KING IMPROVED

London, June 17.—It is officially announced that King Edward is much better this morning. He passed a good night, and his progress towards complete recovery is uninterrupted. The physicians are due to the necessity of husbanding His Majesty's strength in view of the fatigues of coronation week. Therefore, the King will remain at Windsor Castle to-day. He was keenly disappointed at not being able to attend the Ascot Heath race meeting to-day, which he intended to open with all the state ceremonial of the early days of Queen Victoria. His Majesty hopes, however, to be present Thursday, Gold Cup day. Queen Alexandra and the Prince and Princess of Wales went to the races to-day. At 6.40 p. m.—The King drove out from Windsor Castle in a closed carriage this afternoon. He appeared to be in good health.

WELCOMED BY LORD MAYOR

Liverpool Gives Cordial Greeting to Canada's Coronation Contingent.

Comfortably Quartered in Mar-Quees in Alexander Grounds—Arrival in London.

London, June 17.—It was intended that immediately upon its arrival at Liverpool the Canadian coronation contingent should proceed at once by special train to London. Rain fell heavily, however, and the contingent remained on the steamship Parisian over night.

The Lord Mayor of Liverpool boarded the steamer and cordially welcomed the Earl of Minto. He then addressed the Canadian troops from the bridge. The Lord Mayor expressed that the original program for the reception of the Canadians had to be cancelled on account of the unfavorable weather. The Lord Mayor said he was gratified to have the contingent in Liverpool. Britain, he continued, was deeply grateful to the Dominion of Canada for services rendered in South Africa. The colonies, he declared, stood by the mother country nobly, and every one rejoiced at the return of peace. The suggestion is made that every town in Canada plant an oak tree on coronation day, the tree to be called King Edward's Oak.

The contingent arrived at the Alexandra Palace this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. The men are quartered in nine large marquees with board flooring, 60 men in each. The palace grounds are situated in the north part of London, and command a grand view of the city. The weather of the past few weeks has made the ground very soggy and unpleasant. The men are all in splendid health and present a most soldierly appearance. They were greatly amused by the throng of people awaiting their arrival at the Palace.

Lord Minto has arrived in London. Among the other arrivals are Premier Murray, of Nova Scotia; Premier Peters, of Prince Edward Island, and Premier Bond, of New Brunswick. The suggestion is made that every town in Canada plant an oak tree on coronation day, the tree to be called King Edward's Oak.

Col. F. W. Borden, Canadian Minister of Militia, attended yesterday's review at Aldershot.

TIED TO TRACK

New York, June 17.—An Italian known as Carlo Cattapani, Marquis de Cordova, disappeared from his boarding house here last Saturday night. He was found early yesterday tied to the tracks of the New York Central Railroad Company, at 115th Street and the North River. When taken to a hospital he made a statement. A hospital physician said he believed he had been poisoned. When he came here Cattapani said he was searching for papers which would prove his right to a valuable estate in Spain. Last Saturday he told his landlady that he was going to meet a man who would give him the papers needed in return for a reward of $100. He was missing until to-day. Cattapani told the hospital physicians that he had been kidnapped and dragged, and kept in a cellar since Saturday without food. The police are investigating. Cattapani is held temporarily as a suspicious person. He will be taken to the Harlem police court to-morrow.

PRETTY WEDDING

A pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at the residence of Tom Brown, 8th concession, Raleigh, when his daughter, Miss Ethel Brown, was united in marriage to George Jordan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Thompson of the Wesley Methodist Church, Raleigh. Miss Gertrude Brown, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Roy Jordan was groomsmen. The bride was attired in white organdie. The young couple will reside in Harwich, near Bridge End, where the groom owns a good farm.

"FEW FINER INSTANCES OF HEROISM IN CAMPAIGN"

Lord Kitchener's Enthusiastic Eulogy on the Canadians—Distinguished Mention by Lord Roberts—Queen Victoria's Generous Gifts.

London, June 17.—The Official Gazette to-night publishes a long despatch from Lord Roberts, being a continuation of the field despatches written when he was in command in South Africa. The communication throws a new light on the operations in the field, but appended thereto is a long list of those singled out for distinguished mention.

Lord Roberts speaks highly of the Canadian contingent, especially in connection with the unsuccessful attack on Cookson's camp March 31, in which he says the Canadian Mounted Rifles sustained the heaviest loss of the day. He particularly comments on the gallantry of Lieut. Bruce Carruthers.

In conclusion, Lord Roberts says he wishes to record the fact that in April, 1900, Queen Victoria entrusted him with four woollen scarfs worked by herself, which she desired to be distributed to four distinguished private soldiers of the colonial contingents of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. The selection of the recipients in each case was left to the colonial officer commanding the contingent. The Canadian scarf goes to Private, now Lieut. Richard Rowland Thompson, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, for personal gallantry in the field.

METHUEN'S REVERSE. The Gazette has published despatches received from Lord Kitchener, dated April 8, 1902, which refer to the defeat and capture of General Methuen. In these messages Lord Kitchener expresses the opinion that General Methuen's reverse was due to the behavior of the bulk of the mounted troops of his command, who offered a feeble and ineffectual resistance, and then left the infantry and the guns to struggle against superior numbers.

MORE PRAISE. In another despatch, dated March 31, in which he refers to the action at Brakspruit, Lord Kitchener praises highly the gallant stand made in this engagement by a handful of Canadians in an isolated position. Referring to this matter, Lord Kitchener remarks:—"There have been few finer instances of heroism in the whole course of the campaign."

