The pall-bearers were W. A. Wykesmith, W. Warwick, A. Cameron, Ab. Lucas, R. Williamson and J. Osborne. There was a large attendance.

IT is with deep sorrow that we record the death of John Wesley McKecher, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKecher, 12th line, Enniskillen, which sad event took place on February 19th, 1913. Deceased was a young man of much promise and his early taking away in his nineteenth year is universally regretted by a very large circle of relatives and friends. He bore with wonderful fortitude an illness due to a complication of diseases, extending over a period of six weeks. The funeral, one of the largest ever seen in that vicinity, took place on Monday last at Petrolia cemetery, the impressive funeral services being conducted by the Rev. N. A. Campbell of Inwood. The floral tributes were beautiful. Deceased was a nephew of Mr. John McKecher, of Watford.

THE Watford Board of Trade has been in a somewhat shaky position. Is it not now time that it was aroused from its lethargic condition and placed in working order again? According to the constitution the object of the Board is to promote and encourage every enterprise calculated to advance the prosperity of Watford; and it is the duty of the Board to see that it is doing its duty. It is the duty of the Board to see that it is doing its duty. It is the duty of the Board to see that it is doing its duty.

THE High School Literary Society was held Feb. 20th. The meeting was opened by a chorus by the girls. This was followed by the Secretary's report. Miss Merle Holbrook gave a solo, after which the editor read his paper. Then followed a debate, "Resolved that the Pulpit is more uplifting than the Press." The affirmative side was taken by Mr. William Calloway and Mr. Emmerson Shrier, and the negative side by Miss Olive Oakes and Miss Calla Dolbear. The decision was given in favor of the affirmative side. The critic, Miss McCaw, made a few remarks, and the girls sang another chorus. The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Live and Learn.
Bride to Storekeeper—"I would like some fish for dinner. Have you any?" Dealer—Yes, madam, we have some nice halibut.
Bride—Send me up three, please. My husband is very fond of fish and can easily eat two for dinner.
The dealer did so and now the bride has enough fish on hand to last her through Lent. She thought halibut was about the size of herring.

MR. Robert Fawcett, of Sarnia, has been engaged as architect of the new school building to be erected in Thedford. On Friday evening, February 14th, a literary and entertainment was given in Zion Congregational Church. The weather was conducive to a large turnout, and no one had reason to be disappointed with the attendance as the church was packed to its utmost seating capacity. The chair was occupied by Rev. R. Stevenson, pastor of the church, who, in making a short introductory speech, opened a lengthy and interesting program consisting of solos, duets, trios, quartettes, readings and instrumental pieces, the rendering of which occupied the remainder of the two hours and a half. Mr. W. McLeish, of Adelaide, delighted his hearers with various well chosen solos. Misses Ida and Lou Richardson were in their usual good form and sang two beautiful duets. They also played their part well with Mr. Charles E. Smith and Mr. Charles Richardson in the rendering of several quartette pieces, Miss Helen Smith, graduate of Valparaiso School of Oratory, enthralled the audience with her clever dramatic recital of certain very touching pieces, particularly "The Polish Boy," the pathos of which appealed to the emotion of one and all. Miss Grace Ward, of Chicago, sang two very beautiful solos, "Absence" and "The Perfect Day," both of which were highly appreciated. The famous Crow Bros. sang a trio which had the effect of almost moving some in the audience to tears, it was so pathetically rendered. The moral taught by the trio was: "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." Helpful speeches from Rev. J. C. Forster, of Watford, and R. J. McCormick, M.P.P., were enjoyable features of the evening. A great deal of praise is due Mr. McCormick for the manner in which he purposefully absented himself from the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, in order to be present at Zion entertainment. The singing of the National Anthem by the audience brought a pleasant evening to a close. The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to about $55.00.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—“I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

“I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her.

“I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine.”

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R. F. D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for woman's ills known.

The Rural Telephone.

The rural telephone is one of the strongest forces we have in promoting social life on the farm. One does not need to refrain from visiting one's neighbors because he can be talked to over the phone. There can be just as much visiting done as formerly, if that is needful, and the social side can, in addition, be promoted by the use of the phone. In fact, we know of many instances where social gatherings that would never have been held have been brought about by the rural phone. It is so easy to get the neighbors together when each one has a phone. Then there is the convenience of the phone. We do not think that anyone would care to go back to the old days when the farmer was isolated, when a drive of several miles was necessary to bring a doctor, when a trip of a mile or two was necessary every day to get the mail. The telephone and mail delivery are just as necessary to the country as they are to the city, and the man living on the farm has just as much right to these, modern conveniences as the man in the city.

BRITISH AMAZONS

Women Who Could Pull an Oar With the Best of Men.

WON FAME ALL OVER EUROPE.

Ann Glanville and Her Champions Not Only Beat Their Own Countrymen, but Went to Havre and Outrowed Half a Dozen Crack French Crews.

In the boat races that have from time immemorial been rowed on the Hamoaze, the estuary of the Tamar and the Tavy that forms part of the harbor of Plymouth, the women of Saltash have often distinguished themselves. In "Around and About Saltash" P. E. B. Porter writes of Ann Glanville, whose amazonian feats of oarsmanship made her famous all over Europe:

"Some sixty or seventy years ago the crew of Saltash women was often seen not only on the Hamoaze, but wherever aquatic sports were held. It was not often that Ann and the crew that she stroked were beaten in a match—never by other women.

