NEW MEMBERS FOR KINGS COUNTY

Given Enthusiastic Hearing at Big Meeting at Kentville Last Thursday

(Written specially for "The Acadian" by Robert B. Blauvelt.)

Kings County people, of all political persuasions, are solid for good government. They evidenced this by the overwhelming majorities given the anti-machine candidates in the recent election. They proved it conclusively by the enthusiastic meeting held at the Capitol Theatre, Kentville, on Thursday last. Here they gathered in hundreds of men, women, and children to elect new members to the Executive Committee of the Kings County Conservative Association.

George L. Bishop, President of the County Conservative Association, occupied the chair, and on the platform were the members-elect, Messrs. Caldwell and Nowlan, and a group of prominent supporters of the new administration. Mr. Caldwell was the first speaker. Briefly, but with manifest sincerity, he expressed to the electors, of all faiths, his appreciation of the support and cooperation which had ensured the election of Mr. Nowlan and himself. Referring to some of the great problems which confront the new Government, he warned his hearers that, while these matters would receive immediate attention, they could not be dispensed of in a moment. Emphatically pledging his abilities and best efforts to the service of the people he appealed to them for their continued confidence and support in the trying days to come.

It was the kind of address straight-forwardly and in a business-like manner, and it is quite evident that Mr. Caldwell is one man who can be depended upon to give Nova Scotia a business-like administration of her affairs. The applause which followed Mr. Caldwell's address had subsided, Mr. Nowlan arose amid a storm of deafening cheers. There can be no doubt of his place in public esteem. It was "our George," recovered somewhat from the fatigue of an arduous campaign, speaking to us in his own breezy, inimitable way. After a humorous allusion to the perpetual lateness of the late Government, he thanked the electors for the honor and opportunity for service which were his by their will. He reaffirmed his pre-election pledges, particularly with reference to labor unrest, education, law enforcement and moral reform, and made a strong plea for continued united effort in the interests of our beloved province.

Both speakers, with a bold frankness that is too rare among politicians, referred to the great pack of "job hounds" that pursues a new government and reminded them that the Rhodes Platform was "Economy—first, last and all the time." "The Armstrong Government," said Mr. Nowlan, "had, in most cases, three men to do the work of one and, very often, one man to do nothing." That condition must cease, regardless of any pressure brought to bear and regardless of any consideration whatever—even of services rendered.

Neither successful candidate took unto himself any credit for the sweeping victory, but both regarded the defeat of the Armstrong Machine as a triumph for Liberalism and Responsible Government, and as the victory of the people, achieved by men and women who were broad enough, honest enough, and loyal enough to put their country before their party affiliations.

The members-elect were followed by Mrs. H. P. Newcombe, one of Canada's foremost women orators and a charming and forceful speaker of great and rare ability. "The Victory," she declared, "is the victory of the people." The Armstrong Government had gone down before a storm of resentment—the indignation of all the people. It had perished because of the selfishness and lack of moral stamina which makes "government of the people by the clique" a possibility. The people had demanded a return to responsible government.

Human nature was, however, common to all men—selfishness rampant in all parties. There is but one way by which a party can avoid deteriorating into a machine, and that is by the presence, in the party, of an element of men and women who will speak for the "think and vote as they think" regard to less of partisan considerations or the commands of the whip.

At this moment it was the special duty of women to get inside the parties, she urged. True, there were certain things about the political game which were shocking to one's ideas. But, so far, we had not been able to devise any better method of government than the party system. It was the duty of women to play their part, to offer their ideas for the public good while steadfastly preserving their high ideals. "The country needs men and women," she said, "men and women."

Mrs. Newcombe also made a stirring appeal for Canadian unity. Canada occupied the finest position in North America and Nova Scotia the finest in the main highway of the world—the marine highway. Yet there were shrieks of "Nova Scotia First," demands for "Maritime Rights," even whispers of "Secession." This was all wrong but not unnatural. Behind it was the old economic problem—the problem of "bread and butter." When the bread and butter problem is solved, sectionalism will end. This is the greatest problem with which Mr. Rhodes is faced. Canada needs unity, not division—Nova Scotia needs prosperity, not depression. Having sounded this note of serious warning, Mrs. Newcombe expressed her complete confidence that our problems

WOLFVILLE CRICKETERS DEFEAT KENTVILLE

Local Juniors Win Friendly Contest with Visiting Veterans

An interesting cricket match, the first of the season in this town, was played last Saturday on the campus between Wolfville and Kentville. By a curious mischance all but one of the adult home players were unable to attend but the promoters after a good deal of hard work managed to gather up eleven junior members. The Kentville team, all seasoned cricketers, could only muster eight men and so decided to play seven against the eleven of Wolfville, to whom, being short of bowlers, they kindly gave Mr. Doll of Cornwallis, a veteran bowler of exceptional skill, who also batted for Wolfville. The home team had only one bowler available, Mr. J. J. Copland, Messrs. E. Robinson, Nelson Grant, Spencer and Lowe being unavoidably absent. Wolfville supplied the necessary fielders for Kentville.

Kentville went first to bat and scored 30. Mr. Doll's bowling being very effective. The batting of the Wolfville boys was a revelation. In a comparatively short time they ran up a score, including extras, of 68. The batting of Fred Regan was superb. Another feature of the game was the stand made by the Munro brothers (Donald and Colin) who together made 30 runs. Copland, a fine all round cricketer, who handles the bat like a professional, also scored heavily. The bowling of our boys was also excellent and some brilliant catches were made by the Munros and also by Cohen, fielding for Kentville. A second innings was played by Kentville who failed to overtake the home team. Wolfville consequently won in one innings with about 20 runs to the good.

The game of course was not a real test between the teams but none the less it was a most gratifying performance by our young cricketers who are rapidly learning the game and should ere long be able to hold their own with any team in the Valley. The thorough sportsmanship of the Kentville team was greatly appreciated here. Owing to some mistake our cricket equipment was not available but the loss was supplied by Kentville, who supplied an entire outfit including bats, balls, pads and wickets. Their action in playing six against eleven and giving us one of their best bowlers is also greatly appreciated and was thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of this good old game. Mr. F. A. K. Walker captained the Kentville team. It is hoped to play a return match next Saturday. The best of good feeling prevailed.

