DOMINION ELECTION WILL NOT BE HELD UNTIL AFTER CENSUS OF 1921 IS MADE, DECIDES GOVT.

Hon. Arthur Meighen, Speaking For Union Administration, Appeals To Government Supporters To Defeat Liberal Leader's Amendment To A General Election This Year.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, March 5.—No election until 1921 is the present decision of the government.

That decision is expressed in the declaration of Hon. Arthur Meighen, which this morning appears on the front page of the London Advertiser. He is now well forward among the Government benches. It is taken for granted that there will be no important tariff reduction in the coming budget, yet it would appear that Liberal Unionists have decided to make no sort of demonstration because of that fact. It is quite safe to predict that Mr. Meighen's new party will receive the power of the crown, and may be expected to speak fairly plainly.

The Unionist government has decided to hang together. Sir Robert Borden will remain the nominal head at least for some time, and even should he decide to go, it is expected that a temporary leader will be chosen. The person of Sir George Foster will be appointed, and that no chances of a breakup will be taken to choose between four or five more youthful and ambitious candidates for the job. Dr. Clark of Red Deer, who is firmly ensconced as Mr. Meighen's left-hand man, will be expected to speak fairly plainly.

In the meantime, however, as Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has pointed out, three millions of the population of the Dominion are without representation in the cabinet. The government, however, goes far to reach a compromise. It has been in political circles at the capital since the session commenced. Sir Robert Borden will not be back for two months at least, and the interval gives the government an opportunity to mark time so far as cabinet reconstruction is concerned. A caucus will undoubtedly be called at an early date but it is not anticipated that it will decide anything definite as to organization of policies. The government will return of the premier later on. Two Liberal-Unionists, namely Messrs. Buchanan and Meighen, have already declared their intention of standing by the government, the former taking the same view as Mr. Meighen with regard to an election. It is fully believed that these two men fairly well express the views of the other Liberal-Unionists of the House.

Mr. Buchanan was one of those who "bolted" on the budget last year, and who afterwards sat on the cross benches. He is now well forward among the Government benches. It is taken for granted that there will be no important tariff reduction in the coming budget, yet it would appear that Liberal Unionists have decided to make no sort of demonstration because of that fact. It is quite safe to predict that Mr. Meighen's new party will receive the power of the crown, and may be expected to speak fairly plainly.

STRONGLY INDORSES FIREMEN'S SCHOOLS

London Chief Thoroughly Approves of the Idea.

WOULD GREATLY HELP
Men Starting On Department Would Then Have Some Knowledge of Duties.

The Dominion Government has proposed to organize a school in Ottawa for the training of firemen. Fire Chief John Aitken strongly indorses this plan for the training of men, who must be efficient fire-fighters.

The reason for the training of men is that, although the fire departments are efficient, there are new fire-fighting tricks that are learned from the experience of firemen in large cities. These new ideas could be gathered and passed on to the fire school. Any prospective fireman would have to attend the Government school to learn the fundamentals of the work. This would eliminate new men from starting on any fire department knowing nothing of the methods of fighting fires in Canada and the United States.

There is an annual fire loss of approximately three hundred million dollars in the thousands. There is an annual cost of three hundred million dollars in the thousands. There is an annual cost of three hundred million dollars in the thousands.

The executive of the International Association of Fire Engineers will meet some time this month in Toronto and make arrangements for the annual convention, which will be held in St. Thomas this year. Fire Chief Aitken reports that the membership campaign for the A. F. E. is progressing favorably. The campaign is to bring all fire chiefs of factory, warehouse and fire departments into the association.

CHILD BORN BY BURIED MOTHER'S MOTHER LEAVES HOUSE FOR FEW MINUTES Infant Son of John Boyd, Ottawa Avenue, Dies in Hospital This Afternoon—Clothes Caught Fire From Nearby Stove, Children Inform Mother.

While his mother was out of the house for a few moments obtaining water with which to bathe her infant son, John Boyd, 17 months old, was fatally burned when his clothes caught fire from a nearby stove. He died in Victoria Hospital at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Practically the entire body was burned by the flames, which were extinguished by a small fire on the back, and according to one in attendance at the hospital, the little mile was "practically baked alive."

Mrs. Boyd left the child in the house apparently safe, and on her return was informed by children that the baby was sick. She immediately ran to him, extinguished the flames, and the small victim was rushed to the hospital by the family mother, who carried him in her arms the short distance. The child was unconscious at the time, and remained so until death.

Several local doctors in attendance at Victoria Hospital when the boy in infant arrived viewed the case and pronounced the burns as fatal.

At the hospital it was stated that there would be no inquest held.

Members Only To Be Allowed On Floor of Commons Chamber

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, March 5.—The chamber of the House of Commons in the future is to be the pure and undefiled sanctuary of duly elected representatives of the people. No stranger, however distinguished, is to be allowed upon its floor.

In the past it has been the custom to permit honored guests to the capital to take a seat alongside Mr. Speaker, and the admission of strangers to the House while it was in session and while the mace was within the chamber.

It does not matter how distinguished they are in the future they will not be permitted this favor. Should Lloyd George come to the capital he would have to be content with a seat in the distinguished visitors' gallery, and if he desired to address the members it would be in a house adjourned.

The same rule obtains in Westminster and at Washington.

Spring Is Here According To Parks Department.

The public parks department isn't going to stand for any fooling from anybody, not even the weather man. Thursday he made a noise like spring. By today he had apparently changed his mind and decided to have a few more snow flurries. He couldn't change the minds of the heads of the parks department.

To them spring means the end of the most successful season in their history. In spite of this, however, they will not pay their way. Victoria Park showed a surplus, but this was not sufficient to cover the deficits on the other parks.

The sheds used as checkrooms will continue to be of use, however. They will be used in the construction of the new reservoir, and will be moved to the site in a short time.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE WILL REFUSE TO CARRY OUT TERMS OF ANY TREATIES MADE BY THE REDS

Document To This Effect Is Handed To Allied Premiers—Declaration Is Signed by Prince Lvoff and Other Prominent Anti-Bolshevik Russians—Would Regard Such a Pact As Intolerable.

Paris, March 5.—A document declaring "the Russian people will never consider themselves bound by any treaties the Soviet may conclude with other nations" has been handed to the Allied premiers.

The manifesto, which is signed by Prince Lvoff, Prof. Paul N. Milukoff, former Russian foreign minister, Gen. Boris Savinkoff and some prominent Russians who were members of the Duma, considers "it will be intolerable that the Bolsheviks distribute Russian patrimony in their name."

Almost three-quarters of the company are reported suffering from typhus.

This miserable wreck of an army, the Times correspondent says, has been reduced to a few thousand men, and is a sanctuary for troops which no longer represent an effective fighting force.

The Polish Gen. Krawczewski, a member of the Dnieper River, whereupon Gen. Bredow entered into negotiations with the Bolsheviks, who were then occupying Odessa.

The detachment numbers 6,000 men, and is being moved to the rear, accompanied by as many women and children.

SETTLES DEBATE
Magistrate Graydon Decides
in Favor of Policemen
This Morning.

It was a wet night. There was no lack of evidence that it was. The fact that the weather was wet has been proven beyond a doubt, but it was not the weather that was in question.

The police officers who were on duty on Thursday night were not in any way negligent. They were doing their duty to the best of their ability.

The magistrate, Mr. Graydon, has decided in favor of the police officers. He has found them to be acting in a proper and reasonable manner.

The case has been settled. The police officers are not to be punished for the actions of the night.

The magistrate's decision is a relief to the police officers. They were not to be punished for the actions of the night.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE TO SHIP $250,000,000 IN GOLD TO AMERICA

Unprecedented Movement of Metal To Start Within 48 Hours.

PAY FRENCH BONDS
Half a Billion To Be Taken Up
At Maturity in October.

New York, March 5.—Increased activity and improvement marked the opening of the foreign exchange market here today. Preliminary rates on demand bills for the English pound sterling were quoted at 100 to 100½, the rate was 100½ to 101, which was a closing figure and 39 cents above the low record on February 4.

According to a story printed by the Sun and New York Herald this morning, official announcement of the inauguration of an almost unprecedented gold movement may be expected within 48 hours. The paper declares this is learned from "authoritative sources."

Present plans contemplate the shipment from Europe, principally from England and France, of no less than $250,000,000, spread over a number of months, says the Sun.

The statement was made positively yesterday that the Anglo-French bonds, which mature next October to the amount of $200,000,000, will be paid at maturity, and it is the belief that all the operations of the British and French Governments in the direction of the gold movement will be carried out with the single end in view of preparing to retire these bonds.

RISE IN EXCHANGE.
London, March 5.—The report came from New York that large shipments of gold were pending from here caused a smart rise in the exchange market today, cable transfers moving to $3.60. At this figure there were considerable offerings of gold from New York, and business was very active at that level until the buyers brought the rate down to $3.58 to $3.59, when the market was feverish for the time being.

The offerings of gold in the open market nearly $2,000,000 was taken for India at 114 shillings, or five shillings decline, due to the sharp advance in American exchange, which is now the leading factor in the market price of gold.

The report of pending gold shipments to America surprised the market considerably, but both bullion brokers and bankers expressed belief that there was no foundation for the rumor. It was pointed out that there is not any such sum as the reported $200,000,000 in gold available for shipment without encroaching upon the reserves, and the treasury is considered as unlikely to ship on such a scale.

The disturbance which was near Lake Michigan yesterday is now centered over the Ottawa Valley, and another is developing on the South Atlantic coast.

Rain has fallen in Southern and Eastern Ontario, and snow in the northern part of the province, while in the West the weather has been fair and cold.

"Canadian-Made" Campaign To Be Conducted by Advertising Club in City Commencing April 5

Advertising, Contests and Novel Features of All Kinds Will Be Used To Boost Canadian-Made Goods—Prizes For Women.

For one week, commencing April 5, Canadian-made goods will be boosted in this city by an extensive campaign carried on by means of advertising contests and novel features under the auspices of the London Advertising Club. Plans for the undertaking were discussed and working committees were appointed at a meeting held in the Huron and Erie club rooms last night.

It is the intention of the club to secure the co-operation of all the retail merchants, wholesalers and manufacturers in this city and in other places, and the many different organizations in London, making the week one long to be remembered by the citizens. Posters, stickers and streamers bearing patriotic designs and much newspaper advertising will be used to impress upon the public the advisability of buying Canadian-made goods.

The stores of the city will be asked to make special displays of these commodities. To create interest among the women shoppers, questionnaires relating to the displays will be distributed, and hundreds of substantial prizes will be given to the winners.

The winners will be announced and the prizes awarded at a huge public meeting which is to be held on the Monday or Tuesday night following the close of the campaign.

A committee consisting of E. W. Gibberd, T. A. Jones, T. B. Elliott, G. A. Weir, W. S. Partridge, H. A. Ashplant, P. W. Young and J. Hickey was appointed to organize the campaign and to secure their co-operation. The questionnaires will be prepared by P. W. Read, T. H. Yull, J. B. Hay and L. S. Spry. The prizes will be looked after by A. M. Smith, J. B. Hay and L. S. Spry.

The executive is composed of T. H. Yull, secretary, and P. W. Read, chairman.

According to the executive, this is the first time anything of this nature has been attempted in Canada, and it is hoped that other places will follow the example set by this city. The campaign was prompted, it was stated, by a purely patriotic spirit and because of the discount to which Canadian money is subjected in the United States.

The Chamber of Commerce has promised the Advertising Club its co-operation, according to Mr. Read.

STUDENT GOVT. ON THE WESTERN "U"

Constitution Worked On Since Last November.

J. McMILLAN, PREFECT
All Classes To Come Under the Jurisdiction of New Body—Meet Twice a Month.

Student government will reign at the Western University before many days, and this government is going to be a very democratic one. This is the latest step taken by the students, and general benefit will be derived all round from it.

The plans for this government and the drawing up of the constitution have been worked upon since last November, and the constitution has now been drawn up in complete form. Nominations were held last week, and the election will take place on Monday. Those nominated were: Prefect, James McMillan; sub-prefect, Miss J. Beckton; secretary, Miss M. Tildon; treasurer, H. D. MacMahon. The members of the council are members from each year. They are M. C. Carrothers, M. P. Simpson, Miss L. Black and J. Gorrell.

The constitution says that "the association shall be called the Students' Council of the College of Arts of the Western University. This council shall be for self government of the student and shall include all regular and special students registered and in attendance at the College of Arts. It shall strive first and always for the welfare of the student body, and the university as a whole."

Regular meetings of the Student Council will be held every second week of the college year on a fixed date to be determined by the council.

DEPT. OF EDUCATION RECOGNIZES WORTH OF THE WESTERN "U"

Wants Graduates To Take Positions in Teaching Profession.

That the Western University is coming to the front, not only in Western Ontario, but all over the province, is evident in that the Western University was included in the four universities with whose authorities arrangements have been made whereby the graduates in arts are qualified to take the course leading to a certificate of qualification to teach in the schools under the provincial system. Prior to this arrangement, it was always necessary for a graduate of any of these four universities to take an honor course to specialize in some one subject.

