LADY LUNE.

The golden day was over,
A glorious day in June;
And up from the shimmering ocean
Slow rose the lady moon.

And the wavelets on the shingle
Rippled a slumberous tune,
Whilst an angel's voice was singing
A lay to "la belle lune."

An angel, yes, though earth-born,
The sheen of those violet eyes
I knew were but reflection
Of hues from Paradise.

Those tresses bathed in moonlight,
That vestment's classic fold,
Seemed an angel's snowy mantle,
And radiant crown of gold.

And I almost feared to see her
Join "sister spirits" fair,
And ascend to the asphodel meadows
Up yonder silver stair.

So I drew her closer to me,
And her hand more tightly pressed;
And lovingly her beauteous head
She pillowed upon my breast.

She was mine, she vowed, mine only,
Whilst moons should wax or wane;
She longed to give her virgin troth
To me in holy fane.

She sought not rank or honors,
She spurned the thought of gold;
The love I proffered to her
Was more than wealth untold.

She would share my name and fortunes,
It could not be too soon;
She invoked, to witness that maiden vow,
The changeable lady moon.

And I kissed, and rebaptized her,
To those wavelets' slumberous tune,
By alas! the ominous tune
Of beautiful Lady Lune.

She deserved it. Next November
She married a big dragon;
She shares his wealth. She owns his name,
She is now his Lady—Lune!

A Courageous Child.

An important movement has been initiated by a little child in Lancashire, which will doubtless spread among the nurseries of Great Britain, and effect an improvement sadly needed in the domestic relations of many a humble home. At the Dukinfield petty sessions lately, an assault case was heard arising out of a dispute between two farmers' wives, of course "related to each other." The discussion appears to have waxed rather warm, for one farmer's wife, seizing the other farmer's wife by the hair of the head, beat her with her fist, knocked her down, and kicked her. At this stage of the difficulty, however, a little fairy appeared on the scene—like a flash of light in a stormy sky—in the shape of the daughter of the prostrate farmer's wife, aged seven years, and bearing a red hot poker in her hand. With this implement she gently struck her mother's assailant three times, producing such an impression on the excitable lady that she "seized hold of the poker, burnt her hands terribly, and then knocked the child down more than once." The determined and affectionate infant gave her evidence in the most artless manner, saying, with tears in her eyes, "I took the poker when I heard mamma call out 'Murder'." The magistrates fined the defendant 5s. and costs, the chairman at the same time paying a well deserved compliment to the child for thus rushing to the protection of its mother. Children who thus mediate in family quarrels should, however, be careful to make no mistakes when, as is too often the case, the combatants are their parents.

The Great Wrecks of the Nineteenth Century.

The dreadful shipwreck that has just occurred on the coast of Nova Scotia, resulting in the loss of hundreds of lives, is not on a parallel with any like disaster of this century. The following list of great wrecks will be interesting at this time:—

In February, 1805, the Abergavenny was lost on the Bill of Portland; 300 perished.

In October, same year, the Amers, lost off Newfoundland; 310 perished.

December, 1805, the Aurora foundered on the Goodwin sands; 300 lives lost.

October, 1806, the Athenian lost near Tunis; 317 perished.

February, 1807, the Ajax was burned off Tenedos; 250 lost.

December, 1810, the Minotaur lost on the Ilank Bank; 360 perished.

December, 1811, the Saldanha lost on the Irish coast; 300 perished.

December, 1812, the St. George, Defence, and Hero, lost on the coast of Jutland; 2,000 perished.

January, 1816, the Seahorse lost near Tromore Bay; 365 soldiers of the 69th Regiment perished.

August, 1831, the Lady Sherbrooke, lost near Cape Ray; 273 perished.

August, 1833, the Amphitrite, filled with female convicts, lost on Boulogne Sands; all lost.

November, 1838, the Protector; 178 persons perished.

March, 1841, the President, of New York, lost in a gale; never heard from.

December, 1847, the Avenger, lost on the coast of Africa; 200 perished.

April, 1847, the Exmouth, bound for Quebec; lost, with 240 drowned.

March, 1850, the Royal Adelaide, lost on the Tongue Sands, off Margate; over 400 perished.

February, 1852, the Birkenhead, troopship, lost on the coast of South Africa; 254 persons perished.

February, 1853, the Independence, lost on the coast of California; 140 persons drowned or burned to death.

September, 1853, the Annie Jane, lost west of Scotland; 318 lives lost.

January, 1854, the Tayleur, lost, with 380 persons.