ALL SURRENDERS ARE COMPLETE

In the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies, Numbering 16,620 in all.

Figures for Cape Colony not yet Received—16,000 Rifles Turned in.

London, June 17.—Under date of Pretoria, June 17, Lord Kitchener announces that 700 Boers surrendered at Blaauwfontein yesterday, and that all the surrenders in the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies are now complete.

In the Transvaal 11,225 men have surrendered and 10,813 rifles were given up, while in the Orange River Colony 5,395 men were surrendered and 5,280 rifles were turned in.

The figures for Cape Colony have not been fully received. Lord Kitchener adds: "I have handed over the South African constabulary to the civil authorities, as the necessity for further military operations has ceased."

Gen. French reports from Cape Colony that there are only 150 more Boers to come in.

KITCHENER TO THE BOER LEADERS.

Pretoria, June 17.—Lord Kitchener has sent the following identical telegram to Generals Botha, Delarey and the Wit.—"Now that the surrender of the burghers is completed, I desire to place on record my high appreciation of the unflinching energy and unfailing tact with which you have facilitated the work of my commissioners. I recognize how much is due to your exertions that the burghers have everywhere displayed such a loyal spirit in accepting the change of government and I can inform you that the manner in which the burghers surrendered has greatly pleased His Majesty the King, and deeply impressed the British people who are heartily anxious to welcome them as fellow citizens. I feel confident that a new era of complete reconciliation between all races has now dawned in South Africa."

BOTHA GOING FOR HIS FAMILY.

Berlin, June 17.—The Boer general Louis Botha, is coming to Dresden where his family has taken refuge for the purpose of taking them back to South Africa.

REITZ'S PLANS.

London, June 18.—In a despatch from Brussels the correspondent of the Daily Express says that Mr. Reitz, former State Secretary of the Transvaal, and General Lucas Meyer purpose making a tour of the United States to collect money for poor Boer families.

Bailiff English of the Central Prison, Toronto, spent the night in the city en route to Toronto from Windsor and Chatham. He had a string of six prisoners from these cities whom he was taking to the Central to serve terms ranging from six months to a year. Curiously enough, all six were sentenced for larceny. Their names were as follows: From Chatham, Gordon Jewel, Thos. Green, John Hart and Sam Ellis; from Windsor, Wm. Johnston and Richard Hart. Bailiff English will proceed to Toronto this morning with his six prisoners and an extra one from this city, John McKenzie, who is sentenced to three months' imprisonment for malicious damage to property.—London Free Press.

FROM THE DEEP

Montreal, June 17.—What may be a message from the ill-fated Allan steamer Huronian has been received in this city from Owl Head, 45 miles from Halifax, on the Atlantic coast. The words are written on a scrap of soiled and browned paper, and were evidently written under difficulties. They are as follows:—"The SS. Huronian turned over in the Atlantic Sunday night. In small boat 14 of us." The message is said to have been picked up on June 2nd, was enclosed in a bottle and forwarded to a local newspaper.

HOLDS SEAT

Conservative Member-Elect is not Disqualified as was Reported.

Toronto, June 18.—In regard to the case of W. R. Smith, Conservative member elected for Algoma, a special clause of the election act says that only postmasters of cities, towns and incorporated villages are disqualified from serving in the legislature. This gives Mr. Smith possession of his seat, as he holds the position of postmaster of an unincorporated village.

A DISGRACE TO CANADA.

That the militia department has not treated the Coronation Contingent in every appreciative manner is proved by the many complaints that emanated from officers and men of the force, previous to their embarkation. That the contingent should be compelled to wear slovenly, shabby, ill-fitting uniforms, when their comrades-in-arms from other portions of the Empire will wear new, bright, well-fitting apparel is nothing short of a disgrace to this colony, and our militia authorities.

The Montreal Star, an independent journal, says:

"While under canvas at Levis the boys had a terrible time of it, being nightly drenched with the rain and rendered most uncomfortable by the cold. Very little trouble, it seems, was taken to render the existence at Levis a pleasant one, and it was not until the arrival of Surgeon-Major Fiset that the tents were discarded for the better shelter afforded by the permanent huts situated on the grounds."

"As a result of the miserable accommodation provided at Levis for the contingent, many of the men were found to be suffering from aggravating colds when the Star correspondent visited the camp on Saturday afternoon. A good amount of talking was also being indulged in over the way in which the force had been treated during the week preceding its embarkation. And the men appeared to have a certain amount of justification for their remarks, for they, in truth, had had a great many things to contend against—weather, rain, cold, poorly fitting uniforms, scanty rations, served at a table in the open and unprotected from the rain by marquees of any kind. And so there were few hearts that were not glad on Saturday that the last day of their detention at Levis, had arrived, and that they were that evening to set sail for the shores of, at this time, merry England."

NORTH GREY BALLOT FRAUDS.

The Attorney-General, Hon. Richard Harcourt, has appointed Mr. Amelius Irving, K. C., a commissioner to enquire into the ballot box frauds in North Grey, and the chief organ of the Government, finding its voice for the first time since the frauds were made public, with that hypocritical smugness for which it is notorious, expresses the conviction that it will be found that Judge Morrison was over hasty in making use of the strong expression that was evident the ballots had been tampered with. Is the expression of that conviction intended as an instruction to Mr. Irving, or designed to show Judge Morrison the error of his ways?

