MARITIME PROVINCES WILL BE WINTER PORT

Too Much Traffic for One Harbor; All Will Share,
 Says Mr. Emmerson in Brilliant Speech While Laying Corner Stone of New I. C. R. Shops at Moncton Yesterday.

(Special to the Sun.)
MONCTON, Aug. 13.—Before a crowd of over seven thousand people today the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the first of the I. C. R. new shops took place under most auspicious circumstances, marked by glowing speeches bright with promise for the future of Moncton and of New Brunswick through the agencies of the Intercolonial and Grand Trunk Pacific railways.
 The principal speech maker was Hon. H. R. Emmerson, minister of railways, and the big crowd was also addressed by Hon. Mr. Templeman, minister of inland revenue; Mr. Zimmerman, M. P., Hamilton, Ont.; Senator Mitchell, Montreal; Hon. W. P. Jones, solicitor general of New Brunswick. The ceremony of laying the stone was preceded by a big procession, in which over seven hundred men, headed by the Citizens' band, participated. There were about five hundred employees, consisting of shopmen and clerks, besides the local militia, fire department and city firemen.
 The minister of railways outlined at some length the growth of the I. C. R. and his early associations and connections with it. "I have said elsewhere and I dare to repeat it here," said Hon. Mr. Emmerson, "that the construction of these works and the entrance into the city of the Grand Trunk Pacific means that there is coming a greater Moncton, beside which the Moncton we have known will sink into insignificance. I hear a good deal from the different ports as to which shall be the winter port of Canada. I go to the city of St. John and in their pride and energy they say that we will be the winter port of Canada. I go over to the city of Halifax and find that they have aspirations in the same direction. I go down to Sydney and hear them talking over the wonderful achievements which will be accomplished when they become the winter port of Canada. I pass through the town of New Glasgow and hear murmurings of another railway connecting with Country Harbor and Country Harbor. But, said the minister of railways, the whole maritime provinces is to be the winter port of

 Young Stensland of Defunct Chicago Bank Hands Over Property Valued at $650,000

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Banks of Chicago Clearing House association today offered a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of Paul O. Stensland, fugitive president of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank.

Young Stensland, son of the failed bank now has two receivers, Judge Gibbons, in the circuit court this afternoon appointed the Chicago Title and Trust Co. receiver of the property of a creditor, and a demand was made on John C. Fetzer, who was appointed receiver of the bank by Judge Brittain in the superior court last week that he turn over all books and papers to the new receiver. Attorneys for Receiver Fetzer advised him to refuse the request and a contest may follow.

The property is estimated to be worth $650,000. It is understood to be his purchase of the Cook county real estate held by his father, who had given him power of attorney.

surrounding the flight of his father and of the forgeries in the bank.

He denied that he ever had knowledge of the plot before August 3 last, and submitted various proofs which he expects to substantiate his story when laid before a jury. He believes his father had not fled from the country, but that he had committed suicide. He also says his father could not himself have committed the forgeries of notes, because of inability to properly control a pen in recent years. He thinks an outside expert was employed for the purpose of copying signatures on blank checks.

Young Stensland late on Saturday gave to Receiver John C. Fetzer, for the benefit of the bank depositors, a deed to all the Cook county real estate held by his father, who had given him power of attorney.

The property is estimated to be worth $650,000. It is understood to be his purchase of the Cook county real estate held by his father, who had given him power of attorney.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT AFFAIRS ARE SERIOUS

Conditions Not Much Clearer Now than They Were at First—Determination of the People Makes Situation Threatening—Justice Gaynor's Decision Strongly Supported by Legal Authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—All today disturbances growing out of opposing orders and opinions by public and by corporation officials and disorder, which at times threatened to become acute owing to the determination of the people, marked the situation in Brooklyn arising from the decision by Supreme Court Justice Edward M. Hatch, issued a statement defending the right of the company to charge a ten cent fare to Coney Island. It held that the condition of fare was not involved in the case which came up before Justice Gaynor, but that a prior decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, relating to this phase of the double fare question had not been nullified. J. P. Calderwood, vice-president and general manager of the company, backed up this opinion by a statement that "business would be done in the same old way."

This afternoon the company's employees again began halting cars whenever second fares were not forthcoming from passengers, and demanding their payment. Several affairs occurred here without question rather than under threat. There were some numerous threats were made against the company, and in some instances stones were thrown at cars and company employees.

The company tonight forestalled to a large extent further clashes between passengers and employees by removing some of the trolley cars where most of the trouble yesterday occurred. This became necessary because trolley cars traffic has been so congested. The elevated trains were jammed, but as a rule the passengers paid the double fare without question rather than under delay. Those, however, who did otherwise on many of the company's lines, were obliged by its representatives to get off and walk.

The body of a young woman which had not been identified up to midnight was found tonight on a trestle crossing Coney Island Creek. The opinion is ventured by detectives that she may have met her end during the disturbance over double car fare to Coney Island when walking on the track or otherwise.

RAN AWAY WITH BRIDE'S MONEY

Moncton Man, Four Weeks Married,
 Leaves Home With $150 Belonging to His Wife

MONCTON, Aug. 13.—John McInnes, who married Mary Bellevue in Amherst four weeks ago and came to Moncton to live, has disappeared with a hundred and fifty dollars of his bride's money, which was in a purse in her trunk, and which she had just drawn from the bank. About midnight Sunday Mrs. McInnes arose to get her husband some medicine, leaving the purse which contained the money on top of her trunk. Shortly after she came back her husband arose, saying he wanted to get a drink, and put on his coat. The wife thought this strange but suspected nothing, and he went down stairs. Since then he has not been seen, and the money was missed shortly after. Previous to coming to Moncton the bride worked as servant girl in Amherst; her husband being employed in the water works there.

MME. DISS DEBAR'S RECORD AGAIN REVIEWED AS SHE LEAVES PRISON

Obtained Maximum Reduction of Sentence by Good Behavior—A Clever Swindler—Carried on Work in Many Parts of the World.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Ann O'Della Diss Debar, who, under the name of Laura Jackson, was sentenced December 30, 1901, to seven years' penal servitude for connection with an alleged immoral cult, known as the "Theocratic Unity," of which her reputed husband, Theodore Jackson, was the head, has been liberated from Aylesbury prison under ticket of leave, having obtained the maximum reduction of sentence by good behavior.

Mme. Diss Debar has been known under many names in the United States and Great Britain, but her greatest notoriety was achieved as the perpetrator of a so-called spiritualistic deception by which Luther R. Marsh of New York, was in his old age, stripped of the fortune he had accumulated in the practice of the occult. Though claiming to be the daughter of King Louis I. of Bavaria and Leta Montez, she was, in fact, the daughter of Professor John C. F. Saloman of Washington, and later of Kentucky. After varying fortunes and persecutions by persons who would have had her confined in asylums, she married a Doctor Messant. That was in 1871. Later she became the wife of General Joseph H. Diss Debar, and by him had two children. She travelled about the country representing herself as the personification of occult powers and the revealer of hidden truths, and in this way, while living in Washington Square, N.Y., she met L. R. Marsh, an aged lawyer, and by means of alleged spirit materializations and spirit painted pictures secured large sums of money from him, and he also deduced to her his home in Madison Avenue. About this time Diss Debar left the adventures, who went to live at the Marsh home, and also hired apartments where she officiated as a priestess of spiritualism and won great notoriety. She was brought to prove her an impostor, and she was charged with conspiring to defraud Marsh. She was arrested and sent to jail and indicted by the grand jury. Her trial resulted in her conviction and she was sentenced to a term of imprisonment. On her release from prison she went to Europe, then returned to this country, and going to the west got into more difficulties through bogus spiritualism. Under the name of Vera P. Ava she fell into the hands of the Chicago police, who sent her to the Joliet penitentiary for two years. Released from that institution she married Wil-

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUG. 15, 1906.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN BRITAIN.

