SHOES FOR SHOW

Some shoes are made to look well in a show window, made to catch the eye, made for anything except fit which is forgotten.

These are the shoes that when you buy them your foot pays for it.

In "Slater Shoe" manufacture, fit is the first consideration.

They are made in twelve different shapes, each one modelled after a real foot and as for appearance, you never saw an ugly pair.

It took years of foot study to attain this end, but now we have as many shapes as forms of feet.

Every pair is Goodyear welted and the makers' name and price is on each shoe, $3.50 and $5.00.

INDIVIDUALITY OF FEET

No two pairs of feet are exactly alike.

Your kindest friend could not make his shoe fit if your feet are narrow and wide.

Slater Shoes are made in any shape and after any form, so that every man can get his exact fit. No matter how wide or narrow your feet are.

Made by the famous Goodyear welt process, Slater method.

In "Canuck Calf" and "Kidduck," two leathers of which the tannage is controlled and colors according to fashion's latest dictates.

Every pair is branded with the makers' name and price in a slate frame, $5.00 and $3.50.

DEATH OF ALFRED,

The Queen's Second Son, Who Was Duke of Saxe-Coburg.

And Formerly Known as the Duke of Edinburgh—His Taking Off Was Sudden.

Coburg, August 1.—Prince Alfred Ernest Albert, Duke of Saxe-Coburg, died at ten o'clock Monday evening at Rosau Castle from paralysis of the heart. Recently at a consultation of specialists in Vienna it was discovered that there was a cancerous growth at the root of his tongue. By his sudden demise he escaped a painful, lingering death. During the minority of his heir, the Duke of Albany, the government of the Duchy will be conducted by the hereditary Prince of Hohenzollern-Langenberg, the guardian of the young Duke.

Alfred Alexander William Ernest Albert, the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, better known to the world at large and to Canadians particularly, as the Duke of Edinburgh, was the second son of her Majesty, the Queen, and was born at Windsor on August 6th, 1844. From the very first Prince Alfred, as he was then, was destined for the Royal Navy, which service he entered on August 31st, 1858, as a naval cadet, on board the Buryalus. A little later in the same year, in October, he joined the St. George for active sea services and visited many countries on the Mediterranean, and later extending his journeyings to Malakoff, Quebec and Toronto, where he spent a few days in the summer of 1861. The Prince returned home after his lengthy cruise in the autumn of 1861, and continued his studies and work in his chosen profession.

In 1862 Prince Alfred, who had just completed his eighteenth year, was married by the Greek people to the daughter of that country. This rather dubious honor, he, acting on the advice of the Queen's ministers, declined. In February, 1863, Prince Alfred, who had at that time attained the rank of captain in the R. N., was granted by parliament an annual income of £15,000 sterling, with an additional £10,000 a year when he should marry. On the Queen's birthday in 1866, among the honors announced in the London Gazette was that Prince Alfred was to be the peerage of Great Britain, created Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Kent and Earl of Ulster.

In the beginning of 1867 the Duke of Edinburgh sailed from England in command of the frigate Galatea, and on that memorable voyage he visited nearly every country in the world. While in Australia occurred an incident, which happily had no evil results, though it might have been most calamitous. This was the attempted assassination of the duke, whilst at a public picnic at Clontarf, by a hair-brained individual named O'Farrell. This attempt was made on March 12th, 1868. The attempted assassin was speedily captured, tried and suffered the penalty of his crime on April 21st in the same year.

On Jan. 23rd, 1874, the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh to the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia took place at St. Petersburg.

On the death of his uncle, the late Prince Consort's brother, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, on August 2nd, 1893, the Duke of Edinburgh succeeded him in the title and on the throne. He will himself be succeeded by his nephew, the Duke of Albany, who has all but completed his sixteenth year.

ADVANCE BEGINS.

The Allies Have Left Tien Tsin For Peking.

About 30,000 Troops Available For the Forward Movement—Boxer Leader Killed.

London, Aug. 1.—"The allies begin the advance from Tien Tsin this morning," announced an agency bulletin dated at Shanghai at 11.30 a. m. to-day. It is assumed that the Americans, British and Japanese are taking part in the forward movement, whether other nationalities are or not. An advance base will probably be established 20 or 30 miles nearer Peking, and supplies will be assembled preparatory to a direct stroke at the capital.

Of the 60,000 allies debarked at Pe Chih ports, English military observers consider that 30,000 are available for the advance beyond Tien Tsin. The Chinese forces, according to the vague gathering of the allies' intelligence of events, up to July 27 were disposed in a great arc 30 miles long and distant 10 or 15 miles. The numbers and location of the divisions are utterly unknown.

The Pei Ho river is blockaded by sunken stone-laden junks for 20 miles beyond Tien Tsin, and farther up, according to Chinese spies of the allies, a dam has been constructed for the purpose of flooding the low-lying expanse of country.

The first engagement of the relief expedition will probably be at Pei Tang, where the viceroy of Yuan personally commands.

THEY DID WELL.

The First Presbyterian Sunday school excursion to Belle Isle yesterday was highly successful, over $150 being realized. A most pleasing outing was had, but the return trip across the lake was a little rough and many were glad when the river was reached. Those who assisted on the boat were—Misses Lettie Thomson, Sarah Robertson, Mary Robertson, Minnie Samson, Marion Gorrie, Grace Ecklin, Jennie Paxton, Marion Martin and Hattie Hall and Messrs. Duncan Robertson, Wm. Robertson, Wm. Robertson, Jr., Roy Robertson, Will Foreman, Will Donovan, Fred Ward and Alex. Hall.

POULTRY FATTENING

At Chatham—Government Sends Mr. F. C. Hare Here to Start an Illustrative Fattening Station.

The Government has decided to operate a poultry fattening station in Chatham, and Mr. F. C. Hare, of Ottawa, arrived here last evening to select an enterprising person for the work. About two hundred chickens will be fattened in this station, killed, plucked, but not drawn, and shipped in cold storage to Great Britain. The market price received there is from one dollar and seventy-five cents to two dollars a pair. The fattening occupies four weeks, and during the last week the poultry are fed by means of a crumpling machine. All expenses are met by the Government, and farmers and persons interested are cordially invited to inspect the station. The feed found to give best results is very finely ground oats mixed with sour skim-milk. The Government is doing all in its power to encourage this industry, and poultry fattening stations are now being operated in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, and we are certain that in a very few years Canadian fattened poultry will have as high a reputation in Great Britain as our celebrated Canadian cheese.