Perhaps we may be accused of unfairness in thus imputing motives, but the imputation is warranted by the disgraceful facts which were covered in the same hypocritical, self-righteous, manner in the West Elgin judicial inquiry four years ago. The same tactics were resorted to in the preliminary steps that are being repeated now, and the fact that guilty parties then escaped the punishment due their crimes is warranted for suspicion that the same thing may be repeated now. Against Mr. Irving personally we have nothing to say. He is a sound lawyer in good standing at the bar, as judicial commissioner to enquire into a criminal charge, he has a difficult duty to perform, and one which should not have been intrusted to him. A county judge from his place on the bench has expressed the conviction that four of the ballots cast in the Township of Vincent have been tampered with between the count and the time they were examined at recount. The deputy-returning officer, who is given a good character, makes the lame excuse for not turning in his ballot box the evening of election

A medicine that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion, invigorates and tones is needed.

What Hood's Sarsaparilla did for John Y. Paterson, Whitby, Ont., it will do for you. He took it as a tonic and general builder of the system, and writes: "I have found no other remedy to compare with it as a restorer of vitality. It drives away that tired feeling, quiets the nerves, and brings sweet refreshing sleep."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

day that his horse was lame, and he couldn't get to the returning officer until the following day. It seems conclusive that these ballots were tampered with during the time the box was in this man's possession, and, whatever be his character, he should be compelled to tell all about what he knows concerning the box and who had access to it from the time it left the polling booth until the time he handed it to the returning officer.

There is every evidence that a gross fraud has been committed, and nothing should stand in the way of the guilty parties being brought to answer for their crimes. Should the culprits in this case escape, as they did in the West Elgin case four years ago, no amount of hypocritical, self-righteous explanations, or lack of explanations, will save the Ross Government from the just wrath of the people of Ontario.—Toronto News.

The Chatham Binder Twine Co. (Limited.)

A notice having been sent out by Messrs. Leverton and Ross calling a meeting of the shareholders of The Chatham Binder Twine Co. Limited, for Saturday, June 21st, the directors of the company submitted the same to the company's solicitor, Matthew Wilson, K. C., for his opinion. The following is his reply:

Chatham, June 16, 1902.
The President and Directors of The Chatham Binder Twine Company, Limited:

Dear Sirs,—In reply to your request for my opinion I beg to say that I have examined the Notice dated June 9th, 1902, purporting to be sent by J. J. Ross, Secretary, and Arthur Leverton, Chairman, and I have examined also the various By-laws governing the company and the proceedings at the last Special General Meeting.

In my opinion the Meeting of 21st June 1902, called by that Notice will not be a legal meeting and proceedings taken thereat will not be binding upon the company or the officers thereof.

The Notice purports to be signed by J. J. Ross, Secretary, and Arthur Leverton, Chairman, and below their names are printed the words "and 224 other Shareholders, Chatham, Ont., June 9th, 1902." Mr. Leverton is not Chairman of the Company and Mr. Ross is not Secretary of the Company. Those offices are filled by Michael J. Wilson and T. C. Smith.

The Meeting therefore is not called by the Directors of the Company. The only officers who can convene a meeting are Shareholders amounting to one-tenth of the subscribed Capital Stock; and the Notice in the latter case must be given by the Shareholders holding the Stock. This Notice is given by only Leverton and Ross who together hold only $100 of Stock. Moreover, such Notice can be given only in the event of the Shareholders failing when requested to convene a meeting, while in this case the Directors did convene a meeting for all the purposes required for which a meeting at the time of the filing with them of the requisition could be convened.

The Notice does not in any place state that the meeting is called by requisitionists or by Shareholders purporting to act in default of Directors acting. On the contrary it is headed "Chatham Binder Twine Company, Limited," and a party receiving it would understand it that Leverton and Ross purported to give the Notice as Chairman and Secretary of that Company, which they are not.

I am of the opinion that the Notice is not given by the proper parties to convene a legal meeting.

Turning then to the objects of the meeting, the Notice states:—

1. To pass, repeal and confirm By-laws.

2. To elect Directors.

3. To authorize the borrowing of money, etc., etc.

The law requires that the Notice of a Special Meeting shall specify the business of the meeting to be considered. The first object in this Notice gives no idea of the nature of the By-laws which are to be passed, repealed or confirmed, or to what business such By-laws relate nor does it give the date or other particulars by which the By-laws to be dealt with can be identified.

Moreover, the Notice is also in violation of the provisions of the law of a municipal council requires confirmation by the ratepayers; but neither the Shareholders nor the ratepayers have power to initiate these By-laws.

If the Directors had a By-law, such as mentioned, for borrowing money, then it would be quite proper for the Directors to call a meeting to confirm it; but no such By-law exists, and in my opinion the Shareholders cannot initiate one. The Shareholders at a meeting called by Shareholders have no greater power than at a meeting called by Directors.

Moreover, pursuant to the requisition the Directors passed a borrowing By-law and called a legal meeting of Shareholders on May 10th, 1902, to consider it, and the Shareholders refused to confirm it. The Shareholders passed upon other By-laws at the same meeting. There was therefore a legal meeting called by the Directors for such purpose pursuant to the requisition; and another meeting based on the same requisition cannot be called by the requisitionists for the same purpose.

I am of the opinion that under the present existing circumstances the meeting cannot on the 21st June legally authorize the borrowing of money on the real estate of the Company.

