Every representative will be notified of the memorial services, and their presence is expected at the funeral. Hon. Dr. Reid and Hon. Frank Cochrane will represent the federal cabinet at the different services, altho it is understood that many members of the Ottawa House will be present to tender their personal respects. Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario, died at his home, 113 St. George street, at noon yesterday, following a cerebral hemorrhage. The attack was sudden and unexpected both by his medical advisers and those who have een in close touch with him for the past few weeks. The news of his passing came to his associates in the midst of a council session, with the same shock as to the province at large. Ten minutes after the word of his dangerous turn had been given to the cabinet about the council board, one of the ministers was in the room with him, but he was several minutes too late. miership. There was no rally from the attack and no time granted either to summon

News Was a Great Shock. According to the statement of Hon. Dr. Pyne, who sped across the park in a car at the reception of the news, the shock to friends and relatives was accentuated by the promising condition of Sir James' health earlier in the day. He had been apporently well in the morning and had taken breakfast as usual. Altho he had shown a little restlessness, his condition was taken to be improving, and the impression grew that he might be walking about in a few days. It was the opinion of Dr. Pyne that the exertion caused by moving about his room after rising from bed hastened the end; Lady Whitney and Miss Whitney were with him during the last moments,

The cabinet met in the afternoon, and acting in conjunction with immediate friends of the family, made arrangements for the funeral.

Body to Lie in State. It was decided that in view of the intense interest of the province in the premier, the body should lie in state in the chamber of the legislature on Monday. Here the public will feel free to enter and tender last tributes of respect. On Tuesday morning a special service will be held in St. James' Cathedral, where Sir James attended, and a special train will then convey the body to Morrisburg, where interment will be made in the family buried plot. The afternoon service will take place in the Whitney Memorial Church on the banks of the St. Lawrence. At the special request of the family flora; tributes will not be sent.

The news of the premier's death spread thruout the city and province with amazing rapidity. Messengers scudding about the parliament buildings with unaccustomed celerity, the hasty despatch of telegrams and the lower-

The military authorities naturally refuse to permit the disclosure of the exact position of the fighting, but it is generally known that the battle now progressing is of prime importance.

DOGGED FIGHTING CONTINUES.

Meanwhile at other parts of the battle line, which is about 120 miles long, fighting continued today in dogged fashion. The alied troops followed the example set by the Germans and dug themselves deeply in.

wonderful precision of the German fire in a spy discovered in their ines who signaled directions. He was caught and immediately shot. All the troops appear to have become thoroly hardened and accustomed to conditions. The commissariat and the ammunition supply departments are working perfectly. While the soldiers are occupying the advanced firing lines they are scarcely ever without one hot meal a day, which is brought to them in camp kettles from the field kitchens. TROOPS BECOME HARDENED.

The British artillery officers praise highly the gunnery of their opponents. They declare that the German shells almost always burst at accurate range, but often too high to do damage. The soldiers take occasional spelts of repose when in deep trenches, smoking pipes and cigarets, for a ration of tobacco is served regularly. Meanwhile shells tear overhead with a sound like the ripping of parchment.

TREACHERY PUNISHED.

British officers relate an incident which, they say, occurred during twil.ght last evening. A large force of German infantry, when surrounded by a British oattalion, held up their hands in token of surrender. The British approached to take them prisoners, when, it is said, the Germans reopened fire. The British officers ordered their men to lie down, which they did. Then three British machine guns were brought into action and killed every German in that portion of

IMPORTANT RAILWAY CENTRE.

Tergnier, mentioned in the communique, is an important railway point on the River Oise. A French army and two British corps are making herculean efforts to pierce the German lines here. The turning movement against the German right has proved so expensive that infantry assaults have been practically discontinued for the present, but the allies' artillery is playing night and day on the German trenches. The main attempt is now directed at the German line of communication. If the forces of Von Kluk and Von Boehm can be separated, the original movement will have succeeded. If this result eventuates, Von Kluk must fall back precipitately on Von Buelow's army, or give battle with enemies on three sides of a square. It is not believed that Von Boehm could make any kind of effective resistance if the allies divide his lines.

RHEIMS AGAIN BOMBARDED.

