Ald. Charles Austin has a few more words to say to the Collegiate Institute Board on the question which is taking up so much public attention at the present time.

"Either Secretary Harrris did not read the original statement as made by me at the Council meeting or else he is evading the question the same as Dr. Thornton and Colonel Rankin did. What I did say was, that at the present time the position is that the county is only required to pay 60 per cent. of the cost of the pupil's tuition or, in other words, for each $2 paid out which should be paid for by the city and county together, the city will-pay $1.11.1-9 and the county. 88 2-9 cents, or 1-5 less than the city.

"For the information of your readers it might be well for you to state that in 1901 the Ontario Government passed a statute providing that where cities and counties united for High school purposes the county will only pay 60 per cent. of the cost of maintenance of county pupils. Kent County did not take advantage of this during 1901, 1902 and 1903, but paid as arranged for by the old agreement, but last year they decided to take advantage of the statute and hence the present disagreement, and the question has been submitted to the judge give decision adverse to the city, I notice you report Colonel Rankin as stating that he will move to give notice to the county to have the union for High school purposes cancelled.

Simon Hammer Reveals How He Shot Hauch at Charivari.

Young Man of 21 Years Makes Confession at the Inquest at Tavistock, and Hands Coroner the Fatal Revolver-Circumstances Were Purely Accidental, as Narrator Explained and Jury Believed.

Tavistock, Oct. 6 .- The secret of the shooting affair a, the charivari at the mouse of Mrs. John Wagester, 17th concession, East Zorra, was revealeyesterday afternoon when Simon Hammer of Taylstock, a young man of 21, employed by Daniel Pletsch, lot 26, concession 14, Eas. Zorra, handed to the coroner a 28-calibre revolver, said that he believed that he fired the shot that he believed that he fired the shot that killed Hauch, and, weeping bitterly, expressed extreme regret at the fatal termination of the accident.

A number of witnesses were called previously, but their evidence threw we light on the shooting. Each had acard a number of shots, but the number heard by any witness was much less than the actual number of shots fired. George Boatman, a member of the charivari party, testified to seeing Simon Hammer standing to the west Simon Hammer standing to the Simon Hammer standing to the west of Hauch during the charivari. Hammer was then called. He said he went with George Witzel, a nelghbor's son, and joined the party a short distance from the Wagester homestead. He admitted having a revolver and the coroner warned him that any further evidence might be used against him afterwards.

evidence might be used against him afterwards.

Told All the Truth.

He said: "I'll tell the truth, the whole truth." Continuing, he said: "I stood beside Hauch, about three feet to the west. We started to shoot. Hauch fired three shots and I fired three. When I was going to re-load I pulled the hammer back too far and when I tried to let it down to half-cock it slipped out of my hand, striking a cartridge that had missed fire. As it went off the revolver flew up and the bullet struck Hauch in the arm."

"Here the witness broke down, and,

"Here the witness broke down, and, There the witness broke down, and, sobbing bitterly, said: "I did not mean to do it, and I am sorry that I shot the poor boy."

Hammer afterwards explained that four chambers of his 38 calibre bull-dog revolver were loaded and the hammer rested on the fifth, which was empty. He thought he fired the four cartridges, but one had missed and the nammer struck it when he was reloading.

Witness did not know the bullet from his revolver had struck Hauch except that he saw the smoke of the discharge between them, and just after it went off Hauch said: "I'm shot," and fell to the ground. He had no grudge against deceased, with whom he was not acquainted.

The jury, after being out 17 minutes, brought in the following verdict at $9.25$: "That John S. Hauch came to his death by a bullet accidentally discharged from a revolver, said revolver being at the time in the hands of Simon Hammer." Witness did not know the bullet from

The average ratepayer and citizen is beginning to wonder how, when and where it will all end; this tangled web of live wires that seemingly has enveloped so many of our municipal and educational representatives and institutions-how shall it best be unravelled and the many cross and dangerous electric currents checked and nullified?

