RAILWAY SMASHUP NEAR PARIS Paris. July 18 .- A smashup occurred on the Buffalo and Goderich division of the G. T. R. last evening between the station and the Grand River bridge. The heavy freight train passed safely over the big bridge, though the ties of it show some part of the box car to have been broken before reaching the bridge. A part of the sidewalk on River street was torn away and the wooden posts under an overhead bridge were dislodged. One flat car was derailed and a box car was dragged a quarter of a mile on the rails, the hind truck being thrown to one side. No one was injured. The wreck will be road freed for traffic.

Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 18 .- At 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour of the formal surrender of the 10,000 Spanish troops at Santiago, and the 10.000 others in the district of Western Cuba, which the Spanish flag was lowered from Morro Castle.

Amid impressive ceremonies, the Spanish troops laid down their arms American forces. Gen. Shafter and the manders and their staffs were escorted and hold it. by a troop of cavalry, and Gen. THE CITY HAD BEEN SACKED before they arrived by the Spaniards At the palace elaborate ceremonies took place. Exactly at noon the American flag was raised over the palace, and was saluted by 21 guns by Capt. Capron's battery. At the same time, all the regimental bands in our line "The Star-Spangled Banner," played after which President McKinley's conregiment. The Thirteenth and Ninth Regiments of Infantry will Temain in the city to enforce order and exercise municipal authority. The Spanish forces are to remain outside our lines. Steam launches from the New York, Brooklyn and Vixen entered the harbor and examined the batteries, the wrecks of the Merrimac and the sunken Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, and the torpedo firing station. They discovered six Spanish merchant steamers and one small gunboat in the harbor, and a prize crew was placed upon the latter. The torpedoes were taken up or exploded, after which the Red Cross steamer State of Texas, entered to give assistance to the sick and wounded in the city. The warships may not enter the harbor for several days, probably not until after the arrangements have been complete for transporting the Spanish prisoners to Spain. Nearly all the American men-of-war are in

Guantanamo Bay. MADRID IN PAINFUL UNCER-TAINTY.

London, July 18 .- The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: public here is in a painful state of uncertainty regarding Santiago. American dispatches are contradictory, and there is almost no information from Spanish sources. It is suggested that the delay is due to the fact that the cabinet communicates with Gen. Toral only through Capt. General Blanco, who has large discretionary powers, but this explanation is unsatisfactory. One thing is tolerably certain that t augurs ill for the speedy conclusion of peace. The cabinet at Washington seems more exacting about conditions than Gen. Shafter, and this is regard ed as indicating anything but a conciliatory disposition on the part of President McKinley at a critical moment, when a little generosity might turn the scales in favor of a peaceful solution, and when the local negotiaions between the two generals at Santiago might develop into large negotiations between the two governments. It is impossible, owing to their reserve, to say what ministers here regard as reasonable conditions; but I observe among their private friends an idea worth mentioning. In any peace negotiations, say these, the point of departure ought to be the publicly avowed object of the part of the United States, namely, the emancipation of Cuba from Spanish rule. If President McKinley restricts himself to this object, there will be no serious difficulty in coming to an agreement; because Spanish public opinion, official and unofficial, has come to recognize that Spanish rule in Cuba cannot be re-established. the other hand, a war undertaken for the specific purpose of liberating Cuba develops into a war of ruthless conects a cure. lines and join the Spanish forces at Santiago de Cuba. Gen. Miles, who arrived here on the Yale yesterday afternoon, says that Gen. Toral will send officers to the different garrisons in the province, notifying them of the surrender. The Spaniards in Guantanamo can be easily reached, and they will be ordered to come down the bay and surrender. Those inland. however, will be more difficult to communicate with, and it will probably be some time before all the Spanish troops are notified.

YELLOW FEVER SPREADS. New York, July 18 .- The transport, City of Washington, from Sibony, has arrived at New York with 300 sick and wounded United States soldiers. Admiral Cervera's fleet. Spaniards and one American died on the way from Cuba. New York, July 16.-The Post's Siboney cable says yellow fever is spreadrapidly. Doctors are alarmed, and Dr. Senn is discouraged. It is impossible to control it, and heroic measures must prevail. The number of cases at Siboney alone is 200. The majority of cases is from the trenches, where men sleep night after night in the water. Provisions are short, and the trail almost impassable. Dr. Senn's opinion is that in a fortnight hence 25 per cent of the men will be hors de combat. Refugees are flocking in with gold in one hand and paper in the other, begging for food. The Sun's Siboney cable says that Dr. W. E. Parker, who has charge of the fever patients, makes an official statement, with the consent of the military authorities, that a great number of soldiers are down with malarial fever, and about 300 are stricken with yellow

A SUNDAY WAR COUNCIL. Washington, July 18 .- An important conference was held at the White House last night, the participants being, besides President McKinley, Secretary Long, Admiral Sicard and Capt. Mahan, of the war board. Adjutant-General Corbin was present during a part of the deliberations. The happy conclusion of the campaign against Santiago affords the president and his advisers intense satisfaction, but no disposition is manifested to let the war rest for a moment. Even before the details of the Santiago campaign have been cleared away the expedition Santiago de Cuba, of the surrender of against Porto Rico absorbs the atten-General Toral's force is likely to cause tion of the president. The Raiding Fleet. TONS OF SHOT AND SHELL FOR

WATSON'S SHIPS. Washington, July 18.—Commander Brownson, of the auxiliary cruiser Yankee, was in conference with Secretary Long on Saturday, arranging for the trip of this ship with the large cargo of ammunition for Commodore Watson's squadron in its attack on the coast of Spain. The steamer Yankee will reach Santiago about Tuesday and the big stock of ammunition will then be placed aboard the battleships and cruisers. This transference of powder and shells is a delicate operation, requiring time, and it is probable that the week will be well along before this and the recoaling of the Yankee will permit the squadron to actually get under way for Spain. Owing to the important mission of Commodore Watson's squadron, and its possibility of long absence from an American port, every magazine on the ships will be full when the ships sail. Admiral Sampson recently made the requisition for the ammunition supplies as these had run low as a result of the engagement with the Cervera squadron and the frequent shelling of Santiago. One load already has been taken down on a supply ship, and the Yankee now fills up the full quota. Each battleship will have about 200 tons of powder, with 50 to 70 of the largest 12-inch or 13-inch shells, according to the size of the big guns; 70 to 80 8-inch shells: 200 to 300 of the shells for 6-pounders and other medium-sized guns. The cruisers carry approximately the same allowance, without the shells for the 12 and 13-inch guns. Aside from this equipment of shells, th squadron is well provided with solid armor-piercing steel shot. There has been no call for a renewal of the supply of armor piercers, as Admiral Sampson's fleet seems to have used very few of them thus far, confining their work to the big explosive shells The latter, although not made for aryour excellency; to effect the articles mor piercing, are tested by the navy department to go through four inches of solid steel, not exploding until through the steel. They have done such execution that Admiral Sampson has reserved almost his entire stock of armor piercers. CASUALTIES IN THE U. S. ARMY

