He disavows any connection with the roysterers down in the bar. Did it ever occur to him that a man in his Not Likely to Meet Until After position, the next man to the Premier in this Province, is under an obligation to set a good example, and that the offense of the roysterers downstairs was only in the extent of their potations, not in the degree of lawbreaking. Mr. Whitney's language quoted above appears to mean that as guest of the hotel he had a legal right to buy liquor at any hour. It would be idle to argue such a point. Mr. Whitney is a lawyer and knows that his act was illegal.

The conditions at Shanghai and Tien Tsin are proportionately nadequate. The general opinion in Che Foo is that the great mass of the sick and wounded will be compelled o remain at Port Arthur until they are sufficiently convalescent to return to Russia. The refusal of the Japanese to accept the aid rendered by the British cruiser Andromeda was an error born of their desire to show the world that Japanese humaneness was equal to the occasion. The statement of the censored dispatches from correspondents with Gen. Nogi's army, that the Japanese lost only 50,000 men in taking the fortress, is declared to be absurd by Russian naval officers here. Their estimate, they say, based both on personal observation, and on stories told by prisoners, is that the Japan

Japanese Consul Mizouoe tonight notified Russian Consul Tiedemann that the first portion of the one thousand resident non-combatants at Port Arthur, who are to come to Che Foo, will arrive Friday. It will be some time before the entire thousand reach here owing to a shortage of transportation facilities. Most of these non-combatants are in good health, although some of them are merely sufficiently convalescent to reach here. The authorities at Tokio, having refused a proposition made by the Russian minister at Pekin, Paul Lessar, to send ship loaded with medical supplies and food for the invalids, it has been suggested that this ship be diverted to Che Foo for the benefit of the expected non-combatants. The local Russians are busy tonight endeavoring to find aggressive leadership which the Democrats did not possess, and his policy appealed to the national instincts,

In the late Dominion election also, of leadership, and stirred the mind of national policy, the transcontinental railway

The electors of Ontario get neither leadership nor a policy from what is known as the Opposition. The notor-Gamey, repudiated by Whitney, leads the campaign in reality. Nesbitt, who tried to buy his way into Parliament before he became the dictator of Toronto Toryism, is Gamey's abettor and the chief engineer of the Provincial Conservative machine, The Opposition is attracting no recruits of cabinet rank, and Mr. Whitney will look in vain for a complete ministerial outfit among his present followers. no one for example, to take the portfolio of agriculture. Above all culture is needed in this great agricultural Province. The rural constituencies are not disposed to discard a trusted and able minister, above reproach, for an untried experimenter who might wreck the fabric of years. Every intelligent farmer knows that the services of John Dryden to the agricultural interests of this Province have been beyond calculation. Where is the Dryden in the list of Mr. Whitney's candidates?

The fact is that Whitney is every day losing ground. People have no no enthusiasm, inspires no confidence, and offers the people nothing but a rechauffe of stale slanders. He accuses the Government of lax enenemy of corruption and a guardian of public morals, and he surrounds himself with men whose record mocks his professions.

The Opposition, because it has no leadership and no policy that appeals to the people, will fail again. The Government has a leader who is leader, and a record of administration upon which no serious attack is made.

Gerry and Greer.

"How Gerry Came to Head the List, Being Also an Explanation of Why Ald. Greer Was Left." Under this heading our contemporary has a covert attack upon the Ontario school system. It tells us that Tory voters, "dozens of them." confounded the names of Gree and Gerry in marking their ballots "They intended to vote the Conservative ticket straight," says our neighbor, "but marked their ballots for Ald. Gerry and neglected to do so for Ald. Greer." Readers of the Free Press will be surprised to hear of the existence of such a thing as "a straight Conservative ticket." They had been given to understand that only the wicked Grits would be so brazen as to arrange a "slate." However, this is not important beside the fact that dozens of Tories voted for the wrong man. It is a very grave reflection upon our boasted educational system that so many citizens over 21 years of age, most of them the heads of families, should be so unlettered as our contemporary says they are. Observe how the two names look in print:

GERRY. GREER.

