CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY WEDDINGS

BURGESS-SPURR
The Baptist church of Melvern Square was the scene on Dec. 29th of a very pretty wedding, when Alice Mary, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Spurr, was married to Frederick Ezra Burgess, the popular traveller for the Donnell Varnish Co., of Montreal, Rev. H. B. Smith, M. A. performing the ceremony. The church was tastefully decorated in evergreen and was filled with guests and well wishers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Hortense Spurr, Rev. M. P. McCutcheon, B. A. of St. John, surmounting the groom. Miss Harriet Haley, daughter of Prof. F. R. Haley, M. A., of Acadia, was flower girl. Messrs. W. C. Spurr, E. S. Spurr and Lieut. S. E. Palmer were ushers.

Quebec Bridge to be Rebuilt

The work of rebuilding the Quebec bridge has been commenced. As it is an essential link in the National Transcontinental Railway, it is very important that the work be rushed to completion as soon as possible. The first attempt to build a bridge across the St. Lawrence near Quebec having ended disastrously, this work will be watched with much interest. The Toronto Globe, commenting on this great undertaking, says: "There is no reason to fear a similar occurrence this time. There was no precedent for such a bridge when it was undertaken but its collapse has furnished the necessary information and given the needed warning. All civil engineers will profit by the experience. Two special precautions are already provided for: a considerable increase in the size of the piers and a considerable shortening of the span across the navigable channel. The latter alteration will increase the capacity of the bridge to resist the enormous strain which it is subjected to. It necessitates the construction of the new north pier in very much deeper water, and this will add materially to its cost. The height of the pier from the bottom of the river to its surface will be ninety-eight feet instead of fifty-five.

The newly married couple then took the afternoon train en route to Halifax and St. John. The bride travelled in a suit of blue broad cloth with hat to match and wore a set of mink furs, the gift of the bridesmaid was a ruby ring, a locket and chain to the flower girl, and a cheque to the groomsmen. A vast number of valuable presents were received from friends at home and abroad, prominent among which was a cheque from the bride's parents.

On their return from the honeymoon journey Mr. and Mrs. Burgess will reside at Sheffield Mills, N. S.

GESNER-HICKS

This was a quiet home wedding at Carleton's Corner, Bridgetown, on the evening of Wednesday last, the Rev. Wm. Y. Gesner, of Bellisle, officiating. The principals, Mr. William Edward Gesner, master of the "Schooner Francis" and son of Capt. Wm. Y. Gesner, of Bellisle, and Miss Margaret Arabella Hicks, daughter of Mr. Chas. R. Hicks, of Carleton's Corner, are well-known in Bridgetown and neighborhood.

The bride, attired in a dress of grey silk trimmed with sequin, entered the spacious parlor on the arm of her father, who subsequently gave her away. Otherwise both bride and groom were unattended. The ceremony took place at 6:30 in the presence of immediate friends and relatives. After the service supper was served, and a pleasant evening was spent. The happy couple left on Thursday for the west-bound express on a short wedding trip. Returning Mrs. Gesner will "receive" at the home of her father, Carleton's Corner, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening, Jan. 12th and 13th.

Father Christmas Previous

Henry was a man of six, which is the age of inquisitiveness, as his mother was beginning to discover. "Mamma," he said, embarking on the two hundred and thirty-seventh question of the day, "does Father Christmas get his sleigh on Christmas Eve and drive to all the houses of the little boys and girls?" "Yes," answered mamma.

"And does he stop at each chimney and leave the right things?" proceeded Henry.

"Yes," answered mamma.

"Isn't he pretty quick to visit all the little boys and girls in one night?" "Yes."

"Well—here Henry reached the climax—"do you know, I believe he plans ahead and does some of the work beforehand."

"What makes you think that?" said mamma, asking a question in her turn.

"Why," answered Henry, "because I notice he's got all my presents put away in one of the cupboards already."

What Drink Costs Nova Scotia in Money, Lives and Character

A Plea for Total Abstinence and the Abolition of the Drink Traffic. By H. R. Grant, General Secretary of the N. S. Temperance Alliance.

At this Christmas season and in view of the New Year, it is an opportune time for us who are Nova Scotians to consider what we may do to advance the Kingdom of Christ whose coming to the world was destined to bring Peace and Good Will to mankind.

Although it is a glad time to many, there are hundreds of families in our Province prevented from having a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year because of the drink traffic. Since the first of January, I have visited every county and addressed over three hundred audiences and in nearly every district, the sad effects of drink have been seen.

Taking a survey of the Province as a whole, it is appalling what the drink traffic costs us in money, in lives, in character.

THE FINANCIAL LOSS.

Consumers in Canada last year paid for drink over $76,000,000 Nova Scotia's share would be over $8,000,000, or about $12.00 for every inhabitant.

It may assist us in estimating this enormous expenditure for Drink by contrasting it with the return from some of our provincial resources. For example, the return from our live stock products was.....$6,000,000 Pig Iron.....5,000,000 Potatoes, Oats, Apples.....5,500,000 Apples.....1,100,000 Small Fruit Vegetables.....1,000,000 Lumber.....2,000,000 With the $8,000,000 spent for drink we could build 300 twenty thousand dollar houses; or in each county build 100 schools, 100 public halls 100 Y. M. C. A. buildings, each worth $20,000; or we could send to heaven 1,000 missionaries, and pay each of them a salary of $1,000.

THE LOSS OF LIFE.

At least 500 lives are shortened by drink annually in our Province. Many of these lives are cut off by terrible accidents, many by lingering disease as a result of alcoholic poisoning. Many a widow, many a mother mourns today because of the death of a loved one, who departed this life when under the influence of drink.

THE LOSS OF CHARACTER.

Drink has debased men who otherwise would have been most upright citizens. It has produced a vast amount of vice and crime. In the development of our country character is of inestimable value. Liquor drinking means deterioration of character. In the years gone by thousands of our brightest citizens have been debased by drink. Nova Scotia is poorer in men and morals because of intemperance.

Our churches would have larger memberships but for the drink traffic. Drink has blinded the eyes of thousands of our young men to the beauty of the Christian life. The boy who begins to drink and makes companionships with intemperate turns away from Christ.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

Are our churches facing the drink problem as they should? The temperance question is a question for the church. It has to do with the character of our citizens. Lives are being daily ruined by the drink habit. Last year over 3,000 men were convicted of drunkenness. This means that if Nova Scotia carries on as at present the drink business, 3,000 of our boys must be sacrificed annually, for surely life is sacrificed that goes with the intemperance. A man who had been for years a drunkard, who today is making a heroic fight against the habit recently put this question to a clergyman, "Is my boy to be damned by this drink business as I have almost been damned? Cannot you church people do more than you are doing?"

THE HAPPY NEW YEAR

I am the new and brave
I am the brave, the new,
The old year's sun hath set Faintly behind the blue.

I am the young and fair
With blessings manifold,
And wealth of hidden gold
Unfolding everywhere.

I am the strong, the free
Speaking to thee of power
For the duties of the hour,
With strength I come to thee.

I am the brighter way,
Yesterday's heart was stirred
With crying that it heard
For those who sleep to-day.

I am the herald
Of hope that never fails
Where'er thy frail ship
hails, When'er she anchors
her.

I am the beautiful,
The jewelled snow and shine
Of stars and flowers, still
In this new year is thine.

I am the New Year, glad
With promises of spring,
With blessing for the sad
And songs for men to sing.

They Doubt That

Mars Has Canals

New York, December 30.—London cable dispatches say that skepticism as to the existence of canals on Mars was shown by several well-known astronomers at a meeting of the British Astronomical Association there.

S. A. Saunders exhibited lantern slides of photographs of Mars taken by Professor Hall by means of the telescope at Mount Wilson Observatory in California. He remarked that the canals were not shown, the exhibitor on being that the telescope was too strong to indicate them. This statement evoked laughter.

Edward Walter Maunder of the Greenwich observatory said that there was no indication on the photographs, of a spider like network. Mr. Maunder said there was never any real ground for supposing that there was any evidence of artificial markings on Mars.

TRAGIC DEATH CHRISTMAS EVE.

Chester, Dec. 30.—While his family thought him still in Halifax, whither he had gone on the previous day, J. Stanley Zinck, a prominent merchant of Chester, lay dying under the E. & S. W. Railway tracks here last night. While coming home about 7 o'clock last evening Mr. Zinck fell on the slippery trestle and was veritably to the ground below. This morning he was found dead, impaled on a barb wire fence. When found he was still holding a parcel that he had in his hand when he stepped from the train.

Hon. W. S. Fielding is 61 years of age. He was born Nov. 24th, 1848. He began newspaper work at the early age of 16 years. In 1882 he was elected a member for Halifax County, of the Provincial Legislature, and in 1884 he became Premier. In 1896 he was taken into the Laurier Cabinet as Finance Minister, which position he still holds.

Sudden Death of Solomon Drew While Driving in Middleton

The people of Middleton were shocked on Monday afternoon by the sudden death in their midst of Solomon Drew, of Nictaux Falls. Mr. Drew was driving along Commercial St. when Mr. Owen Wheelock noticed that something was wrong with him. The horse was stopped and Mr. Drew carried into the Middleton Pharmacy where he immediately expired.

Messrs. J. L. Phinney, E. V. Thomas and Arthur Sprowl procured a team and carried the body to Nictaux where the funeral took place on Wednesday.

Mr. Drew was well and very favorably known in Middleton. He was a prominent member of the Methodist circuit and for several years served as a trustee on the Consolidated school board. His life was marked by integrity and public spirit.

The deceased leaves a widow and a daughter, Miss Bessie, at home and another daughter, Mrs. Thomas Smith, of Spokane.—Middleton Outlook.