IN CUBA. Gen. Shafter's Headquarters, July 18. -The final report of casualties in the army since it landed in Cuba three weeks ago has been forwarded to Washington. It shows an aggregate of 1,914 officers and men killed, wounded and missing. The killed number 246, of whom 21 were officers: wounded 1.584, of whom 98 were officers; and missing, 84, of whom none were officers. Of the wounded only 68 have died. Col. Pope, the surgeon-in-chief, says that this is a remarkably small number of fatalities, considering the large number of wounded. In the field hospitals there have been a remarkably small number of septic wounds, and but two cases of gangrene have developed, one of which resulted fatally. Washington, July 18 .- The appearance of Gen. Brooke at the war department gave a token of the purpose of Five the administration to begin immediately preparations for the dispatch of a military expedition to Porto Rico. It is understood that two weeks' time will be required to assemble the transports and get the troops and supplies aboard at one of the most available seaports. It is said that Gen. Miles himself will command the Porto Rican expedition aided by Gen. Brooke. It is expected that the campaign in Porto Rico will be short and decisive The troops will be landed at a point near San Juan, with an ample supply of field artillery to force their way directly into the rear of the town, while the fleet will dash into the harbor and

Talk of a Tariff War-Russian Retaliation on Germany-Reported Death of Prince Chimay's Divorced Wife

CLARA STILL BLOOMS. Buda Pesth, July 18.—There is no truth in the announcement telegraphed to Paris by the correspondent here of a newspaper of that city that Clara Ward, formerly of Detroit, Mich., the divorced wife of Prince Joseph of Chimay and Caraman, is dead. She is in this city and is in good health.

RUSSIAN RETALIATION. Berlin, July 18.-The Frankfort Zeitung says Russia has commenced making reprisals against Germany owing to the failure of the latter country to fulfill the terms of the commercial treaty by which she undertook to grant exceptionally favorable rates on Russian grain and other products. This action is taken on orders from the Russian finance minister, M. Dewitt, who has secured the exaction of higher duties on certain German imports.

NO EUROPEAN CONFERENCE. London, July 18.—A European conference over the Philippine question is almost certain to be vetoed by England. The belief is now general among diplomatists here that the Emperor of Germany will not find a suitable op-portunity for meddlesome activity in that quarter. The attitude of the German Government has suddenly become markedly friendly and conciliatory toward America. The emperor is likely to lose interest in what is going on m the South Seas when he is once fairly started for Jerusalem on a unique pilgrimage under the eyes of all the

BAD FOR SMITH.

London, July 16.-The publication of the Harmsworth new 3-penny (6 cents) magazine this week is incidentally causing a revolution among the news agents, and threatens to overthrow the monopoly which is held by Smith & Son, who control nearly all railroad bookstalls of the United Kingdom. The Smiths declined to handle the magazine unless the Harmsworths gave them rates. The Harmsworths refused, and other publishers of newspapers who have suffered from the Smiths' monopoly are flocking to the Harmsworths' standard. In the meanwhile the magazine is getting a tremendous advertisement, and nearly 1,000,000 copies of it have been sold.

DOMESTIC POLITICS. London, July 18.-Domestic politics have been enlivened by the revolt of the Liberal member for Grimsby against home rule. His protest against Liberal campaigning conducted for the purpose of putting the party in power to hold office during the pleasure of the Irish members carries him over to the 'Unionist' side, but it is not certain that he will resign his seat and seek re-election. So many Radicals share his views that the Liberal party should a home rule bill that strong party pressure will be brought to bear upon him to retain his seat. Meanwhile, the Irish local government bill is on the eve of passage-a complex revolutionary measure which has not been seri-

TALK OF A TARIFF WAR.

London, July 18.—There is talk in certain quarters that the autumn probably will see a tariff war between the United States and Germany, the recent general elections in the latter country having returned a much stronger commercial element to the reichstag. Members representing commercial interests all over Germany are urging the government to tax prohibitively all American manufactures, especially cycles, chachinery and hardware, which are competing with the German makes in the German markets. The government already has gone to the length of instructing the ministry of commerce to ascertain what alterations are possible in the tariff to this end, and a report is expected before the end of the

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE. London, July 18.—There is a marked change of opinion among well informed diplomatists here respecting the attitude of Germany on the Philippine question. It is believed that whatever may have been the motives or hopes of the German emperor in stationing a powerful fleet at Manila, he is not liketo intervene in the affairs of the islands. The facility with which the Santiago surrender has been arwithout help from Curopean powers indicates that the Philippine question can be settled by direct action between Spain and the United States

ERCED. London, July 18.—Special inquirles indicate that though the ministers here are anxious to keep on good terms with Germany, and clearly comprehend how naturally advantageous Anglo-German co-operation might be in Shang Tung, Shanzi, and other Chinese provinces, yet this anxiety could not be expected to survive any serious attempt on the part of the European powers, headed by Germany, to repeat toward America the tactics used toward Japan in the Chinese war, and to interfere to the advantage of Spain. English ministers, in a word, show no disposition to rush an Anglo-American understanding into written formulae, and are quite prepared to leave events to shape themselves on both sides of the Atlantic. one, for example, now talks, as Mr. Chamberlain did formerly, of an immediate Anglo-American alliance, or of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes floating together over bloody battlefields. but, on the other hand, England will certainly not stand quietly by, should foreign powers attempt coerce America as they coerced Japan. It is necessary to say this emphatically, in view of the authorized statements to the contrary effect published during the past week. EXTENDING THE PENNY POST-

AGE SCHEME. London, July 18 .- A timely illustration of the present English feeling toward America is to be found in the suggestion that the imperial penny postage just secured will be extended to include the United States, so that a half-ounce letter might pass from any part of Anglo-Saxondom to any other for 2 cents. Though so quickly accomplished, this imperial penny postage scheme probably will live in history as one of Mr. Chamberlain's great achievements. For a dozen or more years this dream of a common postage within the empire has been agitated in vain, both here and in the colonies Permanent officialdom in the treasury and the postoffice opposed the change, and permanent officialdom generally is powerful enough to kill anything in England. who can coerce permanent officialdom, and that man is Mr. Chamberlain, and Canada having given him the necessary lead in this postage matter, as recently in the matter of the German and Belgian treaties, he has accomplished it. The officials carried their opposition to incredible lengths. One day their attitude in the inter-imperial conference which has been in session here was almost mutinous, but he stood his ground, and in a few weeks the Queen's penny will take the place of the present twopence half-penny, and carry a half-ounce letter to or from any part of the United Kingdom, Newfoundland, Cape Colony, Natal and the crown colonies. The Australasian colonies pleaded financial reasons against a penny rate to England, but on Jan. 1 the penny outward rate to Australasia will be established, leaving each colony to take its own course regarding the homeward rate. CABLE NOTES Mr. Mulock, Canada's postmastergeneral, will attend a meeting of the colonial party at the House of Commons on Tuesday next. A vote of thanks for his active work and success in the matter, of postal rates will be proposed.

