PARCEL DELIVERY BY AEROPLANE TO SHIP AT SEA

MR. SOPWITH FLYING OVER THE OLYMPIC AS SHE LEAVES PORT

The aeroplane has at last been put to commercial use in a most remarkable manner. When W. A. Burpee, the millionaire seedman of Philadelphia, left New York on the Olympic he suddenly remembered that he had forgotten several important articles of wearing apparel. The liner had already left its pier. The Olympic is equipped with wireless telegraph, as is also a well known New York department store, a member of which was sailing on the same vessel. To him Mr. Burpee made known his predicament.

In a jiffy the order was sent by wireless, accompanied by a request that the stuff be delivered on the Olympic even though an aeroplane had to be employed. Five minutes after the wireless was received a contract was closed with Aviator Sopwith, who was tuning up his machine on Long Island. Three-quarters of an hour later the aeroplane skimmed gracefully over the deck of the Olympic and dropped the package for Mr. Burpee, who was almost overcome with astonishment.

SECOND CAMP AT SUSSEX OPENED

Two Regiments Are Already Under Canvas There—The First Day of Training Will Begin Today.

Special to The Standard.

Sussex, N. B., July 4.—At an early hour this morning the 73rd Regiment began to assemble from the various sections of its territory. Everything was in chaos, but as the different companies found their places order, peculiar to military life, began to be apparent. One of the drawbacks was the late dinner, but supper was in order. The 73rd Regiment is nearly full strength and the men are up to the standard in size.

Tomorrow will be the first day of training.

The 7th Battalion came in about 3 o'clock with their band. The marching was well done for raw soldiers.

The camp does not present such a military aspect as last year owing to the small camp.

KING'S TREASURES WORTH $13,000,000

Strong Rooms at Windsor and Buckingham Palace, while being two of the best furnished residences in the world, are perfect museums of treasure, new and old, and the royal property is so well guarded that it is practically impossible for a thief to lay his hand on a single article.

During the reign of Queen Victoria several plots were hatched to rob both Windsor Castle and Buckingham Palace, says The Bits, but not one of them was carried out successfully. Some years ago a gang of well West End thieves made up their minds to attempt to pilfer some of the treasures within Buckingham Palace, and one of their private managers to enter by the main entrance unseen. He was discovered in one of the corridors, however, and being unable to give a satisfactory reason for his presence, he was promptly turned over to the police.

The royal residences are strongly guarded by military and police, and private detectives are engaged to keep guard over the treasures.

The strong rooms at Windsor are elaborate apartments, and the doors are burglar proof and powder proof. They have violence locks about eighteen inches long, changeable locks and gunpowder locks, all of which are covered by undrilled steel plates, which render it impossible for any one to pass even a fine needle into any of the keyholes.

In the strong rooms there is plate valued at over £2,500,000. There is a gold dinner service sufficient for 140 persons, with other articles of gold and silver numbering in all 1,100 and weighing 30 tons. A candelabrum of gold, valued at between $12,000 and $13,000. A more modern piece of plate, an opaline designed by the late Prince Consort, is worth $11,000. It was made to commemorate Queen Victoria's first visit to Scotland and represents her late Majesty's deurehounds standing over a dead stag.

later proved to be Marshall floating some distance from shore. After watching him a moment, Hillard made up his mind that something was wrong and swimming to the man's side, found him unconscious. In trying to reach shore with his burden, Hillard became exhausted and but for prompt assistance from his companions, would have drowned. Marshall was dead when a boat reached the two. It is supposed that death was due to heart disease. The dead man was about 50 years of age, and was junior member of the firm of William Marshall & Sons, wholesale dealers in hay and grain at Montreal. His wife and two children were stopping with him at a hotel here. Mr. Hillard is assistant general manager of the Traders' Bank of Canada, at Toronto.

CORONATION WAS TOO SLOW FOR HER

American Wife of British Rear Admiral Says There Was Not Enough Enthusiasm or Noise to it.

New York, N. Y., July 4.—Perhaps there was a great deal of enthusiasm shown at the Coronation of King George V., and perhaps there was not. That question has not been settled yet by Rear Admiral H. W. Savory, of the British navy and Mrs. Savory, at any rate it had not been settled when they left the White Star pier after they arrived yesterday on board the steamship Celtic. Rear Admiral Savory witnessed the Coronation ceremonies throughout, and when approached by reporters yesterday was glad to talk about it.

"There is an impression among Americans," he said, "that the Coronation was a slow, dead affair and that no enthusiasm was shown. Now that isn't so. The Englishman does not exhibit his enthusiasm as the American does by howling and making a noise. He is just as enthusiastic."

Just then Mrs. Savory who is a native of America said—

"Nonsense, it was the slowest thing I ever saw. There wasn't enough noise, enthusiasm? Where?"

"But," protested the rear admiral, "then persons go in the street and sit on the curb from 8 o'clock at night until noon the next day, I call that a whole lot of enthusiasm."

Mrs. Savory laughed.

"Well," she said, "you may but I don't. Why they go out and sit in a pouring rain, with never a smile on their faces and watch the whole scene stolidly and with apparent indifference and then say they were enthusiastic. They may think they are having fun."