The teams were as follows: Kentville—Wm. Mellings, A. Beauchamp, Bing-Hall, J. Simpson, J. Miller, T. Miller, F. A. K. Walker. Wolfville—Cohen, Regan, O. Smith, Doll, Copland, D. Munro, C. Munro, McDonald, Spencer, A. Smith.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC WAS MUCH ENJOYED

The community Sunday-school picnic which was held yesterday at Oak Island was favored by ideal weather conditions and proved to be a very pleasant and successful affair. All the schools in town participated and there was a large attendance. Plenty of automobiles were provided and young and old were carried safely to their destination and returned home without accident. The usual array of good things were provided and games of various kinds and other athletic sports were freely indulged in. The tide was full in the middle of the day, affording splendid opportunity for swimming. Those who had charge are to be congratulated on the successful manner in which all the details were carried out.

would be courageously met and dealt with and that Nova Scotia's destiny as the Great North East would be abundantly realized. At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. Newcombe was given a vote of thanks and presented with a beautiful bouquet as a token of appreciation of her splendid services during the campaign. With the singing of the national anthem, and hearty cheers for Messrs. Nowlan and Caldwell, one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in Kings County, was concluded.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

That Merits the Careful Attention of Every Reader

It is fitting in these times when certain days or weeks are set apart for the furtherance of important community interests that the local newspaper should not be forgotten. We have "Old Home Week", "Conqueroom Week", "Save the Forest Week", "Swat the Fly Week", as well as many other "weeks" or "days" that are duly observed. Having this in mind it has seemed good to the publishers of THE ACADIAN to institute a "Pay Your Subscription Week", which will, we trust, be gladly hailed. Beginning on Monday next, and continuing for one full week, a cordial invitation is extended to all delinquent subscribers, as well as to all those who heretofore have not been favored by the weekly visits of this popular family journal, to take advantage of this auspicious occasion to pay their subscription and secure one of our unique receipt forms bearing the manager's autograph.

And listen, please: We do need the money. The cost of publishing a newspaper fifty-two times a year is by no means trivial. The expenses much more than offset the fun we get out of it. We maintain a large staff and we must needs pay our help weekly. We find it necessary to pay our paper bills, our type bills, our ink bills, our rent bills, our light and power bills, and liquidated before we can get the goods. Taxes and insurance both cost money. We are playing a losing game for hide and seek with butcher, the baker, the milk-man and the grocery man. The boot and shoe man has been trying to lasso us for weeks, but can't get near enough, and the way the business manager has to hustle to provide a living for all the members of the staff, it takes a new pair of shoes about every two months to keep him properly shod.

Yes, there's no doubt about it. We do need the money! Every subscriber to THE ACADIAN in Canada or the United States, whose subscription is not fully paid, is permitted to participate in the celebration of the "Pay Your Subscription Week", and is requested to remit what is due us during the time specified. The campaign opens at 8 o'clock on Monday morning, and the first comer secures a prize. New Subscribers are eligible to compete on similar terms. We have a prize both for the lady and the gentleman taking away the first receipt. Get in on this! The prizes are worth while.

Our office staff will be materially increased in order to insure our being able to handle the rush, and Chief of Police Crowell will have a special "cop" on duty throughout the entire day to direct the traffic and ensure the safety of pedestrians. We trust there will be no accidents. Come early and avoid the rush!

HIGH SCHOOL WINS EASILY FROM BRAVES

Playing one of the best exhibitions of ball seen here this season the High School won an easy victory from the "Braves" on Monday evening in a regular game of the Town League, the score being 10 to 0. The "Braves", on the other hand, were away of their usual form and errors were numerous. Munro pitched a good game striking out eight and allowing only five hits, but his team gave him very poor support. At bat the "Braves" were also weak, only two men reaching first base, and those on errors. Prescott, who pitched for the High School, struck out four, and received the best of support from his team mates. Mahaney made two difficult catches in the field. The game was played in record time, only one hour being consumed in playing seven innings. The teams were as follows: High School—Pick, If; Williams, 1b; Regan, ss; Cohen, 2b; Prescott, p; Eaton, 3b; Mahaney, cf; Johnson, c; Spence, rf.

Braves—Spinney, ss; Gould, 2b; C. Munro, c; Patriquin, 1b; D. Munro, p; E. Harrington, cf; Angus, rf; Wallace, 3b; B. Harrington, lf.

Umpires: Saunders and Williams. A good game is promised for Friday evening when the High School boys meet the "Red Sox". These two teams have not yet played together and a close contest is expected. The standing of the teams in the League is now as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Red Sox	3	0
High School	1	1
Braves	1	4

The seating capacity of the Orpheum Theatre was taxed to the limit last evening when the picturization of the famous play, "Charley's Aunt," was shown. The picture was most amusing and greatly enjoyed by all present.

Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

HAS SERVED ITS DAY

THE ACADIAN is gratified to note from the published report of the declaration day proceedings at Truro that Mr. Frank Stanfield, one of the successful candidates, is responsible for the statement that the Legislative Council must be abolished. Coming from a man who ranks so high in the confidence of his party, and who is recognized as likely to be a leader in the adjustment of the policy of the new government, the pronouncement cannot be regarded as other than authoritative.

Mr. Stanfield is a business man, and he and his party have promised a business administration. He recognizes the fact that in order to provide this one of the initial proceedings must be to lop off needless expenditures especially in the matter of governmental charges. The salary of the premier, he says, should be decreased and the members' indemnity subjected to at least a ten per cent. reduction. Such observations are certainly hopeful, as indicating the intention of the incoming administration to redeem the promises of economy in the carrying on of public affairs.

That the first step should be the elimination of the second chamber in our legislative institutions is appropriate. Its usefulness has long been seriously questioned and for a good many years measures relative to its abolition were supposed to have been in progress. The "reform" which was instituted during the last session of the legislature in no way satisfied the demand made by thinking citizens for the effacement of this relic of by-gone days. The Legislative Council may very likely have had a place in the economies of the long ago—but not now.

That difficulties stand in the way of those who seek to make an end of this obsolete chamber there can be no question, but where there is a will there must be a way. We may have drifted far from the principles of responsible government during recent years but it must not be forgotten that in a democratic country like this the people have a right to rule.

BE COURTEOUS TO STRANGERS

THE TOURIST season may now be said to have really begun and during the succeeding weeks our town and sections adjoining will be explored by many summer visitors. For these strangers within our gates we bespeak a cordial reception and all the courtesies possible. It is to be hoped that those who come in contact with them in any way will spare no effort in showing a spirit of real hospitality and that their stay among us may be a pleasant one.

There are many ways which will suggest themselves by which visitors may be made to feel so welcome that they will want to come again. Even the casual passer-by of whom information is asked in the street by strangers may reflect pride in his citizenship and in his community by giving the service desired in a courteous manner. Hotel keepers can make or break a town for visitors. In a majority of cases the impressions of most people regarding the cities and towns they visit are formed round the hotel at which they stay. If the accommodation is good, meals tastefully served and prices moderate they are favorably influenced, frequently even to the point of prolonging their stay. This means more revenue for the hotel man and his fellow townsmen.

