MR. BLAKE'S POSITION.

The Saturday Review Thinks he is Only in Favor as a Screen.

LONDON, July 22.—The Saturday Review in an article on the Irish situation takes occasion to eulogize Hon. Edward Blake, the Canadian, who has just been elected for South Longford. In praising Mr. Blake, however, the Review seems to be animated less by friendliness than by a desire to speak well of him at the expense of his fellow members of the Nationalists. The writer says that Mr. Blake himself is more offended at than Mr. Blake himself. The writer says that Mr. Blake is at once the prey and the bait of the Nationalists. They are continually catching him and now propose to angle with him, and they intend by means of him to hook others. Mr. Blake, the article goes on to say, is a scholar, a lawyer and a statesman of repute. He is a certain respectability to the Nationalists. Two members of a Dublin Parliament, or of an Irish contingent at Westminster, might easily become the instruments and stipendiaries of foreign powers across the Atlantic, or across the Channel. The hands of Irish patriots are familiar with American gold now as they were with French gold a century ago. Men like Mr. Blake are a little in favor with the Nationalists only as a screen for their disreputable associates.

THE CHOLERA ALARM.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 21.—The visit of the Amer of Bokhara to St. Petersburg has been postponed, as it is feared that he might bring cholera along with his retinue and might himself be taken ill, which would alarm his subjects. Private letters say that cholera spread along the whole length of the Trans-Asian railway. It is officially stated that cholera has broken out in the Government of Koo Ban, on the east shore of the sea of Anova, and on the Black sea.

THE WRECK OF THE CHICAGO.

LONDON, June 22.—The Evening Globe says that the verdict in the case of the wrecked steamer Chicago is a just one. The captain of an Atlantic liner is in the horns of a dilemma. He would be unpopular with both owners and passengers unless he drove his vessel at the highest possible speed, and, on the other hand, in so doing, the captain risks such a disaster as overtook the City of Chicago. Nevertheless, it is possible to feel sympathy for Capt. Bedford under the circumstances. The St. James Gazette takes occasion to urge the use of mechanism for automatic soundings.

COPENHAGEN, July 21.—Mr. Henry B. Ryder, the American Consul here, is in a critical condition owing to the shifting of his catheter in consequence of a surgical operation. The family inherited 1,000 kroner from a relative who died in the United States, and to them by Mr. Ryder. Having received only 500 kroner from Mr. Ryder, the family complained to the police. The case is being investigated.

ROME, July 22.—The eruptions of Mount Etna are increasing in violence, and especially on the western side of the mountain. The villages at the foot of the mountain are shaken by frequent shocks of the earth quakes. The inhabitants pass hours daily in prayer in the open streets. The stream of lava approaching Nicolosi lost force last night, but this afternoon it again began flowing towards the town. The lava streams have already destroyed many mountain huts. King Humbert has sent 20,000 francs to be distributed among the people who have the other homes or have been driven from them by force.

DISPERSION OF GYPSIES.

BERLIN, July 22.—The band of gypsies in the Grunwald forest, whose presence there has frequently been commented upon as a possible danger to the Kaiser in his almost daily walks in the vicinity, has at last been dispersed. The Kaiser's household guards made them bold, and they paid no attention to the orders of the police to leave the neighborhood. It became necessary to send a detachment of gendarmes to the spot, and even then they were driven out only after a stubborn fight, in which several of the outlaws were injured.

HONORS FOR THE ARLENS.

MUNICH, July 22.—The Arion singers were received here at the station by the united singing societies of the city, with bands playing and flags flying. A large crowd awaited them before the station and another crowd welcomed them at the hotel. This evening a festival with illuminations and fireworks was given in the honor of the Arion, and the night was closed with a grand concert, attended by almost every body connected with the musical interests of the city. Speeches were made by the presidents of the various singing societies present, and toasts were answered by Mr. Katzmayer and other Arionites. Tomorrow the Arionites will leave for Stuttgart. They will stop four hours in Heidelberg to visit the castle.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Report on the Condition of the Str. "Earle"—Increased Exports.

Railway Construction in Ontario—New B. C. Post Offices—Whiskey Smugglers.

OTAWA, July 22.—The Department of Agriculture has received a satisfactory report of the condition of the hull of the steamer Earle, but are awaiting advice as to the state of the boilers before purchasing her for quarantine purposes.

The exports of the year show an increase of fifteen millions and a quarter. The imports have increased $3,000,000. The June figures show a steady improvement.

A prominent capitalist proposes to start railway construction in Ontario, capital, half a million. Mr. Wainwright, manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, is a leading promoter.

The Government troops reached the smugglers' stronghold at Isle-aux-Coudres, this morning. They found Bouchard and his schooner there, but no trace of the liquor. As there was nothing incriminatory about Bouchard's vessel, no action was taken.

New post-offices have been opened in B.C. at St. Eugene, Mission, Tappen Siding, Yale, and Squamish, Westminster.

VANCOUVER'S BLACK HOLE.

The Quarantine Declared to be Legal—Mr. Bowack Remains in Jail.

Mayor Cope and His Legal Adviser Interviewed—Uncertain as to Their Movements.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 21.—Judge McCree gave judgment, to-day, in the Bouchard habeas corpus case, in favor of Vancouver city, sustaining the action taken by the city authorities in quarantine matters. The judgment was delivered in the presence of a few persons and His Lordship ordered it to be copied and laid before him again, before being forwarded to Vancouver. The reporters could not get hold of it, to-day. This decision settles, so far, the doubt existing as to the legality of the quarantine.

VANCOUVER, July 21.—Mr. Bouchard cannot appeal from Judge McCree's decision. He can simply apply for another judgment. He has not made up his mind what to do, but will probably serve the rest of his time quietly, as the end of his term of quarantine is not far distant.

Your correspondent saw Mayor Cope and City Attorney Hammerley, the "Black Hole" case, accompanied by his legal bodyguard, Mr. Russell, who on the approach of the COLONIST representative warned the chief magistrate not to prejudice his case by answering a single question at this time.

