"ECHOES of the Past;

The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER II.
 "Come away, Mina!"
 Annoyed and distressed by the dwarf's evident distrust of him, Clive walked on. He had nearly reached the end of the street, when he came upon four young men linked arm in arm, and walking, or, rather dancing, unsteadily across the pavement. They were uproariously tipsy, and were obviously ready for anything in the way of a lark. Of course, Clive made way for them, and went into the road; one of the youths ungratefully acknowledging his polite consideration for their condition, called out truculently:

"Wot, ho, 'Arry! Here's an adjective swell; let's knock 'is 'at off."

Clive did not wait for the adoption of this playful suggestion; but before he had gone many yards, he stopped and looked round thoughtfully. The hunchback and the girl would meet these vulgar votaries of Bacchus; it was just on the cards that they would be molested by them; the poor little dwarf was anything but an adequate protector for his companion; there might be trouble for them. Clive went back—and just in time. The tipsy hooligans had formed a ring round the dwarf and the girl, and, probably without meaning any serious harm, were dancing and howling round the victims of their hilarity.

The girl, with the shawl closely drawn round her face, was clinging affrightedly to the dwarf, while he, half dazed by the noise and implus movements of their tormentors, was threatening and imploring them by turns.

As Clive came up, one of the young men, more daring than the others, was expressing a desire, with sundry oaths, that the girl should show her face, and he made a clutch at her shawl, and tore it from her head. The girl screamed, and clung still more tightly to her companion. Clive caught the youth by the back of the collar and swung him onto the pavement; the others, startled by Clive's onslaught, drew back; but only for a moment. After all, they were three to one and Englishmen. Their drunken hilarity gave way to angry resentment at what they no doubt considered an unprovoked attack on their friend, and an impertinent interference with the rights of the citizen by a perfect stranger, and, what was worse, a 'owling swell.

So they were unwise enough to set upon Clive with fist and hoof. At first Clive took the onslaught goodnaturedly, and, keeping them at arm's length, earnestly advised them to be off before the police came; but suddenly one of them, the most sober of the party, and therefore the most capable of mischief, whipped off a heavy belt from his delectable person, and struck out viciously. It just caught Clive on the cheek; but unfortunately it fell on the girl's shoulder, buckle end. Clive heard her moan, and saw her sink to the ground; and, of course he grew angry and lost his temper.

The gentleman with the belt suddenly struck the pavement with the back of his foolish head, another of his joyous companions, was hurled with considerable force against the wall, and the third, in avoiding a blow straight from Clive's shoulder, tripped up and sprawled over his fallen friend. The incident had now developed into that form of row which the reporters are fond of describing as a "fracas"; and Clive, as he caught sight of a policeman tramping with orderly hurry toward them, saw himself figuring next morning, in company with a party of hooligans and a pair of street musicians, at the nearest police court.

By this time, however, the troublesome young ruffians had become sober enough to notice the approach of their natural foe, and, gathering themselves to their feet, they made off with the unobtrusive speed and silence of the proverbial Arabs.

To the demand of the policeman that he should be informed of the nature of the trouble, Clive, who was bending beside the hunchback over the still prostrate form of the girl, replied that they had been attacked by a party of youths, and, assuring him that "it" was all over, begged him to follow them, and see that they did no more mischief. The policeman might have hesitated in complying with the request and accepting this easy solution of the matter; but Clive very improperly backed it up with half a sovereign, and the policeman, murmuring that, yes; he'd better keep his eye on them, hurried in their direction.

By this time the girl had recovered consciousness, if, indeed, she had altogether lost it, and, rising unsteadily with Clive's aid, stood trembling, and swaying to and fro. She was as yet scarcely able to stand, and Clive put his arm round her to support her; for the hunchback seemed for the moment helpless and overwhelmed. Quite unconsciously she leaned against Clive, and hid her face on his breast, as if to shut out the sounds and the sights that had so terrified her; and almost as unconsciously Clive soothed her and tried to reassure her.

"It's all over," he said. "They have gone; quite gone. You're all right! Oh, my poor child!" The exclamation was wrung from him by the sensation of something warm that was trickling over his hand. The cruel belt had struck her badly, and she was bleeding. "I am afraid you are hurt! Are you far from home? Have you far to go?" he asked the hunchback. "If we could get a cab!"

The dwarf drew his hand across his brow confusedly.

"It's not far," he said quakingly. "In Benson's Rents—three streets off—there's no cabs in these parts—isn't she well enough to walk? Are you much hurt, Mina? I'm—I'm so upset— Is she hurt, badly hurt, do you think, sir? Oh, I'm afraid she is! She's half fainting now. I'll never get her home. I'm not strong—you see what I am, sir—with pathetic bitterness—"and I'm all of a shake still. God knows what would have happened to her if you hadn't come back and helped us! I'm sure I'm much obliged to you, sir! And you're hurt yourself! That young devil has cut your cheek. Oh, if we were only home!"

"Pull yourself together," said Clive, encouragingly. "I don't think she is much hurt; at least, I hope not. You must let me help her home. I can carry her quite easily, of course."

The girl must have heard him; for she seemed to become suddenly aware that she was clinging to him; a vivid blush rose to her pale face, and, with a murmur of refusal, she shrank away from him, and looked round for her shawl. Clive picked it up and gently put it round her head.

"You are better now?" he said. "That's right, you must let me help you home?"

Her lips moved, and Clive caught a "No, no!" and an appealing glance at the hunchback; but it was impossible that Clive could leave the pair until he had seen them sheltered safely. He drew the girl's arm

IF I HAD STUCK TO THE STAGE I'D HAVE BEEN FAMOUS NOW—WHY, THE ONLY TIME I APPEARED AT THE OLD MAIN STREET THEATRE I BROUGHT DOWN THE HOUSE!

BUT THIS IS HOW HE DID IT

through his, she yielding reluctantly, and the three went slowly down the now quiet streets. Benson's Rents proved to be a block of small houses up an alley, approached under an archway. It was a poor place enough; but it was neither so villainous, so dilapidated, nor so dirty as some of the slums with which Clive was acquainted. The dwarf stopped at the last house of the buildings and knocked at the door.

Almost before the sound had ceased, the door opened, and an extraordinarily quaint figure appeared. For a moment Clive could not tell whether it was a woman or a girl in her teens, or a mere child; for, though the figure was girlish, it was clad in a woman's dress; the face had something of a look of a child, but its juvenility was counteracted by an expression of shrewdness, self-reliance, and worldly wisdom which would have befitted a woman of forty; and the quaint figure was rendered still more weird by the elfish, sharp little face being surrounded by rows of crackers surmounted by a nightcap, the like of which Clive had seen in pictures of the early Victorian era.

This extraordinary mixture of childhood, girlhood, womanhood, and elf was flickeringly illuminated by a tall candle in a ginger-beer bottle which she held aloft, and by the light of which she surveyed the group with wrath and indignation darting from her black, bird-like eyes.