You state that you have no desire to contest the legality of any proceedings that may be taken at the meeting to be held on 21st June instant; but your inaction will not validate the proceedings. If new Directors are elected then and if they thereafter attempt to borrow money or to do a banking business or to enter into important contracts the parties dealing with the new board would, for self protection, enquire into the board's standing and authority and powers to bind the Company by mortgages or otherwise, and the invalidity of the proceedings would then appear, and it is improbable that men illegally elected to be Directors would care to take the risk of doing important business in the name of the Company.

It would, in my opinion, be in the interest of the Shareholders to cancel the proposed meeting of 21st June and at the same time convene a legal meeting for a later day for whatever purposes may be desired and may be arranged for by you as the present Directors.

Yours truly,
(Sd.) MATTHEW WILSON.

In accordance with the above advice the Directors have decided to revise their By-laws so that a legal meeting may be called for the election of Directors and other business at an early date.

If the Directors had a By-law, such as mentioned, for borrowing money, then it would be quite proper for the Directors to call a meeting to confirm it; but no such By-law exists, and in my opinion the Shareholders cannot initiate one. The Shareholders at a meeting called by Shareholders have no greater power than at a meeting called by Directors.

Moreover, pursuant to the requisition the Directors passed a borrowing By-law and called a legal meeting of Shareholders on May 10th, 1902, to consider it, and the Shareholders refused to confirm it. The Shareholders passed upon other By-laws at the same meeting. There was therefore a legal meeting called by the Directors for such purpose pursuant to the requisition; and another meeting based on the same requisition cannot be called by the requisitionists for the same purpose.

I am of the opinion that under the present existing circumstances the meeting cannot on the 21st June legally authorize the borrowing of money on the real estate of the Company.

BASEBALL

A game of baseball, without much excitement or interest, was played on Tecumseh Park last evening, between the Collegiate Institute team and the St. George St. Greys. The game resulted in an easy victory for the students as Pitcher Robert was invisible and his support was well up to the standard. Bowers, who pitched for the St. George street team was a mystery for the first few innings, but was touched up heavily after that. At the end of the game the score stood 17-0. In their last innings it looked very much as if Robert would not have a shut-out, as Bowers had knocked a three-bagger and there was only one gone. Robert was up to the mark and struck out the next two men out.

1903 RACES

Toronto, Ont., June 17.—At a conference here to-day between Commodore Aemilius Jarvis, C.A.B. Brown, and H. C. McLeod, representing the Royal Canadian Yacht club and Commodore Van Vorhees, P. F. Christie, T. B. Pritchard and Jas. Macdonald, representing the Rochester yacht club, further arrangements were made for the Canadian cup race to be sailed in Toronto next year.

The conditions governing the race call for the three best out of five, the first race being sailed over a triangular course of 21 miles, and the second to windward or leeward over an 18-mile course. The third race will be over the same course as the first, and the fourth, if necessary, over the same course as the second.

The first race will be sailed on Saturday, August 15, the second, on Aug. 17, and the third on Aug. 19. The officials are to be named by Nov. 1, of this year.

The size of the boats was the only point on which there was a disagreement. The R. C. Y. C., which has the right as owner of the cup to name the class, insists on a 40-footer, while the

There often comes a time in the struggle with pulmonary disease when the victim loses heart and gives up hope. The ambition to be up and around gives way before growing weakness, and the sufferer keeps to the bed.

No one who suffers from lung disease should lose heart or give up hope while there is a possibility of cure. In many cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured lung "trouble" when the cough was obstinate and deep seated, with hemorrhage, emaciation, night-sweats and general weakness. A great many men and women are living to-day in the full enjoyment of health and happiness who had been "given up" by doctors, but found a perfect and permanent cure in the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"My wife had hemorrhage of the lungs," writes W. A. Sanders, of Hens. Mason Co., W. Va. "she had ten hemorrhages, and the people all around here said she would never be well again. But she began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she soon began to gain strength and flesh. After taking ten bottles she was entirely well. Should you think this would do you any good to publish, just use it, and if any one disputes the merits of this almost omnipotent medicine they may enclose self-addressed envelope with stamp, and I will answer, the same as written in this letter."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Township Councils!

CHATHAM TOWNSHIP.

The council of the Township of Chatham met in the town hall Monday, the 2nd day of June, 1932, as a court of revision on the assessment, and for the transacting of general business pursuant to adjournment.

The members were all present and took and subscribed the necessary oaths as members of court of revision as prescribed by the statute.

The clerk reported that no appeals had been received except for two transfers of ownership since the assessor made his returns.

Moved by George and Tompkins that the clerk make whatever changes that he has been requested to make in the ownership of property, the same being transfers of property since the assessment was made, and that the assessment roll as thus amended be confirmed and the court of revision finally closed and the general business be proceeded with.—Carried.

The minutes of the last regular meeting was read and adopted, and signed.

A petition was read from the Chatham Wagon Manufacturing Co., asking that Catharine street west of the said factory, be closed up, as they contemplate building a large addition to the present works and said street is located so that it cannot be used for public travel.

On motion of Mr. George and Mr. Tompkins, the matter was referred to the Reeve and Councillor Tompkins to investigate and report.

The report of A. McDonnell, C. E., on the construction of a new drain in Running Creek, as petitioned for by Geo. Brown and others, was received and read.

