

FARMER KILLED HIMSELF, WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN

All Found Dead With Furniture Upset and Every Evidence
About the House of a Terrible Fight—Head of Little Girl Was Shot Completely Off.

[Canadian Press.]

Red Deer, Alta., July 28.—At noon Sunday, George Robinson, a prosperous farmer of the Rumsey district, was found lying in his own home with the top of his head blown completely off.

Across his body was a Winchester shotgun. Opposite him on the floor was the body of his wife, shot through the right breast, her face bruised and beaten almost beyond recognition.

In the kitchen the 12-year-old son of the couple was found shot to death, while on a bed in the rear bedroom was the body of their 3-year-old daughter, her head blown completely off.

Three empty shells were found on the floor of the house and a fourth in the gun. Furniture was overturned, and there was evidence of a fierce fight found in every room.

The tragedy evidently occurred as Mrs. Robinson was preparing breakfast. Three plates had been placed on the table and the baby was still in bed.

Coroner Gibson had an inquest on the bodies, which were afterwards conveyed to Munson for interment.

Robinson was formerly a railroad clerk, but took up a half-section of land and went to farming. Mrs. Robinson was formerly the wife of Dr. McFarland, and had one boy, aged 9.

After the doctor's death she took up a half-section of land near Robinson, whom she ultimately married. The 2-year-old child was theirs. After their marriage it is reported quarrels between the couple over their possessions were frequent.

MAYOR INVITED TO TAKE A HOUSE
NEAR INCINERATOR

Would Then Learn All About Those Odors Which He Says Don't Exist.

Residents May Take the Matter
Before Public Health Dept. of Province.

Despite the fact that an attempt is being made to build up an alibi for the incinerator, the people who live near the plant continue to assert that it is a nuisance they cannot put up with.

"We are going away for a trip and we are mighty glad to go," said one householder. "The mayor says there are no odors before he has been near the place. Others have evidently come down when there was no wind blowing and have not thought there was anything in the air. But if they lived here they would think differently. It simply means that the people down here will have to do something before long. If the municipal authorities won't recognize us, we may go to Toronto, and have someone from the provincial board of health come and spend a short time with us. If Mayor Graham can spend 24 hours in this locality without making a lot of faces and without expressing a desire to live in the part of the city he at present resides in, we shall be satisfied."

The trouble with the whole incinerator matter seems to rest in the fact that there was no provision by an expert of its purchase or installation. Despite the fact that other incinerators could have been built cheaper and with a guarantee, no tenders were called for. Mayor Graham took the matter into his own hands, and if the incinerator is proved unsatisfactory, there is no saying what recourse the city will have. How binding the contract the city holds may be and whether there is an absolute guarantee of odorlessness are not known.

Port Clarence, Alaska, July 28.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson's Canadian expedition, which will spend three years in scientific research work in the Arctic, set out for its destination early today, when the old whaler Kariuk sailed from Port Clarence. The Kariuk was accompanied by the gasoline schooner Mary Sachs. The power boat Alaska, which will be used by Dr. R. M. Anderson's southern party, remained at Port Clarence to complete repairs and probably will not leave until Wednesday.

LOSS WILL BE HEAVY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Forest, July 28.—During the thunderstorm which passed over this district last evening lightning struck a barn on the property owned by Mrs. Bannister. In a short time the structure was a mass of flames and was destroyed. All this season's wheat, twenty-five tons of hay, cut recently, and all implements, were destroyed.

The buildings were located on concession 14, of Plympton, and Charles Steer was the tenant. He was in the barn milking when the bolt struck, and had a close call. Acting promptly, however, he succeeded in getting all the cows and other cattle out.

Mrs. Bannister's loss is $1,750 on which she has an insurance of $750 in the London Mutual. Mr. Steer's loss is $1,200, on which he has $400 insurance in the London Mutual.

BURSTING OF MAIN
FLOODS HORTON ST.
MAKES CATARACT

For Eighteen Hours Throws One Hundred Gallons a Minute
Into the Air.

Temporary Main From Hydrant
Put In in Order to Supply Transformers.

Bursting of a four-inch service main of the waterworks at 5 p.m. Sunday ate over 200 cubic feet out of Horton street east of the Horton street pumping station, flooded the south half of the street, caused a small-sized lake to form at the corner of Horton and Ridout streets, and started a miniature cataract that threw 100 gallons of water a minute into the air for over 18 hours. Electrolysis is blamed by the waterworks department for the break.

Couldn't Be Stopped.
The fact that the main that burst is the same one that feeds the transformers at the Horton street station prevented it being shut off yesterday afternoon. It was not considered by Manager Claubitz, however, enough to cause the men to work all night, so it was allowed to run until this morning.

In order to provide a supply for the transformers when the main was shut off, waterworks Superintendent Thos. Hodgkinson constructed a temporary 2-inch main from a fire hydrant at the northwest corner of Ridout and Horton streets, to the pumping station hydro transformers. The "main" was buried in a shallow trench, run under the car tracks and finally to the sidewalk on Horton street. It was carried over that by earth supports and so on down to the transformers. This temporary work was completed by 11 o'clock and the main was shut off.

It was only recently that the Horton street four-inch service main was replaced to a point almost to where yesterday's break occurred. The section of main there is an old one and electrolysis from the street car tracks is blamed. The water ate its way through the six feet of ground to the surface and before the water was shut off a hole had been dug by the force of the water that was more than six feet square.

"The break was not means a serious one," said Superintendent Hodgkinson, this morning. "It was in an old section of pipe and the only reason the main was not shut off was because of the transformers in the station that are fed off this pipe. When we put in the new pipe we will also put down a valve, so we can cut the surface off just above and below the station intake. That will make it almost independent."

"We didn't call the men out yesterday because the break was not serious enough to warrant it," said General Manager Claubitz. "It was rather a spectacular break, but that's all there was to it."

WARM WELCOME
FOR BRITISHERS
IN QUEEN CITY

Parliamentary Party Spent Sunday Sight Seeing at Niagara Falls.

Off For Trip Up the Lakes and Then to the West.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, July 28.—In fulfillment of a large and pretentious program the visiting members of the British Parliament started sightseeing with a vengeance this morning. Sunday was spent at Niagara Falls, and after an extensive tour of Toronto as guests of the city council an informal reception was held at the Board of Education, where Sir James Whitney and Hon. J. Foy were genial hosts. An hour was spent in social fraternizing.

