BRITAIN TO AID GREEK LEADERS AWAITING FATE

British Minister Lindley Hurries to Lausanne to Confer With Curzon.

RELATIONS ARE SEVERED

Former High Officials Meet Death Before Firing Squad Without Flinching.

London, Nov. 29.—The British cabinet was summoned today to consider the grave situation created by the execution in Athens, yesterday, of several Greek officials.

London, Nov. 29.—Great Britain today suspended relations with Greece because of the execution yesterday of six ministers of the cabinet, which fell when King Constantine abdicated.

British Minister Lindley was ordered to Lausanne to confer with Lord Curzon, foreign secretary, upon further drastic action toward the Greek government. He left on the train immediately after the news of the execution of the ministers.

The cabinet members were executed following conviction by a military tribunal of responsibility for the recent Turkish victory. The announcement that relations with Greece had been broken was made officially today.

HURRIES TO CURZON.

Athens, Nov. 29.—Great Britain will attempt to prevent the execution of additional Greek leaders, it is believed here today. The British minister to Athens is hurrying to Lausanne to confer with Lord Curzon in reference to the execution of the Greek ministers, and particularly about Prince Andrew, a relative of the British royal family.

Prince Andrew, brother of King Constantine, is only one of the leaders court-martialed in Athens for his part in the defeat of the Greek army by the Turks, on whom sentence has not yet been passed.

Prince Andrew's brother-in-law to Lord Louis Mountbatten, his wife being Princess Alice, Lord Mountbatten's elder sister. It is thought that financial pressure might be brought on Greece if it is found necessary to intervene to prevent further executions.

LITTLE GROUP FACES DEATH.

Athens, Nov. 29.—A little group of statesmen and one soldier, formerly a general in supreme command of the Greek armies, strode into a stone-flagged yard early yesterday and faced death like gentlemen. Today it is possible to relate the story of how five members of the cabinet that fell with King Constantine, and the man who led the troops of Greece against the Turks were executed by a firing squad.

Condemned to death for treason, held responsible for the crushing defeat administered to the Greeks by Mustafa Kemal, the ministers first refused to believe the government would really go through with it. They were aware that the British threatened to sever relations if they were killed, and other powerful influences were called on in their behalf.

Finally the hour arrived, priests arrived at the jail, and the doomed men were offered communion. They partook of it, kneeling in the barred chambers, except the former Premier, who was too ill to leave his bed for the death ceremony. Immediately after the communion the condemned men were hurried to the place of execution.

Gounaris III.

Gounaris, scarce able to raise his head, was rolled out of bed onto a stretcher, placed in an ambulance and so conveyed to the execution place. Six squads of soldiers, five riflemen in each, were waiting there to send the fallen statesman into the next world. They stood like automatons, eyes straight ahead, as emotionless as wax figures as the prisoner were brought in.

Gounaris was lifted out of the ambulance and placed before the firing squad. He was too sick to pay much attention to what was once were all different, huddled with hands thrust deep in his pockets, he stood there with his head bowed until the volley crashed.

Gounaris dreamed of making war and restoring the ancient glory that was Greece. He failed, and paid with his life.

Baltazis, who has been a cabinet minister under several premiers, was dejectedly approaching him to cut his hair, occasionally putting it to his eyes to look over the preparations for the executions.

Commander Suffers.

General Hadjiannakis, commander of the armies of Greece in the final attempt to roll back the Turks in Asia Minor, was forced to suffer military degradation before being shot.

Deposed from his high office as warlord of the Greek military machine, he stood stiffly at attention when the summons of the very men he used to command approached him to cut the buttons off his uniform, tunic and tear his badges from his breast.

They savored off the buttons, ripped away the badges and left him disarmed—a row of ragged holes in his

Youth Appeals to Santa For Gift in Name of Dead Sister

HOW a little girl who died in late infancy means to her incorrigible young brother securing an extra present from Santa Claus is related by R. E. Moe.

The location of the incident was a local movie show when St. Christopher, who was deflowered by his small offerings to the "kids." One small boy approached the crimson-garbed mogul and asked him for some candy.

"But you were here before," Santa said, after piercing the youth with an eagle eye.

"Yes, sir," admitted the little boy, "but I had a baby sister who died, and if she were here she would tell me that I would like her share."

ISSUE CALL FOR EMPIRE PARLEY

Government Dispatches Telegrams to Dominions for Early Conference.

Portsmouth, England, Nov. 29.—Col. Leslie Wilson, chief Conservative whip, announced today that telegrams would be dispatched this week summoning the economic conference of representatives of the dominions and the mother country, which Prime Minister Bonar Law in his election address stated would be called.

The cabinet members were executed following conviction by a military tribunal of responsibility for the recent Turkish victory. The announcement that relations with Greece had been broken was made officially today.

APPOINTS COUZENS MICHIGAN SENATOR

Governor Grosebeck Fills the Vacancy Caused by Newberry Resignation.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 29.—Mayor James Couzens of Detroit today was appointed by Governor Alex J. Grosebeck as United States senator from Michigan to fill the unfinished term of former Senator Truman H. Newberry, who resigned recently.

Mayor Couzens has accepted the appointment, the governor announced. The governor announced Mr. Couzens, who has gained nationwide prominence through his participation in the development of the municipal street railway program which he inaugurated, were met with this statement by Governor Grosebeck.

"If municipal ownership of its street railways is a good thing for Michigan, then Mr. Couzens is a good thing for Michigan. It should be a good thing under any other able man."

Couzens, it is generally accepted here, will be a candidate for the full term.

Mayor Couzens was born in Chatham, Ontario, 50 years ago. Reputed to have a fortune of many millions, he started his career as a "newsie" on a passenger train. In 1903 he became associated with Henry Ford in the manufacture of automobiles in Detroit, taking a position as bookkeeper. When he severed his connection with Ford, he was elected mayor of Detroit in 1914 and his re-election last year was by 30,000 votes.

He has never been defeated in an election and has never given a majority candidate here.

New York, Nov. 29.—Warning of a northeast storm of considerable intensity from New York to Cape Hatteras was issued on Tuesday by the local weather bureau. The storm, moving rapidly northward, will cause strong north and northwest winds, with gales off the coast.

Motor Traffic May Mean Demolition of Famous Smyth of Gretna Green

Carlisle, England, Nov. 29.—The famous Smyth at Gretna Green, famous for its past connection with runaway marriages, is threatened with demolition by the local utilitarian council at Annan, which has decreed that the building is a dangerous obstruction to the increasing motor traffic in Dumfriesshire.

The present occupant of the Smyth, Hugh Macklin, is opposing the decree. Although he says he has been offered a large sum of money in compensation,

H. B. ASHLPLANT PROVES LEGAL CLAIM TO POST

Produces Municipal Act to Show Appointment as Auditor in Order.

REPLIES TO CRITICISMS

City Officials Claim He Will Audit No. 1922 Reports.

Submitting extracts from the municipal act, to support his contention, Henry B. Ashplant, newly-appointed city auditor, holds that he is quite entitled to assume his duties Jan. 1 next, now that he has been appointed by a unanimous vote of the city council of 1922.

On Page 87, section 237, paragraph (a) of the act governing such an appointment will be read: "The auditors appointed under section 232, shall examine and report upon all accounts affecting the corporation, for the year ended on the 31st day of December preceding their appointments."

It is explained that as Mr. Ashplant was appointed in November, 1922, he was not a member of the city council in 1921, or the 31st day of December, the year preceding his appointment.

Paragraph (c) of the same section reads: "The auditors appointed under section 232 shall file their reports in the office of the city clerk not later than March 1."

"It is quite clear," says Mr. Ashplant, "from the section above that the only legal duties for auditors so appointed, is to audit the accounts for the year ended Dec. 31, preceding the date of their appointment, and to report at the end of two months (or by the 1st of March), and then their duties shall cease."

"It is under subsection (2) of section 232," he continues, "that the definition of the duties of the auditor is created. That clause must be interpreted strictly in accordance with the definition of the duties set forth above in section 237 of auditors appointed under section 232, which defines the duties of the auditor as to the accounts for the current year, 1922, are being audited at this moment by Messrs. Dale and Newberry. Mr. Ashplant's appointment by the city council makes 'full provision for the completion of the audit of 1922 with statutory reports.'"

It can be safely assumed, city hall authorities stated Wednesday, that Mr. Ashplant will undertake the audit of the accounts for the year preceding the date of his appointment ending Dec. 31, 1921, are already audited, and reported upon in case (1), the accounts for the year 1922, are being audited at this moment by Messrs. ## Clemenceau Makes Dramatic Appeal To U.S. To Save France From Extinction

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Standing with outspread hands before an audience that packed the auditorium here, Georges Clemenceau today pleaded with the United States to save France from possible extinction. Patiently seeking to explain away the charges of militarism and imperialism brought against his country, the old Tiger declared that France sought only peace, but that war was forced upon her.

Mr. Clemenceau's speech was a strong attack on the present administration. He charged the government with "befooling the people" with "extravagance, carelessness, and incompetence," and with failure to implement pre-election tariff pledges.

BELIEVE FRANCE MAY ACT ALONE

Majority of Members of Reparations Commission Opposed To Poincare's Plan.

Paris, Nov. 28.—Although the majority of the members of the reparations commission are opposed to Premier Poincare's plan for direct action for the collection of the German indemnity, there is a growing feeling that the French government will soon be in a position where it will be forced to take independent measures against Germany.

This impression is based on the uncertainty as to whether the proposed inter-allied financial conference at Brussels will actually take place, and the still greater uncertainty over the prospects of agreement if the meeting is called.

Following the announcement of the cabinet's plan for occupation of the Ruhr district in the event France does not obtain satisfaction before January 15, the meeting of premiers, which will probably be held in Paris early next week, has assumed considerable importance.

The presence at the conference of Prime Minister Bonar Law, and the participation of Premier Mussolini of Italy is not yet confirmed.

Poincare has a definite plan to lay before the premiers, and especially before Mr. Bonar Law. This plan, which was approved at the cabinet meeting today, provides for a reduction of the German indemnity to a reasonable figure, probably 50,000,000 gold marks, in return for cancellation of the French debt to Great Britain. It also contemplates raising a large international loan, half to be devoted to stabilization of the German mark and the remainder to payment of reparations to France.

A moratorium of several years would be accorded Germany, but the most rigid guarantees would be exacted, and a commission on reparations would exercise complete control of Germany's finances.

The Associated Press was informed by members of the French delegation tonight that unless such a plan is substantially agreed to by the allies, France will "take the only other course open to her, namely, seizure of the products of the Ruhr and absolute control of the French Rhineland."

In British and United States reparations circles, on the other hand, M. Poincare's threat is believed dangerous to both France and Germany. Total collapse of Germany, financially and industrially, would immediately follow the carrying out of such a scheme, it is contended, and the net result would be that France would get little or nothing and ruin her own credit in the bargain.

The fall of the franc to a dangerously low level would also result, according to the British and American experts, who point out that mere announcement of Poincare's plan this morning caused the franc to break from 65 francs to 65 francs 17 centimes to the pound sterling.

Col. Smith Entirely Satisfied With Immigration Conference at Ottawa.

Quebec, Nov. 28.—"I am carrying back an appropriation for immigration," Col. J. Obed Smith announced just before the Empress of Britain, on which he was a passenger, sailed. The superintendent of immigration for Canada in London was eminently satisfied with the outcome of the Ottawa conference, and he stated that a great impetus in immigration might be expected in the near future.

"In order to co-ordinate the efforts of all those concerned in the success of Canadian propaganda in the British Isles," he said, "it is my intention to convene a meeting in London of the representatives of all the Canadian steamship lines, the Canadian railroads and the agents-general of the various provinces, to prevent the overlapping of our work."

"Then we will launch a lecturing campaign, besides distributing publicity to a thousand newspapers every week. Between now and the end of March there will be an extensive campaign in progress. We expect the spring to bring the tangible results. While the propaganda in the British Isles will be obviously the most important part of the work, we intend to extend our scope to include Scandinavia, Holland, France and Italy. This means that we will have to work fast and we are rolling up our shirt sleeves to get into the thing without loss of time."

THE REAL HENRY FORD.

A Lover of Bird and Beast,
Ford Still a Boy At Heart

Leaves Corn Uncut for His Furred and Feathered Friends—Builds Shelter for Rabbits—Grows Enthusiastic Over Trilling of a Bird.

(Copyright, United States and Great Britain, 1922, North American Newspaper Alliance. Also protected by copyright in other countries of the world. All rights reserved.)

BY S. S. MARQUIS, D.D.,
Former Pastor of Henry Ford, and for five years' head of the Ford Welfare Department.

CHAPTER VII.
"Just Kids"
Henry Ford was born July 30, 1863, and is still a boy. Along with the amazing shrewdness in him there is a charming simplicity. "How did he impress you?" asked a well-known writer after she had an interview with Mr. Ford. "He is a mixture," she replied, "of sweetness and steel, of vision and practical shrewdness, of humor and authority, and of belief—belief in men, in nature." The steel is there—I have witnessed it strike and cut. The sweetness, however, flows from it—and also the sweetness. Children especially call forth the sweetness, the gentleness, the spirit of youth, the love of nature, which are present in him. As between youth and age, he seems to prefer edge of the woods on the banks of the river. He loves the birds. He has a residence at Dearborn. He slipped a pair of opera glasses into his pocket and he and the boy started out on a "hike." I was not included in the invitation, but decided to join what I knew would be an interesting expedition of exploration. A few rapid strides and then a pause.