In emphatic answer to the occasional reports of the failure of municipal ownership in Great Britain, the Canadian Municipal Journal quotes from a weekly list of municipal news in the public Health Engineer, London, England, the following:

Aston.—The electricity committee reports an increase in sales from $2,908 to $214,106, and a decrease in the loss from $4,480 to $1,621.

Birmingham.—The tramway committee report profits sufficient for interest and sinking fund, and $4,353 placed to reserve fund.

Blackburn.—The corporation tramways report a saving of $200 as a result of bonuses, aggregating $70, to the drivers.

Burnley.—The corporation has profits on its undertakings of $14,000 ($70,000) equal to 10d (or 20 cents) on the £, half of which is profits from gas and electricity. The corporation carries a balance amounting to $40,000.

Bury.—The tramways show a net balance of $1,779 and a net profit of $3,348 out of which £500 will go to reduce the rates.

Dukinfield.—The gas committee show a profit of $200, and the price is to be again reduced and will now be only 25 7d (or 62 cents) per thousand feet.

Dundee.—The electricity committee reports a surplus of $1,000, and will reduce the rate from 4d to 3 1/2d per unit for light, and from 1 1/2d to 1 1/4d per unit for power.

Hastings.—The gross profit for 15 months on the electricity works was $14,801, the net profit being $2,308.

Lincoln.—There is a profit of $2,145 on the electrical supply, as compared with $1,181 last year. The gas works show a profit of $4,441. The water works, owing to temporary troubles, show a heavy loss, $18,722.

St. Helens.—Although the gas committee last year reduced the price of gas to 2s 2d (32 cents) per thousand feet, yet they have made a profit of $2,860 for the year, and have been able to vote $5,000 for the reduction of taxes. There is also a profit of $723 on the electricity.

South Shields.—The electrical tramways have given such encouraging results in the few weeks of their operation, that the committee will spend $10,000 in extensions.

Sunderland.—The working of the tramways shows a balance of $23,426 over working expenses; of this $23,541 will go to reduce the rates.

West Brunswick.—The electrical department shows net profits of $1,990 for light, and $2,280 for power; on gas there is a net profit of $5,620.

These items are taken from a single issue, chosen at random, so they represent an average week's report all over the country. In the face of such evidence, the generalities of interested journals which vent occasional screeches of triumph over the alleged failure of the public ownership policy in the country where it has been given its most conclusive trial, fall rather flat.

HINDOO LABOR IN CANADA.

The monetary Times agrees with the Sun in foreseeing possibilities of an economic crisis in British Columbia, if not in all Canada, in the advent of Hindoo labor. It quotes in this connection the precedents of Natal and Australia, both of which have had painful experience with this invasion.

More than a generation ago, when the cultivation of sugar, tea, and pineapples was begun in Natal, Indian coolies were imported because of their superiority over the blacks; and of the physical inability of the white man to work steadily under a semi-tropical sun. They were indentured for a term of years, with the understanding that they would be deported to the place from whence they came. They fulfilled their contracts; but they were not returned to Asia. Today there are probably 80,000 Indians in the colony of Natal.

Their presence is a problem of increasing difficulty for the government. Most people in that country wish they had never come. The Indians have almost monopolized the garden industry. They keep store in the larger and smaller towns. They live on little, and in competition with whites for the trade of the black population, they generally win hands down, on account of their low standard of living.

As a result of similar experience "a white Australia" has become a political watchword with the predominant parties of the Commonwealth beneath the Southern Cross. By the ingenious device of a test of literacy, the Australians have stopped the immigration of persons whose skin differs from that of the all-conquering Caucasian. A Japanese professor, touring the world, must prove that he can read and write English before he can set foot in Melbourne. The employment of Lascars on steamers carrying imperial mails at Australian expense has been prohibited. Generally, the policy of exclusion has been carried out pretty thoroughly.

Before long there will be a strong demand in Canada for the adoption of a similar policy; and the government which refuses to pass it, and thereby forces the Canadian workmen to compete in an open market with this low grade oriental labor will be sowing endless trouble for this nation.

RUSSIA'S GREATEST NEED.

Affairs in Russia are drifting. Discouraged by their reverses the revolutionists are resting awhile, and elated by their success the government are planning reprisals and framing schemes to defeat the will of the people at the next election. Neither side seems to have the capacity for decisive action for the definite settlement one way or another of the nation's troubles. As a matter of fact neither side has a leader capable of constructing statesmanship—and such a man is Russia's greatest need today.

A well-informed writer in the current North American Review declares, after wide observation of Russian conditions, that there are numerous sections of the population whose views are still reasonable and whose conduct is perfectly normal. And there are several social and political institutions yet intact, whose functions might readily be adjusted to the new demands and whose working might be rendered superlatively beneficial. The finances, too, are in a much better state than those of Italy or even Germany would have been, had they undergone ordeals like the war with Japan and the Russian general strikes. The tone of the village communities, he says, is hale and vigorous. The machinery of the intermediate and higher education is efficient, if only it were working. The majority of law-judges are generally men of honor and spirit, who would scorn to do an unrighteous deed or connive at an injustice which they could remedy.

In a word, the Czardom is like an engine taken to pieces. All or nearly all the parts are there; and, though some be spoiled or useless, others might more or less easily be substituted for them. But there must first come forward an engineer to put the parts together; and, until he has appeared, the engine is no better than a heap of scrap iron.

The New Freeman, commenting on the recent visit of the minister of railways says warm commendation to splendid work on the I. C. R. and heartily approves his announced intention of absorbing the feeding branch lines as soon as the government works' finances permit. "Whatever may be thought of his politics," he says, "Liberals and Conservatives agree that Mr. Emmerson is showing a determination to put the Intercolonial on a paying basis. When that is accomplished, the fact the taking over of the branch railway lines of the province by the Dominion government will soon follow, and in that way the provincial government will soon get back large sums paid out in railway subsidies. At present some railway lines in the province are in a disgraceful condition, and the sooner they become part of the Dominion government system of railways the better for the trade of the province and the safety of the travelling public."

There is nothing so good that it will sell itself. Advertising is a necessity, and the most successful firms make most liberal provision for it.—Hilde and Leather.

DECORATION OF MARINE LOT

Impressive Ceremony on Saturday Afternoon

560 Graves Were Decorated in Addition to Elaborate General Decoration, at Head of Lot

On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock the impressive and beautiful ceremony of decorating the marine lot in the rural cemetery was accomplished. This lot is appropriately situated, looking as it does out on the Bay of Fundy, where so many brave sailor lads are in an ocean grave, and in this beautiful service were forgotten.

A few of the ladies' auxiliary, under whose auspices the annual memorial service was held, worked very faithfully up to the last moment of the ceremony leaving the lot in a most beautiful state. Arriving at the cemetery they immediately began decorating the lot, which when completed was a beautiful sight.

At the head of the lot three large floral anchors were placed, the designs having been made by Supt. Clayton, who gave a great deal of time to the work, and has taken a great interest in the beautifying of the marine lot. The large ship's anchor which some time ago was donated by the marine department was decorated with large water lilies.

After the placing of the flowers the service was begun by Manager Gorbelle, who spoke very briefly, and then the hymn A Few More Years Shall Roll was sung.

Rev. Mr. Camp delivered an appropriate address, saying that we often forget how much we are indebted to the seamen who discharge their duty faithfully in bringing the many luxuries we enjoy, in carrying us safely from port to port, then the many hardships they have often to endure. In his pastorate he had come across many very faithful sailors. They have great and good hearts, easily led into temptation. And here he was glad to see a splendid interest the citizens of this port are taking in their social, and above all their spiritual, welfare, and he hoped they would go a step further by fitting up a building for the seamen which would be a credit to their port and progressive port. In conclusion he commended the ladies for their thoughtful service. The sailors' favorite hymn was then sung, Eternal Father, Hymn No. 546, after which the Rev. Mr. Camp closed with prayer and the benediction.

There were 560 graves decorated during the afternoon, the work being facilitated by the fact that all were on the one lot—an acre of land purchased by the British government for the purpose of burying seamen who died here. The lot was originally called "The Queen's Lot," and the home government paid the sum of $1,000 for the purpose of keeping it in perpetual care. Mr. Clayton has spent a great deal of time in beautifying this lot, and it is now one of the prettiest in Fernhill cemetery.