Both members of the Provincial Government engaged Unionists, Liberals and Laborites in conversation. In fact, the joke of the occasion was a lengthy talk between Mr. Foy and Mr. Crooks, the famous Laborite. The opinion was expressed that "Foy is following the Labor member around closely because he is used to watching 'Crooks'."

No speeches were delivered, the heat of the day making it convenient for all parties to dispense with formal salutations. Mr. Arthur Hesselwell, Liberal M. P. for Huddersford, in conversation, expressed his sympathy for the word "Indemnity" as applied to the money received by members of Parliament.

"We have been searching for a word other than 'pay' for some time, and I shall be glad on my return to England to tell Lloyd George how you treat the subject in Canada. Why 'Indemnity' is great, and removes all the objection that has arisen over members of the British House receiving more 'pay.'"

The visiting parliamentarians are of the opinion that newspaper photographers are more to be feared than reporters. For the five hundredth time, said one member of the party, he was asked to join a group to pose for a picture. Either the Canadian newspapers have lots of money to spend on photography is not costly in this country.

Ladies Delighted.
The lady members of the party are particularly delighted with the entertainment that has been provided. Refreshments were served in the speaker's apartments before the company continued on their sightseeing tour, and expressions of gratitude were heard on all sides at what has so far been seen of Canadian hospitality. The party left for Port McNicol at noon en route to the west.

BURST in 4-inch main on Horton street, just east of pumping station, where 100 gallons a minute escaped, ate away over 200 cubic feet of earth, flooded corner of Horton and Ridout street, and blocked traffic on half the street.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IS THE COST TO THIS CITY OF MAYOR'S "ECONOMY"

Discharging of City Architect Nutter Has Cost the Municipality
$10,000 and the End Is Not Yet—Board of Education
May Have Architect Department of Its Own.

Economy!

That was the watchword of the Graham regime when it took over the city administration. Economy was the excuse offered when A. E. Nutter, city architect and building inspector, was "fired" by the 1912 council. It is the same economy that has cost the city more than $10,000 since the action of Mayor Graham et al. in moving that the office of city architect be abolished, a move that was consummated in Architect Nutter's retirement into private practice on May 1, 1912.

When City Architect Nutter was let out, the city architects' bills amounted to $1,200 a year, his salary from the city, and an honorarium of $300 or so voted him by the board of education. There was a fight on the council over the said honorarium, and the city architect's office was closed.

Summed up Mr. Nutter's account with the board of education would look something like this:

Alexandra School	$100.00
Empress	256.16
Simcoe	579.15
Victoria	307.70
Total	$1,242.26
1913	$300.00
Talbot	$300.00
Chesley	1,000.00
Total	$1,300.00

This Year's Bills.

This year over $5,000 will be paid by the board of education for architects' fees. Another $2,500—or more than that—will be paid to the city architect—will be paid out on the architects' work for the courthouse improvements, $2,000 or so will be paid on the construction of Victoria Hospital additions, while the construction of the market square comfort station—that municipal monument to last year's council—will be $600 or $700 more.

Unless some action is immediately taken by the council to provide a city architect, the board of education will in all probability inaugurate a department of its own. Next year the building department will be asked to pay as big as it was during 1913, and members of the board have expressed their disapproval of continuing the present policy.

Comparison of Costs.

A comparative statement of what it cost the city under the old system, before the Graham administration decided to let Architect Nutter out, would look something like this:

Old System.

Architect and building inspector	$1,200
Board of education fees	300
Total	$1,500

New System.

Building inspector	$1,200
Board of education	500
Comfort station	500
Hospital trust	2,000
Courthouse repairs	2,500
Total	$11,200

What "Economy" Costs.

Added to the balance that shows a deficit of $9,700 for "economy" is a little series of accounts paid last year as a result of $1,252.26 paid last year by the board of education. This brings the total to $10,952.26 since Mr. Nutter was discharged fifteen months ago, or almost a straight loss of $1,000 a month through the economical moves of the Graham regime.

While the payments for this year's work have naturally not been completed a statement of the money already paid out for architects' fees would be:

Board of Education—

A. E. Nutter, Chesley avenue	$1,000.00
A. E. Nutter, Talbot	300.00
Watt & Blackwell, Aberdeen	1,150.00
H. C. McBride, Victoria Hospital	850.00
Watt & Blackwell	60.00
F. E. Swales	221.20

Cost of Schools.

The board of education made three extensive alterations this year. The full accounts for these have not yet been paid. When they are, the total will be run up to over the $5,000 mark for the year's operations. The architects are allowed 5 per cent of the construction cost, and the buildings were: Aberdeen school, $70,000; addition to Chesley avenue, $35,000; addition to Talbot street, $10,000 (estimated). The accounts of the courthouse alterations, of which the city will have to pay half, have not yet been submitted by County Treasurer McEwen, but by the time the work is completed there, the fees of H. C. McBride, the architect now in charge, will be over $2,500. The hospital accounts are not yet in, but the estimated architects' and engineers' fees for the alterations there and the installation of the new heating system, is placed at $2,000. The same applies to the public comfort station.

It Pays Mr. Nutter.
It might almost be called an irony of fate, or it might be called something else, but in the fifteen months that A. E. Nutter has NOT been a city employee he has collected more money from the city (by almost twice than he ever did while actually enjoying the somewhat doubtful honor of being a "city official").

Summed up Mr. Nutter's account with the board of education would look something like this:

Alexandra School	$100.00

REBEL LEADERS ARE TRYING TO ARRANGE PEACE

Disheartened By Defeats and Dissensions Chinese Are Tired of Fight.

Red Cross Society Has Arranged
For an Eight Day
Armistice.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 28.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says the Red Cross Society has arranged an armistice between the government forces and the rebels which probably will last eight days. The correspondent says that 800 southerners have surrendered.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Peking says: "The rebel leaders, disheartened by defeats and dissensions in their ranks, besides approaching President Yuan Shi Kai with a view to negotiating peace, are transferring their funds to Japan. Since martial law was declared here, a number of daredevils who locked to Peking when the revolt started, bringing large supplies of bombs, have been arrested and executed. Many of them were women."