The bombardment of Rheims and its famous cathedral is again under way. This is in answer to the advance of the French centre, designed to relieve pressure on the line of forts from Verdun to Toul,

The presence of German reserve and landwehr corps on the fighting line lends color to the report that the German defence is slack-

One of the most sensational reports of the war, which comes from semi-official sources, is to the effect that a French general was shot by order of court-martial for faiture to support the British in the early days of the fighting. It is recalled that in the first detailed report of and that the rule of leaving disabled ships to their own resources is appliwith disaster when aid failed to arrive at a critical moment. It was then General Smith-Dorrien earned fame thru his stubborn stand in the face of overwhelming numbers. The report of General French was rather vague as to the cause of this near catastrophe, which caused the loss of many lives needlessly, but it now appears that the French commander ordered to support the British would not open the despatch bearing this order, because it emanated from a junior officer who had been promoted over his head. as follows:

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, Sept. 25.—Almost simultaneously the two great hammer strokes in the battle in northern France have fallen, and some decisive result must before long be announced.
The allies have struck the German right wing, and the Germans, on their part, have hurled themselves against the French line between Verdun and Toul. Should either stroke be driven home the battle will be decided.

The commencement of these two at tacks in earnest was disclosed by the French official statement 'ssued this afternoon, but little is told of how they are progressing. The action against the German right is described as avery violent general one, in which the French left encountered an army corps com-posed of troops which the Germans brought from the centre of Lorraine and the Vosges.

The clash occurred in the district between Tergnier and St. Quentin, so that the French have made a considerable advance to the northwest since the last mention was made of this part of their army. The country is a rolling one, intersected by streams, canals and a perfect network of roads running in all directions.

Partial German Success. The French report admits that the Germans have succeeded in gaining a footing on the Meuse heights, and have pushed forward in the direction of St. Mihiel, bombarding the forts of Paroches and the Roman camp which face each other across the Meuse. The communication, however, adds that, on the other hand, to the south of Verdun the French remain masters of the heights of the Meuse, and that their troops, debouching from Toul, have advanced in the region of Beaumont.
In the centre, to the east of Rheims, the French have made some progress, but elsewhere nothing of importance has happened, so far as is shown in the official reports, and no other information is available, as the strictest con-sorship has now been established. Rapid Promotions.

SIR JAMES WHITNEY IS DEAD HISEND CAME VERY QUICKLY

In Fairly Good Health on Thursday, He Was Seized With a Cerebral Hemorrhage at Noon Yesterday and Soon Passed Away.

When a statesman dies the sense of loss is deeply and universally experienced. So it is with the death of Sir James Whitney. There will be felt in the hearts of the people a great regret at the death of one who had served his country as a man.

Of the splendid service of the premier there is no question. From his first appearance in public life he took a stand for the things that make towards a country's good. From the inception of the Whitney government its course has been marked by sane, sound legislation, calculated to make the lot of the inhabitants of this province healthier and happier than that of predecessors or neighbors. Ontario under his reign has bloomed and blossomed as a rose.

Hydro Power His Work.

His policy included the inauguration, progress and accomplishment, under provincial control and ownership, of the system by which the water powers of every quarter have been turned into light and energy and the wheels of a thousand various industries set buzzing in towns and cities. Today its extension to the farm threatens to revolutionize agricultural pursuit. His policy raised the University of Toronto to a standing ground of efficiency and service as a state instructor; cut the price of school books to a minimum; created a general reform in license law and carried out the regulations with marked vigor and fidelity; gave the municipalities the right to wipe out the bars with local option well enforced; carried on the T.N.O. Railway to the success of the north country under J. L. Englehart; developed the most outstanding humanitarian legislation on the continent in the prison reform of Hon. W. J. Hanna, and convinced the world at large that here, if ever, was an administration with an honesty of purpose and an uprightness of character that could not be questioned. Added to this are the workmen's compensation bill, remarked as of world significance, the gigantic road policy for old Ontario and equally important measures which will approach fruition in the coming year.

DOMINANT PERSONALITY.

A dominant personality was that of the leader. There were both physical and intellectual reasons for this. In physique he approached the physical and intellectual reasons for this. In physique he approached the robustness of frame and freshness of complexion of the traditional English gentleman. His temper also in its sudden bursting forth and short duration supports the comparison, but, as one has said, these little singularities serve as foils that rather set off than blemish his good qualities.

Above all he was fearless. No deputation awed him and no political organization changed his decision, once made.

"We stand upon the impregnable foundation represented by the rights and powers of the people of Ontario thru the legislature, and therefore we fear no attacks from any quarter," was the position taken early in administration and retained to his end.

If it is claimed that his reforms came slowly, it is only fair to say that est possible blessing of the day. The whirlwind spirit of the twentieth century which breeds idealists like flies was not potent enough to hurry him into ill-considered reform measures.

