The undersigned has the honor to forward to Your Excellency the accompanying Report relating to the Militia of the Dominion of Canada for 1872. which is respectfully submitted for your Excellency's consideration.

Acting Minister of Militia and Defence.

His Excellency

ANNUAL REPORT

ON THE

STATE OF THE MILITIA

FOR

1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to report, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, the Government, and the Dominion Parliament, on the state of the Militia for 1872, in the following order :—

ACTIVE MILITIA.

According to the Official Reports, made to the Adjutant General at Headquarters, by the responsible officers, it appears that 30,144 men, (including gazetted officers,) were actually present with their corps, at their muster parades, during the time of the Annual Drill last year. The above number (30,144 men) are all reported as being enrolled under the law, in various corps of the Active Militia.

In addition to this number of 30,144 men, 339 men attended the Infantry Schools of Instruction during the last year, a large proportion being officers and non-commissioned officers in Militia Corps, the remainder Candidates for Commissions.

It appears that several corps did not perform the Annual Drill of 1872-3 last year, including the Quebec Cavalry, and the 8th Battalion of Infantry. The officers commanding these two corps have applied for permission to perform the Annual Drill at their Regimental Headquarters, independently by corps, and been informed that they will be permitted to do so, provided their Drill is completed before the expiration of the present Military financial year, viz., on 30th June, proximo, on the completion of which, if satisfactory proof can be furnished to the Adjutant General that they have complied with the necessary public and military requirements, these corps would be entitled to receive pay out of the public fund voted annually by Parliament for Drill pay.

The Honorable

The Minister of Militia and Defence, &c., &c.,

The actual Force trained last year, (mainly in Camps of Exercise,) consisted of 1666 Cavalry, (being an increase of 447 men belonging to this arm, as compared with the numbers trained in the previous year,)—951 Field Artillerymen, with 46 Field Guns, being an increase of 208 men and 4 Field Guns, in this important arm of the service, as compared with the number trained in the previous year; 1697 Garrison Artillerymen, 106 Engineers, and 25,724 Infantry. The whole of the above Force, constituted a Canadian army of 30,144 men. This army is now organized by corps, companies, battalions, and batteries, into tactical Brigades of the three arms.—In nearly every instance each brigade forms a little army of itself, distributed according to Territorial Brigade Divisions, and the whole active Force rests upon a Reserve of, practically, almost the entire manhood of the Dominion, and upon a Reserve Organization, which has called forth the eulogy and approval of eminent European statesmen and soldiers.

During the past year, (for instructional purposes) 18 Camps of Exercise were formed, for 16 days' training, and 3 small Regimental Artillery Camps, for 8 days.

The total number of men who attended the Camps which were in operation for 16 days was 24,144, and the number who attended Camps for 8 days was only 171.

In the previous year (1871) 22,544 men attended Camps for 16 days, there has, therefore, been an increase of 1,600 men who attended such Camps during the past year as compared with the previous one.

One corps, the Montreal Field Battery, is reported to have drilled for only four days last year

678 Garrison Artillerymen performed their authorized Drill for the full period of 16 days in certain Forts and Batteries.

5,129 men performed the Annual Drill for the full period of 16 days Regimentally at local Head Quarters of Corps, which number included the whole of the Grand Trunk Brigade and certain other corps.

Considerable progress has been made during the past year in training the Active Militia of Canada, and providing the Force with a description of arms more suitable for Military purposes. The tactical mobility of the Force has been greatly increased. Most of the Cavalry, in addition to their Sabres, are now provided with Cavalry Snider Carbines, (the same description of fire-arms used in Her Majesty's Regular Cavalry.) Scientific instruction in Artillery exercises has been provided for, and the Field Artillery Batteries are now being armed, as fast as circumstances and the Parliamentary vote will permit, with the same description of Field Guns as those recently issued to the Horse Artillery of Her Majesty's Regular Army, in place of the old pattern Field Guns, now considered obsolete.

The Infantry are all armed with Snider Breech-loading Rifles, and use the same kind of ammunition as that used in Her Majesty's Regular Army—a matter of great military importance and expediency.

Although the Active Militia force of Canada trained last year did not much exceed, in numerical strength, that of an army of 30,000 men, its military power and strength, however, is now organized, as far as circumstances will admit, like the strength of an army ; the annual training of corps is no longer limited merely to Regimental Exercises, but the various corps of the different arms are trained, in addition, to military combination for mutual support, in tactical Brigades, and the whole Force performs, annually, a prescribed course of Rifle Instruction and Target practice.

The ease and celerity with which the Force can be assembled is now remarkable.

If an emergency should arise, and the public service required it, a signal flashed by telegraph would, at any moment, call to arms, and concentrate in a few hours, the whole, or any part of the whole available Force, in tactical Brigades, of the three arms, at any point within the limits of the respective Brigade Divisions, whether for the defence of the Frontier, or the preservation of internal law and order.

Those who have experience in military matters, and who may be responsible for the defence, and preservation of internal order, should an emergency arise, can best appreciate the value of this tactical Brigade organization, and the promptitude with which such Brigades can be brought to act.

I attribute the increased general efficiency of the Force to the practice of concentrating the various corps of the Active Militia in Brigade Camps of Exercise, for the performance of the Annual Drill, which has been carried on for the last three years, as far as circumstances allowed, with great success, and to the fact that the officers and men are then altogether withdrawn from civil avocations, and the time devoted, as it should be, entirely to Military duty ; I recommend that, in order to maintain such efficiency, this system be continued.

I have no confidence in the system which formerly prevailed of allowing Corps to perform their Annual Drill independently at local Head Quarters in Drill sheds, at any time of the year and in any manner they pleased ; the abuses which resulted from such a system were notorious.

Practical Rifle instruction and Target practise cannot be carried out at all in Drill sheds, and Skirmishing only very imperfectly taught, yet these are the most essential Military Exercises.

The Camp is a better School for a Soldier than the Barrack Square, and so long as the Annual Drill of the Militia is carried out in Camps of Exercise, the country may rely upon the Force being kept reasonably efficient.

It is not enough for officers and men to obtain some knowledge of Regimental Drill and Duties. Officers who are afforded an opportunity of learning only this part of their duties, can gain but little insight into the many other duties required of them, in the event of an emergency.

By the performance of the Annual Drill in Divisional or Brigade Camps of Exercise an insight into all duties required is obtained. The local Brigades, each with its proportion of Cavalry and Field Artillery, are practised periodically in concentrating with rapidity at the place of rendezvous, and the officers and men of corps, resident in the same Territorial Brigade Divisions, are annually accustomed to meet and work together, under their own responsible Staff officers, all annually practising, in their respective positions, a rehearsal, as far as possible, of the duties that would devolve upon them in the event of hostilities, or their action being required.

A prescribed course of Rifle instruction and Target practice—that first and most essential part of military instruction—can be regularly carried out, under proper supervision—this being a matter of the greatest importance, and one which, until Brigade Camps of Exercise were instituted, was, from force of circumstances, greatly neglected or confined mainly to the practice of a certain number of individual experts,—whilst, last but not least, of the many advantages resulting from the concentration of the Active Militia in “Camps of Exercise,” at the time of the Annual Drill, a complete stop can be put to any false musters of officers and men, which is an evil of great magnitude, and a shameful waste of public money.

The Brigades and Corps of Active Militia trained last year, presented as creditable an appearance on Parade as could be expected under the circumstances, and it is beyond doubt that, although as may be supposed there are yet many deficiencies in detail to provide for, the Active Militia Force of Canada, as a body, has made great strides, within the last three or four years, towards attaining a high degree of efficiency.

No doubt, still greater efficiency might be attained, did time and circumstances admit, by assembling corps, in the first instance, for a few days in Regimental Camps, at the Headquarters of Corps, previous to their joining the Brigade Camp. Such a course would, undoubtedly, afford Commanding Officers of Corps an opportunity of getting their Corps well in hand, previous to the general assembly, and other advantages might result, yet, as all Regimental Exercises can be carried on at the hours, and on the days set apart for such, equally well in Brigade, as in Regimental Camps, and many other exercises and duties of great importance, in addition, the place of assembly of Corps, at the time of Annual Drill, should be, as a rule, the Brigade Camp.

More time, more money, and more supervision is required to form two, than to form one instructional Camp; and, upon grounds of economy, general advantage and expediency, it is not advisable to do so. Under any circumstances, Corps should be annually concentrated by Brigades, if possible, for a portion of the time allowed for Annual Drill, at a suitable place of assembly, where a Rifle Range is available for the performance of the Annual Course of Rifle and Target practice, as that is the first most essential military exercise the men should learn, and Rifle ranges are not available at the local Headquarters of every Battalion and Corps.

Every credit is due to the officers and men of the Active Militia who were present with their Corps, in Camp at the Annual Drill last year, for their patriotic services, and for the zealous and intelligent manner in which they applied themselves to acquiring a knowledge of their Drill and Duties.

Although very many men were either absent, or wanted to complete the numerical strength of particular corps at the time of the Annual Drill last year, some corps were complete, and others very nearly so.

One entire Brigade, viz., the Grand Trunk Railway Brigade, numbering 2,326 (all ranks) are reported to have performed the Annual Drill of 1872-73 last year for the full period allowed, and many other drills and duties, such as Guards of Honor, and in aid of the civil power, in addition.

The whole of the men composing this fine Brigade, which is one of the most efficient in the Dominion, have recently enrolled "en masse" to serve in the Active Militia for a further period of three years, a proceeding which reflects much honor on the Brigade, and is mainly due to the excellent and patriotic arrangements of Lieut. Colonel C. J. Brydges, the commandant.

I consider the organization of the Grand Trunk Brigade to be a source of great internal strength and security to the country, for the men are at all times immediately available in support of law and order.

The numbers of officers and men present at the time of the annual Drill last year in each particular Corps, in the respective Military District, will be found in the Annual Inspection Return of Corps, (see Appendix), and in the Reports of the Deputy Adjutant's General Commanding the Militia in Military Districts, embodied in this Report.

Many men it is reported belonging especially to City Corps frequently find it inconvenient or too great a sacrifice to leave their civil avocations even for 16 days to go to Camp with their Corps, for the Annual Drill; such men should not voluntarily enrol themselves in any Corps of Active Militia, unless prepared to fulfill the Military obligations required.

It is reported that many men who like Military Exercises, are practically prevented from joining Corps of Active Militia by their Civil Employers, who from selfish motives of a pecuniary nature it is said, even threaten to discharge their employes should they enrol themselves in a Corps of Active Militia.

It might perhaps be well if such Employers of labor would bear in mind, that a recourse to the ballot might affect them personally.

Although certain particular corps were deficient in numerical strength at the time of the Annual Drill last year, and the total force regularly trained did not exceed 30,144 men, (exclusive of Military School Cadets), it must not be supposed, that this number included the whole available force desirous of being trained.

Many more Corps of Cavalry and Infantry, (already gazetted), would have gladly turned out for the annual training last year, and joined the Brigade Camps of exercise, had the means of doing so been afforded them, but the present limited extent of the parliamentary votes for drill pay and military equipment, did not admit of training the whole available force that came forward last year.

Frequent applications are made from year to year from all parts of the Dominion, to raise Corps of Volunteer Militia for the defence of the Country, and although owing to the fluctuating movement of the population, and the mode of recruitment, it is difficult for the Captains of Companies and Corps, to maintain the numerical strength of existing corps continuously, it by no means follows that a very much larger number of men than is authorised to be trained annually, are not ready to turn out voluntarily if required.

No sooner does one Corps collapse, then another is ready to spring up in the same, or some other locality.

I believe that the full quota of men authorised to be trained annually for the whole Dominion, viz., 40,000, would readily turn out voluntarily to do so, if the Force is properly encouraged by the country, furnished with necessary equipment, and Parliament votes sufficient Drill pay.

The fact that year after year more than 30,000 Canadians annually turn out for sixteen days to train for the defence of the Territories of their Queen, and for the preservation of internal order, for 50 cents a day, when more than twice that amount can be earned in the civil labor market, affords the most conclusive and gratifying proof of the spirit and determination of the men of Canada.

I believe that the Militia of Canada will at all times be ready to do their duty to the best of their ability in the future, as they have done in the past.

On this point I may perhaps be permitted to bear testimony and speak with some authority, having an intimate knowledge of the Force, and commanded it for the last four years, inspecting Corps repeatedly in every Military District, and having travelled through Canadian Territory, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast.

In time of danger the ranks of the Militia of Canada have always been filled with men, but untrained men and undisciplined valour does not constitute Military strength or national security; I would therefore as the Officer responsible for the Military command and training of the Militia, beg to point out the advantage and propriety from a Military point of view, of obtaining such a Parliamentary vote as will admit of training annually and providing with proper equipment not merely a portion, but the whole of the authorized quota for the full period allowed by law.

Experience proves that to maintain the Militia of Canada based on its present organization of 40,000 men for the whole Dominion training that number for 16 days, providing for the acquisition and maintenance of the necessary reserves of arms, ammunition, clothing, equipment, military stores, &c., and for the establishment of suitable Military Schools, a total vote of $1,500,000 would be required annually. Considering the great extent and recent immense territorial development of the Dominion of Canada, I do not believe that any Military man of experience acquainted with the country and its military wants, would be prepared to say that to train any less number of men for the whole Dominion than 40,000 for 16 days would provide for an adequate and reasonable organization. Although happily there seems every prospect at present that the peace of the world may not be disturbed, yet with the acquisition of the great North West come new responsibilities, new and unforeseen military demands may therefore have to be met, and at all times the Force should be made as efficient as possible, and held available to turn out at short notice in support of internal law and order.

Reduced Militia estimates means reduced Militia efficiency, and power of defence; but should it be determined at any time to reduce the estimates, it would be well to bear in mind that this can be done with least detriment to the public service, from a military point of view, not by reducing the number of men authorized to be trained annually in the whole Dominion, but by training the full number of men allowed for a somewhat shorter period of time.

Although a system of voluntary Recruitment is certainly not the most, reliable or equitable mode of forming a national defensive Army, or obtaining men for the performance of such a public duty, nor is it the mode most approved of by the majority of the officers and men actually belonging to the Force, still if it be the desire of the people of Canada to continue that unsatisfactory mode of Recruitment, it should be borne in mind that it will be necessary for the country and Parliament to give every encouragement to the Active Militia and deal liberally with it, and thus enable the captains of companies and corps to compete in the labour market for men, on more favourable terms, as it is through their instrumentality entirely that under the voluntary system men are obtained.

It may be more difficult to obtain the full number of men by voluntary enrolment in some Districts than in others, but provided the Force is treated liberally and properly equipped, I have no doubt but that even the full quota of men authorised to train annually for the whole Dominion, may come forward voluntarily.

Many officers commanding the Militia, in Military Districts, especially the officer commanding the Militia in Military District No. 6 (a District chiefly occupied by French Speaking Canadians) seem to consider the application of the ballot as necessary to obtain the quota required and fill up the ranks of Existing Corps, other Commanding Officers in Districts occupied both by English and French speaking Canadians are much of the same opinion. No doubt these officers are quite right from a military point of view and show that they have studied the science of military organization when they report in favour of a system of compulsory service for a military Force intended purely or purposes of national defence, as compared with a voluntary and consequently uncertain mode of recruitment, but still I think that with due encouragement, and by the appointment of proper officers, the quota of men required from French speaking Districts may be obtained voluntarily, although existing corps may from time to time collapse.

French speaking Canadians are certainly as patriotic and as much attached to their country as any other people, indeed from length of settlement they are true Canadians "par excellence."

For the last two years a very great number of French speaking Canadians have come forward with their respective corps at the time of the annual drill and joined the Brigade Camps of Exercise. I saw no corps of militia in the Dominion more efficient as regards the training and discipline of the officers and men in any of the camps of last year than the Quebec Field Battery, and the La Beauce Field Battery of Artillery. These corps are composed entirely of French Speaking Canadians. Very many men in these Batteries have passed through the School of Gunnery, (B. Battery) and are well versed in a knowledge of their duties.

Lieut. Colonel T. B. Strange, Commandant of the Quebec Gunnery School, who is a distinguished soldier and Artillerist from the Royal Artillery, at present loaned by the Imperial to the Dominion Government, and who was for five years Superintendent and Gunnery Instructor at the Royal Military Repository Woolwich, assures me that the French speaking Canadian Officers and men, who have attended that school, display great aptitude in acquiring a knowledge of Artillery, and have many excellent military qualities. The best shot with the Snider Rifle in the Militia of the whole Dominion last year at the time of the Annual Drill, was a French speaking Canadian from the Province of Quebec.

I have a high opinion of the military qualities of French speaking Canadians, descendants of those bold and hardy Normans who first discovered, the St. Lawrence under the intrepid Cartier, and then peopled the country of their adoption, and who were the first to penetrate the dense forests and pathless prairies of the North American Continent, exploring even to the recesses of the Rocky Mountains.

I have seen the descendants of these men in the camps of Lower Canada, on the trackless prairie, and in the Rocky Mountains. In point of natural intelligence, hardihood, endurance of fatigue, readiness of resource, and cheerfulness of spirit under difficulties, they have no superiors; masters in the art of travel, of camp and prairie life, they are equally courageous and at home in the frail canoe amid the foaming rapids of American Rivers, or in the saddle on the boundless prairies of the North West.

Hardihood and the power of endurance to withstand fatigue amid privations are the most essential qualities for a soldier; discipline and training does the rest.

THE RIFLE INSTRUCTION AND TARGET PRACTICE OF THE ACTIVE MILITIA FOR 1872.

The prescribed course of Rifle Instruction and annual Target Practice has been much better carried out at the various Camps of Exercise during the past than in the previous year. Nearly the whole Force has been exercised in this most essential part of military training, and the general efficiency thereby greatly increased.

The introduction of the system of Government prizes to the best shots in every Battalion, Company, Corps and Military District has produced the most beneficial results, and tended more than anything else to promote the military efficiency of the Infantry.

I recommend that an additional Government prize of $15 with a badge be given to the best shot in every Brigade, and that the prize given by the Government for the last two years to the best shot in every Military District be increased from $15 to $20.

The Annual Target Practice Returns of the Active Militia of the Dominion will be found in the appendix. This Return, which is very complete, has been carefully compiled, and not only contains the names and scores of the best shots in every Company, Corps and Battalion, but also shows the average shooting figure of merit by Corps, Companies, Battalions, Districts and Provinces.

The Kamouraska Battalion, figure of merit 5.23, was the best shooting Battalion. Gaspé Basin Infantry Company, figure of merit 12.18, was the best shooting Company and Sergeant-Major Le Monde, No. 1 Company, Baie St. Paul, Charlevoix Battalion, with a score of 57, was the best shot in Military District No. 7, at the Annual Drill of 1872-73.

The 73rd Battalion figure of merit 17.05, was the best shooting Battalion, No. 2 Company, 62nd Battalion, figure of merit 22.00, was the best shooting Company, and Private C. J. Phillips, No. 6 Company, 62nd Battalion, with a score of 49, was the best shot in Military District No. 8 at the Annual Drill of 1872-73.

The Cumberland Provisional Battalion, figure of merit 19.53, was the best shooting Battalion, No. 3 Company, Cumberland Provisional Battalion, figure of merit 28.88, was the best shooting Company, and Sergeant G. Corbin, No. 1 Company, 63rd Battalion, with a score of 50 was the best shot in Military District No. 9 at the Annual Drill of 1872-73.

The 3rd Battalion, G. T. R. B. figure of merit 20.07, was the best shooting Battalion. No. 4 Company, Richmond, 1st Battalion G. T. R. B., figure of merit, 33.67, was the best shooting Company, and Private Beasley, 3rd Battalion, with a score of 50 (3rd Battalion G. T. R. B.) was the best shot in the Grand Trunk Railway Brigade at the Annual Drill of 1872-73.

The Province of Nova Scotia, figure of merit 12.88, was the best shooting Province. Military District No. 4, figure of merit 13.12, the best shooting District; the 3rd Battalion, G. T. R. B., figure of merit, 20.07, the best shooting Battalion. No. 4 Company (Richmond, P. Q.) Grand Trunk Railway Brigade, figure of merit, 33.67, the best shooting Company ; and Sergeant-Major J. Lemonde, No. 1 Company, Charlevoix Provisional Battalion, in Military District No. 7, who obtained 57 points out of a possible score of 60, making at 200 yards 20 points, at 400 yards 19 points, and at 600 yards 18 points, was the best shot in the Active Militia of the Dominion, at the Annual Drill of 1872.

Sergeant Major Lemonde thus winning in addition to the Company, Battalion and Military District Prizes, the Adjutant-General's Prize of a Silver Medal with $50, awarded annually by the Adjutant-General with a view to promote efficiency and skill at arms to the best shot among the non-commissioned officers and men in the Militia of the Dominion at the time of the annual training.

The Reports of Major G. H. Dartnell, Military District No. 2, and Major Vance Gravely, 40th Battalion, the Officers who acted as Musketry Instructors to the Corps assembled in the camps near Niagara and Kingston respectively, will be found in the Appendix, and these Officers discharged their important duties with much zeal and assiduity. The officers who acted as Musketry Instructors at the other Camps were equally attentive. No casualty, or accident is reported to have occurred last year to any men whilst at target practice in the various camps of exercise, and the firing regulations contained in the General Orders of 31st May last, carefully framed to prevent carelessness, and guard the men from accident, were found complete.

During the past year a proposal was made to the Government by Lieut.-Colonel Casimir Stanislas Gzowski, President of the Dominion Rifle Association, (an officer who has rendered good public services by promoting the formation and success of Rifle Associations in Canada) to obtain Government aid and support in sending a body of Canadian representative marksmen belonging to Corps of the Active Militia to compete at Wimbledon, England, against the marksmen of the mother country.

This proposal met with approval, and I received instructions from the Government to organize and despatch the party as an accredited Military body.

The reception and welcome given to this Canadian Detachment by our fellow countrymen in the mother country was most gratifying.

All ranks and classes vied to do them honor.

On arrival at Wimbledon the Canadian camp was formed and the tents pitched by a detachment of Her Majesty's Foot Guards.

From the hands of Royalty the Canadian victors received their prizes, and the Premier Minister of England was among the first to congratulate them on their success.

The individual and collective efficiency of the Canadian Detachment was the theme of universal admiration. Eight Canadian marksmen out of the Detachment competed for the Rajah of Kolapore's prize against the eight best marksmen of the mother country, brought forward for the trial, and obtained a victory.

The prize given by the Secretary of State for War, was gained by Sergeant Turnbull of the Grand Trunk Rifles, and it is reported that the Canadian Detachment, as a body, exhibited a skill in rifle shooting never before displayed at Wimbledon.

It is beyond doubt that an excellent effect would be produced by the annual despatch of a Canadian Detachment to compete at Wimbledon, irrespective of the stimulus thereby given towards promoting the efficiency of the Militia.

The good conduct and discipline observed by the Canadian Detachment at Wimbledon last year reflected as much honor on their country, as the skill at arms, displayed by them.

The officer directed to proceed in charge of the party, Major P. W. Worsley, Brigade-Major of the Grand Trunk Brigade, discharged his duty with tact and ability, and the instructions issued for his guidance were found complete.

The Report of Major P. W. Worsley contains an interesting and detailed account of the whole proceedings, with the list of prizes won, and the names of the winners, and as the subject is one of great interest to the militia and people of Canada, it is published in the Appendix for general information.

The skilful shooting of the eight Canadians who won the Rajah of Kolapore's prize was almost unexampled, and to commemorate this, eight gold medals have been recently ordered by the Dominion Government for presentation to the successful winners.

The total cost connected with the performance of this service including all incidental expenses incurred previous to the departure of the party from Canada, and subsequent to their return home amounted to $5,250, and probably no sum of money connected with militia expenditure was ever laid out to more advantage.

The sum of $5,000 was contributed out of the public funds to aid the Dominion Rifle Association in carrying out this laudable object, and the balance $250, was subscribed by the Dominion Rifle Association.

ARTILLERY.

The Regimental Command and Annual training of Artillery Corps in the Province of Ontario is under Lieut. Colonel G. French, the Senior Inspector of Artillery and Warlike Stores for the Dominion.

The Regimental Command and annual training of Artillery Corps in the Province of Quebec is under Lieut. Colonel T. B. Strange, an Inspector of Artillery and Warlike Stores for the Dominion.

The Regimental annual training of Artillery Corps in the Province of New Brunswick for last year, was superintended by Lieut. Colonel Darel R. Iago, A. A. G. A.

In the Province of Nova Scotia the officer commanding the Militia in that Province reports that 12 Batteries of Garrison Artillery performed their gun practice from a Battery belonging to the Imperial Artillery kindly placed at their disposal by Lieut. General Sir Hastings Doyle K. C. M. G., Commanding Her Majesty's Regular Army in British North America, and the practice made by the Halifax Battery, with their Six Pounder Armstrong guns at 1,800 yards range, as well as the efficiency of the Corps appears to have been considered satisfactory by Colonel Gibbon, C. B., Commanding the Imperial Artillery at Halifax.

In addition to reporting on the State of the Artillery in the Province of Ontario I directed Lieut. Colonel G. French as the Senior Artillery Inspector in the Militia of the Dominion, to report generally, for my information, on Artillery matters connected with the Provinces of New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia.

Lieutenant Colonel French reports for my information as follows :

FIELD ARTILLERY, ONTARIO.

“ The force of this arm in this Province is 9 batteries.

“ The Durham and Ganauoque Batteries have only recently been raised ; they performed their drill at the School of Gunnery, Kingston, this year, not having as yet received any equipment.

“ The other batteries performed their drill in camp, with the infantry and cavalry of their districts. They were all inspected by me, and the particulars connected therewith will be found in the annexed Inspection Report.

“ In addition to the above field batteries, the St Catharines Garrison Battery has received two 18-pounder guns of position, which I understand the captain will be able to find horses for. Two such guns on the Niagara Frontier properly horsed form a valuable addition to the defensive force of the Province.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

“ There is only one battery in this Province, viz., at Newcastle. It had not turned out for annual training at the time I inspected the New Brunswick Garrison Artillery in August.

“ I am informed that another field battery is about to be raised at Woodstock. This town being situated in the centre of a fine farming country, good horses will doubtless be available for the battery ; the situation also is far preferable to Newcastle, the latter being much further from the frontier.

NOVA SCOTIA.

“ The only approach to a field battery in this Province is the 6-pounder Armstrong Battery, reported on fully last year. I did not see the battery this year, but Colonel Gibbon, C.B., commanding the Imperial Artillery in British North America, informed me that he inspected the battery at practice,—that he thought the shooting excellent, and that he was quite surprised at the ready manner in which all his questions were answered by the officers. Such an encomium from so high an authority is a sufficient proof of the efficiency of this battery as at present organized.

“ During the past year fourteen 9-pounder muzzle-loading rifled guns have been purchased. One complete battery was given to the London Field Battery, and this corps took them to camp at Windsor in June last.

“ I pointed out last year the fact that our field batteries, although equipped with only four guns each, have to learn their field drill from a book which treats only of drill for a six-gun battery ; taking this into account with the additional fact that the new guns being fitted with axletree seats, a change in the drill must necessarily ensue. I have resolved, should time and circumstances permit, to draw up, and submit for your approval, a small manual of field artillery exercises suitable for our batteries.