April, 1854, the Favourite, lost in a collision; 201 drowned.

May, 1854, the Lady Nugent, lost in a hurricane, with 400 persons.

September, 1854, the mail steamer Arctic, lost off Newfoundland, with 300 lives.

In the same year the City of Glasgow disappeared, with all on board.

January, 1856, the Collins steamer Pacific disappeared, with all on board. Never heard of.

August, 1857, the Central America foundered at sea; lost 450 persons.

September, 1858, the Austria, burnt in mid-ocean; 471 lives lost.

April 1859, the Pomona, wrecked on Blackwater Bank, through the master mistaking the light; 400 lost.

October, 1859, the Royal Charter, wrecked on Anglesea coast; 446 lives lost.

February 1860, the Hungarian, wrecked off the coast of Nova Scotia, with all on board (250) lost.

September, 1860, the Lady Elgin, lost on Lake Michigan, with 237 persons.

April 1863, the Anglo-Saxon, wrecked off Cape Race, Newfoundland; about 237 out of 446 lives lost.

January, 1866, the London foundered in the Bay of Biscay; about 220 perished.

September 6th, 1870, the British iron-clad Captain foundered off Cape Finisterre, during her trial trip; and out of a crew of 500, only 18 were saved.

Among those on board who were lost, were Captain Cowper Coles (her designer), Lord Northbrook, and a son of Mr. Childers, First Lord of the Admiralty.

In February 1871, the City of Boston disappeared, and never heard from.

February, 1873, the emigrant-ship Northfleet lost by collision, with 300 lives.

April 1873, the Steamer Atlantic, wrecked on rocks off Prospect, Nova Scotia, over 700 lost.

It will be seen from the foregoing that if the report be true as to the loss of life by the wreck of the Atlantic at Halifax, it is a calamity that has but few parallels in the course of over seventy years.

The veracity of this story cannot be doubted, for it comes from a respectable man of Paducah, Kentucky, who knows the party.

Ben Watson having heard a stranger in Col's saloon recite some rather tall narratives of exploits with the rifle, told the following singular instance of a gun hanging fire: He had snapped his gun at a gray squirrel, and the cap had exploded; but the piece not going off, he took it from his shoulder, looked down into the barrel, and saw the charge just starting, when, bringing it to his shoulder again, it went off and killed the squirrel.

PAPER CURRENCY IN SANTO DOMINGO.

From Monte Cristo Mr. Hazard took passage in a schooner for Cape Haytien, a distance of about sixty miles. His first experience in the negro republic was anything but pleasant. Starting in the evening, and expecting to reach port by daybreak, there was not a mouthful of food on board. Delayed by a calm, the schooner did not come to anchor until noon. The customs-house officers were at breakfast, and kept our hungry voyager waiting two hours for permission to land, and then the aggravating police authorities took up all the rest of the day in examining his papers, before he was allowed to gratify his raging appetite. "What will you have?" asked the polite waiter, when, worn out with hunger and vexation, he seated himself at a cafe table. "Every thing, any thing—beer, bread, fruit, cheese—bring it all at once," was the response; and the waiter's prompt compliance tended greatly to soothe the traveler's exasperated sensibilities.

The next morning Mr. Hazard experienced a new sensation. He suddenly found himself a millionaire. His first act on rising was to adapt himself to the custom of the country and ask for a "coo tail." It was well fabricated and enjoyed with zest. Then ensued the following dialogue:—

"How much?" I asked.

"Thirty dollars, monsieur."

I start back horror-struck. Thirty dollars for a drink! I see it. I am a poor, miserable American, disowned by his government, in a foreign land, and these barbarians know it, and now they want to swindle. But the old spirit of '76 comes strong upon me, and I get reckless. I vow I will not pay it; and drawing from my pocket a silver coin of the realm of America, value ten cents, I declare it is all the money I have.

To my amazement the mild bar keeper says, "I haven't the change, Sir."

"Ah," I begin to see it; and with a princely air I say, "Oh, keep the change!"

Later in the day Mr. Hazard was informed by the banker to whom he applied to have a draft for a few hundred dollars cashed, that one dollar in gold was worth 400 dollars of the paper currency of the country, and that if he had his draft cashed he would need half a dozen mule-carts to take away the bills! He left the draft at the bank, and drew only a few thousands for spending money.—[Harper's Magazine.]

