No Municipality Ever Offered Such a Boon by a Railway the master's voice. Corporation-Minister of Power Owns Up to Having Lobbied Aldermen to Reject It.

There was a remarkable scene at the East End Hall last night when Lieut.-Colonel John W. Little confronted Mr. Beck on the platform and forced him to confess that he (Mr. Beck) was responsible for the blocking of the Grand Trunk's plans for the elevation of its tracks through London, and for the building of a new station, at no cost to the city of London.

As a result of Mr. Beck's interference, the city will be com- the Council. pelled to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars to carry through splendid improvements, which it could have had for nothing.

The people of London have wondered what influences were at work to burk the great plans for the city of London which the Grand Trunk had in hand. It is known that Mr. McGuigan, then manager of the Grand Trunk, expressed his amazement at the refusal of a boon which had never before been offered to a Canadian municipality. Until last night it was not known that Mr. Adam Beck was the man who influenced a majority of the aldermen to reject it.

MR. BECK TRIES TO EXPLAIN.

Mr. Beck attempted a lame explanation. He said that he had dined with the vice-president and two prominent officials of the Mr. Beck added that when he came home he told the aldermen the Grand Trunk was not sincere in its negotiations with London, and he tried to prevent the company getting what it wanted.

The fact of the matter is that Mr. Beck wrecked the project because he had not been consulted in the matter. He followed his practice of opposing every movement unless he is at the head of it. which will have to dearly pay for its failure to grasp a gol

Take a Glimpse Into the Future, Mr. Shipper

(Time-Midnight, Dec. 31, 1913.)

The lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway to the Pere Marquette has expired.

The Pere Marquette has taken its engines, its cars and its employees to St. Thomas.

The Michigan Central has moved its entire equipment from the city. Thirty cars of freight, which are sent from London daily over these roads, will lie on the freight sheds of Thirty cars of freight, which are sent from London daily over these roads. will lie on the freight sheds of other roads after the first of the year. They will travel ten miles, where they travelled one before, to reach their destination.

The road is about to be electrified. The railway companies are through with the city. They cannot operate over a road that is to be town up and "companies are through with the city."

The London and Port Stanley Railway is tied up for one year,

London Will Have to Pay Hundreds of Thousands of the wholesalers and big shippers are crestfallen. Some of them are thinking of moving from the city to start all over again to secure connections to equal those on 800 miles of railway, with which they formerly had practically a fast express service, and which formerly formed the backbone of their business. Their travellers cannot compete with the firms of Hamilton furing this year. Groceries and boots and shoes and hardware were formerly ordered by customers one by a were in their stores the next morning. Now it would take days to reach the same destination by change routings and transhipment. It is the most serious blow the wholesale and jobbing interest of London have had, but then a certain wise man wanted to save his personal reputation. He had put his foot into a trap, and he could not take it out, and he had been able to lead the people in chains. The road is tied up for one year! There are no terminals no connections-nothing but chaos!

The people were directed to respond to the demand that their courageous candidates be not permitted to

The same interest that threw this million dollar wildcat scheme upon the people, defeated the plan for federal square. London is still scrambling for a city hall and for a way out of the Port Stanley Line muddle.

Wholesale Interests Threatened With Disaster

Electors are told that certain aldermen yielded to the pressure of "private interests" in delaying the vote on the electrification scheme until fuller information could be elicited for the COUNCIL ASKED FOR guidance of the ratepayers.

There is downright dishonesty in the pretence that these aldermen tried to "muzzle the people," or that the opposition to the proposal to rush the scheme to a popular vote was engineered by selfish interests, unless in this class are to be placed the manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers, who are deeply concerned over the possible loss of steam road connections.

This is a critical time for London as a wholesale centre.

The wholesale men of the city are genuinely alarted. If the Michigan Central leaves London—and the chairman of | don and Port Stanley, judging from his company at Montreal, and was told by them that all they wanted the board of directors, Mr. Ledyard, intimates that this will was an elevation in the western part of the city and beyond, and happen if the L. and P. It is the only city in Ontario, excepting one, touched by five trunk lines—the G. T. R., the C. P. R., M. C. R., Pere Marquette and Wabash.

The recent C. P. R. east-and-west extensions in the counties north of London, especially the line from Guelph to Goderich, have given Toronto wholesale houses direct connections with many places where the London wholesalers formerly had an advantage of 24 hours in the delivery of goods. London still retains an advantage in Southern Ontario through the Michigan Central and the Pere Marquette. If these facilities are destroyed or impaired, the situation will become

If the electrification scheme had been put to the people on Jan. 1, and had been approved, London would have faced a commercial crisis. Mayor Graham did not appear anxious to give the citizens information regarding the electrification of the Lontreatment of the Trades and Labor

It will be remembered that when the celebrated Beck report was presented stampede the labor council into supporting the scheme.