A DANGEROUS POSITION.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 28.—Telegraphing from Peking, the correspondent of the Times says that the strategic position of the Nanking rebel army, in view of the likelihood of rear attacks from up and down the Yangtze River, is decidedly dangerous, and that nothing short of a decisive victory can save them from being completely surrounded and defeated.

DISARMED MANY.

[Canadian Press.]

Shanghai, July 28.—In accordance with a proclamation issued Saturday, the municipal police, reinforced by a strong body of Shanghai volunteers, went yesterday to the rebel headquarters at Chapel, immediately north of the foreign settlement boundary, where they disarmed three hundred soldiers and twelve officers and took six three-inch guns. There was no actual resistance on the part of the rebels, but for a brief period there appeared to be the prospect of a conflict. The rebels, however, were overawed by the firm attitude of the municipal police. All was quiet here Sunday afternoon. Detachments of British, American, Japanese, French and Italian bluejackets are patrolling the settlement and the Chapel boundaries.

COOL LINCING.

The rebels Saturday captured the Lien-ching, a Chinese admiralty yacht, which it is believed was bringing dispatches to Shanghai.

The departure of transports from Chao by points to the probability of a battle at the Wu Sang arsenal. During the last 30 hours all has been quiet, and the northern soldiers have been employing their leisure time in the streets and wire entanglements on the roads.

WU TING-PANG is actively engaged in negotiating for peace, but the northern generals are not empowered to treat with him, as Shanghai forms only an item in the general revolt. Thus far, however, the negotiations have been successful, as the northerners have resolved to fight only if they are attacked.

Score the Japs.

The Chinese are loud in their denunciation of the Japanese, whose assistance is held to have been mainly responsible for the success of the revolt from which the business community, unlike in 1911, has markedly abstained from taking part. There are wild rumors in circulation that concessions have been promised Japan by the rebels, and it seems undeniable that some material assistance in the way of money and military instruction have been lent the rebels in unofficial Japanese quarters. The Japanese Government's attitude, however, seems most correct, and it is doing its utmost to remove all grounds for reports that it expects to benefit through the success of the rebels.

Philanthropists already have organized efficient relief measures, and fugitives will be given free food and shelter.

French Grammar Is To Be Superseded

New Book Will Be Forty Cent
Cheaper Than Old.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, July 28.—The Ontario education department has sent out orders superseding the high school French grammar, lately in use, by a revised French grammar, which must be exclusively used by July 1915. Until that date the old grammar may be used under the authority of the department. The new book costs sixty cents, which is forty cents less than the old, and the reader in connection cost eleven cents.

Notice is also given that a revised edition of the public school spelling book, somewhat smaller than the one now in use, will come into use in July of next year.

A new high school history of Canada, which was to have been ready in September, will probably be somewhat delayed.

The department will insist upon regulations being carried out, and a necessary will withhold grants from schools using unauthorized books.

MILITANT RIOT
ENDS IN ARREST OF MANY WOMEN

Sylvia Pankhurst, Who Had Been Released, Was Leader in the Outbreak.

Police, Aided by Many Motor Ambulances, Soon Scattered Big Crowd.

London, July 27.—Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested this afternoon. She made a dramatic appearance at a militant suffrage meeting in Trafalgar Square, and delivered a defiant speech. She then led a riotous crowd towards Downing Street, with the avowed intention of delivering petitions from the east-end women at the premier's house.

An enormous crowd swarmed excitedly to Whitehall. After a violent struggle with both the mounted and foot police, the mob was broken up by the intervention of eight or nine motor ambulances, which were coming to a standstill in the square.

Two vehicles partly barred the entrance to Whitehall, and caused the surging mob to break into little sections. The police were then able to scatter them.

Miss Pankhurst, twelve other women and eleven men were taken to the police station. Miss Pankhurst's release was under the cat-and-mouse act has expired. She was removed to Holloway Prison, where she will continue her sentence for incitement to riot.

This afternoon's events began with marching to Trafalgar Square, where quite 10,000 people assembled of a small procession of the East London Federation of the Women's Social and Political Union and the Men's Federation for Women's Suffrage. At the head of the procession were men and women who carried sticks flying the suffragette flag.

Arrival was unopposed by a small force of police. As the women came off dressed in gray and wearing a small mauve hat, they were helped on to the plinths. While the women were going on suddenly her name was shouted. She darted to the front amid a roar of cheering. "It's me going back to prison today," she shouted. "Not if we can help it!"—but before doing so she was going to take these petitions to Downing Street.

Surrounded by Police. In previous speeches she had talked of making the same journey with a warning to the police forces waiting in the vicinity. When the mob led by Sylvia Pankhurst had a bodyguard of about one hundred youths and men marching with arms linked, was broken up by ambuscades, they found a double row of constables across Whitehall near the war office, and another cordon at the entrance to Downing Street, while the police were in the war office there was a sharp fight with sticks and umbrellas. The police used their batons.

With the exception of a woman who was charged with breaking a window in the home office, all the arrests were for obstruction or assaulting the police. While in the detention room at the police station, Sylvia Pankhurst was taken to a heavy wooden standard rule used to measure the prisoners. Mrs. Pankhurst's nurse today said that as the result of a transfusion she was rapidly improving. The young woman who supplied the blood was selected from a large number of volunteers.

Slapped Her Face. Wild scenes were witnessed at a number of suffragette meetings at the Marble Arch, when the platforms were rushed by a crowd of several thousands. A strong and heated argument between a woman speaker and a man in the audience ended with blows, the suffragette hitting the questioner on the head, and the man retaliating by slapping her face. A series of free fights followed.

The crowd hustled the speaker off the platform, and carried and dragged her to the gates of the Marble Arch. Many men and women struck at her and tore her clothes. The police officers had great difficulty in protecting her. Placing her and a woman friend under one of the arches, the police officers stood between them and the crowd.

Overcome, the suffragette speaker threw her arms round her friend and burst into tears, amid boos and peering from the crowd. Finally, a taxicab was obtained and the women were driven off, the driver dashing through the crowd, scattering them. Other platforms were meanwhile rushed, and all the meetings broken up.

Record for Five-Mile Event.