CALLING A BOY IN THE MORNING.—The

Connecicut editor who wrote the following, evidently knew what he was talking about:

Calling a boy up in the morning can hardly be classed under the head of "pastimes," especially if the boy is fond of exercise the day before. And it is a little singular that the next hardest thing to getting a boy out of bed is getting him into it. There is rarely a mother who is a success at rousing a boy. All mothers know this; so do their boys.

And yet the mother seems to go at it in the right way. She opens the door and enters and insinuatingly observes, "Johnny." There is no response. "Johnny." Still no response.

Then there is a short, sharp "John," followed a moment later by a long and emphatic "John Henry." A grunt from the upper regions signifies that an impression has been made, and the mother is encouraged to add, "You'd better be getting down here to your breakfast, young man, before I come up there, and give you some thing you'll feel!" This so startling the young man that he immediately goes to sleep again. And the operation has to be repeated several times. A father knows nothing about the trouble. He merely opens his mouth as a soda bottle ejects its cork, and the "John Henry" that drives the air of that stairway goes into that boy like electricity, and pierces the deepest recesses of his nature.

And he pops out of that bed and into his clothes, and down the stairs, with a promptness that is commendable. It is rarely a boy allows himself to disregard a paternal summons. About once a year is believed to be as often as is consistent with the rules of health. He saves his father a great many steps by his thoughtfulness.

The English Railways.

The amount of capital expended upon the railways in Great Britain up to December last reached the large sum of £537,285,640 sterling.

The traffic receipts amounted to £50,554,552. The progress may be noted from the fact that so lately as 1856 the year's receipts amounted to only £36,923,927. It is not expected that the same favorable exhibit will be shown in 1873, for coal and iron have risen to such exorbitant prices. On most of the British lines the working expenses have lately gone up enormously. For instance, the traffic receipts on the Caledonian for the half year ending 31st January, amounted to £1,203,641, an increase over the corresponding period of last year of £64,836. But the working expenses have gone up from £501,102 to £636,809, or double the increase of receipts.

HIRAM GREEN VISITS BOSTON.

The Vexities of the "Hub."

There was a crooked man,
Who went a crooked mile,
He found a crooked sixpence
Against a crooked stile.
He bought a crooked cat,
Which caught a crooked mouse,
And they all lived in Boston
In a little crooked house.

When Longfellow, or some other fellow wrote the above he had probably been taking a walk about the "Hub." I was down to that tangled up community a few days ago, and I can't truthfully say its streets are laid out according to the rule of three.

They are, in fact, more like a double barreled cork-crow tied up in a bow knot. It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to tell which way the twist runs.

I made 72 attempts to pass a given pint.—I finally mixed a little sugar and bittern with it, when I found no difficulty whatever in passing said pint.

I visited the cradle where the Goddess of Liberty was rocked in her infancy, and I am pleased to say that said cradle of Liberty has grown to the proportions of a full sized bed.

Harvard College is situated in the neighborhood

Studying rooms for young students are located all over the "Hub."

Every such room had a long counter in it, with a lot of fancy bottles standing behind the counter, having charge, filled with a select assortment of chemicals. It is highly amusing to see the "Sophs" study; their lessons being to ascertain how large a quantity of fluid matter the human system is capable of surrounding and remain in horizontal position.

The student usually enters a Freshman, and is often transported to his lodgings a "soft more."

Looking away at their Hoc, "Hic!" is sure to put in an appearance. I met with an adventure, while visiting Boston, which cost me nearly costing me my valuable life, and depriving society of one of her most valued citizens.

If there is anything for which I have a failing, it is pork and beans. I can eat them fourteen times per diem, and still retain an ordinary appetite. I was walking up Milk Street, with my blue cotton umbrella under my arm, when in the dim vista of the next block, a sign met my gaze. On it was painted in gilt letters:

"Pork and beans hot or cold."

I walked in.

I sat down by a table.

A slick looking dandy interrogated me as to my wishes.

"Cold pork and beans," Marm with plenty of pepper-sass," was my reply.

Devolving the repeat, I paid my bill and left for a walk.

About half an hour afterwards, another sign:

"Pork and beans hot or cold," loomed up before my vision.

I entered the portals of the building, and taking a seat, said to the girl in attendance, who bore a family resemblance to the former maid, who waited upon me:

"Give me a plate of pork and beans, cold, with pepper sass."

I ate the food, paid the bill, the girl smiled and I departed to continue my perambulations.

I walked up and down several more streets.

Seeing another sign:

"Pork and beans hot or cold." I paused.

I could not repress the thought, that Boston dealers, in their favorite repeat, went very heavy on pork and beans.

