room. The building is in the heart of the town, and the street railway system was completely tied up.

The Hepinstall Jewelry Company, next door, moved their stock out, and the Merchants Bank got ready to vacate. Assistance was wired for to London, but later the request was cancelled. A TOTAL LOSS.

The whole interior of Baldwin-Robinson's was soon a mass of flames, accompanied by a thick smoke. The firm carried a large stock of pianos and musical instruments, and the building and contents will be a total loss. The fire was under control at noon.

The loss is estimated at $100,000.

The blaze had spread all through the rear of the store, and was well into the stock, which is a heavy one, before it was noticed.

UNDER CONTROL.

The fire was burning itself out rapidly at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and there was no further danger of its spreading, notwithstanding the high wind. The Baldwin-Robertson Company place their loss at $60,000, on which there is an insurance of $30,000. The building was owned by E. A. Smith, and it is understood that it can be seen that one of the columns there is considerable insurance on it.

This loss will not be serious. One of the losers in connection with the fire is Milton Bailey, a young Yarmouth farmer, who is returning shortly from his honeymoon. All the furniture for his new house was stored in the store, and was to have been delivered today. Nothing is left of it but ashes.

The fire was first noticed by Mr. Robertson, and he at once shut all doors to stop the draught. In the basement were large quantities of excelsior, mattresses and inflamable material, and when the blaze reached this it made tremendous headway.

Mayor of St. Thomas Asked Mayor of London for Help, and in an Hour a Special Train Was Loaded With Men and Apparatus, But Help Was Not Required.

St. Thomas, through its mayor, Mr. E. N. Price, this morning at 11 o'clock asked London for aid to assist in fighting the big fire which had broken out in the business district of the Railroad City, and threatened to wipe out many valuable buildings.

Mayor Graham received the message over longdistance, and at once promised to do all possible. He instructed Chief Aitken to take whatever men and apparatus was necessary and to proceed forthwith to St.

The mayor then called up the Pere Marquette Railway and arranged for a special train to carry the firemen to the southern city.

Chief Aitken picked a squad of six men, and at Waterloo street he loaded up the supply wagon from the central station and several thousand feet of hose. In addition there was a Monitor nozzle and two deluge sets. All was ready before 12 o'clock.

Just as the engine was being attached to the train, Mayor Graham received word from St. Thomas that the fire was under control, and that assistance from London would not be necessary.

HELP WAS NOT REQUIRED.

His worship at once cancelled the train, and the men and apparatus were sent back to the central station.

It was found impossible to send the fire engine to the Railroad City owing to the fact that during a test at the corner of York and Wellington streets yesterday morning, a connecting pipe was burst, and as a consequence the engine is out of commission today.

The men who were picked to go to St. Thomas were Capt. "Dan" McDonald and Firemen Bryan, Kerrigan, Bolton, Rose and Eddyvane.

All were anxious for the trip, despite the abnormally cold weather, and they expressed keen regret when the train was cancelled, although they were glad to know that St. Thomas would suffer no further by fire.

The loss will reach about $7,000. Rev. G. V. Collins is the pastor. It is expected. that a new and larger church will be erected as soon as possible.

Expert Knowledge Re Correct Corset Adjustment Free Demonstration This Week

HAT such demonstrations as are given at this store once a year, are appreciated by the ladies of London, is evidenced by the numerous inquiries we receive when the time for same approaches. The corset is the foundation of the gown, and must be built upon lines such as will carry out the dictates of fashion and produce the desired figure. Each season some little changes are made to the fashionable form, which to produce must be embodied in the corset. Women often wonder why they don't look as up-to-date as somebody else, and the secret of it all is that the proper corset has not been selected.

The object of this demonstration is to give every woman in London the opportunity of being fitted by an expert with the model best adapted to mold your figure into fashionable lines without causing injury or discomfort. Easter being earlier this season than usual, this demonstration has been arranged for at this early date to enable all who are having new spring outfits made to have them fitted over the new improved corset models, and thereby obtain the very best results.