These arrangements have been made to induce more graduates to follow the teaching profession, otherwise in a few years the shortage will become a serious one. Dean Sherwood Fox of the Western said the inclusion of the Western University with the other universities was a nod of approval of Western in the department of education.

Western University boasts of a membership of 310, the largest in its history. Ursuline and Assumption colleges are now affiliated with the Western, and will be moved to the city shortly.

Mayor Little Signs Check For $10,181 This Morning.

The final step in the purchase of the Pine Lawn estate on the Hamilton road for the housing commission was taken today, when Mayor E. S. Little signed a check of $10,181 in payment for the property.

The property was purchased by the commission from James H. Homister. The housing commission was authorized by city council at its last meeting and the check was made out today.

The housing commission plans to break up the property into more than 80 building lots. The land is now being surveyed for this purpose. Tender have been called for to build 12 houses on it at once. The remaining lots will be filled up later as the demand for the houses grows.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A MUCH-NEEDED COUNTY ROAD
The first extension of county roads in Lobo, I think, should be a direct road connecting Ligonier and Strathroy passing over the 10th concession, off Lobo from the London town line to the Sarnia road, thus making a good road for Yanket, Ivan, Coldstream and Poplar Hill.

I hope our township council and others interested will look into this proposition at once and notify the county engineer the wishes of the people and of the need for this road. A large proportion of the gravel for Lobo, Caradoc and Adelaide is taken from the Coldstream pits, and they need a better outlet, too.

S. P. ZAVITZ, Coldstream.

LECTURES IN FRENCH

Monsieur Marcel Morand Speaks at Western University.

An enthusiastic, though not large, audience listened to a lecture spoken in beautifully accented and fluent French by Marcel Morand, given at the Western University last night. Monsieur Morand lectured on the French writer, Maurice Barres, telling many interesting facts regarding him.

Due to the great interest taken in this first lecture in French, it is possible the near future that a French club will be organized in the city. Dr. Shanks, head of the department of French language at the university, advocated the founding of a branch of the Alliance Francaise, a New York institution interested in promoting the use of the French language in America. Membership would be open to any person outside the university. Dr. Shanks stated, on payment of a small fee, Dean Sherwood Fox of the university said that he would endeavor to bring other French lecturers here.

Last evening's lecture was the first of a series of extension lectures which are to be given every Thursday evening in the arts building. The public is cordially invited to these lectures.

CITIZEN CONSTRUCTION, NOT CLASS CONSTRUCTION, NEEDED,
DECLARES PREMIER OF ONTARIO

Drury Speaks To Large Audience of Rural and City Dwellers in Masonic Temple—Urges Need of Better Understanding Between City and Country People.

"We want something wider than class construction and class thought. We want citizen construction and citizen thought," declared E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario, before an audience of 500 people, comprising both urban and rural dwellers, in the Masonic Temple banquet hall last night. The gathering was arranged by the Middlesex Milk Producers' Association. This was the keynote of an address in which the premier urged co-operation of all classes in order to bring the country through the perils of reconstruction.

"Society is sitting on a barrel of gunpowder," he asserted. "We must not drop matches. We can use that powder, not in one great explosion but wisely directed in small charges to blow away the obstacles and the barriers that stand in the way of better social structure."

His speech outlined the Government policy on immigration, farm settlement, roads, schools, manufacturing, reforestation and general matters. He was enthusiastically received by the audience.

After being introduced by the toastmaster, I. B. White, the premier launched into the very heart of his subject.

"Seriously, I am pleased to be here, although it is not a very pleasant place to come," he said. "I could ill afford the hours I have taken to come to this meeting, but I feel that it is my duty to see this representative gathering from both the country and the city."

The heart of the country, he said, "is a double honor to respond to the toast to Ontario. That province constitutes in a very real sense the heart of Canada."

"On its people devolves the development of Canadian thought and the guidance of Canadian policy. It is the banner province because its people form the thought for the whole country."

"We have here, together with the rest of the country, and the rest of the world for that matter, a great problem. That problem is to reconstruct. It is not altogether repairing the waste of war, but rather a problem of setting down and changing our policy to one of sound construction."

"Up to the present we have been chiefly engaged in exploiting what we have found to hand, but we have come to a time when that exploit must end. We must build up, and that problem is intensified by the period of reconstruction and war. We must have a revival of interest in education if we are to do anything."

The premier only touched briefly on manufacturing and the development of water power.

"Old Ontario," he said, "is a small part of the province. As a whole, it is given over to the production of timber. We must do something to conserve this. We have treated it as a mineral to be used up without thought of replacing it. Hundreds of square miles of it are destroyed by fire each year. We must see better reforestation and to protection from the fire menace."

A narrow majority.

The concluding part of Mr. Drury's speech was devoted to an explanation of the Government's position. He pointed out that it had a very narrow majority which made it practically impossible to resort to any political trickery. He believed the Legislature which would be elected in the fall would be the most inexperienced since the inception of the province, but he expressed the belief that it would "muddle through" to the satisfaction of the electors. The members would come to the task with clean hands and a clean conscience. He said that the Government was a good thing, as it was helping these two classes to understand each other better.

To carry out its policies, he said, the Government must have the co-operation of the other bodies in the House, the people must be taken into confidence as never before, and more publicity must be given to its proceedings.

He hoped to loosen up the discipline of the House so that the members would not be mere vote machines. He admitted frankly that he did not know just how this could be done. "But," he said, "the name of common sense cannot each member speak his own mind?"

He hoped to find some way in which the rank and file could be used to advantage, as well as the members of the cabinet. He said he was not a precedent should rule. Every important accomplishment in the world had been an innovation.

"Our Returned Heroes."

Owing to illness during the past two weeks, Dr. J. H. Stevenson, Labor M.P., for London, was unable to speak, although he was present. Lieut. Col. W. J. Brown replaced him, and responded to the toast to "Our Returned Heroes." Canada had done a marvelous thing in sending 400,000 men overseas, he said. The most optimistic in 1914 would not have thought she could send more than 100,000. Canada had been made illustrious by these men. No one will claim that Canadians did anything except be good soldiers, but that is the greatest praise you can give them," he said. "They did not win the war. They went to win it. Our American friends who did a fraction of what we did, say that they won the war. It is true that Canadian papers emphasized the deeds of the Canadians, but the armies of France and Britain in the war (applause), and we are very glad indeed to have a share in the glories of the British army."

Continuing, he touched on the problem of immigration. "We need only the kind of citizens who will make Canada great, and take their fair share in her national defence and responsibility," he asserted.

"The Belgian and French soldiers will make excellent immigrants, but it is the British we want chiefly. We must get large numbers of those splendid men and settle them in old Ontario. We have left some of our loved ones in the fields of Flanders, and it behooves us, by the pattern of our lives, by our own conduct and the character of our civilization, to uphold the standards for which those men laid down their lives."

"It has been whispered to me that I might say something on the gratuity question tonight. I cannot do enough for the men who fought overseas. At the same time these men are citizens. They are interested in the future of this country, and in its progress to a greater extent than you could possibly imagine. In doing this we are only doing what you to the best plan to help them."

To Pay Respects.

S. Frank Glass, M.P. for East Middlesex, responding to the toast to "Canada," said he had come from Ottawa on purpose to pay his respects to the new premier of the province. "I could not come to say within a few minutes the things I would like to say about Canada. You will therefore forgive me if I defer saying that which I would like, in order that you may hear Mr. Drury," he commented. "I am sure that you will find a substitute for work," he continued. "This country will then be established on a sane and firm foundation."

The spirit of co-operation has permeated the country for some years. All we have to do is to get together, but in the name of heaven, leave that daylight-saving proposition alone this year. Even the Government has found this a hard economy. We cannot get on with the city man working six hours a day and the farmer working sixteen hours a day. We have all got to get down to work."

Mayor Little responded to the toast to "The City of London." It was a great honor to welcome both the milk producers and the first citizens of Ontario to the city, said the mayor. He urged closer unity between the country and city, which he said were daily becoming more firmly knit. "I have been in Toronto lately in connection with city business, and I fully believe we are going to see a very vast improvement in the Government of Ontario," he continued. "I can only say that the more of these get-together meetings we have, the better it will be for all."

Toast to Middlesex.

The toast to the County of Middlesex was responded to by Mr. J. H. Stevenson, in absence of Warden E. Clark. "In Middlesex we have one of the best counties in Ontario," he said. "Practically all of it is productive. It has produced great men, at least one of whom, Sir George Ross, and Canada's greatest soldier, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie. It sent overseas two of Canada's finest heroes, the 12th and the 14th. We have also one of the foremost cities of the province, London, and in Mayor Little, it has one of the finest men of my acquaintance."

"If you want to stop the present unrest, the urban and rural dwellers must get together on a common basis," he prophesied that after the next election the Legislature, the people of the province would say that Drury had legislated for the masses, and not for the few.

The Famous "Disaster."

Ald. John Bridge replied to the toast to the Chamber of Commerce. He referred to the "disaster" last December. One citizen made a prophecy at that time that we would see one of the most able administrators the province had ever known, and I think the prophecy has been fulfilled. I want to say to Mr. Drury that the London Chamber of Commerce will at all times co-operate with our rural friends. We want to help to build up a good road system. We want to help the people.

of the rural districts solve their labor problems. In doing this we are only helping ourselves, because if we do not help our problems today will only be small compared to those which will develop tomorrow. I would like to see formed a farmers' section of the London Chamber of Commerce, and we want to see action of that kind almost right away. J. W. Freeborn, M.P. for East Middlesex, replying to the toast to "The Ladies," delivered one of the wittiest speeches of the evening, and kept his audience in laughter. Speaking seriously he declared that the war could not have been won without the help of the women. Those of Ontario had been wise though the first time they had been given a ballot to vote for a farmers' government.

COMMISSION PLANS $37,000 EXPENDITURE TO IMPROVE PARKS

Estimates For This Amount Will Be Presented To City Council.

If the estimates of the public utilities commission for improvements in local parks this year are approved by the city council, London will spend $37,000 for this purpose. At a meeting of the commission on Thursday afternoon it was decided that this amount would be necessary to improve and maintain the parks for the year.

Discussion on the estimates brought out the fact that the half a mill on the tax assessment, the amount usually set aside for park purposes, would do no more than maintain the parks of the city. It was pointed out that Toronto was spending large sums on its parks and that if this city spent as much in proportion as the Queen City, approximately $50,000 would be used on the various local parks this year. Members of the commission pointed out that the half-mill was absolutely inadequate to maintain and improve the parks of the city.

Hereafter the discount for prompt payment of water rates will be 20 instead of 40 per cent. The commission decided that the revenue would be increased considerably by the reduction of the discount.

Until the present time the commission has charged the city $15 for the installation of a fire hydrant, but the commissioners decided to raise the cost to $18.

Chief Engineer C. H. Colby tendered his resignation, and the matter was left with Manager E. V. Buchanan to deal with.

REORGANIZED 7TH REGIMENT TO BEGIN RECRUITING MARCH 15

All Officers Have Seen Front-Line Service—Strength of 550 Men.

Recruiting for the re-organized 7th Regiment will begin on March 15, according to Capt. Chester Butler, who has received the appointment of adjutant. The regiment is to be brought up to a strength of 550 men, and will be made up of four battalions.

The strength of the regiment previous to the war was only 400. The following officers, all of whom have had front-line service, have been appointed: Headquarters—Officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. G. Eric Reid, D.S.O., 3rd Battalion; second in command, Major Geo. W. Little, M.V.O., M.C.; Lieut. adjutant, Capt. Chester Butler, 1st Battalion; musketry officer, Major Thos. C. S. J. MEREDITH IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF HUMANE SOCIETY

Executive Committee Told of Plan For Widening Scope of Work.

S. J. Meredith was elected president of the Humane Society, at a meeting of that body held last night in the city hall. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Jane Elliott, first vice-president; Mrs. Boyd, second vice-president; Miss Fox, third vice-president; Mrs. E. H. Clement, treasurer; Miss W. Brown, recording secretary. Three members were named to act on the executive committee as follows: Miss A. Elliott, Mrs. E. N. King and Miss Kilby. G. Tustin met the committee and presented his plans for reorganizing the society into one which would cover the city more fully. Owing to the absence of the president, no definite action was taken, and the plans will be referred to the president later.

The humane inspector's report showed that during the month of February ten cases were investigated, and three cats, five dogs and two swine were destroyed. The matter of horses drawing heavily loaded sleighs over streets which had been cleared of snow was discussed. It was decided, however, to leave this matter over for a few days until more definite information is available.

The executive committee will make a report on the work which has been done by the society at a reception, open to all members of the society, which is to be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 1 o'clock on March 10. To raise funds a rummage sale will be held in the near future. Anyone wishing to donate any articles may do so by communicating with any officer of the society.

HOUSING CONVENTION GIVES PROMISE OF BEING BIG SUCCESS

Architect Will Look Over Military Buildings At Carling Heights.

Judging from the discussion on the matter at the meeting of the housing committee at the city hall on Thursday evening, the convention for Western Ontario municipalities interested in housing, which is to be held here on Monday, will be a decided success.