There is no denying that he held the masses. When the times came

The substitution of the premier by opposition papers was defeated. He can could only be construed as a term it could only be construed

There is no denying that he held the masses. When the times came to test it their overwhelming confidence was unanswerable. The longer he sat in power the more steadfast did their support become. Ontario. leaving all darker days behind, felt that here was a man behind a speech that could be neither bought, bullied, nor cheated. He owed this power to the frank courage of his convictions.

As one has said, he was impatient of opposing opinions. His own were tried and tested and he was pretty well convinced that they could not be shaken. Legislative history in the province has shown that he was justified in his belief, and that all things were working gradually towards to the the common good.

Influence Felt Everywhere.

And he will be missed. There is no man who stood behind it. counting up the many corners of pubhis thoughtfulness have been felt. It is not a years ince the condition of his health gave the province a violent vrench. The solemn tolling of Toronto church bells one snowy winter afternoon stirred a sense of profound grief, and turned a hundred pulpit ades to themes of mortality when at was thought that he was dead. But the struggle of the premier on a sick ended-even when all medical counsellors thought so. Sir James battled then, even as he had before in combats of lighter portent, and he won out.

Sympathy of Province. But the nature of that struggle somehow reached out with a wonderfully appealing force to the vast sympathy of the province. In a thousand minds man in an alien town striving for life, ness, worrying over affairs of his home country. It was as it every good man of Omtario, going about his task, could the whole setting, and the words of Browning came involuntarily to the "I was ever a fighter, so-one fight more, the best and the last."

A Whitney Victory. And so Sir James, a little grayer and more frail, came back to his own land, went again before the people and was returned with a surge of popular sentiment that established hi vernment firmly, for anothers pan of The election of 1914 was essentially a Whitney victory. Even tho issue was brought into the field, the province could not see it in

The grim life and death struggle of the people's statesman in a New York hotel began it all; his appearance in Massey Hall as one who had come up out of the valley of the shadow completed it. It was not so much but it was Sir James Whitney who had come again into his own. Foremost in House.

Str James Whitney was the foremost man in all the house. The interest of the whole assembly was centred in him. When the fire of discussion waned and the last few dropping shots of dialog died away, that was the moment when the premier usually rose. Then government members, leaning back in confidence, composed themselves to comfort, the opposition, restlessly expectant, scarce concealed its interest, and the babitue of the gallery leaning forward, hand to ear, waited eagerly the summary of the whole argument. For apart from the prestige and authority of office. the position of the premier was unique Leader of All.

His personality dominated the house Leader of the government, he was em-phatically the leader of his own cabinet. Every piece of legislation which passed to the people bore the stamp of his judgicent upon it. Every decree of the Whi ney government seemed to

To none more than to the stranger in the house was the figure of the prime minister one of ceaseless interest. Brusque in manner, even per-emptory, his movements were always quick and direct. Rarely, too, did he sit at repose. When not busily driving a pen or perusing documents, his fav-orite attitude was sitting with his tion to get a full view of the house But he did not sit still long, as a rule.

His Sudden Actions. Coming suddenly to his feet. would check the misstatement of an opponent grown bold in his oratory, he might be seen the next moment along the government aisle talking to a northern member.

Then, too, on some drowsy afteroon, when the debate dragged weariand attention wandered, a tremendous drumming on the desks would an ounce that Sir James had arisen, and deepy members would at once arouse to vigilance. Much has been said and ritten of Sir James' style of oratory. Blunt and forceful it has been called, and rightly; but even more is it crushing in its directness. Brevity he acknowledged to the house on several ccasions had always been to him the maxim of public addresses, and he vas brief even to epigram. The terseness of his speech, too, accentuated a marked power of discernment which he possessed.

Quickness in Argument, None was quicker than he to see oint in the armor; none so capable of leaving to the heart of an issue. In decisive fashion was this instanced again and again. From a great logjem of promiscuous charges the prenier would pick the key-log at the outlet, and with an amazing directness of assault he would bring the whole mass tumbling like a house of cards This capacity even his enemies acknowledged. As one frequently said of the Conservative party which received him. "The convincing power of his provincial endorsement at the June addresses is remarkable. Twenty min-Twenty minutes will serve him where another desires an hour."