This year probably to a greater extent than ever before will the automobile tourist be in evidence. The most important factor in attracting and pleasing these is the quality of the garage service, that is available. Most motorists on a tour are obliged to call on the garage for repairs or supplies, especially in the case of gas and oil, and when combined with a high quality of individual service a scale of prices which are reasonable is found, he carries away impressions which are assets to the community concerned.

THE HOME STORES

SOME PEOPLE get the idea that there is a lot of profiteering in retail trade. If these folks only realized the true condition of affairs, they would realize the retail stores are doing business today on a smaller margin of profit than ever before.

The higher range of prices prevailing since the war has stimulated competition and has forced retail trade to remodel its system of operation and make every possible improvement and economy in its methods. The stores are saving a margin for the public as the result of improved distribution methods.

Merchants today are putting more brains into their work than ever before. They get better expert advice, they understand markets better, they train their help to render better service.

The best way to make the people of Wolfville realize the fine quality of the service they get from their stores, is by constant advertising of those stores. As they read the newspaper advertising people learn about special chances to buy goods which they would never have known about had it not been for those notices.

They learn that stores are carrying lines that they knew nothing about. They get information warning them of conditions that tend toward higher prices, and showing them how they can save money by prompt purchasing. They find out that their home merchandise have been scouring the country to pick up the best merchandise available. They discover that their home stores are working with all their might to provide the necessities and conveniences of life at the lowest possible price consistent with substantial merit. The advertised store is the appreciated store.

OLD FASHIONED BUT EVER COMELY

DURING the Victorian era needlework was referred to by a woman writer as "the most effectual sedative, that grand soother and composer of woman's distress". In these latter days sedative and composure are out of fashion, and sewing, if necessary, is regarded as a disagreeable task to be accomplished quickly and swept out of the way. It is thought of by many as a symbol of despised domesticity from which at all costs they must be free. Ladies of quality will not take up their discarded needles again until fashion commands it.

Meanwhile, the few who still persist in sewing for pleasure need not be censured for vanity if they remember—what is indeed most true—that as they draw the lamp towards them and pick up their task, they borrow the dignity and beauty of another age. If, in any room, one among several women is sewing, it is to her that eyes are turned. She has a rhythm, a poise, a commanding tradition of which her sisters are denied. Condemned though it may be, a needle is still more becoming than a cigarette.

THE SPONGE

MANY PEOPLE think of a sponge as a kind of vegetable, but it is really classed as an animal. The zoology book calls it a "low grade" animal and that is a good description. When a man has the characteristics of a sponge he is a "low grade" animal, too. One kind of a sponge is the man who makes it his ambition to see how much liquor he can "soak up". Some men can hold a great deal, just as some large sponges will hold several gallons.

Not all "sponges" are that kind, however. A sponge clings to something else and grows on it. It does not furnish its own support. It is a natural "grafter". So is the man who lives on other people's money, whether it is handed down to him by inheritance or whether he merely takes the advantage some one else provides. He is a low grade animal compared with the man who is willing to work. Don't be a sponge.

RELIGION STILL ALIVE

FINDING no means of transportation at hand, seven boys recently walked seven miles to take a Bible study examination at a Y.M.C.A. These boys were of high school and grammar school age. Although a little tired, they did themselves credit in the handling of the questions at the examination.

This is not remarkable except that it shows these youths have a zeal and devotion to things reverential. It is common for groups or gangs of boys to use "shanks horses" for a hike to the woods, to the "ole swimmin' hole" or a basketball game. But to walk seven miles to participate in a test of their knowledge of the Bible is at least worth creditable mention.

MOTOR TRAFFIC IS VERY HEAVY

More Autos From United States and Points in Canada Coming to Nova Scotia

Very large increase of motor traffic to Nova Scotia from other Canadian Provinces and the United States is reported by the official in charge of the Nova Scotia Bureau re-established this year and Nova Scotia. This Bureau was established at that strategic point by the Highway Board last year, and proved so satisfactory in distributing information about the Province to incoming motorists, and also in keeping account of the number of cars which come into Nova Scotia, that the Board re-established it this year. It was opened about three weeks ago with Stanley Lowe, of Amherst, in charge. All Boards of Trade in the Province are advised that any information sent to Mr. Lowe for distribution to the visiting motorists will be given out.

The number of motor cars from Canadian Provinces other than New Brunswick, and from the United States which entered Nova Scotia in the first two weeks the Bureau was open is 241. They were from seventeen different States and three Provinces, and fifty more than for the same period last year, when there had entered 191 Canadian and foreign motor cars. There were 1500 New Brunswick cars crossed the border to Nova Scotia in that time, but they are not counted as specially tourists, owing to the regular daily traffic between the two provinces.

The number to enter this year was comprised of 104 Massachusetts cars; 29 from Maine and 25 from New York and fourteen other States made up the remainder. In view of the season all throughout eastern America being late, and the really fine weather only now beginning, these figures are taken as a forecast of a very heavy travel for this season.

RAISED FLAG ON PARLIAMENT BUILDING

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27.—Premier Mackenzie King raised the flag on the new tower of the parliament building which is now practically completed for the first time, this morning.

The new building insofar as the exterior work is concerned is practically finished save for some stone carving. The raising of the flag coincided with the prorogation of parliament which took place immediately after. It is nine years ago that fire destroyed the building, and while the new one has been completed nearly four years, the tower was completed only this week.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO LATE DR. E. W. SAWYER

In our last issue we referred to the unveiling at Woodstock College of a memorial portrait to the late Dr. E. W. Sawyer. We have since received a more full account of the proceedings and of the address given by Chancellor Whidden of McMaster University, who said: "I want to express my great appreciation of the sacred duty imposed upon me in connection with the unveiling of this portrait. I want to thank the members of the graduating class for their thought and the expression of this thought in tangible form in order that in some permanent way this institution may have the privilege of looking upon the picture of a friend of theirs who for forty years I have counted among my best friends."

Dr. Sawyer has taught a great many Canadian boys. At Acadia as instructor and principal of the College Academy and as professor in the Junior College of the University for many years, and then as Principal and instructor in Okanagan College in British Columbia and for several years here in old Woodstock. I can never forget the combination of precise scholarship, the exact requirements as a teacher, the clearness of interpretation, the insistent demand that tasks be well performed or the consequences taken, along with an athlete's conscience and kindness, a personal interest in every boy or young man in his classes. He never wore his heart upon his sleeve and yet it was a wonderful heart that beat in his breast. Men have gone into educational work and have been more conspicuous in Canada but no one has ever come nearer to being the great teacher friend to hundreds of us than the late reverend Dr. Everett W. Sawyer whose portrait it is my proud privilege to unveil."

While the entire gathering stood in reverence, Chancellor Whidden unveiled the portrait, and then said: "May we remember him and the lessons he has taught, emulate his example and follow in his footsteps."