"They competed for prizes at Hull, Liverpool, Portsmouth and Dartmouth, and it must not be supposed that a crew of men ever yielded the palm out of masculine courtesy, for, as a matter of fact, the men did not at all relish being beaten by a 'parcel of females.'

"In some of these contests Mrs. Harriet Screech, a daughter of Ann Glanville, who had fourteen children, rowed with her mother. As she was the youngest member of the crew she pulled bow oar, the least arduous post in the boat.

"Once this crew, rowing a match at Fleetwood in the presence of Queen Victoria, gave the men so sound a beating that her majesty asked to have Ann presented to her.

"However, the most famous event of Ann's life took place in 1850, when Captain Russell of H. M. S. Brunswick suggested to her that she and her crew should go to Havre to the regatta there and challenge the Frenchmen, a proposal to which she readily assented.

"When the Frenchmen heard of the challenge from les Anglaises de Saltash they shrugged their shoulders, for they scarcely regarded it as serious. And when the women appeared in their white frilled caps sprinkled out with blue ribbons, in their short petticoats and white dresses, with blue neckerchiefs tied over the shoulders and crossed behind the back, they looked puzzled.

"The challenge of the Englishwomen created a stir not only in Havre, but for miles along the French coast and for many leagues inland too. And in England the greatest interest was aroused.

"When the day of the regatta came there was a vast concourse of people to witness the contest. Every quay, billtop and housetop from which a view of the course could be had was crowded. Every one was on tiptoe of expectation. Before the start the Saltash crew had a pull round to show themselves. Their steady stroke, the way in which they bent their backs to their work and the perfect ease and grace with which they pulled made the French open their eyes.

"Ann and her crew had not the best start possible, nor at first did they have the advantage. Five minutes after the start six boats were ahead of them. But they soon tested their opponents' nerve. Ann, who had the stroke oar, gave the word:

"Bend your backs to it, maidens, and hurrah for old England!"

"One by one, with a cheer from old Ann, they passed the six boats. At last they drove their boat, with the British color flying gayly at the fore, into the lead. It was a long course and a hard pull, but they soundly thrashed the Frenchmen. Ann and her 'maidens' beat them by 100 yards. The members of this famous crew were Ann Glanville, Harriet Hosking, Jane House and Amelia Lee. A man acted as coxswain.

"Mrs. House was so elated at the victory that on reaching the committee boat she plunged into the water, dived under the vessel and came up with a dripping and drooping cap on the opposite side.

"Ann Glanville died in 1880, at the age of eighty-five, dignified, vigorous and handsome to the last. Her character was summed up by a neighbor in these words:

"Her was honest to a farthing, clean as a smelt and kind hearted as a queen."

AN ANCIENT DISCOVERER.

Gold Came Before Silver In the Early Use of Metals.

It is not known just when gold was first used by man as ornament and coin, but 4,400 years ago the people of the far east and in the countries of northern Africa made most exquisite jewelry out of gold and precious stones. In fact, the art of their hand wrought ornaments has never been excelled, and modern man has learned from them in technical skill. Gold as used in the early times was probably found in the form of nuggets, as the ancients would hardly have noticed it in any other form. They hammered it by hand and gave it a most beautiful polish.

Silver was not discovered for a long time after gold was in use in many countries, and when at last some one did discover it he thought it a form of gold, and it became known as "white gold." The discovery of copper soon followed that of silver, and then in succession came tin, zinc and lead. An ingenious savage who lived in upper Egypt succeeded in making brass by fusing copper and zinc, and later he manufactured bronze by a mixture of copper and tin. This occurred about 4500 B.C., and the inventor's name was Anubis.

And Anubis made the first metallic axe, knife and chisel, and also he gave us the original saw, taking for his model, so we are told, "the chin bone of a snake." Like the teeth of a snake, the first saw's teeth inclined backward.

Anubis also invented the first musical instrument of which we have knowledge. He used for a sounding board the empty shell of a tortoise across which were strung four tortoise sinews as strings. Afterward this instrument was enlarged and a goat's horns used for posts. It still had four strings and a bridge and brace. This crude musical instrument became known as the lyre, and from it developed all known stringed instruments. Of this instrument a historian says:

"Horus afterward enlarged and improved the lyre by increasing the number of strings to seven, though two of them had the same pitch. He also provided a strap to support the little end of the instrument. It was then called by the Greeks a cithara or kithara, and in central Africa it is yet called a kisser. The Greek Terpander added an eighth string, called octachord, from which comes our word octave.

"Anubis seems to have composed a song and sung it to the accompaniment of the harp. He was also the first songster and poet of whom we have any knowledge."

Thus it will be seen that metals are very old in the uses to which man has put them, and musical instruments also of very ancient date, though for countless generations there was no written music and the player composed his own melodies as he went along, which were exceedingly simple.

The Wrong Number Again.

