OR,
What Fools Men Are!

CHAPTER XVIII.

That morning Lela was sitting at breakfast—alone! The table was well supplied with the dainties which nowadays are considered necessary to tempt our early morning appetites, but Lela regarded them with anything but "eager eyes." She had lain awake nearly all the night, her head was aching, and she looked pale. The pretty room looked desolate in her eyes; the sight of Edgar's knock-knocks, his cigarette box, and his slippers standing empty by the fireplace, filled her heart with an unutterable bitterness and longing.

She had promised not to cry—not to fret; but she felt that it was an unwise promise, for a "good cry" would have relieved and somewhat removed the dull aching of her heart.

She told herself, as she had done a hundred times in the silent watches of the night, that it was foolish and rather wicked to be so cut up by Edgar's absence, that the few hours would soon pass; but that kind of wisdom does not contain much comfort at the best of times, and it brought none to her now.

Listlessly she got up from the table, having broken a piece of toast and put her lips to the cup of coffee, and strolled to the window, probably with the intention of remaining there until she should see Edgar coming up the steps; but, presently the door opened, and Lovel entered. There was a look of hesitation on his face that was quite unusual, and he stood for a moment silent, until Lela turned, and seeing him making no attempt to clear the table, said:

"You can take away the breakfast, Lovel."

"Yes, my lady," he said; then he coughed. There's a man down in the hall who wishes to see you, my lady."

"To see me?" said Lela, with surprise. "Lord Fane," he means, I suppose. You have told him his lordship's out?" with a little sigh.

"Yes, my lady; but it is you, not his lordship, he wishes to see, and—and he won't take no for an answer. He says his business is important, and that you would, say so if you saw it."

Lela hesitated a moment. "Do I know him, or do you, I mean?"

"No, my lady," said Lovel—"I have never seen him before."

"A gentleman?" said Lela, not knowing what to do, or whether Lord

Edgar would like her to see the man or not.

"Scarcely, my lady, but respectable, I should say. He seems terribly in earnest."

"Show him up, I will see him," said Lela, with sudden resolution.

Lovel hesitated a moment. "I beg your pardon, my lady, but your ladyship will forgive me; I am in charge here, and answerable for you, that is to say—the faithful fellow stammered—"I don't mean to say that the man means harm, but there are so many begging-letter impostors, and that kind of people. If you want him turned away quickly, I shall be in the next room."

Lela could not help smiling, though she knew how to appreciate faithful devotion.

"I quite understand, Lovel, but I cannot conceive that any one should wish to do me any harm let the man come up."

Lovel went down. Lela heard his voice, evidently impressing upon the stranger that he was going to be highly favoured by being permitted to see Lady Fane, and then the door opened, and, with a faint surprise, Lela saw the man whom she had seen with Mr. Brown.

He came in and looked straight before him, but with something less of his usual woodenness; indeed, there was a touch of suppressed impatience that made itself visible in the faint twitching of his lips, and a fidgeting with his hat.

Lovel crossed the room, and went into the next—on guard.

"You wish to see me?" began Lela; but he interrupted her, not rudely, but as if time were too valuable to be wasted.

"My lady, my name is Bowen. I was sent here by a friend of yours to take you to Lord Fane."

Lela started, and shrank back, with astonishment and surprise, and naturally glanced at the door of the next room.

"Quite right, my lady," said Mr. Bowen. "That servant is a faithful fellow, and deserves your confidence; I've no objection to his hearing every word that passes between us. Shall I call him, my lady?"

His manner was respectful in the extreme, but he spoke shortly, and glanced at the clock.

"Well!" said Lela. "You say—you say that you wish me to go to Lord Fane? Why?"

"I can't explain, my lady. I am only acting on instructions."

"Whose?" asked Lela, her courage returning, but her suspicions keenly aroused.

"That I can't say, I'm in as awkward a hobble as ever a poor man was in; because, you see, I can't say straight out why I'm here, and why I want you to come with me."

"I certainly shall not come," said

Lela, firmly, "unless you give me sufficient reason. You could not think that I would. Who are you?"

Mr. Bowen thought a moment. "I'll tell you this much, my lady," he said. "I am a detective. I was employed by Lord Fane, through Mr. Clifford Revel, to find you—I did so at Larkworthy—"

Lela turned pale. She touched the bell, and Lovel came in, as if he had been leaning against the door, and looked quite ready to sling Mr. Bowen out of the window at a word from his young mistress.

"Ah, that's better," sighed Mr. Bowen. "I can deal with a man. But you, my lady, are difficult. Now, Mr. Lovel, to begin with, time is short; every moment we stand arguing is worth a king's ransom. If I don't persuade you that I'm an honest man, and mean good to her ladyship in ten minutes, you may go on thinking me what you like for the rest of your life, because it won't be any good. See here, Mr. Lovel, I want her ladyship to go down with me to Lord Fane."

"Not without me, anyway," said Lovel, grimly.

"Bless the man, who cares! Of course!" retorted Bowen, impatiently, and he wiped his forehead.

"Where is Lord Fane?" said Lela. Bowen stared.

"Do you mean to say, my lady, that—?" He stared at Lovel, who shook his head meaningly.

