GERMANS FLOOD VAST STRETCHES OF COUNTRY

In An Effort to Retard the British Advance—Haij's Men, However, Are Going Ahead

By Courier Leased Wire. With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Wednesday, Oct. 23.—By the Associated Press.—British troops have reached virtually the whole canal bank northeast of Valenciennes. The Germans have broken down the banks and opened the sluice gates northeast and northwest of the city and have flooded vast stretches of the country in an effort to delay the British advance.

The British, however, have fought their way into the city from the west, and there have been sharp encounters in the streets between patrols. Fire from the German artillery has been generally weak, it being strong only on villages and towns in this vicinity.

Valenciennes still contains many civilians. An officer of the Canadian detachment fighting in the city said today: I entered the town with a platoon and saw an old woman sauntering up a street carrying a bucket. At about the same time a machine gun opened on us from a second storey window. I was wounded and several of my men were also hit.

OVER 6,000 PRISONERS The British have taken more than 6,000 prisoners and many guns in their new attack, begun yesterday morning on the front below Valenciennes.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Sharp fighting continued up to a late hour yesterday evening on the battle front south of Valenciennes, where the British attacked yesterday morning, says today's official announcement.

CROSSED RIVER The British have crossed the Ecaillon river, and have captured the villages of Neuville, Salesches and Beaudignies. A German counter-attack late yesterday was repulsed.

SUBMARINE TOLL IS LESSENING

Decline Now Recorded in the Sinking of Ships

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 24.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuters' Limited).—The British Admiralty announces that British merchant tonnage losses during September totaled 152,000 tons gross; other allies and neutrals combined 88,000, and the aggregate constitutes the lowest monthly sinkings since August, 1916, and is below that year's monthly average.

G. T. R. EARNINGS Grand Trunk Railway earnings, October 15 to 21 were: 1918, $1,236,185; 1917, $916,866. Increase, $329,329.

POPE'S WARNING DECREE TO FAITHFUL ANENT FOSTERING OF DISSENSION IN CANADA RE SCHOOL QUESTION

By Courier Leased Wire. OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—A pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV, dealing with the bilingual question which has caused such serious dissension between the English and the French-speaking Roman Catholics, principally of Ottawa and throughout the Dominion, has been addressed to Cardinal Begin at Quebec and made public through his eminence Pietro Di Maria, the apostolic delegate here in Ottawa.

In his letter the Pope states that the appeals made by French-Canadians that inspectors for the separate schools be Roman Catholics is just, and that during the first year of tuition, French-Canadian pupils should be granted the use of their own language for certain subjects, chiefly and above all the teaching of Christian doctrine.

After revising an earlier letter in which a plea for unity was embodied, the more recent pastoral letter, dealing with the bilingual controversy says: The matter in question is the education law enacted by the Ontario government in the year of 1913 for the Anglo-French bilingual schools.

When therefore the whole matter was brought before us for discussion, we most carefully examined the question as the gravity of the issue demanded, and we also instructed the eminent cardinals of the consistory to study the subject.

The French-Canadians may justly appeal to the government for suitable legislations of the above-mentioned law, and at the same time, crave and seek further advantages. Such are undoubtedly, that the inspectors of their separate schools should be Roman Catholics, that during the first year of tuition the use of their own language should be granted for the teaching of certain subjects, chiefly and above all of Christian doctrine.

Hence within these limits and by such means, French Canadians are free to seek interpretation or amendments which they desire in the law of education. But in this matter, that concerns all Roman Catholics, let no one venture to appeal to the civil courts nor promote litigation without the knowledge and consent of his bishop.

And now we wish to advise all our brethren, the bishops of the Dominion of Canada, and to repeat to them, with the greatest earnestness and deepest feeling, the charge made two years ago, namely, that they be one body and one spirit, avoiding all dissensions between each other by reason of either race or language.

Let all the priests endeavor to acquire the knowledge and use of both languages, English and French, and setting aside all prejudice, let them adopt one or other, according to the needs of the faithful.

Moreover, we wish to admonish most severely all those, be they priests or laymen, who, in opposition to the gospel and to our injunctions, venture to foster and embitter the dissensions that are rife today in the Dominion of Canada. If any disobey, which God forbid, the bishops should not hesitate to report them to the Holy See, ere things become worse.

SITUATION

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Oct. 24.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following: Chasing into the German offensive system south of Valenciennes, the British are tearing away this barrier to the Allied pursuit of the retreating enemy. Progress made there during the 12 hours following their attack, seems to indicate that the line of the Scheidt, which, further north, has held up the British, French and Belgians, may be broken and outflanked.

Just to the south of Valenciennes there is a bend in the Scheidt which in that region is known as the Ecaillon river. The river has its source to the westward, where it is joined by the Cojeul River, which figured in the fighting early in the British offensive south of Arras. The Germans therefore, have not a natural most south of this bend, and it was along this front that the British struck a terrific blow yesterday morning.

Further north toward Ghent the French and Belgians appear to be stopped, at least for the moment.

FURTHER EVIDENCES ADDUCED of HUN VANDALISM

Mines Found Under Cellars and Mouths of Wells to be Destroyed—Supplications Unavailing

By Courier Leased Wire. With the French Army in Champagne, Wednesday, Oct. 23.—By the Associated Press.—Detachments of engineers from General Gouraud's army, in exploring the region from which the Germans have been driven in this sector, have discovered in many villages evidence of the method by which the destruction of dwellings, church and other public buildings was organized.

The region along the Retourne abounds with indications of wilful devastation of villages that were never within range of artillery, but were found razed to the ground. In others, where houses still stood, they were mined for slow destruction, while the purely military installations, such as barracks built by the Germans for their own troops were left intact.

It has been necessary for French sappers and miners to explore the cellar of every house remaining intact in this region. Under most of them mines have been found. Mouths of wells were so mined that explosions would fill them with rock and earth.

Preparations for the destruction of these villages went on in the presence of the people and in spite of their supplications. At Neuville, where a villager implored that his home might be spared, an officer replied I know it is an ignoble task, but such are our orders.

THROUGHOUT ENTIRE NIGHT

The British Fought by the Light of Moon and Artificial Aids

By Courier Leased Wire. With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Oct. 24.—(By the Associated Press).—In brilliant moonlight, assisted by roaring flocks of night-bombing airplanes, the British fought throughout the night and made steady gains.

They are using see-saw tactics and not at any time since the new battle began has the whole line attacked all the sectors of objectives at the same time. Guns are moved up in relays so that there is constantly a heavy fire on the German front and rear.

These tactics bewildered the Germans. No enemy unit knows where an assault is coming and all is forced to stand in readiness under torments of steel, high explosives, shrapnel and gas. A concentration at Preux for a counter-attack was observed from the air.

They are using see-saw tactics and not at any time since the new battle began has the whole line attacked all the sectors of objectives at the same time. Guns are moved up in relays so that there is constantly a heavy fire on the German front and rear.

East of Le Cateau the Americans and British are still fighting their way through the German lines, but they are moving very slowly. In the Oise-Serre sector, the French and Americans appear to be held up by the Germans. From that section of the battle front to the Argonne forest there has been little change in the line during the past day.