Toronto, July 27.—While attempting to make the turn into the back stretch on the second lap of the five-mile race for the amateur motorcycle championship of Ontario on Saturday afternoon Benjamin Wilson, of Rochester, misjudging his speed, allowed too much of the turn and was thrown from his saddle into the fence, being instantly killed.

The members of the St. John Ambulance Corps ran to the spot, but found they could do nothing. The man having suffered a compound fracture of the skull, death being instantaneous. The body was removed in an ambulance to Miles' undertaking parlors, where an inquest was held by Coroner W. J. Greig in the evening. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Await Orders. The body is being held, awaiting instructions from the deceased's parents, now in Buffalo on a holiday. Over six thousand people in the grandstand witnessed the accident. The race, which was the sixth of the Ontario Motorcycle Championships at Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon, was the premier event of the day, and many Canadian and American riders were entered.

The riders had just flashed past the stand at the finish of the first lap. Wilson was then in third position and going about 50 miles an hour. At the southeastern turn the apparatus misjudged his speed, and instead of running close to the pole, like the other riders, made a very wide turn. In doing so he ran on to a small ridge of grass that extends about three feet from the fence to the track. After from the fence to the track the grass was very rough, and he lost control of the machine, which swerved.

He hit the fence, and shot him head first into a post. The force of the impact was so great that he was killed. Some of his companions, however, pleaded with him to enter, and he finally acceded to their wishes. While there have been many spills at the different auto and motorcycle events held in Toronto, this was the first fatality since the inauguration of the game here four years ago.

Three Killed by 3,500 Foot Fall

[Canadian Press.]
St. Maurice, Switzerland, July 28.—A terrible sight was seen from Salva last night. Three Alpine climbers were observed to be in difficulties and then to drop 3,500 feet off the Salva tower of the Dent du Midi. The mountain climbers are believed to have been Frenchmen who ascended the peak without a guide, despite warnings of danger.

It is not often that a French paper praises the German Kaiser, but recently the Paris Figaro, in an editorial signed by Gabriel Hanotaux, said that William II. deserves the enviable title of the "Emperor of Peace."

Janie---Good Time Summer Girl--- Can't Forget Her Tom

And the Other Fellows Can't Fill Tom's Place in Janie's Loving Heart —Another Picture and a Fable From the Fascinating Pen of Alice Goddard.

BY ALICE GODDARD.

This pretty Janie is persuasive tonight for she is obliged to sit on the front steps of the city boarding house while her real Tom is away at the seashore.

"Why couldn't that old department store manager let me go on my vacation the same time that Tom did?" she thinks. Although Harold sits beside her and Phil bends over her shoulder and Jimmie proffers a box of chocolates and Bob comes up with a great bunch of daisies, she cannot help wondering if Tom is strolling down the sands under the silvery moon with some other girl.

Is he wishing she was with him or is he taking to heart the poet's advice—

"If far away from the lips that you love, You'd better not make love to the lips that are near."

All the other boys are whispering honeyed words to Janie and each one given as follows: Grand Trunk station, 100 ft. Canadian Pacific building, 100 ft. Hall, floor level 808, highest point in city, corner St. James and Richmond streets, 940 feet, Asylum 854 feet.

Answer to Business Girl.

BUSINESS GIRL: As you specially request it, I am not publishing your communication, but answer you this way. You need not write them a letter. They will be entirely in keeping with the proprieties to mail your cards in the way you mention, to reach the couple on their "at home" day. Use a small envelope.

You are perfectly welcome to the information. Call on this corner again. It is a pleasure to read such a neat, well-written letter as yours.

On Being Introduced.

Dear Miss Grey: As this is my first time to trouble you with over long letters as to length or number of questions, I wish to thank you in advance, as I am positive that you will help me out with my questions.

1. When being introduced to a young lady is it proper for the lady or gentleman to offer his or her hand?

2. I am sixteen years old and stand five feet three and a half inches, what should I weigh?

3. What is your opinion of my writing?

4. I am writing you now, truly, "MURRY."

A.—1. Ordinarily, it is not customary, but if the gentleman being introduced is a special friend of the family or of another friend, the lady may offer her hand on the city steps, upon meeting him for the first time. In church and club circles, too, it is token of good fellowship to shake hands with new members.

2. From 115 to 120 pounds would be a good weight.

3. It is very neat, but I should have loved you more, Muriel, if you had regarded the rules printed at the head of this column, and written on but one side of the paper. Other folks please note this gentle reminder.

Tea-Table Talk

I do not know any country where family life is, on the whole, pleasanter than it is in Japan, when there are children and as long as the children are little folks, writes Joseph King Goodrich in "Our Neighbors: The Japanese."

Rejoice Over Babies.

Ever since the beginning of that indefinite period which we call "modern times" the birth of a child has always been an occasion for rejoicing in Japan.

To be sure, that joy was very much greater when it was a boy baby; yet the Japanese have never displayed such intense dislike to girl babies as have the Chinese. One great reason for this was that the population of Japan was not so dense as in China. It was easier to provide for children, and therefore there was no incentive to our girl babies out of the way. I am sorry to say that very lately, since the Russo-Japanese war (1904-5), when the Japanese people are almost crushed by the weight of taxes to provide money with which to pay war expenses and to keep up army and navy, the number of cases of female infanticide is increasing alarmingly.

In Japan on the third day of March, the third of the third month of the lunar calendar, there is a great festival in honor of the little girls. The reception room is arranged with shelves all round it, and on them are placed dolls of all sizes and kinds. Some of these dolls are heirlooms that have been in the family for generations, each festival bringing an addition. I have seen some of these treasures that I knew were more than one hundred years old. They are representations of Mikado, Daimyo, Samurai of old times, and too many for me to attempt to name them. The members of the family all dress in their best; but the little girls are made up in brilliant new gowns, with enormous obi (the broad sash) and hair ribbons or flowers in their queer coiffures. Friends are invited to call at any hour of the day or night. Then they are regaled with cakes, confections, and tea, of course. They are also entertained with music, the little girls, if they play samisen or koto or biwa, being the star performers. It is a happy day for the girls.

The Boys' Festival.