"Lord Fane is at Badmore, about getting ready—he glanced at the clock—"to ride the gentlemen's race on his horse, Assasin."

Lela turned deadly white, and leaned against the window frame. "It is not true!" she murmured faintly. "It is not true!"

Mr. Bowen sprang to the table. "You don't know it—and the papers are full of it!" he almost shouted. "Look here, my lady!" And he tore open the Times, to the sporting column, and held it to her.

"No occasion," said Lovel, quietly. "It's true, my lady."

But Lela seized the paper, and dashed her hand across her eyes, for a mist seemed gathering before them. "Oh!" she gasped, as she read the graphic account of Assasin's career, temper, chances, and his owner's risk. "Oh, Heaven! it is true! I understand it all! It was to save me from feeling what I feel now that he kept me in ignorance! Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do? Why was I not told?"

With whip and voice the man urged his horse, and presently the hoarse din of the crowd broke faintly on her ears. She sprang from her seat and knelt at the window, and Lovel, white as herself, murmured words of encouragement that fell on deaf ears. Suddenly they reached the top of the hill which overlooks the course, and as they did so the roar, "They're off! They're off!" rang out, and, with a groan, she covered her face with her hands.

caught the train, and Lovel put her into a carriage.

"Come in here," she said. I must know—"

But Bowen shook his head. "No, my lady, I can tell you nothing, I'm under orders. If I get in, you'll get it out of me. Let Mr. Lovel and me ride in the next carriage," and Lela could not move him.

She rode alone with her fears, and if these words do not express what she suffered, then no description could do it.

The train reached Badmore, and Lovel rushed to the carriage, while Bowen darted out to get a fly.

As he did so, a flyman drove up and called to him: Mr. Bowen!"

"Right!"

"Jump in, sir! There's no time to lose: the train's half an hour late!"

"I know! Have they started?" he demanded, eagerly, and Lela strained her ears to catch the reply.

The man shook his head. "Can't say; Lord Edgar was late—"

"Drive like mad! Drive for life and death!" almost shouted Bowen; and they tore out of the station yard.

CHAPTER XIX.

The fly dashed through the deserted streets. With clasped hands and white face, with lips that murmured unceasingly the prayer, "Save him! save him!" she sat through those moments into which were compressed a life-long agony.

With whip and voice the man urged his horse, and presently the hoarse din of the crowd broke faintly on her ears. She sprang from her seat and knelt at the window, and Lovel, white as herself, murmured words of encouragement that fell on deaf ears. Suddenly they reached the top of the hill which overlooks the course, and as they did so the roar, "They're off! They're off!" rang out, and, with a groan, she covered her face with her hands.

My Limbs Would Twitch

And Waken Me—Unable to Rest or Sleep, I Walked the Floor in Nervous State—When Specialists Failed I Found a Cure.

This is the kind of cure that has set Windsor people thinking and talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The action of this food cure is so radically different to the usual treatments for the nerves that everybody wants to try it. Gradually and certainly it nourished the starved nerves back to health and vigor and the benefits obtained are both thorough and lasting.

Mrs. M. Smithson, Arthur street, Windsor, Ont., writes: "I was suffering from nervous breakdown, which was caused by a shock when fire broke out in the adjoining house. My nerves were in such a state that, after going to bed I could not get my nerves quieted down sufficiently to go to sleep. I used to get up and walk around the room, or go downstairs. Even when I would be dropping off to sleep my limbs would twitch and waken me. I used to have cold, nervous night sweats, sometimes would become unconscious and lie that way for quite a little while. I was always cold and it seemed impossible for me to get warm or keep warm. When on the street I would see two or three objects at once, and did not want any person to speak to me or bother me. Any little noise irritated and annoyed me very much. I had consulted specialists and tried many remedies during this time, but could not gain relief. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before long could see that this treatment was proving of benefit. I am now feeling so much better that I can go out on the street without any difficulty, can go across the river and go about the same as usual. I sleep well at night, and am feeling more like myself every day. I am pleased to be able to write you to tell you how much good the Nerve Food has done me. It has strengthened and built up my whole system. I am recommending it to everybody I find suffering from nervousness of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

EARLY MESSAGES

WAR SUMMARY.