"Why, where on earth have you been, father?" she demanded. "You ought to have been back from your beat an hour ago! And what's happened to Mina? She's all of a shake—and bleedin' too! What is it, a bean feast, or a prize-fight? I thought you'd get into mischief and trouble, when I let yer go out to-night. Might as well trust a couple of babies out of yer sight! An' why on earth don't yer come in; wot do yer stand gawking there for?"

She clutched at the still trembling Mina and drew her in; but the hunchback hesitated, and, looking from the truculent figure to Clive deprecatingly, began nervously:

"This gentleman, Tibby—"
 The weird little creature gave a melodramatic start, and stared at Clive as if she saw him for the first time, and, with her arm round Mina, eyed him up and down with an aggressive air, as if she resented his presence and was quite determined to accept no excuse for it.

"So it is a gentleman!" she said, as if he might easily have been mistaken for a lamp-post. "An' wot may Mr. Gentleman want?"

"He's been very kind to—Mina," explained the dwarf, apologetically. "You see, there was a row, Tibby—"

"Oh, was there!" retorted the girl, with a deceptive suavity. "Well, there'll be another, and a precious big one, if this gentleman don't take his self off and mind 'is own business."

As she uttered this disconcerting threat, she shot out a hand, clutched hold of the dwarf, jerked him stumblingly over the threshold, and slammed the door in Clive's face.

Clive stood staring at the door for a moment or two with pardonable confusion; then he turned away and set off homeward with the cry of the street-singer as she went down under the blow of the belt mingling strangely with the cheers and shouts which had acclaimed his triumph in the House; and with the faces of the two girls, that of Lady Edith, Lord Chesterleigh's daughter and Mina, the poor little nightingale of London streets, chasing each other like dissolving views before his mind's eye.

OFFICIAL.
LONDON, Sept. 16. The Governor, Newfoundland: General French reports the situation unchanged. Three hostile aeroplanes were brought down during the last four days. The British submarine E 1 was sunk in the Dardanelles. Three officers and twenty-five men have been taken prisoners. The French Government report artillery duels and mining engagements. The Russian Government report the enemy's attacks unsuccessful southwest of Dvinsk and on the river Vilna. The enemy advanced on the road to Shilavka, reaching the river Chara. Northwest of Dubno the Russians captured guns and 2,000 prisoners, but were driven back by a counter attack. At other points over 2,000 prisoners were captured.

BONAR LAW.

FOREIGN SECRETARY'S STATEMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 16. Sir Edward Grey explained in the Commons to-day that the Government was not interfering with shipment from Germany of goods contracted and paid for by neutrals prior to March. To hamper the shipments, he said, would injure only neutrals. Britain was permitting free passage of drugs, and certain chemicals, produced only in Germany, for which neutrals had an imperative need. The Foreign Secretary made this statement in reply to a question why the Government was permitting Germany to import certain goods from America.

ST. PIERRE OFFICIAL.
ST. PIERRE, Sept. 16. Paris reports an Austrian cruiser sunk and another damaged by Italian submarines. It also reports Italian progress on their front. It says that the Turks in the Caucasus have suffered heavily and been defeated, leaving many prisoners in the hands of the Russians. Heavy landing of troops at Dardanelles. The Germans are falling back in Galicia before the fierce Russian counter offensive. Some gains and six hundred prisoners secured by the French on the western front.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.
PARIS, Sept. 16. The French War Office gave out a report this afternoon as follows: Yesterday witnessed fighting with hand grenades in the sector of Neuville. Bombardment of the suburbs of Arras brought forth a vigorous reply from our artillery, directed against the batteries and trenches of the enemy. There was also fighting with mines in the region of Frise, in the department of the Somme. There was artillery fighting during all last night around Roye, and in the vicinity of Lassigny where our shells started fire. In the region of Berry au Bac, in Champagne, near St. Hilaire, and at Aubery in the northern Woerwe district and in the Vosges, at Badesapt, the night also was marked by fairly spirited artillery actions.

DESTROYED THROUGH TRENCHERY.
LONDON, Sept. 16. The Daily News, in an article to-day, says that it was through German treachery that the great Russian ammunition factory at Oghta, a suburb of Petrograd, was blown to pieces some months ago. Oghta was the Russian Woolwich, and the only munition factory in Russia. Thousands of workmen were killed and Russia was crippled.

HEAVY BRITISH CASUALTIES.
LONDON, Sept. 16. British casualties in the Dardanelles up to Aug. 21, were 87,630. The number killed in that time was 17,608. These figures included the grand total of the British casualties published earlier in the week. To-day's announcement says the number of officers killed was 1,130, men 16,478, wounded 2,371 officers, 59,257 men, missing 373 officers, 8,021 men.

ROUMANIA.
LONDON, Sept. 16. A Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, says that German newspapers were permitted yesterday to publish sensational telegrams intimating that Rumania's participation in the war may be expected at any minute.

STOKERS SENTENCED.
LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16. Fourteen stokers employed on the steamer Barranca, have been sentenced to 25 days imprisonment each, for imperiling the safety of their officials by adhering to Union regulations, when full speed was necessary in passing through the submarine zone. The Barranca was off Fasnet when a wireless message, ordering full speed ahead was received. The captain ordered two hours additional work for each stoker, but the men refused to comply unless they were paid for each stoker, as provided by Union rules. The Barranca escaped damage, however.

TO PRESENT HIS CREDENTIALS.
LIMA, Sept. 16. The British cruiser Newcastle, which arrived yesterday at Callao, left late in the day for Guayaquil, Ecuador. STOKERS SENTENCED.
LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16. Fourteen stokers employed on the steamer Barranca, have been sentenced to 25 days imprisonment each, for imperiling the safety of their officials by adhering to Union regulations, when full speed was necessary in passing through the submarine zone. The Barranca was off Fasnet when a wireless message, ordering full speed ahead was received. The captain ordered two hours additional work for each stoker, but the men refused to comply unless they were paid for each stoker, as provided by Union rules. The Barranca escaped damage, however.

THE MONEY GOES.

Poor father often has the blues, the stricken soul within his groans, the children need eight pairs of shoes, and he has only seven bones. The good wife needs a Sunday gown, with flossy gussets, s.c.a.m.s and tucks; he'd send her shopping through the town, but he has only seven bucks. The boys are all in need of suits, to clothe their shapely limbs and trunks, and he himself wants rubber boots; but he has only seven plunks. The blizzards on the Arctic pole will soon be rolling down again, and how can he buy wood and coal, when he has only seven yen? And there are taxes he must pay, and bills for oil and bills for gas, and bills for prunes and bills for hay, and bills for pills and window glass. Expenses face him every hour; what wonder if tired father yips, what wonder if his face is sour, when he has only seven chips? But some how he will do the trick, and feed the tribe that on him leans, for good old father is a brick, although he has but seven beans.

The Russian Object-Lesson.

