The Am. Novel of 1915.

MICHAEL O'HALLORHAN by Gene Stratton Porter. This is the story of Mickey the newsboy and his ward-peacher, whom he found with a crippled back and cried for until she was cured. It tells of Mickey's part in the romance of Douglas Bruce and Leslie Winton; and of the kindness of Peter Harding and his wife to peacher, and finally of Mickey's own love story with the girl he found years before. The book possesses, like all of the author's works, a deep feeling for nature, the charm of the woods, the flowers and all growing things. Paper 65c; cloth 90c. Not a dull page in all the 500 pages.

"ECHOES of the Past;

OR, The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER XXV.

"In 'Home, Sweet Home?' cried Lady Wynthaw. "My dear!"

"It is not so unlikely as it sounds," insisted Lady Edith. "I know a clergyman who happened to lose his place while he was reading the service and found he couldn't repeat the creed without the book, though he must have read it hundreds of times."

"Beautiful voice she has!" remarked one of the guests. "Shouldn't wonder if she makes a sensation and scores a big success in London when she gets there."

Lord Chesterleigh nodded, but absently; he had been trying, while the others had been talking, to recall the memory the girl had awakened.

Clive did not linger after the meal was over, but left immediately; he felt that he could not play his accustomed part with Edith, could not be so vile a hypocrite as to receive her caresses, with Mina's sad voice ringing in his ears, her face haunting him.

The contest continued with unabated ardor, and the day of the poll arrived. The most frantic efforts were being made by the supporters of all three candidates, and Clive's friends were so absorbed and excited in their endeavors that they did not notice the lack of enthusiasm which he suddenly displayed.

On the night before the election Mr. Broddy and Koshki addressed a meeting in the same part of the town in which Clive was speaking, and the designations, "traitor," "fraud,"

"sham friend of the people" were hurled with redoubled vindictiveness against Mr. Clive Harvey. Clive passed of the crowd which Koshki was addressing in the open air, and paused a moment to listen. Koshki, who was on his legs at the moment, caught sight of him and pointed a tremulous "dirty finger at him.

"Yesh; I tell Mr. Harvey to his face that he's a deceiver. Once a fraud and a traitor, my friends, always a fraud and a traitor. Let his friends, the aris-to-crats bevahr, or he's betray zem as he hash betrayed ush!"

There were groans and hisses, but Clive smiled—rather wearily—and passed on. It was not until he had got out of sound of the raucous voice that Koshki's words took to themselves a significance. Was the man not speaking the truth? Was not he, Clive, "betraying his friends," going to desert Lady Edith? The thought made him groan mentally.

The following day Lady Edith, accompanied by as many other ladies as the carriage would hold, drove from polling-station to polling-station, and was received everywhere with cheers which drowned the few ungallant hisses. Clive was busy, too, trying to persuade himself that he was keeping on the result, but knowing all the while that he did not care whether he lost or won.

In a scene of the wildest excitement, in an uproar which was quite like "old times," as Lord Chesterleigh said, the mayor stepped out on the balcony of the town hall and announced the poll. Mr. Clive Harvey had been elected with a majority of nearly five hundred, and was declared member for Brimsleigh.

Amid the cheers, the yells, the curses of the mob, Clive came forward to propose the usual vote of thanks to the mayor. Graham seconded it in a manly little speech; then Mr. Broddy's voice was heard in the midst of the mob, where he was surrounded by his friends.

"I declare that the election has been won by trickery!" he shouted hoarsely.

"Yesh!" cried Koshki. "By lies and trickery. But let Mishter Clive Harvey look out for himself. Our hour will come—and sooner than he thinks! I, Koshki, friend of the working man, tell him—"

The rest was drowned in the cheers and yells of the victorious party, which, when Clive appeared at the door of the hotel, proceeded as usual to carry him, at the risk of his life and limbs, on their shoulders to his committee-room.

Lady Edith and Lord Chesterleigh followed in the carriage; but it was not until they all met at the Grange that she could whisper her loving congratulations.

"I am so proud, dearest!" she said, as she leaned against him. "But I knew you would win. Is there anything in which you could fall?"

With a heavy, accusing heart, he laid his hand on her head; it was well that she could not see his face.

"I owe my success, in great measure, to you, Edith," he said.

CHAPTER XXVI.

For other various reasons, best known to themselves, the candidates, whether victorious or vanquished, always bolt from the place in which they have been fighting the day after the election, and Clive found it necessary to go to London on the day after the poll; he had promised to speak for a political friend who was still fighting one of the London districts. The Chesterleighs were to follow in a day or two.

When he arrived at his rooms, he found a pressing letter from the man who was yet in the throes of his candidanship, and Clive, welcoming the necessity for further work in which to absorb himself, made an apology for a dinner with a chop, and set out for the place of meeting. He had a hot time of it from friends and foes, and, declining his fellow politician's invitation to supper, walked through the warm and stuffy streets, wearily and sadly, brooding over the problem of his engagement.

And yet it had almost ceased to be a problem, for he felt that there was only one course open to him—the honest, straightforward one. He must tell Lady Edith the truth.

The meeting had been held in a hall in one of the back streets of Chelsea, and Clive found himself at the turning leading to Benson's Rents. It was natural enough that he should be drawn in the direction of the spot where he had experienced the happiest moments of his life; and he passed under the archway and walked toward the house in which Mina had lived.

As he did so, he heard a step behind him, and looking round—for he had learned that it was as well to keep an eye on your slum neighbor—he saw that it was Quilton.

"Why, Quilton!" he said.

Quilton nodded. "Congratulations—" he began; but Clive cut him short.

"What are you doing here?" he asked, then he checked himself with a sense of self-reproach; he had clean forgotten the woman Quilton had so kindly offered to befriend.

Quilton nodded again. "Yes," he said as if he had read Clive's mind. "She's very bad; sent for me."

"I'll go with you," said Clive.

Quilton stopped and gazed before him.

"Better not," he said.

"Why not? I shall not disturb her," rejoined Clive. "I am ashamed to say that I had nearly forgotten the poor creature. Yes; I'll go with you."

Quilton's face grew like a mask, and he was silent for a moment; then he said with an air of impassive resignation:

"Very well. I'm a little tired of playing at Fate; it's a foolish game and a losing one."

"I don't know what you mean," said Clive.

"Probably not; but you may presently. Come in."

They entered the house next the one in which the Burrells had lived, and Clive followed Quilton up the stairs. The door of one of the rooms was opened to them by a respectable, motherly old woman, to whom Quilton spoke a word or two.

"She's about the same, sir," said the woman. "I'm afraid she's sinking fast. Will you please to come in? She made me send for you, sir."

They went into the room and Clive saw the woman propped up with cushions in a chair. She was much emaciated, and looked, as the woman in charge had said, as if she were dying. For a moment or two the dark eyes gazed up at Quilton as if she did not recognize him, but suddenly she said, in a weak, hollow voice:

"You have come, Henry. I—I wanted to see you, to tell you that I am dying."

Quilton did not contradict her, but responded with a nod. She must have seen behind his mask, however, for she said, with a sigh:

"You've been very good to me—better than I deserve. Who is this?" she asked, turning her heavy eyes on Clive.

"A friend," said Quilton.

"Does he know?" she asked, not eagerly, but wearily, almost indifferently.

"Not yet," said Quilton. "You'd better tell him."

"Why?" she asked, with a sigh.

"You made me promise to keep the secret."

"Yes," said Quilton; "but I've changed my mind, so far as he is concerned. Shall I tell him, Juanita?"

She made a gesture of assent with her head, and Quilton, with a wooden countenance and almost as wooden a face, turned to Clive and, without a word of preparation, said:

"This is Lady Chesterleigh, Mr. Harvey."

Clive did not start; he scarcely felt surprised; why, he knew not. He received the information without a sign or a word.

"Lady Chesterleigh," said Quilton. "She is his first wife."

Then the ghastly significance of the statement began to dawn on Clive, and his face paled.

Quilton nodded, as if again he had read Clive's mind.

"Yes. His first wife—this lady—was alive when he married the second time," he said. "Of course he was ignorant of the fact. She left him in a moment of jealousy, quite unfounded and unreasonable jealousy and she contrived to have a report of her death conveyed to him. Why, you ask." He smiled grimly and glanced at the woman. "When jealousy turns love to hate—"

"I never loved him!" broke from the woman's white lips. "I married him for all he could give me, rank, money—"

"And she surrendered these as well as her husband," said Quilton gravely, unemotionally. "Somebody says jealousy is as strong as death; anyhow, it's stronger than self-interest and common sense." He paused a moment and then added, as if in explanation: "Lady Chesterleigh is Spanish. You know now why she was at Palace Gate and in Grosvenor Square. Why she did not publicly declare her rank and publicly demand her rights she knows better than I do."

"I was ashamed at times," said the woman. "At others I—I wanted revenge; but my courage always failed me; and now I know—he—she meant Quilton—has made it clear to me—that the fault was mine, and that I should be silent to the end. But for my child—but you will take care of her, Henry?" She broke off listlessly.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

MR. WARWICK SMITH'S VIEWS.