Power of Sarcasm. One marked feature of Sir James speech was his power of sarcasm. No ongue in the house could more skilfully turn a statement to good account, and no irony bite more keenly han his. But withal his style was not gentle. When Sir James was fighting a measure thru there was no mistaking his determination. It was not a matter of delicate swordplay, but of give and take with a vengeance, and every man to lay on his best. So it was 1640. that he delighted in an opponent who prided himself on a rapier wit rising up before him. He rejoiced in the occasion even as the old British broadsword man loved to have at the Italian fencing master. It was a matter of ludgeoning and he bludgeoned them with sardonic laughter. But his shafts were loosed without bitterness. They drove home, but they did not rankle. Autocrat a Compliment. One of the favorite appellations vince of which he was not aware. But he knowledge of the premier did not deter the initiative of the ministry, rather encouraged it. The whole idea was to introduce the system of sucessful business institutions into the overnment. Politics was no longer a eld for the statesman to cavort in to the delight or disapproval of the commind of Sir James, and it is in this fact that the people of Ontario and their descendants may find greatgratitude that such man was ever chosen to lay his corner stone of sound practical administra

An Honest Man. There was another reason widespread grasp of the departments which was always maintained by the premier. When plain Mr. Whitney came into power it was, as the province knew, with one object above all—to form an 'honest' administration. Ontario, he felt, had experienced political crookedness in that it had gone forever, and so he started out as chief inspector of his own plant, every department, even unto the end and his whole regime was directed to the disout the faintest suggestion of anything corrupt. Not to the end of his adminis nent breathe any suspicion of the pre-Civil Service Helped.

Apart from the province at large and number of people who rejoice in an in-imate acquaintance with Sir James, there is one section that could not well be unmentioned in referring to his rela-tionships. The civil service body migni almost be said to swear by their premier. To the workers in the buildings he was always the same, and his recognition of them was rarely at fault, tho it might not be suspected. The life of the civil servant has never been happier than un-der the Whitney government. It is well recognized that one of the bills merely awaiting the sanction of the house on its assembly next month is to provide for competent superannuation of those who have done their work in the service. Instances of the personal interest that Sir James took in his associates in the buildings are not wanting. T.me and have little things been done which showed that his interest was not simulated.
"I have been here for twenty-five years," stated one of the older men in the building," and in that time have never known a premier who was so k.nd-heart-ed and thoughtful of his employes. He was, in addition, the hardest worker of

The first prominent step in his life occurred when he was called to the bar in 1876. For ten years, plain Mr. Whitney devoted his energies to legal business and the building up of a respected practice. ROCHESTER TOOK SECOND OF SERIES

Manager Kelley is Chased Again - Hustlers Won by One Run.

Because Umpire Harrison thought that two wrongs make a right, and chiefly because the breaks were against the Leafs, the Hustlers took yesterday's battle by the score of 5 to 4. Kelley & Cowere fighting hard all the way, and Kelley was so vehement in his denunciation of His Lordship Umps, that he was again banished from the park. What looked to be a good third strike Harrison called a ball, with three on and two out, and immediately Ganzel began to holler. He subsided before anything drastic occurred, and, after fouling another, Tim stood up for the last one. It was well outside, but Harrison believed in evening up and called it a strike. Kelley's remarks were rather personal, and he departed, while the crowd roared. Time after time the locals filled the bases and looked good enough to pull out, but the breaks went against them. Ganzel was determined to get the game, and used three pitchers, while Hearn went the route for the Leafs. The score:

Chupadero had no trouble with that field in the steeplechase. The Coyle entry had the play, which was justified, as the second and third choices, March Court and F. A. Stone, also ran behind Joe Galety and Laomedon.

Birka won the first race easily, General Ben Ledi and Brandywine taking second and third in a close finish with Hoffman. Carrie Orme won the third well 'n hand. The next three had a battle for the second and show money.

The Seagram herses were a disappoint ment in the fourth, for Canada maidens, that Hermanna won by two lengths from Red Post, with Sir Arthur, John Thompson and Cannie Jean noses apart fighting

Dick's Pet was seriously intended and he sailed after the fifth without much opposition. Warlock and Olga Star, out-siders, were second and third, noses apart, Colors dropping outside in the last stride

HERE'S A CURE FOR YOU

If you get up in the morning with a dull brain, tired nerves, an ache in your back, dread of the toil and hardships of everyday life, these are signs that your vitality is at a low ebb—that some of the organs or functions of your body are in a weakened, morbid condition.