The importance of guns, ammunition and aeroplanes is being shown by passing events. The Royal Naval Air Service is being so expanded, in personnel and material, that a Rear-Admiral has been placed in charge, in the person of Rear-Admiral C. L. Vaughan-Lee, with the title of Director of the Air Service, and the present director, Commodore Suster has been appointed as Superintendent of Aircraft Construction. The importance of gunnery against aircraft may be realized by the appointment of the famous gunnery expert, Admiral Sir Percy Scott, to take charge of the gunnery defences of London against enemy aircraft. Sir Percy Scott was one of the first naval gunnery experts to realize the importance of improved shooting in the Navy, and he did much to inaugurate the training which has brought our naval gunners to their high state of efficiency. He gained much prominence in the early part of the Boer war, when he rapidly invented a gun-carriage for the 4.7 guns on board his flagship and transferred them to Ladysmith, where they played a great part in its defence. He was also among the first to bring to public notice the importance of the submarine in naval warfare. The greatest object-lesson of all, however, in the importance of gunnery and ammunition, is the German drive in the east. After the success of the Russians in Galicia and their drives in East Prussia, it seemed strange that the Russian offensive should collapse and the tide of war run against them constantly for months. It was known that communication of Russia with the outside world was meagre, and that in winter she was almost cut off entirely; it was, however, a mystery how the supply from the Russian munition works should suddenly become so short that the Russian army has had to give way over very considerable territory, and that she is only now beginning to recover from her shortage in ammunition. The mystery is now cleared up. The only great arsenal Russia possessed was blown up by the treachery of pro-German Russians, some months ago. Thousands of Russian workers in the arsenal were killed, and the production of munitions in Russia was crippled, and of this the German and Austrian armies have been taking advantage. Now, she is recovering from this blow and she is directing her new offensive to the south part of the line, where her territory and Roumania's march with that of Austria, in order that she may co-operate with Roumania should the latter intervene. The story of the warfare in the East

How to Keep Well!

There arrived by the Floriel two lady lecturers from the Battle Creek Sanatorium, who will lecture on health and diet. They are Mrs. Louise McIntyre and Miss Margaret, and they have been working together for seven years. Mrs. McIntyre has been lecturing and teaching for thirteen years, and for the last five years she and Miss Hall have had charge of the health work at the Winona Lake, Ind., Assembly, which is the second largest Chautauqua in the United States. Mrs. McIntyre says:

"We are endeavouring to teach people how to keep well. We are not fanatics, we do not oppose the physician, but work with him. We are seeking to teach sane and right methods of thinking and living."

Miss Hall's speciality is the regulation of food to the requirements of the body. She believes "that it is just as necessary for the home-makers to understand the nutrition of their children as it is for the farmer to understand the nutrition of his animals."

The Governor and Lady Davidson are extending invitations to any who are interested in Health Culture, to meet these lady lecturers at Government House to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Any person interested who do not receive personal invitation will be equally welcome. Arrangements have been made for free lectures and demonstrations, and it is the intention of the promoters to organize classes on health. We comment on the matter to the consideration of those in good health, that they may learn how to keep healthy and to those in poor health that they may learn how to improve their bodily condition.

Dr. Charles Peters Receives Promotion.

Given Rank of Lieut.-Col. in the Army Medical Corps; Served in Boer War.

Ottawa, September 13.—Dr. Charles A. Peters, the well-known Montreal physician, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Dr. Peters has served in the Army Medical Corps and has rendered efficient service in military work since the outbreak of war, being in charge of the military end of the general hospital, Montreal. Lieut.-Colonel Peters served in the Army Medical Corps in the South African war. Dr. Peters is a native of Newfoundland and was formerly president of the Newfoundland Society in Montreal. He saw service in the Boer War.

Archibald to Be Met by Agents of Justice Department.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Acting under instructions from the White House agents of the Department of Justice will meet James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian Ambassador, when he lands at New York on the steamer Rotterdam from Holland. Archibald was mentioned in Dr. Dumba's letter to the Vienna Foreign Office disclosing plans to cause strikes in American munitions plants. The question as to whether Archibald actually knew the contents of the papers he carried probably will be deciding factor in whatever action the Government ultimately takes toward him.

The statute on which the Government is proceeding fixes a fine of not more than $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than three years for its violation.

Mistaken Identity.

Local Constable Dwyer of Torbay had six young men summoned before court to-day, charged with ill-treating a semi-demented woman of that place. After seven witnesses were examined it was found to be a case of mistaken identity about the defendants and the case was dismissed.

Typhoid Outbreak

CAUSED BY INFECTED WATER.

Dr. R. A. Brehm, Medical Health Officer, who was in Charge Islands enquiring into an outbreak of typhoid fever there, returned to the city by last evening's express. He reports twenty people of the settlement stricken with the malady. There are no new cases developed lately and no deaths have occurred. Only a few cases are considered serious though their recovery is hopeful, the remainder having the disease in its mild form. Questioned as to the cause of the outbreak, Dr. Brehm stated that sanitary conditions generally, mainly the using of infected water drawn from wells; also flies caused the spreading of the disease. Dr. Smith, of Twillingate, who is attending to the patients, has adopted drastic steps to prevent a further spreading of the fever.

Prospero to Assist

The Stranded Steamer Carisbrook. The Norwegian pit prop steamer Carisbrook is still on the rocks from bridge to stern in eastern Channel of Otter Island at the entrance of Little Bay, according to a late message received from the captain of the ship to-day. Messrs. Bowring Bros. have instructed Capt. Kean, of the S.S. Prospero, to proceed to the scene and make an attempt to tow off the Carisbrook. The Prospero left Pool's Island at daylight this morning and should reach the stranded steamer some time to-night.

Convicted of Theft.

Last night Detective Tobin arrested under warrant a twelve-year-old boy, who broke into Messrs. Ayre & Sons store and stole one dozen tins of corned meat, valued at $6.10. The act was committed on Wednesday, the 14th inst., at 10.30 p.m. The boy was arrested at his home in St. John's. This forenoon the lad pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny. The Superintendent of Police was major in the Army Medical Corps and has rendered efficient service in military work since the outbreak of war, being in charge of the military end of the general hospital, Montreal. Lieut.-Colonel Peters served in the Army Medical Corps in the South African war. Dr. Peters is a native of Newfoundland and was formerly president of the Newfoundland Society in Montreal. He saw service in the Boer War.

Kipling and the Huns.

(From Rudyard Kipling's letter on Rheims Cathedral as it is to-day.)

When they (the Germans) first set the place alight there were some hundreds of their wounded in the cathedral. The French set as many as they could, but some had to be left. Among them was a major, who lay with his back against a pillar. It has been said that since that day the pillar should remain. An outline of both legs and half of his body is printed in greasy black upon the ashes. There are still many soldiers who hope and pray that it will be respected at least by our children's children.

McMurdo's Store News

Don't forget we have the Palonoline preparations Shampoo (price 60c. a bottle); Cold Cream (Price 60c. a pot) and Soap, (price 20c. a cake) at both our stores.

Hop Beer Cases.

Two women shop keepers were before court to-day charged with selling hop beer overproof. The defendants, through their counsel, pleaded guilty. As it was the second conviction of both Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Magistrate, imposed a fine of $100 or two months imprisonment. The fines were paid.