Bisley Camp, July 16.—Saturday morning opened bright and clear, with a nice steady breeze. As the day wore on the wind lessened and it became exceedingly warm, with uninterrupted sunshine. The good weather was an encouragement to good shooting, and in the several events in which the individual members of the team entered they did remarkably well.

Story of the Dominion Bank Robbery.

And the Recent Developments in the Case-$9,000 of the Stolen Bonds Recovered-A Remarkable Discovery.

Napanee, July 18.—The pretty town of Napanee is in a quiver of excitement owing to the latest developments in the Dominion Bank robbery case. The sentiment has greatly changed since the time of Ponton's trial. Then the popular opinion was that an investigation as an outrage; now everyone clamors for a thorough investigation.

The story runs back to two months before the bank was rifled, when Lawyer Lyons, of Belleville, warned the bank authorities that an attempt to burglarize the bank through a side entrance was in contemplation. Scion after this episode some very suspicious characters were observed in and near the town, while several houses were broken into. These individuals were three men and a woman. The woman was a Mrs. Seymour, who lived at Mrs. Scott's, just opposite the court house, and dressed as a dashing widow of 30. Mrs. Scott said that she always noticed that there was something strange about this woman, while her son Sidney urged that she be asked to leave.

PROWLERS ARRESTED. Nine days before the bank robbery last year two men were arrested by County Constable Sills for vagrancy. They had been prowling around the town, sleeping in barns and in the line grove just east of the town. These two men are alleged to be Pare and Holden, while a third, Richardson, is thought to be the man who was frequently seen alone, looking intently at the residences of prominent citizens. to other arrests. It is thought that When these two tramps were arrested a cartridge of copper was found upon them; also the brace of an umbrella, filed to a needle-point, and a crooked steel bar. The coppers were done up as it is usual in banks, and this evidence created a little stir at the time, for E. H. Baines stated that 50 cents in coppers coud very easily be extracted from the bank daily, and the bank know nothing of it.

SUSPICIOUS FACT. A pretty suspicious fact was that these tramps said they had had some laundry work done by the Chinese just behind the bank. These facts are now put together, and it is thought that the two tramps were really professional crooks, who had nightly been operating upon the safe and swiping coppers. The man Holden has been arrested in Boston, Mass. The man Pare was brought over to Kingston and remanded for eight days and sent to the jail to be under the same roof as Robert Mackie. SIGNIFICANT DOCUMENT. When a reporter went to the jail to see the prisoner, Mackie, he was presented with the following document: "Z. A. Vanluven, Esq., Jailer, Napanee, six extra guards will have to be put on "Dear Sir,-A man by the name of Mackie will probably be put in your charge some time today. please allow no one to see him under any pretense without instructions from

An important discovery was that three coins of a collection that E. H. Baines had specially marked were found upon him, besides some $40 or $50. These odd coins are considered of great interest by all on the scent. The fact of their having been found is told in a stage whisper with many "Don't say I told you." Mackie is said to have been with Holden frequently last summer. That is where he comes

SURPRISE OF THE STORY. But the surprise of the whole affair remains to be told for the first time. It is thought that Pare squealed on the rest of the gang. BASEBALL. CANADIAN LEAGUE STANDING. REPEATED THE DOSE.

Chatham was an easy victim for the locals Saturday, at Tecumseh Park. For the first four innings the game was close enough to be exciting, then the bombardment of Van Giesen commenaced. It was a regular Dewey-Sampson-Schley attack, and after being touched for three doubles and two singles in the sixth inning, the Darktown twirler made an unconditional surrender. He may have thought hard things about the ragged support he was given, and he also seemed to chafe a good deal about one or two decisions by Umpire Beal, but these things, though they hurt, should not to be shown, and there can be no doubt that Van Giesen's action was unwarranted. He began this inning, in which the game was really played and won, by sulking for a couple of minutes because the ampire did not call Grimshaw's line drive over the first bag a foul. The fireworks followed. McGinnis muffed an easy fly and was replaced by Mogg, Humphrey going to right field. Two doubles and as many singles had been made when Smink sent the ball against the fence for another two-bagger. Smink is a beautiful base runner. He doesn't hesitate a second, if he sees a chance, and success proved that he was not reckless Saturday. A passed ball gave him opportunity to gain third, and seeing that Van Giesen was not covering the plate while Phelps fielded the ball, Smink scored. This seemed to be the last straw for Van Glesen, and he left the box. White finished the inning and the game, but was lacking speed and control. Throughout Crowe did good work for the Londons, and was well supported. The third inning was a hopeful one for the visitors, until brought to a sudden termination by Mogg's single and Laroque's error—the only one by the locals—put two men on bases with no one out. Then Snyder and Jones struck out, and Miles sent a fly to Meara.

HAMILTON WON.

Hamilton, July 18.—Every man on both teams hit the ball in the Hamilton-St. Thomas game Saturday, but Hamilton players hit it oftener and hardest, and easily batted out a victory. Friske was in the box for Hamilton, and until Hamilton got eleven runs ahead he pitched great ball. After that he eased off, and the visitors got four hits in the eighth inning. LEAGUE CHANGES. Grimshaw, who for some time past has burdened the first bag for the London team, has been released and returned to Canajoharie, New York. Sam Laroque, captain of the team, will succeed Grimshaw. Laroque is in good form, and intends to let nothing pass him. Mohler, the new second baseman, and Kelb, the south-paw twirler, arrived yesterday. The additions are said to be strong men. Chatham on Saturday night released Popkay, Doty, White and McGinnis, and signed Hagerman and Lafleur, a recent battery of the defunct Saginaws. Pitcher Robb, of Bay City, on the decision of President Cal. Davis, has been given to St. Thomas. The management of the St. Thomas team wired him on the 11th inst., but did not send him transportation for three or four days. The London management wired him on the 12th, and the president decided that unless London could show they had a prior claim to the 11th, Robb must go to St. Thomas.

DEATH OF A HEAVY-WEIGHT CYCLIST. FOR GOOD ROADS. Ray Stone, the apostle of good roads, estimates that the farmers of the United States, in marketing the produce of their farms, haul 500,000,000 tons of freight yearly over 1,500,000,000 miles of public roads, and that the loss because of the difficulty of transportation is not less than $600,000,000 per year, which would pay the interest at 3 per cent upon the outlay of money sufficient to rebuild all the bad roads and maintain them in proper repair afterward.