The Bird's Song.
"Listen, boy. Hear it? Hear it? Hear that song? Quiet now! Don't move. He's right there in that tree somewhere." And out came the opera glasses. "Ah, there he is!" I found him. Take the glasses, boy, and look at him. He's on the very tip of that limb. He's a beauty, isn't he? There were feathered friends everywhere. He protects them the year round, feeds them in winter, knows their song, and calls them by name.

He loves the birds. How much, I once discovered on going to his home for dinner. The front door was locked. From the inside he called to us, informing us that it would be necessary to go to a rear entrance to and very solemnly and then turned back to his nest as if satisfied that everything was all right, and that Henry and another boy were just making a friendly call.

Loves the Out-of-Doors.
And so the multi-millionaire spent the better part of the day with a 10-year-old boy having a bully time calling on his furred and feathered friends. He loves the great out-of-doors. Beneath the fir and steel in him there is a boyish, joyous spirit. It is one of the lights that falls among the shadows.

I have referred elsewhere to the fact that Mr. Ford makes his most intimate counselors men in his own organization with whom it would seem he would have the least in common. That there is in Mr. Ford that which is attractive to men of a higher order is seen in the intimate friendship he has enjoyed with two great men—John Burroughs, up until the time of his death, and Thomas A. Edison. These three were in the habit of taking their annual outing together, and were not infrequently together benediction of the woods. What is there in common among them?

Between Burroughs and Ford there was the love of nature, of birds and flowers and streams and hills. One loved far more understandingly than the other, but both loved the same things.

Between Edison and Ford there is the bond of mechanics and invention. And back of it all there is the spirit of youth. It was in Burroughs in his last hour. It is in Edison and Ford, Edison at 75 is working his two shifts and finding his life in life. His interest in his work increasing rather than diminishing.

"When are you going to retire?" he was asked recently. The reply was, "Never."

There is a story of Ford and Edison that has never gotten into print. It has an amusing and at the same time a dramatic incident in it that makes it worth repeating.

Late in the fall of 1914 Mr. Ford planned to take Mr. Edison by special train over the route between Detroit and Port Huron on which Edison in his youth had worked as newsboy. The train consisted of three or four coaches, and the party was limited to a small number of invited guests, of whom I chanced to be one.

The trip to Port Huron was uneventful. Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison spent much of the time swapping stories—Mr. Edison recalling incidents of his boyhood days, and Mr. Ford offering a story now and then in which the laugh was on himself. One of Mr. Ford's stories on himself is also worth mention.

Mends Farmer's Car.
He, together with some of his mechanics, was testing a car some years ago, and to give it a thorough trial they made a trip over the sandy roads of Northern Michigan. They took an outfit with them and camped at night along the way. One evening they turned into a small wood a short distance from a farm house. On going to the house for some provisions they found the farmer in the barn tinkering with a second-hand automobile—not a Ford, by the way, but a much larger car. Without making himself known, Mr. Ford inquired as to the nature of the trouble with the farmer's machine. The explanation was that the farmer had bought the car from an agent who had driven it to the farmer's home, and that he had never been able to get the thing started. Mr. Ford, with his mechanics, set to work, put the machine into running order, and contributed a few new spark plugs and some tools. When they had finished the farmer turned to Mr. Ford and said:

"What's the charge?"
"Nothing," was the reply.
"But I can't let it stand that way," said the farmer. "You have not only given your time, but you have also given me spark plugs and tools. Here's a dollar and a half. I insist you take that much at any rate."
"No," said Mr. Ford. "I can't do it. I have all the money I want."
The old farmer looked him over and then drew out a roll of bills, you can't have much and drive a Ford car."
Mr. Ford left without disclosing his identity.

WHOOPIING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but it is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. H. W. Mahar, Kentville, N. S., writes: "My three children had whooping cough. I tried every medicine I could think of until an old gentleman told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Before they had one bottle taken the cough seemed better, and after two bottles they were about well. It loosened the cough and relieved them of that hard, distressing and strangling feeling that goes with it."

"Dr. Wood's" is 35c and 60c a bottle. Put up with two bottles. T. M. Maurin Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv't.

BIG EATERS GET

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The Canadian men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the climatic tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

gain admittance. Later the manner of our reception was explained. A robin had built her nest on the veranda over the front door. Entrance through that portal disturbed Mrs. Robin so much that Henry had nailed up the screen and locked the door until the Robin family had moved to other quarters.

But to return to my story. As we passed through the fields I noticed what I thought were the foundations of numerous haystacks. Ralls had been laid down on the ground several feet apart. Across these and close together other rails had been placed. On these, grass had been piled up to the depth of two or three feet.

"You must have had a wonderful crop of hay on this field," I remarked, "judging from the number of foundations for the stacks."

A laugh came into his eye and he heaved a sigh as he said:

"Those are not foundations for haystacks. I had those built as shelters for rabbits for the winter. It makes a warm place for them in which to live in the winter."

Forced to Declare War.
But his friends the rabbits abused his hospitality and came to a sad end. For once in his life Henry decided to declare war and take up arms. It was a war of extermination. The increase in the rabbit population on the Ford farms taxed the agility and capacity of the multiplication table to its limit. To the saying "Plus is plus" may be added the further statement, "So is rabbits." After two or three years, orchards, young and old, were being destroyed by Friend Rabbit to such an extent that friendly relations were broken and hostilities begun. Down to the last rabbit, bunny remained a pacifist, but somehow that did not stop the war. And perhaps this might be made into a parable. After passing the rabbit shelters we came, a little further on, to a cornfield in which the bare stalks of last year's crop were still standing.

Ford and his pet deer on the Ford Farm.

"Why did you not cut this field of corn?" I asked.

Again there was a little chuckle as he answered: "Well, you see, I planted that corn for the squirrels, and some of my other friends, and left it standing so they could get at it in the winter. And let me show you what they did."

We followed him a little way into the woods and he pointed to a hole in the box that had been stripped.

"I have a lot of friends in here," he said. "Let me show you one of them. See that bird box—the one on the pole? Notice that the box is fastened to a straight, smooth rod of iron, and the iron is bolted to the top of the pole. I did that so the squirrels could not get at the birds. But see what happened. A flying squirrel took possession of that box and made it his home. He runs up on that limb that hangs over the box and makes a flying leap. He never falls to land on the roof of his home. I'll bet he's in there now. He knows my signal, and if he is there he'll come out and take a look. Now, boy, keep your eye on the hole in the box."

He went to the pole to the top of which the box was fastened. He rapped upon it—three times—and then came the hole. He looked in. For a minute he eyed us very calmly been having a visit with him. I went forward, climbed over the tender and down into the cab. I've been running the engine."

It was dark when we reached Mt. Clemens. It was in the little station house here that Edison had worked as a telegraph operator. A stop was made that he might take a look at the place in which dreams were dreamed which in after years became realities. While in the station Henry suggested that Thomas send a message over the wire. The agent cleared the wire and Edison seated himself at the instrument. Slowly he began to tick off a message. It was a son at home in New Jersey. It was one of those moments that leaves on an indelible impression. A group of people stood in silence looking at a man then close to 70 years of age, but in imagination seeing the boy of many years ago.

Suddenly some operator down the road broke in on the wire. Edison paused and listened. A smile played about his mouth. The operator who was standing behind Mr. Edison and had been leaning over him silently watching his slow and deliberate work at the key, turned suddenly and gave those of us standing about a look of amazement. He had seen the emotions of embarrassment, shame, anger and horror. Then he smiled and said to us: "Some operator has broken in on the wire. He has sent the message: 'Tell that kid to get off the line.'"

And he was right. There was a "kid" on the line. And there was another one back of him enjoying the fun.

When Mr. Edison had finished, the operator sat down at the key and sent the information down the line that the "kid" who had just slowly ticked off the lazy message was Thomas A. Edison, "apprentice operator on this key more than 50 years ago."

I would give a great deal to know just what that fellow who broke in on Edison's message thinks of himself as a practical joker.

SHOWS FERGUSON
ADDED TO LIMITS
Interesting Evidence Brought
Out in Backus Label Suit.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—Interesting evidence was brought out today at the $100,000 label action of E. W. Backus, lumber magnate, against the Toronto Evening Telegram, to show that the policy of adding to timber limit leases was one favored by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, minister of lands and forests in the former Conservative Government. I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., for Backus, read some letters to the jury.

One of Mr. Ferguson's 1919 letters assured the Abitibi Lumber Company that the government was anxious to establish the industry, and recognized that there was not enough wood on their limits, therefore, he had reserved for them a string of townships, which covered an area of 1,500 square miles.

Similarly to the Spanish River Company he had assured something like 5,000 square miles. The Abitibi Company in 1917 had made an offer to spend $10,000,000 on a plant, but it asked for water power rights on the Winnipeg River, and for some 10,000 miles more of timber limits.

Mr. Hellmuth thus sought to show that the Drury Government, coming into power after Mr. Ferguson's promises of this kind, had merely followed suit to a certain extent in putting up for public sale certain limits. But the Drury administration had curtailed the Ferguson policy and had jumped the fees up. Where they use to be 20 to 40 cents, they were raised to 40 and 80 cents a cord.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL OPPOSED IN SENATE
Law To Protect Negroes in U.
S. Subject To Delay.

Washington, Nov. 28.—When Republican leaders sought to bring before the senate today the Dyck anti-lynching bill, which is designed to protect the negroes of the South from mob violence, they encountered a campaign of opposition which speedily developed signs of growing into a full-fledged filibuster. The bill has already been passed by the house. With a motion pending to proceed to consideration of the Dyck bill, the Democrats, led by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, adopted a policy of insisting that the senate take up in regular order all of the routine at the beginning of a sitting which generally is dispensed with.

Scarcely had the chaplain concluded his prayer when Senator Harrison made the point of no quorum and forced a roll call. The Mississippi senator then objected to the usual dispensing with the reading of yesterday's journal, a long, tedious process. A few minutes later Senator Harrison broke into the reading, with an inquiry which led to a parliamentary tangle and another roll call, the second within 15 minutes after the senate convened.

After successfully blocking the progress of the senate by several other technical moves, Senator Henderson of Alabama, the Democratic leader, stated that he wanted "to say frankly that the issue is that the majority is threatening to take up a bill which we on this side of the chamber plan to resist."

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy
Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about 82%
Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either a most valuable sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily 82%. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable, concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Evening Story

TWO IS COMPANY. (Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner.) Marcia Burr lived in a small gray house with a rambler rose trellis

Every morning Marcia ran across to Eliza's for a few minutes to take her latest bit of news or a new recipe or suggestion, and every afternoon Eliza ran over to Marcia's on a similar errand.

One April morning, when the sun shined and the trees were budding and several monarch butterflies were getting ready to leave their cocoon cradles on the lilac trees.

Then they began to talk of something else and forgot all about the new neighbor for the time being. Their curiosity was aroused again when Marcia and Eliza came home.

There was really only one person in the place she knew at all, and that was Mr. Frank Frasier. He had been a friend of her husband's.

Mr. Frasier is a bachelor, isn't he? said Marcia. An old bachelor, Eliza got her head down and she heard Tom say: I suppose she'll be getting all her groceries at his store, though he charges more than others do.

Eliza shook her head. Oh, no, indeed! But she is pleasant. And she gave me the loveliest little bonnet for Baby Burr. You can't tell it to anyone who goes out of her way to be nice to you. You mustn't expect it, Marcia.

KING'S CAUTION OVER WAR CRY RILES MEIGHEN

Conservative Leader Gets Cold Reception in Lanark By-Election.

DELIVERS BITTER SPEECH

Attacks Government on Near East Stand and Railway Issue.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

Smith's Falls, Nov. 28.—Lanark is becoming a mecca of political figures from all points of the compass. The campaign is becoming so lively, and the outcome is regarded as so significant, that both Liberal and Conservative forces are pouring in their strongest men. Meetings are being held in every little center in the riding, and among the speakers are Premier King, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, senators, cabinet ministers and members of parliament.

Hon. Arthur Meighen and Senator Gideon Robertson, former minister of labor, addressed an audience here tonight in Rideau Theatre and in the town hall. Whatever the reason may be, there were few evidences of enthusiasm. Applause was rare and faint, though attention was good.

Against the Mackenzie King government, Hon. Meighen placed charge of deceit and betrayal. He declared they had trifled and fooled the people; had failed to implement their pre-election pledges, and had added rapidly to national expenditures in their ten months of office.

Meighen Sarcastic. Referring to speeches of Premier King, Sir Lomer Gouin, Hon. Mr. Mitchell, and Hon. Mr. Robertson, he said they had maintained Conservative administration had brought Canada to the brink of ruin, and that they were somewhat sarcastic. "The country," he said, "after ten months of King government, was 40 millions more in debt than it was a year ago."

"Being further away from war obligations, people had a right to expect reduction in debt and in expenditures. But they have not," he said. "In the last ten months expenditure had been $9,788,286 more than in the previous year, under Conservative rule, and the new government, which made so many pre-election promises," said Mr. Meighen, "is spreading itself in luxurious tours over the country instead of implementing its pledges."

Utter failure to make reduction in tariff on 59 articles of common use. In keeping with Liberal policy, he said, the government had increased the cost of living and making life hard for the masses. Today, the cost of life's necessities was more in Canada than in the United States.

Talks Railways. No little time was devoted by Mr. Meighen to the problem of national railways. He claimed that instead of co-ordinating the lines which had been taken over by Conservative government, and in a way that the government had planned, the King government had continued to operate the National and Grand Trunk separately.