When Others Find Fault With You.

How are you going to take it? They will do it. And you wouldn't really want everyone to stop doing it. If they did stop—all of them—you would miss many a good pointer.
But it's often pretty hard to stand fault-finding, and how a fellow takes it makes a great difference to the fellow himself and those who want to help him. Hence that opening question.
If you are looking at things sensibly you are going to get all the good you can out of other person's fault-finding, no matter whether it is of the friendly or unfriendly sort. They see you from a standpoint that you cannot get without their help, and if you hear that some one has said of you that you are too slow, or too quick, or don't stand up straight enough, or think too much about yourself, it is a poor plan to get sulky about it. For if you really are missing the point in any of these things, you want to know it, don't you, so that you can make a change just there?—Selected.

MARRIED.

At the R. C. Cathedral, yesterday evening, Rev. Fr. McDermott, Mr. David Maynard, of this city, to Miss Catherine Fitzpatrick, of Placentia.

Anglo-French Commission Are Seeking Huge Loan.

Five Hundred Million Dollars is the Smallest Sum Which They Hope to Borrow

New York, Sept. 10.—The Anglo-French commission, seeking a way to meet the huge bills of Great Britain and France for American munitions and other supplies, reached New York to-day and was welcomed by J. P. Morgan and met approximately 100 prominent bankers, insurance heads and leaders in other lines of finance late this afternoon at a reception in Mr. Morgan's library. To-night the commission were dinner guests of a party of New York financiers.

Actual negotiations as to the credit they hope to establish here were not begun, and will not be for several days. During this period the commission expects to meet many other bankers and exporters and to become familiar with the situation. With these preliminaries disposed of, the commission will start on the actual details of the proposed loan.

For publication, the commission confined its comments to a statement issued upon its arrival here on the steamship Lapland. This statement detailed the personnel of the body, and recited its purpose. It was assumed significant that in this statement reference was made to the commission as "the joint Anglo-French commission." This was taken as an indication that the credit which it hopes to establish here would be of a joint nature, as previously reported unofficially.

Although the commission comes as the representative of the British and French governments and importers of both nations, it seemed likely tonight that it might, before its departure, be called upon to adjust the whole foreign exchange situation for all the Entente Powers. To the previous report that the delegation probably would act for Russia, there was added to-night the intimation, on good authority, that Italy might, within a few days find it expedient to request the commission to act for the Government as well.

Italian money is depreciated in this market to a degree unequalled by any other. At the present time lines are worth approximately but three-quarters of their face value. Largely because of this, Italian exporters no longer, in many cases, accept their own money in payment for goods shipped here, but insist upon being paid in dollars or sterling.

In the case of Italy the depreciation of money values here has resulted in a situation which, financiers have feared, might be paralleled with respect to France, Great Britain and Russia, should the exchange rates on their moneys drop much lower than the lowest levels already touched. Chiefly because of the depreciation, Italy some time ago cancelled orders for millions of bushels of American wheat, and sent her buyers to Argentina for the grain which otherwise would have been purchased here.

Great Britain and France, it was said to-night, have seriously contemplated the possibility of having to go to South America for grain and meats to an extent much greater than at present, and of turning to Egypt for their cotton. Munitions of war they must buy in the United States, because there is no other market; but these, it was said, form only a minor fraction of the total exports, and can be paid for in gold for a long time to come.

From an authoritative source it was learned to-night that not only had Great Britain and France contemplated a heavy reduction in their purchases here—in every line except necessities which they cannot buy elsewhere—but that it had been decided that such a reduction would be the only alternative left them, should the commission fail in its mission to the United States.

Five hundred million dollars is the smallest sum which the commissioners hope to borrow. They would much rather have a round billion. In view, however, of the many difficulties which lie in the way of floating a credit loan of such proportions in America, it was thought that the Commission's task would be almost Herculean proportions in borrowing the smaller sum. The entire proceeds of course, would be used in paying for American supplies.

Chief of the obstacles, which the commission faces is the nature of the collateral. It is regarded as almost imperative that American securities be offered as collateral, if the loan is to be financed largely by the National Banks, as it would have to be, if of the proportions indicated. So far it was said, the holders of American securities abroad have evinced a strong tendency to cling to their holdings as the best investment in the world to-day. Nothing approaching half a million dollars of American securities is at the command of the British and French Governments, it is said, although citizens of those countries, have eight to ten times that amount of securities in their vaults.

Pushed Into It.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I feel I am being pushed into it and I don't like to do things when I'm forced to." That is the explanation an acquaintance of mine gave the other day for not offering the use of her automobile to a friend to whom that loan would have meant a great deal. This friend had undoubtedly been trying to put her in a position where she would have to offer the machine.

Horrid of the friend, you say. Why Don't They Stop Being Poor?

Oh, yes, of course. But you see she is poor and she knows the loan of the machine would mean nothing to the other woman, who is comfortably off, and to her it meant the saving of several dollars. She didn't see just where she was going to get those dollars and so she did it. Poverty does make people do horrid things sometimes. One would think they'd have some sense of decency and stop being poor.

Incidentally the woman who wouldn't be pushed was poor once herself. But then that's the sort of thing one forgets as quickly as possible.

And Then She Balked.

Another acquaintance of mine who has recently married has an unmarried friend. A man whom she knows seems somewhat interested in the unmarried friend and the unmarried friend reciprocates and is eager for opportunities to meet him. The young wife made several such opportunities and then she began to feel that she was being pushed into it. Whereupon she balked. She didn't want to be forced to help them.

"Her way may be better," I heard a young mother say of advice from an older woman; "but I'm not going to be forced into doing things against my will."

How Our Spines Do Stiffen!

This quick objection to being forced into things is instinctive with most of us. Our spines stiffen at the first suggestion of a push.

But because it is instinctive is it necessarily something to be proud of? I think the people of whom I have spoken were proud of it and I think most of fancy that an objection to being pushed shows we have will of our own.

I suppose it does and yet--well, let's not forget that there is a certain animal who most emphatically objects to being pushed. Few people like to be compared to him.

Canada and Newfoundland.

A reversion to the question of confederating Newfoundland into the Dominion of Canada is one of the internal incidents of the war, and it is deemed probable in some quarters that some more substantial movement in the way of negotiations may ensue upon the termination of the great conflict. The Christian Science Monitor, a Boston publication which is credited with comprehensive views on the larger political affairs of the continent, and which has apparently made a careful study of the history at least of the subject under consideration, says:

"Since Newfoundland in 1869 refused to become a component part of the Dominion of Canada, many efforts have been made to induce the island to reconsider its decision. In 1867 under an act of the imperial parliament, passed March 9 and taking effect on July 1--since regarded and observed as a red-letter date in Canadian history--Ontario and Quebec (organized as provinces) and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were federally united in one Dominion. The legislature of Newfoundland declared in favor of joining the Dominion, but, in November, 1869, the people voted overwhelmingly against it. Sir John MacDonal, then premier, was greatly disappointed, although he did not question the right of the island to decide for itself. In the nearly half a century that has elapsed since the establishment of the Dominion, Canadians have never abandoned the hope of unity of these British provinces.