"As a Man Thinketh"

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he!" You cannot get away from your own thoughts, try as you may. If you start out with a fine project, but also take with you the feeling that try as you may, the project is likely to fail, you have already arranged for your future taking that thought with you in taking active presence who will wield an effective opposition to your plans.

The victories that we gain and the defeats that we sustain are all arranged for in the silent hours long before we come to the conflict. We cannot escape the effect of our own thoughts. The words that we have spoken have, like birds, flown away from us and are beyond recall; they are in the hearer's power and not our own. And the efforts of the thoughtless that we think likewise pass beyond controlling. We may think what we please, but no matter how silent our thoughts, we cannot escape the effect of it!

Thoughts are all powerful. The tendency of each thought is either upward or downward. We have the power to choose what we will, and to exclude what we will, and it is out of choice of thoughts that makes us successful men and women—or failures.

Your thoughts of success would carry you to success if you would not let them mingle with those undesirable citizens of the under thought world, the anti-success beliefs and fears!

Obituary.

WILLIAM H COCHRAN

Bridgetown was startled and saddened by the news which quickly spread yesterday morning (Tuesday) of the death of Mr. Cochran, the genial and popular proprietor of the Bridgetown Boot and Shoe Store. Although it had been regrettably recognized for some months that his disease was making unremitting progress, its sudden termination was a surprise to all. On Saturday he had enjoyed a sleigh-drive given him by one of his friends and though he had not appeared so well the dread moment of separation had not seemed so near.

His malady was a progressive disease of the spinal cord, extending over eight months, the immediate cause of his death being apparently heart failure. His attending physician, Dr. Armstrong, was summoned at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning and found death at the threshold before him.

Mr. Cochran has been a member of our business community for sixteen years, coming here from St. John, and his genial and warm hearted personality won him hosts of friends. Probably no man of our community had more warm personal friends and none would be more missed. He was identified in every movement for progress, every charitable enterprise was sure of his warm support, and his sympathies were swiftly extended to those in trouble. In his business dealings he was thoroughly respected. His word was as good as his bond.

He was a member of the Masonic brotherhood, the Foresters and the Royal Arcanum, and in the two latter he carried considerable insurance.

He is survived by his widow, two young daughters and a small son, also by one brother, Mr. Geo. B. Cochran of Marysville, N. B. and by one sister in St. John, to whom the warmest sympathies of the public of Bridgetown and vicinity are extended.

The many friends of Mr. Jas. Osinger will regret to know that he suffered a severe stroke of paralysis a week ago, and now lies in a precarious condition.

Mr. Edward Palmer has purchased Mr. George M. Bent's farm and will remove here in March. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will welcome them back to the neighborhood, while all will regret to lose Mr. and Mrs. Bent.

Mr. Joseph Tanch, who is teaching at Amherst, is at home for the holidays. Miss Alice Troop, teacher at Sandy Cove, Digby Co., Miss Annie Calnek, at Richfield, Digby Co., Miss Esther Gilliat, at Greywood, Miss Bessie Troop, at Hampton, are at their respective homes for their Christmas vacation.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Samuel Bent Wednesday evening, Dec. 29th, when their youngest daughter, Stella, was united in marriage with Mr. Everett Withers. Rev. Mr. Suckling officiating. After the ceremony congratulations were in order, after which refreshments were served. The bride was the recipient of a number of useful presents. Seymour Division Sons of Temperance, of which Mr. Withers is a worthy member, presented him with a handsome parlor table. We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Withers best wishes for a happy and prosperous life.

Lower Granville

Mr. and Mrs. George Anthony spent Christmas in Yarmouth.

Albert Parker went to Boston on Saturday to spend the holidays.

Hugh Foster and Miss Winnie Thorne attended the dance at Round Hill Hall New Years eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Covert, Jr., and child spent Christmas with Mrs. Covert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Almon Parker, Belleisle.

Miss Betts gave a Christmas tree to her Sabbath School in Karsdale Hall, Dec. 28th. The young people were all made happy and all present enjoyed the occasion very much.

GEORGE H PORTER

The death of Mr. George H. Porter took place on New Year's Eve, after a brief illness from pneumonia, being taken ill on Christmas Eve at St. James Hotel, where he was acting as clerk.

Mr. Porter came to Bridgetown from Yarmouth six years ago, with Mr. Chas. F. Dyke, for whom he was book-keeper. Upon Mr. Dyke's return to Yarmouth Mr. Porter remained here and subsequently married a Yarmouth lady, who survives him. Mr. Porter in early days did business in Yarmouth in the firm of Leed and Porter. Subsequently he removed to Halifax and was engaged in insurance business.

In his business life Mr. Porter was noted for the uprightness and honor of his dealings, and his gentlemanly bearing and demeanor won him the respect of all.

He was twice married and by his first wife had two sons, one of whom, Ernest W. Porter, of Hamilton, Ont., survives him, but was prevented by illness from being present at the funeral.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Geo. Johnson, from the residence of Miss James, and the remains were taken to Yarmouth for burial.

MRS. LOUISA FOSTER

The death occurred on Thursday last of Mrs. Louisa Foster, of Bridgetown, from paralysis, her illness extending over three years.

Mrs. Foster was a native of Nictaux but her married life was spent in Bridgetown where she brought up a large family. Those who survive her are Mrs. Hiley, of Melvern Square, Mrs. Wm. Meester, of Clarence, Mr. Hoyt Foster, of Penobscot, Maine, Guilford Foster, of Paradise and Capt. Nelson Foster, who is at sea.

Mrs. Foster was a faithful and devoted mother and a kind hearted neighbor and friend. She was of Baptist denomination and was greatly attached to her church.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. N. McNeill, and burial held in Bridgetown cemetery.

Use Judgement in Selecting Diet for Young and Growing Children

If an ill-nourished child comes under your care," said a well-known doctor lately, "give it a meal of a slice of thick bread, buttered on both sides, placing on the top of the butter either sugar or treacle."

This may be modified with no loss of nourishment and with great gain of cleanliness simply by substituting a thinner slice of bread, buttered on one side for the thick slice buttered on both sides.

As a matter of fact, physicians have for a good while been ordering this bread and butter as a substitute for cod liver oil when this latter cannot be digested, or when people will not take it.

The reason is that butter is invaluable for the delicate and ill-nourished because it is the most digestible form of fat.

It is far better than cream because it can be eaten on bread at every meal without causing biliousness. Cream is extremely nourishing if it is digested, but that has not been all by no means easily digested.

With most people it causes biliousness unless taken in very small quantities, and anything that has this effect will not nourish the body, although intrinsically it may be very nutritious.

Fat is one of the substances which are absolutely essential for the growth and proper development of the body. Strange to say, fat is necessary for the development of the bones as well as for the growth of flesh.

Children deprived of milk become rickety, chiefly because of the want of fat.

There is a great deal of fat in milk—that is to say, fresh, unskimmed milk.

The fat of milk is the cream, which in fresh milk has not been allowed to stand for some hours is mixed up in the tiniest particles with the water, casein, salt and sugar of which milk, as a whole, is composed.

When it is in this extremely fine state of subdivision this milk fat is very easily digested. When the milk has stood and its fat has gathered in a thick mass and risen to the top, the fat is then concentrated and much more difficult of assimilation by the stomach. If it is eaten in any considerable quantity.

When made into butter, however, and taken spread upon bread, the case again is different.

Being mixed up with bread crumbs, chewed, and slowly swallowed, the fat again is subdivided into tiny particles, and reaches the stomach in a condition to be easily acted upon by the digestive juices.

This is why "thin bread and butter" is often ordered in place of cod liver oil.

Remember that it must not be "bread and scrape," but bread pretty thickly buttered. Don't be afraid that butter will cause biliousness. It may do so if it is eaten on hot toast or hot cakes, but it won't if it is eaten on stale bread.

Fat contains the germs of new cellular growth. If we understand that every part of the body is composed of cells, on whose continual reconstruction its maintenance in life and health depends, we can easily comprehend how essential fat is. It is to be a digestible fat if it is to be one of use.

To oblige children to eat meat fat when they have an absolute dislike to it is a great mistake which is made in many a nursery.

Some children actually shudder when a plate of fat meat is placed before them.

This is not a "fad." It is simply Nature's prompting that the fat would not agree with him.

Why? You never yet found a child shudder at a slice of bread and butter thickly sugared over.

Not merely because it likes the idea of eating it, but also because Nature issues no silent command that discomfort will follow the eating.

No jam or marmalade or sugar or treacle, though all wholesome things in themselves, can possibly take the place of butter.

There is no substitute for butter. None of them contains the germs of new cellular growth.

This is what many people are ignorant of when they will not allow their children to eat butter with jam or marmalade. Well, they may save a few pennies by this foolish parsimony, but they defraud their children of one of the most important materials needed for the best development of their growing frames. This is not worth while, is it, even if the house-keeping money is somewhat saved thereby?

PLANKED BEEFSTEAK

How to Prepare and Serve This Tasty and Appetizing Dish.

To plank a beefsteak the first important step is to select your plank. This should be of hard wood, well seasoned, preferably of live oak, hickory, cedar or cherry, and it can be made to order of a size to fit your steak or you can buy a good one at the house furnishing stores costing from 50 cents up, according to size.

One that is used for fish should not be used for meat, as the fish plank should not be washed, simply scraped each time after using, and its flavor will impregnate the meat. If you have a homesade plank you can use galvanized wire tacks to hold the steak in place, but the purchased ones have a wire attachment for this purpose, and some of them have also grooves to hold the juices of the steak that is being cooked.