Royal Worcester and Bon-Ton 1913 Models

We have just received the new 1913 spring models, and the demonstrator will explain their new features, and demonstrate the proper adjustment of same to obtain the best results in developing the new form.

Consult Miss Milne, expert corset fitter, who will be in our Corset Department for a few days only, a privilege that will be appreciated by all who avail themselves of the opportunity.

THE CHANNELS OF CANADIAN TRADE.

A plump blue book comes from Ot tawa, bursting with the annual statistics of Canadian trade. The student of public affairs may find something almost romantic between its homely covers.

It tells us that the imports of the country have grown at an amazing rate-from $224,813,719 in 1903 to advanced so sensationally, but they quote further: rose from $214,401,674 to $290,223,857 in the same period. The bulk of the trading is done with Great Britain and the United States, and it is instructive to analyze the figures of each. Our sales to the United Kingdcm in 1912 were $147,240,413; to the United States $102,041,222. They were classified as follows:

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS TO KNOW

Mrs. Norton Discourses on Task of Dishwashing. Read Katherine Leslie.

MRS. NORTON'S PRACTICAL HELPS FOR THAT BUGBEAR OF THE HOUSEKEEPER-PLAIN, OLD DISHWASHING!

[BY MRS. ALICE P. NORTON.] Head of the Department of Home Economics of the University of Chicago.

Dishwashing still remains for many people the chief bugbear of housework. It is repeated three times a day; it is not creative like cooking; it seems to have less permanent results than other cleaning, and it just has to be done.

No successful mechanical dish washer for ordinary family use seems yet to be on the market. The housekeeper must depend on her own careful planning and her own devices for lessening her work. have found help in the use of a bit of hose attached to the faucet, others in a large wire basket for dipping the dishes in the running water.

Some small and inexpensive utensils will help. A soap shaker will utilize small pieces of spap and prevent waste that comes from letting soap lie in the water. A woodenhandled rubber platescraper is effec tive, and a bottle brush is desirable for washing pitchers and milk bottles A dish mop saves the hand, and may be used with very hot water. If it is shaken out to dry after each use and is occasionally boiled in water with a little washing soda in it, it may be kept as clean as a dish cloth.

Everybody knows the chain cloth for pots and pans, but only few have discovered the tin "triangle" that is excellent for cleaning the sink and a sink shovel help, acugh if the dishwasher is poured through a sink strainer, particularly sink save time spent in cleaning. A if this is lined with a piece of newspaper, there should not be many where dirty work is to be done, such particles in the sink to be gathered as the cleaning of a chicken or the

Plenty of soft paper should be at hand for wiping out plates, gathering up grease or cleaning sauce pans. Paper, indeed, might be used much more than it is in the household, since it can be burned or thrown away.

Except where rigid separation garbage and rubbish is required by cerners (cost five cents). A stiff brush the city, a piece of newspaper in the bottom of the garbage can and a paper bag in the refuse jar near the newspaper spread over the table filling of lamps, serves the same end.

HERE IS A BIT OF HOUSEHOLD "HERESY": Don't think it a mark of poor housekeeping, if you wash your dishes only once a day instead of three times. Just see that they are neatly gathered up, and, except for the knives, put to soak in cold water. There are many times when the companionship of the wife and mother after supper is worth more to her husband and her children than the doing of this special task at this particular time.

It is easy to acquire the habit of rinsing off each cooking dish as soon as used. The egg-beater washed immediately (in cold water first, like all dishes that have held egg or milk) the milk bottle or cocoa pot filled with cold water as soon as emptied, mean a saving of time and effort. If something "caught on" to the saucepan when you had to leave your sitchen to answer the door bell fill he pan with water, add a spoonful of washing soda and put it back on the stove to boil a few minutes, unless, indeed, the pan is aluminum. In that case no soda should be used, but the spot must be scoured off.