Mr. Smith objects, I take it, more to the Act than to Prohibition itself. And his objection is along the line that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor. He supported Local Option and I remember, a prominent part in that campaign. Now surely there can be no greater discrimination made between rich and poor than that which is made by the Local Option. Under Local Option anyone could import liquor for his private use. Now can one imagine the "poverty-stricken labourer" (Mr. Smith's words) importing his bottle, sending away his money and paying express charges and duty on it here? Can one imagine for a moment that anything else would happen but that the rich man would import his barrel and enjoy his whiskey while the poor man would do without it? Local Option is the very essence of favouritism and would do more to separate the rich and the poor than anything. Now Mr. Smith can hardly follow his argument out without disavowing his belief in Local Option.

As to the over-rated value Mr. Smith puts on whiskey as a household and life-saving remedy, I am quite assured, and I think he is too, that for every death that will occur after Prohibition for the lack of whiskey, there are fifty deaths every year now because of whiskey. I can safely leave it to anyone to judge if we are better with whiskey or without it. Nor do I think that liquor is kept in households as universally as Mr. Smith would lead us to think. There are the ancient and effective remedies of our grandmothers that hold the supreme place in many a home, and it is out of the question to believe that even the majority of homes in our outports have a "bottle" in cases of emergency.

Mr. Smith is troubled at the thought that a man with money will perhaps get in an extra stock of whiskey next year. I should say that, if it were possible, no gentleman would do it. Certainly no gentleman with any principle would venture to put it on his table for any length of time after the importation of liquor ceases. And after all, there will still be opportunity for further legislation when the House opens next year. There are loopholes which exist now in the Act can be, and will be, effectually stopped, especially when such a public opinion will be behind Prohibition as will register their votes on November 4th.

The intention of the Act is to give a year to the liquor dealers to sell out or prepare themselves for new occupations. The fact that some licenses are being given up this year shows that there are some dealers who do not look forward to big sales in 1916.

THE POOR HAVE EVERYTHING TO GAIN.

I am sorry if Mr. Warwick Smith thinks that he is helping the poor man by his attitude, for I fear that it is very much the other way and that he is really putting a stumbling block in this brother's path. Prohibition will bring men on better terms with the world than they have ever been. Savings Banks' deposits have unfailing followed Prohibition in every land, and the great gap which now separates rich and poor will be far smaller, and a whole host of homes that are prohibited now from buying partice or fruit will be able to enjoy these dishes which are now only enjoyed by the rich. Of the many prohibitions that the poor have to suffer because of money, liquor causes them the least sacrifice.

MR. BLACKALL'S PROTEST.

No doubt Mr. Blackall saw the exercises which have been given to the children in some schools lately. And it is the line which they have to copy neatly at home and incidentally show their father: "Dear Father, Please vote for Prohibition for my sake."

Who could resist such an appeal?

And more than anyone else, Prohibition will do the next generation a good turn, and I say more power to the elbow of the person who first wrote the line for the copybook.

THE RELIGION OF PROHIBITION.

The word Religion stands for one of the most beautiful and simple things in the world, and yet how "dented and battered" it is with hard usage! How clouded is it with the world's affairs and made dreary rather than joyful! If anyone tried his best to shake religion free of its wrappings it was Christ. He aimed at bringing it within the reach of the humblest and simplest souls. He preached that a man should keep out of his life all that insults and hurts the interests of others as dear as he holds his own. And if this simple teaching of "God and my neighbour" had continued its way like a stream of clear water, refreshing thirsty souls and making religion a joy, there would have been no necessity of making laws to clean the dirt from our lives today.

But Christianity exerted such a powerful influence that the world was challenged, its strongholds were shaken and in return the world resolved upon the capture of Christianity; and how sadly it has succeeded can be learned from the pages of history, and even to-day most forcibly of all when we find ourselves engaged in the greatest and bloodiest war of all times.

Not that Christianity has failed nor given up the fight. Like the little leaven which will leaven the whole lump, the true simple religion is a vast force in the world and survives its capture in virtue of its truth and beauty. And the overbearing injustice, the rottenness, and the things that injure, of the world have brought forth anew the ideals of service and help better righted, and who saw no hope of release from evil till the evil was uprooted and destroyed.

But yet as a Christian world we have come short of one thing in comparison with Mohammedanism and Hinduism in relation to the great world evil—Alcohol. Both these religions have commanded the disuse of intoxicating liquors. And will Newfoundland have to blush before such rivals and own itself incapable to do better? I think that false faiths have done! As Canon Smith truly says, "God works through the instrumentality of man," and if Prohibition forcibly prevents a man from indulging in liquor, it only makes him sober, and a better man than he ever was under the influence of liquor, and brings him in the proper state for the Church to take hold and lead his mind in the channels in which it thinks his mind should go.

Prohibition, to my mind, holds the essence of true religion when it means the casting out from our community that which is not only of no value but which is positively harmful to so many.

Every day there are prayers going up for the success of Prohibition. I question very much if there is one prayer for the defeat of Prohibition.

MR. BLACKALL'S PROTEST.

No doubt Mr. Blackall saw the exercises which have been given to the children in some schools lately. And it is the line which they have to copy neatly at home and incidentally show their father: "Dear Father, Please vote for Prohibition for my sake."

Who could resist such an appeal?

And more than anyone else, Prohibition will do the next generation a good turn, and I say more power to the elbow of the person who first wrote the line for the copybook.

Water.

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Water was first discovered and investigated by Noah, who succeeded in living on it for forty days.

Most men admire Noah for his bravery, but very few have any desire to break his record.

Water is one of our most useful and necessary possessions. Without it the earth would be a desert and worthless, stocks would only yield a beggarly six or eight per cent, and mankind would curl up and die. A great many men avoid water and try to get along with a substitute which they claim is just as good. But their widows and creditors seldom speak of the experiment as a success.

There is an unlimited supply of water on the planet, but most of it is badly seasoned and is unfit for drinking purposes. There are five great oceans containing 150,000,000 square miles of water and surrounded by 200,000 miles of sea beach, giving room for 2,000,000,000 bathers at one time. And yet a great many people in this world are no cleaner than they should be.

Water is very thin and transparent, except in the Chicago and Missouri Rivers. It is very restless, and is continually climbing up into the sky and falling down on baseball games and picnics in the summer, and on new millinery in all seasons. Water is very gregarious, and loves to collect in ponds, rivers, lakes, gulfs, oceans and corporations. It is very unstable, and the man who tries to wander around in it without a life preserver soon sinks and dies from swallowing too much of it. Too much water is just as fatal as too little.

Water is useful for running steam engines, making soft drinks, soaking soiled citizens, increasing the supply of milk, putting out fires, making Baptists and insulating Americans from kings and dukes and Waldorf Astors. Among the most noted collections of water in the world are the Great Lakes, which are 1,000 miles long over all and entirely drinkable; the Mississippi River, the father of waters; the Amazon River, the greatest female river in the world; the Great Salt Lake, the Dead Sea and Wall Street. Niagara Falls and the Old Faithful geyser are the two most athletic bodies of water. The most industrious water is the Colorado River, which has burrowed its way 6,000 feet into the ribs of the earth. The most imposed upon water is the Chicago River, which was turned around, loaded full of sewage and made to run backward. The most restless water is the Missouri River, which changes its bed every night. The most neglected water is found in Kentucky, where it is not used for anything but storing catfish. And the most over-advertised water in the world is Minnehaha Falls, which only fall when a stout man in overalls turns on a spigot and begins to pump.

Girls! Have Wavy, Thick, Glossy Hair Free From Dandruff

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments—try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderrine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fatten, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderrine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderrine. It eventually—why not now?

A Chilling Prospect.

New-York World:—The reasons why Greece cannot easily side against the sea-power allies are something more than her poverty, her coast line and her tide-washed cities. Since the dawn of history Greeks have been sailors. Their merchant fleet before the war was equal to Spain's, and more than half Russia's. Only thirty-fourth of the nations in commerce, Greece was twelfth in the carrying trade, and is now ninth or better. The prospect of killing her shipping at one blow might chill as stout a heart as Constantine's.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS
 As a rule, indigestion in the nursing mother is caused by such foods as heavy puddings or underdone pastry, doughnuts, fried foods soaked in fats, made dishes such as croquettes or fritters, pickles, mince-meat, baked beans, pork and cabbage, and other heavy or poorly cooked foods. But people differ greatly in their power of digestion, and what will suit one person may upset the next. Overeating may also be a cause of indigestion.
 A mixed diet of such digestible and nutritious foods as are readily available, is desirable for the nursing mother. All foods are milk making foods. The foods selected will differ widely according to circumstances, but will usually include poultry and fish, ripe fruits, meats, puddings and fish, with oysters and the like, eggs, milk, cheese, farinaceous foods of all kinds, breads especially graham, whole wheat, corn meal, bran and simple desserts.

Prussia Cannot Stand the Strain.