Time, 4:33 2-5. MICHAEL BEATEN AGAIN. New York, July 18.-For the second time this year Jimmy Michael, the once invincible paced bicycle rider, was forced to drink the bitter cup of de-feat. His old schoolmate in Wales, Tom Linton, was the one to lower Michael's colors Saturday and at the same time he broke the world's record for the distance. Linton accomplished the feat in a 20-mile paced race at Manhattan Beach in the presrace at Mannattan Beach in the presence of 15,000 people. For four niles it was a pretty race, Michael leading by a few yards. Suddenly Michael's tire collapsed. Naturally Linton pursued him, and, after riding two laps of the fifth mile. Michael stormed and R. H. E. of the fifth mile, Michael stopped and pedaled slowly to "his corner," where he changed his damaged wheel for a new one. In the meantime Linton kept going like the wind and before Michael came back on the track was one mile When Michael left the track he was greeted with a shower of hisses. Mi-chael met with another slight drawback on entering his tenth mile, when his pacing teams broke a chain. After Michael let up there was little interest in the race outside of Linton's efforts to reduce the record. Although he tried hard, he could add no new figures until the fifth mile, when he started in by clipping 51/2 seconds off the record. He continued ahead of the record every mile until the finish, breaking the twenty-mile record by exactly seven seconds.

Michael at once challenged Linton for another race at 25 miles. Linton accepted, and the race will be run at Manhattan Beach track Saturday next, Taylore, of France, established a new kilometer record of :55 4-5 during the afternoon.

Thousands of women live in misery day after Thousands of women live in misery day after day, and week after week, suffering untold agony from these dreadful headaches. Husbands are disheartened, children neglected, and happy homes ruined. Most women strive to bear in patience the suffering which they consider part of life without looking into the cause or searching for relief. Food cannot digest without the bile which the liver supplies and hence the necessity of keeping the liver in good working order. To cure the headaches you must cure the liver and thus remove the cause of disease.

Dr. Chase spent years of his life in perfecting a medicine which acts directly on the kidneys and liver. Thousands of grateful women have testified during the past ten years to the effectiveness of this remedy for sick headaches. Many a home has been restored to happiness as a result.

The name of Gladstone will for long be a sacred memory, and a symbol of the highest power. In recognition of this fact, "Cosmopolis" (International News Company, New York), for July, furnishes memorial sketches by three writers of different nationalities, Mr. Justin McCarthy, M.P., contributes the English article, while F. De Pressense represents France, and Dr. Theodor Barth, Germany. As is appropriate at such a time, each writer is in full sympathy with the subject, and appreciates its greatness and interest. Mr. McCarthy, who has already said so much on this subject, has still something to say, and says it in his own graceful style. He shows what kind of orginality may be claimed for Mr. Gladstone; not the originality of inventing things previously unheard of, a gift which is not in the line of practical statesmanship, but the powers of shaping into a prac tical measure, the reforms for which the most intelligent and earnest spirits have longed. "I do not think it is too much to say that Gladstone introduced a new principle into English states manship-the principle that every measure must be based upon the con sideration of the common good of all. Up to his time we had but little political action which was not the action of a class." The writer recapitulates the great measures of Reform which give to the Victorian Era its distinctive character, and with which the Gladstone is inseparably linked, and dwells upon the Christian character of the statesman to whom "the glory of England" was "that England should prove herself to be just, fair and Christian; that she as she would be done by.' This is illustrated by his action in the matter of the Alabama claims. "Let er the outcry that was raised here at home, the manner in which Mr. Gladstone was denounced for having groveled to the Yankees, as the phrase went; and let us ask ourselves whether there was not as much heroism in that resolve that justice should be done in peaceful terms, as there would have been in inspiring England to a final struggle against a new Napoleon. In its ways the poor little struggle with the Transvaal Republic was brought to an end by an equal act of courage."

Those who know Mr. Pressense will not need to be told that his tribute is artistic in form as well as sympathetic in spirit. Speaking of the end, he says: "In this waiting for death there was a calm, an incomparable serenity. It was the evening of a splendid day. Mr. Gladstone had always been a fervent Christian. He believed, he loved, he hoped, he waited. A whole people, more than that, a whole world, followed with tender sympathy this final After developing this thought with much strength and subtle beauty, the French contributor "For my part, I pity those who feel that if such farewells place on the brow of him who rethem, they also do honor in a singular manner to the people who make them, and who know how to silence party-spirit. In this dark and troubled hour when it sometimes as if the world might expect the scandal of an impious and fratricidal war between the two great liberal nations of Europe, it is good that France knows how to lift herself above the region of clouds and storms, to render, simply and generously, homage to England's noblest son of the present century." In this spirit and style, the gifted Frenchman pays his tribute to the great Englishman. It is vell worth a careful reading. The following passage will show that man who cherishes such profound verence for Gladstone can be lashed into passion by other English politiclans: "It is just to notice also that Gladstone always fought against the bastard Chauvinism, the aggressive inperialism, the brutal jingoism, the first manifestation of which he saw in Palmerston, and that he lived to see in full blossom in Chamberlain, renegade on this chapter as on all others. In the famous Don Pacifico debate, he op-Palmerston's proud and threatening 'Civis Romanus sum,' a noble statement of European citizenship and the rights of Christianized peoples. He repudiated to the end the systematic provocations and the greedy annexationism of the member

Dr. Barth does not write with the same passion and power, but he gives

The freview of Gladstone's life, which will no doubt be very useful to German of-war thirty miles long; this, besides the most far-reaching that has yet been obtained in the general policy of important readers, though, of course, it can add readers, though, of course, it can add nothing to the knowledge of intelligent English readers. To us the most interesting point in this sketch is the comparison between Gladstone and Bismarck: "Hate follows constantly on the steps of passion, and the pious churchgoer of Hawarden possessed the energy of passion in the highest degree. In this he resembled Bismarck, but in this alone. It would be charming to sketch in the style of Plutarch a parallel-biography of these two fundamentally different characters. In that way, we might show how divine the ways may be along which a statesman may attain to greatness. We might also distinguish in the life of the state the Neptunic or volcanic developments, evolution and evolution. Bismarck is quite revolutionary, Gladstone a reformer; the first a political artist, the second a political business man; the one a master on the political field where the battle is fought with forces and not with "principles," the other creating his strength from the soil, and dedicating it to civic morality and economical common sense." Bismarck's successes lie as exclusively in the region of foreign politics as Gladstone's were in the realm of home affairs." No doubt, Dr. Barth, a leeder in the Liberal German party, would be glad to see some of Gladstone's principles applied to the political life of his own land, as, while being a real patriot, he is a believer in Free Trade, and has viewed with serious anxiety the atempts of the present emperor to put he clock back and check the growth of constitutional freedom. This threefold tribute is significant of Gladstone's manifold power, and illusrates in a small measure the great part he played in the peaceful evolution of Britain's life during this nineteenth

A WORD OF SUGGESTION It seems to us that the tremendous government supporters. interests at stake make it incumbent upon the friends of prohibition that because they had received pay for they choose their positions well and carefully. THE POWER OF IRONCLADS. The war has plainly revealed to us the formidable power of ironclad ships. The only limit to it, so far as the sea and the seaboard are concerned, appears to be the necessity of coaling. If a fleet of ironclads has coaling stations everywhere, there is no assignable limit to its power. cities, unless they can be fortified at enormous expense, will henceforth be always insecure. The nation which has many of them, or to which they are of importance, will live always in fear of attack. The range of a ship's guns and the destructiveness of projectiles are such that it would seem no ordinary coast defenses, such as forts or mines, would avail. The fort is at a disadvantage because the vesse is not at rest. The only thing, saving torpedoes, to which the ironclad ship apears to be invulnerable is vertical striking her unarmored deck, to fire, striking her unarmored deck, to which she can very seldom be exposed. Accordingly all nations are competing with each other in multiplication of

