Montreal Hears of The Sale of Telegraph

Montreal, July 29.—It is said a syndicate of interests are about to take up the St. John Telegraph and Times with a view to improving them. The close proximity of the general elections, and reports that the liberals are trying to secure the papers here, it is said induced certain people to step in with a view to securing journalistic influence in present Montreal. John McKinnon is at present in Montreal. While he admits that negotiations are going on, he is reluctant to reveal any knowledge. It is asserted that an expert newspaper auditor will at once take charge of the property preparatory to a thorough reorganization.

The footprints of Dr. Ross have been traced to the stomach. When these "insane nerves" fail, indigestion and stomach distress must surely result. For this, druggists everywhere are supplying a prescription known as Dr. Ross's Restorative. First, there is the inside stomach, heart, and kidney nerves fail. Then gas belching, heart palpitation, or feeling like a ball. Don't drug the stomach, or stimulate the heart or kidneys. That is wrong. Strengthen these failing nerves, not the ones that are calling for help. Within 48 hours, after starting the Restorative, you will realize the gain. A. J. Ross, Montreal, Sold by All Dealers.

Monster Whales Battle With Man-Eating Sharks

New York, August 4.—Owing to the course of his craft at least six times because of a single battle ahead of the vessel between four gigantic whales and two sharks, Capt. Jameson of the fruit steamer Amelia, brought the best fish story so far told this season, when the Amelia tied up to the East river. When two days out from Port Antonio, at about 6 o'clock in the evening the lookout reported a strange disturbance dead ahead, and as the Amelia approached four whales, about 40 feet each in length 15 feet long, were discovered in mortal combat. Fearing the Amelia would cut a gory path should the vessel steam ahead, Capt. Jameson was obliged to proceed slowly and at least six times brought the ship to a stop to avoid the monsters, who paid no attention to the Amelia.

Fish With Rubber Collar is Caught

Capt. Joe Silvera of the Gloucester fishing schooner Flora I. Sears, is trying to solve a knotty problem concerning the habits of the much despised dogfish. Out on Georges, the other day, one of the trawls brought up a "doggie" that, according to Capt. Joe, was either trying to clothe himself or had been in the hands of some crank with unusually strange notions. This particular dogfish wore a collar around its neck but it was not the leather kind with big brass spikes. It was a thick elastic band such as are used in a lawyer's office to bind papers together. The fish weighed about 2 pounds and was as frisky as might be expected of any fish that objected to going in out of the net. Some fishermen believe that the elastic used is a part of the system of tugging employed by the government in an effort to carry on a study of their movements. Frequently tagged fish are caught but the tags are not like the elastic band.

Notes of Interest to the Packerman and Fishermen

There is still but little movement in pickled herring, and the market will hardly become active before September. Scotch reports are to the effect that the shortage with which the month of June closed was not quite as large as anticipated. While the East Coast had fallen about 130,000 crans behind last year's enormous total, the deficiency had been considerably made up at Shelburne, so that the shortage over the whole coast remained about 60,000 crans on last year's catch to the end of June. The catch over the whole coast last week was not a heavy one. At the East Coast stations it is still falling behind that of last year, but at Lewisport, owing to the very large fleet, and steady daily averages it is going ahead. All over there had just been a fair weeks catch of improving quality, which has created a steady rise in prices. When the totals are made up the deficiency on last year's total will probably run to about 80,000 crans. A recent report from Eastport stated that the total pack of domestic sardines to date is fully 200,000 cases less than that of the same date last year. In France and Portugal the run of fish is still exceedingly poor. Prices are still.

Salt Fish Trade

The can-making factory of the Sea Coast Canning Co. at Eastport, which was built to replace the plant destroyed by fire last year, practically trying up business in key-opening cans for domestic sardines, will be in operation by August 1. It is reported that the Williams Packing Company, of Eastport, which has been getting its supply of fish from the union weirs, will erect two new factories. Leading houses report an improvement in trade, particularly in good mackerel. The spring fish are said to be well cared and move quickly at the moderate quotations prevailing. Herring are dull and featureless. Many arrivals of the Scotch have gone into cold storage pending the heated terms. Codfish is in demand. Foreign dried fish markets, according to reports, are still very flat, there is little doing in the export line. Halifax N. S., arrivals are about half of the spring cod catch is marketed, the last sale being at $4. A very good article would probably bring more than this, say $4.25 or better. St. John's reports that the opening prices on codfish will be $5 for large merchantable, and $4 for small, but conditions may alter considerably during July. This is one dollar lower than last year's opening figures, and rise or fall must depend on the size of the catch—actual or anticipatory—at the beginning of August. From present outlook the voyage on the Newfoundland coast will not be a large one, which will be all the better for the maintenance of the price.

Fish Kept His Gem a Year

William Edwards of the Neptune Club, of Montclair, while fishing with grasshoppers, in Greenwood Lake on Tuesday, landed a number of very large carp. On opening one of them to cook the next day Edwards found a gold watch charm in the shape of a grasshopper set with diamonds. Inquiry developed the fact that it was George Wilson's watch charm that a big fish stole from him last summer. Wilson had been fishing on the lake from a boat when the charm dropped into the water. As it did so he made a grab for it, but to his astonishment a large fish came up near the surface, grabbed the charm and made off with it. He and his companions fished in the locality for some time and opened a very large fish that they caught, but failed to find the costly piece of jewelry. He got his charm back yesterday.—New York World.