For planking a sirloin or porter-house steak is usually selected. It should be cut thick and be of the best quality. If you desire your steak well done it must first be placed on a broiler and broiled both sides, one side being better done than the other. Then fasten the well-cooked side to the plank, which should have been heated in the oven until sizzling.

Finish the broiling using a gas flame or before a broiling fire of coals. For rare or medium done steak fasten a wreath of the green end of the plank to either side of the steak, and place it on a large saucer or tray.

When broiled to suit the taste sprinkle with salt, pepper and a little paprika, dot with bits of butter and set on the opened oven door while you order with the various vegetables. These should be all ready so as to lose no time. There should be hot mashed creamy potatoes that can be piped around the edges of the plank using a pastry tube, or the potato can be mounted into little rosettes at either end or equidistant. Between these arrange little mounds of tiny boiled and well-seasoned onions, well-seasoned peas, carrots or cauliflower. Fill in open spaces with bits of parsley or watercress or surround the potato with a wreath of the green.

A lemon cup filled with maitre d'hotel butter can be placed at either end of the plank if desired. Mushrooms often appear as a part of the garnish, and from the meat juice can be made a sauce. A well-seasoned sauce may be made to be passed when serving the steak. Of course the steak is sent to the table on the plank, setting it on a large saucer or tray.

Flowers Which Won't Mix. The florist frowned as he took up the order for a table decoration. "That will never do," he muttered. After calling up the customer and suggesting a change, he told his new clerk a few things.

"You must never take an order that calls for a mixture of niggonette and roses," he said. "A centerpiece of those two flowers wouldn't last half through the luncheon. They simply wilt one another. I don't know why, but they can't get along together."

"It is true of many flowers. Pansies, for instance, last twice as long if they are combined with any other flower, and the same may be said of violets, Jonquills and daffodils, or in this case, roses. You get a new lease of life if you combine a considerable green with them. Carnations will go all in pieces if you combine them with roses, although the roses do not seem to be affected."

"It is more striking in combinations of green with flowers. If you try to use an entirely different type of foliage from what the flowers used to, it won't last so long. So I never put feathery foliage with lilies of the valley, for example, or any other foliage is a thick leaf. I never use thick leaves with carnations, for their foliage is of the feathery type. It isn't as though the flowers fought, but they seem to grieve at being misunderstood."

"What We Want Are Facts." The sentence "What we want are facts" is correct, says The Literary Digest. This decision is based on the following from Gould Brown's "Grammar of English Grammars," page 239: "What is a kind of double relative, equivalent to that which or those which (making it singular or plural according to the meaning). On page 30 of the same work occurs the following: 'Obs. 2. The pronoun what is usually of the singular number, though sometimes plural, as: 'I must turn to the facts, or what appear such to me.—Byron.' All distortions and mimics, as such, are what resist attention instead of pleasure. Steele. 'Every single impression, made even by the same object, is distinguishable from what have gone before and from what succeed.—Kamer 'Elements of Criticism.'"

Rather Ambiguous. Rev. Mr. Dozen had not gained the golden opinions of his congregation, who were unanimous in asserting that he was foolish and conceited. He considered himself greatly slandered and, meeting an old German friend of his in the street one day, began to retail his woes, ending up by saying: "And the churchwarden actually called me a perfect ass. My death prevents me from repeating results, but I think I shall refer to it in the pulpit next Sunday. What would you advise?"

"Mine friend," replied the German soothingly, "I know not, but I think that all you can do will be yourself to buy for them, as usual!"—Pearson's.

An Extraordinary Flower. One of the most extraordinary flowers in cultivation is Hall's amaryllis, which reverses the order of nature by blooming in midsummer without any foliage. Ordinary bulbs bloom in the spring and rest in summer, but Hall's amaryllis suddenly appears out of the bare ground during the dry season. This extraordinary plant has fragrant, rosy lilac flowers which are banded with yellow. In the spring the leaves make their growth and die, and after a long interval of rest the flower stalks appear with the strange effect here described.—Garden Magazine.

THE CHILD AND THE FLOWER.

There is a beautiful story which tells of a child, born and bred in surroundings of lowest poverty and vice, who, strange to say, grew pure and fair, and blossomed forth in the story of a stainless life.

The world marvelled. The world questioned and received this answer: "One day when I had strayed away from my unhappy home, someone on the crowded street passed to give me a smile and a little flower. It was the one sweet thing my life had known. I went back to the same wretched home but I was a new child. That flower never really died. Because of it, and that fleeting smile, I believed that life was good and true, and I resolved to be worthy of it. Whatever I have become, whatever I have accomplished, you may trace it back and back to a flower and a smile."

There is more of truth than fiction in such a story. Who of us is not the better for "someone who smiled," someone who said a cheering word, someone who gave a simple flower? And thinking how much these mean to us, can we doubt that to some starved natures they mean hope, faith and life itself?

Workers, be glad! Rejoice in all your efforts, feeble though they seem! Every seed, every bud, every blossom, every glowing cluster contains the seeds of deathless influence!

All things grow! The tiny spark of right, down-trod and trampled close to carnal soil, can climb from depths below and soar to zodiacs and to God.

All things grow! And plucking out the wicked weeds, by sowing none save kindly seeds, while suns of kindness glow, we raise the blooms of blessed deeds For all things grow!

First impressions count for much in everything and nowhere more than about a home. Poor taste in outside painting, a miscellaneous collection of red and green flower pots and boxes in the yard, unweeded walks, an untidy entrance and finger marks about the door all create prejudices.

Regular Habits

An Absolute Necessity For Good Health

You might as well expect to find a man or woman healthy with constipated bowels as to find a city healthy when its sewers are blocked with refuse.

Nature demands that the indigestible food and waste matter which collects in the lower bowels shall be got rid of at least once in twenty-four hours. If this is not done it decomposes, filling the bowels with poison, which is taken up into the blood and carried all through the body.

Naturally, this poison affects the work of every organ. The liver is deranged, digestion is upset, and biliousness, headaches, irritability and dizzy spells follow. Literally millions of people suffer these results of constipation without realizing the cause, or doing anything to remove it. Yet it can be removed, easily and with certainty, by using Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Take, for example, the case of Mr. George Andrews, Halifax, N.S., as he himself describes it:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic constipation. This ailment never comes single handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. At last I read about these Indian Root Pills. That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed by the testimonials contained therein that I determined to give them a fair trial. They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation and claim they have no equal as a medicine."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were first taken to cure constipation nearly a hundred years ago, and during the last half century they have been very extensively and very successfully used throughout the world. They are entirely vegetable in composition and do not sicken, weaken or gripe like mineral purgatives.

Only Medicine That Did Any Good

After Suffering Tortures For Years, This Lady Found Happy Relief In "Fruit-a-tives".

Frankville, Ont., June 11th, 1908.
"I have received most wonderful benefit from taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' I suffered for years from headaches and pain in the back, and I consulted doctors and took every remedy obtainable without any relief. Then I began taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and this was the only medicine that ever did me any real good. I took several boxes altogether, and now I am entirely well of all my dreadful headaches and backaches."

MRS. FRANK EATON

I take "Fruit-a-tives" occasionally still, but I am quite cured of a trouble that was said to be incurable. I give this testimony voluntarily, in order that others who suffer as I suffered may try this wonderful medicine and be cured."
(Signed) MRS. FRANK EATON.
"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial box, 25c—or sent post-paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS.

In an investigation recently undertaken in Stockholm, Sweden, it was found that the percentage of tuberculous children was 1.61 percent, and if similar statistics and research were applied to the United States it would occasion for the Study of Prevention mean, according to the National Association of Tuberculosis, that 275,700 children between the ages of eight and fifteen, are positively afflicted with tuberculosis. As contrasted with this figure, there are only eleven open air tuberculosis schools in the entire country. In a large number of cities, children with tuberculosis are excluded from the public schools, but in most instances no special provision is made declares that children who are afflicted for them. The National Association the health of their schoolmates, with tuberculosis is a menace to which opinion there is now no expert disagreement, and both on this account and because they are physically unable to keep up their work with other scholars are recommended. Indeed, it is more and more considered to be a duty to provide at least one well-equipped school or special class-room for each twenty-five thousand people. The 'Journal of Outdoor Life,' as the result of careful investigations, has found that in cities like Providence, Boston and New York, where special open-air tuberculosis schools have been conducted for two years, the results obtained from the treatment of children in such schools have demonstrated the great advantage of this class institution. It has proved that children can be cured of tuberculosis and keep up with their school-work without any danger to fellow-pupils. There seems no reason why in large centres at least such segregation should not be easily possible.

THE TAX INSTALLMENT

(The Truro Sun)

The Sun has been approached by many people with the request that we continue to advocate that the taxes be paid in installments, two or three. We are assured that many refrain from paying their taxes when due because they are not able to lump sum it. If permitted to make two or three payments during the year they say there would be no hanging back; that by the end of the year every dollar would be paid. Think it over, Mr. Rulers.

RATHER STALE BREAD.

"What! a loaf of bread over 1,800 years old? Nonsense!" Well, my friend, there is no nonsense about it. You can see several of them in the Royal National Museum, at Naples, burned black like carbon, or charcoal. They were found in the ruins of Pompeii, a city that was buried by an eruption of hot, fiery ashes from Mount Vesuvius in the year 79. No one could eat this bread, although carbon is the element in our food that promotes heat in the body.

When indigestion prevails, your food does not nourish you and you have headaches, poor blood, constipation, dizziness, and other ills. Mother Seigel's Syrup, the sure herbal remedy cures all these ills. Mr. Burton Shortliffe, Central Grove, Digby Co., N.S., writes:—"I was troubled with indigestion for a long time and found no medicine to give such immediate relief as Mother Seigel Syrup. For indigestion and all stomach troubles it is a grand remedy."