"But they stay there, don't they?" asked Rear Admiral Savory. "They show they are interested. I tell you it would take a long time to get up that much enthusiasm in America."

"That is your idea," laughed Mrs. Savory, "but if an American crowd sat on a curb from eight o'clock at night until noon the next day, they'd have much fun and make such a noise you could hear them all over the State."

"There is a lot of fun made in London," said the Rear Admiral, "over Andrew Carnegie's statement that this is the last Coronation. We refer to it jokingly as the 'Last Coronation.' That is simply ridiculous. The people are not tired of it. The only real coronations are those of the English King and the Russian Czar. The others are not coronations in the real sense."

As the Savorys were leaving the pier, Mrs. Savory was seen laughing at the explained something to her husband. Just what was said is not known, but the word "enthusiasm" was heard frequently.

GROSS CUT ON HIS BODY AS PENANCE

A Stranger Overpowered in Brooklyn Church After Fierce Struggle — Taken to Hospital for Observation.

New York, July 4.—While high mass was in progress Sunday in the Roman Catholic church of the Transfiguration, Marcy avenue and Hooper street, Williamsburg, of which the Rev. William J. Maguire is pastor, an unidentified man interrupted the services, and frightened the worshippers. After an exciting struggle the athletic stranger was overcome. Near his heart was several wounds in the form of a cross. They were self-inflicted, according to his rambling account. He had gashed himself, he said, to atone for the sins of others.

The man was first seen in hour before at the First Free Baptist church, Marcy avenue and Keap street, a block away. He dragged himself to the top of the iron fence and seizing the heavy mass of ivy covering the front of the edifice started to haul himself up towards the church tower. There he halted and with difficulty dragged him to the ground. He was ordered away under a threat of arrest.

When he appeared in the church of the Transfiguration his actions attracted no particular attention until he had passed far down the side aisle. There he halted and his loud utterings interrupted the worshippers. Hastening to the side of the man, ushers attempted to lead him to the exit, but he hurled them violently aside, while talking loudly in French and gesticulating wildly. Ushers and male parishioners closed about the man and tried to force him toward the entrance. A messenger notified the Rev. Father Maguire, who was in the vestry, and he called the police.

Dr. Gurtov, from the eastern district hospital, examined the man, and discovered the cross formed by the wounds. Although the man fought against it, the wounds were dressed. Dr. Gurtov said the wounds had been inflicted with some sharp instrument, either a knife or razor. After being bound in a straightjacket, the man was taken to the Kings county hospital and placed in the observation ward.

PRESBYTERY WAIVES PROMINENCE FOR DOCTRINE IN COLLEGE OF THE CHURCH

At the meeting of the St. John Presbytery yesterday a vigorous discussion took place on the alleged need of giving more prominence to doctrine in the Westminster Confession in the curriculum of the college of the church. The discussion was provoked by a resolution of Rev. Frank Baird, deploring the fact that the curriculum of the church was restored to a more prominent place in the curriculum of the college. Exception was taken to the use of the word restored, and there was a lively discussion on the question of whether or not the Westminster Confession was being given a sufficiently prominent place in the teaching of the college. Finally Mr. Baird was persuaded that the word restored was unnecessary, and the Presbytery by unanimous vote opening the way for a permanent and prominent place should be given to the standards of the church in the curriculum of the college.

An important announcement was made to the effect that the General Assembly was arranging to take an active part in the crusade for moral and social reform and that the influence of the church would be wielded in an effort to bring about the extermination of slums and their accompanying evils in the cities of Canada.

The session was held in St. Andrew's church yesterday, opening at 10 o'clock a. m., with an afternoon session lasting until 5.30. There were in attendance Revs. Frank Baird, B. Dickie, R. Davidson, G. Farquhar, L. B. Gibson, W. Girwood, W. W. Malcolm, M. J. McPherson, W. W. Rennie, Jas. Ross, Edwin Smith, E. Thorpe, J. H. A. Anderson, G. Dickie, H. R. Road, W. M. Townsend and H. R. Road, W. M. Townsend and W. S. Clawson, N. W. Loughrey and Judge Forbes, elders.

In the absence of the moderator, Dr. Smith of Fredericton, H. R. Road was appointed moderator pro tem. Revs. Dr. S. C. Gunn, of the Presbytery of New York; Dr. T. Stewart, of the Presbytery of Halifax; and Mr. Millan, of the Presbytery of Glenora, being present were asked to sit as corresponding members.

The session was opened by the reading of the minutes of the Presbytery of St. John, which were read by Mr. McCallum made reference to the degree of Ph. D. Dr. Gibson was spoken of words of congratulation were spoken of Mr. Dickie, who is just rounding out 45 years in the ministry, during which time he has never missed a Sabbath service through illness and never taken a vacation. He expects to take up work in the Presbytery of Halifax. Rev. D. McOram was appointed interim moderator of the church in St. John, and Dr. McOram with instructions to declare the pulpit vacant on the last Sabbath in July.

Rev. James Ross in reporting to the commissioners to assemble referred to the proposed abolition of the present distinction between the eastern and western divisions of the church in Canada and as well as the policy of the church looking forward to a vigorous grappling with the slum problem in the larger Canadian cities.

The Presbytery unanimously nominated Rev. James Ross as moderator.

