MAGIC BAKING POWDER

LADY IRIS' MISTAKE; Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER XXXII.

And now he had told her that she must not make any inquiries about Isabel Hyde—which proved to her that in some mysterious fashion there was a link between herself and Isabel Hyde.

What could it be? She thought long and anxiously; but she could not come to any satisfactory conclusion. There had been no secrets in the Fyne family—none that a person like old Esther would be likely to know.

Lady Iris was not curious in the ordinary sense of the word; but this was something she felt, that touched the honor of her family. She would not disobey her father; she would make no inquiries; but, if by any accident she should hear the name of Isabel Hyde or anything of her story, she would pay particular attention to every detail.

The earl sat musing in his study alone. He had had a terrible shock, and was still greatly agitated.

"Great Heaven," he cried, "to think that she should look up laughing into my face, and ask me who was Isabel Hyde?"

Before him on the table he had the portrait of a lady with sweet, sad face and fair hair; the eyes seemed to look reproachfully at him. He bent over the portrait.

"I do not know," he said, "whether I have done right or wrong. It is his knowledge the truth, she would never have sent Captain Osburn away. It may be that I have done wrong altogether; but it is for her sake, Isabel—believe me, for her sake alone."

And then he began to think deeply. He had been unwilling to bring his daughter to Fenton Woods, that lonely northern home of his, where the one love of his life had begun. He had

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months brought me almost to a complete collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would send me up in the air. If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all this money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as my case could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat those good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ailment.

Ms. J. E. Mc C. I am sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

"There are many reasons why, Iris; but the chief of them all is this. I have kept a secret from you which affects you personally, and, as the years roll on, I begin to doubt whether I have acted wisely in so keeping it. I believe that, had you known what I am going to tell you, you would not have sent away Allan Osburn."

"Nothing could have prevented that, papa," she said gently.

He sat down in the large leather chair in which every day he read his newspapers, and she drew up a little footstool and sat at his feet. He seemed to avoid his daughter's face as he told his story.

"Every life has its secret, Iris," he began, "every man his romance. My secret and romance are one."

She clasped his hands in her own, and, bending over them, kissed them. "I never dreamed that you had a secret, papa; you were always so cheerful and so practical."

"My dearest Iris, I do not think any man living has had a sweeter secret. I have kept it from the whole world for your sake; and I have kept it from you because I knew what a blow its disclosure would be to you. After keeping it all these years, I have come to the conclusion that I ought to tell it to you. I believe that Heaven has so directed your life that the knowledge must come to you; I believe also that if I do not tell it to you now, you will find it out for yourself."

She looked up at him with a sudden light in her face.

"Then I have something to do with it, papa—with old Esther and Isabel Hyde?"

"Heaven help you, my poor child! Yes, you have something to do with them."

"For a moment she wondered why he should call her 'poor.'"

"I am reluctant to begin my story," he said, "as you see, Iris, has it ever struck you that, with respect to your love affairs and marriage I have been very indulgent to you, that I have not cared at all about rank or money, only that you should love the man you married?"

"You have been very good to me," she declared.

"My conduct requires explanation," he said, sighing deeply—"and I may as well begin my story. Iris, you remember the dark beautiful girl in the portrait that hangs in the gallery at Chandos, underneath which is written 'Guinevere, Countess of Caledon'?"

"Yes, of course. It is that of my own mother, papa," she replied.

"No, Iris; that is what I want to tell you, child. Guinevere, Countess of Caledon, was not your mother; she died before you were born. I married Guinevere Talbot, the heiress of the Talbots of Broome; but I never loved her, and I do not think she loved me. Our marriage was a marriage de convenance; love had nothing to do with it. Look at this face, and, while I tell you my story, fix your eyes upon it, its beauty and tenderness will plead for me."

She looked up at him with eyes full of fear.

"The Countess of Caledon was my mother! Who then am I?"

"That is your mother," replied the earl, as he placed in her hands the portrait of the beautiful girl with the sad face and fair hair—"that is your mother, my darling—that is Isabel Hyde."

Tears welled up into the girl's eyes; she kissed the sweet pictured face.

"Oh, papa," she cried reproachfully, "why have you let me love the other one all these years? Why did you not tell me before? Oh, mother whom I did not know! Mother mine!" she murmured; and her tears fell like rain upon the portrait. "I should have loved her all this time if I had known!" she wept. "Papa, I am not factious; but it has always seemed to me that I had nothing to do with the dark, beautiful face at Chandos. Those dark eyes never looked at me with a mother's love; there is love for me shining in these. So my mother was Isabel Hyde? Who was she? Oh, papa, be quick and tell me all!"

Fall brides favor the side drapery and cascade.

The Persian or Paisley shawl cloth jackets are worn with draped frocks of velvet, duvetyne and broadtail.

Soft brown cloth dresses show the trimmings of tan, and those of navy or black are embroidered in many colors.

A velvet model of black hangs long at the sides and shows a bodice embroidered all over in warm, rich colors.

The Captain and the Crew are equally liable to the effects of exposure, and provision should be made, on every vessel, for the proper care of such cases. There are "Vaseline" preparations designed to relieve all the common ailments of the seaman. These preparations deserve a prominent place in the medicine chest, or better—a separate chest for "Vaseline" preparations alone.

Vaseline Capsicum Petroleum Jelly is a counter irritant which effectively relieves pains in the chest and stomach, cramps, toothaches, rheumatic and neuralgic complaints.

Start a Medicine Chest with a liberal supply of "Vaseline" Capsicum Jelly and the other "Vaseline" preparations shown here on the lid of the chest.

Sold at all drug and general stores. Chesbrough Manufacturing Company, New York City. W. G. M. Shepard, Distributor. 137 McGill St., Montreal, Canada.

RID-JID FOLDING IRONING TABLE

A New and Better Ironing Board

The Rid-Jid Ironing Table is as steady as a bridge. It will not wobble, wavy, bend nor creep when you iron. You can sit on the end and it will not even tilt. No more propping an old board up on two chair-backs and having to lift it each time you wish to iron a skirt or petticoat. The Rid-Jid stands firmly on its own foundation, and is so constructed that a full-length skirt may be slipped on over the end.

In spite of its marvelous rigidity, the Rid-Jid is lighter than any other folding board made. It closes as compactly as a pocket knife. We would be glad to have you try it in our store.

CONSTANTINOPLE
LONDON.
With the Lausanne Peace Conference postponed to November 1922, it is possible to maintain a state of communication in the city of Constantinople. It is evident that the city will be necessary for the Turkish people. The state of alarm in Constantinople is rapidly becoming a reality. An English merchant in a street near the Galata Bridge is said to have been shot.

TURKS QUIETEN
CONSTANTINOPLE
There was an approaching day of the tension during the week-end. The election campaign in Constantinople is interesting. The Labor Party has won the support of its opponents who consider to be a sign of the Turkish people. The Asquithian Liberal Party is also in the city. It is interesting to note that the official announcement of the election of the Turkish people is said to have been made in the city.

Alarm However Prevails in Constantinople -- Labor Party Provides Ample Ammunition For Opponents -- Ten Thousand Russians Will be Sent to Bulgaria and France--Relief Forces and Supplies Being Rushed to Earthquake Area.

CONSTANTINOPLE IN FERMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 13. The Lausanne Peace Conference postponed to November 20th, the possibility of a truce, is whether it is possible to maintain peace in Constantinople in the interim. Rejection of communication has unseated such an ugly situation that it is evident the utmost tact and diplomacy will be necessary to prevent a violent outbreak. Residents of Constantinople are described as in a constant state of alarm, and the atmosphere is rapidly becoming unwholesome. An English bookseller, engaged in a street squabble, was taken to the Galata Police Station and fined.

TURKS QUIETEN DOWN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13. There was an appreciable slackening today of the tension which prevailed during the week end over the minds of the Kemalists for greater news in Constantinople. Although a formal announcement has been made it was stated in Allied circles that sober reflection by the Turks seemed to decide to make no further provocative gestures before the opening of the Lausanne Conference.

STRIKES CENTRES ON LABOR PARTY.

LONDON, Nov. 12. In the election campaign nears an end it is interesting to observe how the Labor Party has unwittingly provoked its opponents with what these opponents consider to be their best ammunition: Conservatives, Liberals, and Asquithian Liberals, all join with the most gusto in attacking Labor for its advocacy of a capital levy and its nationalization of industry. The avowed aim which all parties seized upon on these points is due in measure to the apprehension felt on all sides when the campaign started as to the high possibilities involved in Labor entering the next Parliament in strong force, an apprehension based on the great success in bye-elections. The Labor leaders quickly realized that the open advocacy of a capital levy was mistaken tactics, which in the opinion of most observers lost them frightening the lower and middle classes who might otherwise have voted for Labor as the only real alternative to the return of a Coalition or Conservative Government. It is universally agreed however, that Labor is likely to secure a much larger representation in the new than in the old Parliament. The lowest estimate places the Labor successes at one hundred seats as against seventy-seven in the last House.

EVACUATING RUSSIANS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13. In consequence of the declaration by the Angora Government that Russians are not welcome in Constantinople, the League of Nations has begun the evacuation of ten thousand Russians to Bulgaria and Greece. This will reduce the Russian population here to eight thousand.

A DEVALERA DECLARATION.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13. The Republican Daily Bulletin gives the text of a message sent by De Valera to a convention of Irish held at Glasgow on Saturday in which De Valera discusses events in Ireland since the treaty. He says peace and order in Ireland is impossible on the treaty basis and characterizes as a foolish dream the idea that it is possible to build a prosperous Irish state on any other basis than that of recognition of the independence of the Irish nation. He declares it is better to face the inevitable now, seeing that it must otherwise be faced later when the position might be less clear.

THE SULTAN'S STATEMENT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13. Palace officials informed the Associated Press Correspondent that the Sultan is without formal official declarations of the Angora Government regarding his status as Sovereign, and said that he would continue to discharge the functions of his office as long as three hundred million Moslems remained faithful to the prophet's successor.