On May fifth (fifth day of the fifth month, old style) is the boys' turn. As a preliminary, great fish made of straw, called "Koinabiki," with open mouth and a hole at the tail to let the wind blow through, are hoisted to the top of a pole—a fish for each boy, usually—and swung in the breeze. If the fish were swimming. These typify strength and courage; the fish are supposed to be bravely stemming the current. Just so the boys must bravely struggle against the adverse current of life's stream. Again, the family is dressed in its best; but the boys have the new clothes, only these are of sober colors; no Japanese boy ever wears a bit of red or any bright hue, and their obi is narrow, plain gray, brown or black. The entertainment is not so elaborate as was that in March; such would not be appropriate for little men.

All through the year there are festivals of some kind, cherry blossom parties, summer picnics, autumn gatherings, or winter revels, indeed, in a truly Japanese family, by whom old-time customs are observed, no matter whether it be one of poverty or of moderate wealth or of affluence, the home life is a very happy one.

No respectable Japanese matron or young lady of over fifteen ever appears in public in one of the gaudy, brilliantly colored kimonos that are affected by ladies of America or Europe. The so-called "Japanese tea gowns" are unknown to Japanese ladies. They and the starting kimono mark an unfortunate class of women who are not mentioned in polite society.

CHERRIES AND PINEAPPLE PREPARED TO SERVE.

Two bowls of cherries.

One bowl of pineapple.

Three bowls of sugar.

Drain juice from cherries and add to the sugar. Dissolve, then place on fire and heat very slowly. When boiling add fruit. Let boil very slowly until the juice does not spread when dropped on a plate. Do not stir too much or the fruit will be broken. Put in cups with fruit. Allow to cool and cover with paraffin.

That among the pet combinations, for instance, on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City, were grass-green and cerise, burnt orange, electric blue and royal purple and purple and coral and emerald.

Strawberries and cherries are delicious, using equal quantities of each and as much sugar as fruit. Use the juice from cherries to dissolve the sugar.

TIT-BITS

Queen Mary does not intend that there shall be any doubt as to her attitude towards the new dances. She has caused it to be understood by London hostesses that none of the Royal family will attend any ball where these dances are permitted, and that the names of those who do allow them will be removed from the court list. Queen Mary's lead has been widely followed by the real leaders of society. Many ladies of the highest position, including the Duchess of Devonshire, having issued vigorous orders against these dances. It may be said, indeed, that no lady who values her position in society will permit them, as in view of the Queen's attitude it might lead to her removal from the list of those privileged to attend court functions.

A woman's curiosity, which caused her to listen to the conversation of two men, led to the recovery of $50,000 worth of jewels which were stolen July 2 from the home of a New York lawyer.

The Daughters of Jacob, an organization of benevolent Jewish women in New York City, have purchased a tract of ground on which they will erect a memorial hospital to Mrs. Isaac Straus, who lost her life in the Titanic disaster.

Queen Margherita, of Italy, is a regular assistant nurse in the Rome hospital.

The death has occurred at Norfolk County Asylum, at the age of 83 of Elizabeth Savage, who entered the asylum from the Swaffham district, in 1869 and whose maintenance has cost the authorities £1,110.

Tomatoes With Eggs. (a salad.)

For six people take six tomatoes, four hard-boiled eggs, one-half of olive oil, and three uncooked eggs. Take fine round tomatoes, clean them carefully and cut them in two. Hollow out each half. Have ready the hard-boiled eggs chopped very fine. Make a fine thick mixture of the eggs, adding one chopped egg in this sauce, and fill the halves of the tomatoes with this mixture. Sprinkle over them hashed parsley and a tiny bit of cayenne pepper.

Fresh Stew Beans. Soak the beans in cold water for ten minutes, drain, then plunge in two quarts boiling water with a teaspoon of salt and boil forty minutes. Drain on a sieve, replace in saucepan, adding one chopped spoonful of butter, half teaspoon salt and three saltspoons pepper, mix well, and when thoroughly heated, serve.

Sago With Cream. Place in a saucepan a half pint of water and half pint of milk, with a half teaspoon salt, place on fire, and as soon as it comes to a boil, add six ounces sago. Mix well and let boil twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into a deep dish and serve with cold cream and powdered sugar.

German Women and Industries

German women are steadily making way to wage-earners outside of the home, and as it is growing more and more difficult to get girls to take up domestic science, it looks as if the old qualification of the "Hausfrau" would soon become a thing of the past. In some twelve years an increase of three millions has taken place in the number of women who earn their own living. Four and a half millions work in country districts. A good many are domestic servants; others do farm work, look after dairies, and so on. It is said that, so far, no important positions have been filled by women, and in some cases the need have no fear of them as competitors in the higher branches of the labor market. Where large numbers of women are employed it is because their work is cheaper, and in some cases because of the increase in the number of men swallowed up by military service and by emigration has depleted the land of them.—Women's Century for July.

The Fairy at the Well

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER I.

Many years ago, in a foreign country where the trees grew very tall and the flowers grew wild along the streets, there lived a widow with her two young daughters.

One of these girls was a beauty! No one had seen such a lovely creature. But she was very disagreeable and very cross and very unobliging to everyone!

Because she was so disagreeable, her mother called her daughter and petted her always.

The other girl was very plain and very kind and generous and true. Although such a nice disposition, the mother would have given her the poorest clothes and the plainest food, with her jug of water, as fast as she could.

The Poets' Corner

I am the daughter of earth and sun;
In the dusk I dream, in the wind I run.

I touch the fields with a greenening fire,
I spring with joy of the springing grain.

The farm lands love me, the acres know
Promise and fragrance where I go.

Over the furrows I wave my hand,
And gladness walks through the plentiful land.

In all the valleys at golden morn
My garments sweep with the rustling corn.

The laughing meadows from hill to sea
For a thousand years have been glad of me.

When foamheads break in the surging rye,
I race with the billows against the sky.

Lifting the song of the mother bird,
And the scarlet poppies troop behind.

Then when the far-spent rivers croon
To the rising shield of the harvest moon,

With all the good well won from harm,
I come at last to the reaper's arm.

I sink to the ground, my senses dim,
And I give my life for a gift to him.

—Bliss Carman.