The Fishing Fraternity

For the second time we welcome the fishermen of this County to our town for their annual holiday. They captured our town a year ago, land forces and sea forces, bringing their wives and sweethearts and filling our town with so much youth and beauty that we surrendered, gladly and unconditionally. It is a far call to the days when the straggling herring were caught by torching and used for bait only, but many of the older generation who meet with us on this holiday will remember it. Instead of an annual holiday there was a reunion every night at the close of the day's work. Sports for the younger men and a crackling driftwood fire with smoke and yards of hogrope days for the older men. There was a kindliness born of the same pursuits, born of the love of the sea, born of the friendly rivalry of evening the fastest boat, of catching the biggest haul of fish. It all made for policy, for comradeship, for all that goes to make up a real fraternity not gained by artificial laws and regulations but written on your hearts to the end of time. In the passing of the old ways the daily life became more isolated. Instead of the hearty good fellowship of the blaring driftwood fire at the fishing grounds, there is a lonely camp under the wings of some sheltering hill overlooking a weir where you watch for the coming of the herring. Storing of heart were the cars who ran the shoreline sloops before there was a power boat to aid them. The boats were built for speed and they carried excessive cargoes. In raging storms and heavy seas the brave boatmen would take the chance of reaching the factory with their freight. Some of the them changed their course before reaching the factories and sailed, out on the sea of eternity. Those good friends and neighbors are not forgotten. The annual income for these weirs in the early days of our fishing were amazing. West Isles especially reaped an enormous harvest. Handsome residences were the rule. The sons and daughters were sent to the best colleges in the land. Good times prevailed for the weirmen and packers alike. After that the deluge! The owning of weirs became attractive to men from other countries who were alien to the fishing business. The owning of factories became attractive to men who knew nothing of canning fish, and the inevitable slump has followed. The slogan of the business men of America during this year of our Lord could well be raised by our Charlotte County fishermen—"Let Us Alone!" The men who were born fishermen and have always been fishermen are pursued by sharks just as truly as the herring are chased by dogfish. The power boats have lessened the danger of delivering the herring at the factories, we have taken the place of scrub, ponds make it possible to hold the herring longer and in the fishing business change is in the air, the old order is passing and the business becomes more specialized. Then—here's to you, friends, who bring the voice of the sea to our town. May the sea give up its gold to you and may the nuggets sent down to the smelters across the bay be returned to you in the coin of the realm. Take—Hogshank!

Canada's Great Wheat Acreage

Ottawa, July 27.—The report of the standing committee of the commons on agriculture and colonization presented to parliament yesterday contains a succinct and illuminating summary of facts brought before the committee during the session in regard to practical agriculture in eastern Canada and areas available for agricultural settlement in Canada's great West land. Many very interesting facts advanced before the committee were not brought to public notice in press, the reports having been lost in a mass of political material turned out by the public accounts and other committees during the session.

The committee report notes that G. E. Young, superintendent of railway lands of the department of the interior, pointed out in his evidence that when it successfully raised at Fort Simpson, 900 miles north of the international boundary and 300 miles north of Edmonton, Dr. Thompson member for the Yukon, presented to the committee a sample of white oats grown on a farm 63 degrees north latitude. This sample, analyzed by Seed Commissioner Clark, was found to run 46 pounds to the bushel and to be an exceptionally fine sample of white oats of superior milling quality. The committee made an exhaustive investigation into the affairs of growing and curing of various species of tobacco in Canada. Experts on tobacco leaf declared that Canadian leaf was quite equal in quality to the corresponding variety of tobacco leaf from any part of the United States and well adapted for manufacturing purposes. The total amount of Canadian tobacco leaf manufactured in Canada was placed at from fifteen to twenty million pounds. It is claimed that the whole of this could be more than produced from Canadian soil with a large surplus to spare for export.

Fisheries Modus Vivendi Extended

Washington, July 27.—A continuation of the present modus vivendi governing the Newfoundland fisheries and the rights of American fishermen and the rights of American fishermen therein has been agreed on between the State Department and the British Foreign Office. By this means friction will be avoided pending a settlement of the question before the Hague tribunal.

Langboat's Collapse

A Canadian Associated Press despatch referring to Tom Longboat's collapse in the Marathon race at London says— "Longboat arrived at the Stadium in a motor car, the announcement to that effect being received with laughter and cheers from the crowd. Manager Flanagan stated that Longboat overhauled the field in fine style between the fifteenth and eighteenth mile. He had passed the Italian and overtaking Heffernon, the only man in front. Flanagan was just thinking that victory was a certainty when the collapse came. The Indian spun round suddenly and fell heavily, bleeding from the nose. Probably it was due to the intense heat. "I still think that Longboat is the finest runner in the world," said Flanagan. "Longboat after the race said he could not explain his collapse. He was running strong and was in a good position when he says he fell like a log. Flanagan said it was incomprehensible, as the other Canadians were all quite fit."

The school board are considering a number of applications for position of principal of the schools.

A lot of interesting correspondence is crowded out of this issue and will appear next week.

BEAVER HARBOR

Fishermen report good catches of line fish, but sardines are so far a failure. While Willie Barry of the Beaver Harbor Trawling Co., was working on the wharf, he missed his footing and fell to the beach below, a distance of twenty-five feet. It was thought at first that he had been seriously injured and Dr. Alexander was immediately summoned. It is now hoped that his injuries are not serious, that he has been fortunate to escape with bruises and a severe shaking, from what might have been a fatal fall. Miss Bessie Perry has returned to her home in St. George, after spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Fred Eldridge. Mrs. Sarah Bennett is quite ill. Mrs. Fred Eldridge has been seriously ill, but is slightly recovering. Dr. Taylor is in attendance.

Mr. Johnson Barry is still seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams Keanighan, visited Mrs. Elizabeth Barry on Sunday. Burpee Bates of the Canadian Fur-banks Co. has returned to his duties in St. John, after a pleasant vacation spent here. Melvin Mawhinney Macos Day, made a flying trip here on Saturday. Miss Pettie Parker and Mrs. Fred Paul went to Eastport by Star. "Viking" on Saturday.

"Sunshine" Furnace

Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft of furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerful to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only simple draft rises of itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is provided, dust will escape through ash-door slots and into operator's face.

In "Sunshine" Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in "Sunshine" Furnace—via grate, to pan, to dust-pipe, to dome, to chimney, to open air.

The Weirmens Union and the Fight for Fishermen's Rights

Desperate Efforts of a Foreign Combine to Control Charlotte County's Magnificent Fisheries.

Packers now Paying $39.00 per Hoghead for Western Fish in a Vain Endeavor to Disrupt the Union.

TAKEN FROM LAST ISSUE

The struggle between the Weirmens Union and the combine of foreign packers still goes on. The outlook is decidedly favorable for the ultimate success of the Union in obtaining its demands. In fact it may be said that at no time during the eighteen months of its existence, have conditions pointed to more certain victory, than now in the second season of its struggle for fair play and a living price for its members and for all others along the Charlotte County Shore who are engaged in the same occupation.

