This evening, too, the grand booster automobile and floral parade will be a signal to again step forth into the revel. The spirit of the scrambling, howling roisterer will be unloosed and a repetition of yesterday's mad

Many Leave in Morning. Hundreds of old boys plan to depart from the city early Saturday morning, but the addition of 500 new visitors this morning and the realization that Saturday is the winding-up day of the reunion will probably make it the most exciting of the week. The morning will be occupied in another visit to the market square where exhibits of fruits and vege-tables will be held.

The Ontario bicycle championships begin at Queen's Park at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, ten events having been arranged by A. T. Taylor, chairman of the sports committee. Good-bye night will be celebrated with a final masquerade parade from the market at 7 o'clock. Impromptu gatherings and merrymakers will gombine to "paint the town red." Last night fair masqueraders took a prominent part in the proceedings and their presence in Saturday's last jazzy spectacle will furnish all the rest required. In fact almost any zest required. In fact, almost any-thing is liable to happen, and there is no predicting just what form the carnival will take.

Detroit and Chicago old boys reiterated their determination at headquarters this morning to make the closing day of the big pageant one to be long remembered. Their plans will be kept secret until Saturday evening, when something of a sen-sational nature will likely develop.

That Old Boys' Week has been appreciated by thousands of visitors is evident everywhere, and the following letter from "Bill" Powell, one of the Old Boys, and a one-time printer in the city, records the impressions the week has left on the mind of one of the old brigade.

Bill, who is well-known to a host of Londoners of the older generation, tells of former days. He says he is coming back for the centennial celebration in 1926, and predicts that this celebration will be even greater than the present Old Boys' Week. Here is the letter:

OLD BOYS AND GIRLS GREAT DAY AT PORT STANLEY

Baby Show and Races Feature Gala Day At Port Stanley.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Port Stanley, Aug. 9.-Old boys from London took possession of Port Stanley at an early hour today and with ever-increasing numbers soon made known to the residents that they were there for a day's fun.

And they had it. Hour after hour, on the heights, up and down the boardwalk, and in the water, the Old Boys and Girls of London certainly left nothing undone that could be done to make the day a success. Aided by fine weather the sporting events were run off in quick time and the baby show concluded satisfactorily.

Groups of old boys could be seen strolling along the walk absorbed in munching "hot dogs" or "hamburger." Many others filled the cafeteria to overflowing. Still others had the foresight or the courage to bring basket lunches, and all over the picnic grounds little parties could be seen sitting around the tables and eating the home-prepared things as they did when they, in younger days, pic-

The City Hall Tangle.

Will Londoners witness the early construction of a new city hall? And if not, why not?

This is undoubtedly one of the leading local issues of the day, and one that is creating more interest than during any period since 1912, when the defunct "federal square" project was launched in city council circles.

"Where and when are you going to have a new city hall befitting the old town?" is the gist of continual queries from Old Boys and Girls from near and distant places who are making their headquarters in London

Bobbed Hair.

The latest champion of bobbed hair to declare himself is a San Francisco jurist who concludes that the best way to cut out marital conflict is for the wife to cut her hair a la flapper.

The fact on which he bases his deduction is the absence of "bobbed hair" wives from the divorce actions all by men, no matter what the provocation, is some-pressed before him. What is the reason? Can it be that woman's hair carries quarrelsome, divorce-breeding disposition? Has woman's crowning glory become a liability instead of an asset? Such would seem to be the inference from the California jurist's deduction that short hair makes for long love.

Notwithstanding the publicity given votaries of the shaved neck, the vigue is obviously becoming passe. The islands of Hawaii first popularized a new kind of dance years ago, and only recently the hairdressing of the southern seas became the rage. Each day adds new and often familiar names to the casualty list, and whether you are or are not a careful driver, the fact of your owning a car places your life in daily jeopardy.

They belong to the type of chronic ne'er-do-wells unfortunate enough to have been given cars to drive in extreme youth. They have developed an ecstatic joy in racing 45 miles an hour behind lumbering trucks and swerving out of the way in the nick of time. To give a passing vehicle more than half an inch is to them an indication of senility and the signal for boisterous derision.

Inevitably these lads will cause irreparable injury, if not to themselves to somebody sufficiently foolhardy to drive with them. In fact, such people usually escape with their own hides intact. It is their passengers who are usually listed among the mangled.