East of the Argonne, however, American forces have worked their way further toward the enemy's trenches and have compelled the Germans to abandon Brioules, on the west bank of the Meuse and just south of Verdun. They are also fighting to the north of Bantheville and hold a strong series of heights which appear to dominate much of the ground in the centre of the line.

a time by a murderous fire from a heavy concentration of German machine guns. The place was filled with the spluttering weapons. The British waited for a time until the advance has progressed north and south of them. Then they swept around the town on both sides. At the rear they found a triangular cleared space, in which the German machine gunners retired to prepared positions. The British went around them and captured Pomeroy wood at the back of the triangle, thus surrounding the enemy.

CROSSED CANAL

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Oct. 24.—Southeast of Le Cateau French troops have crossed the Sambre Canal, east of Grand Verly, says the War Office statement to-day. The French maintained their gains east of the canal in spite of strong German counter-attacks.

South of Mont Cornet, further to the east, the French have increased their gains north of Nixy-Comte. Along the Serre there was lively fighting north of Mesbrouck.

SIMCOE HOSPITAL IS DOING GOOD WORK

'Flue Apparently Checked in Norfolk County—Other Simcoe News

(From our own Correspondent) Simcoe, Oct. 24.—Although no patients left the hospital yesterday, and there were five new arrivals, bringing the total up to 20, the epidemic is getting well under way. Those who came in yesterday were Howard Stegmure, Sydenham street, Melvin Lambert Queen street, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Horning, John St. Leighton, Nidrauer, Head street. Some of these were long prevailed upon by their physicians and friends to consent to removal from home. The usual apathy to the hospital is being gradually overcome, as the false idea that it is but a charity institution is being abandoned. It is proving a good place to get well and to prevent the wearing out of the other members of the family, who in turn become victims. The physicians are loud in their praise of the work of the staff and nurses. There is no amateur bungling.

It should be remembered that every patient who remains at home cuts short the number of available attendants at the hospital, and is throwing too much work on a smaller number of volunteers. More helpers are urgently required for tonight and to-morrow.

Fred Richardson returned on Monday from a harvest trip to the West. He is now down with 'flu' at the home of his sister, Mrs. Buckle, North ward.

Mrs. Shirk continued quite ill yesterday.

Mrs. A. N. West is seriously ill of the epidemic.

The strange thing about this 'flu' is that it has banished almost every other disease, and at present the doctors have practically nothing else to contend with.

Of the 14 deaths recorded in Simcoe since Oct. 1st, four were children, four others under 20 years, and five between 20 and 45 years, and aged 60 years. The last named was due to cancer, the majority of the others to influenza and pneumonia. They are not receiving visitors at the county home.

the county home. The old folks do not want any contact with the outside world, and many of them have enjoyed a trip out to the gate to see the notice that has been put up. The Grand Jury was excused from making the trip on Tuesday, but the best story to hand of real "flu" scare comes from one of Crosbie's teamsters, who delivered a muchly implored load of apple barrels to a near by farmer on Tuesday, and the latter stood at a distance, refusing to assist in unloading the barrels, and to sign the receipt for their delivery.

It is perhaps opportune here to say that not one of the nurses or other attendants at the hospital has yet developed the epidemic.

Foot on the Wrong Pedal.
While standing in front of Brook's clothing store on Norfolk street yesterday morning, John Work had his buggy smashed by an automobile driven by a lady and owned by Fred McCra (No. 45266). It was a case of getting a toe on the juice pedal instead of on the brake, with the result that the car went through the buggy, carrying the top with it.

Ready for Loan Campaign.
The canvassers of the county for the Victory Loan assembled here yesterday and got final instructions from Gordon T. Finch, district organizer. From all parts of the county they brought encouraging reports and the general opinion prevailed that the $1,000,000 objective will be reached. It is emphasized that the loan is a loan to the country, not to a government, as governments come and go, and that the loan is essential to the marketing of our farm produce and manufacture. Last year the county contributed within twenty thousand dollars of the amount asked for this year. The personnel of the canvassing staff is about the same as it was last year and the work begins next Monday.

WILSON ENDS WITH BERLIN

Will Not Trust the Hohenzollerns—Submits Armistice Suggestions to Other Allies

Washington, Oct. 24.—The President's reply to the last German note was made public to-day. The statement follows:

"From the Secretary of State to the Charge d'Affaires at Berlin in charge of German interests in the United States:

"Department of State, October 23, 1918.

"Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the 22nd transmitting a communication under date of the 20th from the German Government and to advise you that the President has instructed me to reply thereto as follows:

"Having received the solemn and explicit assurance of the German Government that it unreservedly accepts the terms of peace laid down in the United States authorities on January 1, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses, particularly the address of the 21st of September, and that it desires to discuss the details of their application, and that this wish and purpose emanated, not from those who have hitherto dictated German policy and conducted the present war on Germany's behalf, but from Ministers who speak for the majority of the Reichstag and for an overwhelming majority of the German people; and having received also the explicit promise of the present German Government that the humane rules of civilized warfare will be observed on land and sea by the German armed forces, the President of the United States feels that he cannot decline to take up with the German Government the question of an armistice.

"Make Renewed War Impossible.
"He deems it his duty to say again, however, that the only armistice he would feel justified in submitting for consideration would be one which should leave the United States and the powers associated with her in a position to enforce any arrangements that may be entered into and to make a renewal of hostilities on the part of Germany impossible.

"The President has, therefore, transmitted his correspondence with the present German Government to the Governments with which the Government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, with the understanding that the Governments are disposed to effect peace upon the terms and principles indicated in their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States are asked to submit to the Government the necessary terms of such an armistice as will fully protect the interests of the people and insure to the associated Governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce the details of the peace to which the German Government has agreed, provided they deem such an armistice possible from the military point of view. Should such terms of armistice be suggested by Germany which are immediately repugnant to the best concrete evidence of her unequalled acceptance of the terms and principles of peace from which the whole action flows.

"Cannot Trust Hohenzollerns.
"The President would deem himself lacking in candor did he not point out in the frankest possible terms the reason why extraordinary safeguards must be demanded. Significant and important as the constitutional changes seem to be which are spoken of by the German Foreign Secretary in his note of October 20, it does not appear that the principle of a government responsible to the German people has yet begun to be worked out, or that any guarantees either exist or are in contemplation that the alterations of principle and of practice now partially agreed upon will be permanent. Moreover, it does not appear that the heart of the present difficulty has been reached. It may be that future wars have been thought of under the control of the German people, but the present war has not; and it is with the present war that we are dealing. It is evident that the German people have no means of commanding the acquiescence of the military authorities of the Empire in the popular will; that the power of the King of Prussia to control the policy of the Empire is unimpaired; that the determining initiative still remains with those who have hitherto been the masters of Germany. Feeling that the whole peace of the world depends now on plain speaking and straightforward action, the President deems it his duty to say, without any attempt to soften what may seem harsh words, that the nations of the world do not and cannot trust the word of those who have hitherto been the masters of Germany. The policy, and to point out once more that in concluding peace and attempting to undo the infinite injuries and injustices of the war, the Government of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany. If it must deal with the military masters and the monarchial authorities of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to the international obligations of the German Empire, it must demand, not peace negotiations, but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration.
"Mr. Frederick Oederlin, Charge d'Affaires of Switzerland, at Berlin in charge of German interests in the United States."

New Cure For Seasickness

HERE is a story about a man who was bemoaning the war to an Irishman who had just enlisted. "It's a terrible war," he said, "an awful war." "It is so," agreed the Irishman, "but sure, it's better than no war at all," which leads us to remark that the war might be worse if it were capable of paralyzing or destroying among the belligerents all effort but war effort. For instance, while nothing goes on as usual, science has not been sleeping, and in some cases it has given an impulse to certain lines of investigation and experiment in medicine and surgery, that a century of peace could have scarcely afforded.