Keeper: "Didn't you see that notice, 'No fishing here?'"
Fisherman: "Yes. But it's wrong. I have caught half-a-dozen already."

"TIMES" HAVE CHANGED

Arthur Brisbane, commenting on current news, says—
A lady of Spokane demands a divorce because, her husband, at breakfast, milked a goat directly into his cup of coffee. He keeps the goat in the house. The lady declares that such "table manners" could not be endured by any person of refinement.

"Other times, other manners." Eve would have thought it very clever had Adam done exactly the same thing.
Ben Higgins never would be passed, He bragged his car's endurance. He passed six cars with backward glance— His wife was his insurance.

DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

Dec. 29th, 1850.—John came in to Mary's last night and read the letter he just received from his father; the poor old man feels his grief though in a foreign land. Robert is well and likes the sea. They all agree. Capt. Michener is going to Fredericksburg to stay till the vessel returns from the West Indies.

30th.—This day I am to commence my school again. It will not seem like it did before; many hopes have fled since then. I hope I may be enabled to set my affections more on things above and by the help of God do my duty to the youth sent here, that I may be useful in what ever way I can.

31st.—There has been so much snow that I only had seven scholars yesterday, but today there were fifteen. Abigail and her family were to Mary's today; she called in to see me—like myself, she spends some very lonely hours. I called in to Mrs. Harris's this evening a while; she is a very kind lady. Brother John has been in and read to me out of the "Messenger". I got a letter this afternoon from dear Rebecca. How I wish I could see her! This is the last day of the old year. The boys have been celebrating, firing guns and making much noise. Silas Hibbert and Barbara are staying here tonight. When I look back upon the past year I see changes, trouble, and many mercies. Oh, let me earnestly pray that God will enable me to take a right view of the past, that it may be a lesson for the future. May he grant me grace to improve the coming year aright, for I feel that I can not without His aid.

Jan. 2nd, 1851.—Last night after school I went up to mother's. Mary and family had been there. I began to write the "family scrap book". Came down to meeting. Rev. Grant preached. I then came to Mary's and stayed all night. It has been a very cold day indeed.

4th.—Two years ago tonight I sat as a bride beside my husband. I knew not then what time we would spend together, but now I know, for it has fled. Dear Simeon, how happy we were. I trust through Jesus there is increased, although it causes me to mourn, yet not as one without hope. I have taught school a week now and like it. I am going up to mother's as Ann has just called in for me to go. She is going to stay with Mary.

6th.—Another week has begun and still finds me scribbling. I had the privilege yesterday of hearing Rev. Hall preach in the morning and Rev. Grant in the evening. The past week has been very cold, but today has been fine.

10th.—Ann has been here to supper, then John came and stayed till meeting time; they went to a Temperance meeting. I did not care to go tonight. Mrs. James came in and was telling me of the afflictions she had met with in her pilgrimage. She also told me of the death of Father Edward Manning. Dear old saint, he has found a mansion of rest; he is as a shock of corn fully ripe.

11th.—I was at conference meeting this afternoon and to Asa Hines this evening to a prayer meeting.

12th.—Another Sabbath has flown never to be recalled. Jane Crowl was buried today. Rev. Lawrence preached. Rebecca Elder came and stopped with me till evening, when we went to prayer meeting. A year ago tonight Nancy Dickie was here, and the next morning Simeon came home.

19th.—We have had fine mild weather since the 10th; but now it is very cold again. When I hear the cold wind blowing I feel very thankful that I have a good home. Rebecca is here again; we attended a prayer meeting at Capt. Gould Davidson's this evening. Several of my scholars stayed all night Friday night. I sent for some others to come in and we had quite an interesting time.

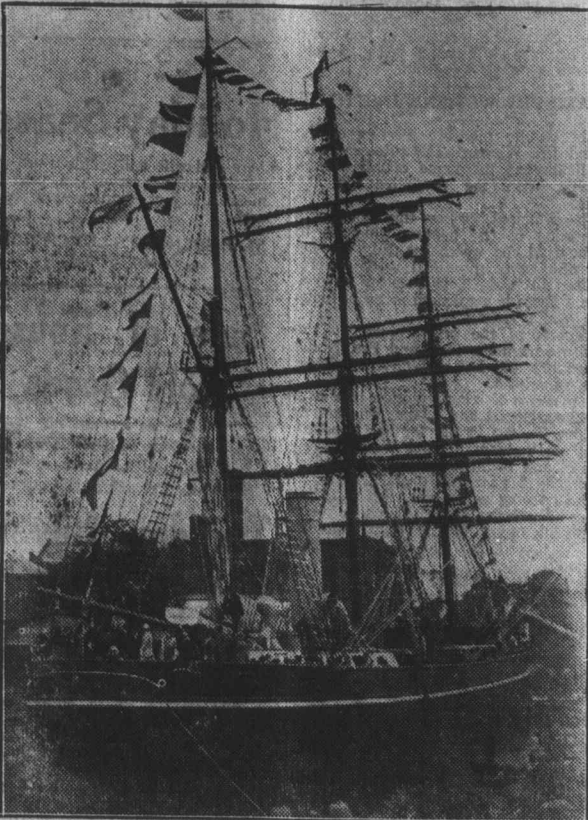

20th.—Fines of my scholars are staying all night as it is storming quite hard. There were twenty-six pupils today. I feel my responsibility to be great.

RULES FOR HAND CRANKING SHOULD BE KNOWN BY ALL

Now that most automobiles have self-starters it is seldom that the hand crank has to be used. But it is advisable to keep the crank handy and to know how to use it if occasion should demand it. Cranking the car is a dangerous operation if not done properly and serious accidents have occurred through lack of precaution or knowledge in this regard.

In order to secure immunity from personal injury, be sure that gears are in neutral, that the emergency brake is set, that the spark lever is in its fully retarded position and that the band throttle is open only just enough to keep the engine turning after it first fires.

Engage the crank so that its handle points down and to the left and always turn the engine over by an upward pull, never by a downward push. A sharp upward jerk is safest and most effective. Prime the cylinders with gasoline if there is any handy means for so doing and set the dash adjustment for a rich starting mixture. Crank the engine over two full turns, before turning on the ignition, then switch it on and give the crank one snappy upward pull, when the engine should start. Usually, if magneto ignition or battery ignition with automatic advance is used, it is not necessary to employ full spark retard. If on cranking, the engine fires but once or twice and stops and shows no back-kicking tendency, somewhat more spark advance can be safely used if only the crank is always pulled and not pushed.