Perhaps here we cannot do better than give a brief sketch of conditions which existed at the time of the organization of the weir-fishing forces, and which were themselves responsible for that organization. The occupation is admittedly, from a financial point of view, an extremely speculative one. Then the initial cost of preparation is heavy. Then the fisherman runs the risk of not catching fish. If he does make a catch, he may not find a sale. If he found a sale the price was often inadequate. Still under all these adverse conditions, taking one year with another, with the open market, the industry while not lucrative still those engaged therein. The open market was however essential, for then the competition among the packing buyers was productive of a higher price in times of scarcity that tended to compensate for the lower price obtainable in times when fish were plenty. Thus competitors among the buyers and among the sellers prevented great hardship. Then a move to radically change and which did not benefit the packers. The formation of a combine with intent to eliminate all competition among the buyers, to set certain arbitrary prices payable in times of scarcity, to get the best obtainable rates in times of plenty, and thus reduce the times of plenty, and thus reduce the cost of fish to a miserable fraction of what might be considered a fair price. Finding this new plan to work much to the satisfaction of their greed and arrogance, these foreign corporations decided upon still further reductions, which had they been allowed to go into effect would have practically deprived themselves of their source of supply inasmuch as it would have rendered weir-fishing so unprofitable as to drive the workers from their means of livelihood, was productive of no great amount of pleasure in the minds of the fishermen and the union idea, previously advanced in a tentative years since the inception of the sardine industry over the prices a control which in the end they had made absolute, would with any grace begin immediately to pay the higher price which the Union set upon their product. That the higher price was reasonable, that it would if at all upon the side of moderation, influenced them not at all. They saw their control slipping away, and announced their intention of never yielding the "outrageous" demands of "ignorant fishermen." It would render their business unprofitable; they could not pay such a price, they said. But the fishermen knew that the cost of herring was the smallest item in the packing cost. They knew that oil had increased in price and that the packers had not threatened to hold up the oil producers and sellers. They knew that the packers were increasing the price of their output, an increase of now about 100 per cent more, and were thus increasing their power to pay the weirmen's reasonable price. They knew that if some years ago the packers could be found tumbling over one another in their desire to contract weirs at $12 per hhd., they could surely pay $5 without the formality of a contract. They knew that if the combine could pay $5.75 they could pay $8. So for a time the combine refused to buy and the fishermen to sell.

In the meantime the Union was perfecting its organization and building up its membership, the combine doing its best to disrupt the Union. In the end a sliding scale was set by the Union and worked fairly satisfactorily for the balance of the season, and the combine was thus obliged to acknowledge and treat with the Union and to accept the Union's price.

In the meantime the Union had for the further protection of its members set a standard tub for measurement of the fish. For previously each boatman had carried his own tub and some of these were so deep that it is related that a papoose fell into one and broke its neck. Daily the too deep tubs worked injustice to the weirmen and were productive of wrangling and disputing at the weirs. But the adoption of a standard has done away with this source of injustice and disagreement. At the end of last season the Union controlled every view in Charlotte County and had been successful to an extent which is given to few organizations to boast of. And the members feel that in no small measure they are indebted for this success to the Canadian packers who throughout the season joined in giving consistent support to their fellow-countymen.

With and before the beginning of a new season, the combine renewed its war upon the Union. As one of the hirings of the combine declared "The Union must be crushed and crushed this year. Then there will be no further trouble." No trouble for whom? Presumably the packers—the monopolistic combine. Again they would have their former power over the fishermen. Nor can it be doubted that such an aggregation would with the knowledge of opposition crushed, be still more tyrannous and overbearing in their dealings. There would be "no trouble"—except that which would overweigh the poor fisherman—the trouble of building weirs, and supplying nets and boats and the thousand incidents to the occupation of the combine. They began by contracting all the weirs whom they could seduce from the Union. And here we might call the attention of those who have contracted with the Foreign Corporation to what we have herein before said concerning the treatment hitherto accorded those with whom the combine made its contracts. Ask those who in previous years have contracted and they will supply the details which space does not here allow. You will find, if you do not in your hearts already know that honesty never was the guiding principle of the foreign oppressive aggregation. No doubt present contractors hope for better treatment than has before been accorded. If it is given, the Union is to be thanked for it. Treatment may be fair now because they cannot afford to antagonize anyone who is now outside the Union. They need such new and will, perhaps, be even generous, until "the Union is crushed." Then there will be no further trouble. The contractor will have done his part. He will have cut the ground from under the feet of those who were helping him and themselves equally against foreign oppression. That done—the contractor and the Union man will pay in the semi-starvation, the cost of the "fair" treatment accorded in the "troubled days while the Union lived." But let us see how well the emissaries of the Packing Trust succeeded in their efforts to wrest from Union control the weirs of Charlotte County. They have announced as the result of their efforts the contracting of one hundred weirs. Good 18; Fair 21;

Non-productive 22; Not built 16; Not known 23. 100 in all.

Thus it will be seen that the productive weirs which the blood-sucking syndicate has contracted number 39. Contrast this with the 183 productive weirs which the Union controls and we see that at the most the syndicate can be sure of only about 17 per cent of the supply. And very few of these weirs can compete with the Union weirs inasmuch as their season is over while that of the Union weirs is just beginning. The syndicate here has surely no cause for self-gratulation upon the effectiveness of its efforts in this direction. This is especially manifest when we consider that while they may control the output of these weirs they have not the sympathy of the owners. For while a short-sighted self interest may have induced these owners to bargain away their prospective output, their best wishes are with the Union which they have left. But there is a still further element of doubt in the real value to the syndicate of the weirs which they have contracted. For these contracts contain provision which vitally amounts to an agreement by the weir-owners that he will not dispose of his catch to a Canadian fisherman or a Canadian packer. Now these weir privileges are the property of the Canadian government—that is, of the Canadian people. They are leased because the government considers that it is in the best interests of Canada and her people that they should be leased. In order that as much benefit as possible may accrue to the Canadian people, the holding of these privileges is restricted to Canadians. If then these holders refuse to give to Canadian packers or Canadian fishermen even a chance to bid for the product of these Canadian fisheries but on the other hand sell it without reserve to foreigners who manufacture in a foreign country, employ no considerable amount of Canadian labor, and are in competition with Canadian packers, employing Canadian help; if they alienate from Canadian fishermen the use of Canadian bait; if they are aiding a foreign combine to break down a Canadian self-defensive organization and thereby reduce the sale value of Canadian products, can it be said that Canadian Government property is being used to the manifest injury of Canadians? Such being the case should the Government allow such disposition to be made of its products? The Union thinks not and will use all its power to prevent in future such a signing away of Canadian rights.

