The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XVII.

"Never mind," said the duchess. "You will not tell me, Leah; but I shall find it out. I know that an offer of marriage rather annoys you than not, or I should think you had received one this morning, and it had pleased you."

"I would tell you if it were so, duchess," said Leah, "I look happy because—well, because I am happy. Have you ever seen a sky so blue, the earth so fair? Did the birds, ever sing as they sing this morning? Were the flowers ever so sweet? Something—I do not know what it is—something has occurred which seems to have brought me unutterable happiness."

"It is worse even than I thought," remarked the duchess. "Come and take this chair. Let us talk prose, not poetry, and decide upon what we can do to amuse your young neighbor. I like him, Leah. I shall not rest until the melancholy has left his face, and I see the brightness that belongs to youth shining there."

CHAPTER XVIII.

The day passed, as the days always do, whether they be shortened by happiness or lengthened by sorrow, but Leah Hatton kept no account of the hours. All that was taking place was a dream to her; the only effort she could make was to prevent other people from guessing her secret. He had come—the fairy prince who was to wake her from her long sleep; but the world need not know it—must not know it. It would think her mad—this way, keen, wise old world that laughs at the sweet follies of youth.

She had surrendered her mind to a host of beautiful but unreal fancies; they had made the brightest part of her life. To any other than herself they

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

would have seemed absurd; yet she had firm faith in them. She believed in this ideal lover of hers, who was looking for her in the world just as she was waiting for him. She had nursed herself in the belief that she would recognize him the moment she saw him, and it seemed to her that she had done so.

Hundreds of handsome figures had passed before her eyes, but not one had touched her heart until now. When she saw Sir Basil's she recognized it; a strange, magnetic influence seemed to come over her; in the depths of her heart she said to herself: "I have met my fate." But now she must hide her secret, lest the laughing wicked world should be amused by it. She never thought of Sir Basil's part in the matter, whether he shared her feelings and fancies; she was too much engrossed with her own.

The day went on, and she spent almost every moment of it with him—a lovely day, that grew brighter and fairer with every hour that passed.

That evening she stood in her dressing-room, the pretty Parisian maid looking at her in something like wonder. Miss Hatton had most exquisite taste, and liked always to be well dressed; but on this evening it seemed as if it were impossible to please her. Dress after dress was discarded; she could not choose her jewels.

"Take those diamonds away," she said, and the superb suite of rubies and pearls were not pleasing to her. On the toilet table, intermixed with crystal and silver, and richly-cut Bohemian glasses, were some clusters of scarlet passion-flowers. She would wear them, and not the jewels.

The Parisienne sighed. They would look very beautiful, but they would give her an immense deal of trouble.

Leah had a fancy that she would like to be dressed after the fashion of her picture; but the black velvet looked too warm and heavy for this bright summer night. At last she chose a dress of white shining silk, soft and fine, and with it she wore nothing but passion-flowers. They crowned her dark, beautiful head, and glowed like flames against her white neck; great trailing sprays fastened the folds of her dress.

"They look far more beautiful than jewels," said the maid; "but will they live madam?"

"They will live as long as I need them," answered Leah. It seemed to her that the flowers she wore to please him could never die.

"I think, madam," said the maid, as she arranged the tall Psyche mirror, "if you will look now, you will be pleased."

Pleased? She flushed crimson as she saw the reflection of her own most radiant beauty. She was glad to be beautiful; she rejoiced in her own loveliness. The dark waves of rippling hair with their crown of scarlet flowers, the exquisite face with its fair bloom, the white graceful throat and white shoulders, the perfect arms and hands, the figure so replete with sweet, stately, subtle grace, gave her infinite delight. She was child enough to kiss her warm, white arms, and to smile at the picture in her mirror.

"I wonder," she said to herself, "if he will find me fair?"

There were still some minutes before the second bell would ring; she would not go down until the flush had departed from her cheeks and the sweet expression of her eyes told less, or the duchess would soon discover her secret. She looked from her window to the running river, and snatches of song rose to her lips. She could have fancied that even the river knew what had happened to-day; the waters laughed and flashed in the setting sun. Oh! happy day, day, to be remembered, for it stood out from her life as a bright star in the dark sky!