The announcement made by Mr. Lloyd George, acting Premier, that Britain would not think of entering into any peace negotiations except in common with our Allies, according to the agreement made, and the publication of Japan's intention to abide by that agreement, give assurance the Entente Allies will not sheath the sword until the Liberty of the World is assured, and Prussia is prevented from menacing the future of civilization for generations to come. We are in the fight now, and it is our duty to see that the fight is finished, and not to bequeath to our children a war between Germany and Britain. A few days ago we pointed out that the Kingdom of Prussia was the dominating power in the Central Empires, and that when Prussia was too weak to carry on the war, the war would be won. There are strong proofs to hand that Prussia cannot stand another twelve months of casualties at the rate she has been sustaining them. Her population is not two-thirds of the population of the white population of the British Empire, and her casualties are four times as great. Mr. Frederick Hertz, in a recent talk on "Socialized Germany" says "Prussia rules Germany. And Prussia in turn is ruled by the old feudal aristocracy, by the Junkers, or great estate owners." The poorer classes have only a semblance of voice in the Government of Prussia. The richest income tax payers forming 3 to 4 per cent. of electors choose one-third of the members of parliament; the next class of income tax payers, from 10 to 12 per cent. elect another third, and about 85 per cent. of the votes elect the remaining third, or would if they were allowed to vote according to conviction and not controlled by the open ballot by the rich landowner and employer. By the three-class system of voting, the open ballot, the unequal distribution of seats, the Junkers rule Prussia and through Prussia the Empire, as Prussia has 235 members out of 397 in the Reichstag or popular chamber. The Junker also officers the army and fills the higher civil service. It is clear that when Prussia is unable to continue longer as the driving force in the war, the power of the Junker will fall, and the collapse of militarism, the pet doctrine of the Junker, will come. The enormous losses, as well as the failures of Hindenburg's offensive in the East, are all exhausting the strength of Prussia. A kingdom with only 10,000,000 males between the ages of 17 and 55, to work the munition factories, farm the land, run the railways and provide for war losses, is in a bad way to continue the war after sustaining 2,000,000 casualties in 14 months. She cannot continue the struggle for another twelve months without sapping her strength to the point of exhaustion. Great Britain and her allies can stand the strain, Germany and her allies cannot. Therein lies our assurance of Victory and Freedom.

Amusements.

AT THE CRESCENT.
The great detective drama: "Following a Clue" that the Crescent Picture Palace is showing to-day is a very thrilling and exciting feature produced in two reels by the Kalem Company. Lilian Walker is featured in "Peggy of Fifth Avenue," a splendid Vitagraph melo-drama. G. M. Anderson is seen in one of his best roles in "Broncho Billy's Revenge"; and a very funny comedy is "Flirtatious Lizzie." Mr. Dan Delmar sings a comic song. Good music and effects accompany the pictures and altogether this is a great show. Make a note of "Aurora Floyd" the two reel spectacular drama the Crescent shows on Monday.

FAREWELL SONGS OF HARMONY DUO.

A charming programme was given at the Nickel Theatre yesterday and it delighted the hundreds of ladies and gentlemen who were present. The programme will be repeated this evening and is sure to be largely attended. The popular Harmony Duo, Messrs. Huskins and Cairns, farewell this evening. They have made hosts of friends here because of the excellence of their work and their eagerness at all times to help on charitable and patriotic work. We wish them every success and hope to see them again.

BRITISH THEATRE.

Few photo-plays have received more favourable comment than the three reel feature: "The Heart of Lincoln." It is a truly magnificent production, an episode in the great "man's" life. The part of "Honest Abe"—(as his countrymen dearly love to call him) is most admirably played by Francis Ford. His impersonation is perfection itself. J. Warren Kerrigan (another famous "star") does some excellent work in the two reel drama entitled: "Terence O'Rourke", whilst the comedy is very amusing. Miss Ruth Emblem sang delightfully. On Monday in addition to the "Trey O'Hearts" and other features the British Theatre four piece orchestra will make its bow to St. John's audiences under the capable leadership of Mr. A. H. Allen so that all music lovers may confidently look forward to an unqualified treat. They will play everything "From Grand Opera to Ragtime."

ATLANTIS, FISK AND JACK TO PLEASE THE CHILDREN.

The children will have a great time at Rossley's to-day at the matinee for the marvelous Atlantis and Donald Fisk have a special act for them, a dream of beauty with some wonderful electrical effects. Mr. Rossley when in New York booked the greatest Irish act ever seen. Those artists are singers, dancers and comedy sketch people who have dozens of changes. The costumes will delight the ladies, they are beautiful. They will arrive by the next Florizel. The contest last night was a great success. Mr. Powell got first prize and Mr. Frank O'Mally got second. The crowd certainly got their moneys worth as they always do at this popular theatre. Send the youngsters to-day to the matinee they will enjoy a good show the same as the big people. Look out for the big attractions next week, the farwell week of the greatest act ever seen at Rossley's Theatre.

Wandsworth Hospital.

Where Some of Our Boys are Nursed. As some of the soldiers of the Nfld. Regiment reported wounded in the casualty lists recently received from the Dardanelles, are now being treated at Wandsworth Hospital, a few facts concerning this institution will, we feel sure be of interest. Wandsworth is, as many of our readers are aware, one of the thirty Parliamentary boroughs of London. It is situated in the county of Surrey, has a population of 31,402, and is a great manufacturing centre. The hospital which has suddenly become of interest to Newfoundlanders, was previous to the war an industrial school for the children of soldiers and sailors. Closely associated with this great institution is the name of Mr. Howard Williams, son of the late Sir George Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian Association. If we may be permitted this digression, we may say that the nucleus of this organization in London, consisted of some twelve young men called together by Sir George and whose meeting place was a little room in the founder's home. Mr. Howard Williams the founder of the school and since the opening of the hospital he has been untiring in his efforts for the comfort of the 1500 soldiers who are quartered there. Soldiers from all parts of the Empire are nursed by competent staff, and those of the wounded who are able to get about the grounds are regularly treated to open air concerts and garden parties, personally promoted by Mr. Williams. A photograph of one of these events which we have been privileged to show shows Mr. Williams in the service of the Empire. In invalid chairs and propped up by their less wounded comrades they listen with delight to the successes of their brothers at their appreciation of a visit from Mr. Williams.

Spacious Grounds.

The grounds of the institution are spacious and in addition to the hospital there are some fifty or sixty huts, which have been erected since the war. Early in September a very successful garden party was given in the grounds by Mr. Williams, and was attended by a lady of this city who has shown us several excellent photographs of the grounds.

Newfoundlanders There.

What has made Wandsworth of such interest to just now is the fact that at least three of our boys, Privates Frederick England, of Long's Hill, this city; Herbert Stephen Heat-er, of Harbour Grace; and Heber John Miles, of Bonavista. A cable received in the city on Thursday from Mr. Williams states that all three are doing well, that they are well cared for by Mr. Williams we are quite confident, as he well knows the needs of a wounded soldier. He has given two sons to the service of the Empire, one aged 19 and the other 21 years, and who are now on active service at the Dardanelles.

Musgrave Harbour, Ladle Cove, Indian Island, Seldom-Come-By, Barr'd Island, Change Islands.

A vigorous campaign by a great energetic public speaker has just been gone through in these settlements and his reports for an assured victory for the cause in each of these places. King Alcohol has heard argument—not merely dry logic but argument with sympathy and pathos in it such as will burn its way to the human heart. And we believe the old hard-hearted, defiant King got that kind of argument from the enthusiastic gentleman who gave a rousing speech in Change Islands just a few nights ago.

Rose Blanche, Good For You!
Well done, Rose Blanche! You are falling into line with Belleoram and helping to swell the vote to save the country from the ravages of strong drink. "Who would be free themselves must strike the blow." Well done, St. Jacques, we greet with our warmest congratulations on your prospective success.

Belleoram and St. Jacques.
Grand work is being done and the people are lining up for victory. A committee has been organized and meetings held, and ninety per cent. of the voters are already prepared to proclaim by their ballots that they will strike a blow with the other districts to rid this country of a licensed liquor traffic.

Shoal Harbour and Clarendville.

Both these places are intensely interested in the Prohibition Campaign and they rejoice in the prospect of having the cause of strong drink put out of the reach of the young people. They will mark their ballots for Prohibition.

Greenspond.

A good work is being done in this neighbourhood and requests from there will be duly attended to. The feeling here is all right for Prohibition. The most active and interested men of all classes are engaged in this work in St. John's, and the outport friends can rest assured that nothing that they can do will be left undone.

Shearston's Hopeful Report.

A very hopeful report of the Prohibition Campaign comes from Shearston. Good earnest workers are canvassing the district and very bright hopes of success are entertained.

Cat Harbour.

This place is fully organized for the work and temperance meetings are being held all over the settlement. Prospects are very encouraging.

Hillview.

A most interesting review comes from Hillview, which is at the head of the South West Arm of Random. All the settlements of Random, including Random Island, are practically alive to the issue of the great struggle for freedom from the curse of a licensed liquor traffic.

Lewisporte.

At Lewisporte a public meeting is arranged for and a growing sentiment in favor of Prohibition prevails. Let everybody work with all their might against the universal curse of the ages and the victory will be won. Banneed, Ship Cove and Freshwater. At the above places successful meetings have been held by clergymen and others who report very favourably for the Prohibition cause. Let no one be lulled into a false sense of security, this is a fight for the general good of the country. It is a fight for right and right must triumph.

Alexander Bay, Sound Island and Bonne Bay.

In these places three clergymen are at the front, and prospects for a large majority vote are very encouraging.

Newtown.

The sentiment here is running high for Prohibition. This certainly speaks well for a people who are determined to cut off even the possibility of evil from such an insidious enemy.

Campbellton and Bay Bulls Arm.

The people in these places favor Prohibition and will help to roll up the vote on Polling Day for a majority that will mean a death blow to the traffic in Strong Drink.

Norman's Cove.

This place is very favourable to Prohibition and in organization for campaign it is united with the New Harbour Committee. A good vote will be polled in these settlements.