If you are a young man, and free rein for evil habits and passions has exhausted your vital energy, or if on the shady side of forty, you have not the strength and stamina that should be possessed by a man of your years, you can regain your health, strength and energy with electricity. "None are so blind as those who will not see," but if you are open to conviction and want to improve your condition, I can convince you that my Belt does all I claim for it, and even more.

You don't need to be taught that restless nights, sleeplessness, despondency, inability to concentrate your thoughts, loss of appetite, weak back, headache, pains here and there in various parts of your body, lack of energy and push, are all signs of nervous breakdown, physical debility; you know that, but what you want is a remedy that will restore the vitality that you have lost

If you have doctored and drugged and got no benefit, that's no sign that you ought to give up. Drugs can't restore your vitality. Electricity is for men like you. It's the greatest nerve builder and body builder in the

Buses — Cost Less to Run.

Smells and transportation were the chief topics for discussion at last night's meeting of Ward Seven Ratepayers' Association. In the absence of the president, Dr. Dow, A. M. Wilson, vice-president, occupied the chair.

The report of the committee on "Smells" was given in vigorous language by D'Arcy Hinds. "I was amazed when we visited the provin-cial board of health to find there by the merest chance the report submitted by them to Dr. Hastings and to read there the full confirmation of our charges against the abttoirs. It stated there that these same abattoirs are entirely responsible for the smells which have for years plagued the citizens of West Toronto and the local board of health does nothing to abate the nuisance and has put us off with excuses and proscrastinations until we have de-cided to stand it no longer. Therefore, if Dr. Hastings does not prosecute the abattoirs your committee will undertake to do his work and enter an injunction to close them up."

Disgusting Odors.

Secretary Wallis T. Pisher read some extracts from the report of the three medical experts of the provincial board of health when they recently, at Dr. Hastings' request, investigated the conditions existing. "In connection with the complaints from Ward Seven citizens re odors from abattoirs," reads the report, "we find them very well founded. We have found that disgusting and sickening odors escape from the abattoirs (naming three well-known factories in the northern section) at frequent intervals. We find that over 5000 head of cattle, in addition to hogs are slaughtered weekly at these abattoirs, and the refuse and offal is allowed to flow into the sewers. The officials working on the premises apparently become accustomed to the disgusting emanations, which are sickening to the citzens. Further," quoted the secretary, "if the provincial board of health recommend the abolition of this nuisance the local authorities or any private citzen may enter an action against the abattoirs."

In consequence of the refusal of the city council yesterday to pass the vote of $200 recommended by the board of control towards establishing a rifle range for the North Toronto Civilian Rifle Club, a meeting of the club will be held tonight in the old town hall, Eglinton, to decide on some means of raising the amount necessary. After breaking in the plate glass window of Chapman's jewelry store on Yonge street near Wilton avenue at 9.30 last evening, two men grabbed three gold watches and half a dozen valuable rings and made their escape along Wilton avenue. The robbery was a most daring one, committed at a time when Yonge street was crowded.

An eye witness to the affair said that one man hid the other while he broke thru the window with a hammer wrapped in rags, which so deadened the noise that the men had grabbed the rings and were away along Wilton avenue before the broken window was noticed. The second feature act will be Tower & Darrell, a team of fun-makers, featuring "That Red-Headed Comedienne," while the underlined attraction will be the Rose Troupe, in a sensational acrobatic novelty, "The Rising Generation;" Joe Keleey, who sings his own songs in his own original way; Arthur & Grace Terry in a skilful exhibition of lasso and rope throwing; Duncan & Evans, in sidewalk repartee: Ball & Hart, eccentric duo; Mitford & Bretz, the Roman gladiators, and others complete the entertainment.

HIPPODROME.

"The Christian and the War" will be the subject of an address by Rev. W. A. Cameron of Bloor street Baptist Church at the Sunday school hall of Parkdale Presbyterian Church next Tuesday evening. Dr. Cameron has just returned from Great Britain and a visit to the Valcartier training camp.

The first moving pictures of the Canadian contingent at Valcartier, showing the Toronto regiments and their officers, will be the headline attraction at the Hipodrome next week. This picture should make an unusually strong appeal to citizens of Toronto, giving them, as it does, the first insight into the lives of tractive young prima donna, who will their friends and relatives and the great mobilization camp. The Five Melody Monarchs and Malds are billed as the special feature. They will provide a singing, dancing and instrumental offering, Murray's canine actors are said to be particularly well trained dogs and offer many new and amusing stunts. Whipple and Hudson have an original comedy creation which is called "Spooks," and with Leonard and Haley, Jenkins and Moore, the invisible symphony orchestra and the latest photo plays complete the bill.