"The sixth of August," she said to herself: "I shall never forget the date. I have been in the world twenty-two years, but I have never lived until to-day."

Then the bell rang, and she went down into the drawing-room. More than one present drew a deep breath of silent admiration. The general thought he had never seen his niece look so well; and the duchess said to herself: "Something has come to the child; it is useless for her to deny it."

Sir Basil, too, looked at her in wonder. He had been attracted by her appearance as she stood on the terrace; but now the sense of her great loveliness came over him and struck him almost dumb. He took her down to dinner, wondering that he had not been more impressed before, and he talked more to her than he had previously.

The dinner-party was a pleasant one. Leah was a charming hostess, and a more agreeable, hospitable, entertaining host than General Hatton it would have been almost impossible to find.

When the ladies returned to the drawing-room, the duchess took up a book, with some little hope of disguising the fact that she was going to sleep; Lady Maude had several secrets to talk over with pretty Miss Leeson; so that Leah was alone. She tried to steady her thoughts, but she could not—they were all chaos. She tried to still the throbbing of her heart; it was impossible. The long French windows were wide open. She stood near one of them to see if the fresh evening air would drive away the thick crowding thoughts and fancies from her brain, and presently a voice near her said—

"How plainly you can see the river from here, Miss Hatton!"

She raised her dark dreamy eyes to Sir Basil's.

"I often wonder," she returned, "what I should do if I had to live where there was no river. I should miss it so much. I look at it always and the first thing in the morning and the last at night. It is a friend and companion to me."

"I am of your opinion; no landscape is perfect to me without water. I have a childish love of water, from the great wild tossing ocean down to the tiniest lakelet, the sound of its falling or dripping or rushing, as the river rushes there, is the most charming in Nature. While I was in Italy, I had a terrible fever, and for many days I was quite delirious—I may say mad; and during the whole time what do you think my fancy was?" The face raised to his was full of interest. "I thought I was lying by a beautiful waterfall, under the shadow of great trees with spreading boughs. I could hear the dripping of the water and the soft splash as it fell into the rocky basin below; but, when I stretched out my hands, it scalded me. Was not that a most uncomfortable delirium?"

"Yes, I should imagine so; but I hardly understand what delirium is like."

"Have you ever indulged in a strong fancy," he asked—"so strong that you hardly knew the fancy from reality?"

Reduce Taxation.

It has been asserted by exponents and advocates of the Government's policy of taxation, when referring to the resolutions passed by the Board of Trade last Tuesday, that no suggestions were made as to the direction which reduction of expenditure should take, or where the pruning knife should be first employed.

have come home to roost, and the consequences of tinkering with the trade of the Colony by special acts of Parliament are becoming manifest. And we emphasize that if the present Budget is carried out, if the present rates of tariff are continued, then indeed there will be no imports, and "no imports, no duties; no duties, no revenue; no reduction of taxation, no supplies for the fishery, or no employment for labor."

HOUSE RESUMED THIS AFTERNOON.
The House will go into Committee on Ways and Means this afternoon and an exciting debate is expected. The Government have had several meetings lately, but for what purpose is not known. It is presumed that they have been attempting to cut down the Estimates, but it is doubtful if they have applied the axe to any real extent. The Opposition will, it is understood, do their utmost to compel a reduction in expenditure.

How Moonshine Tastes

JUDGE MAKES PRONOUNCEMENT.
The difference between local moonshine and the imported brand was discussed in the Magistrate's Court this morning. Mr. Davies Government Analyst, said he had tasted the liquor exhibited in the case, which was that of a man charged with having local made liquor in his possession, and he was certain it was not from the Controller's Department. A police witness told him he had found accused drunk and had arrested him. When searched at the Police Station, a part bottle of moonshine was found on him. This was sealed and hidden in Head Byrne's mysterious cupboard. Mr. Conroy, for accused, placed his client in the box. Witness said he had had several drinks of rum and later, when half drunk, a man had met him and given him the moonshine found on him. "I said he knew poison liquor either locally made or smuggled from St. Pierre, was being sold at fifty cents a glass in the city. Everyone who had got drunk on this dope had said it was Controller's. The police were doing all in their power to prosecute in every case. He imposed a fine on accused of $100 or 30 days."