The delegates will meet in the council chamber at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for a round-table discussion. Later in the day a banquet will be taken place at the Tecumseh House. In all probability films showing housing schemes in operation will be shown by one of the local theatres.

Stratford has sent a communication saying that it will be glad to send delegates to the meeting. From Sarnia will come, it is expected, representatives of a housing company which is carrying out a million-dollar contract. No action has been taken as regards taking over military buildings at Carling Heights as a temporary measure for relieving the housing congestion, but the commission will send an architect to look over the structures.

If the commission can get contractors to erect houses on the sites it has purchased in the Rogers avenue and in other parts of West London, estimates amounting to $575 will be sent on to the city for its consideration.

The committee was favorable to re-arranging the Pine Lawn site so that eight additional lots may be secured without an increase in the cost.

CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED FOR JEWISH WAR RELIEF FUND

Ministers, Rotarians and Travelers To Co-operate.

Plans for a campaign to raise funds in this city for the Jewish war relief were discussed yesterday at a joint meeting of the local Ministerial Alliance and committees of the Rotary Club and Commercial Travelers' Club. The meeting decided to appoint a committee composed of one representative of each religious denomination, to co-operate with committees of the Rotary and Commercial Travelers' Clubs, and, if possible, the Canadian Club and Red Cross Society, with a view to drawing up a plan of campaign to give the people of the city an opportunity to contribute to the fund. The Jews of the city will also be invited to name representatives to act on the central committee. Whether a definite objective of $25,000 will be set is to be decided later.

Rev. T. D. McCullough was appointed executive secretary of the central committee. No chairman was chosen, but it is expected that the selection will be made shortly.

GIBBS ON HEARST.

Philip Gibbs has been advising the British people to cultivate friendship with William Randolph Hearst and enlist that gentleman and his papers in the empire's cause. It is quite clear that Gibbs does not know his Hearst. If he knew anything of Hearst's record and methods, if familiar with the abominable misrepresentation about the British people with which Hearst daily fills whole pages of his publications, he would never make the humiliating suggestion that Great Britain seek this fellow's favor and support. The British people will assuredly be in desperate case if they ever request the assistance of one who daily refers to them as "robbers," "murderers," "torturers" and "treacherous." Gibbs need not worry as to the harm he believes Hearst can do to the empire through his infamous campaign. He represents and speaks for an irreconcilable anti-British element in the United States which is small in number, but by reason of cleverly managed propaganda is able to make a loud and fearsome noise. The bulk of responsible, decent American citizens have just about the same amount of regard for Hearst as prevails in Canada, where detestation for the man and his ways is too profound to be adequately described.

BUNK.

The Irish question has provided a lot of tragedy, considerable comedy and a prodigious amount of bunk. Of this last must be considered Count Plunkett's statement that if Ireland is granted the status of a dominion the United States "has promised to withdraw the reservation to the covenant of the League of Nations, which affects Dominion votes in the League of Nations, and also to assent to enter the League of Nations if Ireland is granted representation on a dominion status." It is also stated that the United States would undertake to consider adjustment of the exchange situation if Ireland's problem is settled on the dominion basis.

The sheer nonsense of this announcement will be fully realized by a glance at the present fight in the American Senate. "The United States promises"—according to Plunkett. If he means, by that, the Wilson administration, when did Lodge and his band of treaty-wreckers agree to any decision of the president on the League of Nations issue? If the United States Government made any such promise as Plunkett reports, the Republican Senate, bitterly hostile as it is to any proposal of Wilson's, would quickly kill it. Neither has the Republican Senate the right to say what the United States would or would not do. Finally the American people have too much common sense and respect for others to offer any such interference in the domestic affairs of the British Empire as Plunkett's statement would indicate. Those who have handed the count this bunk do not represent the American Government or nation. Some of the party bosses, with the corraling of the Irish vote as an object, have been imposing on Plunkett, "pulling his leg." His amazing statement will appear less startling when it is viewed in the light of an early presidential election.

A DRAGGING DISPUTE.

The everlasting Fiume dispute drags on. It is mixed up with other matters. Italy got a generous slice of Southwestern Austria, besides Trent, and the Slavs are not too pleased with that. Italy remembers the Adriatic empire of Venice in days gone by and wishes to make the Adriatic an Italian lake again, having designs even upon Albania, let alone the coasts about Fiume. The Italian claim is that their stability and control of the Adriatic is the best defence of western civilization against the restlessness of the fiery Slav.

It is understood that President Wilson would waive objections to Italian suzerainty over Fiume if guarantees were shown that Albania and the east coast generally would be let alone. It is not only the Jugo-Slavs but the Greeks who distrust the Italian advance down the east coast. Italian imperialism in that direction, like other modern imperialisms of commerce, makes for unrest and future trouble, there can be no denying. As far as Fiume itself merely is concerned, the Serbs and Croats have long cast desirous eyes upon it for an up-to-date port, but the town itself, apart from the country back of it seems to be mainly Italian, and the making of its splendid harbor was the work of the Hungarian Government. Italy may reasonably contend that Fiume should be part of the indemnity that Hungary is unable to pay her for her great expenditure of blood and money on the Allied side. But beyond Fiume Italy should not go, to provoke the already exasperated populations of the Balkan peninsula.

The trouble is that Italy is inclined to rest somewhat on the secret treaty of London which awarded her a great tract of the eastern Adriatic coast. Nothing more angers the American mind than the attempt to validate that act of "the old diplomacy," of which President Wilson was for a long time kept ignorant. The whole spirit of the new era and the League of Nations, the ideal for which nations thought they were fighting in the war, would be violated by the forcible execution of the clauses of that treaty in the teeth of the embittered little peoples of the Balkans. Italy's own future peace would be imperilled and there would be no end to conscription, armaments, ruinous expenditure and rumors of war in that quarter.

"INDUSTRY AND HUMANITY."

ARTICLE NO. 12.

LARGE OR SMALL, INDUSTRIES.

Mr. King says: "No form of industry unadapted to conditions of world competition can any longer hope to survive. Men have recognized the power for evil which lies in the control of vast organizations of industry and of vast wealth. They have been horrified by exposures of vast wrongs. What so many fail to see is that large organizations of industry and wealth are in themselves neither good nor evil. The control of either may contribute to vast injustice; it equally affords opportunity for the large measure of justice to mankind. Under present day conditions both accumulations of wealth and large scale organization in industry would be necessary were every individual capitalist to be deposed and his possessions forfeited to and administered by the state. Were the Socialist state to come into being tomorrow, under a regime of world competition, the capitalist form of industrial organization would still be necessary. This 'state' might in theory own all; and the existing wage system might disappear; individual practice 'politics' and the state substituted for 'capitalist managers.' Though differently controlled, the capitalist form of large organization of industry, with its division of labor, its division of industrial processes, and its division of industrial areas, would still remain."

Canada stands alone with reference to vast investments or enterprises. Its railways are vast, its banks becoming greater and less numerous. Its railways and banks are with few rivals in greatness in industry. Canada has some, not many, vast industries. Its banks could meet in the board room of any one of them and wield a mighty influence for good or evil. It is generally believed that a right spirit prevails at the meetings of the bankers' associations. Our railways are the government-owned and the Canadian Pacific. It is a pity that the Grand Trunk has been taken over. The "political manager" will not succeed as well as the "capitalist manager." Perhaps when millions if not billions are lost the Grand Trunk will return to private ownership. The Canadian Pacific will be an object lesson to the political manager, and may help to keep its management within bounds.

Most of the industries in Canada are still in the infant stage. This is so much the case that Mr. King's remarks have not so much application as they would have to older lands. So far as London is concerned many of our industries are still in the stage of exemptions and fixed assessments. This is the stage which gives hope to a man to improve his position in life. This is the stage when an employee may still hope to become an employer. It is the stage when the distinction between employer and employee is not so marked as it is when the industries are so vast as to be world-wide.

In the United States vast sums have been devoted to worthy objects by such men as Rockefeller, Carnegie, Archbold and many others who have displayed a desire to do as much good with their vast wealth as possible. This is greatly to their credit. Canada, principally in Montreal, has had some examples of princely benevolence, but up to the present time Canada is far behind the United States, even in proportion to its wealth, in this respect.

The "state" owns too much of our railways. Our banks are becoming too few in number. Our large industries, those adapted to world competition, are not numerous and the remainder depend to a great extent on the maintenance of a protective tariff. Immigration will be a material factor in the near future, affecting the prosperity of the country as a whole. "The prosperity of any country depends on the number of moderate fortunes engaged in its enterprises."

TOO MANY PEOPLE IN IRELAND.

[Belmont Correspondence of Toronto Telegram.] No one outside the South and West of Ireland has the faintest idea of the desperate state of affairs or the straits to which peaceable and law-abiding people have been reduced to compel them to stand passively by while every conceivable form of crime, from murder down, is being committed. The country towns and villages are infested by bands of ruffians who blackmail the peaceable and law-abiding for funds to carry on organized crime in their midst. The Sinn Feiners have plenty of money, obtained from these and other questionable sources, and make no secret of it. The great cause of crime is the surplus population. For many years Ireland has had a larger population than she could support, and emigration conveyed the surplus to many lands.

Emigration to America took away a large proportion of "undesirables" who in that country found a congenial outlet for their activity in shady American politics, and in the running of the secret societies with which that country is honeycombed. For nearly a century the slums of New York, and in more modern years the slums of Chicago, have been active headquarters of every anti-British society operating in Ireland. Sinn Fein is not a new organization, as many seem to think. It represents the Ribbon Society of the first half of the last century, the Fenian movement of the sixties, the Irish Inimitable Society (whose program was the wrecking of the present-day Sinn Feiners), the Irish Republican Brotherhood, and a dozen other organizations, all of which are now embraced under the common head of Sinn Fein.

When emigration was stopped the safety valve of Irish ruffianism was screwed down and an explosion was bound to follow. A surplus unemployed population easily turns to mischief, and the generous British Government materially helped matters by granting "the dole" until it became a public scandal. The Irish people of the South and West do not like England, but how they love her gold!

Speaking to a Dublin gentleman yesterday, he told me law and order is paralyzed in the Irish capital by two causes—the dislike of the government to drastic measures, such as would have been employed by any other government years ago, and the want of moral courage on the part of the people, who are either in full sympathy with or fear the Sinn Feiners. "There are," he said, "anything up to 10,000 troops about Dublin, but there is no force behind them. The government seems to be content with rubbing along; law and order is openly defied; soldiers are practically confined to their barracks. 'I have seen the police spat upon and abused in broad daylight, and you know that several have been murdered in the presence of scores of spectators, who did not lift a hand to stop the murderers. Small blame to them. The man who lifted a hand to help the police would be a dead man in a day or two.' He concluded: 'I never saw a state of house after seven in the evening. I have no desire to be shot in a street row. As for the home rule scheme now being projected, nobody wants it.' In the year 1919 twenty magistrates, policemen and soldiers were assassinated under circumstances marked by most cold-blooded and calculated villainy, yet not a single person has been brought to justice. Yet it is the country—three-fourths of which are ruled by murder ranges who have declared 'a state of war' between themselves and the British Government—which the self-same government purposes handing over to a people openly in alliance with Germany, Bolshevik Russia, and every other country hostile to the British Empire."

From Here and There

NO ADDITION.

[Covington, Ky., Star.]

Among the men in the first draft arrivals was a tall mountaineer, whose greatest difficulty came in memorizing the general orders for a sentry on post. On the first round the officer of the day warned him to be sure to hear the orders before his next tour of inspection, and to make sure that he understood, repeated the orders word for word.

In the evening the O. D., on visiting the post, asked the customary question: "What are your general orders?"

The tall sentry ruminated for a while, and then replied: "I reckon you still know 'em. They ain't changed none since this morning."

TOWARDS CLEAN SPORT.

[London Express.]

The Football Association is to be congratulated on the drastic action taken in the case of two players of the Portsmouth club, who have been permanently suspended after proof of payments received from a bookmaker with the object of securing a match. There is much in present-day sport, not least in Association football, to make the judicious grieves, and the tendency towards mere gladiatorial shows is bad for a fine game, bad for those who play it and for those who watch it. Mobbing of referees is a rotten element. Betting about the game and her lips moved in meaningless words. Bill sank on a stool and took one of the girl's limp hands in his own.

"Missus," he said, addressing Mrs. McTavish, "we'll find out who it was that took courage to remove his head from the sand, to legalize betting and bring it under state control, with resultant profit to the state."

KEEP THE CHILDREN IN SCHOOL.

[Lindsay Warrier.]

Two schools in Ontario County, and not many miles from Lindsay, have been closed for lack of pupils. The cry has been right along that a lack of teachers handicapped the rural boy or girl, but to have two schools closed for lack of pupils is indeed a deplorable state of affairs.

THE BOOZE BUSINESS.

[Calgary Commercial Review.]

The government made three or four hundred thousand dollars out of booze. The doctors made thousands around a million and a quarter in selling prescriptions. The net result of the economic saving, so far as the restriction of booze in this province is concerned, appears to have been to transfer the revenue formerly accrued to the government into the pockets of the doctors.