The Mayor was asked, "Have you been served with an attachment to appear as once before Mr. Justice Cressat at Victoria for contempt of Court?"

He replied, "Not yet; I expect to be," and continued: "There has been no contempt of Court, however. They will not give us a chance to defend ourselves. When the first summons was served I could not possibly get over, there being no boat."

"Are you going over at all?" was asked. "The body guard, parenthetically," said "Don't answer!"

"Mayor Cope: 'I'm not prepared to say.'"

"Have you made up your mind?"

"No, not yet."

"Are you going to-night?"

"I have not been officially served with an attachment yet."

"Are you going to run away?" persisted the COLONIST.

"No, no, what nonsense," replied the magisterial proxy of the citizens of Vancouver. "I don't show the white feather, you may emphasize that fact. I will not talk any more."

"What have you to say in reference to the alleged ill-fare at the quarantine station?"

"At first things were not just so, but we were hurried. It has cost us seventy five cents per head for meals, one, right along. I think nature has been informed of it. I didn't know we would have so many. Here is Mr. Hammerley, now talk to him."

"Mr. Hammerley," asked the COLONIST, "what have you to say for publication in reference to the writ of attachment?"

"You may say just this, that I think they are a pack of fools over there in Victoria. They are idiots, and are, in this particular case, acting like a lot of children."

"Do you think of evading the law?"

"What way?"

"Are you going to remain here, or going to Victoria?"

"Don't know yet."

"Not going to run away?"

This question evoked a hearty laugh, which ended in the remark that it was a respondent who had been informed of several things in confidence, not for publication; but which might by clever readers be deciphered between the lines of these interviews. The city is much excited to-night, the nature of the attachment not being exactly clear. The impression is the officials will go to jail, and the most interperate language is used. The Hotel Vancouver is crowded with excited idlers and a symphony of whistles, waiting for the latest despatches from the capital.

The last of the election districts, except the Okanagan valley, has been heard from, being the south division of Tlappary. It has given a majority of 798 to F. Mandeville, anti-Parcellite, opposed by J. O'Connor, Parcellite, who had occupied the seat in the last Parliament in 1886. The National candidate was returned without opposition.

A Western Bride. Miss Rebecca A. Cox, of Victoria, and Capt. Charles V. Harris, of Halifax, N.S., were married, Wednesday afternoon, at the residence of Capt. G. Cox. The wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives and a few friends being invited. Rev. D. MacRae performed the ceremony.

Refuse to Register. Dr. Metharell, who applied for immediate registration, under the Imperial Medical Act, has, after two weeks of delay on the part of the council, in which to lay up the names of the registrars, been refused through his solicitor, a notification that registration has been refused. The doctor instructed his solicitor to immediately apply for a writ of mandamus from the Supreme Court, calling for the Medical Council to allow cause why they should not register him.

The Victoria & Sidney Railway Company are certainly not lacking in activity. Their by-law was ratified at the polls on Wednesday, and yesterday, at a meeting of the promoters, $125,000 worth of stock was subscribed. Work will proceed at once. The engineer's party, in charge of Mr. E. J. Tilton, leaves here on Tuesday morning, going direct to Sidney by the Isabel, and commencing the track survey from the other end of the line. Within three weeks it is expected that this work will be completed, and contracts will then be invited for the first ten miles of road. Very little ground will be allowed to vegetate under the feet of the V. & S. people.

Looking for Her Husband. The mission of the Jubilee Hospital, yesterday received a letter from a Mrs. Nelson, of Seattle, who was residing in Victoria with her husband when the smallpox broke out. Mrs. Nelson says that she and her husband were at the Clarence hotel, and that Mr. Nelson was taken away to the quarantine station. She had not heard from him since, and wished to get some information. The Jubilee quarantine hospital, but enquiries are to be made to-day to see if the missing man is, or has been, at Albert Head. The provincial police will probably be requested to make enquiries.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

The Joan, recently launched from Turpel's ways, and supplied with her machinery at Spratt's wharf, had a trial trip, yesterday, under steam. Mr. A. Dunsman was on board, and the new craft was handled by Capt. Butler and the crew of the Isabel. The ropes were cast off a few minutes before 5 o'clock, and a few vigorous whistles had the bridge duly opened, and the Joan went through in good style. She went out to Beechy Head, making 13 1/2 knots with 90 pounds of steam. This was the best speed attempted, although the boilers are built for 115 pounds, and a proportionately higher speed may be attained. The Joan is a head wind, the breeze coming from the southwest. The fittings of the Joan have not as yet been completed, and it is not hoped that she will be placed on her regular service for some weeks to come. The sealer Borealis arrived yesterday evening, with a catch of nearly 600 skins—so close to that made by the Capt. Gillespie gives the "even." "How many skins have you on board?" asked a COLONIST reporter of the nautical Scotchman upon his arrival. "Four hundred and ninety-nine," replied the captain. "If I did not go into Baring Sea, although I went to the lake, I never saw one of the ordering-off fleet, and my catch is a coast one. I did not see any of the schooners from which you have not heard, and of the Couglis, I saw one heard nothing until a few days ago."

Schooner Viva was alongside the wharf yesterday discharging her skins and preparing to lay up for the winter.

THE TRADE CONGRESS.

Sir Charles Tupper Advocates Slight Differential Duties on Foreign Articles. To Build Up a Great and Powerful Community in British North America.

At one of the sessions of the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, Sir Neville Lubbock, on behalf of the London Chamber, moved "that a commercial union within the British Empire, on the basis of Free Trade, would tend to promote its permanence and prosperity."

The motion having been seconded by Mr. H. Dobell, of Quebec, some discussion ensued, in the course of which Sir Charles Tupper, who was received with loud and general cheering, said he regretted that the occurrence of the general election should have prevented the congress from being attended by so many public men; but, looking at it from an Imperial standpoint, he felt there was no question of more absorbing interest to the Empire than that now under discussion. Now that the British Empire has been broken up by the Free Trade, he felt that when he practised as a member of the medical profession, his great difficulty was to ascertain whether he had cured his patient, or whether they had got well in spite of his treatment. (Cheers and laughter.)