Household Hints

A great help in doing housework is a knee pad made of stout cloth. It should be about twelve inches wide and half as long again. Stuff it with hair or other filling so it is about two inches thick and then tack it here and there to hold the stuffing in place. If the under side is covered with oilcloth it will slide over the surface of the floor more easily.

Brans filled into cheesecloth bags is excellent for cleaning wax paper. It is also better than soap for the bathtub, and for the neck, face and hands nothing is better. It is as cleansing for clothes as for the body. Boiled, and the water used the same as soap suds, it is as satisfactory for delicate fabrics as soap and does not injure the color.

A mixture of one teaspoonful of black ink to a saltspoonful of liquid gum will do much to brighten a black straw if rubbed well in the interstices of the plait with a stiff brush.

To prevent an iron sink getting rusty wipe it dry and rub it with a cloth dampened with kerosene.

Wipe out the laundry tubs after each wash day with a cloth, using either kerosene or a good cleansing powder.

Save all the crumbs in the cartons of crackers. Roll them out or run through the food chopper and use for croquettes, for thickening soups or for scalloped dishes.

If the ricer used for ricel potatoes or other vegetable is heated first, the work is more easily accomplished, and the vegetables are lighter.

A teacher for cooking says that for every quart of cooked vegetables, four even tablespoonsful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt and an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper should be used for seasoning.

If spinach, peas, dandelions and other green vegetables are cooked covered, the color will be the better preserved. A pinch of soda, too, enhances the green.

Black the Most Fashionable Hat

The most fashionable hat today is black; it may be of black tulle, black lace, or even black velvet, but it is all black. The one exception is the hair hat, but even this is overshadowed by the black hat. With so much color in the gown, the all black hat is a necessity; it adds chic where a brightly-colored hat would detract from it, according to a New York Tribune writer.

The tulle hats are the fad of the hour. The majority of them are made of black tulle, and are very elaborate. The hair is plainly visible through the veiling of the tulle, which serves as an apology for a crown, elaborate coiffures are demanded, and much time and thought is necessarily given to the afternoon coiffure as was formerly expended on that for the opera.

Moire and Chantilly.

The tulle and the moire are rivals in the platings of black moire which encircle the head and serve as a hat. An aigrette of moire is the only trimming. Though small and meditative, the larger hats, in fact, one might safely say large hats, have worn their appearance, and will be worn extensively with the garden party frocks.

The black chantilly lace hat is a favorite. A lining of shell pink chiffon may be added with good results. The lace and green tulle frock is a charming frame for a piquant youthful face. The lace is wired to stand out in a jaunty manner, and beneath the brim pink rosebuds nestle against the hair. Directly across the back is poised a large flowing bow of green tulle.

Nine out of ten of the hats worn at the polo games were leghorns. A determined effort was made early in the season to introduce Panamas as dress hats, but for the second time the endeavor failed. The smartly-gowned woman insisted upon leghorn or Milan straw for their handsome hats.

A "BACON BAT."

A bacon bat is more fun than a picnic supper prepared at home. It is a little more work, but preparing one of these unforgettable outdoor meals is the jolliest part of the affair.

Invite each guest to bring his own lightweight tin cup, knife, fork and spoon, a wooden plate and a paper napkin.

Plenty of nicely sliced bacon done up in a package that will not grease through must be brought along, and a frying pan if one prefers it to grill-

Little Hints Re Care of Clothes

Instead of looking upon the shoe-trees as a luxury they should be considered a necessity.

The woman with the trim, tidy feet, is the one who possesses shoe-trees and uses them. You will generally find that she also looks after her gloves. When taking them off she never stuffs them into her glove-sack, or box, just as they are; neither does she roll them into tight balls. Instead, she carefully pulls them into shape again and lays them flat, with soft paper or linen, between each pair. Before putting them away she takes the precaution to see that they are dry. And these little precautions halve her glove bill.

Buttons on gloves and shoes, with a tendency to stray are always secured more firmly, or, if they are lost, their place is always taken by others. Untidy shoe laces are never seen on the neatly-shod foot for the woman who dresses with care knows that it takes very little to make imperfect the otherwise perfect whole.

A hat soon loses its freshness if left about to gather dust, or if crammed with other things in a box. The wise woman does not economize space when putting away her headgear. She has a bandbox for every hat and a hat brush which is always kept busy. She finds it pays to keep her hats up to the standard set by the coat-hangers and boot-trees.

When putting away veils always fold them carefully and give them their own special sanctum. It is only the foolish woman who puts her hat away with the veil tied around it. It is the worst treatment in the world for this fragile morsel of our adornment, especially if the sunny rays of the sun have been used occasionally, will work wonders amongst dress accessories, and a good rubbing in soapsuds and warm water will give chiffon veils a longer lease of life.

A New York woman is suing her tailor because a dress he made for her came undone and humiliated her while she was out shopping, and she claimed she had difficulty in getting home from downtown.

The Matron and the Fashions

"Thank Hea! If my mother had warned me of conveniences, would I have heeded? Not I! I have come to a time all the grandmothers had risen from their graves to shake their mis-shapen foot bones at me! To young people fashion is stronger than common sense, and physical comfort is gladly sacrificed for the sake of fashion. What I have learned chiefly about young women is that you can't teach them out of your experience. You may warn them, try to guide them; but you can't make them, even for their own good, depart from the ways of fashion of their day and generation. After all they are entitled to their own experience, and experience is a far better teacher than ever you can be. There comes a time when outraged nature inexorably presents her little bill. She waits long but she exacts— with interest. The time will come when Jane will look at her poor distorted painful feet and wonder why she was such a fool. Helen will look at her yellow cheeks and wonder what insanity caused her to use rouge on her lovely girlish skin. Molly will contemplate her shrivelled saffron neck and revile the day of high collars. Like me, they will look back and regard all that pursuit of fashion as vanity and vexation of spirit."

"NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS"

Proved of Great Value to Me

There is only one explanation for the numbers of enthusiastic letters that we receive praising Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and that is that these tablets certainly do cure any kind of stomach trouble.

Here is a typical letter from Miss Eliza Armsworth, Canoe, N.S.:

"It is with pleasure I write to inform you that your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets have proved of great value to me. I tried remedy after remedy but without any lasting good. Having heard of your tablets curing such cases as mine I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory in my case."