“ The appointment of a Major to each field battery as recommended in your two last reports will, I trust, be adopted before the next annual training. This change has been carried out in the Imperial Artillery, and with us there is the additional reason, that at present our officers are debarred from promotion beyond the regimental rank of Captain.

The increase of the total establishment to 100 is also urgently required.

London Field Battery,....	3	72	59	This fine battery was equipped with the 9-pounder muzzle-loading rifled guns. I was present in camp on the day the Division was inspected by the Adjutant General. The battery was well horsed, and appeared quite up to the high standard it has maintained for years.
Wellington Field Battery..	5	74	59	A newly-formed battery equipped with half old and half new harness. This battery presented a most creditable appearance, and from the zeal shown by the officers and non-commissioned officers (twelve of whom have passed through the School of Gunnery), I feel sure that this battery will, before long, be one of the most efficient in the Dominion.
Toronto Field Battery... }	5	81	63	These three batteries were in camp at Niagara. I was present in camp with them for eight days. I sent a Field Artillery Sergeant, Instructor from the School of Gunnery, to assist in teaching riding and driving drill, &c. There were a good many recruits in these batteries who had to be taught the elements of drill. The gun drill and practice was very good; the driving fair. Field manoeuvres creditably performed by the officers, Captains Gray and Smith being especially well up in their duties. Some of the harness is in a very bad state, particularly in the Welland Battery. A small prize which I offered for the cleanest double set of harness, was won by a driver of the Hamilton Battery. Lithographs of wheel and lead harness. I presented to Lieut. Denison, of the Toronto Battery, for having the cleanest sub-division. At the conclusion of the training the harness was generally in fair order. These batteries were very well horsed.
Hamilton do ... }	4	78	50
Welland Canal do }	4	69	60
Kingston Field Battery...	5	50	62	In camp at Kingston. I was present for two days. Gun drill good—driving fair; but much time lost in limbering up or changing position. The iron work of the harness had been japanned, and presented a very ugly appearance, most of the japanning being worn off.
Durham Field Battery	5	46	12	This battery has only recently been formed, and has received no equipment. It was attached to the School of Gunnery, Kingston, for drill. Instruction in gun drill, riding and driving, was carried on as well as the limited circumstances of the School of Gunnery would admit.
Ottawa Field Battery	3	60	52	In camp at Prescott. I was present for two days. Gun drill very good; manoeuvring very good; driving excellent. I believe several of the drivers have been in the battery for 15 or 16 years. The harness was in better order than in any battery I have seen in Ontario. The horses are mostly good.
Gananoque Field Battery ..	3	28	Gazetted recently; has received no equipment; was attached to the School of Gunnery and instructed in field gun drill, and practised with the 9-pounder smooth-bore gun.

GARRISON ARTILLERY.

The following is the strength of this arm of the service :—

Of the batteries in Ontario ten performed their drill at Kingston, one at Toronto two at their own headquarters, viz., the Sarnia and Goderich Batteries.

Nearly half the men who came to Kingston were recruits.

Sarnia.....	2	40
Goderich.....	2	30	These batteries performed their annual drill at their respective Head Quarters. The Goderich Battery remained out only eight days. I sent a Sergeant Instructor to each battery, and made arrangements for the inspection of the Sarnia Battery by myself, and the Goderich Battery by Major Irwin; but I had to counter order this, as the Deputy Adjutant General of the District informed me that the batteries would only remain out eight days; the Sarnia Battery, however, remained out for sixteen days, but I was not informed of this in time to admit of my inspecting it. The strength of the batteries in the 1st Military District are approximate.
Toronto.....	2	25	Performed their annual training at the Old Fort, Toronto. This is a very fine battery; men young and intelligent; officers and non-commissioned officers well able to instruct at drill.
St. Catharines....	3	39	This battery came to Kingston in the Gunboat Rescue , for Annual training, and returned in the Gunboat, taking with them two 18-pounder guns of position, with their carriages, limbers, &c. While at Kingston they drilled and practised with the 18-pounders, taking them across rough ground with the horses of the School of Gunnery, &c. &c. The officers are zealous; the captain is well up in his work, having been at the School of Gunnery for the long course. This battery is now virtually a "demi battery of position." I would suggest that the captain be authorized to enrol sufficient men and horses to complete his command to a "battery of position." There is a battery and a half of guns available at Kingston.
Collingwood.....	2	28	This battery drilled at Kingston. All ranks appeared desirous of learning as much as possible during their stay, and their progress in drill was in consequence most marked. Their appearance on parade on the day of departure was really excellent.
Port Hope.....	1	24	This was the only battery of the four in the 3rd Military District, that came to Kingston for drill. I was not very favorably impressed with this battery. Less than half of the battery were present.
Ottawa Brigade of Garrison Artillery, 7 Batteries....	27	268	Nos. 3 and 5 came to Kingston in June; the other five batteries in July. There are many good officers and non-commissioned officers in this brigade. Captain Cumming's battery were a particularly fine lot of men. The officers of the Ottawa Brigade Garrison Artillery were formed into a squad and put through a course of drill and practice by themselves; they also attended a few lectures on ammunition, &c. A large number of recruits were in the ranks, these men were drawn together from the different batteries and put through a course of marching, rifle, and elementary gun drill. Good progress was made by all ranks.

FORTIFICATIONS.

I have but little to add this year to what I reported last year respecting the fortifications.

“At Kingston the fortifications being mainly of stone, a large amount of pointing, &c., is annually required; but nothing has been done since the summer of 1870, and probably not for some time previous thereto.”

“At St. John, N. B., the two new works on which it was proposed to mount heavy rifled guns, remain in the same unfinished state as when visited by you in July, 1871. It would appear advisable to use every endeavour to have those works completed and armed as soon as possible; for as the works are at present, it would take some months to complete and arm them, though every exertion might be made; in the meantime, the shipping and city might be burned by any enemy's vessel, in the event of hostilities, as the old cast-iron guns remaining on the works are no protection against modern vessels, and the British fleet would probably have sufficient work to do without detaching vessels to defend a city which ought to be able to defend itself.”

“While at Halifax this summer, by the kindness of the officer commanding the Imperial Artillery, I was permitted to visit the new works erected there. They are without doubt the most complete and formidable works on this continent. Some of the forts have shields of iron 15 inches thick in front of the guns; these latter are 7-ton, 12-ton and 18 ton rifled guns, throwing shell of 115, 250 and 400 lbs. respectively. Some 25-ton guns, throwing 600 lb. shells. are yet to be mounted; but, even without them, it would be utterly impossible for the strongest iron-clads of any navy in the world to approach within range of the City of Halifax. I mention these matters, as I conclude they will interest you, and also that you will be the more able to see the necessity of further and more extended instruction for the 15 Batteries of Militia Artillery in the vicinity of Halifax, who, in the event of war, would be largely employed in the above works.

WARLIKE STORES.

I have made only a partial inspection of Warlike Stores, not having been called upon to make any general inspection.

TORONTO.

“Toronto Field Battery.—Stores generally in good order; some of the carriages had not been properly cleaned.”

“Store Department.—Armament stores generally required cleaning; 8-inch shells covered with mud and rust. 8-inch guns required lacquering, carriages painting and puttying; several lynch-pins and drag-washers deficient.”

“Percussion caps in main magazine, with the gunpowder and filled cartridges. As this was strictly contrary to the regulations for magazines, I ordered their removal forthwith.”

"The armament stores have since been taken over from the Store Department, and are now in charge of the Detachment of "A" Battery. The men have been employed in putting the stores in proper order, lacquering the guns, shot and shells, and painting and puttying the carriages."

HAMILTON.

"Hamilton Field Battery.—Howitzer dirty in bore ; saddlery badly moth-eaten."

"This battery has in its store one extra small-arm ammunition waggon, one small-arm ammunition cart and 80 Enfield rifles in cases. All the above should be returned into store, as they are surplus to the equipment of the battery."

ST. JOHN, N. B.

"Dorchester Battery.—32-pr. common shells without plugs ; side-arm shed lets the water in through the roof ; 8-inch gun bore rusty ; two 24-pr. guns not sighted."

"Mortar Battery.—Grummet wads require cutting ; shed for small stores requires shingling ; 8-inch gun rusty in bore ; 8-inch (53 cwt.) so rusted in bore as to be unserviceable ; 8-inch mortar full of water ; 8-inch gun platform and carriage require repair."

"Grave-Yard Battery.—32-pr. shells and 8-inch shells require lacquering."

"Partridge Island.—Stores in very good order."

New Brunswick Garrison Artillery. Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 10, and detachments of Nos. 5 and 7 Batteries.. 21 272

NEW BRUNSWICK.

This force was encamped inside the barrack square at St. John, and carried on a regular course of drill and practice, under the supervision of Lt.-Col. Jago. I was present in camp for three days, during which time I had, however, to visit the Forts and inspect the stores. For several years the New Brunswick Artillery has carried on a systematic course of artillery drill and practice, the batteries competing for substantial prizes, by firing a certain number of rounds from the guns mounted on the works, the marks for each shot being similar to those laid down by the National Artillery Association of England. This causes great emulation amongst the men, and has the effect of inducing them to pay particular attention to gun drill, proficiency at which (instead of rifle or battalion drill) has been the distinguishing feature of the New Brunswick Garrison Artillery, as pointed out in my report of last year. Where all did well, it may appear invidious to draw particular attention to any; but the manner in which a detachment of No. 7 Battery handled their 32-pounder in one of the competitions, reminded me more of Shoeburyness than anything I have seen since I left that justly celebrated School of Gunnery.

To Lt.-Col. Jago no small amount of credit is due for the state of efficiency to which he has brought these batteries; and the manner in which he has been assisted and backed up by the Deputy Adjutant General of the District, shews that the latter officer does not imagine that because this special arm of his force requires a special inspector, he need therefore take no interest in it. I hope this feeling will become more general. The armament and stores in the Forts around St. John require a small permanent force to protect and look after them. This force might be organized as a School of Gunnery, somewhat similar to the School of Gunnery at Kingston or Quebec. From the state in which I found the guns, &c., I should say that such a force was an absolute necessity.

NOVA SCOTIA.

1st Brigade Garrison Artillery 23 288 }
2nd do do 23 263 }

I saw detachments from the different batteries of these brigades at drill in the drill shed; they appeared to be an intelligent lot of men, of good physique. Having only seen a part of the force, I cannot make any general statement regarding their drill. One battery carried on practice in Halifax Harbour, while I was there; some of the men did not appear to be well up in their duties. Some steps ought, I think, to be taken at once to establish a School of Gunnery here. Heavy rifled guns are for the most part mounted on the works, yet fifteen Batteries of Militia Artillery, who would have to assist largely in manning them, are kept steadily drilling at the old 32-pounder, never drilling or practising with any others. A reference to my report on fortifications will shew the necessity for a change of system when dealing with the Halifax Batteries.

Lieut.-Colonel T. B. Strange, Inspector of Artillery, reports on the Artillery in the Province of Quebec for my information as follows :

FIELD ARTILLERY.

This force consists of four Field Batteries :

“ 1st. One at Quebec ;

“ 2nd. One at Montreal :

Each armed with four pieces (three 9-pounder and one 24-pounder howitzer.)

“ 3rd. The La Beauce Mountain Battery, armed with four 7-pounder muzzle-loading rifle guns. Two of these guns, however, with their proportions of ammunition and equipment, were lately sent to Manitoba for service, with a detachment of one officer and non-Commissioned Officers and men, from “B” Battery School of Gunnery.”

“ 4th. The Shefford Field Battery, which has been lately formed, but not yet supplied with guns and equipment.

CAMP LEVIS.

“ On the 26th June, 1872, the Quebec Field Battery crossed the St. Lawrence and came into camp, under the command of Major Baby.”

“ The La Beauce Battery of Artillery came up with their horses, a distance of thirty miles, under command of Captain Duchesnay, and received their guns from the Citadel, Quebec. As there was no available saddlery in store for this battery, a proportion was kindly lent for the training by the commanding officer of the cavalry, the harness and pack-saddles for the mountain equipment having been sent home to England. Limbers were constructed for these guns, and harness was purchased by the officer commanding the battery, which enabled them to be brought into the field.”

“ Gun axle-seats, of the Royal Artillery pattern, were also, in accordance with your wishes, fixed on the carriages of the Quebec Field Battery. They were constructed by the ordnance armourer of “B” Battery, and gave tactical mobility to these guns, of which you were pleased to express your approval, as well as of the La Beauce equipment.”

“ For the first week, the captains commanding batteries were left to carry out gun and driving drill. Subsequently, these batteries were brigaded together, and worked in conjunction with the whole force, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Casault, C.M.G., Deputy Adjutant General, commanding in camp.”

“ You were pleased to express approval of the tactical action of the batteries, and the positions they took up when working with the other arms.”

“ The horses were serviceable animals, generally the property of the drivers. Gun and driving drill of this battery was good. The carriages and equipment were in excellent order, the harness well fitted. The horses were picketed and the stable duties carried out as nearly as possible in accordance with the system of the Royal Artillery. Sergeant T. Clifford, "B" Battery, was attached as Assistant Gunnery Instructor."

"The commanding officer, Major Baby, obtained a 1st class certificate in "B" Battery Gunnery School, and has shewn himself zealous and thoroughly competent to command a volunteer field battery."

"He reports very favourably of his senior subaltern, Lieutenant Crawford Lindsay. This officer has six years' service in the Field Battery."

"The conduct of the battery was very good. Twenty-three non-commissioned officers and gunners, who are under instructions in the Gunnery School, were attached as supernumeraries."

"The gun practice was carried out partly on the 18 mile march to Beaumont, where they were ordered into position, and, without notice or measurement of range, commenced practice, which was good, considering the conditions. The remainder of the practice was carried out at the Island of Orleans, guns and horses being ferried across. At the close of the camp, they recrossed the St. Lawrence without accident. I was agreeably surprised at the ease and rapidity with which this battery, on four occasions, embarked guns, horses and equipment."

"I recommend that this battery be armed with 9-pounder muzzle-loading rifle guns.

"The Beauce Battery are armed with light 7-pounder muzzle-loading rifle guns. The detachments were mounted as horse artillery. The horses, being the property of the gunners and drivers, were well cared for, and the conduct of the battery was very good."

"Both men and horses are light, active, and hardy. The men ride well, though not with the dragoon seat, and they picked up the drill very quickly under the instruction of their commanding officer, who, with the two lieutenants, the sergeant-major, four sergeants, and thirteen rank and file, have gone through a course in "B" Battery School of Gunnery."

"There was not time to instruct the remainder of the battery either in gunnery or ammunition. This being their first training, the whole sixteen days were occupied with drill; but when brigaded with the rest of the force, they shewed skill in getting rapidly into position over very difficult ground."

"The axle-trees being very short, the guns are in unstable equilibrium, but are very quickly righted when upset. Two only of the carriages were experimentally strengthened with iron at the close of the first Red River expedition: the unstrengthened carriages shewed cracks after firing five rounds. The practice was discontinued in consequence."

"The only percussion fuzes with this equipment are not suitable for it—the two serviceable carriages having been sent to Red River, last September. I recommend that this frontier battery be armed with the 9-pounder muzzle-loading rifle gun and equipment. The bad roads of La Beauce District would preclude the advantageous use of heavier guns than 8cwt., while the better roads about Quebec would permit of the utilization of a battery of four 24-pounder howitzers, collected from other smooth-bore batteries, and kept in reserve at Quebec. There being, according to the returns, 3,144 rounds of 24-pounder smooth-bore common and shrapnel shell in the reserve stores at Quebec, which would be an additional reason for this course, a failure of suitable ammunition need not therefore be apprehended."

"The Quebec and Beauce Batteries marched out nine miles to Beaumont, and returned the same day, subsequently crossing to Orleans Island for their gun practice."

"The dismounted portion of "B" Battery was under the command of Major Montzambert, who also acted as Adjutant to the artillery division. The main guard of the Artillery camp was taken by "B" Battery, who also acted as escorts to the field batteries when brigaded with the other troops."

"The only accident during the training occurred in the streets of Quebec. A horse of Major Baby's Battery had to be destroyed, getting a leg broken by a kick from the horse of Sergeant Assistant Instructor Clifford. A board of officers exonerated him and the driver from blame, and awarded compensation to the owner of the horse.

AT THE CAMP LA PRAIRIE.

"On the 2nd July, 1872, I inspected the Montreal Field Battery, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Stevenson."

"The physique of the men is good, as also their general intelligence; but the majority have served for a number of years and decline to re-enrol. The horses were much superior to those I saw on my last inspection, but are not the property of the drivers, except in a few cases, and Lieutenant-Colonel Stevenson finds it expensive and difficult to horse his Battery, which could only turn out for four days during the present training."

"He informs me that he holds a list of subscribers in Montreal for the purchase of horses for his battery, which he would hand over to Government, provided a Field Battery Branch School of Artillery was established at Montreal, which would train drivers for his battery, and horse it when required to turn out. I beg to submit the proposal for consideration."

"The harness and equipment were in very good order, and Lieut.-Colonel Stevenson handles his battery with skill and confidence. The drill was steady, but slow. In spite of the intelligence of non-commissioned officers and men, who are mostly mechanics of a superior class, their knowledge of ammunition and its application is defective, as is the case with all the field batteries I have inspected, except that of Captain Amyrauld."

"Sixteen days in the year being insufficient, under ordinary circumstances, to acquire or keep up a knowledge of artillery, I recommend thirty-two days—sixteen in camp and sixteen at headquarters—if funds are available to meet this expenditure."

"The field batteries appear mainly to depend upon the energy and skill of their commanding officers, and to a certain extent upon the amount of money they are willing to spend. I need not point out the inadvisability of depending on a system in which there is no chain of instructional responsibility. No officers, non-commissioned officers, or men of the Montreal Field Battery have attended the Gunnery School at Quebec, which the nature of their daily avocations, I am informed, renders impossible, nevertheless, it it is essential that a certain proportion of the officers and men of this battery should go through a short course. If this Battery is to be armed with modern weapons, as I recommend should be done, I think it would be well to utilize the 6-pounder gun-sleighs in store at Quebec, which could easily be converted to suit the new 9-pounder muzzle-loading rifle guns at trifling expense, there being a broad bearing for quoins instead of elevating screws.

SHEFFORD FIELD BATTERY.

“The Shefford Field Battery has lately been raised by Captain Amyrauld, who obtained a first-class certificate in “B” Battery School of Gunnery.”

“The whole of his officers, non-commissioned officers and men, on joining, were totally ignorant of artillery; yet he succeeded in imparting foot drill, standing gun drill, and a fair amount of gunnery, as well as good discipline, with the assistance of Captain Duchesnay and the non-commissioned officers of “B” Battery School of Gunnery detachment. This battery was accommodated in barracks at St. Helen’s Island. I inspected their rooms, and found them clean and in good order. The conduct of the men was very good, and their physique is fine.”

“They are mostly farmers from the frontier, owning horses, and admirably suited for field artillery. It is to be hoped they will soon receive an equipment of rifle guns, as it is most important that this and the La Beauce Battery be made efficient. They are both on the frontier, and composed of admirable material—the latter, French-speaking.”
—the former, an English-speaking agricultural class.”

“They remained the whole sixteen days at St. Helen’s, where they also carried out their field gun practice. Though it is their first training, it is highly creditable to them that they gained so much artillery knowledge in so short a time.”

“I think it advisable that the numerical strength of each field battery should be increased to one hundred rank and file and seventy horses, there being at present no margin for casualties, sick, lame, or galled horses. As there are no horse artillery in this country, I think that the greatest amount of mobility consistent with economy should be given to the field batteries, and recommend that two mounted gunners, with breast harness, exclusive of the mounted sergeant, should be given to each gun. They should not attempt to drill as horse artillery, with a separate mounted detachment, but ride in rear of the sergeant on the near side of the centre and wheel-driver respectively; the drivers holding their horses when the gunners dismount to work their guns, into which they could be hooked on emergency, with the breast harness they carry. This would give a powerful team of nine horses, three abreast, requiring no greater width of roadway than is at present necessary when the sergeant rides in line with the leading driver. I believe this system prevails in the Swedish artillery. It gives an effective detachment of seven, including four gunners on the limbers and gun axle-seats; thus bringing a minimum of men and horses under fire, and dispensing with superfluous horse-holders. The waggons, as is necessary in these days of improved weapons, being left well to the rear, or under cover, cannot be depended upon to bring up the gun detachments. The drill would also be much simplified. I would further suggest that, in all future demands breast harness should be asked for, for all lead horses, collars being retained only for the wheel; the reason being the extreme difficulty of fitting collars to the horses of volunteer field batteries, always liable to change, while breast harness will fit any horse. I would recommend the retention of collars for wheel horses, to give better support to the pole, which I consider more suitable to the small-sized Canadian horses, who are, moreover, accustomed to its use. The retention of a proportion of collars gives a facility for interchanging horses (when galled) to breast harness, and viceversa."

"Under any circumstances, I trust that in future demands for harness, the newest pattern, viz., that of a saddle on the off horse in lieu of a pad, be asked for, as it gives a facility for mounting gunners on the off horses when a rapid advance for a short distance is necessary."

"This was the system of the Bengal Horse Artillery, and saddles have been supplied to field batteries in the English service, with a view to their occasional use on emergency.

The Garrison Artillery of this Province consists of:—

- "1st. The Montreal Brigade, six batteries, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel McKay."
- "2nd. The Quebec Brigade, four batteries, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel T.H. Grant."
- "3rd. The St. John's Battery, commanded by Major Drumm."
- "4th. The Sherbrooke Battery, commanded by Captain Felton."
- "5th. The Grand Trunk Railway Brigade, six batteries."

MONTREAL GARRISON ARTILLERY.

"On the 9th August, 1872, I inspected the Montreal Brigade Garrison Artillery, at the Quebec Gate Barracks, which they occupied during the period of training. The men were clean and soldierlike, and went through gun and gyn drill with credit, considering that the attention of this brigade has been hitherto principally directed to infantry movements, and that they acted as such at the Trout River affair, under their present commanding officer."

"Their barrack rooms were clean, and arranged as in the Imperial service. Lieut.-Colonel McKay informs me that the discipline and conduct of the brigade was good, and speaks very favourably of the Adjutant, Captain Collins, who, with Lieutenant Short, acting as Gunnery Instructor, and Sergeant Clifford, "B" Battery, Assistant, carried out the training of this corps under his supervision."

"The brigade was furnished with the standing orders for the Royal Artillery, which were as far as practicable carried out. The whole of the batteries, except Captain Hall's, No. 5, carried out their gun and mortar practice at St. Helen's Island, the guns being examined, according to regulation, by Lieutenant Short, after every fifty rounds."

"Twenty non-commissioned officers and men of "B" battery, enrolled in the Montreal Garrison Artillery, joined it during the period of training; but I am of opinion that this dispersion of the men of "B" battery was, in this instance, prejudicial to discipline, there being no officers of the Montreal Brigade Garrison Artillery attached to the School of Gunnery that could be sent with them. A large proportion of the men of the brigade have completed their term of service, and decline to re enrol. I am of opinion that it is not advisable to attempt the training of garrison artillery during the short and busy summer season in the large shipping cities like Quebec and Montreal."

"Garrison artillery, you are aware, differs from all other arms in the wide range of information to be acquired, necessitating more or less application throughout the year."

"Intelligent mechanics, of good physique, are the best material for the rank and file of this service, restricting it to cities where alone it is required."

"Judging from the instruction of the volunteer artillery of Great Britain, I beg respectfully to state my opinion, that evening drills, especially during the winter season, together with a capitation grant for efficiency instead of daily pay, is the most suitable system for volunteer garrison artillery. But volunteers in Canada do not meet with the same encouragement from the employers of labour as in the old country."

"The excitement of threatened or actual invasion seems to be essential to the existence of volunteers in Canada; but it should be remembered that no amount of excitement will create artillery officers and non-commissioned officers."

"The Quebec Brigade, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel T. H. Grant, did not train last summer."

"The only portion of this corps which has finished its annual training is a detachment under Lieutenant F. Montizambert. It is composed of the employés of the Quarantine establishment, at Grosse Isle. With the exception of four men, too old for efficient service, they are physically fit, intelligent, and well trained, every man being enrolled in the militia for three years."

"On the 8th October, 1872, I inspected them in heavy marching order, company drill and arm drill. They were clean and soldierlike. I subsequently saw them at gun drill and gun practice. They worked the heavy guns with quickness, and fired with remarkable accuracy. Great credit is due to Lieutenant Montizambert, who carried out their whole training without assistance. He has gone through a short course of instruction at the Gunnery School, Quebec, and is a very promising officer. From the circumstance that the whole detachment are Government employés, and in a department of which he is the head, they have apparently a spirit and discipline very nearly approaching that of regular troops."

"I have no doubt that, next year, Lieutenant Montizambert, having completed his short course of training with "B" Battery, will raise their efficiency to a very high standard, especially if I am permitted to send to Grosse Isle a few stores for instructing in gun mounting, &c. They could be spared from those in my charge, and be taken down by the Government steamer next summer without expense."

ST. JOHN'S BATTERY VOLUNTEER GARRISON ARTILLERY.

"The St. John's Battery Volunteer Garrison Artillery, commanded by Major Drumm, was embodied at the Island of St. Helen's, where they went into camp."

"All enrolled for three years."

"The training of this battery was in every respect satisfactory, Lieutenant Short and his staff of sergeants acting as Gunnery Instructors. The energy and intelligence of officers, non-commissioned officers and men, produced more favourable results than I thought possible in so short a time. They were instructed in foot and arm drill, gun and mortar drill, dismounting ordnance with or without a gyn. They attended Lieut. Short's lectures on ammunition, getting some knowledge of sighting ordnance from the ordnance armourer. "B" Battery, who in their presence sighted the guns, with which they subsequently practised with good effect; also mortar practice. The physique and intelligence of the men was good, as their conduct was satisfactory."

"They would, I believe, do good service in case of need, by manning the fort at Isle aux Noix, which, if re-armed from guns in store, and a detachment from "B" Battery placed in charge, would be valuable for obvious reasons, besides being a good school of instruction for the St. John's Battery."

"From the pressure of my numerous duties connected with the Gunnery School, and the fact of artillery and engineer corps being simultaneously under training, I did not think it advisable to remain with any one corps during its whole period of drill; very much of the instruction, therefore, devolved upon Lieutenant Short, who was ably seconded by the officers of the St. John's Battery. With his detachment from "B" Battery, he performed for the Volunteer Artillery services hitherto rendered by the Royal Artillery, viz.: examining, sighting, and reporting on ordnance, making up ammunition, placing targets, &c."

"I beg strongly to recommend this officer to your notice, for his energy and ability in the performance of duties as a rule entrusted only to Gunnery Instructors and Inspectors of War Stores of the Royal Artillery."

SHERBROOKE BATTERY VOLUNTEER GARRISON ARTILLERY.