They in common with others asked for further information, and to bock up their contention sent a petition to Mayor Graham asking him to call a public mas smeeting to present workingmen, who would have to pay the larger portion of the cost, in case the million dollars were expended in electrification.

Mayor Graham completely ignored he petition, and from that day to this not a word has been heard of the petition of the workingmen. Some people are wondering about it today. Where Is Petition?

"Where did that petition go to?" asked Mr. Harry Rymill today. "If they wanted to give the citizens information they had the opportunity, but they de-

No Truth in the Report That They Will Strike Over Kindergarten Changes.

An effort is being made to stir up trouble in the teaching staff of the public schools, a local newspaper asserting that the teachers in the primary grades would go on strike in case single sessions of the kindergarten were introduced after the New Year. In conversation with a number of the primary grade teachers today The Advertiser was informed by every one, that such a story was without the slightest foundation, that none of them had ever discussed such an eventuality, that it had never entered their minds at all.

Petition Circulated by Prominent Citizens and Signed By Wholesalers and Manufacturers Within a Short Time This Morning.

Calls for Men in Council Pledged to Look After Connections of M. C. R. and Pere Marquette-Vital to the Interests of Largest Taxpayers in the City.

A prominent merchant of London in a few minutes circulated petition today, in which the attitude of Ald. Bennett, Johnston, Richter, Ashplant, Robinson and Blandford was commended, and a request made that more information be secured and a conference held with the Pere Marquette.

The signers of this petition are among the heaviest ratepayers in London. The merchant who put it into circulation stated that he was strongly impressed by the representations of businessmen who thought the situation was so grave as to demand instant action, and the document was circulated in as speedy a manner as possible. Had he had more time he could have secured many more names. Some of the wholesalers and manufacturers were out when he called.

The prayer of the petition is as follows: We, the undersigned, merchants and manufacturers of the city of London, beg to say that we heartily approve of the action of the aldermen who voted in favor of the resolution to delay the submission of the question of the electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway until the advice of independent experts had been obtained and time given to consider the effect thereof, and until some conference had been had with the Michigan Central and Pere Marquette, important railways now terminating in London. The effect of the petition is to ask citizens to vote for the men who refused to be rushed into the expendiutre of one million dollars without ample information as to connections, the most vital point in the whole situation. James Moodie Dies at Brucefield-III Only One Day. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Brucefield, Dec. 30 .- James Moodle, aged 92, died at his home here after an illness of only one day. Mr. Moodie came to this county from Scotland when a young man, and was in delicate health at that time. He was a tailor by trade, and used to go around from house to house plying his needle. He settled on a farm on the London oad over 60 years ago, but in a few years changed for the one where he had lived until his death. His mind was very clear even up to the last, and he could tell many interesting stories of his pioneer life here. Huron County was a wilderness at that time, and many were the hardships endured by the early settlers

The Belfry of the Years Rings Out the Truth

If a House Is To Stand the Foundation Must Be Firm

O PERPETUATE this business its founders dug out the foundations themselves and then built upon them, little by little, for over a third of a century past, resolving at all times to build firmly, by selling none but good goods and charging only moderate prices, and by treating our patrons with courtesy.

While today, in spirit, we can do no better than in the past, yet we have kept up with this progressive age-our merchandise and our methods are up-to-date.

The future of this business shall be all that earnestness and integrity can make it and it will be our endeavor to conduct it that those who are dealing with us today will come again themselves and bring many friends tomorrow.

Now, in order to accomplish this, we must do things worth buying newspaper space to write about and worth reading and remembering. It will never do to simply write readable things for the sake of getting a reading.

What we have done and are doing shows for itself to all who harken to the call of this page, which, like the bell in the belfry, rings out the news of this store true and clear, rain or shine, every day.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped, To vanquished joys be blind and deaf and dumb, judgments seal the dead past with its dead,

But never bind a moment yet to come. Though deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep, I lend my arm to all who say "I Can,"

No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep But yet might rise and be again a man! Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast! Dost reel from righteous retribution's blow?

And find the future's pages white as snow. Art thou a mourner? Rouse thee from thy spell! Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven! Each morning gives thee wings to flee from hell, Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven.