Orders directing strict enforcement of traffic regulations are in accord with the obvious demands for public safety. But are these orders carried out? If Last December the ratepayers of this community, they were, at least a dozen young irresponsibles in the

The estimate of the officials of the London Old Boys' Association is that since Sunday more than 8,000 visitors have come to the city by automobile. Several of these have reported the roads of the surrounding country as being in excellent condition, but they have been discreetly silent regarding the surfaces to be found within the city limits.

It is gratifying to know that the roads outside the city are in good shape. It is decidedly uncomplimentary to London that within her limits the reverse is the case.

An Established Custom.

Of John Pananco, who, after assailing a boon companion with an axe, doubled him up and crowded him into a trunk, another dweller in the same New York tenement said such conduct was surprising. "He is an ideal neighbor." it seems, "for never before had he beaten anybody except his wife."

This information is contained in a news despatch yesterday and reveals the existence of a social circle where wife-beating is viewed with composure, if not with actual approval, as the exercise of a natural and indubitable right possessed by husbands. Well, it is not so long ago that a like opinion as to marital proprieties was next to universal the world over, and in literature far from ancient there are records of women who considered themselves unloved and therefore aggrieved if not subjected at least to occasional correction by their lords and masters.

It was a long step forward when the British decider that to use on a wife a stick larger than the husband's thumb was going too far in the way of punishing her faults, and the idea that women must not be struck at

TO THE EDITOR.

Dear Sir,-I would like to draw the attention of the Fishery and Game Association to a grievance of some years' duration, namely, the fish runway at the dam in Rock Glen, near Arkona. The people above this dam have been complaining for years, but to no avail. I took a day to visit the dam last Monday, and I was glad I went. I would suggest that the fishery inspector take a trip, and he can judge for himself how many fish can get by the dam during the season. At present it is perfectly dry, no water running over it, and is a good time to fix it right for the fish. Yours, 357 Ridout St. C. LEWIS.

ALBERTA FARMERS FEAR RUIN IF RAIL RATES RAISED

PLEADS ALBERTA FARMERS' CAUSE IN RATES APPEAL

Frank Ford, K. C., Edmonton, Declares Higher Schedule Might Mean Ruin.

DIFFERENCES SHOWN

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 10.—The situation of the province of Alberta which, he claimed, was at the peak of the rate structure in Canada, was placed before the privy council this morning by Frank Ford, K.C., of Edmonton, when consideration of the British Columbia-Alberta appeal against "discriminatory freight rates" was resumed. Mr. Ford followed Mr. Mc-Geer, counsel for British Columbia and Alberta, and explained that he was present because the attorney-general of Alberta had been unable to attend the hearing.

He read a statement prepared by Premier Greenfield of Alberta emphasizing the difficulties which the Alberta farmer was encountering due to high rates, and supplemented it by remarks of his own. He submitted that to permit the railways to charge a higher rate for a short haul than was charged on similar com modities for a long haul, was unfair discrimination against the shorter haul points.

Such discrimination was a result of the present rate structure, he maintained. When the hearing was resumed

Mr. McGeer submitted an exhibit, which, he said, disclosed the actual condition regarding the movement of goods from Montreal to Vancouver, as compared with the rate from Mon-

No Acclamations On Public Utilities Outlook at Present Time.

SEVERAL FOR MAYOR

No seat on the London Public Utilities Commission will be won by acclamation in December, as has been he case in the past.

Labor will make a strong bid for these positions, The Advertiser was informed today by representative members of the political labor or-ganization and already suitable men have been picked.

Two seats will be automatically declared vacant, those now held by Philip Pocock and Jared Vining, and a determined effort will be made to secure these seats for labor. With this objective in view, Ald. Frank McKay and Ald. John Colbert will be asked to allow their names to go be-fore the electors for the commission. Two years ago Ald. John Colbert was nosed out for this office by a few scattering votes, Philip Pocock not going to happen again. Probably no member of the city council has attracted more favorable comment than Ald. Frank McKay Labor's second representative in Ward 3, who is now serving his first term, although he has been promin-nently identified with the labor movement for many years.