"Proposals looking to the accomplishment of union between Newfoundland and the Dominion were unsuccessfully made in 1888, in 1892 and again in 1895. The latter attempt at first promised to bear fruit, but this time the difficulties were raised on the side of the Dominion. In order to bring about the connection it would have been necessary for the Dominion to assume some large financial obligations. Canada was then in no position to take on additional responsibility of this kind, since it had only recently passed through a period of business depression, and so the matter was dropped.

"Not only sentiment and self-interest, but patriotism of the highest order are factors in the present situation. One need only glance casually at the map of North America, and as casually at the news that dominates the press of the period, to see that Newfoundland needs the Dominion and that the Dominion needs Newfoundland."

Whatever may be the attitude of the Dominion of Canada toward the suggested union, there is no indication that federation proposals would be received with any greater enthusiasm by the people of Newfoundland now than they were in 1869 or subsequent years. In a general way a great deal may be said in favor of union, but the important thing would be to convince the people of the Ancient Colony that they would be better off as a component part of the Dominion than they are at present. Newfoundland, with her new industries, is in a stronger position to dictate terms of peace to-day than ever before in her history, and it is assumed by those who are in a position to judge the temper of the people of that colony that the political party who makes Confederation an issue there takes its life in its hands.--Sydney Record.

Denounced by Labor Paper.

New York, Sept. 8.--Zador Szabados, editor of the Elora, a Hungarian daily newspaper, published at No. 5 East Third Street, which champions the cause of labor, yesterday gave out the following statement: "As a labor newspaper our attitude toward the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador's strike-fomenting schemes is naturally directed by two considerations. It is one question whether the Austrian and Hungarian workers employed by the ammunition factories have a right to strike for improving their working conditions, and another question whether the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador has a right to influence the workers' movement. We answer the first question by a most emphatic 'yes.'"

"On the other hand, we denounce most expressly the Ambassador's attempt to interfere with the workers' movement, which has been heretofore, and will and must be hereafter, purely economical.

"We fully agree with the American standpoint that a representative of a foreign country commits an inexcusable indiscretion by attempting to interfere with the other State's domestic affairs.

"For the second, and this is our chief consideration, we absolutely repudiate the Ambassador's approaches toward the working class movement. The plain fact that it is only now that he discovers that Austrians and Hungarians are toiling twelve hours a day and that this same circumstance did not disturb his soft dreams for years, explains everything.

"We deplore the Austrian-Hungarian Ambassador's blunder all the more as it is apt to reflect a false light on future labor movements in ammunition factories."

The Shell Industry

And the Newfoundland Shell Company

The shell industry is a very small part of the great munitions industry created by the war. It is a phase of the war, which we haven't thought much about in Newfoundland, and which has really become one of the most important. Everybody is more or less conversant with the "Munitions Cry" and the appointment of Mr. Lloyd George as Minister of Munitions, and the historic words of Field-Marshal French: "Shells, Shells, more Shells, and then more Shells"; but very few people realize what it means, and that we should be doing our part.

The appointment of the Minister of Munitions was made necessary in order to arouse the British public to their truly perilous position regarding munitions. Germany and Austria had been the great munition producers of the world, and in addition to arsenals and munitions plants commensurate with the demands of seven million men, they also possessed munition plants producing the greater part of the outside world's supply. In addition to the munitions required Belgium and a considerable portion of industrial France Lorraine. Whilst Britain was quite able to increase and maintain her navy through her ship-building supremacy she only possessed arsenals commensurate with the demands of about 300,000 men. A few months after war broke out the reserve stocks were being exhausted and Great Britain and her Allies began to realize their perilous position regarding munitions. The production of munitions requires plant and machinery, and worst of all months of time to get ready. Great Britain did not possess arsenals but in every machine shop and in every factory the nucleus for a munition factory, and instead of building Government arsenals induced manufacturers all over the country to engage in munition making by giving them an initial order at a price sufficient to pay for the outlay and make a substantial profit.

Canada having undertaken to equip and maintain her own forces proceeded along the same lines. The Canadian Shell Committee, consisting of prominent manufacturers in the iron and steel trades of Canada, under Imperial control through Mr. D. A. Thomas, was created to coordinate the industrial resources of Canada and contribute in part to the Empire's demands. The Committee possess a very efficient staff. Mr. D. A. Thomas, was created to coordinate the industrial resources of Canada and contribute in part to the Empire's demands. The Committee possess a very efficient staff.

Shell making was taken up in Canada first because the shells were comparatively easy to make and required in enormous quantities. The shell is a very minor part, and to date Canada has had to continue her efforts being unable to tackle the more difficult orders at short notice. The Shell Committee, however, are now endeavouring to get manufacturers to go into cartridge making, fuses, caps, etc., and other parts necessary to complete the shell. They are also considering the manufacture of gun-carriage parts, machine guns, field pieces, heavier shells, etc. At the headquarters of the Canadian Shell Committee, at Ottawa, Mr. F. W. Angel, examined the various contracts many of which cannot be undertaken here. Mr. Angel was first offered the 60 pounder shell, a much heavier contract, requiring much more capital than the one he refused. He refused it, however, and fought for the 4 point 5 shell on the grounds that it had passed the experimental stage, and our isolation demanded the simplest and easiest contract and one which there was no doubt about. He had to fight for the 4 point 5 because the easiest contract have almost all been awarded, and the Shell Committee finds it hard to induce manufacturers to take up the more difficult contracts such as cartridge making, etc.

From association with the Imperial Munitions Staff and the Canadian Shell Committee one is impressed with several important factors connected with the war. First that Germany possessed at the beginning and is now manufacturing enormous quantities of munitions. Germany is depending on her artillery and machine guns instead of the infantry rifle; third, that the casualties amongst the Germans on the Western front owing to their employment of machinery is lessening all the time; fourth, that this war will be a very long one and is largely a question of munitions. Mr. Angel was impressed with the general admiration for Newfoundland regarding her contributions in men and patriotic suggestions. It appears, however, that we have done more than was expected of us in this direction, and have neglected this practical business side which will bring a lot of money back to us and relieve the acute industrial conditions in St. John's which must continue until this war is over. It is interesting to compare Newfoundland and Nova Scotia in this connection. Whilst Newfoundland has beaten Nova Scotia in recruiting and in aeroplane and machine gun subscription, Nova Scotia has surpassed us altogether in her efforts to produce munitions, and the estimating carefully our capacity, figured that we could readily undertake to produce a thousand shells per week. To do this a plant costing from 55 to 60 thousand dollars is required.

The greatest difficulty will be in procuring machinery; munition manufacturing developed at such an amazing rate that the machine tools markets of the United States and Canada have been cleaned up. By the adaptation of standard tools, however, and the use of Messrs. Reids' machine shop, it is possible to equip a factory and commence manufacturing here about February.

