Term Examinations

By Peter Kent

The freshmen begin their Christmas exams on Saturday, December 13. They will last for one week, ending Friday, December 19.

The exams will be written in the Boxing and Ping-Pong Rooms of the gym, in Memorial Hall and in the Engineering Building. According to Registrar, Edith G. McLeod, the professors may use their own discretion as to the length of writing time and the percentage value of these exams on the year's mark. Thus different courses will write for different lengths of time and results of the exams may be worth anywhere up to 40% of the final mark in May.

No Expulsions

There will be no expulsions

from university as a result of these exams except in the case of a student who is repeating his first year and who fails more than three papers at Christmas.

In addition to the freshman courses, several upperclass half-term courses will be written at this time as well, namely Physics 211, Physics 331, Sociology 321 and Drawing 301, and several education courses.

This is the third year for freshman exams at Christmas. They were re-instituted in 1956, after a vote had been taken in the student body. In the years before 1949, all students wrote Christmas exams and the results of these exams made up a substantial portion of the year's mark.

THEATRICAL EXTRAVAGANZA TO BE STAGED NEXT TERM

Plans are now under way for UNB's second theatrical extravaganza "Vicki" — which is to be staged during the forthcoming Winter Carnival. The two-act musical comedy, written and directed by Steve Patterson, is a sparkling political satire centering around a Victoria middle class family. For all those interested in participating in any phase of the production, a general meeting will be held in the All Purpose Room of the Student Centre, Tuesday, December 9, at 4.30 p.m.

Director Steve Patterson states that the cast and technical crew will be larger than last year's production of "Around the World In 80 Minutes", and since this is not a general casting, but an attempt to determine who wishes to participate, all interested are urged to attend. Anyone who cannot do so is asked to contact Mr. Patterson by phoning 5-6786.

The director is anxious to get in touch with some of the hidden talent that is on campus, and the best way to do that is for every member of the student body to appoint himself a talent scout. But this talent business is no cause for alarm. For genuine interest and a willingness to work are the primary requirements for anyone interested in getting the show on stage.

Rehearsals are scheduled to begin during the first week of next term.

Music, book and lyrics are by Steve Patterson, while Mr. A. F. Trythall will assist in some of the orchestrations. Costumes are executed by Janet McNair.

Mr. Patterson was the director-producer-star of "Around The World In 80 Minutes", UNB's first musical comedy presented in conjunction with last January's Winter Carnival.

The show featured twenty original songs, and satirized local institutions, politics, fashions, philosophers, and psychologists.

The highlight of Wednesday's SRC meeting was the report by the Winter Carnival Committee Chairman, Jack Ellison, that the proposed place and dates of the Carnival show clashes with those of the preliminary adjudication of the N.B. Drama Society's Festival entry "The Moon is Blue".

Both organizations proposed to use Memorial Hall during the first week in February. The Drama Society booked the Hall through the University Administrator and the Winter Carnival through the Campus Co-ordinator. The SRC backed a motion to the effect that the Council send a letter to the Drama Society asking if they can recommend a change in dates to the N.B. Drama League and if a stalemate ensued that the SRC recommend the administration to give the Carnival priority. Neither party can use theatres downtown, the Drama Society for reasons of depth of stage and the Carnival for financial reasons.

President Announces Law Faculty Move

Colin B. Mackay has announced that the UNB Law Faculty, now situated in Saint John, "definitely will come to Fredericton".

This question has been under study by the Senate of the University for some time. It was felt that the move would be advantageous for both law students and students in other faculties from an academic point of view.

Two additions to the present teaching staff of three is one of the improvements planned for the law faculty after the move.

Its present location, Beaverbrook House, will be used by the University for some other purpose which is indefinite at the moment.

UNB's Law Faculty was established in 1892 and is one of the oldest in Canada. It was first connected with King's College, Windsor, N.S. and taken over by UNB in 1923 when King's College moved to Halifax.

Lord Beaverbrook gave Beaverbrook House and an outstanding law library of 90,000 volumes in the fall of 1953.

Drama Society Draws Contract

The executive of the Drama Society is drawing up a contract pertaining to the loaning of technical equipment. This was decided at the meeting in the Student Centre Tuesday night.

Members voiced opinions that agreed with the generous policy carried out up to this time, but the damage resulting was expensive, and, at times, extensive. The contract will be put before the society at the next meeting.

In the meantime, rehearsals are in progress for the January production of Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge". The one-act plays will probably be presented after the Drama festival in the spring.

Ski Club Party

Ski Club members and guests are invited to attend the party in the Ski Hut tomorrow night. Cars will be leaving Club 252 at 8:30 p.m. for the Royal Roads location of the party.

The next meeting of the club will not be held until after Christmas.

Radio Network

In view of the promised support from other Canadian Universities, Memorial University intends to go ahead with their University Radio Network scheme. They have suggested a conference in Toronto in the New Year to discuss organization. It appears, however, that the CBC have not been approached yet concerning these radio plans, and UNB is for the moment tabling the matter of a conference.

