THE CAMPAIGN ON IN PRINCE ALBERT

Hon. J. A. Calder Overseeing the Organization for the Provincial Rights Party Out to Show a Favorite With the People

Prince Albert, Oct. 1.—A short, snappy campaign; a session in the early part of November, to be followed by dissolution immediately after the federal elections. Laurier is successful, was the program of the local government when they issued the writs in the present bye-election. That they will win the election here is very doubtful but they are putting the best front possible on the background of disaffection which is known to exist in the party.

Mr. Calder hardly moves outside Mr. Turgeon's central committee rooms where he supervises the organization. Both parties are working hard and the candidates are making a personal canvass, although in this feature of the campaign Mr. Bradshaw is making the greater headway, being persona grata with most of the men on the street. He is what is known as a good "mixer". The issues of the two parties will come more into play after Mr. Haultain's meeting here on Friday next when much more enthusiasm will prevail. At present the workers on both sides are full of fight but the crowd looks like the combative qualities so apparent during election campaigns. This is due to the work of the parties being devoted so far to organization which after all has a great deal to do with results.

Unless forced to, the government speakers will not make any reference to the school question, but Mr. Bradshaw has nailed his colors to the mast by placarding the streets with an appeal for public support because he stands for the restoration of our public lands, purity in administration and national schools.

In canvassing for Mr. Turgeon, his friends appeal for support because at present they declare that the city should not do anything to embarrass the efforts that are being made to get patronage from the government. However, owing to the fact that nothing has been done so far except the promise of a bridge, and because neither Mr. Calder nor Mr. Turgeon are willing to make any binding pledges for the future, the people are not in very good mood to take a bet. It does not assist Mr. Turgeon that during his residence here he has not taken a citizen's interest in the affairs of the city, while Mr. Bradshaw is at present President of the Board of Trade and has been mayor for a term during which he carried out a progressive policy with regard to public utilities. The government realize that in Mr. Bradshaw they have a man who while possessing legitimate ambitions, is unselfish, and who has proved his worth as a citizen of Prince Albert. The rumors circulated shortly after the writs were issued that the opposition did not intend to put up a fight, was a wish father to the thought, because it was urged by Mr. Turgeon's friends that as the new member would sit for only one session it would be better to arrange for an acclamation declaring at the same time that it was unwise to spend time and money when so little could be accomplished, especially when the general elections are so near at hand. The issues dividing the legislature, however, are of such importance that nothing in the way of compromise could be considered even if the elections followed in the next few months.

Having gone into the fight under the present circumstances it is apparent that the opposition will put up a desperate fight to the end and they seem confident of victory. All they are afraid of is the use of money and the former methods of manipulating the ballot boxes, although they have considerable confidence in Fred McGuire, the returning officer. Notwithstanding this, however, committees are appointed to watch the government workers and to guard the ballot boxes.

The Turgeon element are disappointed that they have been foiled in their attempt to spoil the Borden meeting, for they arranged the election for the same day. The Conservative executive however were not by any means beaten, for when they saw what had happened they cancelled the previous engagement by calling the federal meeting on the day previous, as Mr. Borden would have a day to spare in any case. With the Conservative leader coming to the people with the pledge regarding public lands, a vital issue here, the government were of course anxious that they get the election over before Mr. Borden's meeting would hurt Mr. Turgeon's chances in the election.

When the Conservative leader's tour was arranged it was not thought probable that there would be a provincial election, but as the government has put it up to their opponents, there is nothing to do but to pursue the policy of "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth" and await the result.

ELABORATE CHINESE FUNERAL PROCESSION

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 25.—In the Chinese cemetery at Douglas street lay the body of Wong Hong, ex-leader of the local branch of the Chinese Reform association, head of a large family, beloved and honored by his people.

The funeral was most elaborate, over two hundred Celestials taking part in the ceremonies. For fully five hours, pandemonium reigned in Chinatown. Three musical aggregations assailed the air with variations of all kinds of musical notes.

At the grave side numerous ceremonies were gone through, the principle one being the scattering of rice and other food for the use of the departed when on his long journey to the spirit world.

BILL MINER IS HEARD OF AGAIN

Report States That He Has Been Near New Westminster All The Time--Lived in Nest Scooped Out Beside The Water

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 28.—If Bill Miner was concerned in the last daring holdup in northern Washington, between Fernie and Spokane, he must have planned it ahead from his lair in the near neighborhood of this city.

This is no fairy tale. William had a snug nest scooped out in the side of the dike, and there he lay low. About ten feet of water immediately adjacent to his humble abode provided a handy den for anybody who should be inconveniently inquisitive, and those who are aware of his having domiciled for some time on that spot are of the opinion that for anyone who proved too attentive Miner would quickly have broken his alleged record of not having ever killed a man.

WHAT WHEAT TO SOW

Will Red Fife be Superseded by an Earlier Variety--The Preston Becoming a Favorite Because of Yield and Time of Maturity

Each year brings considerable controversy among farmers as to what variety of wheat is most desirable for western Canada. Red Fife always has had the greatest number of supporters, but for some reason or other the percentage of agriculturalists who favor other sorts is increasing. This change of opinion is not due to inferiority in the quality in the western farmers' stand-by. The main factor is the shorter period required for other varieties to reach maturity.

