

OPEN VERDICT IS RETURNED BY JURY

Lineman's Death Ascribed to Electrocutation and Fall From Pole. The inquiry into the death of Palmer Goddard, a N. B. Telephone Company lineman, who was electrocuted while working on a pole in West St. John on Monday last week, was concluded last night in the Court House, Grand street, before Coroner A. F. Emery and jury.

Only one witness, Dr. H. L. Abramson, gave evidence last night, and after a deliberation of 40 minutes the jury returned the following verdict: "Palmer Goddard died on Sept. 16, 1924, in the parish of Lunenburg, while working on the installation of a telephone to a house he came in contact with a live wire, which electrocuted and a fall causing his death."

CANADIAN APPLES FOR FOLKS AND FRIENDS IN THE OLD COUNTRY

This year's Christmas for our folks and friends across the sea can be made happier by a small remembrance from Canada of a box of our Canadian Apples, hand picked and hand packed, their luster and taste tell of our beautiful Summer Climate.

Canadian homes are so well heated in the fall and winter months that many people feel more comfortable in comparatively light weight underwear. In fact they would be hot indoors with heavy knit wear. And so garments give you protection. They conserve your vitality. Indoors they are light and cool.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE SAND MAN LOSES HIS SAND.

And then standing right beside them was the Sand Man.

One morning the Twins were gathered in the meadow when they saw a large red leaf fastened to one of the yellow blossoms.

QUARANTEED HARMLESS TINTS GRAY HAIR ANY SHADE

On it were some written words, and it only took Nancy and Nick about two seconds to discover that it was a letter for them from the Fairy Queen. "Dear Twins," it went. "A dreadful thing has happened. The Sand Man has lost his bag of magic sand and cannot find it. If he doesn't find it soon there is going to be a bad time, because none of the babies can sleep. "Be ready that it is getting pretty late in the fall and a lot of my friends in Wood Land and Meadow Land want to go to Dreamland for the winter. "Unless the magic sand is found, they cannot go, for the way to Dreamland is a secret and only those who have the magic sand sprinkled in their eyes can find the path. "Will you please put on the magic shoes you will find under this plant and go to the Sand Man's house. He wants you to help him to find the lost sand. "Lovingly, your friend, "The Fairy Queen."

A lot of words to get on one leaf, isn't it, my dear? But then it was magic writing, and magic writing doesn't take up any room at all. The Twins were greatly excited. "Hoora! Another adventure!" cried Nick. "Just know we shall like the Sand Man," said Nancy happily. "Of course, we'll put on the magic shoes and go and help him!"

So anxious were they to get on the wonderful shoes and go on another adventure that they forgot all about the golden-rod that had gathered and left it lying on the ground while they took off their own little leather shoes and put on the others. "Achoo! Kerchoo! Achoo!" sneezed somebody very loudly. And there, standing right beside them was the Sand Man. You couldn't have seen him any more than the Twins could before they put on their magic shoes. But now everything was changed. Quite! It was remarkable the things the children could make out that they had never noticed before.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By STANLEY

And the Sand Man was one of something awful—sneezing does. "Achoo!" "How do you do, Mister Sand Man," said the Twins. "We're so sorry you lost your bag of sleepy sand. And we'll try ever so hard to help you find it." "That's just—achoo—fine!" said the Sand Man gratefully. "Then let's do start at once, because if we don't get away from this golden-rod I'll sneeze my head quite off, and what the children would do then I can't think. For they wouldn't be any me to put them to sleep any more!" And away they all went. (To be continued.)

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

NOVELTY SHOWER

Miss Mary McGovern, who is to be married next Wednesday, was the guest of honor last evening at the home of Miss Madelon Dwyer, Garden street, who is to be her bridesmaid, and who was the hostess on this occasion for a delightful novelty shower for the bride-elect. Five tables of bridge were played, at which the winners were Miss Vida Waterbury and Miss Marion Murphy. The decorations were in accordance with the event, hearts and cupid being prominent in the scheme, which was very pretty and original in its design. Sweet peas were arranged in artistic profusion. Refreshments were served, the guests dispersing at midnight. There was considerable mystery about the presentation of the gifts, which occasioned much merriment. This is one of many such events which have been given for Miss McGovern since the announcement of her engagement.