"The Sherbrooke Garrison Battery, ordered to the Citadel of Quebec, was not able to turn out. I beg to submit for consideration whether it would not be advisable to change this corps into a field battery, which would be invaluable on the frontier, while the existence of a garrison battery, without works or guns, is somewhat of an anomaly. Lieut.-Colonel King, Brigade Major of the District, is favourable to this change, and informed me that Captain Felton, the present commanding officer of this battery, wishes to retire in favour of Lieutenant Short, the next senior, who to his other qualifications as an artillery officer, with a first class certificate "B" Battery Gunnery School, adds that of an excellent horseman, familiar with the frontier district of which he is a native. He served as a gunner, and subsequently as an officer of the battery and Adjutant during both Fenian raids."

"I need not remind you that the number of field batteries of this Province bears no adequate proportion to the other arms. And I beg to submit for your consideration whether it would not be advisable to follow the precedent of the Imperial service, by making the commanding officers of all field batteries regimental majors, in view of the fact that they command a tactical unit and incur considerable expense and responsibility. The same reasons do not apply to the commanding officers of garrison batteries of militia who only command fifty-five men, and have no charge of forts or armament."

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY BRIGADE, PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

"I was not called upon to inspect this Brigade ; but Lieut.-Colonel Brydges informed me, through his Brigade Major (Major Worsely), that he concurs in the advisability of converting two batteries of the brigade into a heavy battery of position, to be armed for the present with an 18-pounder equipment in store at Montreal."

"The horses belonging to the Grand Trunk Establishment are exceedingly powerful and well suited for artillery."

"The self contained character of the Grand Trunk Brigade, and its high "esprit," render it advisable that it should be self-supporting in the matter of field artillery. A complete force could then be transported at short notice to occupy any important position on the line of railway. Some stations might be selected as desirable to strengthen with earth-works."

"This service could perhaps be effectively, and at very little expense, executed by the engineer companies of the Grand Trunk Brigade, who would also, doubtless, be very efficient in breaking up or restoring interrupted communication on their own line."

"I have had no opportunity of inspecting the engineer companies of the Grand Trunk Brigade."

ENGINEERS.

"The Engineers of this Province consists, besides the Grand Trunk, of two companies at Montreal—No. 2 Company, under the command of Major Kennedy, No 1 Company being commanded by Lieutenant Devine, who is at present undergoing a short course of military engineering, &c., at the Gunnery School, Quebec."

"Both companies are very weak ; but their training was satisfactorily carried out by the officers, who are all intelligent and zealous. They were encamped on the Island of St. Helen's for sixteen days. Their company and arm drill was very good ; but the dispositions made to blow up a stockade did not meet with my approval, which was perhaps scarcely to be expected, as their attention had not been directed to this important subject. Gabions and fascines, which they made from brushwood cut on the Island, were perfectly serviceable, and they repaired the pontoons subsequently used in the construction of a raft, by a detachment of "B" battery, for the transport of guns across the St. Lawrence for the use of the Shefford Battery. I had intended that the construction of the raft should form part of the engineer training, but the delay incident to the necessary requisitions frustrated my plans."

"Their rifle practice was carried out on the Island under their own officers. The conduct of the non-commissioned officers and men was good. They have in their ranks many skilled mechanics, but they were not sufficiently numerous to construct a half-sunken battery on a plan which I gave to the commanding officer. A model room for their use, in connection with an enlarged Gunnery School at Montreal, would largely contribute to the efficiency of the sister corps, the subjects of study being common to both."

"The construction of field works and batteries in snow, with the aid of gabions made in summer, would be a beneficial and inexpensive military exercise, which could be carried out, if the Gunnery School at Montreal had sufficient numerical strength to do the greater part of the labour for which the volunteer engineers could not spare time."

"The Island of St. Helen's is peculiarly adapted for an artillery and engineer school, especially for pontooning and rafting. The discipline is good, from the absence of temptation, and the difficulty of leaving the Island."

"The military stores are safe. The earth batteries thrown up in the course of instruction would remain as valuable defences, and would not impair the natural beauty of the Island. There is a considerable growth of brushwood exactly suited to making gabions and fascines, and the necessary entrenching tools are probably in store."

"I have in my possession plans of the Royal Engineers for some proposed defences, and as the river would be a comparative safeguard against a coup de main, masonry escarps would not be necessary."

"I do not anticipate much expense beyond the wood necessary for laying gun platforms, and timber for expense magazines and shell rooms."

"I need scarcely remind you that the armoury-store buildings and large powder magazines on this Island are of great value to the Dominion Government."

"Their protection is essential, and the British Government proposed to arm such works if erected by the Dominion."

FORTS.

"The Citadel of Quebec and the forts at Point Levis are in good order, with the exception of the walls surrounding the "A" magazine, Citadel, one of the magazines at Point Levis, and some of the unoccupied casements which suffer from damp during the spring and autumn, especially at the latter time, and the subsequent frost has a tendency to burst the casemated arches. I would recommend that a Royal Engineer sergeant, qualified as foreman of works, be asked for from the Imperial Government to superintend a certain amount of annual petty repairs and pointing masonry, which the extremes of climate render necessary. It would, in the end, prove an economical preventive to rapid and general decay. During the greater part of the year, especially in winter, when mason's work is impracticable, he could be utilized as an assistant instructor of field works (using snow as a medium of instruction). The masonry of the lines from the Citadel to the Artillery barracks is in very bad order; but it would not be advisable to repair it, as the proximity of the suburbs has in a great measure destroyed its military value as a line of defence, except to close the gorge of the river front against a coup de main. It could, moreover, be enfiladed or taken in reverse by batteries from the opposite side of the River St. Charles, armed with modern guns.

"With reference to the defenceless state of Montreal and its railway bridge, I beg to remind you that the Moncrieff system of defence has been developed, and in some places adopted, in the United Kingdom, since the proposal of the Imperial Government to arm such forts as the Dominion Government might construct at Montreal. The expense of such fortification would be reduced to a minimum by digging six sets of double Moncrieff pits, rivetted with forest timber, in lieu of the six forts proposed opposite St.

Helen's Island. They could be protected from assault by reverse fire pallisade galleries in the counterscarps of their ditches : the unrevetted scarp, being left to the natural slope of the earth, could not be breached. No masonry or skilled labour would be required. The principal part of the expenditure would be the armament promised by the Imperial Government.

ARMAMENT.

"The heaviest guns mounted on the Citadel at Quebec are four 7-inch breech-loading rifle guns, on the salients. They are not capable of penetrating iron-clads.

"As the calibre of guns and the thickness of common plates have increased considerably since the original date of proposed armament, it is probable that some heavier guns might be substituted for those mentioned. It would be convenient and economical to supply 64-pr. converted Pallisser guns in lieu of the thirteen 7-inch breech-loading rifle guns and traversing platforms on the work, which would take a 64-pr., converted from a 32-pr., with wood blocks on the axles to check the recoil. This would be a very efficient armament for the Citadel land front, the expense of carriages and platforms being saved. I do not think the old objection to the use of cast-iron carriages under fire need be considered, as a blow from a heavy rifled projectile would place beyond immediate repair any carriage of cast or wrought iron or wood. The durability of the carriages and the simplicity of the guns is also an important consideration. I would recommend the same inexpensive armament for the forts at Point Levis, which do not command the river, and cannot be opposed by heavier guns than such as can be brought overland. But as No. 1 fort, the nearest to the ship canal, is not close enough for penetrative effect, I presume that at least a couple of 12-ton guns, probably in Moncrieff pits, almost a fleur d'eau, would be placed at the northern angle of Indian Cove, and two more Moncrieff pits, with guns, would be useful to command the railway and the river channel westward.

I concur in the recommendations submitted by Lieut.-Colonel T. B. Strange for increasing the efficiency of Artillery Corps in the Province of Quebec, especially with regard to the mounting of two extra Gunners on extra horses in Field Batteries, whereby the services of a sufficient gun detachment are always available with the gun, this proposal had previously been made to me by Lieut.-Colonel G. French, Inspector of Artillery, who was equally convinced of its propriety, and this latter Officer has been for some time engaged in compiling a Manual of Field Artillery Drill, suitable for Canadian Field Batteries, based in a great measure on the above suggestion.

Lieut.-Colonel Darrel Iago, of the New Brunswick Artillery, reports for my information as follows :

"In accordance with General Orders, dated Ottawa, May 31st, 1872, an artillery camp was formed at St. John, on August 22nd, 1872, for eight days, the batteries attending it having previously performed eight days' drill at their own head-quarters."

"No. 1, 2, 3, and 10 Batteries attended from St. John, and No. 7 sent a strong detachment, with one officer, from Woodstock."

“It is unnecessary for me to remark upon this camp, further than to say that without doubt the officers and men derived great benefit from it, and that the continuous drill of never less than five hours per diem did more for the attendants at it than treble the time consumed in a drill room.”

“I found the officers fully capable of instructing the men, and the men anxious and willing to profit by their instruction, whilst both endeavoured to maintain the credit the corps has always enjoyed for good conduct.”

“The position you assigned me as Superintendent of drills was, therefore, as easy as it was pleasant; and I had also the satisfaction of superintending some excellent shot practice made by the different batteries, both as regards accuracy and also rapidity of firing, for prizes presented by well-wishers of the brigade.”

“I inspected No. 5 Battery at Woodstock, on the 15th July. This battery attended the brigade camp formed at that place as a field battery, they having two (2) six-pounder guns in their charge, but having no horses properly enrolled, and really belonging to the brigade of New Brunswick Garrison Artillery.”

“I saw some creditable shot practice made by them, and the men drilled well at standing gun drill; but I should recommend that this battery be either turned into a field battery, and properly armed and horsed (the country about Woodstock offering peculiar advantages for the establishment of a good field battery), or that in future they should perform their annual drill at St John.”

“I inspected the remainder of No. 7 (Major Gillespie's) Battery, at Chatham, on September 28, 1872. As I previously stated, the best part of this battery attended the St. John camp; and though the men were fairly drilled, they compared badly with their comrades who had accepted the greater advantages of instruction. There are two twenty four pounder guns at this place, and a slight expenditure of money would lay down platforms, build a side arm shed, and otherwise provide a proper muster place for the battery at the same time adding much to the defence of Miramichi.”

“I inspected Captain Call's (Newcastle) Field battery, at Newcastle, on September 30th, 1872. This battery turned out for eight days' drill in camp this year.”

“Captain Call appears to have a good deal of difficulty, from local causes, about re-enrolling his men and horses; but he informed me that he has now determined to adhere to the proper system of enrolling a field battery, and to take no drivers from any but the farming class. I had pleasure in reporting favorably upon this battery last year; and if Captain Call adheres to his rule, and uses the energy I have noticed in him, I have great hopes that he will have a thorough good battery next summer.”

“The number of batteries in the garrison brigade has been diminished by five, all of which are in Charlotte County. The two batteries at St. George, could be spared, if the men do not desire to re-enroll; but with regard to the battery at St. Andrew's the case is far different. It is not necessary for me to point out to you the importance of St. Andrew's, commanding as it does the navigation of the St. Croix River; and it is much to be deplored that there should be no garrison artillerymen at this place. In my opinion, the loss of the battery at St. Stephen is not of more importance than those at St. George; but I should recommend that the armament at all these places, when the batteries have failed to re-enrol, should be returned into store at once, including the two 32-pounders at St. Andrew's, if nobody can be found willing to raise a battery at that place within a reasonable time."

"There is one point in conclusion to which I should like to call attention, viz.: the want of a School of Gunnery for the instruction of officers and men in this District. It is useless to hope to make a really good battery without a certain number of the officers and men being competent to impart instruction in the theory and practice of artillery."

"In this Province we have hitherto managed to get on without a school, and both officers and men have acquitted themselves well; but I am in a position to state that it has been done by much extra work by all ranks, and, speaking in the interests of the New Brunswick Artillery, I shall be glad if they are accorded the same privileges as the artillerymen of Ontario and Quebec.

MILITARY SCHOOLS.

During the past year 339 Certificates of Qualification in Infantry Drill were given by the Commandants of Infantry Schools, of which 47 were First Class Certificates, and 292 Second Class Certificates.

Two Riding Schools for instruction in Cavalry Drill and Equitation were established for a short period, one at Kingston, the other at Quebec, and 12 Certificates of Qualification, 5 of which were First Class, and 7 Second Class Certificates were given.

It is reported that a large proportion of those who attended the Infantry School belonged to the Active Militia, and that the class of Cadets who passed through the Infantry Schools last year was much superior to the class of Cadets attending in previous years.

GUNNERY SCHOOLS.

The results already attained by the establishment of the Schools of Gunnery at Kingston and Quebec, (A and B Batteries) are very satisfactory.

These Schools of practical and theoretical Artillery Science were established under the system detailed in General Orders, October, 1871, (a copy of which will be found in the Appendix); none are admitted to these schools for duty and instruction except duly Gazetted Officers or enrolled non-Commissioned Officers and men belonging to some Corps of the Active Militia.

The periods of admission to the Gunnery Schools are for three and twelve months, and a limited number of Officers and men may be re-admitted for a further period, if it be found necessary to do so, in order to maintain a sufficient staff and nucleus for carrying on the instruction and duties.

Whilst attached to the Schools of Gunnery (A and B Batteries) for duty and instruction, all officers and men are under the rules of military discipline as prescribed in clause 64 of the Militia Act, and thus Artillery Schools, as real as Corps of the Royal Artillery itself, have been formed for Garrison duty as well as for theoretical and practical instruction in Artillery Science.

Although the Kingston School of Gunnery (A Battery) has only been in operation for about 16 months, and the maximum authorised strength, at any time, limited to 4 officers and 131 non-commissioned officers and men, the Commandant reports that 12 officers and 223 non-commissioned officers and men have joined that School since its formation, and about 30 more are at this date (17th March, 1873) waiting for admission.

8 officers have obtained first class certificates and two officers a second class certificate; 7 first class and 8 second class certificates have been given to non-commissioned officers and men; no certificates have as yet been given to any of the men at present at the school, but they will of course be entitled to receive certificates according to professional merit on passing the necessary examination in Artillery Science before they leave the School.

The Commandants of the Gunnery Schools have been very particular in granting certificates. It is indispensable that an officer in any arm of the Military Service should have some education, and no certificates should be given to any one who cannot write correctly from dictation, and show a reasonable knowledge of arithmetic.

The following return shows the number of officers, non-commissioned officers, trumpeters, and gunners who have been attached to "A" Battery School of Gunnery from the 25th October, 1871, to the 26th October, 1872:—

Lieut.-Colonel G. A. French reports that although "A" Battery (School of Gunnery) has to perform nearly as many duties at Kingston as formerly devolved on a Regiment, yet 10 officers and 186 non-commissioned officers and men have received instruction here during the year ended October 26th, 1872, the periods of instruction varying from two to 12 months, the majority being for the latter period, as will be seen from the subjoined statement :—

On the conclusion of the first year, on the 26th October, 1872, a proportion of non-commissioned officers and men who had completed 12 month's course of instruction, and who were desirous of readmission for a further period, being good characters, and desirable men in other particulars, were readmitted. This system is being continued, and, if carried out systematically and with judgment, will have the effect of securing eventually, to the service of the Dominion, a picked body of first class artillerymen either for duty or instructional purposes.

The officers and most of the non-commissioned officers, in addition to ordinary drills, exercises and regimental duties, have attended courses of lectures on ammunition, theoretical and practical artillery, &c., and have passed written examinations therein; some of them passing highly creditable examinations. The following Table will show this:—

Lt.-Colonel T. B. Strange, the Commandant of the Quebec School of Gunnery, B Battery, reports for my information as follows :

“ The examination papers submitted—marked A, B, C, D, E, G, H, I, J, K—and published in appendix show that the practical and theoretical course of instruction of the officers, and the small number of sergeants who were able to avail themselves of it, has been of an advanced character, including the following subjects :

“ Artillery drills and exercises, garrison and field gunnery.

“ Artillery material, including the examination and sighting of ordnance, laboratory, &c.

“ Minor tactics and military history.

“ Fortifications and sieges.

“ Rough military surveying, with pocket compass and sextant.

“ I beg to suggest an artillery certificate, applicable to the higher course of study, in addition to the present gunnery certificate.

“ I have much pleasure in expressing my entire satisfaction with the intelligence and application, as well as with the natural military qualities shewn by the officers who have passed through my hands.

“ The duties of all ranks have been performed to my satisfaction, and the absence of actual crime, with the exception of drunkenness, which, however, has greatly decreased, is encouraging.

“ I am much indebted to Major Montizambert, Captain Duchesnay, and Lieut. Short, who have in their turn acted as Adjutant.

“ To enable me to carry out the duties of instruction and inspection, I have of late left much of the detail of battery interior economy to Major Montizambert, who has shewn himself thoroughly competent, and set the best possible example of cheerful energy and good feeling, which has been followed by all ranks.

“ The most obviously advantageous method of utilizing scientifically-trained officers during peace is that adopted in the United States, where a large proportion of those educated at West Point are employed on public works.

“ The gigantic railroad, canal and boundary surveys undertaken by the Canadian Government give ample scope for the employment of assistant military surveyors and engineers, who would thus form the nucleus of a practically scientific staff corps, whose intimate knowledge of their own country, and the maps they would construct, would be of incalculable value in the event of war, and useful in peace. These services are at present, in some instances, done for us (and I have no doubt with great ability) by foreigners, whose knowledge of our country might not always be to our advantage.

“ It would be very desirable that a party from the Gunnery School should be attached as assistants to the Royal Engineers on the boundary survey. When the latter return to England, their Canadian assistants would have acquired sufficient skill to become the nucleus of a Canadian staff corps of engineer surveyors.

“ Royal Artillery and Engineer officers are educated together, and their training now covers the whole ground of important subjects taught at the Staff College, Sandhurst ; artillery, infantry, and riding drills are already taught at the gunnery schools as well as rough military surveying.

“ A few months after the formation of the School of Gunnery a considerable portion of the fortress of Quebec was re-armed, by the men attending it, during a severe winter ; only one rifled gun having been mounted by the Royal Artillery before their departure, while a considerable number of the old guns had been dismantled by the Royal Engineers to repair the platforms ; this while affording necessary and valuable practical instruction to officers and men, carried out an important public service.

“ On the 5th August, the services of the battery was rendered on the requisition of the Mayor and Sheriff (who both attended in person), during the elections at Quebec. The battery was formed as infantry, with a mounted detachment as troopers, to clear the streets.

“ I reported the circumstance to the Deputy Adjutant General commanding No. 7, Military District, from whom I had received an order to turn out. I was subsequently directed to send a detachment to Montreal for the same purpose ; and in the month of September, 1872, to send an officer and twenty-five (25) non-commissioned officers, gunners and drivers, with two 7-pounder muzzle-loading rifle guns and their equipment, for service in the Province of Manitoba. Thirty-nine (39) volunteered : the surplus were taken as infantry. They were a remarkable fine body of intelligent and trained soldiers including many artificers.

“ The number of horses—eight (8)—is inadequate for instruction in field artillery movements. Forty (40) horses would be sufficient for a permanent instructional field battery and riding establishment, especially if officers going through courses were given forage for their own horses, as allowed last year for the cavalry school, such horses being available for gun draught. The artillery horses might, under these circumstances, be able to perform the transport and fatigue duties for the store and supply department driving waggons being almost as good practice as driving guns. A considerable saving of money would be the result, combined with efficient instruction, and a field battery always ready for service, which, during annual training at camps or on emergencies, might be distributed among the field batteries, to whom the addition of a few well-trained wheel and lead drivers, with their horses, would be invaluable."

"The gun practice of "B" Battery was carried on from King's Bastion, Citadel, at a target on the ice. Artillery marksmen having been selected in accordance with the system submitted for your approval, the results were published in general orders, and shew a high figure of merit, combined with quickness in laying heavy guns. Mortar practice was carried on from the Lewis curtain."

With regard to the Military Schools of Canada I think it will be generally admitted that the time had arrived to establish such schools on a more efficient basis, and this, it will be seen, has been done very effectually as regards the Artillery; to afford as effectual means of instruction to the other arms, schools on a somewhat similar system should be adopted.

With a view, therefore, to promote increased general efficiency in the Militia of the Dominion it is desirable to reorganize the Military School system generally; I recommend that the number of Military Schools be limited in future to one in each Province, based upon the Principle of tactical Brigade Organization, at which Regimental instruction can be imparted to a certain number of officers and non-commissioned officers and men of Cavalry and Infantry Corps, as thoroughly as is now being carried on for Artillery officers, non-commissioned officers and men in the Gunnery Schools at Kingston and Quebec.

It is an acknowledged principle in the Military service that the best professional school for a Military man, next to the school of actual war, is service with a Regular Army, it follows, therefore, that a proper Military School should be organized as regularly as a Military body can be organized, for the theory, without the practice of Military duties is not of much avail.

I recommend that three Brigade Schools be established—one at Kingston for the Province of Ontario, one at Quebec for the Province of Quebec, and one either at Fredericton or St. John, N.B., as may be most convenient, for the Province of New Brunswick; the instruction required for the Militia in Nova Scotia to be obtained as at present from Her Majesty's Regular Troops stationed at Halifax.

To establish suitable Brigade Schools at Kingston and Quebec all that is necessary would be to place on duty one Company of Infantry, and one Troop of 25 Cavalry, in connection, and co-operation, with the present Schools of Gunnery; and for the Province of New Brunswick to establish a Brigade School of somewhat less numerical strength.

At these Brigade Schools whilst the Regimental training and command according to the respective arms would be with the Regimental Commanders. The chief command of the Brigade School itself, would rest with the Deputy Adjutant General of the District, who is the responsible commander of all the Militia in the Military Districts.

I am induced to recommend the adoption of a Military School organization based on the formation of each School into a tactical Brigade of the three arms for many reasons.

In time of war corps are grouped into tactical Brigades of the three arms for purposes of Military cohesion and combination, during operations in the field.

In time of peace corps are also grouped into Brigades, concentrated as much as possible in Divisions and large bodies, for purposes of Military duty, instruction and administration.

It follows, therefore, that a Military School organized on the basis and principles of a tactical Brigade of the three arms, is the proper kind of School for acquiring a practical, as well as a theoretical knowledge of the application of Military science.

At these Brigade Schools a limited number of officers, non-commissioned officers and men belonging to Cavalry, Artillery, and Infantry Corps of the Active Militia could be thoroughly instructed in their duties, and in due time a very large number passed in rotation through the Brigade Schools.

Officers would have an opportunity of acquiring a knowledge of the Regimental exercises and duties appertaining to the three arms, a matter of great importance. Each Brigade School would become an excellent practical Staff College in addition, and serve as a Model Brigade for all corps of Active Militia in the Province.

Should this system be adopted I would recommend that all Staff Officers in future should be appointed from such officers as have passed satisfactorily through the Brigade School, obtained certificates of qualification in Cavalry, Artillery, and Infantry exercises, and who have acquired a proper knowledge of the duties of Staff Officers; by which means the country would obtain the services of officers qualified to discharge efficiently the military and administrative duties of the higher commands, in addition to securing a satisfactory system of Regimental instruction for others.

If the present sums voted annually by Parliament under different heads for purposes of Military School instruction were amalgamated into one fund, and an additional sum granted to raise the total amount to $250,000, I believe a very satisfactory system of real Military Schools, adequate to the present wants of the Militia, and the country, could be established, but of course the successful working of such Schools would depend mainly upon the qualifications and ability of the officers selected for Instructors.

MILITARY STORES, CLOTHING, AND EQUIPMENT.

Reference to the Report of Lieut.-Colonel Wily, Director of Stores, which is published in the Appendix, shows the condition of the country, in respect of Military Clothing, Arms, Ammunition, Camp Equipage, and Military Stores generally.

The Receipts and Issues of Clothing, Arms, Ammunition, and Military Stores during the past year, are shown in Colonel Wily's Report, and much valuable information on other matters connected with his duty is contained in this Officer's Report.

Lieut.-Colonel Wily is also charged with the care of Militia properties, he is an officer attached to the Civil Staff of the Militia Department, directly responsible to the Minister of Militia, and not under my command.

Hitherto the supplies of uniform, clothing, military equipment, small arms, small arm ammunition, rifled field guns, ammunition for Field and Garrison Artillery, &c., &c., and military stores generally have been obtained almost entirely from the Imperial Government, or from private contractors in England.

It appears to me that the time has now arrived when an alteration in this system might be adopted, to a very great extent, with advantage.

The desirability of expending in the country, as far as possible, the money voted for the annual supply of these stores is obvious, but I would especially call attention on military grounds to the necessity for commencing the manufacture of small arm ammunition and such warlike stores as are annually required for practice, and for the maintenance of a sufficient reserve.

As regards gunpowder, an article of the first military importance, and which could not be obtained in time from England, should a sudden emergency arise, Lieut.-Colonel French, Inspector of Artillery and Warlike Stores, (formerly Inspector of Warlike Stores for the Imperial Government at Quebec, and consequently a competent authority,) has reported to me on this subject as follows :—

“ Having reference to the ammunition required for gun practice for the current year I have the honor to point out that for various reasons it would be desirable to ascertain if the powder could not be manufactured in the country.

“ In December, 1871, I inspected the powder mills near Hamilton, and I feel satisfied from that inspection, as well as from conversation with the Manager and Foreman, that a suitable powder for heavy guns could be produced at those mills.

“ The finer brand of powder known as “ Dominion Rifle ” is an excellent powder, I have used it a great deal myself, but the fact that it is used in a great measure by smallbore riflemen is a sufficient proof of its excellence.

“ It is, I suppose, needless for me to mention the advisability of encouraging the manufacture of gunpowder in the Country; at the same time it will be necessary, if Government should contract with manufacturers for this article, to look closely after its manufacture, in order that the conditions may be as similar as possible to the manufacture of the powder at present in store.

“ I have received from the Superintendent of the Government Powder Factory, at Waltham Abbey, England, specifications for the supply of powder by contract, &c., &c. I shall be happy to submit the necessary conditions if required.”

And with regard to the general question of the manufacture and repair of warlike stores in the Country, that officer reports to me as follows :—

“ I have the honor again to bring to your notice the advisability of commencing even on the smallest possible scale, the manufacture and repair of those warlike stores most needed for the defence of the Country.

“ I would submit for your information the following figures which will be themselves a sufficient proof of this fact on the score of economy; from a defensive point of view, however, the economy is a secondary consideration.

Imperial Government Prices.	No. 1 Balance Sheet.			No. 2 Balance Sheet.			Vide Priced Vocabulary, 1871.
R. L. G. Gunpowder per 100 lbs.....	2	10	11½	4	7	4½
Snider Cartridges,—
Per 1,000 { Ball.....	2	16	10	3	10	3
Per 1,000 { Blank.....	1	11	0	1	14	1

“ No. 1 balance sheet is the cost of production ; No. 2 is, I presume, a protection to British manufacturers.

“ The Canadian Government have to pay 5 per cent. more than No. 2 balance sheet if the articles are purchased in England, or 15 per cent. more if purchased in the Dominion. Thus the gunpowder would cost the Dominion almost 100 per cent more than its cost in England.

“ In addition to this 100 per cent. there is the fact that for making up cannon and small arm cartridges, repairing small arms, gun carriages, &c., there are numbers of public buildings lying idle, the use of these, rent free, would be almost a sufficient set off to the increased price of labor in this country, particularly if it be borne in mind that the labor of children is employed to a large degree in certain of the minor operations.”

