E. E. HOPEY SHOT DEAD AT SIDE OF HIS HUT, "BUD" TIPPETTS—DUPLISSÉ'S LETTER INDICATED THAT HE HAD BEEN SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

Rudolph McKel of Fairville, in a letter received by relatives yesterday, gave some interesting details from the front. He is with the Princess Patricia's and has been on the firing line no more than one occasion. His letter in part was as follows:

"We are at the present time two miles back from the firing line resting. We certainly got a good baptism of fire the first time we went into the trenches. Our company captured a German S. Head. It was a desperate piece of work. They opened fire on us with their machine guns, and the air was full of bullets; fortunately, however, we came through it all right. It was certainly not while it lasted. When we are not in the trenches we are quite comfortable. We have plenty to eat, in fact more than we had at times in England. This morning while I was at work outside one of the barns two shells burst a few hundred yards away, but they did no damage."

The letter was written on an old piece of paper and was placed in an antique envelope. The letter was dated March 6.

MANY REGRET TO LEARN OF DEATH OF EDMUND HOPEY AT THE FRONT

Table Sent to War Office in Hope That Body May be Sent Home

Numerous friends in St. John will hear with regret of the death of Edmund E. Hopey of the 14th Battalion whose name appears in the list of casualties. He was a frequent visitor to St. John, although he was a born American, his parents were born and lived for years in St. John. When the call for volunteers came he left his home in Dorchester, Mass., and came to St. John and enlisted in Major Sturdee's company. A telegram received by Mrs. Margaret Finlay, Thorne avenue, from his people gives the information that his father has sent a cable to the War Office to try to locate the body and have it forwarded to his home.

The sympathy of numerous friends in all parts of New Brunswick will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hopey who are prostrated with grief, Edmund being the only child. He was only twenty-one years old.

After having struggled through privations, and worked under difficulties, Mrs. Bayes of 228 U street finds herself and her two children today almost penniless, and home which she had gradually built since coming to St. John some 5 years ago swept away by a fire which broke out about noon today. With two little ones Mrs. Bayes, a hard-working widow, has been living in the home since this morning was prepa for the noon-day meal when there burst upon her clouds of smoke followed quickly by the sound of people gathering outside the house, and the alarm of flames were shooting up through floor of the inner room from an acc room downstairs conducted by L. W. ber. Soon the whole place was engulfed and when the firemen had extinguished the blaze only the shell of what poor woman had called "home" remained. As she had no insurance her loss particularly severe. She scarcely has anything more than what she and two little ones were.

HIGH PRAISE FOR THE CANADIANS
Hostile Fire Did Not Worry Gunners
CALM AS VETERANS
Drivers Took Guns Into Position as if Merely on Manoeuvres--Bath a Supreme Luxury

London, March 22.--A long account of the work of the Canadian artillery is received from a man serving with them. He writes: "I am now right in the business. Our guns have been busy for nearly a fortnight. You will be pleased to hear they are performing splendidly. Firing is continuous and heavy, night and day. It has not taken our gunners long to remove any misconception which the Huns may possess in regard to the efficiency of the Canadian artillery. Every body in fact is surprised at the efficiency of their work, that is everybody except those who already knew what our gunners were capable of. Not only is the marksmanship excellent, but the behavior of the men is splendid. They go about their work as calmly and methodically as any veterans. Fire from the German guns does not disconcert them in the least."

Only Move is Forward
In this campaign I do not see much of the infantry boys. They are busy holding the trenches, but I do know they have been there nearly a fortnight and have not given an inch yet, and are not likely to. I do not know what is likely to happen, nor if I did would I be allowed to mention it, but if I may be permitted to hazard an opinion I would say that when the boys do move it will be forward. So far as I am concerned, I have been in no danger up to the present, not half so much as they, ready for me, knows what might happen in that region, particularly late at night, with shells whizzing about all over the place, and many never been near enough to disturb our slumbers, though, of course, it is no use crowding too soon.

THE WAR NEWS

An alleged interview with Sir John French, which is published today, expresses the view that the Germans are beginning to feel the scarcity of ammunition, that the morale of their soldiers has suffered because they failed to win in their first great dash, and that the economic pressure is being more and more severely felt in that country.