But even if the historical argument in favor of Free Trade prevailed, there was no reason why 40 or 50 years after the adoption of the policy in this world of change, it might not become the duty of statesmen to consider how far it was necessary to ascertain whether at any period of the country's history our at one time wise and judicious policy might not be amended. (Hear, hear.) But what was the argument on the side of Protection? They had seen France and the United States—countries that had been both struck down by gigantic wars—overwhelmed by debt and completely prostrated by the blows that they had sustained, and by which policy had those countries been restored to the proud financial position they occupied to-day? It was Protection that had swept off the incubus of their gigantic debts, and that had placed them in positions of pre-eminence among the financiers of the world. (Cheers.) In the same way the progress and prosperity of the Colonies had been secured by the fact that the policy of Free Trade, which benefited and advantaged the Mother Country, was one through which it was practically impossible for them to attain that position which in the interests of the Empire they were all rejoiced to see.

Under these circumstances he, with the leave of the Montreal Chamber, proposed to move an amendment which would raise upon this momentous question. The amendment, which was on the paper, read as follows:—"Whereas the British Empire, covering one-eight of the surface of the globe, and containing 350,000,000 of people, and capable of holding two hundred people, and the congregation are to be congratulated on the success of the day. The Mayor, who presided, said that the amount of $103,000 is now out on loan, and the next drawing takes place about the third week in August.

New Episcopal Church at Nelson, B.C. On Sunday last, July 17, the first Episcopal church was opened for Divine service at Nelson, B.C., by the present incumbent, Rev. Mr. Bell, who officiated at the three services held during the day, which were as follows: Matins at 8 a.m., sermon and Holy Communion at 11 a.m., and evensong at 7.30, all of which were well attended. The church is a prettily constructed one, capable of holding two hundred people, and the congregation are to be congratulated on the success of the day.

A Fool and His Folly. Miss Townsend, sister of Conductor Townsend, of the E. & N., had a very narrow escape from death yesterday. As she was about to cross the bridge over the river, she was struck by a large log, which was floating down the river. She was thrown into the water, and was nearly drowned. She was rescued by a passing boat, and was taken to the hospital, where she is recovering.

The Mainland "Quarantine." A deputation consisting of Messrs. C. Hayward, Ben. Gordon, and E. Crow Baker waited upon Hon. Theodore D. Aitken, Attorney-General, yesterday morning, to lay before him a petition from the Directors of the Jubilee Hospital, that he should take some action to "raise" the quarantine declared by the Mainland cities against Victoria. Hon. Mr. Aitken, in answer to the deputation, drew attention to the fact that on Thursday Mr. Justice McCreight had refused a writ of habeas corpus for the release of one of the men who had been arrested in Victoria. This being the case, and until such times as the court should give a decision of a different nature, he (Mr. Aitken) did not see that he could do anything. He promised, however, to take the matter into his consideration, and if any legal steps could be taken to raise the quarantine he would be glad to see it. This, however, was conditional on Mr. Justice McCreight's decision being reversed or set aside in a test case now before the courts.

"Printer's Camp."

Mr. Wallace Kirk is just down from "Printer's Camp." He has been there for some time, and has been very successful in his business. He has been seen in the city, and is expected to stay here for some time. He is a well-known figure in the city, and is respected by all who know him.

A Canadian Favorite. The season's green fruits and summer drinks is the one which the worst form of cholera, morbus, diarrhoea and bowel complaints are most liable to attack. Dr. Fowler's Strawberry Wild Strawberry should be kept in the house. For 25 years it has been the most reliable remedy.

The American schooner Mattie T. Dyer was towed out of the harbor by the steamer Falcon yesterday morning. She is bound for San Francisco. While in port she paid off seven of her crew and landed her season's catch of seal skins.

THE CITY

There are three men of Vancouver with high hopes to recover. They secured an injunction. And had to "ask" to come over.

A Lucky Ticket. A ticket in the Mexican lottery, held by Mr. J. A. Brown, of the office, has drawn the substantial prize of $2,500.

Help for the Suffering. The Dominion Express Company have notified the agents, the Canadian Express, in money or clothing for the sufferers by the great fire in St. John's, Nfld., will be received and forwarded without charge. Victrolas with contributions to the relief fund are invited to call on Mr. J. Oliver, of the local agent.

Master's Business. In connection with the relations serving held in Nelson, B.C., on Sunday evening last, a curious coincidence, or rather a mutual one, occurred, when the positions of organist for the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches were respectively filled by Mr. Kirk, of the firm of Kirk & Ritchie, at Nelson, and Mr. John Keen, C.E., of Victoria. This is probably the first time that such a professional coincidence took place in the same town on the same day.

The Order Made. Mr. E. V. Bodwell, of Bodwell & Irving, solicitor, has respectively filed by Justice Walker for an order returnable Monday next, for the City of Vancouver, to show cause why Col. Bowack, now confined in the Victoria prison, should be allowed to go to the United States. A like application for a writ of habeas corpus was decided by Mr. Justice McCreight at New Westminster against Col. Bowack, on Thursday, and the rule in such cases is to appeal but to make a fresh application to another judge.

Vancouver Island Building Society. The semi-annual meeting for the purpose of drawing the 59th appropriation of the Vancouver Island Building Society was held in the Sir William Wallace Hall last evening, when considerable business was transacted. The financial statement of the Society's standing was read and received, and a committee of three, composed of Messrs D. Dale, A. H. Maynard and J. W. Brown, was appointed to conduct the drawing. The result of the drawing was in favor of share 25 A and B, standing in the name of Mrs. E. C. Collister, who was declared the winner. The amount of $103,000 is now out on loan, and the next drawing takes place about the third week in August.

The Finance Committee asked for $1,000 to compensate men engaged in watching quarantined houses. The grant was allowed.

The Council went into committee of the whole on the by-law proposing to raise $100,000 for sewerage purposes. The Mayor, who presided, said that the amount could not be raised to $500,000.