Who would have thought that in the future when people cross the ocean and are not seasick they will be able to look back to the war as being the cause of their happy condition? Yet, according to such authority as Dr. Naame, of Paris, a cure for seasickness has been discovered. It may be, of course, that the ordinary doctor is mistaken, and that in defiance of seasickness, certain people will continue to be seasick, but there is every reason to believe that the great majority of sea travellers will become immune as the result of a discovery made by Dr. Naame, following an entirely new theory as to the nature of the malady.

The prevailing theory as to seasickness is one that has been almost universally accepted until quite recently, is that the malady is a form of vertigo, due to the irritation of the auditory nerve distributed to the membranes of the semi-circular canals and to the internal ear, by the lymph or fluid in these canals which gives us our sense of balance. It is a sort of spirit level. When the membranes of these canals become inflamed and congested as they do in the case of a drunken man, it is the disturbance to the lymph that makes him stagger. In the case of a rough sea, in which a boat is being tossed about, the fluid moves or less violently thrown against the covering walls, richly supplied with delicate nerves, and symptoms are produced, at first referable to the sense of equilibrium and then to the brain, and finally to the stomach.

The same effect may be produced by the swaying of a train, by the pitching of a hammock, or by the sudden dropping of an elevator. Aviators are also subject to seasickness, and are tested in a revolving chair to determine their resisting power to an attack of vertigo. Those who have held to the theory that the disturbance to the lymph in the inner ear was the cause of seasickness have sought to prove their argument by asserting that deaf mutes, in whom the semi-circular canals are supposed to be absent, do not suffer from seasickness. This, however, proves to have been a rash assumption, due to the fact that deaf mutes do not frequently take sea voyages. The notion that deaf mutes are immune has been dispelled by reports issued not long ago by the Italian naval authorities. They were able to make observations upon ships containing a great number of refugees and immigrants, among whom was a considerable proportion of deaf mutes, including deaf mutes, and they announce that the majority of deaf mutes are as subject to seasickness as those who are immediately hep to what is going on about them.

It seems likely that it was this report that suggested to Dr. Naame a new course of investigation as to the cause of seasickness. He was also aware of the fact, if he was not its discoverer, that seasickness is not the same as vertigo, that a man being whirled around in a chair until he is dizzy stumbles forward when he tries to regain his feet, due to the oscillation of the eyeball. In true seasickness this symptom is absent. The task of Dr. Naame was first to discover under what conditions seasickness is always produced. He started from the point noted by many physicians that children seldom suffer, and that infants in arms are almost immune, despite the fact that children may be made sick by swinging or by travelling on a switchback railroad. After considerable investigation Dr. Naame came to this conclusion, as reported by a contributor to the New York Sun:

"The undulations of the wave produce in a ship's motion a series of oscillations which are transmitted through the solar plexus to the inferior organs of the body, checking the secretions of the glands above the kidneys. The results are nausea and vomiting, low blood pressure. This theory explains the immediate cessation of the sickness when the sufferer sets foot on land, and also the rarity of the sickness among children, for in children the secretions of the suprarenal glands are stable, not being much affected by nervous impressions, while their small bodies and firm muscles give little grasp for the oscillations of the sea. It also explains why many sufferers find themselves benefited by wearing a belt around the waist. The cure worked out by Dr. Naame consists of supplying the body with adrenaline, which in seasickness, is deficient in the blood. In its pure chemical form adrenaline is a well-known stimulant, and is much used at the front to check bleeding. If taken before meals it is said to be practically a sure cure for seasickness.

VICTORY LOAN NECESSARY IF PEACE COMES OR NOT

Don't let the German peace propaganda interfere with the success of the Victory Loan.

Canada's war expenditure to-day is greater than ever before. There are 75,000 more Canadians overseas than there were a year ago. They are still going over as fast as Canada can send them.

Even if peace came to-morrow, it would probably take from 12 to 18 months to bring all the Canadians back.

They would have to be kept in the meantime.

Pay and allowances alone cost over $14,000,000 a month.

Transportation expense would probably amount to $15,000,000.

To demobilize the Canadian troops would undoubtedly cost over $25,000,000.

$500,000,000 are needed through the Victory Loan, no matter what comes or goes.

Canadian industry and the Army both need strong financial support.

WHAT THE VICTORY LOAN MEANS TO THE FARMER

The 1917 Victory Loan enabled the Dominion Government to advance—

- $100,000,000 to finance last year's wheat crop; also
- Nearly another $100,000,000 to finance the sale of live stock products to Great Britain; also
- Nearly $40,000,000 to finance exports of cheese to Great Britain.

The 1918 Victory Loan will enable the Dominion Government to finance the sale of the wheat crop to Great Britain; also

- To finance the sale of beef, pork, and other live stock products.
- To finance exports of cheese, butter, eggs and condensed milk to Great Britain.

Great Britain will take Canada's agricultural products, but cannot pay cash. The Dominion Government must finance the sales.

VICTORY LOAN NEEDED EVEN IF PEACE COMES

"Victory Loan will be required to full extent, even if peace should come within a few weeks or months, as nations will be on a war basis for a long time, and it will take Canada a year or more to demobilize; also credits will still have to be given to Imperial Munitions."—Sir Thomas White in a special message to the people of Canada.

Life Blood of Prosperity.

"For the farmer, the Loan (1917) was able to finance the only purchaser who could buy his excess products, namely, Great Britain."—E. R. Wood.

This year's Loan will do the same. It is the life blood of the nation's prosperity.

Canada drafts her sons, dare you withhold your money?

Subscribing for the Victory Loan will enable you to look posterity in the face.

Canadian industry is directly dependent on the Victory Loan.

The Americans have over-subscribed their Liberty Loan of $6,000,000,000. Canadians must do likewise with their Victory Loan of $500,000,000.

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

Brian Becomes Angry and is Anxious to go Home.

CHAPTER LVII

When Brian left his sentence unfinished, because just at that moment Claude Beckley joined them; he escaped a scathing rebuke which trembled on Ruth's lips.

"Well, here I am. Yes, I'll take a smoke, thank you," Beckley said as Brian pushed the box lying on the table toward him. Then, facetiously: "Did you give him a good talking to, Mrs. Hackett? He deserved it."

"No indeed!" Ruth braced herself for the ordeal. "Brian and I never give each other what you call 'talking to,' do we, Brian?"

"Not so you could notice it," he replied with a twisted sort of a smile.

"He always was a lucky dog. Before he married he always carried off all the pretty girls and left the rest of us moping. Now he's got a wife who lets him go right on having a good time and doesn't nag him. For goodness sake tell me, 'Art, there any more at home like you?"

Ruth laughed, she couldn't help it. Claude Beckley was the most ridiculous creature she ever had met. "I am the one and only," she returned.

"Then what am I to do?" his mock serious tone made her laugh again. That she was a bit hysterical, did not escape Brian. He was sulking now.

"Come, Ruth, let's go home!" he said after a moment. "We've spent all our money, there's no use staying here."

"Oh, don't be a grouch! Sit and smoke a while," Beckley said, helping himself to another cigarette.

"Yes, do!" Ruth added. "The music is delightful," she really dreaded being alone with Brian; then, too, down deep in her heart she thought perhaps she might learn more of Brian and Mollie from Beckley—although she would have hesitated to acknowledge it.