In your cooking, study to soil as few dishes as possible. The simple habit of measuring dry things first, then liquids, means one cup to wash instead of two. The secret of good dishwashing consists in carefully scraping lishes and piling each kind together; n rinsing in cold water when neces sary; in washing the cleanest dishes first (unless you wish to get the cooking dishes out of the way first of all, and then begin again); in the use of plenty of hot water both for washing and rinsing; in drying with lean towels.

Glasses look cleaner if a little amonia is used in the water instead of cap, and they are wiped directly from the first water; just as windows are washed with a speenful of ammonia or kerosene in the water to avoid the thin film that the soap often leaves on the glass. Some soap in addition to the ammonia may be used for the silver, but this must be thorughly rinsed in very hot water and uickly dried. Silver may be easily cleaned by poiling it in an aluminum pan kept for the purpose in a solution of one tablespoon of washing soda and two teaspoons of salt to two quarts of water; or an agate pan may be used f a small piece of aluminum or few scraps of sheet zinc are added to the solution. "Silver clean" pans made on the same principle may be bought for from $1.25 to $2.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Nine-Tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity.

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician, whose successful esearches into the cause and cure of tomach and intestinal diseases have stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach, which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colthe stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary bisurated magnesia, which, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removes the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself—neutralize the acid and stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the contents of the stomach remain acid; remove the acidity, and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will then heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartments for the stomach will then heal itself. the stomach will then hear itself. Sunferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of bisurated magnesia from their druggist, and take half a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this being the dose, which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases. Local Intermediates Outclassed Visitors by a Score of 8 to 2 Before Big Crowd at Princess Rink Last Night-Halftime Score Was 4 to 1.

If points counted in deciding the winner of Intermediate Group No. 7 London would win by a one-goal margin, for the locals trimmed Paris at the Princess Rink last evening by the score of 8 to 2, and wiped out the sting of the recent defeat at Paris, when the score was 8 to 3.

Last night's game was a pretty fair exhibition of the winter pastime as it is played in the O. H. A., but it lacked a whole lot of excitement, and the big crowd that jammed the rink were looking for excitement, barrels of it, and the hair-raising kind at that. But it was a mighty pleasing game, and the locals demonstrated that on keen ice, with a real referee, they are just a shade better than the green and black-shirted outfit. At half-time score was 4 to 1, and each team scored the same number of goals in the second half as in the first.

A Special From Paris. Paris team, a special train being run from the undershirt town. The game was late in starting, the Paris special arriving after 8 o'clock. Referee Caldwell, of Barrie, faced the puck at 9:25. And while the referee is mentioned, it might be herein set forth that Gren. Caldwell is about the best O. H. A. referee that ever handled a game in this He made both teams play hockey, and the penalties were numerous. Had he been handling the game at Paris last week the Paris fans might have been treated to a real hockey game instead

The Game.

Both teams started off with a burst of speed, and Borland went off for tripging before the puck had hardly been in play. However, the locals rushed the rubber to the Parls end, and Walden notched the first goal in 40 seconds on a pass from Gillies.

The next goal did not come until 12 minutes of play had passed. During the interval between scores the play was pretty even, both teams making several attempts to score, but failing. McAvoy got London's second on a nice shot from a little way out. The Paris goalkeeper tried to make out that the disc entered from the side, but a hole big enough to let the puck through could not be found, was counted. A half minute later, McAvoy came back and jammed another one in, the Paris goalkeeper being visibly impressed with the fact that this time the puck had come in the front way.

Paris notched their first score in 18 minutes, W. Gill scoring. Grannary was in Wardrope's view of the play at the time, and the puck bounced over his stick into the nets before "Cal" could see it. Four minutes later Reld scored the fourth and final goal of the half. The Second Half.

In the second half penalties were more numerous than in the first. G. Gill, the original loafer when it comes to playing hockey, was benched three times for loafing, and at one time London was playing a two-man forward game, owing to the fact that the other two forwards were doing time.

Billy Borland broke into the game by scoring the fifth goal on a nice shot after a brilliant rush down the ice. The game continued this way for some time. each team seeming unable to get past the goalkeepers, both of whom were playing a great game. Thompson, of Paris, scored the second and last for the visitors in 20 minutes.