A Week's Years Together. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Topping celebrated the seventh anniversary of their marriage last evening, the occasion being duly honored by Mr. Topping's fellow workers, who presented him with a handsome and comfortable leather easy chair, a handsome wife with a pretty little rattan rocker. Of course, the accompaniment of an address was not forgotten, and in this case a testimonial in kind was presented by a masterpiece of literary excellence.

Results of the Examinations. The provincial board of examiners are now about through with their labors, and within the next few days the candidates for the various degrees will be notified. It is expected that the results will be satisfactory, and that the number of successful candidates will be a large one.

Death of Mrs. Colvin. The remains of Mrs. Colvin, the wife of R. W. Colvin, of the Rock Bay shipyard, were interred in the cemetery at Victoria, yesterday afternoon. She was a well-known figure in the city, and was respected by all who knew her.

Death from Suffocation. When an employe of Messrs. Mann & Heron, the harness makers on Broad street, entered his store in the rear of the store, yesterday morning, he was shocked to find the dead body of W. H. McMenemy, a workman who had been employed by the firm. The body was lying face downward in a heap of packing hair, and investigation seemed to show that death had resulted from suffocation. The deceased came from Hamilton, Ont., where he had been working at his trade with Mann & Heron. The friends of the dead man were informed by telegraph of his death. An inquest will be held by Coroner Hasell on Monday.

The City Police Court. His Honor Judge H. G. Dyer's work yesterday, two cases only being disposed of. The first was that of Charles John Lipand, charged with being found drunk. "Charles John," said Clerk Dowler, "that have you been drinking?" "Your Honor," replied Charles John, "I am a poor fellow, and I am not drinking."

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for August. The Midsummer (August) number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has appeared, and is a very attractive and interesting volume. It contains many beautiful illustrations, and is a most valuable addition to the library of every one who is interested in the history and progress of the world.

Seven Years' Suffering. GENTLEMEN—I have suffered very much through wrong treatment for many years, and I have been unable to get any relief. I have been in the hospital for seven years, and I have been treated by many of the best physicians in the world. I have been told that I have a rare disease, and that I must be prepared to die. Not Even Related. The Mr. Waller whose name appears in the list of patients at the quarantine station is no relation to Messrs. Waller Bros., the furniture dealers of Fort Street.

A Beautiful Rainbow. Lovers of the beautiful had a rare treat last night, when a most gorgeous rainbow, with blended colors, to which no artist's brush could do justice, formed with the water front, to the background. It was an object of great beauty.

They Keep Sabotage Now. A couple of Chinamen were experimenting with a Peterboro canoe and an upset at the Gorge, a day or two ago. Thinking that no one was around they got hold of a canoe, left tied up near a camping tent, and before minutes elapsed, were both struggling in the water. Luckily, however, a couple of young men on the beach got to their rescue just in time.

Over "Fan Tan." Chinatown is getting rather lively of late. Another row occurred there last night, a number of the devotees of the classic "Fan Tan" indulged in a "mild squabble." In a few minutes about 25 Chinamen were blowing in a way to make the musical engineer of Spratt's Ark groan with envy. The arrival of the police officers on the scene caused the crowd to scatter quickly.

Game out of Season. Numerous complaints are made of the destruction now going on of young pheasants and grouse. In many cases birds not larger than robins are shot, and at the present rate, there will be little or none left by the end of the close season. Game partly returned to town was a witness of some of this illegal "sport" and it is to be hoped that a prosecution will follow.

A Vancouver dispatch published in Friday's Times says that the E. C. sugar refinery had sold out its stock of raw sugar, has been constructed to mean that the refinery is going to close down. The Colonist is asked to make a correction to the Vancouver dispatch company are in the business of dealing in sugar and when the market is favorable they buy raw sugar which they can sell at advantage when the market improves, provided, of course, they have more stock on hand than is necessary for their own immediate use in manufacturing. Last year they were "short" and bought in the San Francisco market, and this year they are "long" and sold in the same way, but so far as the idea of their closing down is concerned it is erroneous.

A Grass Widower. The Chinese civil marriage which took place the other day, has developed a point of interest other than the fact that it was the first of the kind to be performed in this Province. While the happy couple are reveling in the sweets of a genuine Oriental honeymoon, one person, at least, is the most unhappy Chinaman in the Province. His story, as related in "radio" "pigeon," is enough to wring the most obtuse heart with anguish at such an exhibition of perfidy.

They Are All Well. About as indignant a man as there was in town, last night, was Mr. C. Williams, who had his wrist broken at reading a Vancouver dispatch to the effect that the "Terminal City" papers still refused to believe that the cargo of the Phara Ngang did not belong to the "Joss" in Chinatown, "no fixer him plenty."

A DECIDED CHANGE. Patients from Albert Head Moved to Jubilee Quarantine Station for Treatment. Only Five Patients Remaining, Three of Whom Are to be Moved at Once.

Since Dr. Wade's report on the condition of the Albert Head quarantine station has been made public, the Provincial Health authorities have been making every effort to rectify the unfortunate condition of affairs that existed on that station yesterday. Dr. Deane, who was a most capable nurse at the Jubilee Quarantine station, was sent down to Albert Head to take charge, and he will see that proper precautions are taken with the few patients that will remain. All but five have been removed to the Jubilee Hospital quarantine station. To-day three others will be taken to the same place, but there are two patients in so dangerous a condition that it is thought it would be unwise to remove them. There can be no doubt that the Albert Head station has been most thoroughly managed, from the time the first patient arrived there. No doubt the nurses did the best they could, but it is a pity that attendance was not what it should have been, and as for the general management—there was simply none of it. One of the principal reasons which actuated the authorities in moving the convalescent patients from Albert Head station to the Jubilee Quarantine station was that no proper guard had ever been stationed at the former place, and the patients might almost go and come as they pleased. They were practically free to spread the disease throughout the entire district surrounding, but very fortunately none of them left the grounds, perhaps thinking them more perfectly guarded. As a fact there was only one man, nearly a quarter of a mile distant towards the city, and having to do night and day duty as well, could hardly be expected to guard. The change in the "system" will be most acceptable one, and it is hoped that within the next few days all the patients will be housed under one roof, and the double uncertainty may be taken away with it. In the meantime every arrangement for the comfort and care of the patients has been made.