More ironclads, no doubt, will built; the other nations will vie in indefinite amount of the products of been recently made; and it was there labor is wasted in these engines of destruction. Between ilngoism and iron. struction. Between jingoism and ironclads, the civilized world seems in danger of relapsing into barbarism armed ing to withdraw from the conference if by the skill of a scientific civilization. If any man of science could invent an easy and certain method of destroying these pests. so as to rid us of the dangers from them, and the temptation to war which the possession of them brings with it, he would be not among the benefactors of mankind .- "Bystander" in the Weekly

The Ontario Opposition's Attack on Popular Rights.

Their Move Checkmated by Mr. Hardy -One More Link of Empire-Instructive Letter From Ottawa.

Special to The Advertiser. Ottawa, July 18.—The sudden call from Ontario's premier for the newlyelected legislature to assemble within the Pacific Province has made no misthe next three weeks has proved the all-absorbing topic of interest in Eastern Canadian politics this week, and what stronger support, still worse the unexpected summons created as things can happen to a government much commotion as the proverbial bolt than to have a strong and watchful from the blue. Whilst several matters PRESBYTERIAL VISITATION OF of provincial importance may be dealt with by the house, there is no doubt that the supreme interest of the ses- to expect with recognized, and indeed an almost essen- sion will center around the question of bountiful tial, part of every church's work. It the right of the election constables to has also come to be recognized in the exercise their franchise. For thirty years they have voted like any other citizens, and with as little question tunately the oversight of the Session is of qualification as the deputy returnpublic officials, but at the election last March the vote in many places, was so very close, that the change of a few votes in eight or ten constituencies would have turned out the government. A BRILLIANT IDEA. Conservative managers to object to the vote of the election constables, who are naturally supposed to be No one had ever before thought of putting these men in the class of those disqualified, public service in connection with the ed or public interest advanced by dewho may want faith either in the priving them of their rights of citizenship, The idea of disqualifying them was a sharp one, and possibly per-also a cannot be said in its favor. That Mr. Hardy's strong and unexate to meet such men as Dr. Grant pected counter-move will effectually check-mate this scheme is very evi ment. We seriously doubt the wisdom, dent from the hysterical hubbub that was created in the Conservative camp by the calling of the legislature. Mr. Whitney's reply to the premier's memorandum strikes one as peculiarly lacking in effective argument. Threequarters of the document is simply a statement of the case from the opposition leader's standpoint, and conneither proof nor argument, and the only actual reply to the case for the government begins almost in paragraph, but breaks off at the end of the first line with the remark 'that time and space will not permit a full explanation.'

When the fate of governments and the inherent rights of the people are at stake, the recognized leader of the selfappointed champions of civil liberties should not consider time and space. Mr. Whitney's assertion that the precedent set by Sir John Macdonald in 1887 at the instigation of the then Liberal opposition is not a precedent gov-erning the present case will satisfy no one, and it is a public misfortune that lack of time and space prevents him explaining more fully the only point upon which his side of the case can possibly succeed. While admitting that special legislation should be avoided wherever possible, the peculiar conditions of the present case justify Ontario's premier in calling the legislature together, and if in doing so he follows the precedent unanimously set -+ Ottawa in 1887, that should be a circumthat would commend his present action, even to his political oppon-

ONE MORE LINK OF EMPIRE. The success of the Canadian Govern-

many imperialists have been for many years engaged in endeavoring to bring about this much desired reform, notably Mr. Henniker Heaton, it is equally true that little or no progress has carried even to the extent of threaten-war which the possession of in imperial circles enabled her representative to overcome all obstacles. There is something peculiarly ungen erous in the deliberate attempt of a ection of their political opponents to detract from the real value of this latest service which the Liberal Government has rendered to Canada, by making the absurd claim that the credit was proctically due to their predecessors and one or two sympathizers in Old London.

THE YUKON ADMINISTRATION. It is with very general satisfaction that Canada receives the announce ment of Mr. Wm. Ogilvie's appointment as successor to Major Walsh at the head of the newly-organized administration. The country and the government alike are fortunate in securing the services d a man so peculiarly qualified for the work, and with such exceptional credentials as to character. While his predecessors, the pioneers of good government in that far away district, have worked faithfully and efficiently, and while the sensational stories propagated by political adversaries, have carried little weight with thoughtful readers in the absence of more reliable testimony, it will require a bold man, of more than averave recklessness, to continue to circulate similar stories, with Mr. Ogilvie at the head of affairs. Major Walsh has done well, and Mr. Ogilvie will continue the good work. His subordinindividually and collectively, ates, have been chosen with an eye to peculiar fitness for their individual duties and the pursuers of the terrible Sifton will have to start off on another tack. WILL WITHHOLD THE SUBSIDY.

The Federal Government has notified the C. P. R. that a lien will be placed upon the subsidy to which they are entitled on account of the Crow's Nest Railway, until the claims of the workmen employed by the sub-contractors under them for wages have been satisfied. With the report of one commission already in the hands of the government, with another commission now at work inquiring into the specific case of the two Nova Scotia lads, who were alleged to have died from neglect, and with the direct interference of the government to secure the monetary rights of the workmen, added to the reiterated assur-ances of cabinet ministers, on the floor of parliament, that their hands will not be stayed until full justice is done, the country may be satisfied that everything possible is being done to remove the stain which the cupidity of the contractors has cast upon the fair escutcheon of Canada.

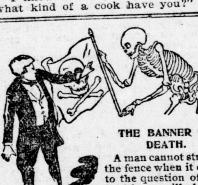

NOTES. Last, but not least, British Columbia has wheeled into line. While it may be admitted that party lines, understood in the east, are not so closely recognized on the coast, still the results of last week's elections in British Columbia has put the affairs of that province in the hands of men who have been largely trained in the Liberal school, and whose past record warrants the country in looking for a policy based upon the principles of true Liberalism. Viewed from this distance, it would appear as though take in the men she has placed in authority, and while the new government might have been better for some-

THE BANNER OF A man cannot straddle the fence when it comes to the question of good health or ill - health.

Either he marches under the flag of health or the banner of death. It is the simplest thing in the world to gain and keep health, if men and women will. For that reason it is almost incredible that men and women will continue to neglect their health even after they must realize that they are marching under the banner of death.