The season of 1907 has taught those who labor in the fields in the prairie provinces many lessons. It has been demonstrated that it pays to have wheat that will mature in the least possible number of days. Fifteen days or ten days or even five days means much to the farmer who has hundreds of acres of wheat to harvest.

Without casting any reflections on the quality of Red Fife or other standard varieties and without unduly boosting Preston and similar sorts, too much emphasis cannot be placed on the advisability of studying the numerous qualities and characteristics that make wheat suitable for western Canada. The average farmer is laboring for dollars and cents. The variety of grain that brings the highest returns is the one that demands his attention. Some high-minded westerners justly argue that under no circumstances should the reputation of this country for the production of the best wheat in the world be impaired and this argument is used to support Red Fife wheat.

While authorities assert that there is no wheat of higher quality than Red Fife, that some varieties requiring many days less to reach maturity are not sufficiently lower in quality to make the raising of them unworthy of consideration. In addition to the standard variety that usually catch the standard variety they have been found to produce more bushels per acre. It is these two characteristics that have resulted in an increased popularity of the newer sorts.

The supporters of Preston, Stanley and Huron are elated over the returns from those varieties and the reports from those who have made comparative tests. A factor worthy of consideration is that few who grew one of these varieties for a season have been without that variety since.

Interesting figures have been given from time to time by Angus McKay, superintendent of the experimental farm at Indian Head, both as to yield and shortness of maturity period. The results of annual tests for many years in plot and in field tests places Preston ahead in yield and shows several acres less in the period required to mature that variety.

A review of the winners as announced by the judges in the annual competitions in standing fields of seed grain in Saskatchewan also shows that Preston holds a high place when it is considered that comparatively few entries of that class were in competition. In some districts where Preston is largely grown all the awards went to that variety.

The conditions indicate that at least in some parts of Canada farmers would profit by changing the variety of seed grown. In the district where the season is backward increased returns would be appreciable. At any rate the results of experiments conducted by others demand consideration. Next year more convincing evidence might be furnished by sowing varieties side by side under similar conditions.—Commercial.

HOMESTEADER SUICIDES

Milestone, Sept. 29.—A young homesteader, Bruce Kesler, 25 years of age was discovered in his shack this morning, 19 miles southwest of here in a dying condition from the effects of carbolic acid.

The man was found by two young men of this town, R. Buloy and Irvine McCammut. It is believed that Kesler attempted suicide, having borrowed carbolic acid this morning, it is said, from a neighbor.

When found the odor of the acid was strong in the shack, and the unfortunate man's mouth and tongue were badly burned from acid.

News of the occurrence was brought to town by Buloy who arrived here at 6.15 this evening to summon a doctor and notify the police. Constable Bishop, accompanied by a physician have driven out to Kesler's place, but from the account given by Buloy it is not believed that the man's life can be saved. No reason is given for the man's attempt on his life. Kesler is well known here, having worked last summer, and this spring at a local livery.

UNCLAIMED GOODS SOLD

About 400 Parcels of Unclaimed at Custom House Sold for Duty—All Sorts and Conditions, from Glasware to Threshing Machines

The customs' sale of unclaimed goods was held at the city hall on Saturday last, Auctioneer Ross handling the hammer. A large number of parcels were offered and good bidding prevailed. There were boxes of all kinds containing patent medicines, books, dolls, clothing, gramophones, dishes, etc. etc.

The parcels which were on hand at the Regina port had all been sorted and the worthless articles thrown aside, and as a rule nearly every article was of value.

The customs goods which had come in by express were sold at the city hall, but the freight goods were sold at the warehouse of R. E. McKillop. The threshing outfit sold for $85, the Darby Digger brought $400. Among the freight goods were several barrels containing glass goods and at times the bidding on certain barrels was good. One barrel sold for $12 while another went up to $24. One box of books brought $2 and the purchaser opened them and in less than half an hour sold over $3 worth and had over half his books left. One valise when opened contained an alarm clock, clothing, and a box of samples of mineral bearing quartz.

A barrel that had contained liquor was sold cheap. It had been consigned to a prominent man of this city. About 400 parcels were sold, realizing in all about $980.

A cattleman by the name of Van Doran is serving a year in the Regina barracks for attempting to smuggle stock across the boundary.

Simon Gower, of Loon Creek, was in the city last Thursday and Friday conferring with the government regarding improvements for local improvement district 11-M-2, of which he is a councillor. He was accompanied by Overseer Cummings.

Notwithstanding the splendid growth of grain this year, there is no doubt but that the wheat in some of the districts near Regina is badly affected with frost. The great trouble is that the kernels do not seem to be hardening on account of lack of heat. Even the grains in the wheat which was cut does not seem to be making much headway in the hardening process, the grain still standing being about as far on as that cut. However, hot weather for about ten days would mean a lot of money to some farmers.

C. A. Garton, a member of the English firm of scientific seed growers, was in the city last week and was shown around the city by Publicity Commissioner Lawson. Mr. Garton stated that his firm intended to establish a branch on a large scale in Canada and that he is touring the west with a view to securing a suitable location. He further stated that he intended to carry on experiments of a scientific nature, as was suggested by Prof. McBride, of McGill University.