GEORGE HECTOR GETS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Negro Will Spend Long Term in Penitentiary for Fiendish Crimes Perpetrated on Aged Willow Grove Woman.

George Hector.

In the circuit court yesterday afternoon immediately after the jury had been discharged in the Davidson case, Solicitor General McLeod moved for sentence in the case of the King vs. George Hector, the negro, who pleaded guilty to a charge of rape and attempt to murder. Both crimes were committed on Ann Davidson, an aged woman.

Hector was brought into court and sentenced to a term of 15 years on the charge of rape and a term of 10 years in the penitentiary on the rape charge. The sentences are to run consecutively.

In passing sentence his honor said: "George Hector, you have been indicted by the grand jury of this county on two charges, very serious in their nature. The first is an attempt to murder an old woman in the Parish of Simonds, named Ann Davidson. The second is of raping her. Widely and under the advice of Mr. Logan, your counsel, you have pleaded guilty to the evidence contained in the deposition taken under heaven would have acquitted you.

"The crimes were both fiendish and brutal and although I am not going to pass a severe sentence as they warrant, yet I am going to give you a long term in the penitentiary. On the attempt to murder count you will be confined on two charges, very serious in their nature, for the period of 15 years, and on the rape count for a period of 10 years, each sentence to run consecutively and not concurrently.

"You are yet a young man and this will give you a chance to reform." Hector took the sentence calmly. The maximum penalty in the attempt to murder count is life and on the rape count is hanging or life.

SAINT JOHN, WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 5, 1911.

Laurier's Indelible Record.

The Times in hastening to defend the disloyal utterances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who insisted at the Imperial Conference that in an Empire war Canada must have the opportunity of saying she will take no part, attempts to minimize the significance of his statements by the paltry and ridiculous excuse that "there is no authoritative report of what he did say." Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude on this question is perfectly clear and a matter of record. He said: "If a declaration insisted upon being consulted in regard to matters which might result in war, that would imply the necessity that they should take part in the war."
There is no mistake about that statement or what it means. The Winnipeg Telegram has ably summed up the situation. It says: "It is claimed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was playing politics in that statement, and catering to a sentiment in Canada which resents Canada's taking part in war. If he was, he chose a wrong place and a wrong manner of doing so. The implication of his words is resented by Canadians, must be incomprehensible to the people of Great Britain, and being equally accessible to the people of other countries, could not but give them to understand that Sir Wilfrid Laurier designs Canada to be a source of weakness and not of strength to the British Empire in case of danger."

"Old men, women and children do not participate in war in the sense in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier apparently uses the word. But they do participate in war in that their homes are liable to attack, and must be protected by the able-bodied. Sir Wilfrid Laurier would seem not to wish Canada to participate in war in the way in which the able-bodied do, but so long as Canada remains in the Empire he cannot prevent the country from participating in war in the sense in which old men, women and children must, namely, liability to the conquest of their homes and loss of life, liberty and property."

"Now there is absolutely no escape from this alternative. Either Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words mean that Canada should remain in the Empire protected by Great Britain in the same way that old men, women and children are protected in case of war, and therefore a source of weakness and anxiety, or that Canada is to reserve the right to withdraw from the Empire in its day of trial, to watch the struggle from afar ready to fawn upon the victor. So far as anyone can fathom the workings of their minds the former is the policy of the Quebec Nationalists, but how they reconcile it with any just conception of manhood in an individual or a nation is a mystery. The workings of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's mind nobody has ever yet been able to fathom. He is a sort of animated synthesis of all that is false, insincere, meretricious and opportunist in the art of political cajolery."

"The fact remains, however, and no man able to make four out of two and two can evade it, that every man who votes for the Liberal government at the next election votes either to put Canada in the category of the unfit who require protection, or for the declared right and intention of being guilty of the blackest treachery after war has been declared and the lists are set for a struggle to decide to our blood and race. Liberals may work their way out of that dilemma in any way consistent with their honor that they can."

But the Times is not entirely satisfied with throwing doubt on the accuracy of the report of Sir Wilfrid's utterances. It ventures on a quotation: "It was Sir Wilfrid who said during the naval debate that 'when the Empire is at war Canada is at war.'" It is also to be noted that during the same debate the Premier expressed diametrically the opposite opinion, and declared that when the Empire was at war Canada was not necessarily at war. When it comes to quotations to prove Sir Wilfrid's loyalty to the Empire, his desire to cement the ties of Imperial unity and his belief that Canada's destiny lies in maintaining her position as one of the great sisterhood of nations one in heart and soul with the Mother Country, the situation is liable to prove embarrassing."

From his early days Sir Wilfrid Laurier's desire has always been to break away from the Mother Country and the Empire. Before Confederation, in 1866, he wrote: "We of the Papineau School do not care a fig for the English Colonies. When any change whatever is proposed to our political or social institutions, we do not look to see whether this change will be of use to the English Colonies or to any other neighbor; we think only of Lower Canada and the French race. What have we in common with the English Colonies? What interest, what religion binds us to them? Is it a matter of origin, religion, language, national aspirations? No, not at all."