This meant that the country was out fifteen millions in the past ten months. "These railways are just as separate today as they were a year ago," declared Mr. Meighen, "and this is the rate of thousands of dollars per day."

Paying his compliments to Sir Henry Thornton, new president of the National Railway Board, Mr. Meighen said he hopes Sir Henry was worth the fifty thousand dollars a year he was being paid. It was nearly twice what Hanna, an experienced railway operator, drew.

"I would like," said Mr. Meighen, "to see Sir Henry change from his habit of spending money on the railways to action on the railways of Canada. Banquets over there are not much good to improve operation of our railways here."

Attacks Gouin. The new railway board, which the King government had appointed, comprised men without railway experience, he said. The old board had been ousted without a reason. This had been done by Gouin, Mitchell, Lapointe and King, all of whom, except the premier, had denounced the public ownership of national railways.

"How can foes of national railways," asked Mr. Meighen, "conduct this huge system, representing one billion six hundred millions, and practically as big as the government itself, how can they manage this system in the interests of the people. Already the hand of political exploitation is discouraging men in the service. One official has already left and gone over to a rival organization because the outlook for the future is unpromising under this kind of administration."

The Near East question was reviewed at length by the former premier. He appealed to his audience on loyalty grounds, and endeavored to show that Canada sat silent and did nothing, even when the outlook was grave. The King government had encouraged the Turks to aggressiveness by its attitude of inaction and indifference. The Turks were able to look across to Britain and say: "You and your overseas dominions are divided."

"No matter what emergency may arise," concluded Mr. Meighen, "this government will do the same thing again, so long as it is constituted and is under control of influences that now control it."

Lloyd George Lives Amid Memories of Carlyle and George Eliot

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Lloyd George's new house is in the famous Cheyne Walk in Chelsea, where once lived Carlyle, George Eliot and other literary celebrities. His house has an ancient inscription over the door, which runs: "Let no one here beyond the threshold words uttered here in friendly confidence." It is comfortable, unpretentious, dwelling of about twelve rooms, overlooking the Thames.

GETS JUDGMENT IN SCHOOL CASE

Chatham Firm Successfully Sues Builders of Central Collegiate Institute.

Another important development has been noted in connection with the Central Collegiate Institute tangle, according to board of education officials, who report that a Chatham firm, the Des Moines Company, has secured a judgment of $300 and costs from the Kingston Construction Company.

In the meanwhile the case of Hobbs vs. Kingston Construction Company is still pending in the local courts, all evidence having been received and judgment reserved.

No settlement between the Kingston contractors and the city until these court actions have been cleared away, explain the school board officials, who refuse absolutely to pay any further money until liens placed on the new structure months ago have been legally eliminated.

All negotiations in that direction are halted in the meanwhile, and certain alleged defects at the Collegiate Institute cannot be remedied at this moment, such as, for instance, the relaying of certain portions of the basement flooring.

Many weeks ago the members of the board of education met in general session, following a survey of the new building, and decided to accept the building and cancel the agreement with the Kingston contractors, upon the understanding that the latter undertake such minor tasks as were deemed imperative by the trustees. It was ruled that $1,000 be withheld for this purpose, while the remaining $14,000 (all held in reserve) would be immediately forthcoming.

The contractors failed to reply to this offer, however, and nothing transpired until a few days ago, when representatives of the company were called in the city in connection with the Hobbs case, then in progress at the court.

While no public announcement was subsequently made, a special meeting was arranged between the visitors and the chairman of the board of education and several of his colleagues.

It was explained on Wednesday, however, that nothing definite was accomplished, and that no settlement can be anticipated until all court actions have been disposed of.

DISCOVER LAKES OF OIL IN FAR NORTH

Map Out Oil Belt From Mackenzie River to Siberia.

Seattle, Wn., Nov. 29.—Discovery of two huge lakes of oil near Point Barrow, the most northerly point on the American continent, and the mapping out of an oil belt extending from the Mackenzie River, in Canada, to Siberia, are reported by Alexander Malcolm Smith, Arctic explorer and traveler. He returned from his season's work in the Arctic a few days ago by way of Japan.

"Oil, of a better grade than that obtained in California, can be shipped from Point Barrow to Japan 25 cents a barrel cheaper than it can be shipped from San Francisco," Smith said. "The main handicap, of course, is the short season for navigation in the Arctic."

Smith says he made his first discovery of oil in the Arctic five years ago. Since then, he says, he has been mapping and tracing the probable oil belt lying in the shadow of the pole.

Smith, when a boy of 18, came to Canada from Scotland and took up work in the northern woods as an assistant factor for the Hudson Bay Company. He has been mushing around in the far north for the last 37 years. He blazed the trail from Edmonton to Dawson for the Royal Mounted Police when the Klondike was discovered. He has contributed to the nomenclature of the north, Smith River and Smith Cove, all on the Arctic coast, east of Point Barrow, being named after him.

LAW GIVES NO AID TO CONTROL BY DOMINIONS

Offers Little Hope for Greater Share in Empire Affairs.

SAYS MACHINERY LACKING

Is Reluctant to Outline Status of Overseas Sessions.

By Staff Correspondent. Special to the Advertiser.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—Bonar Law, the new British premier, has evidently not secured with his Scots' blood the usual heritage of caution. He has been famous for his indecisions, which often betray a naive frankness wholly refreshing in a politician.

In pre-war days he caused great alarm among many old Tories by a rash speech at Blenheim, in which he virtually committed the party of property and order to back up Ulster's armed resistance to the home rule bill. On another occasion he gave a sort of indorsement to the lead of a capital levy, and his party during the last election were kept busy explaining that he did not mean what the Labor party meant.

Again it was Mr. Law who boldly proclaimed the view that the dominions had the right of secession whenever they chose to exercise it. Now once more in the debate on the bill which ratifies on behalf of Britain the constitution of the Irish Free State, he has blurted out the true facts about a state of affairs which a variety of people were doing their best to conceal.

Sidesteps Status. In discussing the future of Irish Free State with regard to relations to Britain and relations of other dominions, he commented on the course of the delegates at the 1921 conference in showing the plan for a special constitutional conference, and holding that any attempt to define the relations of the various units of the Commonwealth would be unwise and dangerous.

"I share that view," said Mr. Law. "If there was an attempt to define by statute what the relations of the dominions were, it would not be a question merely between us and Ireland, but one of the most far-reaching importance, and I do not hesitate to say that the very fact that the dominions have grown in stature as a result of the war makes it more necessary than ever, when the influence they ought to exercise on our policy has no machinery for carrying it out, that nothing should be done in any way to suggest that their powers are less than we know them to be."

Here we have the frank confession from a statesman who must be perfectly acquainted with the circumstances that no machinery exists to enable the dominions to exercise the great common people are not content to "rest on their oars" and "let the other fellow do it."

Ward meetings continue Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Ryerson and Simcoe public schools will be the battlegrounds tonight, and while the mayoralty and aldermanic aspirants battle for the "seats of the night" at the city hall, the retiring chief magistrate, Mayor Wilson, will again champion the cause of the three bylaws that are going to the people.

"The worst is over," reports the opposing factions. Presumably Mr. Law or at least his party, which is the Imperialist party, above all others, would not go so far as to suggest that the dominions have no influence, which Mr. Law, in connection with the British foreign policy.

On all sides it is admitted that at least some sort of limited liability exists. But even if the liability is only limited, there ought to be a limited measure of control exercised from Ottawa. Yet how can a limited measure of control be assured when, according to Mr. Law, the machinery simply does not exist.

Sir Robert Borden, when he returned from his last adventure in international statesmanship, was quite confident that Canada had secured adequate control over British foreign policy to safeguard her interests and other less illustrious politicians have advanced the same view.

It is known that the foreign office regularly transmits to our department of external affairs rough accounts of the international situation, and the march of events in Europe and Asia. Our government is recorded the information, and occasionally makes use of it for purposes of protest or suggestion.

Proves Unreliable. But the Near Eastern crisis abundantly demonstrated that the machinery for inter-communication between the two governments was very unreliable, and that its inefficiency might lead to serious trouble and confusion. When even a communication is liable to fail, control can only be of the most illusory character.

Now, Mr. Law comes along and blows the whole gaff with the statement that there is no existing machinery for co-operative control of foreign policy.

Yet with the same breath he declares his opposition to a constitutional conference which would define the relations of the British states. He must be taken to mean that he turns to Page 17, Column 4.

DIBS AND DABS

—BY HARRY MOYER

ALL ASPIRANTS CLAIM VICTORY

Rival Mayoralty Camps Prepare Victory Feasts in Anticipation of Win.

Both mayoralty camps issued flat statements Wednesday that "it would be a glorious victory" Dec. 4. The rival factions frankly acknowledge that they were awaiting the outcome of Tuesday's mass meeting in the Masonic Temple, to determine definitely "in which direction the win was blowing."

Apparently it blows two ways at once, and that well-known figure, "the man on the street," is at a distinct loss, as to the most likely choice for the mayor's settee.

Just who to place money on is a problem that can be settled with comparative ease on one corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, and on the opposite corner.

In the meanwhile "inside dope" from the opposing encampments indicates that the battle is waging through the outlying districts with unabated fury, and it is evident that the rivals, despite the assurance that they are to be "the choice of the great common people," are not content to "rest on their oars" and "let the other fellow do it."

Ward meetings continue Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Ryerson and Simcoe public schools will be the battlegrounds tonight, and while the mayoralty and aldermanic aspirants battle for the "seats of the night" at the city hall, the retiring chief magistrate, Mayor Wilson, will again champion the cause of the three bylaws that are going to the people.

LAST PIONEER OF CARIBOO GOLD RUSH DIES IN WEST

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 29.—Col. Robert Stevenson, who is said to be the last survivor of the pioneers of the gold rush in the Cariboo, died here last night. He came to British Columbia in 1859.

Col. Stevenson was born in Glenora County, Ontario, in 1838. He was one of the white men besieged at Fort Okanagan in 1860 by Indians. He was first Canadian custom officer on the United States border on the coast line.

WHOLE VILLAGE BURNED.

Oswego, Nov. 29.—Fire wiped out the heart of the village of Parish this morning at 8 o'clock. The loss is placed at between $100,000 and $150,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

BANKRUPT STOCK BROKERS INDICTED

New York, Nov. 28.—Three indictments charging grand larceny and bucketing were returned on Tuesday against Roy H. MacMasters and his stepfather, John F. MacMasters, connected with the stock brokerage house of R. H. MacMasters & Co., with offices in eight cities, which failed last February for $500,000.

OTHER CITIES SEEK ASSESSMENT PLAN

Many Places Want Information on Richter System, Thinking It Best.

Whether or not the citizens of London are advocates of the Richter scheme of assessment in vogue in the local department, does not seem to have much influence with other municipalities, say local authorities.

Referring to the several complaints that have been registered recently against the local assessment department, city hall officials related Wednesday that numerous communities throughout the Dominion, have evidently been impressed with the Richter method, as from time to time inquiries have been received relative to the same.

"We think that this is the best scheme that could be placed into effect," a member of the staff stated, "and while we know it is not perfect, it is just a question whether any scheme could ever be that."

The officials urge all persons who believe that they have a grievance to come to them, and they will send a man out to the source of complaint to check up to the assessment again.

QUEBEC HOUSE WILL DEBATE KU KLUX KLAN FIRE SCARE

May Suggest Investigation to Find Out Truth of Rumors. Special to the Advertiser. Quebec, Nov. 29.—The sinister rumors to the effect that the Ku Klux Klan is responsible for the recent fires which have destroyed Catholic churches or institutions operated by Catholics in this province will be the subject of a debate in the provincial legislature. The attention of the government will be drawn to these reports, and an investigation to find out if they are based on any serious grounds will be suggested in the legislature this week.

U. S. MAY ACT TO SAVE RUHR

Expect Germany Will Appeal for Intervention in Reparation Crisis. BY A. L. BRADFORD. Special to the Advertiser.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—The United States may act if the French government finally decides to invade the rich Ruhr Valley to force Germany to pay reparation payment.

Should the French cabinet issue definite orders to Marshal Foch to invade Germany, the probable results here, according to well-informed quarters would be:

1. Appeal by Germany to the United States government to do something to save the situation.

2. Representations by the United States to France against such drastic action, on the grounds that it constitutes a danger to the entire European situation.

The belief in Washington today is that such a final decision on the part of France would tend more than ever to throw the entire fate of Europe on the shoulders of the United States.

Official advice has not been received here today of the decision to seize the Ruhr, reported in Paris to have been taken by the French government. Dispatches stated that Marshal Foch had been instructed to lay plans for action in the Ruhr, and that France had notified the allies of her decision.

Regardless, however, of the accuracy of these reports, the general feeling in official and diplomatic quarters here is that Europe is fast approaching a show down, in some form or another, on the reparation problem, to which France holds the key. Such a showdown, it is thought, is almost certain to involve the United States.

It was recalled here today that in the spring of 1921, when the French were then about to send their troops to take the Ruhr, Secretary of State Hughes forestalled this drastic action by making representations to Ambassador Jusserand, the French envoy here. In the crisis, over reparations at that time, Germany also appealed to President Harding to render a decision as to whether to lay down a decision as to whether to lay down a decision, and it is known that Germany has been considering an appeal to this government in the present situation.

3. DIE IN GALACIA FIGHT. Madrid, Nov. 29.—A collision between coal guards and peasants in Galicia, yesterday resulted in the killing of three men and the wounding of seven. The trouble arose in consequence of the dissolution of the Agrarian associations by order of the government. This action led the peasants to refuse to pay their rents and their local taxes.