HELD AS HOSTAGE

Chinese Said to Have 600 Europeans in Peking.

Imperial Government Will Transmit No More Cipher Messages—A Statement in the British Parliament.

London, Aug. 1.—A despatch received at Rome says:—"The Chinese Government is detaining 600 Europeans as hostages, including the ministers and their families and members of the legations." It is believed at Rome that when war is officially declared these will be ordered to leave Peking within 24 hours. They will then be at the mercy of the Boxers. China, it is thought, will consider that war has been declared as soon as the allies begin to march on Peking.

The Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. De Favereux, has received the following despatch from M. De Carrière De Marchienne, secretary of the Belgian legation in China, now in Shanghai, dated July 31:—"On July 22 the consul-general of the United States telegraphed the United States minister in Peking, through the intermediary of the local authorities. Sheng, the Taotai, has informed him that the Tsung Li Yamen refuses to transmit messages in cipher to the ministers, and requires that all despatches be in ordinary language."

In the House of Commons to-day Parliamentary Secretary Brodrick announced the receipt of a despatch from Gen. Sir Alfred Gaselee, commanding the British forces in China, stating that he contemplated an immediate advance on Peking, and that he hoped to have the co-operation of the allied forces.

ONLY A THOUSAND

Boers Came in and Surrendered With Gen. Prinsloo.

General Hunter Will Immediately Begin a Pursuit of the Others—A Young American Joins Both.

London, Aug. 1.—A despatch received at the war office from Lord Roberts materially modifies yesterday's statement of the surrender of 5,000 Boers under General Prinsloo. It now appears that General Prinsloo, Villiers and Crowther surrendered with 986 men, 1,432 horses, 955 rifles and a Krupp 8-inch-pounder. Some of the leaders in more distant parts of the hills hesitate to come in, on the plea that they are independent of Gen. Prinsloo. Lord Roberts adds that he has directed Gen. Hunter, to resume hostilities forthwith, and to listen to no excuses.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Daily Express says:—"The Boers are preparing to retreat from Watermaalboven. Frank Pettigrew, son of United States Senator Pettigrew, has arrived here and has joined Commandant-General Botha's staff. A despatch to the Central News from Lorenzo Marquez says that General Botha and his staff have arrived at Machedorp. The Boers are throwing up entrenchments on the hills north and south of the town."

ANTICOSTI OUTRAGE.

Sympathy Expressed for an Evicted Settler Who is now in Jail.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Rev. Dr. Griffiths, of Quebec, who was identified with the removal of the Fox Bay settlers, of Anticosti, to Manitoba, and is at present in this city, expresses sympathy with John Stubbart, the lobster packer, whom the agents of M. Menier are trying to evict from Anticosti. He says that Stubbart claims strong grounds for resisting eviction. In the first place he bought and paid for his rights, and has been in peaceable possession for ten years. Further, that Stubbart claims that his property is on the beach at Fox Bay, below high water mark, and therefore outside Menier's jurisdiction. Dr. Griffiths says that Stubbart is a good citizen and is entitled to that even-handed justice to which every British subject can lay claim to.

BRESSI DEFIANT.

He Says He Would Resume Operations if Released.

The Dead King's Bier—Enormous Number of Telegrams and Letters of Regret Received.

Genoa, Italy, Aug. 1.—Bressi maintains an air of the utmost cynicism. In the course of his examination he declared himself to be a revolutionary anarchist, and said he was ready to resume operations if he were released. The assassin has been removed from the local police station to the jail. Signor Saracco, the premier, on his arrival at the royal villa to tender his condolences to Queen Margherita had an impressive audience lasting half an hour. All the royal princes, the Queen of Portugal and the Duke of Oporto have arrived here.

DEAD KING'S BIER.

The body of King Humbert, dressed in black, lies on the bed ordinarily used by him. Around the massive candelabra holding burning tapers at the foot and head of the bed are flowers placed by Queen Margherita, who passed the long hours of the night in prayer by the bedside which the body lies. Father Bignami, the court chaplain, is in immediate charge of the bier. The cardinal-archbishop of Milan has ordered a requiem mass in all the churches in his diocese. Enormous numbers of telegrams of regret and condolence continue to arrive, including messages from the most illustrious families in Rome.

The formal act of recording the death of King Humbert was drawn up at one o'clock this morning in the king's bedroom. It was witnessed by Count Radini, formerly prime minister, and the royal household. The president of the senate acted as notary for the crown. The minister of the interior and other officials were present.

ALD FLEMING MAY RESIGN.

Ald. Scane, McKeeough, Fleming and Stephens and the Mayor, of the special city committee, met this afternoon at the scene of the Colborne St. spur dispute and heard from Manson Campbell and the irate residents. Adjourning under the neighboring trees they discussed the matter in all its phases. It was finally decided to allow the spur to remain where it is now situated, although Ald. Fleming intimated that he would submit a minority report. He also stated that if the majority report was adopted he would resign.

THEIR PROMISES RISE UP AGAINST THEM.

The Bramford Express, in seeking to prove that the Liberal party had lived up to its pledge to abolish protection, said:

As a matter of fact the Liberal trade policy differs in most essential particulars from the Tory N. P., though it is not free trade as it is in England, because the party was never committed, as a matter of fact, to any such policy.

The Bramford Express promptly reminded the Express that in 1895 it quoted with approval the following utterance by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Winnipeg:

This (free trade) is the policy we have to adopt. We cannot have it at the present time, I am sorry to say, but we can advance towards it. We shall give you free trade and although it will be a hard fight we will not give in one inch or retreat one step until we shall have reached the goal, and THAT GOAL IS FREE TRADE AS IT EXISTS IN ENGLAND TO-DAY.

The Liberal writers should know that though their party leaders may repudiate their pledges, the people have not forgotten the terms of the compact upon which they granted Sir Wilfrid a term in office, nor will they forgive such offenses, as that of the Express in the interests of party, against common honesty.

TEA AND THE CHINESE "EMBROGLIO."