Care Of The Feet

When first starting to brush baby's teeth—so the Mann family learned—a small single row tooth brush should be used. The head of the brush should never be longer than one and one-fourth inches. Many parents wonder about a dentifrice. A dipping of the brush in salt solution is all that is necessary. After each brushing the baby's toothbrush should be thoroughly cleaned. It is well to dip the bristles in salt and hang the brush out to dry. This will keep the bristles clean and dry. As soon as is possible the child should be taught to clean its own teeth, but watch show be kept the child does not become careless and forgetful about it.

BOY QUADRUPLT IS FIRST WITH TEETH

All Four Are Doing Well—Heaviest Seven Pounds More Than Lightest

The quadruplet babies at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mahaney, 170 Queen street, will soon be able to boast of a quartette of teeth among them, but the honors of getting teeth are not at all evenly divided. The two babies of middle size, have been first in starting out with a set of dental fixtures and the smallest baby shows signs of being the next in line, the biggest being the most backward in teething. John, the only boy, is the second largest and has been the proudest possessor of two fine teeth for more than a month, and he is reluctant about adding to the set. Edna, who is third in the matter of weight, has two teeth almost through, and Edith, the smallest baby, is biting and chewing at everything handy, displaying much interest in her own gums and otherwise indicating that she intends growing teeth. Christine, the biggest baby of the four, complacently ignores the troubles of teething and even disdains to creep, John being the one that is the greatest peregrinator of the four. Their Weights.

At the last weighing Christine's record was 17 pounds 2 1/2 ounces, while John could pull down 16 pounds, 10 1/2 ounces. In weight John has to admit that a girl has been able to beat him. Edna weighed just 11 pounds, 9 ounces, and Edith, the smallest baby, registered 10 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces. Edith has been gaining more rapidly than Edna during the last few days, probably because of Edna's teething troubles. As the weather gets more chilly the babies have fewer out-door airings, but they spend as much time as possible in their sunny yard. They have had several visitors at their home, summer guests in the city chiefly. The biggest two babies are growing so fast that the problem of keeping them supplied with clothes is a sufficiently pressing one. To give their

McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America, with authority from the national convention of that body, has announced a plan based on the army system of organization which he says will be placed in effect at those plants which have reduced wages, unless they restore the cut soon...

TO SEEK HIGHER PAY

When the issue is raised, said President McMahon's statement made after the action of the Rhode Island Textile Council, it will be not only to seek restoration of the wage cut to the mill but also to get more, which is rightly and honestly theirs. The amount of the further percentage of increase to be sought was not given. The possibility that action, if taken, would be general, affecting at the same time all plants which had cut wages, was also mentioned.

THE THIRTY YEARS

It is well over 30 years since Mr. Brown came to Essex. Then he anchored a few hundred yards out at sea at Brightlingsea. He was in those days a handsome, stalwart man of 40; today, with snow-white beard and iron-gray hair, a yachting cap on the back of his head, he still clings to his yacht...

CONTRASTS

My friend found the Belgians displaying far more energy and taste than their French neighbors in the work of reconstruction. Arrived in Brussels, he was re-built, but hideously, without the cunning trick of effective modernism...

AT HER MILLS

President McMahon said he was arranging his force of organizers to throw them into the situation immediately where they would do the most good. For this, he has named Horace J. Riviere and Harry. Enough have been at work (Continued on page 10, third column) is also working long hours in the building trade, but she is employing a million foreign workmen. Thus, in all France there is not one unemployed man, and though 600,000 are in the army, the immigrant labor exceeds that total by 400,000. Notices to workmen are placarded in Italian and Polish. But France will be faced by a great problem three or four years hence when restoration work is finished.

The Lost "Livy."

News from Rome goes to strengthen the belief that Dr. di Martino-Fusco's claim to have discovered the missing "Livy" is well founded. Absolute confirmation, of course, is still awaited, but historians and classical scholars are agog with excitement. For both the discovery holds out an alluring prospect. With the text of the Second Decade in their hands, they would have, according to Professor Conway, the well-known Manchester authority, "Livy's picture of Pyrrhus, of Fabricius, of Regulus, with all the story of the first great naval war, and a mass of new evidence on the social and political developments of a century which is certain to be as interesting as at present it is obscure." In itself, this would be a tremendous acquisition—one valuable enough to justify all the excitement among our high-brows. But reports from Italy go further. If the parchments in possession of Dr. di

Martino-Fusco include, as is now rumored, a first-century (A. D. 37) life of Christ, then, indeed, the world at large may begin to notice. As yet, the discoverer himself has made no such claim, the foundation of the report being a statement by the Italian Government's official investigator that among the codices recently unearthed are two "designed to revolutionize the world."