In the past year of the war a period of extraordinary activity by aerial squadrons of the contending armies in France have been considered as an indication that events were rapidly developing themselves for an offensive on one side or the other. At the present moment the most notable feature of the war situation is the remarkable work of the airmen in many sectors where a German attack is looked for. This activity has not been restricted to the actual battle area, but far back of each front there have been daring raids. The Rhine cities are being frequently bombed, while Paris has again been in danger of a German attack from the air. American aviators have won a prominent part in this fighting. In the Lunerville and Toul sectors they have given a magnificent account of themselves, while further back and even in the defence of London they have demonstrated their fighting capacity. The German plans for a resumption of the offensive in France have been seriously hampered by the sudden blows of the Allies here and there along the front. The Germans have been forced back at many points, and new lines which may be more easily defended have been established by the Allies. The Americans on their own sectors have given the enemy no rest. The artillery has battered the German lines night and day, while the infantrymen have raided the German outpost positions and have proved themselves capable of outflanking and outwitting the enemy. Pershing's men have won many hot fights with the enemy, and have captured prisoners. A night gas attack was launched on the enemy near Toul, three waves of shells drenching a wooded position of the enemy with poisonous fumes. The French, too, have been at work in various sectors, particularly in the Somme region. They have gained ground here and there at points, where positions of tactical value were wrested from the Germans. Further north the British front has been fairly quiet with tremendous bursts of artillery fire coming at intervals. Reports from headquarters of the French army say there has been a redistribution of German troops along the whole front. A German attack is expected soon, probably in the Somme region near Albert or the Avre River, where German cannon has been thundering for some days, but so far the German General Staff has not shown its hand. It is known that there are great masses of troops within striking distance of the front, and it is believed when the enemy is ready to strike there will be only brief artillery fire as a prelude to actual assault by his infantry. The last report from the French War Office mentions heavy artillery fire in the Somme region, and at Piemont near Noyon, where there was fierce fighting early in April.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, May 22. In the sector southwest of Arras, German trenches were entered at two points last night by British raiding parties, says to-day's official statement. Prisoners and a machine gun were taken. Other raiding parties brought back a few prisoners from the enemy's positions in the neighborhood of Locon and in the sector between the forest of Nieppe and Meteren.

AUSTRIAN POSITIONS DESTROYED.

ROME, May 22. Italian troops in the mountains west of the Brenta have broken enemy attacks, especially on the southern slopes of Sasso Rosso. On Mont Spina, west of the Piave, says the official statement from the War Office yesterday, Austrian positions were destroyed and 53 prisoners captured.

SAILINGS OF DUTCH SHIPS PROHIBITED.

LONDON, May 22. The prohibition of the sailings of all Dutch ships from Dutch ports, the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says he learns is connected with a new move by the German Government to compel Holland to sign on Berlin's terms the long-pending economic agreement which Holland has declined to do, owing to the enormous conditions imposed by Germany. The German Government accordingly has refused a safe conduct to Dutch shipping through the safe zone and seized the steamship Magrez, which Holland chartered to fetch a cargo of wood from Sweden. The seizure was a direct challenge to Holland, and it is added the prohibition of further sailings is the sequel.

A FURTHER CONSIGNMENT.

DUBLIN, May 22. A further consignment of Sinn Fein prisoners left Dublin to-day on the way to England. The group was not one of newly-arrested persons, it was stated, but merely a small number who had been before detained at the local barracks. According to the local newspapers, Count Plunkett was the only prominent person in the party. There was no demonstration at the dock, as the police officials had been careful to keep the arrangements of the departure secret from the public. The Associated Press learns that there still remains a considerable list of "suspects" who may be taken into custody at any time. Considerable significance is attached to the calling into conference here of the military chiefs from Belfast and Cork.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, May 22. North of the Ypres-Comines Canal sixteen prisoners were captured by us. A hostile raiding party approached our lines last night north of Albert. It was repulsed. The enemy's artillery showed some activity during the night in the neighborhood of Dernancourt, and considerable activity east of the forest of Nieppe. The sector northwest of Bethune was heavily bombed with gas shells.

HOPING FOR PEACE.

LONDON, May 22. The Breslau newspaper Volkswacht, as quoted in a Copenhagen despatch to the Daily Mail, says Dr. Von Seydler made a visit to Prague and Northern Bohemia, and in addressing striking miners asserted that the effort for general peace which he said Emperor Charles was carrying forward incessantly was not as hopeless as many persons thought. The Premier authorized control by the workmen of good distribution in their own districts and promised that the question of reducing the hours of labor would be taken up by the war ministry and representatives of the workers.

LOOKING SERIOUS IN AUSTRIA.

LONDON, May 22. The Slovenski Parod outbreaks occurred in Pilsen, Masada and other towns. The vast estates of Prince Furstenburg, a close friend of the German Emperor, have been plundered and the buildings on them burned. Dr. Von Seydler, the Austrian Premier, it is added, has summoned Czech Deputy Stanek to discuss the situation. Deputy Stanek has declined, fearing evidently that the indiscriminate hangings and shootings in Galicia at the beginning are to be repeated in Bohemia.

SUICIDE TO INTERFERE.

LONDON, May 22. "Suicide" is the word that was used by the German naval authorities to describe what it would mean for the Kaiser's navy to attempt to interfere with the transport of Allied troops and munitions across the English Channel. Even German submarines, according to their commanders, writes Capt. Von Kuhlwater in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger and that attacking transport is especially difficult in the Channel. Discussing U-boat warfare possibilities generally, he alludes to a suggestion made to post submarines on food consumption will not be increased. I may even say that we are approaching the end of the era of restriction, and that the restrictions at present in force gradually will be eliminated, but I want men for the harvest if they can be found. I can promise that I will diminish the importation of cereals and release important tonnage.

VIOLENT ARTILLERY FIGHTING.

PARIS, May 22. Artillery fighting of the most violent character occurred last night on the front southeast of Amiens, the war office announces. Heavy artillery fighting took place also on the southern part of the battle front in the neighborhood of Piemont, west of Noyon.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR A GOOD HARVEST.