CHILDS SAYS CITY NEEDS IMPROVED ASSESSMENT

Mayorality Candidate Tells Audience in Masonic Temple Cheaper Homes in London Bear Burden of Taxation—"Bill" Moore Causes Interruption.

WENIGE WANTS HIGH SALARIES CUT

Mayorality and board of education candidates, addressing a capacity audience in the Masonic Temple Tuesday night, were accorded "British right of free speech" as near as could be possible under the circumstances.

At the suggestion of S. F. Lawrason, the former federal member for East Middlesex, S. Frank Glass presided, and while there were scores in the audience, supporters of either candidate, who were only too willing and eager for an old-time heckling bee, the chairman proved himself quite capable of maintaining a fairly decent semblance of order.

Ex-Ald. George A. Wenige, mayorality candidate, was the first speaker of the evening. In a few preliminary remarks he made it quite clear that he did not mean to indulge in any personalities during the campaign, "regardless of who had been or might be said about him."

"I do object, however," he asserted, "against the type of 'yellow journalism' that has appeared with my opponent's name beneath it, inferring that I endeavored while a member of the city council to have a one-armed man ousted from his seat. What I did say was this (here Mr. Wenige read from the city hall minutes): 'It is not right for this man to be employed shovelling gravel. It is ridiculous when there was other work that could have been obtained for him.'"

Confident of Support. "And what is more," declared Mr. Wenige, "I have been talking with this man today, and I am confident that I will have his support during this election."

At this juncture "Bill" Moore rose from his seat in the front row to ask a question in respect to the closing of the north-end fire hall. While one faction in the audience urged for him to continue another section of the voters holding that he had been seated until the speaker had continued his remarks, following which there would be plenty of time for questions to be asked and answered.

The din continued for several minutes, when "Bill" evidently concluded that it was the wish of the majority to present that he allow his question to pass for the time being, and he regained his place.

Enumerating his platform, as he has done at the public meetings, Mr. Wenige touched at considerable length upon the 10 per cent wage cut proposed in early 1922, criticizing the same.

"I do not think that any man can give good service," he said, "when he is not paid a reasonable living. The wages should have been left entirely alone unless every civic employee had been reduced, as was primarily intended."

"I stand for the revision of the extremely high salaries at the city hall," he said, "and I believe that the speaker who has introduced this question has brought up a question that is right here that this man is right in his opinion. It is a matter of the board who can prove to me that they have paid the press a nickel during the year and advertise these tenders he refers to."

The speaker urged economy. "There has been needless expense in past years," he said, "and the public board has not been altogether responsible for it. I want to cite an instance. At this time there are 108 rooms working at a discount of 15 per cent. In other words, we have accommodation for another 650 students in 18 rooms."

Charged With Extravagance. "This board has been charged with extravagance, and I believe that to be a fact. We have schools in this city that were built at an enormous expense. They are now working below par, and if we had this accommodation at our disposal we could have had a school building on the West London without laying another brick."

In conclusion, Mr. Palmer denounced the purchase of the Oliver and Trafalgar street site for public purposes, claiming that this location was more expensive than the Dakin street, already owned by the school board, and not situated to best serve the interests of the district to be affected.

S. F. Lawrason, East London manufacturer, and candidate for the board of education, explained that he had entered the field for the first time in his life, although he had attended civic meetings for years past, when one after another candidates had promised to reduce the taxes, but the latter increased with even regularity.

"The school board is the most important body in the city," he said, "my reason of the fact that it is accountable for 36 cents out of every dollar that is spent by the people."

He pointed out that the city needed more schools at this moment, instancing Pottersburg, where a new structure was purchased, without delay. He made it quite clear that, while he was not on the platform to criticize the old board, there were certain improvements that he could be stated if the proper care and attention was given.

3 DEAD AFTER ATTEMPT TO RAID HOME FOR BOOZE

Special to the Advertiser. Harlan, Nov. 29.—Three men are dead today as the result of an attempted booze raid on the home of Harlan Bail late yesterday. When James Pope, chief of police of Harlan, entered the house in search of liquor, Bail opened fire. In a gun battle which followed Pope shot James Bail and his son, Sidney Bail, and staggered from the house mortally wounded.

RETURN SUICIDE VERDICT ROSE SHANNESSEY DEATH

Jury Says Death Resulted From Self-Inflicted Bullet Wounds. Special to the Advertiser. Paris, Nov. 29.—A verdict of suicide was returned today by a secret grand jury probing the mysterious death of Miss Rose Shannessey, pretty Minneapolis, Minn., girl. Death resulted from bullet wounds self-inflicted, the verdict said. Her reason of the fact that it is accountable for 36 cents out of every dollar that is spent by the people."

He pointed out that the city needed more schools at this moment, instancing Pottersburg, where a new structure was purchased, without delay. He made it quite clear that, while he was not on the platform to criticize the old board, there were certain improvements that he could be stated if the proper care and attention was given.

Launch New L.A.A.A. Tonight * Mrs. Opens Jan. 2 * Guelph Honors Teams

EXPECT TO LAUNCH NEW LONDON A. A. A. TONIGHT

Organization To Control All Major Sports in London Has Fans' Backing.

Tonight at a meeting in the chamber of commerce the proposed constitution of the London A. A. A. will be presented to the delegates from the various clubs, and the slate of officers, selected by the committee, will also be submitted.

Representatives from all the organizations and social clubs of the city will be present, and whatever is done tonight will bear the representative stamp of the fans of London.

Will Help Hockey. This form of control for hockey especially, is expected to produce the best results, both actually on the ice and in getting a big following of constant spectators for the game. Club management produced good box office results and good teams, but spread the responsibility for the game over the shoulders of the fans of London.

Baseball made its own way last year and broke successfully into the O. B. A. A. but here again the following and interest was confined in great measure to the clubs whose teams were represented.

TAD JONES TO STAY AT YALE AS COACH

His Mentor Will Be Given Vote of Confidence As Well.

New York, Nov. 28.—Even though many eastern records may be a little bit better looking at the end of the 1922 football season, few coaches are expected among the prominent coaches. Because the Yale eleven turned out to be a fine team instead of the great machine that was expected last September, it was expected outside of Yale circles that Tad Jones, the Eli mentor, would not be re-elected.

Jones not only will not lose his job, but he will be given a vote of confidence which will give him a reliable information. Those on the inside claim that Yale blundered and floundered around this season through no fault of the coach. Losing to Princeton and Brown, Harvard had a bad season but not one of the grim following had a thought of holding Bob Fisher or the Haughton system responsible.

The Haughton system is a mighty influence at Harvard. There were rumors that Fisher would leave and that Percy Haughton, the guiding genius of Harvard football, would return to Cambridge next fall to try his hand at developing a non-winning team. The stories were believed most every place, but at Harvard, where they drew the laugh.

Roper Likely Absent. Bill Roper will not be at Princeton, because he is now laboring under the pressure of outside business, and it is understood that he may be named for a responsible government position. Roper is now prominent in Philadelphia politics and has good local practice. The Tiger coach has established a return at Princeton and has had a successful season as good as those of Haughton at Harvard, and if he leaves Princeton he will have a huge following somewhere to step into his shoes.

Johnny Heisman is sure of his job at Pennsylvania. He has a reliable record which has put him in a position to be regarded as a fixture at the Naval Academy as long as he wants to stay there.

Major Daly may be relieved as the West Point coach, because he is due for other duties. "Creasy" Neale is thought at Washington and Jefferson. His liaison position with the faculty for conditions that forced him to look for a job elsewhere. Neale has had many offers of jobs, but he wants to come to Columbia.

Washington and Jefferson is after Duke Rockne, the capable director of athletics and coach at Notre Dame. Rockne has two years to go at Notre Dame, and it is quite possible that the Hoosier University will allow a number of dollars to come between him and his present job.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE ELEVEN EXPECT WIN

Woodstock, Nov. 28.—The semi-finals of the play for the soccer championship of the "West" League will be held here tomorrow when the college youth Collegiate and Woodstock College meet in the college campus in a sudden-death game. The events have a pretty strong team, but have been practicing faithfully for the past two weeks and expect to win.

The winners will meet Windsor in the finals on Saturday.

Queens Wants Fast Field Saturday

Sweep Off Snow and Cover Grid With Straw.

Kingston, Nov. 28.—As a result of yesterday's fall of snow, there is about two inches of "the beautiful" on the football field at Queen's Stadium. Today the snow is being removed, and the field is being covered with straw, and if the university authorities are able to do so, they will secure enough canvas to cover the ground.

Everything possible will be done to keep the field in the best of condition for the big game with Edmonton on Saturday.

Queens' play better on dry ground, and it is hoped that the weather will be favorable. Tomorrow morning the sale of reserved seats will commence, and already hundreds of applications have been received from outside places.

Country are anxious to get tickets for the game.

Bill Steadman in the Vancouver Sun declares that the six-man hockey idea, has caught on at the coast, and declares that the penalty shot and kick the puck idea will prevail in the east before many years.

Since the new hockey rules obtaining in the coast and practice leagues had their initial try-out sufficient time has been afforded to afford a fair perspective of their merits and demerits.

After listening in on the city, we find that on the whole the new code has made a good impression.

Verdict of three to two in favor of the new game now used in the coast. The fans seem to prefer the old game, but the players seem to prefer the new game.

On the surface, the six-man game appears faster. The truth is that it is not faster, but the players are faster. When there were on the ice the rubber was in the hands of the front-line players, who then carried the puck.

With 12 men playing, the puck usually stays in the hands of the front-line players, and quicker turning out of action, and quicker substituting. The game LOOKS faster.

On the whole, it looks like the new rules will be a success. The new rules will be a success. The new rules will be a success.

The big success among the innovators is the anti-defensive game clause. Under the new rules, the defense is to be held in New York March 3 in the 102nd Regiment armory. The association will provide a fund of $5,000 to be allotted on a mileage basis to colleges that send a team of ten or more from a distance.

New York—Walter Higgins, Columbia's star runner, won the individual honors by finishing first in the intercollegiate country club championship yesterday. His time was 32:21.8-10.

Syracuse pulled a surprise by winning the team championship with 15 points. Yale was second, and Massachusetts Tech third.

KICKING THE PUCK.

The action which allows kicking of the puck, except into the net, appears to have rubbed the funnybones of some Eastern critics, and some heavenly-born geniuses in Toronto have accused Frank Patrick of making hockey a means of success, success and other things. As a matter of fact, the rule eliminated a lot of irritating stoppages whenever the rubber touched a player's skate, and speeded up play as a result.

The eastern hockey critics are nothing but a pack of lies. The new rule is now and it is, in fact, as the players say, N. G. They view with alarm the new rule that warns the coaches of a Tory square's heart, and the nature they give against anything in the way of change inside the stoutest last-ditcher in the House of Lords.

They like a red-side radical. They knocked the no-footside area, but they are using it as they are using other rules. In a year or two they will be using the penalty shot and allowing kicking of the puck and all the rest of it. But the boys must have their hotter before they swallow anything that comes out of the west.

"KING" CLANCY'S SON IS NEW OTTAWA RECRUIT

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The Ottawa Hockey Club announced today the signing of Harry Broadhead, right wing, who played in the National Hockey League in scoring; Cyril Denemann, left wing, third highest goal-getter, and Frank Clancy, who was regarded last winter as the most promising youngster in the circuit.

The Ottawas have now among all of last year's players, except Frank Broadhead, who was recalled by St. Patricks; Billy Bell, who reverted to Canadiens, and Morley Bruce, whom they passed up.

QUEENS, EASTERN CANADA CHAMPS. Queens, Eastern Canada champions, who meet Edmonton Saturday in the Dominion final at Kingston. This is the second time the Westerners have come east for the title, and the experts say they are stronger than when defeated by Argos last year.

GUELPH C. OF C. IS HOST OF ATHLETES

Winners of All Lines of Sports Given Banquet.

Guelph, Nov. 28.—The annual banquet tendered by the Guelph Chamber of Commerce to the various sporting organizations of the city was held at the Royal Canadian Cafe this evening, and proved to be one of the most successful of the many yet held.

Mr. R. B. Robson, chairman of the club committee, presided, and the clubs represented were the Taylor-Forbes football club, winners of the W. C. A. championship of 1921-22, winners of the Guelph City League 1922, and finalists in Ontario for the Dominion cup for the Inter-County senior baseball league championship for 1922.

Maple Leaf baseball club, runners-up for the Inter-County senior baseball league championship for 1922; the Guelph hockey club, Major C. R. Bissett team for a number of years, and Jack Purcell, runner-up for the junior Canadian tennis championship for 1922.

Tribute was paid to all of these organizations and individuals by the various speakers of the evening, and the more frequently mentioned were the cups and trophies won by them were presented.

Telegram of congratulation was read from President P. M. Kennedy of the O. B. A. A. to the Outfitters, and the Ontario champions were greeted with hearty applause.

Guelph has had a most successful year in all lines of sport, and the day next the ratemakers will have the opportunity to vote on a bylaw which will give the city a larger rink and get more contracts printed, or do with the present arena.

SPORT TABLOIDS

West Point—Ohio State's University policy decided to accept the offer to accept an October date on the army football schedule, it was said. Williams probably will file the date.

New York—The Indoor Intercollegiate track and field championships will be held in New York March 3 in the 102nd Regiment armory. The association will provide a fund of $5,000 to be allotted on a mileage basis to colleges that send a team of ten or more from a distance.