Governor Chambers, of the Toronto Goal, had an amusing telephone conversation recently that illustrates how little one may appreciate to whom he is speaking in his office when the bell rang. He was surprised to hear the greeting: "Howdy, Guv'nor, is Dot there?" "Dot? Dot?" he replied, "I don't know any Dot." "Ah, gwan, quit yer kiddin'. Dot Dawson, You know. Ain't she there now?" came back the answer. "Well, I'm sure I don't know," said the doctor, "I'll go and look her up," and he kindly went to the records and made a careful search. "No, I don't find her name here," he advised his interrogator. "I don't think she has been here for some time." For goodness' sake, is that Mr. Blands house, came the query. "No-o, this is the goal," said the Governor, and the sudden "bing" of the receiver at the other end announced the lady's impatience, at being given the wrong exchange.

The Well-Known Emotion.

Love was under discussion, and the time old "When is a man in love?" question came up. "A man is in love," said one, "when it gives him physical pain to tear up the slightest of her notes." "When"—but it would be violating confidences to tell other answers. One only, the best, we begged leave to print. "A man isn't really in love," said this romantically astute old gentleman, "until he begins to skip the descriptions of heroines in novels he reads, saying, 'What's the use of reading that? I'll have her looking like Her and talking like Her anyway.'"

One might almost do an Elizabethan poem on that.

He "Stopped" His Paper

The other day a cranky sort of an old man came into this office and stopped his paper because something in it did not just suit his fancy, says the Powhatan Bee. We have frequently met him on the street since that time and it is amusing to note the look of surprise on the old fellow's face that we are still in existence regardless of the fact that he stopped his paper. Some day—and it won't be long either—that old gentleman will turn up his toes. His heart will be still forever. Neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless remains to the silent city and lay them to rest among the flowers. An obituary will be published in these columns telling what a kind father, a good neighbor and beloved citizen he was—which the recording angel will overlook for charity sake, and in a very short time he will be forgotten. As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know that the last kind word spoken of him was by the editor of this paper, which through life he so spitefully "stopped." Did you ever pause for a moment to think that your editor, whoever he may be will write your obituary some day?—Canadian Pictorial.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-eight per cent. of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed, gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rehall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rehall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c. and 50c. ## For Dog Owners.

Here is something that may be of interest to dog owners here. A recent Supreme Court decision outlines responsibilities of owners of dogs. The decision was given where action had been brought to recover damages from the owner of a dog that barked and frightened the plaintiff's horse. The plaintiff was thrown and injured and brought suit for $1500 damages. The jury gave him a verdict for that amount and the owner of the dog applied to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court sustained the verdict and said in strong words that the owners of barking and vicious dogs are responsible for all damages caused by such dogs and the owners keep them at their own peril.—Ex.

Scratches and bruises may be taken from furniture by using the kernel of a walnut or a butter nut.

To make the eyebrows grow better, rub common salt into them every night before going to bed.

Clean white sheepskin rugs by scrubbing with castile soap and water, drying thoroughly in the sun.

For a disagreeable breath put a few drops of tincture of myrrh in a tumblerful of water and thoroughly rinse the mouth with it.

A PILL THAT IS PRIZED.—There have been many pills put upon the market and pressed upon public attention, but none has endured so long or met with so much favor as Parmele's Vegetable Pills. Widespread use of them has attested their great value, and they need no further advertisement than this. Having firmly established themselves in public esteem, they now rank without a peer in the list of standard vegetable preparations.

For croup use flannel cloths wrung out of very hot water and apply to the throat and chest covered with dry ones, and renew with hot as soon as the others commence to get cold.

Unpleasant marks caused by the dripping of water in marble basins or water closet bowls may be removed by rubbing with a cloth or old brush dipped in pulverized chalk or ammonia.

The Best Cook in America, Who Didn't Make Good.

DINNER ALL IN THE SOUP.

Confusing Results That Enue From Reading Magazine and Newspaper Stories About What to Eat and What Not to Eat.

My Dear Elsa—I have such a good joke on Dick. You know, the dear boy was recently hunting in Canada, and just before he started for home I received this telegram: "Am bringing on the best cook in America. Get ready the fatted calf."

Well, dear, you know how excited I was at the prospect of acquiring such a domestic prize, for between you and me I had reached a state when anything that could cook potatoes was a blue ribbon winner. And my neighbors were almost as excited over the "find" as myself.

In a few days Dick came breezing in, and following after him in a shuffling fashion appeared a woman without a hat, attired in a bright red sweater, a yellow skirt and necktie. Closer view elicited the fact that she was a full blooded Indian squaw. I bore the shock of the discovery "manfully" for Dick's sake, merely inquiring her name. "Gwendolyn," he replied, "and she's the finest cook in America, and, so to speak, we own her."

Trying to feel hopeful about our recently acquired possession, I introduced Gwendolyn to Nora, our second girl, and then initiated her into the mysteries of the kitchen. Next day Gwendolyn took hold in good earnest, and, feeling secure in the culinary ability of my prize, I invited several of our nearest friends in to have dinner. Time passed, and the assembled guests expectantly awaited dinner—asssembled and waited. At last, with some misgivings, I sought the kitchen, and as I opened the door a most alarming volume of smoke greeted me. I returned to the dining room with the report that it might be all right, but Gwendolyn didn't seem to understand the use of coal exactly. She had built a kind of bonfire on top of the range. I refrained from looking at Dick during the recital.

Well, Elsa, dear, there was a long and ominous pause. Then the door swung open and Nora entered with the largest tureen I own in her hands. She set it down in front of Dick with a thump and a swash.