"Oh, very well," Brian sank back in his chair.

"Can't you keep him away?" Beckley asked Ruth.

"From Mollie? She looked with favor on me a while back. Now she scorns me. A jug of red ink, and an Italian table de hotel, and me no longer tempt her. Brian has spoiled her for the simple life. It is a shame that one man should have so much and the rest of us nothing. Don't you?"

"I think you are talking like an ass!" Brian interrupted. "Ruth isn't used to your nonsense, Beckley. Cut it out!"

"You don't think me silly, do you, fair lady?" Beckley asked, peering at Ruth.

"You couldn't expect me to say 'yes' to that question, could you?" Ruth parried, she was beginning to enjoy herself.

"It's all you could answer!" Brian spoke again.

"Ch, come, Hackett! I'm not as black as he is painting me, Mrs. Hackett," he turned to Ruth, "I'm sure at him, that's all. I've always had reason enough to be so; and since I met you the reason has grown here."

"I am afraid you are a flatterer," said Ruth, "I always tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

"Of course you do!" this time Brian sneered.

"To change the subject," Beckley was imperturbable, "will you and Mrs. Hackett take dinner with me to-morrow night? Not at some million dollar joint, but down in the village. Bare tables and paper napkins, Mrs. Hackett, but absolutely clean; and also with the dinner there will be given free, a feast of reason and a flow of soul, impossible to find in a place like this," with an indescribable gesture, he dismissed the roof garden as though it were unworthy his presence.

"Shall we, Brian?" Ruth looked at her husband for acceptance of the invitation. "You haven't any engagement, have you?"

"No," Brian was surprised that Ruth wanted to go. Could it be possible she was attracted by Claude Beckley in spite of what she had said, his jealous nature was inflamed by the thought. Ruth was so chic, so smart-looking, no wonder a boob like Beckley would want to make love to her. It wouldn't work, she knew that. "Then we'll accept with pleasure," Ruth said. She would take this opportunity of seeing the kind of places to which Brian ever spent such an evening? she wondered as she slipped down into the seat beside an old man.

WHY STAY FAT? YOU CAN REDUCE

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, contain no dieting, no exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A large case is sold by druggists at 75c. Or if preferable, they can be obtained by sending price direct to the Marmola Co., 845 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds of weight without fear of bad after-effects.

THE PELICAN

The Brown Pelican is No Destroyer of Food Fish.
What a wonderful bird is the pelican. His bill can hold more than his belly.
He can keep in his beak food enough for a week.
But I don't know how the pelican.
—From the ballad of the pelican as quoted by W. D. Howser, poet of the Fish and Game Commission of Tennessee.

Mr. Pierson told the delegates, who came from various states in the Union; how he stood up to his waist in swamps in Louisiana, Texas and Florida, with mosquitoes festering upon him, trying to learn definitely of the fish-eating habits of the pelican that the three states accused of being responsible for their depleted fisheries last year.

Pelicans, when disturbed, it seems, disgorge their food, and when Mr. Pierson could get near enough to a rocky shore he investigated the contents of the bill that in an adult bird will hold four quarts. The Audubon man found that pelicans are decreasing in the Gulf states very rapidly, and he estimates that the 50,000 to 65,000 pelicans that breed in the reservations do little or no damage to food fish, for their diet consists of menhaden principally, varied with mullet, pig fish, pinfish, herring, with an occasional crayfish, of which only two are food fish whose prices in the market does not exceed four cents a pound.

The pelican is of more value as a curiosity in Florida. Mr. Pierson said, than in any other form, and thousands of feet of film are used yearly in photographing the bird, and the picture postcard is an industry of some account throughout Florida.

Dr. Wm. T. Hornaday remarked that "if the quail and grouse are to be saved there must be long closed seasons, killing of cats and other vermin, the suppression of free ranging dogs during the breeding and rearing seasons, the utmost possible feeding and sheltering of quail in winter and the eliminating of the deadly and now universal pump and automatic guns."

It is not defensible to hoard food or fuel in these war times, neither is it patriotic to store away or to relegate to the junk heap used-but-useful articles which may be urgently needed by many people who would find it hard to purchase them at first hand. Don't permit any useful article you own to be a Slacker. If you cannot use it, sell it to somebody who can—and invest the money you realize from its sale in war bonds.

CROTHERS TAKES HOLIDAY

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Hon. T. W. Crotthers, Minister of Labor, is leaving shortly for a holiday, in the South. When questioned this morning in regard to labor conditions in Canada, Mr. Crotthers said: "I have had nothing like a rest since the beginning of the war, which has greatly added to the onerous work and trying worries of the administration of the Labor Department. I have kept constantly on the job, and it has been stated in the press that capital and labor have got along in Canada with less friction than in any other important belligerent country. "I now feel the need of a rest and propose to go south for two or three months."

THE SITUATION

The British have chronicled a most important success on a vital portion of the Hun line between Le Cateau and the Scheldt River. Despite stiff resistance offered by the enemy an advance was chronicled of about three miles and high ground secured. At last reports over six thousand prisoners were taken.

The French have driven the foe north of the Serre-Souche River and now hold positions on the east bank of the stream.

American troops continue to do good work in the Meuse region and the Serbs are maintaining their advance.

The war party would seem to be once more gaining the upper hand in the Fatherland and the warning is issued that the German armies are still strong and will yet take a lot of beating.

The closing note of President Wilson in connection with the so-called peace offer from Berlin, states in firm language that any promises or pledges on the part of the Hohenzollern outfit cannot for one moment be trusted.

ABOUT VOCATIONAL TRAINING

There appears to exist in the minds of many people a total misconception of what vocational re-education is, as applied to disabled soldiers and sailors.

The Federal Board of Vocational Education, which is charged with the duty of re-educating the injured men, is constantly receiving communications from people who have this, that, or the other supposed art or craft which is offered as being just the thing to teach the wounded soldiers.

The Federal Board does not propose to teach any such rubbish. The education to be given will, in the main, be in highly specialized occupations which are good paying, recognized, and many callings which have a definite, useful place in the business world, and a steady demand for such work or the products thereof.

The difficulty appears to be that many of these well-intentioned advocates of gilded peanut hulls and gimcrack nicknack making are mentally confused, and do not know either what occupational therapeutics and vocational education are, or the part they play. The former is given to divert the patient's mind, to exercise some particular set of muscles or a limb, or perhaps merely to relieve the tedium of convalescence.

Occasionally these activities have little of any practical value beyond the immediate purpose they serve, nor are they intended to have any other value.

But even in occupational therapy the idea now is to give that sort which will be preliminary to, and dovetail in with, the real vocational education which is to begin as soon as the patient is able to go further along.

If, for instance, the patient was formerly a sheet-metal worker, and is now debarr'd from the use of physical strength, he is started, perhaps, as a designer or architectural expert in cornice, sheet metal and architectural work. His practical knowledge is thus built upon and focused in a specialty suited to his capabilities.

Instead of making fiddle little baskets or weaving mats that would have no sale except as a camouflage for downright charity, he is furnished with a set of instruments, a bed drawing board, some textbooks, and given able instruction. The weeks in bed or in wheel chair are utilized practically. When he is able to go into the shops he is well along as a technician, and ready for further intensive training.

So it is with all other lines. The business of re-education is, first of all, common sense and practical. The idea is to turn out thoroughly trained men for men's jobs at men's pay, despite any physical handicap which may have rendered the men useless in their former callings.