PRISONERS HAD BRIEF FREEDOM FROM DORCHESTER

DORCHESTER, N. B., Aug. 12.—Two convicts in the penitentiary here by the names of Clarke and Macomber made a successful bolt for freedom yesterday afternoon. They were with a gang working in the hay field and being both young and spry they got beyond pistol shot range before their escape was discovered. They were arrested by Officers McLean and McDonald while attempting to board the Sydney express, No. 10, bound from St. John to Sydney, at 3:18 a. m., today.

Clarke had less than thirty days to serve. They were at once placed in the dungeons to reflect on their folly. They will have to face the grand jury for an attempt to escape from prison in an indictable offence.

James A. Lane, of the guard staff at the penitentiary, died this morning at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness extending over twelve days. The deceased leaves a large family and had reached the age of seventy-six years. Besides his wife he leaves the following children: Bradley of Cortland; Mrs. John O'Connor, of Lynn, Mass.; Mrs. John Powers, of Farnham; Edward of Cortland; Joseph, of London, Ont.; Mrs. M. Wynn, of Moncton; Miss Alice, of St. John; William and Gladys at home.

NEAR DEATH AT THE FALLS

Thrilling Experience of Young Couple

Lost Control of Their Boat, and Were Rushing Swiftly to Death, When Rescued by Lawrence Garey

To the skill and presence of mind of Lawrence Garey, for man at the Cushing Pulp Mill, that he and a young lady, who occupied a boat with him, over their lives. They were rushing swiftly to death at the falls, when the tragedy was averted by the intervention of Mr. Garey.

About two o'clock, when the tide was at its highest, the passengers on the Suspension bridge were horrified to see a small boat, occupied by a young lady and a gentleman being swept, along under the bridges and towards the falls.

The tide was rushing through the narrow gorge at a tremendous rate, and the boat was being swept about and clutched at by one whirlpool after another. Every moment the watchers expected to see the frail craft capsize and its occupants drowned before their eyes.

A boy with great presence of mind ran to Cushing's pulp mill and finding Lawrence Garey on the wharf told him of the danger of the couple. Mr. Garey ran for his boat, which he always has ready for such an emergency. There were no other men near so he set out alone to the rescue. He was just in time to catch the boat as it was being swept past, and holding it short he ran to the wharf and secured his own boat. The task of bringing the boat ashore which would have been beyond the ability of anyone without a thorough knowledge of the tides was successfully accomplished.

The two persons who had so narrowly escaped death, were taken to Mr. Garey's house to give them a chance to recover from their thrilling experience. The calmness and fortitude of the young lady was very warmly spoken of by Mr. Garey who said that she showed a remarkable courage in the face of the gravest peril.

Allan A. Gundry, who was the other occupant of the boat being swept in spite of his utmost efforts was unable to turn back. The fact that the boat was not capsized is due largely to the fact that the oars are secured in the rowlocks, which are placed in outriggers, and the oars consequently kept it steady.

The boat was carried up to within a short distance from the falls, which form between the pulp mill and Goat Island, and had it not been for Mr. Garey's prompt action it would certainly have entered the falls, and sure death would have been the fate of its passengers.

Mr. Garey, who made the rescue, has saved twenty-four other persons from a similar fate during the last thirty years. He has an exceptional knowledge of the tides, and has been able to save many lives in places where one not similarly equipped would not dare to venture.

In speaking to the Sun Mr. Garey expressed the opinion that the government should keep a man constantly on the watch to prevent the loss of life at the falls. He has been fortunate in saving a lot of people, but he is of the opinion that there are people who can testify to the extraordinary merits of this great medicine. Ask your friends and neighbors about it, and then prove its merits in your own case. NAVY ADEQUATE TO ENGAGE BRITAIN.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The Times' correspondent at Berlin cables as follows:—Uncontradicted statements have been current since the beginning of the month that the Imperial German battle-ships which are to be laid down this year are to have a displacement of nineteen thousand tons instead of eighteen thousand as first proposed, and a speed of 18 1/2 knots. The new large cruisers will have a displacement of fifteen thousand tons and a speed of 22 1/2 knots.

The German Naval Journal says that the main armament of the new battle-ships is to consist of sixteen 28 centimetre Krupp guns as compared with ten 30 1/2 centimetre guns on the British Dreadnought. A projectile with a weight of 345 kilograms and a charge of 132 kilograms will give a muzzle velocity of 884 miles and possess almost as much penetrating power as a British projectile with a weight of 325 kilograms and a charge of 146 kilograms. Thus, at the rate of one shot per gun per minute, 16 German guns could discharge projectiles weighing 5,520 kilograms, while ten British would only discharge 3,325 kilograms. Moreover, it is estimated that greater rapidity of fire could be achieved, the German projectile being smaller and handier. How far these statements are accurate it is impossible to say, but there is no mistaking the activity of the naval authorities. The first German submarine just launched at Kiel Canal has been inspected with a view to enlargement, and the principal shipbuilding and engineering firms are being carefully tested in order to ascertain their capacity for production and expansion.

TO STUDY TURBINES. Doubtless in order to study the working of turbine engines on a scale of the largest class the senior navy constructor has been detailed to make a voyage from Liverpool to New York on the 14th instant on the Carmania, Exports. It is the German navy's intention to study the turbine engines of the Carmania so far as they have not been encouraging. There are forces working for the rapid development of the German navy, and other powers will do well not to be unprepared for their success. The cry of the Navy League is no longer merely for a navy adequate for defensive purposes, but for one able to engage with Great Britain upon more equal terms.

THOUSANDS OF SAILORS WILL BE TRIED FOR TREASON.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 12.—Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, the Associated Press is informed by a member of his entourage, has declined to accept the post of commander-in-chief of all the troops of the empire "wherever martial law exists," which was tendered to him Aug. 4. Today, the second birthday of the Czarvitch, was observed with the usual display of flags and illuminations, but there was no enthusiasm in the celebration. The day was quiet in the capital. The activity of the terrorists in the provinces included besides the usual harvest of assassinations in Warsaw an attempt on the life of General Karatelef, chief of the gendarmes of Sams province, and the wounding of Captain of Police Ivanoff of Libau by a bomb which exploded in the street. The assassin, General Karpov, mounted the stairs of the general's chancellery and threw a bomb at random. The missile failed to explode and the miscreant escaped in spite of hot pursuit.

OFFICIALS MADE TO BANK.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—State Bank Examiner C. C. Jones today completed his inspection of the affairs of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue State Bank. The examiner was reticent concerning the exact results of his investigations, but intimated that the total shortage discovered is between $800,000 and $1,000,000. Inspector Shippy today examined more than a dozen of the bank's employees. The bookkeeper was positive that President Stensland's son was cognizant of the shaky condition of the bank before July 14, the date on which young Stensland says he first suspected irregularities on the part of his father. Other employees told the inspector of midnight trips to the bank by President Stensland and Cashier Hering.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The discovery yesterday of new trails of cookedness turning through the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank led the state's attorney to demand peremptorily last night three of the principal directors in the affairs of the institution. They were called upon to explain conditions, which indicate that another line of robberies was being carried on independently of the gigantic swindle already disclosed.

The directors who responded to the summons were Frank R. Crane and Martin Kirkeby. An officer was sent for M. A. Labay, another director, but he could not be located. Director Crane was subjected to a hot examination by the state's attorney Inspector Olson in the presence of Inspector Shippy and Assistant Chief of Police Schaeffer.

He denied all knowledge of the robberies perpetrated by Stensland. "Did you ever attend a meeting of the executive committee of the board?" asked Mr. Olson of Crane. "No, sir, I never did," replied the director. "Did you ever know the executive committee to meet?"