The remarkable success of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is such a success as can only come to an honest remedy, compounded according to an exceptionally good formula, from pure ingredients, by expert chemists. If you are troubled with your stomach just ask your Druggist about Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, compounded by the National Drug and Chemical Co., Canada, Limited, and sold throughout the Dominion at 50c a box.

WOMEN ACHIEVE AMAZING JOURNEY THROUGH TIBET

Two Englishwomen Travel Over the Roof of the World.

Were Unmolested in the Solitudes of the Country.

One of the most extraordinary holiday trips ever undertaken by women travellers was described at the Lyceum Club recently. It was a ride across the roof of the world—the part of the Himalayas which separates India from Eastern Turkestan.

The two travellers were English ladies—Miss E. G. Kemp and Miss McDougall, well-known Chinese explorers. They set out in May of last year. Miss Kemp told the story of the adventure, in which they were unmolested.

"Was it worth while?" she was asked when she had thrilled the ladies with stories of nights spent under the stars thousands of feet up in the great solitudes.

Worth while. "Well," replied Miss Kemp, "I think it was. There comes a time in our lives when it is desirable to broaden our horizons. What struck me there in those solitudes was the wonderful solidarity of human nature. We felt that we were all essentially one. I think it quickened our perceptions; gave us a new perspective, and a greater capacity to take a broader view. I think it was worth while."

Miss Kemp described how they crossed the mountain passes which had never before been trodden by white women travellers—and owing to the proposed building of new roads would probably never be trodden by white women again. They met a saint of Tibet. They conversed with him, made a sketch of him, and told him the latest news of Tibet. They visited monasteries filled with figures of local saints and devils and scrolls of many colors. One of the most interesting of their sketches shows monks preparing themselves with masks to perform the devil dance.

Their caravan. These two ladies, with the smallest possible caravan, met the caravans of sportsmen—large and elaborate affairs, with long trains of ponies carrying the heads of animals. They discovered that the native sportsmen were as keen as the sportsmen themselves, and that the sole topic of native conversation was the largest game bag.

In Tibet they were received at the King's palace, and provisioned themselves for the most arduous part of their journey. They took with them a cook who, when at home in Leh, was also a pillar of the church, a doctor's assistant, sportsman, hymn writer, and general handy man. He spoke English, and Miss Kemp was loud in her praise of his service. Four men servants, interpreters, eight ponies, to carry the tents, and two yaks—the latter the stately chargers upon which the ladies rode—completed the caravan.

They started in the direction of the Pangong Lake, noted for its brilliant color, and ascended to a height of 18,000 feet. For one month they lived away from civilization. They passed large monasteries, and villages of poor but charming people. The women dressed in lamb-wool head-dresses and wore silver ornaments of great value. They lived in dark houses, which the domestic animals shared.

On this huge ridge of the world they discovered kerosene tins in use for everything except carrying oil.

Leaving native villages and kerosene tins behind, they climbed over glaciers and up precipitous mountains, forded dreaded rivers, and explored gorges that had never known the presence of white women. The way across these heights was strewn with carcasses of horses, and the perpetual symbol of death was the raven, always circling around the travellers.

They suffered terribly from headaches, and adopted chorate of potash as a cure. In Turkestan they were welcomed with great warmth by Britishers and Chinese alike.

There was no change in the price of eggs, 22 cents being the ruling figure, but an advance in butter was noted. The general price asked was 32 cents, and numerous sales were made at this figure.

Raspberries were plentiful and sold at from 10 to 12 cents per box. On the whole the quality was good. Rain, however, is required to prolong the crop.

Revisit London After Many Years

Mr. George F. Wycoff and Mr. Homer
H. Wycoff, of Henderson, N. C., revisited London on Friday for the first time in 39 years. Both brothers were born in this city and recalled many interesting events in the early history of "London in the Bush." Commenting on the great changes which had taken place since their departure for the United States, Mr. Homer Wycoff stated that there were still many landmarks about the city, which he remembered. He recalled the days of the famous Tecumseh baseball team.
He himself was a member of the Ek-ford team, from which seven of the nine players on the Tecumsehs were subsequently chosen. The other two being selected from the old Athletics.

Mr. Wycoff and his brother left on Saturday to continue a holiday trip to Montreal. Before going, Mr. Wycoff placed a subscription for one year with The Advertiser. He is anxious to keep posted on the events occurring in his own home town.

NEARLY THOUSAND AT THIS PICNIC

McCormick's Outing at Spring-bank One of the Biggest of the Summer.

TUG WAS THE BIG EVENT

Candy Team Winners After a Sensational Fifteen-Minute Pull.

With the thermometer hovering around 70 in the city, and the sun working overtime in the heavens, Springbank Park made an ideal spot Saturday afternoon, and about 900 employees of the McCormick Manufacturing Company and their friends enjoyed themselves at the annual picnic to the limit.

The picnic was a success in every way from the time the first car carrying the clown band, of the First Hussars, left the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets Saturday afternoon until the last of the picknickers got up from the theatre late in the evening.
Everyone was happy and laughing during the afternoon, and only words of praise were heard for the able manner in which everything was run off, and the excellent program arranged by a committee of the "old-timers." Every member of the committee has been in the employ of the company for more than fifteen years, and to show the younger people that they could still get up a picnic they did their best,
and their best was a huge success.

The sports at Springbank were started by a five-inning game of baseball between the candy and shipper teams of the factory, the former winning by a score of 7 to 1. Despite the score, the game was a good one, and proved exciting at times. Clark, Watts and Armstrong formed the battery for the candy side, and Riley and Heck for the west side.

The tug-of-war.
The tug-of-war between the candy and biscuit departments proved the event of the day, there being considerable rivalry between the two teams, the former captained by Roy Schwartz,
and the latter by Frank Coulter.

In a ten-minute pull neither side was able to move the other, so after a five-minute rest, a five-minute pull was held, the candy team winning by a half inch.

A mysterious Mr. Crumble, who carried two soda biscuits in his pocket, and a reward of five dollars and a box of chocolates was offered, provided considerable amusement for the women.
He proved to be Mr. Charles Benson, superintendent of the factory, and was captured by Mrs. M. W. Woll.