PARIS, May 22. Prospects for the coming harvest in France are better than any year since 1898, Victor Berat, Food Minister, informed the Associated Press upon his return to-day from a week-end tour in the country. Unless an unforeseen situation arises between now and harvest time, he added, actual restrictions on food consumption will not be increased. I may even say that we are approaching the end of the era of restriction, and that the restrictions at present in force gradually will be eliminated, but I want men for the harvest if they can be found. I can promise that I will diminish the importation of cereals and release important tonnage.

LITTLE ACTIVITY.

LONDON, May 22. The British troops in Mesopotamia, north of Bagdad, display little activity, while British cavalry has advanced north of Teker on the Tigris to Fatha. An official statement on operations in Mesopotamia reads: The Turks have shown no activity since they were driven across the Lesser Zab on May 11. The removal of large quantities of military stores captured in Kirkuk proceeds without interruption. On the Tigris our mounted troops have advanced as far as Fatha. The Turks holding the village offered little resistance and retreated hastily further up the river.

NARROW ESCAPE.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, May 22. (By the Associated Press.)—To lay helpless on his seaplane in the North Sea for seven hours with a broken leg before he was picked up, was the experience of an American aviator attached to the British forces. The aviator, who comes from New York State, was operating a seaplane off the Belgian coast. He was brought down by hostile fire, and his machine fell into the sea. After seven hours he was rescued, and is now recovering in hospital.

MARTIAL LAW IN BOHEMIA.

LONDON, May 22. Martial law has been proclaimed in Bohemia, and in consequence of "popular excesses" many persons have been imprisoned, says a despatch to the Daily Mail from Bern, quoting the Slovenski Parod.

GERMAN AIRPLANES DOWNED.

LONDON, May 22. Twelve German airships were brought down during Monday's fighting by British aviators while gunfire accounted for another, and an additional two were driven out of control according to an official statement issued to-day.

DENOUNCES SINN FEIN.

DUBLIN, May 22. An appeal to all those of Irish blood in the United States to support the Nationalist Party as the one party in Ireland which is fighting for Irish liberty without betraying the cause of liberty in other lands, was made to-day by John Dillon, the Nationalist leader in an interview with the Associated Press correspondent. Mr. Dillon, in this interview, denounced the policy of the Sinn Fein.

HOLLAND'S NOTE OF PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, May 22. A supplementary note of protest against the British-American seizure of Dutch shipping has been handed to Secretary of State Lansing by the Dutch legation here. It contends that dropped bombs in various suburban localities some material damage is reported. The signal that all was clear was sounded at one o'clock this morning.

ABORTIVE RAID ON PARIS.

PARIS, May 22. German aviators made an ineffectual attempt last night to raid Paris. Three persons were killed and several wounded in the outskirts of the city but none of the raiders reached Paris itself. A German airplane was hit by anti-aircraft guns and fell in flames north of the city. The enemy dropped bombs in various suburban localities some material damage is re-

A New Disease.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A friend of mine has a new complaint. Like all new diseases, it is at present quite rare (are you old enough to remember what a distinction there was in the first few cases of a p e n d i c i t i s lent their victims? A n d n o w a p p e n d i c i t i s is really quite too ordinary, but he feels sure that it will rapidly become more common. The name he gives to this complaint is "autosis."

Its symptoms are a profound aversion to riding in an automobile (except for the definite purpose of getting somewhere.) He says he would just as lief be wheeled about in a baby carriage as to be everlastingly toted around the country in an auto.

The Mistaken Kindness of Friends. His cause is mistaken kindness on the part of his friends. They have been gradually acquiring autos, and they are filled with a desire to cheer up his poor autoless state with rides. "It was all right at first," he said, "I quite enjoyed it. But it's becoming a regular nuisance. I either have to hurt somebody's feelings, or I have to go riding over the same blasted country about once in so often. They all take me to see the same 'lovely stretches' of road. And, confound it, I'd ten times rather be reading a book or playing a game of tennis."

He would go so far as to say that I wouldn't get it. As a gyping in an auto. In fact, there are certain purposes for which I distastefully like autos. If I am hived up in the city, I love to have something come and take me for a spin into the country. I also highly appreciate the utility of an auto as a means of keeping in touch with friends. And I am sure I should adore to go-a-gyping from place to place in an auto. But I am one with the victim of autosis, in having no use for being trundled about the same old country in an auto just for the sake of keeping in motion. Time is so precious and there are so many things one wants to do. Of course, I can easily look back to the time when a ride in an automobile was an adventure. I can distinctly recall the glamour of my first few years, it has come to this!

Will We Get Tired Of Flying? One wonders, of course, if one will live to see the same thing happen to air travel. Shall you and I see the day when an invitation to aviate will be a commonplace? It seems impossible, and yet look back and see the impossibilities that have become commonplaces.

But what completely staggers my mind is this—after that, what then? What on earth will the next generation see pass from an impossibility to a commonplace? Perhaps it won't be on earth at all, but in a broader realm. Who knows?

Supreme Court.

DOOLEY ACQUITTED.
Following recess from yesterday morning's sitting, the Supreme Court resumed its hearing in the case of Rex vs. Dooley at 2:30 o'clock, when the evidence of Dr. McDonald, who attended the late Robert Penney before death, and also assisted Dr. J. S. Tait at the post-mortem, was taken, as was also the evidence of Capt. Howley, of the Record Office, who read to the Court the record, kept by the Militia Department, of the deceased.