Mrs. D. E. Tremaine, of Bader, Cape Breton, arrived in Regina on Sunday morning to visit at her son's home on McIntyre street. Mrs. Tremaine has been west for about three months having spent most of the time at Banff where she received great benefit from the baths. On Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. J. Bennett, Albert street, quite a number of ladies met and enjoyed a cup of tea and a social chat with Mrs. Tremaine. She leaves this evening for her home. She will visit in Ottawa, proceeding to Montreal where she will be met by her husband, Judge Tremaine.

The second trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White will commence in December. Martin W. Littleton has succeeded Delmas as Thaw's counsel. Most of the sensational features of the first trial will be eliminated by Littleton. The defense will be based entirely on the plea of temporary insanity, and there will be no appeal to the "unwritten law." Thaw's long stay in the Tombs has rendered him more tractable to the suggestions of his attorneys and has led him to forego his intention of planning his own defense. His one desire now is to escape from the prison cell in which he has been a prisoner for so many weary months, and to do so he is willing to give up his desire to pose before the jury as the heroic avenging angel who acted in behalf of many wronged women when he slew White.

BIRTH

PADY—At Hedgesford, on Friday, Sept. 27th to Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Pady, a son.

CHARLTON—At Regina, Sask., on Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1907, to Mr. and Mrs. D. Charlton, a son.

WRIGHT--TEESDALE

The first wedding in the new Metropolitan Methodist Church, Regina, Sask., which was dedicated Sunday, Sept. 22, took place last Wednesday when the pastor, Rev. C. W. Brown, assisted by Rev. Mr. Aiken, celebrated the marriage of Mr. James Archibald Wright, and Miss Margaret Teesdale, of Toronto, daughter of the late Wm. Teesdale, of Markham, Ont.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a smartly tailored suit of navy blue ladies' cloth, the long coat with its little vest of Persian-trimming opening over a heavy lace blouse into which was introduced cloth and passementerie to match the suit. A pretty hat of blue velvet with white and black wing trimming was worn with this.

Before leaving Toronto for the west a farewell reception was given Miss Teesdale last Thursday evening in the home of her sister, Mrs. John Rennie, 25 Elm avenue, a large number of guests attending. Mrs. Rennie received in a handsome costume of champagne silk with Irish lace trimmings, and Miss Teesdale wore a gown of pale blue satin striped cologne with trimmings of princess lace and gold.

Many beautiful gifts were received, among them a hot water kettle and tray from the choir of Cooke's church, where the bride was contralto soloist.—Toronto Telegram.

INTERESTING RELICS

Toronto, Sept. 25.—Ten complete human skeletons, the bones of six buffalo, two pre-historic urns, and numerous pieces of ancient pottery have been unearthed by Prof. Montgomery, of the university of Toronto in the course of excavations in which he has been engaged for a few weeks past at Souris, Manitoba. The object was to ascertain how far north the pre-historic people known to have occupied the valleys of the great rivers, had extended, and with this end in view he opened and subjected to careful research some twenty mounds situated on the banks of the Souris river. These mounds he found were, with one exception, similar to those discovered in Dakota and farther south, and it was the exception that yielded the complete skeletons of six buffalo. From the position and appearance of the bones, Prof. Montgomery is of the opinion that the animals had served some sacrificial purpose. The mounds he believes, were constructed 700 years ago. Eight large boxes and five crates of specimens obtained by the professor as a result of his excavations have been sent to the university for reconstruction and study, and they should prove a valuable addition to the collection there.

IDEALS OF UNIVERSITIES

"The university has a large part to perform in maintaining the ideal or spiritual element in life, and is a centre of the nation's chief wealth—its manhood.

"No true university can afford to yield to the superficial demand for what is erroneously called the practical. We are true to the old university ideal in its essence when we insist upon the highest professional culture, many contributory interests and a fully tempered humanity.

"The recent expansion of the University of Toronto shows that it aims at meeting the requirements of modern life and at keeping in touch with the people.

"There is a great deal of native ability distributed among the people (of Canada), who, however, are prone to be self-sufficient, are in need of the method and discipline which the university can supply.

"The universities cannot be voiceless. From them our generous youth need the word of warning, lest they fall a prey to an unchastened optimism.

"We have our hardest task in dealing with the shiftless, those who drift into the professions. Those over-crowded professions.

"Within these halls an ideal should prevail in which national enthusiasm will be tempered by wider world interests and provincialities be toned by the broadest intellectual and moral purposes."—President Falconer, of Toronto University.

REGINA TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Regina Trades and Labor Council held on Saturday evening a resolution was passed to petition the postal authorities to have the wicket for papers at the Regina post office kept open during the hours between 12 and 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and between 7 and 8 in the evening, in order that the workmen might get their papers at those convenient hours.

The following resolution dealing with fatal accidents was also passed: "Whereas several accidents have occurred during the last few months on which no inquests have been held, the coroner's verdict being taken as sufficient evidence of the cause of death, it is the opinion of this council that in the case of all accidents terminating fatally a full inquiry should be made into the cause of death so that the public may be informed as to whether the accident is due to negligence on the part of the victim, or is the result of defective material, or of other causes over which he had no control, and for which some other party is directly responsible.