In 1855 at a meeting on the Champs de Mars in Montreal, referring to the Riel rebellion, at a time when he was a sworn privy councillor, he declared that if he had been on the banks of the Saskatchewan he would have shouldered his musket and would have levelled it at the soldiers of the Queen.
In the House of Commons in 1858 he prophesied: "The time is coming when the present relations between Great Britain and Canada must either become closer or be severed altogether."

Speaking in Boston in 1891 he declared that "Canada would never consent to Imperial federation, even on commercial lines alone, because the consequence would be the participation of Canada in British wars, and Canada would never consent to participate in British wars."

In 1892 we find him saying: "I hold out to my fellow countrymen the idea of independence. But whenever the day comes it must come by the consent of both countries, and we shall continue to keep the good feeling and the good will of the Motherland. If we are true to our record we will again exhibit to the world the unique and unprecedented example of a nation achieving its independence by slow degrees and as naturally as the severing of the ripe fruit from the parent tree. I have again and again repeated that the goal of my aspiration is the independence of Canada, to see Canada an independent nation, in due course of time."

Sir Wilfrid has never lost an opportunity to belittle and deride the diplomacy of the British Empire: "Is there a Canadian anywhere who would not hail with

"Joy the day when we would be deprived of the services of British diplomacy."

In 1899 at the outbreak of the South African War until compelled by the overwhelming pressure of public sentiment, Sir Wilfrid Laurier refused to permit Canadian troops to participate. In the Toronto Globe of October 4, 1899, he expressed himself in these terms: "As I understand the Militia Act and I may say that I have given it some study of late, our volunteers are enrolled to be used in the defence of the Dominion. They are Canadian troops to be used to fight for Canada's defence. There is no menace to Canada, and although we may be willing to contribute troops I do not see how we can do so. Then again, how could we do so without Parliament granting us the money? We simply could not do anything. In other words we should have to summon Parliament." It did not take long to demonstrate the insincerity of these excuses.

Quotations could be multiplied to show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's one thought, aim and object has been to separate Canada from the Imperial band, which unites the peoples of the Empire. And his record is perpetuated through the Imperial Conferences. In 1902 in answer to the proposals of the Imperial Government Sir Wilfrid Laurier presented a memorandum stating that "the Canadian Government are obliged to dissent from the measure proposed."

At the Conference of 1907, Lord Tweedmouth, the First Lord of the Admiralty, said in effect: "We ask you to take some leading part in making the national defence of the Empire more complete. One reservation we make, and one only, that we hold the command of the naval forces for the defence of the Empire for which we are responsible."

Australia in addition to a contribution of $1,000,000 a year undertook to look after her docks and coaling stations and make provision for the defence of her coasts. New Zealand increased her contribution from $200,000 to $500,000 a year. Sir Wilfrid Laurier on behalf of Canada did nothing. He said: "I am sorry to say, so far as Canada is concerned, we cannot agree to the reservation. We took the ground many years ago that we had enough to do in that respect in our own country before committing ourselves to a general claim."

At the Defence Conference in 1909, Mr. Asquith in announcing the grave conditions under which it was called spoke of "the response of New Zealand and Australia which had filled their hearts with gratitude." And he asked: "What can be done to complete and perfect the system we have at present? We wish your advice and cooperation." Australia undertook to provide a fleet unit. New Zealand promised a Dreadnought. The South African Commonwealth renewed the subscriptions of Natal and Cape Colony. Canada was asked to supply a fleet unit. Canada refused and suggested that the Imperial Government might help with some advice how to make an expenditure on an excuse for a navy, to be entirely outside the Imperial Government's control.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's record at the recent Imperial Conference need not be repeated. Once he thanked God that he was not an Imperialist. Who is an Imperialist, and what does he profess? We cannot do better than quote the words of Hon. George E. Foster: "The Imperialist is a man who, while doing his duty to his own country, always remembers that his country is part of an Empire into which it was born and in which he desires it to remain for ever. He is a man who loves his country, but gives up not one whit of its proper responsibility and proper obligations and proper autonomy, but at the same time he does not go down to the market place of Boston and New York to declare that he is in favor of independence for this country of ours." On which side, think you, stand the people of Canada?

DIVIDE AND DESTROY.

I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever.—From the speech of President Taft at the joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association held in New York on April 27, 1911.

Current Comment

(The Presbyterian, Toronto.)
It is sometimes remarked that our people compare unfavorably with the Americans in patriotic fervor. We display our flag less freely and talk less readily of our national glory and prowess. This is not to be lamented. The high-strung patriotism which breaks on little provocation into hysteria is no sign of strength. Men of the north are apt to keep their feelings in reserve and are as little likely to talk of love of country as of love in other forms.

Reports from the Coronation said the American press were the most beautifully dressed women of the court. Reports from Paris say the American ladies were the most tastefully dressed at the Longchamps races. Could we get reports from heaven we would learn that American angels wear their halos most gracefully in the celestial choir. These things are platitudes.

The Columbus Ledger says that "the average man uses only 400 words in his ordinary daily conversation, and if an economical streak were to hit him he could generally get along with less, to the great satisfaction of his associates." "Have one on me," answers very well during the heated spell, and is not likely to be misunderstood.

Listen to J. A. Macdonald, L.L. D., rise up and wail that Canada is entitled to a more conspicuous place in the Coronation of the Empire's King. Canada would not be permitted to see the Coronation through a knothole in the fence if the figure cut by Canada in the Coronation ceremonial was no bigger than the figure of Canada's contribution towards the safety of the British Empire.