Obituary.

MRS. (CAFT) MANNING.
A very estimable and widely known lady in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Manning, wife of Capt. James Manning of His Majesty's Customs, passed to her eternal reward at 8 o'clock this morning at her home, 31 Gower Street, at the age of 67 years. For the past four years, or in fact, since her son, Sergt. Gus Manning was killed in action in France, Mrs. Manning had been in failing health, but with a courage and unselfishness that characterized her in more than one period of great trouble and affliction, she made light of her illness, and it was only when the blow that resulted in her end came on Monday last, just a week ago, that her family realized she was had for so long been unflinchingly facing the inevitable. Her death was as beautiful and calm as had been her life. A perfect faith that had ever sustained her, no matter how heavy the cross she was called upon to bear, was hers to the end, and she passed into eternity with full possession of her faculties and surrounded by her children and the other members of her family. The late Mrs. Manning was in every sense of the word a lady and she bequeathed to all who came in contact with her. She was a daughter of the late Patrick Lamb, a well-known planter and supplier of Red Island, P.B., and is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Lou Manning, two sons, Michael J. of the Star Publishing Co. and Raymond of the Board of Works office. Three sons predeceased her, viz: James, who was lost on the S.S. Regulus, Patrick who died at home, and Sergt. Gus, killed in action in France. She is also survived by two brothers, William and Patrick Lamb, the former of Red Island, and the latter in this city, and four sisters, Mrs. Barry of Redfield, Mrs. Moakler, of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Skinner and Mrs. L. Connelly in the city, to all of whom the Telegram tenders its sympathy.

Retreat Closed.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

TRADE SHOULD BE UNRESTRICTED.
LONDON, April 10.
An important appeal to the Gencon Conference, containing the signatures of about eight hundred men, representing Financial, Shipping and Industrial spheres of the United Kingdom, will be despatched Monday. It urges the Conference not merely to recommend the removal of all Post War Restrictions on trade, but to agree upon such measures as will insure the progressive liberation of trade and commerce throughout the world. This, it points out, is one of the chief means whereby economic prosperity can be restored.

BRITISH INFANTRY IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, April 10.
British foot soldiers, fully armed, appeared in the streets of Dublin on Palm Sunday, the first time since the truce in Ireland. Their presence caused something of surprise, amounting almost to sensation in certain sections of the Capital.

MOBBED.

TULLAMORE, April 10.
George G. Duffy, Minister of Foreign Affairs in Dail Eireann Cabinet, was seized by a crowd of young men and women, and dragged from a platform upon which he was making an address.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

LONDON, April 10.
Will the so-called extremist Republicans in Ireland observe the anniversary of the Easter week uprising of 1916, by attempting, this Easter week, to oust the Provisional Government and establishing a Republic in its place? This is a question being seriously discussed in well informed circles of both England and Ireland.

Thomas's Mission.

CONGREGATION ATTENDS OPENING SERVICE.

Mission at St. Thomas's Church with a congregation that completely filled the spacious edifice. The service was most gratifying to the Missioner, E. C. Harp. The various orations were suspended their meetings this week so that the members may attend the Mission. The subject of the discourse last evening was "The Love of God." In a most impressive manner the preacher showed the great height, depth, width and length of the Love of God. Special songs were sung at the services. At this morning and every other morning until Friday, there will be a service. The subject of the sermon will be:—"Sin—He will be the subject of the sermon." At 4 o'clock this afternoon at the service for women on the sermon will deal with "The Mother." The mission for men begins at 4:15 this afternoon in Wood Hall.

The early Mission service at St. Thomas's Church this morning at 6:45 was attended by a very large and devoted congregation. The number present was greatly in excess of other services. Rev. E. C. Harp celebrated the Eucharist and was assisted by Revs. A. Clayton and C. A. Moore.