For the next five minutes the players took turns at resting. The game lagged at this stage more than at any other time and the crowd was clamoring for a goal. In 26 minutes, McAvoy eluded the Paris forwards, and together with Walden carried the puck through the defence, scoring the sixth on Walden's A half-minute later Gillies made it seven on another piece of combination work by Walden. In less than a minute more Grannary took a hand in the doings and he notehed the eighth after a hard rush and a nice exhibition of team play. Paris faded away from then on, and were never dangerous, although Wardrope was kept on the alert.

The Stars.

In picking stars on the local team, the work of Wardrope in goal and Reid and Walden on the forward line seems to stand out most prominently. Wardrope played just a shade better game than he played all season, and only one of the goals should have really been scored on him. The first foal Paris scored was shoved in off Gramary's skate. Only for that Wardrope would have stopped it.

Dave Reid performed in great style at centre. He was one of the most aggressive men on the team, and checked the Paris forwards off their feet. Walden played his usual hard plugging game,

A large delegation accompanied the and his back checking and shooting were feature. Lee was on the job every noment, and a share of the victory goes a feature.

> McAvoy and Gillies Good.
> McAvoy and Gillies also starred, McAvoy playing his usual fast game. He does a little too much running around in a circle with the puck, but gets away with most of it. Gillies has been sick the greater part of the past week, but he was a valuable man on the wing, and his stick-handling was a feature of the game. He hogs the puck a trifle, but is always on the job when there is any combination working. Laurie is getting better every time out.

treated to a real hockey game instead of a massacre. Caldwell has a reputation in the O. H. A., and the local club would have nothing but the best. His work was a treat to watch, and those famous Paris offsides and loafing siestas were robbed of all their charm and beauty from a Paris standpoint. The offenders were promptly penalized, and for times it looked as if there was more a hockey team on the fence than on the ice.

Caldwell showed no partiality. They all looked alike to him, and he called a misplay whenever he saw it. And he saw them all.

Commitmation working. Laurie is getting better every time out.

Borland and Grannary played their usual good game on the defence. Borland to watch him all the time. Grannary's skates seemed to worry him a lot, and he seemed to have difficulty in keeping his feet at times. He is a great coverpoint, and few Paris rushes got past him. He is one of the prettiest stick-handlers seem in London for some time, and there was always something doing when he got away with the puck.

For Paris, Fraser in goal, the three dillies and the two Peebles were the best. Thompson was inclined to rough it too much, and Gordon Gill was too much inclined to loaf but they only the service of the commitment of the prettiest stick-handlers saway with the puck.

much, and Gordon Gill was too much in-clined to loaf, but otherwise the visitors put up a nice game. They were out-classed from the start, and only the ex-cellent work of Fraser in goal prevented larger score. But as far as any of the London fans knew or anyone else of the London fans knew or anyone else who attended the game, the Paris crowd were not there. Not once during the evening did they disturb the quietude that hung like a wet blanket over their end of the rink with one of the so-called songs. It is rumored that at half-time they quietly slunk out of the rink and hung around the depot the rest of the evening walting to catch a train back to Paris. The rumor could not be verified today, for a search of the city with a fine tooth comb failed to reveal one Parisian within a radius of 20 miles. Wonder if they got enough of Paris green. In spite of this, 'Gene rebelled when Nat came back to camp on Saturday with a deer, and cutting off a haunch of venison weighing some twenty pounds, handed it to him to carry. This happened, the control of the worst pickers, the that noon the weary crew dragged them-selves back to the shacks a chorus of snow wraiths skirled out of the pines at snow wraiths skirled out of the pines at their heels. A man could not raise his face to them, and breathing came hard. The trees were whipped until they soughed like the after-moan of a tear-dry woman. There was no landscape, no horizon. The world was reduced again to chaos; to a swirling Infinity of icy particles. Man did not belong in it, for it tested the strength of even the deep-stream of the strength of even the strength of even the deep-stream of the strength of even the strength of even the deep-stream of the strength of even the strength of even the deep-stream of the strength of even the

Could Not Heal The Wound

For many years Dr. Chase's Ointment has had an enviable reputation as a means of healing ulcers, sores and wounds that refuse to yield to other treatments. In this letter you will read of a case in which doctors failed to heal a wound made in operating. All sorts of treatments were tried in vain, until Dr. Chase's Ointment came to the rescue and made a cure.