It is very unfortunate - not only for the representatives concerned; but for the city at large-that a discussion which should have proved a helpful and intelligent analysis as to the wisdom of inaugurating a Board of Education, has been characterized so largely with personal feeling and retaliatory imputations. The real issue, and its advisability, has been largely lost in a maze of heated verbal pyrotechnics. It is not a question now as to whether a Board of Education is really more advantagebus to the community than the present system; it is a matter of whether Mayor Cowan and his colleagues are to conquer Trustees Robertson and Paxton and their colleagues, and the people are invited to take side and join in the unhealthy civil warfare. As to the merits of the matter at issue-how very little has been

The formation of a Board of Education is a very important project for the ratepayers and their representatives to carefully and thoughtfully consider. Theoretically, it appeals to most of us; practically there appear to be several important issues to be taken into consideration.

The Council have taken the steps necessary to bring the new Board into being next January if it be deemed advisable in the public interests. If, on the other hand, it is going to cause troublesome and expensive complications-such as would warrant men acting for the public good in postponing its inauguration-we understand the resolution may be rescinded and the matter be left over for future and fuller consideration during the coming year. The Planet respectfully suggests to all parties concerned the wisdom of forthwith getting together in an honest, open and thoughtful consideration of the whole question. In the public interests banish personal feeling and prejudice and meet on the happy mutual basis of a desire to act in common for the public weal.

We would much like to see a meeting called of special representatives from the City and County Councils, from the Collegiate Institute, Public and Separate School Boards, to consider the whole question amicably together-and decide harmoniously one with the other on the best course to be pursued in the interests of all concerned. Then let everyone act thereon.

Who will take the initiative to bring about such a conference?

CHATHAM SEWERS.

To the Editor of The Planet: To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—This city seems always to have an apparently insolvable sewer problem on hand. If it does not happen to be at that famous William and King Sts. crossing, it is in half a dozen other places. In thinking over the problem I have become convinced that the conclusion I arrived at on the question years ago is the only true reason for all our difficulties. I may be wrong, but with your kind permission I will give those reasons for the consideration of my fellow-citizens.

fellow-citizens. It has always seemed to me that

It has always seemed to me that the trouble is imherent owing, partly to our low elevation, but principally to the system upon which our sewer plan has been constructed. Perhaps the style of the beginning of the system was owing to the fact of the first engineers never having grasped the idea of Chatham ever becoming a city; and I suppose succeeding engineers were almost compelled to continue the original system.

At the last Council meeting they spoke of the difficulty or sinding sur-ficient fall for drainage owing to the fact of the land along the margin of Joe Pilsworth, of Leamington, was in the city yesterday.

and the rise of the river in freshets, that I have drawn my conclusions. When a farmer goes to drain his land he always looks for the lowest line in it, and then digs his main drain along that line and runs the drains from the higher land into that drain. But in Chatham the engineers have reversed that system and have been endeavoring to, as it were, drain 'the low land into the high parts. Of course, the river, when normal, is the lowest line, but to my mind they have taken the wrong and most expensive way to reach it. These lateral sewers should have been started at a proper depth to drain all cellars and they would require little or no increase in depth over the natural slope of the land to give us perfect drainage. By this system, instead of having such a number of deep outlets for sewage and equally convenient inlets for river water, we should have no open sewers at either the river or creek, but the one trunk outlet, and that outlet could have been so protected by flood gates, and kept clear by a pump that Chatham would not now Ald. (Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

On next Saturday night Chatham theatre-goers will be treated to a genuine novelty in the shape of Polard's Australian Juvenile Opera Company, who will appear at the Grand Opera House for a series of five performances, including a matinee on Wednesday afternoon. The Toronto World says:

The Pollard children produced "A Runaway Girl" at the Grand last evening in admirable style and kept the large audience amused and pleased throughout the entire evening. Little Daphane Pollard as "Carmeta" showed talent that would be envied by older people in the profession, while Eva Moore, as "The Runaway might bill.—Sept. 29, 1905. auditor forgets that he is witness-of a gang of laborers wished to show his authority to those under him on the first morning of his promotion.

COWS' MILK BRINGS ENORMOUS INCOME TO THE AMERICAN FARMER. ITS FOOD QUALITIES.