UP TO THE MINUTE STYLES.

The Fat Woman and the Cuirass Effects Do Not Agree.

A funny sight these days is the fat woman in a princess trotting frock of cuirass effect clinging tightly around the hips and perhaps halfway to the knees, where it forms a founce or plaiting. It is a sight to make the angels weep, and yet fat women will wear these frocks.

Three piece costumes promise to be worn throughout the autumn, and the model in the cut is made with one of the best liked princess gowns and is trimmed with patch pockets. The gown is an exceedingly smart one with plaited side portions and epaulet-like pieces. In the illustration the model is turned out in French serge in a grayish blue shade.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Here's Your Fur Hat For the Coming Winter.
The "loque russe" is predicted, will supersede the peach basket hat for winter. As the name implies, the new hat is of Russian origin. Sacrifice of brim is offset in the toque by increase of height. In spite of the laps and folds in which the brigand effect is sought, the upright measurement may run anywhere from a foot to eighteen inches. A design in tubular beading or in gold or silver coquards clasps directly in front aligrets, gouria or paradise tips which rise straight and feather out above the body of the hat.

This combination garment is made of gabardine with lace-trimmed. The special feature is to be found in the fact that there is absolutely no fullness in the waist line or over the hips. The drawers are roomy and joined to a smooth yoke. The corset cover is plain at the waist line, with slight fullness at the neck edge, which is regulated by means of a beading threaded with ribbon.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Materials Are to Be of Dull Finish in the Fall.

It is predicted that dull finished fabrics are to be used for the smartest frocks in the fall. This is a radical change from the lustrous effects which have been worn all summer.

It is rumored that long coats may have their popularity challenged in the near future by the Russian blouse, for signs are not lacking that this old time favorite is again to be brought forward. Examples of it have already been seen this summer.

There are blits that we are to return to short skirts and that the floor length and trains will not be so much seen this winter. Many of the new French draped skirts are short. The Parisian model makers have been feeling their way all the time to this end.

The little shirt waist model illustrated is especially adapted for the high school girl's requirements. It is attractive, sensible and plain. The blouse is scalloped and closed slightly to the left of the front. The sleeves are made in sections, and the skirt is cut to give a panel effect with fitted portions below. For the trimming any pretty banding could be used either in contrasting material cut into strips or braid applique.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the blouse from 32 to 40 inches bust measure, No. 645, and skirt in sizes from 22 to 30 inches waist measure, No. 632. Send 10 cents each to this office for these patterns, and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail.

some other material and produce the effect of a new frock.

A smart blouse shop is displaying a waist in sheer white linen tucked across the front and fastened on the left side. Running from the point of the shoulder down to the belt on each side are lace ruffles. The sleeves are long and trimmed with bands of lace and lace frills.

The blouse illustrated is a simple affair that is attractive for all seasons. The low collar is very comfortable, but it can be made with a stock and plain long sleeves, when it becomes somewhat different in effect. For general wear French flannel is a good material to use, the dotted variety being smart; in fact, any fabric adapted to a tailored finish is suitable.

Two Sides to this Laughable Story

The Truro Sun tells the following amusing story:—

"He who laughs last laughs best."
This old adage accidentally found verification in Truro one night this week, when two well-known citizens figured in a funny accident. One of the gentlemen rooms in the building in which he has his office. Occasionally, evenings, a certain other gentleman drops in to chat a few minutes before going to his home.

On the night in question this gentleman arrived a little later than usual, so much so that he found his friend robed in his night uniform, pajamas, ready for bed. The two, however, sat and chatted for a few minutes, when the caller left for home, the other immediately tumbled into bed; but he had no sooner done so than he heard some person pounding on the front door. He at once got up and went into the door from the direction of which came the sound of the knocking. Before opening the door he cautiously called out, "Who's there?"

The answer, "Me: open the door," came back in the voice of his friend who had just taken his departure.

The door was then opened, and he on the outside said: "The tails of my coat became fast in the door when I came out, and I could not open it again." Certainly he couldn't, for the reason that there was a spring lock on it, and the bolt was shot when he went out.

The man of the house, when he took in the situation, went into convulsions of laughter, and in the excitement of his mirth and still clad in his pajamas, stepped out onto the verandah, but no sooner had he done so than a gust of wind caused a back draught that slammed the door to, and then it was the other's turn to laugh. The night was chilly and the clothing scant. But how to escape from the uncomfortable position, for the key was inside. Finally an open basement window was spied and seized upon as the only way out of the scrape, and when last seen by his friend he of the pajama costume was wriggling his way through it, probably into a coal bin, but finally back to his room and to bed.

NOT JUST WHAT SHE MEANT

It was indeed a beautiful night. The gentle zephyrs played musically amid the delicate fronds of the turnip tops, and wafted from far-distant fields the subtle perfume of the muscivorous onion and the fragrance of decaying cabbages.

"Betsy," he whispered, as they sat together on the fence surrounding Mrs. Filligan's pesty, "how beautiful you be! Jes' think of it, Betsy! When we be married we will have a pik of our own! Think of that, Betsy!"

"Ian," she whispered, a note of resentment in her voice, "what do I care for pigs? I shan't want a pik when I've got you!"

Then all was silent once more, save for the musical frolics of the zephyrs already mentioned.

How Common Soaps Run Clothes

Ordinary yellow soaps eat the texture of dainty lingerie and household linen. You must rub harder to get out the dirt—and that, too, wears out the clothes. So even if these poor soaps cost less, they would be more expensive to use.

Taylor's Borax Soap is made of coconut oil and borax, but the price is the same as for soap made of cheap, harmful materials. One cake goes as far as any two ordinary soaps.

To wash fine lace curtains, first brush out as much dust as possible with a soft whisk broom. Then baste each curtain carefully upon an old piece of muslin a little larger in size than the curtains, tacking each scallop firmly in place. Make a strong suds with Taylor's Borax Soap and warm water, and let the curtain soak in this for about half an hour. Then squeeze gently with the hand until clean; (do not rub) rinse, starch and spread perfectly straight on the floor or other smooth surface, fastening the muslin down firmly with small brads. When perfectly dry carefully remove the basting threads and the curtains will appear like new.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

—1909 has become history, and has proved itself a wonderful year in the scientific progress of the world. Some of the most marvellous discoveries on land and sea and in the air above have been made. One thing alone would have made 1909 stand out a prominent page in history,—the electrifying claims of the Arctic explorers, Cook and Peary to the discovery of the North Pole. The controversy arising from the opposing claims of the contestants and the collapse of "Cook, the pretender" will make the event no less interesting and memorable in history's pages.

The wonderful development and commercial success of the aeroplane is doubtless the greatest achievement of the year. A million dollar company have undertaken to supply a man his air-ship as other companies his automobile, and schools for training air-explorers have come into existence. Four names are prominent under the head of this invention.—Forman who made a record for the longest flight, 118 miles in three hours; Paulhan who flew the highest nearly two thousand feet upward; the Wright brothers who made themselves famous during New York's Hudson-Fulton celebration; Bleriot, the Frenchman, who flew across the English Channel from France to England; Curtis, who made a record at Rheims, and Count Zeppelin who made a successful journey, travelling 37 hours, with a crew of eleven men, eating and sleeping at ease, and covering a distance of 860 miles.

Wireless telegraphy has made great strides during 1909 and has become a practical equipment of steam ships, and will no doubt in time be applied to all sea-going vessels. The wireless telephone has also become a practical means of communication.

In the world of railroading the latest discovery is the mono-rail. The monorail is a car mounted on wheels which runs along a single rail.

In 1909 the great ocean steamer Mauritania, has given us a new speed in crossing the Atlantic, less than four days and and a half. The submarine the "Octopus" of the American navy also did some record clipping.

These are a few of the important steps of progress carved during the year 1909.
It seems impossible that 1910. can keep up the pace of her predecessor. But, perhaps,—who knows!

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES
DISTEMPERS.

O'HIGGINS IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Canadian Writer is In Centre of Political Storm in Denver.
Mr. Harvey J. O'Higgins, formerly of Toronto, who has become one of the best known writers in New York, is very far from being a man who courts sensational publicity for himself or his work. But he is getting it just the same. His name is at present being mentioned in the newspapers of Denver, Colorado, almost as frequently as the name Beresford was mentioned in the press of Toronto during fair week. It is, in fact, appearing constantly in papers all over the Western States; and it is just possible that before this article appears, Mr. O'Higgins may have been sandbagged or kidnapped, or possibly the fingers of his writing hand may have been shot away. Now, what on earth, you ask, has modest, quiet Harvey O'Higgins been up to that he should be in the thick of such a storm? Well, this is the way of it, and the story will be interesting to his many Canadian friends and admirers.

Most people who read the papers at all carefully have heard something of Benjamin Barr Lindsey, judge of the juvenile court in Denver. They call him "de kids' judge." He is the friend of all children, and believes that it is the duty of the state to be very, very careful in the handling of boys and girls, who, standing unguarded and unadvised at the threshold of life, are in danger of becoming criminals instead of useful citizens. He believes in trying by every conceivable method that is practicable to set children on the right path before sentencing them to jail to herd with confirmed criminals. He has devised many ways of doing this, and children's societies, agents and Government officials from all over the world go to his court to observe the results of his juvenile parole system and other methods of dealing with youthful offenders. But he has not been content to fight for the children. For years he has been fighting against the rotten methods of machine politicians and dishonest corporations and combinations in the city and the state in which he lives. Some time ago Everybody's Magazine concluded that the publication of an autobiography of Judge Ben. B. Lindsey would be in the language of Kid Burns, the "big noise" of a season in magazine features. So they arrange with the judge for the material, and sent Harvey O'Higgins to Denver to edit it—meaning that the latter would write the story, concisely and strikingly.
Mr. O'Higgins says that Lindsey, who is a tiny ninety-eight pound man, but a lion in courage, has done wonders in the way of reform in Denver, although he has neither money, social magnificence, nor strong friends.
His enemies are legion, including all the gamblers and hard cases, male and female, of the city. He has been offered big bribes to quit his fight for the honest administration of honest laws. He has been threatened. Attempts have been made to discredit him and blacken his character, but he keeps on fighting.