D. J. Tallant, member of the Lon don Housing Commission, and an official of No. 1 branch of the London Labor Party, who has already an nounced his candidature for the pub lic utilities commission, stated that if both Ald. Colbert and McKay stand he will leave that field and try con dermanic candidate. He was feated by a small margin at the last

Mayor to Run Again. Mayor Wenige and at least ter members of the city council will seek re-election (all other things being equal), if not for the council, for

This is the situation roughly out lined today by those prepared to speak with assurance.
In the first instance Mayor Wenige's name will again go to the people. He has already stated so, and "a wink is as good as a nod" to his opposition who are eagerly preparing for the fray. "Wenige must be trimmed at all costs" is the ultimatum, and the preliminary objective is to pick the favorite from a host of possibilities. Almost every day another blanket-ed prospect is led from the paddock and past the reviewing stand. Many will be called or will call themselves but as the mayor's opponents readily agree, it will be unwise to select more than one or two at the most. If every mayoralty prospect suggested in recent weeks was to stag the unexpected and place himsel "in the hands of his friends" it would classic in three or four heats. There

Down the Line In All Sports

The first ground has been broken for London's new arena, and London this winter will once again be able to hold up its head. There'll be no waiting for the weatherman to start the hockey season, and teams throughout the district will be able to get their early-season workouts in as well as the local teams. Indoor training for a hockey season is something requiring too heavy a strain on the imagination for most athletes, and the result usually showed as far as local teams were concerned. The new arena should be a boon to Stratford this year. While there is still good motoring, the Indians will be able to get ice and be in great shape by the time the Western Ontario senior group opens.

The real reason why the local committee decided to protect the Ontario championships against lack of competition, and therefore accepted American entries, may be blamed to Toronto in a large measure. When the meeting which decided to throw open the meet convened, no Toronto entries had been received.

If there weren't little run-ins in the major league like the Luque-Stengel mix, the spirit of red-blooded competition would be lost in the roar of the business machinery which surrounds to a greater or less degree all professional sport.

The Hams may not be getting pitching, but Johnny Noonan is.

The cry for more pitchers is a wailing one. The majors are spending bundles of money looking over all sorts of it, and the class A.A. organizations swell the chorus. Considering the contradictions of baseball, a blindfold stab here and there in the minors should produce something for any big league club. Petie Behan, up in the majors and doing not so badly; Jack Bentley, a supposed known quantity with the world's champion at his back, having tough sledding, and big Herman Schwartje slipping into the International with his small but well-controlled assortment, are a few of the inconsistencies which make picking pitchers look like a blindfold

In reply to Tommy Gibbons' allegation that he didn't get any the best of it, Referee Jimmy Dougherty, who was third man in the ring at Shelby, heatedly asserts that Tommy coated his body with invisible grease, and that he could not handle Gibbons in the clinches at all, he was so slippery. One of the New York experts suggests that this must have been the reason Dempsey's blows skidded so often. A few more disclosures of this kind and the composure of the expert, which was badly upset at Shelby, may gradually come back.

The Hamilton Spectator says that Bobby Ebor is going to meet McCarthy of Galt here this week. This was a surprise, and the Spectator goes on with a few more surprises. It says that professional boxing is not popular in London because they've never had any chance to see any real bouts. It says further that if Ebor could be put against a good man here it would not take long to educate the natives to what good sport professional

DASEBALL FIRPO NEGLECTS

South American Fighter Keeps Fit Going Through Set-Up Bouts.

IS MAKING MONEY

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Aug. 9.-Luis Angel Firpo is the most unique young man of the ring, and the more he does the more unique he becomes. The South American champion apparently thinks that he can get ready to fight Jack Dempsey in less than 30 days. Thirty months, perhaps, would be better for

When any other challenger for the heavyweight champic iship would be at work now trying to perfect himself in a style that would be necessary against a champion of the Demosey type, the Angel insists upon mingling with the pushovers.

He has a fight in Philadelphia Monday night with Charley Weinert, and now he has agreed to fill his Indianapolis date with Joe Downey on the following Friday night.

Meanwhile Dempsey, who should be the one to take things with less seriousness, will be boxing and training in Saratoga. The champion was o start light boxing work today.

If Homer Smith proved too tough for the South American to stop, Firpo might have much difficulty with Weinert, who is far from the worst set-up in the class.

From the result of the Smith fight. it is apparent that the men handling

Firpo on his trip through the country are not trying to "do business' with his opponents. Perhaps they do not know enough to do that. Firpo, in his most unusual actions, is either trying to spoil his fight with .414 Dempsey and get out of it or he has resigned himself to a place on the canvas when he meets the champion he can before he ceases to be such a big card. Firpo, it was learned from absolutely reliable information, was enraged when he was forced to fight Dempsey before he could accept a $300,000 movie contract, and from the same source it is understood that before he left for his campaign among

Anderson Wins But Hawkes Is Beaten By Shimizu.