The average income from each cow throughout the United States is about $27.00 per year. In some states, notably Pennsylvania, they bring their owners an income on an average of $36.00 each a year. There are over seventeen million milch cows in the United States, according to the last census. Of the states lowa has the lead with over five million and a half horned cattle. Milk is healthy and fattening when fresh and from good healthy cattle. It is good for consumptives and those weakened by disease. The only danger comes from the fact that milk affords a splendid medium for germs of typhoid fever and consumption to grow in and then infect the blood of the person drinking it. Again, the cows themselves often suffer from tuberculosis or consumption, and this can infect the human being drinking their milk. When we come to count our chances for taking disease however, we should not fear infection unless our blood is in disorder and our constitution run down.

Many thousands of cases have been known where persons who were suffering from incipient phthisis, or the early stages of consumption, were absolutely cured by Dr. Plerce's Golden Medical Discovery. It maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate the proper nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and relieves indigestion, and the person is thereby saved from fever, night-sweats, headache, etc., which are secommon. For sale at all drug stores.

The man who is really witty generally has the least appreciation of his ability.

A PRINCELY PRINTER

H S. H. Prince Louis of Battenberg Knows How to "Stick Type."

Dr. George Johnson, the Dominion statistician, tells a good story about H. S. H. Prince Louis of Battenberg, rear-admiral of the second cruiser squadron, who has been stationed in Quebec and who opened the Industrial Fair at Toronto on the 29th August.

Lord Dufferin came down to Halifax Lord Dufferin came down to Halifax soon after being sworn into office as Governor-General to see what he could do to pacify the Anti-Unionists of the Province, then still refusing to recog-nize the Dominion. The officers of the army and navy, of course, gave him a cordial reception, and the officers of the Royal Alfred (flagship), proposed to give a ball in his honor on beard. On the morning of the ball, looking over matters to see if everything was all right, they made the discovery that they were without dance programs. That was something not to be passed over. They must have the programs. over. They must have the programs. What would the young ladies do? What the young sallants? There would be a mixing up of engagements sufficient to keep gallants and young ladies explaining for a fortnight. The Royal Alfred's officers would be laughed at for not known how to measure "known". for not knowing how to manage a "hop" on board ship.

One of the young officers was sent posthaste to get the programs printied. When he sought the printing offices, lo and behold! all were closed. It postnaste to get the programs princed. When he sought the printing offices, lo and behold! all were closed. It was a holiday and the printers had taken a day off. After searching through the town, the officer found one newspaper office, the editor of which was alone grinding out an editorial for the next day's issue. On being told the nature of his mission the editor said he himself did not know one type from another—that the mystery of printing was beyond him. "Now," says the officer, "I see daylight. If we can get into the printing office I can set up the type. I am a printer by trade, and between us we can get out of the dilemma." The key was found. The two went upstairs to the printing office. The officer printer tyok off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and "stuck type" for all he was worth. A hand press, used for "pulling proof," was utilized for printing the programs. The work was pronounced first-class. The programs were tied up secundum artem, and Prince Louis of Battenberg—for that was the printer's name—hurried on board the flagship with the precisus parcel which saved the situation; and that night at the ball "all went merry as a marriage-bell."

Dr. Johnson recalls the impression he then received that Prince Louis was a first-class printer, and knew his trade thoroughly. Prince Louis says he "recalls the incident perfectly." Evidently, he has been proud of his feat ever since.

It May East'y Be Made Bright, Fresh and Inviting. Among the crosses many housewives have to annoy them is a bathtub of uninviting appearance in a room that otherwise looks fresh and clean. The tarnished surface may refuse to become bright, no matter what cleaning materials are employed.

THE SHABBY BATHTUB

By being your own workman you may at a trifling expense make the tub quite desirable. Procure a small can of common paint of any light color de-sired, a can of enamel paint of the same color and a good sized brush. Cut eight or ten inch pieces of yellow soap into bits and put it over the fire to dissolve in a couple of quarts of water. Fill the bathtub with hot water and throw in a generous handful of powdered borax and the dissolved soap. When the water becomes cool enough to put the hands in it scrub the surface with a brush, letting the water run off as the work is done. Again partly fill the tub with hot water and scrub it with the brush and sand soap to make sure that all greasy particles have been removed. Then rinse it in clear hot water and thoroughly dry.