MARKED DECLINE

By Courier Leased Wire. Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—Since the drop in temperature here there has been a marked decline in the number of new influenza cases reported.

DO YOUR BIT BY SUBSCRIBING TO VICTORY LOAN

The man who is making munitions in the local plants is coming from $7 a day up to a figure that would have sounded fabulous four years ago. While so engaged he is sheltered from the weather and otherwise has working conditions that are tolerably comfortable. Neither his life nor his health is in daily danger. If he is injured while on duty so that he is unable to carry on at his remunerative occupation, he is paid 55 per cent of his salary and gets free medical attendance for thirty days.

If he is killed while at work, his wife and children draw a pension, the wife so long as she remains a widow, and the children until they are old enough to make their own way.

Contrast the standing of the maker of munitions with that of the man who on the field of battle handles these explosives. The soldier's daily wage is $1.10 with board and lodging. Every day he faces may be his last. He works in the open, exposed to all kinds of weather, wet, dry, hot or cold. His only shop is a muddy trench, infested with rats and often breast deep in water. Vermen prey on his body. If he is sick or wounded he continues to draw his meagre rate of pay and gets free medical attendance, but even so, his compensation is still far below that of the injured munition maker, at home. When he lays down his life for his country, the pension that is paid to his wife and children is less than that allowed the munition maker who is accidentally killed while on duty.

There is something radically wrong in such an arrangement. Still there is a chance to even up conditions. The munition maker whose lot is so much easier than that of his fellow-man in khaki, can help to improve the conditions of the latter by simply loaning his excess earnings to the Government to help carry on the war. The wages of the soldier must be paid, he needs food and clothing, and ships are required to carry both these essentials to him. Without munitions the war cannot be carried on, and without money the making of munitions cannot be continued. Any worker in a munition factory should be willing to help perpetuate the industry that means so much to himself and to the Empire.

So also should the workers in all other factories, for to them it is also a vital matter that the wheels of industry should be kept turning.

In like manner, the farmer who is interested in having the payment of his crops financed, also has a very vital interest in helping to see that the Victory Loan is a big success. The necessity for money is beyond all question. No anti-loan argument can possibly hold water. No man who has profited by the catastrophe of war should hesitate to help those who have stemmed the tide of battle before disaster swept over our country.

The Victory Bonds will be offered for sale in a few days. Let every factory worker respond, especially those who are engaged directly in war work and whose earnings put them in a position to invest.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

President Wilson's latest note constitutes a nasty one for Kaiser Bill.

It is to be hoped that the Allied propaganda will see to the proper trussing of Turkey.

All the indications are that the fight will have to go on until the Hun is definitely placed under.

When good looking lasses get into the British House there will also have to be some good looking glasses.

In the British House yesterday a resolution was passed by 249 majority which affirmed that women should be allowed to sit upon the floor of Parliament. They have certainly earned the right and in any event those given the ballot to elect representatives to any body should most decidedly have the privilege of candidacy for said ballots if they feel like it.

New York Editor and Publisher: From the first days of the great war Canada—Uncle Sam's best-loved neighbor-nation—has been a mighty factor in the struggle. Her armies have been always under the fiery test, and have won imperishable renown. Vimy Ridge made the Allied nations know Canada and the Canadian soldiers—and made Germany fear them. Yet, in that superb action the Canadians merely afforded

GERMANY IS STILL UNREADY

To Accept the Only Possible Terms of Peace. By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 23.—Commenting upon the address of Prince Maximilian of Baden, the German imperial chancellor, in the Reichstag on Tuesday, The Star says: "Didactic interjections by the chancellor will not impress President Wilson as being a real contribution to the democratization of Germany. There is no worse of the speech about the restoration of France of Alsace-Lorraine, which was one of President Wilson's 'fourteen points'."

The Star also says that the speech shows very clearly that the imperial chancellor is not ready to accept the only terms which can end the war, and concludes that the German armies must be 'far more completely beaten before our reward can be securely into view.'"

The Westminster Gazette says that democratic Germany must bear the burdens of autocratic Germany, but finds very little in the speech which "corresponds to the parliamentary system we work by." It adds that the two laws that Prince Maximilian mentioned need a great deal of elucidation "before they can be taken at their face value."

PLANS TAKE PRISONERS

By Courier Leased Wire. With the British Army in France, Oct. 14.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Airplanes can be used for capturing infantry. It was proved by the British in the recent advance.

Flying fairly low, seeking parties of Germans or war materials to bomb, two officers in one machine were fired upon in a sunken road. The pilot dived and the airplane machine gun quickly accounted for four Germans. Very quickly the Germans hoisted a white flag in token of surrender.

The airman were in a dilemma, as there was no British infantry in the vicinity. They descended to 50 feet, however, and ordered the Germans out of the road, 65 of them in all. They obeyed. Then rounding up the party, the airman directed toward the British lines. They circled over them with the ever-menacing bombs and machine guns, until they encountered a party of British who took the entire squad to a prisoner's cage.

ONLY ONE SON LEFT

OF FAMILY OF FIVE. Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 23.—The official notice of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Wilson of Port Robinson that their son, Wilbur Warren Wilson, had died of wounds, is a new tragedy to a family which has already suffered greatly.

In the Wilson family were five boys. Now only one remains, and he is at the front. One son was killed in a railway accident, two were drowned, and the fourth has been killed in battle.

RESPIRE FOR MURDERER

By Courier Leased Wire. Montreal, Oct. 24.—Arlovo V. Heltis, the young man found guilty of the murder of a farmer and his young son at Snake River, Pontiac county, and sentenced by Mr. Justice Weir to hang, was yesterday granted a respite by judgment of Mr. Justice Weir until January 10th next.

The condemned man's sentence was to be executed Friday, a respite having been granted in June, last by Mr. Justice Weir until October 20 pending an application to the court of appeal for a new trial.

AUSTRIA COMPLAINS

By Courier Leased Wire. Vienna, Tuesday, Oct. 23.—Official comment in Vienna on President Wilson's answer to the Austrian note expresses a complaint that it does not answer the precise question put forward, and that it is necessary to again ask the President's attitude toward armistices and the re-establishment of peace, according to advice received from the Austrian capital.

It is added that officials say there is a contradiction in the reasons given by Mr. Wilson in justifying his refusal to enter into peace negotiations, and his answer to Baron Burian on September 15.

CABINET MEETS

London, Oct. 24.—The British cabinet met this morning, presumably to discuss President Wilson's reply to Germany. The reply was received by the Foreign Office from the British Embassy at Washington.

Reading and Thinking—"Ambition" asks, "How may I know more?" You read more, think more, train your eyes and ears to observe more. You must not forget, however, that there is no exaltation without suffering." If, therefore, you are prepared to suffer by self-denial and hard work there is no limit to the knowledge that you may acquire. There is, however, "No royal road to learning." It is a straight and narrow path, and few there be that find it. Read good books, keep good company, work hard.

"A Young Mother" asks about training her baby. I know from reading and observation that a baby can be trained to do almost anything. Long before it is conscious of learning, or of thought, it can be taught to read, to learn to cry softly, to be cleanly, and to do almost anything which can be expected of a baby. Your baby's character may be formed before it can conventionally think or speak. It may be taught to trust in Jesus before it knows anything about trusting. Sing lullabies to the baby about Jesus and heaven, about happiness and duty and tell it sweet stories, and it will be simply wonderful how that will form the baby's character.