Letters From The Front.

OF COMMERCE PUBLICATION.

Some time ago we had the pleasure of reviewing the first part of "Letters from the Front," the work which the Canadian Bank of Commerce has had compiled in memory of those members of its staff who served, and in many cases died in the Great War. The volume now lies before us, and it is not only a commemorative, but it is a credit to the compilers, and publisher. It is in the main biographical, contains brief sketches of the lives of all who enlisted from the bank, with accounts of those deeds which won many of them distinctions in the field of honour. The volume is illustrated with reproductions of the medals of various regiments, and of the plaques which have been bestowed in the branches of the Bank. It cannot do better than end this review with the following extract from the introduction to the volume:—"The Bank of Commerce, the Assistant General Manager, 'In dedicating this volume to all those of our staff who assumed military duty, and particularly to the memory of those who gave their lives in defence of the Empire, we hope that the example of their self-sacrifice will prove a source of inspiration to future generations of the staff of the Bank."

Economy Urged.

Dear Sir—Would you kindly allow me a few remarks on matters affecting the welfare of our country. Regarding Mr. Morgan's plans for building the railroad I notice that you people are expecting reduced fares and passenger fares, he plans to reduce them. He also plans to have no rolling stock. In 1900 we had half the rolling stock we have today and the road-paid expenses. Now it is the use of a man having a number of horses in his barn if he has work for them? It is the same with the railroad. I have travelled from John's to Port aux Basques and I have seen lots of box and flat cars lying on the sidings, this too when people were asking for cars to get out of the woods and timber. What is wanted is some men to see that the sidings are not piled with idle cars and also that no freight train leaves a station without taking all the freight. A good man is needed and no more rolling stock to rust out.

Seal at Harbor Grace.

HAILS FOR 4,500. The S.S. Seal, Captain Jacob Kean arrived at Harbor Grace at 1:40 p.m. yesterday hauling for about 4,500 seals, 3000 of which are old. The Seal missed the Whitecoats early in the Spring owing to being jammed, but Captain Jacob went after the old ones and did very well considering the ice conditions, which of late have not been suitable for men to work on. The Seal started discharging this morning and it is likely the ship will make the second trip, though this has been left to the Captain's judgement.

Championship Billiards.

FLYNN AND RYAN TO PLAY OFF. Ryan and Flynn both won their games in the Championship Billiard series on Saturday night. In the game between Ryan and Edwards, the former took the lead after the 200 mark had been passed, and held it to the end, winning by 98 points. The second game, between Flynn and Ryan, was very close. At 447, the players tied, but Flynn then forged ahead and won by 61 points. The final between Ryan and Flynn will be played to-night.

St. Michael's Church.

INDUCTION OF RECTOR. Palm Sunday marked a milestone in the history of St. Michael's and will be long remembered. The mission which began in the days of the Hey-gates in a school at "Apple Tree Well" has now attained the status of a parish, and yesterday the Rev. Edwin Nicholls was inducted as the first Parish Priest and Rector. At the 9.30 Eucharist there was a Blessing, Distribution and Procession of Palms in remembrance of our Lord's entry into Jerusalem. There was a large congregation at this and the other morning services. The church and altar was decorated with fresh palms shipped from New York by a former St. Michael's boy, Mr. Robert H. Martin, ex-War Veteran. In the evening the Lord Bishop visited the church and performed the ceremony of inducting the new Rector. At this service the congregation was so great that sitting room could not be found for all, but the Wardens and Sidesmen did splendid work in giving satisfaction so that few had to go away. The Holy Week services are being continued every morning and evening this week.

Wealth of the Ocean.

SHOREMEN MAKE GOOD WAGES. Saturday morning a number of men from the eastern settlements brought their catch of seals to the city for sale Friday, the men from Outer Cove, Middle Cove, Flat Rock and other places as far as Cape St. Francis were out and nearly all secured lows. The seals were reported plentiful but the ice conditions were not good. Motor boats from St. John's were also out and all secured good catches. The tug boat Hugh D. Moulton and John Green also secured good fares, averaging about 30 seals. It is probable that during last week over 700 seals were brought to port. This is the first time since 1880 that seals in any quantity have come to land in this vicinity. In that year S. S. Walrus, Capt. Geo. Barbour loaded three times within sight of Signal Hill. Yesterday's westerly wind has driven the ice too far from the land for the boats to reach.