They have the same number of letters and each begin with a G. In a hurried scrutiny of the ballot the resemblance might deceive some people whose early education had been neglected, and who read nothing but the Free Press. But the curious feature is that no Liberals were guilty of the same blunder. We have our contemporary's word for it, as follows: "It may be thought that the rule would work both ways, but a glance about that Liberals voting the party ticket made no such error. This is a handsome tribute to the in telligence of the Liberal electors. The poor, uneducated Tories, to whom names beginning with a G look alike paid an awful penalty for their ignorance by helping to elect a Grit. The Liberals avoided aiding a Tory because

When the Liberals controlled the city council and school board they made no effort to inject politics into the library board or kindred organizations, and appointed Conservatives as well as Liberals. As Dr. Jeffery has been the only Liberal on the board for a year past, the Conservatives had little to lose from a party standpoint by reappointing him. The members of the school board would probably have done Roosevelt gave his party a virile and so if they had consulted their own wishes, but the executive of the Con servative Association nominated Mr Hamilton, and the trustee who disobeyed orders would find his name erased from the Conservative slate if pleasantest position for a man of independent spirit, but it is one to which every Conservative in municipal life must submit if he desires to stay there. MUCH NEW BLOOD IN THE COUNCIL

County Governing Body for 1905-1906 Has Eight "Colts"-Old Members Defeated.

The returns of Monday's vote for members of the Middlesex County Council are still incomplete, the figures from two townships being lacking. However, the composition of the council for 1905 and 1906 is known, as the returns of the two missing municipalities will not alter the standing of the candidates. Of the members of the old council who offered themselves for re-election, two fell by the wayside, John Bradley being defeated in No. 1 division, composed of McGillivray, Biddulph and Lucan, and James Bennett being unsuccessful in No. 8 divi-sion. The defeat of Mr. Bennett will be a severe blow to him, as he had several times been a candidate for the wardenship, and would in all probability have sought the position again had he been successful at the polls. There are no less than eight new members in the council-Messrs. Hutchinson and Westman, from No. 1 division: Thomas Clark, No. 3; Neil McCallum and Richard Fitzgerald, No. 4; T. G. Turnbull and William Young, No. 6 and George Lewis, No. 8. The political complexion of the new council is Conservatives 9, Liberals 7, as follows: Liberals. Conservatives Hutchinson, McDonald. Premier Ross then turned to discuss the acts of the Government during the past 32 years, and to show that the Convery few mistakes had been made by the Liberals. It had started out to retain Provincial autonomy and pursue an economical course, and it had succeeded. Was it, he asked, a mistake to establish the Department of Education, to set on foot the Normal Schools and the School of Practical Science?

He answered in the negative, and went on to show that each and every one had been opposed at first by the Opposition, but the opposition had since been abandoned. What use had the country for such a party? They opposed separate schools at first, but now nothing was heard against them. They opposed the teaching of French and German to public school pupils, whose language in the home was French or German, but we insisted on English also being taught them. The Opposition was against us on this measure, but it had abandoned its opposition in time. These were a few of the mistakes of the Ontario Conservatives, who had also opposed the dairy school, the establishment of the Agricultural Department as a distinct branch of the Government. "You cannot trust them," said the Premier. "You cannot even trust them in education, for Mr. Whitney says if he is elected be will turn Whitney says if he is elected he will turn tation of nature. The Premier reviewed some further mistakes of the Opposition, showing that everywhere their pathway was strewn with blunders. The taxing of corporations, and the aid to the Soo industries were touched upon, the advantages of both being pictured. And now Mr. Whitney asked, after the Conservatives had blundered for 22 years, that they be placed in power, where they could blunder of the united Congregational Church of Brooklyn, said: "Dr. Abbott's views do not differ materially from those of the advanced thinkers of the world."

TO THAT "NIP"

Mr. Whitney and Friends Are Still Talking of the Lone Drink.

Paris, Ont., Jan. 5.-Leader Whitney, of the Ontario Opposition, and Mr. F. Cockshutt, M. P., spoke here today in the interests of the Conservative nominee, Mr. J. H. Fisher. There was a good-sized crowd in attendance despite made of a matter touching private perthe inclemency of the weather. The speakers received close attention, but the outbursts of applause were infrequent, and lacked the volume and ring of enthusiasm. Mr. Fisher's address consisted principally of an attempt to belittle the present member, Mr. Burt. Mr. Cockshutt attacked what he declared was corruption in the sales of timber limits. He also referred to that unfortunate "nip" of Mr. Whitney's, the celebrated lone drink after hours in a Napanee hotel. He claimed the Liberal press was using the incident as a campaign cry and said it was unfair. Mr. Whitney's appearance was the signal for an outburst of applause. His ech contained little that was new. Mr. Ross and his cabinet were accused of all sorts and conditions of political crimes, the Opposition leader claiming that the corruptionists were immune from punishment, because the Premier controlled the officials of justice, they being in most cases appointees of his. Speaking of the alleged coalition proposals made to him, Mr. Whitney said that it had been said that in all probability in less than a year he (Mr. Whitney) would be a leader of the Gov-"That is in all probability correct, but not by their proposition."
He referred to the several instances when he claimed he was approached on with the coalition offer, and then spoke briefly on the Gamey question. He, too, like Mr. Cockshutt, could not sode, declaring he had too much selfrespect to reply to what he called an outlined the alleged Conservative plat-form, a law reform, sales of pulpwood areas by public auction, and honest ad-ministration of the license law, which last caused a smile to flit across the faces of a large section of the audience.