It is agreed on all sides that the fall of Przemysl is a very severe blow to the Austro-German cause. It cannot but have a most disheartening effect upon the Austrians, while it has filled the Russians with new confidence.

Such news as comes from the Dardanelles indicates that the Allies have there a very heavy task, but that whenever the weather permits their offensive operations are continued with the utmost vigor.

THE PRUSSIAN MUST GO

"This is the fourth time within living memory that Prussia has made war upon Europe, and we are determined it shall be the last."

These words, from the lips of Sir Edward Grey, in an address which he delivered in London yesterday, give expression to the feelings of all the people of the allied countries.

LOYALTY REWARDED

The Times has already commented upon the great good fortune which befell Mr. E. Powell when that young gentleman, having his way to make in the world, became a drug clerk in St. John, in Ottawa, by Mr. W. E. Garland, M.P., is the manager.

home higher than the highest average and 84 higher than the lowest average paid anywhere else. It also appears that quite a number of these horses were condemned at Valcartier, and some of them sold at prices averaging a little over $50. It has been suggested that if Mr. Foster had gone to the farmers himself and purchased the horses, or if the government had appointed a man who would pursue that course instead of parceling the work out among political friends, the department might have saved some money; but of course the Mother Country is providing the war fund and British trade is to be taxed to pay the interest on the war fund and therefore—hang the expense.

KEEP TO THE FACTS

The Standard is quite in error when it charges The Times with being opposed to an expression of opinion by the people on the subject of commission government. It was The Standard which objected to giving the people a chance to express their opinion at the time of the agitation in favor of the adoption of the commission plan.

Vitaphone Broadway Feature Wonderful in Scenery and Action—New Vaudeville Artistic and Highly Entertaining

Real dollar vaudeville was accorded patrons of Imperial Theatre yesterday in Harry Fondell, well-known musical performer, in characterizations of famous instrumentalists of recent times. With most elaborate stage settings the talented Keith performer gave imitations of Kubelik, violinist; Lefevre on the saxophone; Kyzil, the great cornetist; and Van Bieze, Dutch cellist. Mr. Fondell, besides being an excellent musician, "made up" with wonderful faithfulness to look like the eminent man, whom he portrayed and the whole effect of his performance was musical merit and splendor. Those who enjoy nice concert numbers, will like this act very much indeed. Standard and popular selections were played and the melody as a finale was good.

The Imperial introduced the first of its Vitaphone Broadway features in "O'Garry of the Royal Mounted," a three-part story of exciting life in the Rocky Mountains and also of the North-west Mounted Police. Edith Storey, Ned Finley, S. Rankin Drew and others played important parts and aside from its dramatic value, the picture was noteworthy for its scenery. Broadway features should become quite popular, if they are all as good as the opening one. The George Ade Slang Fables in pictures are always welcome and that of the present bill, is very funny indeed. Helen Holmes in her hairbreadth dare-devilry, takes an awful chance this week in dropping off a railway bridge onto a fast passing train.

Wednesday and Thursday this week, Max Fignman, who will be remembered as such a success in "The Man On The Box," will be given "The Man On The Box," a comedy-drama "What's His Name?" Aside from the humor of the piece, it gives a peculiarly pathetic view of the country girl, who is attracted from home by the glances of the hero, only to find that home life is best.

MILITARY DRAMA IS OPERA HOUSE OFFERING

Under Two Flags Pleases Large Audience — Bright Vaudeville Between Acts

A four-act drama of interest, "Under Two Flags" was given last night in the Opera House by the Young-Adams Co. before a large audience. The story of the piece is well known, and its portrayal last night gave pleasure to those present. Applause was frequent throughout, particularly in certain climaxes which were cleverly enacted. The costumes of men and women alike were attractive. The play has a strong appeal in these strenuous days of war. Bright vaudeville was given between the acts.

"Under Two Flags" will continue until Thursday, when "Ten Nights in a Barroom" will be played.