Fell Through Window.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM INJURY. An aged resident of Monroe Street, Mr. William Wyatt, early this morning, fell through a third story window, a height of 25 feet from the ground, but was unhurt. Wyatt is 81 years of age and has been ill for some time. He rose early in the morning and evidently became weak near the window and fell through. A clothes line and a small snow bank broke his fall. He was picked up by neighbours and Dr. Carnell was summoned. The medical man found that Mr. Wyatt was suffering only from shock.

A Fruitless Battle.

The Duke of Wellington's series of Campaigns in Portugal, Spain and Southern France ended on April 10, 1814, with the battle of Toulouse, in which he defeated the French under Marshal Soult. Abundantly enough a victory has been claimed for the French by ultra-patriotic writers, but this deserves serious discussion, in view of the fact that Toulouse, which Soult fought to save was occupied by the Allies, the morning after the battle, when Soult was in full retreat towards Carcassonne. The losses were heavy, casualties of the Allies, inclusive of 2000 Spaniards, totalling nearly 7,000 men. The French had two Generals killed and two wounded and captured, but no return of their killed and wounded was made, although it is certain that they suffered at least as much as the victors. Unhappily, the bloodshed was all purposeless, for when the battle was fought the Napoleonic Empire already was no more, and hostilities between France and the Allies had ceased a week before (on April 3). A courier had been sent southwards at once with the important news but by ill-chance his journey had been interrupted, and he did not arrive until the two armies, ignorant of passing events had expended their best energies, as well as many of their bravest soldiers, in a wholly superfluous contest. Another sortie from the beleaguered courier had been sent southwards at the 18th, spilled yet needlessly yet more blood, but that was the last shed in the long struggle. The abdication of Napoleon became known, a line of demarcation was made between the opposing armies, the white flag of the Bourbons flew over Toulouse, and on the last night of the month Wellington left the army that he had conducted from the Tagus to the Garonne, for Paris.

A Conundrum.

The difference between "Hazel Kirke" and a promissory note is this:—"With the note you get three days' grace. In "Hazel Kirke" you get three nights of grace. Paddy is playing "Barney O'Flynn."

Unprofitable.

A lengthy report from Mr. R. C. Morgan, of the Reid Neld. Co., declares railway a losing venture from its inception, and modification of contract urged and also increased rates and subsidies.

It seems that the branch railways have lost considerable and why those branches were ever started passes comprehension. Taxation began to increase the moment they were designated for construction during the Morris term and has been going up ever since.

Branch railways no doubt are a benefit when travelling and freighting are considered, but when the country cannot afford it then the best measures should be adopted so that expenses be curtailed rather than increased. Why have a silk expand a rubber coat if we can barely bear the burden of a suit of olskins.—Twillingate Sun.

HIS DIARY. April 9th.—Walked a great while on Water Street where I heard how Sir R. Bond was coming up to St. John's, and that he would lead a new party, but it is not certain when he would be here. Great talk that many places had declared for the Board of Trade Resolutions and it is believed the Cabal will be forced to act in accordance with them, albeit much against their will. In the afternoon, I to the Pauper House, where Mr. Miller, the Superintendent, did take me over the place and it is the first time of my being there. We did find one aged woman who did croon to herself and being asked what it was she did sing, she made answer that it was "Over the hill to the Poor House where I wander alone to die," and she did laugh heartily, at which I much amused. At night to the Club and to play at Bridge and Billiards but with little fortune.

April 10th (Palm Sunday).—Went not out all morning but after dinner I took my wife for a walk, she in her way being exceedingly troubled with pain from her new shoes, and I vexed to go so slow, it being late. A fine, warm day and the most like spring we have had this year. But my wife despite her pain will talk of naught but the motor coach she would have me buy against the summer, nor will she pay heed to my discourse of how hard it now is to live. So now I am of the mind that women are the most willful creatures, and do drive men to the Pauper House, with their wants and their talk.