Recently it became known in Denver that Judge Lindsey's real story containing "real names" and written by the able hand of Mr. O'Higgins was about ready for publication—a ripping story of 75,000 words. And during the past two weeks it is said that lawyers and detectives, representing powerful influences and men whose real names were likely to be heralded to a continent as crooks, have been busy trying to induce the magazine not to print the story. It is only to be hoped that no extreme western vengeance will fall upon Mr.
O'Higgins for his part in promised sensational exposure, although such newspaper headlines as "Gang Plotted His Murder" are employed by friendly newspapers in describing the danger in which Lindsey himself stands. In this connection, however, it is reassuring to note that even the papers most strongly antagonistic to the judge are free in their praise of "the famous magazine writer and novelist" and "gentleman of charming personality" who is writing the sinister "autobiography."

The Bay Collector.
One day recently the front doorbell of a certain Toronto house rang and the mistress of the home, answering the summons, found on the threshold a diminutive Irish lad.

"Well," she queried, "what is it?"
"I've come for the money," was the laconic but cryptic response.
The lady had no idea what the boy meant, but finally the latter made it clear that he had come to collect a small sum owing on a parcel which had been delivered to a visitor in the house. The lady paid the money and then suggested that she be given a receipt.

"Receipt—what's that?" asked the small but determined collector.
The lady explained that as they were each acting the part of agent in the transaction it would be advisable for him to give her something in the shape of a voucher.

The lad's education evidently did not include a knowledge of the technicalities of any such formal proceeding as this, but he was bright—and Irish. So, with the remark, "Aw, I know what you want now," he wrote on the back of the memorandum he had brought with him:
"T. Maloney came for the money and got it."

Ontario legislative library now being formed to replace that which was destroyed by fire. Only this morning a letter was received from a Toronto gentleman offering a relic of the rebellious days of 1837. It is a pamphlet by William Lyon Mackenzie entitled the "Legislative Black List of Upper Canada, or Official Corruption and Hypocrisy Unmasked." This is a pamphlet which was not in the collection of the destroyed library.

What Drink Costs Nova Scotia
in Money, Lives and Character

THE REMEDY

One of the best assurances we have of the ultimate suppression of the evil of intemperance and the overthrow of the drink traffic lies in the fact that the Catholic and Protestant churches are one in their desire and efforts for sobriety.
Then the different temperance organizations connected with the religious bodies, and others independent of these are doing an immense amount of good along the line of moral suasion. Thousands of men are good citizens today owing to the grand work done by these societies.
A great force for righteousness is found in the Womens' Christian Temperance Union. God bless the women who are bound together in Catholic and Protestant societies to work for God and home and native land!

A PLEA FOR UNITED WORK

For the overthrow of the drink evil in our Province, we plead for,
(a) Total abstinence on the part of individuals. We make a reasonable plea for continued effort along this line of work. Sir Victor Horsely has said, "From the scientific standpoint, total abstinence must be the safe course, if we are to follow the plain teaching of truth and common sense."
In view of such a declaration from so eminent an authority, is it not within reason to appeal to all classes to forego the beverage use of liquor in their homes, and at all social and public functions?
And on higher ground than this—for we are Christian people—is it not within reason to appeal for the sake of men for whom Christ died?

(b) We plead for the abolition of the drink traffic in Nova Scotia. A German professor in the University of Berlin has put the case for legislation in the following words: "The human is doubtless free, but it needs a helping hand to aid it in right choices, and to annihilate those dangerous influences which drag men to ruin. The state should follow a policy of moral support in aid of those weak in character, and strengthen them and remove temptation from them." Will the traffic ever be suppressed in Nova Scotia? Most certainly—and at no very distant date. "In God's government of this world, no evil has come to stay." Look at the forces against the traffic: The women of our land, the medical profession, the leaders in industry labor leaders, the churches—God Himself is with us.
Let us begin the New Year, 1910, determined with God's help at any sacrifice to make this fair Province of ours a land in which the boys will have a better chance than they now have to grow up to pure manhood.
Let us be true to Christ, who came to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captive and the opening of the prison to them that are bound. Let us remember that self-sacrifice was the price of the world's redemption, and is still the price; and we will thus put heart and soul and life's blood into this work of temperance reform.

Paradise

A meeting of the Paradise Agricultural Society will be held on Saturday evening, Jan. 8th, for the purpose of appointing a delegate to the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association, which meets at New Glasgow.

Mr. McCutcheon, of St. John, who acted as pastor here during summer spent a day or two last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ritson Marshall.

Mrs. Dunn, of Kings Co., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Balcom.

Closing day in the schools was made a pleasant one for the pupils. Entertaining programs were rendered by both rooms, with Christmas trees laden with gifts and sweets. Principal Banks was presented with a suit case and Miss Chesley with a handsome piece of china.

Roy Balcom and Reinald Bishop return to their duties at Acadia on Wednesday.

Mrs. Geo. Pearson entertained some of her young friends pleasantly on New Years Eve.

A very successful entertainment was little ones took their parts well and the program reflected credit on those in charge, as it requires no small amount of time and patience to control the restive spirits of the little ones at this joyous season.

Following is the program:—

LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

Some correspondence coming in late is held over this week.

The New Year bargain sales have begun. Look out for them. It will pay you.

Messrs. J. H. Longmire & Sons are moving their business office to a room in the Rutgers Building.

Mr. William Spurr, of Clarence was completed his new house built during the summer and autumn and has one of the finest country residences in Annapolis County.

A Skating Carnival is to be held next Wednesday evening at the new Bridgetown Skating Rink. As this is the first of the season it will no doubt be very attractive.

Prof. J. H. Morse now has a position in Litchfield, Conn., the birthplace of the famous preacher, Henry Ward Beecher and his gifted sister Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe.

W. A. Chute, the popular building mover, during the past year has moved twenty-seven buildings. He is now figuring on a large public building to be moved in Kings County.

A good start has been made on the fund for the Recreation Hall for the County Institutions, the sum of $173 being already subscribed. Our columns next week will contain particulars. In the meantime contributions are in order.

The Mission Band of the Baptist church under the direction of their leader, Mr. E. C. Young, held a concert in the church on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 26th which considering the weather was well attended and very much enjoyed.

A rain storm on Sunday morning took off most of the snow. A lower temperature settled in again on Monday bringing back the snow. Yesterday we had the coldest storm of the season, but today has been quite pleasant and the snow covering remains.

In place of the usual service next Friday evening a meeting will be held in St. James' school-room for purpose of completing the organization of an Adult Bible class. A preliminary meeting has already been held and much enthusiasm prevails in connection with the organization.

Owing to an epidemic of typhoid fever in Montreal the doctors of the hospitals have issued a circular to which they order all city water to be boiled before using. There are 4,800 cases of typhoid in the city and the hospitals are overcrowded. Thirty-one new cases were reported on Wednesday morning and the mortality is heavy, totalling 43 for December up to the 24th, and is more than three times the number reported for September.

The property in Boston bounded by Columbus Avenue, Park Square, Providence and Berkeley streets, also the land on the other side of Berkeley St. extending to Clarendon and Stanbone streets, has been sold to a trust for $5,250,000. It was assessed at $4,000,000. This section of the city will see great developments in the near future, as new streets are contemplated and Arlington street will be extended through to Castle Square.

A very sudden death occurred at Annapolis Royal, last Thursday night, when Mrs. Riordan, wife of the proprietor of the Queen Hotel, was discovered lifeless at the foot of the stairs at a late hour by an incoming traveller. It is supposed she was coming down stairs on some errand and fell, bursting a blood vessel in the fall. She was popularly esteemed by the travelling public and by the people of Annapolis, who deeply sympathize with Mr. Riordan and the little son in their sad loss.

The Rev. Arthur H. Anstey, principal of St. Boniface College, Warminster, England, who was a guest of the Rev. E. and Mrs. Underwood, at the Rectory last week, expressed himself as delighted with what he had been able to see of Nova Scotia during his short visit. The visit was particularly delightful to Mr. and Mrs. Underwood not only because Mr. Underwood is an old student of St. Boniface, but because Warminster is quite near their respective English homes, and Mr. Anstey brought warm greetings.

A Kentville exchange admits that Kentville has had the name of being a bad place. As boys we heard it called "The Devil's Half Acre." The older citizens will remember when it was the exception for a day or a night to pass without a fight or drunken row on the streets and the number of men who then lived here who filled drunkard's graves is really astounding when one stops to reckon them up. Today, however, to find a man drunk or see a street row is in comparison a rarity and it is doubtful if one man can be found here today who is likely to die from excessive drinking. Good for Kentville! It may yet be the banner town of the province.

The school children of Inglewood wish to thank their teacher, Miss Annie G. Longley, for the nice Christmas presents they received from her and wishing her a Happy New Year.

"I have heard parents say to their children, 'You should not ask Why?' said Dr. Campbell Morgan in a sermon at Whitesfield's tabernacle, London, England. 'Those who cannot answer their children's 'Whys' have no right to have children.'"

LIFE AT BELLA COOLA.

British Columbia Town is a Paradise For Fertility.