Kitchen Harmony

Kitchen utensils were once made solely for use, not for ornament, though the polished coppers might in- tridescent blues and greens, in mosaic deed shine more or less brightly, but now with many such things made o celain colors, it is easily possible to the bracelet is set with aspphires. work up a decorative color scheme for the kitchen. This need not consist merely of a scattering or of a riotous mosaic of color, for by the exercise of judgment the scheme may now alsed into a true color harmony. Take the case of a woman lately about to buy a complete kitchen equipment who deferred its purchase until she had decided in what colors to have the kitchen itself painted. Utensils of iron or of tin or copper must have, of ourse, their own natural colors whatever their room surroundings, but with porcelain utensils she should buy white or blue or brown or vari-colored, or utensils with one color without and another within. Here she has a wide noice; and on these she did not wish o decide until she had decided on the color of the room. She wished not only to have the various utensils harmonize among themselves, but as well to be in harmony with the room. Such kitchen harmony as this might perhap not actually lessen the labor of cook ing but one could if she wished imagine that it would make such labor more pleasurable.—Evening Wisconsin.

London, Dec. 30 .- It is expected here that the course of the peace negotiations may be influenced by three events. The first of these is the death of the German foreign secretary, Alfred von Kiderlen-Waechter, which, coming soon after that of Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, formerly German ambassador at Constantinople, and afterward at London, deprives Turkey of two valuable supporters and convinced upholders of the maintenance of the Ottoman Empire. On the other hand this may prove an advantage for the allies, as Kiderlen-Waechter was supposed to be the instigator of the Austro-Hungarian armaments on the frontier. The second occurrence is the re assembling of the House of Commons today, as, although Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, is deter mined to maintain Great Britain's strict neutrality, he cannot prevent member of the House asking questions which show the trend of public opinion.

Dundas street is the main business treet running east and west. In the block bounded by Dundas, King, Wellington and Waterloo streets, stands the Armories. This is the block Ald. Trout. Coles has consistently advocated for a Federal Square. At first it looked like May, Baines and Hay too extravagant and expensive scheme for London, but Ald. Coles overcame this difficulty by obtaining a Kastner, J. McAulay. grant of $130,000 from the Dominion Government.

This grant brings the question well within the range of what is practicaland, besides being practical, it enables the city to accomplish two very desirable objects at the same time. A Magnificent Square first object is a magnificent quare, one of the best in Canada, on which will stand the Armories and which will stand the Armories and City Hall. The block is as central as TWO NOMINEES FOR could be desired, and if the city been laid out 75 years ago this block would then, as well as now, have been as wise a choice as could be made. The city can grow in all drections from the Federal Square,

An Industral Reason

The second object is that the Mc-Cormick Company, if paid a reasonable sum for their property, will remove to the East End and build a large factory employing from 800 to 1,000 hands. The East End is the manufacturing part of London. It will suit the city ments to the home rule bill was re- and the McCormick Company to make The proposals of James the change. That will be done some day, and it is likely the station grounds will extend from Richmond street to Wellington, with a tunnel at Clarence street. Three exits will be made to Richmond, Clarence and Wellington streets.

The new City Hall, the Federal Square and the elevation of the tracks, with the new station, will tend to enlarge London's business area, which at present is rather congested. [Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Dec. 30. - That the closing of the bars has made Strathroy a better town morally and otherwise was the statement of Mr. J. W. Cameron ex-mayor, and a well-known manufacurer, speaking at a temperance meeting here yesterday afternoon. meeting was held in the Salvation Army Citadel and was largely attended. Mr. Cameron mentioned that four years ago he was opposed to local option. He had, however, supported the measure, when the vote was taken, and he now was just as enthusiastic in his advocacy as he had been an opponent before. Practically all the manufacturers and businessmen of the town, he said, were supporting local option. The manufacturers believed it necessary to do so to protect their own interests, as they could not afford to have men off work three or four days after pay-day. The address was listened to much interest.

A Wholesaler's View To the Editor of The Advertiser: Although there has been very consider able written in the local papers with reference to the Canadian Northern Railroad, there is one feature of the case that has not been noticed by the writer, and it must, when considered at all, look like rather a strange business procedure. It is a well-known fact that our publicity commissioner receives a salary of about $2,500, and is allowed another $2,500 at least for expenses, which is, all told, $5,000 or more. His particular work is to induce industries to come to London.

