Town and County News.

CURLING MEETING.—Don't forget the Curling Meeting this evening. See advertisement.

NEAL DOW IN ROCKWOOD.—The Hon. Neal Dow will give a public lecture on temperance in Rockwood on Wednesday evening, the 23rd inst., when he will be sure to have a good audience.

CONTRACTORS.—In the prize list of the Guelph Central Exhibition, in the class of Leicester shearing rams, Mr. Thomas Easton, Nassagawaga, took the first prize, and not the third as we had it. John Snell and Son took the second and third, and J. Symons, Aston, the fourth.

We understand that an investigation was held on Saturday in Fergus into the alleged assault upon one of Miss Rye's children, and that the charge was dismissed. It is said that this was done because of an informality in the information or indictment, and that the case will be brought up again.

HORSE EPIDEMIC.—Mr. Spiers, V. S., requests us to contradict the statement in yesterday's Herald regarding the death of Mr. Soden's horse. The animal, we are glad to say, is not only not dead, but so much improved in health as to be able to be driven in the cab to-day. We notice that the epidemic is universal throughout the Province, but does not seem to prove fatal when proper remedies are used in time.

The Audience at the Late Inquest.
To the Editor of the Daily Mercury.
Sir,—While the inquest of Friday evening last is fresh in the mind of the public, I am desirous of drawing attention to one fact in connection therewith, which strongly impressed me, as it did also others who were present. I allude to the fact that the public consisted chiefly of boys and young men apparently under twenty years of age.

Now, Sir, looking not only at the delicate nature of the enquiry in itself, but particularly at the medical evidence, with the explanations and replies which Dr. Keating was obliged to give, having reference to the possibility of foul play, I would ask, is it right to have as listeners an audience such as I have indicated above?

As an Englishman, I yield to none in my dislike of anything which might be construed into a secret inquisition, and if the attendance at this inquest had essentially consisted of those who would be expected to take a legitimate interest in such a case as a matter of social law and morality, I would be the last to complain, but when, with all charity, it can only be supposed that so many came with no other object than the gratification of an idle or morbid curiosity, would it not have been better, if it were impracticable to draw any line as to admission, rather to sit with closed doors than thus, indirectly, to instill into the minds of our youth, contaminating lessons and illustrations of crime, even to the extent of showing how it may be committed, almost with impunity, should the temptation present itself to them.

I do not know how far the coroner's discretionary power extends, but at any rate he did exercise it.

I feel somewhat diffident in thus taking up such a matter, but am encouraged to do so by the knowledge that others feel quite as strongly as I do my myself. A few remarks from your pen, Mr. Editor, would probably have a good effect, should any similar circumstances unhappily arise in the future.

I am, Sir, yours very truly,
ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Sinking of a Passenger Steamer on Lake Michigan.
Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—A private despatch from Racine, Wis., says that a boat with eleven men has just arrived there from the propeller Lac La Belle, which foundered about twenty miles off that place this morning. The passengers by the boat think that all the boats are safe and that there are but few, if any, lives lost.

Later.—Another private despatch from Racine says that another boat from the Lac La Belle including the Captain, H. W. Thomas, and the Purser, Wm. Sanderson. Four or five boat-loads and one rafter left the wreck. Two of the boats started to the southward, one to the northward, and the course of the others is unknown. One of the boats was filled principally with ladies. The vessel sprung a leak at midnight and went down at 2 p.m. She was heavily laden with flour, grain and pork.

Milwaukee, Oct. 14.—A despatch from Racine, dated 10 o'clock to-night says one of the boats with persons saved from the wreck of the Lac La Belle has come ashore all right. There are two boats yet to hear from. They have probably come ashore out of reach of the telegraph.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 14.—The second engineer of the Lac La Belle, who was in one of the boats which has arrived here, gives the following account of the disaster: They left Milwaukee at nine o'clock last night, about midnight the steamer sprung a leak and made water rapidly; there were about twenty-five passengers on board, including seven ladies and children; crew worked hard all night, and threw considerable cargo overboard, but finding the steamer about to sink they prepared to take to life-boats, of which there were five; the men were, however, tired, having worked all night without anything to eat, and suffered from cold; when the last boat left the steamer I saw five men left on her when she went down. I saw four of them in the water, one clinging to a piece of timber; I think they must have been lost, as we could give no assistance without danger of swamping our boat; two out of five of the boats drifted towards Kenosha.

London, Oct. 15.—The San Jacinto, the pioneer store ship of the line to be established between Galveston and Liverpool, was launched on Saturday. The San Antonio, another vessel for this line, is nearly completed.

The business portion of the town of Sing Sing, N. Y., has been destroyed by fire.