ANTI-KEMALISTS HANGED.

ANGORA, Nov. 13. Eight leading Turkish opponents of the Kemalist regime have been hanged, including Ruchid Bey, former Minister of Justice; General Emir Pasha, former Commandant of Constantinople, and Colonel Fettabey, former member of the Military Tribunal.

RELIEF ACTIVITIES IN CHILL.

SANTIAGO, Nov. 13. Relief forces are being rushed to aid the thousands made homeless by earthquakes through Chill early on Saturday morning. Broken communications prevent news of details and it is not known to what extent damage done, but it is believed that at least a thousand are dead. The sea is still rough but it is quiet on land, and relief operations are progressing toward the aid of the injured and the housing of the homeless.

SIMS IS PRO-BRITISH.

TORONTO, Nov. 13. "I am pro-British," said W. S. Sims, retired Rear Admiral of the United States Navy, addressing the Canadian Club, in fact it is characterized by the Hearst papers as the most popular British Admiral in the American Navy. I like the British because they are good sports and will stand the gaff without whimpering. You can torpedo a British sailor until he is blue in the face but he will go back to sea."

DICK APPOINTED GENERAL MANAGER.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. The appointment is announced today of Alexander Dick, formerly general sales agent of the Dominion Coal Company, to the position of general manager of coal sales of the British Steel Corporation.

FAVORABLE POSITION OF CANADIAN DOLLAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. The New York Trust Company today shipped one million dollars in gold coin to Canada. This is the fourth shipment of the kind made by the Company since Sept. 14th. The movement of gold to Canada has assumed considerable importance lately because of the favorable position of the Canadian dollar in New York. On the money market it was quoted today at 1/2 of one per cent. premium.

Forceful Drama at The Nickel Theatre.

"THE WOMAN GOD CHANGED," GREAT PRODUCTION.

"The Woman God Changed" opened to an immense audience at the Nickel Theatre last evening, and everybody voiced it to be one of the greatest photoplays seen this year. Originally written as a magazine story, it is well told on the screen in narrative form. The opening scene shows a courtroom. A woman is on trial for murder since the treaty. He says peace and order in Ireland is impossible on the treaty basis and characterizes as a foolish dream the idea that it is possible to build a prosperous Irish state on any other basis than that of recognition of the independence of the Irish nation. He declares it is better to face the inevitable now, seeing that

A Message of Hope.

New York, Nov. 14.—The American Society for the Control of Cancer, in its official bulletin prints the following under the heading "A Message of Hope." "Cancer is a curable disease. Cancer is neither contagious nor hereditary. Yearly 90,000 people (1 in 10 over 40 years of age) die of this disease in this country. Many of these victims could have been cured had they gone to a reputable doctor immediately. 'Immediately' means as soon as symptoms are noticed."

"Liquid Sunshine" No Cancer Cure.

New York, Nov. 14.—The American Society for the Control of Cancer which is undertaking to inform the public relative to the early symptoms of the disease, that treatment may be taken in time to effect a cure, has issued a brief statement warning the public against the latest "cure-all" to make its appearance on the market. It is but one of a thousand so-called remedies which are not only useless but which may cause the death of a patient through a delay in receiving proper medical aid. The new remedy is "bottled sunshine in Liquid Form." It comes to America by way of Germany and Paris, where the inventor, a German, has been charged with fraud. "My solar essence," says the inventor of this nostrum, "can revive dead trees, destroy submarines, preserve Fads and Fashions.

A great deal of kolinsky is used in bands as trimming. Evening gowns feature wide transparent hems of net. Velvet gowns show a tendency toward metallic trimming. Caracul fur edges smart little hats made of gold brocade. The silver fox seems to be the most favored of furs for coats. The short coat of white rabbit is a smart novelty for sports wear. Chiffon costumes feature full skirts and softly fitted bertha bodices. A handbag of Paisley usually accompanies a Paisley shawl pocket. Tallenra which will appear later on will show slightly curved waistlines. Bands of cording trim a crepe frock, giving a new and pleasing effect. A favored combination in millinery is green and orange velvet and silver. Silver, flame and purple shades predominate in gorgeous evening wraps. An all-suede jacketette shows a decorative fastening made of plicated taffeta. Lavishly embroidered, deeply fringed Spanish shawls are worn for evening. The new long coats show sleeve caplet treatments, leaving back and front plain. Monkey, mole, caracul and Viska squirrel are lavishly used on the finer coat models.

ITCHING BURNING PIMPLES ON FACE

Festered and Scaled Over, Face Disfigured. Cuticura Heals.

"My face was almost covered with pimples which festered and scaled over. They itched and burned so that I could hardly stand them, and my face was so disfigured I was unable to go anywhere. I lost so much sleep that I was about crazy. The trouble lasted two months. I started using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment for three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Dorothy Danielson, Jackson, Calif.

Cuticura Soap daily, with Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevents pimples or other eruptions. They are a pleasure to use, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming the skin.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)

Codfish—The prospect of better prices in the foreign markets is more hopeful. Spain is looking much better for Labrador on account of so much of this quality going up to Greece recently. The exports for the week amounted to 15,673 quintals as follows:—

From St. John's—By schooner Gilbert B. Walters 4,614 qtls. to Malaga, from the Monroe Export Co.; by schooner Ida M. Zinck 2,405 qtls. to Trinidad from R. F. Goodridge and Monroe Export Co.; by schooner Ales from Job Bros. & Co. 2,500 qtls. to Exeter; by schooner Clutha 4,510 qtls. to Barbados from Nfld. Produce Co.; Baine Johnston & Co. G. M. Barr, A. H. Murray, P. Templeman; and to Halifax 200 quintals from F. Hartery and J. H. Roberts; by S.S. Silvia to New York 3,757 qtls. for transhipment to West Indies from Messrs. Bowring Bros., Ltd., Monroe Export Co., Tor's Cove Trading Co., Job Bros. & Co., A. E. Hickman & Co., James Baird, Ltd., R. F. Goodridge, Nfld. Atlantic Fisheries Co., R. Templeton, James Murphy & Sons, Williams & Co., E. J. Godden and T. S. Devine.

From Outports—By schooner Arantia from Fermanose to Halifax 2704 qtls. from H. R. Silver; by schr. Gordon E. Monahan 4,472 qtls. from Burgeo & LaPelle by the Burgess & LaPelle Trading Co. and T. Moulton; by schr. Beulah May from Burin to Civita Vecchia, Italy, 4,132 qtls. shipped by T. Hollett, and by schooner Iris from Strong & Murcell, Little Bay Islds., 2,600 qtls. to Gibraltar for orders.

Cod Oil—The market is healthy and is likely to improve further as the winter advances. The U.S. demand is particularly good. The total shipments this week amounted to 109,115 gallons, of which 74,732 gallons went to the United States and Canada. The S.S. Silvia took out 20,916 gallons to New York from Messrs. Job Bros., Ebsary and Dickinson. The S.S. Belvernon 27,558 gals. to Boston from Messrs. W. A. Munn, Jas. Baird, Ltd., A. E. Hickman & Co., Baine Johnston & Co., Monroe Export Co., M. Barr and J. B. Orr. The S.S. Digby took 20,095 gals. to Halifax and Boston from Messrs. Ebsary, A. S. Rendell, Baine Johnston & Co., G. M. Barr, and P. Templeman. By the S.S. Sachem 25,384 gals. went to Liverpool from Messrs. Bowring Bros., W. A. Munn, Union Export Co., A. Ebsary, A. H. Murray and Job Bros. & Co. The S.S. Manoa took 5,100 gallons to Montreal from A. Ebsary.

Cod Liver Oil—The markets abroad show no improvement. The large quantity of refined oil made in Norway last winter has practically swamped the market. As a consequence holders are selling their medicinal oil at lower prices than ever, and a good deal of the oil is now being used for industrial purposes as it is as cheap as common oil. Future prices of our oil will depend on what the catch of fish will be in Norway next spring. There has been a revival of the prices of all kinds of fats and oils in both Europe and America, and it is quite likely that all the old stocks will be absorbed before the new product comes on the market. The present prices offered for common oil by tanners in Boston and New York are higher than those for which the druggists are now buying refined oil.

Flour—The price of flour advanced in the local market this week from $8.50 to $8.75 per barrel for leading brands following the foreign market. There is a scarcity of flour in St. John's, but it was relieved somewhat by the arrival of the S.S. Manoa from Montreal this week with 13,225 barrels. The shortage is still about 80,000 barrels as compared with a normal year. The unprecedented demand for wheat and flour continues unabated, especially to European countries, which is, no doubt, responsible for the stiffening up in prices. The total advance is $1.00 a barrel since early September.

Pork—The pork market shows more strength this week at Chicago and New York, and prices are likely to rattle firm during the balance of the year, mainly owing to a revival in the export movement to European countries which has been very brisk the past month. The St. John's imports too are increasing and this week 1089 barrels were brought in. The present local quotations are: $25.50 for Fat Back and S.C. Clear; $33 normally for Ham Butt; $38 Grocers' Family Mess, and $25.50 Spare Ribs.

Beef—The price of Beef is advancing in the foreign markets and is now up $2 to $2.50 from the low point of September. Boneless in the local market is now $18 and Family Special $18.50 per barrel wholesale, which prices are below the cost of importation. Bos. Flank is $21.50 and Extra Family at $20.50. The imports during the week were 3750 barrels, which makes the total for St. John's since New Year 85,000 barrels, as compared with 22,000 in 1921 for the same period. Most of the beef coming in now caught the low market and purchasers will get the benefit.

Sugar—The recent advance in raws is resulting in a corresponding advance in granulated. The local quotation this week in the city is $11.50. The city stocks will be ample for the fall trade, as they are being supplemented every week by additional imports. The S.S. Manoa brought in 1000 sacks this week. The present advance is believed by sugar experts to be only temporary and there is a general feeling that within six weeks sugar prices will recede to about the level that prevailed two months ago.