"It's for you to serve it," said she. "It ain't soup; it ain't roast; it's Injun stew, and I'm leaving this place tomorrow."

Nora retired. It was evident she was emotionally stirred.

"Dick," I cried appealingly, "what is it?"

Dick gingerly removed the tureen cover and ladled forth a conglomerate mixture. The dinner was in the soup, literally and entirely, from oysters to cheese, while the sirloin roast appeared ignominiously cut into chunks swimming in the midst. A shout went up from the company, and in a chorus we gasped:

"Why did you think she could cook?"

"Why," explained Dick, "you just ought to have tasted the ducks she roasted for us. Hung 'em up by the necks, you know, and turned them round and round. George, they melted in your mouth! They were wonderful. We drew lots, the fellows and I, to see who should bring her home with us. I can't understand how she made this mess."

"Dick," I laughingly interrupted, "what else did she cook for you?"

"Well, if you had tasted those ducks you would have said that was enough." "What did we do for dinner? We phoned for a taxi and beat it to the nearest good hotel for a square meal."

Dick? Well, he hasn't complained about any of the awful things served up to us by ladies of various countries and principalities who have reigned in our kitchen since the departure of his rara avis.

I'm afraid you are heartily tired of the "eats" subject, but while on the warpath doesn't it make you tired the advice one gets from magazine and newspaper stories on what to eat and what not to eat?

SOME LAMP LORE.

Some Lamp Lore.
 Rub Off Top of Wick Daily With Soft Paper.

Despite the reign of the electrolifer, the lamp still has many followers. Many take to lamps because they must, some because the light it sheds is softer, more becoming and better for the eyes.

When a lamp fails to give a good light do not waste time reviling the manufacturer, but look to your own duties.

Perhaps the wick is crooked or too short or not in square. Rub off the top of the wick each day with soft paper and if it fails to draw pull it up on the catches or get a new one. Unless sure you can put in the wick correctly send the lamp to a store and have it done properly.

Perhaps a new wick is less necessary than removing the oil with which it is clogged. Boil the wick in vinegar and water and dry thoroughly.

Fill your lamps daily. Never light a lamp that is nearly empty, as it increases danger of explosion. Fill a lamp by daylight. If it must be done after dark keep away from a flame and wipe all oil from the outside.

Even with the best oil a poor light results if the burner is not clean. It should be washed once a month in a quart of cold water to which have been added a tablespoonful of washing soda and a little soap. Boil several hours, pour off the blackened water, cover with fresh boiling water, soap and soda, boil five minutes, rinse in clean hot water and rub dry with a clean soft cloth that is not linty.

Lamp chimneys may be rubbed off with soft paper daily and when smoked should be washed in hot ammonia water, rinsed in cold water and polished with a tea towel and soft paper.

What to Serve at the Morning Meal These Cold Days.

Perhaps because of the energy of the cereal distributors the American breakfast table is discarding meats and hot breads and substituting fruits and grains.

THE ROSE COMB WHITE LEGHORN.

Our Canadian cousins up there where the zero winds whistle through their whiskers sure show horse sense when they breed Rose Comb White Leghorns in quantities, for they are great winter layers, and that low rose comb can't freeze off like the tender points on the single comb, a condition that so often knocks the egg record.

But our friends of the snowdrift land are not the only fanciers wise to this bird that matures so early and lays so late, for it is claimed there are 5,000 breeders of this variety in the United States, and the number is increasing. But whence that rose comb? That rose comb comes from the Hamburg as the result of a cross made in this country about fifty years ago, the Single Comb White Leghorn and White Hamburg being used, thus the Rose Comb White, which is half Italian and half Dutch.

At first the bird wasn't very popular, as it was small and had a big bunched comb that lopped over the eyes; but, coming from such remarkable laying ancestry on both sides, the new variety was bound to make good, and fanciers soon began to sit up and take notice that it was an egg phenomenon.

Its friends increased; they bred it by selection for size, shape and smaller, more regular comb, so that today it is a beautiful bon ton bird that lays lots of eggs—low cost eggs.

 breeds are not the stock on the big egg plants, Leghorns being bred almost exclusively.

Of course the carcass is not so large, but it must be remembered that the Leghorn is an egg specialist.

She makes a good profit for her owner without her carcass being considered, and if bred to great size her laying ability is cut down.
 Leghorns are not the butterfly birds they once were, the breeder by selection now trying to get his pullets to four and cockerels to five pounds at least, and for fine grained flesh these are not to be despised.

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS.

WATFORD, FEBRUARY 28, 1913.

Boxes Instead of Barrels.

The experience of last season in the apple business has brought out one fact pretty clearly, which is, that if Ontario apple growers are not to hand over the apple market of the West to the fruit growers of the Pacific States and British Columbia, they must reorganize their methods of packing and shipment. It is admitted that apples grown in Ontario are superior in quality to anything that the Pacific slope can produce. But the fruit from the Pacific slope, it is said, can be relied on as being up to representation, whereas it is charged that the shipments from Ontario cannot be trusted all the way through the package. Furthermore, the Ontario growers will persist in putting up their apples in barrels, and barrels are what the western dealers do not want. They want the apples packed in boxes, which the British Columbia or Oregon grower is willing to do, but which the Ontario grower as yet is not, on account of which the Ontario grower, it is said, has lost a good deal of his hold on the western market, and if he persists in shipping his apples in barrels is likely to lose it altogether.