The consternation aroused in the minds of careful housewives by the announcement a few days ago that the price of tea was rising in consequence of the disturbances in China, appears destined to be short-lived. Even in the New York market, where, for purely speculative purposes apparently, the rise in question was inaugurated, there seems to have been no sufficient reason for so doing, while from London—the great tea-market of the world—comes the intelligence that the stocks of the large tea houses, either in hand or being consigned, are extensive enough to render a rise of price, except perhaps in the case of some special brands, very improbable for a time at all events. China still is, of course, the principal tea-producing country of the world, and time was at no very far back date when the present reported chaotic state of the "Flowery Land" would have instantly upset the tea market. That this is not the case now is due in several causes. First, China has now to contend against rivalry from most unknown a quarter of a century ago, with the result that, notwithstanding a largely increased demand for the commodity, the price has been constantly falling.

Ceylon, formerly a noted coffee and spice-producing island, has now relegated coffee to a secondary position, and places on the market annually teas of good quality to the amount of over 122,000,000 pounds. Assam, in British India, though failing to show such magnificent results, is a very important factor in the trade, and the value of its tea constitutes nearly one-twelfth of the total exports of Hindustan. Japan has become a very active producer and trader in tea, and supplies large quantities to the markets of this continent, to Australia and to most of the countries of continental Europe, although very sparsely to Great Britain. So far, indeed, as that country is concerned, the tea of Ceylon have largely displaced those of other countries. Thus, while the value of tea imported from China into the United Kingdom is only about five million dollars, Ceylon sends there more than eighteen and a half million dollars' worth. A second important reason why the present disturbances in northern China are not likely materially to affect the price of tea is the fact that the great tea-exporting treaty ports are not at present involved in the revolutionary proceedings, of which the Boxers are seemingly the instigators. Their import and export trade do not appear, indeed, to be at present affected otherwise than advantageously. This being so, there is no reason why the big China tea ships should not pursue the even tenor of their way, and continue to supply the teapot of the Occident with China's special food product. Of course, should the present disastrous condition of things be prolonged, or extended over a wider area, the cultivation of tea must inevitably be interfered with, but even then there is no cause for anticipating anything approaching to a tea famine. There is, however, one contingency which might temporarily at least derange prices, namely, the employment of a large number of vessels for the conveyance of munitions of war and troops. But since much of the tea exported from China is carried in large, old-fashioned sailing vessels, such a withdrawal of ships from their regular occupation could have no very general effect. On the whole, it may be assumed that the efforts to impose war prices upon tea are at present at least doomed to failure.

In granting these anarchists shelter in which to hatch their evil plots, Great Britain and the United States are committing a crime against civilization.

CANNIBALISM IN VOGUE

An American Indian in Jail for Eating a Woman.

An Indian cannibal has been sent to jail in Vancouver. His crime was part of an ancient rite. He was an initiate of the Ha-mattas, an Indian secret fraternity which demands of its members that they acquire a taste for human flesh.

The Canadian government is greatly exercised over this outbreak of a barbaric custom that had been thought well nigh stamped out.

One of the prisoners was a well-known half-breed named George Hunt. He had charge of a band of Indians exhibited at the World's Fair, and he acted as interpreter for Dr. Franz Boas, of the Museum of Natural History, New York, when the latter was in Vancouver collecting data for his important work on Indian customs, now filed at the Smithsonian Institution.

There was insufficient evidence for the conviction of Hunt, and the same is true of all the defendants save one. He was convicted of having devoured a portion of the body of a squaw.

It is only among a few of the far northern and isolated tribes, remote from civilization and stubborn in their resistance to missionary effort, that the horrible rites of the Ha-mattas, or flesh-eaters, survive.

Every spring the Ha-mattas holds its initiation ceremonies for new candidates, disconnected by feasting and dancing and other wild orgies. The chief purpose of the initiation is to create in the aspirant the taste for human flesh.

In the case in question the body of a young squaw who had mysteriously died but a few days before was removed from the burying ground and taken to the initiation room, where it was washed naked to one of the poles. A band of the Ha-mattas, marched round it, inflamed by wild music and frenzied yells of the old Ha-mattas, and proceeded to bite off mouthfuls of flesh from the arms, sides and legs of the squaw's body.

The Northwest Mounted Police were informed of the hideous rite and succeeded in capturing the ringleader.

Many curious facts about the cannibal fraternity came to light during the trial. It was developed that for initiation into the Ha-mattas the novice must go and live four or five weeks in the forest seeing no one and eating no food.

At the end of his banishment his "spirit" appears in the shape of some animal, which he at once kills and devours raw, whereby he is supposed to imbibe its courage and strength, which thereafter dwell in him. He returns adorned with a headdress of cedar bark, dyed red which is one of the emblems of the flesh-eating fraternity, and is worn by him during the progress of the initiation. He is met by a band of the secret brotherhood, who escort him to the village with much ceremony.

They are joined by an attendant bearing in his arms a dead body, which must be that of a young squaw. In ancient times she was sacrificed for the occasion.

Walking behind this body, the candidate is led into the dancing-house, which has been cleared for the ceremony.

The body is tied to a post and the unspeakable rite begins.

There were witnesses at the trial who swore that Hunt, the half-breed, had cut the body to pieces for distribution among the old members and the novice, and that all joined in devouring the flesh. Certain it is that the man from the woods, naked and half-starved after his vigil, played his part in the rite, while his associates spurred him on with dance and song.

And if they did not actually join him in the gruesome feast, they stimulated his zeal by making concerted, wolf-like rushes at the mangled body and pretending to fight over the flesh.

Nor did the candidate for Ha-mattas honors escape with one night of horrors. Four times, as darkness fell, he was led into the dance-house and compelled to undergo the trial prescribed by Indian law had been all devoured.

Then came another stage of the ceremony—the eating of living flesh. In this the uninitiated spectators were allowed to play a passive part. The Ha-mattas ran his knife through the victim, hitting with the ferocity of a wildcat and eating their flesh.

It was a point of pride with the victims to endure the onslaught with stoicism. Besides, the customs of the order prescribe gifts for those who allow themselves to be bitten. The first prize on this occasion was awarded to a boy who allowed a large mouthful to be detached from his forearm.

Having gallantly performed all that was required of him, the candidate was pronounced by the elders a full-fledged Ha-mattas.

He then devoured upon his proud family to give a great feast in his honor. Human flesh was not included in the repast, but the new Ha-mattas exhibited his zeal by occasionally taking a bite out of his nearest neighbor's arm or shoulder, and these attentions were submitted to with great good humor.

Most important of all was the distribution by the young Ha-mattas of blankets and other gifts to all the persons whom he had honored by biting.

Need of Pure Air.

