PLAYING 233 DEGREES OF MASONRY ON The Atchison, Kansas, Patriot, tells the following interesting story :-Atchison has several Masonic bodies, and a lively interest is manifested by the membership, as shown by a good attendance in the lodges, chapter and commandery. The following story will be of interest A middle-aged lady, with a black alpaca iress, worn shiny at the elbows, and a cheap bonnet, and her hands puckered up and blue, as though she had just got her washing out, went into the office of a prominent Mason a few mornings since and took a chair. She wiped her nose blue-checked apron, and when the Mason looked at her with an interested, brotherly look, as though she was in trouble, she "Are you the boss Mason 9" He blushed, told her he was a Mason, but not the highest in the land. She hesitated a moment, fingered the corner of

One night when he was asleep I heard him whisper, "I raise you ten dollars, and when I asked him aising a purse for a poor widow. An ther time he rose up in bed, after he had been asleep, and shouted, 'I stand pat,' and when I asked him what he meant he said he was ruined if I told it. He said he had spoken the password, and if they heard it they would put him out of the way, even as Morgan was put out of the way. Mister, is 'stand pat' your password ?"

The Mason told her it was not. That the words she had spoken were an expression used by men when playing draw-poker, and he added that he didn't believe her husband was a Mason at all, but that he had been lying all these years.

She sighed and said: "That's what thought when he came home with a lot of ivory chips in his pocket. He said they used them at the lodge to vote on candidates, and that a white chip elects and a blue one rejects a caudidate. If you will look the matter up and see if he has joined the Masons I will be obliged to you. He says he has taken all the 233 degrees, and now the boys want him to join the Knights of Pythias. I want to get out an injunction to prevent him from joining anything else until we get some under clothes for the winter. I'll tell you what I will do. The next time he says anything about Sky Fugle degrees, I will take the washboard and make him think there is one degree in Masonry that he has skipped, and good-bye. You have comforted me greatly, and I will lay awake to-night till my husband comes from lodge with his pat hand, and I will make him think he has forgot his ante." The lady went out to the grocery to buy some bar soap, and the prominent Mason resumed his business with a feeling that we are not all truly good and there is cheating going on all around.

For the Ladies. A writer from London gives these points

oncerning fashion which may interest the ladies, and for obvious reasons, horrify their husbands and fathers : If a lady is the possessor of elegant jewelry, she may wear it all at once in full dress. In a recent portrait of the princess of Wales, she wears four necklaces, one above the other, the uppermost being a dog-collar of velvet wrought with pearls, and the lowermost a sparkling fringe of diamonds mingled with emeralds, rubies and sapphires. Some of our society leaders recently wore s moderate the grand opera - brooches, rings and hair ornaments-all of the purest white stones, and the parure for a ball adds necklace and buckles ad libitum. Lace, this season, is the trimming preferred to all others. Real point lace of course leads always. Probably the most expensive lace for sale in America is the famous rose point, the secret of which was said to have been taught by the Virgin to a poor and pious maiden of Brussels, early in the 12th century. A sample of this is kept on hand by one of our leading houses and orders for it are occasionally filled. From three to four months is required for the purpose, and the price of lace in fourinch width is $100 per yard. Duchesse lace is too well known to need comment, and has for the past few years been the favorite with ladies who wish something handsome, but do not care to spend more than $100, $200 or $300 on the lace for a single dress. Thirty yards of duchesse lace at $10 a yard, makes a magnifice rights," and petition for the degrees. Put garniture for a ball dress, and is quite enough to satisfy most women! Duchesse on a bold front and your recreant husband point, a combination of round point with duchesse, is still more costly, and the flounces across the tablier of an elegant reception toilet, made to order not long since, cost $40 a yard.

I should have liked very much if the Ministry of the day in inserting this paragraph in the Speech, "It is important that the laws relating to the representation of the people in Parliament should be amended, and the electoral franchises existing in the several Provinces assimilated," should have added that they would at the same time re-distribute the representation in the Province to which I belong. tribute the representation in the Province to which I belong. I may say that there is a very gross outrage upon the people of that Province in the existing state of the representation of the different counties they are in. While I am not going to comment upon the Speech itself, I may simply en passant compliment, as other hon. gentlemen have done, the mover and seconder of the address for the very handsome manner in which they have performed their duties. But, I wish to call the attention of the House to this point, and I think it will be very much in the interests of the Province of New Brunswick, for the Ministry to take into their consideration. I make the suggestion in a friendly spirit. The hon. member for Westmoreland hoped that the Government would deal with it this very Session, and in the very Bill that is now proposed. I would call the attention of the House to the fact that in the Province of New Brunswick the representation has remained unchanged, so far back as the memory of living men extends, though the constituencies have increased or diminished in population. This representation should have been re-arranged at the time of Confederation, but there were difficulties in the way. Now that the question of the franchise is to be dealt with I do hope that the Government will consider the incongruities of the representation of the granchise is to be dealt with I, I do hope that the Government will consider the incongruities of the representation of the scannel under the constituency of the constituencies have increased or diminished in population. My bon. friend, the Minister of Finance, smiles at my proposal. He knows as well as I do that what I am stating is strictly correct. I will give a few instances of the disproportionate representation from that Province. The County of Westmoreland, as appears by the last Census, has a nopulation of The County of Westmoreland, as appears by the last Censua, has a population of 37,719 souls, and has only one member in this House. The County of Sunbury has a population of only 6,651, six times less than the County of Westmoreland, and yet it returns one member. The County of York, so ably represented by the hongentleman opposite, has a population of 30,397, while the County of Restigouche has only 7,058. Take the County of Northumberland, which I have the honor to represent with a great deal of satisfaction, I am sure, to many members of this represent with a great deal of satisfaction, I am sure, to many members of this House, it has a population of 25,109, as

We are not in the confidence of the Government, but we beg to set the doubts at rest and to say there is a prospect that the beacon will be established. If the Government doesn't do it, a light will be maintained on particularly dark nights, as before, by Mr. Thomson, or if he tires of doing the work gratis some other philanthropist will take it up.

By the way, has the Advocate heard any rumors recently concerning the House, it has a population of 25,109, as against the population of 25,109, as against the population of the County of Albert of 12,329 and I am very glad to see its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its representative on this side of the Government doesn't ose its proposed had, on a similar opposite had the Government doesn't observe the Government of Ontario and Scott being in the Cabinet without portfolios as utterly unconstitutional as had been that of Lord Lanadowne, who was 90 years of age and who was appointed to the Cabinet without portfolios as utterly unconstitutional as had been that of Lord Lanadowne, who was 90 years of age and who was appointed to the Cabinet without portfolios as utterly unconstitutional as had been that of Lord Lanadowne, who was 90 years of age and who was supposinted to the Cabinet without portfolios as utterly unconstitutional as which has two representatives has only 26,339. The average population of each County in the Province is about 20,077, but there are nine counties largely over that average, and six counties a long way under it. Now this misrepresentation has continued long enough, and I for one shall not be satisfied to have the Government tell this House that before the end of this Parliament, they will deal with this matter. Their tenure, like our own tenure, is very uncertain, and it is hard to say, strong and powerful as they are to day, how long they may continue so, though I hope they may continue so, though I hope they may continue so for some time yet, for I want to see them do a great deal more in the way of protection, than they have yet.