"And be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the attorney general expressing the hope that he will in future take the necessary steps to ensure a full and proper inquiry into the cause of any accident resulting in death, so that the work people may be safeguarded against accidents which occur as a result of inadequate provision for safety."

SWITCHMAN KILLED

Charles Nelson, night switchman at the C.P.R. yards was killed about 9.30 on Monday evening while coupling two passenger coaches. The two cars came together crushing him to death.

Nelson had been in the employ of the C.P.R. as switchman for about a year having previously acted as C.P.R. telegraph lineman between Regina and Broadview. The deceased was about twenty-eight years of age and came here from Sarina, Ont., where his people live, and to which point his remains will be sent.

After the accident the body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Messrs. Speers, Marshall & Boyd. The Regina Lodge A.F. & A.M. attended the funeral yesterday at four o'clock.

London, Sept. 27.—Despite sixteen hours of fog, two days of heavy seas and a refractory crew of three hundred sullen stokers, the Lusitania has broken the record from New York to Queenstown by fully three hours. That her average speed was only 22 knots compared with 23.01 on her westward passage, is ascribed partly to the American coal she used which did not have the same steam raising qualities as English coal, but the trouble with the stokers contributed to lowering the average.

A newspaper correspondent among the passengers writes that a more refractory or stubborn collection never fed a furnace. Sunday night when twenty-six hours from New York, they assumed an attitude of open defiance, alleging that they were receiving improper and insufficient food. The passengers all landed in a most happy mood.

Port William, Sept. 25.—Recently the lake of the Woods Milling Co. have shipped back from their elevators here to the mills at Keewatin some 250,000 bushels of wheat; and it is stated on good authority that they will ship back as much more. This would apparently show that there has been some miscalculations which have resulted in this shortage probably a miscalculation on the figures of this year's crop, which may have been given some time ago, or else the company prefer to make sure of enough off grain to see them over any shortage which may arise on this season's crop.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will salt the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are exactly akin to the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the disposition of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sunning of the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element in this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open sores, and all other humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any combination of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompaniment of indigestion, or dyspepsia, and their attendant derangements.

The best agent known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions is attested by the writings of leading teachers and physicians of all the several schools of medical practice, and has been skillfully and successfully combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his book on "Cures for the Standard Medical Authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicine and showing why it is the most eminent medical use of the age say of them.

The Issue Plain

From the attitude of the government in the Prince Albert election, as published elsewhere, it is evident that they do not wish to raise the issues of the last campaign, but there is no doubt that they will be forced into a defensive position after Mr. Haultain speaks on Friday evening next.

As to the lands question and the school question, it is not difficult to perceive why the government would want to evade these issues in the present bye-election.

As to the school question, it must be settled without compromise. The laws of education must be constructed so that they will be only capable of one interpretation.

Of course the result of the present bye-election will not decide that issue, for it must be settled by the courts.

The result of the contest in the north will therefore be watched with interest. The election of Mr. Turgeon will not weaken Mr. Haultain, but government defeat will mean a speedy end to the present coercionists.

Editorial Notes

When you say that the drop in the prices on securities on Wall street is of no account, you know as much about business conditions as a mariner who disregards the barometer and keeps sailing his ship regardless of what it might show.

Does the government imagine that it can purchase immunity from attack at the price of a cabinet position? If it does it must be composed of persons who are much more simple minded than even their bitterest opponents have alleged them to be.

PRESS COMMENTS

R. L. Borden's attitude on the question of Asiatic immigration, as revealed at Vancouver on Tuesday night, is notable for more than his interpretation of the public opinion of British Columbia.

Mr. Borden might have won more applause from his audience if he had endorsed the riotous conduct of a section of the Vancouver people. He might have established himself in the favor of interests that are promoting Asiatic settlement in Canada.

Nothing could have been more definite and specific than Mr. Borden's declaration for a "White Canada," and the adoption of such measures as would achieve this result without impairing the peaceful relations existing between Great Britain and Japan.

Mr. Borden did not obscure W. T. R. Preston's part in the influx of Japanese immigrants. He submitted in his own forceful way the circumstances which argue the guilt of Mr. Preston, and must have convinced his audience that the artist of the North Atlantic Trading company deal was at the bottom of British Columbia's present troubles with the Asiatics.

wardness and the cold blooded deception that has marked Sir Wilfrid Laurier's manner of dealing with the question is such as to convey an impressive lesson to the Canadian electorate.

(Moose Jaw News) It has been suggested that the calling of the Hon. Mr. Turgeon to the cabinet is the result of a compromise between the Scott government and the hierarchy.

It shows some signs of a persistent natural affection, and it is clearly distrusted by some of its new associates. Nor is it quite what it was in its robust health.

There is, however, a report that it will be re-established in the suppurating quarters at Ottawa, whence it was ejected by its faithless progenitors, but this may be premature.

The Japanese are still pouring into British Columbia, and the people are protesting with increased vigor against the invasion. Meanwhile Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been asked by the Trades Congress, at Winnipeg, to give notice of the abrogation of the treaty under which the thousands of Japs are coming.