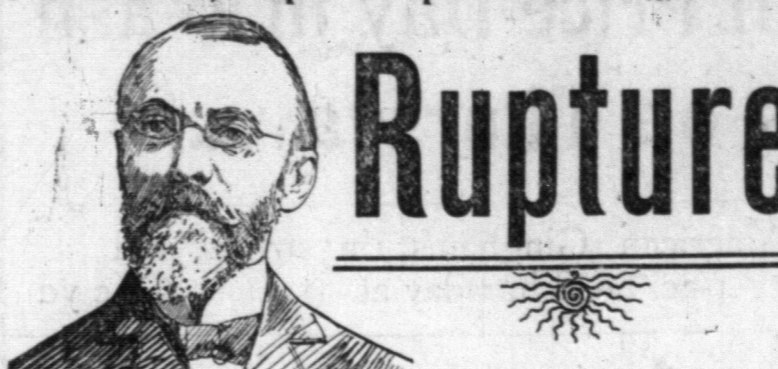

In order that sleep may perform its legitimate work of restoration it demands that its conditions and environment shall offer no obstacle to its accomplishment. Sleep demands a purer atmosphere than the waking hours of life. Awake and at work we are somewhat on the defensive, but we yield ourselves into the arms of slumber and are at the mercy of unseen foes lurking in secret hiding places about our rooms, close beside our beds and beneath very pillows.

Famines of Modern Times.

The worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1847, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine of 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine of 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 died.

He who makes a specialty of one department must certainly be more experienced and capable than those having "many irons in the fire." Stop wasting time and money in useless efforts elsewhere, but go to one whose life-long study has taught him what to do. Have you not had experience enough to justify you in adopting some change for the better? If you ever intend to be cured now is the best time—next week may be too late. LET NO ONE DESPOND: Do not be deterred from seeking my advice, because after having been treated by many who failed to cure you, you have become discouraged. This is the very time you should make ONE MORE TRIAL. When I take a case, I exert my whole mind, energies and skill to perfect a cure, irrespective of any money consideration and bring to bear on it all that science, homely knowledge and experience will accomplish, knowing that the exertions of these never fail to bring their just reward in due time. THE FACT THAT YOU may not be (AT PRESENT) in a financial way, able to have yourself properly attended to—should not keep you from consulting me. MY ADVICE IS FREE, and this alone may prove very valuable in your case—Read dates carefully and tell your friends of this visit. Send two cent stamp for a valuable circular with fuller information, etc.

ITS CURATIVE POWERS.

Speaking of the curative powers of the water Dr. Hall said, "I had a patient, an elderly man residing near Meritt and he was suffering from ulcerated legs. I told him his cure was almost impossible but he might try this water as a last resort. He did so and the result was marvellous. The sores all healed up after a few applications.
On another occasion an old man, now resident of the Home of the Friendless, was wandering about town in a filthy state. He came to me one day with his legs a mass of sores and when he removed the rags white maggots were exposed. He was so awful I could not touch him. I sent him to bathe in this water and he did so daily. The first day's bath killed the maggots and each succeeding day wrought an improvement until a permanent cure was the result.

David Walker, of the Walker House, Toronto, was one of those most interested in the company that bored the well first and he furnished me with many details in regard to the work. Judge Woods kept a log of each day's operations and the different strata.
This the Judge lent to me also and it proved of exceeding value. The gentlemen interested in the well, have the water analysed and form a company. You may expect to see mineral baths here soon. Many difficulties have had to be surmounted. The Mc-Gregor children were infants at first and the property could not be transferred. Then Caleb Wheeler bought the property with an option on it. At length, the well has been secured by a number of citizens, at I must say, a very large consideration. However we could not do any better and we had to have the well.

Amongst those who visited the well this morning were: Chas. Hadley, Geo. Witherspoon, Mayor Smith, J. P. Smith, Supt.
Jones, L. F. Wilson, Alex. Vorkentin, W.
D. Sheldrake, Dr. Hall, F. F. Quinn, W. A.
Thrasher, Thos. Scullard, Geo. G. Martin,
F. C. Hare, of Ottawa; and I. E. Brock.
Supt. Jones said that he remembered the well as a boy. It flowed into the creek and the salt in it killed the fish in the creek and river. The shores of both streams were lined with dead fish, lizards, etc. Nearly all the factories here were on the creek in those days, and the boilers were all encrusted with salt. The Great Western Railway was forced to quit pumping water from the creek and the well was plugged up by the city as it was a nuisance.

A RICH STRIKE.

"I consider this strike of mineral water worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the city," said Mayor Smith this morning. "When these baths get going they will fill our hotels and boarding houses and bring business to our merchants and medical men. I regard every piece of property in Chatham as more valuable to-day than it was yesterday, for its value has been enhanced. This mineral water is every bit as good as that at Mount Clemens, in fact, as far as I can see,
it is the same kind of water."
Last year 100,000 persons from different parts of the State and Canada visited Mount Clemens to take baths. Now we are not going to get that number all at once but we will get a share and a constantly increasing one. These people all spend money and spend it liberally too, and I expect to see the city derive direct and immediate benefit from this morning's strike."

RUPTURE SPECIALIST COMING.

J. Y. Egan, the well known hernia specialist, of Toronto, will make his visit to Chatham, Garner House, Saturday, Sunday, (all day and evening)
—two days only—August 11, 12. It is important, (if ruptured) that you secure the best services and most advanced methods of relief. The theory of curing rupture by hypodermic injections, electricity, and massage applied to external lesions, has long been discarded by leading herniotomists,
and medical statistics show that Mr.
Egan's system of treatment is the only one reliable one, without any of their injurious effects. Blood poisoning of often results by rubbing on external locations. Consult this gentleman free when opportunity presents itself.

Your Daughter's College Home

Has considerable influence on her future life. College Education, besides giving a young woman thorough training in specific studies, teaches self-reliance, and the ability to think for herself. She meets and forms friendships with those from different sections of Canada and the United States, and her after life is broader, more useful and happier for the few years that elapse.

The Directors of Alma College believe it is their duty to Parents, looking for an institution in which their daughters may have good care and instruction, advantages worthy of examination, and that the advantages of Alma College are such that it is a most desirable place for a young woman to spend her college years. The College Building stands in a beautiful site near park, perfectly drained and supplied with an abundance of the purest water.

FEVERISH HASTE

The Allies Displaying it in Getting Ready

For the Advance on Pekin—A Difficult and Dangerous Task Before Them.