I entered without further ceremony, and gave the usual order:

"Beans, Marm, with pork and pepper sass."

As I raised a well-filled fork to my mouth, it occurred to me, that Boston girls looked enough alike to be twin sisters.

Worrying down the provision, I wiped my mouth with the corner of the table-cloth, arose, paid the reckoning, and started to see more of the "Hub."

Just as I was leaving, I heard the girl say: "To be!"

I then went over consid-rable territory, looking right and left at sights, when I felt an unusual goodness at the stomach.

Ah! another pork and beans establishment across the way.

I thought it queer that places which dealt in such food should have the same kind of building. There was such a sameness to all the streets, too, that it was extremely monotonous. Walking in the the restaurant, and drawing up to a table, my order was as usual:

Pork and beans, with peppercorns, warm.

Thought I, if these waiter girls are not all of the same family, it is a very singular coincidence.

I ate my victuals, and just as I was going out into the street, those impudent girls would you believe it? laughed out loud.

I turned to them with one of my terribly ar-r-ous-d gazes, and remarked:

Girls, do you discover anything peculiarly Green about me? when they all disappeared in a back room, laughing in a very ungentlemanly manner.

I again resumed my walk.

Walking encouraged my appetite.

Nature cried aloud for food.

Hunger had no hesitation whatever, in directing my footsteps to another of those familiar buildings, where, as the sign read.—Pork and beans hot or cold, were dispensed to the hungry multitude.

I recklessly entered the eating establishment, and wildly cried:

Pork and beans, warm, with peppercorns.

Was I dreaming?

Didn't I know beans?

I stepped on my corns, stuck a fork into my leg, pinched myself to see if I was asleep.

Could it be, thought I, as the perspiration ran down my face, that I had suddenly become crazy?

A girl wearing the same raiment, with the same coloured hair, eyes, form, and an exact counterpart of the four former girls stood before me.

Flesh and blood could stand it no longer.

I jumped to my feet, and, convulsively clutching her arm, in tragic and awful tones cried:

"Art thou spirits or goblin-d—I sent here by Mrs Green to haunt me? Back! back! I say; or, by the great John Rogers, I'll search thee bald-headed!"

"Woman!" I screamed at the top of my voice, "how many of you is there? Speak, if thou wouldst not be despoiled of thy autumn French roof."

"Oo man, you're a fool, if I may be allowed the expression," said she, jerking herself away from my grasp.

"You have been here five times in two hours. You must be shaky in your upper story."

"H-o-r-r-i-ble!" I hissed.

"Five times have you eaten beans enough for a large family. Five times have you got away with pork enough to stock an ordinary store. Why, old man, you must have an India rubber stomach, or else you are a lunatic escaped from some boarding house."

"Devil! Devil, woman!" I cried, and tumbled madly into the street.

Grasping my way to a water tank, I stuck my head in, clear up to my ears, when reason again returned home, and Hiram was himself again.

I had been most elegantly sold by the crooked streets of Boston.

Instead of getting into different places, I had bought at the same restaurant every time.

Seeing a little boy pass, I gave him twenty-five cents to show me to the depot, where I took the cars for the Green mansion, where I soon arrived.

I told Mrs. G of my adventure. Her sympathy, as usual, was touching. Said this highly interesting and amusing woman:

"Served you right. Next time you go off, you had better get a dog, with a string around his neck, to lead you around. I expect one of these days, unless you quit your fooling, to see you brought home done up in a pine trunk, trying to see daylight through two old fashioned penates."

Boston is a good place for cross-eyed people, but for a person who sees straight it is bad.

Yours faithfully,

HIRAM GREEN, Esq.
Lait Justice of the Peace.

A sea captain is reported to have said in Boston the other day that Capt. Williams of the Atlantic only followed the example of most steamship officers, in "taking the chances."

It seems that the managers of the line also took the chances and furnished the vessel with scant quantities of fuel and provisions. If this rule is to prevail in the future on that line, the public will be likely to take the chances with some other company.

A San Francisco paper heads a description of a school committee thus: "Personal pen-pictures of public pillorials. Eccentric etchings of elastic educators. Diabolical dissection of dizzy dignitaries. Remorselessly roasted by our roasting reporter."

This is the way a delighted Michigan "local" puts it: Brighter days are coming—just think of it. Blue birds, dandelions, scissors grinders, artichokes, violets and hand organs, will soon sing, shine, show, sharpen, scent and shriek that Spring has come.