WASHING TABLE LINENS

Real linen is expensive, and for this reason if for no other the greatest care should be taken in its laundering. After soaking it should be well shaken out and put, a few pieces at a time, into warm soapsuds. Soap should then be applied to all soiled places and the cloths washed clean, with care not to rub too much, as that injures the fabric. Change the suds as often as it becomes dirty. Put the clean things into the boiler in tepid suds, bring to a boil, and boil a few minutes without stopping. The clothes will not look so white if the boiling stops before you are ready to take them out. With a clean, smooth wooden stick lift them out into a tub of clear, tepid water, wash the soap out, and wring them. Rinse in clear tepid water, fold smoothly, and wring. Shake out and hang by spreading a hem over the line three or four inches deep and fastening at each end three or four inches in from the edge to avoid too much strain on the corners. The reason the corners of napkins and tablecloths wear out first usually is that not enough care has been used in hanging them on the line, and too much weight and strain came on them, whipping in a wind. The other hem should be brought up and fastened to hang full so as to blow out like a sail, thus drying faster.

Why Keep Advertising?

When business is slack why Advertise?

Did you ever notice that it takes time and persistence to accomplish anything worth while? You can't advertise today and expect to find your store crowded tomorrow, unless you have through constant advertising educated the public to read your ads.

The majority of people are slow to act. You have to tell them the same thing over and over again before they will heed your message.

Advertise now for the business you hope to do next month—it is the cumulative effect that brings results. For help in your advertising we have the Bonnet-Brown Sales Service of Cuts and Ready-written Ads. We'll gladly explain their benefits to you.

The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of the public generally in their great loss which has cast a shadow over the town generally.

DEATH OF FORMER ACADIA PRESIDENT

The news has reached Wolfville of the death of William Bernard Hutchison, D.D., of Des Moines, Ia. Dr. Hutchison, well known here as a former President of Acadia University, died very suddenly of heart disease while away from home. He was connected with the State Baptist Home Mission work and it was while out on the field that he passed away. He is survived by his wife; his daughter, Lois, a graduate of Music in Des Moines University; a son, Clifford; a sister, Mrs. William Blumer, of Great Village; and a brother, George, of London, England, who attained fame as a portrait painter.

Dr. Hutchison was born at Glenholme, Colchester county, N.S., February 16, 1861. He took the B.A. degree at Acadia in 1886, having previously taught school for a time. At Acadia he made one of the finest records in scholarship in the history of the College. Upon completing the Arts course, he studied Theology at Newton, Rochester and Chicago. He had a short pastorate in Quebec City, and then held several pastorates in Kansas and Iowa, the longest of these being at Burlington, Iowa. From Lawrence, Kansas, he was called to the Presidency of Acadia University in 1907, a position which he resigned in 1909 in order to return to the pastorate. After other pastorates in the same States where he had previously labored, Dr. Hutchison became District Secretary of Iowa Baptist Convention in 1923, the place he was filling at the time of his death.

He was a man of fine physique, of force and persuasiveness as a public speaker, and of solid worth in character and service. His wife was Grace Terhune, of Quebec City.

In addition to the regular personnel the band was assisted by three outside friends, who added much to the program.

The Old Home picnic in spite of the inclemency of the weather was held on July 1st at the Look Off, by the genial proprietor, Mr. Douglas Blenkhorne, who did his best for the enjoyment of the guests. CONGREGATIONAL UNION HOLDS SESSIONS AT KINGSPORT

The last Congregational Union of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick before merging into the United Church of Canada was held in Kingsport, Congregational church from July 2-6. A good number of delegates and Kingsport friends met in the church on Thursday. The devotional service was conducted by Dr. J. W. Cox. After the roll call and election of committees, the secretary and treasurer of the union gave their last annual reports.

The morning address was given by Rev. A. T. King, of Sheffield, N.B., on "Home Missionary Problems" and afforded a most interesting glimpse of outpost life in Newfoundland, where Mr. King had previously been stationed.

In the afternoon the devotions were led by Rev. Mr. Moore and after some business Rev. B. T. Holden, M.A., B.D., of Brooklyn and Beach Meadows, gave an address on the Clash of Colour. He stressed the world situation arising out of the new race consciousness of the coloured peoples in Japan, China and India the people were alive as never before to western ideas, and, humanly speaking, the future of the world was in the hands of the church.

In the evening a good congregation was addressed by Rev. Dale Moore, M.A., B.D., and Rev. A. F. Pollock, B.D. Mr. Moore gave a thoughtful account of "The Needs of Today", claiming that the present age is scientifically brilliant but spiritually shallow.

Mr. Pollock, of Ottawa, spoke on "The kind of Christian Life we need to Live", stressing the importance of justice, mercy and truth rather than a barren and bitter orthodoxy.

The Christian life should be one of liberty, fellowship with God, and progress.

Music by the choir, under the direction of Miss Juanita Loomer, was very beautiful, organist Miss Dickie.

The Maritime Branch of the Canada

Congregational Women's Board of Missions held its annual meeting at Kingsport on July 3rd.

The meeting opened with prayer service, conducted by Rev. W. J. Bevis. The appointing of committees was followed by a roll call of Life members, of which several responded and a few names were added. At the roll call of auxiliaries, eight out of fifteen replied. The corresponding members of the branch are Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Bevis. The reports of Mission Bands, Mission Circles and Baby Bands were encouraging. Reports of Treasurer, Branch Fund and Campaign Funds were also given, all of which were gratifying. It was decided to send a representative to the meeting at Malpeque. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Flewelling and the singing of a hymn.

At the afternoon session, the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Alex. Godfrey. The minutes of last session were accepted and reports of committees given. The address of welcome given by Mrs. Rev. T. C. Crosby was a very happy one and was replied to by Mrs. Bevis. Greetings from the sister congregations were extended by Mrs. Parker, of Parrsboro, and Mrs. A. A. Ward, of Canning. Mrs. Flewelling was appointed representative to the meeting at P.E.I. A delightful exercise was then given by the young girls of Kingsport and Medford Mission Bands, which was unusually enjoyed.

"Young people's Work", an interesting paper prepared by Mrs. C. Tavenor, was followed by a fine address on "The Home, Church and Foreign Missions", by Mrs. King. The meeting closed with prayer.

The public evening service of Friday opened with devotional exercises led by Mr. Flewelling, of St. John, after which an interesting history of the Maritime Branch, written by Miss Emma Haughn, aged 13 years, was read by Mrs. Wentzell. Mrs. A. T. King rendered a beautiful solo. Rev. A. F. Pollock, B.D., of Ottawa, then spoke on the kingdom of God, emphasizing the fact that we do not always realize how many of our blessings are due to the Gospel of the kingdom. Rev. G. W. Ball gave a fine address on the "Need of Visions".

