Auburn Prison Heard From.
To-day the police received a communication from the Auburn Penitentiary, enclosing a photo of Launcelot Middleton, alias A. McDonald, with a full description of the man. The subject of the photo was in 1803 sentenced to three years in the State prison for forgery. There is no doubt whatever that the photo is that of the man now in Woodstock jail. Middleton was also in trouble in Richmond, Va., and Indianapolis. Communications have been received to-day by the police from both places, but the authorities are for some reason very reticent, and beyond saying that the communications are the man's record, they maintain silence.

provincial detective is expected here today. Middleton was arrested at Burford at midnight by Chief of Police Will of Woodstock, and brought here, arriving at 5 o'clock this morning. Magistrate & ield was brought cut of his bed and formally remanded the prisoner to jail, the lock-up being unfit for occupation by anything excepting rats. At 10 o'clock Middleton was arraigned before the Magistrate on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretences from the Empire Store here. The Court House was packed to overflowing, and the greatest interest was manifested in the It Was a Huge Fake. Court House was packed to overflowing, and the greatest interest was manifested in the case. Middleton pleaded not guilty and was remanded for a week, ball being refused. He was accompanied by Reginald Gray, J. P., a wealthy resident of Burford, who secured for him as counsel Lawyer H. J. Finkle, who was to have been the solicitor for the B. & W. Company. Middleton was taken back to jall.

We are told, first of for the Naval Reserve in the Motherland itself. We have been led to believe that it was a very difficult thing to obtain uitable men for the navy in Great Britain. Mr. Goschen informed a delegation of the British Empire League that vaited upon him recently that they had merous applications for enrolment in he Naval Reserve from residents in Great Britain. At the same time he intimated that it would be acceptable to the Mother Country if the colonies would contribute men, efficiently trained, for ntimated, at the same time, that if Canada undertook to train men for the Naval Reserves, she would have to to it trictly in accordance with the rules that prevail in the Admiralty. According to these rules the men will have to take course of training for 28 days at a battery, and afterwards embark in man-of-war for six months.

If the colonies are to assume a share of the expense of Imperial defence, there is no better way by which Canada could assume its share than by training so nany of her seamen for the Royal Naval Reserves. Our contribution would ot be sent as a bulk sum to the Imerial treasury, but would remain in Canada and would be distributed, every dollar of it, among the people of our on country. All day long flags fley gaily over the white tented field, over firing mounds swarming with brilliant uniforms and white targets that sullenly fell back upon contact with bullets driven by cordite. All this galety was in keeping with the importance of the occasion, for the opening day was the best in the history of the O.R.A. Prominent Competitors.

The 300 competitors included not only the crack shots of the province, but marksmen like Capt. Dover of the 78th Batt., Nova Scotia: Sergt. Broadhurst of the Royal Scots; Gunner Miller of the 5th R.C.A. of British Columbia, and some 20 other heroes of Bisley fame. These international shots in their shell jackets were of course the cynosure of every eye and added immense colat to the scene.

A laughable discovery made towards the close of one match was that some of the marksmen were shooting with the lid of the "well" pulled out and resting against the shoulder to prevent the rifle from sliding. The World Talks to the Shooters,

The views of the following soldiers throw light upon the meet: Lieut.-Col. Delamere, the genial commander of the Q.O.R., and the day's executive officer, said: "The shooting done to-day is away shead of that of last year. Some of the credit must of course be faid to the introduction of the new rifle, but a great deal of ft is due to the increasing military enthusiasm of the country." Asked if the ammunition supplied was doing its work properly, Col. Delamere replied that he didn't know of a flaw.

"In my opinion," he continued, "the Camadian ammunition is better than the English. It is just as carefully made, and is far fresher. Only a short time ago the Canadian Government had to return to England a large consignment of cartridges that had not been properly capped. By some blunder they were returned here in the same state. The British Government, to set things right, made a rebate of a portion of their cost." The World Talks to the Shooters,

A criticism of Capt. Currie of the High-landers, that there was more "belly firing than would be indulged in active warfare," was not endorsed by Col. Delamere, who said he took Bistey matches as his prece-Broadhurst on the Shoots. Broadhurst on the Shoots.

Sergt. Broadhurst of Bisley and worldwide reputation spoke freely to The World.
He styled the shooting as "awfully good,"
and the ranges as "splendid," A drawbark, however, was the fact that the butts were not in a continuous line. He also wished that the triangular flags, which were no use in judging the wind, were replaced by streamers.