"The Lovemakers" is a new book by Edward Hanford, coming to the Gayety next week. The new play is called "In Russia," and is a blazing trail of merriment that has no superior. Sam Howe, as "Sim Piffke," a wandering Jew glazier, has never been cast in a better part. During the action of the production many new and novel specialties, songs, dances and musical numbers are given, that are strictly up-to-date and the very latest.

AT THE STAR.

Next week at the Star will be presented the season's greater show of modernized burlesque, when Frank Calder's "High Life Girls" will be seen in all their glitter and gay color, extravagantly gowned beauties, vaudeville stars, singing and dancing comedians and soubrettes, in a carnival program of action, song and galety, that will undoubtedly prove to be the excelsior of the year.

"LADY LUXURY" COMING.

F. C. Whitney's production of "Lady Luxury," a new musical comedy, will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre next Monday night. Mr. Whitney has spent much time and money preparing for this new venture, which he believes will be one of the most successful musical offerings of the entire season. He will be one of the most successful musical offerings of the entire season. He has discovered a new composer, William Schroeder, who has written a score which Mr. Whitney declares is as inspiring as that of "The Chocolate Soldier," yet in a lighter vein, while the book of "Lady Luxury," by Rida Johnson Young, is said to be as dainty as "Dolly Vardon." The locale and theme of "Lady Luxury," are entirely modern and up to the minute, and there are such recent acquisitions as a big tango number and a Russian ballet, in which one can perhaps see an attempt to have a little fun a la Mordkin and Pavlowa.

ROBT. B. MANTELL COMING.

A war drama, rich in patriotic sentiment and glittering with military pageantry, will be presented by Robert B. Mantell, America's foremost tragedian, at the Alexandra Theatre Monday night, No. 2. This drama is Shakspere's historical tragedy, "King John," in which Mr. Mantell, always a favorite in Toronto, has never before appeared here. The other plays to be presented during the course of the engagement are: "The Merchant of Venice," Tuesday night; "Romeo and Juliet," Thursday afternoon; "King Lear," Thursday night; "Hamlet," Saturday afternoon, and "Macbeth" Saturday night.

"LADY LUXURY."

"Lady Luxury," a new musical comedy, produced by Mr. F. C. Whitney, comes to the Princess Theatre Monday night for a week's engagement, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Lady Luxury" was written by Rida Johnson Young, the well-known authoress of half a dozen successes, and the music is by William Schroeder, Mr. Whitney declares that the music is far and away the best he has heard by any new composer in many

AUTOMOBILE BATTERY

Large Crowds of Ottawa People Bid Farewell to Men.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—The automobile battery entrained for Quebec this afternoon after motoring in from Rock-liffe and parading thru the centre of the city, where they were viewed by large crowds of people and given an enthusiastic farewell. The battery sed swiftly thru the streets, and the impression made was one of deadly efficiency rather than of showy dis-play. The 123 men, under Maj. Bru-tinet, all seem to be well selected, and the armored trucks, with the machine guns mounted on them, the ammuni-tion wagons, the truck carrying the steel gasoline barrels, and the ambu-lance car had a distinctly warlike ap-minute, and the trucks on which they are mounted are armored with heavy steel plate. There are several motor cars for the officers and a dozen bicycles for the scouts.

Henry Logan, Suffering From Melancholia, Shot Himself Thru Brain.

KINGSTON, Sept. 25 .- Henry Logan, who resided in the northern part of Hastings County at New Carlow, committed suicide by shooting himself. Logan was employed at the Corundum Mines at Burgess, and it was noticed that he was suffering apparently from a fit of melancholia. He carried a rifle arcund with him most of the time. He was working in the rock cut, and Richard Edwards was standing not more than eight feet from him when he deliberately picked up the weapon and fired a bullet thru his brain. An inquest was not considered necessary.

The Run Before the Jump

Did Germany charter the Komogata Maru, which brought the Sikhs to Canada and threatened imperial unity last summer? German officers, in conversation three years ago with Britishers, left the impression that war would follow the opening of

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

LONDON, Sept. 25.—It will be a fascinating task for the historian of the immediate future to work out the various strands of evidence which seem to be independent, and yet, when followed up, converge upon the central purpose of a pre-arranged war for the late summer of 1914, a war in which Germany should be the prime mover and instigator and Austria the dupe and the catspaw.

and instigator and Austria the dupe and the catspaw.