Associated Press Despatch. Chicago, Aug. 9.—Australia and Japan divided honors in the final round of the American zone Davis Cup tennis play today, when James C. Anderson, captain of the Australian team, defeated Musanosuke Fukuda, while Zenzo Shimizu, pilot of the Nipponese team, triumphed over John B. Hawkes, the Australian triumphed over John B. Hawkes, the Australian.
Shimizu, playing excellent tennis and displaying clever court generalship, defeated Hawkes 6-4, 3-6, 2-6, 6-1, Hawkes started strong by winning the first four games, but got no further, as Shimizu braced and began hitting the stride that won for him international fame. Hawkes' service, a fast, twisting overhead stroke, was responsible for his early victories, and had the Nipponese leader completely bewildered. The Shimizu displayed the best tennis of his career in winning the last two sets which were necessary, as Hawkes was pressing him to the limit.

Anderson made quick work in dis-pressing him to the limit.

Anderson made quick work in disposing of Fukuda, winning by scores of 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1. The tall Australian was master of the play at every stage except the second set, when Fukuda struck a winning streak.

Anderson hammered Fukuda's service and deve his own into corners taking and drove his own into corners, taking and drove his own into corners, taking the first five games by sheer speed. The Australian's service was hard and bewildering, and paved the way for frequent rushes to the net, where he scored in clever stop volleys.

When you have taken your clubhead back with your left arm straight the back swing and have a look for yourself at the arm and wrist. Do that, so that you will understand how it works

If your left arm is nearly straightjust slightly curved—and the left wrist is in line between the shaft and your forearm and the ball, you have the "eight o'clock position." That position is correct. It may b something of a surprise to you fo learn that, from that position, you can hit the ball about as accurately as if the club had been taken back straight from the ball and your swing out and eleven runs already across the made regularly.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

BREAD AND CHEESE AND KISSES.

By H. IRVING KING. "No, my dear, you cannot exist upon bread and cheese and kisses; and love in a cottage has proved repeatedly to be more romantic than satisfactory. You think, now, that Arphie Rocars is the one way in all are most sweets. The love in a cotsatisfactory. You think, now, that Archie Rogers is the one man in all the world for you. Nonsense. Suppose you had never met Archie, would you, thereafter, have remained unmarried all your life? Not at all; you would have met someone else who would have been to you all that Archie is now. Archie is not the one man in the world for you. He is simply the one man for you whom you have happened to meet. Had you met the other man first, you would not have given a second thought to Archie. Now, since there may be several men in the world capable of being to you all that Archie is, why not wait and see if you do not meet one of them provided with more of this world's goods than the man you are at present than the man you are at present anxious to marry??"

Thus discoursed Miss Margaret Colton to her niece Laura, to which Laura replied: "What you say, auntie, is very logical, but the fact remains that I have not met this other one with money, and therefore to me he is non-existent. I have, however, met Archie, and he is existent—and his existence is a part of my very life. Your dietary remarks are, I must confess, worthy of serious consideration. The kisses are all right, but a constant diet of bread and cheese, even in the form of Welsh rarebits and toast, I am sure would not agree with me. This fact, and the question as to whether it is right for me to saddle Archie with the encumbrances of a wife in his present state of finances is what, as they say in the play, 'gives me pause.' Heigho! life has its problems. You see, auntie, I am not quite the unreasoning young thing you think me. Still—do you know?—I believe I shall marry Archie. There hang the scales—common sense and prudence in one scale, and Archie in the other—and Archie's scale makes the other one kick the beam.'

different plans for the new which is to be erected in Lonwere laid before No. 2 of the board of education by L. E. Carruthers, school architect at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. Although the relative merits of the various suggestions were thoroughly discussed no decision was made.

Favor was almost equally divided between two of the plans, while the third received very little consideration.

Plan No. 1 is featured by a very attractive entrance facing the corner of Wharncliffe road and Empress avenue. The building proper, how ever, in the opinion of some of the members, and of the architect himself, would seem poorly balanced, as a greater portion of it would extend well, and both Father Slimkins and the Slimkins pocketbook felt better. along Empress avenue.

Sixteen Rooms.

The plan provided for 16 classrooms to be built at once and for an addition of an extra four when required. It made possible also an autitorium of a pleasing theatrical shape, although as a combined gymnasium and auditorium, which is considered necessary, the room would not serve so well.