Why draw the line at the forty-ninth parallel? Let the United States come in. There would be an empire, indeed, that could cover if not persuade all the world to an universal and millennial peace, and resist forever the possibility of another Asiatic deluge upon western civilization.

KING REVIEWED THE BOY SCOUTS

Windsor Park Holds 35,000 of them from all Parts of the Empire in Picturesque Parade.

Windsor, July 4.—King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, and surrounded by a brilliant staff of distinguished officers of the navy and with other members of the Royal Family, reviewed in Windsor Great Park today an army of 35,000 boy scouts, gathered from all parts of the United Kingdom and from some of the colonies. The weather was beautiful. Drawn up in a huge semi-circle in front of the Royal stand, the boys, dressed in the universally adopted scouts uniform of blue, khaki or grey with flat brimmed khaki hats and brilliant neckerchiefs of various hues, formed a picturesque parade. They were formed in eight divisions, the place of honor being occupied by 2,000 King's Scouts, who were selected from the various troops as the most efficient, made a guard of honor for the King. Just behind these were posted 120 life savers, all of whom have been decorated for life saving. As His Majesty came on to the parade ground the band of one of the Guards regiments struck up the National Anthem and the boy scouts stood at the salute, their staves, while they sang the first verse of "God Save the King."

Then the King rode along the lines, closely inspecting the boys. Lieut. General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, was in command, and at his order the patrols of the selected King's Scouts gave an exhibition of fire fighting and ambulance work. After this when the King had taken up his position opposite the centre of the semi-circle, there was a wild scene as the entire army of boys at the sound of the scouts' call, charged at full speed towards him, each of the patrols shouting its own peculiar call as it advanced. The "Alert" sounded and like clockwork they all stood still and silent for a few moments to enable them to recover their breath, after which they sang in wonderful unison two of their most popular scouts' choruses. The King then expressed his gratification at the success of the movement to its originator, General Baden-Powell, who called for three cheers for His Majesty, which were given with great spirit followed by the singing of the National Anthem, which brought the ceremony to a close.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR REV. J. C. CHAMPION

Pleasant Function in Silver Falls Parsonage, on Monday Night—Address and Pledge for Retiring Pastor.

On Monday evening a large number of friends from the different sections of the Courtenay Bay circuit assembled at the parsonage Silver Falls, to extend farewell greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Champion and family.

The retiring steward, A. E. Hamilton, called the company together in the church. H. B. Jordan, president of the Silver Falls Bible class, presented Mr. Champion with a resolution of appreciation for his untiring labor as teacher of the Bible class during the past four years.

J. W. Cassidy, of Brookville, on behalf of the quarterly official board, read and presented Mr. and Mrs. Champion with the following resolution: To the Rev. J. C. Champion, Silver Falls, Dear Pastor and Friend:—

We, the members of the Methodist church and official members of the quarterly board of the different sections of the Courtenay Bay circuit desire on the eve of your severing your connection with our circuit to express our deep feeling of gratitude to Almighty God, the ruler of the affairs of men and especially of His church, that He in His wise providence sent you to labor amongst us for the past four years.

We have watched your work and labor of love, he exhortation that you have been like the Master you serve, you came, "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister" and when and where work was to be done, you were not found wanting. You have been in journeyings oft and labors most abundant.

We recognize that under your guiding hand this circuit has prospered in every part, and in every way; that you leave the circuit in a better condition financially, morally and spiritually than when you came; that you have enriched yourself in the hearts of the members of the churches and congregations, by your unflinching earnestness in the carrying on of any special work, and your aggressive desire to see the work of God prosper in our midst.

Among the most prominent features of the Christian ministry, the building and opening of the church at Brookville, free of debt, at a cost of $2,300; the securing of a clear title deed of the church at Golden Grove; the large addition to our parsonage furniture; the reduction of the debt to the amount of three hundred dollars; remodeling of the Silver Falls parsonage and many other labors begun and finished.

We cannot write all that is in our hearts, but we wish you to understand give in some slight degree, an appreciation in which you are held by us, and that this knowledge and these words may strengthen your hands for the coming years. And our earnest prayer is that you may continue to labor and be still further blessed for many years to come; that you may have many seats to your ministry in the church militant, and many stars in your crown of rejoicing in the church triumphant; and that when you have finished your ministry here you may receive the Master's "well done" and enter the ministry above.

We hope it is not out of place to couple Mrs. Champion's name with yours in our expression of our love and appreciation, for we have recognized that she has been a helpmate from the Lord, and we will not soon forget her sweet ministry of song. We trust you may both be long spared to mutually serve the Master we all love.

Signed on behalf of the quarterly board: A. E. HAMILTON, W. B. TENNANT, J. W. CASSIDY, Committee.

Mr. Champion made a fitting reply expressing his gratitude for these expressions of appreciation. He thanked his people for the reception they gave him when he came to the circuit and for the hearty sympathy and co-operation which they had continued to give him throughout the four years of his ministry. He also asked the people to extend to his successor, Rev. Mr. Pickerton, the same loyal support which they had given him.