The Testimonials. Published in the Vancouver Colonist are testimonials from the patients of the Albert Head station, who are not "written up," but are from the mouths of the patients themselves. They are all of a most interesting nature, and are worthy of the full confidence of the people.

NOT PLEASD.

The Mayor and some members of the City Council appear from being pleased at the way in which the health affairs of the city are now administered.

We do not think that the Councilors have given this subject as much thought as its importance deserves. Have they ever calmly considered what an outbreak of the smallpox means to the city of Victoria?

It should not be forgotten that this is a business that demands prompt and energetic action. Every day's delay, from whatever cause, greatly increases the danger and adds to the loss which the city must suffer.

Every one knows in Victoria how matters were going on, and to what condition the city had arrived when the Provincial Government considered it their duty to interfere.

Having once taken action in the matter, the Government did not let the grass grow under their feet. They appointed a capable and energetic physician Provincial Health Officer, and gave him all the authority that he in the exigency required.

The smallpox could not be conquered and got under control without the expenditure of money, and works were undertaken and men employed. But no attempt has been made to show that one single dollar has been spent unnecessarily.

The City Council, instead of complaining of the measures taken by the Government and the Provincial Health Officer, should be only too glad that so much has been done towards stamping out the smallpox in such a small space of time.

For our own part, we are morally certain that the Government have saved the city and the province a great deal more than can now be readily computed.

THOSE REGULATIONS.

There are some people who believe that the Regulations issued by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council in the matter of smallpox have been devised by the Government of this Province.

for every one of them, and the more a man knows, the more reasonable and effective will he declare them to be. To attribute the authorship of the Regulations to the Government, is to pay its members a very high compliment indeed.

WITHOUT POLICY OR PRINCIPLE. We see that several French Liberal members have, since the proclamation, severed their connection with the Opposition.

It may be said that the Liberals wish to be regarded as belonging to the party of political purity. We know that this is the case, but one has only to look at the record of the Liberal Party to see how little grounds its members have for setting themselves up as the enemies of corruption in all its forms.

soil, have certainly flourished under protective tariff. It would seem well to leave all fiscal arrangements at least as free as we find them to-day, and the changes, if any, should be rather the removal of the duties imposed on the colonies than in the return on the part of this country to protection, from which we were emancipated after those strenuous conflicts with which the great names of Peel, Bright and Cobden will be for all time honorably associated."

At the banquet at St. James's Hall, given by the President and Council of the London Chamber of Commerce, Lord Knutsford and Lord Brassey were again the principal speakers. In proposing the toast of the evening, "The Second Congress," Lord Knutsford made a very happy speech, of which this is the closing passage:

"He thought there was no loyal subject of Her Majesty who would not feel a just pride at the congress that was now meeting in this country—a congress representing the trade and commerce of the Empire, upon which the Empire so greatly depended. It was the proud boast of Rome in ancient days that in her triumph she should show in her streets the inhabitants of distant countries which had been conquered by her legions; but in the streets of London, to-day, there were inhabitants of distant countries who had come willingly as loyal but independent subjects of our gracious Queen which the Empire so greatly depended. Lord Salisbury's Appeal. Previous to the general election in Great Britain, Lord Salisbury issued a manifesto which is certainly an able document, and was calculated, we should say, to produce an immense effect upon a large and very influential class in England, Scotland and Wales.

THE CARIBBO ELECTION. To the Editor:—In a late issue of your paper I noticed an editorial in which you expressed your opinion on the Caribbo election, and I am glad to see that you have calculated to represent us in the place of our late lamented Premier.

There was a time when such a manifesto as that addressed to the electors of the United Kingdom, by the British Premier, would have set the Island of Great Britain, from Land's End to John O'Groats, in a flame. Such an appeal, from such a source, would have been simply irresistible.

LONDON, July 26.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie made the following statement, to-day, at his abode in Loch Rannoch: "I have not attended to business for the past three years, but I have implicit confidence in those who are managing the mills."

The news of the punishment of Private Tams, of Pennsylvania Militia, by hanging him up by his thumbs for cheering for the man who shot Efricke, has been received with an outburst of indignation.

The Evening Globe says: "An Englishman guilty of a similar act of cruelty would be court-martialed and dismissed from the service."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "American men have acquired their ideas of military discipline from the red Indians."

The Star wants to know whether such cruelty is approved at Washington.

BOSTON, July 26.—General Ben. F. Butler, in an interview to-day expressed himself very forcibly against the punishment of Private Tams, at Homestead.

FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1892.

THE MOLEHILL.

Very few seem to have a clear notion of what a city with property he said to be "infected" with a contagious disease. Victoria was declared to be an "infected port" when there were in it but very few cases of disease in proportion to its population. There were not then sixty cases in all. Now sixty cases in a population of twenty thousand gives just .3 per cent, or three-tenths of one per cent. Does it not seem strange to treat a city as infected, and in the most public way possible to attach to it the stigma of uncleanness, when only three persons in every thousand of its inhabitants have been stricken with disease? To refuse admittance to the 907 healthy persons on account of the three who have been smitten with the disease looks more like an act of insanity than the prudent precaution of men having the use of their reasoning faculties. We are quite free to admit that even so small a percentage as three-tenths of one is sufficiently serious to alarm the inhabitants of the city in which there is that small proportion of cases, and to cause its authorities to use with promptness and energy all means known to be effective in preventing the spread of the disease, but that it should create a panic in a neighboring city seems to us almost incredible.

THE BOWACK CASE.