New York—Walter Higgins, Columbia's star runner, won the individual honors by finishing first in the intercollegiate country club championship yesterday. His time was 32:21.8-10.

Syracuse pulled a surprise by winning the team championship with 15 points. Yale was second, and Massachusetts Tech third.

REGAN TO LOOK AFTER CANADIAN STRING

Bowling, Md., Nov. 28.—(By Canadian Press).—Frank Regan has been engaged to act as trainer for Mrs. L. A. Livingston's racers next year. It was learned today that this string comprises mostly "Canadian-breds," which will be campaigned over the tracks of the Dominion.

Chick Lang, Hamilton, Ont., crack jockey, who has been riding here, will again be seen in action at J. J. Green Park, New Orleans, this winter. He will leave here at the close of the meeting under the care of Jim Arthur.

Just Between Us

By C. L. S.

Further attention is being drawn to the Sarnia Collegiate since U. T. S. until a late hour yesterday, had refused to play a sudden death in Sarnia, Toronto Oskandak C. I. team is the other team remaining in the interscholastic series.

U. T. S. wants at least a neutral ground and attention is also called to the fact of Sarnia's record and the fact that they are playing two men over age in accordance with the "special permission" issued by the O. B. P. E.

The financial effect of this rule was shown when Sarnia played Central Collegiate, and also St. Jerome's. If other schools are to compete this series another year they will probably insist on the age limit being observed to the letter.

Some of the fistic champs are wishing they'd stuck more to vaudeville the past year. Kearns won't look at the million dollar offer for Dempsey to meet Strangler Lewis in a mixed bout, and then take on two other heavies. He claims that a Lewis-Dempsey bout would draw almost a million dollars itself. Meanwhile Kearns will find more lucrative offers—on paper.

Toronto critics no sooner took their hats off to Queens than they began to kick holes in Queen's victory. Conacher proved Saturday that one outstanding star can be almost as great a source of weakness as of strength. Queens would not have won had it not been for Connie's fumble behind his own line. Probably they wouldn't have needed that much if Conacher hadn't scored all Argos' points, which is a softer way of looking at things.

Calgary Tigers have been torn between the desire to build a larger rink and get more contracts printed, or do with the present arena. Mickey Walker threatens to go on the stage. The "foolights"—not to say the "foot-rail"—has lured most of the champs. Fredrick Bob Fitzsimmons always had an idea that he was miscast as a prizefighter and that he ought to have been filling grand opera tenor roles. Conbert had a smashing idea that had he started early enough, the public never would have known Booth. Dempsey, apparently, is one champion whose personality makes a hit before the foolights, but the big boy doesn't like talking for money. Walker is well educated, speaks English fluently and may make a hit.

HURLERS IN MAJORS NOT GOING BACK

Records Show More Shutouts in 1922 Than 1921.

New York, Nov. 28.—Records compiled today tend to dispute the contention of some folks that pitchers in the big leagues are going back. The records are not official, but they will be borne out when the official numbers come out.

In 1922 there were more shut-out games pitched than were twirled in 1921. The National League record for 1921 was 67 and in 1922 it was 70. The American League record in 1921 was 60 and in 1922 it was 75.

And by this record those who have contended all along that the pitchers of the National were less formidable than those of the American League are claiming that their contentions therefore have been given one more clinch. The record also is pointed to be borne out when the official numbers have claimed that National League batters were more hefty with their sticks than their rivals.

It is a good argument either way. In April there were nine shut-out games pitched in the American League to four in the National, and two of the latter were pitched on the last afternoon of the opening month. By May the older league's pitchers got better, or the batters were as good as in the National. Boston and Washington had a score of 1 to 0. The double header shutout wasn't equaled all season by any other two teams.

MEDS '24, '25 AND '27 WIN FACULTY GAMES

Meds '24-'25 defeated Meds '25-'26 in whose basketball title in the inter-collegiate league in the new med gym Tuesday night. The full time score was 18 to 14. G. Gibson and G. Morrison starred for the winners and R. Bingle and Art Reid showed up well for '25-'26.

WOODSTOCK KIDS START WORKOUTS

Intermediate Team Has Some Good Prospects in View.

Woodstock, Nov. 28.—The local junior O. H. A. players were out for their first workout last night. While the squad was not a very large one, Manager Jack Barr expects to have a large number of new players from now on.

Further attention is being drawn to the Sarnia Collegiate since U. T. S. until a late hour yesterday, had refused to play a sudden death in Sarnia, Toronto Oskandak C. I. team is the other team remaining in the interscholastic series.

U. T. S. wants at least a neutral ground and attention is also called to the fact of Sarnia's record and the fact that they are playing two men over age in accordance with the "special permission" issued by the O. B. P. E.

The financial effect of this rule was shown when Sarnia played Central Collegiate, and also St. Jerome's. If other schools are to compete this series another year they will probably insist on the age limit being observed to the letter.

Some of the fistic champs are wishing they'd stuck more to vaudeville the past year. Kearns won't look at the million dollar offer for Dempsey to meet Strangler Lewis in a mixed bout, and then take on two other heavies. He claims that a Lewis-Dempsey bout would draw almost a million dollars itself. Meanwhile Kearns will find more lucrative offers—on paper.

Toronto critics no sooner took their hats off to Queens than they began to kick holes in Queen's victory. Conacher proved Saturday that one outstanding star can be almost as great a source of weakness as of strength. Queens would not have won had it not been for Connie's fumble behind his own line. Probably they wouldn't have needed that much if Conacher hadn't scored all Argos' points, which is a softer way of looking at things.

Eskimos Start East; Draft Rumbblings Still Heard

EDMONTON SQUAD LEAVES FOR EAST

Westerners 26 Strong Embark in Search of Title.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 27.—Bound for Kingston, Ont., the stamping-ground of the Eastern Canada Hockey championship, the Edmonton Eskimos boarded their private car at the C. N. R. station last night, and at 6:45 this morning, attached to the Continental Limited, they steamed away in search of the Dominion title.

The party, 25 strong, embarked on their journey in the festive Nineteen players are making the trip with the team, and all are looking forward to next Saturday afternoon, when they will meet the Queen's machine that was responsible for the downfall of Conacher and the Argos.

Final arrangements for the trip were completed last night by Manager Moe Lieberman. The task of starting a party of 25 on a trip like the present one has its worries, and Moe was rushed off his feet in the last few days. The only consolation for him is that he is bound for the scene of his school days, having graduated from the University of Alberta in 1914.

The boys will not lack entertainment on their journey eastward, as a photograph has been taken of the Eskimos in charge as musical director, and has published a variety of records, ranging from the latest popular melodies to the old-time "Lullaby."

Joe Philip of the Canadian National Railway, who made everything comfortable for the boys on their trip east last year, has again assumed this important post, and was a member of the party that left this morning.

The following members of the team were aboard the limited when it began its trip eastward this morning: Blossom Seely, Scotty Brown, Blake Brunson, Miles Palmer, Jack Carrigan, Curly Gorman, Art Crighton, George Spelman (captain), Jack Fraser, Leo Cullen, Jack McAllister, George Davy, Walter Duke, Doc Dunsworth, Russ Burnett, Bert Spence, Vic Vancey, Jack Adams and Red McCall; Jack Ferguson, trainer; Moe Lieberman, manager, and Deacon White, coach.

Accompanying the team is none other than Daniel O'Connell Driscoll, 15 years old, and the pride of the team. Daniel made the trip east with the Eskimos last year. Carefully guarded by every member of the squad, Daniel will give Quo-Hoo-Hoo, the bear mascot of Queen's, a close race for mascot honors.

Deacon White had all his previous berths early last night, with the exception of Jack Adams' berth, which he was forced to work with the street railway until 5 o'clock this morning.

Howard Kelly, sporting editor of the Calgary Herald, a member of the party, George Macintosh, sporting editor of the Edmonton Journal, will join the troop at Winnipeg.

MOOSEJAW MAN OFFICIATES

Moosejaw, Nov. 28.—E. Murray Thompson has been notified that he has been appointed to officiate at the rugby game at Kingston between Queens and Edmonton on Saturday afternoon next. Mr. Thompson will leave at once for the east.

BAN JOHNSON IS SILENT ON DRAFT

Heydler Somewhat Aroused Over Ban's Alleged Statements.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Late President Ban Johnson of the American League has been charged, particularly in the east, with a desire to boycott the minor leagues not in sympathy with the draft. This is not precisely true. Johnson has never known or made a direct statement of that nature and has never talked for publication on the subject. Yet articles discussing the advisability of boycotting the minors have been attributed to him, causing President Heydler of the National League, and several of the managers of the smaller associations to make scathing criticisms.

Johnson, as is generally known, regrets the absence of the draft in the five league, but has never come out flat-footed with a recommendation that all these organizations be boycotted. He has said the managers in the two major organizations probably could bring the League, American Association, Western and Three-Bye Leagues to time if they would refuse to deal with them, but once has been heard to say that they ought to be ignored until they accepted the draft.

Heydler Disagrees With Ban. It is the opinion of Heydler and Johnson and Heydler come to a verdict upon a baseball question, but these mis-statements may bring about an estrangement, for the proxy of the National League has taken exception to the subject as if it were something and has said that his members will not consider a suggestion to boycott any of the minors.

"In my opinion the new draft agreement has worked out badly for all parties," said President Heydler, "but to change it other methods than boycotting must be employed. It is my hope that the minors in time will see the wisdom of our contention. Until then the agreement was signed, but also think the majors made a serious mistake when they signed this agreement exempting certain minors from the draft."

The minors have come to regard the draft with contempt. They have when ever the draft is mentioned. They discuss the subject as if it were something that existed in the days of the pyramids. They declare there is no chance of their resigning, although that effort is being made to persuade other leagues to drop it. This may be done at the annual meeting of the minors Dec. 5 at Louisville, Ky. If the draft is not eliminated by certain other leagues there is a possibility they will ask for a higher price for their players.

President Johnson has always refused to argue the draft question with the minors. He has his say at the meetings and subject undoubtedly will burden himself at the joint session Dec. 14 in New Orleans and up, mile and sixteenth xLiberty Girl 112, xHiello Pardner 110, Moody 107, xRouen 105, xMiracle Man 102, xGallivant 110, xMintu Man 102, Carefree 107, xWarrior 105, xMiles S 00, xSuper 107, a G. ## INGERSOLL PLANS CENTRAL CONTROL

Aim To Revive Interest in Sports of All Kinds.

Ingersoll, Nov. 28.—As the outcome of a most successful meeting this evening, a determined effort will be made in a broad way to revive interest and place amateur sports in the town under the control of a central organization. The suggestion that an athletic union be formed was enthusiastically endorsed.

The importance of strictly amateur sports was emphasized by all the speakers, who referred with pride to the splendid record of this town back twenty or twenty-five years ago, when distinction was achieved in lacrosse, football, hockey and baseball. One speaker emphasized the point that the men of today own it the boys and girls to make provision for clean amateur sport.

Deplete Interest Lack. The fact was deplored by many who had been actively identified with sport in former days that there has been a falling off of interest during recent years. The meeting was undoubtedly one of the most successful to hold many years for the discussion of sport.

The following committee was named to deal with the matter and to submit a report at a meeting to be held a week from tonight: Dr. Staples (convener), Dr. B. Williams, W. J. Elliott, Rev. G. W. Wood, R. B. Hutt, C. E. Ellis, S. Gibson, George H. Mason, J. E. Thompson and F. Moran.

Barbour's and Lawrence's Teams Are Winners.
The boys' basketball schedule at the Central Collegiate was put well on its legs last evening at the gym. Barbour's team met Gribbin's team in the first game, and the latter were defeated both played well, George for Gribbin, and F. Bice for Barbour starred.

The second game proved to be fast and exciting. Lawrence's team met Hill's team and the former conquered by the close score of 5 to 4. With a half-time score of three all, both teams set a fast pace, but Lawrence's team won out. Lawrence and McCracken, the one side and Hill and Murray on the other, showed up well.

St. Pats Win 2-1 At Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—The world's champion St. Patricks of Toronto were victorious in their first game of the western tour here tonight, defeating the Edmonton Eskimos by 2 to 1. All the goals were scored in the second period.

The win was rather a lucky one, as a soft shot from Randall's stick, which Winkler pulled into the Edmonton net, when it was a foot outside the post, decided the conflict in favor of the St. Patricks. But it was the greatest excuse for many a year and abounded with opponents, who carried the play into the St. Patrick's territory for the greater part of the game, but the un-gainly goal-tending by Roach, the little Toronto goalie, stopped attack after attack.

DEAK BELIEVES ESKIMOS OUT
Opines Odds 5 to 1 Against Edmonton in Queen's Game.
 Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 28.—Here is what Deacon White has to say about the Eskimos chances, as summarized in a signed statement he issued just before the team left for Kingston.
 "What are the Eskimos chances against Queen's is the question that I am in a position to know. To express a candid opinion on the veridicality of the betting fraternity the odds are about five to one against the Eskimos. We are at the most but a shade better team than that which represented Edmonton last year in the Dominion finals, and everyone knows the outcome of that game—2 to 1 in favor of the Argos."
 "Last year the Edmonton public insisted on sending us after Dominion honors, when I was opposed to it, knowing that we would be likely to be outclassed, because of our inexperience and the well-known fact that the athletes that come to the top in a community of over 500,000 people are apt to be better in quality and greater in quantity than those that rise to the surface in a city of 60,000. It was a considerable feat to win the championship of Western Canada and honor enough for one season for a city that does not encourage the Canadian game of rugby."
 "This year having again won the championship of Western Canada the Eskimos are in favor of trying conditions with the team that they should not do more than last year, and may redeem themselves. One thing is certain, and that is that they will do their best. In Queen's University they will meet a lightning fast team, highly trained with a back field of experienced players, a pair of high class outside wings, a middle wing of stellar calibre and the whole wreath educated in the game by the expert brains of the east. To overcome this team is a big contract, and the Eskimos know it, but they do not feel like passing up the opportunity of trying it this year."
 "You never can tell till you try."