Molasses—Price on molasses is firm on both choice and fancy. The stocks of old molasses in Barbadoes are exhausted and with the exception of 200 puncheons coming from the Island by schooner Rodway to James Baird Ltd., there will be no more available for Newfoundland. This will give a total for St. John's of 9000 puncheons, including 35 puncheons and 10 barrels from Halifax by S. S. Silvia to Messrs. Harvey and Baird last week. Molasses will be very scarce by New Year. The price is 86 cents per gallon for Fancy and 72 cents for Choice.

Potatoes—Local holders of home grown potatoes are asking fifty cents to seventy-five cents a barrel more for their produce this week and are reporting a short crop in Conception Bay and the adjacent outports to the city. The home grown is now supplying the householders and there is very little Canadian stock coming in. The price for local is $3 to $3.50 in the city and $2.50 to $3 in the outports.

Oats—No new feature has developed in the market this week. The coming of the winter weather is likely to lead to greater activity and an export rush from Canada to take advantage of the minimum freight rates before the River closes. Dealers believe that the price of oats is about as low as it will be this season in Canada and most have placed their orders for winter stocks. The local price is $3.70 for White, $3.60 for Mixed and $3.50 for Black.

BILLY'S UNCLE

HOUSE-CLEANING

In the old days, house-cleaning time was a season to be dreaded by most all families of the householder. The task seemed to achieve Titanic proportions in its effort to let not one square foot of the house be left undisturbed. It seems now a different story. The season is no longer dreaded. Much energy, time and patience is saved.

Cleaning closets, trunks, boxes and riding the horse of all the house-cleaning. Then, it is a good idea to have all the furniture in the house moved to the corners of the room, to take down the curtains and draperies, clean, dry and warm any particular piece of the house to be cleaned for the winter months, and send the furniture to be cleaned. After this, it is the time to tackle the walls, trimmings, doors, base and bedding of the house.

The work of the house-cleaning has been considerably lightened since the past several years by the introduction of a variety of cleaning brushes and brushes for every conceivable purpose. One of the most important brushes during house-cleaning is the fine, soft hair wall brush which thoroughly cleans the wall from the floor and does not run into the wall paper as in the case where a rag is used.

Then there are the upholstery brushes, the brushes for the wicker furniture, the brushes of heavy hair that get to the edges of bindings and cushions, the banister and stair brushes to get the dirt out of the grooves, brushes for the fireplace, brushes for silk lamp shades, lace curtains, brushes to clean springs, brushes for the walls and ceilings, etc. In fact, there is a wonderful variety of brushes to lighten the work of the housekeeper. Then for the large floor there are the specially treated floor mops and large fluffy dust absorbing mats for the furniture, stair runners, doors, window casings, etc. These are brushes for washing the windows.

There are forty-five different personal brushes, mops and brushes sold by The Fuller Brush Company. All of these are brushes of high quality and service backed by the Fuller guarantee. Fuller brushes are not sold in stores. They are demonstrated and sold in the home by the Fuller man.

The Fuller Man in St. John's is H. Johnston, G.W.V.A. Building, 100 Water St. He will give you a post card, and he will give you a demonstration of the complete line of Fuller Brushes.

THE PLEASURE SEEKERS.

"It's fine to walk with merry folk 'tis good to sing with nice. 'Tis sweet to laugh in fellowship but life demands its fee; And man may dance and man may laugh and walk with idle men, But when the days of pleasure pass, what then, what then, what then? The revelers are light of heart and care's a thing they scorn. They wave their hands at sober men who trudge to work at morn; They sneer at the burden-bearer by age mock the dreams they hold. But when the days of pleasure pass, what then, what then, what then? And hope at last to come to age respected and content.

"Tis good to walk with laughing men and dance to music gay, 'Tis sweet to gather pleasure's hours, and sing them all away. But though he be of humble birth, and though he be a king, A man must bear the cares of life and do some useful thing.

WINTER ILLS

The scientist was often puzzled to account for the efficacy of cod-liver oil. The discovery of vitamins has helped solve the riddle.

Scott's Emulsion

is rich in health-building vitamins and is a helpful factor in preventing the so-called "winter ill." It helps keep the vital forces of the body strong to resist disease.

Obituary.
EX-CORP. WM. J. TREBBLE.
It is with profound regret that the Telegram has to chronicle to-day, the passing of a soldier and a man, in the person of one of our most esteemed townsmen, William J. Trebble, who breathed his last yesterday at the Sudbury Hospital, after a lingering illness. The deceased was one of the First Five Hundred, who left here with the Newfoundland Contingent on October 4th, 1914. After receiving his training at Salisbury Plains and Edinburgh Castle, he was one of the number taking part in the fighting at Gallipoli, having remained there until the evacuation took place. Later he proceeded to France, and many months had not passed before he received the rank of Corporal for his devotion and attention to duty. On the ever memorable first of July, 1916, Corp. Trebble was seriously wounded, and in the drive at Beaumont Hamel, from which he never recovered.
The deceased, who was in his thirty-fourth year, was the only son of District Chief Trebble of No 2 Fire Station, and leaves to mourn, besides his father, one sister, Mrs. W. Ryan. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) from Myrick's Mortuary Rooms, at 2.30 p.m. The sympathy of the whole community will go out to the bereaved in their hour of sorrow.
CHARLES R. THOMPSON.
A cablegram was received from England this morning by Mr. Lloyd Chaplin, conveying the sad news that his father-in-law, Mr. Charles R. Thompson, had passed away there yesterday. The deceased, who was the popular manager of the Newfoundland Boot & Shoe Factory, was born at Perth, Scotland, Jan. 18th, 1851. He left "Burns' Land" at an early age with his father, for Halifax, N.S., where his education was received. After leaving school he became book-keeper and commercial traveller for the firm of R. Taylor & Co. of Halifax, then doing a large boot and shoe trade with Newfoundland, and "Charles" was one of the best known and most popular travellers to the "Ancient Colony." In 1879 he came to reside in St. John's, having at that time accepted a position from the directorate of the St. John's Boot and Shoe Co. The business of the concern flourished and increased under his management, and about five years ago he retired from active life. The business was then carried on by Mr. William J. James, of Hr. Grace, as his successor until two years ago, when the management again changed hands.
Mr. James retired. Since then the business has been run under the management of Mr. Wm. Thompson, brother of the deceased. Mr. Thompson had been twice married. His first wife being Miss Kate E. Lynch of Shubenacadie, N.S., and his second wife Miss Mary A. Elliott of St. John's. The death of Mr. Thompson will be mourned by those who best know him. He was a man of the type that St. John's could ill-afford to lose. In his time he was one of the very busiest of St. John's citizens, having always understood his business thoroughly and transacted it in a manner alike creditable to himself and satisfactory to the trade. To those who mourn the Telegram offers sincere condolence.
SARAH MOORE.
There passed peacefully away yesterday, Nov. 13th, the soul of Sarah Moore, at the ripe old age of 83 years to be forever with the Lord. Deceased was the widow of the late John Moore, of Trinity, whose husband and two sons perished in the Trinity Bay disaster some thirty-one years ago. She leaves to mourn her two sons, John C., of the Reid Nfld. Co., and Frederick, of the Martin Royal Stores Hardware Co., and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Rowe, Trinity, and Mrs. Levi Bunker, Old Peruvian, and a number of grand-children and a large circle of friends. She was beloved of those who came in contact with her both as mother and friend. Truly it can be said of her "She hath done what she could." Her greatest joy was to bless and cheer others, and now she has gone to receive her reward from Him who has said "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto these the least of these my little ones ye have done it unto me."
"Sleep on beloved, sleep and take thy rest.
Lay down your head upon thy Saviour's breast;
We loved thee well but Jesus loves you best.
Good Night, Good Night, Good Night."
The funeral takes place to-morrow at 2.30 p.m. from her son's residence, 223 Southside.

Earthquakes and Their Causes.

"Earthquakes, or earth tremors are believed to be due to some form of fracture caused by the breakage of the Earth's substance under a growing strain, when that strain has passed the breaking point. This gives rise to waves which are propagated through the solid substance to distant parts of the Earth, and vertically upwards to the surface, sometimes with disastrous effects. The point where the fracture occurs and the earthquake originates is called the seismic centre, or origin or focus. That part of the Earth which is vertically above this centre is called the epicentre. The waves transmitted through the Earth may come to the surface hundreds, or even thousands of miles from the epicentre, and the times of arrival are recorded. The first indications on the seismograph are made by longitudinal waves, which are followed, after an interval, by direct transverse waves in approximately the same path. From the length of the interval between the appearance of these waves, the distance of the origin is inferred." The seismograph referred to in the above explanation of the origin of earthquakes is an apparatus designed to register the shocks and undulatory motions of earth tremors. It was invented by Mallet about the year 1850, improved upon by Professor J. Milne from 1875, further perfected by Dr. Eldert about the year 1890, and by Messrs. Vincentini and Vacher, 1890-1899. Its name is derived from the Greek seismos—earthquake and graphos—a writing—a treatise.

The exact information of seismic phenomena, says encyclopaedias on this subject, dates only from the middle of the 19th century. Very little is to be gleaned from the early writings on such occurrences. The first work of any consequence in England is "A Discourse on Earthquakes" by Robert Hook. The great earthquake of Lisbon (1755) led John Michell, professor of mineralogy at Cambridge, to this (then) abstruse subject and in 1760 he published a work entitled "Philosophical Researches, this being a remarkable essay on the cause and effect of earthquakes." In 1846 Robert Mallet, of seismograph fame, read a paper on this subject to the Royal Irish Academy, and in 1857 continued his investigations in connection with the great disaster at Naples (Italy). Since then Professor John Milne (1880), Major Dutton (1886), R. D. Oldham (1897) and an elaborated report by Professor A. C. Lawson (1908) have done much toward the further investigation of seismology. Earthquakes in super equatorial latitudes are of very rare occurrence, and these are only of a slight nature in comparison with sub-equatorial countries, as witness the destruction of Chile reported in yesterday's Canadian Press despatches. Seismographic history records the following visitations, the complete list of which may be of more than passing interest to the student of to-day.