London, Wednesday, Aug. 1, 4 a.m.—A sensational Shanghai correspondent still hints that the Chinese are juggling with dates, but in face of the constantly accumulating evidence that the ministers were safe on July 22, and despite the omission from all the despatches of anxiously desired information regarding the real situation, political and otherwise, at Pekin, there are very few in London who do not believe the despatches genuine and reliable. The allies now confront a most difficult and dangerous problem. Without doubt the ministers are held by the Chinese as hostages, and the outcome of the advance on Pekin, which in all probability has already begun, will be awaited with intense anxiety. The latest despatches show that the allies, notably the Japanese, have been pushing their preparations with feverish haste, organizing a series of pick-up trains, and junks. It is reported from Berlin that Lieut. Gen. Von Lassel, commanding the German forces in China, whom Emperor William has just promoted to the rank of general, commanding an army corps, has been selected as commander-in-chief of the allied forces. The Chinese are strongly entrenched at Wang Tann, from which position, however, it is believed they can be ejected without great difficulty. The danger is that, if defeated there, the Chinese will retire on Pekin, and put the remainder of the Europeans to death. It is also possible that the advance of the allies will be the signal for the Chinese authorities to compel all foreigners to quit the capital, in which event they might become the prey of the fanatical Boxers. The feeling of the newspapers here is that nothing whatever should now delay the advance and that no negotiations of any kind should be countenanced until the allied troops reach Pekin and assure themselves regarding the fate of the foreigners.

SIR ROBERT HEARD FROM.

Important additional confirmation of the safety of the legations was received in London last evening, by Duncan Campbell, representative in Europe of the Chinese customs service, from the commissioner of customs at Chefoo, in the shape of a Pekin despatch, not dated, but believed to have been written on July 21, signed by both Sir Robert Hart, inspector-general of customs, and Robert Bredon, deputy inspector-general, to the following effect:—"Staff and family still safe. This has been confirmed by the commissioner of customs in Shanghai, who telegraphed last evening. Authentic; inspector-general safe, 22nd."

It is reported from an unofficial, but usually reliable source, that the Chinese minister at St. Petersburg wired to Li Hung-Chang, intimating the possibility of obtaining favorable terms of settlement from Russia if China would adopt a conciliatory attitude and compel a cessation of the attacks on the legations. Thereupon, Li Hung-Chang memorialized the throne, representing that he was ill and unable to come to Pekin, but urging that every endeavor be made to send the ministers to Tien-Tsin, and to insure the safety of foreigners and missionaries.

The latest advices from Tien-Tsin announce that the Russians and Japanese are scouting in the direction of Peking. The Japanese commander Yamaguchi, expects Yang-Tsun to be taken within three days. The Governor of Shang-Tung says the British consul's message was sent to Sir Claude MacDonald, whose reply was handed to the Tsung-Tai-yamen on July 25. A special despatch from Tien-Tsin says the missionaries report that all the Americans in Pekin and Tung-Chau are safe, but their property has been destroyed.

LEAMINGTON.

Aug 1.—There was a funny game of baseball between the married men and the unmarried. The young fellows were too much for the old men defeating them by a score of 35 to 18.

Miss Davis, of Dresden, who was on a visit to Mr. L. J. Wright for a few weeks, returned to her home on Monday.

Chas. Lypps, who a few weeks ago left for California, returned Thursday. He is highly pleased with his prospects of success in that country and returned to take up his family. He says the oil territory there is the largest in America.

C. A. Foster, son of Dr. A. Foster, of Rockford, has very successfully passed an examination at Grand Rapids, Mich., which entitles him to four years at the Annapolis Naval Academy and which carries with it a salary of $6000 per year. At the close of the four years he receives a commission of midshipman in the U. S. navy and takes a cruise for a year. At the close of the cruise he has three options offered him—studying naval engineering and architecture. The young man is possessed of great ability as a student and will no doubt make quite a career for himself. He is well known here having many relatives in this town and vicinity. His father was formerly a resident of this town and Mersea township and was a leading man in each being reeve for several years of Leamington and township of Mersea. His friends here are all pleased at his success.

SPEND YOUR VACATION ON THE GREAT LAKES. YOU NEED A GOOD REST.

Many a brain outworn with study, from over-work or over-pleasures has been rescued from morbidness, many a cheek pale from late hours or business anxiety, has been roused and freshened by a few days' outing on the inland seas. Go before it is too late. Send 2c. for illustrated pamphlet.

A MURDEROUS INDIAN

Alleged to Have Killed His Wife, Child and Uncle.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—A terrible story of human depravity reached the city today from Gaitheau. It is the details of a triple murder at Lake la Barriere. Tete de Boule, an Indian, it is alleged, killed all his relatives—his wife, his child and his wife. Two years ago, in a rage, it is said, the man slew his old uncle with an axe. Ten months ago he and his wife and baby girl were out hunting beaver. The six-month-old child raised a little cry of gladness, and the man, because this disturbed the beavers, it is stated, tore the girl from her mother's arms and held her head down in the water till life expired. Then he handed her back to her mother. Then, after a few months, it is alleged, he killed his wife. It was winged, and he took her out to the ice and cut a hole through it. Through this hole he held her head downwards till life was extinct. Then he took her body away and hid it. Bailiff A. J. Nault, of Maniwaki, is after the man, but the country is a wild one, and it may be months before the details of the murders have only now reached the city.

ALYMER WAS EASY

For Chatham's Expert Welders of the Willow.

The Visitors Defeated by an Innings and Many Runs—The Detailed Score.

Chatham cricketers administered a severe defeat to the Alymer club on the occasion of their visit here yesterday, the victory being mainly due to the superb bowling in both innings.

For Chatham Percy Miller and Kenny did the principal run getting, while the Alymer club contributed their share to a satisfactory total. The fielding was a marked improvement yesterday and the local club deserves the credit of the splendid victory.

The score:—Alymer:

ERIEAU NOTES.

Reginald Rutherford spent Tuesday at Sandy-Knowe.

Mrs. Houston and the Misses Houston will take up their residence at the house during the absence of Judge Houston and Willie. The judge, in company with his son and Ald. Seaborn, is contemplating a trip to Tobemora for the benefit of his health.

Mr. Sowerby spent yesterday at Outlaw's Inn, the guest of Mrs. Geo. Merritt.