Bryant's Cove on the Right Track.

Well done, Bryant's Cove. It is a good sign when you are showing a thirst for an increased supply of literature. Surely, in union with the moral heroes of Lower Island Cove, you will do valiant work on the shores of your noble bay in employing all your energies to crush out the enemy that has been crushing the homes, the comforts, and even the lives out of your fellow mortals all through your past history.

Cupids and Burnt Head.

Prohibition has a good show right along through these settlements. The people rightly appreciate the evil it inflicts on those who indulge in its use and are working for the benefit of all classes to stop it from coming into this colony.

Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.—Prov. 20 and 1.

Harbor Breton and Garnish.

These places are favourable to a Prohibition law, and the latter place is co-operating with another settlement in the effort to bring that law into operation.

Red Island.

This place will help on the cause for Prohibition.

Recontre.

The leading men in this settlement are interested in the Prohibition campaign and will do their best to bring it to a successful issue.

HUMILITY.
Don't let your head swell up too greatly; don't let your stride be too big. For, though you rank with high class peaches, some other pebbles line the beach. If into fame you think you're butting, be modest still, and do no strutting; whatever line of work you follow, some other chaps can beat you hollow. Perhaps you're writing fine romances, whose sale to figures huge advances; but when the pride within you quickens, remember Bulwer, Scott and Dickens; their fame will live till worlds grow hoary, and perished is your juncrow glory. Perhaps you're painting class pictures, which have received more praise than strictures, and you bulge out your chest and chortle, and think you're surely an immortal. But all your works are mere disasters, compared with chronos by the masters. Whatever craft you are pursuing, whatever fancy stunt you're doing, it is becoming to be modest, for when your fame is at its broadest, it still looks cheap to men surrounding, beside great names, down ages sounding. No human being should envelope himself with majesty, and swell up, as though he had a halo o'er him—for greater men have gone before him.

The Good Genius of the Sick Room.
A Gas fire, always a desirable installation, never proves its worth more than in cases of illness, for an invalid may need a fire at any season of the year. A coal fire makes dirt and dust and needs repeated attention, and the noise and clatter that the least stoking operation renders inevitable is at once an annoyance and a possible danger to the patient. Gas fires are clean and noiseless, and when once alight will burn for an indefinite period without supervision of any kind, and it is now the common practice of medical men, especially when the illness is likely to be lengthy, to recommend a gas fire in the sick room.
When children are convalescent but still confined to one room, it is highly necessary, if the much-dreaded chill is to be avoided, to keep its temperature at a steady level. This is impossible where coal is the fuel, but a gas fire can be so easily and accurately regulated that the required degree of warmth can be obtained without difficulty.

THE FRENCH COALITION CABINET

PARIS, To-day. The New French Cabinet, headed by Aristide Briand as Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, came into existence to-day. This is the first time in the history of the French Republic that there is a coalition ministry of all opposing parties and factions. It follows closely on the recent innovation of forming a British coalition Cabinet of Conservatives and Liberals.

ADVOCATES WHITELOCK'S DISMISSAL

LONDON, To-day. The Vossische Zeitung, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraphs Co. from Amsterdam, challenges the German Government to ask Washington to recall the American Minister at Brussels, Brand Whitlock. The recent Cavell case, says the Vossische Zeitung, must be utilized as an occasion to put an end to Whitlock's activities, he being the Minister accredited to the present seat of the Belgian Government and not to Brussels. If America desires a representative in Brussels she must send someone agreeable to the German Government.

HINDENBURG SHORT OF AMMUNITION. LONDON, To-day. The failure of the Germans to take Dvinsk and Riga is attributed, according to a Reuter despatch from that city, not only to the difficult nature of the heavily wooded country which prohibits mass movements of troops, but to German shortage of ammunition which it says is becoming critical.

GERMANS LURED TO DESTRUCTION

LONDON, To-day. Accounts have reached here, says a Reuter despatch from Petrograd, of a spectacular fight on the Island of Dalon on the Dvina River, a few miles S.E. of Riga, whither the Russians lured the Germans, allowing them to install themselves before beginning the bombardment from both sides. Spectators from Riga who witnessed the cannonade from a bridge across the Dvina saw the river choked with German corpses, floating down the stream. It is stated the German forces have been almost entirely wiped out.

THE KING'S ACCIDENT

LONDON, To-day. A Reuter despatch from the British headquarters, describing the accident to the King, says he had just inspected a corps and was on his way to inspect another, when cheers from the troops who threw their caps in the air caused his horse to rear. The King managed to regain control of his horse which, however, reared again and fell over backwards throwing the King to the ground. He was immediately assisted to a motor car. While driving away he was able to return the salutes of the troops as he sat in a corner of the car. That the King was not seriously injured was doubtless due to the fact that he is very much at home in the saddle and is considered more than an ordinary rider, being quite as good as the average mounted officer in the army. When at Windsor he rides every day, even when he is in London he often is seen in the early morning riding in Hyde Park with Princess Mary. The King's horses, of course, are well trained. They are accustomed to music, firing, cheering. The troop horse which he was riding yesterday was said to have been put through a special course of training for review and had already gone through one trial yesterday morning. The great outburst of cheering and the appearance of thousands of waving caps were too much for the animal on the second occasion. Heavy rain falling and the slippery condition of the road made it more difficult to control the horse which apparently lost its footing when it reared a second time.

GENERAL JOFFRE ATTENDS WAR COUNCIL IN LONDON

LONDON, To-day. General Joffre attended a conference at Downing Street, at which were present Asquith, Earl Kitchener, Lord Balfour, Lloyd George and several British and French officers.

THE LONDON BUDGET

LONDON, To-day. The Germans with their Austrian and Bulgarian allies are still making an attempt to cut off the retreat of the main Serbian army, which is offering a spirited resistance to the invaders. While Von Mackensen's force advanced slowly from the north, the Austrians have crossed the western border of Serbia south of Visegrad, moving eastward and the Bulgarians are marching westward on a wide front from Pirot which lies southeast of Nish to Zajecar to the northeast of Nish. It is a long way across country, difficult to traverse, but the Serbians are as long as possible as their great arsenal at Kraguyevatz is situated in this area. They will hold on with the hope of making an eventual retirement to the mountains along the Montenegrin frontier in that country to the forest. The Austrians are attacking Montenegro, but as the Montenegrins under their veteran fighting King have had a long time to prepare for such an event and thus far have beat off all attempts to throw them back. In fact the Montenegrins hold some strong positions in Austrian territory, out of which they will have to be driven before their own country is invaded. There is no change in the southern arena of Serbia. So far as is known, the report that Uskup had been recaptured, is not confirmed. The French claim to have cleared the Bulgarians out of the Velez district. This, if true, would render Uskup an unsafe place for invasion, is the opinion of military men. In what other way Serbia is to be assisted has not yet been disclosed. Some British troops are co-operating with the French in the south; others are on the way, but where they will be used remains a secret. Russian plans have not yet been disclosed, though from German sources it is reported Rumania is about to throw in her lot with the Entente Allies and will allow the passage of half a million Russian troops through her territory to attack Bulgaria from the north. Greece has assured the Entente Powers of her neutrality and remains friendly with them. She has pointed out that she has already given them assistance in permitting them to land troops at Salonika. On the other fronts there is little or no change in the situation.

In the west artillery engagements remain the chief method of warfare, although there has been some trench fighting. In the east a battle is still raging around Riga and Dvinsk, which for nearly two months Von Hindenburg has been endeavoring to reach first from one point then from another. During the past week the Germans poured a perfect rain of shells on Russian positions along a front 150 miles from the mouth of Dvina to Dvinsk. Although the Russians are falling back a little to the north they have generally held firm and returned shot for shot, which is taken here to indicate that their supply of ammunition is now satisfactory. Through the lake district between Dvinsk and Seventyany the Russians are steadily advancing making a near approach to the Vilna-Dvinsk railway. In the south they also continue harrying the Austro-Germans by frequent thrusts. Emperor Nicholas and his son are now visiting General Savanoff in this region as the Germans are reported to have sent General Von Linsingen's army from this region to the Rumanian frontier to guard against a Rumanian attack from Von Mackensen's forces in Serbia. Important events are looked for along the Stry and Galicia. General Joffre has arrived in England. He had a long conference with Earl Kitchener to-day and visited other ministers.

ADVANCED 20 MILES INTO BULGARIAN TERRITORY

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Athens says: It is learned from a good source that the French, after a three days' fight, have occupied Strumitza and advanced 22 kilometers (about 20 miles) into Bulgarian territory. The Bulgarians lost heavily.

DINNER IN HONOR OF JOFFRE

LONDON, To-day. Earl Kitchener gave a dinner at St. James' Palace last night in honor of General Joffre. A distinguished company was present to meet the French Commander-in-Chief.

POPE MADE REPRESENTATION TO AUSTRIA

ROME, To-day. The Corriere d'Italia says that Pope

Benedict made representations to the Austrian Government as a result of the recent air raid over Venice. The newspaper adds that the Pope after the first bombardment of the Italian coast towns expressed a strong desire to Emperor Francis Joseph that undefended cities with rich treasures of art should be spared such attacks.

LONDON, To-day. With the endorsement of two experienced members of its staff yesterday, the Bank of Montreal, London, now has fifty per cent. of its staff with the colors, though numerous temporary accounts of Canadian soldiers are involving great demand on West End Branch.