On motion of George and Tompkins, the report was adopted and the clerk instructed to notify all persons assessed, of the amount of their assessment, and the total estimated cost of the work; also that the said report will be read and considered at a meeting of this council to be held on the 17th day of June, 1932, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m.

A petition was read from about one hundred ratepayers praying that if Mr. John Cooper will erect a planing mill at Tapperville, that he be exempted from all taxes on said mill and site for 15 years.

Referred to Mr. George to investigate.

Moved by Tompkins and George, that all pathmasters returning their statute labor list by the first day of November for the year 1932, receive the sum of one dollar.—Carried.

Moved by Tompkins and Tompkins that the commissioner of the third division represent the Township of Chatham, at a meeting called by Mr. I. Hazlett, of the Township of Camden, under the provisions of the Ditches & Watercourses Act.—Carried.

Moved by Tompkins and Tompkins that as Mr. Cooper has complained that a bridge over Little Bear creek in the eleventh concession has been destroyed by the late fire at Cooperville that the commissioner of the 2nd division interview Henry McGregor in regard to the opening up of a road from the 2nd concession north gore, to the river road, along the west side of Mr. McGregor's farm, which is only a distance of a few rods and would be very convenient for the travelling public.—Carried.

Moved by Wickens and George, that Frank Armstrong be granted $10 for keeping an indigent, and that in future he receive $1 per week, and charge to Indigent account.—Carried.

Moved by Wickens and George, that the council as a whole, be appointed to wait on the county council on the 5th day of June in regard to procuring one half the cost of erecting a steel bridge across the river at Tapperville.—Carried.

A number of accounts were passed. Council adjourned.

A. McARTHUR, Clerk.

Fence Builders

Who Think

The London Fence Weaving Machine is a comparatively new thing to the fence builders but it is fast becoming indispensable as a money and labor saver, especially since Fence Slats are so hard to procure.

With this machine you can build a fence of No. 9 Galvanized Crimped Wire, 10 wires high with No. 13 Galvanized Cross Wires, for less than 35c a rod, after the posts are set.

Compared with any ready made fence with the same number of wires, in the market, it will be found to be heavier and stiffer and at very little over half the cost.

You can buy them at the great Hardware Emporium at the East end, from Geo. Stephens & Douglas, General Hardware & Implement Merchants.

P. S. With every sale of Superior Binder Twine we are giving away a splendid Map of Western Ontario.

COLONEL'S TROUBLES

His neighbors and himself didn't get along very well, so Colonel Harry Ball called at the Police Station this morning to get released from his troubles and tribulations. Mr. Ball rented the ground floor where he lives in the stories above. The upper tenants want room to hang their clothes-line in the back yard. Col. Ball claimed that since he rented the ground floor he controlled all rights as to hanging up clothes-lines in the yard. Mrs.
Hall, one of the tenants from above, fastened up a clothes-line, and he attached it to the cable on which Col. Ball's wife suspended the household washing. The Colonel objected to this and with his sword separated his wife's washing from that of Mrs. Hall.
Then Mrs. Hall got angry, as some women have been known to do before under similar circumstances. Among other things she said she was going to do, was to have the Colonel arrested.
As the Colonel was a little lame, he thought that he had better start for the Police Station at once, and he arrived first. Judge Houston told the Colonel that he had best settle his own troubles and his rights in the yard should be defined by the landlord.

At Dover Centre last evening the Presbyterian Church gave a lawn social, baseball and football games were indulged in in the afternoon and in the evening an excellent concert went off smoothly and a thoroughly good time was enjoyed. The evening's quite a serious accident last night while wheeling back from Dover Centre, where he was chairman of a concert. Mr. Smith went to turn out quickly for a mud-puddle and the wheel threw him. Mr. Smith will be laid up in consequence for some time with a sprained back.

WAS ACQUITTED

Mrs. Margaret O'Mara was honorably acquitted at Wallaceburg yesterday on the charge of stealing $55 from David McKenzie. McKenzie is the proprietor of a bakery and, after Mrs. O'Mara, the wife of a farmer, left the store, McKenzie missed his money. There was no reason for connecting Mrs. O'Mara with the loss of the money and she was honorably acquitted. Edwin Bell, Crown-Attorney, prosecuted.

"I wish you would draw the city affairs which exists on Park street," said a resident of that street this morning. "Some time ago they put a lot of gravel on it when it was soft,

and now the street is filled with holes and is worse than ever. If they would only keep putting gravel on the road until it is hard it would be all right but leaving it as it is now it is worse surrounding Blenheim are now under sition which he has shown throughout.

It is rumored there is a slight but not dangerous outbreak near Chatham, which will have Mr. Ross' attention at once.

EDWARD BLAKE HURT

London, June 17.—Hon. Edward Blake met with an accident on Saturday. He was knocked down by a cab and sustained slight bruises and a scalp wound. He is progressing very favorably, and expects to be out in a few days as well as ever. There is no cause for anxiety.

To-day is the eighty-seventh anniversary of the battle of Waterloo.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are absolutely worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

For these reasons we announce that our proprietors are the principal shareholders in

AT THE EAU

The first Eau excursion of the season was held last evening. About 250 people in all attended from Chatham and Blenheim. The 24th Regiment band furnished music during the evening, and a very pleasant time was spent by everyone. Conductor Crouchman was in charge of the train. The Eau presents a very nice appearance now and the popular summer resort promises to be more popular than ever this season. The buildings have all been re-arranged, and a number of the cottages have been fixed up for the season's outing. The coal will in no way hinder the excursionists from enjoying themselves. Harry Hall is again in charge of the bungalow and pavilion and is already doing a good business. The excursions will now be run regularly every Tuesday and Friday evening.