WHY JAS. A. BRYCE RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

He Had a Pain in His Back For a Year Till He Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Paisley, Ont., March 22.—(Special)—"It gives me great pleasure to say a few words in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Mr. Jas. A. Bryce, well known and highly respected in this neighborhood.

"I had been troubled with a pain in my back for about a year," Mr. Bryce continues, "and when I was reading in Dodd's Almanac I learned from the Self Examination Page that the Kidneys were the cause of my trouble."

"I sent at once for a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and before they were done I was feeling as well as ever."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly were a great boon to me and I can recommend them highly to anyone suffering from Kidney disease."

"If your disease is of the Kidneys or of the kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They have been curing sick kidneys in Canada for more than a score of years. That's why they're so popular."

The day has passed forever when the average duration of life was comparatively short and individual control of the death rate prevailed, which accounts for the material improvement in health and longevity, which by trustworthy records, is shown to have taken place throughout practically the entire civilized world within a comparatively brief period of time. This marvelous change may properly be considered one of the wonders of modern science and a human achievement transcending in its far-reaching practical importance and enormous benefit to millions of mankind, all of the other great inventions combined.

The modern control of the human death rate is placed chiefly on the results of systematic scientific research and, to an increasing degree, of individual and social conformity to the teachings of the natural laws and facts disclosed by the discoveries of preventive medicine. The domain of medicine is no longer considered exclusively the province of the physician, whose functions are limited to its practice as a healing art. Modern conceptions of public health and sanitary science have enormously broadened the field of medicine in general and around the teachings of its principles within the understanding of the mass of the people of ordinary intelligence.

THRILLING DRAMA OF LOVE AND VENTURE

Three Part Handsomely Colored Picture "In The Lion's Den" — Pathe Weekly With Latest War News—Gem Theatre

A gripping, forceful drama of romance and adventure was presented yesterday to delighted audiences at the Gem Theatre, entitled "In The Lion's Den." The story was in three parts and was magnificently photographed in natural colors. The tinted effects were striking and greatly admired. The story was based almost completely on love, and was problematical in its narrative. The acting throughout was of especial cleverness.

The Gem orchestra had a pleasing programme of late airs. There was another reel which evoked much interest—showing scenes from the zone of activities where the war is in progress, contained with other late current events in "Pathe Weekly." Several views of Kitchener's new army were shown, in readiness for their entrance into battle, and many of whom are probably by this time hearing the brunt of fighting in the trenches. Scenes from the German prison camp in England where some 5,000 Germans are quartered were given, besides numerous other views of war interest. These features with "In The Lion's Den" will be given again today.

DAY FOR CONSIDERING THE WOMAN AS AN ADJECTIVE IS PASSED, SAYS MR. HAPGOOD

The "Woman Movement" Subject of Address Before the Women's Canadian Club in Montreal

(Montreal, Mail.)

It has been said that woman's place is in the home. Before agreeing to that it is necessary to define "home." Does it mean four walls of brick or plaster? Or is it a collection of interests and ideals, a place where foundations of society are laid? If the latter, I agree that woman's place is there. That being the case, since history has transferred these ideas and ideals beyond the four walls, into the universe, then the home reaches there, and woman's place is everywhere. With this declaration, Norman Hapgood closed his address to the Canadian Women's Club yesterday afternoon.

The Humor Has Disappeared

The address was a consideration of the woman movement, properly so-called in its recent manifestations in the United States. "Previously," said Mr. Hapgood, "my reference to this question was received either with jealousy or with alarm. The humor has long since disappeared from the problem. To take a matter seriously is progressing a long way towards its solution. One of the really serious objections urged has been the fear of lost charm if women received the franchise. The day for considering women as an adjective and man as the noun—woman as the accompaniment of man—has passed. Today, the young women coming out of the colleges are very much more attractive than any women brought up in greater seclusion. This is true even of the ones who take their training in a superficial way. And young men feel it. They feel its executive and administrative affairs. California, Washington, and Oregon show the effects of suffrage. With women who are companions and who put their power into the hands of men, you can't find any more of the man something. War's Effect on Movement