England 1089; Lincolnshire 1149; the greatest experienced in Britain 1818; London 1860; again in 1760; N. W. of England 1871; Eastern Counties 1884; all over Scotland 1888-9; West and South West of England 1892; South Wales and North Cornwall 1893; Cornwall 1902; Derbyshire villages, 1903; Argyllshire, 1904; Northern England Counties, 1905; South Wales, 1906. The most disastrous earthquakes recorded have occurred at Peloponessus 378 B.C.; Duras, in Greece 345 B.C.; Ephesus and other cities destroyed 17 A.D.; Antioch destroyed 115 A.D., and again in 1114 and also suffered in 1872. In 1896 people perished in Constantinople; thousands died in 577. This city also had quakes in the years 1509, 1800, 1894. Syria: 500 towns destroyed 742; 20,000 people perished 1789. Sicily: Catania 15,000 people killed 1187; 100,000 perished 1693. Messina destroyed 1783 and again in 1908; Palermo 1728, 1819, 1822. Calabria in 1184: a terrible one 1838, also in 1853; 10,000 people perished 1867 and other shocks occurred here in 1870, 1905 and 1907. Cilicia: 60,000 killed A.D. 1268. Naples: 30,000 killed 1486; 70,000 in 1628. Other shocks 1732, 1794, 1805.

TAKES AUDIENCE BY STORM.
Costumes, scenery, lighting, singing, acting, comedy, music, drama, dancing, were the characteristics of the Comic Opera "Erminie," staged at the Casino Theatre under the direction of Professor Charles Hutton, with Miss Hilda Krentzlin in the title role, an all star cast and full orchestra. Mr. Hutton knows how to do the right thing at the right moment, and at no time during the three hour performance was there a hitch in the programme. The effects were gorgeous in the extreme. Eighteenth century galleons and ladies, bewigged, beribboned and bejewelled, stepped down, as it were, from fairyland in a manner reminiscent of scenes conjured up by the wand of a magician. In the end, the musical baton of the conductor truly exemplified. The chorus comprised such well known vocalists as: Mesdames Kearney, Christian, Bradshaw; Messrs Devereaux, Edwards, Gibb, Mullings, McEvoy, Mews, Withers, Wiley, Phelan, Pike, Fitzgerald; Messrs. Chown, Ude, Sommerville, Kelly, Gaulton, J. Walsh, Summers, T. Walsh, Evans, Woods, Ryan, Oliver. The orchestra was made up of the following whose names are musical household words in St. John's: 1st violins, Mr. Frank Bradshaw, Miss Power; 2nd violins, Messrs. Burley and Marshall; cello, Hon. A. Mews; double bass, Mr. A. Stafford; horn, Mr. Arthur Bulley; clarinet, Mr. English; cornet, Mr. P. O'Grady; piano, Mr. Gordon Christian.

British Empire Delegation.
WILL CONFER WITH GOVT. TO-DAY.
The British Empire Exhibition Delegation consisting of Major E. A. Belcher, C.B.E., B.A., M.A., Col. A. Christie C.M.G., D.S.O., F. Ham, and T. W. Bates, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. The above gentlemen are touring the Empire in the interest of the British Empire Exhibition, which will be held in Wembley Park, London, in the year 1924, for which the Exhibition buildings are now being erected. The Exhibition will be the most extensive movement the Empire has ever seen, and will continue for six months. Daily from 60,000 to 100,000 people are expected to enter the premises.

Fishermen Meet Government.
ANOTHER MESSAGE TO MR. COAKER.
At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Jesse Winsor, Chairman, and other members of the Executive Committee of the United Fishermen, accompanied by Mr. A. B. Morine, K.C., their counsel, waited upon the Executive Government in the Executive Council Chamber. They were received by five members of the Government, Hon. George Shea, Dr. Campbell, W. W. Hafford, A. Barnes and S. J. Foote. Three memorials were presented to the Government, dealing with (1), The creation of a Fish Trust; (2), The appointment of a Commission to enquire into the marketing of fish, and (3) Reduced taxation. (These memorials were confirmed at the general meeting of the fishermen last night and appear in full in the report of the meeting.) After a brief discussion, the Hon. George Shea, Acting Premier, intimated that a reply to the Fish Trust memorial would be given to-day, and that the Government would consider the other petitions carefully and reply as quickly as possible.

Forty-Three Years in the Public Service—The Evening Telegram

In the title role Miss Krentzlin displayed a histrionic talent, which was as native as it was natural; being well supported by the whole cast. Her duet with Mr. C. Fitzgerald (Eugene) won unstinted and rapturous applause. The solos by Messrs. Karl Trappell, W. Wallace, and duet by Messrs. King and Wallace, were delivered splendidly and warmly appreciated. The humorous situations arising between the Princess (Mrs. Hutton) and Cadeaux (Mr. W. Wallace) were among the funniest ever seen in St. John's, and the performers acquitted themselves admirably. The scene between Simon (Mr. P. Grace) and Jarotte (Miss Ryan) were excellently portrayed. In the final act Mr. Wallace's rendition of "What the Bird is Singing" was the hit of the evening. The adaptation of the present unrest over the price of fish was cleverly worked in together with local topics and Mr. Wallace had to respond to five questions. The whole production was a thing of beauty and at its close the audience was loud in its appreciation. During the evening a bouquet was presented to Miss Ryan. The scene of the opera is in France in the period of Louis XIV, when Fashion held full sway and the costumes of the time, which have been hissed from one of the finest collections in New York, are valued at over $10,000. The story deals with the impregnation of the Vicomte De Brissac, who is betrothed to Erminie, by Raynans, one of two escaped prisoners. Erminie, however, is in love with Eugene, the Marquis's Secretary and the man and the masqueraders followed is very cleverly worked out. The production will be repeated tonight and a full house is assured.

Rotary Luncheon.
MAJOR BELCHER ADDRESSES CLUB.
At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club to-day Major Belcher, one of the members of the British Empire Exhibition, who is touring the Empire, addressed the Club. He was introduced to the members by Rotarian D. M. Baird, to-day's chairman, who in a few well chosen remarks explained Major Belcher's visit. Major Belcher said that there had been exhibitions held before, but they had been looked upon as merely a place where the different products of the British Empire came from. However, the B.E.E. of 1924 aimed at a much higher achievement than this, and that it will be the one way for the different peoples of the Empire to become acquainted, and that there was no better way to become acquainted than through meeting people personally.

AUSTRALIA'S COTTON INDUSTRY.
Major Belcher touched on the fact that Australia, which last year produced one million pounds weight of cotton, would this year produce four and a half million pounds, and it is possible during the next fifteen years that Australia will produce enough cotton to supply the whole Empire. After reference to other phases of the B.E.E., the speaker made complimentary remarks on the work of Rotary throughout the Empire, Clubs of which were arranging to send representative bodies of young men to the Exhibition of 1924, for the purpose of acquiring the necessary knowledge of the conditions as will prove and increase Trade within the Empire. While the speaker was at Montreal lecturing in the interests of the Exhibition he met Senators Fordney and McComber the fathers of the new United States Tariff, two important men of the Mission not with him, who were in the Canadian city endeavoring to foster trade with their country. The usual vote of thanks was tendered Major Belcher at the conclusion of his most instructive address.

George St. Men's League
DR. ROBINSON ON THE NEAR EAST
The speaker at the second meeting of this men's organization on Monday night was Dr. J. A. Robinson, and the subject was the Near Eastern problem. In view of the critical situation in Europe just now, this was of particular interest. Dr. Robinson traced the causes of present difficulties back to their origins, and drew upon his wide knowledge, an ability to expound a knotty problem, to the great pleasure and profit of the gathering. The information certainly did show how complicated and dangerous a question our British statesmen have to handle, and the need for a continuous policy in our Foreign Office through all changes of administration. In responding to the vote of thanks, Mr. H. Gear gave an interesting exposition of the belief which identifies the British people with the "Lost Ten Tribes of Israel. A fine, free, social atmosphere was created from the beginning of the meeting through the general singing, led by the President, Mr. F. Herwood. A very interesting list of speakers for future meetings has been secured. It is obvious that this is to be a strong feature of the men's side of George St. Church.

Motor Car Damaged.
SLIDS OVER PRESCOTT STREET.
Due to the slippery condition of the street caused by the slight fall of snow this morning, motor car No. 3219 came backwards at lightning speed over the lower part of Prescott Street, and collided with a Post Office pillar box at the corner of Water Street. The car was proceeding up over the grade, when it slipped and though the driver promptly applied the brakes, he could not stop his machine. Although the car had its axle twisted, and the midguard buckled up, it was fortunate that it was brought up by the post box, as so many people were passing along Water Street that a fatality would likely have occurred.

Died at Carbonear.
The Inspector General of Constabulary was this morning apprised of the sad intelligence of the death of Judge Penny at Carbonear, the passing having occurred at 9 o'clock. A more extended obituary of one so well and favorably known as the late Judge Penny will be published to-morrow. Meanwhile to the bereaved relatives the Telegram extends sympathy.

Fishermen Hold Demonstration.

SPACIOUS THEATRE FILLED TO OVERFLOWING.

Improvement in Everyday Conditions Demanded.

DEAFENING APPLAUSE GREETS DIFFERENT SPEAKERS.

The ultimate proceeds thereof, after deduction of expenses, to the fishermen from whom the fish is received, or their legal representatives, in the proportion the fish delivered by them to the Trust shall bear to the whole quantity of the same kind and quality of fish so acquired. No member of the Trust should have any direct pecuniary interest for himself, or an agent for any person, firm or company, in the shipment of fish either under or not under its control.