LAUREL WREATHS TO BE PLACED ON GRAVES.

LONDON, To-day. Laurel wreaths to be placed on the graves of British soldiers in Perce Lachaise and other Paris cemeteries by the British community on Ave of All Saints Day. The Canadian graves at Versailles will be honored in the same manner.

RECAPTURED VELES KOPRULI.

LONDON, To-day. The Bulgarians recaptured Veles Kopruli from Serbia, according to an Athens correspondent to the Times. Veles is 25 miles southeast of Uskup and is on the road line between Uskup and Salonika.

WILL PUT QUARTER OF A MILLION MEN IN FIELD.

OTTAWA, To-day. Canada is going to put a quarter of a million men in the field. This decision officially was reached by a Cabinet council this afternoon and was announced by Borden to-night. It is Canada's response to the call for more men issued by the King, and means an enlistment of one hundred thousand extra soldiers.

SERIOUS DAMAGE BY BOMBARDMENT.

SOFIA, To-day. The damage done by the bombardment of Aegean Sea towns and villages by the Allies recently was greater than at first reported. One-fourth of the entire city of Dedagatch was razed by shells from the warships.

MONTENEGRIANS ACTIVE.

ROME, To-day. A despatch to the Tribune from Soutari, Albania, says that near Vicerod the Montenegrins stormed the enemy's position near Sussagord, which commands the whole region, and established themselves firmly. They inflicted heavy loss on the enemy and took many prisoners.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

LONDON, To-day. The total British casualties in October, computed from the War Office lists which have been published daily during the month were 3,110 officers and 71,187 non-commissioned officers and men. The recruiting advertisement in the London Standard, that thirty thousand men weekly are desired to fill up the ranks to meet new requirements.

HEAVY BOMBARDMENT IN GALLI-POLI.

CONSTANTINOPLE, To-day. The Turkish War Office last night announced that a terrific bombardment by the Allies on the Gallipoli Peninsula had caused in certain trenches on the Turkish left wing. An official statement says that heavy bombardment by enemy at other points assisted by two monitors accomplished no results.

GERMANY TRYING TO BRIBE ROUMANIA.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Morning Post from Bern says word comes from Berlin that Germany is making a bid for Rumanian support by offering her a loan on condition of her marching against Bessarabia with a guarantee to her of this Russian province if she succeeds in conquering it.

NO BACKING DOWN BY FRANCE.

LONDON, To-day. The Times to-day publishes the following statement from Premier Briand, head of the new French Cabinet: "I desire to declare emphatically to our allies as well as our enemies, that the change in the Ministry is in no way a change of French policy."

GREAT COALITION GOVERNMENT.

PARIS, To-day. The new French Cabinet was greeted by the Press of Paris with sympathy and encouragement. The chief note in the editorial comment is demand for a prompt decisive Government which governs independently of party considerations and solely with a view to victory.

TWENTY GERMAN SHIPS.

LONDON, To-day. The Liverpool Post publishes a list of twenty German ships, aggregating more than 38,000 tonnage, sunk by British submarines in the Baltic between October 11 and 23.

"GERMANY IS BEATEN."

NEW YORK, To-day. A cable to the Tribune from London says the New York Tribune's editorial on "Germany is Beaten" has been cabled here at great length and is given considerable prominence in London papers. The Daily News says it has always been extraordinarily difficult ever since war began for people in this country to obtain clear view of the course of struggle as it presents itself to the impartial judgment of neutrals. With one phase of neutral opinion the British public soon first has been kept very fully informed. It is represented admirably in the extremely able and cogent article which has just appeared in the New York Tribune. The Daily Express says we are unable to accept the optimistic conclusion of the New York Tribune that Germany is already beaten. We have had too much of the skill and determination of the enemy to allow ourselves again to believe the comfortable illusion. Nevertheless we may go so far as to say that their increasing assurance that Germany will assuredly be beaten unless we continue to blunder or fail in our purpose.

116 MILES AN HOUR.

NEW YORK, To-day. What is said to be the fastest speed ever made on a track, was attained here yesterday over Sheep's Head Bay speed-way, when Ralph Le Palma drove his car one lap in one minute two and four-tenths seconds an average of about one hundred and sixteen miles an hour. This eclipses the best American record of an average of 111 miles made by Barney Oldfield at Chicago.

NATIONALIST GET THREE MONTHS.

JOHANNESBURG, To-day. The jury in the case brought by Botha against a Nationalist candidate at the recent election, named Mankix, rendered a verdict against the defendant to-day. He was sentenced to imprisonment for three months. The case is appealed.

From the Firing Line.

By the English mail that reached the city to-day many letters were received from members of the Newfoundland Expeditionary Force, now in the Dardanelles. At the time of writing our soldiers say that they are getting used to rifle and shell fire. One prominent member of "Ours" says he has just come out of the trenches where he was for 48 hours of a stretch; he also says that he was in the same trench as Lieut. Jack Baird, nephew of Mr. Hugh Baird, and since reported wounded.

Mr. F. J. Morris, K.C., received to-day field cards, dated September 25th, from Captain George Carter and Lieut. Shortall. They were then in the firing line, and said all was well, and everything good.

Private W. A. Bastow, of the 1st Nfld. Regiment, recently reported wounded, who is in Tigne Port Hospital, Malta, writing to his parents says: "I suppose you think I have forgotten you and I should have written before. I neglected it, but I'll never too late to do good. I will tell you what happened to me. We left Larnoo on Sept. 24th for Gallipoli Peninsula. We landed in the night and you could hear the roaring of the sea. Then we got in our dugout for the night and in the morning everybody moved about. With dawn came the shells. I didn't mind that. I only laughed till I got wounded and then my laughing stopped. What struck me I don't know. I was stooped down in my dugout when I was hit in the back. Now I am in hospital in Malta. I am doing fine and there is no need for you to worry about me. I will soon be alright again. How are things at home, and is father's eyes better yet? How did you enjoy the summer and did you get any news of the boys at the front yet. I am sorry I am not with them, but I suppose it's the Lord's will that I'm here. God was good to me when I was suffering. I found in Him a friend. He had eased my pain. I hope to hear from you soon. God be with you till we meet again."

Mr. M. A. Shea received a letter to-day from his brother, Edward, of our Regiment, who was recently wounded in the thigh. He says he is in the General Hospital at Alexandria, and is recovering. The billet has been removed from his thigh.

Mr. Bert Taylor, of the 1st Nfld. Co.'s Claims Department, is in receipt of a field service post card, dated Sept. 23rd, from Private William F. Dalton, of the Newfoundland Regiment. "Willie" was employed in the Passenger Office previous to enlisting and left here with C Company.

On Half the Evidence.

By RUTH CAMERON.

In one of the current magazines I read recently an anecdote of a newly-appointed judge who owes his preference to political influence rather than a judicial training. The plaintiff had made a masterly resume of his case. "I find for the plaintiff," said the judge, vastly impressed by the harangue he had listened to. The attorney for the defendant was on his feet in an instant. "Don't I get opportunity to present my case?" he demanded. "Well—you can if you want to," said the judge, grudgingly. And the judge reversed his decision. The attorney for the defendant rose to the emergency. When he finished the judge, with wonder written on his face, grudgingly. "Don't it beat all—the defendant wins after all!" It is very funny, of course. But it reminded me of another incident in which the propensity of the average individual to act as judge on any and every occasion, and render verdicts as did the judge on half the evidence or less, is illustrated.

A woman who, I am sure, considers herself fair-minded and impartial, came out on the car the other evening during the rush hour. Across from her sat a man, the husband of a woman with whom she was slightly acquainted. There were many women standing. The verdict she rendered was instantaneous. The man sat while women stood, therefore he was no gentleman. She told of the occurrence to other people. Eventually a woman who knew the man personally heard of the occurrence.

"Why, he was just out of the hospital," she exclaimed, indignantly. "He went into the office that afternoon against his wife's wishes, and he was so done up when he reached home that he just had strength enough to flop into bed."

But the decision was reversed.

"Don't it beat all?" verdict for the defendant.

How many times have you made some little blunder that you felt no one would blame you for if they had all the facts at hand? How many times have you, smarting under the sense of being judged simply by appearances, which were against you, wondered why people couldn't be more fair-minded?

And—how many times have you judged other people in similar cases?

The Biblical injunction, "Judge not that ye be not judged," is aimed at one of the cardinal sins. Few indeed can resist the temptation, the automatic temptation to render judgment upon his neighbours. And over and over again the average man, impressed by the evidence so far presented, finds for the plaintiff when, if the defendant had had a hearing, judgment would be reversed. "Don't it beat all?"

Canadians in Active Service.

The total number of men on active service enlisted in Canada since the outbreak of the war was at the end of September 160,698. By the present time this number is probably up to 164,000, which would mean the enlistment of the full number so far authorized for the Canadian expeditionary forces.

In the total above given 12,831 are classed as being on service in Canada as guards, etc., while the permanent force in Canada is estimated at 2,574. Eliminating these, as being employed practically for home defence in Canada, there are left about 150,000 men for expeditionary purposes. There have been already sent overseas approximately 85,000 men, while in the West Indies there are now another 1,000 at Bermuda and at St. Lucia. The number of troops now in training in Canada and available for a third Canadian division at the front or for reinforcement purposes, totals approximately 53,000.