The Saturday morning service opened with devotional exercises led by Rev. J. M. Hooker. Following the business session, Rev. A. F. Pollock, B.D., of Ottawa, gave a very interesting account of the great meeting held at Toronto, June 10th. Concerning missionary affairs, 600 missionaries have joined the union, said Dr. Pollock. When the election of the first moderator came up, Dr. Chown showed a fine spirit of self-sacrificement by asking that he be not considered, but that Dr. Pidgeon be elected. This was carried. The committee on the Life and Work of the Church presented a very important report, especially a call to prayer and rededication in October.

EXODUS TO STATES SHOWS DECREASE

Value of Settlers' Effects Exported Declines—Return Figures Greater

OTTAWA, July 3—Drift of Canadian settlers south—so far as is indicated by the value of settlers' effects exported—declining. The Canadian government does not keep statistics of outgoing Canadians but the value of settlers' effects both outgoing and incoming is recorded.

These, as given by the Dominion Bureau of statistics for the year ending May, show a heavy decline in settler effects exported to the United States compared with the previous 12 months.

At the same time settlers' effects imported from the United States show an increase.

Settlers' effects exported to the United States in the 12 months ending May were $6,406,711, in the corresponding year previous, $9,624,114. Settler effects imported from the United States in the year ending May were $5,200,000 in the corresponding year previous, $4,880,118.

How To Write Want Advertisements

What to say---and how to say it---facts that influence the results you are after.

Results from classified advertisements depend largely upon how the advertisements are written. The following are suggestions that might prove helpful in properly writing a classified advertisement:

Don't try to save space by abbreviating or leaving out words. Use plain English and enough of it to tell all about the proposition.

Point out in your proposition the things in which you think the prospect would be most readily interested.

Select the strongest selling point; this may be the price, the opportunity to make or save money, the exclusiveness of the proposition or location, the size, the terms or any one of a hundred things.

Emphasize this point or points to arrest the reader's eye as he glances through the classified columns; this can be accomplished by placing the most important features at the head of the advertisement or by the use of large type.

Inasmuch as the amount of money involved is a vital factor in all transactions prices should be given.

A man does not want to waste time looking-up a proposition when he does not know whether it is within the range of his pocketbook. He answers those advertisements he knows come within the price he has in mind. Many people will not answer an advertisement that omits the price, feeling that the advertiser intentionally did not mention the price because it is too high.

The number of replies lost because the price is too low or too high is more than made up by the response gained from those to whom the price is right and who probably would not have replied at all if the price had been omitted.

Make your classified advertisement specific. If it is sold on terms, point out the specific terms, not just "easy terms", but "$10 down and $5 a month".

Always bear in mind that what is "easy", "desirable", "convenient", "good", "beautiful", "wonderful", "close", "cheap", for one person may not be for another.

The pulling power of the classified advertising lies in the directness with which important details are specified.

It is always well to impel action at the end of an advertisement. Often a person will have a real want and need for the thing advertised, but the wording of the advertisement somehow lacks the power of suggestion to induce action.

To overcome this it is advisable to use a phrase that helps the reader to respond at once. "First caller gets this." "This will not last long at the price." "This is a special offer, see Mr. Smith before noon." "Telephone us and we will call for you in our car," and other such phrases often stimulate immediate action.

Another element that invites immediate response is to make it easy for the person answering the classified advertisement to find you.

A telephone number is usually very easily called and many people dislike to call personally unless they can determine further details by telephone conversation beforehand.

On the other hand, street addresses should be given wherever possible.

Some people have no telephone, others dislike using it and therefore prefer calling in person.

Not only make it easy for the reader to answer your advertisement but always be on hand to answer calls when they come.

This seems like rather foolish advice, yet experience in classified advertising proves that many people expect a classified advertisement to bring returns when they are not even present to receive the answers or will depend on a person to receive the answers who knows little or nothing about what is advertised.

Repetition has a certain strength. Classified Ads that readers pass by the first week receive interested attention and response the next.

One of the peculiarities in classified advertising is the fact that an advertisement may run several weeks and not bring a single result, yet the following week, possibly when least expected, answers will come from every quarter. For this reason, experienced advertisers order their advertisements to run a number of weeks.

Make Your Bargains By Telephone!

When you decide to make a proposition to an out-of-town customer, you know what you will say.

But every bargain has two sides.

It's what your customer will say that counts.

Why spend days in ascertaining that by correspondence?

Telephone him!

Put the proposition before him in plain, clear-cut speech, just as you would if face-to-face, and get his answer, not after a delay of hours or days, but right away.

with you and warn you. So I had to keep in touch with them." He hated wearing his heart on his sleeve, and so he ended: "For the sake of your danged old carcass."

Angus said nothing for a time; and then:

"Ay, ay!" he murmured. "But how did you find the claim?"

"And why didn't you stake it for yourself?" shrilled Piccolo.

To that Movie Bill gave no reply. "You ask me how I found it," he said to Angus. "Well, you see, I was just keeping tab on Mark Bantling and this gentleman through the hills, and I got so close on them that I couldn't risk a shot, and my store was getting depleted. I decided I'd have to work back a bit and fish a creek and chance a fire. I thought of cooking at night down in a draw back there, where they would not see the light. And then I came on a fool-then. She ducked and scuttled away about thirty feet from me. So I lifted a stone to throw at her, and I never threw it. I looked at it and saw where I was. You see, Bantling had not picked up all the splinters that Piccolo dropped at the Benwell House. He pocketed the big bits, but there were one or two small ones left and I picked those up later; so I knew what you were all looking for. 'This is it!' I said. That was when my horses strayed; I was too excited to think of horses or anything."

"Eic," said Angus, "did you find Movie at the place where you got the stones, or is it another place he's struck?"

"Oh, it's the place all right. The other end of this meadow," Piccolo suddenly roared and came to Movie Bill, his hand outstretched. "If this is quixotry it is sure something finer than craziness," he said. "Tremaine told me that Don Quixote was maybe crazy, but a fine man from the heels up. I want to apologize, right here. I am sure sorry I suspected you."

"Oh pshaw!" exclaimed Movie Bill. "With a face like mine you have every excuse."

But he shook hands with Piccolo, lightly, as though there were no need for any very ostentatious making of peace.

"And still I cannot understand," said Piccolo, "why you made out the location of the claim for us. After all, you see, there was no call for it to do it."

"No call?" said Movie Bill.

"No, I don't see it. I gave the show away myself at Colvalli. You didn't even take the map."

"Map?" echoed Movie Bill, puzzled.

"It was Bantling took that map out of the T. J. ranch," said Greer. "That's how we got the location, more or less. We thought it was only eighty miles north of Colvalli, but that man told us different. What between it, and a job of a hole in it, and us being able to track back pretty well on the way the horses had been driv south, we knew we were pretty close. But we couldn't find it."

"Still I don't get you," persisted Piccolo to Movie. "You did not butt in on Angus and me. You got on to it all, it seems, first because I dropped those little specimens at Colvalli, and then by observing Bantling and Greer here."