Capt. Dover, another shot with the glamor of the Bisley name, now walked up. Asked how Canadians compared with English shots, Capt. Dover replied: "They have at least 2000 crack shots in England to our 40, least 2000 crack shots in England to our 40, but we could select a party of 10 that could hold its own against the world."

Asked what he thought of the Boer marksmen, Sergt. Broadhurst replied:

"These Dutchmen live on the name they've got. I shot at Bisley against a Dutchman by the name of Van Mervor and beat him every time. He went to Pretoria every year and carried away the bonors from every Boer shooter that entered the lists against him."

referred in glowing terms to the day's success. Too much praise cannot be given to Lieut.-Col. Delamere and his able assistants. Among these are: Capt. A. D. Cartwright, with his Chesterfield address; Statistical Officer Lieut. E. P. McNeill, Range Officers Lieut. Col. White, Lieut. Col, McLaren, Majors Mutton, Mason and Manley, Capts.

Admiral Sampson, asked about the big guns, replied: "The big guns will always be needed. There is work which they can do and which is out of the question for the smaller calibre. When it comes to piercing heavy armor, the high calibre guns must be brought in to action. The armor piercing capacity of a gun is about exactly proportioned to its calibre. For instance, an 8-inch gun can pierce 8-inch armor, a 12-inch gun 12-inch armor, and so on. Yes, the big guns are needed.

Ships using blast powder are at a disadvantage too from the fact that when one gun has been discharged, the gun next to it must wait until the smoke has cleared away before the target can be sighted. Newmarket, Aug. 23.—Mr. Charles Cod-ling, a farmer of Goodwood, has sworn out a warrant here for the arrest of Fred Haddleton, who has eloped with Mrs. Codling, and rumor says is living in Toronto. It appears for some time past Haddleton, had been living chiefly on the proceeds of his wife's industry as a domestic servant in Toronto, while the was paying attentions to Mrs. Codling. His wife becoming tired of that arrangement ceased her contributions to his support, and he finally left these parts along with his neighbor's wife. There are no children in either family.

How an Archbishop is Made.

"How an Archbishop appointed?"

"On theory, the Pope appoints every archbishop; but unless some special circumstances arise, the Pope's work is merely perfunctory—the signing of his name. Three names are sent to Rome by the bishops of the province. These names are chosen immediately after the Month's Mind, to be held a week from to-morrow. There are only five bishops in the province; they make the choice and submit their nominees to the Holy Father. The three names are in order of merit—dignus, dignor, dignissimus. These names must run the gauntlet of the Vatican Council of Propaganda—the foreign office of the church—where they are canvassed and criticized. Generally the dignissimus name is chosen, but sometimes political questions arise and the appointment is delayed. It was so with the present Archbishop of Dublin, whose candidature was objected to by the British Government. However, after six or seven months of doubt, he was appointed in spite of all opposition. Henry A. King & Co., 12 King-street east, received the following despatch to-day from New York:

The openin of the stock market was marked by irregularity. Reports of damage by hot weather in the corn belt induced profit-taking, and the professional element, thinking that they saw a chance to bring about a reaction, put forth efforts in this direction. The falling off in commission liouse business, which has been a feature for the past week, and selling for foreign account, contributed in causing a general decline of about 2 per cent. People's Gas andvanced 2 per cent, on buying by brokers, and on talk of an agreement with the Benedict interests. Illinois Steel and T.C.I. were strong throughout the day and without feature. There appeared to be heavy realizing in B.R.T., which caused a net decline of 2 per cent. Metropolitan Street Railway advanced 3 per cent. on absence of stock and good buying. Manhattan continued heavy, and on rallies stock is freely offered. Sugar advanced to 14114, on short covering, and at the higher prices long stock came out. The principal selling took place around noon hour, a great many stop orders being reached at the decline.

What is the use of "trying this" and "trying that" when you can get East Kent Ale and Stout, which is endorsed by Professor Heys and all the leading doctors of the city? Do not be put off with something "just as good" but insist upon having East Kent Ale and Stout in pints and quarts.

The work was being done at night in order not to interfere with traffic during the day. The men were preparing to pull down the west wall of the tunnel, and were about to drill some holes in it for blasting, when suddenly the wall fell over on them. Seven of the men were taken out dead. The others are yet unaccounted for, and are supposed to be under a great pile of rock at the eastern end of the tunnel. Stocks, Bonds, Grain