7. Authority should be conferred on the Trust, by agreement with those from whom it acquires fish, enabling it to borrow money on the security of warehouse receipts, and inasmuch as borrowing in this way might not be sufficient to provide for advances on receipt of the fish, and for expenses of storing and shipping, the Government should guarantee the repayment of borrowings by the Trust, and thus make borrowing easy and cheap. It may be objected that a Government should not guarantee what is essentially a commercial matter, but we beg to remind you, Sir, that the policy of giving Government guarantees for new enterprises has long obtained in this Colony, and you are, we have reason to believe, now proposing to guarantee a borrowing of several millions of dollars to promote an industrial operation in the fishery country. No industry is or could be of such vital importance as our industry at the fisheries. We only ask, Sir, that our co-operative credit shall be used by the Government, to assist us in our hour of need to reap a profit such as others expect from the use of their capital and credit.

8. We beg you to take notice, Sir, that we do not ask that fish shall be purchased by the Government with public money, or that public money shall be used to boost the price of fish beyond current market prices, or that fish shall be purchased from merchants, at the risk of great loss of public money, all of which was done by the Government in 1920; but merely that steps shall be taken, with a minimum of risk to the Colony, and with reasonable prospects of good results, to avert the risk of a market price falling below the cost of production of fish, and that the Government should place facilities at the disposal of fishermen as exporters of fish, which, by reason of their obscurity, they do not now possess.

9. We concur, Sir, in the widespread belief that the Colony suffers from a bad system of marketing abroad, and that if unity could be secured amongst exporters, in regulating shipments and equalising prices, so as to decrease injurious competition as far as possible, greater profits would accrue to our merchants and fishermen alike, and therefore, we are of opinion that if such a Trust were appointed, it should be instructed to act as far as possible in harmony with all other exporters in the endeavour to advance better marketing.

10. During the Great War, the authority of Government was exercised with general approval and beneficent results in many matters previously left entirely free from interference, notably here, in reference to the shipping of fish, and in Canada, for instance, in the sale of wheat. Our present emergency is but an aftermath of that War, and assistance from the Government to the fishermen, is as necessary now as it was then, and as justifiable. The fishermen are victims of the War, and strong state-ownership is as necessary now as it was when the War was actively proceeding.

11. There is need of immediate action. Vessels are lying in the port of St. John's with cargoes unsold. Fish is being held in the outports pending your action. Prompt acquiescence by you in our request will at once unlock the wheels of stagnant trade. We ask for an answer not later than to-morrow.

12. We, therefore, your petitioners, for ourselves and all the fishermen, respectively but urgently ask that—

Trust in the performance of its duties. And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Dated at St. John's, this 11th day of November, 1922.

JESSE WINSOR,
Chairman of Committee.

FIRST RESOLUTION PASSED.

After reading the memorial Mr. Morine said that he had been asked how it was that he was in favor of a guarantee, when his friends were opposed to one. His answer was that this guarantee was in the interests of the bone and sinew, and if it had to be paid, the people who were benefitting by it would be called upon to pay, while in connection with the Humber proposition which the Government now propose to guarantee to the extent of several millions of dollars, if it fails, the people who are behind it will leave the country with their wealth and the poor people of the Colony will have to foot the bill.

Mr. Wm. D. Sainsbury, following, said that he was sure his audience could grasp the idea of the memorial, they all realized the need that something should be done. God had given them a countful draft of fish, but the price they were receiving only put them in the hole. He then read the following resolution:

WHEREAS this meeting of United Fishermen has heard the Memorial of their Executive Committee to His Excellency the Administrator, upon the subject of a Fish Trust for the purpose of acquiring and disposing of the fish now in the hands of fishermen in this country.

RESOLVED: That we hereby heartily endorse that Memorial, and pledge ourselves to the fullest assistance of the Fish Trust, if it should be appointed as proposed.

Mr. Walter Carter, seconded the resolution, and in a short speech said they were in this movement in order to get a decent living. He had about 1,100 qts. fish for his voyage and with the proceeds it was not possible for him or his men to drag through. He said he was amongst the delegates who visited points in Bonavista Bay, and that the fishermen there, as well as at Greenspond, were sold to a man that something should be done. The resolution being put, it was carried by a standing vote amidst rousing cheers.

MEMORIAL RE-MARKETING OF FISH.

Mr. Morine next read the second Memorial which is as follows:—

To His Excellency the Administrator in Council.

May it please Your Excellency The Petition of the undersigned fishermen, qualified electors, resident of various places in this Colony, an Executive Committee appointed by public meetings of fishermen here and elsewhere.

Humbly present this Petition.

1. It has long and almost universally been recognized that the marketing abroad of fish exported from this Colony has not been wisely conducted, and various efforts at reform have been made, some by agreements between exporters, and some by statute and regulations, and all have failed. 2. Various causes have been alleged from time to time for these failures at reform, such as lack of good faith amongst those who outwardly agreed, or by endeavoring to enforce upon exporters-owners the degree of competition, but it has been made abundantly evident that the fundamental cause for the failure of all such efforts has been the fact that the interests of exporters have continued to be individual instead of being pooled. The racing to get first to market, the shipping of many and large cargoes to small markets, the competition to sell amongst exporters which has prostrated them at the feet of foreign wholesalers, have all occurred because shipments are made by owners whose profits depend upon competition with other owners. If all exporters shared in the profits of a season, or in parts of a season, or in respect of a grade or quality of fish, in the proportion which the grade quality they contributed bore to the total, priority of shipment would cease to be of interest to exporters, and fish could be sent to market where and when needed, and sold with regard to all the surrounding conditions of the market, free from undue competition by Newfoundland fish with other Newfoundland fish.

3. As it is now conducted, the fishermen, the outport trader, the man with small capital, and limited credit at the docks, has no chance to become an exporter. The business is necessarily confined to a limited circle, and that circle can become a monopoly at any time, fixing prices as unalterably as the laws of the Medes and Persians. Prices in the Colony depend on prices outside—so that all are shakers in loss from bad marketing—but in addition, the prices in the Colony are controlled by the exporters, who could, if they would, become a ring, and from their decrees there would under existing conditions be no practical escape.

4. If there existed a body in complete control of the marketing abroad, through which every person could market his fish, be the quantity large or small, upon an entire equality with every other exporter in proportion to the amount he contributed to the whole, which greater returns would be received, and the opportunities of the people would be multiplied. Prices in markets within the Colony would not be subject to possible combinations by buyers here, for the ambitious or discontented could export, and the fishermen, with his small quantity would be on an equality with the collector of large amounts. A new freedom would be conferred on the toiler, and the industries.

5. The adoption here of what is known as the California Co-operative Marketing System has been advocated, notably by Mr. Morine, K.C., in letters to the press, and the Advocate newspaper has published speeches by Aaron Sapire, an apostle of this system in the United States of America. The basis of this kind of co-operation is the pooling of commodities, and if adopted here would lead to the organization of community associations, district exchanges, and a Central Exchange for the collection and sale of fish by a central organization, representative of the owners, free from political or other outside interest. In contrary distinction to this, and to the abandoned policy of the Fishery Regulations, 1920, the Hon. W. F. Coaker and the Advocate newspaper have advocated the adoption of "Nationalization" by which is meant the purchase and sale of fish by the Government, through an appointed Board or Committee and the return of net profits to owners of fish over and above any advances made to them; the losses, if any, to be refunded, apparently, out of a trust fund, or by imposition upon the taxpayers of the Colony generally. It has been contended by others, through the press, and otherwise, notably by W. G. Gosling, Esq., that no Legislative or official interference with the fish trade should be attempted, but that better conditions should be allowed to evolve naturally.

6. In a matter of such transcendental importance to the Colony as the fish business, no experiment which could seriously affect vested interests and established methods should be rashly tried, which was done with disastrous results in 1920.

7. The people of the Colony generally, whose chief material concern in life the fishery is, are at present not in the possession of that extensive reliable information which they should possess before being called upon to pass judgment on so great a question as a fundamental change in the manner of conducting fish marketing.

8. We are not content with existing conditions. We believe they can and should be improved. We think that prompt steps should be taken to obtain accurate information for dissemination amongst the people upon existing and alternative marketing methods.

9. We are confident that it would be disastrous to the Colony, especially in this perilous period of reconstruction, if trade was menaced, even with the possibility of the adoption of ill-considered propositions for change; and that a general election agitation upon such an issue, with the threat of radical changes as a result, which such an agitation would threaten, would, in existing conditions, work a terrible injury to the prosperity of the people.

10. We are therefore of opinion that a Commission should be appointed under the Public Inquiries Act, to set without compensation, composed of the Hon. W. F. Coaker, A. B. Morine, K.C., and W. G. Gosling, Esq., as representative of the different schools of thought, to inquire and report upon—

(a) Existing methods of marketing fish. (b) Proposed alternative methods; (c) Desirable Legislation, if any, with power to take evidence upon oath, to send for persons, papers and things, or to acquire information in any manner, especially to obtain the views of persons representing vested interests, and with instructions to widely disseminate all valuable evidence they may so require, and their report upon the same, as far as deemed desirable, to provide for the instruction of the people generally by addresses, lectures and literature.

11. Until such enquiry and report, it would be in the highest degree injurious to the well being of this Colony that any agitation for changes should be carried on so as to alarm those engaged in trade, and so make the industrial conditions now so gravely averse, worse, if possible, than they are now, and thereby seriously imperil the prosperity of the people during the fishing season 1923.

12. A matter of such importance, which would concern the very existence of the Colony ought not to be made the subject of an election campaign or settlement as the result thereof, if it could be avoided, but should be taken up after the next general election, when the most complete information has been obtained, and then disposed of, if possible, not on partisan political lines, but by the best ability of the Legislature, illuminated by the completest established information, and the fullest patriotic devotion to the well being of the Colony.