The figures given are based on telegrams from the several officers commanding the various divisions and districts and the Camp Commandant at Valcartier, as sent to the Militia Department on Sept. 30. Up to the present, therefore, Canada has enlisted just about 2 per cent. of the total population for active service. It is believed that another 50,000 men can be easily raised as soon as the War Office intimates the need of any. Provision has been made for providing the men with rifles, uniforms and other equipment.

In detail the number of men training in Canada on Sept. 30, included: 4,246, of all ranks at the London camp, 12,634 at the Niagara camp, 3,246 at Barrfield, 1,814 at Ottawa, 872 at Montreal, 6,365 at Valcartier, 2,985 in the Maritime Provinces, 7,148 at Camp Hughes (Sewell, Man.), 1,116 at Port Arthur, 747 at Brandon, 801 at Winnipeg, 337 at Saskatoon, 112 at Prince Albert, 4,480 at Vernon Camp, 1,879 at Vancouver and Victoria, 6,464 at Calgary and 1,586 en route overseas. The first contingent and reinforcements total 36,195, and the second contingent and reinforcements 48,485.

The total number of troops in camp in Canada at the end of the month is given as 59,539, while the total number of troops in cities or other training centres was 7,395. The figures given above for the first and second contingents include, of course, the 12,000 odd men whose names have appeared in the casualty lists as wounded, dead or prisoners. Of these about 2,500 are in the dead or missing list. About one-third of the remainder have already returned to the firing line.

Canada has at the front and in England therefore at the present time about 75,000 men in active service, with 53,000 men in training in Canada and ready to be called upon.

ST. JOHN'S WELL REPRESENTED.

The Capitol of Britain's Oldest Colony is maintaining the reputation that it established at the beginning of the war as regards recruiting. Yesterday the following young men offered their services for King and Country:

George H. Parsons, St. John's. Thomas Payne, St. John's. Hughie Hickey, St. John's.

The total number of enrolments is 2486. The volunteers now in training are making excellent at drill and with the use of the rifle. At the Southside Rifle Range on Thursday a squad shooting made an average score of 15 points out of a possible 20.

New Skin Remedy

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—partially explains the tremendous success of the wonderful new liquid eczema remedy, the D. D. D. Prescription.

D. D. D. is now recognized as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it penetrates the pores, washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

This scientific antiseptic wash has been found to be specially effective in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Ulcers, Pimples, Ringworm, Sores and Rash, Salt Rheum and all other skin diseases. One bottle will prove it to you.

Don't delay; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription today. Sold Everywhere.

Sir Andrew Noble, Great Gunmaker.

Dies at Age of 84—One of the World's Greatest Authorities on Artillery and Explosives.

London, Oct. 2.—The death is announced of Sir Andrew Noble, Bart., the famous authority on artillery and explosives. For many years Sir Andrew, who was born in Scotland in 1831, served on experimental and administrative committees in connection with the work of Woolwich Arsenal. He was author of several works which are recognized as authoritative by experts the world over. He was chairman of the firm of Armstrong, Whitworth & Company, Limited, with his huge army of workmen and extensive ramifications.

Born at Greenock, 84 years ago, the son of a naval officer and an American mother, Sir Andrew became a captain in the Royal Artillery, and an enthusiastic student of everything relating to big guns.

When the strenuous struggle between cannon and armour plates began, the Government appointed a committee to inquire into it in 1859, with Captain Noble as a member. In the same year, so rapidly had he come to the front that he was Assistant Inspector of Artillery.

Joined a Great Firm.

It was in 1860 that he began his famous partnership with the late Lord Armstrong, who had just established his hydraulic machinery factory, at Elswick, a department for the manufacture of ordnance, and who saw that the brilliant young artillery officer was the man he wanted.

The two worked together for 40 years, while the factory grew from small things to become one of the greatest industrial establishments in the world. Years ago, before the amalgamation with Whitworth's, and other extensions, Armstrongs paid £20,000 a week in wages in Newcastle alone.

One of Sir Andrew's most ingenious inventions is the chronoscope, which can measure the speed of a shot at different part of the bore of the gun. "Cutting plugs" passing through the circumference of the gun to the bore are screwed into the sides of the gun, and as the shot passes, its foremost edge presses up a knife which cuts a wire. This intercepts an electric current, and the instrument thus makes the record.

Researches into Explosives.

With Prof. Abel, Sir Andrew made exhaustive researches into explosives, and the two prepared a table which afforded, for the first time, the means of determining the total work performed by any charge in any gun.

Sir Andrew received many honors. He was created a C.B. in 1881, and K.C.B. in 1883, and a Baronet of the United Kingdom in 1902. In 1879 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society; and in 1880 received the Royal Medal of that Society. He was a Knight of various foreign orders, and was honored by many learned and scientific bodies.

Sir Andrew in 1854 married a Canadian lady Miss Margery Campbell, daughter of Mr. A. Campbell of Quebec. There are four sons and two daughters, the heir to the baronetcy being Major John William Noble, late of the 13th Hussars, who was born in 1859.

HINDENBURG'S OFFENSIVE FAILS.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Frederick Rennet telegraphs the Daily News from Petrograd as follows: The fifteenth day of Von Hin## denburg's offensive against Dvinsk has now passed. So far the only result has been the enormous loss of men. Despite the mass of heavy siege guns brought from Koenigsberg to fling showers of metal, Dvinsk remains beyond the range of German fire yet. The importance of the attack is too great to allow it to be abandoned and Von Hindenburg seems determined to reach Dvinsk for the purpose of satisfying public opinion in Germany. He is now preparing new plans of attack. General Buelow and Lauenstein with four divisions of Von Mackensen's army have arrived from the south to operate on the Riga and Dvinsk front. General Ruskay is determined not to yield. He strongly guards all roads from the forests and marshes and all approaches to Riga. General Ivanoff has gained great success in the Dubno Rovna region near Volhynia, in moving fifteen miles west from Otyka and occupying the valley of Constantinovka. The Russians now command the chief artery of this region, namely the causeway joining Tubno and Lutsk.

GERMANY'S ADVANCE AT GREAT COST.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

A cable to the Tribune from Petrograd says that Germany's advance in Russia has been at the greatest cost. A recent army order issued by the commander of one of the Russian armies reads: Five months of strenuous work has been worthily accomplished by us. We took 2,317 officers and 100,292 soldiers as prisoners and captured 67 guns and 445 machine guns. This is the report of only one Russian army. Altogether Germany lost in September alone, 300,000 killed, wounded and prisoners and Austria 250,000. These figures include 80,000 prisoners. The armies of Von Mackensen and Prince Leopold lost 50,000 drowned or suffocated in the Pinsk marshes.

ROUMANIA LEANS TO THE ALLIES.

ATHENS, Oct. 29.

The Hestia says it has learned from diplomatic sources that there are indications that Roumania will accept the proposals of the Entente Allies for joining with them. It is highly probable the newspaper says that the Russian forces concentrated on the Roumanian frontier will pass through Roumania and go to the assistance of Serbia. The Entente Powers, it is said, intend to satisfy Roumania's ambitions by including her desire for territory in Russian Bessarabia.

JAPAN BACKS PEACE AGREEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Japan has become a party to the agreement not to conclude a separate peace, is an announcement made today in the note addressed to the Japanese Government on Oct. 19, inviting it to give adherence to the declaration of Britain, France and Russia signed September last year, that none of these nations would conclude a separate peace. On the same day this request was made, the Japanese Ambassador to Britain replied he had been authorized by his government to give "their full and complete adherence to the terms of this declaration."

BRITISH INTERESTS PROTECTED.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 29.

The Indian government announced its termination and occupation of Bushire, Persia, the Persian government having taken steps to ensure order and the security of British interests.

MORE FRENCH GAINS.

PARIS, Oct. 29.

In the course of continuous combats going on in Champagne for the possession of those portions of "La Courtine" works still occupied by the Germans, we realized to-day a very perceptible progress by taking from the enemy a front of about 150 metres and several trenches which the Germans defended up to the last moment with the greatest tenacity. We have taken 200 unwounded prisoners, including a company commander and two other officers, the Germans having besides lost nearly 400 men killed and wounded.

THE NEW FRENCH CABINET.

PARIS, Oct. 29.

The new French Cabinet, according to a list given out late this afternoon by the Havas News Agency following the conference which Premier Briand ## held with his colleagues and which is considered authoritative will be composed as follows: Premier and Minister Foreign Affairs, Aristide Briand; Vice Pres. Cabinet Minister of State, Charles De Freycinet; Minister War, General Calliena.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

The Foreign Office has received a despatch from British Consul Shipley at Tabriz, Persia, which says that 25,000 Syrian Mountaineers from Tazari and adjacent districts have taken refuge at Salmas; 10,000 more are expected here. All are destitute, and unless help is received many of them will inevitably perish as winter is at hand. Consul Shipley adds that the American Relief Committee, under the presidency of the United States Consul, are endeavoring to do all possible, but the funds are entirely inadequate to meet the requirements. The situation which justifies an urgent appeal to the charity of Britain.

"WAS EASILY ACCESSIBLE."

LONDON, Oct. 29.

The Daily Mail correspondent at the Hague, states on authority of a retired German diplomat, that on the day Miss Cavell, British nurse was executed, the Kaiser was in Belgium, and was easily accessible, either by the Governor-General or the military commander.