the Conservatives one more chance to win-will be helping them to that extent: on the other hand, it will give the desired legislation, and will be failing to help at the very time when help may mean so much for temperance advance. The same holds good in application to the other temperance proposals. One of these would make it more difficult to obtain any new license in the other parts of the Province. Another would make it easier to bring on a vote on local option in a given district. Another would bring about cancellation of any license on a second conviction. These are advance temperance measures; not all we would like, but if we gain these they give us new ground from which to work for still further advance, Now, kept in power. Mr. Whitney's speeches point to the conclusion that they are not obtainable if the Conservatives the earnest temperance worker may well determine to vote. Dissatisfaction is felt regarding enforcement of the existing laws. And Mr. Whitney at Napanee stated a Greek named Christako. as his policy "honestly enforcing the law with the whole power of the Government." He is hot in denunciation of the derision evoked by what took place in the hotel that night after the public meeting, and too much should not be iously reckless and unfeeling in misrepresentation of others, when it suits selling liquor that night during pro- had a long conference with him. not among the "thirsty wolves from cil of war is not known. That it was ordered during pro-hibited hours was incidental, and the facts as a whole need not be unduly magnified. Still he must have known that it was abetting a breach of the law, inciting to what was illegal. And through it all one is made to feel that under his leadership there would be scarcely any hope of better enforcement than under those more fully in sympathy with temperance advance The difficulties in the way of efficient enforcement are by no means easy to overcome. And they would confront him not less strongly (there are reasons to believe, even more strongly), than they do the present Govern-ment. Not to vote will not improve matters; it may only make them worse Some of the liquor men will not vote Conservative. But those who do, and from their business viewpoint think it good policy, will surely be much amused and will be exceedingly well satisfied if Liberal temperance men by refusing to vote, help them to gain their ends. Every refusal will make it so much easier to get the Conservatives in. And have no fear of advanced temperance legislation. Earnest temperance men cannot afford to play so innocently into the hand of liquor men. The battle is not to be won in this way, but by unswerving and unfaltering PERSEVERANCE.

MATTERS QUIET

"Nothing Doing" Until the Inauguration of New Council on Monday.

Things are remarkably quiet around the city hall these days, owing to the fact that until the inaugural meeting prayer was then proceeded with, the of the new council, no business of any Rev. Dean Davis leading in the prayof the new council, no business of any importance can be touched. In the meantime Mr. Beck continues to act as mayor, and Dr. Campbell, though a frequent visitor to the city hall in his capacity as a member of the board of health, has not been in the mayor's hours, the congregation gave most reverent and untiring attention. office since the election. One thing appears the officiating clergy then followed, aldermanic plums. One thing appears the officiating clergy then followed, aldermanic plums. One thing appears the officiating clergy then followed. certain, however, and that is that Ald. Cooper is going to have a lovely time of it if he persists in his campaign for the chairmanship of the board of works. In fact, there are those among he aldermen who favor allowing the board of works to remain as last year, with Ald. Wyatt as chairman, if he desires it. Others say that the members of last year's board are not un-favorable to making Ald. Gerry chairman, in case Ald. Wyatt should decide to drop out. But on the whole, it appears as though Ald. Wyatt's chances for the position are as good as

Shortly after 9:30, the doors to the left of the chancel opened and the choristers filed in, two by two, singing the processional hymn to the sweet strains pealed by the great organ. Then followed the clergy and lay delegates from all parts of the diocese and, lastly, the venerable primate himself, accompanied by his chaplain, Rev. Canon Bayles, and their Lordships Bishop Carmichael, coadjutor of the Montreal Diocese; the Bishops of Niagara, Toronto and Ontario; Dean Davis and Bishop-elect Williams. The choristers lined up in two rows, leading from the doors to the chancel, while the primate passed up and took the chair reserved for him. Despite the fact that he is 90 years of age and that he had made a long and tiresome jour-ney last evening, his grace's appear-ance was that of a much younger man, and the tones of his voice were strong

An Impressive Scene

The scene in the church was truly remarkable. The Christmas decorations and the fruits of the Spirit. It would be nuterly impossible for the characteristics which should mark the life of a hishop who developed the great gift, which had been communicated to him by the Holy Spirit, when cated to him by the Holy Spirit, which had been communicated to him by the Holy Spirit, when cated to him by the Holy Spirit, which had been communicated to him by the Holy Spirit, when cated to him by the Holy Spi remarkable. The Christmas decorations of evergreen were still in place in bishop to fulfill the high duties of his mother in hers.