THE PROBLEM OF THE TURK.

[New York Globe.]

English Liberalism, true to its traditions, has protested against any further tolerance of the government which Gladstone called the Great Assassin. The Turkish rulers must leave Constantinople, it is insisted, and Armenia must be independent. The perfect solution of the problem is the expulsion of the sultan and his family. Perplexing but not impossible of solution is the disposition of the city itself—whether it shall be internationalized, or whether it shall be the property of the powers shall be balanced. But the key to the allied, and especially to British, policy is no longer the European rivalry, but the fear of the effect upon the Mohammedan world of what would be considered an insult to the spirit of Islam. The Sultan of Turkey possesses, in theory, that combination of secular and religious powers held by the medieval popes. It is his function to protect, not a nation, country or empire, but a faith. He is to respond to the German agitation for a holy war, the Mohammedans showed that they were able to distinguish a political struggle from a religious one, but they might take a different view of the expulsion of the revered person of the descendant of the Prophet from his sacred city. As the head of the British Empire rules over more Mohammedans than Christians, a Mohammedan uprising would be a dire calamity.

THE CALL OF VALHALLA.

[Euphemia McLeod in "My Rose and Other Poems."] There's a chanting in Valhalla, And a noise of sharp-shod feet, And a clanging through its gateways, And a steady, steady beat.

For the horses to Valhalla, Are racing hundreds strong, And they're crowding, still they're crowding, Up its pathways green and long.

To the forests of Valhalla, And its shady spreading trees, They are rushing from the shrapnel, And the battle-bladed seas.

In the waters of Valhalla, There is healing for their hurt, There is cooling for their fevered mouths, And rest for ears alert.

For from tranquil, fair Valhalla, They have died a noble death: For their countries and their riders, They have yielded up their breath.

Oh, ye heralds of Valhalla, Let your silver horns acclaim These undecorated heroes of Islam, Who forego an earthly name.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S BIOGRAPHY.

[Westminster Gazette.]

If there is one form of contemporary biography which appeals to me less than another, it is that in which some royal personage who is always in the public eye is belauded in a work of the kind which is described as "popular"; but I am inclined to make an exception in the case of Mr. David Williamson's "Queen Alexandra," which Messrs. Oliphants, Limited, publish. It is a "popular" biography, certainly; and it is decidedly an appreciation, laudatory, and glowing in its praise of the Queen-Mother is likely to be anything else. But Mr. Williamson has found many new anecdotes to add to a rich store of those that have been heard before, and he handles his material in such a way that he keeps me interested even when he is merely confirming me in the opinions that I had formed long ago. I like particularly an account by an Indian writer, which he quotes, of a visit that Queen Alexandra paid to the Pavilion at Brighton while it was in the occupation of the Indians. "A very gracious lady," it reads, "but the beautiful eyes are blurred as she looks at this wreckage of a blood race of noble fighters. 'Ah, the pity of it! Tell them how sorry I am for the lost sight, the fractured limbs, and the nerves that are snapped and dead.' And she tastes the sacred meal of the Sun, and has a kind greeting for all. And so she passes away, but her gracious memory will never pass away from the Indian soldiers who sit talking on the beautiful lawns of the Brighton Pavilion. This was, indeed, a great Lady Sahib."

A MISTAKEN POLICY.

[La Presse.]

It is being claimed that the disfranchisement of defaulters and aliens of enemy nationality would be a fitting punishment for faults committed by these persons during the late war. In that event, what would be the worth of the royal decree declaring that all those who neglected to fulfil their military obligations were pardoned and need have no fear in the future? Is the government to take away from one hand what it has just given with the other? And as aliens of enemy nationality, did we not go too far in disfranchising them at the last elections under the pretext that they were anti-Canadian in sentiment? Yet these people came to Canada after the government had guaranteed them certain guarantees as to their status in this country. Why disregard these obligations, above all, when, in most of the cases, these people have given more than the proof of their attachment to the country of their adoption rather than to the country of their origin? By such a narrow and unjust policy the Federal Government will achieve its final objective, the opinion of the public generally, and the opinion of the public generally, and the principal effort of our governors ought to be directed towards uniting all our strength and energy, and concentrating everybody of good-will upon the work of the economic and social reconstruction of the Dominion. In having recourse to such measures as is alleged against the Government, nothing will be achieved except to poison the public mind and rouse angry protests. What is past is done with. Let us turn our regards toward the future and work together to make this country a land which it is good to live in because its people are united, prosperous and strong.

Love of the Wild

By Archie P. McKinnell

Then slowly the ride was lowered, and Paisley arose.

"No, I can't shoot until I am sure," he said, "but if they're harmed little Glos—"

He hurried forward. At the edge of the garden patch his foot came in contact with a yielding body. The clouds had covered the stars again, but Paisley with a low word of distress bent and lifted Joe, the Irish setter, in his arms. The dog was dead. His head sagged over against the man's shoulder, as tenderly Paisley carried him forward and laid him just outside the door.

"It's Bill," he called, and the door was opened. On a chair beside the window lay two rifles and in one corner knelt Big McTavish. His wife, Granny, beside the still form of a girl lying in Boy's arms. The big man looked up at Paisley appealingly, and the tears streamed down his seamed face as he said brokenly:

"They tried to steal our little Glos, Bill, and she's fainted from fright."

Paisley, his temples throbbing and his soul thick, came forward and, bending, looked into the white face of the girl. Her eyes were closed and her bosom rose and fell. Her arms were about Boy's neck and her lips moved in meaningless words. Bill sank on a stool and took one of the girl's limp hands in his own.

"Missus," he said, addressing Mrs. McTavish, "we'll find out who it was that took courage to remove his head from the sand, to legalize betting and bring it under state control, with resultant profit to the state."

Gradually the great eyes opened and a smile fluttered on the girl's lips. "I'm all right now," she answered weakly, "only those rough men frightened me so much I feel like being banished. Take me like you used to when I was a little girl and Boy by my side. It seems I want you so much—so much—"

She broke off and her arms tightened about Boy's neck. Then quickly they unclasped and she arose, a flush wiping the pallor from her face.

"I guess I wasn't just myself, Boy," she stammered.

And leaning on the older woman's arm she passed slowly from the room. Big McTavish, who was replacing his rifle in the rack, turned and said to her: "Let me take care of your little Glos."

"Will they come back, d'ye think?" he asked.

"Most likely," Paisley answered; "but not again tonight, though. They're some anxious to live, I suppose. Now," he cried sharply, "why were they here, and what do they mean by tryin' to break into your house and kidnap little Glos?"

Big Mac shook his head. "I was playin' the fiddle here by the fire, and Glos, ma, and Granny was busy in there with the spinnin' when Dave opened the window there behind you and dropped in. I could see he was awful excited, so I called close out. She can understand his language better than I can, and when she told me what Dave had seen I scarcely knowed what to do. When I was gettin' down the guns and Glos was lockin' the door Dave crawled outside again. I wouldn't have let him go, but he slipped away. I heard 'em shoot, but I'm prayin' God they didn't hit the little feller."

"Dave's all right," cried Paisley. "He broke off and her arms tightened about Boy's neck. Then quickly they unclasped and she arose, a flush wiping the pallor from her face."

"I guess I wasn't just myself, Boy," she stammered.

came for me and Boy. What next?" "I'm awful glad he wasn't hit," said the big man. "Well, about ten minutes before I heard the shot, old Joe, who had been tuggin' at his leash, broke loose and I heard him mizin' things with 'em outside. I heard somebody yellin' that the dog was killin' 'em. Then the shot was fired and—"

Paisley turned quickly and looked at Boy. His head was bowed upon his breast, and his hands were clenched. "And," continued McTavish, "I didn't hear poor old Joe after that."

"Poor old Joe," said Boy, "poor old pup."

Then, lifting his head, he looked out of the window at the silver-crested clouds with smiling eyes.

"He always liked these dark, quiet nights," he said, as if to himself, "and when the starlight slipped through like it's doin' now, no matter if it was early or midnight, he would get up and wag his tail just out of happiness—pure happiness. And now he's dead, and they killed him—didn't 'em."

"I found him just on the edge of the garden," said Paisley. "Yes, Boy, poor old Joe is dead, and he died fightin' for you."

Boy nodded and looked at his father. "Go on, dad, let's hear the rest of it."

"After that they came up and pounded on the door. They demanded that I let them in. 'What do you want?' I asked. 'You'll find that out soon enough,' they answered. 'You're all alone and there's four of us,' they said. 'If you don't open the door we'll break it down.'"

Big McTavish paused, a catch in his voice.

"I reckon the old devil has a pretty good mortgage on my soul yet," he went on, his voice husky. "I know there'd have been killin' done right then if it hadn't been for ma and Glos and me. They wouldn't let me shoot. They begged for me not to shoot. I heard one of the gang say: 'We've got that girl boys.' I scarcely knowed what they meant—not then. There was a pot o' bollin' pitch on the crane there that was gottin' ready for boat callin', and just as they banged the door open I hurled that pitch plumb into their faces. They were all right quick, 'cause they scrambled back purty quick, and when I peeked through the crack I could see them runnin' for the timber. Back everybody, there's some body comin'." I heard somebody shout. That's all I know now. I wish I knewed why they wanted to steal little Glos."

"I reckon we're goin' to know why right soon," mumbled Paisley.

The Dead-Line of Sedition

"It ought to be a simple matter," an Indiana editor remarks, "to mark and brand the real seditionist." But it is not a simple matter apparently for congressmen to devise a measure which will satisfy at once those who fear that our institutions will be overthrown by seditious propaganda, and those afraid they will be undermined by interference with civil liberties. In order to help Congress find out what kind of legislation the people really want, if any, we have asked a large number of newspaper editors to set down the provisions they think a sedition act ought to contain.

THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 6 presents these opinions, and taken as a whole, gives a constructive basis upon which to build. While the Dayton News believes that "public meetings where the Government of the United States is attacked and insulted should be stopped everywhere, and those who persist in traitorous activities should be jailed, fined, or deported, as the case deserves," the Kansas City Star declares that "additional legislation is more dangerous than soap-box oratory or foolish publications." Running between these two extreme view-points, the article in THE LITERARY DIGEST reflects a wide field of public opinion.

Stratford Midgets
Secure 1-Goal Lead

Heavy Ice Advantageous To Toronto Paddlers, Who Hold Midgets To Narrow Margin—Score 6 to 5.

STRATFORD, March 4.—Stratford Juniors go to Toronto on Tuesday with a one-goal margin for the final battle with the Canoe Club. Tonight's score in the first of the finals was 6 to 5. The game was played on ice that was far from conducive to good hockey. Starting the first period, it was slushy, and towards the end there was much water on it. The conditions admirably suited the going for the heavy and less speedy Paddlers. The Midgets, who rely on their speed and combination, were at a decided disadvantage.

They adapted themselves more readily than the fans expected. It soon developed into a test of endurance with the general going favoring the visitors. Their superior weight told, but the Midgets gave liberally of their avoidance as well. On their showing tonight, the Midgets' management feel they have a good chance to come out on top. The Paddlers count themselves lucky to keep the score as it was, but the Midgets of the arena will alter conditions greatly.

If anything, it will give the Midgets the edge. They are unquestionably a hard-ice team. The visitors lacked the team play which the Red and Whites are capable of, and tonight much of their effort was confined to long shooting and following up.

In the first period Stratford gathered a lead of two, the score being 3 to 1. They still held the lead when the second frame came to a close, but gained one in the third. Owing to the condition of the ice, the play at many stages was loose, but in spite of all, it was a nip-and-tuck struggle. For the visitors, Conacher was the danger signal. His rushes were ever to be feared. Burch played a nifty game, as did also McCurry. McLeod was called on to show his metal on not a few occasions, and he measured up to the task. Berger, Kelterborne and Morenz were in the game all the time.

A two-goal lead was what the Midgets were able to gather in the first period, and fans took heart from the fact that the locals were leading by the same number again. The second period was quite satisfactory. The Midgets were hard, and this showed up in the third period, while giving the visitors a scope for their super-weight and reach.

Toronto started strong and in the first few minutes rained in several hot ones at McLeod. McCurry missed a free shot at McLeod. McCurry missed a beautiful chance when he took the puck on a pass but a few feet in front of the net. McLeod was too quick and the puck flipped over the net. Moore, the diminutive goaler, suffered a check on the face, but stuck to his post. McCurry got a nasty crack on the back of the head, which drew Windsor Strongly Backing Scheme and Meeting There Next Week Probable.

WINDSOR, March 4.—Organization of a Southwestern Ontario baseball league, embracing the counties of Essex and Kent, is being strongly urged by followers of the sport in Windsor and other centres in the district, who are interested in the proposal. With prospects of Windsor entering a team in the Michigan-Ontario League this year, extremely remote, the new movement is finding its strongest backers in this city, and a meeting will be held some time next week to discuss the possibilities of the project and possibly undertake active plans. With tentative plans have in mind Chatham, Petrolia, Amherstburg, Leamington, Sarnia and Windsor.