SUNDAY LIQUOR LAW IN CHICAGO.—In conformity with an order of the public authorities the enforcement of the Sunday liquor law was partially carried out on Sunday last. The larger proportion of saloons keeping their blinds down and their front doors locked. The result was a marked decrease in drunkenness on the streets, and the arrests made by the police for that offence were one-third less than the usual number on Sundays.

Mary E. Wade has sued the Mayor of Brooklyn for an alleged breach of promise to marry her, and lays the damages at $150,000. Miss Wade must put a very high value either on herself or the Mayor, it is hard to say which, but we presume she has a stronger penchant for the cash than she has for the magistrate. She estimates her loss, it seems, in not getting a mayor for a husband at the enormous sum of $150,000! She is really an object of pity.

The late war is said to have caused the death of 116,000 French soldiers, and (according to the Angewandte Gazette, and the Berlin Statistical Bureau) of 200,000 German combatants. Following this data, if the corpses of the victims could have been laid side by side, they would have formed a line of about 150 miles, or a surface of 300,000 square yards. The aggregate bulk would be represented by 68,000 cubic yards, and if the grim bodies could have been piled on one another, they would have formed a column of about 30 miles in height.

A Big Fair in Detroit in 1873.—A movement is being made by influential men of Detroit and other places in Michigan to bring about what they term a world's fair, or universal exposition of art, science, mechanical contrivances, the production of the soil and live stock, next year—in fact a repetition upon a moderate scale of those wonderful exhibitions inaugurated in old London in 1857. If the promoters will only drop the more pretentious feature of the idea, and set earnestly about what under any circumstances the affair really would become an international display, with the United States and Canada as the contributors, we see no reason why it should not result in something highly advantageous to the neighbouring city, and of a character and extent to reflect credit upon both countries. A point more adapted for the purpose could not be selected, inasmuch as Detroit is immediately accessible by rail or water from all the great centres of wealth, intelligence, trade and manufactures, and is peopled with a class proverbial for liberality in all public enterprises.—Windsor Record

The St. John (N. B.) Daily News speaks of a very malignant disease, which appears to be baffling the skill of physicians. It is very prevalent at present in Cambridge, Queen's county. It says:—A young man named McKelvie died of diphtheria in this city some time during the early summer, and his body was taken to his home in Queen's county for burial. Against the advice of the physician and friends the family insisted on opening the coffin to see the corpse before burial, knowing full well that the disease of which he died was said to be infectious. A little later several members of the same family took the disease and died in a very few days, despite all that physicians could do for them. Now intelligence reaches us that the disease has spread to other families; that Mr. William Briggs, of the same place, has buried his whole family of four children within a very short time, and the disease is still spreading. About 12 years ago the same locality was visited by a disease very like the present, which carried off vast numbers of young and middle-aged of the parish, in some cases several members of the same family having been buried in one grave. It is to be hoped that the disease may be stayed, and that the calamity of 1850 may not be about to re-visit that people.

Erin Quarterly Fair.

The Erin quarterly fair was held in Erin Village, on Monday, 7th inst., when it was generally admitted that there were more cattle on the ground than at any preceding fair for some time past. This may be accounted for by the scarcity of feed in this section of the country, both in fodder and roots. Farmers wishing to get free from wintering more cattle than they could possibly help, would rather sell them at reduced prices. It was even surprising to see such a large number of good-looking cattle together; when we consider that the grass in this section was completely parched by the drought and scorching sun for about three months of this season. There were a number of buyers present who bought what they could of fair quality, and for reasonable prices. The following are only a very few of the sales effected: Neil McKinlon, 13 head for $500; Wm. Wilson, two steers for $77; Joseph Nurr, 1 steer, $47; James Long, 1 steer $49; Lachlan McLean, 1 cow $39; Wm. Walker, 2 steers $62.50; Wm. Blackwood, 2 steers $55; Mr. McKeechnie, 1 cow, $22; C. McArthur, 1 cow, $20.

West Garafraxa Show.

This Show was held at the Village of Douglas on Wednesday, the 9th inst. The attendance was larger than at any previous show we have been at for some years. The day was very pleasant, the roads in good condition, and everything went off well.

There was a fair show of horses, especially in the younger classes. Not many cattle were exhibited, and in several of the classes there is considerable room for improvement. Grades were very fair. Some fine sheep and several excellent pigs were exhibited.

There was a fine display of implements for a township show.

The grain, roots, ladies' work, &c., were displayed to fine advantage in the large and commodious Drill Shed, which has just been completed, and which when plastered and floored will be found of the greatest convenience for the holding of all public meetings, &c. in the place.

There was a small but fine display of butter. The roots, especially turnips, were very large and well grown; other roots were good. There was quite an assortment of ladies' work, and domestic manufactures, which showed that the ladies of the township continue to take a deep interest in the Show, and which helped to set off the appearance of the hall.