Principal Paterson, of the C. C. I. L. and family, are summering at the Eau. Postmaster Barfoot and family, who have been residents of Glenville for two weeks, returned to the city yesterday.

The yacht Pirate, Skipper Will H. Brackin, is now in commission and is expected before a stiff nor'wester last evening.

The Veins, in command of Norman Harper, went out for a run last evening with a party of ladies on board. The wind was strong and the water rough. The waves were washing over the yacht, and when the party returned the ladies were pretty well drenched. The sail, however, was delightful.

Edna Holmes, "Rock" Mitchell, of Wallaceburg, and Will Frazer, of Tems, were the guests of Norman Harper.

Harper, Sandrean Cottage. Miss Bessie Brackin is considered the best young lady skipper on the bar. Whenever there is a breeze, Miss Brackin may be seen skimming over the blue waters in the green yacht belonging to Commodore Jones.

The Misses Ritchie and Miss Barclay are guests at the Crawford House. The government cruiser Petrel put into the Eau last evening.

Mrs. Tackberry and the Misses Tackberry have taken up their residence at Jubilee Cottage. The family of Dr. Sowerby, who have been residing at Jubilee Cottage, have secured a new home at the Crawford House. Geo. Bouswell is changing the sails on the Erie B in preparation for the races at the Scotch picnic.

The family of John Turner moved out today to the cottage at Glenville just vacated by Postmaster Barfoot. At Sandy-Knowe there is a light cedar skiff, new this year, capable of holding three persons, that can be purchased cheaply. The boat is very easy to row.

The great amount of design work done at the Victoria Avenue Green House is sufficient proof of the excellence of the work. Nothing but the best at the lowest prices. Telephone 181.

E. & D. BICYCLES

The great reason for the goodness of E. & D. bearings lies in their four-point design. The load passes directly through the balls, and there is no opportunity for the balls to jam.

In E. & D. four-point bearings the weight on any one point in the bearing is never more than 1-8th of the weight of the rider. In ordinary bicycles, the immense leverage between cup and cone bearings and cone cuts the bearings and breaks the balls.

To show how little the wear on E. & D. four-point bearings is, we first guarantee them for three years, and, secondly, we oil them at the beginning of the season, and at the end, upon examination, the oil will be found clear.

E. & D. bearings are excellent. In all parts, the four-point system is employed. In 1906 E. & D. models, even the head bearings are equipped with four-point bearings.

The E. & D. Models are found in Road Ladies' and Men's $300 Special, Ladies' and Men's with gear case $70.
Racer, Men's only $70

and the local guarantee privilege that goes with them is worth the cost of the wheel. And we will be very glad to show you the new E. & D. with its excellent equipment.

Catalogue sent free upon application. You run no risk in buying this wheel. The thirty-seventh wheel made by this firm four years ago is in daily use in this city. The owner would not exchange it for a new wheel of any other make, as he says it is in perfect order up to date, and the excellent running wheel in the city. We cannot say anything that is a higher recommendation.

LOVE'S TRIUMPH.

A STORY OF LOVE AND WAR.

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

Author of "Lena Rivers," "Edna Browning," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc., Etc.

"Perhaps it is, I got terribly perplexed thinking it all over, and how it has turned out. I think—yes, I know I am glad the negroes are free. We never abused them. Uncle Paul never abused them. But there were those who did; and if slavery is a Divine institution, as we are taught to believe, it was a broken-down and badly conducted institution, and not at all as God meant it to be managed."

Charlie passed a moment, and when he spoke again, it was of Tom, who had been so kind to him.

"He is like a brother to me, Maude, and I am glad you are to be his wife. And, Maude, don't wait after I am dead, but marry Captain Carleton at once. You will be happier then."

With tears and kisses Maude bent over her brother, who after that confession seemed so much brighter and more cheerful that hope sometimes whispered to Maude that he would live. Annie had felt better and stronger with her, he said, and death was not so terrible. So, just as she had soothed, and comforted, and nursed many a poor fellow from Andersonville, Annie comforted and nursed Charlie de Vere, until that dreadful Sunday when the telegraphic wires brought up from the South the appalling news that our President was dead—murdered by the assassin's hand.

"No, no, not that. We did not do that," Charlie cried, with a look of horror in his blue eyes when he heard the dreadful story, and that the Southern leaders were suspected of complicity in the murder.

"It would make me a Uniolet, if I believed my people capable of that; but they are not—it cannot be," Charlie kept repeating to himself, while the great drops of sweat stood upon his white forehead, and his pulse and heart beat so rapidly, Maude summoned the attending physician, who shook his head doubtfully at the great change for the worse in his patient.

"I had hoped at least to keep him till the warm weather, but I am afraid the help will be the death of him," he said, as he saw how Charlie shivered and moaned with each sound of the tolling bells.

"Perhaps they would stop if you were to ask them, and tell them why," Annie suggested to Maude; but Charlie, who heard it, exclaimed:

"No, let them toll on. It is proper they should mourn for him. The South would do the same if it was our President who had been murdered."

So the bells tolled on, and the public buildings were draped in mourning, and the windows of Charlie's room were festooned with black, and he watched the sombre drapery as it swayed in the April wind, and talked of the terrible deed, and the war which was ended, and the world to which so many thousands had gone during the long four years of strife and bloodshed.

"I shall be there to-morrow," he said, "and then perhaps I shall know why all this has been done, and if we were so wrong."

Maude and Annie, and Haverill and Tom Carleton watched him through the night, and just as the beautiful Easter morning broke, and the sunlight fell upon the Rockland hills, the boy who, to the last, had remained true to the Southern cause, lay dead among the people who had been his foes.

At Maude's request they buried him by the side of Isaac Simms, and Capt. Carleton ordered a handsome monument, on which the names of both the boys were cut. Isaac Simms, who had died for the North, and Charlie de Vere, who, if need be, would have given his life for the South, each holding entirely different political sentiments, but both holding the same living faith which made for them an entrance to the world where all is perfect peace, and where we who now see through a glass darkly shall then see face to face, and know why these things are so.

Six months had passed since Charlie de Vere died. Paul Haverill, Will Mather, and Captain Carleton had been together on a pilgrimage to Paul's old neighborhood, where the people, who grew up, welcomed back their old friend and neighbor, and strove in various ways to atone for all which had been cruel and harsh in their former dealing toward him. The war had left them destitute, so far as negroes and money were concerned; but such as they had they freely offered Paul, entreating him to stay in their midst and rebuild the homestead, whose blackened ruins bore testimony to what men's passions would lead them to do when roused and uncontrolled. But Paul said no; he could never again live where there was so much to remind him of the past. A little way out of Nashville was a beautiful dwelling house, which, with a few acres of highly cultivated land, was offered for sale.