COMMITTED SUICIDE BY CUTTING HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

SYDNEY, Aug. 13.—This city was thrown into a state of excitement this morning by the terrible news from Mira that Horace Dickson Mayhew, son of Horace Mayhew, president of the Cape Breton Coal and Iron Co., had committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor near the house of Timothy Spender near the old iron railway bridge. With James Hampson, manager of Broughton mines, Young Mayhew had been staying at Mr. Spender's house and retired last evening in his usual good health and spirits. Early this morning, however, Mr. Spender was awakened by an unusual noise, which proved to come from Mr. Mayhew's room, and upon investigation the latter was found dead in his bed with his throat cut almost from ear to ear. As far as can be learned suicide was committed just before Mr. Spender arrived, for it is stated that one of the inmates of the house observed Mr. Mayhew looking in the glass at the wash in his throat at the time he opened the door. Mr. Mayhew staggered to his bed, falling dead almost instantly. As quickly as possible Coroner Me-

Lean was summoned from the city, and on an inquest being held this afternoon a verdict of death by suicide while temporarily insane was returned. Young Mayhew was thirty-two years old and unmarried. His father belonged to Broughton Hill, Wigan, Lancashire, England, and is reported to be worth many millions of dollars.

No cause for the suicide has yet been ascertained, but it is believed that it was the result of Mr. Mayhew suffering from some severe attack of rheumatic gout, which troubled him during the past several weeks. The body of Mr. Mayhew was brought to this city today and instructions with respect to its disposal are awaited from England.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

That at Westfield is Now Under Control but Much Damage is Being Done Elsewhere. For the past two weeks nearly every body has been wondering how long it would be before the usual forest fires would break out, as the weather has been so very dry. Yesterday the start came in different sections, and today fires are raging in earnest. The majority of these fires are due to grasses which have been started by some one setting fire to brush heaps.

A fire of this kind was started back of Belya's Cove near Westfield, and was soon burning over the farms there. It was feared at first that Westfield itself would be destroyed, but a brigade was organized and it was reported yesterday that the flames were well under control. The only damage which had been done was the destruction of a considerable lot of grass and some timber on the farm.

A despatch from Sussex says: Forest fires have at last broken out in this vicinity and the smoke is so dense that the sun was obscured. For some time there has been anxiety as to the situation in the county. There has been no rain to speak of since the first of July and the country is like a tinder box. Several small fires have been burning along the hills but they were not dangerous. Today White's mountain is ablaze and all the country round about Sussex is dotted with fires. It is only a matter of time when these will assume serious proportions and do much damage to lumber properties. Rain is needed badly not alone on account of the wood fires, but the crops are being scorched to ruin's point. The grain is in bad shape and unless it is relieved by showers will be almost a complete loss.

The dairy industry is feeling the strain too. During the past few weeks there has been a noticeable falling off in the supply of milk received at the butter and cheese factories, and with the price of dairy produce away up, the loss will be a serious one. Cattle cannot get the feed necessary to produce a good flow of milk unless rain comes and everybody is praying and hoping that it may arrive soon. In Western Ontario the fires are also raging and a number are reported as doing serious damage along the Moncton and Buteouche railway. At Irishtown a specially hard fight had to be put up against it in order to save the place from destruction. It is feared that unless rain comes soon much damage will be done to the timber lands all over the province. The farmers are also complaining that unless they have rain shortly the crops will be an entire failure. They say that the hay was a poor crop and if this dry weather keeps up the other products of the farm will also be as poor.

MONCTON NEWS.

MONCTON, Aug. 12.—In the police court yesterday James Burns, Henry White and Cook Wallace, three men captured in a raid on White's house, were sent up for trial. Two women who were taken were allowed to go.

The family of Phillip Poudreau was doubly bereaved when last night their twin children, boy and girl, died from infantile typhoid. The deaths occurred almost simultaneously. They were three months old.

AN OLD TIMER.

Has Had Experiences. A woman who has used Postum Food Coffee since it came upon the market eight years ago knows from experience the necessity of using Postum in place of coffee in all cases of nervousness and a steady brain.

She says: "At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum, and got a sample and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects conformed me of its value, for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life and had affected his nerves terribly. I persuaded him to shift to Postum and it was easy to get him to make the change for the Postum is so delicious. It certainly cured a rather unexpected improvement in his brain and nerve power." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Increased brain and nerve power always follow the use of Postum in place of coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. Look in pkgs. for "The Road to Wellville."

HAYHURST TALKS BIG STEAMER ABOUT BISLEY STRIKES PER IS SATISFACTORY.

Says Canadian Team Did Well Under Circumstances. Considers Prominent Military Writer who Criticised Team, Does Not Take Everything Into Consideration. MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Major S. J. Higgins and Serg. T. H. Hayhurst of the 1st Hussar, members of the Bisley team, arrived here Saturday. Serg. Hayhurst, who won the King's prize at Bisley in 1895, said that this year's Bisley meet had been remarkable in many ways. For the first time an Indian team had competed for the Kolarup cup, which originally had been offered for competition by one of their countrymen, the Rajah of Kolarup. This year, too, the Australian government had not seen fit, for some reason, to send an Australian team to Bisley.

The result that competition for the cup was confined to teams representing the motherland, Guernsey, India and Canada. In the third place the weather conditions, except on the final day of the meet, had not been favorable to high scoring, heavy winds being encountered on each day. "On the whole, however," said Sergeant Hayhurst, "the Canadian team did fairly well. Our wins were fully up to the average of previous years and our individual work at the different ranges was quite as good as that of any other shot. As for my own work it was not as good as I have expected it would be. In the competition for the king's prize I fell behind at the 500 yards range, and what I lost there I made up for by a better showing in the remainder of the match. Serg. Hayhurst, when informed that a prominent military writer in Canada had recently deprecated the sending of a Canadian team to Bisley each year, on the ground that the results achieved were not commensurate with the expenses incurred, said the critic did not appreciate the advertising Canada received from sending over the team.

ITALIAN BARK ASHORE AND FLOATED.

The Torrens Hard Around Three Miles East of Yarmouth—Will Hold Survey. HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 12.—At four o'clock Sunday morning the Italian bark Torrens, bound from Montevideo to Tusket Wedge, and carrying 200 Buenos Ayres, went ashore off Sunday Point, three miles east of Yarmouth, and remained hard and fast until high tide Sunday afternoon, when the untold efforts of the tug Marina, and Freddie released her from her dangerous position and towed her to Yarmouth. The Torrens is a vessel of 1300 tons, and left Montevideo on June 8. She was married to the tug Marina, and on Friday took on pilot on board and proceeded in a dense fog which continued until she went on the rocks. Captain McAvity scored the pilot, who had been in charge of the vessel in his power under the circumstances. A survey will be held and repairs effected here or at Meteghan. The vessel's bottom is considerably damaged.

RECENT DEATHS.

R. W. STEVENS. The funeral was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock of the late R. W. Stevens, of Milltown, who died in the Provincial Hospital, Thursday morning. The interment took place in the Methodist cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. Jas. Crisp, of Zion church.

The late Mr. Stevens came here about two weeks ago from Milltown, where he was treated for cholera jaundice. The disease gradually grew worse and finally caused his death. Mr. Stevens was a native of London, Eng. He came to St. John some years ago and followed his profession in this city as a piano tuner. He was married and had a son in this country and a daughter and one boy of some 14 or 15 years. Eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Stevens moved to the Carmarthen street Methodist church during the pastorate of Rev. Jas. Crisp there. Two years ago they removed to Milltown, where they have since lived. Meanwhile Mr. Crisp left the city and heard no more from the former members of his congregation until a few days ago, when he received a letter from his (Mr. Crisp's) brother in Milltown, stating that Mr. Stevens was very low in the hospital in this city, and asking him to call on him. Mr. Crisp did so and found the man in a most serious condition.

Mr. Stevens, wife of the deceased, died in the greatest terms of the many kindnesses shown her by those in charge of the hospital, and by the Rev. Mr. Crisp, who was a frequent visitor at her husband's bedside.

A YOUNG LADY TERRIBLY BURNED.