“ I would, in conclusion, submit that the establishment of an arsenal on a small scale may be pressed on the attention of the Government.”

With regard to the suggestions of the Inspector of Artillery and Warlike Stores, I concur entirely in the views submitted by that officer.

Reference to the Militia Estimates will show that a very considerable sum is voted annually for military stores, &c., for instance in the Financial Estimates for the year ending 30th June, 1872, the following sums were voted, viz. :—

Ammunition.....	$139,109 00
Clothing	130,000 00
Military Stores (including storage however).....	85,683 00
Ordnance Stores and Equipment for Field and Garrison
Batteries.....	33,606 00
For improved Firearms.....	142,055 00
	$530,453 00

Although this amount exceeds the average expenditure, it is evident that a very large sum of money has hitherto, (and I believe unavoidably,) been expended out of the Country, the greater portion of which might now, on military and other grounds, be expended with advantage in the Country.

ANNUAL DRILL AND INSPECTION OF THE ACTIVE MILITIA BY DISTRICTS.

The annual Drill of the various corps of the active Militia was, with few exceptions, carried out in accordance with the detailed instructions contained in the General Orders of 31st May, 1872, a copy of which will be found in the appendix.

The dates on which the Corps were assembled having been previously arranged to suit the convenience of the majority of the men who are, for the most part engaged in agricultural pursuits.

MILITARY DISTRICT NO. 1.

The Militia in this District are under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Taylor, Deputy Adjutant General, who reports as follows on the state of his command :—

HEAD QUARTERS, LONDON, ONTARIO,
14th November, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the District under my command is 5,517.

The total actual strength of the force, when mustered at the time of the annual drill for 1872-73, was 4,303.

There are 1214 officers and men wanting to complete.

The Active Militia in the District consists of the following corps, which, at the time of the annual drill, turned out as follows :—

1st Regiment of Cavalry (two troops } absent, not equipped)..... }	15 Officers	169 N.-C. O. and Men.
“London” Field Battery of Artillery ..	3 ”	72 ”
“Wellington” Field Batt’y of Artillery	5 ”	78 ”

30th ” Rifles	36 ”	518 ”
32nd ” Infantry	30 ”	367 ”
33rd ” ”	25 ”	261 ”
Total	325	3978

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st of May, 1872, in obedience to which the whole active force in the District (with the exception of the Garrison Batteries, the Lucan company of infantry, and four new corps not equipped), were assembled, on the 18th of June, in a divisional camp at Windsor for sixteen days' drill.

Immediately after arrival in camp, a medical inspection was made by the surgeons of their respective corps, and seven men who were found unfit for service were sent home; forty-two others were subsequently sent home on account of sickness, the particulars of which will be found in the Report of Surgeon V. A. Brown, principal medical officer in camp, which I have the honor to enclose.

The force in camp was divided into two brigades, which were under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Richardson, 22nd Rifles, and Lieut.-Colonel Ross, 33rd Battalion, as brigadiers, who fully justified the confidence placed in their ability for these positions. The brigade of artillery was under command of Lieut.-Colonel Shanly, a most efficient officer, and the cavalry under Lieut.-Colonel Cole, by whose able exertions the troops of cavalry in this District were now for the first time drilled together as a regiment.

Drill for the first week in camp was confined to company, skirmishing and battalion drill; and the second week, there was a brigade or divisional drill once a day; and a marked improvement was very evident towards the end of the sixteen days.

The whole force was inspected by the Adjutant General on the 26th of June, and drilled under his command on a divisional field day; and on the 1st July the division was paraded in full strength, and fired a "feu de joie" in honor of "Dominion Day," after which there was a divisional field day. A great number of spectators from Detroit were present.

The annual target practice was carried out at Camp Windsor in a very satisfactory manner, under the very efficient superintendence of Lieut.-Colonel Moffat (the Divisional Musketry Instructor at camp), whose Report on the practice I have the honor to submit, together with the District Practice Returns. The best shot in this District is Private Charles Coombs, 7th Battalion, who made a score of 43 points. A list of the names of the best shots in every battalion, company, and corps, for this year, is herewith transmitted.

The daily scale of rations which were supplied in camp appeared sufficient, the issue of cheese being a great boon in advance of last year. The contracts for rations were carried out in a satisfactory manner, except the issue of bread, at the commencement of camp, which had to be brought from London—a distance of 110 miles—on account of there being no ovens any nearer of sufficient capacity to bake the supply required.

The issue of a marquee for each battalion enabled the officers to form a comfortable mess, and saved them the expense of temporary sheds, as in former years, besides adding much to the social good feeling and harmony among the officers in each battalion, so necessary for the cheerful performance of regimental duties.

I have much pleasure in forwarding the following address, presented by the Mayor and Corporation of Windsor, in proof of the general very good behaviour of the Division :—

“ To Lieut.-Colonel Taylor, D. A. Gen., commanding, Camp Windsor.

“ We, the Mayor and Councillors of the town of Windsor, on behalf of our fellow-townsmen, cannot allow the troops which have been encamped here to return to their respective homes without expressing our gratification at the result of what some were inclined to regard as an experiment—the formation of a camp, and the performance of the annual drill for the entire Volunteer force of the western peninsula at this point.

“ Though it may be a breach of strict military etiquette, we beg of you, Sir, to convey to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men under your command, our thanks for the example they have set during their stay here of military training, excellent discipline, and that orderly behaviour which is characteristic of our Canadian volunteers under all circumstances.

“ We feel that occasions such as the present, when 5,000 men, suddenly withdrawn at considerable personal inconvenience from their peaceful pursuits, adapt themselves with alacrity to the rougher life of the camp, not with the incentive of any great emergency, but merely for the performance of an annual duty, do much to foster the growth of that spirit of patriotism and nationality, without which no people can ever become great.

“ Permit us, then, Sir, to wish our fellow-countrymen of the Volunteer force now in camp God speed upon their return to their homes. Their presence and their conduct here inspired us with pride, and cause us to congratulate ourselves that we too are Canadians and fellow-subjects of the same most gracious Sovereign.

“ DONALD CAMERON,

“ Mayor.

“ Dated at Windsor, 1st July, 1872.”

The transport of the corps to and from camp was conducted without any casualty, though considerable delay was caused on the Great Western Railway. The gun-boat Prince Alfred conveyed two battalions.

I have to report that the force has been supplied with all the uniform they required for the past year—a Return of the quantity issued is herewith transmitted. The accoutrements were clean and serviceable ; the arms in general are kept in very good order ; but I would call your attention to the fact that there are in every battalion a few stand of arms that would be useless if called on for service, in consequence of the smaller parts of the rifle having become damaged or lost, such as needle-spring, block-spring, block-pin, &c., and there is no supply at hand from which to make necessary repairs.

It gives me much pleasure to report the valuable assistance which I have continued to receive from the Brigade Majors and other Staff officers of the District during the past year.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

JOHN B. TAYLOR, Lieut.-Colonel,
Deputy Adjutant-General Military District No. 1.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of the 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner :—

The force, as above enumerated, moved from the respective headquarters of corps on the 12th June last, according to orders, in order to proceed to Niagara ; but some difficulty was experienced in the transport of the troops by water, owing to the destruction by fire of the steamer Kingston, hired for that purpose, the evening before the day she was required ; but it is due to the activity of Major Alger, District Paymaster, the only available Staff officer at Toronto at the time, that other arrangements were promptly made, and in consequence the whole force assembled on the day following (13th June), and were encamped by brigades. I would here respectfully suggest the propriety of having a due supply of both tents and blankets stored in the district headquarters' store (Toronto), prior to the troops moving into camp, in order to meet such an emergency as arose last summer at Niagara, on account of the want of tents and blankets (many of the latter having been burned on board the steamer Kingston).

The force assembled in camp was formed into a division, composed of one regiment of cavalry, three field batteries and three brigades of infantry. The brigades were commanded by officers belonging to the force of the district, as well as the Staff of the brigades. Being the first time these officers were placed in such a position, much credit is due to them for the manner in which their various duties were carried out.

Company and battalion drill was carried out for the first few days with marked good effect. When brigades were formed and drilled under their respective Brigadiers, it was surprising to observe how both officers, non-commissioned officers and men fell into their respective places in so short a time.

Having been taken unwell at the time of your arrival at Niagara, the division was paraded and passed under your personal supervision and inspection. The general appearance of the force, the arms, clothing, &c., as well as the steady manner in which the different corps moved, I was gratified to find received your praise and approbation, as well as the general arrangements of the camp and rifle ranges.

In order to give a practical idea, or trial of attack and defence, a sham fight was arranged by Lieut.-Colonel. A. Brunel at the request and with the approval of the Adjt.-General, under orders issued on that occasion, by which the force was divided into two divisions, the one numerically inferior to the other (or defending force), which consisted of two squadrons of the 2nd Regiment of Cavalry, one battery of Field Artillery, and the Rifle Brigade of five Battalions, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Gillmor, 2nd Battalion Queen's Own Rifles; the other numerically superior or attacking force, and which consisted of the Governor-General's Body Guard, and one squadron of the 2nd Regiment of Cavalry, two batteries of Field Artillery, and two brigades of Infantry, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Denison, Brigade Major. The defending force was placed in position in front of Fort St. George, overlooking the Niagara River, further strengthened by certain passes or approaches being allowed, by which only the position could be attacked all other ground or roads being considered impassable. The attacking force was supposed to be advancing from Queenston Heights, a strong position, being considered as an equivalent to superior numbers. The Adjutant-General and Divisional Staff acted as umpires. Being unable to be in the field, I beg leave to forward the accompanying report of the fight, by Lieut.-Colonel Brunel, who acted as Assistant Adjutant-General; of what passed under his personal observation on this occasion.

The Governor-General's Body Guard and the 2nd Regiment of Cavalry, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel McLeod, mustered well, averaging 3 officers and 45 troopers per troop.

The three Field Batteries, under the command of Captain Smith, Hamilton Field Battery, as usual mustered strong—in fact, I may say, in full strength, were well horsed and performed their shot and shell practice under Lieut.-Colonel French, Inspector of Artilleries.

The three Garrison Batteries performed their annual drill of 16 days, as follows :—

Toronto Garrison Battery, in barracks at Toronto ; St. Catherines and Collingwood, at Kingston ; and were inspected by the same officer as the Field Batteries.

The Independent Rifle Company, at the Sault Ste. Marie, performed its annual drill under the command of Captain Wilson, at the above place.

TARGET PRACTICE.

In order to enable the force, ordered to assemble at Niagara—(being stronger than last year)—to perform the usual annual target practice, it was necessary to re-arrange the ranges, butts, &c., at that place. Having received the necessary authority, I accordingly laid out afresh the ranges, &c., in question, adding an additional range and target to each of the three sets hitherto required ; thus making three sets of four ranges and targets each—one set for the 200, 400, and 600 yards respectively—in all, twelve targets, four of each class ; in the discharge of which duty I was ably seconded by Lieut.-Col. Denison, Brigade Major.

The ranges and butts thus laid out worked well, with perfect safety, affording better facilities for firing, marking, &c., as well as diminishing the labour of the superintending officer.

The following are the names of the best shots in the District, according to the Annual Target-Practice Return ; also the average figure of the several arms, which I beg to bring before your notice :

A slight increase.

The above information relative to the target practice, I have obtained from the annual target practice return for 1872-73 as well as the report (annual) for the same year, by Major Dartnell, who acted as the Divisional Musketry Instructor in camp at Niagara, both of which I beg leave to forward for your information and consideration.

The muster for annual drill this year was fully as strong, if not stronger, than last year, and when it is considered that a force of 6,000 men mustered at Niagara in a little over twenty-four hours, moving by waggon, rail, and steamboat, and on the march from their respective head quarters to camp (and returning), went over land and were duly rationed and provisioned—underwent the daily routine, and performed the duties of a soldier's life, in camp, drill, and target practice, all within the sixteen days allowed, the only casualty being, unhappily, the loss of a private of the 13th Battalion, accidentally drowned, whilst bathing at a dangerous part of the Niagara River, contrary to orders. No little credit is due to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the force.

Very little sickness occurred.

The general conduct of the force in camp, I am glad to be able to report, was very good. In fact, the whole camp worked smoother in every way this year. The contractor's supplies this year, were much better than last year.

Niagara, holding as it does, a good central position on the frontier, easily reached by land and water, affording as it does good local facilities a good camping ground, rifle range, healthy, &c.—is no doubt the best place for assembling the force for annual drill, in the district. Drummondville is also a good central position, but does not afford the same local facilities as Niagara. I know of no means which will conduce more to the permanency, and efficiency of the force than to continue the camps of instruction which have been carried out for the last two years. With reference thereto, I would respectfully refer to the suggestions made by me in my report of last year.

It gives me no ordinary pleasure in being able to report in the most favourable manner of the support received by me, and ability displayed in the performance of their respective duties, by the undermentioned officers, who acted on the Divisional Staff, Camp Niagara:—Lieut.-Colonel Denison, Brigade Major, Assistant Quartermaster General; Lieut.-Colonel Brunel, Unattached, Assistant Adjutant General; Lieut.-Colonel Villiers, Brigade Major, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster General; Surgeon De La Hooke, Principal Medical Officer; Major Alger, District Paymaster; Major Dartnell, Divisional Musketry Inspector; Lieut.-Mason, Supply Officer; Lieut. W. T. Holwell, Orderly Officer.

In conclusion, I would respectfully bring before you, for your favourable consideration, the great want experienced by the whole Toronto force, in not having any drill shed:—It is during the winter evenings, that the different corps have hitherto assembled for drill purposes, and for recruiting their respective companies, it is a want now much felt and experienced, there being no convenient place in which the officers, non-commissioned officers or men can assemble, for regimental matters or drill purposes.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

WM. L. DURIE, Lieut.-Colonel,

Deputy Adjutant-General, District No. 2.

MILITARY DISTRICT No. 3.

The Militia in this District are under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Jarvis, C. M.G., Deputy Adjutant General, who reports, for my information, as follows on the state of his command :—

HEAD QUARTERS,

October 29th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the District under my command is 4,603 officers and men.

The total actual strength of the force when mustered at the time of the annual drill or 1872-73, was 3,152 ; being 285 officers, and 2,867 Non-Commissioned Officers and men.

There were 1,451 officers and men wanting to complete the quota, but in this deficiency of officers and men are included three Garrison Batteries, one company Engineers and the Lakefield troop of Cavalry, none of which performed annual drill at all this year.

The Durham Field Battery, and the four Garrison Batteries in Military District No. 3, were ordered to join the Gunnery School at Kingston, on various dates. The Engineer Company having no equipment yet, was not required to turn out ; nor the Lakefield Troop of Cavalry, being newly organized, and having no equipment.

The Durham Field Battery and the Port Hope Garrison Battery, in all 78 officers and men and 11 horses, performed annual drill at the School of Gunnery for 16 days ; but the other three Batteries did not turn out at all.

The active Militia of the District consists of the following corps, which at the time of the annual drill turned out as follows :—

Nine Troops of Cavalry, of which eight turned out.

Two Field Batteries of Artillery, both turned out.

Four Garrison Batteries of Artillery, of which one turned out.

One Company of Engineers, did not turn out.

Ten Battalions of Infantry, all turned out.

The permanent and divisional staffs of the district were all in camp.

The following tabular statement shows the strength of each corps actually present at annual drill, as well as the establishment authorized for each.

S. P. JARVIS, Lieut.-Colonel,
Commanding Military District No. 3.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner:—

The troops arrived in camp on the 19th June, 1872, with the exception of the Colborne Troop of Cavalry, recently formed. This troop marched 85 miles by road in three days, and joined the camp at four p.m., on the 21st June.

As some corps did not reach the camping ground until late in the night of the 19th June, the whole of the 20th was given up to pitching tents, preparing kitchens and latrines, telling off guards and piquets, and forming a military police. The staff were employed in making out duty rosters, issuing camp equipage, rations and forage, posting guards and sentries, and receiving "states" of the various corps in order to make out ration returns.

On the 21st June, the cavalry were mustered by the District Paymaster, in my presence, the infantry battalions and the Field Battery of Artillery being occupied in preliminary drill under their respective officers.

On the 22nd June, all the infantry battalions were similarly mustered, the Cavalry and Field Battery being exercised by their officers on their private parades.

On the 23rd June, Divine service was performed to all the various persuasions in camp by their respective clergy. Some of the infantry battalions marched to churches in the city.

On the 24th June the Kingston Field Battery was mustered. The other corps were occupied in squad drill from six to eight a.m. At 10 a.m., commanding officers paraded their battalions, and again broke them up for squad and company drill until noon. At three p.m. the several corps again fell in in private parades. Some marched out with their Bands to Barrieffield Common, and were exercised in company and battalion Drill others remained in camp and repeated the exercises of the morning.

These preliminary drills were left entirely to the judgment of commanding officers of corps—the Brigadiers superintending the training, assisted by their respective staff officers.

On the 25th June the same system was pursued as on the previous day, but brigadiers took command of their brigades in the afternoon.

On the 26th June the whole division paraded in review order on Barrieffield Common at nine a.m., for inspection by the Deputy Adjutant-General commanding the camp. After the inspection, the entire force, having the Cavalry formed as advance and rear guards, marched through the City of Kingston and back to camp by one p.m.

Brigadiers again handled their brigades in the afternoon on Barrieffield Common, superintended by the officer in command, and the Divisional staff.

On the 27th June the Division was formed up at nine a.m., and went through a field day under the officer in command. One brigade supporting and afterwards relieving the other. In the afternoon brigadiers again exercised their brigades independently.

On the 28th June the Adjutant-General of Militia made his first inspection of the force, which was furnished on this occasion with blank ammunition, The Brigades advanced against an imaginary enemy supposed to be moving towards Catarqui Bridge and the City of Kingston, and attacked and repulsed them on the heights in their front—the Cavalry manœuvred in two bodies on the flanks, and the Field Battery of Artillery also supported the attack on either flank by a cross-fire on the advancing enemy.

On the 29th June the Division was exercised in marching past the saluting base in column and quarter-column, until the dinner hour. This being a Saturday, there was a roll call in the afternoon, the men cleaning up their arms and accoutrements, airing the tents, and removing the straw and blankets, &c., &c.

On the 30th June Divine service was performed, as on the previous Sunday, every officer and man in camp attending, except the sick and those on guard and piquet.

On the first of July—the Dominion Day—His Excellency the Governor General accompanied by the Adjutant-General of Militia, and His Excellency's personal staff arrived by special train from Ottawa, at 12 o'clock. The camp was visited and inspected. The Division paraded at 2 p. m., for His Excellency's inspection.

After the general salute and march past, the Division was manœuvred by the Adjutant-General in person until four p.m., when the prizes and badges for target practice were presented to the prize winners by His Excellency the Governor General.

On the 2nd July the force was employed in preparing to hand over the camp equipage in their possession, and receiving their pay from the District Paymaster, through commanding officers of battalions and regimental paymasters, signing acquittance rolls, &c., &c.

On the 3rd July at five a.m., the steamer Rochester left the dockyard wharf with the 16th, "Prince Edward" Battalion, and the Picton Troop of Cavalry.

One company of the 48th, Lennox and Addington Battalion, were conveyed to Amherst Island by a regular passage boat at three p. m. Another company of the same corps went by train to Napanee at the same hour. The remainder of the 48th and the whole of the 47th Battalions drove in waggons to their company headquarters during the day, at such hours as their commanding officers had arranged.

The 15th and 49th Battalions, both from Belleville, departed by Grand Trunk Railway, at nine a.m.

The 46th and 57th Battalions proceeded to Port Hope and Peterborough by Grand Trunk Railway, at seven p.m.

The whole of the Cavalry of the 6th Brigade Division—four Troops—marched to the Grand Trunk depot before dark, and were conveyed by special train at nine p. m., to Cobourg, Port Hope, and other places on that route.

On the 4th July the 14th, Prince of Wales Own Rifles, marched from camp at six a. m., to their headquarters in the city.

The 40th and 45th Battalions left by train at seven a.m., for Cobourg and Bowmanville.

I have much pleasure in bringing to your notice the punctuality, order and regularity with which all these embarkations were conducted.

The acting Quartermaster-General made arrangements with the railway officials, who fulfilled their share of the operations in a most satisfactory manner, a matter of no slight difficulty on a road with but one line of rails, and where the regular traffic was not impeded.

The Kingston Field Battery was on every occasion attached to the Division, and acted in support. On the 2nd of July they performed shot and shell practice at floating targets in the river, and on the 3rd July they proceeded 20 miles in marching order, according to the standing orders on this head, returning to their own headquarters in Kingston, where the guns and harness were deposited in the Artillery Park, and the members of the battery dismissed to their homes.

The annual tabular inspection report, and the District target practice returns are enclosed.

A statement of the last issues of clothing and equipment is also attached, as well as the Brigade Major's Reports of their respective Brigade Divisions.

The orders issued from headquarters for annual drill were complete, and enabled the staff of the Division to carry out the duties with comparative ease.

As soon as all the corps had assembled and prepared their encampments, arrangements were at once made for the issue of rations and forage straw for bedding, &c., in a regular manner.

A camp board was detailed daily in Divisional orders, composed of the field officers of the day, the medical officer of the day, and Quartermaster of the day. These met at five a.m. every morning, at the supply officer's store, where all issues were closely inspected by them, and passed or rejected, according to circumstances. I am happy to say that few complaints were made as regards the issues.

The contractor for bread unfortunately purchased a quantity of flour that was not of good quality, and the bread for the first few days was condemned, and had to be replaced by other bread purchased in the city at the contractor's expense; but subsequently this article of issue was of the best quality and gave general satisfaction. The meat, groceries, vegetables and forage were all excellent throughout.

The musketry instructor commenced target practice the day following the formation of the camp, and was actively engaged, with his assistant, every day until the whole of the infantry battalions had performed their practice. This officer's report is attached. A corps was detailed in orders daily for this duty, and as the weather was most favourable not a day was lost in this important branch of the soldiers' exercises. A portion of the cavalry likewise performed target practice with carbines at two distances only. The reason why the whole of the cavalry troops did not do so is satisfactorily explained in Major Graveley's report.

The voluntary system of enrolment for the active Militia appears to be less reliable than in former years, judging from the reports of commanding officers. There is no doubt that in large cities the difficulty of obtaining men to join the force voluntarily is increased, owing chiefly to the disinclination of employers of labor to lose the services of those in their employ, and not to any dislike by the men to turn out. In the rural battalions, where no such counter influence exists, officers did not experience the same trouble in filling their rolls.

All the corps assembled in this camp were highly creditable as to the class of men enrolled, as well as in their appearance, physique and general good behaviour. The weather was all that could be desired in a summer camp, and every corps, without exception, strove their utmost to master the details of drill, and to make a good appearance at brigade and divisional manoeuvres. They displayed an unusual amount of intelligence and activity in all that they were required to do, and if the same influence can be maintained by the officers, I apprehend no difficulty in always getting men to follow them, whenever called upon to do so, in peace or war.

The Cavalry force consisted of eight troops, under the command of Lieut.-Col. D'Arcy Boulton, of the Northumberland and Durham Squadron. This officer divided his eight troops into two provisional regiments or wings of two squadrons each. The command of one wing devolved upon Lieut.-Col. Smart, of the Port Hope Troop, and that of the other upon Major Duff of the Frontenac Squadron. These two bodies of cavalry were daily exercised by their respective commanders, and Lieut.-Col. Boulton manoeuvred the whole frequently as a cavalry brigade. Their appearance and performance at the final inspection was a proof of the capability of their officers, and the endeavor of the men to give satisfaction. The horses were generally of a fair stamp, and the old troops equipped with regulation saddlery, made a good appearance.

The Kingston Field Battery of Artillery, with four guns and 62 horses, composed of the leading farmers in the Township of Pittsburgh, who have for many years supported this battery, and have become thoroughly conversant with their work as gunners and drivers, were always in the right place when wanted, and upheld the character of the battery.

The sudden and unexpected illness of Lieut.-Col. Drummond deprived the battery of his presence in the field, but Major Alexander Kirkpatrick, an old and tried officer in this branch of the service, being next in command, took charge of the battery during the training.

The 14th, Prince of Wales Own Rifles, being composed of men living in the City of Kingston, experience some difficulty in keeping the ranks full, owing to the labor market outbidding the soldiers' pay, and the danger incurred by young men of losing lucrative situations if they leave their business to follow the drums of a regiment, even for 16 days.

The 15th Argyle Light Infantry has always borne the character of a smart and well equipped corps. They turned out this year in fair numbers, though chiefly composed of business men of the Town of Belleville. They brought with them to camp an unusually good band, though few in numbers.

The 16th "Prince Edward" Battalion hails from one of the finest sections of this well disposed and loyal District, but their numbers were smaller than on any former occasion when I have inspected them. The cause of this diminution in their numbers was not explained, and I am unable to account for it. Their Lieutenant-Colonel was appointed a Brigadier in the camp, and the 16th was in his own brigade. The corps was formerly one of the strongest, numerically as well as physically, in the District, and also one of the most efficient. It was rumored that the ballot is advocated in that section, where a small portion of the community only have hitherto contributed to the defence of the country.

The 40th "Northumberland" Battalion mustered stronger than any other corps, being nearly 400 strong, officers and men. This is a remarkably fine battalion, well commanded and well officered. Lieut.-Col. Smith was selected to command a brigade, and performed this duty as steadily as he commands his fine battalion. The immediate command of the 40th fell upon Major Elliott, and the corps distinguished itself by uniform good conduct and a thorough knowledge of drill and camp duties.

The 45th West Durham Battalion, formerly the best drilled corps in the District, and always enthusiastic as volunteers, did not turn out this year as strong as was expected. They were the weakest in camp. Their Lieut.-Colonel is a popular and active soldier, well acquainted with his duties, and unusually attentive to the comforts of his men. It is hoped that next year the battalion will uphold its former prestige, and be second to none in numbers as well as in efficiency.

The 46th East Durham Battalion mustered nearly 300, and was the best equipped and best drilled corps in the camp this year. Their marching was particularly good, and the officers deserve much praise for the manner in which they have brought their Battalion to the fore.

The 47th Frontenac Battalion is one of the Kingston corps. The companies are recruited in villages around Kingston. A portion of this battalion is of ancient standing. The Storrington companies having been long noted for their stalwart men and their love for arms. These companies have been called out for active service several times. The 47th mustered over 300, and was the second strongest in camp. Many of the old hands having served the time required by law, two or three times over, have given place to younger men. It appeared that this corps had more recruits than any other. These recruits, though young now, and not full sized, will improve each year in strength and knowledge of military life, and following in the steps of their predecessors, will, it is expected, maintain the good name of the Frontenac Battalion.

The 48th Lennox and Addington is also a rural corps. Its companies are very widely scattered. It turned out fairly as to numbers, all its companies were represented. No. 5 company evinced more enterprise than any other, having 52 officers and men. The 48th obtained the highest figure of merit at target practice, and claim the title of "Sharpshooters."