Less epoch-making, though almost as sensational in its way, is a report from Wales of the unearthing at St. Patrick's Chapel—a buried off-shoot of St. David's Cathedral in Pembroke—of the skeleton of Ireland's patron saint. Happily, the experts have knocked the bottom out of this "discovery" by pointing out that the bones are those of a young man, whereas St. Patrick lived to be a centenarian.

London's Shortcoming.

It has just been noticed that, by a painful oversight of about fifteen centuries' duration, London has no motto. True, the City of London proper, the small but venerable germ from which Greater London grew, and component boroughs like Lambeth and Westminster, have their ancient civic maxims. But London as a whole, the greatest city in the world and the capital of the greatest empire, lacks this essential equipment. To really patriotic Cockneys, the discovery is almost as shocking as when Darby and Joan on their golden wedding anniversary detected a vital error in their marriage lines.

Eager suggestions keep pouring in for the appropriate remedying of the oversight, and the Greek and Latin are being ransacked for "gems of purest ray serene." Some suggestions display a criminal disregard for neighboring landmarks. "Nisi Dominus Frustra" is the pious text that has for centuries adorned Edinburgh's civic shield, and we are having enough trouble over the Sib of Destiny without such flagrant robbery under arms as that. "God

With Us" might be admirable, if only "Gott Mit Uns" did not letter every German military belt worn in the Great War by sensitive ex-service men. The Die Hards of the Middlesex battalions would riot over it.

Soviet Sport.

The members of the Soviet trading corporation in London, earnest young men in jagged trousers, and with long hair, and young women with short hair and sack-like jumper frocks, are beginning to mix freely with London's lesser "Bohemians," and no studio party is now really complete without its sprinkling of Bolsheviks. But these products of the New Russia are becoming acclimatized to British conditions. They are taking to open-air sports, and there is now an Arcos sports club on the outskirts of London, where very bad but serious tennis is played on Saturday afternoons.

Home-Grown Hair.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and one reads with interest of the hopes engendered in the world's human hair markets by the decline in popularity of bobbed and shingled heads. With girls wore plaits and women went in for massive coiffures, Hong-Kong, the chief exporter of human hair, did a brisk business with the western world. Then came the "bobbing" craze and from 164 tons in 1922, the export trade fell away last year to 98 tons. Of this quantity, Japan, it seems, took most, the second best market being France, and the third the United States. Not a great deal came to Britain. Somehow, I feel glad about that. Wild horses wouldn't drag out of me a confession of fiscal principles, but I do feel that surplus hair I will own to being an out-and-out Protectionist. Our British hairdressers are said to have a large surplus of the home-grown variety. At present, it is a drug in the market. When the boom comes, they should be given a decent chance of working off that surplus. For one, I will decline to let my wife grow her hair in Hong-Kong.

A French Alarm.

The Paris press has been making a great feature of a "secret visit" by Count Metternich (the pre-war German ambassador to France) to Feltre, where he is said to have held a surreptitious conversation with a "German agent." The true story of the count's trip to Feltre, however, is a more of pathos than intrigue. The poor old gentleman bought a ticket from London to Feltre via Feltrestone, and his luggage safely followed the intended route. The count, however, mistook the Bouligne for the Flushing boat, foundered on Feltre soil without a passport, and in real danger, as he thought, of figuring in a sensational arrest. He spent the whole day in a hotel near the quay, expecting a visit from a posse of gendarmes at any moment. Directly he was able to do so, he was heading for the quay, boat, and had hardly recovered from his panic when the vessel reached British shores again. It is quite certain that he was never in a fit state of mind to talk with an "agent."