"We had spoken of the place when she was in the city, and had said: 'I should like to live there.'"

And Tom had remembered it; and when he found it for sale, he suggested to Mr. Haverill that they buy it as a winter residence for Maude. And so what little property Paul Haverill had left was invested in Fair Oaks, as the place was called; and Tom gave orders that the house should be refurbished and ready for himself and bride as early as the first of November.

As far as was possible, Will and Tom found and generously rewarded those who had so kindly befriended them in their perilous journey across the mountains.

But some were missing, and only their graves remained to tell the story of their wrongs.

This trip was made early in June, and only in August the whole Carleton family went to New London, where Jimmie improved so fast that few would have recognized the pale, thin invalid of Andersonville now in the active, rosy-cheeked, sunny-eyed young man, who became the life of the Peacock House, and for whom the gay belles practised their most bewitching coquetries.

But these were all lost on Jimmie, whom was seldom many minutes away from the fair, blue-eyed woman who, the girls had learned, was a widow, and of whom they at first had no fears. But they changed their minds when day after day saw the "handsome Carleton" at her side, and night after night found him walking with her along the road, or sitting on the rocks and watching the tide come in, just as he had done years ago, when both were younger than they were now. They lived those days over again, and, in their perfect happiness, almost forgot the sorrow and pain which had come to them both since they first looked out upon the waters of New London bay.

Tom and Maude were there, too, together with Rose Mather and Will, and Susan Simms and John.

A well-timed investment in oil stock, a lucky turn of the wheel, and Captain John Simms awoke one morning with one hundred thousand dollars! He did not believe it either. But when John, who, with all his good sense, was a little given to show, or, as his mother expressed it, "to making a fool of himself," brought her a set of diamonds, handsomer than Rose Mather's, and bought her a new carriage, and took her to Saratoga, with an English nurse for little Ike, she began to realize that something had happened to her which brought Rose Mather's envied style of living within her means.

She soon grew tired of Saratoga. She was too much alone in that great crowd, and when she heard that the Carletons were at New London she went there with her diamonds and horses, and, patronized by Rose, who took her at once under her protection, she made a few pleasant acquaintances, and ever after talked confidently of her "summer at the sea-side." She did not care to go again, however. She and John were not exactly like people born in high life, she said, and so she settled quietly down in her pretty home, and made, as the Widow Simms said, "quite a decent woman, considerin' that she was one of them Ruggleses."

Bill Baker was astir very early one bright October morning, his face indicating that some important event was pending in which he was to act a part. It was a double wedding at St. Luke's, and Maude and Annie were the brides. There was a great crowd to witness the ceremony, and Annie's "boys" (whom she had nursed at Andersonville) were the first to offer their congratulations to Mrs. James Carleton, who looked so fair and pure and lovely, while Maude, whose beauty was of a more brilliant order, seemed to sparkle and flash as she bent her stately head in response to the greetings given to her.

Frederickton, N.B., Dec. 15th, 1905.
Having used SURPRISE SOAP for the past ten years, I find it the best soap that I have ever had in my house and would not use any other when I can get SURPRISE. Mrs. T. Henry Troup.

I have to wash for three brothers that work on the railroad, and SURPRISE SOAP is the only soap to use. We tried every other kind of soap, and I tell every body who ever overalls have such a good color.

Upon Bill, who had turned back-driver, devolved the honor of taking the party to and from the church, and his horses were covered with the Federal flag, while conspicuous in his button-hole was a small one made of white silk, and presented to him by a girl whom he called "Em," and who blushed every time she heard Bill's voice ordering the crowd to stand back, and his horses to "show their oats," as he drove from the church with the newly married couple.

The destination was Nashville, where in Maude's beautiful home, Jimmie and Annie passed a few delightful weeks, and then returned to Boston to the old Carleton house, on Beacon street, which had been fitted up for their reception.

THE END.

Fiddled into Office.
If history be true, Governor Taylor of Tennessee is not the only man who fiddled himself into office. Loring relates that in 1848 he met at Oswego, N. Y., Major Cochran, then nearly 80 years old, a son-in-law of General Philip Schuyler, who told the story of his election to congress during the administration of the elder Adams. A vessel was to be launched on one of the lakes in Interior New York, and people came from afar to see it. The young folks gathered there, determined to have a dance at night. There was a fiddle, but no fiddler. Young Cochran was an amateur performer, and his services were demanded. He gratified the joyous company, and at the supper table one of the gentlemen remarked, in commendation of his talents, that he was "fit for congress." The matter was talked up, and he was nominated and elected a representative, in congress for the district then comprising the whole of New York west of Schenectady. He always claimed to have "fiddled himself into congress."

It seems that history repeats itself, according to the proverb—Washington Star.

Punishments in England.

In the nine years 1831-9, only five persons were executed in London.

Of punishments less than death which prevailed in England years ago mutilation was one of the oddest and cruelest. Under the Danes even in the early Norman times, for certain offences men were deprived of their eyes or parts of the face, or body.

Branding, disfiguring letters on the chest, forehead or hands was a form of mutilation and was occasionally performed as a substitute for cutting off the ears on those who had already lost these members.

Capital punishment was abolished for 21 crimes between 1818 and 1824. In 1827 there were still 31 crimes punishable with death. It was abolished for nearly all these between 1832 and 1838, and remains now for only two.

The pillory was a favorite punishment in former times, and it had the dubious advantage that it might be either a very severe penalty or a very mild, according as the populace regarded the crime for which it was inflicted. As the spectators were allowed to pelt the victim he often had a very bad time of it.

The penalty of burning to death prevailed from the earliest times, and strange to say, it was practised on what men then considered meritorious grounds. It was long the special penalty for heresy, and this because the church abhorred the shedding of blood. And it was inflicted on women for crimes for which men were hanged, as a concession to the sex of the offender.

English Army Notes.

The worn-out uniforms of the British army, when sold, bring back into the War Office treasury close upon £30,000 a year.

The armor plates for the new battleship "Ocean" are to cost £156,820, and those for her sister ship, the Implacable, £140,000.