Having thus failed to get control of the source of supply available before the formation of the Union the Packing Combine has been endeavoring as it threatened before to do, to obtain a supply of fish from western waters. Here it may be of interest to many to know that a recent importation of Western fish cost one of the American packers at the rate of $39 per hhd. for packing fish. And even at this figure this supply is so small as to be negligible. The supply must come from Charlotte County waters and the Union controls 83 per cent of that supply.

The old source of supply having thus proved unavailable except at Union terms, and new ones not being great enough to form a factor of any importance in the situation the combine commenced an effort to put out of business its outside competitors to whom the Union Weirs were disposing of their catch—thus in a round-about way to prevent the Union from selling. To do this they tried to cut off one competitor's supply of cans. It cost the combine in round numbers $200,000 to keep the can manufacturing companies so busy that they could not devote any time to the forementioned competitors wants. The competitor turned to and made his own cans while the syndicate has every inch of available space filled with cans which it can't use at all unless it uses them this summer, and which it can't fill unless it buys Union herring. And if they do not use the cans, the firms composing the syndicate stand to lose the best part of $200,000. This is a pretty case of self-over-reaching as ever men were the victims of and proves that the reliable heads of the Big Foreign Combine cannot see any farther into a pine board than can anybody else.

At present their emissaries are engaged in circulating falsehoods with a view of creating dissatisfaction within the Union one being to the effect that they have asked several times for a conference with the executive of the Union and that their request was each time refused. Just a falsehood nothing less. Then again these hired agents of dissatisfaction, have been stating that the packers would pay the Union price if they were not afraid that they would be held up for greener prices later on in the season. They know that the Union's price has been fixed for the season. Any story coming from the syndicate or its sympathizers or hirings can be taken with the proverbial grain of salt. The depth of syndicate truth and sincerity was proved before the Union existed.

In the meantime the combine is not as yet buying Union fish. But they soon must begin. Their ill plant, their empty cans, dissatisfaction with their officers, discontent among their shareholders, resentment from their employees, outside pressure—all these must soon have the effect of breaking the deadlock. It may come in a week or a month. Meantime the members of the Union must stand firm. They have not shown any indication of weakness. In fact their determination to win has latterly been becoming more marked. They can remember conditions of two and three years ago, and before that. They want no return to those conditions. They know that they can when necessary let their herring go, that it is better to handle one hundred hhd. at $6 per hhd. than 600 hhd. at $1 per head. It is easy to foresee the treatment that would be accorded the members of an organization which the combine wishes so to break. They know that the combine must pack and can easily afford to. They know that a brief stand is all that is necessary to decide for years to come whether or not they shall be beaten down to satisfy the greed of the arrogant if not particularly brilliant packers of the combine. It is risky but little to accomplish much and will result in years of greater prosperity for themselves and their neighbors. They will no longer be subjects to contemptuous treatment but will be in a position of such independence as will enable them to demand their rights.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Dixon's Wharf Repairs, North Head, N. B." will be received at this office until 4.30 P.M. on Friday, August 14, 1908, for repairs to Dixon's wharf at North Head, Grand Manan, Charlotte County, N. B., according to plans and specifications to be seen at the offices of E. T. P. Shewen, Esq., Resident Engineer, St. John, N. B., Geoffrey Stead, Esq., Resident Engineer, Chatham, N. B., on application to the Postmaster at North Head, N. B., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderer.
An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, for seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750.00) must accompany each tender. This check will be forfeited if the party tendering declines the contract or fails to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.
By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS, Asst. Secretary.

The Plains of Abraham

O God, our fathers' God!
Here where our heroes trod,
And fought their fight;
With lowly fealty,
Anew we pledge to Thee
Our faith and loyalty
For truth and right!
Oh God, whose law is love!
Hear from thy throne above,
Make wars to cease;
Break Thou the bitter chain
Whose every link is pain,
And bind the world again
With bonds of Peace.
Oh God of nations, keep
The harvest that we reap
From heroes' blood!
That, 'neath a kinder sway,
Thy people ever may
Walk in the better way
Of Brotherhood.

Guard this our own dear land
With Thine almighty hand,
Our Empire bless;
That, with integrity,
We may in unity
Achieve our destiny
In righteousness.
Oh God, our fathers' God,
Here on this hallowed sod
Our hearts unite
In one vast prayer sublime;
That Thou wilt speed the time
When men of every clime
Shall own Thy might.
---Blanche F. Holt Murison.

Foster Gets the Palm

Of a total of some 8,700 Hansard columns for the session the Opposition members poured forth over 4,640 and the Government members only a little over 4,000, although they are nearly twice as numerous as the Opposition members. Mr. Foster with 625 columns tops the list, being about 50 per cent more eloquent than his nominal leader Mr. Howland. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was able to get in only about one word to Mr. Foster's three.
Dr. Roche of Marquette is credited with the longest speech of the session, his deliverance on the Election Bill occupying 63 columns and costing for printing which the country foots over $3,000.

Tired, Off Color, Lacking in Strength

You feel real seely.
No snap, ambition or spirit.
You've noticed your color is miserable.
Noticed that your blood is thin, that you feel the cold, that trifles bother and worry you.
You ought to be vigorous and ruddy, you eat enough, sleep fairly well--but still that listless feeling hangs right on.
To overcome this condition all the vital functions must be stimulated.
You accomplish this by taking Ferrozone.
How it makes the appetite jump.
There follows as a natural consequence an abundant supply of rich, red blood. Vitality and strength you'll soon find throbbing within you, because your food is digested so thoroughly that it's readily assimilated.
You soon notice that your color is coming back, and endurance too, and soon the joy of life, health, vigor, strength--and with these come the old-time zest for everything that makes life worth living.
Ferrozone is a marvelous body-builder, blood-former and strength-giver.
Ferrozone, by supplying the aid the body needs to build up, gives the recuperative power that will enable you to do your work easily, and to maintain strength.
Try it for a month.
See if you don't find it just the thing you need to make you strong. Not a man, woman or child who needs more strength, better nerves and surer health, who won't find it in Ferrozone. This nourishing tonic makes you feel like new--brings back the feeling of spirit and ambition you had years ago. Try Ferrozone, sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

Tories Squealing in Saskatchewan

Regina, Sask., July 22--The Government announced of a dissolution with nominations on August 7 and elections a week later has been received here with mixed feelings. Government supporters claim that the time is the most suitable possible for the farmers, as the elections will come just before the harvest, and the Province will therefore be able to settle down to a comfortable year of business.