Mr. G. E. Leslie, brakeman on the C. P. R., and living at Grand Falls, N. B., writes: "I have given Dr. Chase's Ointment a most severe test, and do not believe there is any treatment so successful as a healer of the skin. I was operated on for a tumor. with the result that a wound was left which refused to heal, in spite of many preparations tried. Dr. Chase's Ointment healed the wound rapidly. So thankful am I for the cure that I want others to know about this won-effort seem. So that day it was necess-sary, more than any other day which had preceded, for him to go to the house at St. Croix. It was after lunch that he gathered in his belt and nodded to 'Gene.

"Not today—not in this?" stammered placing upon plaintiff odium and discrete in agreement.

"Worry be hanged!" answered 'Gene.
'A wolf couldn't live in this weather."
"Maybe not," answered Nat, "but a man can."
"I'll be hanged if I can," replied 'Gene

"Ye'll prove yourself a man by trying," included Nat.
As they started, Nat tossed the haunch

the tenth mile he stumbled and fell under the weight of his gift. Nat shouldered it the remainder of the way, and for the ast mile also bore the weight of his bro-her on his shoulder. He made no reply o anything 'Gene said, though most of he way his fingers itched to throttle off ne speech.

At the door of the little house Nat lef his brother. After knocking for him, and stepping back quickly into the darkness, he saw the door open and caught a brief glimpse of the flushed face of Julle. She reached out her hands to help her hus-band over the threshold. A cry of wenr escaped her lips. "On a night like this, 'Gene?" she ex-saimed.

Speechless, numbed, 'Gene dropped the rozen haunch of venison at her feet. Nat saw her stare in amazement at the gift. Then he heard her voice once more. "Oh, 'Gene, 'Gene, I know you mean to be so good!" them for your supper."

She did, and though she ate but little of them, 'Gene finished them off with a against the man hidden in the icy shad-

CHAPTER XXVII. 'Gene Has a Drink. It was on the morning of the third of too, on one of the worst nights of the winter. A snow-laden gale had swept the ostensible purpose of selling tobacco, over the mountain for two days, and when at grub what the man was about, for at table the talk grew loud, and later that evening one half the men were drunk, among them 'Gene. Nat was stretched out on his bunk when he heard the rumpus, but when he appeared it was too late. The men were as wild as hawks. 'Gene, with flushed face and bleared eyes, sat in their midst, telling stories both vile and fantastic. Foley was in a corner, half hidden from sight. After a look around Nat went outside and waited. There was nothing to be done at present. So long as the men had the liquor they had it, and that was an end of it. He could not take it away from them as though they were small boys. He was though they were small boys. He was not worrying so much about them as he was about 'Gene. As he thought of the wasted work of two months, his jaws became hard-set. But he waited—waited for 'Gene and waited for Foley.

It was not until eleven that the trouble began which Nat knew in the end was sure to begin. It was then that there came a quick exchange of the lie, and 'Gene found himself facing Bartineau once again. Neither man was mad drunk They were both able to stand on their feet and both able to fight. When Nat came in they were already at it. But it didn't last long. Within five minutes 'Gene was shielding his face and backing away before the stiff blows from Bartineau's fists. The latter followed him up, and Nat heard 'Gene exclaim:

"For God's sake, quit!"

Bartineau lowered his fists. He stood.

"For God's sake, quit!"

Bartineau lowered his fists. He stood amazed a second, and then deliberately spat on 'Gene and turned away.

Without resenting even this, 'Gene huddled back into the crowd, which shied away to let him through away to let him through.