As to the effect of the war on the woman movement, Mr. Hapgood said that at present the world is witnessing a tremendous example of over-specialization in one direction. Long, intense, applied thought to some abstract principle results in over-aggressive, over-militant attitude, with too little of human feeling. If woman's influence for many decades had been what it should have been there would have been no war, and there will be no peace till it can be made as interesting as war. Then war will become an archaic and barbaric thing. If this war accomplishes this it will make a tremendous advance in the possibilities of the woman movement.

the Mississippi women have been tried and given it to the people. These two movements go hand in hand. Limitation of hours of labor and the minimum wage movements have become effective for women, but not for men. Won Roll Off

The daily roll off on Black's alleys yesterday was won by Thos. Cosgrove with a score of 118.

WRESTLING

Dan McDonald won (Halifax Recorder).

A wrestling match at the Bux theatre last Saturday night between Dan McDonald and Jim Smart, was won by the former, who secured one fall after about a half hour's wrestling. While Smart had the advantage in weight, McDonald's clever tactics kept his shoulder from being placed on the mat. The bout was very fast, and the spectators were kept excited. Smart showed his great strength in jiffing McDonald bodily in the air on occasions. After the fall was secured a rest of ten minutes was given, when they went at it again, and wrestled until midnight, when the match was stopped, and the decision awarded to McDonald. Those present were well pleased.

BASEBALL

Athletics Win From Cubs

Jacksonville, Fla., March 20.—The Philadelphia Athletics batted Vaughan and Lavender hard here yesterday, and defeated the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 3. Schatz threw with his left and used to practice frequently. In the season of 1886 Corcoran signed with a Southern league team as a left-handed pitcher and reported for practice as such. He worked hard to gain control, for he developed rapid speed. Larry pitched a few exhibition games, and in one of them he batted his remaining wing so badly that he was released, so he had to quit the game, for he had run out of pitching arms.

Windham, originally a right-handed pitcher, lost the use of his pitching arm through an accident. He made a shift and began practicing with his left arm. He was very successful and made a splendid record with the Worcester team of the Eastern league during 1908, so good, in fact, that he was signed by the St. Louis Americans for the season of 1904. However, his pitching from the left side was not natural to him, and instead of his arm's getting stronger and better he weakened his whole left side and finally had to give up pitching.

So the ambidextrous hurler is more or less a myth. The pitching game is too strenuous for any kind of an arm but the good natural wing.

Billard's New Record

Billiard records in New England that are likely to stand for many years have been established by Willie Hoppe, world's champion, since he began his tour of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut a few weeks ago. In Hartford he completed a 400-point game in two innings. Sixteen points went to his credit in the first inning, but on his second trip to the table he ran the game out with 284. This is one of the highest runs on record at the 182 game and is the second time this sea-

Jack Johnson's Jump From Saloon Porter to Ring Champion—Willard is in Cuba

Jess Willard reached Havana on March 18. A great crowd was on the pier to welcome him.

From Porter to Champion

Less than fifteen years ago Jack Johnson was sweeping out the saloon at McKenna in St. Louis. He was at the bottom of the ladder and the lowly position seemed to suit him.

Fifteen years later we find him complaining because the European war deprived him of a little change—something like $200,000 were the figures he used.

A trifle more than six years ago, December 26, 1908, to be exact, Johnson received $5,000 and the world's title as his reward for beating T. Burns, a 180-pound class champion. That was really the first money of consequence Johnson ever earned. Since that time Johnson has taken in approximately $800,000.

His Career in Dollars
Here's the way Johnson's career figures since winning the championship, giving the opponent's names, the reported sums he received for bouts and the number of rounds.

PROPHECIES ON WAR ARE COMING TRUE

Most Remarkable of Them Agree That Germany Will Fall

NUMEROUS PROPHETS:

Present Day Events Foretold With Accuracy More Than Forty Years Ago—Some Instances

Over in Europe it would seem that while half the world is fighting the other half is prophesying. It is a queer sort of collaboration, but not so queer as the stay-at-homes turning helping out in the best way they can, and backing up the weary fighters with prophecies of victory in no bad thing—useful in its way as knitting socks.

