A tremendous rain storm visited the city this forenoon. For some days past it has been threatening, and when it came it fell in earnest. For some time the water came down in torrents, and the sidewalks, gutters and streets were flooded. This rain was just what was required by the wooden pavement in Prince William street, and has had the effect of thoroughly settling it. Since the rain which had settled with the ground underneath, have been removed, and the whole levelled. The rain will likely raise the river, so that boats can run from Fredericton up, that is if it was as heavy up there as here.