STANLEY CUP GAMES WILL BE PLAYED AT OTTAWA, IF POSSIBLE

Vancouver or Seattle Will Meet Senators in World's Championship Clash.

OTTAWA, March 4.—Officers of the Ottawa Hockey Club stated tonight that prospects were bright for a world's series and Stanley Cup games in the capital. William Foran, Stanley Cup trustee, has already got into communication with the Patriks, and it is likely that some announcement in connection with the world's series will be made in the course of a few days. It is reported that the Patriks have agreed to demand their champions' share to play for the world's series and the Stanley Cup, and that they will leave for Ottawa immediately after the close of the western series. The coast league does not wind up, unfortunately, until March 12, after which the first and second teams play off. Consequently Vancouver or Seattle could not be here before March 22 at the earliest. Whether or not Ottawa can conduct a series at that late date depends, of course, on climatic conditions. The Ottawa Club will do its utmost to have the games played in Ottawa, it is understood, but if the ice comes too soft, it would be possible to play the matches on the artificial ice surface at Toronto.

FINE BOXING CARD
ARRANGED FOR FORD

Many Prominent Border Pugilists Will Meet At Ford City Tuesday Night.

WINDSOR, March 4.—Fred Rivers, aspirant for heavyweight honors and protégé of Arthur Pelky, Canadian champion in the heavyweight class, is scheduled for four rounds with Charlie Ross of Brantford at the Pelky arena in Ford City next Tuesday night. It was announced today, when arrangements were completed for the meeting, Rivers, who tips the scales at 200 pounds when in condition, recently secured a knockout in the third round of a scheduled eight-round go at Pontiac, Michigan.

He has been seen here in exhibition matches on several occasions with Pelky.

Another bout slated for the evening are Floyd Cherry of Pontiac and Jockey Mott of Windsor. In the semi-finals, while in the preliminaries Tony Mott of Windsor and Kid Mercer of Windsor will go six rounds. Ted Lafave and Kid Currier of Detroit will mix for four rounds, and Young Devonshire racing plants for a resumption of the series. Programs and purses, however, will not be until the first of April, as the season here does not open until the middle of July. Local magnates are watching with interest for further developments at Ottawa, and expect legislation will be enacted during the present session of the House, and probably in the very near future, following the submission of Commissioner Rutherford's finding.

By defeating the Perrin team in a one-sided battle, the Westminster rink obtained the right to enter into the finals for the championship of the Manufacturers' League. The druggists outplayed the biscuit makers, winning by the score of 5 to 1. In an exhibition game, the Postoffice team defeated the public utilities by a score of 9 to 2.

The Standard Drug-Perrin game was featured by wing hard checking and several penalties were handed out for rough work. Both teams gave fine exhibitions of stick handling while the officials were numerous, the game was more interesting than the score indicates. E. Brown played a stellar lone rush and finding the net on a number of occasions. The old time was 1:23.

PLAYERS ARE EXCHANGED.

Louisville, Ky., March 5.—The Louisville American Association Baseball Club announced the exchange of Timothy Hendryx, centre fielder, to the Boston Americans for William Lamar, also an outfielder, and a cash consideration. Hendryx was the leading American Association batter last year.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 5.—Miss Mary Hillegas, Philadelphia, broke the American 100 yards breast stroke swimming record for women here last night in winning the middle Atlantic A. A. U. championship. Her time was 1 minute 25 seconds. The old time was 1:23.

PAT MORAN STARTS

WAY TO THE SOUTH

Heinie Groh Refuses To Sign and Is Left Behind.

Cincinnati, March 5.—Manager Pat Moran, with a squad of players of the champion Cincinnati National League Baseball Club, boarded a train here this morning for Miami, Fla., where spring training will begin next Monday.

The squad will be joined at Atlanta by Ivy Wingo, and Rube Bressler. All the other players will join the team at camp early next week, going there directly from their homes.

Refusal of Heinie Groh yesterday to attach his signature to a $10,000 contract, resulted in his being left behind. Groh insisted on receiving $11,000, and declared he would not play baseball this year unless his team was not, while officials of the club asserted firmly they would not yield an inch. There is a lurking suspicion that Heinie would like to end the controversy and join his teammates in the south, but Mrs. Groh absolutely refuses to let him go. Groh's manager, however, offers her little Outfielder Eddie Roush, who has not appeared at headquarters here to sign a contract, is expected to report at Miami within a few days.

"SILENT" RADEBOLD SCORES
TWO MORE KNOCKOUTS

New York, March 5.—"Silent" Radebold, the deaf and dumb boxer of the Union Settlement Athletic Club, added two other knockout victims to his credit in the amateur boxing tournament held by the Automobile Engineers in the Broadway club house last night. Radebold met his opponent in the 128-pound division, polishing the first of his opening round, and winning the final in the second round.

WINDSOR, March 4.—With the ban of racing in Canada removed and time restrictions on the sport removed, plans are being considered by the Windsor Jockey, Kenilworth and Devonshire racing plants for a resumption of meets. Programs and purses, however, will not be until the first of April, as the season here does not open until the middle of July. BAPTISTS DEFEAT SOLDIERS
IN FAST INDOOR BALL GAME

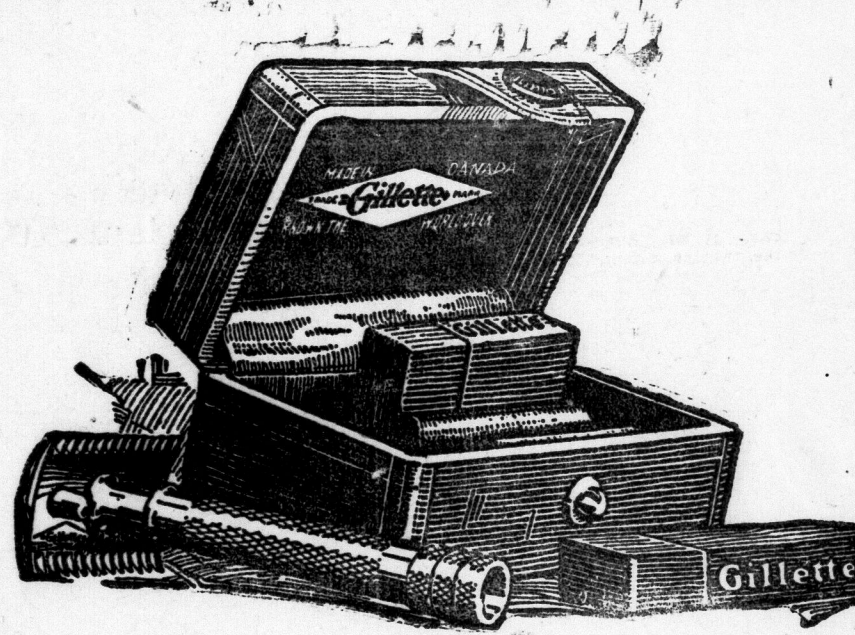

Before one of the largest crowds that has witnessed an indoor baseball game at the armories this season, the team representing the London Baptist churches defeated a strong aggregation from the Princess Patricia's Regiment by a score of 8 to 7 last night. Wray pitched an excellent game for the visitors, while the work of Rev. M. S. McKeechin at the bat was the feature of the game. He secured a hit every time he came to bat, while his colleague, Rev. A. C. Dingham, also bounded out a line drive for a single. The game was an exhibition staged for the benefit of the Exeter Street Baptist Church, which was destroyed by fire. The Baptists have now decided to remain in the league, however, and will take the place of the Technical School team, which is withdrawing.

The second game last night was between the Dowler team and the crew from the Army and Navy Veterans Association. Dowlers completely outplayed the veterans and won by a score of 6 to 0.

Dowlers—Burgess, third base; Dutton, centre; Taylor, shortstop; Down, first base; Wray, pitcher; Males, left; Ball, second base; Gillies, right. Army and Navy Veterans—Armstrong, catcher; Wray, first base; Walker, pitcher; Tite, right; Burghill, centre; J. Wray,

At a conservative estimate, more than fifteen million Gillette Safety Razors are in use throughout the world. It is stupendous—hard to realize! Such things, however, do not happen by chance. Unquestionable superiority must be behind this mass of opinion in favor of the Gillette Safety Razor.

First, naturally, there comes the continued facial satisfaction assured by Gillette shaving. That is taken for granted—no need to argue the point.

Next, comes the intrinsic value and merit of the Gillette sets, the carefully made cases, the mechanically perfect razors, the gleaming blades, 12 to a set, double-edged, super-keen.

Then, it is a mark of distinction to own a Gillette. It has a rightful place in the equipment of every man who prides himself on his appearance, whether the man be an artisan or artist, clerk or clubman, employee or employer.

Again, when the talk among men turns to razors, there is undoubted advantage in claiming ownership of a Gillette.

The final dictum in razor keenness is NO STROPPING—NO HONING and all devices calculated to bring other razor edges up to Gillette keenness only serve to compliment the razor that is Known the World Over.

At The Theaters

AT THE MAJESTIC.
Perhaps there has not been a more popular musical concert held here in years than that which was heard at the Majestic Theatre last night, when eight of the famous "His Master's Voice" record artists were heard in a crowded house. It was a thrilling moment when the curtain rose, and there they were, all in a row, familiar of face and figure, but old friends just as soon as they began to sing and talk. They all seemed to be the best of friends, and were having such a good time among themselves that everything in the theatre had to be happy, too.

And who could have felt anything else but perfect bliss when Henry Burr's clear, velvety tenor voice dropped liquid notes into the air, and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," and "Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight" were forthcoming. This supreme artist sings with an intensity of feeling and sympathetic understanding which is irresistible.

And with him was John Meyers, the familiar rich-toned baritone, who rendered in an unforgettable manner "Dear Old Pal" and "I'm Aching for the Sight of You." Frank Croton, the popular bass, was heard in some delightful negro melodies, and Arthur Campbell, the first tenor, in "The Little Mother of Mine." A tenor and baritone duet by Henry Burr and John Meyers and a duet by Henry Burr and Arthur Campbell were other attractive numbers, as were those given by the Sterling Trio—Burr, Campbell and Meyers—and the Peerless Quartet—Campbell, Burr, Meyers and Croton. Continuous applauding followed every number throughout the program.

But this does not by any means finish it. For there was Fred Van Eps, who showed himself to be a veritable wizard on the banjo, and who, with his own hands, and the fascinating boy accompanist, Frank Banta, who gave solo numbers to the delight of his hearers.

And then on top of all this and the favorites of the night, were the funny ones, Billy Murray and Monroe Silver. Billy Murray is a fine tenor. But he is more than a tenor. He is a comedian, and his comic songs were irresistible. Monroe Silver is just as clever in his way, which is the "Cohen Way." At least everything he sings (and his parodies on popular songs are innumerable) and everything he does is in Jewish dialect, and nothing could be funnier, the way he speaks it.

As regards the orchestra, Henry Burr is the fattest, and has the most angelically-serious countenance imaginable, and he really looks different. Albert Campbell, the first tenor, is also thin, and not very tall, and he's very serious, and never forgets it by any chance. John Meyers is a medium-sized man with very prominent eyes. He also looks serious, but isn't.

At least he'll play foolishly, if he has a partner to help him.

Monroe Silver is a short, stocky man, with eyes perpetually laughing. And he can look quite like a Jew, even if he isn't. Frank Banta is a typical, nice-looking boy, a little inclined to be serious, but yet with plenty of room for fun. And last of all, Billy Murray, who acted as stage manager, chairman, and everything else, last night is the most human of them all. He stands just in the middle, not too thin, nor fat, nor short—just brimming over with fun and ready to contort his face in any humorous fashion to suit the tone of the number which he sings.

AT THE GRAND.
Who would not love to live on a homestead and have to chase chickens, and the hired girl, and the hired man? After seeing "The Old Homestead" at the Grand Theatre last night, you would be convinced that farm life is not so dull after all.

"The Old Homestead" has been called the greatest American classic, and there are few who have not heard of the character of Joshua Whitcomb, which was played by William Lawrence, assisted by a most capable cast, as the saying goes. His troubles, his son, Reuben, who had left home and gone to New York, perhaps gave him a kinder heart, and he was more than he had not thought that Reuben was wandering around New York.

On an equal footing with the above is "Toby's Bow," a film starring Tim Moore, another screen star who is well fitted to take roles requiring youthful vigor.

Tim Moore is presented in the role of James Boynton Blackett, a young man, all-around "good fellow," and a disciple of the great god Bacchus. New York has had him before, and he has excitement and stimulation for the proper exercise of his literary talents, he goes aboard at a southern mansion for the express purpose of taking a rest preparatory to writing a book.

Arrived at his destination he meets the owner of the mansion—Eugenie Vardeman, whose son-in-law is to be the "great American novel," a dusky-brown, servant-like, but devoted to the apothecary and "rescue" money-lender who holds a mortgage on the girl's home.

The story is entirely different from the one which has been seen for a long time. One cannot foresee how it is going to end when the middle of the film is reached. The scenery is a treat, and the picture is sure to delight everyone. "Loew's Around the World" gives an insight into the winter sports of Canada, as well as views of tropical countries. A Mutt and Jeff comedy and a Mack Sennett comedy complete the photoplay program.