JOFFRE IN LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

General Joffre, the French Commander-in-Chief, came to London today, and went to the War Office on his arrival. Shortly afterwards he and Earl Kitchener, War Secretary, left together in an automobile.

PEACE REPORTS.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Confessing that he has no information which leads him to feel certain that current reports regarding peace overtures are true, Sydenham thinks that they are not at all improbable. "I should say," he says in an interview to the Pall Mall Gazette, that the overtures are mainly inspired by the now certain impossibility of German success in the west, and growing difficulties of the misconceived dangerous advance into Russia. From first to last, the Germans have not won a great military success although every effort has been made to maintain confidence on the ultimate result. In the minds of the German people and neutrals, there must be many who realize that the prospects of ultimate victory are growing dimmer. Without the least wishing to underrate the tremendous difficulties that lie before us, and the great efforts which are still essential on the part of the Allies, it does not seem unreasonable to suppose that the Germans may consider the time has come to try to kiss, indicating at least apparently, their desire for immediate peace although they may have another motive. By this I mean the desire to intimate to neutrals that they have arrived at a reasonable attitude of mind, and that the whole responsibility for the further horrors of war must rest with the Allies."

BACK TO BUCKINGHAM.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

The Prince of Wales arrived at Buckingham Palace this afternoon, on leave from France. The Prince was in close attendance on his father during the King's inspection of his troops at the front. It is believed the Prince returned for the purpose of reassuring Queen Mary as to the King's condition. His presence here is taken as a confirmation of the statement that the accident is not serious.

QUEEN MOTHER ATTEND SERVICE.

LONDON, Oct. 29.

Although represented by Earl Howe, Queen Mother Alexandra attended the service in person at the Abbey. As the congregation gathered, the Life Guards band in khaki played a number of military dirges ending with Chopin's funeral march hymn, "Ade with me" which was sung by the congregation. It had been repeated by Miss Cavell and the English chaplain who visited her the night before her execution. The Lord's Prayer was followed by two psalms. The congregation then stood while the band played the dead march in Saul. The roll of drums echoed throughout the vast structure like thunder, and died away into a dirge like a chant of the liturgy of St. Chrysostom. The service ended with ## the singing by the congregation of the National Anthem.

READY WITHOUT CONSCRIPTION.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 29.

When the delegation representing the Trades Hall Council of Melbourne waited upon Premier Fisher a week ago, and asked him for a pronouncement as to the attitude of the government toward conscription, Fisher declared that conscription would not be introduced in Australia unless the people of the commonwealth were given the opportunity of voting upon the question. He added that the government had no intention of bringing in a bill dealing with conscription. For himself he was opposed to it. Throughout the hearing he showed great impatience over the whole subject of conscription. He said: "As far as the government is concerned it stands exactly as it has always stood—pledged under a defense act to raise our own men by levies for the defence of the dominion." When a member of the delegation suggested that the allies of Britain might be pressing her to put a conscript army into the field, "No," he replied with some heat, "They would not be allowed any such impertinence."

CHINESE PREMIER RESIGNS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.

The resignation of H. S. U. Shih Chand, Chinese Premier, was announced by the official telegram re-when the delegation representing the Trades Hall Council of Melbourne waited upon Premier Fisher a week ago, and asked him for a pronouncement as to the attitude of the government toward conscription, Fisher declared that conscription would not be introduced in Australia unless the people of the commonwealth were given the opportunity of voting upon the question. He added that the government had no intention of bringing in a bill dealing with conscription. For himself he was opposed to it. Throughout the hearing he showed great impatience over the whole subject of conscription. He said: "As far as the government is concerned it stands exactly as it has always stood—pledged under a defense act to raise our own men by levies for the defence of the dominion." When a member of the delegation suggested that the allies of Britain might be pressing her to put a conscript army into the field, "No," he replied with some heat, "They would not be allowed any such impertinence."

THE BEAUTY OF THE EYES.

No feature of the face is so essential to beauty, as the eyes. Many women have been pronounced beautiful when chin, mouth and nose were actually faulty, but so compelling was the beauty of the eyes, that minor faults of the features went unnoticed. No woman, on the other hand, can possibly lay claim to beauty, if her eyes are not beautiful. The face may be a perfect oval, the mouth a rosebud, the complexion like a blush rose, but small, pale, red lidded eyes, will so effectually spoil these good points that their possessor must inevitably be branded as plain looking. Judicious use of the eye cup will keep over-worked eyes from becoming dull and red lidded. A teaspoon of boric acid should be dissolved in a cup of warm water. Fill the eye cup with the solution and press it against the eye. Throw back the head until the glass is upside down, then open the lid and let the warm boric acid solution thoroughly wash the eye. Be sure the water is not too warm nor too cold, and also that the granulated boric acid is thoroughly dissolved. A cloth wrung out of hot water in which bicarbonate of soda has been dissolved, and laid over the closed eyes for ten minutes will remove the trace of even a hard spell, which, and to say every woman indulges herself in once in a while.

Kindness to Animals.

A practical demonstration was shown of kindness to a collie dog at the Board of Trade Rooms last evening at 6.30. A furiously driven motor car, No. 146, going up Water Street with its big lights dazed a dog and in trying to get clear was run over. The animal was carried into the Board of Trade and Dr. Campbell who has a big heart for both man and beast, disengaged the dog howling from a distance and rushed to the scene. He found the animal paralyzed in the hind quarters and it seemed that the spine was broken. The Society for Protection of Animals Inspector, Mr. Bastow, was phoned for to put the dog out of his pain, and Mr. Bastow was promptly on hand. Meantime the dog showed signs of returning feeling in the hind legs and the doctor said the animal had a fighting chance; the doctor had a stretcher made with boards and a straw mattress and the dog carefully strapped down and the many business men there could not help feeling that the Society for the Protection of Animals had a big duty to perform in such like accidents to our dumb and faithful friends, and were highly pleased with the practical demonstration of kindness to animals by those interested, although having to sacrifice a lot of time and wait for their evening meal. Such unfortunate accidents of this kind proving the need of the S. P. C. A. The dog is now, thanks to Doctor Campbell who is a Director of the S. P. C. A., on the highway to recovery.

Stokehold Hero Decorated—Hazardous Exploit That Saved Many Lives.

London, Oct. 18.—For cool heroism and resource the exploit of Mr. Frederick Marshall, for which he was decorated with the Albert Medal (Second Class) by the King, would be hard to beat.

The official record of Marshall's action is as follows:

"On the evening of February 27th last Marshall was in charge of the stokehold in H.M.S. Vengeance, when one of the boiler generation tubes burst, filling the stokehold with dense clouds of soot and steam which flung Marshall across the stokehold, so that it was with difficulty he continued to find his way to the ladder leading to the upper deck.

"He helped two men up the ladder, and himself twice endeavored, with a sponge in his mouth, to reach the stop-valve, without success, owing to the steam, smoke and heat.

"To protect himself against these he emptied a sack of potatoes and put the sack across his mouth and nose; but this was not enough, and he had to put the sack over his head and shoulders. Thus, blindfolded, with the utmost difficulty, Marshall now forced his way through the screen door, which had been opened by a stoker, but blown to by the great weight of steam from inside, went down a short ladder, and groped along a grating 17 feet long, to the stop-valve of the injurious boiler which he promptly shut off.

"There is little doubt that if this hazardous exploit had not been carried through with such dispatch the men remaining in the stokehold would have lost their lives."

Ruined by Rats.

A little while ago a Welsh grocer declared that he attributed his failure to the damage done to his stock by rats.

The damage caused by rats is frequently noted to be most extraordinary. A piece of lead water-pipe, twenty-five inches long, was found open its entire length. It was discovered that the rats had gnawed through its entire length inch by inch in order to get water.

Upon wharves and in old houses rats are frequently responsible for considerable damage. They seem to be able to gnaw their way through the toughest piece of wainscoting, and will literally eat away anything. Dire, too, is the damage should the rodents get into a place where furs are stored.

A Bronchial Cough, Perhaps Weak Throat Use "Catarrhazone"—Dead Sure Cure

Wonderful Success Reported in Thousands of Bad Cases.

How many thousands are there who would gladly pay any sum to be cured of bronchitis or catarrh. Many could be cured if they would just use common sense in selecting their remedy.

Bronchitis of course is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes which were made for the passage of air alone, and neither the moisture of an atomiser nor the liquid of a cough syrup can get where the trouble really is. The diseased parts can only be reached by a remedy that can force its way through all the breathing organs. Doctors who have used "Catarrhazone" say it is the only rational cure for bronchitis. It cures by inhalation.

You breathe in its healing balsams.

Should rats infest a garmy rat the ruin which follows is always most difficult to arrest. Grain is now generally stored in concrete or stone built buildings, which is one means of prevention of the pest.

A few years ago the sewers of Paris were found to be in a very unsound condition, and the water, percolating through, caused terrible displacements of the earth, causing loss of life and property. A theory was then advanced that the rats which infest the sewers had contributed to their unsound state. It is certainly true that the authorities in Paris will pay a price for all rats caught in the sewers, and that rat-catching is a profession fully recognized in the city.

Farmers in the country all know that rats will get at the chicken, and that they frequently steal the eggs. These they carry away by joining forces. One rat will hold an egg between his jaws, while others drag him along by the tail as he lies flat on his back.