This was the pity of the ineident—two months of wasted work. In less than five minutes all Nat's efforts came to nothing. 'Gene had caved in before the whole camp. Yet it was not to him that Nat spoke when he entered, but to Al Foley. He crossed the room and seized the latter by the shroulder. He dragged him out of the door, a cringing cur of humanity.

Transpe County Loage of East Middle-sex was held in the Moose Hall yester-day afternoon and the officers for the year were elected. Bro. Fox, of Guelph, was present, and presented an invitation from the Guelph lodge that the annual celebartion on July 12 be held in that place.

The report from the 21 lodges in of the door, a cringing cur of humanity beseeching help of the camp. Two men started forward to protest, but changed their minds and stepped back into their places. Once outside, Nat spoke briefly "It was you who sold the stuff?" he "You can't prove it," whined Foley.

"For your wife," he said briefly.

'Gene was speechless. When he recovered his breath he stifled an oath. Then, with a wicked smille about his lips, he picked up the venison and followed at Nat's heels. That was one of the days when Nat paid big, for from the time they started 'Gene never ceased talking of Julie. He pictured the glory of returning to her, and waxed shamelessly eloquent over the tingle of her warm arms about his neck. But at the end of the tenth mile he stumbled and fell under Disclosures of Police Graft in New York Promise Sensational Developments.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 5. - As result of further disclosures in the police graft situation, made to the district attorney today by Eugene Fox, the policeman who has confessed to levying tribute as collector for superior officers, it was decided, with the consent of Supreme Court Justice Goff, to hasten the investigation of the extraordinary grand jury, by having that body convene tomorrow instead of Monday next. District Attorney Whitman conferred with Justice Goff, after Fox and a relative had been on the stand all afternoon, and it was agreed gloves and woolen stockings. Date of Big Show Announced was instructed to cast a ballot for the directors, and Captain Reid at Annual Meeting Held on Wednesday.

CAPT. REID PRESIDENT

Last Year's Board of Directors Again Elected Unanimously-Grant From the Government Looked For.

At the annual meeting of the Westrn Fair Association, neld yesterday the directors named last year—Capt. W. J. Reid, Lieut.-Col. J. W. Little, Ald. J. H. Saunders, T. H. Smallman, Jeffrey Hale, W. M. Spencer, W. W. Gam- tee-Mr. Jeffrey Hale. W. M. Gartshore, John Pringle, R. A. Carrothers, and William McNeil—were Chairman of the Grounds and Chairman of the Attractions Committee—Wm. Moore. again elected without opposition. There mittee—Ald. W. E. Robinson. was a fair attendance of delegates, and the utmost harmony prevailed. The dates set for this year's fair were from FANCY DRESS DANCE the 5th to the 13th of September. President Reid presented his annual report, which reviewed the work done during the year. The exhibition of 1912 was the best in the history of the association, and his hopes were that the fair of 1913 would also eclipse all previous records.

Look For a Grant.

Capt. Reid was hopeful that a sub-stantial grant would be obtained from the Government. He reviewed the visits to Ottawa and Toronto, and told of the interviews with Hor. Martin of treatment had been accorded them, and he expected an annual grant of main building had outgrown its usefuling. The poultry building was also overcrowded, and more room was necessary there. It would be necessary to add at least $2,000 to the prize list.

Mr. William McNeil supported Mr. Greer in his contention. The citizens had not supported the fair, as it deserved. The Western was self-support ing, one of the few fairs in Canada that paid its way. His opinion was that city council should take over the buildings, keep them in repair, and hand them over to the Western Fair Association during exhibition time.

Mr. William Moore thought the city of London as a whole had not done its share towards the fair. The directors had given their time unselfishly to assist in making the fair a success, but their efforts were not backed up as they should be. They were responsible for any deficit, and the strictest economy had to be practiced to keep the fair a success.

More Help Needed.

Ald. Saunders declared that the fair 'had grown to such proportions that it had grown to such proportions that it Department III.—Seniors—A.