Mr. Justice Valkem's decision in this case was singularly clear and definite. We, of course, cannot pronounce upon its merits as a legal decision, but we know that it is in accordance with the dictates of sound common sense. It is wholly unreasonable that the Corporation of— we must not say a village—a small town should have the power in a time of great excitement to declare a neighboring town "infected," and to prevent any one from that town, without examination, passing through it on their way to other places. This, as the learned judge showed, is a power which is not claimed or exercised by any civilized Government under the sun. When the Corporation of Vancouver took this power upon themselves they must have been very badly advised. When Mr. Justice Walkem decided that the Vancouver health authorities had no power to detain Mr. Bowack, a perfectly healthy man, without examination and to imprison him for fourteen days, his decision will, we are quite sure, meet with the cordial approval of men of intelligence in all parts of the Empire. That decision is in substantial accord with the judgment pronounced by Mr. Justice Crease in the injunction case. It is said that the people of Vancouver are not satisfied with the conclusions arrived at by Judge Crease. We did not expect that they would. In their present frame of mind they would exclaim against the judgment of the Lord Chancellor if it were adverse to what they regard as their interests. But if they are wise they will no longer set the law at defiance. If they continue in their present attitude, they will find that, high as is their opinion of their own wisdom and their own prowess, the administrators of the law are wiser, and that the law itself is stronger, than they are. They must not think that because Mr. Justice Crease was very mild in expressing his decision, and extremely lenient in his treatment of the men who had shown their contempt of the judgment of the court, the law can be set at naught with impunity. The good government of the Province requires that the laws be respected and the orders of the courts obeyed. The Corporation of Vancouver, if they continue to act in direct opposition to the injunction, must be taught that it is neither wise nor safe to treat the law of the land with contempt. The members of that Corporation should not allow their obstinacy and their hatred of Victoria to carry them much further than they have already gone. We had nearly written "a word to the wise is sufficient." But they already have shown that they are very far from being wise. There is another proverb in which a compliment is not implied, that applies to their case. Some of the members, perhaps, can guess what it is.

A CURIOUS NOTION.

It is reported in the American newspapers that one result of the Gladstonian victory "is the alarm that it has created in the breast of the Queen for her personal safety." This is one of the curious blunders that are being continually made in the United States about political matters in Great Britain. The personal safety of the Queen is no more affected by the result of the election than is the personal safety of the President of the United States. The person of Queen Victoria is regarded as sacred by every sane man and woman in the Three Kingdoms, no matter what his or her opinions may be on political matters. Our beloved Queen has, during her long reign, so performed her duties as Sovereign of the Realm, that she enjoys the good opinion and the good-will of her subjects of all classes and all parties. She has not incurred the enmity of any party or faction, or, as far as is known, of any individual. Queen Victoria needs no guards to defend her from the sane part of the population of Great Britain. No matter who is elected or who defeated, she is safe. She, as far as her personal safety is concerned, might live without any other or greater protection than millions of her subjects require and enjoy. The affection and respect of the British people are a more effective protection than would be, without them, an army of veterans or a host of detectives.

The appearance of such telegrams as the one we have alluded to in the American newspapers and serious editorial articles based upon them, show that our American neighbors, intelligent as they no doubt are, labor under curious misapprehensions respecting the position occupied by the Queen of England in the nation, and respecting British governmental affairs generally.

OPEN AND HONORABLE.

It cannot be denied that ex-President Cleveland has the courage of his opinion. There is, too, very little of what small politicians call "policy" in his dealing with public matters. He says, when the occasion requires it, what he thinks and believes without apparently waiting to consider whether his utterance is expedient or not. On the eve of the last presidential election he had only to keep silent on the question of the tariff to be returned with an immense majority. He, however, believed it to be his duty to speak in favor of tariff reform, and knowing well that he imperilled his election, he spoke and spoke very plainly. The consequence was he alarmed the high protectionists of both parties, made for himself and his party a host of powerful enemies, and lost his election. But Mr. Cleveland has not shown, by any word or act of his, that he repented of being then open and frank with the people of the United States. He wanted to be President, but he would not be President on false pretences.

We see by his speech in reply to the formal notification of his nomination as candidate of the Democratic party, that he has, in 1892, determined to pursue the same honest and straightforward course that he did in 1888. He has made up his mind that the men who vote for him in November next shall know precisely what they are voting for. He is on the question of the tariff quite as outspoken as he was four years ago. Speaking for himself and his party, he said:

"I oppose earnestly and stubbornly the theory upon which our opponents seek to justify and uphold existing tariff laws. We need not base our attack upon questions of constitutional permission or legislative power. We denounce the theory on the highest possible grounds, when we contend that in present conditions its operation is unjust, and that laws enacted in accordance with it are inequitable and unfair."

On the question of federal interference with electioneering, Mr. Cleveland is equally explicit and equally emphatic. He is opposed to such interference on any pretence whatever. What he said on this subject will receive the cordial approbation of the whole Democratic party north and south—of the protectionists, as well as the free traders. The Democrats feel strongly on this subject, and they have with them the sympathy of many Republicans. As the grounds on which what is called the Force Bill, are not very well understood on this side of the line, we quote what Mr. Cleveland said on this subject in full:

"I have also assumed in our covenant with those who support us invite the duties of opposing to the death another wrong scheme of our adversaries which, under the guise of protecting suffrage, covers, but does not conceal, a design whereby to perpetuate the power of a party afraid to trust its continuance to the intelligent voters of the American people. We are pledged to resist legislation intended to complete this scheme, because we have not forgotten the autarkia of theft and brutal control which followed the inauguration and death throughout a large section of the country, and would menace rights reserved to States and to the people which underlie the safeguards of American liberty."

The arguments against the Force Bill are skillfully condensed in this short paragraph. They are deemed sufficient by a very large proportion of the American people, and stand which Mr. Cleveland takes on this subject will gain for him hearty support in all parts of the Union.

The indications are that Mr. Cleveland had the undivided support of the Democratic party and a large proportion of the independent vote. It is very evident that, as time progresses, the opposition to him within the ranks of the Democratic party grows weaker, and will, in all likelihood, before next November, have entirely disappeared. It is becoming apparent, too, that the Democrats are proud of their candidate. The best men in the United States respect Mr. Cleveland, and foreigners of all nations think well of him and speak well of him. The high esteem in which he is held by independent and impartial men everywhere is not without its effect in the United States.