The vaudeville acts this week are very good, especially the headline act, "Sandy's Wedding Present." The four characters imitate the Scottish accent to perfection, and are very amusing. The Clairmont Brothers, in a travesty act, perform some clever feats. Will J. Evans in his fifteen-minute act draws unstinted applause. Griff and Ray, and Leonard and Wright also present some new and novel things in music, songs and chatter. This program will be repeated today and on Friday.

AT THE ALLEN.
Tom Sawyer, that immortal character of Mark Twain's book that title, lives again in the person of Jack Pickford. Through the medium of the screen he can be seen by Londoners at the Allen Theatre today and on Saturday. All his mischief, of which the author gave such a detailed account, is portrayed with the same detail.

Tom Sawyer is a picture that appeals to the whole family and helps the members of the home circle to understand each other better. After seeing Tom at his mischief grown-ups cannot help forgiving children for the innocent pranks which they are wont to play. To the children, especially the healthy boy, Tom is a living definition of the word "boy"; in fact, he is as much a hero to them as Buffalo Bill or Nelson.

A picture was taken in Hannibal, Missouri, and shows the very house in which Mark Twain lived as a boy, and the house in which Huck Finn, whose real name was Tom Blankenship, lived. It is all there—even to the famous fence which Tom was set to whitewash the morning his friends came to jeer, but remained to paint.

BRITISH POUND
STERLING MAKES FAST RECOVERY

Exchange Rate Advanced 12 1-2 Cents On New York Market.

CANADIAN DOLLAR AT 88c

Believed Partial Reaction
From Much Overdone
Speculation On Decline.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The remarkable recovery that occurred today in sterling exchange was the dominating influence on the markets. The rate, advancing 12½¢ over yesterday's closing, touched $3.58½, the highest since January 28. Since the best price of the year, to date was $3.79¼ and the worst price $3.18, considerably more than the great decline which culminated a month ago today has been recovered. On the exchange market it was reported today that buying of exchange on London was exceptionally active, and bills were not offered freely. Rates for exchange on other European markets moved similarly in their favor.

Rapid Recovery.
Financial men here state that the rapid recovery in sterling—it has advanced 23 cents almost within a week—is partly reaction from a much overdone speculation for a decline. Sales of securities by London in New York have also cut a figure. It is admitted, however, that the movement has a deeper significance.

Signs Encouraging.
Economically and politically the signs in Europe have been encouraging enough in the last few weeks to put market has been favored. It is also believed here that recent indications of possible steps to save Germany from bankruptcy have had something to do with increasing financial confidence.

Canadian dollars were at 88c at market closing, a very considerable improvement over recent quotations.

BREWERS ASK GOVT.
TO PERMIT MAKING OF STRONGER BEER

Request Drury To Define "Intoxicating Beverage."

TORONTO, March 4.—Representing the brewers of Ontario Messrs. Russell of Hamilton and Carnham of Toronto waited upon the Provincial Government today, asking that "intoxicating beverage" be defined by the Government. The brewers said before the cabinet their claim that beer containing 2.5 per cent alcohol was not intoxicating. They informed the Government that they had no desire to manufacture an intoxicating drink, but they were anxious to be empowered to manufacture a palatable beverage than the present 2½ per cent proof spirits brand.

Replying, Premier Drury made the same request as he has on several occasions. He asked them to submit a written memorandum of their wishes, to which the Government will give a considered reply.

OIL WELL DRILLER ELECTROCUTED WHILE AT WORK IN PETROLEA

Fred Howlett, Jr., Instantly Killed by Hydro High Tension Current.

[Special To The Advertiser.]
PETROLEA, March 4.—Fred Howlett, Jr., oil driller, of this town, was instantly killed late this afternoon by a high tension charge of electricity. Mr. Howlett was assisting in the pulling of the centre rod from an oil well near a roadside on the outskirts of the town.

As the rod was being pulled the swivel at the derrick head broke and the long rod dented over toward the hydro high tension wires. Mr. Howlett grabbed the rod too late, and received the full electrical charge, the effect of which was to hurl his body fifteen feet. Death was instantaneous.

Coroner Dr. Duffield was notified and visited the scene, but has not yet decided whether an inquest is necessary. Mr. Howlett was married last summer. He is survived by his wife and his parents.

NEW JERSEY SEEKS TO HAVE PROHIBITION
BILL DECLARED VOID

Files Suit To Annul United States Dry Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The state of New Jersey, through its attorney-general, today filed in the United States supreme court its suit seeking to have the constitutional prohibition amendment declared null and void and to prevent enforcement of the Volstead act. Jos. A. Langan, assistant state attorney-general, has asked for an early hearing.

The bill of complaint sets forth that the amendment was improperly drawn, that in 21 states the legislatures have not ratified it as provided by their state constitutions, and that there is no power in Congress to propose a constitutional amendment regulating the habits and morals of the people. It recites further that the amendment is a legislative and not a constitutional matter, and that as such it was improperly passed.

The repeal measure was offered by Representative Eagen, Democrat, New Jersey, as an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation measures, and Speaker Gillett overruled a point of order against it. Mr. Eagen also proposed elimination from the bill of an appropriation of $4,000,000 for enforcing the dry act. Both proposals were defeated on one rollcall.

TRUCKMEN REFUSE
NON-UNION FISH

NEW YORK, March 4.—Union truckmen today refused to handle $10,000 worth of fish sent here from Massachusetts fishing ports, because the barrels containing it did not bear the union label, which reads: "The fish here were caught by union fishermen in the Atlantic." It is lying in the street near the pier where it was discharged.

Awaits Advice From Constantinople Before Announcing Conclusion Reached.

LONDON, March 4.—Turkey is stripped of virtually all her territory in Europe, but retains the sacred places, by the treaty now being completed by the presence of foreign ministers and ambassadors, it became known today. Thrace has been awarded to Greece by the peace conference, but the present conference is charged with the task of working out plans whereby the Turks will keep control of the sacred places and Adrianople. Smyrna will be placed under Greek control.

ARMENIAN DECISION LATER.
LONDON, March 4.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, regarding the massacres of Armenians, Premier Lloyd George said this had been the subject of very anxious consideration at the allied conference, and the conference had reached a decision which had been communicated to their representatives at Constantinople. What would be done regarding it would depend upon the advice to be received from the Turkish capital to be announced later.

CUT THIS OUT
OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

CIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly one-tenth of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, the formation of food is hindered, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases, and may do real harm. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and get from any druggist a few doses of Blaud's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blaud's Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never acid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion—Advt.

STRIKING SURGEONS NOT WANTED BACK AT THE HOSPITAL

"Are Out and Can Stay Out," Says Superintendent.

TWO REMAIN ON DUTY

Will Assist in Emergency Cases, But No Routine Work.

The strike of house surgeons at Victoria Hospital has not yet been broken, and Superintendent Thomas Heard today informed The Advertiser that the members of the staff who quit on Wednesday "were out and could stay out, as they have expressed no inclination to come back." He attributes the strike to the fact that the housemen involved are under-graduates at Western University Medical School, and are anxious to devote their entire time to studies. However, the under-graduates maintain that the strike was called in an effort to obtain better food at the local institution.

Superintendent Heard also stated that the two graduates on duty at the hospital have remained at their posts, satisfied with conditions. One of the under-graduates who left Victoria today, took exception to this statement and informed The Advertiser that as the year contract of one of these graduates expired next month he is not striking, while the remaining house doctor has asked to be relieved of his obligations.

The strikers stated today that they wish the public to know that Victoria Hospital is not deserted by the two of the strikers remaining on duty each night to cope with emergencies, but the work will not be performed by them.

The nurses, it is said, are fully satisfied with conditions as they stand at present.

REPORTERS HAVE MERRY TIME AT DRURY BANQUET

Oysterless Soup Lapped Up by News Fiends—Luck of J. H. Saunders.

Reporters who attended the banquet tendered by the Middlesex Milk Producers to Premier E. C. Drury last night, experienced one of the most joyous evenings of their existence. More funny things happened in less time than could be seen at any place except a vaudeville show.

For a starter, two brisk young businessmen hurried into the gathering and made their way over to the check room. "I'll pay for yours," said the first one, as he flipped a quarter on the counter. He pushed his overcoat through the wicket and got his check. His friend did not observe this, and accordingly when he pushed his surplus clothing through the opening he, too, demanded a check. The man in charge evidently didn't hear quite clearly.

He Clutched It. "All right," he replied, "here it is." And he handed five cents to the businessman. "Another of these darn stinky farmers," he growled. "Wanted a nickel change back after he checked his hat, coat, rubbers, and half a dozen other things." Then the businessman had to face a crowd of about hundred as he made his way out with his nickel clutched in his hand.

The next bit of entertainment came with the oyster soup. The Advertiser reporter was in luck. He corralled no less than four oysters in his bowl. His rivals from the other "sheet" didn't even get one between them. The Advertiser man offered to share up, but the proposition was not favorably received. J. H. Saunders, chairman of the board of health, was also "out of luck." He couldn't find an oyster in his bowl with a soup strainer. But years of training on various city bodies had developed in him ready resource. He finished his soup and then camouflaged the bowl with two menu cards. When the waiter came that way again he passed the camouflage artist another bowl of soup. There were no less than six oysters in this one.

Later on The Advertiser scribe had occasion to remark on the ability of some of his rivals in the news-gathering business. As he listened to the strains of the orchestra he observed that there were some drummers who would make good bass drummers. "That'll be about enough from you," retorted the P. P. representative. He then noticed that the waiter was standing at his elbow. That gentleman thought the remark had been addressed for him. It looked for a moment as though the scribe was going to get all mixed up with ice cream and pie. He explained in time that he was only talking to his friend across the table. At another table a waiter had the misfortune to let his tray slip. Roast beef and gravy, green peas and mashed potatoes poured down his coat. This was grievance enough, but somebody was heartless enough to laugh. It took several minutes of tactful reasoning to avoid disaster.

OLD MAGAZINES AND RUBBERS BRING $70

Chesley Avenue Pupils Come To Aid of Egerton Street Church.

Principal E. Gibbs of the Chesley avenue school in the vicinity of the Egerton Street Baptist Church, thought it was about house-cleaning time for the housewives, and hit upon a plan whereby his scholars could aid in rebuilding the Egerton Street Church.

He announced to them that he wanted all the old paper, magazines and rubbers he could get. His announcement brought to the school building 3,000 pounds of paper, 2,000 pounds of magazines and 150 pounds of old rubbers. These were sold and the proceeds, $70.20, handed to Rev. A. C. Bingham, pastor of Egerton Street Baptist Church, who expressed the appreciation of his congregation and himself for the money raised by the children. Small children with big bundles, and big children with small bundles, hand around the Chesley avenue school district all last week.

HOLD REUNION

High School Girls Have Enjoyable Evening.

One of the finest meetings ever held by the High School Girls' Club was the supper meeting held last night in the Y. M. C. A. This was the occasion of renewing old acquaintanceships among the alumnae, such a meeting taking place every year. To it came the girls who have passed into the Normal School, University and other walks of life, bringing with them a message of the new life beyond the doors of the collegiate.

The Speakers. Last night among the speakers was Miss Elva Bernath, president of the St. Thomas High School Girls' Club, who was accompanied by Miss Doris Hammond, a former president of the London club; Miss Emley, a returned nursing sister, who wears the Royal Red Cross ribbon, and who spoke of her work among the men overseas; Miss Peggy Gemmell, who gave interesting impressions of the Den Moines students' convention; Miss Helen Davies, who recounted the joys of life at Western University; and Miss Dorothy Wardrope, who maintained that life at Normal School was not a bore, but a sing-song was held, among the num-de-light every moment. Miss Marion bers sung being a newly-composed Grant, the president of the club, was "Song to the Alumnae," which was received with great enthusiasm.

MOUNT BRYDGES GIRL DIES IN WINDSOR HOSPITAL

Detroit Doctor Alleged To Have Performed Illegal Operation.

WINDSOR, March 4.—Miss Anna Sinclair, 27 years old, who came here from Mount Brydges, died this morning in Hotel Eden from blood poisoning, the result of an illegal operation performed by a Detroit physician, according to statements said to have been made by the girl shortly before her death.

Miss Sinclair, who lived with relatives at 3 Pierre Avenue, was employed in Detroit. She was admitted to the hospital Tuesday, when examination disclosed that she was suffering from septic poisoning.

Dr. Labelle, coroner for Essex County, has ordered an investigation of the case. He did not know the name of the Detroit physician named by the girl, but this, he said, might be brought out at the inquest next Tuesday night.

WILL NOT LET GOVT.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT

Major Andrew Will Stir Up Union Regime.

OTTAWA, March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Waiting like the proverbial wolf at a chicken hole, Major G. W. Andrews, D. S. O., member for Centre Winnipeg, who is looked upon as one of the leaders of returned soldiers' representation in the Commons, is intending to make at least one portion of the debate on the speech from the throne very interesting to returned men generally.