Dartmouth-UNB Exchange

The Dartmouth - UNB Exchange Investigating Committee have decided to settle on more definite plans before submitting a report to the Council.

Saturday Dances

The SRC will no longer sponsor Saturday night dances due to a lack of support. Any organization interested in sponsoring a dance will now have to go to the Faculty Social Committee.

School Song

A fee of $25 has been offered for a school song. Entries are to be submitted to the SRC Applications Committee.

The SRC constitution has been passed. President Ron Manzer reminded members of the Council of the clause warning that absence of members from three meetings would result in automatic dismissal.

TO MEET SUNDAY

Canterbury Missionary Night is to be held Sunday, December 7, at 8.15 in Cathedral Hall. The purpose is to raise funds for Bruce Much, a missionary amongst Japanese university students.

A travel film on Japan and a missionary film will be shown. Jim Savory will be on hand to answer questions about Japan.

Drama Society Prepares Two Entries For Festival

It was announced at the SRC meeting Wednesday night by John Drew, Vice-President of the Drama Society, that the UNB group will present two entries for Provincial and Dominion competition this year. The two are the comedy "The Moon is Blue" by F. Hugh Herbert presented on campus just under two weeks ago and the tragedy "A View From the Bridge" by Arthur Miller to be seen in January. The Drama Society Executive decided on this action last May in choosing the casts for the major productions this year. It was felt that with increasing numbers, ability and enthusiasm this unprecedented step could be taken.

Three years ago the Drama Society was unable to find enough enthusiasm to enter the Regional and Dominion Festivals. In 1957 and 1958 they not only entered, but won the N.B. Festival and were invited to Edmonton, Alberta and Halifax, N.S. for the Dominion finals.

Both plays will be viewed in Fredericton by a preliminary adjudicator to decide whether they will be presented at the Regional Festival in Saint John. The winning entry from Saint John will be considered for the DDF in Toronto this year.

NFCUS Aiding Students Summer Work Leads Announced

This is the time of year that many students begin thinking about summer employment. Information about summer jobs is, at times, rather difficult to obtain. To offset this difficulty, the UNB NFCUS Committee, under Miss Joanie Young, has compiled a list of companies interested in employing undergraduate students.

The companies are located in various centres throughout Canada and anyone interested in one of the jobs offered can apply before January 15. Free Tuition Advocated President Claude T. Bissell of the University of Toronto has announced a plan to guarantee education to all worthy Ontario students. Highlighting this proposal would be free tuition plus financial help to all Ontario high school students with first class honours in Grade 13. Financial aid would also be given to second class honour students.

The unofficial report by the president's advisory committee on student aid also advocated a two-month vacation instead of the present one of five. This would mean that the term would last from September 1 to June 30, with a week's holiday at Thanksgiving, and a month at Christmas and Easter. —The Varsity

Narrowly Escapes Death
Don Bell, a first year science student at Acadia University from Jackson Heights, N.Y., recently had a harrowing experience.

At 5.30 p.m. one afternoon, Bell decided to walk across the dyke on the Cornwallis River. Darkness soon fell, and unable to see where he was going, he slipped from the edge of the dyke into a trench dug in the mud. Realizing that he was trapped, he screamed for help. About 6.30 p.m., his cries were heard, and help was sent.

Fortunately, the tide was out, and rescuers were able to pull him from the engulfing mud. He was then returned to Wolfville, suffering only from a mild state of shock and exhaustion. —The Acadia Athenaeum

NEW TITLES IN PAPERBACK SERIES

McLelland and Stewart has issued four new titles in its paperback series, the New Canadian Library.

The new titles are:

The Tin Flute, by Gabrielle Roy; Barometer Rising, by Hugh MacLennan; The Clockmaker, by Thomas Chandler Haliburton, and The Last Barrier, by Sir Charles G. D. Roberts.

Hugo McPherson of the University of Toronto supplies introductions for the volumes by Miss Roy and Mr. McLennan. Robert L. McDougall of Carleton College, Ottawa, introduces Mr. Haliburton's work and Alec Lucas, now of McGill University and formerly professor of English at UNB, supplies a preface for the collection of stories by Sir Charles.

The volumes have attractive covers by Frank Newfeld and are priced at a dollar each.

The New Canadian Library series was begun last year with four titles, including work by Stephen Leacock, Morley Callaghan, Frederick Phillip Grove and Sinclair Ross. The move by McLelland and Stewart was the first major attempt to market a Canadian writing in paperback form.

"I shall expect my wife to be the same in twenty years as she is now," said the young husband.

"But that's unreasonable!" retorted his friend.

"Yes, that's what she is now."

Highway Hazards

Aldous Huxley uses a Christmas Eve party as the setting for one of his more recent novels, The Genius and the Goddess. As the party and the novel draw to a close, the following lines appear:

He got up, took my arm and walked me out into the hall, "Drive carefully," he said as he opened the front door. "This is a Christian country and it's the Saviour's birthday. Practically everybody you see will be drunk."