A curious little incident lately occurred in connection with the ladies gallery, in the House of Commons. Half a leaf from a pocket album, folded up, fell from the ladies' gallery and alighted upon a reporter's note book.

Upon it was inscribed the following inquiry: "How much longer, my pet?"

A young lady at Princetown has sent off her lover with her instructions not to return until he "means business."

EXPLOSION ON SHIPBOARD.—When thirty miles off the Start yesterday, a tremendous explosion occurred on board the schooner Abbie Perkins of New York. She was laden with naphtha and benzine, and the force of the explosion blew up the deck. The vessel was set on fire, and burned to the water's edge, the crew escaped with difficulty in their boats.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.—The opinion of the Law Officers of the Crown of England on the School question is as follows:—

"We report that we agree substantially with the opinion expressed by the Minister of Justice, so far as appears from the papers before us. Whatever may have been the practical working of annual educational grants in the Province of New Brunswick, the Roman Catholics of that Province had no such rights, privileges, or schools as are the subjects of the enactment in the Act of 1867. It is, of course, quite possible that the new statute of the Province may work in practice unfavorably to this or that denomination therein, and therefore to the Roman Catholics, but we do not think that such a state of things is enough to bring into operation the restraining powers or the powers of appeal to the Governor in Council, and the powers of remedial legislation in the Parliament of the Dominion, contained in the 93rd sec. We agree, therefore, in the practical conclusion arrived at by Sir J. A. Macdonald.

(Signed) J. D. COLERIDGE."

The following order of the Governor-General in Council has been issued:—

"No person shall fish for, catch, kill, buy, sell or have in possession any Bass between the first day of April and the first day of August in each year, in the Province of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, nor at any time shall any Bass of a less weight than two pounds, be taken, caught, killed, bought, sold or had in possession, and if caught by accident in nets or other fishing apparatus lawfully used for other fish, young Bass of less than two pounds weight shall be liberated alive at the cost and risk of the owner of the fishery in whom in every case, shall devolve the proof of such actual liberation: Provided, nothing contained in this regulation shall prevent any person from fishing for, catching or killing, Bass at all times by means of angling with a hook and line; but the possession, purchase, or sale of Bass so caught shall impose on the possessor, purchaser or seller the burden of proving the lawful capture thereof."

A SHELL, which exploded recently at the shell foundry at the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich, when placed in a cupola for being melted down, is believed to have been a 600 pounder for the 11 inch gun, a conical projectile constructed on the Palliser system which had been returned from the practice ground at Shoeburyness. The roof and skylights of the adjacent buildings were damaged more or less by fragments of coke and chalk thrown up from the furnace by the force of the explosion, but the mischief done is comparatively trifling.

Several Cape Ann fishermen are still busily employed fishing in the Bay. Wonder whether the mile limits in the Fishery Act extends to half-locked bays? The Act is generally admitted requires amendments.

Mr. Hart has commenced operations in his Lobster Factory, and we learn, intends carrying on the business also at Grand Manan this season.

April Sessions 1873.
GRAND JURY ROOM,
St. Andrews, April 8, 1873.

The following gentlemen were sworn in as Grand Jurors:—

HENRY BULL, Foreman,
John O'Brien,
S. C. Irish,
H. P. Hill,
M. Reid,
P. H. McCullough,
Thos. McKnight,
C. E. Mowat,
J. F. Mulligan,
G. F. Todd,
D. GILMOR, Secretary.

The Grand Jury submitted the following REPORT:

The Grand Jury visited the Jail in a body. Found it in good condition, excepting some slight damage in one cell and one doctor's room, which we suggest should be repaired.

ST. STEPHEN.
The accounts for this Parish are reported upon favorably.

ST. DAVID.
Accounts correct excepting vouchers for those amounts in Alma House Commissioner's account amounting to $113. No vouchers with the account.

CAMPO BELLO.—Accounts correct.
ST. PATRICK.
Accounts correct excepting no voucher for charge against Ann Thomas. Wrong charge of $3 in Groom's account, which cannot be allowed.

PENFIELD.
Accounts incomplete, as the Overseers of the Poor do not account for $254.82.
ST. JAMES.—Correct.

ST. GEORGE.
Accounts correct excepting the following, viz: overcharge 2 per ct. Collector Campbell's account. Robt. Armstrong not correct by vouchers. Samuel Dick uncollected amounts not accounted for, and no commission charged. Edward Lynott, Jr., confused and unintelligible. James Moran, overcharge of 2 per ct. on three different accounts.