ROLFF HOUSE

G. H. BENEDICT.

That is some satisfaction. In fact, things worked as well as I could have wished. I had some difficulty in getting the old lady to give up some of her crochets; but I finally persuaded her entirely to my views. But what is best, I am myself made sole executor of the estate. Now, I call that a pretty fine stroke of business. It needed very adroit working of the cards on my part, but I flatter myself that I proved equal to the occasion.

"Of course, the nephew gets everything then?" said the son.

"Yes, yes; that was my chief point, you know. The old lady's family pride was all in the direction of giving the nephew everything; but she had some queer notions, and it needed all my finesse to induce her to dislodge them. Only one thing troubles me. The money is not nearly so much as there was reason to suppose. This perhaps is not to be regretted, for I see the way clear in consequence of it for a very bold stroke. But it is queer—very queer. It almost leads one to believe in the stories of old Magnus Rolff's money vaults, and their control by the Evil One. What can the old lady have done with all her cash? It is strange—very strange. Young Master Claude won't have anything like the money he has anticipated. But there's lots of property, and he gets it all. Now mark me, Ralph, I think I see in this turn of affairs just the opportunity I have always wanted. There is nothing nicer for a lawyer than the handling of a big property for a reckless young spendthrift. I have planned to get the handling of the Rolff estate, and I have succeeded. The fact of there not being as much money as I expected is really in my favor. This boy Claude, I am certain, will be of a mind to spend money freely. I have talked with him, and he is eager to come into his fortune and has grand schemes of going to Europe, and becoming a gentleman. But the scapegrace won't have the money to carry out his plans. To gratify his desires, he must needs raise money on the property that will be left him. It is a fine chance for good bargains. With his inexperience and confidence, he can be led into almost any kind of an agreement. I have his confidence, I think, and it will be strange if there is not an opportunity afforded me for making a very good thing. Somebody is certain to take advantage of him, and why shouldn't I?"

"To be sure—why not?" echoed the young man.

"Very well put, Ralph," continued the elder. "There is a very fine moral point to consider in the matter. As I said—somebody will surely take advantage of this young man. Who shall it be? Now a man of weak mind might pause before taking advantage of such an opportunity. But why? It is plain that the young fool is bound to dissipate his fortune, and that it must of necessity fall into the hands of somebody. I cannot prevent him doing it. As executor, all I can do is to advise him. But advice, should I give it would only be wasted upon him. His is a nature not to take counsel of a disagreeable sort kindly. To give it, would only be to irritate him and forfeit his confidence. Well, shall I foolishly undertake to curb him in his set purposes, and thus forfeit his confidence, and allow some other and sharper person to usurp my place as legal adviser and reap the fruits of the transactions that there will be an opportunity to arrange? By no means. I can see no infraction of the law in managing a case of this kind. It is one of the legitimate perquisites of the legal profession. I can't help it if the young man throws his fortune away. I would be foolish not to look out for what will naturally fall to my share. It is thus that Fortune restores a proper equilibrium, and decrees that the worthy shall not retain the possession of her favors. Do you see the point, Ralph?"

"Yes, father, I think I'm equal to seeing the drift of your argument," replied the young man.

"Well, Ralph, I'm glad of it. I'm rather proud of your intelligence. I think you will inherit my talent; but I trust you will never be forced to grub and toil as I have had to in order to make a reputation. In fact, my dear boy, what with my little savings, and the opportunity that is opened to me, I think I may reasonably look forward now to leaving you in pretty good circumstances. I only remain for you to aid my efforts by selecting a wife who will bring you a handsome dowry. And in this matter, my boy, I wish you to aim high. Don't imitate my unfortunate example of aiming too low at the outset of life. If I had married well on—and I don't wish to say a word against your mother, my boy, who was as desirable a wife in all except her fortune as anybody could wish for—if I had married well off, to what position of honor might I not have aspired! But talent allied to poverty has but a sorry show in this world; and if Fortune has designed to throw a single smile upon me it is because of my ceaseless industry and perseverance. But to return to your affairs, Ralph. If, as I expect, we can get Claude out of the way after the old lady's death, it will leave the coast clear for you to lay siege to old Bruyn's daughter. Let me say to you, that she is by all odds the most desirable girl in these parts—the handsomest as well as the richest. Old Bruyn is very well off, and she is an only child. Young Rolff will probably soon forget her, after he gets off to Europe. Besides, her father loves money too well not to wish to make a good settlement for her, and if Master Claude scatters his money and we pick it up, our chances will be so much the better and his not worth considering. Moreover, the girl will be left without any gallant and any spruce young fellow ought soon to be able to console her and secure a transfer of her affections—ah, Ralph?"

"Well, father," replied the young man, "I have nothing against the girl except her excessively bad taste in ever having taken up with young Rolff, and I don't think it ought to be very hard to supplant him. With a good dowry, I think she would make me a very acceptable wife. I have nobody else on my list; so, if you wish that to be part of the little campaign you have been planning, I am at your service."