Propeller Burned.

Kenosha, Oct. 14. The propeller China left here last evening about six o'clock, bound up, having on board 300 tons of pig iron and a quantity of merchandise. When about fourteen miles out she was discovered to be on fire.

Notwithstanding the utmost efforts of the crew and the assistance rendered by two steamers close at hand, she burned to the water's edge, and is supposed to have sunk. All hands were saved. The cause of the fire is unknown. It had made great headway before being discovered. She is said to be insured for $27,000, which will not cover the loss.

The vessel belonged to Mr. John Proctor, Hamilton, and was launched last May. She was valued at $86,000.

Successful Immigration Movement.

The Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants in England have, it is well known, been engaged for some time past in sending out a number of the men who were dismissed owing to the strike of the London and North West servants to Canada, a sum of 26 having been advanced to each emigrant on his permissory note. Every week batches of these ex-employees have been passed out under the auspices of the society, and it has recently occurred to its members that a great impetus would be given to their work by a public demonstration, at which the servants of all the lines running into London, and also those of several provincial companies, should be represented. At a meeting of the society, the President, Dr. Baxter Langley, advocated the establishment of an emigration fund, and encouraged the men to help their fellows. A resolution to assist the men, forty-five in number, still out of employment, was passed, and arrangements were made to send out another party of emigrants.

The society, though only established last March, now numbers, including its provincial branches, 27,000 members, and possesses an aggregate capital of £20,000. It was also announced that it was intended to send out 300 railway servants in the spring.—London Telegraph

Board of School Trustees.

The Board met on Monday night. Present, Mr. Peterson, Chairman, Messrs Knowles, Harvey, Stevenson, Armstrong, Inglis, Mitchell, Dr. McGuire and Dr. Keating.

The Secretary read a communication from the assistant teacher of the High school, in reference to his salary. Referred to Finance Committee.

The Secretary read a communication from the French and German Teacher, giving a report of the number of pupils in the public schools receiving instruction in these languages. The number in French are 54, and in German 65.

The Secretary read the report of the Principal of the High School, giving the following report of attendance at the school for the month of September. Number of boys in English, course 3, classical 38-41; girls, English 2, classical 1-3; total English 5, classical 39.

Mr. Knowles presented the report of the School Property Committee. They report having made certain improvements in some of the schools; that they have appointed James Graham caretaker of the High, West and North Ward Schools, at the rate of $22 per month, for the winter months. The Committee think it can be done for less in summer, therefore they have not made a yearly arrangement. The committee have sent five cords of wood to the South Ward School, the other schools not requiring any.

The Inspector presented his report of the quarterly examinations of the public schools, with the list of the promotions, and also the attendance at the different schools in September, showing 961 names on the roll, viz. 454 boys and 507 girls. The attendance for that month is considerably larger than for any other month during the year.

The Board then adjourned.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

A grand ball is to be given by His Excellency the Governor-General at the Parliament Buildings some day next week, probably on Friday, the 25th. The decorations of the building, and the arrangements for illuminating the Government House and the Simcoe Street Arch, remain in statu quo, to be used on the night of the ball. On Saturday the Countess of Dufferin and Lady Harriet Fletcher paid a visit to the Orphans' Home, Toronto, which they inspected. They were highly pleased with the results of their inspection, and gratified to find such an excellent institution flourishing in the metropolis of Ontario.

THE LATE MR. SEWARD.

Business in all the Public Departments was suspended on Monday, the buildings were draped with mourning, and flags at half-mast. Gen. Grant sent the following telegram to Gen. W. H. Seward, at Auburn:—"I condole with you and the nation in the loss of a kind father and an eminent statesman. His services to the country have become a part of its history. I regret that I cannot attend the funeral to-day, and participate in the last earthly honors to the remains of the distinguished patriot statesman."

There were a number of buyers present who bought what they could of fair quality, and for reasonable prices. The following are only a very few of the sales effected: Neil McKinlon, 13 head for $500; Wm. Wilson, two steers for $77; Joseph Nurr, 1 steer, $47; James Long, 1 steer $49; Lachlan McLean, 1 cow $39; Wm. Walker, 2 steers $62.50; Wm. Blackwood, 2 steers $55; Mr. McKeechnie, 1 cow, $22; C. McArthur, 1 cow, $20.

WEST GARAFRAXA SHOW.

This Show was held at the Village of Douglas on Wednesday, the 9th inst. The attendance was larger than at any previous show we have been at for some years. The day was very pleasant, the roads in good condition, and everything went off well.

There was a fair show of horses, especially in the younger classes. Not many cattle were exhibited, and in several of the classes there is considerable room for improvement. Grades were very fair. Some fine sheep and several excellent pigs were exhibited.