Of course there are some great facts patent to all the world. There is the sudden and rapid acceleration of German preparations for the last two years, the great increase eof the army with the colors and the special emergncy tax which was to bring in $50,000,000. Looking back we can see very clearly that these things were the run before the jump. No Mere Coincidence

No Mere Coincidence

Germany, at the moment of declaring war, had accumulated by processes extending over years, all the money which by borrowing and taxation she could raise, and she cannot really expect the rest of the world to believe it a mere coincidence that the crisis came along at that particular and favorable moment.

All the evidence tends to show that the long planned outbreak, the "letting go" as it was called in Germany, was carefully prepared for that particular date, and that the Bosnian assassination had nothing whatever to do with the matter. A pretext could be very easily found, as General von Bernhardi remarks, and if the Crown Prince of Austria were still alive and well, we should none the less have found ourselves at death grips with the kaiser over the Belgian infraction. In Peace Prepared

There are a number of small indications which will have to be investing and accumulated by the inquiring stream of the competition called "The Prince Henry tour."

It was a very singular experience and was in itself not without some political meaning, since it could hardly have been by chance that a German gunboat should appear at Agadir at the very instant when the head of the German navy was making himself very agreeable to a number of military motor cars were sent over a tour of hospitality thru both countries.

I refuse to believe it was chance, and it was a remarkable example of the detail to which Germans can descend. British car and a British officer in each German one during the whole three weeks in order to check the marks of the driver. It was certainly an interesting situation since every car had to assimilate somehow with the alternative of constant discomfort.

Foresaw Present War.

There are a number of small indications which will have to be investigated and collated by the inquiring chroniclers. There is, for example, the reception of guns for the merchant content in a South American part gated and collated by the inquiring chroniclers. There is, for example, the reception of guns for the merchant cruiser in a South American port, which must have been sent off not later than July 10, three weeks before the crisis developed. There is a document of this same date, found upon a German officer, which is said to have censured him for not having answered some mobilization form on that day.

Personally we were fortunate in having a Rittneister of the Breslau Cuirassiers with whom we were able to form quite a friendship. Good luck to you, Count Carmer and bad luck to you regiment; also little Capt. Turck Fregatten, Captain A. M. Dienst, the best of luck to you and ill betide your cruiser.

We found pleasant friends among Germans, altho we were not all equal-Then, there is the abnormal quantity of grain ordered in Canada and America in May, and, finally, there is the receipt of mobilization warnings by the Austrian reservists in South America, advising them that they should return at a date which must place their issue from Vienna in the

All these small incidents show the absurdity of the German contention that at a moment of profound peace some sort of surprise was sprung on them. There was, indeed, a surprise intended, but they were to be the surprisers, tho, indeed, I think their machinations were too clumsy to suc-

It was surely not a mere coincidence that the grand fleet lay that the first army corps ready for action at Spithead and that the first army corps were practising some very useful mobilization exercises at Aldershot. After all, our British administration is After all, our British administration is not so simple-minded as it sometimes seems. Indeed, that very simplicity may at times be its most deadly mask. The Sikhs and Canada But there is another matter which Prussian Megalomania will insist on coming back into one's thought when one reviews the events which preceded the war. I was in Canada in June and the country was very much disturbed by the fact that a shipload of Hindoos had arrived at Vancouver and had endeavored to land in the face of the anti-Asiatic emigration laws.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the most sective and powerful flesh-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere on a positive tuarantee of weight increase or money back.

And Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good, solid, fat-making food every day, and still do not increase in weight one ounce.

Saloniki

Nature's way at all.

This folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and depoist them all about the body—so nething, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

Secretary of Treasury McAdoo Issues Strong State-

THREATENS BLACK LIST

Claims That Farmers Are Not Getting Money to Move

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.-Secretery of the Treasury McAdoo issued a tion by the comptroller of the currency has disclosed excessive hoarding of try, with an accompanying increase of interest rates far beyond reasonable

The minimum reserve requirements are 15 per cent. for country banks and 25 per cent. for reserve and central

The comptroller's investigation has been most complete with respect to South that the treasury department lent the greater part of the crop fund of $35,000,000, which was offered a short time before the outbreak of the investigation with regard to the hoarding of reserves and raising of interest rates by the Southern banks that the secretary has decided to withhold the second instalment of the crop deposits which ordinarily would have been sent to Southern reserve cities in a start time. time. Withdraw U. S. Deposits.