Estimate of $1060 for Alma House too large, and do not recommend the assessment of over $800.
WEST ISLES.—Accounts correct.

DUMFARTON.
Accounts correct except charge of $15 to the County Treasurer, for which there appears no voucher.

LEPREAUX.
Correct excepting no vouchers for Knight's bill amount $4.53, and commission charged on monies not collected amount $4.55.

ST. ANDREWS.
Accounts not generally satisfactory. With respect to Jail account, we notice that the work on Record Office appears too high. The charge also for bill of oil cloth for Record and Clerk of Peace Offices, is far too high; and that these offices might have been much better fitted up at half the expenditure. Also Alex. Campbell's charge is 25 per ct. per day more than should have been.

Alma House account satisfactory, except no vouchers for three charges.
County Treasurer's Account—no vouchers for

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT has passed a large number of important Bills, notwithstanding the efforts of the Opposition to hamper the Government. New Brunswick has just cause to be proud of her representatives in the Government, the Hon. Minister of Finance and Minister of Marine and Fisheries; would that we could say as much for some of her representatives in Parliament. Messrs. Pickard, Ferri, Burpee, (Sunbury,) and Anglin, while voting with the Opposition, may have gratified their feelings, but they certainly were damaging their constituents. Mr. Anglin's language in his letters to the "Freeman," was, to put it in the mildest terms, disgraceful and untrue, with reference to the 107 members of Parliament. The Hon. Dr. Tupper and Hon. Mr. Tilley castigated him severely,—their rebukes will not soon be forgotten, and even the Opposition repudiated his statements. Mr. Anglin did not explain, but remained silent, and as a correspondent expresses it "self condemned."

Hon. Mr. McDonald (Pictou) moved, that it be Resolved. That the paper published in the Newspaper, called the "Morning Freeman," dated the 12th April, 1873, under the head of "Editorial correspondence," and read by the Clerk of the House at the Table, is a scandalous, false, and malicious libel upon the honor, integrity and character of this House, and certain Members thereof; and that the said publication is a threat to the privileges and of the constitutional authority of this House.

After a lengthy debate, the vote was passed—Yeas 92, Nays 66.

DEATH OF LAUCHLIN DONALDSON, Esq.—We regret to learn that Mr. Donaldson, died at his residence St. John, last night, aged 88 years. Mr. Donaldson resided here for several years, where his home will own a valuable square. He was formerly a prominent merchant in St. John, and for some time Mayor of the city.

LECTURE.—The Grand Worthy Patriarch of the Sons of Temperance, O. D. Wetmore, will deliver a lecture this evening in the Baptist Church, at half-past 7 o'clock.

Mr. Hart has commenced operations in his Lobster Factory, and we learn, intends carrying on the business also at Grand Manan this season.

Alma House account satisfactory, except no vouchers for three charges.
County Treasurer's Account—no vouchers for amounts to Petit Jury, nor for $2,000 forwarded to Receiver General.

Jail Account.—We further find Levi Handy's account is vouched for $4.25.

Wharf Accounts.—We find these anything but satisfactory, as the outlay exceeds the income; and no charge of rent made for artists portable saloon, which had a stand on the square during the year.

Collector of Rates.—We are unanimously of opinion that the Rates and Taxes should be more thoroughly collected, instead of being remitted, excused, and handed to a Justice of the Peace for collection, and afterwards allowed to stand until eventually lost. We strongly recommend these old balances to be at once collected in every Parish.

County Account generally satisfactory. We recommend an assessment of $1000 for Poor Rates in the Parish of St. Andrews. Recommend two thousand dollars for County contingencies. We do not recommend any sum to be granted for the building of a Reservoir.

Recommend $2 tax on each dog in Town districts, also to be levied and collected.

Accounts from Penfield have been received Overseers of the Poor, and still we do not find vouchers for $103.63, received by themselves from Collector Shaw.

Having examined the Court House would recommend that the roof and stone wall be repaired. Cost of which should not exceed $50. We cannot recommend any appropriation for road to New Hill.

Municipal Election accounts.—Would recommend the following, viz: Allowance posting notices $1.50 for each Parish. Each presiding officer $1. Polling booths $3 each, except St. George and St. Stephen, which we allow $6 each. Printing bill $25. Returning list of Ratepayers by Collector Rollins, $2. All other collectors at the same proportion. Sheriff's bill $35.10.