The recording steward, A. E. Hamilton, presented Mr. and Mrs. Champion with a purse of $104 as a parting gift. How and in what different appointments of the circuit. The crowd left the church, stood in a body outside and gave three cheers for Mr. Champion.

Lunch was then served in the parsonage after which the company dispersed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Champion many years of happiness in their work, and usefulness to the Master.

One of the most important developments that has occurred in connection with the milling industry of Canada during the past few years is marked by the organization of the International Milling Company of Canada, U.S.A., and the Canadian Cereal & Milling Co., Ltd. of Canada.

Among the leading wheat districts of the world are the Western American States and the Canadian Northwest, for many years past, practical progress would be from its great benefits would accrue to the milling companies that might have practical interests in the wheat belt in the United States and Canada.

Both companies will benefit. The Canadian Cereal & Milling will through the International Milling gain immediate access to the well-organized territory throughout the Canadian Northwest.

Canadian Northwest, has had its mill in successful operation at Moose Jaw, and its policy was that the growth of its future progress would be from its development of the Canadian territory. This company, through its connection with the Canadian Cereal & Milling Co., Ltd., will immediately be brought in touch with the attractive markets of the Province of Ontario and the whole of Eastern Canada, and will also have the advantage of the extensive connections the Canadian Company has already built up throughout Great Britain and in some of the principal European countries.

Another of the advantages to be derived from the consolidation is that in case of bountiful crops on both sides of the border, the company should show splendid profits. On the other hand, a crop failure in both territories would almost certainly result in a loss in one section would be the gain in the other. By having its capacity distributed in that particular field, it is possible to take the fullest advantage of whatever favorable conditions might be peculiar to it. This position of the company should, therefore, make for great stability in earnings.

All the principal men who have helped to make the two companies pre-eminently successful in the past will continue to be identified with the respective managements, while the board of directors will include five to the company the benefit of a great many years of experience and success. The Board of Directors is as follows: Mr. J. D. Flavell, Lindsay, Ont., President International Milling Co.; George E. Goldie, Toronto, Vice-President and Managing Director Canadian Cereal & Milling Co.; W. L. Harvey, General Manager International Milling Co.; P. A. Beon, Jr., President International Milling Co.; C. S. Wilcox, Hamilton, Ont., President Steel Company of Canada; Director Traders Bank of Canada, J.

Goldie, who has been the Managing Director of the Cereal Co., was formerly head of the Goldie Milling Co. of Ont. and Ayr. and will continue to be associated with Mr. Flavell in the active direction of the Cereal Company. Mr. P. A. Beon, who was the founder of the International Milling Co., and was President ever since it was organized, has gained the reputation of being one of the most practical milling men in the Western United States. He has built up a very large business almost entirely out of profits, indicating just what success has attended his operations. Mr. Beon will continue on the Board of Directors of the new company, while the active management will be in the hands of Mr. F. A. Beon, Jr., and Mr. W. L. Harvey, who, for a great many years past, have been associated with Mr. F. A. Beon, Sr., and have been in charge of the management of the different departments. Mr. George E.

THE RECORDS WERE SAVED BY FIRE

Fredericton July 4.—One of the most valuable articles contained in the Cathedral and destroyed by the fire was the painting of the Holy Family, which was placed over the southern door and right where the lightning first struck.

While busily engaged about the fire Dean Schofield had occasion to address some of the firemen who were charged with the hose and had either a request or a suggestion that something be done in a manner a little different from the method being pursued and the firemen worked all night and were still busy after 8 o'clock this morning.

At noon today another alarm had to be sent in and the firemen were called out again on account of fire in the heavy pine timbers in the chancel. While the firemen were resuming work on the charred remains of the once magnificent building, one of the lines of hose burst.

The Cathedral was erected through the efforts of the late Bishop Medley, who was Metropolitan of Canada, at a cost of $61,000, exclusive of the very generous gifts of various friends. Estimates of the loss to-day reach as high as $100,000, being based on the partial destruction of the now $100,000 organ, and also of the valuable eastern windows said to be worth $10,000 alone and other windows badly damaged.

At a meeting yesterday morning of the insurance men in St. John who are interested in the loss of the cathedral, E. L. Jarvis and Edgar H. Fairweather should adjust the loss on the cathedral. They went to Fredericton this evening. The insurance is as follows:

Norwich Union 100,000 Liverpool, London & Globe 5,000 Commercial Union 5,000 Guardian 5,000 Union 5,000 Scottish Union and National 5,000 Queen 5,000 Yorkshire 5,000 Sun 5,000 Caledonian 5,000

There is also a policy of $5,000 payable to the Bishop and Cathedral Chapter, the premium on which has been paid for a number of years by James F. Robertson of St. John.

MARY DAVIDSON ACQUITTED BY JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

Unfortunate Girl Charged with Killing Her Infant Child is now Free — Verdict Recorded After Twenty Minutes of Deliberation.

Mary Davidson, charged with murdering her infant child, is a free woman. The jury after being out less than a half hour returned a verdict of not guilty and she was immediately discharged by Mr. Justice Barry. The trial was commenced yesterday morning at ten o'clock and was finished at four yesterday afternoon.