The re-establishment question was only lightly referred to in the speech, and cannot be allowed to pass without more thought being given to it. "I certainly shall have something to say on this important question," Major Andrews told the Canadian Press today.

He will outline what he believes should be done on re-establishment by the Government, and following his statement in the House, will go to Montreal for the G. W. V. A. convention on March 22, for which 500 delegates are scheduled to come from all parts of the Dominion.

CANADA NEEDS FLEET

OTTAWA, March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Emphasizing the value of the great need for a progressive Canadian mercantile marine, Mr. Alexander Johnston, deputy minister of the department of marine, speaking before the Ottawa branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada at a luncheon at the Chateau Laurier today replied to criticism recently leveled at the department's shipbuilding program. He quoted figures to prove that in spite of higher wages steel ships were being constructed in Canada at practically the same price as asked by English shipbuilders and cheaper than in the United States.

WILL MAKE PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY OF ROAD FROM JARVIS TO PORT DOVER

TORONTO, March 4.—Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works promised a deputation from Norfolk today that the county road from Jarvis to Port Dover, six miles, would be made a county provincial road.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY DECISION PLEASES
PEOPLE OF ST. THOMAS

Plans Outlined by Hon. F. C. Biggs Make City Hub of System.

DEARTH OF HOUSES

Shortage of Dwellings Causes Families To Move To Other Cities.

ST. THOMAS, March 4.—Much satisfaction is expressed here at the attitude of the Ontario Government with regard to the provincial highways. Prominent men of the city today expressed the opinion that instead of being left off the highway, St. Thomas is really the hub of all provincial roads under the plan announced. The advocates of the southern route are getting even more than was asked for while their opponents who were fighting for the northern route have also been satisfied.

The question has been under discussion here for many months, and several deputations have been sent to Toronto in connection with the southern route. Recently, although nothing was made public regarding it, a deputation of prominent businessmen and members of the city council journeyed to Toronto and waited on Premier Drury and Hon. F. C. Biggs, urging the southern route as the most suitable one. City Solicitor Doherty, who headed the deputation, states that the proposal to have several highways designated through this district was discussed at that meeting, and little surprise was caused by the latest announcement in conversation with a press representative today Mr. Doherty declared that instead of being left out, as some thought St. Thomas would be a few months ago, she has been given the lion's share.

City Treasurer S. G. Perry declares that it will materially benefit St. Thomas, and that the city will not only grow industrially, but with such a highway shipping facilities will be made much more convenient.

Mr. L. Appleford, president of the new Milk Products Company recently located here, announces that in view of the settlement of the road question his company are making arrangements to do a lot of their shipping by motor truck.

NOTHING KNOWN HERE.
A rumor which has almost worn itself out from continual publication, regarding the location of the Dodge Brothers' factory in this city, is said to be entirely without a foundation. The board of trade and prominent industrial men of the city state that as far as they know at present no action has been taken either by the Dodge people or the city. An option was taken on the local golf course several months ago by the board of trade, but, according to Secretary Lodge, the option was taken for use in the event of any industry locating here.

HOUSING PROBLEM SERIOUS.
That no less than fourteen families have taken homes in Windsor and are leaving the city within the next few weeks is the startling information disclosed today by a local drayman. He claims that the present shortage of houses is responsible for the numerous removals. The housing committee of the board of trade will, it is said, make an announcement in a few days, and it is likely that some definite action will be taken at that time. Several people have signified their intention of building homes on the plan outlined by the committee.

MEETING SATURDAY.
A mass meeting will be held in the city hall on Saturday night, with Mayor Frank L. Brinkman in the chair, when various speakers will discuss the soldiers' gratuity question. J. Fred Marsh of Toronto, organizer for the Grand Army of Canada, and George Gustaf of London will be the principal speakers. Several local men will also express their views on the matter.

MOTOR BURNS OUT.
The fire department were called to the Monarch knitting factory today where a motor had burned out, causing a small conflagration. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals before any damage had been done.

SHOWS HERE.
The Greater Dheelley Shows will come here in June next, according to an announcement, under the auspices of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. The shows will be staged at the old circus grounds for one week.

FIRE CHIEFS' CONVENTION.
Arrangements have been practically completed for the holding of the fire chiefs' convention here this summer. The convention was held at Vancouver last year. The Dominion executive at that time decided to name St. Thomas as their next place.

GOOD ROADS ASSN.
GUESTS AT LUNCHEON OF LIEUT. GOVERNOR
Toronto, March 4.—One of the largest luncheons yet given by Lieutenant-Governor Lionel H. Clarke at Government House was that to the delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association at noon today. The majority of the guests were farmers.

At the convention this afternoon, when Attorney-General Raney was present, a resolution was passed asking the Government to amend the provincial highways act so that municipalities would not be responsible for civil suits following accidents on the highways—short, asking that such suits be criminal and not civil. The attorney-general promised sympathetic consideration of the resolution.

ANTICIPATE DEFICIT ON GOVT. RAILWAYS

OTTAWA, March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, and D. B. Hanna, chairman of the board of directors, Canadian National Railways, were in conference this morning over the Government railways estimates. The estimates, it is stated, are now practically ready for submission to the House. Although the figures will not be made public until it is understood that they provide for a deficit on all government lines, the G. T. R. included, of approximately $30,000,000.

Appointments to the temporary board of management for the Grand Trunk are also under consideration. But it is not regarded as likely that they will be definitely made for a few days yet.

LIQUOR IMPORT VOTE OR NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX, N.S., March 4.—Increases in school teachers' salaries and a minimum wage for women are among the measures forecast in the speech from the throne delivered at the opening of Nova Scotia's Parliament this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor Grant.

The members were also informed that "in accordance with an act of Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, a resolution would be placed before them requesting that a vote of the electors of the province may be taken for or against the importation and bringing in of intoxicating liquors into the province."

"Coal mining," the speech said, "is now showing a return to normal conditions and the outlook for an increased production during the year is regarded as encouraging."

The Crown of Womanhood

is motherhood. But many women face the ordeal of maternity without sufficient preparation. At such times and later—the mother should take a vegetable tonic, sold by druggists and known in almost every home as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of women have testified as to its efficacy as does the following:

TILLSONBURG, ONT.—"I found Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during expectancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength, and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy, and has always been so. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother, and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

BRILLIANT MINISTER VICTIM OF INFLUENZA

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher and Lecturer, Well Known On Three Continents, Was Ordered To Give Up Work.

Reverend Dudley B. Ashford is an extraordinary man. Although still on the sunny side of forty, he has crowded more service to humanity into a few years than most men accomplish in a lifetime.

Soon after his graduation from Harley College, London, England, he was ordained minister at the famous New Court Congregational Church, London.
A short time thereafter he was selected to present the cause of Congo Reform and African Missions before the people of Norway, and toured that land with such success that he was greeted by enormous crowds at every meeting.

In 1908, under the auspices of the Colonial Missionary Society, he was sent to New Zealand and for three years labored as a missionary among the Maoris, where his experiences were novel and thrilling.

In 1916 he returned to England and served for three years at Wood Street Congregational Church, Cardiff, South Wales, the biggest Congregational Church in the British Empire. It was while here that he fell one of the early victims of the great 1918 flu epidemic, an attack from which he had not fully recovered when he accepted a call to the Queen's Road Congregational Church, St. Johns, Newfoundland, where his forceful preaching soon attracted record congregations.

The strain of this work upon his undermined constitution proved too severe and he suffered a nervous breakdown, from which, however,
he has completely recovered.
Moved by a desire to serve his fellow men he has recently written a letter that tells how he was restored to health and strength.

Moved By Gratitude.
This letter, addressed to The Tanlac Company, Atlanta, Ga., is an eloquent expression of gratitude, and is as follows:

"Gentlemen: Your medicine, known as 'Tanlac,' has been such an inestimable blessing to me, that I feel constrained to write and tell you so. In October, 1918, while a minister of the Wood Street Congregational Church, Cardiff, South Wales, I had a severe attack of the Spanish influenza, from the effects of which I never fully recovered. I lost twenty-eight pounds in weight and was unable to recover my usual energy.

"Then, in February, 1919, I became the minister of the Queen's Road Congregational Church at St. Johns, Newfoundland. My ministry was attended with great success, but the strain proved too great for me, and I had a serious breakdown. My nerves seemed to go all to pieces and my digestion became so deranged that I could eat scarcely anything. My heart gave me a lot of trouble; it was an effort to walk

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher, Lecturer and Missionary.

upstairs and at night I used to lie awake in continual dread lest my heart should stop beating altogether.

"Then, as a result of exposure one winter's night in a small boat, while in the execution of my duties, I was seized with violent pains in the right shoulder and arm, which nearly drove me to distraction. I consulted doctors and specialists and underwent massage and electrical treatment, without getting much relief. I was ordered to give up all preaching and public work for at least three months, and I began to fear that my health was permanently affected.

He Had Been Skeptical.
"I had always been rather skeptical of the testimonials concerning the merits of any medicine, but one day I read the statement of a man whose symptoms seemed to be identical with my own, and his praise of Tanlac rang so true I decided to give it a trial myself. I bought a bottle and its effect was almost immediate. My nervous condition began to disappear and I began to get sleep at night. My appetite so increased that I could scarcely satisfy it, and I found myself putting on weight rapidly. By the time I had taken the fourth bottle, the pains in my arm and shoulder disappeared and I am feeling better today than for a long time past.

"I feel that I should be guilty of base ingratitude if I did not write and tell you what a boon Tanlac has been to me, and I give you this unsolicited testimonial to use as you may think best, in the hope that others may find in your wonderful medicine the means to restored health and strength."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

TESTS PROVE GREAT VALUE OF FERTILIZER IN TOBACCO GROWING

Enhanced Price of Tobacco Makes Production Matter of Importance.

On account of the scarcity and cost of labor, the greatly increased cost of farming implements, the enhanced value of bright tobacco lands, and on account of the market price of bright or fluecured tobacco, there is no more important subject right now than the rational and intelligent use of commercial fertilizers. Practically every acre devoted to bright tobacco is fertilized annually.

The quality, color, and yield are very dependent upon the proper kind and amount of fertilizer. Many bright tobacco growers are asking the following questions:

"Am I using a fertilizer that suits my land and crop? or am I making the land suit the fertilizer? Am I using the most profitable mixture for maximum yield and good color? What profit am I getting on the fertilizers used? During the past year the following growers sought answers to these questions on their own farms through co-operative fertilizer experiments: Mr.
Wm. Satterlington and Mr. Morgan
Hatch, Leamington, Mr. Cameron Wigle
and Mr. Roy Wile, Ruthven, Mr. Fred Wright and Mr. W. S. Corcoran, Oxley.

Results of Tests.
These growers know that tobacco requires nitrogen phosphoric acid and potash for its growth. They also know that for tobacco the best source of nitrogen is sulphate of ammonia, that the best source of phosphoric acid is acid phosphate, and that the best source of potash is sulphate of potash. Each grower had ten plots staked off on his farm, nine of which were fertilized,
and one of which received no fertilizer,
and was used to check the yields and determine the increase due to fertilizers. The nine plots were divided into three sets of three plots each. One set of three were sulphate of ammonia plots. On these, the applications of acid phosphate and potash were kept the same, and the sulphate of ammonia varied to 100, 150 and 200 pounds per acre. The second set of three plots were the acid phosphate plots. On these the applications of sulphate of ammonia and potash were kept the same, and the acid phosphate varied to 200, 400 and 600 pounds per acre. The third set of three plots were the sulphate of potash plots. On these the applications of sulphate of ammonia and acid phosphate were kept the same and the sulphate of potash varied to 100, 200 and 300 pounds per acre.

1,800 Pounds an Acre.
One of Mr. Wm. Satterlington's plots yielded at the rate of 1,800 pounds of flue-cured tobacco per acre, and sold at 70 cents per pound. This is very likely the highest yield of this type of tobacco ever recorded on the North American continent. Increase in yield or value due to fertilizers varied on Mr. Satterlington's plots from two to five and one-half dollars for each dollar spent for fertilizers after paying the cost of the fertilizer. Increase in yield or value due to the fertilizer used on Mr. Morgan Hatch's plots varied from three to six dollars for each dollar spent for fertilizer after paying the cost of the fertilizer. Increase on Mr. Fred Wright's plots from three to ten dollars for each dollar spent for fertilizer after paying the cost of the fertilizer.

Judging from the results obtained by the growers on these farms the following applications will give good products.

Sulphate of potash—150 to 200 pounds
where no manure is used, or 100 to 150 pounds where manure is used.

The bright tobacco soils of Essex need all three of the fertilizers recommended. They are not naturally rich, and when used with ample supplies of sulphate of ammonia and acid phosphate the profits from its use are very good.
The rate recommended per acre
where no manure is used would be equal to 300 pounds per acre of a fertilizer having the formula 3-8-9, and where manure is used would be equal to 1,000 pounds per acre of a fertilizer having the formula 2-8-8.
Manure should be used cautiously, and in light applications if good color is to be secured.
As a result of yields during the past three years in co-operative fertilizer experiments on bright tobacco, we feel justified in asserting that under proper conditions it is a matter of financial benefit to the farmers of the bright tobacco district of Canada to use fertilizers liberally on their tobacco.
It is profitable to mix them at home;
if this is not desirable, the next cheapest and most economical thing to do is to purchase high-grade potash, ready-mixed fertilizers.