Even the governments look at it in that tolerant and hopeful way. You may remember a cablegram from Berlin which stated that the police had taken the ban of clairvoyants and psychics off the streets and were cheering up the war-saddened population immensely. "I haven't the faintest doubt it is true. I know, I know, the prophets fill the streets and their prophecies fill the little war-time newspapers. And in London there is even a publication which gives 'Telegraphic War News,' price two pence.

One of the most curious was brought to light by the Daily Chronicle of London, a prophecy made by Father Viannes, the famous Cure d'Als. It is to be found in "Voix Propheques ou Signes, Apparitions et Predictions Modernes" published in two volumes in Paris by Victor Palme in 1872—the first edition of which had been written long before.

Then it foretold the present war and a second Prussian invasion. The prediction goes on to say: "The enemy will go on immediately. They will return again and destroy as they come. Effective resistance will not be made. They will be allowed to advance and after that their communications will be cut and they will suffer great loss. They will be followed and few will reach their goal. All that they have taken away will be restored, and more added. Much more terrible things will happen than have yet been seen, but a great triumph will be witnessed on the Feast Day of Our Lady (September 8)."

Now if you bear in mind that this date marked the turning point of the German campaign in France—the commencement of the German retreat—you will admit it is a fairly accurate prediction. And there is another prophecy thing in the course of his prophecy Father Viannes predicts that at the outbreak of the war his canonization will have begun, but that there will be time to finish the ceremony before war intervened.

This is precisely what has happened. The proceedings for the canonization of the Bienheureux J. B. M. Viannes were begun, and after war was declared, were brought to an abrupt end.

Germany Disembered

And there is another you should read. It was written by Dom Bosco, a Portuguese priest who died a dozen years or so ago. At that time it was printed in Le Matin—in June, 1901. So there is no question of this being a "prediction thing" especially when you remember it dates from 1894. First of all, it foretells the victory of King William, over Austria, in 1895, and then the defeat and overthrow of Napoleon III, at the "Chene populeux," when Alsace-Lorraine is carried away from France. Finally, it comes to the present war; I quote the last verse:

Woe to Prussians

"Courage, faithful souls, the reign of darkness shall not have time to execute all its schemes. A man, the wise, the invincible, shall chase the enemy out of France. He shall conquer Germany until it is completely destroyed. That day he shall command seven kinds of soldiers against three, on the field of Bouleaux, near Paderborn, in Westphalia—seven allied people against three. Woe to thee, Prussia, for thy seventh generation shall answer for the wars thou hast made upon all the people."

A generation is 30 years, which multiplied by seven makes 210 years. The realm of Prussia dates back from 1713. The seventh generation is, therefore, that living between 1839 and 1925.

Of this final battle the prophet says it shall last for three days, and that Prussia and Austria shall be annihilated, and concludes: "Wilhelm II shall be the last King of Prussia. Germany and Austria shall form three realms under the Kings of Saxony, of Hanover and Poland."

If Herr von Jagow is still studying prophecies, I dare say he will do best to see to it that the final battle of the

Made $64,668.67 average earnings per annum since he won the title.

Made $116.67 for each minute he has fought in the ring since he beat Burns, counting stage receipts as indirect profits.

But look a little closer. Note the number of rounds. Observe the total is ninety-four, for six years, an average of only a fraction over fifteen rounds for each fifteen years ago and who was hard pressed to find railroad fare to follow Tommy Burns around the world less than seven years ago, that snatches of big business. It means that Johnson has:

war is not fought near "Paderborn in Westphalia."
All these prophecies—and there are many others—are unanimous, you observe, in predicting the defeat of the German armies and the victory, certain and formidably complete of the allies. Are there no German prophecies to set over against them? I am sure there must be.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The trouble started with a boil between the toes, which Kolehmainen tried to doctor himself. Infection set in. The Finn's leg is swollen to the hip and he is in great pain. TO SEND NEWS OF THE WOUNDED AND THE MISSING

Red Cross Takes Up Work That Will Interest Canada's Homes That Have Sent Sons to War

Toronto, March 23.—News of interest to every relative and friend of the Canadian soldiers now in France and of those who will in the near future be in the zone of operations has been received at the head office of the Canadian Red Cross Society from Colonel Hodgson, Canadian commissioner in London. He says that he has completed arrangements for the information bureau to forward particulars regarding wounded and missing Canadians. The work will not conflict with the official returns but will supplement them by furnishing subsequent information to relatives as to their conduct and progress. The work will be carried on upon the same lines as the British Red Cross and with their co-operation.