DISCUSS AMENDMENT TO O. H. A. RULES—COMMITTEE OF THREE APPOINTED.
 Lindsay, Ont., Nov. 28.—Lindsay A. A. organized for hockey purposes and intermediate teams in Junior A committee of three, P. J. Carew, M. J. Ledman and F. A. The proposed amendment is as follows: "That no player be allowed to drop on the ice across to deliberate order to save goals; that such a player be penalized in the same manner as the goalkeeper who is found guilty of dropping to his knees."

The match, which is being played in two blocks of 300 points each daily, is being continued today.

Life and Character Reading.
 NOVEMBER 29
 On this date Sagittarius comes into its own. The sign of the Archer, the sign of the Fire Triplet. This is the sign of the Grand Zodiac. It is a masculine, Diurnal, eastern, double-bodied, speaking, fortunate sign of the Zodiac. The negative pole of the Fire Triplet. The higher attributes are love and enterprise.
 The people born on this date usually aim well and hit the mark in all matters. Because of this character they are prophetic and can tell the outcome of almost any enterprise from its inception.
 These people rarely make mistakes when they follow their own inspirations, but they are sure to be led astray if they rely on the advice of others.
 The governing planet of this date is Jupiter, and the birthstone is a diamond. The astral colors are gold, red and green.
 The Want Ads will prove your best friend in all matters, whether you desire to purchase something, lose something, or exchange something, they will be of unfailing assistance.

DENY RUMOR OF TRADE INVOLVING JACK ADAMS
President of Vancouver Hockey Team Unaware of Transfer.
 Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 28.—"That's news to me," said Frank Patrick, president of the Vancouver Maroons hockey team, when shown a dispatch from Jack Adams might join the Toronto St. Patricks this season. Patrick had heard of the trade, but he said, when asked about the possibility of Corbett Denny coming to Adams' team.
 Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—No official word regarding a trade involving Jack Adams, who played center for Vancouver last year, has reached Toronto St. Patricks, although he is heard indirectly that Adams wanted to play in the East. O'Donoghue stated here last night. Incidentally O'Donoghue mentioned that he had spoken to Adams at Fort William when the team passed through, but nothing was said regarding hockey.

TO LET CONTRACT SOUTHEAST SCHOOL
 Public School Committee, Board of Education, to Hold Special Meeting.
 Final settlement of the southeast school problem is set for Thursday afternoon.
 School Trustee Rev. A. A. Blois, chairman of the public school committee of the board of education announced that a special session of the former body has been called for that time.
 It is fully anticipated that the contract will then be let for the construction of the new school, to be placed on the corner of Oliver and Trafalgar streets, property just acquired by the school trustees, after a lengthy controversy.
 As the question of the actual purchase was left in the hands of the city solicitor several days ago, board of education authorities believe that the deal has finally been consummated and the money exchanged.
 Letting the contract developed into another neat little problem, as it was first suggested by members of the board that the lowest tender should not be considered. It was concluded that the next favorable bid should be accepted and just as it seemed to be plain sailing ahead, the successful contractor exploded the bombshell at the meeting of the committee by the announcement that he was compelled to withdraw his offer.
 Now the trustees, it is understood, have decided to accept the lowest tender, upon the condition that a certain bond is furnished, to reply as to this has not yet been forthcoming. Chairman Blois reports.

GERMAN PAPERS DISTRUST FRENCH
 Believe France Intends to Seize Rhineland and Ruhr Basin.
 Berlin, Nov. 29.—Prospective co-ercive measures to be adopted by France if the Brussels conference is postponed or abandoned, which are broadly hinted at in a supposedly independent bulletin from Paris, are provoking copious and highly-agitated comment in the German press.
 Despite official denials that the Cuno government is in receipt of a note, in which the French government threatens immediate appropriation of "productive securities" unless the German government submits tangible assets for its reparations obligations, the German press is convinced that France is determined to use the impending postponement of the Brussels parliaments as a pretext for immediate quasi-annexation of the Rhineland and the installation of a French civil service organization, and also the occupation of two-thirds of the Ruhr section, including Essen and Bochum.
 The German editors appears to be unimpressed with the official denials issued by Wilhelmstrasse and profess to see in the unobstructed French ascendancy in the present international situation an unflinching indication that the strategic position held by Premier Poincare suffices to enable him to dictate and carry out an arbitrary policy in connection with French aspirations.

EVERYBODY OUT TO BUY NEW SHOES AND RUBBERS
 What is a good day's work for a salesman in a boot and shoe establishment?
 Saturday was a good day for business. Saturday was a good day for business for those who had been putting off buying winter shoes and rubbers to act at once.
 A salesman's store that carried a well-worked advertisement reports his personal selling for the day was $472. This included the selling of rubbers, boots, shoes, slippers. He was not trying to make a record, but he succeeded in setting up a mark that will stand some beating.

FAIRS CONVENTION OPENS IN TORONTO
The International President Claims 90 Per Cent Success of Exhibition Due to Public.
 Toronto, Nov. 29.—Two hundred and fifty delegates were in attendance at the opening of the session of the 32nd annual meeting of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.
 Fairs and exhibitions from almost every viewpoint were dealt with by a number of speakers this morning. Joseph E. Rogers, of the Ontario police, told how Ontario deals with traveling shows, while Frank D. Fuller, secretary and general manager of the Tri-State Fair, Memphis, Tennessee, dealt with "Car-nivals and Concessions From the Fair Standpoint." W. H. Hamilton, editor of The Billboard, made a plea for the support of the officers and members of the association in their battle for cleaner shows and games.
 Charles E. Ringling, of Ringling Brothers, mentioned that he had spoken to Adams at Fort William when the team passed through, but nothing was said regarding hockey.
 The whole atmosphere of unclean entertainment is out of harmony with the ethics of the exhibition world. The average business man, who would bring the guy into contempt, his business to ruin and the police to his door."

DISCOVER VESSEL WRECKED IN LAKE
 Missing Schooner Found Off Timber Island With Crew Safe.
 Kingston, Ont., Nov. 29.—The schooner Katie Eccles, which weathered the storm of Sunday night when enroute from Oswego, N. Y., to Belleville with hard coal, is a wreck on the shore of Timber Island. The Eccles went ashore during the night and it was not until yesterday afternoon that she was discovered.
 The vessel lies in four feet of water off the shore and cannot be reached by wrecking tugs. The Eccles will likely be a total loss and it may be next spring before the coal cargo of 235 tons is salvaged.
 The crew, consisting of Captain Harry Mitchell, Portsmouth, a Belleville young man, and Mrs. Norman Lloyd, Kingston, and their three children, are still on the vessel but can easily reach the shore. It may be evening before they can be brought to Kingston, owing to the weather conditions.
 The schooner Daryeav, which went around at Four Mile Point was released by the Ontario Wrecking Company and has arrived in Kingston with her cargo of coal.

2 KILLED, 3 INJURED AS STILL EXPLODES
 Men Meet Horrible Death as Tank in Stable Bursts.
 Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—One man was killed instantly, one died at Roosevelt Hospital today, and three others are in hospital, probably fatally injured, as the result of an explosion of a hundred gallon still that had been operating in a stable here last night.
 Police today stated that 1,000 gallons of alcohol was stored in the stable and following the explosion of the still a score of tin cans, hastened followed as fire reached a number of barrels containing alcohol.
 Six men were working near the still when it exploded. They were hurled against the wall of the building and showered with burning alcohol.
 Screaming for help, they rushed to the street. Persons attracted by the detonation wrapped coats around them to extinguish the flames.
 One man who has not yet been identified. The other victims were John Krables, 18, John Shay Horn, Benjamin Waxman, 30, and Louis Blumens, 32, were burned and otherwise injured.

LAW GIVES NO AID TO CONTROL
 does not want any machinery to co-operative control to be set up.
 The Manitoba Free Press and other papers have always contended that the establishment of satisfactory machinery of co-operation was impossible until a definition of Dominion status was secured, and the more closely the problem is examined the greater acceptance will this view secure.
 Mr. Law is disarmingly frank, but he shows himself a realist of an ancient school, when he thinks that Dominion ought to be permanently content without any real control over British foreign policy, and at the same time remain devoted members of the British Commonwealth.
 It may be that he imagines that some sort of machinery can be set up without facing the problem of Dominion status. In that event it is high time there was constitutional conference to promote his political education.

PIONEER BUSINESSMAN OF SEAFORTH EXPIRES
 W. D. Vanegmond Passes at Edmondville in His 76th Year.
 Special to The Advertiser.
 Seaforth, Nov. 28.—One of the pioneer businessmen of the town passed away suddenly late on Monday afternoon, at his residence in Edmondville, in the person of W. D. Vanegmond, eldest son of the late A. G. Vanegmond, in his 76th year.
 The deceased was well known throughout Western Ontario, having been for many years the senior partner in the Vanegmond woolen mills. He was married more than 35 years ago to Miss Jessie Ferguson, daughter of the late Thomas Ferguson of Edmondville, who predeceased him five years ago. Mr. Vanegmond had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time, but was able to be around until a few days prior to his death. He was born in Harpurhey, Lancashire, the greatest part of his life in Edmondville.
 After retiring from business he moved his family to Toronto, where he resided about seven years, returning to Edmondville to spend his remaining days. He was a Conservative in politics and an Anglican in religion. His son, W. G. Vanegmond, a prominent architect in Regina, and one daughter, Mrs. Earl Bell with whom he resided, survive.
 The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon from his late residence at the Edmondville Cemetery. About 75 relatives and friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carnochan, Sr., in the afternoon on Friday evening, and presented Mr. and Mrs. James Carnochan, Jr., with a cut glass water set on a mahogany tray in honor of the deceased. The address was read by Mr. D. Nicholson and the presentation made by Mr. W. Eyre.

"TIGER" RESUMES INVASION OF WEST
 Undaunted by Lack of Enthusiasm of Chicago Audiences.
 Special to The Advertiser.
 Chicago, Nov. 29.—Undaunted by the rather unenthusiastic reception he received here, Georges Clemenceau today prepared to move on to Springfield, Ill., on his invasion of the west.
 He will depart for Springfield tomorrow, and then go to St. Louis, after which he swings eastward again unless there is a change of plans.
 The people listened attentively, but failed to applaud very much. Clemenceau told them that Germany was still a military menace, and that hidden stores of arms were being found in that country.
 Mayor Thompson's widely-heralded night meeting, at which "Foreign propagandists" were to be denounced, was quite peaceful. The mayor's only direct reference to Clemenceau was as "a patriotic French gentleman."
 Clemenceau in his speech cited many elaborate statistics to defend his policy, rather than by the dynamic pulverizing oratory of which he has shown himself capable.

L. AND P. S. NIGHT TRAIN HITS BROKEN SPAN WIRE
 By Staff Reporter.
 St. Thomas, Nov. 28.—The London and Port Stanley train No. 25, leaving St. Thomas for London at 11:45 p.m., struck a broken span-wire opposite Turner's Gully Tuesday night. Considerable damage was done to the line wires and the overhead construction on the car. A general tie-up of power connections resulted. The late south-bound train was held up at Yarmouth. Arrangements were made, and taxis were promptly provided for the return of the passengers. The line crew was called out and not until about 4 a.m. was the line in order to enable all trains to make their scheduled runs.

Upward Trend of Stocks, Following Depression, Causes Little Surprise.

BY STUART P. WEST.
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Nov. 28.—The stock market, which was the center of interest in the financial situation today, gave an exhibition of what happens when a market, pressed down too far by speculation for the decline, finally reaches the turn.

At such times stocks invariably go down as far below their real values, as in the collapse of the market, causing them to be pushed above the value line. One hears under these circumstances a lot in the selling, but very little about the buying. The experience always is that stocks are gradually taken off the hands of demoralized pools and individual traders, and investment interests which are capable of holding them.

In the same way, the entrance of American Woolen representatives on the board of Consolidated Textile was the important development which the market had been anticipating, and the time being, at least the rise in Consolidated Textile stock was checked.

Naturally, the rebound was rapid in stocks that had been driven down the most severely, and in which the short interest was presumably the largest. The recovery was carried along by the advance in the price of raw materials, and the rise in sugar prices, which was the result of the French financial position, the weekly statement of the French currency in London, and the significance of the changes in the paper currency in London.

The late recovery brought France back some points and carried sterling above $4.52. As an index to the French financial position, the weekly statement of the French currency in London, and the significance of the changes in the paper currency in London.

The foreign exchange rallied in the afternoon, after selling off sharply earlier in the day. The franc advanced 6.50 over the level of the day, and the pound rose 1/16 over the level of the day.

The cash corn situation remains unchanged. The far west is paying equal to 75c, track Chicago, in western distributing markets.

PIT NOTES AND GRAIN GOSSIP.
Cash and export interest in wheat yesterday. The market responded readily to broadening of general demand. Eastern buyers in wheat were also active.

Liquidity in wheat by a few large eastern holders was unable to carry both the recent weakness in grain, and the recent weakness in grain.

The tone of the Liverpool market is reported better, as a reflection of the present grain situation remains unchanged.