Tobacco Inspector.

THE NEW HOME

aesthetic influence on the radicals, who will be disposed to say, "We will not level down. Rather, we will level up these beautiful surroundings."

In Railway Rooms.

Just now the Senate moves, breathes and has its being in the railway committee rooms, a lofty apartment whose very ante-room is fit for kings. The touch of local color which makes it a senate rather than a committee commonplace is the red carpet, which is laid in need of the vacuum cleaner. The old furniture looks ragged and shabby against the vivid freshness of the new background. Just here is the rubber-mattings, the new carpeting,
the familiar odors of bygone
days before and during the great war.
It carries a noble eagerness for beauty that Sir George Foster, Granville Doherty and other aged members of the cabinet were just as anxious as the younger fry to get in touch with the new environment before they died or were turned out at the next election.

Many members likewise spoke up.
They said: "We want to know how all this grandeur feels before we get the grand bounce, some time about September, 1921." In this sense the building is more than a Parliament—it is a mausoleum for the grandeur of the past look forward with more or less composure to the day when they will be tumbled out.

Home a Bit Noisy.

The new home is just a bit noisy.
The workmen go about their accustomed tasks in the uncompleted parts of the building. The hammers can be plainly heard, but what is one hammer more or less to a Union Government that has done business to the tune of the "Anvil Chorus"?
Space lacks here to describe the lobbies, the caucus room, which bears over the door the legend "His Majesty's Most Loyal Opposition." The question on everybody's lips is "Which is His Majesty's most Loyal Opposition? The Liberal or the Conservative? The U. F.?" At this writing the point is still unsettled, but if there are degrees of loyalty in Opposition, the matter will probably be determined at the next general election. We can always trust the Tories to give the loyal temperature of all and sundry. I have never known an election yet where the question was not brought up and thoroughly discussed. When the tariff comes to us next time wrapped in the Old Flag, we shall see—we shall see what we shall see. I let it go at that.

An Eye to Future.

The Press Room is designed with an eye to future. The price of news print will be so reasonable that the staff of Ottawa correspondents will be three times as numerous as our little band of thirty or thereabouts is.
The lighting is indirect, in which respect it resembles the editorials of many of our leading newspapers. By day the light comes from the north, from the virgin North, beyond the blue Laurentian Mountains, but it does not necessarily get into the newspaper, for circumstances beyond the reporter's control.

The Commons reading room is sentin-eled by the Commons smoking room, where members can sit and smoke in bacon fashion, before asking for the cloak or the Mail in the perilla closet which is just beyond. The reading room boasts of a black marble fireplace of prodigious size—Gargantuan could warm his back at it—and over it is a mural decoration done by a Canadian artist who has won fame in the United States. The subject is "The Spirit of the Printed Word." On this mural I say only this—that the spirit is not as high as it was before Union Government spent several million dollars advertising in the Canadian press, Boudoir of Mr. Rowell.

If the members have private rooms which cause them to exclaim, "Home was never like this," the cabinet ministers have sanctums which would not shame a king. The premier's office is a room of high ceiling, half-paneled, to show he is on the way upwards, is on the responsible side of the door, is on the responsible side of the arrangement suggests dictaphones and holes bored in the floor, so that the statesmen may keep watch of each other.

It will be seen that Leader Rowell, operating from the highest level, can always look down on the rest. If I must pass criticism it is that Leader Rowell's room is not as austere as I had expected. The walls are a dull red with an undertone of yellow—too pas-ionate, I should say for such a chaste crusader. I dropped into Sir Galahad's empty chair, just to get the feel of it to absorb, if I could, his attitude toward personal freedom. I got it all right—wasn't I sitting on it?
I am bound to say that the ministers have done themselves well in the matter of rooms. Not only the ministers, but the ex-ministers of yesterday, today, and perhaps of tomorrow.
The Hon. Sybil Mewburn has one of the best—a reward no doubt for past performance. The Hon. A. E. Mac-Lean grabbed off a good one just before he sent in his resignation, and, of course, he keeps it on. In other words, a cabinet minister may lose his home in the Government, but he is always sure of a good room with a fireplace to take the chill of the political situation, and plenty of windows facing north, south, east and west—in fact, whatever votes are to be had.

SALE OF BRITISH WEST INDIES UNLIKELY

LONDON, March 4.—The proposition to sell the British West Indies to the United States to help balance Great Britain's war debt has evoked little comment. The proposal is not supported in any responsible quarter, and unless the attitude of Premier Lloyd George has changed recently, is certain to be unfavorably received by the Government.
Viscount Rothermere, brother of Lord Northcliffe, a few weeks ago made such a suggestion in a newspaper article. It is reported that Premier Lloyd George denounced to his cabinet
the proposition in vehement terms.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wreckers; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak,
tired people regain energy and vigor;
thinness and angularity give way to chubbiness and roundness; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.
CAUTION—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks.
Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Advt.

BE PRETTY! TURN GREY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.
Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Mothers!

A Question for Mothers with moderate purses
—and a sincere answer by the Makers of the Highest Quality
Shoe for Children

Do Hurlbut Shoes really cost more?

These are the points of superiority of Hurlbut's that distinguish them above all other shoes for children:—

- Correct Shape
for growing feet
- Broad Extended Sole
to protect uppers
- Flexible—
no lumps, no ridges
- Cushion Soled
from heel to toe
- Ventilated
for comfort and cleanliness
- Sturdy Grace
and refinement
of line

WHEN you go into a store and ask for Hurlbut
Shoes you may feel that the price seems high.
You may be tempted to seek an apparent saving by buying shoes at less than Hurlbut's cost. But if you do, you will be disappointed later on, and will surely resolve never again to buy a cheap shoe.

Here is the true situation:
Hurlbut Shoes do represent the very highest quality in a shoe. Hurlbut Shoes will last two or three times as long as inferior shoes, and they are scientifically designed to meet the special requirements of children's feet. That is why thousands of mothers all over Canada prefer to pay the higher price for Hurlbut's.

The point we want Mothers to thoroughly understand is that the selling price of Hurlbut Weltd Shoes is always as low as it can be for such a shoe. The high price of Hurlbut is due alone to the fact that such quality can not be produced for less. So long as we maintain—and we shall always maintain—the quality of materials, design and workmanship, it is impossible to sell Hurlbut Shoes at any lower cost. The very highest quality of goods we can obtain goes into their makeup.

And, as prices of raw materials advance, we do not substitute with a cheaper kind.

Every Hurlbut Shoe has a standard, and as we can't reduce the standard we must pay more for our raw materials, labor, etc., in order never to vary from this standard. So that, while mothers are required to pay more for Hurlbut at the time they are bought, the cost spread over the time they last makes Hurlbut's cheapest in the end.

Compare Hurlbut's with the life of any pair of ordinary shoes you have ever bought—and you will see that Hurlbut Weltd Cushion Sole Shoes represent the lowest-price-per-day-wear of any shoe made for children.

DIVERS TO MAKE EFFORT TO RESCUE "RED EYE!"

New York, March 5.—Ship salvagers left last night for Washington to learn what would be the fate of "Red Eye" raised from Davey Jones' locker and brought back to the surface.

The wreckers declared they were ready to begin operations at once off the Atlantic coast, if the liquor which went down with the "treasure ship" could be brought into an American port and then transferred to another vessel sailing for foreign ports. If transfer was not permitted, they were willing to have the "wet goods" go into dry dock with the damaged vessel until they could put out to sea again.

Supervising Prohibition Agent Shelvin informed the salvagers that they might be able to rescue the "red eye" under the proposed plan, providing they paid the Government tax and got a permit from the state prohibition director.

The liquor-laden ships they propose to salvage, the wreckers declare, sank more than 18 months ago. Their location was kept a dark secret.

However slight a cold you have you should never neglect it; if you do you have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

Bronchitis is one of the most common ailments of a neglected cold, and neglected bronchitis the most general cause of consumption.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is just the remedy you require to cure the bronchitis. It does this by loosening the phlegm and mucus, and stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subsides inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, and thus prevents it becoming chronic.

Mr. R. P. Sundblad, Francis, Sask., writes: "I had a very bad cold which left me with bronchitis. I tried several remedies and oils of all kinds, but they all failed. At last I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and after using two bottles I have never had a sign of bronchitis since. I therefore can honestly recommend it for coughs and colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

For Indigestion

Mi-O-Na Is Guaranteed to Promptly Relieve Stomach Distress.

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years and imagine they have a serious disease. They overeat and force on the stomach a lot of extra work. But they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do its work. If these people would take a Mi-O-Na Tablet with or after meals it would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of overwork.

Mi-O-Na helps your tired-out stomach to do its work and banishes the cause. No matter what you eat or drink Mi-O-Na will sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas building in five minutes. The heaviness disappears and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

And Mi-O-Na not only promptly relieves all distress, but if taken regularly will banish indigestion.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely destroy the dandruff and prevent it from coming back.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

SIR HORACE PLUNKETT CRITICIZES LATEST HOME RULE MEASURE

Declares the Irish Trouble Delayed America's Entry in War.

BITTER FEELING IN U. S.

Says Bill Gives Ulster Mandatory Without Responsibility.

Dublin, March 5.—Sharp criticism of the new Irish home rule bill was expressed by Sir Horace Plunkett, chairman of the Dublin convention, at a "welcome home" dinner given in his honor here last night by the Irish Dominion League.

Sir Horace declared that from 1911, the Prussian Government was organizing a German-Irish alliance in America, and that the bill was a "welcome home" dinner given in his honor here last night by the Irish Dominion League.

"I have not the least doubt that, supposing the Irish trouble had nothing to do with the beginning of the war, it was an important factor in delaying America's decision to enter the struggle. To the same cause was due a great deal of political embarrassment to the war administration in Washington. Remember the question being actually raised whether the American navy could wisely utilize Ireland as its base of operations. Though, happily, strategic considerations overruled political objections only the splendid loyalty of the Irish Government, and the treatment of the northeast corner, acted the deep resentment caused by the Irish people's virtual mandatory over Ireland—a mandatory without responsibility."

"Ireland has become increasingly patriotic during the last decade, the final proof to every Englishman and American that British aims in war and peace are mere hypocrites, where they profess to have any regard whatever for the liberty of small nationalities."

"In America I found more bitter anti-English than in all my forty years of observation. As usual, although due to other causes, it was fanned up by the Irish trouble, and was generally expressed in Irish terms."

Sir Horace criticized the home rule bill because it gave Ulster and a minority of not more than one-fifth of the Irish people a "virtual mandatory over Ireland—a mandatory without responsibility."

"The southern parliament took the trouble to be born," he concluded, "it would probably christen itself a renegade, and be immediately carried out by its Irish majority. Ireland would then present, as a monument to British statesmanship, the spectacle of a country 'over the greater part of a century that demands a home rule, and home rule in the northeast corner, which never asked for it.'"

WORKMAN TO RESIGN.

Montreal, March 5.—A meeting of the directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation will take place today, when it is expected that the resignation of Mr. Workman as president, and his appointment as chairman of the board may be considered. The names of Mr. Workman, who has been closely associated with the new English interests, W. G. Ross, chairman of the Montreal commission, and Hon. Frederick Nichols, president of the Canadian Electric Light Company, have been mentioned in connection with the presidency. A report of engineers who have inspected the plant will also be taken up, it is believed.

There is also expected to discuss the rumored consolidation of Dominion Steel and Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.

WILL FOREGO SATURDAY TUB

No. 1 Committee Shatters Time-Honored Precedent; Meets Saturday Night.

If city aldermen were paid for their duties they would be receiving "over-time" during the next two weeks. An effort is being made to complete consideration of estimates and strike the tax rate by March 15. To do this means that every available minute must be given to the work.

Deputations to Toronto and the presence of Premier Drury in the city have delayed matters somewhat this week, but this will be made up before the end of the week. A special meeting of No. 2 committee has been called for this evening.

No. 1 committee will break all precedent by meeting Saturday night. Usually this night is sacred to the weekly abutions of the city fathers, but in the interest of the people they have consented to forego the Saturday night tub for once and give the time to city business.

Sunday will be a day of rest, but the grind will commence promptly again on Monday. No. 2 committee will likely hold a special meeting that night. No. 1 committee will follow it up with another special meeting the next night. Then the two committees will meet jointly Wednesday and Thursday nights. They will probably think up something to meet about on Friday, so as to fill up the week. At any rate, desperate efforts will be made to complete the work in time, and the tax rate struck by March 31. The attempt to complete it two weeks earlier this year is intended to save interest on the money which the city must borrow until the taxes are in the treasury.

Under this stress it begins to look as though no general meeting of the spending boards will be held as in the past two years.

OFFICE MEN

who are constantly using their eyes in their daily work, will find relief from eyestrain by calling at the Brown Optical Company, 223 Dundas street, and being properly fitted with glasses at a moderate cost. Phone appointments 1877. zxy