VANCOUVER, July 25.—A quarantine vanquy: "Why do the authorities allow disinterested parties the liberty of the quarantine station on the plea of sight seeing, etc., and refuse the friends of the prisoners?" Four outsiders were allowed in today to the "key" of the police. Caterer McDonough is also a privileged character in this respect. The request of the inmates to allow a photographer behind the bars was declined; but the difficulty was overcome by a reporter from the "Key" who then the guard's back was turned. It is said a number of travellers have been arriving from Victoria lately, via the Steveston stage. The stage was hit up this morning, and Mr. Tomes, public school teacher, ran in. Two young ladies have temporarily escaped, but no doubt they will be soon rounded up and corralled.

A great calm here after Friday's storm, with the exception of the World, which is enjoying a little whirlwind all by itself. To-day was the bitterest on record. The crew on the Sunday steamer, which was very quiet and good-natured. Men whose brow grew dark when the sheriff's name was mentioned on Friday, on Sunday evening laughed good-naturedly at his merry quip about bringing their friends home safely. The Vancouverites are quick to anger and as quick to get over it, as Rev. Mr. Pedley remarked to the Colonist. In their heat, the citizens of the rival cities regarded each other with favor and respect.

There are now ten cases in the city, two at Hastings, one at Moodyville. There is a new case at Hastings. A sawyer at Buse's mill paid to have a contract for lumber from linen received from the Chinese laundry. Buse's mill is closed, and the employees are quarantined. There is a new case here—a carpenter from the city of Victoria, who contracted the disease from a Japanese man, breaking out on the 15th day. Mr. Stickle's daughter is seriously ill. McDonald and a messenger fly from Westport to the city, where they arrived May 6 there have been 18 cases, 5 deaths.

It was developed that his worship, pro tem, received a commission from the Mayor of Victoria, saying that he contemplated lifting the quarantine against Victoria, on Monday night. The result depended on the answer received from the Sound cities and Vancouver as to whether they would consent to the quarantine being lifted, or not. The Acting Mayor said he had wired Port Townsend and received a reply that they would not lift the quarantine against Victoria for four days, perhaps longer. No action was taken.

VANCOUVER, July 26.—Messrs. Bowack and Jense leave the quarantine to-morrow. Rev. Mr. Lacy, the day after, Mr. Tom, the schoolmaster, acted more flippantly than was warranted by his serious situation on his incarceration, on Monday, and incensed the inmates, who court-martialed him. The Federal regulation of State suffrage, was dragged before Justice Harris, by acting Sheriff Hoeselien. "Pretful Freddy," as he is termed, was prosecuting attorney, while Rev. Mr. Lacey defended the prisoner. The case was adjourned, that he was to be stripped with black paint, or hand a box of cigars into court for the use of those in quarantine. The cigars will be abandoned.

Another case of smallpox was discovered at Hastings to-day, Nathaniel James, one of the suspected employes of Buse's mill. The other employes are being carefully watched.
Prof. Saunders, Canada's World's Fair Commissioner, arrived to-day to advise with the local commissioners and with the Government. He will not go to Victoria, because he objects to being quarantined for 14 days on his return.

WESTMINSTER, July 25.—The Mayor has received a communication from the Count d'Etanges, who writes from Montreal offering to settle 200 European farmers in the Province, on the following modest terms. He only asks for $400,000 in cash, or for the same value in land, a bonus, in addition to $2,000 acres of land in return for the new settlers.
The newly formed Presbytery of Westminster, held its first meeting to-day, in St. Andrew's Church, at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. M. McLeod, of Vancouver, Moderator, presiding.
John Smith, charged with attempted murder, was to be tried tomorrow morning. Hunter, charged with forgery at Vancouver, elected to go to the Assizes.

The salmon run last night was almost a complete failure. The fishermen and canners will allow the sockeyes another week to reach the Fraser, but if they are not to hand then, all hopes even of a quarter pack will be abandoned.
The funeral of the late Alexander Purver, who was drowned in the creek on Matsqui Prairie last Thursday evening, while attempting to save the life of Miss Day, of Victoria, was held yesterday. The family residence to the new graveyard near Sumas. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. King in a very impressive manner. His commendation was in fitting language on the bravery of the young man in giving up his life to save his friend. After the service Mr. King had finished the burial service of the Church of England, the body, to which order the deceased belonged, reformed their ritual. More than 200 persons were present, some of them coming over 25 miles.
It is heard here that Victoria will declare quarantine against Vancouver unless the Terminal City gets a better grip on smallpox. The continued breaking out of smallpox in Vancouver is looked upon with alarm here.

For several days public feeling has been strongly in favor of raising the quarantine, and when the steamer Louisa landed a number of passengers at Sepperton, which involved no interference on the part of the authorities here.
J. B. Lynch, Dominion quarantine inspector, arrived in Victoria, and was asked by a reporter what he thought of the subject, replied that it was perfectly safe for Westminster to raise the quarantine against Victoria now. He remarked that Victoria had the disease in check, and though the mainland cities had acted right in the first place by protecting themselves by means of quarantine regulations, at that time had now come into communication with Victoria might safely be re-established. He had inspected the Albert Head quarantine station, and found a great many improvements were needed to put it in an efficient condition. This would be done immediately, and Albert Head with the addition of the steamer Earl, which was to be fitted at once with the most modern fumigating machinery, would be in the most efficient condition. Mr. Lynch has prepared a report for the Dominion Government on the quarantine station, and a reference to the manner in which the smallpox had first gained hold in the province. This, of course, cannot be made public at present. Twelve settlers are located at the latter place, and there is no way of getting in or out except by the railway. Until recently the G. P. R. railway track was used, but by the introduction of a new kind of cattle-guard, which cannot be crossed by animals, it is impossible longer to make use of the railway.