Is it the kind of business policy that these professing businessmen would use in their try such as the Canadian Northern is one that will not come itself alone, but one that will, by the fact that it is in turned down two railroads, we will have added another transcontinental railroad. Turkish Contention Is That Powers Anyway Will Eventually Supervise Arrangements.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, Dec. 31 .- The instruc tions which were sent to Rechad Pasha to be presented to yesterday's session o the peace conference in London, and which the head of the Ottoman delegation reported were in part undecipherable, were to propose the submission of all matters at issue between Turkey and the Balkan states to the decision of the powers, with the exception of the question of the future possession of the Adrianapolis official view is that this proposal of the Porte affords the most practical and the same time the most expedition method of reaching a solution of all th difficultie So far as the Adrianapolis Vilayet concerned, the Turkish Government in-sists upon the absolute maintenance of its sovereign rights. With this exception, the sovereign rights. With this exception, the Porte is ready to place itself unreservedly in the hands of the powers for the settlement of all matters affecting the political organization of Albania and Macedonia, the limits of the new frontiers and the question of the Cretan islands.

The Turkish contention is that the powers in any case eventually must supervise whatever arrangement is made, and the conflicting interests of the allies is calculated to cause infinite delays and possible disagreements. Therefore, the project of placing the case immediately in the hands of the powers is likely to put an end more quickly to the present equivocal situation.

It will be remembered that early in the spring, Mayor Graham and some of the members took up the question f leasing the picnic grounds at Port Stanley with the Erie Amusement Company. This organization controls the Invererie Hotel, the incline railway, and other concerns at the Port. His worship and the board were willing to hand over the picnic grounds to these gentlemen for cutting the weeds.

Bennett Blocked It.

"These are the men who would hand over these grounds to the Erie Amusement Company for nothing,' declared Ald. Bennett to The Adver tiser. "A man told me this week that he would give $2,000 a year for th lease of these grounds, and yet this great body of men, the London and Port Stanley Board, headed by Mayor Graham, wanted to hand them over to the Erie Amusement Company for cutting the weeds."

This is but a sample of the work Ald. Bennett, however, who is in done by this wonderful collection of ouch with conditions at the Port, saw municipal geniuses.

A POPULAR BYLAW

Why Dennis Proposition Is Good Business for the Whole City.

No question coming before the ple tomorrow seems to be meeting with such general approval as the Dennis bylaw. It appeals strongly to taxpayers, because it is one measure they can vote for that will help to decrease the taxes. If the bylaw carries, the Dennis Company will about double the capacity of their West End plant, and make a big increase in the number of men employed, and a large addition to the veekly pay roll. This will increase the amount of assessable property, as there vill be not only the new additions to the factory, but also a number of new houses required for homes for the new employees. Three-quarters of the emoloyees of the Dennis Company are narried men with families. London needs all the industries of his kind she can get. We have not een getting our share of new facories in this city. Large public expenditures appear to be unavoidable in London during the next few years, and t is in the interest of the ratepayers hat more population be added to the city to share in paying the tax rates. Bring your suburbs closer in

THE value of city real estate is directly proportionate to its travel-distance from the business centre.

There's a difference between "travel-distance," and the number of miles "as the crow flies." One lot may be only a halfmile from the city hall, on a muddy, unpaved back street, and be worth less than another lot of equal size two miles farther out, but easily accessible by street car or well-paved streets.

Well-paved streets not only increase the value of property immediately adjacent to them--but also that of land in all he territory for which they carry traffic. And since the value of land in the business centre is dependent upon comparison with that farther out, these same streets enhance business-property values quite as much. You can't actually move a piece of real estate. But you can, for all practical purposes, bring every lot closer in

by paving with Concrete

Realty values are not based upon temporary conditions. Nor can the advantages of good streets be considered in establishing realty values, if the street improvements are temporary. Such temporary improvements are more liabilities than assets, because they are always needing repairs and must ultimately be entirely replaced.

Concrete is the only economical road-material that is also permanent. Its first cost -in many cases little higher than that of good macadam -is its final cost, for the expense of maintenance is mactically nothing.

Windsor Ontario

was one of the first Cenadian cities to use Concrete for street paving. Prior to 1908. 20,000 square yards of concrete pavement had been laid. This quantity has been increased every year since then. The cost-for a "twocourse" pavement, consisting of Concrete foundation and wearing surface of Cement Mortar-has varied from 99 cente to $1.15 per square yard. At the same time the cost of macadam was about $1.10 per square yard.

To use a poorer material than concrete because it's cheaper, is most extravagant economy, because the expense of keeping cheaper pavemen in decent condition soon mounts up to far more than the total cost of a concrete road.

We have gathered all the facts about Concrete pavements. They will interest every citizen who appreciates the value of good streets and roads enough to use his influence on behalf of them.

We will send this information to you, without cost or obligation.