The accused was next examined by Mr. W. J. Higgins and cross-examined by Mr. C. E. Hunt.

At 3:40 o'clock Mr. Higgins addressed the jury, and was followed by Mr. Hunt, both of whom in a very learned and able manner dealt with the case from their respective positions. At 4:40 the Chief Justice charged the jury, who retired to their Chamber at 5 o'clock and after 40 minutes deliberation, filed back into Court, and through their foreman, Mr. J. A. Williams, announced a verdict of Not Guilty. The accused was thereupon released.

C. L. B. Annual Indoor Sports.

The annual indoor sports of the C. L. B. were run off at their Armory last night and were witnessed by a large gathering of spectators. The events were, in most cases, closely contested. The hand under Lieut. A. Morris rendered some excellent music during the evening.

The programme of sixteen items, exclusive of band selections, was run off as follows:—
Obstacle Race (Inter)—1st, Jones; 2nd, Mitchell.
1 Mile (Srs.)—1st, Bartlett; 2nd, Perczy.
Cock Fight (Jrs.)—Constable and Gardner.
Wheelbarrow Race (Inter)—1st, Curnew and Hooke; 2nd, Jones and Field.
Tug of War—Won by Band.
1/4 Mile (Jrs.)—1st, Constable; 2nd, Moore.
High Jump (Srs.)—1st, Shears; 2nd, Bartlett.
1/2 Mile (Inter)—1st, Hooke; 2nd, Garvin.
Kit Race (Jrs.)—1st, Coaker; 2nd, Squires.
1/2 Mile (Srs.)—1st, Bartlett; 2nd, Winsor.
Cavalry Tournament—1st, Winsor and Mitchell; 2nd, Tizzard and Calver.
1/4 Mile (Inter)—1st, Hooke; 2nd, Jones.
3 Legged Race (Srs.)—1st, Peckham and Boone; 2nd, Perczy and Winsor.
Sack Race (Jrs.)—1st, Lockyer; 2nd, Martin.
Relay Race (C.L.B. vs. Regiment)—Won by C. L. B.
Musical Race (Band)—1st, Kelly; 2nd, Bugden.
Catch the train Race—1st, Boone, costume winner, Tilley.
Mrs. Alderidge daughter of Lt-Col. Rendell, graciously presented the prizes, and at the close was given three hearty cheers by the whole battalion.

Had ship's anchor fall on my knee and leg, and knee swelled up and for six days I could not move it or get help. I then started to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and two bottles cured me. PROSPER FERGUSON.

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
THE LILAC BUSH.
There's more within a lilac bush than clumps of purple bloom. And Mother Nature's kindly grace and delicate perfume. There's more than springtime's loveliness for weary eyes to see; I think the lilac keeps alive the joys that used to be.

The lilac lived when I was young and bloomed beside the door. And it has treasured all the smiles that I shall see no more. It holds the gentle mother's charms, the little sister's too. And all the tenderness and love which as a boy I knew.

It keeps the souls of loved one fine, and when the breezes blow I seem to hear the voices lost that spoke so long ago. And in its clustered blossoms laughing gaily back at me. Are the wondrous happy faces that I'm hungering to see.

It is of the family circle, it's a friend we know and love. It is memory, never fading, of the ones who've gone above. And each springtime I am living with the joys that used to be, in the fragrance and the beauty of the simple lilac tree.

WAKING UP.
The government is wakening from its profound repose; it's a nud taking some steps to can the foe. Big men are being chosen to make a k o things hump along; our feet, which have been frozen, will know s o m e warm ere long.

Ford's building naval silvers, or something of the kind, to give the Teuton silvers, and knock the U-boats blind. And Schwab is nimbly skipping along Atlantic piers, to hustle up the shipping, that's badly in arrears. And Ryan has been captured to turn out aeroplanes, and every-one's enraptured who knows this man of brains. And Edison, the wizard, has something up his sleeve to chill the Teuton gizzard, and make the Kaiser grieve. Our Uncle Sam has risen, he takes a wiser stand; the nation's brains are his'n, to order and command. The giants it is calling, they come with loyal cheers; the little men are falling back to their normal spheres. In times of peace the lawyers may do official chores, but when the foe's destroyers are threatening our shores, we need the towering giant, conditions to improve, the captain, self-reliant, who's built to make things move. The Government is looking for big men, everywhere; the giants it is booking don't deal in heated air.

Fishermen, now is the time to secure O. Mustad's Jiggers or Pike Hooks. They are bright, small and act as a minnow, attach small swivels to make it spin. Just try this famous Norwegian fish killer, any ordinary lead sinker will suit, but place one swivel above the sinker and the other below to keep your line from twisting. apr26,tf

PRISONERS OF WAR AS INDUSTRIAL WORKERS.
AMSTERDAM, May 22. (Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Our growing labor army, in the description applied by the German newspaper to their prisoners of war, is an official statement the German people are notified that Germany and her Allied States now hold 3,575,000 prisoners. The statement lays stress on the supreme value of these prisoners, as man power for industries and agriculture. They will go far, it is said, to compensate Germany, for the men she has had to withdraw from peaceful pursuits for active military service. The longer war lasts the more adaptable and useful these prisoners become, says the statement.