It is not considered exactly safe to fire a modern big steel gun, as used in army, more than 100 times. It has been said that if England kept every gun it has in actual firing operations for 24 hours right off the bill would almost throw her into a state of bankruptcy.

The term "Admiral" was not heard of in the British navy before 1300, and the first English seaman to take the title was one Gervase Alard, who was known as "Admiral of the Fleet of the Cinque Ports." The term, however, had been in use in France some years before the date here mentioned.

England's naval pigeon service costs nearly £300 yearly, or, to be exact, £295. There are 200 birds at Portsmouth, and the same number at Devonport and Sheerness. The bare cost of feeding them is £150 per annum. At Portsmouth £350 was originally spent for lofts, £280 at Devonport and £545 at Sheerness.

Pitiful Poverty in Russia.

Statistics just published show that in Russia only 347,268 families out of a population of about 130,000,000 souls have an income of over $500 a year, or that practically more than 99 per cent. of the whole population are constantly in a state of abject poverty and pauperism in their various degrees. The figures become appalling when one considers the case of the peasantry, which forms the overwhelming majority of the population. The average yearly income of a peasant family consisting of six members ranges from $80 to $75 a year, out of which between $25 and $35 has to be paid to the Government in direct taxes.

ON an inferior vehicle, your life and that of your family depends upon their reliability and quality. You can't tell very much about the quality of a vehicle by simply looking at it. The paint and varnish effectually hides the quality of material. Vehicles must be bought largely on faith—faith in the honesty of the manufacturer. We have been selling them for about fifty years and are now among the largest manufacturers. These facts speak volumes for the quality of our goods. You take no chances.

PEACE-MAKERS.

Civic Representatives Assume
a New and Decidedly Original Role.

Will Seek to Settle the Spar Subject Satisfactorily and Report at Monday's Meeting.

Ald. Scane, as chairman of the special civic committee appointed last evening, has been called upon to restore tranquility to the troubled waters, seek to tempt the white-winged dove of peace from its brooding hiding place, cause it to spread its snowy pinions over the now clouded horizon, and rejuvenate the "peace on earth, good will toward men" sentiment in the matter of the disputed Colborne street railroad spur.

Ald. Scane does not assume the role of civic peace-maker alone. He will need a representative assistance. He will need it. The outlook was particularly promising last night, and the property owners and their friends, who formed the major part of the audience and submitted their petition were warmly vouched on the Moody & Sankey plan. However, Ald. Scane has with him Ald. Stephens, Ald. Fleming, Ald.
McKough, Mayor Smith and the members of the property committee.

These are the gentlemen, appointed at the city council session, whose duty it will be to arbitrate upon the much-debated Lake Erie spur to Campbell's factory and report back fully at Monday evening's regular meeting. They will consult with all parties interested and use every endeavor to procure an amicable solution of the present problem of difference. Ald. Scane has summoned the committee together for this afternoon and intends to go thoroughly into the entire matter.

There were present the Mayor and Ald.
Stephens, Scane, McKough, McCoig, Taylor, Fleming and Liddy.

The Mayor briefly explained the object of the meeting and read the following petition:

We, the undersigned petitioners, freeholders and ratepayers, request your honorable body to at once prevent the laying of the railway across Prince street to the Campbell Fanning Mill Co's premises, which is being done contrary to the permission granted.

That the laying of the said spur across Prince street is an injury to the property and detrimental to your petitioners in this vicinity.

And your petitioners in duty bound will ever pray:

THOS. H. BAXTER.
CHAS. B. BAXTER.
MARY REID.
O. W. BEDFORD.
MRS. S. G. ALDIS.
LULIO RAMSEY.
E. INGRAM.
JAMES GOODALL.
JOHN STRINGER.
ALFRED WILLS.
E. M. JONES.
MARGARET WATERS.
D. A. WILLCOX.

His Worship said he had also received a communication from Manson Campbell, which had been mislaid.

Ald. Scane—I read it carefully in The Planet of Saturday, in which it was published in full.

Other aldermen said they had done likewise and most communications were formally received.

Ald. Fleming outlined the nature of the dispute over the spur, as already recorded in The Planet. He had no axe to grind, but he felt some redress and consideration should be shown the residents and ratepayers in the vicinity. He moved, seconded by Ald. Liddy, that the Lake Erie and Campbell
Co. be requested to move their spur,
and, in case of refusal, further action
should be taken to have it done.

A short discussion followed this motion. Some of the aldermen felt it to be unwise to hastily entrust a large industry, or perhaps rush into a lawsuit. They expressed considerable criticism, however, as to the methods of procedure. The motion was adopted in the laying of the switch, and recognized the rights and grievances of the ratepayers in the vicinity.

In view of this feeling at the board, Ald. McKough submitted a motion in amendment that a committee consisting of Ald. Scane, Stephens, Fleming, and the Mayor, in conjunction with the property committee, be appointed to representatives of the petitioners, the Campbell Co., and the railroad and endeavor to arrange a satisfactory settlement, and report to Monday's meeting.

Upon Ald. Scane's suggestion, Ald.
McKough's name was added to the motion. Ald. Fleming withdrew his motion and the amendment carried unanimously.

PAVEMENT CURBING.

Ald. McKough asked for an expression of opinion on the proposal to redress and "bull-nose" the pavement curbing on King street.

Ald. McKough said it was estimated at $300 for the entire street.

Ald. McKough asked if the expense would come from the general fund.

Ald. McKough said it would come under the frontage system.

Ald. Scane is right in view of that fact it would be wise to await action until the property owners had been consulted.

The matter was accordingly left over till Monday's meeting.

Contractor Lynch was heard upon the matter and strongly recommended the action of the proposal. He also asked the council to hasten to a decision so as not to impede the progress of the work of laying the curbing,
which, it was anticipated, would commence the beginning of the coming week.

An application from John Mains to cut a tree, submitted by Ald. Liddy, was referred to the Chief of Police.

SUNK OFF WALKERVILLE.

About 2 o'clock this morning the schooner
J. S. Richards was sunk off Walkerville in a collision with the steamer John W. Moore, and two unknown sailors were drowned.

The Richards and the Lake Forest were in tow of the tug Orestes, bound for Lake Erie ports. When off Walkerville the vessel and the Moore crashed together and the schooner soon filled. Two of the sailors were sleeping in the fore-cabin of the Richards, and they were either killed when the boat met, or the vessel sank before they could escape from their quarters.