The Baby Show.
The baby show brought forth some fine children, the first prize being won by Robert, the five-months-old son of Mrs. Lindsay, 710 Adelaide street. Baby Mathers won the second prize, and Baby Day the third.

The table to which 900 sat down to lunch was 265 feet long, and was arranged to form the word "McCormick."
The employees were furnished with transportation, lunch and theatre tickets, and a ticket for a bag of candy or an ice cream cone.

The results of the races and sports
follow:
Boys' race, under 12, 75 yards—F.
Baker, W. Murphy, G. Craig.
Girls' race, under 12, 75 yards—O.
Thomas, F. Thomas, M. Price.
100 yards dash, employees only—H.
Mann, W. H. Ashford.
Young ladies' race, 75 yards—M.
Johnston, K. Taylor, L. Brook.
Married men, 100 yards—W. Armstrong, A. Ashford, T. Hennessy.

Married ladies, employees' wives or married ladies working in factory, 75 yards—Mrs. Ingate, Mrs. R. De Hart, Mrs. Mote.
Relay race, 600 yards, boys 200 yards, girls 100 yards, married men 40 yards—M. Johnston, Irene Hay, B.
Wallace, H. Mann.
Pillow fight—J. Brown, J. Cooper, F.
Graham.
Bun eating contest, employees' children under 10—Murrell Jackson, Lillian Thorne.

The judges were: Uncle Sam Adams,
S. O. Pa., Uncle Bob Hillier, S. M. Pa.,
Uncle Sam Abbott, M. H.; Uncle
Jimmy Craig, K. N. B.
Referee: D. C. McNaughton.

The following committee had charge of the program: T. Duff, chairman; J.
Craig, O. Richards, W. J. Piercey, M.
Smith, H. Newell, H. Brett, R. D.
Hillier, Miss A. Tulliet, S. Adams,
M. Boston, D. C. McNaughton, secretary-treasurer.

The Popular Seashore.
The special attractions for summer recreation seekers at the several resorts in the vicinity of New London, Conn., including Block Island, Watch Hill and Fisher's Island, are a rare combination of seashore and country attractions with its ideal temperature of 74 degrees; its perfect salt water and surf bathing, and its offerings of an unusual list of seashore amusements.

Block Island is called the Bermuda of the north, but it is not very north, being centrally located in the temperate zone with the waves of the Atlantic beating upon its sandy beaches fifteen miles out to sea from the mainland.
Ask for seashore booklet giving full information, to be had on application to Mr. R. E. Ruse, corner Richmond

ADVERTISER FOLK HAD HAPPY HOURS

Two Hundred Were Out at the Picnic to Port Stanley on Saturday.

WINNERS OF THE RACES

Tug-of-War Furnished a Big Surprise—Job Room Ate Baseball Champions.

Nearly two hundred of the employees of The London Advertiser and their families and friends journeyed to Port Stanley Saturday afternoon on the occasion of their annual picnic. The affair was a most successful one, and easily surpassed all previous efforts in this direction.

Leaving London on a special car provided by the South Western Traction Company, the picknickers reached Port Stanley early in the afternoon, and proceeded at once to the summer residence of Mr. T. H. Purdon, on whose lawns the picnic was held. The afternoon was a most enjoyable one, the ideal situation of the grounds, overlooking the blue waters of Lake Erie, adding greatly to the pleasure of the occasion.
A splendid program of sports was entered into with zest.

Some Tugging.
Perhaps the feature event of the afternoon was the downfall of the stereotyping department tug-of-war team.
They were responsible for having the tug-of-war placed on the program, and secured a proud challenge to defeat any three men from any department.

Consequently they were much perturbed when a team from the composing room, captained by Mr.
White, upset the dope by pulling them all over the lot. The victors became the vanquished a few moments later, when Mr. Bernie Smith gathered together a team from the business office, against whose tugging the brawny arms and expansive waistlines of the printers availed nothing.

The Ball Game.
A baseball game, between teams chosen from the job room and the composing room resulted in a victory for the job room by a score of 5 to 1. It was, as had been freely predicted, one of the weakest games of ball ever staged at Port Stanley, and that is "going some." The battle was waged on fairly even terms, until Luney "pied" things for the composing room by clothing the ball over the back fence, where, against whose tugging the brawny arms and expansive waistlines of the printers availed nothing.

A good program of races and novelty events was run off in the afternoon, the winners in the various races being as follows:
Children's race, in which all had a bag of candy and 10 cents.
Young men's race, 100 yards—M.
Carson, E. Weld, L. Churchill.
Small apprentices' race, 100 yards—
A. Hynd, R. Ashton, R. Robertson.
Lady employees' race, 50 yards—
Eleanor Davies, Margaret Charney, Glady's Davis.
Boys' race, 8 to 12—G. Coombs,
D. Davis, H. Galbraith, Ed Colerick, Frank Hopper.
Girls' race, 8 to 12—Lucy Milne, M.
McCoy, M. Carraire.

Cost race, boys and girls, 75 yards
—Mary Ashton and J. Worrall, M.
Charney and P. Fulcher.
Time race—Bert Corpe.

home, after which many of the pleasure-seekers availed themselves of the opportunity of a lake ride on board the steamer State of Ohio.

The Winners.
Following are the winners of the various events:
Chum race, girls only—1 Miss French and Miss West, 2 Miss Doan and Miss Corbett, 3 Miss Stewart and Miss Baker.
Wheelbarrow race—1 Miss West and Billy Hunter, 2 Miss Baker and Charlie Thomas, 3 Miss French and Joseph Halliday. Mr. John Moore also ran.

Boys under 12—James Insall, Gordon Axtell and Harold Edwards.
Egg and spoon race—Miss D. Atkinson, Miss West and Miss Halliday.
Married men's race—Harry Luney, Bernie Smith and A. E. Saunders.
Fred Anderson sprung a sensation by entering in this event. He finished in the money, too, but could furnish no satisfactory proof that he was a benedict and was accordingly disqualified.

Boot and shoe race—Billy Hunter, Fred Anderson and Harold East. Bernie Smith looked like a sure winner in this event, had not Lou Davies inadvertently stood on his shoes, blotting them from view.

Throwing the baseball was won by Miss French, who owing to previous practice in the indoor baseball game had it all over her opponents. Miss West was a good second and Miss Clair won third money.