Miss Emma Sherwood of Jacksonville, N. B. Meets With Painful Accident. WOODSTOCK, N. B., Aug. 12.—Miss Emma Sherwood, aged 25 years, was seriously burned at Jacksonville yesterday. Miss Sherwood was working in the kitchen of her home when in some way she fell against a boiler of hot water, upsetting it and spilling the contents over her body. She was frightfully burned and grave fears are entertained as to her recovery. Dr. Keirstead of Woodstock was summoned. What adds to the sadness of the case is the fact that at the time of the accident the young lady's mother was lying at the point of death from consumption, in an adjoining room.

STOCK MARKET.

A Fine Harvest is Now Practically Certain. There Has Been Some Improvement in the Monetary Situation—Railroad Prosperity Phenomenal. NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Throughout the entire country business conditions continue satisfactory. A fine harvest is practically certain; our mills and foundries are running at their fullest capacity; our railroads are enjoying the greatest traffic in their history; labor is well employed at good wages; there is little cause for serious apprehension about the monetary situation, and on all sides are evidences of tremendous business activity and growth. Nor is this movement confined to the United States, although we appear to be enjoying prosperity in a more marked degree than any other part of the world. Great Britain is reporting a decided expansion in commerce and industry. Similar advices come from France and Germany, especially the latter, which is still in the midst of a great industrial revival, manifesting itself largely in the iron and electric industries. Even Italy is rising out of a state of coma. But this is not all. The British colonies, which include a population of over 350,000,000, are exhibiting renewed industrial and commercial activity. From Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India come the same story of growing commerce and prosperity. South of us we find Mexico showing a wonderful development, and now the sleepy Republics of South America are making rapid strides. Argentina apparently leading. Only Russia and South Africa lag behind. China is awakening and Japan is making rapid strides. Space does not permit any elaboration of causes at this time, but growth of population, the increasing desire for wealth, the progress of invention, the adoption of improved methods, the creation of new industries, the opening of new territory, the increase of products of the soil and the rapid development of the world's mineral supplies, especially the gold output, all these influences are contributing to a more vigorous progress which the civilized world is just now experiencing. That it should be accompanied by so much social and political discord is not to be wondered at, for while the world means temporary disturbance, it promises well for the future, inasmuch as such restrictions show a desire among the people for a more equitable distribution of material wealth than has hitherto been possible.

This little digression has a direct bearing upon the world's security markets, all of which are unquestionably reflecting these favorable conditions. The New York market has been especially responsive, and is now on a plane so elevated as to have practically discounted most of these favorable influences. Of course prices may rise to a still higher level if the powerful clues now in control should be to mark them up; but it is questionable if buyers can be found at these prices. There is a talk of increased dividends, justified, doubt, by present large net earnings. The dividends are being largely utilized by holders as a saving basis for these gentlemen recognize that conditions cannot last indefinitely.

The monetary situation is also improving. The gold reserve is low, and while the bank reserves are good condition financially, crop depression is quite likely to take 25 to 30 million. New York money during the next few weeks. Excess of wheat, cotton and corn are lower than a year ago, and there is already a large export movement in wheat in progress. These conditions create a good supply of sterling exchange, which is facilitating the handling of the crops. Western bankers are confident of this being done without much difficulty. Our bank note circulation is $37,000,000, and there is already a large export movement in wheat in progress. Scenes of Disorder on Trolley and Elevated Roads to Coney Island. NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Scenes of disorder were witnessed on a number of the trolley and elevated roads leading to Coney Island today when passengers, guided by an opinion handed down by Supreme Court Justice Taft, refused to pay a second fare. At one period during the afternoon the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company refused to convey its passengers beyond Neck road, their second fare boundary, so long as any of the passengers refused to pay the additional five cents. The result was a block of cars and trains a mile long. Great crowds of excited passengers gathered at the second fare points, held indignation meetings and promised to bring many suits for damages against the company. The police authorities had taken precautions to prevent serious trouble at these places, although the police were instructed not to interfere in disputes between passengers and employees on the second fare question.

THANK GIRL'S JOKE COST WHITE'S LIFE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—News and important evidence providing a plausible motive for the killing of Stanford White has lately come into District Attorney Jerome's possession. The inkling of the facts was conveyed to the district attorney indirectly from Florence Ziegfeld, a theatrical manager, who is the husband of Anna Held and who is at present living in Paris. The story is that Mr. White sent a note and a basket of flowers to Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the afternoon of the shooting, and that the tragedy grew out of the thoughtless mischief of three chorus girls.

Mr. Ziegfeld met one of his New York theatrical friends in a railroad station in Paris a little while ago and the conversation naturally drifted to the Thaw tragedy. Mr. Ziegfeld, who knew intimately both Mr. White and Mrs. Thaw, expressed surprise that the authorities had not yet got hold of evidence which would go a long way toward clearing up the mystery heretofore cloaking the motive of Thaw.

She told me that she accompanied two other members of my old company to pay a farewell visit to Mr. White in the tower of Madison Square Garden the night prior to Mr. White's death. They were to sail in a few days. Mr. White was not there, and as they were leaving the place an attendant asked what names he should report to Mr. White as those of his visitors.

GAVE MRS. THAW'S NAME.

"They departed and pictured to themselves a dozen funny denunciations which might arise out of Mrs. Thaw's vicarious call. Next day Mr. White, according to this girl, sent a neat little note to Mrs. Thaw expressing his regret at his absence at the time of her call and dispatched a basket of roses to her. The roses were cut by the girl who was the informant, believed that Thaw saw the roses, read the card attached and perhaps read the note which accompanied them. She was inclined to believe that Mr. White owned his sudden cutting off of the whim of a chorus girl, and, what is more, she appears to still regard the whole affair as a joke."

CHORUS GIRL HERE NOW.

It is known that this young woman is now in New York, having returned, it is said, at the request of Mr. Jerome. It is believed that she will be one of the most important witnesses for the people.

TWO DEATHS RESULT OF SPEEDING AUTOMOBILE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Two chauffeurs were killed, two injured and two escaped unhurt, when a new racing car-plunged into a loaded farm wagon on Thompson avenue, near the Winfield crossing of the Long Island railroad in Queensborough, tonight. The car is said to have been travelling not less than fifty miles an hour. The driver of the farmer's wagon was unhurt. He leaped before the crash.

The car was a new one, which was taken to Baltimore, Md., by it was racing trim. The other five went along to witness the test. There was no destination, the route being along the Thompson boulevard. It was close to midnight, there was not much chance of meeting vehicles. The farm wagon which was struck was bound toward Manhattan. It was being driven by Herman Fricko of Elmhurst, and was loaded with general garden produce. The automobile which was heading toward Jamaica, and those who saw it before the crash say it was running at very high speed. Fricko saw the headlights flying toward him and pulled well over, but the machine kept straight toward him and he jumped. Apparently Brown saw the wagon just too late. He swerved and avoided running into both horses, but he took the horses under one of the wheels and then crashed into a heavy truck behind. The blow smashed the wagon and overturned it, scattering the produce over the ground for a hundred feet. The horses that were hit were fearfully mangled. Woodcock and Waller were hurled through the air and both landed on their heads and their skulls were crushed in. Woodcock was dead when picked up. Waller was alive, but he was in a very bad way. He was taken to the St. John's Hospital. The car reached there in a few minutes, but Waller was dead. As the night wore on, a few weeks ago. A few days after his marriage his wife's mother died.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Two young women, Miss Grace Hynes of Brooklyn and Miss Helen G. Hynes of New York, were injured today while crossing Broadway at 28th street by an automobile driven by its owner, Frederick E. Hynes. The automobile was speeding. Both are in the hospital and it was said there tonight that Miss Hynes may die.

MAKES CHARGES AGAINST ONTARIO MINISTERS

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—The Globe today says: "The mystery and suspicion which for weeks have surrounded the proposed granting of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway right-of-way mining rights to the Right-of-way Mining Company at Ottawa, a proposition favored by the railway commission and government, will be greatly increased by the sensational statement issued last night by one of the members of the syndicate. This statement, which was handed out by John P. Dickson, charges that in the negotiations with the government following the public outcry against the proposed concession, the syndicate were asked to withdraw their tender, whereupon new tenders were to be called for, with the understanding that even though a new tender might offer as little as $10,000 more than the Ottawa syndicate's offer of $50,000, the latter were still to get the concession."