"What's the word, Mac," asked Movie Bill. "What is the word, would you say, for all this turning the thing one way and another? Casuistry? Sophistry?"

"Something like that, maybe," answered Angus. "Either might serve."

"Piccolo, I'm too straight for all these arguments," said Movie Bill, "or too quixotic if you prefer the word. Bantling and Greer were after you and Angus. It seemed a long way over land to Kokanee, but they clearly knew more than I did. They might have got faulty evidence, but I knew something of Bantling's record. (I'll say nothing about you, Greer—present company!) When they outfitted and set off north right away I began to think. That made me go and study a good map. That you had gone with the gossip of Colvalli, of course. I rang up Miss MacPherson—"

"Miggles couldn't tell you anything," said Angus.

"Well, I rang her up and just asked if she knew where you had gone. She merely verified the gossip. To Kokanee, she said, I suppose she did not trust me enough to tell me the truth."

"She didn't know otherwise," said Angus.

"Didn't know?"

"No, I thought once, when she came on to the veranda while I was having a consultation with myself about a course of action, or inaction, and saying bits aloud to help me, the way many an old prospector gets into—but a bad way, not good for a man—I thought then she had an inkling of something afoot. But no! And I did not tell her later. You see, it is at that I doubt the advisability of telling women folk secrets. It is not that. It is just that I have one crank amounting almost to superstition, though I'm not superstitious, mind you. It is just that I can never bring myself to count the chickens by the eggs in the incubator. That was enough to tell Miggles. To Kokanee. And we were going to Kokanee."

CHAPTER XVIII

Explanations—Elucidations

Movie Bill who first regained his former romanticism than were the rest. He was more accustomed to what you and Bantling had been up to that day I saw you and we had our little pow-wow beside Pauline Creek. Just how that kid struck me—easily led astray."

"Oh, he knew darn little of what he was doing. He was just to take the letter and make the connection." He turned to Angus and blandly enquired: "And what about me now?"

"Bide a wee! Bide a wee!" said Angus. "Or, as ye might say, stick around. You will come up and see the claim with us." He turned to Movie Bill. "How did you find it? What are you here for anyhow? How are you, as might be said, in on this? This is more like a detective story than a prospecting trip."

Movie Bill pondered a spell.

"Well," said he, "you heard me mention a pow-wow I had with Bantling and Greer near Pauline Creek. I had ridden out there—to have a day off, and they rode past and stopped, and invited me more or less to join them in search for the place where Piccolo had found some stones he dropped in front of the Benwell House. You see, I had seen Bantling pick them up, and Greer had seen me see him do it. It is house that Jack built on my side top, Angus, but Bantling was no diplomatist, and I have a twist in me as you know. He got my goat. That goat of mine! I'll have to tether it good in future. Oh well, I guess as we get older we get mellow. There were other side issues. This is synopsis. There was a certain little telephone-call, for example, when Bantling was in the T. J. ranch house during its owners' absence. (Piccolo sat fidgetting his fingers, eyes wide, listening like a child to a fairy story.) "And he got my goat then. I told them that seeing Piccolo did not know what his stones were, that they were not lost by him but just flung away. I didn't see anything crooked in their going out to find the place; but planning to intimidate Piccolo into telling or any hanky-panky tricks like that seemed to be a different matter. But Bantling wasn't content. He told me: all right, if I wouldn't come in with them I could just keep out; so I came in—to play a lone hand."

He paused.

"A lone hand?" enquired Angus.

"Yes," said Mc e Bill. There was another pause, and the: "Well, I got back to Colvalli that night to find that you and Piccolo had thrown in your lot together. You were off—to Kokanee, I was told. Why Kokanee? I asked myself, in view of what I had heard from Bantling and Greer, and Piccolo's remark about where he had been—only eighty miles north of Colvalli. Then I thought: 'Of course, they've to get licenses! I supposed you could procure these at almost any town of British Columbia. Oh shoot!' he broke off. "You force a man to wear his heart on his sleeve, MacPherson, with your darn curiosity. When I heard you were in company with Piccolo I amended the lone idea that Bantling's threat had weakened. Well—well—don't you see? You and I have had some darn pleasant pow-wows, Angus. Whatever you had gone to Kokanee for, with Piccolo, Bantling and Greer were on to Piccolo and consequently you. I knew they meant business. I knew they were tough, and unscrupulous. You were by then too far off for me to get in touch

GREENWICH

An article in a recent Halifax daily, which was of much interest to the many friends here of the couple, was the account in the Dartmouth News of a genuine surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Leslie at their home on the evening of their fifth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Leslie was Dorothy Brown, one of our girls. Mr. Leslie is the well liked and popular Supervisor at the Nova Scotia Hospital. Among the forty or more friends who gathered at their home was one of the head doctors and wife, also many of the staff of the hospital.

A jolly evening was spent with music, dainty refreshments, a huge wedding cake, flowers and a number of nice gifts, all testifying to the very high esteem held for the young couple. "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung toward close of the evening very heartily, and every good wish extended to the couple, which would be seconded by many here in Greenwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes spent Sunday, June 28th, over at White Rock at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, at the Power plant.

Mr. T. J. Borden, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. Annie Kett, motored to Aylesford in the former's car on Monday and Tuesday of last week and attended the Baptist Association meetings held there.

Miss Joyce Harvey is spending her vacation here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey. She taught the school at Glenmont last year very successfully.

Mr. Manning K. Ellis, Port Williams, is building a large piece on his warehouse here, also improving it inside.

Mr. Leslie Bishop is having a fine up-to-date furnace put into his house, also a nice bath room.

It was with the deepest regret our residents learned last week that we are soon to lose a life long resident, Mr. Humphrey Bishop, and his son Hazen, with his wife and family of five children, they having sold their farm, which has been owned in this family for several generations back, over a hundred and twenty-five years or more, we are told. Mr. Howard Forsythe, who owns a farm on the Ridge and has spent his life here, has purchased the Bishop farm and will move his family there as soon as the present family leave for New Jersey, U.S.A., where they expect to make their home in the future.

Miss Elsie Piper, of Beaver River, Yarmouth county, arrived last Thursday afternoon and is a guest of her friend, Miss Esther Pearson.

A number from here motored to Kentville last Thursday afternoon to attend the Declaration Day celebration, held there at the Capitol Theatre.

Mrs. T. A. Pearson and daughters, accompanied by their guest, motored to Evangeline Beach Friday afternoon, enjoying a "picnic supper" and spending the evening there.

Mr. Hazen Bishop motored to Hantsport Saturday afternoon, accompanied by his daughters, Olive and little Dorothy, also his father, Mr. Humphrey Bishop, returning the latter part of the day.