There must be few people in this country who do not each morning scan the casualty list to see whether any of those dear to them have been wounded, or in some cases killed. Now that the "Princess Pals" are in the trenches and part of the expeditionary force is in France then these lists will be watched with even greater interest. To look down the column of casualties and see the name of one wounded is almost a relief for he might have been "missing"; the wounded list conveys no uncertainty; it is true and one accepts the news with more hope. "Missing" leaves an emptier feeling. One fears long suspense, or worse than all, utter darkness.

A new field of work has now opened for the Red Cross. It will be a relief to many to hear that something is now being done to trace those who have been lost in the war and to inform relatives of the progress the wounded and the Red Cross in France now has an officer whose sole business is to search, to follow up, clues and track down the wounded in all the darkness over which the waves of fighting have passed. No doubt it will mean the saving of life, as there must be many sick men in remote farms and villages where there are no trained doctors or nurses available.

The officer whose business it is to trace the missing will go to the trenches and find out when men were last seen. In tracking down one man he is certain to come upon traces of others. Even if his quest leads him to a stone or a cross under a wayside tree he will earn the gratitude of those who loved the dead and will be able to find out things about the dead with which official reports are not concerned.

By this new arrangement with the British Red Cross Society the relatives of men in the Canadian contingents will be kept in constant knowledge of the progress that their wounded relatives or friends are making and will also, where humbly possible, be told the whereabouts of those who are officially reported as "missing." This will surely take a great load off the minds of those relatives and friends of our brave Canadian soldiers and will enable them to correspond with them regularly.

DR. E. J. RYAN NOW PROBABLY ON WAY TO EGYPT

St. John Physician Writes Stirring Letter of Experiences At Front

THE WORK OF THE PIONEERS

Hospital to Which he Was Attached Put Out of Commission by German Shells—A Terrible Mile Under Fire by the Enemy

A very interesting letter has been received by a friend here from Doctor E. J. Ryan, now with the British Army Medical Corps. His friends will be pleased to know he is in good health. The letter was written from Aldershot where his unit had returned after stirring service at the front. He writes in part—

Orders have just come in for me to proceed with the 15th General Hospital to Egypt, leaving Aldershot tomorrow, so I will briefly relate the outstanding features of my recent trip to the front. The last week in January I was relieved of my duties as lecturer and awarded for active service. A few days later I left for France with a cavalry ambulance and although we were only three days at the front I saw enough to give me an entirely new conception of modern warfare. On arrival in France our cavalry were sent to the trenches and on to proceed with the position allotted to us we found ourselves between the artillery and the trenches, our duties being to bring back the wounded from the trenches and in general look after the medical welfare of the fighting line. All our work was done under cover of darkness and we had some undesirable duties to perform.

For instance—The first night we were there I was sent with a pioneer to report on the availability of a trench that had been described by the Germans the previous day. We had no difficulty in finding it but when we dropped into it I couldn't help feeling that my life was on the knees of the gods. It was a rotten sensation to experience and when we got separated the feeling became intensified. It wasn't that I was afraid but the darkness, the stillness and above all the loneliness, all tended to set one's nerves on edge and unconsciously I magnified the dangers of my position. Before long I saw that my revolver was in good working order and in a few minutes threw off the safety clutch. Before I again saw the dimmed light from my companion's electric torch I had set the other safety guard and merely a touch on the trigger would have started a stream of lead from my .45 automatic.

We returned safely—a thing devoutly wished for and I must say that one such trip is enough. When I think of those pioneers doing the same thing night after night with no chance of fame or glory I can't help thinking that they should be numbered amongst the heroes of the war. It is all in the days work (or rather the night's) with them and they think nothing of doing it work night after night. A few such experiences would make me a nervous wreck.