The 49th Hastings Battalion Rifles is a particularly fine body of men. Recruited from the back country and mining districts, where an outdoor life has bronzed and hardened them to the likeness of veterans, they marched with an elastic and easy step that was much admired. The corps has been converted to rifles since I last had the honor of inspecting them. On every occasion when the brigades were manœuvred the 49th, along with the 14th, covered the advance and performed the special duties of riflemen as skirmishers.

The 57th Battalion, from Peterborough, is another fine rural corps, many of whose members support themselves by a back woodsman's life. They evince an activity and easiness of motion that can only be acquired by constant exercise and hard work. They also excelled in marching; and considering the difficulty of collecting men so much scattered as are the members of this corps, the muster was satisfactory.

The members of the Divisional Staff, as well as those of the brigades, deserve special mention, as upon their exertions and knowledge of their duties so much depended.

Major Smith, the Assistant Adjutant-General for the camp, rendered me most important assistance by the excellence of his arrangements for carrying out all the duties of his department. In the field he proved himself an officer well fitted for the position. His punctuality and constant attendance in the camp was the chief cause of the soldier like manner in which the duties were carried out.

Major Phillips, Assistant Quartermaster-General for the camp, was unfortunately suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism, which prevented his riding on horseback or walking any distance, but he continued at his post, and materially assisted in the success of the camp arrangements.

Dr. O. S. Strange, M. D., the Principal Medical Officer, was zealous in his daily inspection of the camp and men's tents, and in his endeavours to promote the health and comfort of the troops. He suggested sound sanitary improvements, and by his advice and influence persuaded the men to bathe at proper hours, and exert themselves in cleaning and purifying the camp ground. The medical reports by regimental surgeons were daily received by him, and in serious cases, of which there were very few, he decided as to whether the patients should be sent to their homes or to the general hospital. The position and importance of a Principal Medical Officer in a military view, did not appear to be understood at first by the medical officers as a body, and some trouble was experienced in making them attend for their chief's orders, and in sending him their daily states. This might be remedied by a General Order on future occasions, specially calling the attention of Medical Volunteer Officers to this duty.

The Supply Officer, Lieut.-Col. Swetman, contributed largely to the success of the camp. Where men are well fed and not harrassed there will generally be good feeling. The Supply Officer's preparatory arrangements for the daily issues of supplies were perfect in themselves; the preparations were completed in good time; all appliances for weighing the provisions, and for conveying them from the issuing stores to the several regimental encampments, were thought of and ready, so that from the moment the first corps arrived in camp, the issues were made with unprecedented regularity and despatch that would have reflected credit upon the most experienced issuer in Her Majesty's service. I beg to make special mention of this officer's great attention to his duties, and his uniform good temper and firmness in the performance of them.

The Chief Musketry Instructor, Major Graveley, proved another happy selection as staff officer. Not one hour was lost after the camp was formed in commencing target practice. At daylight on the 20th the corps that arrived on the previous day was at the ranges. Ammunition had been drawn over night and served out, the scoring papers ready, markers at the butts, targets painted, and the shooting from that hour was carried on daily, with unremitting industry, until every man in the infantry corps had fired his 15 rounds. Major Graveley's report speaks in high terms of his assistants, Major John K. Macaulay, 47th Battalion, and Lieut. Johnson, 57th Battalion. These officers relieved each other at the butts, and one or other of them was constantly present, when firing was going on, from daylight till dark. The accomplishment of this duty in so limited a time, by so many men, is entirely due to the exertions and conscientious discharge of their work by Major Graveley and his assistants. Sergeant J. Bailli, 47th Battalion, was the Musketry Sergeant Instructor, and was constantly at his post, rendering valuable assistance by his experience and personal skill as a rifle marksman. The sergeant proved this year, as he did last year, that he is the best shot in the District, scoring 50 points out of a possible of 60.

To my Orderly Officer, Capt. R. W. Barrow, 14th Prince of Wales' Own Rifles, I am much indebted. His knowledge of the locality and of the duties of a soldier, and his endeavor to aid me in every possible manner, both in the camp and on the drill field, was highly satisfactory. Being well mounted, he was never behind hand in conveying an order, and I beg to recommend him to your favorable notice on future occasions, where similiar duties may be in demand.

The Brigadiers, Lieut.-Col. Ross, 16th Battalion, and Lieut.-Col. Smith, 40th Battalion, exerted themselves early and late to forward my views as to the preparatory exercises and drills for the field manœuvres, which occupied the concluding days of the Division in camp.

Lieut.-Col. James F. Macloed, C. M. G., 45th Battalion, and Major Charles Boulton, 46th Battalion, rendered good service to their Brigadiers and to their Division. They are both officers of reputation and skill in their profession. Well mounted, good horsemen, and possessed of tact and judgment, the duties of their position could not have been better performed. I have much pleasure in recommending them to your favorable notice as staff officers.

The accompanying plan of the camp ground and surrounding neighborhood was surveyed and drawn, during the camp, as before stated, by Lieut. Joseph W. Power, 14th Prince of Wales Own Rifles, at my request, and I trust that his talent as a surveyor and draughtsman, gratuitously employed on this occasion, may lead to his advancement in the service by the Militia Department.

The best shooting Battalion proved to be the 48th Lennox and Addington Battalion whose figure of merit was 11.86. The next best was the 45th West Durham—figure of merit 11.45. The 47th Frontenac came next—figure of merit 11.13. The District figure of merit is 10.08. The best shot in the District is Sergeant J. Baillie, 47th, No. 5 company, whose score was 50 points. The second best is Sergeant Loyst, No. 1 Company, 48th—score, 45 points. The third best is Sergeant Marsh, No. 1 Company, 49th Rifles—score, 44 points.

The highest Company figure of merit was obtained by No. 1 Company, (Tamworth) 48th Battalion, 19.22. The second highest was No. 5 Company, (Barriefield) 47th Battalion, 17.27. The third highest was No. 5 Company, (Milford,) 16th Battalion, 14.04. Figure of merit, Sixth Brigade Division, comprising four Battalions, 10.21. That of the 7th Brigade comprising six Battalions, 9.95.

The Cavalry target practice being confined to two ranges only, and with carbines, and only half the troops having fired, was not taken into account when determining these figures of merit.

The following list shows the figure of merit of the best shooting company, and the best shot in each Battalion of Infantry:—

No. 1 Company, Kingston. Figure of Merit 12.52.

14th Battalion, No. 5 Company, Kingston—Best shot : W. Hume, 35 points.

At shot and shell practice by the Kingston Field Battery, while in camp, the best shot was made by Sergeant Major John Wilmot, at 1,050 yards. I enclose the Battery report of practice furnished by the officer in command.

The arrangements made for the medical treatment of the men were sufficient. There were no hospital tents issued, but a vacant room in one of the stone cottages unoccupied at Point Frederick, was furnished for the accommodation of slight cases of sickness, while the more serious cases were either sent to the General Hospital at Kingston, or at once escorted back to their homes. The report of the Principal Medical Officer of the camp is attached. This officer gives a statement of the sanitary arrangements, and narrates the instances of disease which necessitated the removal of the men from the camp. One case of erysipelas, one of measles, one of scarlet fever, and one of delirium tremens, are the most noticeable. Those who were capable of travelling were sent home, and those who were too ill to bear a journey were removed into the General Hospital and treated by the medical officers of that institution, at a charge of 50 cents a day to pay for their sustenance. Some of the troopers received severe kicks from the horses in the ranks, and one man had his knee cap fractured, which detained him in the hospital for some weeks, but no casualty occurred resulting in death or permanent injury amongst the men. Two horses died during the camp training, from causes explained in the reports of the veterinary surgeons, and claims have been made against the public for their value by their owners.

Complaints were made by some of the surgeons, that the medicine chests issued by them did not contain all that was needful, nor what was represented to be in them. Suggestions are offered as to clothing for the troops in hot weather, such as havelocks for the forage caps, and serge tunics for the heavy cloth ones.

The District Paymaster, Lieut.-Colonel Maxwell Strange, was attentive to the mustering of all corps when summoned for that duty. He issued the annual drill pay to each corps prior to their leaving the camp, and I have much gratification in bearing testimony to the efficiency of this officer as a paymaster.

The officers of the store department performed their functions with assiduity and despatch. The duty of issuing and receiving again into store all the camp equipage was carried out satisfactorily, under the superintendence of Lieut.-Colonel Corbett, the store keeper at Kingston, who attended camp daily for the purpose of correcting mistakes made in the first issue by reason of regimental Quartermasters demanding more tents and blankets than the actual strength of the corps present in the camp warranted. Many drew at first for the full strength authorized, and gave some trouble in readjusting the issues, as there were not sufficient tents and blankets to provide for more troops than were actually present, upon the scale of issue laid down in the General Orders and Regulations for the annual drill. The loss in camp equipage was not large, but several hundreds of tent pegs were broken or driven into the ground too tightly to be removed without breaking. Many tent poles broke from being made of bad material. At the final counting of tents and blankets, one tent was missing and a large number of blankets. The tent was traced to the possession of an officer of the force, who had taken it away with the intention of paying the Government price for it. But this practice is most reprehensible, and should be stopped by rigorous measures, and the price set upon these articles of equipment should be made higher than the same things can be got elsewhere, instead of much cheaper, as at present, which is a temptation to some people to possess themselves at a moderate cost of something they are not likely to meet with at the same rate in other places. It is believed that many of the missing blankets were taken by the owners of horses, who in this manner, even if discovered, would have provided themselves with cheap horse clothing for the winter. Through the activity of the store officers and the Assistant Quartermaster General of the camp, the corps to whom missing articles were issued and not returned, are known, and charges for deficiencies noted against them; and

I would strongly advocate the most unrelenting severity in dealing with those who thus appropriate to their own use the Government property, whenever they can be discovered.

Paragraph 48 of the Regulations for annual drill desires that the District Paymaster shall be present in camp at least one day before the breaking up of the camp, that the men can be paid before they are dismissed to their homes. This regulation might be modified, so as to retain a portion of the pay in hand to cover losses in camp equipage as above described. The balance due the men can then be sent to the captains of companies for distribution, as soon as it can be ascertained beyond doubt that all their equipment has been safely restored.

A military police was formed immediately after the force arrived in camp, under a Provost Sergeant, who received orders from and reported to the Assistant Adjutant-General. This police force consisted of the Provost-Sergeant and 24 selected men from different corps.

The Kingston Camp having had the honor of being inspected by His Excellency the Governor-General, on his first arrival in Canada, the following complimentary order was issued, which gave the greatest satisfaction to the force, and will without doubt have a salutary effect in bringing out both men and officers next year, if a similar camp should be determined on either here or elsewhere.

GENERAL ORDER.

KINGSTON CAMP, July 2nd, 1872.

The Adjutant-General of Militia has received the commands of His Excellency the Governor General, to express to the officers and men composing the force of the Third Military District, assembled at Kingston Camp for annual drill, His Excellency's extreme gratification at the soldier-like appearance, good conduct and efficiency displayed during their training in camp.

The inspection which took place on the 1st instant has given His Excellency a most favorable impression of the troops of the Dominion, which he will not fail to convey to Her Majesty the Queen.

The Adjutant-General desires that this order be read at the head of every regiment serving in camp, before they leave for their respective homes.

P. ROBERTSON-ROSS, Colonel,
Adjutant General of Militia.

In conclusion I beg to append for your information the names and corps of all the staff officers and sergeants who were engaged in carrying out your instructions for the instructional annual drill this year.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

MILITARY DISTRICT No. 4

The Militia in this District are under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Jackson, Acting Deputy Adjutant General, who reports for my information as follows, on the state of his command :—

HEAD QUARTERS, BROCKVILLE,

31st October, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the District under my command is 3,228 officers and men, exclusive of the 1st Battalion Governor-General's Foot Guards.

The total actual strength of the force, when mustered at the time of the annual drill for 1872-74, was 1,863 officers and men. There are 1,365 officers and men wanting to complete.

The Active Militia in the District consists of the following corps, which, at the time of the annual drill, was as follows :—

	Officers.	N. C. O. and Men.
Temporary Staff	7	4
Prescott Troop of Cavalry	3	24
Ottawa do	2	26
do Field Batter	3	60
do Brigade Garrison Artillery	27	269
Gananoque Battery do	3	29
B. & O. Railway do	2	66
18th Battalion, County Prescott	13	83
41st do Brockville	23	197
42nd do do	23	245
43rd do County Carleton	27	251
56th do (Lisgar Rifles) Prescott	25	252
49th do Stormont and Glengarry, Cornwall	16	163
Total	174	1689

Average per Company : 1.40 (officers and men.)

Total number of horses attending annual drill—163.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with the General Orders of 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner :—

Nos. 3 and 5 Batteries Ottawa Brigade Garrison Artillery and the Gananoque Battery went into Fort Henry, at Kingston, on the 24th June ; and Nos. 1, 2, 4, 6, and 7 Batteries Ottawa Brigade proceeded to the same place on the 3rd July, where they performed the sixteen days' annual drill, under the Inspector of Artillery. The Brockville and Ottawa Railway Battery performed their drill under the old regulations at the battery head-quarters.

The following corps went into camp at Prescott, on the 20th June, where they performed the usual sixteen days' drill, in Brigade :—

Prescott Troop of Cavalry—	Major Walsh.
Ottawa do.	Captain Sparks.
Ottawa Field Battery,	Lieut. Stewart.
18th Battalion,	Lieut.-Colonel Shields.
41st do.	Lieut.-Colonel Cole.
42nd do.	Lieut.-Colonel Buell, M.P.
43rd do.	Lieut.-Colonel Bearman.
56th do.	Lieut.-Colonel Jessup.
59th do.	Lieut.-Colonel Bergin, M.P.

The two troops of cavalry only received their clothing and equipment just as they were going into camp; and as they had not been previously drilled, they came as recruits. The Ottawa troop marched the whole distance—fifty-nine miles—which they performed in about two days. The squadron was placed under the senior cavalry officer, Major Walsh, to whose ability and energy is due the rapid improvement in drill and fine appearance of this arm of the service, which should, I think, be increased to at least six troops, and formed into a regiment. The popularity of this arm is such as to ensure the required number at any time the Department may authorize the organization.

The Ottawa Field Battery maintained its former reputation for efficiency, although I noticed that some of the gunners were physically below the usual standard of this corps. On account of the illness of Captain Forsyth, the command devolved upon Lieut. Stewart, who (owing to various causes) was the only competent officer with the corps, and deserves special mention for the efficient manner in which he carried on the duties.

It is with much regret that I announce the demise, on the 2nd September, of the veteran, Captain Forsyth, who had held a commission in the battery since the 12th March, 1857. In this death we have lost a zealous and efficient officer.

The Gananoque Battery Garrison Artillery, having been converted into a Field Battery, will, I trust, be supplied with guns and other equipment in time for next year's encampment.

The Rifle and Infantry corps did not muster nearly so strong as on previous occasions, and as a rule were composed of from one-half to two-thirds new men who had not previously received any instruction in drill. The physique was also much below former years, many being boys in their teens, who, though active and sharp in picking up their duties, are not sufficiently developed to stand the fatigues of a campaign.

The duties in camp were carried on as directed in General Orders of 31st May, 1872; and for corps composed of so many recruits, it is really wonderful that so much could have been accomplished. The want of squad drill was much felt. The large number of fatigues required in the mornings reduced the companies so much at early parade that but few received this very important part of a soldier's instruction. If a few days could be devoted to squad and company drill previous to joining the large camp, much greater efficiency would be attained. There is, however, in all corps, a few men who have served in previous camps who impart to their comrades many little hints so essential to be known by men on duty; and as a great majority of the officers have served for many years, it is to their exertions and assistance I am indebted for the general efficiency.

In addition to the ordinary parades, the Brigade was inspected by the Adjutant-General on the 28th June. On the 1st July (Dominion Day) we had a general field day; and on the 2nd the camp was inspected and the force reviewed by His Excellency the Governor General. These reviews were witnessed by a large number of people from the surrounding towns and counties, as well as many from the city of Ogdensburg and vicinity. This visit of His Excellency Lord Dufferin, so soon after his arrival in Canada, was very gratifying to the force in camp, and it afforded much pleasure to the officers to have had the honor of an introduction to His Excellency while there.

With the exception of the two troops of cavalry, the whole of the corps in camp performed the usual course of target practice, which resulted in the following figure of merit of the respective corps :—

18th Battalion—	Lieut.-Colonel Shields.....	15.28
41st do	Lieut.-Colonel Cole.....	13.15
42nd do	Lieut.-Colonel Buell, M.P.....	15.83
43rd do	Lieut.-Colonel Bearman.....	15.05
56th do	Lieut.-Colonel Jessup ..	9.42
59th do	Lieut.-Colonel Bergin.....	9.99

A list of the best shots in the Military District is herewith transmitted.

The "best shot" in the District is Paymaster's Clerk, Sergeant Peter T. Saucier, 18th Battalion, who scored 56 points, as follows: 200 yds.—3, 3, 3, 4; 400 yds.—1, 4, 4, 4, 4; 600 yds.—4, 4, 4, 4, 4, = 56 points.

I may here state that none of the battalions in camp, owing to the want of numbers in some of their companies, could comply with the General Orders, 31st May, 1872, paragraph 149; consequently, no battalion prizes were awarded.

The arms, accoutrements, and clothing, are as a rule well kept; but in almost every company there are several rifles unserviceable, from want of nipples, piston-springs, or parts of lock, which, having become broken, cannot be replaced. A list of the last issue of clothing is herewith transmitted.

The Ottawa Field Battery require new tunics and trousers, and almost every corps require a few articles to sort up. This applies more particularly to the trousers, which do not wear nearly so long as the tunics.

On the whole, the brigade is fairly clothed and equipped.

The present style of forage cap is not a favourite, and it is with much difficulty the men can be induced to wear it, particularly in warm weather. The men who compose the force, when at their ordinary avocations, are accustomed to wear a head-dress with a protection to the eyes; and when called upon to put on the regulation forage cap without a peak, feel much inconvenience.

The medicine boxes, with their contents, gave more general satisfaction to the surgeons than heretofore. The health of the camp was generally good, the most serious cases being sun-stroke, and there was no serious accident during the whole period.

The rations were of good quality, and I heard no complaints as to quantity.

The question of the qualification of officers is a serious one. In some corps, on account of so few holding certificates, promotion is almost at a stand still. During the past year but few have applied for permission to enter a school of military instruction. If a school were opened in the District, no doubt many more would avail themselves of the instruction thus offered.

The large drill-shed at Prescott would be a convenient place for both a cavalry and Infantry school; and if a competent artillery instructor were kept permanently at Ottawa, many officers belonging to the artillery branch could qualify for examination without any considerable expense to the Government.

The Town Council of Prescott provided, free of expense to the Government, a field for brigade drill, water for the men, sheds for the cavalry and artillery horses, latrines, and repairs of rifle range.

It is the general impression throughout the District that municipalities ought not to be called upon to expend so large a sum for the advantage of having the camp located at a certain point; and I have no doubt the time is fast approaching when the Government will have to provide all necessary accommodation for the requirements of the force during the annual trainings.

The several railway and steamboat companies conveyed the men to and from the camp without accident, and on the day of embarkation. This was not done, however—owing to a scarcity of cars on some roads—without some difficulty, and in some instances with exposure to the men. The St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway moved the large number of men, camp equipage and ammunition, over this line with their usual promptness.

To the officers who served on the temporary Staff, I am indebted for their attention and assistance in carrying on the duties, viz:—Major D. A. McDonald, 59th Battalion, Acting Brigade Major; Captain Butterfield, 18th Batt., Supply officer; Captain Weatherley, Gov. General's Foot Guards, Musketry Instructor; Captain and Quarter-Master D. B. Jones, 41st Batt., Camp Quarter-Master; and Captain and Paymaster Wells, 18th Batt., and Lieut. W. H. Supple, 42nd Batt., Orderly Officers.

Lieut.-Colonel McDougall, District Paymaster, performed his duties in his usual correct manner, and paid the troops at camp in Prescott, as well as the artillery from this District, who performed their drill in Fort Henry, Kingston.

Since writing the foregoing, I have travelled through part of the District, and consulted with several captains as to the probability of maintaining their respective companies to the authorized strength, and without exception they are of opinion that it will be impossible to maintain even a respectable minority of their authorized establishment under the present system.

Some think that, if a certain number of drills were to be performed at the company head-quarters, the importance of the organization would be kept more prominently before the people, which would naturally tend to stimulate recruiting; but all are of opinion that the ballot is the only reliable remedy.

Enclosed please find tabular Inspection and Target-Practice Returns, all of which, I trust, will be found satisfactory.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

W. H. JACKSON, Lieut.-Colonel,

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner.

A Brigade Camp of Instruction was formed for the 1st Brigade Division near St. Andrew's, 25th June, under my command.

Another for the 2nd Brigade Division at Laprairie, under Lieut.-Colonel Fletcher, C. M. G., 21st June.

And one for the 3rd Brigade Division, near Sherbrooke, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel King, 21st June.

The reports of Lieut.-Colonels Fletcher and King are forwarded herewith, and with my own will give a record of the annual training of the Active Militia in Military District No. 5, for the current year.

The ground chosen for the St. Andrew's Camp was on a plateau on the north side of the valley of the River Rouge, about two miles from the village of St. Andrew's, admirably adapted for the purpose, beautifully situated, being bounded on both sides by woods, and commanding a magnificent view towards the south and east. The land kindly given free of charge was the property of Mr. Emery Simpson and Mr. Peter McMartin, besides which the inhabitants of St. Andrew's subscribed most liberally and defrayed the expense of sinking water puncheons, and provided the camp with a never-failing supply of pure spring water during the whole time of the encampment; to this cause and the airy situation, I attribute the almost entire absence of sickness in the camp.

On the 24th June, the Staff, composed as follows:—

Brigade Major, Major Crawford, 3rd Battalion.

Supply Officer, Lieut.-Colonel Dowker, M. G. A.

Camp Quarter-Master, Lieut. Seath, 6th Battalion.

Musketry Instructor, Lieut. Campbell, 3rd Battalion.

Orderly Officer, Lieut. Gordon, M. G. A.

proceeded to the ground, and the operation of laying out the camp commenced, and by the exertions of the Brigade Major, assisted by the Camp Quarter-Master and Orderly Officer, was most accurately performed. A non-commissioned officer and one man per company from the various corps arrived, and took over the camp equipage of their respective corps, commenced to pitch tents, dig latrines, &c., the whole remaining in camp during the night.

On the 25th the various corps commenced to arrive, and by night fall, with the exception of the Montreal Troop of Cavalry, which was marching from Montreal, all had arrived, and were comfortably settled for the night ; rations returns for the following day having been made out, guards mounted, and sentries posted.

The brigade was composed as follows :—

- St. Andrew's and Montreal Troops of Cavalry.
- 1st Batt. " Prince of Wales Rifles."
- 3rd Batt. " Victoria Volunteer Rifles."
- 6th Batt. " Hochelaga Light Infantry."
- 11th Batt. " Argenteuil Rangers."
- Wakefield Infantry Company.
- Eardley Infantry Company.
- Aylwin Infantry Company.

The three last named companies were attached to the 16th Battalion.

On the 26th rations were first served out and regular drill commenced, which for the first five days was confined to squad, company, troop and battalion drill. The daily improvement was apparent, and especially with the Aylwin Company which came into camp all recruits, and was soon able to take their place in battalion. On the 1st of July the first brigade parade was ordered; and a march past and a few simple brigade movements were gone through, but no blank ammunition was served out, as I did not consider the brigade had been long enough in training to make the expenditure profitable. From this time until the close of the camp, besides the morning drills, brigade parade daily (three days with 10 rounds of blank ammunition) and the improvement in brigade movements and light infantry was most creditable, and gave me very great satisfaction.

I gave the command of the brigade parade one day each to the following officers, namely : Lieut.-Colonel Bond, Lieut.-Colonel Bethune and Major Rogers, arranging with them beforehand, what Brigade movements were to be performed at the afternoon parades, and I have much satisfaction in reporting that they went through with their respective programmes in a very creditable manner.

The rifle ranges, situated on a piece of ground kindly given for the purpose by Mr. Charles Albright, a farmer, were about half a mile from the camp ; the butts, four in number, were carefully built under the supervision of the Musketry Instructor, and each range was available for 200, 400, and 600 yards. The target practice commenced on the 2nd July, and was conducted admirably and carried through successfully, and completed on the 6th, without mishaps of any kind, thanks to the care taken by the Brigade Musketry Instructor, Lieut. Campbell. A list of best shots is herewith transmitted.

The whole of the buglers in camp were daily exercised under an efficient instructor, and benefitted much by the arrangement.

The duties of guard mounting, posting sentries, &c., I found at first to be very unsatisfactorily performed, until I detailed an instructor to attend to this particular duty, and the benefit thereof was very soon apparent, by the manner in which the guards were relieved, and the greater alertness shewn by the sentries on their posts.

Regimental officers' messes were established and worked well; the Brigade Staff messed by themselves.

The brigade paraded for Divine Service each Sunday in camp; the Roman Catholics attending their church in St. Andrew's, and the Rev. Canon Lonsdale most kindly officiated in camp for the Protestants.

Under the supervision of the Camp Quartermaster, the camp was kept clean and healthy. The issue of all the camp equipage, as well as taking over again devolves on this officer, and he performed his duties, sometimes arduous, very much to my satisfaction.

The duties of Supply Officer were most efficiently performed, and the Contractor's supplies were of excellent quality, there were consequently no complaints during the whole time of the training, either as to the quantity or quality of the rations, the additions made to which since the previous year were duly appreciated.

The Brigade Major was indefatigable, and my best thanks are due to him for the very satisfactory manner in which he carried out my orders in every respect; in fact where all the staff appeared to work with the determination to make the camp a success, it is perhaps invidious on my part to individualize, as my thanks are due to the whole of my staff for the way in which they supported me throughout.

I forward herewith a sketch of the camp, and a very little of its surroundings.

The Montreal Field Battery drilled four days at Laprairie, and they have to complete their annual training during the winter.

The Montreal Garrison Artillery (6 Batteries) went into Barracks at Montreal, and there performed their annual sixteen days' drill.

The Montreal Engineers (2 Companies) encamped for sixteen days on St. Helen's Island. All these corps, as well as the Shefford Field Battery and the St. John's Garrison Battery, I mustered for pay; but for efficiency in Artillery, Regimental Drill and Exercises I have to refer you to the report of the Inspector of Artillery for the Province of Quebec.

During the year five troops of cavalry have been raised and accepted in the District, and I have now two more offering their services.

Cavalry corps can be kept up in the rural districts at the present rate of pay, but to keep up the infantry battalions, it appears to me to become year by year more difficult.

Before closing this report, I beg to record my thanks to Mr. Emery Simpson and Mr. Peter McMartin for their liberality in placing at my disposal a very large portion of their farms for the purpose of the camp; and to the inhabitants of St. Andrew's for their most excellent supply of spring water.

To the Rev. Canon Lonsdale my thanks are also due, as, although much engaged, having three services to perform in his own Church in St. Andrew's, he each Sunday officiated for us in camp.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

THOMAS BACON, Lient.-Colonel,

Acting Deputy Adjutant General, Militia,

Military District, No. 5.