When this Japanese treaty is closely examined obvious that it is the consequence of a series of Ottawa blunders. It was pointed out to the government some time ago that a large immigration of Japs would be undesirable, and would be likely to cause trouble.

Do the people of Saskatchewan resent this dictation? Assuredly they do. It is an insult to them that the government has not only temporized, but as far as it is concerned, has compromised—purchased a brief space of life by the violation of solemn pledges and the sacrifice of public welfare.

(Toronto News) It is charged that Mr. Borden has stolen the Liberal platform. But was it not an act of mercy rather than a case of theft.

It was left out of doors exposed to wind and weather. Its cries were not heard in the night. The sun beat upon its form all noon-day. It had nowhere to lay its head, and none to tend its wounds and bruises.

Mr. Borden is not to be censured therefore if he put oil on his wounds, and clothed it with new garments, and provided it with a new lodging. It will be remembered that the platform was born under happy circumstances. It was a robust child, and was the darling of the whole household.

Why was this promising child abandoned? There is no explanation except that it was faithful to its natural instincts, and developed no genius for depravity. For a time its virtues were a source of interest and profit to the household.

Here it was found by Mr. Borden, received with unexpected hospitality, and finally adopted into the household of its hereditary enemies. It has not yet recovered from the effect of years of neglect and hard usage. It is not certain that it is wholly happy in its changed relationships.

R. L. BORDEN AT NELSON, B.C.

Enthusiastic Reception Everywhere in British Columbia—Premier McBride Speaks on Provincial Rights for His Province

Nelson, B.C., Sept. 29.—The opera house was crowded to the doors last night when R. L. Borden, the leader of the Conservative party in the Dominion, made his address.

Premier Richard McBride, J. G. H. Bergeron, M.P., and Dr. Reid, M.P., for Prescott were the other speakers. The party arrived at 6 p.m. by a special train from Nakus.

Large deputations arrived from Rossland Kaslo, the boundary coast country east of the Kootenays and from all the neighboring districts. Mr. Borden and his party were given a warm and very enthusiastic reception in and out of the opera house. The party will stay here tomorrow and will visit the boundary country on Monday, going to Cranbrook on Tuesday.

Premier McBride, who spoke first, dealt with the question of better terms at length, making it clear that it would be the party slogan in the next campaign. The premier repeated the statements made by him at the coast regarding Asiatic immigration. His address was cordially received.

Mr. Borden made the address of the evening and was frequently interrupted by applause. He spoke with more animation than on his former visit here in 1902 and as the "Daily News" (General) will state tomorrow "undoubtedly created a more favorable impression on the large audience." He was listened to with the most attention and was given an ovation on taking his seat.

Mr. Borden praised Premier McBride for his strong stand for better terms and approved his withdrawal from the Ottawa conference.

He promised an enquiry into British Columbia's situation if he is returned to power. The premier repeated his statement made at the coast regarding the position of the Conservative party on the transcontinental railway question, declaring that government ownership would have been the best course to adopt.

The contract made would have to be adhered to. Referring to the matter of Asiatic immigration, Mr. Borden blamed the government for entering into the agreement with Japan without limitations, but added that the treaty obligations would have to be respected, but the immigration of Asiatics should be restricted as at first agreed to. British Columbia must be dominated by the same race that dominated the rest of Canada.

Government ownership of certain public utilities and a sweeping reform of the civil service were the chief remaining points touched on.

Mr. Bergeron followed, and fairly captured his audience by the wit of his address.

The meeting closed at 11 o'clock, and later a reception was held, which was largely attended.

FALLS FROM CITY TOWER

John McPherson Meets With Fatal Accident on Friday

Another accident occurred in the city shortly after noon on Friday. This afternoon the scene was at the new city hall. John McPherson and John Stewart, two stone masons, employed by the contractors, were polishing the face of the stone on the newly built part of the tower. They raised themselves on a scaffold by means of ropes and pulleys. When they had raised themselves to where their work was, and to hold themselves there tied their ropes. It appears that the rope on McPherson's side was not fastened very securely, and as a result his end of the swinging platform gave way, letting him drop a distance of fifty or sixty feet. As he fell he struck projections which in his later drop landed him on the steps. Medical aid was called at once but though no bones were broken, the injuries were so severe that it was impossible to save life and the unfortunate man died in about three quarters of an hour.

Stewart, the working mate of McPherson, had a marvellous escape and must have endured great agony during the time he was being rescued. By means of the rope and plank at his end of the platform he managed to cling to a narrow ledge of stone-work until other workmen lowered a rope from the top of the tower, fastened it around his body and hauled him to the top to safety.

The remains of McPherson were taken to the undertaking parlors of Speers, Marshall and Boyd, and on Sunday were interred in the Regina cemetery.

HANGS HIMSELF IN STATION

Montreal, Sept. 29.—A discovery was made by officers in one of the waiting rooms of the Grand Trunk Bonaventure station this morning, when the body of a foreigner was found hanging by means of a rope and a couple of towels. The man's name was Avery Yakowank, supposed to be a Russian, and his ticket was purchased in Milwaukee. The case is evidently one of suicide. But there is nothing to indicate why the young man took his life. He was apparently about twenty-one years of age.