"Well spoken, Ralph," exclaimed the fond parent. "This is indeed an auspicious day in the history of the Saybrook family. Just to celebrate the cheerful aspect of affairs, and to refresh us from our hard labors before supper, we may venture to have a little toddy. Just tap on the door, Ralph, and call Mrs. Grey."

Ralph did as requested, and a small, faded, middle-aged lady soon appeared. This was Mrs. Saybrook's housekeeper. Mrs. Grey might have been pretty at the time of life when she won the bachelor affections of Mr. Grey, the blacksmith, but care and widowhood had left their marks upon her. What was evident from her appearance was that she still considered herself attractive, and dressed after a more youthful fashion than her years really warranted.

The cap on her head was smartly decked with ribbons, and her attire though plain, was evidently cut to heighten her personal charms and make them appear youthful.

"A little warm water, if you please, Mrs. Grey," said Mr. Saybrook.

"Certainly, sir," answered the widow, with a bewitching smile. "But in there not something else I can bring?"

"Nothing at all, Mrs. Grey."

"Oh, but you must be hungry after a day's hard work, and it is two hours to supper time yet. I have some lovely cake, Mr. Saybrook, and, really, if I do say it myself, the apple pie I have been baking to-day are exquisite."

"Nothing but the water, Mrs. Grey." Dejected in her hospitable intention, the widow fetched the water and retired.

Mr. Saybrook mixed himself a good stout toddy and Ralph a much weaker one, and the happy prospects of the Saybrook family were duly toasted and celebrated.

CHAPTER VI.

Rolff House was erected in the midst of a considerable park; but the shrubbery was grown wild and tangled, the walks were neglected and overgrown with grass, and the whole appearance of the surroundings indicated lack of care and gradual decay. A number of large, venerable trees reared their tops about the house, and the surrounding desolation, with something of an air of melancholy dignity. It seemed as if their great arms were raised up in mute protest at the decay of the former grandeur over which they had stood as sentinels.

The house itself was a large, many-windowed, many-railed structure, of stone, so solidly built that it seemed as if it might have been intended to defy even the hand of Time. But decay had set its marks upon it. The great roof was moss-covered; doors and shutters were warped and weather-stained; a number of windows were broken out, and the whole place was the evidence of neglect which yet could not hide the imposing dignity of the old mansion. It was indeed a noble structure, too large and too massive to ever growing more stately and picturesque in its decay.

Within there was plenty of evidence of former grandeur. The builder had been a man of taste, and in furnishing his residence had imported many costly and elegant articles from the old world. There were at least a score of rooms in the house, many of which were now vacant, and given up to dust and emptiness. A large hall ran through the centre of the house. Doors opened on either side into large rooms, which had formerly been used as the reception rooms of the mansion. These and adjoining rooms on the ground floor were now occupied by the few persons living in the house, and all were filled with massive furniture and many quaint and valuable articles. The rooms on the upper floors were scarcely occupied at all, except in two or three cases as store-rooms.

Some Minors.

More than 150,000 men are engaged in anthracite coal mining.

One of the Earliest Weapons.

The sling was one of the earliest inventions in the way of a weapon and was itself an improvement on the stone thrown by hand, which was the rudest and most primitive method of fighting.

A Long Day.

From the northern terminus of Norway's most northern railway the sun is constantly in sight from June 5 to July 11.

The Opal.

Any opal and particularly the Mexican stone becomes mottled by washing the hands with the ring on, and it loses its brilliant play of color. The stones are not durable, like diamonds, nor will they stand the same hard wear.

Railway Mails.

Mails were first sent by railway in 1830 between Liverpool and Manchester, in England.

A Thorn From the Crown.

A heavy plate glass shade, ornamented with gold and securely locked to three staples set in the marble top of a pulpit in a church in Brussels, is said to cover one of the thorns which formed a part of the Saviour's crown.

The North Side of a Tree.

The side of a tree on which most of the moss is found is the north. If the tree be exposed to the sun, its heaviest and longest limbs will be on the south side.

Plate Powder.

Plate powder is usually made of rouge and prepared chalk. Plate powder containing mercury puts a splendid polish on silver, but is very injurious.

THE SALADA TEA COMPANY.

Great business enterprises of our day and generation have some record for the beautiful. Keen, up-to-date business men have an eye for the attraction which an artistic, tasteful warehouse and appointments have for the buying public. In the matter of advertising, as well as in the architecture and external and internal fittings, this aesthetic note is very apparent. During the last five years many fine business establishments have been opened in Toronto with all the conveniences in warehousing and appointments that money and taste could command. These splendid model buildings are still being erected, and to-day we present our prominent business house which has attracted the attention of the thousands of people who pass up and down Yonge street every day. This large, new six-story and basement and

Ceylon teas and also believed that if Ceylon tea was presented to tea drinkers in a manner that would ensure perfect cleanliness and a retention of the tea's flavor, that it would soon drive the adulterated teas of China from the market. The old-fashioned houses, satisfied to jog along in the old-fashioned way, sneered at the innovation, but after a year or two commenced to recognize the merits of the Salada tea, and the favor that it received at the hands of the public. The business grew, until the Salada Tea Company had to take larger premises at 25 Front street east. A year or two passed and their lack of space obliged them to absorb part of the adjoining warehouse. Time passed, the business grew and the firm purchased the warehouse, at 32 Yonge street, which then consisted of a five-story building. In three years this edifice became too small and necessitated out the New England States and it can now be said that Salada is as well known in every town in New England as it is in Canadian cities. Agencies have also recently been opened in New York, Rochester, Cleveland, Baltimore, Washington, and other American cities. Up to the year 1893 Ceylon produced nothing but its delicious black teas, but since then it has been growing the most excellent green teas that the world has hitherto enjoyed. Such wonderful progress has been made with these that the Salada Company believe they will entirely displace Japanese greens, just as their black tea has displaced all China black tea in Canada. The drinker of Japan tea has only to taste these teas once in order to be convinced of their superior merit. Unlike Japan teas, the Ceylon teas are entirely without artificial coloring.