Cover it with two coatings of the eommon paint, letting one thoroughly dry before putting on the second coat. Then give it several coats of the en-amel paint. This paint will dry more quickly than the other, and the bath will no longer be an unsightly object. Care must be used not to run hot water into the bath alone until the paint has hardened.-Philadelphia Ledger.

THE CARE OF HER GOWNS.

This Woman's Method Is Worthy of Being Widely Copied.

A time saver is the plan which a wo-man who has much of her dressmaking done in the house has evolved in the care of her gowns. She keeps all of her waists for each gown if not the whole gown itself in boxes. With it she puts the little bunch of silk or scraps of lace and ribbon that were left. She also puts in the particular bunch of ruching that she has selected for wearing with it so that in case of a fresh piece being needed or any little change being thought of she has everything at hand ready when she takes down the box.

As may be imagined, she is one who can add a touch here and make a change there in her collar or belt arrangements, little improvements which in true feminine fashion she often makes a few minutes before she puts the dress on. For this and for any accident which happens to the gown the scraps already at hand are invaluable.

The same plan applies in keeping the veils which go with it in the box with each hat, where they have more room than in a common veil box and where the time is saved which it takes to get out two boxes .- Pittsburg Dispatch

DRESS HINTS.

Don't wear big sleeves and big hats if you are short. Don't jump into your clothes and expect to look dressed. Tight gloves will go on more easily if warmed before putting on the hands than if put on when cold.

In sewing on buttons have the knot of the thread on the right side directly under the button and see if the button does not stay on longer.

Whatever may be the shape of her foot a woman should be particularly careful to be well shod, and the uglier the foot the more careful she ought to be. Never have the top of the boots tight, as it interferes with the action of the calf muscles, makes one walk badly and spoils the shape of the ankle.

In making buttonholes in goods that fray easily it is a great help to stitch twice around on the sewing machine before the hole is cut, as a firmer foundation is secured and no fraying results.

Physical Training.

A physician points out in a contem-porary that there is not the slightest need of girls to engage in elaborate gymnastic exercises or to practice beauty culture in order to obtain good complexions and healthy physiques. The very best training for the muscles is to be found in ordinary housework, and when the body is perfectly healthy the skin will be cleared and the eyes brightened. It is not given to all girls te be able to indulge in outdoor sports, which is, of course, the ideal way of getting exercise, but all can perform simple household duties, and these, if done with open windows and in a brisk way, will do far more for those who perform them, says this doctor, than ordinary drilling.

The Tale of the Mouth. It is the mouth which tells the tale of a fretful and irritable disposition. It ts this feature which acts as a give away when a woman wishes to appear something that she isn't. A woman may spend a small fortune in cosmetics and massage, but if she doesn't watch her mouth and keep it sweet her money is wasted, for she cannot be good looking. A perpetually smiling woman is an offense against good taste, but a woman with a sweet, expressive mouth is the loveliest thing in the world, but there are very few of them.

The Improved Feminine Physique.

Mrs. Stannard declares that the modern woman is not athletic, but that the tall, finely developed young creature of the day ewes her appearance to the characteristics. to the fact that she is no longer scourged by tuberculosis and that she has been brought up more by her mother and more in the dining room instead of by persons of lower class in rooms at the top of the house.—London Post.

A GRACEFUL CARRIAGE.

Practice Correct Sitting and Rising

Before a Mirror. To rise gracefully draw one foot back a little and rise with the chest and he crown of the head leading upward, not forward. Practice sitting and ris ing before a mirror, using a straight backed chair. Do not run to extremes and sit bolt upright on the edge of the chair. Let the erect body be supple and ready to sway in any direction-led always by the chest. If you want to lean against the back of the chair there can be no harm in you doing so, provided that you sit in such a way as to allow the "small of the back" to rest against the back of the chair.

Do not lean shoulder blades against the chair back and hollow the "small of the back" while sitting. Such a position is injurious to health and fatal to beauty. If persisted in it will result in prominent shoulder blades and will induce curvature of the spine.

If you would avoid round shoulders and a forward stoop of the neck do not use a high pillow when lying down. It is better to sleep without a pillow. If custom has rendered a pillow necessary you can gradually decrease its size until it becomes a very small one. Then you will come to wonder how you ever slept comfortably in the awkward position necessitated by a high pillow, and you will be pleased to find that your prominent shoulder blades are retreating and that your back and neck are assuming symmetrical lines

LAUNDRY LINES.