Are They to Go?

We see by an article in the Sunday Buffalo Express that a class of employees, with whom we have got to look upon as something we could not possibly get along without, are to be put to one side by the onward march of invention. We mean the "Hello Girl." An invention has been patented, and is now in use in some large centres, that when we want to talk to anyone on the line, all that we would have to do is to press the button and connections will be made automatically. It may be cheaper for the company, but when it comes to do away with the sweet voice saying "Number please" there will be a great big kick by patrons.

St. Clair Tunnel Holds Record

The train service operated by the Grand Trunk System through the St. Clair Tunnel is the most powerful railway service handled by electricity in the world. This electrification operates within a zone of approximately four miles, and motive power is derived from 1,500 horsepower electric locomotives weighing 135 tons, with a nominal drawbar pull of 50,000 pounds and a maximum speed of 35 miles an hour. During the twelve months of 1912, the company's records show that 197,801 loaded cars and 86,692 empties passed through the tunnel in addition to 35,096 passenger cars. Estimating on a basis of 17 tons to a car, this gives a total tonnage passing through of nearly 3,500,000 tons. These figures, of course, do not include the company's material, such as coal, lumber, ties, etc., which would swell the total to much larger proportions.

Want to Cancel Licenses

Glencoe, Feb. 27.—The local temperance workers, by no means discouraged by the defeat of January 6, when they lost by a fraction of a vote, have succeeded in having a petition largely signed by the ratepayers, asking that the licenses be withheld in Glencoe until another opportunity be given to vote upon local option. A petition was also circulated and very largely signed by the voters of Mosa and Ekfrid townships; also asking that licenses be not granted in Glencoe until another vote is taken. A committee will lay the petition before the authorities at Toronto at an early date.

CHOP STUFF.

Blenheim will place cement gutters in the business portion of the town.
King Houston, Petrolia, died of pneumonia last week after a few days' illness.
Thomas H. Leacock, Bridgen, is suffering from an attack of bronchial pneumonia.
Rev. J. T. Dowling, retired Baptist minister, died at Petrolia last week, aged 78 years.
Mihell & Gill, Strathroy merchants, gave a complimentary banquet to the members of their staff last week.
The Bell Telephone office at Glencoe now has 213 phones on its switch board, including 65 Caradoc-Ekfrid phones.
Forest council will borrow money for current expenses from Arch. Johnston, of Bosanquet, instead of from the banks.
Jas. Smille, of Inwood, recently sold to A. Campbell, of Star City, Sask., the sweepstakes Clydesdale stallion Baron McKinnon.
The wireless station at Point Edward is about completed and the finishing touches put on the tall poles, which are 175 feet high.
Mr. Thos. Ewart, second line, Plympton, has marched in fifty-one consecutive annual Orange parades. He is 86 years old and still hale and hearty.
Strathroy Methodist Church has extended a call to Rev. A. E. Jones, of Belmont, to succeed Rev. W. H. Graham, who has been called to Sarnia.
Mrs. HAYWARD, who lives near Wanstler, was badly injured in a runaway. Mrs. Hayward and Miss McPhedran, who were with her in the buggy, were uninjured.
Mr. Scharf has taken charge of the Central Hotel, Wyoming, which has been for so many years occupied by the Witty Bros. The change will take place April 1st.
It is proposed to form a joint stock company at Alvinston, with a capital of $15,000, and establish a biscuit and candy factory to employ not less than 15 hands the year round.

Jos. Randall, of Wanstead, has bought fifteen acres from the Wm. Short estate, of Wanstead, for $1,400. As this is nearly $100 an acre and there are no buildings on the land, we consider it a record price for Plympton acreage.

The residence of Eli Thorpe, near Oil Springs, was destroyed by fire during Monday night. It is supposed to have caught from an over-heated stove. Very little of the contents were saved as no one knew of the fire until it was too late to render any assistance.

Two residents of Plympton are ill at their homes from the effects of paralytic strokes. Mrs. Thos. Lucas, who was recovering from la grippe, suffered a slight stroke, and Mr. Wm. Hendy was stricken as he sat in his home at noon. In both cases the organs of speech were considerably affected also.

Harry Rotsky, manager of the Victoria Opera House, Petrolia, has plans completed for the erection of a new theatre on his property, corner of Petrolia and Centre streets. The new structure will be modern in every respect, with a seating capacity in the pit of five hundred and fifty people. The stage will be one of the largest in Western Ontario, with a thirty-two foot opening and thirty feet deep.

Mr. Wm. Leary, a Parkhill merchant, lost a delivery horse in a peculiar manner. Mr. Leary kept two horses, one for heavy draying purposes and one for delivering, and during the night the heavy horse broke loose and started kicking the smaller one while in its stall. In the morning, when found, the smaller one was dead, death being caused, it is thought, from a broken neck.

Mrs. Mary Southern, an old and respected resident of Lambton county, passed away at her daughter's residence, Wyoming. She leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, William, of Sarnia, and Manson, of Dakota, and three daughters, Mrs. Wm. Battle, Sarnia township, Mrs. Chas. Luckins, Wyoming, and Mrs. (Dr.) Wiley, of Michigan. The funeral took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. Luckins, Wyoming, on Monday, Feb. 24th, to Watford cemetery.