stone building is occupied by the Salada Tea Company, near the corner of Yonge and Front streets, opposite the Board of Trade, Toronto. The building is very attractive in appearance and is in truth the largest, most modern and most complete tea warehouse on the continent. The Toronto home of Salada has a frontage of 40 feet and a depth of 213 feet, and is a magnificent building in every respect, an adornment to the business section.

The history of the Salada tea business is a striking example of up-to-date, alert enterprise. The business originated in 1892 in a very small way on Wellington street, and was commenced to introduce the teas produced in the Island of Ceylon. At that time the tea wants of Canada were entirely supplied from China and Japan. The head of the Salada was then Mr. F. C. Larkin, quickly recognized the beautiful qualities of the enterprise shown by the Salada Tea Company is not only beneficial to themselves and to Canada generally, but by bringing the merits of the product of one colony to the attention of the consumer in another colony is doing much to weld the Empire together, for the Ceylon planter is clean blood and bone, one of ourselves and the merchant or manufacturer who brings about a close connection between different parts of the Empire is perhaps more useful than the average politician. It is also worthy of comment that the Salada Tea Company is making Canada the distributing centre for the vast quantity of tea imported from Ceylon every year. Canada is the only country in the world to which tea is admitted free of duty, and the Canadian public are able to buy their tea cheaper and better on that account.

LITTLE ONES

They Furnish a Very Pleasing Program at the McKeough Kindergarten Closing.

Nothing appeals more to the ordinary mortals of this world than children at play. Their innocence and real enjoyment entrances the observer and makes him or her forget the world and its realities, the future and its disappointments. When, however, you see the play-spirit of the child developed and educated along lines that will furnish lasting benefit to the children, you realize that man in his ingenuity has devised a means of putting even the play of children to some good use. A visit to the Kindergarten closing exercises of McKeough school yesterday afternoon would have taught the observant parent some of the many advantages of Kindergarten training for the young. Miss Victoria Aylesworth is the principal of the McKeough school Kindergarten. It has been said, and truly, that the children learn not only what the teacher teaches but they also learn the methods and ways of the teacher. Miss Aylesworth enters into the Kindergarten games most heartily and you can notice the same about the children. They appeared wrapped up in the games they played and had no eye or ear for anything else. It was to be remarked that the play-spirit was very strong in the children. For all of which the director must be cordially congratulated. There was something real about the children's play, yet by carefully watching them you discerned a method in it all. That method you discovered to be the guiding hand of the principal. One thing that could be easily seen was that the games yesterday were not prepared specially for show, but were the ones that the children knew thoroughly, evidently because they played them every day. The bright chants rendered by the children were all nature songs with the exception of one, a patriotic song. These are the choruses always sung by the children. One new feature was added this year in the tournament, a romping sort of game called "playing horse." The children moved to the music with wonderful activity and remarkable rhythm. The closing exercises pleased the large number of mothers and friends present, and they freely applauded the clever work and bunting and presented an exceedingly attractive appearance. It was a maze of natural beauty and only needed the merry Kindergarteners to give it life. Miss Aylesworth, the principal, was ably assisted in her work by the teachers-in-training, Miss Vida Farquharson, Miss Rose Morrison and Miss Grace Aylesworth. Miss Rose Morrison presided at the piano with her accustomed skill.

Summer Underwear

You can depend on the undertogs we sell. They're almost as carefully chosen as if they were watch springs. It's a strong testimonial for an undergarment when it gets into our show cases. Makers know this even better than customers do. We go to the mills with a clear cut notion of what we want, and never hesitate to reject an article that falls short of our standard. If all fell short we should just study out how to make the wanted thing ourselves. That's how this business grows. But these are all good enough.

Balbriggan stands high as a cool and lasting summer wear fabric and we've prepared largely in this line. Can sell you single or double thread balbriggans, plain or fancy knit, solid colors or stripes. Prices per garment range from 25c to 75c.

The stock of merinos, cashmeres and natural wools is just about what a particular man likes to choose from, whether the purse be large or small. Medium and light weights, well shaped, made and trimmed, with trouser finish drawers, ribbed cuffs and ankles, at 50c, 75c and $1.00.

THE MAP'S STORY

Early in the Boer war, P. C. Tom Groves hung a map of the Transvaal and Orange Free State in the men's room at the police station. Time had faded the map, so this morning P. C. Groves took it down. "You see," said the policeman, "we don't need the map any more. It came in useful when the reports of the reverses came. We would look up the places on the map and follow Roberts in his march to Pretoria. I am going to take the map down because it is a Boer map and I will have to patch it up with red. You will notice that the map, like the Boer government, has faded. I wish you would also notice a most remarkable and suggestive feature of this map. As you will notice, the map of the Orange Free State and the Transvaal is faded, while this little map of Cape Colony, up in this corner, isn't faded a bit. There is something remarkable about this and tells the story of the war."