Your petitioners therefore pray that you will be pleased to appoint a Commission of Inquiry under the Public Inquiries Act, composed of the persons named above, with the powers enumerated, and with such others as it may be deemed advisable to confer upon the Commission, and your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray.

COMMITTEE.

Dated at St. John's this 13th day of November, 1922.

SECOND RESOLUTION CARRIED.

Mr. Stewart Winsor proposing this resolution expressed the satisfaction it afforded him of being present to voice his protest of the position in which the fishermen now find themselves. On behalf of schooner owners, he said they could not face the situation any longer. He had been 27 years at the fishery and was for the past 8 years master. The fishery was going down all the time and under present conditions he could not come up here and take $1500 or $2000 for supplies from his merchant with any hope of repaying it. He always had an average voyage, but during the past few years that even did not pay, and they were now at the end of the rope. "In God's name," he asked, "are we going to train our children for the fishery under these conditions?" He was convinced that the merchants would fall in line with their views, and would give every assistance to the fishermen in their fight for fair play. He would like to know where the country would be if the fishery was dropped, and he felt sure that it would be, if they did not get better marketing conditions. The fishermen wanted a living profit, but at present, although big catches, of from 700 to 1,000 quintals had been taken, they could not make both ends meet. How would it be if they brought home only 3 or 4 hundred quintals. He then read the following resolutions:—

WHEREAS this meeting of United Fishermen has heard with satisfaction and approval the Memorial addressed by their Executive Committee to the Administrator in Council upon the subject of Fish Marketing.

RESOLVED: That we hereby approve thereof. We request the appointment of the proposed Commission of Inquiry forthwith. We condemn any partisan agitation for fundamental changes in trade methods prior to the making of the Commission's report, fearing that such an agitation by creating doubt of the safety of investment in the fishery would seriously decrease the output of 1923.

Mr. James Tiller, seconding the proposition, said that though only an ordinary fisherman he was one of the vanguard of the north who had come to obtain a better price for their toil. He was wholeheartedly in the present movement, which had it not been started, they would be now receiving less than $4 for their fish. The resolution being put was carried unanimously by a standing vote amid thunderous cheers.

TAXATION MEMORIAL.

To His Excellency the Administrator in Council.

May it please Your Excellency The petition of the undersigned fishermen, qualified electors of various places in this Colony, an Executive Committee appointed by public meetings of fishermen, here and elsewhere.

Humbly present this Petition. (1) The natural products of this Colony exported in 1920-21 and 1921-22 (after allowing for the value of imports which entered into their preparation) did not exceed seven millions of dollars per year in value.

(2) In the same years the public expenditure of the Colony upon our current account and non-productive works by its Government averaged thirteen millions of dollars per year, or more than three-fourths of the whole earning power of the Colony.

(3) An average of seven millions of dollars per year in the value of exports was collected from the people by taxation, or nearly one half of the earnings of the Colony by exports, and six millions of dollars per year in the same years were borrowed abroad on the credit of the Colony, adding an annual increase of nearly four hundred thousand dollars, or say seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars in two years, to the millions which have to be paid abroad yearly for interest on old debts, without any return, and in effect mortgaging forever the property and earning capacity of the people for the payment of an enormous and intolerable debt.

(4) The average annual expenditure is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War, and the average annual taxation (excluding the income tax) is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War.

(5) The average annual expenditure is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War, and the average annual taxation (excluding the income tax) is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War.

(6) The average annual expenditure is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War, and the average annual taxation (excluding the income tax) is now three times greater than it was just prior to the Great War.

A New Charm

Came to millions in this way

Millions of people have gained new charm through whiter, prettier teeth. You see them everywhere. The reason lies in a new cleaning method. Careful people of some fifty nations are using it today.

Test this method if you do not know it. People all about you have proved its importance. See what it means to you.

Combats the film
One purpose is to combat film on teeth—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It absorbs stains, making the teeth look dirty. Then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Other factors
But Pepsodent brings other effects which old ways did not bring. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

not too tired mentally. The quality of sleep you get then is as different from ordinary sleep as the savor of food when you are thoroughly hungry is from its savor when you come to a meal with a peckish appetite.

"The sleep of a laboring man is sweet," said King Solomon and I wonder how he knew. He might have surmised that a laboring man would sleep better than a thinker like himself, but he could not have used that wonderful adjective "sweet" unless he had had some personal vital experience. Maybe among the other things he tried out when he gave his heart "to seek and search out by wisdom concerning all things that are done under the sun" he tried living the life of a laboring man incognito for a little while. Who knows? I wouldn't put it by him for he certainly seems to have had a wonderful curiosity about him.

The Laborer's Compensation. Anyhow I am glad the sleep of a laboring man is sweet. It is one of the compensations that level things up in the more than we know perhaps. "It is not for a man in authority to sleep a whole night," said Homer. The man in authority may have many luxuries, but the perfect sweetness of sleep is the laboring man's luxury, just as the rich man may have all sorts of elaborate sauces to make his food palatable, while the man who works with his hands has the one sauce that gives food a more delicious flavor than anything the most skilled chef could devise.

Blessings On Its Inventor. Sometimes it seems as if this world were full of unbearable inequalities, and then again one wonders if the inequalities are not less than they seem.

Now how has it happened that a talk which started on the joy of a perfect sleep has gotten itself transformed into a talk on equalities and inequalities. Perhaps you will forgive me if I give it unity by ending, as I began, with a thought on sleep.

"Blessings on him who first invented sleep. It covers a man all over, thoughts and all like a cloak. It is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. It makes the shepherd equal to the monarch and the fool to the wise."—Cervantes.

OLD BILL'S MEMOIRS

was bent throughout his long career, his mighty intellect was lent to studies he held dear, he did not give a punctured cent for warlike atmosphere. He wished to build up German schools and see the churches grow, to watch the farmers, with their tools, go forth to reap and sow; the thought of blood in crimson pools filled all his breast with woe. Judge, then, his majesty's surprise, when war broke out one day; some insolent and meddling guys had shoed World Peace away; they plotted war, while Wilhelm's eyes were fixed on fields of hay. He had a pencil in his hand, and he was doing sums; how much, he figured, will this land produce when harvest comes? And up there came an army band with martial flutes and drums. The war was on, and Wilhelm leaned against a fence and wept; the greatest blow since he was weaned—Mars labored while he slept! The old world trembled and careened while he 'mid daisies stepped! Designing men of many lands, were plotting, in cahoot; and captains drilled blood-thirsty hands to emulate the brute, while Wilhelm's white and saintly hands were toying with a nut!

Scotch Herring Harvest.

The herring harvest, while making no fortune for anybody, enables both curers and fishermen to point to a modest balance on the right side. Approximately 530,000 crans, representing to the fishermen a money value of almost $3,250,000, have been recorded at the Scottish ports during the season just closed. The cran measure contains approximately 1,000 herrings so that the season's catch is about 530,000,000 herrings. That is not equal to the boom years of 1910 and 1913, when nearly a million and a half crans were landed at the Scottish ports, but the feet is very much smaller, and the working prices show a reduction compared with the last year or two. But $3,250,000 does not represent the total value of the herring harvest. For every dollar paid to the fishermen the curers have generally to spend a dollar more in wages of shore workers—coopers, carters, laborers, fisher laasses (the girls who gut and pickle the fish, and pack them in barrels.) At a modest computation the value of the herring harvest to the workers alone this year is thus about $6,500,000.

Rural Philosophy.

The following bit of rural philosophy was overheard in a farmyard the other day.

"James, my son," said a man who stood milking the milk and water, "ye see what I am a-doing of?"

"Yes, father," replied James; "ye're a-pouring water into the milk."

"No, I'm not, James. I'm pouring milk into the water. So if anybody axes you if I put water into the milk, ye tell 'em no. Allus stick to the truth, James. Cheatin' is bad enough, but lyin' is wuss."

PARIS ASSOCIATION OF FASHION

A Big Development.

The local development of particular interest this week is the announcement by Mr. W. F. Coaker, presumably in official capacity, that the agreement for the construction of great power works in the vicinity of Deer Lake has been signed by the St. John's and Newfoundland Governments on the one hand and by the Company on the other.

Although there has been a great deal of talk about this Humber proposition for over a year now, this is the first definite intimation that negotiations between the three parties concerned had resulted in anything definite being arranged in this connection. The people of this country therefore, at last have knowledge that this big constructive project is pretty much of a certainty for the future.

But the sum total of our knowledge of the project does not amount to much.

We have the bare announcement of the signing of the tripartite agreement.

We presume that the amount of capital involved under the agreement is, as has always been understood to be the case, about twenty million dollars.

We infer, also, that the capitalists who are engaging in this project are to operate under an interest guarantee and that guarantee represents five and a half per cent on the subscribed capital, or something over one million dollars per year.

We have been assured that, of this total guarantee, Great Britain assumes responsibility for the payment of one half annually and Newfoundland assumes responsibility for the other half.

While small parties of men have been sent to the scene of operations, we have no knowledge of the date at which the Company will begin to operate on a large scale, what it will be doing this winter, or what staff of men it will require when its operations are in full swing.

The general understanding, so far, is that during the present winter anywhere from two to three thousand men will be needed to 'carry on' at the site of the works and on the timber areas that are included in the agreement.

Boiled down then to a basis of absolute knowledge, what information is ours regarding this proposition, leaves us very much in the dark on points of vital interest to the country.

Evidently then the newspapers of both Government and Opposition are using guesses for texts for these articles in which the one side is exultantly boasting and the other side doggedly condemning the proposition.

We cannot confess to any admiration for politicians whatever their party who devote themselves to the exploitation of such a tremendous issue for partisan purposes.

Insofar as the Government press is rejoicing over the signing of the agreement because it represents work for a considerable number of unemployed, it is voicing the sentiments of the whole country. Such a prospect is an excellent thing in these times of depression and of armies of workless. It is bound to act as a stabilizer of business and it is certain to create more confidence in the minds of our business men and of other people generally.