On the other hand, the Opposition are wailing that it is a barefaced attempt to obtain a snatch verdict, and say that the Scott Government is so convinced of loss of prestige that they are impelled to this step.

The Woolen Industry

Ottawa, July 18--In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Foster called attention to the published telegram from the Executive of the Canadian Manufacturers Association to the Prime Minister, insisting upon immediate relief for the woolen manufacturers. Sir Wilfrid said that he had sent the following telegram in reply.

"Ottawa, Ont., July 16, 1908.
"Canadian Manufacturers' Association Toronto.

"The Government regret that with present information they are unable to agree to the proposals respecting the increased duties on wool goods. In a country with the climate of Canada the cost of woolen clothing becomes a question of very great importance. A proposal to increase the taxes on what might almost be called a necessity of life naturally arouses much opposition among the consumers and their representatives. The Government have on more than one occasion given evidence of their appreciation of the importance of the woolen interests and their desire to give reasonable encouragement to it. They hope that to some extent the difficulties which the Manufacturers are meeting are due not to tariff conditions, but to a depression in trade which they believe is but temporary. This view is supported by the fact that in the neighboring Republic, where a very high wool tariff is in operation, there has been trade depression. The Government with due regard to the people of all sections of the country, tell that this is not the moment at which they should adopt a policy of increased taxation, especially on articles of a necessary character. The complaints that have been made by the woolen trade as to evasions of the customs laws are being carefully looked into and if it be ascertained that they be well founded the proper remedy will be applied. The question of tariff revision, as respects the woolen industries, cannot possibly be dealt with in the few hours of this session that remain. We can assure the Manufacturers that we cannot at this stage meet their wishes. It is because we are obliged to consider the wishes of all classes throughout the country.

NOT A BAD RECORD

Out of revenue Canada paid all the ordinary expenses of government during the last fiscal year. During the same time the Dominion was also able to pay out of revenue all the expenditures on capital account save that on the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway and of the expenditure on this road the revenue met some four million dollars. Yet, in the face of a record such as this, Hon. George F. Foster had the audacity to take up the time of the Commons while he dilated upon Canada's trouble, or one of the troubles with Hon. Mr. Foster, is that he became used to having to make gloomy financial statements in the old days when he served as Finance minister and he has never been able to divest himself of the feelings of those unfortunate times. With such a record as that given above, with the surplus nearly nineteen and a half million dollars, Canada has no reason to fear that Mr. Foster's dirges have been due to ability to judge the significance of facts of the past nor to accuracy of foresight.

THAT DEMAND

Last week we called attention to the demand of the Woolen Manufacturers, now we draw attention to the reply of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Manufacturers used the word "must" but Sir Wilfrid said: "The Government regret that with present information they are unable to agree to the proposals respecting the increased duties on wool goods. In a country with the climate of Canada, the cost of woolen clothing becomes a question of very great importance. A proposal to increase the taxes on what might be called almost a necessity of life, naturally arouses much opposition among the consumers and their representatives."

It may be that in refusing the demand of the woolen manufacturers Sir Wilfrid lost supporters among the unreasonable members of that industry, but this should be more than made up by the increased support from the farmers, who are perhaps the heaviest consumers of woolen goods and whose duty it now is to stand by the man who stood by them. It is not only the farmer, however, who reaps the benefit of Laurier's stand, for woolens are used largely by all classes and all should support him for his refusal to increase a duty already adequate. The Liberal government is mindful of the interests of the manufacturers, but it also looks after the welfare of the consumers.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

It doesn't pay to advertise half-heartedly.

Work on the new annex to the school house is progressing rapidly.

A beautiful repast on Aug. 10th by the ladies of St. Mark's and Baptist churches.

If you want the best of clothing at moderate prices be sure to see Hanson Bros.

Sir William Van Horne's Yacht, with some members of his family on board, was in port on Friday.

It is reported that the Pulp and Paper Co. have let the contract for the building of a dam at the big lake.

The three masted schooner, Francis A. Goodnow, Capt. Fisher came into port Saturday, the tug Henry Wellman brought her up. She will load pulp.

St. George and L'Etete nines met on the diamond at L'Etete on Wednesday last. An exciting game of base ball resulted in a victory for the St. George boys.

Everyone is coming to the industrial centre of the County August 10th. Excellent arrangements are being made for the big day, and the crowd will be entertained in royal style.

The Granite Cutters International Union is advertising for seventy-five cutters to go to Brownsburg, Quebec. A number of our cutters are planning to go west on the harvest excursion.

Some members of the Maple Leaf band spent Sunday at Brown's Point below the Ledge, making the trip very comfortably in a motor boat recently purchased at St. George by Fred Holt, Courier.

J. Sutton Clark, James O'Brien and H. V. Dewar, have been chosen arbitrators in a dispute account, between Samuel McKay and James MacWhinney of Pennfield. A meeting was held one evening last week, to arrange the preliminaries.

The series of public sessions on the failure of the shad fishing commenced at 10 o'clock on Wednesday in the court house. Mr. Prince in his opening remarks announced that in addition to shad, Hon. Mr. Brodeur desired that the herring and salmon fisheries of the Bay of Fundy be included in the commissioners' investigation.—Globe.

Two burglars were arrested in St. John on Thursday last, while forcing an entrance into the Lake of the Woods Co.'s building. It is believed by the police that both characters have been connected with the robberies committed along the line, and it is expected that charges will be brought against them later on. It is thought they may be responsible for the St. George burglary.—Sun.