Edward Robair, the young son of Benjamin Robair, Sarnia, had a narrow escape from serious injury while asleep in bed Tuesday night. The bed caught fire presumably from a candle that the lad had used for lighting purposes and together with the bed clothes and carpet on room was completely destroyed. The lad was awakened by the fire between one and two o'clock, and with the assistance of his father, succeeded in extinguishing the fire. This is the second escape from injury that young Robair has experienced lately. About three weeks ago he was struck by an electric street car, but managed to hang on to the fender until the car was stopped.

THE SECRET OF GIRLISH BEAUTY

The Blood Must be Kept Rich and Pure, and the Nerves Properly Nourished.

Every parent of a growing girl, and every young woman who looks after herself, should be constantly on the watch for symptoms of impoverished blood. Girls in their teens should not be pale, languid and constantly fatigued. Nature intended them to be bright, energetic and active. The happiness of a lifetime depends upon giving the blood the help it needs at this time, when girls are too frequently allowed to overstudy, overwork, or suffer from lack of exercise.

The symptoms of impoverished blood are unmistakable. They are languidness, pale, sallow complexion, shortness of breath, violent palpitation of the heart, particularly on going up stairs, poor appetite, dizziness and headaches, and a tendency to faint. These symptoms of course, are not all found in every case, but the more the victim has of them the greater progress has the trouble made and the more imperative is the necessity to at once begin to check it, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which bring back the glow of health and energy to every part of the body. The case of Miss Jeanie Fraser, Hamilton, Ont., offers proof of this. She says:—"For about eighteen months I was in a very bad state of health and thoroughly run down. I had no appetite and suffered from most of the symptoms of anaemia. I went to a local doctor and received treatment from him for three months, and although I took bottle after bottle of medicine I was steadily growing worse, and I got so downhearted and depressed that I felt I would never get better. At this time I read the case of a young lady whose symptoms were similar to my own, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. By the time I had used three boxes my appetite had improved and I was feeling more encouraged. I continued the use of the Pills for a time longer and my health was fully restored."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Forest Curlers Win Trophy

Forest, Feb. 25.—At Sarnia this morning, the Forest curlers won the Vendome cup, a much-coveted trophy in Western Ontario. This is the third trophy captured by the Forest curlers this season. In January they won the western district cup in London; last week they won the Bank of Toronto cup in Petrolia, and now the Vendome cup. The citizens of Forest extended a hearty welcome to the victorious rinks on their arrival home from Sarnia this evening. Decorated autos, the Excelsior Band and a crowd of citizens met them at the train and escorted them through the streets to the centre of the town, where an address of congratulations was made by Mayor Pettypiece, and rousing cheers given by the populace. If there are any other trophies to be won, the Forest curlers would like to locate them.

$1000 damage was done to one of the Petrolia schools by fire last week. The classes have been placed in the other schools.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS

Cause. Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fullness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it seizes him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box or The Catarthosone Co., Kingston, Ont.

They Would Fight "Awful"

A Daughter Objects to Her Mother's Second Marriage

By ELLEN OGILVIE

I was twelve years old when paw died—old enough to know that his death was a double calamity to me. I had lost him, and I stood in danger of a stepfather. I could not recall him, but I vowed that if any man came into the house to take his place he would have to walk in over my dead body. I drew mental pictures of puttin' a fork into his vitals, scaldin' him or servin' him as Jack served the giant—by diggin' a pit for him.

When the danger really came I was seventeen years old. Josiah Shadwell, owner of the adjoining farm, lost his wife. He and maw had always been very friendly, and I no sooner heard that Mrs. Shadwell was dead than I began to tremble. Maw, she just took charge of the Shodwell home till after the funeral. The Shadwells had only one child, a son, Jim, twenty years old, and he wasn't home when his mother died. When he came his father persuaded him to stay and relieve him of some of the responsibility of workin' the farm.

Jim consented, partly because I persuaded him to stay, for we had played together as children, and I liked Jim first rate. But as to assumin' the responsibility of the farm, my experience is that when an elderly man talks about throwin' off his responsibilities it means he's bent on takin' a tighter grip on 'em; just as a woman in house-keepin'—the older she grows the less willin' she is to let any one else do any thing.

It wasn't three months after Mrs. Shadwell's death that I began to observe indications that the widower had intentions on maw. Nobody but me noticed any change in his beari' to ward her, and there didn't seem to be. But there was—that is, I knew it by that womanly intuition that knows things that ain't so which nevertheless are so. Not very long after this Jim and his paw got to comin' over evenin's to sit by the open fireplace with me and maw.

Then I knew some'n else that Jim didn't see at all. How could he, bein' a man with a man's stupidity about such things? Mr. Shadwell saw through me as I saw through him. But it wasn't any credit for him to see through me, for I made it as plain as a barn with the doors wide open. He knew that in his designs on maw he had to down me and I wouldn't be easy to down.

Well, do you know the old feller went about to circumvent me. To think of a man's tryin' to circumvent a woman! I guess not! And he didn't suspect that I'd see through his designs. What he was after was to come over to our house with Jim, intendin' Jim to distract my attention from him and maw. When we was settin' around the fire, eatin' doughnuts and drinkin' cider, after we was through with the eatin' and drinkin' Mr. Shadwell would make some excuse to git maw into the settin' room, lookin' at Jim and me as much as to say: "Young folks haven't any use for old folks. Let's give 'em a chance."