To sum up the attitude of the two factions it may be said that the Nationalists believe in constitutional methods of settling the Irish question, while the Sinn Fein demands revolution, and the Nationalists consider that the Sinn Feiners by their revolutionary tactics are spoiling Ireland's best chance of a satisfactory settlement.

Unity.

Be strong and firm, the Motherland is looking on us now,
Let all true men upon our strand
Come help to smooth her brow,
Let no dissensions step within
Our peaceful circle here,
Great Britain in this fight shall win
And we must do our share.

This land o'er which her banner waves,
For which her blood was shed,
The land which holds our fathers' graves,
To which their souls were wed;
Let all upon her soil be true
And help on freedom's cause,
Beneath the red, the white and blue,
We all get equal laws.

This is the land—our native Isle—
That we should love the most,
And pray that God may on it smile
And guard her native coast;
This is the land within whose breast
Some day we all must lie,
So we should love this land the best
Until the day we die.

We want no factions on this shore,
No wrangling 'bout our creeds
Which fooled us in the days of yore,
We now want Christian deeds.
What difference if the flower you love
Be not on my breast seen
For don't you know that God alone
Loves Orange and loves Green.
JAMES MURPHY.

Wesley Circuit.

Wesley Circuit has good reason to be proud of the splendid record of its young men of military age. This fact was forcibly demonstrated at the Epworth League and Adult Bible Class Entertainment given Tuesday night to the boys who have recently returned from the front and those who are on the eve of departing to "fill the gaps." The event, which was under the auspices of the Wesley Bible Class, was a grand success. Mr. Alex. Rooney presided and in a brief but spirited address congratulated the Circuit on its splendid record shown by the high percentage of its membership of military age and physical fitness that has responded to the call of Empire, and taken their place in the battle line of Britain's dauntless legions now waging the bloodiest war in the world's history for the preservation of world-freedom, human liberty, and all which Britons hold dear. He said that not even the members of the Circuit were fully aware of the noble response their young men had made. Taking the whole of the Circuit's young men who come within the scope of military service, which is approximately 160, we find the following result:—

No. on active service in Royal Mtd. Regiment	57
No. on active service in Canadian Regiment	8
No. on active service in Royal Navy Reserve	7
No. on active service in Canadian Reserve	2
Volunteered and not accepted	74
Returned from service	29
Missing	1
Prisoners	1
Killed	15

This, said the speaker, is a record which the members of this Circuit can justly boast of, and take no small measure of pride therefrom. It is a glorious response on the part of our boys, but only such as good men and true who value their privileges as British subjects should give to the call of King, Empire and Homeland. We feel proud of them, their country appreciate them, and the Empire highly values their true patriotism and sterling manhood. The speaker was warmly applauded by the enthusiastic gathering. An appropriate program was rendered and refreshments being served an exceptionally enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

Anyone requiring a piece of ground about 100 x 165 feet, to be set out for agricultural purposes, situate on Cornwall Ave., near Blackmarsh Road, can have hire of same for this year free of charge by addressing P. O. Box 311. If two or more applicants, I will draw lots for the winner.—may22,31

MORE ARRESTS IN IRELAND.
 LONDON, To-day.—Indications that the government hasn't yet completed all the arrests contemplated by it are seen in the apprehension in Dublin, last night, of P. F. Burke, leading Sinn Féin leader in County Monaghan. A certain number of Sinn Féin leaders in various districts after the coup was made in Dublin, evaded the police who are still on the lookout for them. The authorities are directing their attention to all persons who are regarded as suspicious, and such men are being stopped in the neighborhood of Dublin, and searched. All the best known men, what is regarded as the revolutionary wing of the Sinn Féiners, are already in custody, but there is a general impression that many influential participants in the conspiracy are persons never heard of by the Irish public.

FIELD MARSHAL'S REPORT.
 LONDON, To-day.—The Germans made another attempt to-day to raid British positions, near Messini, but were repulsed, according to Field Marshal Haig's report tonight. The British carried out a raid on German positions in the Hebuterne, with heavy losses to the Germans. The report reads:—Early this morning the enemy made a second attempt to raid our positions Southeast of Messini, North of Albert, but was repulsed. Another successful raid, in addition to that reported this morning, was carried out by us last night in the neighborhood of Hebuterne. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy in these encounters, and we captured a few prisoners. On the remainder of the front, there was nothing beyond artillery actions on both sides of the different sectors.

CREW SAFE.
A CANADIAN PACIFIC PORT.
 LONDON, To-day.—The Japanese freighter Burma Maru of the Osaka Shosen Line, is on fire off the North Pacific Coast, according to naval wireless messages received here late to-day. The crew had been transferred to the Canadian Maru, of the same line, the message said.

LOOKS LIKE A CAPTURE.
FRENCH ARMY HEADQUARTERS
 May 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Following are the particulars of the new giant Gotha bombing plane which the Germans have employed in their last night raids over France and England. It has a wing spread of forty meters, is driven by three motors each of 300 horsepower and accommodates nine passengers; but on raids the crew numbers five or six, in order to carry more bombs and petrol. It carries about two tons of bombs, including one of about a ton weight containing 850 kilos of explosives. Owing to the difficulty of landing at night with machines of such a size, it is probable there will be a high proportion of losses through accidents.