Mr. Macgowan, who spent considerable time in Kamloops recently, has located near the foot of Big Shuswap Lake, on the lower ground, which is nearly on a level with the lake. He is anxious to go systematically into fruit culture.
The South Thompson Valley has, for fifteen years, been producing fine crops of fruit. Eastern trees and those obtained from cold climates have done the best, and in the case of apples the Russian varieties have flourished best. Plums and prunes and other small fruits have thrived, especially well in the Shuswap orchards. Mr. Garwood, of Vancouver, who tested it last year, has ordered a supply this season from Mr. Ross. He has peaches this year. All the settlers in the neighborhood of Shuswap, have good orchards, but have not made a specialty of fruit-raising.

General crops are very good, and the hay crop is particularly heavy. Mr. Chase will cut about 500 tons, a large proportion of it for market.

VANCOUVER, July

WHAT IT IS VANCOUVER

The Greatest Danger Exists
That the Smallpox is not Under Control.

Amongst the Suspects—A
Ident Physician for Ross Bay Station.

and Monday's developments in Smallpox in Victoria are plainly set out in the reports following. There have been several new cases, but it is a fact of especial note, that all the cases have been among the "suspects."
As far as Victoria is concerned, the past. It is, in fact, reduced to a minimum. The regulations are being strictly enforced, and each day the of the authorities is increased and diminished. Unfortunately, however, the opposite of this seems to be the case in Vancouver, but the provincial authorities will probably take a hand over such means prompt and effective enforcement of the rules.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.
The following is the bulletin issued last night.

PROVINCIAL HEALTH OFFICE.
MUNICIPALITY, July 25, 1922.
No cases in city or district.
WESTMINSTER—Two cases in city and district.
VIRI—No report received. Saturday nine cases.
VIRI DISTRICT—Hastings, no report.
Last report one case. Moodyville, received. Last report one case.
VICTORIA—No cases.
HEAD QUARANTINE STATION, 13
Victoria. Two cases.
HOSPITAL QUARANTINE STATION,
from centre of city—Saturday morning. Two deaths occurred on Sunday. Bull and Mr. Weston, leaving in Three cases were received at the Albert Head quarantine station. One of the ambulance drivers the disease in the quarantine station cases have developed amongst the all of which cases were immediately to the Jubilee Quarantine Hospital, Brighton, a total of 50 cases in that district. All suspects are now at Ross Bay station, two miles and a half from Victoria. No cases of smallpox have developed in the city or the surrounding district since July 21. Dr.
has been appointed to the Ross Bay station, superintendent and resident medical officer. The presence of such an officer is urgently needed.
The suits of clothes for men, women and children, are urgently needed, both at the Hospital Quarantine Station and the Suspect station, as all the clothes used by the "suspects" and patients will be disinfected.

J. C. DAVIE, M.D.,
Provincial Health Officer.

VEILS IN VANCOUVER.

It is altogether probable that, as soon as permitted, Dr. J. C. Davie Provincial Health Officer, will pay an official visit to Vancouver, there to make a most searching enquiry into what has been going on. There is a belief that section 4 of the Health regulations has been disregarded. This is the portion of the regulations which provides for perfect isolation and quarantine of "suspects;" and the neglect of the city to enforce this regulation has distributed the constant cropping up of cases here and there throughout the city. In the meantime, however, it is understood the Vancouver authorities are urgently advised of their omission and they should of their own accord take prompt action.

THOROUGH EXAMINATION.

Dr. C. Davie, Provincial Health Officer, will spend a portion of this afternoon at the Ross Bay Quarantine Station in thoroughly examining each and every "suspect" with a view to satisfying himself as to how vaccination has been done, make a complete statement in each case of exposure, where and when vaccinated, by whom, and what result, if any, number of times vaccinated, how often successfully, etc., including, in fact, a number of points to be covered by the enquiry. The reason this is done is that there are fears that in some cases the vaccination has been imperfect, and that impure vaccine and other causes, the "suspect" station is the only place where there is any danger, it is advisable to take extra precautions.
But there will be some "kick"
from some of the more troublesome classes, who object to being "cooped" longer than they think is necessary, and the authorities propose to take no account of whatever.

ORDERS FOR THE DISCHARGED.

Orders have been printed to be handed to persons discharged from either of the quarantine stations. These are to be signed by the resident medical officer, who will see to proper disinfection, etc.

CONTRIBUTIONS ACKNOWLEDGED.

The Matron of the Jubilee quarantine hospital to acknowledge on behalf of the donations of fruit, etc., from the ladies: Mrs. C. S. Whiffen, Mrs. Burkhardt, Mrs. Leiser, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Mrs.
Gardner, Mr. A. E. Pemberton, Mr. Darrington, Mr. W. B. Smith, Hon. D. W. Higgins & Co. and the Phoenix Brew-

AN UNMITIGATED FALSEHOOD.

There is much discontent among the men employed to watch quarantined houses because they will have to remain unpaid until they are paid in connection with this smallpox has been sent in. The men who took charge of the houses are not millionaires, and it is a considerable lack of judgment on the part of the Mayor in refusing to advance them the money they are entitled to, especially when, if not all, of them, have to either borrow to keep body and soul together, or are hungry and without a place to sleep—Journal.

Treasurer Kent says the above is an unmitigated falsehood. Every man who has presented proper vouchers, has been paid within 24 hours. Men who presented accounts, properly certified, at eleven

HOW BUSINESS IS.

J. B. Gordon, Superintendent for the British Columbia agency, has the following dispatch to headquarters at Vancouver: "Business in Victoria has been quiet during the past two weeks owing to the small cases of smallpox having been reported here, and to the city having been necessarily quarantined by neighboring and Puget Sound ports. There are no cases of the disease in the city, and it is why quarantine should not be relaxed at once. There is no doubt that had it been for the grossly exaggerated reports circulated by the press of other cities, commerce of Victoria and British Columbia generally would not have been interrupted."

THE LATE HON. JOHN ROBSON, PREMIER OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.