There is a danger of this building, some of the trustees suggested, extending too far back into the property at the rear, which is desired for play ground purposes. The architect in-formed the committee that it would absorb at least 64 feet of the prop-

Not Compact. In the opinion of one or two of the trustees the plan did not seem as compact as plan No. 1, but a different opinion was held by others. The plan shows a provision for 14 classrooms, with the Empress avenue wing built on lower ground closer to the street, which makes a three-story wing possible if desired. Other classwould be added to the rear as

The plan provides for an auditorium of rectangular shape, which would be highly suitable both for a gymhasium and an auditorium.

Plan No. 3 places the auditorium mmediately at the front of the building, where it would more easily serve as a community center. The trus-tees were of one accord, however, that a school building should be built primarily for school purposes. No Details Offered. The plans were merely suggestions

Mayor Matthews, Port Arthur, States 10,000 Horsepower Needed at One Plant.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 9 .- Mayor Matthews, Port Arthur, who was a visitor to the parliament buildings today, said the contract to supply power to the Great Lakes Pulp and Paper Company at $18 per horsepower, was going to seriously handicap the two pulp mills and the paper mill in Port Arthur, where a higher rate for power was being paid. TIMELY SUGGESTIONS.

To Clean Furniture - To remove the dirt and smoke from furniture, wash with a soft cloth dipped in equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine. Polish with dry cloth. This will not injure the finish on your furniture and will brighten it up wonderfully.

Stuffed Prunes - Children will eat these when they do not care for the sauce. Wash and soak prunes over night, use the same water and simuntil tender. When prunes are cold remove stones and put in half a glass of water and roll in granu-lated sugar and set away until dry. Dental floss is a good material or which to string small beads. "whim or course of action followed with exaggerated zeal."

In the matter of food fads one would like to enlarge on this definition to the extent of pointing out the fact that the habit is in itself inimical to good nutrition, so that the "exagyou to go without breakfast," the sleep-loving commuter may easily delude himself into thinking that he does not need breakfast and that he does need that extra half-hour's nap.

The answer is: Chemically one may fill the bodily requirements by means of two large meals, but it will probably be at the expense of perfect health.

Then there is the sour milk fad.
Because fermented milk is useful in certain well defined conditions, it does not by any means follow that it is a cure-all,

"The raw food fad is reasonable," says Dr. Jesse Feiring Williams, of

To Preserve Ham-To keep a ham fresh during hot weather spread lard over cut surface. When you want to cut a slice, scrape lard off and respread again. You will not be troubled with meat turning white, and it will keep indefinitely.

Worn Window Shades—Window shades that are somewhat faded or worn at the bottom can be reversed, putting the bottom at the top, thereby securing an even distribution of wear and making the shade an even color all over. A good way to mend a window shade is first to place the shade on a table then cut a piece of passe-partout picture binding the same length and breadth as the worn same length and breadth as the worn part of the shade, and apply it to the dilapidated portion by putting a dry cloth over the binding and pressing it against the shade with a warm iron. The passepartout must be the same color as the shade. If the edges are frayed, they can be bound with the passepartout in the same way that you would bind a picture, then pressed with the iron. This is easily and quickly done, and is a neat and and quickly done, and is a neat and excellent way to lengthen the time that a window shade can be used Way to Make Tassels-When mak-Way to Make Tassels—When making tassels, instead of clipping the threads short that are tied around the top of head, leave them long, pull them under the binding thread and cut to the same length as the tassel. This is easily done with a crochet hook, prevents the thread becoming untied or loosened and makes a neater finish

POWER COMPANY WILL DOUBLE ITS CAPACITY

Builds Extra Line To Gold Camp and Adds New Equipment.

Special to The Advertiser. Cobalt, Ont., Ang. 10 .- Looking to the future the Northern Ontario Light and Power Company is now doubling the power supply to Kirkland Lake, through building of an extra line to the gold camp and the adding of whatever other equipment is necessary. A good has already been made on the job. It will be finished, according to the company, in good time to handle increased demand.

The present line, which will be paralleled in part by the new transmission line, is stated to be good for 5.690 horsepower. The present peak load is 3,800 horsepower, and the line and equipment is said by power, officials to be quite capable of taking care of the increased milling capacity, now under construction by Lake Shore, and the proposed increase by Wright-Hargreaves. The company sees good growth ahead in Kirkland and proposes to be ready for it.

No extra transforming equipment will be needed at Kirkland, as the company has there a transformer which has never been hooked in.