Bella Coola, B.C., is a paradise of fertility where man may live amidst scenic beauty in a veritable land of milk and honey at a minimum expenditure of the sweat of his brow. There the waters team with fish and there over the bear-meat and wild fowl of all descriptions an easy spoil to the hunter and trapper.

It lies four hundred miles north of Vancouver by steamship, then sixty miles inland through Burke's Channel, from where the Channel touches tidewater. It is a valley, stretching far into the great ranch lands of the interior—a gateway into the latter, over "The Slide," one of the easiest passes through the heights. A new and easier grade in "The Slide" for pack-trains, has lately superseded the old one, made under the supervision of Mr. J. E. Morrison, to whose practical knowledge and faith in the Ootza Lake district and surrounding country is largely due the revealing of its possibilities to the settlers that are pouring in.

Bella Coola is an old Hudson Bay trading post, and it has been for years a rendezvous for fur-traders of all nationalities; also the best of supply for the country within a radius of several hundred miles. And as the company, by its resource and fair-dealing, won and kept the confidence of the redman, who is ever the quickest to appreciate a "square deal," so has its late employe and present owner of the site and self-same store, and withal chief magistrate of the place, kept that confidence and gained an abiding influence over the morals of the Bella Coola and allied tribes by his strict integrity and uprightness during his forty-five years of residence amongst them.

The old wharf road extends for several miles to the cannery and it is joined by the bridge across the ravine to the Government trail, that cuts through the Indian Reserve at the foot of the valley. Fifteen years ago the road up the valley was built by the Norwegians, a colony of whom had received a Government grant of land and along with it enormous grants of money for road-making. Indeed, eighty-six thousand dollars have been so expended, of which only thirteen thousand have as yet been collected in taxes.

Fort William to Wabigoon. In describing a trip over the National Transcontinental Railway Mr. T. St. Pierre writes in The Manitoba Free Press: "As Superior Junction is reached there are marked signs of an influx of population. Fine hotels are open at the Junction itself, besides a couple of stores and a private bank. The floating population is around 200. Wako, two miles to the south, is also showing signs of becoming a prosperous village, it being now the head of navigation to Sturgeon Lake where gold mines are said to be plentiful. These mines are also within ten miles of the Transcontinental grade.

By no stretch of the imagination can the country extending northwest of Fort William to the Wabigoon river be classed as sterile. For long distances it is fairly level, well watered and bears every evidence of fertility. Only the forbidding appearance of the north shore of Lake Superior could have so long kept population away from these hundreds of thousands of acres of woodland. There is considerable variety in the character of the soil. Portions of the area are of red or light-colored clay, changing to clay loam. In other sections sandy loam and black loam are the prevailing characteristics. The subsoil is as a rule of a porous nature, which together with the rolling formation of the surface in most localities precludes the necessity of drainage, except low-lying land. Much of the country has been overrun with fire, making clearing comparatively easy. The success which has attended farming along the C.N.R. and C.P.R., where it has been attempted, bespeaks the future of the Hinterland, where the climate is better owing to the absence of the fierce blasts from the Great Lakes.

An Ancient Debt. Mr. Francis Beale, 359 King street east, Toronto, has a considerable amount of money coming to him. Some time ago he appeared before the Board of Control and claimed that in 1854 he paid $30.40 more on the sewer rates than was necessary. The matter went to the city treasurer's office, and it was discovered that the claim was sound, and that Mr. Beale was entitled to the rebate. The Board of control promptly ordered the amount paid.

Then Controller Geary introduced the subject of interest. "That money has been idle, so far as Mr. Beale is concerned, and I think he should get interest."

The board concurred in this, and it was ordered that the treasurer's department should compute the interest, legally compounded and pay the amount to the old gentleman. As this will bring the sum into the hundreds, Mr. Beale was lucky to have ever paid his account before Confederation.

Green Flag Barred. Ireland was landed a figurative poke on the solar plexus recently at Toronto by Station Superintendent Beck at the Union depot, who refused to allow the green bunting with harp and all to decorate the train which carried the field battery from the exhibition back to Kingston. A member of the corps on the train had hoisted the Irish colors in the place where the company flag is usually flown, and Mr. Beck insisted on its removal, much to the chagrin of a number of Irishmen. The train was liberally bedecked with other flags, however.

Beer Barrels For Bridge. The empty barrels—165 in number—whose contents of 7 per cent. beer and porter were emptied into the Montreal River a few days ago by the inspectors, are being used as bridges to support the floating bridge which joins the two towns of Smyth and Elk Lake.

More bread and Better bread —And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

The Training of John

An Amusing Tale of the Way a Stingy Man's Second Wife Declined to be Imposed Upon

By CORA PHILIPS

"So you want to know how I came to have John, when I knew just how he treated Mary, his first wife. Well, I'll tell ye all about it."

"You know Abner left me very poorly off. The mortgage was to run out in about a year an' what to do I didn't know. Well, one day, when the time was near out, I was a-hoein' the potatoes, alongside the fence jinin' John's cornfield. I tell ye, I, I was mighty blue; never felt bluer in my whole life. I was just meditating on what to do when the old farm was took away from me.

"Purty good garden fer a green hand, sez somebody over the fence. 'Yes,' sez I; 'practice makes perfect, an' I have worked hard enough at it s'nce I was left alone.'

"Wall Marthy,' sez, he, 'you'n I seem to be, n the same fix. You need a man to do your hoein' an' s'ch, an' I need a woman ter see about my house an' if you'll marry me we'll jist jine forces and work in double harness. I can't find no help that'll do as Mary did, (Thinks I to myself, you never will either.) 'So what do you say my dear Marthy?'

"I didn't say nuthin' for the nex' few minutes. It all came over me to onct. What a stinny unfeelin' man he'd allers been. Poor Mary jist slaved her life out fer him; never went any place; had to do the house-work alone, an' a good deal of his work besides. I knew he was able to live in a much better shape, an' have some enjoyment in life. Now Abner, you know was jist the oppersite. He was a n'ortful clever man in books and sich but kind of shiftless and easy—allers in for a good time. It allers worried me to have things lookin' so slack like—all at loose ends, as you might say.

"Wall,' sez I to myself, 'beggars can't be choosers, an' a stingy man's better than the poorhouse.' So I speaks right up an' sez: 'John, we've been nabors for many years. I know your faults, and s'pose you know mine; so, if you want me, all right. Perhaps we might do wuss. 'Wall, we agreed to be married right off. John said it was stylish to go on a weddin' tower nowadays; an' as he wanted ter go to Pender to see about sellin' some stock, an' as Mary Ann Spencer, his cousin, lived about half way, we could stop there both ways an' not cost us anything; he thought we'd better go.

"We stayed about a week, had a middlin' good time, an' got home in the afternoon all right. The nex' morning I woke up pretty airy, and I sez to myself, Now or never, Marthy. Keep up your courage.'

"John was still asleep and snorin' away. But bime-by he gave an un-airthly snore an' waked up. When he see it was gettin' daylight he nudged me, an' sez he: 'Marthy! Oh, Marthy, come, come wake up! It's broad daylight. Come, Marthy, git up, or we won't have any breakfast today.'

"I was sound asleep an' powerful hard to wake; but after awhile I rubbed my eyes an' sed: 'Got a good fire, John?'

"Fire!' sez he, 'No; I don't build fires. Mary allers built the fires.'

"Did she?' sez I, sorter cool like, 'So did Abner.' I turned over an' went to sleep agin, or at least he thought I did. Well, he never made a move until the sun rose an' shone in the bedroom window. Then he got up an' built the fire. There wasn't any kindlin's nora stick of wood, an' he jist hummed himself to get some. Arter the fire got to burnin' in good shape, I got up. I was orful tired lyin' abed so long, but sez I to myself, 'If I build fires now, I'll hev to do it, an' in cold weather I won't build fires for any man.' He was kind of grouchy all day; but I didn't pear to take notice, an' he got over it. The nex' day he began hayin' and had nine men to help him.

"I had all the work to do—churnin' feedin' the chickens, sweepin' an' dustin'—an' it was no small job. Come time to get dinner, an' there wasn't a splinter of wood cut. So I goes out and rings the call bell. Pretty soon John came, lookin' black and savage, and wanted to know what I wanted.

"I want some wood to burn,' sez I. 'Wal, thar's the woodpile, Go an' split some, Mary allers did.'

"Did she?' sez I. 'So did Abner.'

'Wal, he cut some wood, an' advised never to call him again unless t was for his meals.

"The nex' day it was the same thing—not a stick of wood to get dinner with. Thinks I, 'Old fellow, you ain't got Mary to deal with now. I'll larn you somethin' that you won't forget for a while; somethin' you have needed to know for a right smart spell—a trick with a hole in it.'

"So when dinner time come, I blew sets down to the table. Sich astonishin' the horn, an' in comes all ten men an' ed faces you never seen when they viewed the grub. The potatoes, chicken and vegetables, washed clean an' put on raw; the pie and biscuit juss' dough; not a thing cooked. John was madder than a wet hen.

"What does this mean?' he thundered. 'This table is a nice lookin' mess!'

"It means I can't cook without wood,' sez I.

"Wal, those men never went back to the field until all that wood was split for the stove. I was never bothered for wood agin.

"A few weeks after I wanted some money pretty bad. I had decided to fix the settin'-room respectable like. I needed some lace curtains, a rockin' chair and a rug or two. Mary never had any you know. I asked a number of time for the money, but he made all kinds of excuses.

"Wal, one day a man that bought butter and eggs an' poultry came along, so I sold him every pound of butter, three dozen young chickens an' every egg I had. I got thirty dollars for 'em. When John came home, I told him what I had done.