This munition plant will bring grist to the mill of many local industries. The Reid Dock Shop and Consolidated Foundry Co. will have work to keep them busy for a few months. The wood working plants, Ropewalk and Nail manufacturing companies will get considerable business. And mechanics who are feeling, and will feel for some time, the dearth of work will have plenty to do.

Mr. Angel has secured an order for 20,000 shells, to be increased to 40,000 as soon as we demonstrate our ability to turn them out. The Newfoundland Government has been good enough to guarantee the investor against loss and has undertaken to support this industry in every way possible. An arrangement has been effected with Messrs. Reid whereby they construct all plant required of them and supply the building, power, heat and light under contract and on favorable terms.

A preliminary meeting was held in the Board of Trade Rooms on Monday and the share list opened. Over half the capital has already been subscribed. Intending subscribers should communicate promptly with F. W. Angel, City Chambers, Water Street, St. John's, who will receive further applications and from whom all information may be obtained.

The W. P. A. have almost exhausted their funds collected during the last twelve months, in the expenses of the work done during that period. On behalf of the Association, I now most urgently appeal to ALL in St. John's to support us as liberally as they possibly can. I feel sure that there must be many who have not, up to now, realized how great is our need of funds to carry on our important work. We have undertaken to provide socks and all other woollen necessaries, etc., for our own Newfoundland Regiment. We must also do this for the British Army which is fighting for us, and whose needs owing to its enormous increase in the last few months, the British Isles alone cannot supply. I know this appeal will not be in vain. Newfoundland has always shown such true patriotism, and all know how closely we are bound up with the old Mother Country in this attack on freedom and our Empire, and we look with confidence for a ready response.

Donations, as in the past, will be received by—
Lady Davidson at Government House, and Mrs. Emerson, Hon. Treasurer, Calvert House, and by the following ladies of the Finance Committee:—Mrs. John Ayre, Mrs. Garrett Byrne, Mrs. T. J. Edens, Mrs. Duley, Mrs. Herbert, Mrs. Miss Browning, Miss A. Hayward, Mrs. Archibald Macpherson, and will be acknowledged as before every Wednesday in the daily press.
(Sgd.) MARGARET DAVIDSON,
President of the W. P. A.

Meigle's Report.

The biggest kind of codfish are now being taken all along the Labrador side of the Straits of Belle Isle, and the real old time "Labrador" herring are numerous, such is the report brought here by the s.s. Meigle, Capt. Geobie, which ship reached Curling yesterday morning from the Straits of Belle Isle. Capt. Geobie reports a good sign of cod from Cow Head to Port au Choix, but that is scarce. At Porteau and other ports of the Labrador side of the Straits trawlers get from 1 to 2 qts. of codfish a day, and single-hand fishermen at Fortean get as high as three qts. The fish are of enormous size. The s.s. Beothic took away from Blanc Sablon 8,400 qts of cod. She sailed for St. John's on Wednesday to finish loading for the Mediterranean market, and the same day Baine Johnston & Co.'s vessel, with 4,000 qts. of codfish, sailed from Battle Pt. for Gibraltar; this is the first cargo for the season. This firm has another vessel partly loaded, and expects to ship a third cargo. The Meigle reports stormy weather throughout the voyage, and on her trip south found it impossible to handle freight at several places along the coast. A number of fishermen returned by her.

Fifty Millions More in War Orders
Will Soon Be Placed With Manufacturing Concerns in Canada.
Ottawa, Sept. 12.—A conference will be held between representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, the Canadian Bankers Association, and the representatives of Lloyd George, British Minister Munitions, who have been in Canada for some time past, members of the Government, including the Prime Minister, will also be present. The conference will consider the question of the capacity of Canadian plants for further munitions orders, and will also discuss the financial problems connected with such purchase by the British Government.
R. D. Thomas, Lloyd George's representative and his associates, have visited at all the principal points and have gone closely into the question of Canada's capacity, and the suitability of Canadian plants to manufacture shells economically.

It is understood that as a result of their visit additional orders for munitions approximating $50,000,000 will shortly be placed in the Dominion. This, however, will be one of the main questions discussed to-morrow by the conference. Sir Robert Borden who has discussed the whole matter with the British authorities will no doubt be in a position to lend valuable assistance in the solution of the questions which will arise.

Americans Increasing Their Munition Orders.
Washington, Sept. 8.—American exports of war supplies are increasing enormously now that converted munition plants are getting into full swing. Figures made public to-night by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce show that shipments of horses, mules, automobiles, aeroplanes and explosives, all classed as war supplies, aggregated nearly $50,000,000 in July.
The principal increase, compared with June exports, was in the classification of "all other explosives," including shells and other ammunition of special manufacture, which jumped from $5,911,929 to $9,329,303. Automobiles, the only item to show a material decrease, dropped from $14,600,000 to $11,000,000. Horses and mules to the value of $12,600,000 were exported in July as against $10,500,000; 138 aeroplanes valued at $890,826 were shipped, compared with 62 machines, worth $283,212 in June. July exports of cartridges were valued at $2,247,761, about the same as the preceding month; of dynamite $100,599 a slight increase, and of gun powder $4,567,929 compared with $3,234,549 in June.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Seventy-five German and Austrian machinists employed by Torris, Wold and Company, tool manufacturers, went on strike to-day when they learned that the company had taken a contract to make tools to be used in manufacturing shrapnel for Great Britain and her allies.
The concern, until recently, has been engaged in the manufacture of canning tools. William Cameron, President of the Company, said: "The men have no reason that we know of for striking. They made no demand for higher wages, shorter hours or changes in working conditions. They just walked out and tied up our plants."

409th Day of the War TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.30 A.M.

STRONG EXPRESSION AGAINST CONSCRIPTION.

LONDON, To-day. During the discussion in the Commons yesterday afternoon, James Henry Thomas, Laborite, Assistant General Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, declared that every lodge of the Railway Union had informed the Executive Committee that on the introduction of conscription men would stop work. If conscriptionists want an industrial revolution, he said, let them proceed with their agitation.

P.E.I. GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

CHARLOTTETOWN, To-day. The Matheson Government is sustained by 17 to 15, on the secret ballot for thirty years. The Liberal Leader, Ex-Governor Rogers, was defeated by Chas. Dalton. All portfolio members of the Government were returned by a substantial majority.

1.30 P.M.

PETROGRAD, To-day.