If I hadn't been so riled I'd 'a' laughed, and if I hadn't been as bent on circumventin' him as he was on cir-

A DRUGGIST IN WINNIPEG

Cured Himself With GIN PILLS

No greater compliment could be paid GIN PILLS than to have a druggist use them. Mr. Rogers being in the business, tried all the ordinary remedies, but it was not until he used GIN PILLS that he was cured of a severe pain in the back.

Winnipeg, May 19th, 1912. "In the autumn of 1911, I suffered with a continual pain in the back. As a druggist, I tried various remedies without any apparent results. Having sold GIN PILLS for a number of years, I thought there must be good in them otherwise the sales would not increase so fast. I gave them a fair trial and the results I found to be good!"

circumventin' me I'd said: "You old fool! You're speakin' one word for me to two for yourself!"

One Sunday evenin' Jim 'he come over alone. Maw got out some nuts and things for him and me and left us, sayin' she'd got a headache and was goin' to bed early. Jim wasn't long doin' some'n he had never done before. He sidled up to me and put his arm around my waist.

"What you doin' that for, Jim?" I asked.

"Because I like you."

"That's not the only reason, Jim."

"What's the other one?" he asked.

"Your paw is singin' for my maw. He sent you over here to make up to me, hopin' to put me where I wouldn't have any objection."

Jim just drew off a bit and looked at me kind o' surprised.

"How did you know that?" he asked.

"Cause it's as plain as a yellin' pumpkin," I answered.

"I didn't know it myself till you told me."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Why, dad, t'other day he said to me, 'Jim, Mandy Barnes is a nice girl, isn't she?' You bet, I says. 'Why don't you try to git her?' says he. 'I been thinkin' that for some time,' says I. That was a week ago Monday. This evenin' dad said he thort he'd stay home and read his farmer's journals. I wonder if he didn't do it to give me a chance to do some spakin'?"

"That's plain enough," said I. "And I wonder whether maw and he understand each other? I can see through a man, but when one woman sets herself to hoodwink another it's a different matter."

I give Jim just enough encouragement to keep him where I wanted him, and no more. If I couldn't have him for a husband without his paw for a stepfather I wouldn't have either of 'em. Before I listened to Jim I had a mind to settle matters between Mr. Shadwell and maw. We kept a few pigs just to eat up the leavin's from our table and to sell when they got big enough. First thing I did was to complain to mother that the sty was too near our house. It smelt bad. And I kept dingin' at her to let me move it till she give in. Then one day when she went to the county fair I stayed home and had the sty moved close up to Mr. Shadwell's fence.

Nobody made any objection till one night I got out of bed, went to the sty, let out the pigs, scraped a hole under the fence between our yard and the Shadwells' potato patch big enough for the pigs to git through and put 'em all in the patch.

The next mornin' I looked out of my window and saw Mr. Shadwell standin' over his potatoes—those that the pigs hadn't eaten—swearin' like a pirate. Maw, she happened to take the swill to the sty at that time, which was mighty lucky for me and unlucky for them.

"What's the matter, Mr. Shadwell?" she asked, kind o' soothin'.

"Matter, ma'am! Whv. the movin'."

o' your sty up here has cost me most o' my potatoes!"

"I'm sorry."

"What did you move it for?"

"Mandy did it."

"All I've got to say is Mandy better move it back again. Mandy seems to be boss in your house anyway!"

This made maw mad, and without answerin' she dumped the swill into the trough and come back into the house.

Jim come over that night and told me his father was mighty sorry he'd lost his temper. I said to Jim that his father better come the next Sunday night and not say anything about any unpleasantness and all would go smooth again. He said he'd give his father my recommend and went away early to make the old man feel more comfortable.

I'd been lookin' for a weak spot in the fence between the two farms and had one in mind. That night I pulled away enough of it to let our cows into the Shadwell cornfield. You ought to see that cornfield the next mornin'.

I almost felt ashamed of myself. When maw saw the damage that had been done she went over to pacify Mr. Shadwell, and it ended in their gittin' into a regular fight. He said some one must 'a' done it a-purpose. This riled maw a little, but she kept steady. She said she'd been wonderin' for some time why he didn't mend the weak spots in his fence, and he said there wasn't any weak spots, except what had been made a-purpose. Maw asked if he was referin' to her, but she wouldn't give him time to answer. She just let out on him.

Mr. Shadwell he didn't come over the next Sunday night; no more did Jim. I thought maw had begun to see through a milestone, and he had. The next day, after the cow destroyed the corn, he and his father was hammerin' at the fence all day. I didn't go near 'em. I just waited. Next day when I was goin' to the store I met Jim in the road. He hardly spoke to me. I asked him what was the matter, and he said I'd spoiled everything between us. His father had taken a great dislike to me and had forbid his comin' over to our house evenin's any more.

"What's he got against me?" I asked in a voice smooth, like peaches and cream.

"He'd have more against you than he has," said Jim, "if he'd seen you the other night, as I did, turnin' the cow into our cornfield."