At the Dufferin hotel, St. John, at 7.30 o'clock Tuesday evening, July 28th, Rev. C. F. Scovill united in marriage Jonas H. Stafford, of Lepreau, and Miss Marion E. Armstrong, daughter of Dr. Adam Armstrong, of Cady's, Queens County. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, and Mrs. Gertrude A. Kennedy acted as matron of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford left Wednesday morning by the N. B. Southern for Lepreau, where they will reside.

The river bank at the lower bridge has been spoiled of some of its beauty by the cutting down of a number of trees whose branches drank of the running waters. The trees adrift in the tide floated round the basin for a day or two in mute protest, then made for the open sea. If they do not bring up in one of the weirs at the mouth of the river, no doubt they will be heard of in the bay. They doubtless will prove a valuable aid to navigation floating in all their glory of summer raiment.

Lew Sellers—who is a well known here, having learned his trade at stone cutting and worked at the trade for some years,—met with a serious accident at Black's Harbor on Tuesday last. He was engaged in making cans for kippered herring. The machine used is a large oval one and presses the flat tin into can shape. In some way during the operating of the machine the young man's hand was caught and four fingers taken off. Dr. Alexander was called and dressed the injury. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Sellers who is a general favorite.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

A large delegation of our young men will leave next week for the West, on the harvest excursion.

Mayor Lawrence has installed a new double cylinder motor engine in his boat. The Mayor is determined to have the speediest craft on the river.

Miss Phoebe A. Rutherford, aged sixty four died at the residence of Mr. W. Tatton, Pennfield, on Tuesday last and was buried on Thursday. Miss Rutherford has made her home at Mr. Tatton's for a number of years.

A meeting of the directors of the Pulp and Paper Co. was held in town last week. It is reported some very important changes are to be made in the plant here. The capacity of the mill is to be doubled, and some new machinery installed at once.

The Baptist church was crowded on Sunday evening to listen to the concert given by the Sunday school children. The young people acquitted themselves well and showed careful training. The program consisted of solos, duets, motion songs, quartets and recitations.

Mrs. Towers, widow of George Towers of L'Etete died at the residence of Mrs. Kate Chambers, Mascarene, on Monday last. She was eighty-two years of age and highly respected in the community in which she resided. During the past nine years Mrs. Towers has resided with Mrs. Chambers who was her niece. The funeral was held on Wednesday.

A party of young men including Messrs. Hugh and Frank McGrattan of Texas, George Milne of Springfield Mass., Charles and Arthur Callaghan and Leo McGrattan spent three days last week cruising around the coast, in the motor boat "Teaser." During the trip some very large deep sea fish were caught by the party, lighthouses were visited and landings made at different points of interest. The young men spent the nights on shore, staying at Beaver Harbor, Blacks Harbor and L'Etete. The trip was thoroughly enjoyable.

Mr. Hockins an expert in the employ of the Marine and Fisheries department of the Government was here last week in connection with the building of the Fishways, on the Magaguadavic. The deposits of fry at the headwaters of the river and the presence of the fishway expert would indicate a disposition on the part of the Government to carry out the requests of Senator Gillmot. Work cannot be started too soon. The salmon deposited years ago still come up the river as far as the falls, several were seen last week and a number were doubtlessly taken out of the water last season.

A new fish-canning firm has recently been organized in the city to be known as the Eastport Sardine Company, which will do business in the large factory at North End formerly owned and operated by the late Dr. James B. Grady as a tin-decorating establishment. The business will be under the efficient management of Messrs. D. A. Anderson and F. MacDonald. The factory is being thoroughly overhauled and made convenient for the new business. O. N. Newburg being engaged in installing the latest improved machinery in its various departments. The new plant will, it is expected, be in condition to commence operations during the early part of the coming month of August.—Eastport Sentinel.

The railway station was entered Wednesday night by forcing one of the windows, after an ineffectual attempt to break down one of the doors. The office was thoroughly ransacked, but station agent Bogue does not miss anything. The safe was opened and the drawer which contained the money, about twenty dollars, was overlooked. The ticket case and desks were all broken open. A chisel, hatchet and coat was taken from a section house, further down the track. The hatchet was left in the station, the thieves evidently being frightened away. Two strangers seen near the station during the day are suspected, but they have left town and probably no effort will be made to arrest them.

While handling fish on the factory wharf at Beaver Harbor on Friday last Mr. Win Berry slipped and fell over, going down twenty five feet to the hard shore and striking on his back. Apparently no bones were broken but the young man suffered dreadful internal pains. Dr. Alexander is in attendance and has every hope for the young man. Mr. Berry, Daniel and John A. Thompson recently purchased the business of the Beaver Harbor Trading Co. from Messrs. Connors Bros. He is a young man of sterling character, married and it is sincerely hoped his injuries will not prove fatal.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any un-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situated. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

DETERMS.—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to health. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a special purpose medicine especially formulated, which Dr. Shoop's investigative work on internal circulation, and the blood, has shown to be the most effective, specific and regular of all cures. The "Night Cure" is so named because it does its work while you sleep. It soothes nerves, induces natural rest, and local weakness and discharges, while the Restorative, more vigorous action, gives renewed vigor and sustains health to ward off disease, bringing about renewed strength, vigor and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use so well.

"ALL DEALERS"

The Spy

Around a long table in the center of a dirty and poorly illuminated room the conspirators who had sworn to kill the Car were sitting. It was a strange assembly. Some of them had faces marked with the imprints of starvation and hatred, others were full of enthusiasm of the drama, while others looked cold and passive. One man who looked more cold and phlegmatic than anyone else, was sitting at the end of the table opposite the president. He showed no signs of nervousness, and still he intended before an hour had passed to betray all the men around him, to send them all to the deserts of Siberia to win the favor of his imperial master.

The clock struck 8, when the president arose to speak.

"Brethren," he said, we have all sworn the same sacred oath, and we may all trust one another. It is therefore my duty to speak plainly. The time for action has come, and at last, we are to strike a mighty blow for freedom.

He stopped, but as no one said anything he continued, pointing to a barrel of powder standing in a corner.

"We have the means and also the opportunity. On Thursday next the Car is going to Traskoe's."

The sound of steps in the hall interrupted him. Several of the men jumped to their feet, the door was burst open, and an official, followed by a detachment of soldiers, rushed into the room. The next moment each of the conspirators looked into the barrel of a rifle.

"You are my prisoners," the official said. "By what right?" the president asked.