There was a fine display of implements for a township show.

The grain, roots, ladies' work, &c., were displayed to fine advantage in the large and commodious Drill Shed, which has just been completed, and which when plastered and floored will be found of the greatest convenience for the holding of all public meetings, &c. in the place.

There was a small but fine display of butter. The roots, especially turnips, were very large and well grown; other roots were good. There was quite an assortment of ladies' work, and domestic manufactures, which showed that the ladies of the township continue to take a deep interest in the Show, and which helped to set off the appearance of the hall.

ERIN QUARTERLY FAIR.

The Erin quarterly fair was held in Erin Village, on Monday, 7th inst., when it was generally admitted that there were more cattle on the ground than at any preceding fair for some time past. This may be accounted for by the scarcity of feed in this section of the country, both in fodder and roots. Farmers wishing to get free from wintering more cattle than they could possibly help, would rather sell them at reduced prices. It was even surprising to see such a large number of good-looking cattle together; when we consider that the grass in this section was completely parched by the drought and scorching sun for about three months of this season. There were a number of buyers present who bought what they could of fair quality, and for reasonable prices. CHAPTER XXI.

A DARK ECLIPSE FOLLOWED BY A WONDERFUL BREAKING OF THE LIGHT.

"Come now," he added, "let us sit down and let me understand this amazing enigma, for, as you may easily suppose, my astonishment and curiosity are both unbounded."

"So I should fancy," laughed, as the two friends seated themselves, one each side of Lillias, whose sweetly beautiful face beamed with an expression of utmost happiness, as her fond glances were alternately directed to her brother and her lover.

"Now, then, what does it all mean?" exclaimed George. "How does my friend Harry Markham turn out to be the brother of my darling Lillias, and I never to know it till now? Has my Lillias been in some way guilty, or not guilty?"

"Guilty," replied Lillias, with a bright blush. "I know all about you ere you came to Ardgowan, for Harry and I have always corresponded, and he made me his confidant in everything."

"Ah, in everything," George, added Harry. "Lillias knows as much about the past as the 'discovery' as we do ourselves, about our life in Edinburgh, our friendship, about Caroline, and my marriage."

"Ah, then I was no stranger to you when I came to Ardgowan?"

"Did I receive you as a stranger?" said Lillias, archly. "Do you remember our meeting in the library?"

"I do, and how your kind manner and charming frankness captivated me."

"And did it never strike you, dear George, that had I really known nothing about you previously, my conduct on that occasion was very unbecoming and un-maidenly?"

"No, never. I saw in it only your natural goodness and kindness of nature. But I can give it a fuller interpretation now. And so you knew me beforehand!"

"Most certainly," exclaimed Harry. "She had your personal description, your character, your history, everything about you."

"And," added George, smiling, "considering the source whence her information was derived, I suspect she found it far too favorable. Tell me, Lillias, was the portrait not grossly flattering to the original?"

"The answer for it she found precisely the reverse," said Harry. "One thing, however, is certain—she was ready to fall in love with you at the first moment."

"Oh, Harry, how can you?" cried Lillias.

"Well, if you were not, I meant that you should. I wished it, and hoped it. Yes, George, I wished that you and Lillias might come to love each other, for I knew how your natures suited, and I cannot tell what joy it gives me to know that my wish has been granted."

"But I am no nearer the understanding of the mystery," said George. "How does it come to pass that you are Lillias' brother, and why have you so carefully concealed it till now?"

"For no evil purpose, I assure you," replied Harry.

"Nay, that assurance is not needed. I know you too well to imagine it for a moment. But you must have some reason, and I am curious to know what it was."

"So you shall. And that you may understand it the better, I will go back many years—to the time when I left Ardgowan. Your residence here, George, has given you a knowledge of our father and stepmother; you can imagine whether I had a comfortable or congenial home."

CAUTION.

The Cornwall Manufacturing Company have pleasure in intimating the complete restoration of their works at Cornwall which are now in full operation, producing large quantities of White and Grey Blankets, and Heavy Medium Class Tweeds.

They regret, however, having again to call attention of the public to the continuance of the disreputable practice of importing English Blankets and selling them as Canadian. These Blankets are made largely of Shoddy and Cotton Waste, with a small percentage of pure Wool, and though slightly in appearance, closely imitating the Cornwall Blankets, and ticketed "Canadian Manufacture," have neither warm nor wear, but can be sold at a lower price than the Cornwall Blankets (which are made of Pure Wool) can produce for.

The public are cautioned against this attempted deception, and respectfully informed that the name of the CORNWALL MANUFACTURING COMPANY is printed on the ticket of every Blanket made by them. Cornwall, Sept. 16th 1872