HEAD QUARTERS, 2ND BRIGADE DIVISION,

MILITARY DISTRICT No. 5.

St. JOHN'S, October 23, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the total nominal strength of the force in the Division under my command, were the respective corps complete to their established strength as authorized, would be, officers and men, 2,611.

The total actual strength of the Force, when mustered at the time of the annual drill for 1872 and 1873, was, officers and men, 1,169. There are wanting to complete, officers and men, 1,442.

The Active Militia in the Division consists of the following corps, which at the time of the annual drill turned out as follows :—

	Officers.	N. C. Officers and men.
Huntingdon Troop of Cavalry.....	2	34
Mississquoi do do	1	35
Brome do do	3	34
Shefford Field Battery Artillery	5	60
St. John's Garrison Artillery	3	32
21st Batt. Richelieu Light Infantry.....	13	86
50th Batt. Huntingdon Borderers.....	26	121
51st Batt. Hemmingford Rangers.....	29	220

60th Batt. Mississquoi Infantry.....	21	122
79th Batt. Shefford Highlanders.....	30	130
Total.....	151	1,013

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of the 31st May, and in the following manner :—

The three troops of Cavalry and six Battalions of Infantry in camp at Laprairie, under my command, and the two Batteries of Artillery at St. Helen's Island under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. Strange and officers of "B" Battery.

The camp at Laprairie was formed on the 21st June. The Infantry camp occupied the rising ground on the right of the barracks, and the cavalry were encamped between the barracks and the river, both camps were well laid out, and kept in excellent order. The plan of picketing the horses adopted by Lieut.-Col. Lovelace, commanding the Cavalry, was very secure and serviceable. Enclosed is a sketch of the camp :—

DRILL AND DUTIES.

The first six days in camp were taken up with squad, troop and company drill, and target practice, the remainder of the time with battalion, light infantry and brigade drill. The troops of cavalry were all new, having been formed in April last, had never been drilled until their arrival in camp, but under the efficient instruction of Lieut.-Colonel Lovelace, such progress was made, that at inspection they marched past at a walk and gallop in a very creditable manner.

In the infantry there were seven companies all formed within ten days of mustering for camp, viz. : one company 21st Battalion, one Company 52nd Battalion, and five in the 79th Battalion. None of them were armed, and one had not received clothing, but spare arms and clothing were furnished by the other companies to all who were in need. To get these recruits fit to take their place in the ranks gave the instructors enough to do, but officers and men worked with a will, and in a very short time the recruits were able to fall in with arms at battalion drill.

On the 29th of June the Montreal Field Battery, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, joined the camp for four days' drill. The horses were picketed and guns packed in the barracks square. There were no tents at the disposal of the officer commanding; the officers and men of the battery were quartered in the barracks. The battery made good use of its short time in camp by constant drill, and were inspected by Lieut.-Col. Strange on the 2nd July, on the evening of which day the battery left camp.

The whole of the troops in camp paraded on the 1st July, (Dominion Day) and fired a "Feu de joie" in honor of the day; the firing was very well done.

On the 4th July, His Excellency the Governor General, Lord Dufferin, and Staff, with the Adjutant General of Militia, visited the camp and inspected the troops.

The cavalry and infantry were drawn up in line in front of the camp, and received His Excellency with a salute. He then proceeded down the ranks, inspecting the men closely, after which the line was broken into column, and the corps marched past. Line of columns was then formed, one battalion thrown out as skirmishers, and an advance was made; but as His Excellency's time was limited, only a few field movements were gone through with. At the close of the parade, His Excellency presented the prizes won at target practice, and addressed the officers and men in a heart-stirring speech, which was most enthusiastically received as shown by the hearty cheers given for the Queen and Her Representative, Lord Dufferin. His Lordship, with the Adjutant General, then inspected the tents, and expressed himself pleased with the cleanliness and order of the camp. After parade His Excellency held a levee in the barracks, when all the officers in camp were presented to him. The visit of His Excellency, and the Adjutant General gave great eclat to the camp, and was highly appreciated by the officers and men. It proved an incentive to increased effort towards efficiency.

TARGET PRACTICE.

This part of the drill was carried on efficiently and with despatch under the supervision of the Instructor of Musketry, Captain Amyrauld, of the Shefford Field Battery, assisted by Lieut. Hodge, 79th Battalion. All the men were exercised and put through the course in five days. The great number of recruits who fired for the first time kept the average low. The following is the order in which the corps stand in the Figure of Merit:

60th do	13.17
51st do	12.50
52nd do	11.33
79th do	10.07
Huntingdon Troop of Cavalry.....	7.19
*Missisquoi Troop of Cavalry.....	7.15
21st Battalion	7.10
*Brome Troop of Cavalry.....	6.36

*The cavalry fired 10 rounds per man only. The infantry 15 each.

The troops of cavalry being over the two-thirds strength entitled their best shots to prizes. There were only three companies of infantry that came up to the required strength to take prizes.

The winners of prizes were :—

		Points.
Huntingdon Troop.....	Trooper Gates	20
Missisquoi “	“ Mandigo	20
Brome “	“ Good	18
No. 2 Company, 51st Batt.	Sergt. Cottingham	32
No. 5 Company, 52nd Batt	Corpl. Powers	37
No. 1 Company, 77th Batt.....	Private Wright	32

The best shot in the brigade was Sergt. Smith of No. 4 Company, 50th Battalion, who made 43 points, but received no prize because his company and battalion was below the strength. He may be fortunate enough to get the District prize. I would here beg to suggest that a brigade prize be added to the others as a further encouragement to rifle practice. Annexed is a tabular return of the target practice in camp.

 CAMP AND CAMP EQUIPAGE.

The duties of Camp Quarter-Master were efficiently performed by Lieut.-Col. M. L. Moore, formerly of the 69th Regiment. Under his supervision the camp was kept in a clean and salubrious state. The duty of taking over the camp equipage devolves now upon the Camp Quarter-Master, and is a laborious one at any time, but when a number of corps are marching out of camp at the same hour (and that an early one) to take the train, as was the case with four battalions at Laprairie, it is impossible for that officer to count every article, and ascertain to what corps the deficiencies are to be charged. The blankets are delivered in bundles or valises, the tent pins in bags, and the numbers given by the Quarter-Masters of corps are taken for granted as correct. The deficiencies cannot be found out till every article is counted over and examined. To obviate this difficulty, I would recommend that a party of two from each corps remains behind to count every article given over by their respective corps.

SUPPLIES.

The rations supplied were of the best quality, were abundant, and gave good satisfaction. No complaints were heard. A good and ample supply of water was furnished by water carts, and proper care was taken of the water butts, so that no complaint was made, as in 1871, of the short supply and impure state of the water. The fuel-wood used was tamarack in preference to maple, and was a saving of $2.00 per cord. Many of the companies have adopted an improved boiler of cylinder shape, with a lid on the side, this when laid on two bars of iron placed across the trench, is heated with one half the fuel required with ordinary shaped boilers. The barley was appreciated as a valuable addition to the rations. So well pleased have the men been with the rations and their treatment at camp this year, that the officers have repeatedly informed me they expect to have larger musters next year.

Captain Brosseau, of the 21st Battalion, acted as Supply Officer, and performed the duties with zeal and efficiency. Major McNaughton, 51st Battalion, Acting Brigade Major, and Lieut. Baker, 60th Battalion, Orderly, were efficient, and rendered valuable assistance to the commanding officer.

To the whole of the staff, and to the commanding officers of corps, Lieut.-Colonels Lovelace, Stevenson, Marchand, and McEachren, Rogers, Miller, Rowe and Hall, my warmest thanks are due for the cordial support given me in carrying out the routine of drill and duty, and the maintenance of order and discipline in the camp; the efforts of the commanding officers were cheerfully seconded by the officers and non-commissioned officers under their command.

The behaviour of the men was excellent, there were only two cases during the whole encampment involving punishment.

The District Paymaster, Captain Hon. M. Aylmer, mustered every officer, man and horse in camp. The duty of examining the acquittance rolls and paying the troops and companies was most efficiently and satisfactorily performed.

OFFICERS' MESS.

An officers' mess was established in each battalion, and worked well. It is an absolute necessity wherever practicable, that officers should mess together, To carry the system out properly, commanding officers should have the authority to assess the members of the mess, and compel payment for their share of mess expenses, whether present or absent at meals, as in the regular service.

MEDICAL AND SANITARY REGULATIONS.

I have much pleasure in reporting, that the medical officers were efficient and diligent in the discharge of their duties. The sanitary regulations were properly carried out under their direction.

BATTERIES OF ARTILLERY.

The St. John Battery of Garrison Artillery, under Major Drum, went into camp on St. Helens Island, on the 10th July for sixteen days' drill. The battery was inspected by Lieut.-Col. Strange, Inspector of Artillery for the Province of Quebec. The officers and men were highly pleased with the camp and drill instruction received there. The corps mustered 3 officers and 32 non-commissioned officers and gunners, and are a fine body of men.

The Shefford Field Battery under the command of Captain Amyrauld, was organized last spring. Neither small arms, guns or saddlery have been as yet issued to it. The battery went into camp on St. Helen's Island on the 26th September for sixteen days' drill without horses. The drill was carried on under the supervision of the officers of "B" Battery. The corps mustered strong—5 officers and 60 non-com. officers and gunners. They are all able-bodied and active young men. For a report of the drill and inspection of these batteries, I beg to refer to Lieut.-Col. Strange's report

I have honor to be Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN FLETCHER, Lieut.-Col.

Brigade Major, Commanding Camp at Lapraire.

HEAD QUARTERS, 3RD BRIGADE DIVISION,
MILITARY DISTRICT, No. 5,
SHERBROOKE, October, 1871.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the total actual strength of the force in the 3rd Brigade Division when mustered at the annual drill for 1872-'73, was 882. There are 552 officers and men wanting to complete.

The Active Militia in the division consists of the following corps, which at the time of the annual drill turned out as follows :—

	Officers.	N. C. O. and men.
Provisional Regiment of Cavalry, 4 Troops	12	155
*Garrison Battery of Artillery, not drilled ..	2	Brigade Staff. 1
53rd Battalion of Infantry	21	179
54th " "	18	98
58th " "	27	738

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner :—

On the 21st June an advanced party from each corps marched to the camping ground, received their camp equipage, staked out the camp for their respective corps, drew and cooked their rations and guarded the camp equipage during the night. On the following morning rations were drawn by the advance party for their corps which were cooked and ready for them on their arrival on the ground. As the corps arrived, guards were posted, tents pitched, latrines and proper cooking trenches made, and by the evening everything was in working order. There was some inconvenience caused by the short supply of tents, but this was overcome by erecting tents of bark, which proved to be more comfortable than the canvas, and taught the members of the force a good lesson, which may be of use in future, I may mention that sentry boxes were made by placing four poles of young trees about one foot in the ground, securing them at the top by cross pieces, the top and three sides being covered in with spruce boughs. The 22nd being Sunday, Divine service was performed in camp for all denominations.

On Monday the 23rd, the regular drills commenced in a school of instruction under the superintendence of a competent officer in each regiment, for the instruction of the non-com. officers and men, in guard mounting, making out guard reports, and in everything connected with guard duty.

Target practice being the next consideration, was commenced and carried on under Lieut. W. A. Hale, of the Sherbrooke Battery of Garrison Artillery. During the practice it was found that many of the officers were very deficient in the knowledge of position drill and target practice; consequently, after the whole of the corps had finished, and having time and ammunition to spare, I took upon myself the responsibility of placing a certain number of those officers each day under Lieut. Hale, to be instructed at the rifle range in this essential part of their duty, which was carried on under the superintendence of Brevet Lieut.-Colonel Hanning, 54th Battalion, Acting Brigade Major.

The target range was situated to the northwest of the company ground, and a few minutes walk therefrom. The targets were erected in echelon, in sets of two to each of the three ranges, a butt being erected between each set sufficiently large to admit of the working of these discs for both targets. The firing points were a short distance from each other on rising dry ground, consequently, the Musketry Instructor had no difficulty in attending to his duty. One sergeant and two markers were in each butt, and a sergeant at each firing point, the whole being selected for that particular work.

Company drill was carried on both morning and evening for the first few days, then company drill in the morning and battalion drill in the evening and on Saturday, the 29th brigade drill was commenced and continued for the remainder of the time in camp. Monday, the 1st July, being Dominion Day, 10 rounds of blank ammunition were issued to each of cavalry and infantry to celebrate the day, but during the time the men were on parade the rain came down in such torrents that I ordered the force to be marched to their tents, and although the rain was not very acceptable on such an occasion, and that thousands of spectators received a thorough drenching, still it proved of benefit in shewing the force the necessity of properly trenching their tents and encampment, and as soon as the rain had ceased, they were out with picks and spades, being instructed in this part of their duty.

On the morning, the 3rd, the Brigade was paraded for muster, which was carried out in accordance with General Orders, dated 31st May, 1872.

Field days were held on the 4th and 5th of July, and the proficiency attained by the corps was very marked, particularly the cavalry, who went through their movements, including skirmishing, mounting and dismounting, and sword exercise, in a very steady and correct manner, which was highly creditable to them.

On Saturday the 6th, the officers and men were paid, and the corps returned to their company head quarters.

I have great pleasure in stating that the Brigade Staff and officers commanding corps rendered me very valuable assistance in making the camp really a camp of instruction, and by their example their officers and men vied with each other in the proper performance of their duty.

I have also great pleasure in remarking on the absence of drunkenness or other crime; the rations were all that could be desired both in quality and quantity, there were no complaints, and every one seemed highly pleased with the whole arrangements, myself particularly at the exemplary conduct of the troops.

The place selected for the camp was well adapted for the purpose; it is situated on rising ground with sandy soil. There are two ravines, one to the extreme south of the camp, the other between the cavalry and infantry. The water was excellent, being supplied by springs in great quantity; barrels were sunk at certain distances, and connected by spouts. At the extreme end of the barrels, and some distance therefrom, was placed a drinking trough for horses, this trough was about 12 feet long, and was hewn out of a large log. A sentry was placed at each ravine to preserve order.

To ensure a properly organized force for the defence of the country, there should be an efficient staff, and each brigade should be complete within itself. The Divisional and Brigade Staff should be apart from the regimental officers, a school of instruction should be formed, either independent of, or in connection with the present military schools for the instruction of staff officers, and no officer should be appointed to the staff unless qualified and passed by a board of competent officers. The success of an army, either on service or in camp, depends upon the officers of the staff properly understanding and carrying on their duty, as it is impossible for the officers commanding to attend to the details in all the branches.

The staff, except those permanently employed, to receive pay when on active service or in camp of instruction.

Each brigade should consist of a proper proportion of cavalry, field artillery and garrison artillery in garrison towns, engineers, infantry and commissary.

I regret to say that some of the companies mustered very weak, and that No. 4 Company, 54th Battalion, was not represented.

The Stanstead and Compton troops of Cavalry were not supplied with regimental trousers. The clothing of some of the companies was much worn, and the great coats in most cases unfit for service, the latter have been a long time in wear.

I enclose herewith target practice, clothing and inspection returns; also a rough sketch of the camp and target ranges.

Considering that targets have been issued only to the head quarters of each battalion in this Brigade Division, and the great distance of many of the companies from the battalion head quarters, I would strongly recommend that a suitable number of pieces of target be issued to each of these companies, also to each troop of cavalry, as it would tend to encourage more target practice among the members of the force than there is at present.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

CHAS. KING, Lieut.-Colonel,

Brigade Major, Commanding the Camp.

The Adjutant General of Militia,
Ottawa.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st May, 1872, and in the following manner :—

The officers and men of the 4th Brigade Division, with the exception of four companies—to be mentioned hereafter—assembled in a brigade camp, at Beauharnois, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel d’Odet d’Orsonnens, Brigade Major, on the 27th June last.

Of the four companies just above mentioned, three—that is, the companies of St. Benoit, St. Placide, St. Eustache—were in camp at St. Eustache, under the command of Major Napoleon Lebranche, on the same day, 27th June, 1872. The “Como Rifles” were absent from camp.

The officers and men of the 5th Brigade Division formed a brigade camp at Berthier, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Hanson, Brigade Major. This camp was commenced on the 27th June last.

The officers and men of the 6th Brigade Division also, upon the same date, began their sixteen day's drill at Arthabaskaville, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel de Bellefeuille, Brigade Major for that Division.

I visited and inspected myself these four camps.

I forward you with this, rough sketches of three of these camps (the three Brigade camps); also the annual tabular Inspection Returns and the District Target-Practice Returns.

Here is the order in which I inspected these camps :

On the 4th July I reached the Berthier camp (under the command of Lieut.-Col. Hanson.) After inspecting the camp, I reviewed the troops. A few evolutions were begun, but a heavy storm suddenly came, and we were forced to disperse.

In Lieut.-Col. Hanson's report to me, he says :—" I regret to have to report the low points obtained by the non-commissioned officers and men of the Brigade (the 4th Brigade) during the period of their annual drill, the weather accompanied by high winds, during the fourteen days in camp, being unfavorable to target practice."

The following are the names of the best shots in No. 5 Brigade :

Joliette Provisional Battalion :

	Points.
No. 1 Company—Sergeant N. Martel.....	29
„ 2 Company—Sergeant O. Laroie.....	27
„ 3 Company—Sergeant A. Boucher.....	29

Three Rivers Provisional Battalion.

„ 3 Company—Sergeant A. A. Laferrière.....	35
„ 4 Company—Corporal A. Morrison.....	27

Rawdon Independent Company :

No. 1 Company—Private J. Harkness.....	28
„ 2 Company—Sergeant B. Morgan.....	35

In the Brigade Division the arms and equipments are in good order. The great coats issued in 1869 are in fair order. A new issue of tunics, trousers, and forage caps were supplied during the month of June last to the following corps :—

Joliette Provisional Battalion :

	Tunics.	Trousers.	For. Caps.
Nos. 1 and 4 Companies.....	110	110	110
„ 2 and 3 Companies.....	110	110	110

Rawdon Independent Company :

No. 1. Company.....	55	00	55
„ 2 Company.....	55	55	55

By the above return, it will be seen that No. Company—Rawdon—was not supplied with trousers.

The following corps were at the annual drill at Berthier Camp, in the following number :

	Officers.	Men.
Joliette Provisional Battalion of Infantry.....	12	58
Three Rivers.....	14	2
Rawdon Independent Company : No. 1.....	2	3

	31	199

On the 5th July I visited the Arthabaskaville Camp, under command of Lieut.-Col. DeBellefeuille, Brigade Major. The camp was beautifully situated on high grounds. The camp looked remarkably well. This was the largest camp in District No. 6. The men had also a soldierly appearance, and went through a few movements with great credit to themselves and their officers.

This camp was composed of the officers and men of the 6th Brigade. This brigade as at present organized, should number 64 officers and 1,100 mén. The muster roll, taken immediately on arrival in camp, showed a total of 54 officers and 449 men. Wanted to complete—10 officers and 651 men.

The brigade was composed of two battalions. No. 1 Battalion, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Barwis, was composed of the 55th Megantic Light Infantry; and the 2nd Battalion, commanded by Captain de Foy, in the unavoidable absence through sickness of Major St. Jacques, consisted of the St. Haycinthe Provisional Battalion and the independent companies of this brigade.

The Commandant of the camp, Lieut.-Colonel deBellefeuille, in his report to me says—"The conduct of the officers and men was most praiseworthy, owing mainly to the total absence of spirituous liquors.

"The rations, both in quality and quantity, left nothing to be desired. The officers and men were completely satisfied.

"The arms and accoutrements in camp were in good order. I cannot say so much of the uniforms, which I found, after their three years' wear, in a very bad state. It will be absolutely necessary to issue new ones.

"I am sorry to inform you that, in spite of all my endeavors, I have been unable to organize any troop of cavalry. I would, therefore, request the authorities to accede to the wish and request (which request has already been transmitted to Ottawa) of the 55th Megantic, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Barwis, to be converted partly as mounted rifles and partly as field battery. The battalion being composed of good farmers, there would therefore be no difficulty in obtaining good horses; and the men, being thoroughly acquainted with the country as far as the lines, would prove very serviceable as scouts."

On the 9th July I proceeded to inspect the Beauharnois Camp, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel d'Orsonnens, Brigade Major 4th Brigade Division. It would be necessary here to observe that this camp was held under great disadvantages. 1. The independent companies of the Division were camped at St. Eustache. 2. Two of the battalions that were represented at Beauharnois Camp were without uniforms, and one of them had neither arms nor accoutrements. This last one, the "Voltigeurs de Chateauguay," had at camp merely its officers and a small number of non-commissioned officers.

The rest of the companies, although weak, gave proof of good will, and the conduct of the men was admirable in all respects.

Here is the list of the force when I inspected the camp:—

	Officers.	Men.
64th Battalion	20	144
65th Battalion	15	77
Independent Company, St. Jean Baptiste village.....	3	36
" de Beauharnois	2	14
76th Battalion..... Non-commissioned Officers	20	42
Staff	6
Total.....	66	318

In lieu of this small number of men, had the 'cadres' been complete, without counting the 76th, which had just been gazetted, we should have had 770 men and 46 officers without the staff.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Best shot in District: Sergeant B. Morgan, No. 2, Rawdon Company—36 points.

The firing at target was rather indifferent ; they had not the proper ranges for 600 yards.

Lieut.-Colonel d'Orsonnens, in his report to me, says :—" I attribute much of this want of success to the bad system of recruitment. The officers are disheartened, because they cannot fill the 'cadres' of their companies. The volunteers who serve to-day are the same in most cases who have served some fourteen years.

St. Eustache Camp.—I visited this camp on the 11th July, which was under the command of Major Napoleon Labranche. Part of three companies were encamped there, as follows :—

	Officers.	Men.
St. Placide Company	2	14
St. Benoit	2	7
St. Eustache and Staff	2	14
Total.....	8	35

The drill in this camp was conducted in accordance with General Orders of 31st May last, excepting with regard to target practice. The whole of the men had concluded the firing at 200 yards, when the practice was interrupted by boats loading a little distance in rear of the target. There being no other range available, the prescribed course could not be adopted.

I deem it here my duty to thank specially Lieut.-Colonel Hanson, Lieut.-Colonel d'Bellefeuille, Lieut.-Colonel d'Orsonneus, and Major Napoleon Labranche, for the soldierly manner in which the camps over which they had command were laid out.

About the 9th of this month, a well attended and highly contested rifle match took place at Riviere du Loup, in Lieut.-Colonel Hanson's Division. I shall forward you a report of same as soon as I receive it.

I forward you with this a Return showing the last issue of clothing to corps of Active Militia in Military District No. 6.

I shall now conclude this, perhaps too long report by repeating what I have already said in former reports, and say that the only means of keeping up "corps" to their established strength and a proper force in the District, is the "Ballot."

I remain Sir, yours truly,

A. C. DELOTBINIÈRE HARWOOD,
Lieut.-Colonel, D. A. G., Military District No. 6.

The Adjutant General of Militia,
Ottawa.

MILITARY DISTRICT, No. 7.

The Militia in this District are under the command of Lieut.-Colonel L. A. Casault, C. M. G., Deputy Adjutant General, who reports for my information as follows on the state of his command :—

HEAD QUARTERS,
QUEBEC, 31st October, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you, that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the district under my command, is (5,012) five thousand and twelve, officers and men.

The total nominal strength of the force in the district where the respective corps gazetted complete to their established strength as authorized, would be (4,610) four thousand six hundred and ten.

The total actual strength of the force when mustered at the time of the annual drill for 1872 and 1873, was 2,283; the Cavalry, Garrison Artillery and Eighth Battalion, total nominal strength 654, composed chiefly of men living by the trade of the port, found it next to impossible to drill during summer, and have asked leave to drill during the winter months;—there are 1,673 officers and men wanting to complete.

The New Carlisle, Trois Pistols, Matane, St. Urbain companies having failed to re-organize after their first term of service, I would beg to recommend that they be struck off the Roll of Active Militia to make room for others offering their services.

	Officers.	N.C. Officers and men.

The Maria, Matapediac and Carleton Companies are nominally authorized, but have never been armed, equipped or clothed, and are waiting to be placed by the Department in a position to discharge their duties as volunteer companies.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders of 31st May 1872, and in the following manner:

The force detailed for a divisional camp at Levis, assembled there on the evening of the 25th June, and were encamped in two brigades under the command, respectively, of Lieutenant Colonels Blanchet, of the 17th, and Panet of the 9th Battalions. The Beauce and Quebec Field Batteries, and detachment of "B" Battery, were quartered at the Royal Engineer Park, under the senior officer of that arm. As the troops of this District, from want of targets, and other circumstances, had not heretofore been in a position to practice rifle shooting as much as could be desired, it was thought advisable to give special attention to this part of the soldier's training this year, and measures were taken to give precedence to the rifle shooting. I am happy to say that, during this year's training, (for the first time I believe, since the District was established) the whole of the men assembled at camp, were enabled to fire the number of rounds directed by paragraph 147 of the regulations for the annual drill of 1872 and 1873.

I am sorry to say that the want of practice in this branch of training, from want of targets, during the first three years of the present Militia establishment is severely felt in this District, the average number of points rather low in most corps.

This being the first year of the second term of service under the new law, the force in camp was largely composed of recruits, and necessitated more time and attention being given to squad and company drill, and manual exercise, than under other circumstances might have been deemed necessary. The force paraded three times a day, at early morning, ten o'clock a.m., and three o'clock p.m. The first few days were therefore almost exclusively devoted to rifle shooting, manual and firing exercise, position drill, and squad and company drill, after which company drill, and manual exercise were limited to morning drills, the rest of the time being devoted to battalion, brigade or division manoeuvres and skirmishing. Under these circumstances, I am sorry to say, I found it unadvisable for obvious reasons, to have more than the following division parades, viz. :—

On the 26th June, 1st July, (Dominion Day) ; 5th July, inspection by the Adjutant-General, and practice of a sham fight marching past ; 8th July, presentation of prizes, and badges for good shooting.

I am sorry to say that the want of experience and practical knowledge of the use of troops in the field on the part of the officers, was severely felt.

The force was mustered under the personal supervision of the officers commanding the camps, and the District Paymaster on the following days :—

Artillery, 29th June ; No. 2 Brigade, 29th June ; No. 1 Brigade, 1st July.

I have the honor to forward herewith, the annual Tabular Inspection Returns of all corps, as well as the District target practice returns, and the names of the best shots in every company, corps, and battalion, and the name of the best shot in the district.

The best shot in the district, from the corps who have competed, is Sergeant-Major Lemonde, of the Charlevoix Provisional Battalion, whose score is 57, divided as follows :

At 200 yards.....	20	} 57.
600 "	18

The Charlevoix Provisional Battalion, Gaspé and Fox River Companies, and Grosse-Isle detachment of Artillery, have been authorized to undergo their annual drill at their Head Quarters. The three first named corps have proved satisfactory. As to the Grosse-Isle Detachment, the Inspector of Artillery will report.

SCHOOL OF MILITARY INSTRUCTION.