"Met." If on frolic and fun you are set Your fill of enjoyment you'll get. Barney, Pittacus Green And Percy Jardine Will converse you. For Percy plays "met."

THE ROBERTS COMPANY.

Yesterday afternoon Bay Roberts was officially inspected by R. F. Goodridge and Major M. These officers arrived there were met by Capt. J. D. Dawe, O. Bay Roberts and Lieut. Charles H. Quartermaster. On arriving at the company's quarters were found the company fully equipped (including rifles) were on parade the following officers, Capt. J. we, Officer Commanding, Lieut. as Butt, Nathan French, Hubert, and J. Ploughman, with Sergt. R. Parsons. The Chaplain, Rev. Britnell in his C.L.B. uniform also present. The lads number-is Quartermaster and Paymaster and is doing yeoman work in keeping up the interest of the Company generally. Lieuts Mercer and Ploughman are also keen officers, and the Chaplain, Rev. J. O. Britnell is proud of all his boys. About a dozen recruits are in training, under the Recruiting Corporal and are all making good progress. The Band under Bandmaster Morgan has made phenomenal progress for such a short time. About thirty bandmen in kit were on duty; their music was excellent and they are a valuable addition to the Company as well as to the town.

Lieut.-Col. Goodridge addressed the Company at the close expressing his high opinion of their appearance and drill, and Major Williams offered a prize of a Silver Cup for the lad who attains the most drills between now and Christmas, and has the best record for conduct and general Brigade efficiency. The Company has a fine Armoury and lit with electric light, it being the top flat of a very large store. This has been placed at their disposal by Capt. J. W. Dawe who has given his time and money most generously to assist in advancing the interest and progress of the youth of Bay Roberts, and all ranks are most grateful to him. At 8 p.m. in the "Cable Hall" a public lecture was given to the friends of the Brigade on "Thirty years work of the C.L.B. in Newfoundland" by Major Williams. The Company paraded at 7.30 under the command of Lt.-Col. Goodridge and Captain Dawe, O.C. as Acting Adjutant and had a route march headed by their Brass Band up the main street and returning to the Hall. The Chaplain, Rev. J. O. Britnell was Chairman and introduced the speakers. Col. Goodridge addressed the meeting on the general objects of the C.L.B. and appealed for the support of the organization by the townfolk generally. The Band supplied some excellent music. The Chaplain then introduced Major Williams, who spoke for an hour and twenty minutes, giving the large audience and the Brigade lads present an outline of the referred to the early start in St. John's thirty years work of C.L.B. in Nfld. He referred to the early start in St. John's, the officers and Sergt. Harold Blackler, the Brigade's founder in Nfld. Lt.-Col. R. G. Rendell and his work of development in the establishing of a C.L.B. Savings Bank, which has now nearly 150 depositors, and the building of the magnificent present C.L.B. Headquarters Armory valued to- day at forty thousand dollars and entirely out of debt. Lt.-Col. Outerbridge and Lt.-Col. Goodridge's work; the athletics, the drill, camp life at Topsail, Church parades and general character building, etc. The lecture was carefully listened to and was evidently enjoyed by all present, and was a means of informing those listening on what the Brigade had done and is still doing for the youth of Nfld. At the close an old C.L.B. member, Comrade C. E. Russell in the audience took the opportunity of expressing his public appreciation of the lecture and of the training he received as a lad some 30 years ago in the C.L.B. in St. John's. He produced the little pillbox cap and his Jersey exhibiting them to the audience as an evidence of the veneration he had for his old Regiment. Capt. Dawe, O.C., thanked him for his kind words and called on the Bay Roberts Company for three cheers for Mr. Russell, which was most enthusiastically given. Mr. Russell is now a J. P. and one of Bay Roberts leading citizens, and the Brigade is proud of one of its old boys.