GERMAN CRIME RECALLED

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 23.—Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's Limited—Referring to the Berlin telegram which stated that a neutral commission under the direction of Baron von der Lancken had been appointed to go to the front, and investigate the accusations regarding wanton German devastation, the Daily News says that the selection of von der Lancken, head of the political department at Brussels, is extraordinary, when it is recalled that he played a leading role in the murder of Edith Cavell. It was von der Lancken who ignored the American minister's representations and refused to allow Miss Cavell to receive a visit from a Belgian lawyer. It was von der Lancken to whom Whitehead made his moving appeal to "save this unfortunate woman from death."

KNITTING OR WORK BAG. By Anabel Worthington. This attractive knitting or work bag is really very much easier to make than it looks, for there are only two pieces to the pattern, and they are cut in half circles. It is a very convenient receptacle for holding the yarn and needles for knitting, and if it is made up in some bright material it will add an interesting note of color to any costume. The bag should be lined with a plain contrasting color, and shirred on large Chinese bracelets or covered hoops. A pattern for the apple trimming is also included.

Local News

The many friends of George Caruth, 280 Darling street, will be glad to know that he is getting better after an attack of influenza.

TYPOS ARE IN IT.
The executive of the International Typographical Union has decided to invest $10,000 of the union's funds in the Victory Loan.

NO VISITORS AT JAIL.
The "No visitors" sign has been hung out at the county jail for the duration of the epidemic. None of the eight inmates of the institution have yet had the flu.

Y.M.C.A. WORKER HERE.
Mr. Fred Youmans, who is attached to the physical department of the Y.M.C.A. in Westmount, Quebec, is visiting his home in this city. He is a brother of Wray Youmans, formerly with the local Y.

CLEANING STREETS.
The works department is making an effort to clean all the streets of the city, which have been in bad condition lately, but no sooner are thoroughfare cleared than the citizens rake their leaves and pile them on the roadside once more. The works department has been very short of men owing to the epidemic.

WATERWORKS AFFECTED.
The waterworks department has been hard hit by the flu, practically the entire staff having been laid up at one time or another. It was found necessary to send two competent engineers to the hospital to replace two who were ill there, and altogether, considerable difficulty has been experienced in maintaining the service throughout the city.

PAVEMENTS SLIPPERY.
The light rain which fell this morning made the street pavements extremely slippery and unsafe for either pedestrians or vehicles. Two horses drawing a large gravel wagon slipped at the corner of King and Dalhousie streets just before noon, and traffic was blocked for ten minutes while several passers-by lent their assistance in raising the animals to their feet.

MUST USE SOFT COAL.
The assistant fuel administrator for Ontario, E. L. Cousins, is planning to take full advantage of the recent decision of the Dominion Government to replace all hard coal supplies with bituminous in public buildings where the heating equipment is capable of burning soft coal. He hopes to have passed an order-in-council at an early date fixing a heavy penalty for non-compliance with the order.

NO GOODS ON APPROVAL.
At the meeting of the merchants, called by Mayor MacBride, the health authorities requested that there should be no goods sent out on approval or exchanged while the epidemic prevails, and the public is urged to assist the merchants in complying with this request. It will readily be seen that goods sent to a house where infection exists might on return help to spread the trouble.

POLICE COURT.
In the Police Court this morning Clarence Stover was sentenced to six months in the reformatory on a charge of non-support. The alternative was a fine of $100 and costs, which Stover could not pay.

IS WOUNDED.
Mrs. J. W. Tutt, 167 Dalhousie street, has received word of the wounding of her son, Pte. J. M. Tutt. He had taken his college degree and was in the second year of his law studies in Toronto when he enlisted.

U. S. CIVIC BUREAU.
General Foster of the American Civic Bureau will be a visitor in Brantford this afternoon and will address an informal meeting of the council of the Board of Trade this evening.

CONSIDERATION ASKED.
The Courier is being hit harder by influenza every day the epidemic continues. At the present time nearly half the staff are laid up, while other members have just recovered from the disease, and are not in the best of health. Consequently, if the Courier is late in reaching you don't be too impatient either with the office or the route boy. Both are doing their best under decidedly adverse conditions.

INFORM THE COURIER.
Casualties from the recent Canadian fighting at Cambrai are still being reported daily, and The Courier requests that all families receiving word of soldiers killed or injured notify this office, as the surest means of conveying the information to all the friends of the men concerned. The next of kin of soldiers are always notified of casualties several days before the official list from Ottawa is issued to the press.

FIRE HALL AFFECTED.
The ambulances at the Fire Hall have been making on an average some 24 trips a day while the epidemic was at its height. In addition to this, eight members of the staff have been ill with the flu, and the department would have had hard work in coping with a serious blaze had one occurred. This is one time, however, when misfortunes appeared to come singly, for the department had been called on to answer an alarm for nearly two weeks.

ONE YEAR AGO.
To-morrow is the first anniversary of the unveiling of the Bell Memorial by His Excellency the Duke of Connaught. The ceremony took place on Oct. 25, in the presence of a large gathering of notables from all parts of Canada, including Professor Bell, inventor of the telephone, and his family. The grounds about the memorial have been put in better condition during the summer, and the spot to-day is more scenically striking than on the occasion of the unveiling.

FALL ASSIZES.
Three civil cases are slated thus far for the fall assizes, which will open on November 11. In addition to these, George Duncan will face a charge of manslaughter, arising out of the death of Alfred Isaacs last April. The civil cases are: Non-Jury cases—Miller vs. Miller, W. M. Charlton for plaintiff, A. H. Boddy for defendant; Cara vs. Charlton, W. M. Charlton for plaintiff, Slaght, Slaght and Ager for defendant. Jury—Pless vs. L. E. and N. Railway, M. F. Muir or plaintiff, W. A. Seord for defendant. The Non-Jury case of Porter vs. Porter has been settled.

The funeral service was held at the family residence, 22 Pearl St., this afternoon, after which the body was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

Rome, Oct. 24.—French forces to-day penetrated enemy positions, taking more than 700 prisoners, the Italian official statement to-day says.

SITUATION IS UNDER CONTROL

Worst of Influenza Epidemic is Over, Say the Officials Today

A marked falling off in the potency of the influenza epidemic is observed to-day as the result of co-ordinated effort on the part of the city and the health officials, the merchants and manufacturers. The number of deaths reported to-day is again below the average which has been set during the past ten days, and those most closely in touch with the situation to-day expressed the hope that the backbone of the epidemic had been broken.

Health Regulations.
Regulations issued by the Board of Health yesterday, command that all funerals be held privately; that visiting homes were influenza exist be discontinued except when assistance is being given the sick; that all public buildings and street cars be ventilated and fumigated daily; that employers see that any of their employees showing any symptoms of the flu be sent home until fully recovered. A warning against the use of patent medicines is issued, and the obsolete city ordinance which forbids spitting on the sidewalks or in public places has been revived.

Patients Discharged.
The following have been discharged from the emergency hospital: Peter Dobzanski, 61 Grey St.; Mrs. Alex. Noly, 74 Waterloo; Wm. Cara, 16 years, James street, Echo Place; Algie Richardson, 17 years, Elora; Charles Lamb, 92 Emily St.