After the departure of the regulars, the School of Military Instruction at this station was placed in the hands of the Militia Staff. The attendance, as by General Orders, being limited to a given number of cadets, and to certain months of the year, I consider that the Government bounty for certificates, could be applied in a manner more beneficial to the country, and advantageous to the cadets themselves, by having the cadets more on the system of the military colleges at home. The cadets could be put in barracks, under proper officers, and be, for the time of that training, under the articles of war and usual military administration, as if they were regularly enrolled soldiers. This would give them a sound, practical knowledge of inferior economy, and military rule and administration, and inure to the system of life, accounts, regulations and military duty they are expected to teach others, and of which, under the present system, they can acquire but a very limited and merely theoretical knowledge. This place offers peculiar facilities from the considerable amount of ordnance buildings and properties at present vacant, and which it would be for the interest of the Department to have occupied at least during the winter months. This plan could be carried out for little, if anything, over the amount given for certificates. The cadets could also, in my opinion, be obliged to enrol in the volunteer corps of the localities to which they belong, for a period of three years, so that Government, beside their actual service while attending the Military School, would have the benefit of the service of trained cadets in the military force instead of, as at present, seeing most of the cadets retiring to civil life immediately after they get their certificates and bounty.

I would consider it greatly to the public advantage that Government should give the use of some military buildings, and a certain pecuniary encouragement to further the establishment of a military library, to be mainly supported by subscriptions from the officers of the force, it being one of the first desiderata that officers should have facilities of learning their profession, which they have at present no facilities of doing, beyond the mere elementary knowledge to be derived from attendance at Military School.

With regard to the strength of the different corps as mustered at the last annual drill, I have the honor to report that it seems to me very difficult to maintain the corps at their full strength by volunteer enrolment alone, in this part of the country. There seems to be a feeling with the men that, when they have done one term of service, others should take their place. Several commanding officers have represented to me that it would be advisable to have the assistance of the ballot to fill up their quota, and if brought on gradually and with some discretion, as opportunity occurs, I do not believe it would be distasteful to the country.

The clothing, with the exception of a few corps, being new, of this year's issue, was of course in a first rate condition. The equipment and arms were in fair order, with the exception of the Eboulements Company.

I have the honor to forward herewith, a tabular statement of the quantity and last issue of clothing, and equipment of the different corps in the District.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

L. A. CASAULT, Lieut.-Col.,

D. A. G., Commanding,

Military District No. 7.

The Adjutant General of Militia,
Ottawa.

MILITARY DISTRICT No. 8.

The militia in this District are under the command of Lieut.-Colonel George Maunsell, Deputy Adjutant General, who reports for my information as follows, upon the state of his command :—

HEAD QUARTERS, FREDERICTON, N. B.,

14th November, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the Military District under my command is 3,264, of all ranks.

The total nominal strength of the force in the District, were the respective corps complete to their established strength as authorized, would be 3,275.

Provisional Battalion—Major McAdam—4 companies : recommended. 71st

Battalion—two new companies—Captains Ross and Clayton : recommended.

The annual drill was performed in accordance with the General Orders of 31st May, 1872, in the following manner; and in order to give a full detailed account here, I propose adverting to the force of each Brigade Division, instead of by seniority of corps in the District.

In considering the fact that many corps in this District have performed the annual drill below the established strength, it should be borne in mind that the term of engagement of the majority of the men composing the force had expired about the time selected for assembling in camp, and the recruitment had not then been completed.

However, since that time the enrolment has proceeded so rapidly and satisfactorily that I hope to be in a position at an early date to report the quota for this District completed, and that, too, on members of the force obtaining their discharge, by recruiting from a class of men who would be a credit to any army.

The intention, therefore, of assembling a brigade at Shediac this year was abandoned, such corps as would have joined that camp being allowed, at the request of their Lieut.-Colonels, to perform their annual drill in battalion camps, and there was but one brigade camp of exercise, viz., Woodstock, in the 1st brigade Division, of which Lieut.-Colonel Inches was Brigade Major, composed as follows :

Brigade Staff.—Brigadier Lieut.-Colonel Maunsell ; Lieut.-Colonel Inches ; Brigade Major Captain T. McKenlie, Supply Officer ; Captain Vince, 67th Battalion, Musketry Instructor ; Quarter-Master T. Hegg, 71st Battalion, Camp Quarter-Master ; Major McAdam, Orderly Officer.

Cavalry.—Detachment of 8th Regiment of Cavalry—Lieutenant Fowler.

Field Artillery.—1 six-pounder field battery—Lieutenant Donnell.

Infantry.—67th Battalion, "Carlton Light Infantry"—Lieut.-Colonel Upton ; 71st Battalion, "York"—Lieut.-Colonel Marsh.

Numerically small as this brigade necessarily was, all the routine of the soldier's duty was carried on in accordance with the full and clear instructions conveyed in the General Orders, and with the best results.

The site selected for the camp was all that could be desired—about a mile from Woodstock, on a table-land called the "Pleasure Grounds," beautifully situated in a commanding position, high above the level of the St. John River, which passes through the midst of that fine agricultural county (Carleton), and within an easy march of an excellent rifle range, on the banks of the Meduscuakeag River. Woodstock being the head-quarters of the 71st Battalion, that corps was first on the ground, and did for others that which had been done for it at previous camps, viz. : pitched tents, and made preparations for the arrival of distant corps.

The "Pleasure-Ground" Association guaranteed a plentiful supply of pure water for the troops ; and this agreement was faithfully carried out, and it will be remembered that the season was unusually dry and the heat oppressive.

One could not help observing, not only at this camp, but subsequently at battalion camps, how speedily and systematically "our people" settled down to "camp life" and to "camp fare." Work is done alike cheerfully and zealously, not as mere work, but as duty combined with pleasure. This may in a great measure be attributed (1) to the improved scale of rations, the increased allowance of tea, and the issue of cheese and barley—there were no complaints as to quantity and quality of rations at any camp in my District—and (2) to better cooking than heretofore.

It soon becomes known from experience—better known, too, than can be learned from any code of "regulations"—that the regularity of the men's messing is of primary importance, and calls for unremitting attention of officers commanding corps as well as company officers.

In each company the man best fitted for the post is appointed cook, the men's meals are thereby properly provided, and the full benefit of the means afforded for varying the diet is secured.

I cannot do better than quote from the report of the medical officer of the first day in camp—Surgeon Gregory, 71st Battalion :—"The cooks seemed to be well up in their duties, and great satisfaction was expressed by the men both as to quantity and quality of rations." He adds :—"It gives me great pleasure to testify to the general feeling of contentment among the men, owing in a great measure to the improvement in the rations and to the good cookery. The latter is more worthy of remark, as, it being the first day of camp, the cooks could scarcely be expected to be as efficient as they will become after a little practice."

A canteen, for the supply of such extra provisions or articles as might be required, was established; but no spirituous liquors were allowed in camp, in accordance with instructions.

There being many recruits in the ranks, it was deemed advisable to devote a few days to company and battalion drill before commencing brigade drill and field manœuvres; but as soon as possible (on the 7th July), in compliance with orders, the brigade was marched from camp in column of route, with a view to defend Woodstock from attack from an imaginary enemy advancing from Houlton by the Medocnuakeag River route. On reaching the open, hilly, undulating country, the advanced guard became a line of skirmishers, and it was reinforced and the reserve deployed, all taking advantage of the nature of the ground to obtain cover. The detachment of cavalry sent forward to reconnoitre brought intelligence of the whereabouts of the enemy, and fire was soon opened by our skirmishers, hitherto concealed, and a rapid advance was made by the reserve to gain the crest of a neighbouring hill commanding the position of the enemy. This effected, such an accurate fire was opened by the brigade that the enemy was compelled to retreat, but not without an attempt to turn our flank. However, a corresponding change of front on our part secured our holding the strong position, and completed the route of the enemy.

It was subsequently ascertained that we had confronted but a portion of the enemy's force, while the rest was advancing upon the north side of Woodstock, hitherto unprotected. The cavalry, therefore, was at once sent in that direction for intelligence, and the brigade followed as quickly as possible.

A somewhat similar advance was made against the enemy's position on the north side as that adverted to on the west, and, suffice it to state, the attack upon Woodstock was successfully defeated.

Subsequently, on the 11th July, during my absence at Apohaqui, in the inspection of the 8th Regiment of Cavalry, the Acting Brigadier, Lieut.-Colonel Inches, exercised the troops at brigade drill and field manœuvres in the country already described.

On another occasion—on the 14th July—having sent out two companies on outpost duty on the heights commanding the camp, and these having reported indications of an enemy advancing from the frontier, in the direction of McKenzie's Corners, the brigade was quickly under arms; skirmishers, with their supports thrown out, and directed to act in concert with the outposts. The reserve followed, all advancing rapidly but steadily to gain the heights; and this effected, a still further advance was made, in order, by sudden rushes over every open space, to check the progress of the enemy at as early a stage of their advance as possible.

The ground here was rough and broken, but soon became interspersed with green-wood trees, and subsequently it was thickly wooded, and some difficulty was at first experienced in keeping the necessary communication by connecting links between "skirmishers," "supports," and "reserve"—in fact, the difficulty, not easily overcome with older soldiers, of keeping one's men well in hand in a wood. However, on the skirmishers opening fire, all speedily regained their places, and the advance was steady and the fire of the skirmishers effective, the enemy retiring disputing every inch of ground.

So effective was the work of "our people," that an attempted change of flank on the part of the enemy proved an abortive effort, and the troops returned to camp.

Several other interesting and instructive "field days" were executed, in all which the force was taught valuable lessons in taking every advantage which the features of the ground afforded in applying the knowledge of drill to "field manœuvres," and in firing coolly and with correct aim.

I may add the officers commanding corps were desirous that the suggestion contained in my last Report should be carried out at this camp, viz: forming two divisions, one side to act on the offensive, the other on the defensive—troops moving off from camp for a march of two or three days—corps to bivouac. However, there were so many recruits in the ranks it was not advisable to adopt this plan at this camp; but I consider it may be carried out with advantage at future camps.

On Saturday afternoon, bathing parade was held—the march to and from the river being in itself a useful drill—and the bath was fully appreciated by all ranks.

On Sundays, the troops assembled on the grounds in front of the camp for Divine service. On the 8th July, the Rev. T. Neals officiated; and on the 14th, no clergyman being available, the Deputy Adjutant General read the service, assisted by Major Raymond, 67th Battalion.

While in my Brigade Orders, at the breaking up of this camp (hereto appended), I took occasion to express my satisfaction with the manner in which all duties had been performed, I consider this Report would by no means be complete were I to omit mentioning the special services of the detachment of cavalry, under command of Lieut. Fowler.

Despite the great distance of the camp from that at Apohaqui, at which the 8th Regiment of Cavalry was then performing its annual drill, Lieut-Colonel Saunders, ever ready to carry out that which has for its object the good of the service, cheerfully sent this detachment to Woodstock with the view to the three arms being represented; and while this fine regiment won high encomiums for the ease with which last year it performed lengthened marches and its general efficiency, referred to by the Adjutant General and other experienced officers at both sides of the Atlantic, I am proud to state that the detachment were no unworthy representatives of the corps.

The practical way in which every member of the detachment discharged the important duties required of them, shows that Canadians can speedily pick up a knowledge of military duty that requires months of careful training in other countries.

The better to carry out the Adjutant General's instruction, the camp, being in a frontier country, and considered as if in the vicinity of an enemy, I directed the officer commanding the detachment to patrol on the roads leading to the frontier, in the direction of Houlton, and to gain information, and report on the following subjects:—

(1.) As to villages—how situated—their population; (2.) Roads—their general width—from where to where, and the distances; (3.) Rivers their general direction, width, depth, &c.; (4.) Farm houses—if well supplied with forage and provisions; and he was required to convey in his report some general ideas respecting the country.

As no general rule can be laid down as to the mode of conducting these patrols, this was left to the discretion and intelligence of the officer in command.

Lieut. Fowler was required to accompany his report with a sketch of the country.

The task assigned this officer, as may be observed from the sketch hereto appended, was by no means an easy one, the country being a complete network of roads; but from the moment the orders were issued, until the work was completed, both officers and men zealously determined to do their duty, evidently inspired with that same spirit which actuated their brethren of the Imperial army in the performance of still more practical work—"each trooper becoming something other than a component part of a machine. I may add that Lieut. Fowler had no previous knowledge of making a sketch.

GOOD CONDUCT.

It is most desirable at camps such as this, that a hearty emulation should spring up amongst corps; that they should vie, one with the other, in soldierly bearing, in smartness on parade, in cleanliness of the camp and its environs, and—more important still—in the discipline and good conduct pervading the various corps.

To quote from the Field Officer of the day, Major Raymond—5th July—(word that might with justness be extended to the remaining period in camp), that officer being himself a strict disciplinarian as he is a zealous and efficient officer: "Quietness and good order prevailed during the day; and it is a pleasing duty to report that there was a marked improvement in regard to the quietness of the camp at night (as compared with previous camps at night), it being nearly all that could be desired.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION.

The sanitary condition of the troops was excellent. Surgeon Gregory reports "that there was not more than one quarter as much sickness in this camp as there was at 'Camp Ross' last year." This he "attributed chiefly to the improved diet."

The returns of medical officers in this District, showing medicines given in each case, with a list of such medicines as have been expended, have been transmitted to the principal medical officer at Montreal. Some suggestions are submitted for supplementing the whole of the medicine in the box. Amongst others—I again quote from Surgeon Gregory, who has given some consideration to this point.—

"There should be added to the medicines supplied, the following:—Tartar emetic; tincture of squills; tincture of digitalis or kius; tincture of valecian, spirits of nitrous ether; concentrated solution of acetate of ammonia; quinine; opium or compound camphor liniament; a good supply of mustard; tincture of assafetida; and a suitable supply of bottles for dispensing."

He adds:—"With these additions, the medicine chest would be nearly equal to that usually carried by country practitioners; and if supplemented by a proper brigade medicine chest, would be sufficient for all emergencies likely to arise during the short period of the camp."

Surgeon Gregory is strongly of opinion, "that in every brigade there should be a general hospital, properly equipped in every respect, so that medical officers should have an opportunity of doing duty in turn, and thereby learn this most necessary and important part of their duty."

I cannot conclude this Report without noticing a gratifying feature connected with this camp, viz: the interest manifested in the welfare of the force by the people of the country in which the camp was held (Carleton). From the princely entertainment of the officers of the brigade by the M. P. of the county, the Hon. C. Connel, to the cordial greeting of the humble citizens, all seemed desirous to do their best to make the stay of the troops in Camp Woodstock as pleasant as possible.

It only remains to offer my highest acknowledgement to the Staff, who contributed so largely to the success of this camp.

The following Brigade Order was issued at the breaking up of the camp:—

"CAMP WOODSTOCK."

Brigade Orders issued by Lieut.-Colonel Maunsell, D. A. G., Brigadier.

Upon the return to their homes of the troops, the D. A. G. commanding returns them his thanks for their uniform good conduct during the period of training.

The system of assembling corps in Brigade Camps of Exercise inaugurated last year has again been successfully carried out in this District.

The "Woodstock Camp," established in the flourishing county of Carleton, cannot fail to produce the best results.

It is extremely gratifying to know that the Adjutant General reported most favorably with respect to the camp at Fredericton last year; and it is only to be regretted that, owing to his presence being required in British Columbia and Manitoba, Colonel Robertson-Ross is unable again to inspect us this year, as it is observed by all that this camp is even more successful than that at Fredericton. Duties have been performed alike cheerfully and zealously, and a remarkable desire for increased efficiency has been evinced in every corps. Carleton and York have been well represented in this camp. Victoria has also sent its quota. Carleton county, besides its field battery, has furnished the strongest battalion, numerically, in the Dominion of Canada, of which corps New Brunswick may justly feel proud; while the 71st battalion, "York," is most efficient in every respect.

The improved scale of rations has given general satisfaction, and the sanitary condition of the troops has been excellent throughout.

The prescribed course of target practice has been correctly carried out, and considering that there are many recruits in the ranks, the figure of merit is fair, and the individual scores of the winners of prizes are high, as shewn by the list appended hereto.

The most convenient time for the majority of officers and men having been selected, they have come without much personal sacrifice, and will return to their various industrial pursuits after a course of training admirably calculated to render them at once well disciplined soldiers and good citizens. To apply the words of a recent English writer respecting our Canadian army :—" If difficulty there was (in our Brigade camps), it has been thoroughly overcome ; for insubordination, disorder, and punishment, seem to be words which find no place in the military vocabulary of Canada."

It only remains for the Deputy Adjutant General, while thanking the Brigade Major and other officers commanding corps for the support and assistance invariably afforded him, to congratulate them on the success that has attended their efforts towards securing efficiency in this camp.

By order.

(Signed,)

J. A. INCHES, Lieut.-Colonel,

Brigade Major.

The remaining corps in the 1st Brigade Division have undergone a complete re-organization ; and while I much regret that the number of batteries of garrison artillery have been diminished by three (3), and more particularly the absence of the St. Andrew's battery—all having failed to re-enrol—I consider this Brigade Division has maintained its reputation as regards numerical strength and general efficiency of its force. The recommendation for the formation of a new provisional battalion, comprising infantry companies of St. Stephen, Deer Island, St. George, and St. James, has recently been submitted. Besides this, the service rolls of two new companies for the 71st battalion have been transmitted.

In respect to the battalion above referred to, Lieut.-Colonel Iago states :—" The two battalions at St. George, the Adjutant General and Inspector of Artillery last year decided could be spared, if the men did not decide to re-enrol ; but with regard to the battery at St. Andrew's the case is far different." He adds :—" It is not necessary for him to point out the importance of St. Andrew's, commanding as it does the navigation of the St. Croix River ; and it is much to be deplored that there should be no garrison artillerymen at this place. In his opinion, the loss of the battery at St. Stephen is not of more importance than the one at St. George."

I may add that I have hopes that the St. Andrew's Battery will shortly be reorganized without having recourse to the draft.

Lieut.-Colonel Iago inspected No. 5 Battery, at Woodstock, on the 15th July, and he reports that " this battery attended the brigade camp formed at that place as a field battery, they having two (2) 6-pounder guns in their charge, but having no horses properly enrolled and really belonging to the brigade of New Brunswick Garrison Artillery."

Col. Iago adds, that " We saw some creditable shot practice made by them, and the men drilled well at standing gun drill ; but he recommended that the battery be either turned into a field battery, and properly armed and horsed (the country about Woodstock offering peculiar advantages for the establishment of a good field battery), or that in future they should perform their annual drill at St. John."

It is necessary to add that the brigade Major has already taken steps to form a field battery of artillery at Woodstock, and with fair prospects of success.

In respect to future camps of exercise in the Brigade Division, I am of the opinion that Charlotte county having now its battalion of infantry, St. Andrew's will afford equal facilities for assembling such camp with Fredericton and Woodstock.

2ND BRIGADE DIVISION—Lieut.-Colonel Otty, Brigade Major.

8th Regiment of Cavalry—Lieut.-Colonel Saunders.

On the 20th June and 12th July, I inspected this fine corps at its camp, at Apohaqui. The camp was beautifully situated on the grounds of the Lieut.-Colonel, on a commanding height overlooking the valley of the Kennebeckasis.

During the past year the regiment has been largely recruited from an excellent class, and so popular is the corps that captains of troops, on completing the quota, had to decline the services of numerous applicants for admission to the ranks.

The Adjutant General formed a very favorable opinion respecting the material and efficiency of this corps at the time of training at "Camp Ross," last year, as conveyed in the "Militia Report;" and so successfully have the recruitment and annual drill been carried out since then, that I consider the present condition of the regiment, both as to material and general efficiency, most satisfactory—even improved in many important particulars.

It must be stated that the Brigade Major, Lieut.-Colonel Otty, who attended this camp, rendered valuable assistance to the Lieut.-Colonel of the corps in having the recruits taught from the first step in drill and routine, and the old soldiers better instructed in the details of duty. Thus the utmost advantage was taken of the limited time allotted for cavalry training.

The desirability of allowing an additional period for winter drills for this arm has been clearly pointed out by the Adjutant General.

Fifty new sets of saddlery have been issued to the corps; the rest of their equipment is old and nearly unserviceable.

Spencer carbines have been exchanged for Snider carbines, which were in good condition. The course of target practice was correctly carried out under the supervision of Major Darling.

New Brunswick Brigade Garrison Artillery—Lieut.-Colonel Foster.

In accordance with General Orders, dated Ottawa, May 31st, 1872, an Artillery camp was formed at St. John, on August 22nd, of which I took command, in conjunction with Lieut.-Colonel Foster commanding the Brigade, while Lieut.-Colonel Iago acted in the capacity of superintendent of drill and practice; and that officer's report is so satisfactory that I need only apply his words, referring to his position as superintendent of drills to mine as commandant, viz.: that the duties of commandant "were as easy as they were pleasant." Lieut.-Colonel Iago reports as follows:—

"Nos, 1, 2, 3, and 10 Batteries attended from St. John, and No. 7 sent a strong detachment with two officers from Chatham, whilst No. 5 also sent a small detachment with one officer from Woodstock."

"Without doubt," he adds, "the officers and men derived great benefit from the camp. The continuous drill of never less than five hours per diem did more for the attendants at it than treble the time consumed in a drill room."

"He found the officers fully capable of instructing the men, and the men anxious and willing to profit by their instruction, whilst both endeavored to maintain the credit the corps has enjoyed for good conduct."

His position as Superintendent of drills was, therefore, as easy as it was pleasant. And he had also the satisfaction of superintending some excellent shot practice made by the different batteries, both as regards accuracy and also rapidity of firing, for prizes presented by well-wishers of the brigade."

Lieut.-Colonel Iago concludes his report with some excellent remarks, in which I entirely concur, as to the want of a School of Gunnery for the instruction of officers and men in this District,—“it being useless to hope to make a really good battery without a certain number of the officers and men being competent to impart instruction in the theory and practice of artillery.”

This subject is now under the consideration of the authorities at head-quarters ; and the Adjutant General is well aware of its "great importance, in connection with the defence of St. John and the coast of New Brunswick generally, to have the militia resident in the maritime portion of the Province trained to artillery exercises," and submits that, if it be not practicable at the present moment to establish a "School of Gunnery" at St. John on the "same principle as those provided for the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, at Kingston and Quebec," authority be obtained to open such a school at St. John, on the 1st December, prox., on the basis of the infantry military schools, with Lieut.-Colonel Iago as Commandant, and an efficient assistant, and also an instructor.

It must be added that Lieut.-Colonel Saunders has submitted some practical suggestion as to the establishment of a Cavalry School during the winter months, so soon as the larger question of a battery of artillery, similar to those at Quebec and Kingston, is arranged. The following is my Brigade Order on the breaking up of the Artillery camp at St. John :—

[BRIGADE ORDER.]

ARTILLERY CAMP,
ST. JOHN, N. B., 30th August, 1872.

The Artillery camp will break up to-day ; and the Deputy Adjutant General commanding desires to express to the officers, non-commissioned officers and gunners, his satisfaction with the manner in which the duties have been carried out.

Assembled for the first time in camp, and having from the start to learn the routine of a soldier's life in the field during somewhat bad weather, while discipline and good have not been relaxed, the conduct of the troops has been most creditable.

Lieut.-Col. French, Inspector of Artillery, announces that he was highly pleased with the drill and practice of the batteries. The manner in which the Chatham Battery fired their five rounds in the competition for Mrs. Iago's cup he considered especially creditable.

The Deputy Adjutant General has received his usual energetic support from the Staff (Lieut.-Colonels Otty and Iago), to whom, as well as to Lieut.-Colonel Foster, commanding the Brigade, he tenders his sincere thanks.

By order,

(Signed),

ANDREW C. OTTY, Lieut.-Colonel,

Brigade Major.

Engineer Company—Captain Parks.

This corps having become disorganized, owing to delay in completing its re-enrolment, has recently been re-organized, and my remarks as to improvement of material when referring to others may in a special manner be extended to this corps, now recruited above the established strength from a class of young, active, intelligent men, who will, I doubt not, by applying their intelligence to their important duties as Military Engineers, render the corps very efficient.

In conjunction with Lieut.-Colonel Iago, I inspected this corps at St. John, on 31st October, on completing its annual drill, and found that a sufficient foundation in the knowledge and practice of infantry drill had been laid to warrant my expectations as to future efficiency being realized. The Inspector of Artillery proposes placing this corps in charge of certain fortifications and batteries at St. John, with the view to their learning to keep these works in order, and possibly adding to and improving the present system of fortification at that place. The advantage of carrying out this suggestion is obvious—comment is needless.

62nd "St. John" Battalion—Lieut.-Colonel Macshane.

I inspected this corps at Camp, St. John, on the 9th September, having previously seen it under arms more than once during the period of training.

The camp was formed on the barrack grounds, recently occupied by the camp of the garrison artillery.

Aware of the difficulty experienced by those officers who zealously undertook the task of re-enrolling this corps (partly owing, I think, to the erroneous idea conceived of the true position of corps of active militia in general, and city corps in particular), it was extremely gratifying to observe at this camp that success had attended their efforts in this respect, and in all that concerned the better efficiency of the corps. The men were carefully drilled both in company and battalion drill—soldierlike in their bearing, orderly in conduct; while the regimental duties appeared to have been systematically carried out and the arms in good condition.

74th Battalion.

I inspected this corps, at Camp Sussex, on the 18th July. Although three companies are drawn from the 3rd Brigade Division—and these composed of as fine a body of men as any in my District—the camp was formed at Sussex, the residence of the Lieut.-Colonels in the 2nd Brigade Division, which has heretofore furnished the remaining three companies (half battalion.) However, two of these companies (those at Kingston and Elgin) have failed to re-enrol, and will be disbanded. The Lieut.-Colonel is now taking steps to supply their places with others.

The drill, discipline, and conduct of the corps in camp were all that could be desired, the only thing to be regretted being the absence of the two companies adverted to. The Lieut.-Colonel is also desirous to organize a regimental band; and that want supplied, with two new companies, I cannot doubt but that the 74th Battalion will be second to none in the District.

The Brigade Major of this Division, in answer to enquiries as to whether he considers the present strength of the active militia in his Division can be maintained without resorting to the draft, that, "judging from the returns of the current year of those who have performed their drills in camp, and in view of the zeal and activity that has recently been displayed by the city as well as some of the rural corps, he is led to infer that, at least for some time to come, the system now in force, under judicious management, will furnish the quota required in this Division."

3RD BRIGADE DIVISION.—Lieut.-Colonel McCulley, Brigade Major.

In addition to the troop of 8th Regiment of Cavalry, No. 7, and the half battalion 74th, assembled in camp with their respective corps already referred to, 2nd Brigade Division, I inspected the following artillery corps, in conjunction with Lieut.-Col. Iago, acting in his capacity as Inspector of Artillery:

Newcastle Field Battery—Captain Call.

Lieut.-Colonel Iago reports that he "inspected this battery, at Newcastle, on Sept. 30th. This battery turned out for eight day's drill in camp this year. Captain Call appears to have a good deal of difficulty, from local causes, about re-enrolling his men and horses; but he informed him that he had now determined to adhere to the proper system, of enrolling a field battery, and to take no drivers from any but the farming class."