Mr. T. A. Pearson's family motored to Bear River station on Saturday, taking home their daughter, Mrs. B. L. Merry, and two little sons, Eugene and Jackie. The family returned home that evening.

Mrs. Parker Ilseley, of Coldbrook, has been a guest here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norman Regan.

The singing of children of the junior choir at the church service here on Sunday afternoon, as usual, was much enjoyed, also the sermon of the pastor, Rev. D. B. Hemme, O.D., to the children was full of interest to the adults present as well, and all think this service once a month a great idea and worth while.

Mr. Oswald Burke, of Halifax, spent the week end with his wife and little daughter, who are residing here at the home of Mrs. Ada Forsythe.

Mrs. Hockey, whose husband is one of the head staff now at the Experimental Station, Kentville, is a patient of Nurse Andrew at her home here, a little daughter being born to Mr. and Mrs. Hockey early Sunday morning.

CENTRAL NOVA SCOTIA BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

The matter of Dr. DeWolfe's resignation from the principality of the Ladies Seminary led to a striking review of the developments in the Seminary during his 24 years of service. The report of the work at the Academy showed very marked progress. A number of changes in the Academy staff were noted. It was emphasized as an outstanding feature of the Academy that it depends solely upon student fees for financing.

The report on Obituaries read by Pastor Heston Flanagan, referred to a number of the prominent members of the churches who had passed into higher service.

Rev. W. D. Wilson, of Middleton, was welcomed by the Moderator and presented a statement on the work of Social Service in the Maritime Provinces, particularly referring to Baptist interests.

A resolution was passed to the effect that a committee be appointed to request the Provincial Government to take steps to have the sale of liquor by the Vendor Commission conform to the intention of the general provision of the Act, and urging the Government to have the export houses abolished. Other associations will be asked to co-operate. The devotional period was conducted by Rev. Z. L. Fash. The fuller, more effective, and detailed conquest of the Association for Christ, was the burden of the address.

At the afternoon session, Rev. A. H. Saunders, representative of the Executive Secretary, spoke of the need of co-operation between Boards, between all churches and all people.

Rev. Osmond Morse, Editor of the Maritime Baptist, spoke of the value of the Denominational paper to the church and the home.

The committee on Licenses recommended the endorsing of the following licentiates: I. W. Bissett, W. F. Warren, J. A. Beyra, Monte H. Mast, Miss Gertrude Eaton, Herbert H. Hatt, Heston Flanagan, Finick D. Fader, Gerald W. Guiou, Byron Linton, J. Fred. Cowan, Arthur Tingley, George Bryden, Alfred MacIntosh.

Rev. G. D. Hudson led in the final Devotional period.

The Women's Missionary Union session was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Potter, of Coldbrook, the President of the Association's Women's organization.

Mrs. C. S. McLean spoke on Home Missions and of the splendid work being done by the women. Mrs. F. H. Beale spoke of the Acadia campaign—the why and the wherefore, urging their campaign over the top.

Mrs. R. E. Gullison, who returns to India in the fall, recounted some of the conversions she had noticed in India. Mrs. W. E. Porter was re-elected as President of the Association U.B.W.M.U. and Mrs. G. W. Schurman was re-elected Secretary.

The evening session and last was not nearly as largely attended as the others on account of the rain. A large number of the delegates had gone home. The registration of delegates showed the total to be much below the usual, numbering only 107. The clerk who has occupied the position for seven years tendered his resignation to take effect at once.

The retiring Moderator, Rev. D. G. Ross, called the Moderator-elect, Rev. A. H. Saunders to the platform and initiated him into the honored office. Moderator Saunders expressed his thanks to the Association for the honor conferred upon him and asked their co-operation.

Rev. W. N. Hutchins, Ph. D., of Acadia, gave an address on the work of education and the value of a Christian education.

Rev. R. E. Gullison, returned missionary, delivered a forceful address on the needs of the missionary cause. At the conclusion of his address the Association adjourned.

NORMA SHEARER IN PARAMOUNT'S "EMPTY HANDS" EXPERT SWIMMER

With the exception of Annette Kellerman, the screen boasts no more expert swimmer than Norma Shearer, who is to appear in support of Jack Holt in "Empty Hands" Victor Fleming's first production for Paramount under his new term contract.

She is a Canadian, born in Montreal, and was a consistent trophy winner and exhibition swimmer and diver in the famous A.A.A., of Montreal. She was one of three lady members of the club to give a swimming and fancy diving exhibition for the Prince of Wales upon the occasion of his visit to Canada in 1919.

In "Empty Hands" the Arthur Stringer novel which shows at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday, she will be seen to advantage in an aquatic role calling for great expertise in the water.

PARKER-BISHOP

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. Emma Jackson, Berwick, when her niece, Miss Louise Clare, youngest daughter of the late Alfred E. and Mrs. Bishop, of Kentville, was united in marriage to Whitney North Parker, of Wolfville. An arch consisting of asparagus, siringa and roses, with a floral bell of roses in the centre, had been erected on the lawn by the young friends of the bride, under which the couple stood. Punctually at three o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Mary Eagles, of Grand Fre, the groom appeared and took his position under the arch, the bride soon following. She was given away by her cousin, Harry Witter, of Kentville. She was gowned in an afternoon gown of periwinkle blue venetian lace over pink crepe de chine with a scarf of tulle, and wore a hat of the same shade, and carried an arm bouquet of pink and white carnations and fern.

The ceremony, which was a double ring service, was performed by Rev. A. M. Marshall, D.D., of Wolfville. After it was over congratulations were given, and the guests to the number of seventy-five sat down to an elegant collation.

Many congratulatory telegrams were read from distant friends and the presents were numerous and handsome, consisting of silverware and glassware. The Parker family's present was a handsome silver tea service, and a beautiful silver piece was received from Mr. and Mrs. Lee Newcombe. The bride has been for some years a R.N., having practiced her profession in New York, and the groom is one of the popular young men in Wolfville.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker left in the noon for their wedding trip to the West Coast. On their return they will reside in Wolfville.

THE STRAW HAT

(From the Orillia Packet)
A straw hat is a rather slight and consequential thing, yet it keeps wheels running in 96 American industries and supports a $30,000,000 industry constantly proving that straw, which way the wind blows it, because it will roll faster on one than a bicycle will on two wheels, though it has no differential, will turn sharp corner without upsetting.

We had no idea that there were many beautiful residences scattered throughout this section of Nova Scotia—household would do credit to a wealthy urban community. And the roads—well, they were in excellent condition. We would say that in this province has changed more in the roads in the past ten years, even though they cost a good deal, it seems to us that it was a most able expenditure. We would say that of our friends who are feeling blue through the depression than a motor through the Annapolis Valley at present time. We must say that a visit to the Valley did our spirits of good.