The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close at 10.15 p.m., after announcing the meeting of a C.L.B. Ladies' Auxiliary to be formed to assist the finances and providing a tea fight for the boys. After the lecture Capt. Dawe entertained the visiting officers to dinner, which made the end of a perfect day. Lt.-Col. Goodridge and Major Williams were most hospitably entertained at the home of Lieut. Chas. C. and Mrs. Butt, Cable Terrace and returned home Thursday morning, feeling well satisfied that Bay Roberts Company is in good hands and going strong.

THE RADIO
Since we put in the radio we have a lot of fun. We hustle to my room upstairs as soon as supper's done. And Pa he tinkers with the discs to get it loud and clear. Then says: "Wait just a minute now, there's nothing yet to hear. Oh, now it's coming! Silence there! Now don't you move a thing. Say Ma, this is a marvelous age, a lady's going to sing!" Then Ma she listens for a while, as pleased as she can be. And when I want to hear it, too, she says, "Don't bother me. Your turn comes next and sister's, too; don't jump around that way. I want to hear the orchestra—it's just begun to play. I wish you children wouldn't fuss, I'm sure I can't hear. While you are trying all the time to snatch it from my ear."

Then Pa takes up the thing awhile, and says: "Oh, that's just great! A man is telling stories now. You kids will have to wait. It's wonderful to think his voice is floating in the air. And people sitting in their homes can hear it everywhere—All right, all right! It's your turn now. Perhaps this man will teach you youngsters how you should behave. A parson's going to preach." Pa put that radio in for me—at least he told me so. But if it's really mine or not is something I don't know. 'Coe Pa he wants it all himself, to hear the funny things. An' Ma must hear the concerts though when some great artist sings. But when the parson starts to talk on Selfishness at 8 p.m. Pa says: "Now it has come the time for you to listen in."

Increase Local Industries.

CONFEDERATION NOT AN ISSUE.

It has been advanced by some that Confederation with Canada would afford relief from the present high taxation. While we are not unmindful of the many advantages which would occur to this country through its joining up with the Dominion across the St. Lawrence Gulf, yet we fail to see where an increase of government machinery would in any way lessen the expenses of operation. Under Confederation, besides paying our quota towards the maintenance of the Federal Government, we would have the machinery of a Provincial government also to keep running which would have to be met principally by direct taxation. The one great feature, to our mind, that would reduce the capital taxation, is the establishment of industries that would keep our young people at home, and bring back those who have gone to fields afar. Increasing our population and its earning power and our per capita taxation will increase. Instead of a population of a little over a quarter of a million, we should have one of over two and a half millions. If confederation will accomplish this, then the quicker it comes the better, unless it can be accomplished in some other way—Western Star.

Quintal Not Uniform.

RANGES IN WEIGHT FROM 88 TO 220 POUNDS.
The following information as to the weights of "quintals," etc., in the different markets (extracted from "Fiskets Gangs") is useful in considering the prices quoted. In Spain the quintal at Bilbao, Santander, Cartagena, and Malaga represents 50 kilogrammes (equal to 110½ English lbs.), while at Barcelona and Tarragona it represents 40 kilogrammes, or 88½ lbs., while in Italy it is 100 kilogrammes, or 220½ lbs. At Havana, in Cuba a whole case is 45 kilogrammes, or 99½ lbs.; this is also the weight at Buenos, but at Rio de Janeiro the case weighs 53 kilogrammes, or almost 123 lbs.—Trade Review.

DRUGS.

We buy punk drugs in large stone jugs, in bottles and in cases; to cure our ills we buy green pills and pour them in our faces. We drink brown suds distilled from buds, stovewood and water lilies, consume such dope and vaguely hope that it will cure the willies. The doctor ramps through dismal swamps and gathers toadstools blooming, and makes a brew of molasses blue, for invalids' consuming. The learned men chase to every place, in search of drugs to cure us; they boil up rock, make pills of chalk, that they may reassure us. The faith and hope we place in dope no knowledge ever throbbles; what faith we have in pills and suds, and everything in bottles! The wise men say, "Throw drugs away, an' you'll be feeling better than if you drink some bottled ink, or something worse and wetter. Eat wholesome food, like oatmeal