When the trial opened the following jury was named, and was sworn to duty and the hearing proceeded with: Thomas G. Dwyer, Walter H. Irving, Fred R. Patterson, Frederick Selbe, Robert W. Armstrong, G. C. George, S. Shaw and Homer D. Forbes defended.

Samuel D. Lewis in whose home the accused was employed and who discovered the body of the dead baby, testified that the prisoner being ill and he having sent for Dr. Hogan. As a result of what Dr. Hogan said witness sent the prisoner to the hospital about March 2, but about a month after this, witness discovered the dead body of a newly born infant in the prisoner's trunk in his cellar.

Dr. Frances J. Hogan testified he attended Mary Davidson on March 6. Witness deduced from what he saw that the accused had been pregnant. She denied this. Witness saw evidence of blood in her room. On a subsequent occasion witness was called in to examine the contents of the trunk found in her room. The contents of the trunk considerably were covered with clots of blood.

On a subsequent occasion Dr. Hogan was again summoned, and he found the body of the newly born infant. Dr. William Warwick testified he made a post mortem of the body of the infant, a month after he believed the child was born alive. Cross examined by Mr. Forbes, witness said that in a case where a mother undertakes to give birth to a child, the child is born alive.

Coroner Berryman testified to holding the inquest on the body of the child. Dr. Herbert Neve testified that the prisoner was recently delivered of a child. Detective Killen testified about finding the body. This closed the crown's case.

Mr. Shaw briefly opened for the defence. He again summarized the evidence, but did not prove the charge of murder, but as the minor charge of concealment of birth may be charged and with this in view, witness endeavored to make arrangements with the Salvation Army authorities to be taken care of during her mother's absence.

At 12.30 Mr. Baxter commenced his address to the jury. He referred to the important position held by the jury. They were to decide upon a verdict according to the evidence adduced. They were to render judgment and mercy. They were to give the benefit of any reasonable doubt to this unfortunate prisoner who had been brought into their presence.

At 2.30 p. m. the jury retired under the charge of Mr. Justice Barry, 3.45 p. m. and through Foreman Wilfred C. Day announced a verdict of not guilty.

Wolgast Knocked Moran Out in the Thirteenth

It was a Desperately Hard Battle—Moran Showed More Cleverness but Did Not Have the Great Strength and Endurance of the Champion.

San Francisco, Cal., July 4.—A still solar plexus blow, followed by two lightning stomach punches, and a heavy swing to the jaw, ended Owen Moran's march to the lightweight title in his battle here with Ad Wolgast, the world's champion today.

Up to this stage Moran apparently had landed the cleaner punches, but seemed to be the weaker of the two. They at once went into a clinch and a heart breaking rally followed, Moran having much the better of the wicked exchange. Wolgast crowded Moran against the ropes, the Englishman making a determined stand. Referee Welsh finally parted them for the first time. Wolgast steadying himself tipped uppercut after uppercut to the body with telling effect, and Moran reeled across the ring to the ropes. Wolgast shot a left to the jaw that sent Moran hurling against the ropes and the bell ended a round much in favor of the champion.

Round 7.

Up to this stage Moran apparently had landed the cleaner punches, but seemed to be the weaker of the two. They at once went into a clinch and a heart breaking rally followed, Moran having much the better of the wicked exchange. Wolgast crowded Moran against the ropes, the Englishman making a determined stand. Referee Welsh finally parted them for the first time. Wolgast steadying himself tipped uppercut after uppercut to the body with telling effect, and Moran reeled across the ring to the ropes. Wolgast shot a left to the jaw that sent Moran hurling against the ropes and the bell ended a round much in favor of the champion.

Round 8.

Moran found Wolgast's face three times with his left. They clinched and Wolgast drove his right powerfully to the kidneys. Moran almost sent the champion through the ropes with a rush and then went nearly through himself from the force of his onslaught. Wolgast drove a terrible left to the stomach and followed it with right uppercuts to the jaw. Wolgast started the blood in a stream from the Briton's mouth and Moran wilted like a leaf. Wolgast sent in a storm of blows following his man about the ring and using both hands with equal facility. Moran went to his corner with a bloody face and appeared to be in sore straits. Wolgast had the better of the round, with Moran tiring.

Round 9.

Wolgast chatted with friends about the ringside during the minute's rest. At the gong he rushed to close quarters, sending his right to the kidneys. Moran retaliated with two straight rights to the face and the champion swung back wildly. However, he landed several hard rights and lefts to the stomach and the round closed with the fighting going at an awful pace. Wolgast almost sent the Englishman through the ropes with heavy punches, but Moran came back gamely and scored frequently on the body. Another rally followed with both fighters apparently suffering from the hurricane pace. Wolgast had the better of the round.

Round 10.

Wolgast forced the issue but was met with a straight right on the jaw and they slowed up. The champion then swung his left to the jaw and almost sent the Englishman through the ropes with right and left to the body and face. Moran brought the crowd to its feet when he met Wolgast at his own game beating him to the punch and starting the blood from the champion's mouth. Wolgast slowed up perceptibly and they rested in a clinch. Moran swung a hard right to the jaw and they were in another slashing rally when the bell sounded. It was Moran's round and he was cheered to the echo.

Round 11.