A CANADIAN PORTIA

The gloomy corridors of Osgood Hall, Toronto, was recently enlivened by one of the rarest ceremonies ever seen in the temple of the goddess of justice—the swearing in of a girl student as a full-fledged barrister of His Majesty's high courts.

The modern Portia is Miss Geraldine B. Robinson, of St. Thomas, Ont., daughter of the late J. A. Robinson, the well known St. Thomas lawyer.

Miss Robinson is the third female lawyer in Ontario. The first, was Clara Brett Martin, who was sworn in about ten years ago, and is now in Toronto, and the second was Miss E. M. Powley, of Port Arthur. She became a lawyer about five years ago.

The swearing in of Miss Robinson created a mild sensation in the hall. She was a general favorite among the students and during her course of five years has become popular among all her acquaintances.

Nevertheless the older heads among the lawyers stood in the corridors and stared, as the pretty young lawyer, robed in black and with a flush on her cheeks, walked out of the court room and received the congratulations of half a dozen enthusiastic friends.

"See the bewitching vision," said one K.C. to his fellows. "We'll soon be crowded out of the profession if this keeps on," remarked another legal light.

Fair Portia, why not come to Saskatchewan? Judges are reported to be scarce at Regina, and even if you cannot get the privilege of wearing the ermine, think what havoc you might work on the bachelor hearts of F. W. G. Haultain, W. B. Scott and other winners of all kinds of suits—except where a lady's heart is being sued for.—Carlyle Herald.

ACCIDENT TO E. A. PARTRIDGE

E. A. Partridge of Sintaluta who met with such a serious accident on his farm on Wednesday last, was brought to the hospital yesterday. After he had been comfortably placed in Mr. Ralton's automobile with the intention of running up to the hospital in some forty minutes, and the trip started, the auto died out and no efforts could bring it into working order again. Horses were hitched to the auto and the patient brought to Indian Head in some three hours instead of forty minutes as arranged for. However, the patient was soon under the care of Dr. Kemp and Dr. Condit and it is hoped that the foot so badly cut may be saved. The story of the accident is a cruel one. Mr. Partridge had stopped his binder at the corner and was fixing his machine when the horses took fright and started. He ran to the head of the horse nearest him and caught hold of the rein, hanging on in a vain effort to stop them. The halter broke and Mr. Partridge fell. The guards caught him and ran into his leg. In this manner he was trailed a quarter of a mile partly under the table. When his son found him he was in a most deplorable condition. The guards had torn his leg, while one foot which had come in contact with the knives was almost severed. How he was not killed is a mystery. His many friends at Sintaluta will hope that before many weeks pass he will be amongst us again, his old self, permanently recovered from the effects of his terrible experience.—Prairie Witness.

EASTERN HARVESTERS

The last of the harvesters' specials arrived from the east this week. The final figures for the total number of arrivals on the harvesters' excursions have been prepared by the O.P.R. and they naturally confirm the opinion that fewer men were available this year for the west than last. Only 12,000 have responded to the call of the wheat growers whose original estimate placed the number at 21,000. This is much below the year's demands, although the estimate given was calculated on a liberal basis. At the same time it is evident that there is a most noticeable scarcity, and in spite of the fact that the lure of the grain fields have played havoc with the construction camps, the farmers are suffering in certain districts because they are unable to obtain help.

The big feature of Happyland, Winnipeg, the reproduction of the destruction by water of the city of Johnstown, Pa., in 1889, will be presented in this city exactly the same as in Winnipeg the past summer. To make possible this tour a heavy expense was entailed to carry the miniature city from one city to another. A special baggage car is used in transportation and six men required to operate the mechanism. Many will remember the awful deluge which occurred a few years ago when the entire city of Johnstown, a city of 40,000 inhabitants, situated in the Conemaugh valley, was laid bare and totally destroyed by the breaking of a huge dam of the reservoir in the mountains. Almost without warning the immense dam gave way permitting thousands of tons of water to rush down upon the helpless inhabitants in the valley below. It was one of the most appalling disasters in the annals of history, and most startling by the amount of the damage done. The ingenuity of man is responsible for the reproduction of this dreadful calamity, and it will be seen here for a limited engagement beginning Saturday, Oct. 5th.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 24.—General Booth of the Salvation Army, addressed the Canadian club here yesterday, closing with the following announcement:

"I have a scheme in my head which for want of a better name, I shall call 'a university of humanity,' and I hope to see it established. It should have two headquarters, one on each side of the Atlantic, with affiliated colleges in every land, in them should be taught how to alleviate the miseries of mankind. You have colleges of all kinds for the higher classes, colleges of music, engineering, geological and all other studies.

"I want a university for men and women to deal with the broken hearts. To teach how to reclaim the criminal, and the drunkard, the children of the daughters of the human race, and all the miseries of the human race. It will be very costly, but I am trusting that some millionaire or several millionaires will come to me and say, 'general you shall have it.' When such a time comes I shall be inclined to say, 'Lord now let thy servant depart in peace.'"