The great majority of diseases have their inception in indigestion, biliousness and impure blood. Among these diseases are deadly consumption, nerve-racking, brainwrecking nervous prostration and exhaustion, body-torturing rheumatism, insanitybreeding neuralgia, emaciating malaria and all manner of disfiguring blood and skin diseases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a cure for all these diseases, if taken in anything like reasonable time. It is not a cure-all, but cures the diseases mentioned for the reason that they are caused and aggravated by the same disorders. It makes the appetite keen, the digestion per fect, the liver active, the blood pure and builds firm flesh and healthy nerve fiber. Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking something else.

Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me of a severe case of poisoning of the blood," writes Mrs. Selia Ricca, of Coast, Santa Cruz Co., Cal. "Boils, one after another, would break out on my arms, and were very painful. I have tried the loudly praised sarsaparillas without any benefit whatever, and not until I took the 'Discovery' did I get well. That was two years ago, and I have not had a boil or sore of any kind since."

Weak and Low Spirited - Nervous Prostration - Appetite Poor and Could Not Rest.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla to others. It has been the means of restoring my wife to good health. She was stricken down with an attack of nervous prostration. She suffered with headaches and her nerves were under severe strain. She became very low spirited and so weak she could only do a little work without resting. Her sppetite was poor, and being so weak she could not get the proper rest at night. She decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, as we had heard it highly praised, and I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has perfectly cured all her ailments." G. SPANISH FLAG! A Staple Effort.

SPANIARDS ARE DYING FAST. Off Santiago, July 18.—Gen. Garcia, when asked if Pando's troops could have gotten into Santiago, said: "Decidedly not. Pando was completely cut off. Pando, who amounts to nothing as a general, anyway" (this was a hoarse laugh of defiance), "was at Manzanillo with nearly 4,000 troops. The rains made the hills impassable. The coast was his only hope, and there he would have to brave the fire of our ships Behind him he had yellow fever in its worst shape. Where else are the Span-ish troops? Back at Holguin, on the north coast. Between them and Santiago is an almost impassable range of mountains. In the passes are machetes and Cubans. Gen. Loque has 10,000 troops at Holguin, but they are being reduced very rapidly. The re-cords show that the deaths in the Spanish army in Cuba have been close to 30.000 a wear."

Under Morro Castle, harbor of Santiago de Cuba, July 18.-At exactly 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the Spanish flag was lowered from the staff crowning the height upon which bat-tered Morrow Castle spreads half way. Almost immediately after the flag was haulded down steam launches commanded by Lieuts, Hobson and Palmer entered the harbor, penetrating as far as the firing stations of the submarine mines. These mines were judged to be not as formidable as expected and later they were all explod-ed under the supervision of the Vixen. It was seen that two mines had been exploded at the time of the entrance of the Merrimac into Santiago harbor, but it is not thought probable that either of them had anything to do with the sinking of the craft. WAR NOTES. The state department posts a bulletin at Washington saying that Admiral Dewey pays a high tribute to the Chinese on board the American ships at the battle of Manila, and suggests that they should receive some recognition by being made citizens of the United States.

Matthew Craig Died at Brantford Hospital Sunday Morning-A Popular G. T. R. Man.

Matthew Craig, the London G. T. R. employe, who was injured Saturday morning at Paris, died at the Brantford hospital yesterday morning. The Brantford Courier says of the accident: The trains made close con-NEW YORK, July 16.-Butter is nection at Paris, and Mr. Craig had to run to catch the 10:30 train coming to Brantford. He hurried across the platform and made a jump for the train which was then pulling out of the station at a fast rate. The man caught the rail, but so great was the momentum that he was thrown back and fell between the platform and the train, his head striking one of the rails and in a moment being struck by the wheel of the last car. Mr. Craig's head was frightfully injured and the skull laid bare. All who witnessed the accident believed he was killed outright, but he still breathed, and was put upon the train and brought to Brantford, and taken immediately to the hospital. Dr. Digby attended to his injuries. Craig is very popular among the G. T. R. men here, where he worked for a number of years, and his sad accident caused much sympathy.

steers, was lost. Steamer and cargo were valued at $40,000. Two barges towed by the Alaska Commercial Company's steamer Portland, were lost in the same storm. They cost about $20,000. A similar fate overtook a new river boat, towed by the National City. The

SUMMONS REFUSED

Magistrate Parke Declines to Accept the Information of W. H. Bartram Against Judge Edward Elliot.

Magistrate Parke gave his decision this morning concerning the amenability of judges to the magisterial courts. Mr. Parke rendered his judgment on the matter of taking the information of Mr. W. H. Bartram, who applied for a summons to apprehend Judge Edward Elliott, for an alleged infraction of the statute, the judge having failed to hear a division court summons case. Mr. Bartram said the question rested on section 138 of the criminal code. A reply to this letter was received, in which Mr. A. Power, deputy minister of justice, had been instructed by the minister of justice to say that nothing had been found in the allegations to warrant any action by the department or by parliament. Six or Seven Fine Steamers Fall Prizes to the U. S. Navy-Fever Cases Number 800.

MORE PRIZES.

Six or seven fine steamers fall as prizes to the navy and army. The Spanish gunboat Alvarez had already been taken possession of by a prize crew from the New York. The other vessels lie at the other end of the harbor, at Santiago proper.

Soon after noon, Commodore Schley, with Capt. Cook, of the Brooklyn, Lieut. Seares, the flag lieutenant, Lieut. B. W. Wells, the flag secretary, Oquendo, and these, as a coincidence, work into the commodore schley, went into the commodore schley with the commodor of the four big simps which were the commodor by two are surely doomed to destruction. Everyone expressed satisfaction at the fact that Morro Castle was not demolished by the bombardment, Capt. Cook saying, "We need El Morro as an object lesson, and America is rather shy of ruins, anyhow."

THE OLD FORT. The old fort stands on the bluff, terrace fashion. From the water's edge to the brow of the beetling cliff there are huge caves, formed by the action of the waves, and round the base and in the superstructure are not a few caves made by the navy's projectiles. It would appear, however, that only one bastion was knocked to pieces, while the queer little sentry boxes, escaped almost intact. Morro Castle is the only imposing fortification in the harbor, and it is only so in appearance, since not a gun is mounted within or on the masked and open, had the only real terror-inspiring qualities as the inspection grew closer. Crowning the hill on the west of the entrance, were the famous six-inch rapid-fire guns, from the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes.

These were UGLY-LOOKING AND DANGEROUS while below, on brick foundations, on the western shores of the entrance were some revolving guns. These were the ones which poured such a bitter fire into the Merrimac.