Moran opened with two lefts to the face, and a moment later shot two more to the same place, and escaped a return. They clinched and exchanged rights to the face. Moran, after blocking several rights, drove left to the face. Wolgast countered with slashing body punches, but Moran did not give way an inch. The Briton swung right and left to the jaw, and cleverly escaped the champion's vicious assaults. It was Moran's round, and he appeared to be gaining strength.

Round 12.

They clinched, hammering away at each other's body and face. Wolgast sent two right uppercuts to the boy's

AD WOLGAST.

Moran then shot a straight left to the face, and another to the nose. Wolgast retaliated with two forceful body blows. Moran swung his right to the jaw with terrific force to the pit of the stomach. The impact of the blow was heard clear across the arena. Quick as a flash Wolgast sent two more rights to the stomach and as Moran began to fall a left hook found the jaw. Moran went to the floor with his mouth open and his eyes glassy. He was counted out, while in a recumbent position.

DEPUTY MINISTER OF MARINE IN THE CITY

Alex. Johnston Talks of Matters Pertaining to His Department — Fishing Season Has Been Good so far.

Alex. Johnston, deputy minister of marine and fisheries, arrived in the city to inspect the marine agency here and see how St. John is booming. "The department is getting along swimmingly, thank you," said Mr. Johnston to The Standard reporter. "I haven't anything new for you; I'm just inspecting the agency here, that's all."

"Haven't you any fish stories, Mr. Johnston?" "None that are very new," said the deputy minister. "Don't have time to go fishing. But I may say our information is that the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces have done very well so far this season, and that prospects are that the catch as a whole will be a big one this year. The lobster fishermen have done very well."

"What about the new regulations regarding lobster traps?" "The regulations regarding the space between the slats on lobster traps will go into effect next year. They are designed to allow the small lobsters to escape from the trap, I'm afraid. The regulations regarding the taking of small lobsters were not always complied with. The new regulations are intended to obviate this difficulty and prevent the depletion of the lobster fisheries."

"Is there anything new in regard to the proposal to hold an international conference for the purpose of devising arrangements to conserve the fisheries?" "A commission composed of representatives of Canada and the United States have been at work for the last two months in Washington. Their recommendations, however, apply principally to the great lakes and Pacific fisheries. Their findings have been approved by the Canadian government, and are being considered by the American government. Concurrent legislation putting into effect their recommendations will do a good deal to conserve the fisheries in the great lakes and the Pacific."

"There is a good deal of opposition among Canadian fishermen to the use of the beam trawler on the Atlantic fishing ground, isn't there?" "Yes, the Canadian government has already adopted a law prohibiting the use of beam trawlers in our coastal waters, and the matter of prohibiting their use on the high seas has been taken up with the governments of France and the United States, but I don't think the other nations will consent to forbid their fishermen to use the beam trawler on the high seas. England owns and operates a large number of beam trawlers in the North Sea."

SCHOONER DISMASTED IN REVERSING FALLS

Schooner Calabria Met with Peculiar Accident Yesterday Afternoon—One Man Slightly Hurt.

What might have been a very serious accident, occurred about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. While the schooner Calabria was being towed through the Falls, her main mast collided with the Suspension Bridge. Two of the three masts of the vessel were snapped off at the deck, and Captain Angus McLean of 206 Douglas Avenue and John Doucett of Rexton, Kings County, who were at the wheel, narrowly escaped death.

The vessel arrived from Boston a few days ago and discharged her cargo at Gibbons wharf. She was being towed by Stearns & Cutler's mill to load lumber for New York when the accident occurred. As the schooner approached the Suspension Bridge, the mate, who was standing at the bow, saw the main mast come in contact with the edge of the bridge. He shouted a warning to the men at the wheel. The captain looking aloft saw the main and mizzen masts topple in his direction. He jumped to one side and fortunately escaped injury. His companion was not so fortunate, and was caught by the falling wreckage, sustaining painful injuries to his arm. He was later able to go to the office of Dr. Roberts, where he received medical attention. He will probably be able to be at his work again in a few days.

The Calabria was towed to Marble Cove after the accident. She will remain there until repairs are made. The damage is reported as being between $1,500 and $2,000, with no insurance. The vessel was built in Port Greville, N. S., and is owned by Spilane and McLean.

One of the most important matters considered was that introduced by Warden Carnwath looking toward the taxation of church property, including church edifices, within the county the same as other real estate. Mr. Carnwath spoke strongly on this subject but the further consideration of it was laid over until the January session.

THE HOTEL MEN WILL PLAY THIS AFTERNOON.

A game of baseball which, it is calculated, will make the performances of the professionals look like thirty cents in the Waldorf-Astoria, will be played in the afternoon on the Marsh grounds between the staffs of the Royals and Victoria hotels. Both hotels expect that they will have in the field the heaviest batting aggregations, or seen on the grass in this town, but spectators will not be worried by any delay on account of lost balls, because an extra supply has been laid in and there is no chance of a ball being knocked into the firmament, the game will be continued with the extras. It is expected that a great amount of money will change pockets as a result of the game, if only from the left hand to the right hand pockets. The Royal team is composed of the following athletes: Carpenter, catcher; McGuigan, pitcher; Burns, 1st base; Moore, 2nd base; Fritch, 3rd base; Robinson, shortstop; Bonner, left field; Kane, centre field; Phinney, right field.