He sent a telegram this afternoon to the banks in these reserve cities an-nouncing his decision concerning the second instalment of the crop fund, and saying further that he would with draw all government-deposits from and refuse issues of emergency currency to banks charging excessive interest rates and refusing reasonable accomountry as well as in the South, which issue a daily list of those whose re-ports show hoarding of reserves. The taking this remarkable action will be to focus the public attention on the policy of these national banks.

Furthermore, he intends to try to obtain from state banking superintendents data respecting the reserves of state banks so that he can publish this way he can compel the banks to adopt a more confident policy respectterized the policy of the anathematized banks as unpatriotic and unnecessary. He holds it is indefensible from every point of view. Here is the McAdoo point of view. Here is the McAdoo statement in part: Notifies Ten Banks. Secretary McAdoo gave out the fol-lowing telegram, which he sent to ten mational banks in four reserve cities in the South:

"I have decided not to deposit the second instalment of crop moving funds with your banks at this time. You can, however, if you desire, withdraw one-half of the securities de-posited by you and use them as secur-ity for the issue of additional currency you make application therefor. "I am informed that many banks in your state are refusing to make any cans for crop moving purposes, and that in many cases good loans are rejected or unreasonable rates of interest are asked. I am also informed that many banks which have taken out additional currency are refusing to use it in spite of great demands for

"I trust you are not doing this. I shall withdraw all government deposits from banks charging excessive rates of interest, or which refuse to issue reasonable accounts, and I shall refuse so-called emergency currency banks which are not making use of on reasonable terms for the benefit business community. It is essen tial in the present situation that all pull together in an unselfish spirit for the good of the country.

"I, of course, expect the banks to reasonable charge for accommodations. My point is that the charge must be reasonable, as the co-operation and help of the treasury will not be extended on any other

Hoarding Unnecessary.
"The reports of national banks now being received by the comptroller of the currency in response to his call for statements of their conditions as of Sept. 12 indicate an extraordinary hoarding of money by many national banks in various sections of the country. I am astonished that so many of the national banks are pursuing a course so contrary to the public in-terest and so indefensible from any point of view. There is neither occa-

"Full reports have not yet been received by the comptroller, but they are coming in daily. I intend to begin issuing daily a list of the banks which are hoarding money by maintaining excessive reserves in order that the country may know how they are performing their public duties.

The reports of national banks are public property anyway, and while they have been published in their respective communities the significance of their statements is not generally understood. The public does not know ow to analyze them.
"My purpose is to focus attention

apon the excessive reserves carried by these banks, for the reserves indicate whether or not they are using their full resources for the relief and ccommodation of business in their respective communities.

Says State Banks Are Guilty, Too.
"It is a matter of extreme regre that the government has not the p to exact similar statements from state banks and trust companies thruout country, because I am satisfied from certain reports which have come to me that many of the state banks and trust companies, like many of the national banks, are hoarding money using to extend legitimate

CABLE QUOTATIONS LOWER FOR GRAIN

Modified Form of British Mor- In Some Cases Prices Offered Were Below Actual Cost to Shippers.

Canadian Press Despatch.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—The cables received for quotations on local grain stores were very much lower than the views of exporters here today. If room for shipping cargoes was available it would have gone empty today, as in a few cases the quotations received were below actual cost to shippers. The same can be said for flour, but in its case there was a small local demand, which did not occur for all lines of grain.

The cheese situation showed some improvement. New business was reported for English account, but there were no price changes on this account.

The butter market rules with a firm undertone at the recent decline. Buyers for local consumption appear to be taking only enough for immediate uses, which would indicate that they are bearish on prices. No attempt is being made to store supplies by small buvers.

Eggs were in good demand and their prices were firm.

The provision market was stationary.

EARNINGS INCREASE

Such a thing as increasing earnings at this time comes as a surprise. However, this is the condition of Mackay, whose earnings on land and ocean lines have increased 30 per cent. Further this has been kept up since the war was declared. The earnings were of a substantial nature prior to the war and an increase, it is understood, Duluth-Superior earnings have in-cased during the third week of Sep-mber over the same period in 1913. It was thought that this would be increase amounts to $693.04. The be increase amounts to $693.04. The take place during the present year. ures are $26,736.47, compared with 1,043.43. The Proper Execution

There are numerous points in the efficient execu-tion of a Will that do not occur to the mind of the Testator or to the individual Executor when he assumes the trust. It is advisable for many reasons to appoint a corporate executor such as this Corporation which has had over thirty-years experience in successful administration of estates.