Directly east of Morro Castle, on the crest of the plateau-like cliff, were six big guns, one or two of which were dismounted. ALL WERE DESERTED and, strange to say, not one appar-

Commodore Schley has over over again expressed the belief that the American fleet could possibly have entered the harbor without the loss of a single ship. The mines might have stopped ingress by sinking the leading ship, this is

A CHANCE OF WAR, and not so grave as many taken during the civil strife, nor as serious as would have been the situation had there been good batteries, properly manned, in the harbor. THE MERCEDES AND MERRIMAC. Commodore Schley's party first steamed around the wreck of the Regina Mercedes, which lies with her bow pointed toward the city. She had a list to the starboard, and rested on a reef near the foot of Morro cliff. The cruiser was sunk to the upper decks, on which one 6-inch gun remained. One torpedo tube was loaded, and the auxiliary batteries she had were in place. Evidently the crew of the Reina Mercedes left her in a hurry. This is less to be wondered at, when it is noted that there were great gaps in her sides, showing where two 12 and 13-inch shells had struck her. The sea washed gently through the after cabin of the cruiser, which was decorated in old-fashioned style, and the wind fluttered a red silk curtain. About 600 yards from the Reina Mercedes, and almost in line with her, was the wreck of the Merrimac, and on the very edge of the channel. ed ship alongside, instead of athwart the channel, the latter would have been well blocked.

One day, just before sunset, a visitor came in-a very good person, who did not interest, and always vexed her a little. He was one of those persons who is always going, and never goes. When his visit was over, it still took him a great while to get out of his chair. He made little feints, half rising, smoothing his hat, and always settling again at a word. Then, once on his feet, he would stand, wait, turn half away, act as if he wished to say something and was trying to recollect what, till one longed to give him a push out of the room. With all that, he was a good man in a negative way, and one liked him for the first fifteen or twenty minutes of his visit, and wished to be very civil. There had been some rain early in the day, and it had cleared in the afternoon, and now, at sunset, a sharp tramontana was growing, and becoming, from cool intermittent puffs, a steady, cold wind. The west window of the reception room was open, and the wind came in and blew across Valeria's shoulders. But her visitor was now standing, and had turned and twisted to such an extent that it seemed impossible that he would not presently edge toward the door. If she should rise prematurely, it might be all to begin over again. If she should close the window and ring for a shawl, he might sit down. She meant to wait till he should get two or three steps toward the door, then rise briskly with an "Oh, you are going?" give him her ingers, ring the bell and whisk him away before he knew. Then turning to close the window she could affect not to see him hanging about the door. And meantime the cold wind was pressing like a block of ice on her shoulders, and a chill was creeping over her from head to foot, and penetrating to her heart. At last the gradually attenuated leave-taking came to a point where she could sever it and she was freefree and deadly cold.

She wrapped a shawl about her and lay down on the sofa. She felt a little dull and confused, and took no other means to counteract the harm that she had received. Later Dr. Kraus came. She hardly knew what she said to him or when he went.

After a while she seemed to dream. Her room was dim and a black curtain hung round its walls, and behind this curtain she heard a step. Someone was running round between the curtain and the wall, as if seeking an exit into the chamber and finding none. The step betrayed agitation, and there was a breathless agitation in the voice that spoke to her. It was the voice of her mother, dead "Don't be afraid, Valeria! Your father will be near you," it said. And still running, and seeking to pass the veil that separated them, and repeating over and over the same words, she head the step and voice. "Don't be afraid, Valeria! Your father

Then all went out in darkness. She was delirious.

will be near you.'

Like a candle that is lighted for a moment, her consciousness came back. She was lying helpless, and there seemed to be a mountain on her breast. She struggled to breathe, and could not. Dr. Kraus stood at a table preparing some medicine, half turned away from her. "You have taken my breath away!" she gasped.

'No, I haven't!" he replied rudely, without looking round. Then, like a candle, the light of her eyes went out.

Again it came back, but after what interval she could not guess. Her room was dim, and she was alone. A light shone across the corridor from her study. Someone was there and she heard the rattling of papers and whispered words, in which she presently recognized Miss Cromo's voice. She read out the title of a story that Valeria had begun, and made a comment on it. They had, indeed, lost no time. Instead of locking her writing-table and waiting to see how her sickness would turn, they had immediately begun to examine her papers. And, again, she was aware for a mo-ment, at another time, of Dr. Lacelles sitting at her bedside. "And so they treated you very badly?" he said. He had a calm, quiet way that was very soothing. One could not imagine that he would ever show the rudeness of Dr. Kraus to an unconscious patient, or one he believed to be unconscious. "Yes, very ill!" Valeria replied mechanically; then wondered what she had been saving to him, and who had treated her ill; and, wondering, knew

She was roused again by a sound at her chamber door. Miss Cromo, dressed for a visit, came in, and took a chair at a little distance from the bed, and facing her. "She must not be made to talk," said the voice of someone out of sight, probably the servant. "Very well. I will look about a little. then," said the visitor, and began to glance about the room, at the furniture. "Oh, how pretty the toilet and curtains are!" she exclaimed. "How very Valeria was conscious: but she had waked only to the solemn struggle of life and death going on in her, and to a terrible sense of her own helpless-ness. Of the polite insincerities of life she knew nothing. All that she could bear of suffering was pressing upon her, and she felt this presence and triviality an insult. "If you came here only to make comments on my furniture, you had better go home," she said, with most uncompromising brevity, as dead to etiquette as a ghost.

Miss Cromo rose instantly and left the room without a word. Little by little came the faint, cold dawn of returning reason. It was no more a momentary glimmering, but a steady, though slow, increase of life. All was painful and cheerless. She was faint and emaciated: she needed simple medicines, which had not been given her; she needed nourishment, and someone to stand between her and all dis turbances; and she had nothing. Never once had she opened her eyes and found anyone sitting beside her, ministering to her, or saving a cheering word. If she waked in the night she was in darkness, though her servant came when called. No vision of charity, nor even of humanity, had appeared to her.

She rose one morning and dressed or orders, and she could hardly give them. Later Miss Pendleton came to see her, and talked till her head was dizzy. She was kind and very affectionate; but she talked as no one should talk to a sick person, who was still sick enough to be in bed and carefully tended.

"How long have I been ill?" Valeria asked her. Miss Pendleton thought a moment. then replied, "Six weeks."

She had been ill three weeks. It was that day three weeks since the evening when the tramontana struck her. Miss Pendleton had come for a special purpose. She wished Valeria to leave institute where she could have proper care. It was impossible to have the care she needed from a servant, the visitor insisted, and she would never recover if something were not done for

"All I need now is quiet and nourish-

Miss Pendleton persisted. It was a repetition of the visit she had made in the spring, six months before-the the same ignoring of all argument and mind, to which some momentary conthat linger for a little about the landsert her under this torment. She would not answer, and Miss Pendleton left to a swoon.

The next day several people came. She had told the servant that she would see no one, yet they were admitted. There were two doctors from some hospital-an old man, who took her hand, led her to the strong, full light of the window, and questioned her, his eyes fixed immovably on her face: and a young man, who, seated on the arm of a chair, swung one leg to and fro, and said nothing.

Valeria tried to give an account of herself, and could not. The light troubled her, the man's gaze distressed her, and she was annoyed at the manner of his companion, which was astonishing in the presence of a lady in her own house. She was expected to tell all the symptoms of an illness of which she knew almost nothing, and to describe her present state, which she only recognized as a misery of weakness and weariness.