We had established a small hospital and an advanced dressing station, but as there had been practically no fighting in the immediate vicinity we did not have much to do. The third night I left for the advanced station and shortly after reaching there a mounted orderly appeared with orders for us to retire behind the artillery at once. An artillery duel had been in progress during the day, and on its renewal two shells had dropped on our hospital, which was between the two opposing batteries. Of course that was the end of the hospital and our immediate usefulness; also of the kit and personal belongings we had left in the tent when we went forward. Luckily a cavalry ambulance travels light, that is to say no baggage and each man carrying only absolute necessities, so we did not lose much as most of our personal property had been left at the R. A. M. C. base in Aldershot.

There is a dispute as to whether General Sherman said: "War is hell," I know now that he didn't for hell couldn't begin to compare with our trip back. Having rejoined what was left of our unit we had to retire over an area that was being continuously illuminated by light bombs. We were in open order and could proceed but slowly, in fact, it took us four hours to come a distance a little more than a mile. I can't describe that trip. Suffice it to say that of eighty-one officers and men only forty-three returned of whom all but sixteen were wounded. Luckily I was one of the few whose name failed to adorn the casualty list.

Our hospital having been put out of commission we were sent back to Aldershot and most of us became attached to No. 15 General Hospital. We have been going to France two or three times a week since February 2nd and now the word comes for Egypt tomorrow. We have to get light uniforms and some helmets so I must cut this short. I am glad to get a chance to see a bit of the world which I hope to get back to France before the war is over.

If All The Men Who Intend to Buy New Clothes this Spring had visited the show of men's fashions which we had here last week we feel sure that every one of them would buy Oak Hall clothes.

This fashion show must have convinced all who attended that in the expression of absolutely correct style combined with unquestionably good taste, Oak Hall garments represented the highest possible achievement in up-to-date clothes making.

They have the quality, the unmistakable evidence of good tailoring—in fact they have all the features which go to make clothing desirable in the eyes of the discriminating dresser. And they are absolutely unapproachable when it comes to value. This applies to all our clothing.

Comparison will make this fact clear to you.

Of course you know there is a reason for superiority of our clothing. When you buy from us you buy directly of the makers and you save the middleman's profit.

NOW EIGHTY MEMBERS

Lancaster Red Cross in Excellent Condition Though Only a Month Old

Although only in existence about a month, the Lancaster Red Cross Society, at a meeting yesterday with Mrs. J. V. Anglin presiding, heard reports of a most encouraging nature concerning work accomplished. Six new members were admitted, bringing the total to eighty. The amount on hand totalled $800, and it was reported that there were already available 100 pairs of socks and 100 garments.

It was announced that the sum of $81.18 had been realized from the sale of tickets on a cut glass bowl donated by Mrs. Fraser, late St. Stephen, now matron of the School for the Deaf, Lancaster. She was tendered a hearty vote of thanks, and made a life member. In reply, Mrs. Fraser expressed her interest in the Red Cross work, saying that it was more than the ordinary interest of the average member in that she was bound in its activities by motherly ties, having two sons in the uniform of the king, one of them already on the firing line in France. She described in an interesting way conditions of the men at the front from impressions she had gleaned not only from press reports but from the letters of her sons.

Other matters of interest were dealt with at the meeting, which was also favored with a song by Mrs. Murray Long.

LETTER FROM W. J. WOOD

W. J. Wood of 209 Thorne avenue, has received a welcome letter from his son, Wm. L. Wood, of the C. A. M. C., dated from France. He said he and the men of his unit were stationed near the firing line. Their duties were to bring to the hospital those who had been wounded and this meant frequent visits to the trenches. The place where they were billeted was a deserted wreck, a building shattered by shell and shrapnel while nearby were the remains of what was once a pretty church.

The village in which they were stationed had been shelled by German fire the shells striking only about 800 yards from the barn in which they were quartered. When the Germans went through the part of the country in which his company were quartered they robbed what they could find of anything worth while, but had left standing many of the mud covered stacks of vegetables left at the winter by the farmers instead of being placed in storage, so that fresh vegetables were available, while eggs could be had at four cents each. Bats helped to vary the rations.