But it is too early for government newspapers to commend to the country the signing of a Humber Industry as a panacea for all our ills. The country will be in a position to make up its mind on that score when the text of the agreement is made public.

On the other hand, the Opposition press have even less justification for condemning the agreement, lock and stock, and barrel. At present they are ignoring the employment prospects and are concentrating on the guarantee clauses, which they are glibly condemning.

They, too, are eager to play politics with this industrial undertaking. Mighty poor politics they are playing, too.

A feature of any agreement may be very objectionable of itself. But that feature may be entirely justifiable when considered in relation to other features which bestow on the country as much or even more than it covants to give.

This is the information that the Opposition press, like the Government press does not possess and so is in no better position to cast up accounts against the agreement that is its opponents to declare a balance in favor of it.

But, where the government press has justification for rejoicing over the signing of an agreement which will (1) provide much needed employment and the bare announcement of which must (2) help to stabilize the trade and (3) create confidence with the business men of the country, the Opposition press has little or no justification for calamity-howling in this connection.

It is a sorry pessimist, indeed, who begrudges people one little streak of silver lining in their dark clouds of trade stagnation and lack of work.

Men of the real public spirit prefer to hope for the best and to look for the best in connection with such public undertakings and to thank heaven and take courage because of an arrangement that, so far as we know, promises to enable Newfoundland to resume her place on the path of progress and prosperity and to provide her with an industrial asset that will relieve the pressure on her fisheries and which will exploit to her own good natural resources so long dormant and unutilized.

The Humbermouth proposition may not prove a general panacea for the ills of our body politic. We do not expect it to prove such a panacea. But, whatever its objectionable features—and we do not know just now that it contains any—we do anticipate that it will prove immensely beneficial to all classes of our population.

That is as far as reason and good judgment will allow any unbiased journal or public man to go.—Trade Review.

Cancer's 1,200,000 Death Toll.

New York, Nov. 14.—Approximately 1,200,000 persons in the United States died from cancer from 1900 to 1920 inclusive, according to an announcement made here to-day by the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The Society bases its estimate on figures obtained from the United States Census Bureau. The Bureau's figures show that 377,410 deaths occurred during this period in the registration area. This area represents some less than two-thirds of the population. By adding this third the total number of deaths is reached.

clusive of borrowing abroad) twice as great as at that time, and mounting rapidly, while the earnings of the people are decreasing, and an exodus of the youngest and ablest from the Colony is taking place;

(5) Public expenditure is marked by wanton wastefulness, many unnecessary public offices exist, and extravagant salaries are paid, and useless and unproductive public works are carried on;

(6) The prices of food and clothing are enormously increased by great import taxes, and trade and industry hampered and almost extinguished by fiscal burdens, and it is apparent that under the existing scale of taxation, trade and industry must languish and fall;

(7) The export tax on fish is a class tax, bearing directly on fishermen, and decreasing the prices of fish per quintal by precisely the amount of the tax. It is especially unendurable now, and if taken off would immediately increase the price of all fish still held by fishermen;

(8) We are therefore of opinion:

(a) That public expenditure should be drastically reduced to not more than one half its present great amount;

(b) That taxation should be reduced at least twenty-five per cent.

(c) That the fish export tax should be now suspended and later repealed.

(d) That the Legislature should be summoned forthwith for the despatch of business, and should sit day by day until the necessary reforms are made, so that they may apply to the coming year, and hope be revived in the hearts of the toilers.

And we pray that you shall be pleased to order accordingly. And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.
The resolutions on the "taxation" memorial was proposed by Skipper

GET THE HABIT of naming THE BEST BRAND Simply ask for

Peter Roberts in a rousing speech, which was punctuated by repeated rounds of applause. He said that the fishermen were the greatest producers, were not receiving a square deal. Seventy per cent. of their earnings, he said, was being taken by the Government, although he saw in the Advocate that they paid only 11%.

Who then pays the revenue of the country, which, he said, was being taken by the Government? He said it made his blood boil when he read that article, and it still gets on his nerves. Who pays the revenue, he asked, if it is not the man who prosecutes the fishery? The fishermen were the backbone of the country and from their earnings the merchant, the labourer, tradesmen and everyone else derived their livelihood. For forty-three years he had been engaged at the fishery, thirty-three of which he had done as master. During that period his average catch had been about 800 quintals, which was as good as the rest of them. In his early days a man could live comfortably on such a catch, and he had accumulated some property, but under the present conditions it was fast slipping from him. If his family were to remain in the country they must have the present taxation reduced. We must have it, he said, and though they began the movement mild he hoped they would not have to become rough. In pre-war days on 600 quintals at $4.00 per quintal, a man could rest assured that he made sufficient for his crew and for their families during the winter. Now with increased taxation, export taxes and the damned regulations, unnecessary civil servants and loafers, high-salaried members and officials, we were driven to desperation, and no attempt was being made to curtail expenditure or to help the fishermen and the country in general to exist.

He had with the delegates and Mr. Morine, called on the Government during the afternoon. They had elected 22 members, but what was his surprise when they were received by only five, and two of them had never been elected. Where was the Prime Minister, the Attorney General and Mr. Coaker, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries? They were not to be seen. The Prime Minister and Attorney General were in England enjoying themselves at the expense of the Colony. Mr. Coaker, whom they had called Moses—the second Moses had left them crying in the wilderness. Referring to the waste of public money on road building, Mr. Roberts said that in Westville they had not a road fit to walk on, yet the Government had built the Deer Lake and Badger Roads costing $750,000. They had a mail boat subsidy costing $250,000, yet the boats were swinging at anchor in the harbor with nothing to do. Another $270,000 had been spent in snow shovelling, and with all this wilful waste going on the Government tell you they cannot reduce taxation. How can they, said the speaker, when millions are absolutely thrown away. But this must be stopped, the Government must reduce the taxation at least 25% and they must forget the joke about the fishermen paying only 11% of the taxes. This present movement should have been started two years ago, and now that it is under way they should stick it through to the end. They had come to the city on a mission and they were going to remain here until it was completed. Concluding, he said, he had 1300 quintals of fish for his voyage and he and his 8 sons would only average about $300 a year, which was far from enough to keep their families on. He then read the following resolutions:—

WHEREAS this meeting of United Fishermen has heard with appreciation the Memorial of their Executive Committee to His Excellency the Administrator upon the subject of public expenditure and taxation;

RESOLVED: We hereby heartily endorse the Memorial. We demand the reduction asked for in expenditure and revenue. We demand a Session of the General Assembly forthwith. We demand that the reforms be enforced before the preparation for the 1923 fishery begins. We demand that if the reforms be not promptly legislated for the election of an Administration pledged to root and branch reform.

FURTHER RESOLVED: If those our just demands are not granted, we pledge ourselves and our votes to the defeat of the present Government, and the election of an Administration pledged to root and branch reform.

Skipper Mark Bragg ably seconded the resolution proposed by Mr. Roberts. He endorsed all that had been said. He had heard the talk of down with the merchants. But the merchants were their best friends. Three years ago the Hon. George Knowling had built him a schooner that cost $7,000, and he could never hope to own the best speck block of her with conditions as are now existing. He had always an average voyage, but his wife and children would have to suffer this year owing to the price they were getting for their fish. He had been termed Morine's healer by the Advocate, but he wanted to inform all concerned that he was no healer, and never took any active part in politics. He recounted his visit to Bonavista with the delegation and the reception they received. Neither Morine or Coaker ever received such a rousing reception as that delegation, he said, and over 270 names were signed to the resolution as a result of their visit. He felt it was imperative that this matter of the fishery and fish prices, as well as reduction in taxation be immediately taken up, as the fishermen wanted to know where his vessel was going to be next season, on the mud bank or at the fishery.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

Before the resolution was put to the meeting Mr. Morine took occasion to point out the necessity of a reduction in taxation and the curtailment of expenditures in Departments like the Militia, Shipping and Education. Was there need of a Minister of Finance, a Prime Minister with two salaries, a Minister of Marine and Fisheries? If they are needed, he said, their place is here in the city. Then again the members of the Assembly were not worth $1,000 a year, when $300 was paid but a few years ago. Ministers were not worth $4,000.00 when the same work was carried on for $2,400. He then gave a list of the amounts spent on relief works:—On the Hall's Bay, Deer Lake and Colinet Roads, $1,000,000; pulpwood contracts, $400,000.00; unproductive work, $270,000.00; able bodied pauper relief, $230,000.00; potatoes, $60,000.00; making a total of over $2,000,000.00 for last year. This is not a question of politics, said Mr. Morine, it is a question of life or death for the Colony. After the passing of the last resolution by a standing vote, and a tremendous outburst of cheering, the Chairman called on others to express their views of the situation. Amongst those who spoke were Mr. Frank Green and T. Norris, the latter being a fisherman from Trinity District. Mr. Green who arrived here yesterday in his schooner, said he was one of those who in 1920 stuck out for a higher price for his fish. Then he thought that their troubles had ended. But experience had taught them a lesson, which they should profit by. He was not in favour of a Government guarantee, wherein the public monies are used to purchase fish, but the question must be looked at from every viewpoint. In his opinion it was a foolish and damnable thing to take public monies to buy fish, and then lose it. It was not fair or square, but that the fishermen were to-day up against it, and selling at to-days prices spelled the end of the fishing. If the fishermen do not get a fair price for his catch, the whole country suffers, and every class of person in the country suffers. At present the fishermen cannot meet his obligations with fish at $4.00 per quintal, and the only thing left for him to do is to give up the fishery, and clear out. He could quite understand that the foreign markets are responsible for the price paid here, as whatever the merchant can get for his fish, so will the fisherman be paid. In this connection, therefore, the merchant, like the fisherman, were as one, and each wanted to see the other succeed. The big cause of a lot of trouble however, was the burdensome taxation we were carrying, and no apparent attempt being made to curtail. The Government, he said, has got to make the taxes bear so on the fishermen that they can catch fish for what it is worth in the foreign market. They would have to reduce expenditure. There were institutions here that could be abolished until we were wealthy enough to afford them. The fishery was the mainstay of the country and it was from the fishery that the taxes are collected. The man who said that the fisherman pays only 11 per cent of the taxes, was not a man fit to live under the British ensign, neither was he a true Newfoundlander, because he was not fair. He only told half of the story. Let him figure out the cost of the clothing, etc., as well as the fisheries accounts and then tell the story. He would have us like Eden, wearing the fig leaves to cover our nakedness. Mr. Green also referred to the rotten brand of politics that was being dishied out in Newfoundland, and said that a lot of our trouble was caused from this source. He concluded with an appeal for united action and a fair show for the fisherman.