Finally recommend.—That Grand Jurors of the Court of Sessions having been an ingredient of the Courts of Law in the early history of British Jurisprudence, when both property and learning were not found in the masses, but among the few of which this Jury was generally composed. The reason of their number and of their not being paid was then found to be immaterial; but now from the more equal distribution of property and education, particularly upon the continent of America, this immaterial state has ceased, and it is found to be both burdensome and grievous, and this Jury would respectfully suggest to your Worship, to Petition the Legislature to reduce their number to twelve or seven, and that this smaller number be paid decently for their trouble.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) H. BULL, Foreman.
D. GILMOR, Sec'y.

THE FISHERIES.—The U. S. Treasury department has issued a circular notifying Collectors of Customs and all concerned that the U. S. Government has been informed by the British Minister at Washington that the Government of the Dominion of Canada regards the act of Congress giving effect to the Treaty of Washington as not decided into operation till July 1, 1873, and has decided that till that time American fishermen have no legal right to fish in Canada waters, and their vessels are liable to seizure for doing so; that the Dominion Government will, however, take no steps to prevent vessels from fishing within the three mile limit; that such vessels will have permission to fish so far as that Government can grant it, and that it is not probable any seizure will be made at the instance of private parties, but that should such a case occur the good offices of the Government will be used in advising the release of vessels and the remission of any penalties incurred.

The circular proceeds: "In view of this courteous and liberal act of the Government of the Dominion you are hereby enjoined to make known to the public interested in the subject as far as possible, that until the Treaty of Washington relating to the fisheries shall go into effect, the liberty of fishing in waters hereafter to be thrown open to fishermen of the United States by the operation of these provisions is permissive only and subject to attempts by private parties to enforce the still existing legal restrictions, and that if American fishermen engage in fishing within the 3 mile limit hereinafter mentioned before July 1, 1873, they may still be subjected to serious difficulty by private parties under the provisions of the statutes of the Dominion of Canada."

THE NEW DISEASE.—The following is said to be the most approved mode of treating the new disease "Cerebro Spinal Meningitis"—The moment a child complains of a pain in the back of its neck; or any unusual feeling of illness however slight, send for the doctor, and while he is coming put the child in a hot bath, wrap a blanket round him, and put him in bed, being very careful not to allow any chill, never mind about drying; the object is to produce perspiration as speedily as possible. Give a dose of opening medicine and keep the patient in bed.

NEW WAR STEAMER.—An event of interest recently took place at Chatham, Eng., in the launch of the Raleigh, a ship built, not, as the majority lately constructed, to offer great resistance to shot and shell, but with a view to combine great speed with a very heavy armament. She is therefore built or iron, sheathed with wood and coppered, and lined with brown enrubbered, as being less likely to splinter, and also less inflammable than timber; and her dimensions are: Length, 298 feet; breadth, 43 feet 6 inches; draft of water, forward, 20 feet; aft, 23 feet; tonnage, 3,210 tons; armament, upper deck, two 12½ ton guns; four 6½-pounder guns; main deck, four teen 90 cwt. guns, two 6½ p. under guns; horse power, 800; crew, 530; and she is estimated to cost, when entirely finished, about $1,000,000.

Parliament reassembled to-day, and in the Commons Mr. Fawcett's Bill abolishing tests in the University of Dublin passed its second reading.

It is reported that cable tariffs will be advanced on the 1st of May instead of a reduction.

GHAMCOOK DISTRICT SCHOOL.—The half yearly Examination of Ghamcook District School was held on the 17th inst. The day was delightful, but owing to the absence of some of the best scholars the attendance was not very large. However there were seven spectators, two trustees, and forty four scholars present. Classes were examined in reading, spelling, analytic definitions, penmanship, English and Latin grammar, Greek roots practically applied, geography, British history, recitation and callisthenics. Thus ended the forenoon session.

The afternoon session was opened by disquisitions, recitations, arithmetic scientifically, practically, and mentally; memorization of superficial and solid, gaging, callisthenics and an oration occupied the afternoon.

The school was very orderly, the scholars diligent, attentive, and thoroughly alive to the various exercises; from the little capra of five years, up to the young woman of maturity in the prime of life and the blushes of health.

We were both edified and delighted during the whole proceedings, and do not hesitate to say that we believe the said school is a credit to our county.

New York advises state that a thief from that city embarked with the English police inspectors and a Bank of England clerk on the steamer "Morro Castle" for Havana, and during the voyage attempted to purloin their valuables and certain papers to be used against Bidwell, the alleged forger in custody at Havana. He was detected and arrested.

The pressure for money in Wall street continues.