Of Interest to Women.

carmine of Nature's rouge, laid on by frosty air, is infinitely becoming. Also that over-heated, sun-freckled, shiny noses and cheeks are the contrary. Still, the life movement, the muscle tension and expansion is so invaluable to youth and beauty that it should never be lightly shirked or avoided. Rise early, inhale the sweet, soft morning air, or row, ride, bicycle with the dying tints of eventide closing round you, and then, if you will, rest "lazily, lazily, drowsily, drowsily, under the midday sun." How the fashion of exercise has changed! And to this the evidently increased tallness of modern girls is attributable. Archery used to be considered a most engrossing exercise: the to a becoming club uniform of white muslin with colored sash worn sidehat shaded becomingly the fair archer's eyes. But, after all, it was only dawdling backward and forward to music. Compare it for one moment with the energy-inspiring game of tennis and its later-day sister cycling. The former supplies the place of cricket to ladies Here the eye and hand work together; the nimble foot and the supple form vie with each other in masterly activity. Nothing is more charming than to watch a bevy of white-clad forms flitting across the greensward, winning the admiration of both their masculine opponents and all onlookers. Walking is so monotonous, so slow. Happy indeed are these days of swift-flashing iron steeds within the reach of the humblest purse. Opinions have frequently differed as to the health-giving powers of the bicycle, but since more comfortable saddles came into vogue They often now prescribe iron externally as well as internally. Undoubtedly, of all exercises, riding ercise. on horseback is the very best and most delightful; but, alas, is not attainable by all who would willingly practice it. To ride occasionally, however, is a mistake if you cannot keep it up regularly, say, twice a week at least, as stiffness and many discomforts supervene. These, however, by use quickly disappear, and must not discourage the equestrian novice. The earlier a child the summer have been formed by uscan commence with a beloved and intelligent Shetland pony, the better for her figure and general growth. A reversible saddle is advisable for little mites under 10, used on alternate days, to prevent the supple bones growing crooked. The Princess of Wales has herself set us this example, and it is neither uncomfortable nor of unsightly appearance. Mothers of growing girls who have country gardens, do encourage them to climb the trees; never hush them down with that abominable word The unusual movement gives them self-reliance, makes them lissome, and strengthens their nerves. It is undoubtedly a lost relic of our ancestors' monkeyhood, this tendency to climb and as such is merely natural and tifully dyed cotton etamines are also health-giving. To such nothing is more exhilarating than a header and a swim. I would here re mark that the old-fashioned idea of getting cool before entering the water is now quite exploded. The warmer the body the less shock the system receives from cold water. No difficulty need now be experienced in learning, for public baths and instructors abound in most towns where formerly the life-saving art was rarely practiced or thought of. The rancher, being in need of money, sold all his ducks but four, to people in this city. In the gizzard of every duck were found gold nuggets. As soon as the discovery be came known there was a stampede to the rancher's place. Pannings of the surface ground along a creek were made, but only small colors were found. Before leaving the ranch two of the prospectors bought four ducks, all the rancher had left. On reaching town the birds were killed, and nuggets to the value of $5 20 were taken from the gizzard of each.

SEWER SYSTEM

the Asylum Plan-Its Success and Advantages.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I wish to call the attention of aldermen and ratepayers of the city of London to the asylum system of sewage disposal of downward filtration, as worked at the sewage farm before putrefaction takes place. It would be well for our city fathers and ratepayers to visit the sewage farm at the asylum when the pumps are working, forcing the sewage into the trenches, every twenty-four hours after the sewers are all flushed with water, to see the well laid out trenches doing their work after they are filled with sewage, to notice how soon the liquid disappear into the porous soil, leaving the sediment at the bottom of the trenches. Notice how soon the trenches can be cleaned ready for their turn again when required for filtering. Note when the trenches are being cleaned, and note the sediment or the soil that is taken from the trenches after it has got dry and scraped up in heaps. This is a valuable fertilizer, and would, if properly cared for, pay for the labor of cleaning out the trenches. There is nothing more disagreeable than the smell of suds in a washroom. Notice where the trenches have done their work and are cleaned out, and take a handful of soil from the bottom of the trench, and you will find no offensive odors arising from it. I was at the opening of the asylum sewerage system with engineers from all over Western Ontario, with a great been different times since with parties that were interested in its practical working, and believe no better system can be devised for the city of London-nothing cheaper to operate. I think the ratepayers of London, copying the asylum system of disposing of sewage will be taking no chances, as we have a practical demonstration of how it is done. Its work for the past eleven years has been a perfect success. Adopt this system and there will be no tanks wanted to treat it; no chemicals wanted to treat sewage; no sludge to cart away; no steam pumps wanted to force the sewage up hill, into the ditches as at the asylum farm; no many leading practical thinkers. This was about eleven years ago. I have pumping every 24 hours, and burning coal; no machinery wanted.

London will be free from the above. as we have a great advantage of standing probably 40 or 50 feet above the trenches at the cove. All the sewerage can be carried by gravitation to the trenches, and can be treated as it flows to the trenches without waiting 24 hours before it is disposed of, and before there is any chance of putrefaction taking place. The soil is porous and well adapted for downward filt-

I would advise the ratepayers of the city of London, to go slow, and he sure you are going to have a better system than what has proved to be a success for eleven years at the asylum, within one mile of the city limits. Yours truly, EBENEZER NORTH.

THE BAGPIPES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In reading over Shakespeare's poems, King Henry IV. first part, scene 2, I came across the following: Or an old lion, or a lover's lute, Yea, or the drone of a Lincolnshire bagpipe. Also woolen bagpipe is mentioned in another part of these poems. Did not the Scotch learn to play the bagpipes from Lincolnshire? So it is recorded. By inserting this you will oblige RICHARD ASHTON.

Buyers Held Forth in the Arcade on Saturday

While the Regular Session of the Lor don Cheese Board Was in Progress -Opinions Freely Expressed.

At the meeting of the London cheese board on Saturday, the officers and salesmen became thoroughly disgusted with the actions of the buyers, who, instead of attending the board, held forth in the arcade, while the regular meeting was in progress. Three buvers only atended-two of them for first time during the year-and they were deeply mystified by the course of other buyers. The absence of the dissenting buyers did not entirely stop business, 475 boxes being sold out of 3.625 offered by 18 factories. and salesmen met in the arcade, and for some time exchanged views and opinions aimed at one another. A number of the salesmen stated that the buyers had always been troublesome. At the opening of the present season they had sprung their greatest surprise on the salesmen by asking that all transactions be made at regular meetings of the board alone. The salesmen agreed to this. although it was not what they desired, provided that Listowel, Woodstock and Ingersoll boards would follow suit. The two former agreed, but Ingersoll would not. One member said that "the truth of the matter was that the buyers did not want Ingersoll to act with London, as it would prevent them from visiting factories thereabouts on other than the market days." The buyers were trying to cause the downfall of the London board, but in this they would not succeed. Offerings: Brigden 155 Thompson's 188 Glanworth 262 Ridgetree 205