THE DUTIES OF A POLICE MATRON.

Intoxication is the usual charge upon which the woman prisoner is committed, with occasional charges of theft, of assault, an attempted suicide, and now and then a woman whose hands have committed some bigger crime, homicide or infanticide. Whatever the charge, they all pass through the station house on their way to the jail or the penitentiary, and the matron has them in her care. She gets them fresh from their misdemeanors and with the stain of their crimes new upon them. She is the first and often the only ministering angel they know, for it is to the task of ministering that most of the matrons, womanlike, give themselves, with more heartiness than to the technical tasks of their office.

It is their place to search the woman prisoner, to record her name, the time and circumstances of her coming, and to see to her temporal wants; but they never stop there. They are the confidantes of the offender, the persons to whom the woman prisoner turns to tell her story, to whom she looks for some word of help, of sympathy; they represent often the only connecting link with a better life, the old life that most of the offenders have known. The man prisoner usually holds his own counsel, but it is the necessity of a woman's nature to tell her troubles, and the matron is the person she naturally turns to, the only person she can turn to.

As I sat in the comfortable little apartment of the matron at the 6th Precinct station, flooded with morning sunshine, each of the homely objects in the room, and even the pictures on the walls, seemed to whisper to me the whisper of the stories that have been told in those rooms, of the depravity they have looked upon, of the pitiable wrecks of womanhood they have seen pass through the room to the iron barred cells beyond. Of these of these crippled creatures and their stories the matron told me. Fourteen years of the life has not caloused her sensibilities, but, instead, sharpened her sympathies, and for all the endless stream that come her way she can listen to each of their stories, pity them and hold out a hand to help if they have not gone too far to be beyond helping. Sometimes the judicious, quick interest of the matron can do a great deal to check a young offender in the downward course; at any rate, a kind word never hurts even the most lowly.

One night two young girls were brought into the station house for intoxication, fresh, dainty girls, dressed in the finest of evening gowns, covered with long coats. It was New Year's Eve and a bitter cold night. The matron was used to the unusual, but the presence of girls such as these in her lodging house had her stop and wonder. It was only a little while before the steps of intoxication wore off and the girls woke to the realization of their surroundings and the horror of it. Finally, they were calm enough to tell the matron how it all happened. They had been over to Manhattan to a dance with two boy friends. It was so they cold that the escorts suggested before they cross the bridge that they take something to warm them, they stepped into a cafe and drank what the men ordered for them. Unused to taking stimulants, as soon as they struck the cold air out of them, the drinks went to their heads, and they knew very little else of what happened until they waked to find themselves in the police station. What had happened was that the two escorts, finding themselves burdened with girls too much intoxicated to know what was happening to them, had opened the door of a tenement house, and the girls had fallen immediately to sleep and one of the occupants of the house, stumbling over them, had reported to the police. The circumstances related, the judge let them off with some strong words of admonition. Then the matron took the girls to their home, where they found a mother almost frantic. She had sat at the window all night waiting for them to return. The matron put in a plea for them and saved them the upbraiding that most parents would have poured forth for such an indiscretion. Now every Christmas since the happening there comes to the station a gift from those two girls, a bit of their own handiwork, and now and then a letter from their mother, reiterating her appreciation for the saving of the girls.

Many of the cases that come under the eye of the police matron are of women who have been led to the passion for drink to drown some sorrow, and many of them women used to have better ways of living. One day a bit of a woman—a mere girl—was brought to the station. Her husband had got out a warrant for her and wanted to have her committed to some institution. Dick had been in the hospital, when the sergeant announced that a policeman would accompany her to keep guard. The matron wanted to avoid the conspicuous, so she appealed to a higher authority, and the matter was arranged quietly, the woman taken, instead, to her home and a big scandal averted.

One of the cases of intoxication that drifted into the office of the matron was of a woman who was drunk from paragon. She was not one of the ordinary "drunks" either in appearance or in the effects of the drink. She was slender and refined, but she lay as if heavily drugged. The sergeant was puzzled. He could catch no whiff of whiskey or brandy, but the matron, who had dosed her babies on paragon, recognized the odor of it at once. It was a difficult case to bring around, but after she had worked for hours, a doctor came rushing in, inquiring frantically for the woman. Then he told her she had dosed her babies on paragon, and she had drifted into the office of the matron. Her husband finally had put her in the doctor's private sanitarium, where she had been for six weeks and was, as the doctor thought, practically cured. He had let her sit on the steps one day and when no one was looking she had escaped and, stopping at the drug store on the corner, had bought twenty-five cents worth of the drug. After a search of hours the doctor found her back at the police station, and she was the only woman in the life of the police matron. Their days and their nights are a ceaseless round of watching the intoxicated, of standing by to keep the suicide from its intention, of seeing the woman with delirium tremens, of seeing clothes to shreds in the night, of hearing over and over the stories of wretchedness and misery and depravity.

WORK AND JOSEPH'S PRESS OF THE JAIL MATRON.

(Brooklyn Eagle.) It was a quiet day in the Sixty-fifth Precinct police station. Brownwell was behaving itself and the matron of the station had a whole hour to talk, with only one interruption to wipe the tears from the eyes of a small, dirty boy, induce him to "take the end" of his home and send him on his way under the guidance of a big strong bluecoat. And the matron, when she talks, has a few things to tell. She was the first matron to be appointed in Brooklyn, fourteen years ago, and those years of dealing with women recalcitrants have not left her without subject for conversation. In fact, Mrs. Cox says, with her good Irish chuckle, that she thinks she will write a book of her experiences to make her rich after she retires from the job of matron. The "boys" have suggested it to her. The "boys" are the bluecoats, every one of whom in Brooklyn knows Mrs. Cox and has a joke for her or a word of geying when he meets her.

She is a kind of mother to the force, having watched many a one grow up from young patrolman to bearded sergeant. She has been at three of four of the stations where matrons are placed and has seen in her experience a good bit of the somberness and the seaminess of life. Yet her Irish wit and her keen sense of humor have not been the least blunted by her years. She has her best weapons in her work and have helped many of her "guests" over a rough place.

Taking transients only and not associating long enough with some of them to learn their ways, one can fancy the police matron must have quickness of perception and ready resources to deal with the varied frequenters of her hostelry, who, as a rule, are not of the kind to accept the situation with the best grace.

There are only sixty-seven police matrons scattered through the precincts of all the boroughs of Greater New York, and the stations where there are matrons being closed, and the women prisoners are sent, each matron has the prisoners not only from her own but from several neighboring precincts. To the Sixty-fifth are brought the women offenders from the Sixty-sixth, the Sixty-seventh, the Sixty-eighth and the Seventy-third stations. Mrs. Cox has an associate, Mrs. Behan, Saturdays and Sundays are the busy days at the station, and often the matrons have all the rooms of their limited lodging house filled with occupants—noisy, hilarious, mischievous occupants, or sulky, belligerent occupants, according as the varied natures are affected by the drinks they have taken.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 9.—All roads led on Friday to Sandy Point Farm, which by the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt had been turned over to the women interested in the welfare of St. Mary's Orphanage of Providence, R. I., for a sale and bazaar. The Vanderbilt farm is seven miles out of Newport, but as the weather was favorable, distance mattered nothing, and from two o'clock in the afternoon there was a varied procession of vehicles that fairly crowded the approaches to the farm. There were automobiles of every description, coaches, drags, victrolas, runabouts, not to over-

FIVE MEN BURNED ON U. S. WARSHIP

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—Five men were burned by an explosion in the paint locker in the torpedo boat destroyer Worden late this afternoon at the Norfolk Navy Yard.

While drilling rivets in the paint locker on the Worden, one of the boys, causing it to explode. The force of the explosion was so great that Robert White and Wm. H. Wilson who were driving the rivets were blown through the opening leading into the paint locker and landed on deck. Immediately after the explosion the little boat caught fire but the flames were extinguished without material damage.