Save your tired feet on ironing day by standing on a cushion.

In hanging clothes to dry always hang the stockings by the toes, night-dresses from the shoulders and skirts from the hem

When hanging wet blankets or white spreads on the line to dry put a small square of cloth under each clothespin to make sure there will be no stain from a dusty pin.

Carbonate of lime, better known as Spanish chalk, used in the proportion of two to one of starch, will render all light stuffs such as muslin incombustible yet not hurt the material itself in any way.

To give linen a gloss pour a pint of boiling water on two ounces of gum arabic, cover till next day, then strain it carefully and put it in a clean bottle. Two teaspoonfuls of this stirred into a pint of ordinary starch will give collars and cuffs an appearance of hewness.

Some men show the hypocrite that is in them by too much humility.

SUCCESS THOUGHTS.

The best in others will only come out to meet the best in you.

The man with an idea has ever changed the face of the world. One reason why we do not make the most of the winning material in our-selves is because of a magnified idea of the great superiority of others who do things in the world.

As a rule no good comes from criticising others. Anybody can do that, but the man who can accept his own honest estimate of himself and resolve to profit by it has achieved something. No matter what you are doing, think your way. Don't go without thinking. Think everything out, Don't run without a schedule. Have a programme and go by it. Think! Think! Think!

Good Casters Ives' Brass Beds

The caster on a metal or brass bed is important. An imperfect caster is liable to injure carpets or rugs while on polished floors it always leaves marks.

Ives' Brass Beds have a double wheel ball bearing caster. The double wheel divides the weight and its wide face does not mark the floor, while it turns so easily to the motion of the bed that it never injures carpets.

It is attention to important small things that makes Ives' beds the finest in America.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secfet, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most widely known of any treatment for stomach weakness.

They cure dyspepsia, water brash, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the di-gestive power which weak stomachs gestive power which weak stomachs lack and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

THE PIE HABIT.

It Is Mainly Confined to Those Bern

In This Country.

Pie is consumed chiefly by the native Americans. Foreigners eat very little of it. A German, for example, might eat three pies in a year, while a good Yankee would consume as many in a week. The English, the Italians and the French are small pie eaters. The English eat plum pudding, and the Italians like fruit. New England and the middle states constitute the area of greatest consumption, but the pie belt extends far beyond that, as ple is extensively eaten all through the west. Pie is eaten much more generally in the north than in the south. Chicago is a great pie center. St. Louis is not so good. Milwaukee also ranks low. One would not think that there are means for ascertaining the facts in regard to ple consumption, but I have gathered statistics on the subject during the last two years which enable me to compute with reasonable correctness the sumption of pies in every state in the Union. Pies are made in greater variety than formerly, and the supplies are brought from greater distances-in fact, from all parts of the world. The season of pies made of green fruit has been prolonged, and pies are made of canned fruit the year round,

LONG BURNING FIRES.

Some In England Which Have Not Been Out For Centuries.

There are domestic fires burning in Yorkshire, England, today which have never been out for hundreds of years. At the old fashioned farmhouses in the dales of Yorkshire peat is still burned. The fuel is obtained from the moors, and stacks of it are kept by the farmers in their stack garths.

The country round about is noted for its "girdle cakes," which are made from dough baked in quaint pans suspended from the peat fires. These fires are kept glowing from generation to generation, and the son warms himself at the fire which warmed his sire and his grandsire and his grandsire's sire and which will warm his son and his son's son.

There is a fire at Castleton, in the Whitby district, which has been burning for over 200 years. The record probably is held by a farmhouse at Osmotherly, in the same district. The fire has been burning for 500 years, and there are records to show that it has not been out during the last three centuries.

The Opera House last night was filled to overflowing, all available standing room filled, and many had to go away, finding not even standing room. The play, "Valley Farm," was well rendered, each player taking his part in a very able manner. The audience was most attentive and appreciative, ringing out in peals of laughter. The stage decorations added much to the play, the furniture being loaned by Best & Son. The evening was opened by excellent music from Dr. DeCow, of Chatham, each number calling forth an encore.