OBITUARY

On Monday, Oct. 21, one of the pioneer settlers of Norfolk county, Mrs. George Thomas Wood, passed away in her 92nd year. Mrs. Wood, whose maiden name was Amy Campbell, was born in Glengarry, and here she spent her girlhood, coming to Norfolk county as a bride nearly seventy years ago. She married G. T. Wood, son of the late Samuel Wood, of St. Catharines.

In her death passes away one of the oldest and most universally esteemed residents of the community, she being connected with some of the oldest families in this part of Canada. Her husband and three sons predeceased her, and she is survived by three daughters, all at home, and two sons, the eldest, Gordon, on the home farm, and G. T. Wood, of Brantford Township.

INFANT HAMILTON.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, 20 Fleet street, will have the sympathy of many friends in the loss from influenza of their infant son. Mr. Hamilton is the secretary-treasurer of the William Paterson Son Co.

MRS. M. HOPKINS.
Mrs. Margaret Hopkins, 210 Wellington street, died in the Emergency Hospital last night. The deceased was the wife of Mr. F. Hopkins, and came from Paris. She was 38 years of age.

RICHARD LOCKHART.
Richard Lockhart died last night at his home, 120 Oxford street. He was a young married man and a victim of influenza. Joe Sabala, a 19-year-old Maltese, died this morning. His home is on West street.

MISS J. KERR.
Another victim was claimed by influenza this morning when Miss Jane Kerr passed away at her home, 30 Mary street, after an illness of ten days. Her condition had been critical since the first of the week. The late Miss Kerr was 28 years of age, and a fine type of Christian young woman, enjoying popularity among a wide circle of friends, who will

On them the Shadow fell

THESE, our little Canadians, born to freedom, to a heritage of happiness, Germany's greed would enslave! For they were heirs to Canada's boundless wealth—our mines, our forests, our teeming fields—the Hun hungered for these riches of Canada. In his plans for world power, Canada was not overlooked in the German scheme of plundering the nations. Doubtless there are to-day in Berlin plans for the apportionment of concessions of Canada's natural resources, plans for the government of Canada, for the policing of our cities, the levying of taxes, for enforced adoption of the German language as was done in Lorraine after 1871, and all the other systems of government by German methods. And a brutal German soldiery would have enforced those systems by which the people would have been enslaved and every vestige of freedom and independence destroyed. If Prussian plans had carried the smile would have passed forever from the happy little faces in our homes. Our boys and girls—heirs to Canada's riches—would have worked as slaves in their own mines, in their forests, their fields and factories. The fruits of their toil, the wealth of Canada, theirs by right, would have been borne across the seas to fatten the German beast. While the beast lives, his venom, his gall, his merciless, monstrous ambition threaten our homes. Canada—young, high-spirited, independent—must stand firm. Canada must use the wealth the Hun lusts after to crush him to earth. Canada's strength, the united strength of each and every true Canadian, must raise the shield of protection for the generations to come. The call will soon come for more of Canada's wealth. It is your money that is needed—every cent that you by cheerful sacrifice and loving self-denial can lend to your country.

MUST ANSWER FOR DEVASTATION

Subject Comes Before the French House—Commissions Will Ascertain Extent of Damage

By Courier Leased Wire Paris, Wednesday, Oct. 23.—(Havas Agency).—The question of the devastation wrought by the Germans in northern France was the topic of discussion in Parliament today.

In the Senate Antonin Dubost, president, asked that victory should give all its might to chastisement of the offender and reparation for the crime. "The enemy will be condemned to restitutions for which we will take guarantees, not being able to rely upon his word," said Stephen Pichon, foreign minister. "We are near the end of sacrifices imposed by savage aggression for which its authors try to escape responsibility. Their calculations have been upset by President Wilson."

The Chamber of Deputies adopted a resolution asking that commissions be sent to ascertain the extent of the devastations which were described as hear-breaking. The resolution was unanimously adopted. In the Chamber of Deputies a cordial reception was given to Deputies M. G. Delory and Ragheboom, who stayed in Lille during the German occupation. Paul Deschanel, president of the chamber, praised their courage, and rendered homage to Deputy Ghesquiere of Lille, who died a victim of German barbarity for having defended his townspeople. M. Delory, in a speech denouncing the actions of the Germans in forcing the population of Lille to work within the zone of artillery fire, expressed the hope that victory might be the means of liberating Deputy Engheles, who was imprisoned by the invaders for his denunciation of their barbarism.

The provincial board of health reports a steady increase in the number of cases throughout the province.

CAPT. EDDIE GRANT KILLED IN ACTION

Is First Big League Baseball Player to Give His Life A VETERAN PLAYER With the American army northwest of Verdun, Oct. 21.—Capt. Edward Grant, former third baseman of the New York National League club, and attached to the 507th infantry, was killed by a shell while leading a unit to the aid of the famous "lost battalion." The battalion was surrounded for five days in the Argonne forest and Capt. Grant was killed during one of the attempts to reach it.

Fans of ten and twelve years ago will remember Eddie Grant, who was a popular player with the Jersey City club in the days of the then Eastern League. Grant was a quiet sort of a chap, a wonderfully graceful fielder, but with a sort of a side-arm throw that had the bleacher fans heartick until the ball thudded into the basemen's glove. Grant was a particularly rapid fielder. He could pounce on a ball, or stab it to right or left, with the quickness of a cat, but when he started his throw the ball seemed to leave his hand slowly and fairly float across the diamond.

This peculiarity was noted and commented on by all baseball writers throughout the circuit, and in the big leagues when Grant graduated to higher service. But it was only a physical or optical illusion, for the ball always—or nearly always—beat the runner.

Grant was a graduate of the college diamond. He played with Harvard during his graduation year, 1905, and when the summer season came was given a try-out with the Cleveland Americans. He did not get into the official averages. He played a brief period with Lynn, Mass., in independent baseball and in 1906 joined the Jersey City club. He played with the Eastern League and this attracted the big league scouts. The Philadelphia Nationals got him and he played third base for the Quakers up to and including the season of 1910. During the winter he was traded to Cincinnati, with several other Quaker players, for McQuinn, who also started his baseball with the Jersey City club; Dode Paskert, Fred "Doc" Beebe and Rowan. He played two years with the Reds and was sold in midseason, 1913, to John McGraw of the Giants. He had his best big league season while with the Giants, batting .277 in 1914, but had a bad year in 1915 and then dropped from baseball.

Among the first to join. Grant entered the Pittsburgh training camp before the United States entered the war and when the break with Germany came was one of the first candidates for an officers' training camp.

MINISTERS VISITED LILLE By Courier Leased Wire Paris, Oct. 23.—President Poincaré, accompanied by Paul Deschanel, president of the Chamber of Deputies, Antonin Dubost, president of the senate, Albert F. Lehmann, minister of blockade and invaded regions, Louis Loucheur, minister of munitions, and senators, and deputies from the Departments of Nord visited Lille yesterday and received an enthusiastic ovation. In reply to the address of welcome, the President said that the "hour of defeat for the enemy will strike soon." He bestowed the Cross of the Legion of Honor upon the mayor of Lille.

HUNGARY TO ASK PEACE. By Courier Leased Wire Paris, Oct. 24.—Hungary intends to apply direct to the Entente governments to ascertain what terms they will grant an armistice and peace to Hungary, it is reported in political circles in Budapest, according to a Zurich despatch to The Journal. Austria-Hungary already is recognized to the fact of unconditional capitulation, says a Vienna despatch to the Frankfort Zeitung, because Vienna is threatened with famine, the authorities are powerless and laws are no longer enforced.