WAR TACTICS IN WAGES MATTER IN NEW ENGLAND

(Continued from page 9.) For the last week among the employees of the Manville-Jencks Company at their three mills, Globe, Social and Nourse, at Woonsocket, and their individual mills in Pawtucket, Manville and Blackstone, Mass. Thomas Regan, organizer at Lowell, Mass., is to be brought here within a few days. Plans for activities at Utica, N. Y., in the Pennsylvania textile districts and in the South are under way, he said, adding that he had anticipated the action of the national convention of the U. T. W. in empowering him to go ahead, by obtaining on July 29 from Southern delegates authority similar to that given him by the Rhode Island Textile Council on Sunday. The head of the United Textile Workers said that the workers had grievances other than opposition to the wage cut. The number of looms and frames per operative had been increased, he asserted, so that the manufacturers had reduced manufacturing costs 25 per cent. He declared also that the mill owners were trying to obtain dividends on capitalizations increased through stock dividends. As reasons why wage reductions should not be necessary at this time, he said there had been a reduction of 34 per cent. in the price of cotton in recent months and that labor obtained only 17 cents out of every dollar paid by purchasers of cotton goods in this country.

BANQUET HELD AT MONCTON HAS CHEERFUL TONE

(Continued from page 9.) woods here and their exportation to rather than their importation from the United States. Mayor Edgett, of Moncton, in responding to the toast, said that the citizens were proud of the city of Moncton. He expressed much the same ideas as had Mr. McKenna in respect to Maritime problems. He had but completed a trip to the Pacific coast and could say that there was no place in Canada with the exception of Vancouver which had made such rapid strides towards readjustment after the war as had New Brunswick. He urged his hearers to forget party politics and to unite for the good of the whole, irrespective of political affiliations. R. A. Macaulay, of St. John, proposed the toast to "Our Province." Hon. P. J. Veniot, at the outset of his speech in response to the toast, said that he had come because he thought it was his duty to come and encourage the members of the association. He regretted to know that the membership had decreased during the last year. He could not explain it unless it was from lack of interest, want of encouragement or a feeling of pessimism. If it was the latter it should disappear, he said, for all should preach optimism for they had ample reason for feeling it. The Premier was surprised that Nova Scotia should boast of the 27,000 tourists who had visited them during the summer. From a report dated September 20, he read that 45,000 American tourists had entered New Brunswick in automobiles up until that time. These, he said, had left from eight million to 10 millions of money in the province. The freight rates problem was his next topic and in this he showed how vitally the province was interested in the hearing that was going on at Ottawa now. The Premier strongly supported the scuttling of some freight rate experts in the Maritimes saying that they would save the people thousands of dollars daily. He concluded with an appeal to the people to buy at home first and then Maritime made goods if possible. He urged them to put their shoulders to the wheel and make New Brunswick what it should be, the best province in the Dominion in which to live. R. M. A. Toast. The toast to the Retail Merchants' Association was proposed by R. P. Dickson and responded to by E. M. Trower.

IS DROWNED IN FALL FROM VESSEL

Lunenburg, N. S., Sept. 24.—Alfred Knickle, 63, while boarding his vessel, the fishing schooner Margaret K. Smith, at Smith's wharf last night lost his footing in the darkness and was drowned. The body was discovered this morning and it was apparent from bruises on the face that he had struck an abutment in falling, and was stunned, which prevented him from calling for help.

VATICAN ASTONISHED.

Rome, Sept. 24.—At the Vatican today astonishment was expressed over the adoption by the Argentine Senate of the resolution requesting the government to declare the Papi Nuncio no longer persona grata and asking that the Argentine Minister to the Vatican be withdrawn.

The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a healthy baby four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

FIDDLE HAD A CURIOUS HISTORY

London, Sept. 23—The largest sum ever paid for a fiddle was $10,000. The instrument had a curious history, Olga Raeter tells in her interesting volume, "Chats on Big and Little Fiddles," recently published by a London firm. Ten thousand fiddles are attributed to Stradivarius, and this one, "the Messie," is dated 1716, 20 years before his death. It was still among the 91 in his possession when he died, and became the property of his son, who treasured it carefully until his own death in 1778.

Brough, England, Sept. 25.—Great Britain's dreadnought of the air made its first flight recently from the air-drome which was the hopping-off field of the American world flier when they left England for America by way of Iceland and Greenland.

The monster machine is said to be the most powerful single-engine airplane in the world. From wing-tip to wing-tip it measures 88 feet, stands 19 feet from the ground and from nose to tail 50 feet. The plane was built to take the new 1,000-horsepower Napier Cub engine, claimed to be the most powerful air motor in existence. It has 16 cylinders, weighs only 2,200 pounds. A railway locomotive, developing the same power, weighs over 147,000 pounds.