"Where's the money?' sez he. 'Mary allers gave me the money for butter an' eggs.'

"Did she?' sez I. 'So did Abner.'

"He got tired of settin' Mary up to me as an example, for I would offset her with Abner every time. When he wouldn't let me have money I wanted, I'd sell somethin' every time. I sold a cow one time to buy a base burner and a coun for the settin'-room.

"An' now he enjoys the little settin'-room, with its bright fire, comfortable rockin' chairs an' the daily papers an' magazines, as much as I do. He found out I was bound to have my own way so he behaves quite decent, an' I lay it to his trainin'."

DOCTOR MUST PAY FOR BABY'S DEATH.

Boston, December 28.—George R. Sackett, of Chelsea, was awarded a verdict of $2,500 against Dr. Charles H. Shackford, by a first session jury before Judge Raymond in a suit for $5,000 damages for the suffering and death of his infant daughter, Marion A. Sackett, from the alleged negligence of the defendant, who attended her.

According to the plaintiff, the defendant was called in on February 20 1905, to attend the three-week-old child who was suffering from an infantile trouble. The defendant is claimed to have dictated a prescription to a clerk in a neighboring drug store. The medicine prescribed was given to the child and she died the next day. The plaintiff claimed the medicine contained too much opium.

The defendant said he prescribed proper medicine for the child's ailment, and that the drug clerk did not follow his prescription. He denied responsibility. The case was tried some months ago and the jury disagreed. Coakley, Coakley and Sherman were the lawyers for the plaintiff, and H. C. Long represented the defendant.

UNION BLEND TEA

The Tea that Satisfies

I PUT my business reputation as a judge of good tea back of every packet of Union Blend Tea that I sell. I do that in this way: if you don't like it, you will never buy again. And I cannot afford to spend money in advertising to gain your confidence and then destroy that confidence by offering you inferior tea. Therefore, I don't do it. You can take my word and prove for yourself that Union Blend Tea at 40c. per lb. will go half as far as any 30c. lb. tea on the market. And it will make better tea, too. Make your tea-cup prove it.

Harry W. Forest

Tragedy in the Snap Catch

The poor little newly-fledged school ma'am who shut the liddle in and then forgot him for a long, nearly fatal while, is in a pitiable pickle surely. That she is very young and had her mind over full of visions of pleasure to come will help to exonerate her—also that the children, including the injured lad, all profess to like her.

While the subject is fresh in mind—hear ye! hear ye! please, all who are in reach of my words—be very careful of your choice of fastenings for closets. For small china cupboards and the like, the little brass or bronzed snap lock catches are a great convenience. But for large closets and small back stair catch-alls and such, I should hesitate to use them.

My reason is based on the experience of a neighbor of mine, who lives in the ancient homestead of her family. Some years ago her mother, while on a visit to her said: "Be careful when you go into the little closet upstairs by the chimney that the door does not fly to; for I was caught in there for an hour before anyone heard my call." A few months ago the lady herself intent upon the annual rounding up of her immaculate household goods, was blithely singing as she turned out blankets and looked over pieces in the depths of this narrow deep closet, built at one side of the big house chimney. Suddenly a puff of wind caught the door of stout pine slurring it to with a bang and the snap lock had her fast.

The history of the subsequent hours is not a pleasant memory to her. The chimney bricks were warm and heated the little place to suffocation. Her screams were not heard in the empty house. No one came; her husband was away attending to his business, and her children at school. I passed the house on the way to a train, and heard nothing, and no good angel or telepathic impulse led me to drop in, as was a frequent custom with me. Her shoulder ached from the battering against the door; her old enemy, phthisis, began to press on her breathing, and a feeling of confusion, even despair, took possession of her. Finally, however, she ceased to scream, and laying down by the wee crack at the threshold fortified herself with a little fresh air. Being a religious woman she prayed that some help and guidance might reach her, and her prayer was answered.

As her brain steadied she began to enumerate the contents of the closet in her mind, and suddenly she remembered two solid leaves of an extension table that were stored near the chimney. She groped for them in the pitch darkness, and readily found them, used them as a battering ram, and after several efforts succeeded in bursting the lock. She fell out upon the floor, bruised, bathed in perspiration, exhausted, more dead than alive, yet alive to find that she had been imprisoned nearly three hours. Horror at the thought of what might have resulted had one of her young children been confined in that hole for that length of time prostrated her afresh, and no one slept in that abode that night until every snap-lock and catch of that variety had been removed from the doors of the numerous closets contained in the house.

I think that I should see to it that no unventilated closet large enough to admit a kitten should be equipped with any such self-closing device, lest a real tragedy ensue. I presume there have been many narrow escapes, and somehow I have a hazy recollection of some such horror in our suburbs in recent years, when two little children wandered into a house in process of construction and shut themselves into a closet under a sink. Their dead bodies were found after a frenzied and prolonged search of the surrounding country had been made.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a very valuable medicine for throat and lung troubles, quickly relieves and cures painful breathing and a dangerously sounding cough which indicates congested lungs. Sold by all dealers.

In one instance, at least, bad spelling enabled an office boy to express the precise fact. His employer had just reluctantly left to attend a meeting of bank directors where proceedings were sure to be long and prosy.

"James," he said to the tow-headed lad, "put up the sign saying that I am out."

James sought for it in vain, so he inscribed and posted the following truthful announcement: "Out—Gone to a Bored Meeting."

HEAR WHY WE SPEAK FOR Zam-Buk

THE GREAT HERBAL BALM

INJURED FOOT CURED.

"I speak for Zam-Buk because it cured me of a terribly bad foot," says Mrs. Alice Berryman of 190 John St. North, Hamilton. She adds: "The injury was caused by a wagon wheel, and the sore was on my right foot. It became very inflamed and swollen and so painful that I fainted away. In spite of treatment, the wound got no better and the foot became more and more swollen until it was several times its usual size. The flesh was terribly bruised and blackened and it was quite impossible for me to walk. My husband's mother at last brought me a box of Zam-Buk. This was applied to the foot and it was surprising how soon I found relief from the severe pain. A further supply of Zam-Buk was obtained and I persevered in using this balm alone. In a couple of days the swelling had gone down considerably, the discoloration was less distinct and the pain was banished. In four days I could go about as usual: the bruised and injured foot had been thoroughly cured by the timely use of Zam-Buk."

Did you ever ask yourself:

"How is it that Zam-Buk is so popular?" It is because it is superior and different to other salves. Contrast them! Most salves are nine-tenths animal oil or fat. Zam-Buk hasn't a trace of animal fat in it. Most salves contain mineral coloring matter. Zam-Buk is absolutely without! Many salves contain poisonous astringents. Zam-Buk doesn't.

Zam-Buk is actually more powerfully antiseptic than crude carbolic acid. Yet it stops instead of causing pain and smarting when put on a wound.

It heals more quickly than any known substance, abscesses, ulcers, eczema, blood-poisoning, cuts, scald sores, chaps and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send 1c stamp for trial box.

POISONED FINGER HEALED.

Mrs. Frank St. Denis of 305 Thompson St., Winnipeg, speaks for Zam-Buk because it cured her of a poisoned finger, which had caused her days of agony. Hear her experience. She says: "One morning, while washing, I felt a slight pain in the end of my finger. This gradually got more acute until the evening of the next day the end of the finger had become swollen and hard and so bime I became alarmed. "The pain from it was almost too much to bear. It made me turn quite sick! Punctures of first one kind and then another were applied, but seemed to give me no relief. My daughter-in-law, who had had some previous experience with Zam-Buk obtained a box for me. I anointed the sore place liberally with this balm, and in a few hours, the throbbing aching pains were subdued. Further applications of Zam-Buk gave me more ease, so that I could get a little sleep. In a few days the nail came off, but after that Zam-Buk seemed to reduce the inflammation quickly. I continued its use until in the end it had brought about a complete cure."

Sheriff's Sale

1909 A. No. 17,077 IN THE SUPREME COURT Between:-

OUR SECRET THOUGHT. That which we call our secret thought Speeds to the earth's remotest spot And leaves its blessings, or its woes Like tracks behind it as it goes. It is God's law. Remember it In your still chamber as you sit With thoughts you would not dare have known, And yet make comrades when alone. These thoughts have life, and they will fly. And leave their impress by and by. Like some marsh breeze whose poisoned breath Breathes into home its fevered death. And after you have quite forgot, Or all outgrown some vanished thought, Back to your mind to make its home, A dove, or raven, it will come. Then let your secret thoughts be fair They have a vital part and share In shaping worlds and moulding fate, God's system is so intricate.

BISHOP MOUNTAIN.

Recollections of the Heroic Prelate at Grosse Isle.

Appropos of the recent erection of a monument to the Irish immigrants who perished at Grosse Isle, Quebec, in 1832-34, it is interesting to note that the Anglican clergy in Quebec were very active at that time in lending aid to the sufferers, who were of Roman Catholic faith. And in this connection this extract from "The Last Three Bishops Appointed by the Crown for the Anglican Church in Canada," by Fenning Taylor, published by John Lovell, of Montreal, in 1869, is of present interest. It relates to the Right Reverend George Jehoshaphat Mountain, D.D., D.C.L., third Bishop of Quebec, first of the island.