The following official: South West of Dvinsk we repulsed repeated German attacks close to our entanglements between Dvinsk Road and Lake Samana. Detachments of German cavalry appeared in the region of Molodtchno Polotsk railway, and further Northwest of Vilna the enemy succeeded in crossing to the left bank of Viliya; Southeast of Oryas the Germans are attempting to cross the river Vorkova where it enters Lake Tchenkas near the village of Eismonty. Our troops drove the enemy back to the river. In the direction of "Pinsk our troops are falling back under the enemy's pressure. In the district of Nijnistoshod we repulsed an enemy attack against Ugrinitchi. The enemy continues his counter attacks in Deragne region and on different parts of our front. In Galicia the badly shaken enemy is seeking by these counter attacks to consolidate his positions but these efforts even in the best circumstances are followed by only small local successes and our troops continued skilfully to fulfill their task. West of the village of Pendiuki in Deragne region we took 410 prisoners and four machine guns. By the capture of a distillery and cemetery near Deragne we took over 400 prisoners and four machine guns, repulsing a desperate enemy counter attack near the village of Nevo Alaximiec, a town of Vicimeyev and on the Stripa. West of the Taropov Pambowlia line we are engaged in desperate actions, in many places against the enemy who is clinging to forts in the Vinska. The official statement announced that we were repulsed towards the Bridgehead of Tarnopol and suffered heavy losses near Tarnopol, but the army has no information from which to judge the extent of these losses for the simple reason that in the fighting of the 10th and 11th we held everything following these in spite of reinforcements which arrived the enemy was driven back still further West of Tarnopol towards the villages of Gliedi and Zehoff and even part of the line of the River Stripa.

GERMAN SUBMARINE LOSSES

LONDON, To-day. The Germans have lost twenty submarines since the beginning of the war, according to an editorial note in Motor Ship and Motor Boat, while British losses have been only seven, including the E 7, the destruction of which was announced to-day. When the war commenced, the paper declares, Germany had eleven sea-going submarines and sixteen of smaller type, while up to June 1st, ten new boats had been added. The assertion is made that the Germans have now only fourteen sea-going underwater boats, two of them are in the Mediterranean.

ARRIVED AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

LONDON, To-day. The steamer Sardinia has arrived at St. Michael's. The fire has been extinguished.

RECOGNIZE TIME IS AGAINST THEM.

LONDON, To-day. The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Athens telegraphs the following: "Interesting information has reached me from thoroughly reliable sources with regard to the position facing Germany in the matter of furnishing fresh help for hard pressed Turks. The Turkish mission had been lately in Berlin in order to point out to the military authorities there the circumstances of the Ottoman Empire which make resistance at end of September 1st an extremely difficult matter in the absence of effective assistance from Germany. The Germans recognize time is now against them in this particular zone of war area, and I am told by diplomats that the belief in Vienna is that Gallipoli Peninsula at least will be in the Allies hands at an early date."

Everyday Etiquette.

"If one is to have a very small and informal wedding how should the invitations be extended and, with only a few invited friends, is it necessary to have engraved invitations?" asked the about-to-be bride.

"The bride's mother may write informal notes of invitation to be sent to friends and relatives," advised her confidant.

Minnard's Linctum Cures Diphtheria.

Not Surprised at Dumba Exposure.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Commenting on the Dumba letter, Samuel Gompers said the disclosures confirmed charges made by him.

"I was not at all surprised," said Mr. Gompers. "The revelations regarding the activity of Dr. Dumba in fomenting labor troubles in American factories confirm everything that I said in my recent statement."

"The facts set forth were well known among many people, but if anything was needed to convince the public of what was going on, this letter did it."

"The letter might have gone further than it did. There are other facts that might have been made public. These will come out in time. Later I may have something to say regarding these matters."

AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES— WASHINGTON STATE.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Seward." The State University of Washington is so new that most of the chairs in the faculty still smell of varnish.

It was established over fifty years ago when the State of Washington was populated almost exclusively by pine trees, and up to fifteen years ago it was one of the 794 also-runs in American college life.

It ranked with Millsaps, Occidental, Muskogee and other quiet retreats of learning, and an Eastern college man couldn't have found it in an Atlas eight feet wide.

About that time, Seattle began to leap lightly to the front in the census returns and Washington University leaped with it. Seattle held an exposition and gave it to the University when it closed. This provided a large number of buildings and twenty trainloads a day of incoming settlers provided the necessary football material.

The University of Washington now has over 3,000 students and a faculty of 200. It is growing so fast that by the time a fine new marble hall is finished to take the place of some tumble-down wooden structure the attendance overflowed college, and the old shack has to be planned together and pasted up for another year.

The Cafeteria is in an old exposition building and the students eat under umbrellas in rainy weather while the reporters in the School of Journalism work in an extinct gardener's cottage and hold up the roof with one hand while writing. But every year a fine new building goes up and if the attendance will kindly hold back a little the state will catch up with the university.

Washington's campus is a beautifully landscaped hilltop with the Olympics on one side and Mount Rainier on the other. Its museum is a Greek temple, whose columns are trunks, four feet in diameter and its pine flagpole is as high as the Bunker Hill monument.

The University of Washington is the second largest college on the Pacific Coast and the third largest west of the Missouri River. It has never had a student named Yale, but has never had a chance to row its crew against Harvard, and consequently suffers from a lack of high grade advertising.

A Choice of Alibis.

(From the London Advertiser.)

Germany may build up an alibi for her latest sea murder by some of the following devices:

1. That the boat was not attacked by a submarine, but was blown up by a whale which swallowed a floating mine.

2. That one of the passengers was seen trolling off the port bow, evidently with designs on submarines.

3. That the captain had a picture of a British dreadnought in his cabin.

4. That the crew was armed (two-armed).

5. That the third assistant purser was known to smoke a pipe shaped like a revolver.

6. That the British ship was carrying Mut and Jeff, a gross breach of neutrality.

PHOTOGRAPHS ON THE WING.

Germany has employed many ingenious devices in the Great War, and surely one of the most unique is that of employing carrier pigeons for taking military photographs. Some years ago the camera employed for this purpose was exhibited in Germany. It was invented by Dr. Neubronner, and was a wonderfully light instrument, weighing only 2 1/2 oz. The lens was only 2 in. focus, and the photograph produced measured 1 1/2 in. square. One of the models could take eight pictures in succession on a film, while another consisted of two distinct cameras. The lens of one pointed forwards and the other backwards when the "carrier" was in flight. In each case the exposure mechanism consisted of a rubber bulb containing compressed air, by the slow escape of which through a minute aperture a lever was operated to release the shutter at the end of an interval of time which could be determined in advance.

The Soldier After the War.

London Times.—Many of our new soldiers have come from the desk. There has been a sedentary life. War has literally been an avenue of escape for them. Their training has taken them into the open air, has shown them the physical blessedness of constant muscular activity, has bred in them a distaste for the confinement and boredom of a sedentary existence, perched upon an office stool. They men will never willingly go back to the life of the city, from which they have been suddenly torn—to realize as by a semi-miraculous revelation, its tiresomeness, its damaging effects upon the health, its inadequacy for the needs of a sound body. They will want to go on living the life of the open air. Either in the British Isles or in the Dominions they should find ample opportunities. But they will not find them unless the way is properly prepared before the war comes to an end. And in any case we do not want to lose the best of our population to the Dominions. This is one of the main difficulties. But the great thing is that the men who are in charge of Colonial and Agricultural affairs in Great Britain should realize the task that will be laid on them when the war ends, and should strive—in close alliance with the Governments of the Dominions—to find a satisfactory way of discharging it.