He alone appeared calm, while the others stood as paralyzed. Without replying anything to the president's question, the official looked at the others.

"Line up along the wall, be commanded. They obeyed him in silence unable to resist. The official gave a short command, the soldiers raised their guns and aimed at the heads of the conspirators.

Again the president shouted: "What do you intend to do?"

"Execute you on the spot," the official replied. Then, turning to the soldiers: "Aim, fire!"

"Stop!"

The voice came from one of the conspirators, and the spy jumped forward.

"Stop be cried once more.

"Go back to your place the official commanded, but the spy did not obey. His face was yellow with terror, his teeth chattered and beads of perspiration ran down his forehead. "No, no, you must not shoot me," he cried.

"I am one of your own. I am a detective from the third department. It is I who have informed the police about these men and if you kill me you will be guilty of murder.

He threw himself down in front of the official.

The doomed men looked at him contemptuously, but in the eyes of the president there was a gleam of triumph.

"A police spy," the official said slowly. "Have you got your papers?"

"Yes, I have," the spy cried, taking a paper from his pocket and handing it to the official. "Here it is."

As he said this the soldiers dropped their guns, made a rush for him, tied his hands and feet and gagged him.

With a smile the president came forward. "Brethren he said to the astonished men who were still lined up against the wall. "Brethren, in a case like ours one cannot be careful enough. This little scene was arranged that we might discover if there was a traitor among us, and we succeeded. You who have been faithful have nothing to fear."

The men looked at him as if they dared not believe their own ears, then some of them began to sob and one to laugh.

"And this spy?" the president asked.

"Kill him; kill him!" they cried.

The president held up his hand. "Stop he cried, this man belongs to me and I will punish him as I see fit. Turn him over to me. I shall accompany Brother Vessaloff, he pointed to the polish official, to another place which is safer than this. Here we are no longer safe."

"But—"

"I have spoken, the president said sternly.

Silently the conspirators filed out of the room. When the man who had laughed passed the spy he kicked him in the face and laughed once more.

Now the president was alone with the spy. He stood a moment looking at him with a cruel smile on his old face. At last he took from his pocket a long fuse, placed one end of it to the barrel of powder, and tied the other end around one of the burning candles, an inch below the candle's tip. Then he placed the candle as close to the face of the spy as possible and walked towards the door, but here he stopped.

"Your fate will be a warning to men of your kind, he said, and disappeared.

The spy heard the sound of his steps disappear in the distance. He counted them until he could no longer hear them. Then he looked at the candle. How long would it take a candle to burn down one inch? The police are not to come until 9 o'clock. Would it last that long? He looked at the clock on the wall. It was 20 minutes past eight. Would it last 40 minutes, and if it did not last would it be very painful to be blown up, once more he looked at the candle which seemed to be melting away rapidly. He tried to cry out but couldn't because of the gag. His face hurt him terribly where the man had kicked him. At last he lost consciousness. He dreamed of his mother who had died many years ago.

He thought that he was a child once more, and that he was sitting on her lap, and that she was telling him fairy tales. It was summer and he could hear the singing of the birds. He was laughing with joy.

He opened his eyes the darkness terrified him, and he tried to call his mother. But the gag was still in his mouth and once more his terrible position was clear to him. It was 20 minutes of nine and more than half of the inch had melted away. He trembled with terror.

Again he looked at the clock ten minutes to nine. It was as if the candle was burning slower now. Perhaps there was still hope, would the police come in time? He strained every nerve to hear their steps, but he heard nothing. Good God would they be late?

Five minutes of nine. He tried to pray. He was lost now! At last he heard the soldiers coming. The clock struck nine. He heard knocks at the door just as the flames reached the fuse. He saw the spark draw like a worm across the floor nearer and nearer to the barrel of powder, he attempted to cry—he heard the sound of a door broken up and of heavy steps in the hall. But the spark had reached the barrel. A flash! And—

When the soldiers came in a moment later a sight met them so terrible that it even impressed those who were used to the horrors of war. On the floor was a body of a man tied and gagged. His face was green with terror. His hair white as snow and his eyes, which were bulging from his head, were bloodshot.

On the floor was a black mark where the fuse had burned, and at one end of the room stood an empty powder barrel—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Children's bad Temper

Although bad temper does not rank as a vice, its effect ultimately may be as harmful, and makes more unhappiness in a home than almost any other fault. Parents, therefore, who have their children's well-being at heart will do well to check it before it becomes totally unmanageable.

It should be wrestled with early, and overcome if possible. As punishment for an outbreak of temper, a holiday or promised treat should be canceled, or the child should be sent to bed. The young naturally crave for praise and love, so perhaps the most effective and moral way to deal with this fault is to inculcate in the child the dread of going through life unpopular and disliked on account of a trait which it is quite possible to alert for the better if he really wishes to do so.

But before taking measures to cure a child's ill-temper parents should endeavor to probe the matter to the root, and so ascertain the cause on the little one's irritation. It is so usual for children to be happy and light hearted, that peevishness is more often than not the outcome of some physical infirmity, and if this is the case, medical treatment of a child's body will be more just than punishment. Then, again, violent temper is sometimes hereditary, and when this is so the unfortunate possessor of this legacy should be dealt with firmly but with great circumspection. Corporal punishment would be very unwise for this offense. It will be, of course, impossible to cure a bad temper without the co-operation of the one so afflicted, and parents, by diplomacy, should try to obtain this dissipation. When a child shows a disposition to amend a few words of encouragement should be given, and sometimes a little reward.

WONDERFUL FIREWORKS

St. John's Exhibition Management has Secured Brilliant Attractions in this Line

The display of fireworks at the St. John Exhibition, September 12-13 promises to be magnificent. The executive has spared no pains or expense to get the best that could be had, and this popular feature of exhibitions will be more attractive than ever this fall at St. John.

Among the spectacular scenes to be shown in the heavens during the exhibition will be the eruption of Mount Vesuvius which will be a mammoth firework picture, illuminated in colored lanternwork. As the beginning smoke is seen to be issuing from the mountain top. This is followed by spurts of flame and small eruptions of fire. As the eruption gathers force a really glow is cast over the scene. Molten lava is thrown out. Clouds of sparks ascend high in the air. Great masses of liquid fire descend from the sky and at the end the air is filled with burning material of many kinds. This is accompanied by tremendous reports.