The injured are: Wm. H. Wilson, burned on head and entire left side from waist up, left eye badly injured, may die.
Hurlet Hodges, negro, burned on head.
Henry Shurman, hair singed off, burned on hands and face.
Joseph Harrow, right hand burned.
Unknown negro, laborer, both hands badly burned.
It was stated tonight that the only damage done the vessel was burning the paint off the woodwork in the locker.

Lieut. V. S. Houston, commanding the vessel, said the explosion was due to the formation of gases from a can of varnish left open in the paint locker several days ago.

All of the injured will recover with the possible exception of Wilson. His entire left side is horribly burned and it is believed that he inhaled some of the fire. He may also lose his left eye.

WELL DONE

The attorney general's department has decided to "prohibit the publication of advertisements of racing tips or selections and racing information in the sporting columns of newspapers." We think it proper that the government should stop the advertisements of tipsters, because many of them are fakirs and do not carry on a legitimate business, but why shouldn't a newspaper give selections? During the campaigns newspapers go to considerable expense to get a forecast of the result, and it is known that people bet on elections, in many instances being guided by the information published. Does the government propose to stop newspapers from publishing election forecasts?

MAGNIFICENT—BUT IS IT WISE?

(Toronto Telegram.)

The British house of commons is the only great assemblage on earth that would be guided by high ideals and noble impulses in its dealings with such a people as the Boers.

The old country radicals may have their crazes. Their government may be dominated by the humanitarian enthusiasm of pro-Boer fanatics who are the friends of every people but their own.

(New York Sun.)

Mainly for the benevolent purpose of keeping an esteemed correspondent's pores open in these canicular rages, we print his views about Mr. Bryan and Mr. Roosevelt and the Sun. Indeed, his articles misrepresenting, of our feeling in regard to Mr. Bryan, recommends pleadingly and persuasively the publication of his letter. We like Mr. Bryan. He amuses us. His swift assimilation of often erroneous and usually superficial ideas, his position as the Greatest Conservative Force, a Conservative who proves his conservatism by showing that he is more radical than every man who stands with him.

OPPOSED TO PERSONAL TAX

Windsor Record: The personal tax is the iniquitous feature of all taxation systems. It increases the tax burden of the farmer, the small business man, and the thrifty wage worker, and is dodged by the privileged rich; the richer the man, the easier and the more fully does he escape his share of personal taxes.

A WELL-TIME SERMON

(Buffalo Enquirer.)

Prophet Crowdy, who has established a strange sect in Plainfield, N. J., is an immensely tall, stout man, with a resonant, deep voice and a good sense of humor.

As he preached one Sunday in Plainfield, an auditor consulted his watch, thereupon the prophet, smiling, said: "Put up that watch, please, brother. Don't put me in the position of Bishop X. of Philadelphia."

"Bishop X. preached one day last week on earthquakes, and after the services a man said to him: 'An excellent sermon, bishop, and well-timed.'"

"The bishop smiled bitterly as he answered: 'It certainly was well-timed. Half the congregation had their watches out all the while I talked.'"

AN IMPORTANT ENGLISH CASE

Almost Humorous Finding of Jury in Connection With the Mental Condition of the Marquis Townshend

LONDON, Aug. 11.—What in legal history will be considered a celebrated case was concluded today, when a jury in the historic old hall of Lincoln Inn, inquiring at the instance of the official solicitor into the mental condition of the Marquis Townshend, returned the curious verdict that his lordship is capable of taking care of himself, but that he is of unsound mind so far as managing his affairs is concerned.

JUST FOR A CHANGE

I'm sort of tired of things that is. There ain't no ginger in life's jar. With things a-join' as they are, the fault may be with me, and then, it may be otherwise again. I ain't a-tryin' to fix no blame. Because all tastes about the same.

How'er it is, I wish it might have things turned round a bit some night. So that instead of as they be, they'd work towards the contrary. I'd like to see some mountain rill have spunk enough to flow up hill. So that old Nature might 'a' show 'n' her own opinions of its own.

I'd like to see the settin' sun 'n' set in the east when day is done. Just as a hint, when 'n' to bed, to prove it wasn't bigoted.

I'd like to hear a bullfrog sing like nightingales upon the wing, instead of that eternal "croak."

With which he seeks his swampy bunk. A cat that barks, a dog that meows, and when it comes to milkin' cows, 'Twould cheer me up to get a pail of lemonade or ginger ale; And if the bucket in the well, Would give up water for a spell, I'd bring me up some fresh root beer. There's no kick-a-comin' here.

"Tain't no discontent that's vexin' me. With life so everlasting, Put just a sort of perchin' thirp. Put up that watch, please, brother. They've been the same so very long. A change would strike me pretty strong.

And, though I'm makin' no complaint, For once I'd like 'em as they ain't."

She has on board a company of sixty men, women and children, besides her crew. A number of the passengers came ashore and visited the local headquarters of the society. Adj. Bowring Regrets This is Not Allowed Here

Adjutant Bowring, in charge of the Salvation Army home, states that since the army have undertaken the prison work here they have rendered assistance to something over a dozen discharged prisoners. There will be a call for much more work in this line during the winter months, when employment of the army work in Western Canada. The jail doors in the new provinces have all been opened wide to the army, and it is here they have accomplished much of their best work.

The Work of Painting and Decorating Rapidly Nearing Completion—Pike About Finished

The work of getting the exhibition building in shape for the opening of the fair, which is to be held in this city from Sept. 1st to Sept. 15th, is rapidly progressing, and already much of the painting and decorating is completed. The Pike is now nearly finished, and already it has been divided into the different rooms, and the factory front which is being erected is nearly completed.

The painting of the buildings is now practically finished. The main buildings have been painted and the most are now at work on the fences and toll houses, while another crew are touching up the window sashes and doors. It is claimed by some who have seen the buildings since they have been painted that they never looked nearly so well before as they do at the present time.

The fancy arches and flagpoles for the avenue forming the entrance to the main building have all been placed and look very gay in their new paint.

Already all the high decorations in the building have been completed. The idea of having these decorations put up so early is so that it will not affect the space holders.

2. S. S. Simons and Company have applied for space in machinery hall, and will put in a brush making plant. Mr. Milligan is also in correspondence with the Hewson Woolen Mill Co. and will put in a date room in connection with their department.

The management announce that they have extended the time for the opening of the exhibition until Aug. 29th.

The work has now begun on erecting kennels for the dog show. It is expected that this show will be one of the best of its kind that has ever been held in Canada. Nearly four hundred dogs are expected to be on exhibition. For this show a large number of the merchants have donated prizes.

She called in a policeman, who stamped out the fire and carried Butler, who was unconscious, out of the attic. After the man had recovered at the Lynn hospital from the effects of the gas fumes he had inhaled, he was arrested.

WHAT A HAND-SHAKER HE IS GETTING TO BE

NEW YORK HERALD

THINKS THE CREAMER CHILDREN WERE LOST IN QUICKSANDS.

MONCTON, N. B., Aug. 13.—That the missing children from Bayfield lost their lives in one of the bogs, known locally as "quicksands," and one of which is located only a few yards from the spot where the children were last seen, is the theory of Constable C. H. Thomas of this city, who returned Saturday from another three weeks' search.

During his three weeks at Bayfield, which was the second time Mr. Thomas has been on the search for the children, he stayed at the Creamer home, where his board was paid by F. W. Sumner of this city, whose offer of $100 reward for finding the children, still stands. Mr. Sumner also paid the father of the missing boys for assisting Mr. Thomas in his search.

The bogs of which Mr. Thomas speaks are composed of black mud of about the same properties as quicksands, and by which term they are locally known. Any article of weight is engulfed readily by these sands, and no traces are left, the mud rolling up and covering any object which has gone into its depths.

In his three weeks' stay at Port Egin, Mr. Thomas has disproved many of the current rumors in regard to the disappearance of the children. He traced the story that a wagon containing children was seen to drive through Sackville just after the disappearance of the boys, but found the story to be altogether groundless. The parties who were said to have driven the wagon said they knew nothing whatever about any such occurrence.