The immigrant station at Grosse Isle had been set apart by Government as the receiving station for immigrants who arrived in the pest ships from Europe in the cholera years of 1832-34. The graveyard of the island was rapidly filled. The disease seemed to leap across the belt of water that separates that island from the shore, and having fallen like a firebrand in Quebec, it spread through the city like a flame. When the cholera broke out in 1832, the population of Quebec amounted to twenty-eight thousand; by the end of July, that is to say, in about two months' time, two thousand and eight hundred had died. On two consecutive days in June, upwards (thus loosely the record reads) of seventy-five persons were buried by the rector. Nevertheless, amidst such harassing duty, provision was made for further service. A horse was kept saddled day and night, in his stable to enable him or his assistant in the parish to attend to people who resided at a distance from him. Many nights, says his biographer, they were both out, and for whole days unable to return. Again, in the winter of 1832, the fatal product of famine in Ireland, was imported into Canada. The Anglican clergy, who were few in number, with devoted zeal took their duty at Grosse Isle week about, the Bishop taking the first week. Most of the clergy sickened, and two of them died of the fever.

The trial, we may well imagine, was acute enough, for in the summer of 1847 upwards of five thousand immigrants took place at the immigrant station at Grosse Isle. "No one liveth to himself or dieth to himself," wrote the heroic Bishop. There was a chivalry as well as a gentleness in his nature which, like expressed virtue, communicated its energy to all. It was the spirit of a Christian knight-hood, of unswerving devotion which animated his heart. Fear was exercised and cast out by love; and love being the twin of faith, found joy in duty. This spirit of self-sacrifice always shone in his character, and unquestionably added virtue, as well as beauty, to his life.

When, for example, the Church Missionary Society was desirous of establishing a bishopric in the heart of the Red River country, it was the prelate to whom that society applied to take the exploring journey of nine thousand miles. Doubtless he was happy to go, for the work was mission work. It enabled him to teach and to pray with Indians and half-breeds, as well as to lay the foundation of a permanent bishopric. It was during that journey, in his bark canoe, or beneath the forest shade, that he wrote and perchance sang his "Songs of the Wilderness," a collection of small poems which are bright with beautiful thoughts.

Built Town in a Night. There was a westerner in Toronto recently who built a "town in a night." The man is Mr. C. L. Fisher, and the name of the western site is Stirling, Alberta. Now, it was Mr. Fisher didn't really build Stirling in a night, but last April it was a wheat field with the horizon of prairie and to-day it is well settled and there are wide streets and pretentious buildings and signs even for western progress Stirling has made a record.

Mr. Fisher was principally populated his new town from the eastern cities. He says people from Ontario and Quebec make the best pioneers for the Alberta air to them is the richest sort of stimulant; that they can see quickly what big chances there are and realize on them with little delay.

Stirling was created by the junction of three railways and is now the unloading and entraining point for southern Alberta. It has to-day the best hotel accommodation in Alberta.

A Family of Heavyweights. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roach celebrated their golden wedding in Cordoba, Ont., recently. Mr. Roach is 79 years of age, and Mrs. Roach 75. They have resided in Cornwall for over two years. The six sons and four daughters, along with their parents, weigh over 2,500 pounds, which is perhaps a record. They are Donald Roach, father, 200; Mrs. Roach, mother, 210; Wm. Roach, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., 275; Daniel Roach, representing Swift's Packing Co., Liverpool, England, 250; Samuel Roach, Deseronto, Ont., 255; Lawrence Roach, Kenora, 200; Cornelius (Tony) Roach, Cornwall, 170; Guy R. Roach, Cornwall, 190; Mrs. H. Barrett, Deseronto, Ont., 210; Mrs. J. P. John, Butte, Mont., 225; Mrs. A. F. Quig, Joliet, Que., 215; and Miss Catharine Roach, Coll. 165. Total, 2,545, an average of over 212.

Ontario Also. Ontario does not make much noise as compared with the great western wheat country, but the agricultural products of this province, as compared with the combined output of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, represent $1,500 for every $1 those provinces yield. Of course, they are young yet, with great vacant spaces. But so is Ontario young with its possibilities of growth.—Toronto Star.

Are Not Worrying. With at least 50 per cent. of the harvest cut, the people of Alberta are rapidly reaching a state of mind where the prognostications of the weather man are not taken as more seriously than those of any other man who goes into the prophecy business.—Calgary Herald.

SOCIAL FUSION SAYS DR. SMITH.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 21.—Dr. Goldwin Smith, Toronto, in a letter to the Standard, thus replies to Judge Riddell's declaration in a recent speech before the Canadian Club at New York, that there was only one man in Canada in favor of annexation the reference being clearly to Dr. Smith: "Sir, it seems that I have been reported as advocating annexation. Let me assure you that I have studiously avoided the use of the term, which implies submission on the part of Canada and the United States. That which think seems the dictate of nature and likely as such to come to pass is a voluntary union of the two great English-speaking communities on this continent for their mutual benefit and security. Social fusion seems to be already pretty complete. Yours faithfully Goldwin Smith."

MORE GIRLS GO OUT ON STRIKE.

Phil., Pa., Dec. 20.—More than 7,000 of the 12,000 shirt waist operators in this city went on strike today. About 200 firms are affected. Many of the employers are willing to grant all the demands of the strikers except the recognition of their union. Although the strikers deny that they intend picketing those on strike, were ordered tonight to go the places where they were employed tomorrow to find out how many of the girls are at work, and to report the number to the strike headquarters. Rose Pastor Stokes is expected here in a few days to conduct a campaign among the wealthy women in this city in behalf of the strikers.

Have you a weak throat? If so, you cannot be too careful. You cannot be treated too early. Each cold makes you more liable to another and the last is always the harder to cure. If you will take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the outset you will be saved much trouble. Sold by all dealers.

Among the fortunate winners in Nova Scotia of five dollar prizes for collecting Union Blend Tea coupons are the following: Miss Doris Nelly, Bridgetown. Mrs. S. C. Sutherland, Wine Harbor; Mrs. Wm. One dollar prizes went to Mrs. Cross, of Glace Bay. C. B. Miss Maggie Moore of Annapolis Royal.

DIALOGUE.

Teacher—Name the Greatest Empire on Earth. Scholar—Empire Linniment. Teacher—it is an excellent article, but why do you class it with other Empires? Scholar—Because it Cures while other Empires are exercising their utmost inequity to Kill. Teacher—Correct. Go to the head.

"Graft is not as modern as some reformers think, says Dr. Lyman Abbott. A corrupt ring existed in Jerusalem, which Jesus disorganized when He dispersed the money changers from the court of the Temple. There is only one thing worth living for, and that is to make this world more worth living in."

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. If any of the readers of the Monitor-Sentinel are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind S. N. Wearie will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief or money back.

Neil Murray, of Huron Road, Goderich, Ont., says: "I suffered with indigestion for over 10 years and had been given over as incurable by many doctors. I had become a nervous wreck through loss of sleep, and what ever I eat did not remain on my stomach for over two hours. I would suffer with vomiting spells that would almost kill me, perspiration as large as beads would break out all over my body and leave me in so weakened a condition that I would be unable to stand, not a night's rest in over six months and was so weakened and run down that my family thought I would die. My heart was greatly weakened and would flutter and a sharp pain would come through me and out of my breath. I was reduced in weight from 150 to less than 110 pounds. Doctors would give different causes for my trouble, yet none of them gave me the slightest relief. I commenced treatment with 'Mi-o-na' and when one-half of the first box was used I could eat my meals without suffering the dreadful vomiting spells. I used about ten boxes in all, and I am entirely cured. My stomach is as strong as ever and there is not the slightest trouble with digestion. I have gained about 40 pounds in weight, am strong and healthy and like a new man. I will always speak highly of Mi-o-na, as it cured and I believe kept me from sure death when all else had failed."

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Canadian People to Neglect

The great danger of Kidney trouble is that it gets a firm hold before the sufferer recognises it. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Booth's Kidney Pills, which have cured people in Middleton, John C. Crouse, of School St., Middleton, N. S., says: "Booth's Kidney Pills have cured me after numerous other remedies I had tried failed to give me relief. I had suffered for months with such a sore and weak back that at times I could hardly get around to do my work and the pains were greatly increased if I caught the slightest cold. I finally learned of Booth's Kidney Pills, through an advertisement and procured a box. I have used the one box and am feeling fine. My back is free from the lameness and soreness and does not trouble me in the least. I am glad of this opportunity to say a good word for Booth's Kidney Pills and recommend them to any person who is troubled as I have been." This sterling remedy may be procured at S. N. Wearie's drug store. Sold by dealers. Price 50cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agts.

A decrease of nearly one million tons in the production of coal, and a loss to the Province in revenue of over one hundred thousand dollars since the inauguration of the strike in the Nova Scotia collieries, was the statement by Hiram Donkin, Deputy Commissioner of Works and Mines, who was on the witness stand in the alleged coal conspiracy case yesterday afternoon.

FIRE AT WINDSOR

Windsor, N. S., Dec. 30.—Fire was discovered in the cellar of W. H. Roach's dry goods store at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. A strong northerly wind was blowing, and for a time it was feared that there would be a repetition of the big Windsor fire of the autumn of 1897. The store is a double one, the northern end being occupied by Geo. D. Geldert as a dry goods store. The loss on the building and Roach's stock will be in the vicinity of $15,000 and is fully covered in the Phoenix. Royal and other companies. Mr. Geldert's stock was undamaged.

Iceland's Elder Ducks.

In Iceland on certain islands, near Reikjavik, the elder duck is raised in a systematic manner. It is really more of a small goose than a duck, being so independent of fish and animal food as to be able to support itself by grazing on seaweed at the bottom of the sea to a considerable depth. It is a splendid diver, being as much at home under the water as on the surface. The great value of the elder duck's down is well known, and, owing to the bird's tendency to pull out such large quantities of lining its nest that it leaves its lower breast almost bare when it is setting, there is no difficulty in getting a good supply of these feathers without destroying the birds. In Iceland it is strictly guarded against intrusion. The inhabitants consider it a crime worse than stealing deer in Scotland for any person to shoot an elder duck.