I knew his paw and my maw had done too much fightin' to be likely to make it up, so I said to Jim: "There's nothin' mean about me. If the old folks love each other as we do I wouldn't stand in their way to bein' happy." Jim said that was just like me—always givin' way for other people's benefit.

When the trouble had blown over Jim and I was married, his paw makin' no objections after Jim told him my "noble words," as Jim called 'em, about not standin' in the old folks' way. But the spell between 'em wasn't so thick as if they'd been younger, and it was broke clean through. Mr. Shadwell treats me fairly well, but he hasn't the confidence in me Jim has or had when we was married. I expect the father's nearer right than the son. I do think a man in love can make the biggest fool of himself. He always seems to me to have taken leave of his senses.

Maw and Mr. Shadwell are pretty good friends; but, laws, they don't want to get hitched! They'd fight awful

SURES FROM ELBOW TO FINGERS
ZAM-BUK WORKED A MIRACLE OF HEALING
Reverend Gentleman Fully Corroborates

Miss Kate L. Dolliver, of Caledonia, Queen's Co., N.S. says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm, and although I tried to heal them by using various preparations, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration."

"I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, used salve after salve, and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail."

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital to the specialist; but they sent word they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair."

"One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicine I had tried up to that time, so I continued that treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case, and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

Minister corroborates.—The Rev. W. B. M. Parker, Caledonia, Miss Dolliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimony of Miss Dolliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half, and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold-cracks, abscesses, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

MRS. WM. ARCHER

Tells Mothers What To Do For Delicate Children.

"My fourteen-year-old daughter was very thin and delicate. She had a bad cough so that I became very much alarmed about her health. She was nervous and did not sleep well, had very little appetite and doctors did not help her. Having heard so much about Vinol, I decided to give it a trial. It has helped her wonderfully. She can sleep all night now without coughing once; in fact, her cough is gone. Her appetite is greatly improved and she has gained in weight. Vinol is a wonderful medicine, and I will always keep it in the house. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

Mrs. Wm. Archer, 223 Broadway, Long Branch, N. J.

This delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil is a wonderful body-builder and strength-creator for both young and old. We promise to give back your money in every such case where Vinol does not benefit. This shows our faith in Vinol.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—The receipts at the Union stockyards to-day were 135 cars, with 2,000 cattle, 147 calves, 1,330 hogs, 177 sheep and lambs and 104 horses. Trade was fair, with a good demand for choice butcher cattle at steady prices, but not any higher than last week. There were but few heavy choice steers offering, one small lot topping the market at $6.90, which was 10c lower than last week's best price. A few lots sold around $6.75, but the general run of choice heifers and steers did no better than $6 to $6.35. Choice fat butcher cows were steady from $4.25 to $5.25 and bulls steady from $3.25 to $4.25. Sheep and lambs were very strong at last week's best prices, with small offerings. Hogs were again in good demand, with a moderately light run, and the market 25c higher at $9.25, fed and watered.

MOTHER AND BABY

A mother's greatest care is the health of her baby—the prevention of constipation, colds, worms and other childhood ailments and the keeping of her baby happy and strong. Baby's Own Tablets are the mother's best friend in caring for the baby. They are absolutely the best medicine in the world for little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Poitras, Mont Louis, Que., says: "I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets, having used them for my baby with great benefit. They are the best medicine in the world for little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mr. Farrell in Britain.

The Canadian Mail of Jan. 25th, speaking of Mr. John Farrell, of Forest, special emigration agent for the Ontario government, who is at present in Great Britain, says:

"There is many a man who, before making up his mind that there is no room for him in the Old Country, has reached a state bordering on despair. Such a man cannot be told that he is going to make his fortune in Canada in six months. Figures and facts have lost meaning for him.

What he needs is to regain confidence in himself, and to regain confidence he must find someone to believe in him.

Would that all such men—and women, too—could find their way to Mr. John Farrell, the Special Agent of the Ontario Government. No one ever went low-spirited to him who did not come out hopeful and with a hope that no outside factor could shake.

For Mr. Farrell has a genius for finding the rock-bottom worth of a man and woman and making the most of it. Whoever goes to see him finds that his proper value is at once discovered, and that he is to be given an opportunity of proving his worth. Mr. Farrell's wide experience of conditions in Ontario enables him to put his fingers on the right spot for each man and woman who seeks his help.

Is it all wonderful, then, that every one of a party of 183 domestics whom he took out in June last is a success; that every one of these girls who had a sister have written letters to that sister which have made the Old Country girls beg Mr. Farrell to find her a similar place? Mr. Farrell has many such letters."

Died at Victoria.

Mary Agnes, youngest daughter of the late J. P. Miller, of Victoria, B.C., formerly of Sarnia, Ont., died very suddenly at St. Joseph's Hospital on Monday, Feb. 17th, of acute pneumonia. Deceased had been in very poor health while living in Sarnia, but was gaining and had every appearance of her health returning since going to the coast until she was taken very suddenly with pneumonia. She was a bright, amiable young woman and was highly thought of as a true friend by all who knew her and won many friends while living in Victoria who were grieved to hear of her passing from their midst. She leaves to mourn her loss two little sons, Orville M., aged 6, and Roy John, 2 years, also her mother, whom she had been living with since coming to Victoria last fall, and two sisters, Mrs. A. D.