PRIEST ISSUES WARNING

Calgary, Sept. 29.—On Sunday evening, Rev. Father Culetier delivered the fourth of a series of lectures on the question of labor and the attitude of the church towards it. In the course of his address Father Culetier, discussed the unity and sacredness of the family relations, and held that after the physical needs of the child, its religious training and education were of equal and pressing importance. Parents should be reminded that it was one of their first duties to educate their children in sound religious doctrine, as well as in scholastic elements of education. He argued that the state has no direct qualification for imparting religious knowledge, no more than the church has for establishing telephones and railways.

The speaker held that the "love of socialism" was the bane of the labor situation, and quoted President Hadley of Yale, to the effect that it was erroneous and demoralizing. The duty of the church was to save the labor classes from being shivered on the rock of socialism, which could be prevented by adhering to the following principles:

1. Inviolability of private property.
2. Unity and sacredness of the family.
3. Education of the children according to the dictates of morality and religion.

The rulers of states, employers of labor, of the wealthy, and of the working classes should enter into conversation for the desired purpose. Society can only be healed now by the return to Christian life and institutions.

THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD

The big feature of Happyland, Winnipeg, the reproduction of the destruction by water of the city of Johnstown, Pa., in 1889, will be presented in this city exactly the same as in Winnipeg the past summer. To make possible this tour a heavy expense was entailed to carry the miniature city from one city to another. A special baggage car is used in transportation and six men required to operate the mechanism. Many will remember the awful deluge which occurred a few years ago when the entire city of Johnstown, a city of 40,000 inhabitants, situated in the Conemaugh valley, was laid bare and totally destroyed by the breaking of a huge dam of the reservoir in the mountains. Almost without warning the immense dam gave way permitting thousands of tons of water to rush down upon the helpless inhabitants in the valley below. It was one of the most appalling disasters in the annals of history, and most startling by the amount of the damage done. The ingenuity of man is responsible for the reproduction of this dreadful calamity, and it will be seen here for a limited engagement beginning Saturday, Oct. 5th.

HARDWOOD FLOORS & RUGS VERSUS CARPETS

Use plenty of salt in the light against moths.

An old tennis racket makes a good beater.

CYNICAL moralizers upon fashionable follies rate among these the demand for hard floors and rugs, which has increased and prevailed throughout our country within the last quarter century. The rage for rare and costly rugs is reckoned among the sinful misuses of wealth, which occupy the thoughts of professional casuists, who furnish copy (at regular rates) for magazine columns. In fact, hard floors and movable floor coverings are sensible innovations, because healthful and economical. Our grandmothers prided themselves upon keeping carpets "down" for a term of years, yet keeping them in good order all the time. Their floors were of soft wood; refuse odds and ends of boards were reckoned good enough, since they would always be covered. Dirt, beaten fine by the broom, sifted through ingrain, three-ply and rag carpets into the cracks below; and with dust went "germs." When disease got into a house and stayed there, the affliction was accounted "a visitation of God." Carpets, however scrupulously "broom-clean," were breeding places for perils invisible to the naked housewife's eye. There are still honorable women not a few who object to hardwood floors as "troublesome" beyond the capacity of housemothers of moderate means. They must be swept twice a week, we are told, and dusted daily, if one would keep one's house decent. Putting aside the question as to the composite nature of the dust removed, and which would, if left in a wooden carpet, find its way gradually, but surely, into the lungs and stomachs of those who walk, sit and sleep in the rooms thus made "comfortable," let us reason together over this same obligation of sweeping.

of work and money gives her vote in favor of hard floors and rugs. A carpet sweeper takes up the dust, and some housewives agree with the patentee in declaring that it does not wear away the carpet. Those who empty the reservoir of woolen fluff after each sweeping may incline to a different opinion. It is certain, however, that it tears away less of the nap than the broom-brush wielded by strong hands. That the sweeper upon rollers does not get into corners is an admitted fact. One must go down upon her knees with a whisk broom to clear out the angles of the room. In these and about the base board do moths and buffalo bugs most love to congregate. In these favorite retreats our distracted housewife is almost certain to find flourishing colonies of the squatters upon opening the home after the summer's outing. Should her worst fears be realized, her best course is to have the carpet taken up and sent to a steam cleaning establishment, filling all the cracks with a soap or soda solution. The second-best course is to cover the carpets with fine salt, and to sweep this into the wool with a stout, clean broom by going against the nap, and out of the carpet by following the grain. In a second sweeping. Have ready, when this is done, a half pound of pulverized gum camphor, dissolved overnight in two gallons of gasoline. Go into the room in broad daylight with this mixture in a can with a long spout. Saturate the edges of the carpet with it, pour into the cracks at the top and the bottom of the base board. Hold not your hand until the suspected portions are drenched and dripping. This done, shut up the room closely, lock the doors and take the key out. Let not a creature open or enter the precincts for twenty-four hours. Go in, then, in broad daylight and open the windows. The hardest vermin that ever preyed upon woolen stuffs and housewife's sensibilities are no proof against this process.