Though this passage may be a bit too cynical for some people's taste, it does serve here as an eloquent warning against mixing drinking and driving during the holidays.

Of course, none of our readers (most of whom are college students and consequently the world's most enlightened people) will be careless enough to drive while intoxicated.

Yet, even college students have to contend with "the other guys", the ones who haven't yet learned that even a few drinks can lead to catastrophe.

In addition, danger on the highway is not only caused by drinking. In fact, the Canadian Highway Safety Conference points out that intoxication ranks but eighth among the leading causes of traffic deaths. Even more common are: speed too fast for conditions, unsafe backing, assuming right-of-way, cutting in, failure to signal, unsafe passing and inattention.

So even if you don't drink, you still had better drive carefully if you want to see what academic adventures are in store for the new year.

Letters to the Editor

A New Cain

Sir: The following poem, by Mr. Raymond Souster, of Toronto, will doubtlessly interest your readers:

FREDERICTON

So this is "the poets' corner
 Of Canada" — Bliss, Sir Charles,
 And Francis Joseph Sherman,
 All born, all Latin'd and Greek'd here.

Not one of them
 With anything really to say,
 But dressing it up, faking it,
 So that they fooled quite a few in their time.

And I can understand why.
 Outside of the noble river
 Which none of them bothered to write about,
 This city has little to commend it,
 And couldn't help but in time
 Drive a man to drink or lousy poetry.

Which voices are no doubt being practised
 At this very moment today.

Here we see the honest poetry of a sincere Canadian, a man who is not partial and who has something to say.

Fredericton is considered the "poets' corner of Canada" by those who live in the area, and on the campus we have a memorial to bards who lived and received their education here. But the "poets' corner" is not representative of all who have written poetry. Raymond Souster who has written about Fredericton and described it with an acute eye is not mentioned on the monument nor is there a monument in his honour.

This is a gross error on the part of the "Board of Historical Sites and Monuments of Canada", as well as past and present members of Fredericton city council.

I think that because the Canadian government is suffering from a budget deficit and the city of Fredericton is destitute, the students of the University should start a fund so that the proper authorities could erect a monument to an eminent Canadian poet — a poet who tells the truth about the "City of Elms".

Sincerely,
 A CANADIAN

Biased Decision?

Sir: The following is a letter we sent to Judith Bell, editor of the Dalhousie Gazette. We would like you to know that not all of the audience were in agreement with the decision. Though Dalhousie is capable of winning a debate, it was second to UNB on November 25:

Dear Madam Editor:

To surrender or be exterminated?
 We hereby protest the decision of the debate between UNB and Dalhousie on November 25. Only one judge was qualified to criticize the debate. The others were biased before they even entered the law building. They voted not so much for Dalhousie, as for the negative side of the argument.

Dalhousie's only asset was an outspoken redhead. Our worthy opponents, on the other hand, presented many well-founded arguments and attacked the resolution from every angle.

Dalhousie protested UNB's usage of new material in the rebuttal. UNB, we feel, should have protested the choice of judges.

Two otherwise firm Dal. supporters,

NFCUS Insurance
 Sir: I have been asked to comment on the NFCUS life insurance scheme recently advertised in the Brunswickan.

The group term insurance offered is the cheapest type obtainable and is well suited to most students' requirements. The rates of this plan are about 30% lower than for term insurance bought individually.

The amount of insurance a student should carry should be at least equal to his estimated burial expenses and his personal debt. To this could be added an amount equal to the payments the student would have made to his family had he lived; an amount reflecting the dependence of his family on his future income. For most students this will be a negligible sum.

Tonight the UNB Red Devils journey to Chatham where they will lock horns with the powerful Saint Thomas Tommies. To date the Tommies have won one, lost one and tied one, in the North Shore Hockey League. The high-scoring line of Bell, Gulliver and Moar will have to be watched closely by the Kellymen. The game will get underway at 8.30.

Come Monday the Central New Brunswick Senior Hockey League will get underway at the Lady Beaverbrook Rink. The season opener will pit the UNB Red Devils against their never ending rivals, the Fredericton Capitals. On hand for the opening ceremonies will be Hon. Hugh John Flemming, Provincial Premier, President Colin B. Mackay, and League President, Delbert Gallagher.

This will be the last home game for the Red Devils before the Christmas holidays, but one more tilt will be played Dec. 11 against the Devon Tigers at York Arena.

Dave Inch who was struck in the nose last week is fully recovered and will be ready for both games. Inch has been to the workouts this week and has looked as good as ever. Coach Kelly has not yet released his lineup but those of last week will get the probable "go" signal. The game being played Monday evening will begin at 8.40 and UNB students will be admitted with their students' pass while 50¢ and 25¢ will be charged for other adults and children respectively.