Foreign air attaches came to Brough to see the trial flight of the "Cubaroo," as the plane is called. For a brief space the engine was run the plane with a great roar the plane taxied across the air-drome and was away into the air, with Flight Lieutenant Paul Bulman, one of the most daring pilots of the Royal Air Force, in command.

When the flight was ended Lieutenant Bulman said the air-vehicle had been handled as easily as a small plane. The response to the control was wonderful, and on landing there was no suggestion of the enormous size of the machine. Some idea of the proportions of the plane is indicated by the fact that the single propeller is more than one and one-half times the size of a full-sized English billiard table. The tail alone is as large as an ordinary scouting plane. Two staircases from the central cabin lead to separate parts of the machine. One goes to the pilots' cockpit, which has accommodation for two, the other gives access to a compartment behind the wings which may be used as a machine-gun tower.

The plane is without armament of any kind, but when being used for military purposes it will carry about three tons of bombs or torpedoes. The machine is ostensibly a three-seater, but there is accommodation in the cabin for a large crew, and the starboard wing makes it possible for gunners alike to be relieved when the machine is in flight or even in action.

When produced in quantities the machine will be equipped with some of the units which are to form part of Great Britain's big home defense scheme, to become operative next year.

SOME MORE ABOUT LILLIAN FOSTER

A traveling man, who reads this column, says a New York Exchange has written to say a statement made here to the effect that Lillian Foster of "Conscience" is from the West, must be a mistake. "Perhaps," says his letter, "she originally came from the West, but I happened to be up in Eastern Canada in June, 1923, in the city of St. John, and went to a theatre. It was the final week of a very popular stock company and it was 'Leading Lady's Night.' Lillian Foster was the leading lady and she got a marvelous reception from 2,000 people. After the second act the stage literally was banked with flowers and the audience stood up and cheered for nearly ten minutes. It really was affection I ever saw an actress receive. I always remembered her and, seeing her name on the front of the Belmont Theatre, I went in to learn if it could be the same girl. It was. Her leading man in St. John was Leslie Adams, who plays the chauffeur in 'The Hounded House.' Thought this might be of interest to you and your readers."

CLEAR SITE FOR WHARF FOR COKE PLANT THIS FALL

S. E. Elkin, Home Today, Reports Progress With Plans.

That the work of clearing the site for the wharf to be built this new coke plant will be carried on this fall was an announcement made by Stanley E. Elkin this afternoon on his return from New York and Montreal. He said that they were working out plans of the other three plants in addition to the local one and steady progress was being made. He also said that it was expected that the contract for the lumber needed in the building of the wharf here would be let this winter.

Mr. Elkin said that everything was progressing steadily and the plans for the local plant were really in the most advanced stage of any. He added that he expected that his work would keep him in Montreal the larger portion of this fall and winter.

FEAR COLLAPSE OF N. END BUILDING

Commissioners Hear About It—Marsh Bridge Work is Discussed.

An informal discussion on the need of action to provide that buildings which were a menace to life should not be allowed to remain standing took place at a committee meeting of the council this morning, and attention was called to at least one building which it was said was likely to collapse.

Commissioner Wigmore reported that he was taking up with the Provincial Government and the C. N. R. the matter of repairs to the Marsh Bridge. The laying of a sewer in the Daley, Crown streets at an estimated cost of $800, to drain properties at the eastern end of Duke street and the corner of Crown street, was recommended to the council.

Marsh Bridge Work. Commissioner Wigmore reported that he had made an examination of the sluiceways at the Marsh Bridge and found conditions to be not only bad, but dangerous, and as the entire water supply of the city was carried across this bridge he had taken steps to brace the structure to make sure it would not collapse. This sluiceway had been built in 1909 at a cost of about $25,000, of which the city, province and railway each paid one-third. He was of the opinion that in any new construction granite should be used, saying concrete would not stand up in the running water.

Commissioner Frink said he remembered the work on the bridge, as he was chairman of the water and sewerage board at the time. It was felt then that a solution of difficulty at the Marsh bridge had been found, but from a recent examination he could support the claim of Commissioner Wigmore that something would have to be done soon. He felt that concrete was not the proper form of construction for the work at this point.

Mayor Potts said he thought a report should be submitted by the city engineer, road engineer and the commissioners of public works and water and sewerage before action was taken by the council.