THE SURREYS IN ACTION.
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Much counter battery work, against large concentrations of German guns, have been carried out during the fine spell, and great bombing of ammunition dumps by our air squadrons. The French success at Loche has manifestly perturbed the German high command, considerably, judging by the wireless effort to minimize it. Far behind the front the Germans are continuing to train divisions for a fresh effort and rather more than 150 divisions have been employed in the German offensive up to this time, of which nearly half have been in battle once; one-third, twice; well over a score thrice, and one division four times. The enemy's counter attack west of Merville, against the Surreys, mentioned in the communique, resulted in a fierce and very violent attack. The lifting of the barrage heralded the enemy's approach. Between the River Bourne and the Merville road the enemy succeeded in reaching our trench, one by every man who scrambled over the parapet was either killed or taken prisoner. A bombing party gained an entry on the left of the attack, but the supports promptly closed in and the Germans were outflanked on both sides. They attempted to bomb their way out with our riflemen for a considerable time, crouching and sniping them. Then the Surreys made a dash and cleared the trench of the remainder of the bombers, thirty of whom we took prisoners, as well as capturing nine machine guns.

PREPARING FOR THE BLOW.
FRENCH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, May 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The activity of German airplanes and the exceptional violence of their bombing on the Avre and in the region of Albert, are the only indications of the coming blow. The Germans have between 200 and 250 bombers in the air, one-third of their whole strength in France, viz. 64 divisions out of a total of 210. They have carried out a redistribution of their forces along the whole front and have notably withdrawn considerably in the rear. It must be borne in mind that, as before March 21, the enemy has excellent communications that will enable him to move great masses of troops a considerable distance. During the 48 hours preceding the blow his method of attack can hardly differ essentially from that of March 21. On the other hand the events of the past two months have greatly strengthened our defence and an effective surprise is scarcely possible a second time, as the intermingling of the Allied armies on the front enables us to make the best use of all our resources, while the single command ensures unity of action. The German numbers may be as imposing as before, but their reformed divisions cannot be equally as good, and the German soldier must have lost faith in overwhelming victory.

DIPHTHERIA ON THE INCREASE.
 Another case of diphtheria was reported to the Health Office this morning. The sufferer, a 14 year old girl, who resides on Stephen Street, was removed to the Hospital.

CARD OF THANKS.—Mrs. Hollands and family desire to express their deep appreciation to the many friends who sent messages of sympathy at the great grief they have sustained by their recent and heavy loss. They also feel very grateful to the Doctors, Superintendent and Nurses of the General Hospital for all their efforts to relieve and ease their late dear one—advt.ii

SO LIKE THE HUN.
BULLETIN—WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE.—May 23rd.—German airmen again have bombed heavily British hospitals in the area behind the lines and this time they killed and wounded some hundreds among the personnel and patients of many different hospitals. In the group recorded in the casualty list are the names of several Sisters, who with other women nurses stood bravely at their posts throughout a terrific deluge of explosives. This latest horror was performed Sunday night apparently by 4 squadrons of enemy airplanes, which appear to have comprised more than a score of machines. A great number of bombs were dropped about thirty per cent. of their huge affairs, which dug vast craters in the hospital grounds, and the rest high explosive straggled down by their death dealing bullets tearing in every direction through the crowded hospital tents and buildings. A chestnut airplane was brought down by gunfire, while flying at a low altitude, and the occupants were made prisoners.

War Veterans Returning.
 The following members of the Royal Nfld. Regiment, some of whom have been on active service since the outbreak of hostilities, are passengers on the incoming express due at St. John's, Capt. J. Sparrell, Sergt. G. B. Tuft, Sergt. A. C. Goodyear, Cpl. W. A. Tobin, Lt.-Cpl. J. J. Quinlan, Ptes. W. S. Keane, H. Robert, H. J. Keane, R. Robinson, E. P. Murphy, A. Stewart, J. O'Driscoll, J. Cooper, E. L. Morris, E. B. Ledrew, E. S. Walsh. Joining to the lateral of the train the demonstration of welcome will not be as large as it would be had they arrived during the day.

Caught Redhanded.
 Four youthful thieves, three of whom have had bad police court records, occupied the sinner's seat in the Magistrate's Court this morning, namely, Bishop, Pearce, Connors and Johnson; the three former being old offenders, while the latter appeared for the first time. How the quartette came to grief was briefly told by Constables Lee and O'Flaherty, Private John Jackson of Ours', and a young man named William Halley. It appears that a number of women who visited the Star Theatre, at the purpose of attending a dance in the basement (which however was postponed), noticed a light in the top of the building and informed Pte. Jackson, who was passing at the time. Thinking it unusual, Pte. Jackson sent a young man, William Halley, to the police station and on his way along met Constables Lee and O'Flaherty and acquainted them of what he had seen. Accompanied by the police, Halley went back to the Star Theatre where Constable Lee, Halley and Pte. Jackson forced an entrance to the basement and, proceeding to the top of the building, captured Pearce and Johnson. Bishop and Connors bolted down stairs and breaking open the door on Dick's Square fell into the arms of Constable O'Flaherty. On being searched at the police station, a large quantity of cigarettes and some money was found on their persons. The thieves, however, while looting the cash box, which contained $18.88, were discovered before they had time to divide the change, which they hid in the lavatory. The entrance was made to the building by climbing on the roof of a coal shed and forcing an entrance through a window. After hearing the evidence, His Honor Judge Morris sentenced Bishop, Pearce and Connors to six months imprisonment, and Johnson to 30 days. At the conclusion of the case the Judge thanked Halley, Jackson and the police officers for their services in rounding up such desperate characters.