In Memoriam.

MRS. (DOCTOR) SCOTT.
Grand Falls heard with profound sadness, this forenoon, of the passing of Mrs. (Dr.) Scott at Montreal. The deceased lady, with her two young children, had been sojourning in Montreal during the past few weeks and, it is understood, was on the point of returning to Newfoundland when the news of her illness became known. Nothing, however, of an alarming nature was anticipated, and Dr. Scott left about ten days ago to accompany his wife on the return journey, and it is only since the Doctor arrived at Montreal that the seriousness of Mrs. Scott's illness manifested itself. In the passing of this estimable lady, the community is the loser of one who has endeared herself to all classes. Mrs. Scott was a lady of charming disposition and exceptional attainments. Quietly and unostentatiously she performed the duties devolving upon her in the "daily round and common task," while in the engagement of social activities she was the embodiment of that grace and dignity which characterize noble womanhood. A regrettable coincidence of the sad event is recorded in the fact that the day of Mrs. Scott's death was the anniversary of her marriage. The deceased leaves to mourn a husband, and two children, (son and daughter) besides an aged, widowed mother, who had purposed leaving on tonight's express for Montreal. The late Dr. Chamberlain was a brother of deceased. It is likely interment will take place at Montreal. To the sorrowing mother, now bereft of all her family, the devoted husband and the little children, the sincere sympathy of the whole community goes out in this, their hour of deep sorrow.

Capture of the Secunderabagh.

The Secunderabagh (Alexander Garden, Lucknow), was the scene of one of the most stubborn and sanguinary contests during the relief of the Residency by Sir Colin Campbell, in Nov. 1857. The Secunderabagh was a large place, surrounded by a wall, loopholed in every direction, and having in its midst a strong edifice of stone, with grated windows, garrisoned by men, each individually certain of meeting an ignominious and well merited death, and all rendered madly desperate by their situation by fear, fanaticism and bigotry. And Sir Colin did not use the language of exaggeration when he wrote: "There never was a bolder feat of arms than the storming of the Secunderabagh." The rebels finding escape impossible, fought with the courage of despair and the fury of religious hate. Our men dashed in as quickly as the narrow breach would permit, broke the barricades, and jumped down upon the windows in the walls. A din of hideous noises, the rattle of musketry, the curses and yells of sepoy, the fierce cry of the British soldiers: "Remember Cawnpore boys!" The next morning the bodies of more than two thousand sepoy dressed in their old uniforms, lay in heaps. The gateway, principal rooms, and aside chambers, were literally deluged with their blood. The weapons of our men, their hands, their faces, and the green tartans of the 53rd Highlanders were all dripping with blood for three hours were over, during which no mercy was shown.

A Ten Foot Ice House.

A rough board enclosure ten feet square and eight feet high will hold sufficient ice to provide fifty pounds per day for 130 days after allowing for a reasonable amount of wastage. An important fact to be remembered is that the smaller the quantity of ice stored, the larger is the proportion of waste. The bottom of the enclosure should be covered with a foot of sawdust. The ice should be similarly covered. The drier the sawdust the better. If the soil beneath the enclosure is impervious clay, a layer of gravel under the sawdust is advisable.

If sawdust is not obtainable, planer mill shavings will serve. If neither is to be had, two feet of marsh hay or any wild hay will answer. The roughest kind of a shed that will resist the weather is all that is required.

An Historical Hurricane.

The hurricane of November 14, 1854, proved disastrous in its consequences to the Crimean expedition. Not only did it inflict much immediate hardship upon the besiegers of Sevastopol, all of whose camps were levelled with the ground and dispersed with their contents far over the miry upland, but quantities of much needed food fuel and forage were spoiled, and twenty-one vessels in the harbour of Balaklava were dashed to pieces, eight others being disabled. All of them were full of stores urgently needed by the army, and among them was the "Prince," a fine steamer, containing everything that was most wanted—warlike stores of all kinds, surgical instruments, gurneys, frocks, flannel, drawers, woolen stockings and-socks, boots, shoes, watch-coats; in short all that the foresight of the government could devise for the equipment and comfort of the troops. All these went with her to the bottom of the sea; the principal ammunition ship, also, was lost away; and each of the others carried down with it a part of that upon which the army depended for its existence. Next day, the little harbour of Balaklava was full of floating timbers and trusses of hay, through which boats scarcely could make their way; and numbers of the drowned were washed about the bases of the cliffs outside. The French lost the finest vessel in their navy, the "Hercule IV," and the garrison in Sevastopol, shared in no less degree the general misfortune, having many of the houses that sheltered them unroofed, as well as their naval magazines. But it was still more disastrous to the besiegers, who with that day entered upon a winter of calamity.

What She Thought.

It was the dear old lady's first ride in a taxi, and she watched with growing alarm the driver continually putting his hand outside the car as a signal to the following traffic. At last she became exasperated.
 "Young man," she said, "you look after that car of yours, and watch where you are going. I'll tell you when it starts raining!"

Dorcus Society Report 1921-1922.

The following is a brief statement showing what the Dorcus Society has done during the past year. By looking at the statement of account given below, the public will see how much money was spent for coal, groceries and warm clothing. It is only a part of what might be accomplished if more means were at our disposal. What we do is, practically speaking, very little in comparison with the need, but we cannot do more. We thank those gentlemen who so generously gave us great assistance during the year, and we ask for your personal interest in our work, feeling that with your help we shall be in a position to do a great deal more for those who need our aid. We are very grateful for a generous bequest of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) from the estate of the late Archibald MacPherson. Also twenty dollars ($20.00) from the estate of the late Julia Ayles Eare. During the winter a cheque for one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) was received from the Government for distribution among the poor. A complete list of those who were helped with food and coal has been kept. Each case was personally inquired into, and there was no overlapping. 173 destitute families were relieved by means of this fund. We again thank Mr. W. B. Fraser for auditing our accounts. In another year our Society will be one hundred years old.

MARY C. BREHM,
Hon. Sec'y-Treas.
President--Mrs. Pitts.
Committee--Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. Hepburn, Mrs. Bolt, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Job, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. McNeilly and Miss Mackay.

Car Knocks Down Pedestrians.

WOMAN AND SMALL SON BADLY SHAKEN.
Yesterday afternoon, about 5.15 o'clock, a motor car, driven by a man named Reid, knocked down Mrs. E. Dowton and her three year old son Hubert, who were passing east along LeMarchant Road, near Freshwater Road. They were picked up and tenderly conveyed into Parsons' Drug Store nearby, when Dr. Grieve was called in attendance. Upon examination, it was found that no bones had been broken, although both suffered several slight bruises. Dr. Grieve later conveyed them to their home on Geary Street in his car.

Wedding Bells.

TRAVERS--FRURER.

A pretty wedding followed by grand Mass took place at the Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, Bruley, Placentia Bay, parish of Bar Haven, on Monday morning in the presence of a host of friends, when Miss Ellen Frurer, residing in St. John's for a number of years, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Frurer of Bruley, Placentia Bay, was united in matrimony to Peter Travers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Travers of Bruley. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Frurer, and Miss Monica Travers, who acted as bridesmaids. The groom was supported by Mr. Peter Frurer and Thomas Travers, brothers respectively of the bride and groom. The ushers were Mr. Patrick Bennett and Mr. John Kiernan. Susie Bennett and Rita Brown were flower girls. The bride was gowned in black velvet dress with touches of gold, black velvet hat and Sable fur. During the impressive ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Francis Cacciola, rector of St. Francis Xavier's Church, Bar Haven, a beautiful discourse was given by the incumbent of the Mission of Bar Haven and its dependencies on the "Church and Society and Sacred Home Respecting the Marriage Tie." After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was given at the bride's residence and a reception in their honor was held in the evening. The many beautiful and useful presents from St. John's and elsewhere, gave evidence of the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Travers after a brief trip, will take up their residence in Bruley Parish of Bar Haven, Placentia Bay.--Com. Bar Haven, Nov. 13th, 1922.

ROUTE OF PARADE.

Assembly at Rawlin's Cross, foot Garrison Hill and eastern end of Harvey Road at 2.45 p.m. tomorrow Wednesday, and then proceed immediately to the K. of C. Memorial School where the C. L.A. Sale of Work will be opened at 3 o'clock.--nov14,11

Another Big Gold Strike on Labrador.

A STORY THAT READS LIKE A ROMANCE. Seventy claims covering the entire length of the hitherto unexplored at Middle Brook at Adlivik, Labrador, were taken out this morning by Capt. Jack Snow and Mr. George Herlihy.

In the first place, the Herlihy's, being the only white "Ivorys" in the immediate vicinity, with proverbial Newfoundland hospitality, acted as hosts to Messrs. Jeffreys, Ross, and Finney, who made the reputed big strike on the Cecil May property at Big Brook.

TOOK ALL THE LOCATIONS. Then came the exciting race for home with the glow of their wonderful discovery setting fire to their blood.

Yet Another Car Damaged. SKIDS OVER MCBRIDE'S HILL. While Mr. F. W. Ayre's motor car was proceeding over McBride's Hill this morning, in charge of the chauffeur, the machine was thrown into the top of the grade because unmanageable owing to the slippery condition of the thoroughfare.