Commissioner Wigmore said he would have a full report from the government and railway before bringing the matter up again.

Commissioner Wigmore called the attention of the commissioner of safety to a building in Douglas avenue, in the rear of the Watson estate, which, he said, was in danger of falling over on the houses in Harrison street. He said that the building inspector had looked over this building and had expressed the opinion that it should come down.

Mayor Potts asked if the safety department had not the power to tear down a building which was dangerous and Commissioner Harding replied it had. His Worship then remarked that it was time they exercised this authority and removed some of the buildings in which persons were living at present.

Commissioner Harding said he had been endeavoring for two months to get a meeting of the committee appointed to draft a new building law for St. John, and hoped to get them together soon.

Commissioner Frink said there was difficulty in enforcing the law regarding the tearing down of dangerous buildings, as it called for a notice to all the heirs before doing anything, and this was sometimes an impossibility.

PRESENTATION. At the close of the day's business at the Customs House on Wednesday afternoon, staff gathered in the office of Collector of Customs Lockhart.

Mr. Lockhart in a few well chosen words reviewed the years of service of Robert Clarke, who has been placed on the retired list, and on behalf of the staff assembled, presented to Mr. Clarke a gold-headed ebony cane, bearing the inscription: Robert Clarke, from staff of Customs and Excise, 1924. Mr. Clarke was taken completely by surprise, but in a short, witty speech thanked his brother officers for their kind remembrance. He said he had served under three collectors of customs, and that the singing of "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow," three hearty cheers were given for the one honored.

STREET RAILWAY WILL EXTEND TO MOORE'S HILL

Manawagonish Road Work is to Be Begun in Few Days.

An announcement made this morning by M. A. Pooler, manager of the New Brunswick Power Company, that the street car lines would be extended from their present terminus at Barnhill's corner, Fairville, to the top of Moore's Hill, will be received with much pleasure by people living in this section of the Manawagonish road and vicinity.

This work is to be started in the course of a few days and will be carried on at the same time as the work in Langaster avenue, where new rails are to be laid.

It will require about 2,000 feet of rails to make the extension, which will open up one of the best residential sections of the city for settlement. The extension of the line also brings the new Protestant Orphan's Home within easy walking distance of the street cars and will make it much more convenient for friends who wish to visit the institution.

Work of replacing the street car rails from the foot of Fairville to Tilton's Corner was started last night by a crew of men from the New Brunswick Power Company. The work will be rushed through to completion.

VALUABLE DOG STILL IS MISSING

Disappearance Probably Kept St. John Airedale From Championship.

Dog fanciers in St. John will regret to learn that William Kiernan's Airedale terrier, Belleview Ranger, which wandered away after the closing of the dog show in Halifax, has not yet been located. The dog was being shown by B. Leskey of this city and so far Mr. Kiernan has not received word from Mr. Leskey as to how the dog got away.

The missing dog, which was familiarly known as Bob, had nine points towards his championship and there was every possibility that he might have annexed the single point which would have made him champion at the New Glasgow show, in which he was entered, but his absence, of course, eliminated him from the competition.

It is of interest that two of Bob's offspring were among the nine winners in the Airedale class at New Glasgow, both being shown by Mrs. Francis Kerr of this city. One of them, Roxie, took special and reserve awards, while the other, Rowdy, was second. It is felt amongst local fanciers that Bob would have gone to winners in New Glasgow and thus attained his championship.

SAILOR FINED; HAD LIQUOR IN AUTO

Case Grows Out of Report for Traffic Law Violation.

Woody Kane, a sailor off the S. S. Deer Lodge, was taken into custody this morning charged with having liquor in his possession. Detective Saunders, Police Constable Quinn and two automobile drivers, named McAndrews and Cox, testified for the prosecution. William M. Ryan appeared on behalf of the liquor inspectors. The arrest, which was made by Inspectors Fred Killen, Frank Garnett and Police Constable Quinn was the aftermath of a report against Percy C. Cox, who had been reported for neglecting to stop when signalled to do so by a Police Constable in West St. John and also for operating a motor vehicle as a taxi cab without holding a license to do so. The sailor was a passenger in the automobile and he was seen with the liquor. He was fined $50.

A. B. Gilbert appeared for Percy C. Cox. The case was unfinished and was set over until this afternoon.