POLICE BOARD AT BRANTFORD SAVES $3,500

Probable Estimates Brought Forth At Meeting of Commissioners.

VOICES APPROVAL

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Nov. 28.—That a saving of $3,500 will probably be effected in police estimates was the statement brought forth at yesterday afternoon's session of the board of police commissioners. The saving was generally lauded by the commissioners. The commission paid for the equipment for the clerk and magistrate, including a new filing system for accounts and other documents. The building and grounds committee of the city council paid for the alterations and repairs to the police station. The furniture cost was a capital expenditure which would be useful for years to come. Chief Donnelly was present at the meeting, and recommended that fourteen pairs of goatskin gauntlets be purchased at $1 a pair. He had secured this estimate from a local firm, and had been assured that the gloves were both warm and durable, and would last for several seasons. At present the force was equipped with various types of gloves and gauntlets, and the chief hoped to make their equipment uniform, warm and durable. The men were highly pleased with the leggings they had been equipped with.

Thank Commissioners.

Members of the police force wrote thanking the chief and commissioners for permitting them one day off each two weeks. It was recommended that the experiment be continued until the first of the year. The chief pointed out that the men were given their day off only when duties permitted them. If a big job was on hand, they had to forego the holiday for a time.

Following the passing of accounts, the saving in estimates was mentioned by the commissioner. Mr. J. Parker recalled that he had predicted in the city council some months ago that the commission would be sufficient in a year to pay the city's cost of the recent police inquiry.

"I have enjoyed this year more than any other of my life," declared Magistrate Blake. "I have enjoyed my administration, and will be further satisfied if the people of Brantford have enjoyed my administration as much." This followed the comment regarding the saving in the magistrate's salary.

No one was present to represent local taxmen in a suggested change of the old cab bylaw. The old law had proven ambiguous. Magistrate Blake pointed out, and he wanted to know if it were to be interpreted literally in taxicab cases. The matter will be brought before the attention of the taxicab men, and they will be given an opportunity to give their views.

Was Well Known Here.

The late Dr. James W. Gray, Hamilton dentist, who was killed in the automobile smash on the Toronto-Hamilton highway Saturday afternoon, was well known in Brantford and Brant County.

Dr. Gray, who resided at 62 St. Clair boulevard, Hamilton, died at the Windham Centre, Ont., 41 years ago. He was educated at the Waterloo public and high schools, after which he went through a university, where he received his degree some 20 years ago. Following this he went to St. Catharines, where he practiced dentistry. He remained there five years, making a host of friends. Fifteen years ago he went to Hamilton, where he had been in practice up to the time of his death.

He was married some years ago, and besides his widow is survived by his mother, one brother, Frank Gray of Burford, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Jull of Norwich.

H. E. Hawkins, formerly of Brantford, whose cabin had been blown into the catastrophe, is suffering from three broken ribs, as well as his other injuries.

RAISE $120 TO ASSIST CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Clandeboye, Nov. 28.—The members of Clandeboye Women's Institute are much pleased over the success of the sale of home-cookings, chickens, eggs, cream, butter, etc., held in London on Nov. 25, to raise money for the Sick Children's Hospital. The sum of $120 was realized. The members of the committee speak gratefully of the kindly help given at the sale room by Mrs. Edwards, Miss Grant, Mrs. Greenaway and Mrs. Smith, which went far towards making the sale a success. Contributions were by no means confined to members of the institute here, but everyone who heard of the affair gave something. The sum of $20 was contributed in small sums, ranging from 25 cents up, by friends in the country before the day of the sale.

Does Not Believe "Klan" Responsible For Recent Holocaust in Winnipeg

Quebec, Nov. 28.—Doubt is entertained among the Roman Catholic clergy here regarding the statement alleged to have been made in Winnipeg to the effect that the Ku Klux Klan might have been responsible for the destruction of the St. Boniface college by fire Friday night with a loss of nine lives. One of the officials of the cardinal's palace, speaking to the Quebec Telegraph on the matter, stated: "Just at the time the activities of the Klan in the United States and elsewhere started to extend there was a reduction of the number of churches destroyed in this province by fire, though of course there were some conflagrations, for instance, the St. Anne de Beaupre Church fire, the origin of which is still a mystery, but there was never any report here that the famous secret society started to persecute the Catholic Church. In Montreal, I understand that a few months ago it was stated that a lodge had been organized, and since then there has been no word uttered of any action against the church. The leaders of the organization have declared on several occasions that they were opposed to Catholicism, but I cannot believe that their activities extend here in this manner."

WILL EXECUTE ALL ROBBERS IN IRELAND

President Cosgrave of Dail Declares Childers' Execution Has Served Its Lesson.

Dublin, Nov. 28.—During the session of the Dail today, when the scandal estimate was under discussion, the execution of Erskine Childers and the treatment of Mary MacSwiney while she was in Mountjoy prison on a hunger strike came up. The execution of Childers was brought forward by George Gavan Duffy, former minister of foreign affairs, and the treatment of Miss MacSwiney by Cathal O'Shannon, Laborite.

The action of the government in both cases was strongly upheld respectively by William Cosgrave, president of the Dail, and Kevin O'Higgins, the home minister.

Mr. Duffy during the debate asked Richard Mulcahy, minister of defence, to explain the execution of Childers. Duffy said Childers was a great Irishman, not merely in law, but in fact. Cosgrave said Duffy said Childers had consecrated his life to independence for Ireland; he was perfectly sincere, brilliant in intellect, and a model of civility. He had actually been elected by the Irish government as Irish ambassador to the United States.

Replies to Duffy. It was argued by Mr. Duffy that owing to unscrupulous propaganda Childers had been represented as a monster of wickedness, and that for this reason the government should have taken more precaution to prevent injustice being done him. Yet he was tried in secret on the sole charge of being in possession of a revolver in a private house.

Mr. Cosgrave, in an impassioned reply, said Duffy was afraid of his shadow; that he made his speech to tell the people outside that he was not guilty like the others. The members of the Dail, Mr. Cosgrave continued, were dealing with the situation in which the plan of assassination was in the minds of the people opposed to the government, and their newspapers reeked with incentives to their dupes to commit these assassinations.

Mr. Duffy was denounced by Mr. Cosgrave for not being present in the chamber to say anything regarding the four poor men from the president's own parish who were executed prior to Childers. He said Duffy had brought forward the execution of an intellectual to make his case. The president asked whether the government was to spare intellectuals with money at their backs and punish the unfortunate dupes. Some temporary madness had taken possession of practically every one of the irregulars, he declared, and what really lay at the back of their position was lack of moral courage in men like Duffy.

Were Surrendering Arms. At the very moment he was speaking, Mr. Cosgrave went on, there was a gang actually at work to arrest members of the parliament and destroy the treaty. What was the effect of the execution, he asked. Already, he said, stolen property was being restored, people were tumbling in to pay their debts and steady effect was visible all over the country. The government merely wanted a surrender of arms, and it was going to get them if it had to search every house in the country, the president explained. Arms were coming in and the bed of the River Liffey was accommodating a lot of them.

Armed persons robbing others, said Mr. Cosgrave, would in future be brought before military courts, and every person guilty of robbing at the point of a gun would be executed. Incidentally, Mr. Cosgrave denied that the cabinet had ever contemplated sending Childers as ambassador to the United States.

The president was loudly applauded as he concluded. Mr. Gaffney and Mr. O'Shannon, both Laborites, supported the viewpoint of Mr. Duffy, Minister of Defence. Mr. O'Shannon said he would reply to Mr. Duffy at tomorrow's session.

PROMINENT RESIDENT OF PARIS DIES IN 92ND YEAR

Special to The Advertiser. Paris, Nov. 28.—A gloom has been cast over the entire community through the death on Saturday night of Archibald Campbell, in his 92nd year.

TUG OWNERS SEEK TO GET DEFINITE RULING

New York, Nov. 28.—Owners of tugs, offered the opportunity of making easy money, have sought a ruling on the legality of delivering supplies to vessels outside the three-mile limit. Customs officials, understanding that the vessels referred to were liquor carriers, informed the tug owners that goods, even if manifested, could not be exported to ships on the high seas, but only to foreign countries. The problem, however, may be put up to the Washington authorities.

One of the tug owners said he had been offered $25 an hour for supplying certain vessels. He smiled broadly when customs officials asked him if the vessels were liquor craft.

Special to The Advertiser. Simcoe, Nov. 28.—The latest find in connection with the wrecked City of Dresden and her precious cargo of liquor which broke up on the reef off Port Rowan last week, is reported from Long Point, 22 miles distant, where the life-saving crew gathered in five cases of whiskey. This fact further substantiates the story of the liquor salvaging activities following the wreck, and weakens the government report to the effect that the cargo sank to the bottom.

FORMER GREEK OFFICIALS ARE PUT TO DEATH

Ex-Prime Minister Gounaris and Five Others Meet Fate.

BLAMED FOR DISASTER

Athens, Nov. 28.—The six former cabinet officers and army officials convicted of high treason in connection with the Greek military disaster in Asia-Minor were executed today. The execution of the condemned men was by shooting. The men executed were: Former Premier Gounaris, Protapadakis and Stratros; M. Theotokis, former war minister; M. Baltazis, holder of portfolios in several former cabinets, and General Hadjanestis, commander of the Greek forces at the time of the Asia-Minor military disaster.

Demetrios Gounaris, who heads the list of former cabinet ministers executed in Athens today, was prime minister under King Constantine when that monarch early in the European war was striving to keep Greece from joining the Entente allies. He was occupying a ministerial position when Senator Joannit of France brought about the coup late in 1917, which threw Constantine off the throne and sent Greece into the allied camp. Served Under Constantine.

With the return of Constantine, Gounaris became premier again in April of last year, and was at the head of the government until May, 1922. He then became a party to an agreement with Stratros and others to form what was styled a coalition ministry under Premier Protapadakis, in which Gounaris became the minister of justice.

This cabinet was in power when the former premier, of Greece, who was executed Tuesday, along with five other former cabinet ministers by a court martial in Athens. Messrs. Gounaris, Baltazis, Theotokis, Protapadakis, Stratros, and General Hadjanestis were condemned to death and were executed this morning.

General Stratros and M. Goudas were sentenced to penal servitude for life. The military defendants were also sentenced to degradation and the following fines were inflicted: Gounaris, 200,000 drachmas; Stratros, 355,000 drachmas; Protapadakis, 500,000 drachmas; Theotokis, 1,000,000; Goudas, 200,000 drachmas.

REASONS FOR EXECUTIONS. Athens, Nov. 28.—A statement issued by the court-martial which condemned to death the former ministers, giving the reasons for imposing the sentences of death, says in effect that the defendants knowingly concealed from the people the disaster involved in King Constantine's return to the throne, and that, although Greece was breaking away from her alliance, they did their utmost to consolidate Constantine's throne in order to enjoy office under him.

Will Reside With Wife, Decided On Bylaw of Indiana

Southend, Ind., Nov. 28.—Peace reigned in the John F. Tiernan household today following a stormy reconciliation with his wife, but Prof. Tiernan was all but anchored to his home. An invitation from Mrs. Blanche Brimmer at Marshalltown, Iowa, his "bride of a day," to join her in Iowa, stood between the professor and Mrs. Tiernan, and hampered prospects of a quiet return. Mrs. Tiernan at the same time demanded to know what her husband's relations had been with the Iowa widow during their brief honeymoon in Chicago Saturday. She was not content with her husband's explanation that it was a "public housewife," that he did not have his bride alone a single moment.

Detective Walsh Testifies When Garneau Probe Is Resumed At Quebec.

Quebec, Nov. 28.—Rumors which started early after the discovery of the body of Blanche Garneau two years ago, and which were still being peddled about the city of Quebec and in other parts of the province, associated the relatives of well-known young men with the murder of the young Quebec girl, according to Chief of Detectives Thomas Walsh of the Quebec municipal police force.

Chief Walsh was the principal witness before the royal commission which is investigating the conduct of the attorney-general's department in connection with the sensational case when the inquiry was resumed here today. All the rumors, all the stories regarding the Blanche Garneau murder had been sifted and thoroughly tested, said Chief Walsh, and they had all been found baseless and without the slightest foundation. In spite of all, there were still rumors going around and the police were still on the alert.

ANTI-COMBINE BILL GOES BY BOARDS

Legislative Committee Fails To Hear Any Commendation of Proposed Measure.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—After having sat on several occasions without hearing commendation from any source, the legislative committee on Hon. Mr. Raney's proposed anti-combine bill terminated their labors abruptly today by deciding that the measure in its original form should go by the boards. In its place, although nominally a redrafting of the same bill, will be introduced to the house as a government measure.

The original intention of Hon. Mr. Raney's anti-combine measure was to prevent a manufacturer fixing up on his product a price at which the wholesaler or retailer must sell it. The bill will give to the attorney-general the right to examine previously to entering upon court action any firm against whom complaint is received from any person. Full authority for the production of books and papers desired is provided for. This legislation should be passed by the house, will change the present system which requires that the attorney-general should enter a court action before he can secure the right to examine any firm which he may suspect of carrying on business in a manner that contravenes the trade conspiracy section of the criminal code.

Turks Consider They Are Operating Only Under Mudania Agreement.