INDIANS WANT THEIR RIGHTS RECOGNIZED

Wish to Register as Allies of Britain, And Not as Wards OTHER GRIEVANCES Indignation Meeting Was Held on the Reserve YESTERDAY PETITION DRAFTED An indignation meeting was held by the Six Nations Indians on the Reserve yesterday afternoon, at which the red men aired all and sundry of their grievances, whether real or imaginary. The majority of their troubles arose out of the registration issue, but educational matters and the administration of the Indian department were also brought up, and a demand for the scalps of those in charge of the local Indian office voiced.

Mayor MacBride was present at the meeting, and was heartily greeted by the Indians as "the great, all highest friend of the red men," and one to whom they could look for support. His Worship recounted his efforts on behalf of the Indians in connection with the national registration, and the upshot of the meeting was a lengthy resolution which was drawn up to be submitted to the Governor-General. The resolution makes clear that the Indians do not refuse to register, but wish to register as allies of Great Britain and not as wards of the Crown. Satisfaction was expressed that a proper recognition of their rights would result from this petition.

The first speaker of the afternoon was Chief Thunder Water, who criticized the sale of liquor, the theft and disease prevalent on the reserve under present conditions. He declared it an outrage to refuse supplies at a time like the present, when an epidemic was raging, to unregistered Indians. If this continued he threatened rebellion, not an armed uprising, but a battle of brains, such as the Indians had never lost.

The petition for presentation to the Governor-General was then drawn up, Mayor MacBride giving his advice on the matter. In addition to the registration, the memorial asks for reforms in the educational system and a different administration for Indian affairs.

DEMOCRATIZATION IS SPREADING Throughout German States—Question of Asking the Socialists to Join the Government

By Courier Leased Wire Copenhagen, Oct. 24.—The democratization of Germany is spreading through the federal states, according to a special dispatch printed in The Berlingske Tidende sent to that publication by its correspondent at Berlin. At a meeting of the crown council at Dresden yesterday, the question of asking Socialists to join the government was considered. The Baden government met at Karlsruhe to consider the abolition of the three class franchise system, and the introduction of proportional franchise. Wuerttemberg also is said to be considering whether their government representatives in the federal council shall not henceforth receive instructions direct from the representatives elected by the people rather than from the Wuerttemberg government. The democratization of the first chamber is also being considered.

CHEESE INDUSTRY FACED DISASTER

Last Year's Victory Loan Made Possible Purchase of Entire Exportable Surplus What follows should make it clear to the people of Canada, especially those interested in the live stock and dairy industries, that they cannot afford to see the forthcoming Victory Loan fail to go "over the top." Because of the splendid response of the whole people last year, it was possible for the Finance Department of the Dominion Government to make advances to cover the entire cost of the export of cheese to the British market, amounting in round figures to $40,000,000. After providing for the absolute needs of our own people the dairy farmers had available for export $7,800,000 pounds of cheese. The people of Britain wanted the cheese—all we could spare—but the British Government was not in a position to pay cash for it. Sir Thomas White, Finance Minister, arranged that advances out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan should be made to cover the entire transaction; the farmers of Canada were paid spot cash and the amount was charged to the British Government. But when Sir Thomas himself on the subject, in a recent statement he said: "We have an exportable surplus of Canadian cheese valued at approximately $40,000,000. Last year the Victory Loan made it possible to sell that surplus to the British Government for cash; without the loan it would have wanted a market. Canadian cheese has a high reputation in Great Britain and it is most important that Canadian farmers should have this market maintained. This year we hope to be in a position to effect the purchase of our entire exportable surplus in the same way. The demand will be just as keen since British soldiers and the home population are the consumers to be served." That ought to "listen well" to the Canadian farmer. It is clear that if it were not for the fact that the funds were available out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan, the cheese farmers would not be in a strong position to-day. The work of handling the export was entrusted to a cheese commission of three members, one being nominated by the British Government and two, Dr. J. A. Riddick and James Alexander, by the Canadian Government. Of the work of the Commission, Dr. Riddick said recently: "I am sure that in the days to come the producers will realize that if it had not been for the appointment of the Cheese Commission to relieve the cheese situation, the cheese industry would have suffered a real disaster. The Canadian Government is already to take care of the exports of

Which do You Use?

A Stale Liquid Preparation that has been made for months.

Recent research on the part of hair specialists has proved the fact that many disagreeable and obstinate scalp diseases are caused and rendered incurable by the indiscriminate use of stamppo preparations.

Chemical analysis proves that most liquid preparations for shampooing contain an excess of alkali (a harmful irritant) which cuts its way into the pores of the scalp, sets the roots of the hair, thus causing it to fall out.

The secret safest and easiest way is to make your own liquid. Buy a carton of Pure Olive Oil and mix with fresh water and you will have an abundance of pure soap.

Shell Shock.

The way in which shell shock manifests itself varies greatly in different individuals; so that it is not possible to give a description which covers every case.

Sometimes these symptoms are chiefly mental. The man suddenly loses his courage, breaks into a cold sweat, and cannot think or act. He becomes dazed, does not obey orders, is restless, and then in a semi-conscious condition wanders off, not knowing where he is. If questioned he can give no account of himself, does not know his name or his regiment, has no memory of the past; and when taken back to a hospital does not remember any of the past events of his life. Shown pictures of his family or letters from his wife, he does not recognize them, and thus for weeks he may remain in this state of double consciousness—as it is called—or amnesia; incapable of any mental or physical activity. Such cases—not unknown in civil life, but exceedingly rare—are the common form of shell-shock patients, and may last for months after they have been sent home.

Sometimes the mental state is not one of obscured consciousness but rather of excitement. The mind is continually on the qui vive for sights and sounds. The man starts and runs automatically at any noise, jumps or twitches like one with St. Vitus' dance, or trembles like one with shivering palsy. Such a man cannot sleep, or if he does, wakes suddenly with dreams or visions of horrid sights and sounds—starts up in a tremble, with every sign of intense alarm, and in a semi-conscious state fights all who try to calm or restrain him. He may have vivid hallucinations, seeing the sights of trench or battle just as if they were going on about him, and manifesting all the emotional effects which these sights would ordinarily awaken. A Canadian who had suffered thus, and had apparently recovered, was standing on the City Hall steps at a recent parade when an automobile tire suddenly burst with a sound like a gun. He immediately lost all control of himself—ran shouting through the crowd—fought the police who tried to restrain him—was in a state of intense excitement which could not be quieted, trembled like a leaf, and panted as if exhausted, and not for four hours did he come back to his normal state of mind—and then he had no memory of what had occurred.—Scribner.

Old-Fashioned Business.

Appropos of the Old Lady of Shoe Lane, as the now defunct Standard of London was called, being the first English newspaper to print a serial story, a well-known editor used to tell a story of when Anthony Trollope came to him to arrange for the appearance, serially, of "Doctor Thorne." The editor offered £2,000, but Trollope wanted £3,000, and when the editor objected, the author offered to toss him for the other thousand. The editor, however, was obstinate. "But I felt unsettled," he went on to say. "I felt mean, I had refused a challenge. To relieve my mind I said: 'Now that is settled, come over to my club, where we can have a quiet room to ourselves, and I will toss you for that thousand with pleasure.' But Trollope wouldn't."

Switzerland will supply 1,000,000 watches for the American army. The most important point in filling the order is to see that the tramping is well done.