Secondly, the bishop should be teacher of teachers, and the one single fount from which he should draw all his teachings was the Word of God. Out of an intimate study of the Bible arose the value of the bishop as a teacher. During the ceremony of con-secration, all would hear the new bishop openly declare that he believed that the Scriptures contained all that was necessary for the doctrine of sal-vation of the soul of man. In the di vine character of the Book, with all its mighty strength, the bishop's faith found its sphere, and it should be constantly exercised in the study of the Holy Scriptures and in prayer. He should not hold his life dearer than to preach the Gospel of God.

Thirdly,the bishop's duties were those of a leader and governor, and in this capacity the gift given him by God had to be exercised to its limits. The bishop's duty was to feed not to eat, to reprove where necessary, and to show kindness. As a leader, the head of the diocese should be true to the law that leads, namely, the law of God; as a judge he should be true to the greatest Judge of all.

Finally, the speaker dwelt upon the significance of the act which they would all see the primate do during the ceremony, namely, to give the Bible into the hands of the bishop-elect, saying: "Think upon the things contained in this book." The Bible was the inspired word of God. The bishor should not regard the word in the fitful and everchanging light of modern criticism, but in the light of the one Holy

The oath was then administered with great so-fence rails from D. W. Williams, of lemnity to the bishop-elect, and the primate offered up an elequent prayer. Then came the Litany, the comprehensive and beautiful prayer service of the Church of England. The next step in the consecration was Afterwards he was led .o the chair of Toronto to farmers' addresses by the the primate by the other bishops who were present, and the ceremony of DEATH RESULT OF FALL consecration proper was performed, the archbishop laying his hands solemnly upon the candidate, after the manner of the apostles. Bishop Williams was then given a copy of the Bible and a gold ring, in sign of the trust which was committed to him.

The repeating of appropriate sentences from the Scriptures, and the singing of a hymn brought the service to a close at the hour of 1 o'clock.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

Famous Horseman Is Dying in Agony of a Nervous Disease.

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 6. - George Smith, the race track plunger, better known as "Pittsburg Phil," is here in a sanatorium, critically ill, in fact on the verge of the grave. He has been here several weeks.

Notwithstanding his condition he did not forget his old friends on Christmas Day. To each he sent a token of re-

TO GOVERN WORLD'S SERIES. Cincinnati, O., Jan. 6.-Chairman Hermann announced yesterday that, in his judgment, rules for the government of a series of baseball games for the championship of the world would be adopted at the coming meeting of the national commission, which is to control such contests, along the lines suggested by President Brush of the New York club. The winning club is to get a silver rophy, similar to the Temple cup. The club that wins the series is to be only the custodian of the cup, and is responsible to the national commission for its safe keeping. He believes that under these conditions there is no good reason why the Boston Americans and New York Nationals should not meet in the spring.

RIDDELL-BLAIKIE

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday, Jan. 4, at high noon at the residence of Mr. James Blaikie, third concession of Westminster, when his youngest daughter, Margaret, was married to Mr. Samuel J. Riddell, son of Mr. George Riddell, the clerk of the township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. McCrae. Only the immediate relatives of the two families were present as guests. The decorations were evergreens and carnations. The bride was attended by Miss Belle Riddell. and Mr. Archie Blaikie supported the groom. The bride looked very sweet in a gown of cream crepe de chine, and the bridesmaid wore peary gray crepe de chine. After a dainty wedding breakfast and congratulations, the young couple left by the afternoon train for Toronto and other eastern points. They have the best wishes of a great host of friends for their future happiness. LET US SUPPLY YOU.

The speakthen went on to refer to the manufacturing importance of London, and enumerated a number of the manufactures. In his opinion, London now stood second only to Montreal and Toronto, as a manufacturing center. The chairman also expressed the regrets of Hon. Mr. Hyman and others who were unable to be present. The toast of "The King" was loyally honored, and then the chairman called upon Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, of Brantford, to reply to "Canada and the Empire." This toast was drunk to the hearty singing of "The Maple Leaf

The speaker said that, Think, then, of the people who are flocking in, and the opportunities that are opening up for business men." He thought the manufacturers of Canada should rise to the opportunities offered in the west, and not allow foreigners to get in ahead of them. With a moderate tariff and intelligent work there was every reason why Canadian manufactures should flourish. The west was going to offer a great market for the older portion of Canada. When the broad agricultural acres of the west were peopled, and millions of bushels f wheat were being produced annually the money for which this wheat would be sold was to be distributed all over the Dominion.