The whole makes one of the most successful of the wonderful Pyro-Kinetic series that has been given of late years.

AT QUEBEC

Quebec, July 22.—Quebec tonight is a City of Content. Within her walls there rests the Heir to the British Throne whose first visit to Canada as Prince of Wales has been waited with eager impatience, although the time of his coming was well known. All else in connection with the celebration, commemorative of Champlain's landing, had been so great a success that it required but the presence of the Prince of Wales to make it complete.

When the Indomitable had dropped her anchor, and the smoke from the salutes had been carried away, official visits to the Prince on Board ship were made. First went Rear Admiral Kingsmill, and the Captains of Atlantic fleet, then Earl Grey accompanied by Earl Roberts, attended by Col. Septimus Denison and Captain Newton, Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed, accompanied by Lieut. Colonel Sherwood and Lieut. Colonel Roy. Vice-President Fairbanks of the United States; Admiral Jureguiberry for France; Sir Louise Jette and Hon Lomer Gouin for Quebec; Mayor Gagnon and the members of the Battlefields Commission, General Lake and General Otter, also crossed the water to the Indomitable before the Prince felt free to land.

As soon as these guests had returned there was an air of expectancy. Launches and pinnaces were scouting over the harbor and presently a bright green gig left the side of the Indomitable and the roll of guns on the ships and from the Citadel told that it contained the Prince. He was soon at the landing and accompanied by a brilliant staff, bestrode on shore. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his ministers left their seats and were the first to greet His Royal Highness. As the Prince stepped to the wharf cheering greeted him from thousands in the rear enclosures. He first inspected his own regiment, the Lord Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles, and thence proceeded to the marquee and to the official welcome. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stepped up, followed by his Ministers and read in address to the Prince, first in English and then in French.

To this Royal Highness replied as follows, also first in English and then in French:

"I am greatly touched by the loyal and sympathetic words of your address with which you, in the name of the people of Canada, welcome me on this occasion of my sixth visit to the Dominion."

"I am fully sensible of the honor and responsibility of my position as the representative of our Sovereign, who, ever mindful of the unwavering loyalty of his Canadian subjects follows with affectionate interest everything which concerns the welfare and development of the Dominion. My privilege is, therefore, twofold, for I join with you both as representative of the King and on my own behalf, in celebrating the 300th anniversary of the founding of your famous city by Samuel de Champlain."

"I look forward with keen interest to the impressive ceremonies of the next few days, during which the past and present will appear before us on a stage of unsurpassed natural beauty. And here, in Quebec, I recall with much pleasure the no uncertain proofs, which I have received on my several visits to Canada of the loyalty of the King's French Canadian subjects. There proved fidelity in times of difficulty and danger, happily long past, is one of the greatest tributes to the political genius of England's rule and the knowledge that they and their fellow Canadians of British origin are working hand in hand in the upbuilding of the Dominion is a source of deep satisfaction to the King, as well as to all those who take pride in British institutions."

"I cordially agree with you in the propriety of setting apart, as a memorial for present and future generations, the battle ground of the Plains of Abraham of past years, and I heartily congratulate all concerned in this noble undertaking, upon the success which has attended their patriotic efforts."

"I much regret that my present visit cannot be extended beyond Quebec, and also that the Princess of Wales was unable to accompany me on this occasion. We both retain the happiest recollections of our stay in Canada seven years ago, and of the kind and affectionate welcome we experienced during that most interesting and enjoyable visit. "I shall not fail to convey to my dear father, the King, who takes the deepest interest in this celebration, the gratifying expressions of your loyalty and attachment to the throne and person of which His Majesty is well assured. "Once more I thank you from my heart for your kindly greeting."

The Crop Outlook

Winnipeg, July 20.—The crop throughout the whole west are showing the benefit of recent rains, and the outlook is very encouraging. The best growth is the principal feature. The wheat heads are filling out in fine style giving promise of a very heavy yield. Unusual anxiety is felt regarding the supply of harvest hands this year.

Mr. Wm. White of the C. P. R. believes 25,000 men are required in the provinces and a campaign will be started shortly to secure that number. The labor situation is likely to cause some anxiety before the season is over.—News.

Harvest Excursions

Early in August

All reports from Manitoba and the other western provinces indicate that this year's grain crop will surpass that of any previous year. The increased acreage under cultivation and the ideal climatic conditions which have this season prevailed have brought about this result, all eyes are upon Western Canada, the "Breakbasket of the world." The benefits of this bountiful harvest are numerous and far reaching, and in a great measure will serve to offset the financial stringency which has been felt throughout the country for some months past, and with two or three weeks more of continued good weather the "Granary of the Empire" will be the great factor in bringing Canada's affairs back to their normal state.

The work of cutting, threshing, garnering this immense crop will give months of employment to a vast array of laborers, and it is estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 will be required for this year's harvesting. The farmers of the east are as much interested in this matter as are their western brethren, in fact, it is a work of national importance, and the call from the west for help must be heard and heeded in these eastern provinces, for upon the west depends largely the growth and development of the country.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, realizing the demand for labor in the west, will, as in previous years, run farm laborers' excursions, and it is expected that laborers from the Maritime Provinces will be required, to leave here about the first week in August. The exact date will be announced later. The general arrangements for the excursion will be along the lines of excursions run to previous years, the rates for which were $12 going from C. P. R. stations in New Brunswick; $13 from I. C. R. stations in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and D. A. R. stations, and $13.50 from P. E. Island points.

When it is considered that the distance from St. John to Winnipeg is 1,900 miles, it will be readily seen that the railway is offering the next thing to a free pass. Intending settlers are given an excellent opportunity to look the country over, and the money earned in the west will cover all the expenses of the trip and leave them something to the good.

D. BASSEN

Lower Street St. George

No use grumbling now, ladies. The weather has been favorable for the past month. You are all done with your house cleaning, your sewing, your trimming, your fixing and all your general work.

You may begin to think of a rest—your vacation, visiting your friends. Surely you will want some up-to-date furnishings. A walking or a dress hat. A lace or silk shirt waist to keep you cool. A linen or pique skirt. A pair of canvas or tan shoes, which are very popular these days.

And what about the babies' or children's outfitings? We have them