Wrinkles, dry, ill nourished skin, too much or too little fatty tissue sagging muscles—all these belong in the realm of massage, and can be corrected either with the aid of a reliable, trained masseuse, or with your own fingers if you are willing to take the time. Every face, for that matter, even if it bears no disfiguring marks of time or worry, should have some slight massage. It stimulates the skin to do its full duty, makes it glowing and healthy. The simplest way of doing this is to use your fingers instead of a wash cloth in giving it its daily washing. Lather your fingers well and begin at the forehead.

Put the first three fingers of each hand on the forehead just above the space between the eyes, and with a rotary movement massage out towards the ears, giving the heaviest pressure on each upward stroke. Begin again in the middle of the forehead and then again up near the roots of the hair. This will smooth out your forehead wrinkles in no time.

The nose should be massaged downward with the tips of the first two fingers to keep it from spreading. Rub the cheeks with either the palms of the hands or the flats of the four fingers, whichever is easiest for you. Do this very lightly with a circular movement. As you finish gradually move up towards the temples, which by its action on the principal cheek muscle will counteract any tendency the cheek might have to sag, and then back around the ears. Be sure that you do not press too heavily; as a too vigorous massage will break down the tissues, which, of course, is only desirable where there is an overabundance.

To massage the wrinkles which run from the nose to the mouth place the first two fingers of each hand on the upper lip under the nose; then let them follow the line of the mouth until they meet just above the chin. After your soap and water massage is finished rinse the face many times over, first in hot water, then warm, then cool and end by slapping the cheeks vigorously with the flat of the fingers.

SAYS UNITED STATES WILL GET THE CREAM IN A FINANCIAL WAY.

London, Sept. 16.—"The United States will have the cream after the war. Great Britain will have to be content with milk, and the other belligerents with skimmed milk." This sums up the report presented to-day to the British Association by a special committee appointed to study the effects of the war on credit and finance.

The committee expressed the opinion that Great Britain would emerge from the war in a better position than the other belligerents, as the latter apparently are not meeting any part of the cost of the war, or interest on war loans, out of current revenues.

Nevertheless, the war will certainly place this country in a disadvantageous position, the committee finds, as compared with the United States.

AT THE CRESCENT.
The Crescent Picture Palace is showing a great two reel western drama to-day, the scenes of "The Trapper's Revenge" are laid in Western Canada; the Canadian Mounted Police play a large part in this great Lubin feature. Maurice Cosellio and Naomi Childers are the principals in a fine Vitagraph drama: "The Woes of a Waitress." Little Bobby Connolly, the clever juvenile, is fine in "Chiefly Concerning Males," and the two comedies, "His Night Out" and "In the Boarding House" have a laugh in every line. Mr. Harvey Collins sings Chaskey Olcott's great ballad, "Irish Eyes of Love." Don't miss this big show to-day. Afternoon, at 2 o'clock; evening, at 7 o'clock.

BRITISH THEATRE.
Among the splendid photo-plays which will be shown to-day at the British particular interest is to be centered in the magnificent two part drama, entitled: "Beneath the Sea." This is undoubtedly one of the most thrilling pictures to have ever been taken, intense interest never lagging from the moment it commences until the end. In other words this is a highly sensational portrait told in a most artistic manner.
Madame Olive Timmons will sing the new numbers, each one calling for consummate skill in its interpretation. Her first selection being "Florian's Song" which will be followed by the ever popular solo: "I Dream I Dwell in Marble Halls" from the grand opera: "The Bohemian Girl."

THE HARMONY BOYS IN NEW NUMBERS.
The presentation of "The Final Judgment," by the Thanbouser Co., will no doubt attract large audiences to the Nickel Theatre. It is a most impressive story and the beautiful actress, Flo Labadie, will appear in the leading role. This picture met with great success in America and is still in demand here. "The Hazards of Helen" will be continued. There is a comedy-drama, "Ethel's New Dress," and a Keystone comedy, "A Colored Girl's Love." Those Harmony Boys, Messrs. Huskins and Cairns, will be heard in two new novelty numbers. Be sure and hear them. There is a special bumper matinee to-morrow and the children are assured a good time. Send them early and let them enjoy themselves.

THE NEW PROGRAM AT ROSSLEY'S EAST END THEATRE A UNIQUE SUCCESS.
A large and enthusiastic audience assembled at the above Theatre last night and showed by their applause and their undivided attention to every item, their appreciation. The films gave complete satisfaction and the grave and gay situations were followed with the greatest attention. Ian MacKenzie sang "Will ye no come back again," "Afton Water" and "Sound the Pibroch" magnificently. His powerful, and well modulated voice took the audience by storm and they seemed unwilling to let him off the stage. His historical remarks apropos of his songs, and his humorous Scottish tales which are fresh, funny and clean, shake the people with hearty laughter. Miss Rox Guerin has a splendid voice and did ample justice to "When I leave the world behind" and "If you can get a girl in the summer time," and the audience were not slow to recognize her ability. Mr. William Wallace continues his triumphant success and plays Polonaise (Arthur Senhoid) and (Barry Handel) with a skill and dexterity worthy of a Koellie. This young man should be heard by every music lover in the city; certainly no musical program more replete with gems of almost all nations has ever been placed before the people of St. John's.
Mr. Rossley has cabled that he has secured one of the greatest film-features ever produced, and the leading character is undertaken by the greatest actress in the world.

Says Allies Have Plans for Forcing the Dardanelles.

New York, Sept. 10.—Although it had been reported that the New York of the American Line was only an hour ahead of the Allan liner Hesperian, when the latter was sunk by a German submarine, Captain Roberts, on arrival of the New York from Liverpool to-day, said he was many hours ahead of the other ship and only learned of her destruction, by wireless, from other passenger vessels.
Col. Chas. N. Perreaut, of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, detached from the front to command the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., said he had been on the fighting line for two months and had found the deadliest missiles he had not the 42 centimetres "Jack Johnsons" but the 6 inch lydite shells, which killed or put out of action, because of shock and fumes, every soldier within a hundred yards of its exploding point.
Great Britain has 2,000,000 men well trained and equipped in England now, he said, and most of them will be added to the million men now in the trenches.
"The spirit of the British nation is higher than since the war began, although many important victories have not been announced to the people. I have reason for saying that there is a plan for forcing the Dardanelles, soon to be put into effect, which promises complete success."

Why Pay More
THAN $50.00, $60.00, OR $80.00 FOR
A TYPEWRITER WHEN WE CAN SELL YOU

A REMINGTON FOR $50.00.
AN OLIVER FOR $60.00.
AN UNDERWOOD FOR $80.00.
We have just received another shipment of them, and we have still another on the way. We have sold nearly a half hundred of these machines, and though all of them were sold on a "Money-back-if-not-as-represented" basis, we have yet to have a claim or a complaint. Let us tell you who the purchasers were. Most of them were sold to Water Street firms. Ask for our Booklet "What We Do, and How We Do It." It tells how we save you $50.00 to $80.00 on a Typewriter. Take a machine, try it for a week or a month, test it in your own office—by an expert if you will—you will then be convinced that you need not pay more than $50.00, $60.00 or $80.00 for your Typewriter. Ask us to send you one NOW.