Further particulars show the recent outrage in Colfax, La., to have been a cold blooded massacre of negroes by the whites. One hundred negroes were burned up in the Court House, and others shot down. A detachment of State Militia has been sent to make arrests.

The Frederickian "Reporter contradicts most unequivocally the assertions that 'disgraceful scenes' were enacted at the close of the Legislative Session. Our contemporary says that there was a little 'fun' during the separation, such as throwing cushions and paper pellets; two or three panes of glass were broken by parties from outside the building, but beyond this the damage was altogether imaginary.

REMOVAL.

THE Subscriber respectfully announces to the inhabitants of St. Andrews, and vicinity, that he has taken the store recently occupied by the late A. D. Stevenson, corner of Water and William Streets, and has removed his stock of

Groceries,

FLOUR,

PROVISIONS, &c.,

into that more central position, where he is prepared to furnish the residents of the town as well as his other customers articles of the first quality, at reasonable prices.

He respectfully returns thanks for former patronage, and solicits a continuance. Having just made large importations, he feels certain of giving general satisfaction. Among the articles are the following:

Flour, Beef, Pork,

Raisins, Currants,

Biscuit and Crackers,

Sugars of all kinds,

Confectionary.

Teas of various kinds,

Clothing of all kinds. Hats & Caps,

Boots, Shoes, and Larrikins,

Buckets, Pails, Brooms,

Canned Fruits in great variety, and other articles too numerous to mention.

CROCKERY.

He has just opened crates and casks of Crockeryware, and is prepared to furnish

Dinner Sets, Tea and Breakfast Sets, Cups and Saucers, Bowls, Mugs, and all other articles in this line. No such stock is to be found in the town,—call and see for yourselves.

WEATHER STRIPS

An article necessary for all houses in the winter season especially. No house can be comfortable without them.

Articles purchased at his store will be delivered free of charge, at any place within the limits of the town plat.

He is Agent for the "Travellers Accident and Life Insurance Company" of Hartford, and is ready to take risks on life and accident.

Call and see for yourselves.

First quality articles—and reasonable prices. Country Produce taken in exchange.

HEBREW ROOTS AND PERSIMMONS.—Query: Is there any thing in the study of Hebrew roots as a specialty in life that affects the person so engaged? We recall the idiosyncrasy of the Rev. Professor Packard, of "the School of the Prophets," the Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church in Virginia. He had just come from New England, and had never before seen the persimmon grow. Those acquainted with this singular fruit know well that it attains a light orange color some time before it is ripe, and that at this time it is astringent to a degree. The doctor was taking a walk, and the glowing persimmons looked very tempting; so he thought he must for the first time taste the fruit. Its effect upon the good man's mouth was very astonishing, and he became convinced that he had been eating the apples of sodom, or some other very poisonous thing. At this moment two other professors of the seminary fell in with the good man, and were made quite solicitous by his grimaces, which seemed to indicate that he had been swallowing by accident some of his own formidable roots. One ventured to ask.

"Doctor, what have you been taking?"
"Do not speak to me; but let me go home and die in the bosom of my family!"
It is painful to reflect that the incident was often made the occasion of merriment among the young theologians, and it is even said that one of them, having a slight symptom of stomach-ache, asked the president of the faculty for permission to go home. When further questioned why he desired to go home, he said that he had a bad pucker in his mouth and stomach, and, besides, didn't feel well, and would like to be allowed to die in the bosom of his family.

Of the complete discomfiture which befell the gravity of the president it is not possible to tell.—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine for April.

Postal cards will be a convenience to people who wish to tell you all they know. Brown says to his landlady: "Any letters for me, to day?" And she answers: "Only two postal cards, but there's nothing particular on them."

Why the Valve Jar is Superior to all Others for Preserving Fruit.

1. Because it is the only one in which the contents can be securely fastened, and cooked while thus fastened, without risk of an explosion.
2. It is the only one that is automatically sealed, therefore, the only Self-Sealing Jar in the market.

3. It is so simple that no skill is required to use it successfully.

4. It is securely fastened when placed in the kettle, and being immersed, the fragrance of the contents is confined in the Jar, a more perfect vacuum produced and the handling of the hot jars are safely avoided.

5. It is well known that fruit Jars which are closed with rigid fastenings burst by fermentation, and the effect upon the closet and surrounding is well understood by many housekeepers.

The Cover of the Valve Jar being a perfect safety valve makes an explosion impossible, and entirely obviates every difficulty that exists in other fastenings.