In the case of the sudden appearance of rats, traps should at once be baited. For this purpose some rat-catchers always use a fresh herring, declaring that it lures the rodent to its doom quicker than any other bait.

What is a Day?

A day is generally supposed to be a period of twenty-four hours, but this is not necessarily so. The period of the sun's position above the horizon also constitutes a day.

The actual measure of time covered by a day as we know it is 23 hours, 56 minutes and 5 seconds.

In some parts of Norway the day lasts two whole months without interruption! Three and a half months constitutes the period of the longest day in Spitzbergen, while the shortest only registers two and a half hours! That is, judging the actual period of light, which would be the natural day.

Petrograd's longest day is nineteen hours, and the shortest five. At Hamburg the longest is seventeen, and the shortest seven.

London's longest day is, roughly, sixteen and a half, with the shortest about eight hours.

Some of the latest skirts have foot trimmings in the shape of silk puffs. Many of the latest afternoon frocks show a tendency toward hip draperies.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Ayre, McNamara, Bradshaw, Mullaly, McGrath, Anderson and Withers were present at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

Two representatives of the Imperial Oil Co. were present and submitted plans of the proposed storage plants at the Southside. The Board will consider the plans in detail and inform the Company's solicitors as to their decision in the matter.

Hon. R. A. Squires on behalf of Miss F. Fanning applied for permission to make repairs to clients' houses at the corner of Mullock Street and Barnes Road. Plans will have to be submitted before the application can be considered.

William Campbell, butcher, made application re building in Larkin's Square, off Hamilton Street. Will be sent a copy of the city regulations.

Plans submitted by Head Constable Dawa, Cabot Street, were approved.

A. E. Worral applied for permission to erect an ice shed near his premises, Hamilton Street. Permission was granted, the erection to be subjected to the direction of the City Engineer.

W. A. Mackay submitted plans of the proposed smelting works. The site is on property owned by the city and no decision has yet been reached to lease such property or permit buildings on such holdings.

Plans of proposed building submitted by E. March, Cornwall Avenue, were referred for consideration.

M. McDonald, Flower Hill, applied for water and sewerage under the Small Homes Act, agreeing to contribute towards the cost of same. The request will be granted.

Mr. McNamara called the attention of the Board to a similar request made by James Murphy in the same street some time ago and asked why the same had not been considered. The matter will receive prompt attention.

J. F. Downey, for Doyle Brothers, wrote saying that in submitting prices for hay he had quoted for a short ton, and that for a long ton of 2240 lbs. the price would be $25.85. Tenders will be invited for a supply of hay at an early date when the writer may quote prices as per tender.

After the reports from the various departments had been read and adopted the meeting adjourned.

Takes Exception to Charge.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—The Daily Star in its editorial last evening re Mr. Blackall's protest, insinuates that Mr. Blackall in his official capacity as Supt. of Education is attempting to coerce the pupil teachers now in training, on the question of Prohibition.

To that insinuation I beg to take exception. Pardon the egotism, please; but I have been closely connected with Mr. Blackall for a period of five years as a pupil teacher and teacher. During that time I have seen much of his dealings with pupil teachers in private as well as in public, and on no occasion have I ever seen anything that savoured of coercion.

With regard to the men now in training, as their house master, I am intimately acquainted with them, and it is at their earnest solicitation that I take this exception.

We have frequently discussed Prohibition, but Mr. Blackall has never attempted to coerce us, or even to impose his own views upon us. Although there are some seven or eight voters among us, I venture to assert that Mr. Blackall would not grovel down for knowing on which side of the question any one of us will cast his vote.

"Thanking you for space on behalf of the male teachers now in training, I remain, yours faithfully,

Some Emperor is Kaiser William.

The Hamburg "Fremdenblatt," in a powerful bid for the Iron Cross, assures the Kaiser that whatever the English, and even some of the German, papers may say, Hamburg looks on him as Caesar, Alexander, and Charlemagne all rolled into one, with something peculiarly his own to give the flavor:—

"The industry, thrift, and science, which we have cultivated so diligently in time of peace now serve us in the days of war and provide us with an armor of defence against which the deadliest shells of the enemy must in the end be shattered into harmless fragments.

"It is the persistent cultivation of these qualities that has produced among us men of outstanding greatness and genius such as our Hindenburg, our Tirpitz, and our Zeppelin.

"We have an Emperor who fires the imagination of every German, man, woman or child, because in him there live again the combined spirits of an Alexander, a Caesar, and a Charlemagne. We Germans would gladly follow his lead through the very gates of hell, were it necessary, in order to crush the breath of life out of our enemies, who envy us for our qualities and attainments.

"We have an ideal before us, whereas in England, in France, or in the other enemy lands they have no such stimulant to inspire them, and, as is well known, a nation without an ideal must go under. Our ideal is materialized in William II."

The Red Flag.

An engineer gave his little girl a small red flag to play with, and explained that on the road the red flag signifies danger. "Would you stop your train if you saw a red flag on the track?" she asked. "Yes," he said, "or there might be an accident." After her papa had left, the little one found her mamma crying. "Why are you crying, mamma?" she asked. The mother gave no answer. But as the child saw the decanter on the sideboard she said: "Is it because papa drank some of that nasty brandy before he went to work?" "Yes, dear, you see, he is getting worse, and will surely lose his place. He thinks the people do not notice, but they must notice it. And he will, I fear, completely wreck his life."

The child did not forget her mother's worry. All day long she thought of what she might do to help, and at last she thought of the red flag, and what her papa had told her it stands for. Going to the sideboard, she firmly fastened the flag to the decanter, and then went to bed satisfied. The father came home, went to the sideboard for the usual nightcap, but saw the flag, and understood and heeded the warning.—Selected.

Canada's Force May be 200,000.

Recruiting is Reported to be Especially Strong in the West.

Ottawa, October 21. — Although the total enlistment is now practically up to the authorized establishment of 164,000 men for expeditionary service, the Militia Department is allowing recruiting to go on without regard to the formality of a Government authorization, or a call for another fifty thousand men or so. It is probable that authorization will be formally made before long, bringing the total authorized establishment of the expeditionary force up to 200,000.

Meanwhile recruiting is proceeding satisfactorily, and the Department is in daily receipt of notifications from many small communities throughout the Dominion stating that local units of twenty-five men or more are being raised, and asking for arrangements for billeting and training during the winter.

At the moment recruiting is reported to be especially strong in the west, and the Minister of Militia will make an inspection trip through to the Pacific coast probably toward the end of next month. On Saturday next he will go to Toronto to inspect the troops there, and the arrangements made for the winter accommodation.

The Reawakening of Old France.

The reawakening in France of all the old ardour of patriotism and love of country and the new spirit of faith and high endeavor were the subject-matter delivered in London recently by M. Paul Sabatier, the famous French scholar.

M. Sabatier said that in France they felt that they were entering a house in which a new civilization was coming to birth, and the mystery and grandeur of it hushed their voices. It would need a Shakespeare to describe what passed in the conscience of the French people at the end of July and during the first days of August last year. There were in each French heart depths of joy and of sorrow which poetry or music might one day sound, but which words could not penetrate.

France was one in her devotion to the ideal of patriotic sacrifice and of victory, but she was no more militarist than before the war. He quoted the words of a peasant whom he met in the Cevennes—"What is the good of knowing what happens; our duty is so clear?" The persuasion that sacrifice and suffering were inevitable and necessary and that news might only bring the certainty of more sacrifice and suffering oppressed all hearts until on August 5 tidings came that Great Britain had joined France in the war.

"Never," said M. Sabatier, "have I seen joy so intense. There were no shouts nor processions, but simply, in the words of an old man, 'we breathed again and found a new reason for life.' I doubt whether when peace is signed, even if it be the peace we desire, joy will be so full and so deep."

France had not changed; she had merely found her best self again, and had returned to her old ardent faith.

"CAN YOU AFFORD TO TAKE CHANCES?"

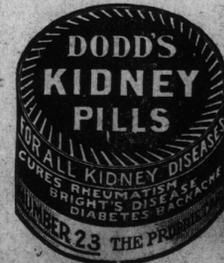

A little cold may not seem a dangerous thing—you may feel inclined to let it go on hoping that to-morrow it will be better—but can you afford to take chances? Just as the little insignificant acorn grows if let alone, to the mighty giant oak, that cough if not stopped may grow to a very serious illness. When a cough starts there's no telling where it will end. You know no doubt, of cases right among people you have known where serious complications and fatal illnesses have had their start from a neglected cough or cold.

A cold is more than inconvenient—it is dangerous—so the big thing is to find a reliable remedy—one that will give you quick, satisfactory relief.

There are many treatments that are recommended for a cough or cold but "STAFFORD'S PHORATONE COUGH AND COLD CURE" is recommended to be the safest, surest and most satisfactory way to cure a cold, gripe, etc.

Bulgaria Be Crushed.

Boston Transcript.—The one development which could prevent a prolongation of the war would be a quick crushing of Bulgaria. If the British and French troops push back the Bulgarians along the Greek-Macedonian-Bulgarian frontier, threatening Adrianople, and if joint operations in the north force the Austro-Germans back to or beyond the Danube and the Save, the Roumanians and Greeks will then join the war on the Entente side; the Russians meanwhile will gain a fresh impetus; and, the promising situation for the Allies on the western front being added, these operations would strongly suggest to the checked central empires the desirability of suing for peace.