REJECT MUDROS PACT

Lausanne, Nov. 28.—Ismet Pasha objected today in the Near East conference to references to the Mudros armistice (signed by the Allies and Turkey in 1918), and insisted that the Mudania armistice, relating to the Turco-Greek war, was regarded by the Kemalists as the only one under which they were operating. This brought a protest from Lord Curzon, who said that Great Britain certainly regarded the armistice which the Turks made at the end of the great war as still in force, and could not accept the suggestion that mention be made only of the armistice which was negotiated at the end of the recent fighting between Greece and Turkey.

This difference arose at the afternoon session, when Turkish financial and economic questions were under consideration. Ismet Pasha and former Premier Venizelos engaged in a lengthy discussion of the claims Turkey put forward for the losses suffered by Turkey when she put it, the Greeks retreated recently and destroyed the Smyrna area.

Icy Roads Make Traveling Hard For "Old Dobbin"

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Nov. 28.—Blacksmiths of the city hung out the "full-house" sign early today, owing to the number of horses that were brought in to be shod, as a result of the slippery pavements.

With the exception of four or five streets in the suburbs, all the other streets in the city are paved, and the mild weather of yesterday coupled with the freezing temperature of last night, turned every street into a skating rink. To give "Old Dobbin" a chance to walk erect, the board of works street gangs sent out on the business and principal residential streets.

There are millions of tiny openings or pores in the skin and these must be kept open and clean if the beauty of the skin is to be maintained.

Because it cleanses these pores and encourages the healthful action of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment is most effective as a skin beautifier. Roughness, redness, pimples and all sorts of skin blemishes disappear by its use, and the skin is left clear, smooth and velvety.

A man on his way home noticed flames on the second floor of the four-story building and turned in the alarm. The firemen found the ceiling ablaze, but soon checked it. The booths were artistically decorated with flowers and Christmas decorations, and the room, thronged with shoppers who took advantage of the articles offered for sale, presented a brilliant scene.

The work-table which centered the room was decorated in the Colonial style, carrying out a color-scheme in green and white. This was convayed by Mrs. F. G. Turville, Mrs. R. A. Y. Stinchcombe and Mrs. Woodworth.

THIEVES RETURN CHURCH LANTERN

Officials of the First Congregational Church reported today that the balop-tion, a type of magic lantern, stolen from the church recently, had been left on the Sunday school doorstep Tuesday morning.

Because of the theft it was feared that the Sunday school children would be without lantern slides at their Christmas entertainment. Now, thanks to the newspapers, they say, the entire program planned will be carried out.

OTTAWA ADVISES COAL SUBSTITUTE

Committee Suggests Householders Secure 30 Per Cent Other Fuel.

The advisability of securing some form of coal substitute is revealed in a statement issued by the federal advisory fuel committee in Ottawa, Tuesday morning, in which they recommend that every householder should obtain a supply of coal substitute equal to at least 30 per cent of their usual coal order.

Local coal dealers today confirmed this report, in fact as a whole they seem to think that the committee has taken a conservative view of the situation, and that even more than 30 per cent replacement may be needed during the winter.

The public in the past has been a little shy of substitutes, in the opinion of some dealers, and there has been a difficulty in getting them to accept them, with the result that coal merchants have hesitated to load up with coke and lignite.

Marlborough, though he cared little about the right of attending the conference, was nettled when he was barred. He's now demanding that the church recognize him as a communicant.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

BY H. G. WELLS.

WHAT sort of life did these prehistoric Aryans lead... Nordic Aryans who were the chief ancestors of most Europeans and most white Americans and European colonists of today...

accidental burning of forests by fire may have assisted this development... We have already described the sort of home the primitive Aryan occupied and his household life...

Problems In History.

DO YOU KNOW—What great service the singing and dancing of antiquity did for mankind? DO YOU KNOW—What races of olden days He never let his singers and dancers lest they stray to other peoples?

oxen, using at first a suitably bent tree bough as his plow. His first cultivation before that came about must have been rather in the form of garden patches near the house buildings than of fields. Most of the land his tribe occupied was common land on which the cattle grazed together.

These Aryans were drawn by oxen. The early Aryans did not ride, or drive horses, they had very little to do with horses. The Reindeer men were a horse-people, but the Neolithic Aryans were a cow-people.

A Migratory People. They were migratory, but not in the strict sense of the word "nomadic." They moved in a slower, clumsier fashion than did the later, more specialized nomadic peoples.

families that were distinguished as leaders and nobles. The Aryan tribesman varied the monotony of his herding and wandering, he consecrated undertakings and celebrated triumphs held funeral assemblies, and distinguished the traditional seasons of the year, by feasts. His meats were pure, he abstained from wine; he was an eager user of intoxicating drinks.

TRIUMPHS OF M. JONQUELLE

BY MELVILLE DAVISSON POST.

THE GIRL IN THE PICTURE. I advanced to meet the man with a sense of victory. The Service de la Surete searched the world for him. He had been long concealed, but by sense of victory vanished when I saw him.

He leaned back in the chair, lifted his heavy face and laughed. "And so, Monsieur Jonquelle," he said, "you finally wormed it out of her."

He pointed to a chair a few feet beyond him across a table. "Sit down," he said. "I want to talk about her—that's the reason I want you to come. You thought you'd slough it out, eh? Not by a jugful. I sent her word to put you wise. I wanted to clear some things up before I cashed in. But it was a clear lie. What I wanted was somebody to listen while I talked about her. Sit down."

Tomorrow—What We Learn from Ancient Poems.

WOULD BAR AIRPLANES TO CURB RUN-RUNNING. New York, Nov. 28.—Prohibition enforcement officers here announced yesterday that plans were under way to ask the United States congress to pass laws restricting airplane flights from Canada.

A MEETING OF THE old members of the 29th, 35th and 38th Batteries was held in the Richmond Hotel on Monday night, when the following officers were elected: President, W. J. Friend; treasurer, W. J. Black; secretary, R. Faulkner.

Without making a sound he stole around that side of the pond. When he got there no one was to be seen in the water. Yowler crouched down and waited. Yowler is nothing if not patient. By and by he heard a little splash, and then he saw Paddy the Beaver swimming with a long stick. Softly, as silently as a shadow, Yowler followed along the shore. At last he came to the dam and saw Paddy place that stick in it.

Most of that night Yowler spent watching Paddy and Mrs. Paddy work. twice as many chances as he had had before. Most of that night Yowler spent in watching Mrs. Paddy work. Paddy did not let them know it. Not once did he show himself. Not once did he snap at or rustle his ears.

Eight years ago the D'ALLAIRD business was started in the basement of a small store on Laurier Avenue, Montreal. To-day we operate the large factory plant had by age for 7,000 or 8,000 retail stores from coast to coast.

He whipped a worn photograph out of his pocket and reached it across the table to me. It was the photograph of a girl with the face out. It had been taken from a painting, one could tell from the flat look, and the strange background of beauty and an indescribable charm in the pose of the girl remained even in the mutilated picture.

"I cut out the face," he added, "so she wouldn't come into the case if you caught me; your little Westridge must have been slaughtered at the loss of her."

He had gone to visit some rich Americans, and there was a rumor that some adventure had befallen him. Nothing definite ever came to me, and I liked the man too little to inquire into all the blood that the original Glasgow solicitor, as the British say, would "bite a shilling." But again I replied as though I were in his secret. "What happened to Westridge?" I said.

IT WAS THE PHOTOGRAPH OF A GIRL WITH THE FACE OUT. He had gone to visit some rich Americans, and there was a rumor that some adventure had befallen him.

Nothing definite ever came to me, and I liked the man too little to inquire into all the blood that the original Glasgow solicitor, as the British say, would "bite a shilling." But again I replied as though I were in his secret.

The man twisted around in his chair. "Friend," he said, "you've got a head full of brains or you wouldn't be chief of the criminal investigation department of the Service de la Surete, and the English would not have you over on this case. Now answer me one question: What's the biggest notion in the Christian Church?" "I don't know," I answered him truthfully.

"Well, I know," he went on. "It's the notion that you'll get what's a-comin' to you!" He looked at me with a big, cynical leer. "That's what happened to your little Westridge—and the next time you see him he's a-join' to get another job. He'd be a physical wreck, he'd be blind. He couldn't squeal, any place along the line, but I'll bet a finger he didn't let you forget about me."

"An' if the plague hadn't got me I'd 'a' saved her this trouble; I'd 'a' played ping-pong-rosy with you." He lifted himself in the chair with the strength of his hands on the broad arm-rests. And I realized more fully what a physical wreck he was. The lower part of his body was motionless. "I want to tell you about this thing," he said. "And then you can go ahead with your war."

"I fear," I replied, "that a somewhat higher authority has got in before your King's writ." He chuckled as though the deadly fact were a sort of pleasantry. "Sure," he said. "The Big Judge has beat you to it."

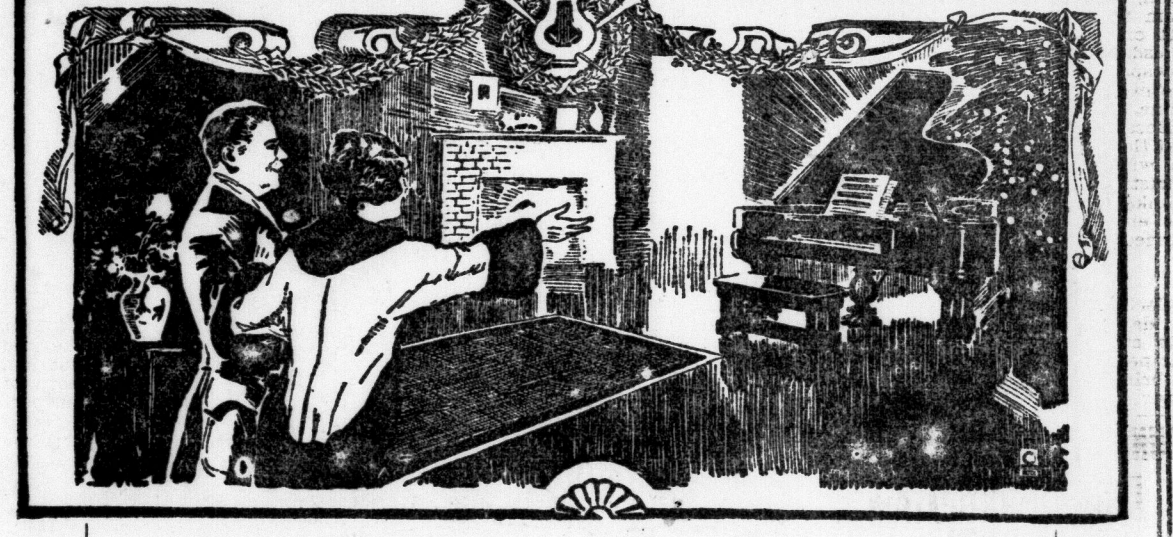

"I got some quiet clothes. I limped a little to show that I wasn't golfing, and I didn't talk. I just sat about with the New York Times and the Financial Register, and let the days pass. When there was doings in the hotel I was there in my all-right evening clothes, in a chair against the wall, and I limped along the sea-path in the afternoon for a little exercise. "I looked some bored to keep the proper form. But I wasn't bored; I was seeing something new, and I was getting more light on it all the time. "I was seeing the big bunch was living up to a standard that nearly all the people I'd ever seen were only pretending. That was the difference, I soon figured it out."

headed for hell. "I saw it all clean out to the end." He moved in the chair. "I used to sit about and look at her, and she made me cold all over. The devil was on the job right here, just as he was in the Tonderheim. He was working on a higher class line, but it was only a different sort of road to his same old hell. "It would be a heavenly angel of fluff to a wolf, no matter how you dressed the situation up; an' I said to myself, 'You can't beat him. The devil's got a set of traps for any kind of a layout!'" Another installment of this unusual mystery story will appear in our next issue.

Papers Laud Immigration Scheme Outlined by Government of Canada.
BY HENRY SOMERVILLE.
Cable to Advertiser—Copyright.
London, Nov. 28.—Emigration announcements met a good reception by the press here. Papers feature it with captions that Canada opens her gates. Officials of the C. P. R. told me that a big movement Canada-wards was expected in the spring; and if traffic was big enough third-class fares would be reduced.
Thousands of British agricultural workers are anxious to migrate if their passage is financed. Officers of the overseas settlement board told me that the Canadian scheme as it was cabled, looked very comprehensive, and was heartily welcomed, especially the part dealing with juvenile emigration.
The board has three million pounds annually to assist settlement schemes. Canada has so far failed to submit a scheme, therefore she has received no money. This is a pity, as the board has a balance at the end of each year which it cannot carry forward, but must return to the treasury. Australia has a scheme to assist passages by giving generally one-third of the fare, but sometimes loaning the fare in full.
The Salvation Army told me that many more children were available for emigration to Canada if their passage is financed. Fuller reports of Canadian government proposals are eagerly awaited.

ers were out on Saturday and shot a fox.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall of Fort Stanley spent a week with Mr. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall.
While driving on the lake shore road Mr. Payne's horse became frightened at an auto and ran away, throwing him out of the buggy and severely injuring him.

UNWEDDED MOTHER AND CHILD TO REMAIN IN U. S.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—The department of labor has decided to allow this country to be a haven for Miss Nancy Jordan, British girl, and her three-year-old son if a $500 bond is furnished to provide for the child's education.
The action overrules the recommendations of officials at Ellis Island, who would have deported the unwedded mother and her child back to England.
It is believed that assurances have been given the department that the bond will be furnished by Mrs. Frank Warren of Kansas City, divorced wife of a lawyer there, who met Miss Jordan overseas during the war.

Did you ever stop to think that it was not the receiving of gifts that makes us so happy on Christmas Day. The real joy comes from giving.