The kidnapping theory, Mr. Thomas believes to be groundless.

From numerous conversations with Russell Trenholm, Mr. Thomas is satisfied that the lad is perfectly innocent of any connection with the children's disappearance. The boy is anxious to search for them and answers all questions readily.

That Mrs. Creamer is deeply worried and disturbed at the long drawn out suspense, while she does not show her feelings as much as would other women of a different temperament, Mr. Thomas has no doubt, and says the woman has failed a great deal physically since his last visit to their home. She knows of stories in circulation which say that she has knowledge of the whereabouts of the children, and that she is unconcerned about them, only saying that the authors and believers of these stories will some day be sorry.

At present there is no search except as may be done by the parents and neighbors.

SCENE IN COURT WHEN ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY PLEADED GUILTY.

SHOT AT BURGLAR AND WOUNDED HIM

North Shore Merchant Surprises Man Who Attempts to Enter His Store—Action of Chatham Council

(Special to the Sun.)

CHATHAM, Aug. 13.—John Vanderbecker of Derby shot and wounded a man trying to enter his store late Sunday night. He was aroused by the noise and partly dressing went to the shop, where in the dim light he could see a man working away near the window. Mr. Vanderbecker had his revolver with him, and as the man started to escape he pulled the trigger, the bullet crashing through the window casing but finding its billet, as made of blood afterwards showed. The burglar made off across the lot and Mr. Vanderbecker gave pursuit. As the man climbed the fence Mr. Vanderbecker tried his hand again at the Bayfield convention of the Maritime Provinces, has just returned from an extended visit in the west. Mr. White says he travelled as far west as he could go and find land, to the city of Victoria, B. C. On his westbound trip he visited Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary, New Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria.

He reports all these cities to be prosperous and the people hopeful for the future. There are signs of progress on every hand. Canada, he says, is truly, for extent of country and prosperous outlook, without a peer—a land abundant in resources. We are no longer the "Dollars Engineering Co. of New York for the new turbo generator and surface condenser for $9,300 as part of the new unit for the light station. This is the first portion of the $30,000 proposed expenditure on the light plant.

Chatham Plays Cricket With Steamer Men—Removed to Yarmouth—G. of E. Mission Work

CHATHAM, N. B., Aug. 13.—The lecture given before the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening by McDougall Snowball was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, and it is to be regretted that a larger number could not have attended. The lecture, which described features of Y. M. C. A. work in the States, was interspersed with personal anecdotes and reminiscences. Mr. Snowball is an effective and pleasing speaker and the audience endorsed the vote of thanks tendered him, in the heartiest manner.

The foundation of the large water tank which the I. C. R. is erecting at Loggieville for the use of the railway is being rapidly constructed, and a large number of men are engaged in the work. The tank will have a capacity of 50,000 gallons and will give an ample supply of water for all railway uses. The foundation of the structure is now laid and finished, and this week a start has been made on the carpenter work.

The garden party at Millbank in aid of the Bethel church on Thursday was well attended and proved very enjoyable for the large number who went to the grounds. The St. Nicholas carried the people from Chatham, Newcastle and Douglastown, and nearly five hundred admittances were paid. The 72nd band supplied the music, and various games were indulged in. The sum of $200 was cleared and this will be used to pay off the debt on the church property.

An alarm of fire on Saturday morning called out the department for a slight blaze on the roof of D. Mallet's house. One stream of water was sufficient to put out the flames.

A cricket match was played on Thursday and Friday evenings between teams representing the Miramichi club and the officers of the steamers in port. The locals went in to bat first and were all out for 35 runs. The next evening the officers took their innings, and in spite of sharp fielding on the part of the Miramichi players, they totalled 37 runs. The bowling of Bell for the visitors and the fine catch by G. E. Fisher for the locals were the features of the game.

I. C. R. and C. P. R. Take Space—Pleasant Attractions—Rooms Wanted For Visitors

As the week of the exhibition draws near more plans are being completed to make the show a success. Last week W. C. Crighton, of the I. C. R. was in the city to make arrangements for the I. C. R. exhibit which is going to be one of the finest in the whole show. Mr. Crighton arranged for his space during his visit. He is to have a space 28 ft. by 16 ft. Mr. Crighton wanted to get a larger area, but as all available space was taken up he could not be given any more. The I. C. R. propose to make this year the finest exhibit ever made and are going most thoroughly into the display of fish and game. They will also show a number of colored pictures of scenes along the I. C. R.

The C. P. R. have also made arrangements for their space which is to be 30 feet by 15 feet. Their exhibit will be somewhat different from that of the I. C. R., as they will show the different products of the West.

The prospects of the "Pike" being a great success are now assured, as F. G. Spencer has returned from Boston where he visited "Wonderland" at Revere Beach and secured some excellent attractions for the "Pike." Among these is the automobile trip through the ocean and new base ball game which has made such a hit at Coney Island. He has also arranged to have "Bug House" or the laughing mirrors as one of the attractions.

The management of the exhibition announced that on Wednesday they will, by permission of the city, close that portion of Wentworth street from the field street to the exhibition grounds. The management also request that any person or persons who will be able to take boarders during the exhibition week will kindly notify them, in order that they may be able to arrange for the accommodation of all visitors.

DELIGHTED WITH HIS WESTERN TRIP

Rev. G. R. White, president of the Maritime Provinces, has just returned from an extended visit in the west. Mr. White says he travelled as far west as he could go and find land, to the city of Victoria, B. C. On his westbound trip he visited Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary, New Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria.

He reports all these cities to be prosperous and the people hopeful for the future. There are signs of progress on every hand. Canada, he says, is truly, for extent of country and prosperous outlook, without a peer—a land abundant in resources. We are no longer the "Dollars Engineering Co. of New York for the new turbo generator and surface condenser for $9,300 as part of the new unit for the light station. This is the first portion of the $30,000 proposed expenditure on the light plant.

REPORTS OF WEST ARE EXAGGERATED

FREDERICTON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Justice Wetmore, of Moosemin, is at the Banker House. He is enjoying a visit to his former home. Concerning the West and the Western people, Judge Wetmore said that they were very much given to exaggerating and that in the case of the crop for the present year he thought that they had allowed their falling to get the best of their good judgment, in the opinion of Judge Wetmore the yield per acre this year will be about the same as last year, twenty bushels, and the difference in the size of the crop will be caused by the larger acreage under cultivation. In Judge Wetmore's district, which is about 200 miles across, one of the most prosperous ranch owners is Senator Dell Perley, a former New Brunswick Senator. Perley's wealth is estimated at about $100,000, or even more, and he has a very fine place in two sections with 1,200 acres under cultivation. Senator Perley has estimated his crop this year at 20,000 bushels of wheat and 15,000 bushels of oats. For the wheat sold to the elevator man about 60 cents per bushel will be realized, while for the oats the senator will get about 15 to 20 cents per bushel. In the west Judge Wetmore says there is room for many more mechanical laborers, but for clerks and salesmen, etc., he says, it is a poor place just now. The latter class of employees are poorly paid and many are without work. Judge Wetmore will visit St. John, Hampton and Sussex before returning.

SICK MAN OF EUROPE IS REALLY SICK NOW

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The Temps' Constantinople correspondent reports that the Sultan is suffering from hemorrhages. Government affairs, he adds, are at a complete standstill and the ambassadors are inquiring at the palace daily regarding his Majesty's condition.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 11.—The officials inform callers at the palace that the Sultan was suffering from the effects of a chill during the past week, but that he has now completely recovered. His physicians, however, advised his Majesty not to risk exposure to the open air and hence the abandonment of the Selamluk Friday.

Today his Majesty's condition was improved sufficiently to enable him to attend to various affairs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.—It is stated that the Sultan passed a good night and that his condition this morning is somewhat improved. His Majesty's reluctance to submit to treatment has hitherto complicated the situation, but one of the palace doctors has induced him to allow the employment of a simple appliance which gave immediate relief. The doctor, in recognition of his services, has been promoted to the rank of General.