This addition to the Northern Ontario light and power system is one of The present line, which will be

This addition to the Northern Ontario light and power system is one of three main works which, in addition to smaller undertakings, are part of a broad scheme to assure Cobalt, South Lorraine and Kirkland, and other camps which may develop, of ample power, Last year the company spent 3190,000 on doubling the Rabbit Lake storage area. They are now spending another $100,000 on installing new turbines at the Matabitchouan plant, which the company considers its best because of its 312-foot head. The replacing of the old turbines is expected to add 25 per cent to the capacity of this plant. These expenditures, which, incidentally, come on top of the heavy expense involved in the repairing of the damage caused by the Haileybury fire last October, will, it is claimed, place the company in shape to handle any contingencies which may arise.

GRAIN IS ACCEPTED FOR CASH PAYMENTS

Elevator Certificates Taken as Currency by Chicago Retail Clothiers.

Associated Fress Despatch.

New York, Aug. 10.—Grain is being accepted instead of cash in payment for merchandise in some parts of the grain growing sections of the United States, according to the Tribune today. The Tribune says: "On the advice of one of the large Chicago manufacturers of men's clothing, clothiers and furnishers in the grain growing sections are accepting elevator certificates in lieu of cash in payment for apparel and furnishing goods. The basis of the transaction is $1 a bushel."

During the depression of 1920 and 1921 many retailers in the agricultural sections accepted grain certificates, or the actual grain itself as ready cash. In the south a number of merchants did a large business with the cotton farmers by taking cotton at the prevailing market rate in payment for goods bought in the stores.

HILARITY SWEEPS

Youths and Maidens Sally Forth To Shake Tranquility of City.

DANCING ON STREET

Two nights ago the town was merry. Last night it was hilarious. All night long the battle of ticklers, confetti and torpedoes raged on a three-mile front, flanked on the left by the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, and on the right by Queen's Park. Until dark the town belonged to everyone. A few hours after dark youth began to make heavy onslaughts at salient points, and before many hours the younger generation seized the town bag and baggage And they took advantage of their victory. A walk on the north side of Dundas street from Wellington to Richmond was almost as exciting as rune ning a gauntlet of howling Redskins. If one emerged from the melee intact one was fortunate. From every doorway ticklers and showers of confetti greeted pedestrians. The merry makers decided the straw hat season should be brought to a premature close and acted accordingly. Many crowns had fallen ere long.

Fair Sex Prominent. Who says London has not many budding women rugby players? The fair sex was very prominent in every rush and crush along the Great White Way. In hand to hand tussles for the possession of ticklers and other paraphernalia the boys found that there was goodly sprinkling of Amazons among the girls. The evening was young in London when a large proportion of the crowd returned from Port. The revellers from the lakeside were met at the station by a band, which headed a procession led by Marshal T. J. procession led by Marshal T. J. Holmes. The parade proceeded to

NO NEED IN LONDON FOR KU KLUX KLAN

Mayor Resents the Suggestion That City Requires To Be "Cleaned Up."

London needs no Ku Klux Klan or "clean-up" purposes. This is the warning from Mayor George Wenige, chairman of the police commission, relative to the declaration credited to "an alderman" that the klan had established a local in this city and had attracted within the charmed but secretive circle "many of the best men and women in town."

"There is no need for the Ku Klux Klan or any other klan in London for the purpose of cleaning up, as has been reported," the mayor stated.
"There is nothing here so wrong that it has to be cleaned up. This is one of the cleanest places in the Domin-ion, and if it is correct, although I doubt it, that klan sympathizers and organizers are at work here, they had better watch their step.' Mayor Wenige warns that hooded bands and so-called "night riders" will receive short shrift here.

STREET RAILWAY CO.

Mayor and Old Boys' Secretary Say They Have "Played the Game."

The London Street Railway has "played the game" during Old Boys' Week. This is the opinion today from Mayor Wenige and Edwin Smith, secretary of the local Old Boys' As-

"I don't believe any corporation anywhere would have done the same," the secretary stated to The Adver-tion. "They have certainly given us everything in the manner of cooperation, and they have gone out of their way to give extra service to the citizens and their visiting friends and relatives. I know this, as I have been naturally in close touch with the situation all week."

Mayor Wanige is equally emphatic Mayor Wenige is equally emphatic in his praise of the street railway company, both officials and men.
"They have done splendidly," he declared. "The railway authorities and their employees have certainly attended to their part during the week and lent their share of co-operation to the success. The com-pany is all right and getting better."