Big Money for the Red Cross.
 As predicted by the Telegram the sale of work and concert held by the Girls' Department of King George V. Institute at their rooms yesterday afternoon was a wonderful success as will be shown by the receipts which amounted to the handsome sum of $450, all of which is to be devoted to the Red Cross. At 4 o'clock Miss Harris in her usual gracious manner delivered an address appropriate to the occasion, after which she declared the sale open. To say that there was literally a stampede for the fancy and plain work tables, would be drawing it mildly, for as quickly as the young ladies in charge could hand out the dainty articles there was willing customers at hand to purchase. The crochet work was of an exceptional class and variety, some of the articles going at big prices. The sale of ice cream and teas helped greatly in building up the total proceeds. At 8 p.m. an enjoyable concert was held, the following taking part:—Misses Trappell, Tait, Barnes, Clouston, Dunfield, Brown, Joffe and Mr. Dawson, Miss Snelgrove acting as the accompanist. To Miss Davidson, Matron, and to the 20 odd young ladies who worked indefatigably to make the affair successful, congratulations are due.

Reply to Democrat.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir, — Your correspondent "Democrat" in yesterday's issue of the Telegram had a long and denunciatory article of the Government under the title of "Fairness and Patriotism" containing a considerable amount of camouflage but not a single constructive idea that warrants his readers in coming to any other conclusion than that he himself does not believe what he preaches. If patriot means "one who loves and faithfully serves his country" may I ask "Democrat" if he claims to be such? At a time like the present when a Conscription Act which is not popular in a good many quarters, is about to be put into force is it good patriotism to enter into a tirade of abuse of the Government with such epithets as "a bunch of political parasites," "squanderers of public funds, profiteers, plunderers enriching themselves by thousands of dollars," "political abusers," "title chasers," "speculators" and "place hunters." Surely a most detestable and utterly unpatriotic course to follow at the present time when hostility to the enforcement of the Conscription Act could easily be generated into violence. If "Democrat" would like to see Macaulay's dream realized in Newfoundland "and none were for a party and all were for the State" let him set the example. Sink all differences for a while and with a long pull, and a strong pull and all pulling together get over the crucial time confronting us, and then if things warrant have a little political excitement for ourselves afterwards.

"Democrat" quotes largely from Mr. Coaker's criticism of Water Street on its attitude towards the War Profits Tax Bill and further along says "these patriots (from Water Street) have during the past session of the Assembly been Mr. Coaker's best friends." What camouflage? He does not tell us that even if they are his best friends that did not prevent the Government of which Mr. Coaker is a prominent member from putting through the War Profits Bill which has realized for the country $400,000 the past year from war profits. He does not tell us that even if they are his "best friends" it did not prevent the Government from curbing the powers of the Upper House so as to make it more amenable to the will of the people. He does not tell us that the National Government has made another new departure in the collecting of revenue through the introduction of the income tax which will lift the burden of $750,000 extra for war expenditure from the backs of the poorer classes and place it on the backs of those better able to bear it. Nor did he say anything of the decision of the Government to raise as much of its new loan within the country as can be got and thereby save hundreds of thousands of dollars leaving the country, that will go towards increasing the earning power of every citizen who wishes to invest in the new loan and that the Government is soon to start its campaign in this direction, which I trust, Mr. Editor, will be before the fishermen leave for the Labrador and the Straits.

"The extension of the life of the present rump parliament is just one example of many crimes done in the name of patriotism." It was not a crime. But it is true, oh Democrat, the extension was done in the name of patriotism. Admitting it were unconstitutional, which I am not prepared to admit, have you never read the lines of Lowell written during the time of the great crisis in the United States over questions of Constitution and State Rights relating to slavery. Said Lowell:—

"Though we break our father's promise
We have nobler duties first,
The traitor to Humanity is the traitor
most accused.
Man is more than Constitutions—
Better rot beneath the sod, then be true to Church and State
While we're doubly false to God.

It was the bounden duty of the Government, in the face of the great crisis confronting the Empire and the cause of Democracy and Humanity, to throw overboard its plans of holding an election this year, and see that Newfoundland did not fail to respond to the call of Lloyd George for "More men" to help save the situation for those principles we hold so dearly. I am glad the Government had the courage to adopt the course it has taken, not only in providing the men, but in postponing for another year the election thereby removing an obstacle that would have considerably hampered the successful operation of the Conscription Act.

Yours truly,
GEO. F. GRIMES.
St. John's, May 22nd, 1918.