THE BATH ROOM AND BATH ROOM ETIQUETTE

By Mary E. Carter. DURING periods of cleaning and setting it is a good idea to guard bath rooms against abuse and those who generally do rough work cannot be expected to realize the very great importance of keeping everything in its proper place. In no time for careful ways, and usually much hurried, going from place to place about a house doing the hard work that falls to their lot. Therefore they are not to be blamed for any damage, if no provision has been made by a responsible and interested person for guarding a bath room and everything in it from being defaced while cleaning is in progress.

to hold back the matted stuff that commonly collects at these times. This is one of many instances during housecleaning when a little extra care and prevention saves some one pounds, shillings and pence of expense to the plumber for repairs not infrequently caused by carelessness. It is better to pay a little for the prevention of damage than to pay a large sum for the repair of damage caused by carelessness. It is better to pay a little for the prevention of damage than to pay a large sum for the repair of damage caused by carelessness.

Useful Furnishings. There are various inexpensive conveniences and aids to tidy housekeeping which make small extra jobs that much easier attended to at settling time than later on, when everything is in order. One very great convenience in a bath room is a towel rack. It is best placed against the wall all around the room, except where it would interfere with other stationary furniture. Bath towels and handkerchiefs are easiest kept clean.

KEEP PLUMBERS AWAY. Before any cleaning begins the floor, if of hard or stained wood, ought to be covered with strong paper, fastened down to keep it immovable under the treading of feet. There is a stout dark paper which comes in rolls for protecting floors during cleaning times, always used by skilful floor polishers, that bears very hard usage without tearing. This paper is the best thing that a writer knows of for such occasions. The bathtub and the basin can both be protected by placing in each over the waste pipe, the "in-rubber mats that come for that purpose. Upon these mats can stand without marring the porcelain or marble.

Waste water should never be thrown into a bathtub, because it is so extraordinary cleaning frequently necessary to prevent staining the tub. Whatsoever places may be chosen for getting the dirty water during cleaning times, care should be taken to avoid clogging the pipes, and something easily removed should always be used as a shield

Scotch Broth, No. 2. To make this requires two pounds of neck mutton, a large slice of turnip, two slices of carrot, one onion, a stock of celery, half a cup of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, cut meat from the mutton and remove all fat, cut the meat into small pieces and put into the soup with the vegetables cut fine, and the water. Simmer gently for three hours, one pint of water on the stove, simmer two hours and strain into a bowl. Cook the flour and butter together until smooth; stir into the soup, and serve hot.

Scalloped Onions. Boil for ten minutes in hot water; drain off the water, and place in a shallow dish. Sprinkle the bottom of the dish with butter, and place the onions in it. Sprinkle with more butter, and moisten with some of the water in which the onions were cooked. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour until about thirty minutes before serving, then place them in the oven.

Cream Peppermints. Put a pound of white sugar and one and one-half teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar in a teaspoonful of cold water. Stir until dissolved. Boil until a little thick, then add a little more water. Add three drops of oil of peppermint and mix well. Drop on a greased paper, and let them dry in the shade. To one cup of sweet milk add one cup of sugar, one-half cup of butter and one cup of milk. Boil until thick, then add one egg, one-half cup of sour cream, one very small amount of vanilla, and one very small amount of salt. When thoroughly mixed, add the cooked ingredients above, and let the whites of two eggs, beaten to a cream, add one cup of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one cup of flour.

Devil's Food. To one cup of sweet milk add one cup of sugar, one-half cup of butter and one cup of milk. Boil until thick, then add one egg, one-half cup of sour cream, one very small amount of vanilla, and one very small amount of salt. When thoroughly mixed, add the cooked ingredients above, and let the whites of two eggs, beaten to a cream, add one cup of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one cup of flour.

Muffins Without Eggs. Two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one cup of milk, one cup of butter, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of sour cream, one very small amount of vanilla, and one very small amount of salt.

Scotch Broth, No. 1. One quart of strong mutton stock, from which every particle of fat has been removed. The liquor in which the stock was cooked. Boil for an hour before using. One cupful of barley that has been soaked in cold water for three hours, one large carrot, one turnip, two onions, four stalks of celery, half a cup of green peas and the same of string beans, parsley and four or five stalks of leeks.

THE OTHER SIDE. Coming home after a summer by lake or sea or among the hills, all you have to do with the coverings is to wring out the stitches, put away the carpets for next season, air the rugs for a few hours to rid them of the camphor smell and lay them down upon freshly polished boards. Some of us live in houses which were built before the hardwood era. The refuse boards mentioned awhile ago are irregularly laid and of soft wood that does not take kindly to paint or varnish. Carpets are a necessity—more the pity! To lift them every spring involves labor, expense and inconvenience to the woman of limited means, which she can ill afford. They cannot be properly beaten on the roof or in the back yard; a man must take them up, and a professional "carpet man" must lay them down. When these things, and the duty of weekly sweeping and daily brushing are taken into account, our economist

WISCONSIN member contributes a tentative list of meals for a day for people of moderate income. I wish she had included the approximate expense of the meals, and means by which a family of four or even two could eat nourishing food for a week at an outlay of $1.50. Will some level-headed woman try the accompanying menus for one day, and let us know what it costs to put them upon the table.

Meals for a Day. BREAKFAST: Rice, crab-apple jelly and cream, Johnny cakes, coffee. LUNCH: Cold turkey, pineapple and nut salad, biscuit, toast with cheese, baked sweet peas, baked potatoes, cranberry pie, cheese, black coffee. DINNER: Codfish turbot in shells, baked sweet peas, baked potatoes, cranberry pie, cheese, black coffee.