Lieut.-Colonel Iago "had pleasure in reporting favourably upon this battery last year and if Capt. Call adheres to his rule, and uses the energy he has noticed in him, he has great hopes that he will have a thoroughly good battery next summer."

No. 7 Battery, Chatham—Battery Major Gillespie.

Inspected at Chatham on Sept. 28. "As Lieut.-Colonel Iago previously stated, the best part of this battery attended the St. John camp; and though the men here were fairly drilled, they compared badly with their comrades who had accepted the greater advantages of instruction. There are two 24-pounder guns at this place, and a slight expenditure of money would lay down platforms, build a side-arm shed and otherwise provide a proper muster place for the battery—whilst, at the same time, doing much for the defence of Miramichi."

I may add that Major Gillespie has been desired to estimate for this service.

73rd Battalion—Lieut.-Colonel Ferguson.

I inspected this corps in camp, near Chatham, on the 19th August, on completing its eight day's training.

Originally composed of five (5) companies, and one company having failed to re-enrol the battalion assembled in camp below its authorized strength.

However, the Lieut.-Colonel, with his usual energy, is taking such steps as will, I doubt not, ensure the battalion being completed to six (6) efficient companies—mainly composed of farmers (their interest identical)—at an early day.

This corps, I consider, has hitherto had some serious drawbacks to its complete efficiency. Varying interests represented in its ranks—farmers, mechanics, fishermen, and merchants—all loyal and patriotic though they unquestionably were, it was difficult to select such time for the performance of the annual drill as would prove convenient to the majority. Hence, it was necessary to assemble in camp for the shorter period—eight days—without the advantages of pay, of rank, government rations, &c.; and of course the training could neither be as interesting or instructive as that of other corps at Brigade camps under the improved system.

But, as above stated, these difficulties will be shortly overcome; and I must say the result of the inspection was as satisfactory as could possibly be expected. Excellent Staff and good company officers, considering that but few have yet attended the military school; men well drilled and well conducted—on no better foundation could the re-organized battalion be placed.

Bathurst and Dalhousie Infantry Companies—Captains Burns and Barbane.

Inspected these companies, [at their local head quarters, on the 15th and 16th August respectively; but their re-organization not having been completed at that time, the inspection was necessarily imperfect. They were subsequently inspected by the Brigade Major, on the 14th and 15th October, who reports that the former company "mustered strong, and the men seem to be willing to do duty." In the latter company but "few men came to drill"—the captain was absent.

The vitality and stability of our present system have this year been fairly tested in the enrolment and re-enrolment of the force, at a time, too, when the supply and demand in the case of every article of utility are abundant, labourers alone, whether in town or country, being scarce. At such a time, it is gratifying to observe that this institution has been maintained by the representative men of the country, not those belonging to the migratory class—mercenary men, who, as a rule, join the ranks of standing armies.

I may here state that it does not always appear to be clearly understood, by "outsiders," that in the "Canadian Army" the word volunteering is only applicable to the act of joining the force, and once enrolment has taken place the term ceases to have any meaning, as "the force should not have in its ranks a man not prepared to make such exertions and sacrifices as the regulations demands."

Happily, the force is now better known as the "Active Militia" than the "Volunteer Militia."

I may add that, whether our force be maintained by voluntary enrolment or compulsory means, as provided in the law, should the former fail, it is satisfactory to know that it is neither the intention nor the desire of the authorities, from the Minister of Militia and Adjutant General downwards, to issue and enforce such arbitrary rules as would render the service the slightest degree distasteful to those taking part in its duties by materially interfering with their industrial pursuits.

On the contrary, it will be shown that no efforts are spared to secure the maximum of efficiency with the minimum of the cost of labour. In the first place it is desired that District Staff Officers, and all others concerned in making arrangements for carrying "the instruction" into effect, will give due consideration to the convenience of the militia generally, in regard to the season of the year which will be most suitable for the performance of the annual drill.

2nd. The Adjutant General's "regulations" provide for the systematic performance of the duties in camps of exercise, so that both officers and men are now expected to know their duty and to do it, on the "principle of carrying individual responsibility downwards within the corps" through its various elements—the same principle that in civil life requires one "always to be most careful in the selection of agents, and then to give the persons chosen one's entire confidence, calling on them to do the same, each in his own branch." Leave of absence is thus not necessarily withheld in individual cases where officers and men cannot possibly, without serious personal inconvenience, attend camp—care, of course, to be taken that the occasion of granting such leave is justified by necessity. This, I consider, is but just. Active, busy men are invariably men of weight, influence, and stability, and belong to that class which of all others should be incorporated in the force of the country, not a standing army; while idlers, and they are few, are, as a rule, but of little use in any community.

With respect to the performance of annual drill in camps of exercise in general, and "tactical brigade camps" in particular, I am in a position to report these camps are annually being looked forward to with increased pleasure.

In the case of corps composed mainly of farmers, for whom in winter, whether employed in the woods or on the farm, there is but little leisure, there follows the sudden transition from winter to summer, and the consequent hurry to sow the seed; after this, there is a period of comparative relaxation, and now, as a rule, before the hay harvest succeeds the seed-time, our camps may be formed with advantage.

As to city corps, in my last Report I pointed out the peculiar difficulty in my District of selecting such time as will suit the convenience of both city and rural corps, so as to assemble them in the same camp for the whole period of training.

However, the experience of this year shows that even city corps, by the exercise of forethought on the part of the Staff and officers in command, and moreover, by a proper understanding between employers and employed, can devote a certain portion of time to military duty in camp without much personal inconvenience, and with pleasure and advantage individually and collectively. It is but due to city corps to add, that the prescribed sixteen days is by no means the limit set to their annual drill. In many instances, additional weekly drills are alike voluntarily and cheerfully performed, with the view to secure increased efficiency, and to ensure the corps appearing to greater advantage at camp next season.

In arranging for the annual drill of corps at St. John, accompanied by the Lieut.-Colonel 62nd Battalion (Lieut.-Colonel Macshane), I called upon the principal employers of labour in that city in order to consult their convenience, as far as possible, and to secure their co-operation. All reminded me of the scarcity of labourers; but none, I am glad to state, appeared desirous to place any obstacles in our way. On the contrary, all admitted the necessity of encouraging our local force, and facilitating their attending camp; probably aware that, in the event of war or even of any internal disturbance, the important class to which they belong—the commercial—would derive most advantages if the country be found in a healthy state of preparation for such emergency; and they, undoubtedly, would be the greatest sufferers if the opposite were the case.

It is obvious that in our camps of exercise the health and comforts of the men are of primary importance. Cheerfulness will follow as a matter of course; and in proportion as these receive attention will success and efficiency be attained.

However, both these points have been seriously and favourably considered by the authorities at head quarters:—(1) A most liberal scale of rations—all that can be desired—has been granted. This has already been adverted to in this Report. The troops are invariably encamped in a healthy locality, with an abundant supply of pure water at their disposal, and with excellent sanitary regulations for their guidance. (2) By following the Adjutant General's "instructions," as to routine of duties and variety of drills, beginning at the A. B. C., so called of military knowledge, with simple company drill, and ending with practical field days and sham battles—three of the service being represented—the relations between tactics and drill being taught. Nor is the necessary course of musketry instruction omitted. Officers and men are thus best instructed in their duties, and their military intelligence becomes greatly developed.

While this training is going on, the men are not over-worked. Ample time is afforded for foot-ball, cricket, and other manly games. A reading-room, too, without expense to the men, can ordinarily be established, supplied with local newspapers and periodicals; and besides all this, by strictly enforcing the orders as to not admitting spirituous liquor, crime will be conspicuous by its absence, and the sojourn in camp will surpass the expectations of the most sanguine.

In order to show that the practical utility of our camps of exercise is being more and more appreciated by the people, I may quote the following from the St. John Daily Telegraph of the 8th July last:—

"Leaving out of view the military knowledge gained by the volunteers in camp, it is certainly a great benefit to the men physically. Exercise in the open air, sleep under canvas, life in the fields, change of diet, regular habits—all have an influence for good. The men who leave the routine of office, or study, or workshops, for this, are benefitted to an appreciable degree. They return to their duties refreshed and invigorated—rested mentally and physically.

MILITARY RESOURCES.

An important duty required of the officers commanding a military district, as indeed of all Staff officers, is to make himself thoroughly acquainted with its resources.

Happily, even a careless observer cannot fail to notice the rapid but regular improvement in the resources of this country: emigration yearly increasing the population; agriculture and commerce, with their necessary accompaniments of modern civilization progressing side by side; means of transport made easy; roads, railroads, and steamers, available in every direction. While, therefore, the resources of the country are being developed, it is a subject of congratulation to the patriotic that the efficiency to our local forces is not neglected, as it has been justly stated that "the warlike strength of a country lies not in roads, railroads, steamers, breech loading rifles, and rifled guns, but in the skill and talent of the men that use these things."

"Military schools" are established in our midst; "tactical brigade camps" have become an institution of the country; drill and field manœuvres are studied with eagerness; and last, not least, the weapon with which the force is armed, with its increased range, accuracy, and rapidity of fire, is now handled with judgment and intelligence, not alone by a few picked "marksmen," but all who attend annual drill have opportunities afforded them—somewhat limited, 'tis true—of learning to use their rifles with effect.

In respect to schools of military instruction—for the first time placed under the immediate control of the Militia Department (heretofore conducted by Her Majesty's troops stationed in the country)—it affords me pleasure to report that the attendance at the military school of instruction at Fredericton, during the six (6) months in operation from 1st December last, has been good, viz. : 64 cadets, who obtained 2nd class certificates, versus an average of 35 during a similar period under the former regime. Besides these, three received 1st class certificates.

It too often happens that but few officers of the Active Militia attend these schools, preferring to pass an examination before a Board of Examiners, which examination must necessarily be unsatisfactory ; and, if in brigade camp, not unfrequently hurried, through want of sufficient time at the disposal of the officers composing the Board. However, at our school last winter, not only was there a fair proportion of officers, but an excellent class of intelligent young men, students of the University and others, attended,—the President of the University himself seeing the advantage which his students derived from obtaining a military “ education,” while their ordinary studies were not neglected. I am glad to be in a position to add that we subsequently utilized the services of many of these young gentlemen, who have become useful members of the Active Militia force.

The Adjutant General’s orders as to the subjects for 2nd class certificates being supplemented by a short course of musketry instruction, were carried out with good results ; and I beg to suggest that such cadets as desire to remain for a lengthened course of musketry instruction, on obtaining 2nd class certificates, together with a prescribed qualification in “ musketry,” be granted a special certificate, with a view to their services being available to act as musketry instructors to their respective corps.

In conclusion, I take this opportunity to offer my best thanks to Lieut.-Colonel Otty, Brigade Major, for the assiduity and zeal with which he performed the duties of Adjutant of the school ; also to Captain McKenzie, for his efficient services as Instructor.

TARGET PRACTICE.

As regards target practice, the Military District under my command (New Brunswick) occupies a proud position in the “ Dominion army,” it being the best shooting district in last year’s course : and though, owing to the presence of so many recruits in the ranks, we cannot expect our “ figures of merit” to be high this year, the strongest desire to excel has been evinced at our various camps, and I consider the improvement in the “ target practice regulations” has ensured more regular firing than heretofore.

Now, the recruit, as well as the trained soldier, besides having to practice individual firing, as in the ranks—standing at 200, kneeling at 400, and is allowed any position at 600 yards—having to fire his five rounds in succession, he is enabled carefully to exercise his judgment and to avoid hurry ; and while our consecutive firing is, to my mind, infinitely superior to firing single shots in rotation, it still remains a question, I think, whether the following slight alteration may not be adopted with advantage, viz. : “ two men in succession to be called to the front by the officer superintending the practice, and fire shot and shot alternately until they have completed their five rounds.” This has already been adopted by our Provincial Rifle Association.

A list of the best shots in each Company, Corps, and Battalion, and the District is herewith transmitted.

The best shot in the District is Private E. Phillips, No. 6 Company, 52nd Battalion—49 points.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

In addition to increased attention being paid to the prescribed course of target practice, the golden laurels won by our “ marksmen” at Wimbledon has tended to give fresh impulse to the efforts of our people in the working of our various Rifle Associations. It is to be hoped that the precedent thus established of sending representative “ marksmen from our Active Militia” to compete against the best men Great Britain can produce will become an annual custom, and that not only every branch of her army, but every British colony will be represented at these annual Wimbledon competitions—such matches, as a rule, to be with the weapon with which the force is armed : the Snider

Enfield. From the knowledge and practice of rifle shooting, taught at the individual firing of his company, the "marksman" is now led, by successive steps, through the various prize matches of the "Battalion," "County," and "Provincial" Rifle Associations, until he has reached the "goal," and obtained the highest prize that a Canadian can aspire to—that of being selected to represent this prosperous Dominion at Wimbledon of our "Fatherland."

It must be added that the success which has attended our marksmen has not been without its good results at both sides the Atlantic; amongst those here may be mentioned that the people who heretofore manifested but little interest in our efforts, have already been convinced that acquisition of skill in rifle shooting is not labour lost, and they have, moreover, given tangible proofs of their willingness to lend us a helping hand. Our Rifle Associations have in consequence this year been more successful than usual, as will be observed from the returns hereto appended. It is to be hoped, therefore, that local aid and local encouragement will no longer be withheld from the mainstay of the force of the country—our Rifle Associations.

The following Associations have held competitions this year:—

1. New Brunswick Artillery Association—recently formed.
2. New Brunswick Provincial Rifle Association.
3. Charlotte County "
4. St. John "
5. Carleton "
6. King's County "
7. York "
8. Northumberland "
9. 62nd Battalion Rifle Club.
10. King's County "
11. 71st Battalion "

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

GEORGE MAUNSELL, Lieut.-Colonel,
Deputy Adjutant General, Commanding Mil. Dis. No. 8.

MILITARY DISTRICT No 9

The Militia in this District are under the command of Lt.-Colonel J. Winburn Lawrie, Deputy Adjutant General, who reports for my information as follows, on the state of his command:—

HEAD QUARTERS,

Halifax, N.S.,

October 24th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that the quota of Active Militia required to be furnished from the District under my command, is 4284. The total nominal strength of the force in the district, were the respective corps complete to their established strength, as authorized, would be 308 officers, and 4230 men.

The total actual strength of the force who mustered at the time of the annual drill for 1872-73, was 222 officers, 2,594 men.

There are 76 officers, and 1,636 wanting to complete. The Active Militia in this district, consists of the following corps, which at the time of the annual training turned out as under:—

	Officers.	Men.
Halifax Light Battery	5	74
1st Brigade Halifax Garrison Artillery	24	261
2nd " "	23	251

63rd Rifles (Halifax)	23	287
66th Battalion Infantry	24	377
68th " "	20	242

The annual drill was performed in accordance with General Orders No. 14, of 31st May, 1872, as in documents A. B. C. herewith forwarded. Annual inspection reports, and district target practice returns are also enclosed.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. WINBURN LAURIE, Lieut.-Colonel,

D. A. G. Commanding No. 9 District.

The Adjutant General of Militia, Ottawa.

THE HALIFAX BRIGADE.

Consisting of:

Halifax Light Battery	Captain Graham,
1st Halifax Garrison Artillery	Lt.-Col. Mitchell,
2nd " "	" Belcher,
63rd " Rifles	" Pallister,
66th " Infantry	" Bremner,

Performed their annual training at brigade head quarters. The whole brigade attended two brigade field days, at one of which they were formed in division, with a brigade of Her Majesty's regular troops under Lt.-General Sir Hastings Doyle; and the infantry and Light Battery attended two additional brigade drills.

The whole force also attended three evening brigade drills, drilling from 7½ until 10 in the long summer evenings or moonlights; and more evening brigade drills would have been held, but that partly through sickness and partly through press of other engagements, owing to my being left without a Brigade Major for this brigade during the whole training season I was unable to spare the time.

The musketry practice was regularly conducted under the superintendence of a field officer of the corps at practice and under Lt.-Col. Sawyer, the Brigade Musketry Instructor.

Bedford range is inconveniently situate for this purpose, as over three hours is lost in travelling to and from the city, but no more accessible range can be obtained.

The 12 Batteries Garrison Artillery performed their great gun practice from a battery belonging to the Royal Artillery, kindly placed at their disposal by Sir Hastings Doyle.

No man was rated effective or received pay unless he had attended the full prescribed number of brigade drills in addition to the company and battalion training; had fired his 40 rounds of ammunition at rifle practice, and if an artillery man had also performed his great gun drill unless he had obtained special leave of absence from the commanding officer of the corps.

On the 2nd October I inspected this Brigade. Owing to continuous wet weather for several days previously, the ground was too wet to attempt field manœuvres, I therefore confined the movements to parade drill. The several corps were well handled by their commanders, and the men who are mostly stout, able and well grown, and fit for any service, shewed creditable proficiency in their drill manœuvring; and above all shewed that anxiety to do their best, and to appear to advantage. It is, however, desirable that this Brigade should have some practice in manœuvring over broken and rough ground.

The Light Battery practiced at 1,800 yards range with their 6 pounder Armstrong's, in the presence of Col. Gibbon, C. B., commanding the Royal Artillery at Halifax, who expressed his satisfaction at the good practice and the efficiency of the battery. This fine battery has now been maintained in a thoroughly effective state since 1799 at great expense to the members, and it is felt as a hardship that whilst corps are junior to them have received complete issue of harness, the members of this battery have to bear the expense of hiring harness of an inferior kind on all occasions of parade.

TEVIOTDALE CAMP.

On the 26th June, I went into camp with the 78th Highlanders and Victoria Provisional Battalion at Teviotdale near Truro.

In the 78th Highlanders, several of the companies, many of which had completed their period of service came to camp very much below strength.

The three companies from Picton County came in at nearly full strength, mostly strong, hearty men, and were a credit to the battalion.

The 79th possessa pipe and drum corps, and the bagpipes bear out the Highland designation of the corps, and in lieu of a band gave life to the camp.

Some difficulty was experienced in handling the Victoria Provisional Battalion in brigade and battalion drill, as a large proportion of the men speak only Gaelic, and do not understand English. Their extreme willingness and obedience to discipline, however, did much to facilitate the duty of instructing them.

Many of the rank and file who came into camp in this battalion were very young lads.

Three additional companies have been raised for this battalion, which is largely composed of men from the western Highlands of Scotland, and they have requested that the regiment may bear the title "91st Argyleshire Highlanders."

As this was the first year of camp training in this portion of the district every exertion was made by the officers, who generally worked most zealously to make it a success; much assistance in working up the interior economy was given by two Sergeants from the line kindly allowed by Col. Gibbon, C. B., the officer commanding the troops at Halifax, to be attached to these two battalions during the training, and I was more than ever impressed with the necessity of having men of army experience employed as Drill Instructors in the force.

The 78th having had previous practice in battalion drill under the system followed in former years, and having a few trained non-commissioned officers among them progressed in drill more rapidly than the Victoria Provisional Battalion which had not these advantages, making all allowances the brigade manœuvring was fairly performed.

AYLESFORD CAMP.

On the 3rd September the 68th, 69th, 72nd Battalion, and one company of the 75th went into camp at Aylesford under the command of Lt.-Col. Milsom, as through ill health I was prevented assuming the command. On the 16th and 17th September I inspected this brigade. The haying season had been very wet and backward, and at the last moment commanding officers reported that it would be more convenient to postpone the date of muster until the 10th, but it was then too late to make arrangements; the officers found much difficulty in getting men to attend, and the companies were very weak, numerically. The late harvest was given as a reason for this—but increase of pay was also strongly urged as an inducement to a superior class of men to turn out.

The battalion and brigade drill was fairly performed, thanks to the exertions of Lieut. Col. Milsom and the commanding and other officers who are generally hardworking and well up in their work. The want of trained non-commissioned officers is seriously felt.

No. 6 Company of the 75th Battalion, the captain of which stated that he did not receive orders from his commanding officer to attend at Teviotdale, volunteered to perform training at Aylesford, and were attached for drill and discipline to the 68th Battalion. This company was composed of a sturdy and willing body of men.

CUMBERLAND PROVISIONAL BATTALION.

This battalion was ordered to attend at camp, near Truro, on the 26th of June, but owing to the non-completion of the Intercolonial Railroad the men could not be brought by rail, and the allowance of 3 cents per mile for waggon hire was far too inadequate to bring a battalion an average distance of between 80 and 90 miles, and Lieut. Col. Stewart reported it was utterly impossible to hire conveyance at that rate. I therefore reported this to head quarters, and directed the battalion to perform the annual training at company head quarters, and ordered a battalion muster at Amherst, where I inspected three companies on the 9th October. The men were exercised in battalion and high infantry drill, and performed the movements creditably.

The head quarters of the Parrsboro' Company were changed to Tidnish in June, but the new officers were not appointed, and the clothing was not transferred in time for this company to take part in the battalion parade. I therefore inspected the company at its own head quarters.

This battalion is composed of a fine body of men, respectable and well off, who can always be found when wanted, and who are physically able to stand the fatigues of a campaign.

The Lunenburg, Mahone Bay and Chester Batteries of Garrison Artillery were directed to attend training in camp near the Forts at Halifax (as laid down in General Orders No. 14, of 31st May last) on the

The captains reported to me, through the Brigade Major, that they were unable to get their men to attend. These batteries have consequently remained untrained this year.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. W. LAURIE, Colonel,

Commanding District.

UNIFORMS.

The tunics are generally good, and can well be made to last four years, but the trowsers are of poor material, and should be replaced every two years.

The transfer of part worn clothing is a serious difficulty; many respectable men are deterred from joining by being offered part worn clothing which, especially part worn trowsers, they naturally object to wear.

If a small money allowance were made annually to men who make their uniform last beyond the regulated period, I am of opinion that the arrangement would be economical for the department, and that much more care would be taken to keep the clothing clean and tidy.

The forage cap is most unsuitable, and men take every opportunity of getting rid of it. Some regiments have provided Glengarries at their own expense, but to men accustomed to wear hats with brims the usual exposure of the face by wearing a cap without a peak is very trying. Officers and men suffered much from this cause at Teviotdale Camp in July, and many had their faces terribly blistered, and there were several cases of erysipelas in consequence. Even at Aylesford Camp in September at least one third of the men wore hats of various patterns, having lost their forage caps. A neat cap with a peak would obviate this difficulty, and would add much to the comfort of the men.

Pipe-claying belts is troublesome, men have so much else to learn in camp, and it is very desirable to substitute brown leather accoutrements, which require less cleaning, and which men can more readily learn to keep in good order.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. W. LAURIE, Colonel,

Commanding District No. 9.

MILITARY DISTRICT No. 10. (MANITOBA.)

The Militia in this District are at present under the command of Lt.-Colonel Osborne Smith, C. M. G., who reports for my information as follows on the state of his command:—

HEAD QUARTERS, MILITARY DISTRICT No. 10,

27th January, 1873.

SIR,—The total nominal strength of the force in this District, were the respective corps complete as authorized, would be 36 officers and 660 non-commissioned officers and men.

The total strength at present raised consists of 18 officers and 330 non-commissioned officers and men.

The Active Militia in the district consists of the following corps:—

St. Boniface troops of mounted rifles, failed to organize.

Headingley troops of Mounted Rifles, organized but not uniformed or equipped.

Field Battery of Artillery, Winnipeg, organized and partially uniformed.

Lisgar Rifle Company, complete.

Mapleton, Rifle Company, complete.

Poplar Point Rifle Company, complete.

Winnipeg Rifle Company, uniformed but not officially inspected, not armed.

Portage LaPrairie Rifle Company, failed to organize.

Kildonan Rifle Company, failed to organize.

St. Charles Rifle Company, failed to organize.

St. Boniface Rifle Company, failed to organize.

One company under Captain Larivière, failed to organize.

The corps which have drilled and been inspected, turned out as follows:—

	Officers.	Non-commissioned Officers and Men.
Winnipeg Field Battery.....	2	34
Lisgar Rifle Company.....	3	54
Mapleton Rifle Company.....	3	35
Poplar Point Rifle Company.....	2	32

The annual drill was performed at Company Head Quarters. The drill included preliminary drill with and without arms and company evolutions. No facilities have as yet been available for carrying out target practice.

CLOTHING.

The issues of arms, equipment and uniform clothing to the local Militia have been as follows :—

WINNIPEG FIELD BATTERY.

Armed with two Mountain Howitzers,—equipment imperfect,—40 forage caps,—40 great coats issued.

POPLAR POINT RIFLE COMPANY.

Arms, uniform and equipment complete, except forage caps.

MAPLETON RIFLE COMPANY.

Arms, uniform and equipment complete except forage caps.

WINNIPEG RIFLE COMPANY.

Clothing complete except forage caps.—No arms yet issued.

The system of voluntary enlistment will I think work sufficiently well to maintain a force of six companies of foot, two of Mounted Rifles and a Field Battery, which would be a fair quota for the present population.

In addition to the local Militia included in the foregoing return there are serving here.

1st. A detachment of artillery.

2nd. A provisional battalion of infantry of following strength.

These corps are fast approaching to a high state of efficiency, more especially the provisional battalion which when it has been for a few months longer embodied will compare favorably in all respects with regiments in H. M. regular service.

With reference to your instructions to report on any matters of interest connected with the state of the forces or defences of the district, my previous special report concerning the passage of the troops last October over the Dawson route is already before you.

Concerning the report previously submitted by me on the defences of the Province and the North West, I have little to add beyond the fact that further experience has confirmed the opinions I have already had the honor to express to you on these points.

In concluding my report, I wish to express to you the satisfaction which the cordial support of Brevet Lt.-Col. Irvine, commanding the provisional battalion, at all times affords to me ; both by precept and example this officer endeavours to maintain a high standard of character and discipline in his corps.

My thanks also are due to the staff officers attached to the district. Major Peebles, the supply officer is indefatigable in his duties, whilst Captain Arman, late of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, who has for some time been acting as orderly officer, gives every promise of becoming a most efficient staff officer.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

W. OSBORNE SMITH, Lt.-Col.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY BRIGADE.

This brigade is under the command of Lieut.-Colonel C. J. Brydges. The accompanying Report of the Brigade Major on the state of that Brigade is submitted ; and it will be seen that the whole of the men in this fine brigade have been re-enrolled for a further term of three years, under the excellent and praiseworthy arrangements of the commandant.

BRIGADE OFFICE,

MONTREAL, December 2nd, 1872.

SIR,—Having been ordered to England during the summer months, in charge of the Wimbledon detachment of Canadian militia, I had only one opportunity of seeing the whole of the brigade out for drill since my last report. This was during the month of October and early in November, when I went over the whole line.

The whole of the brigade has been supplied with new uniforms, and therefore present a good appearance on parade ; and, with exceptions named in my inspection report, the whole force is much improved in drill and in the general working of the organization.

I inspected the force in Montreal, company by company, during October and November. Their drill was performed during the summer months, and they seem to have been well grounded in company drill, manual and firing exercise.

On the 10th October, I inspected the force at Brockville. I am unable to report favourably here. A languor exists amongst the superior officers, or they are not up to their work, which is unusual in the organization, and I beg to bring this battalion generally to your notice as being on the whole far inferior to the other four. On the following days I inspected at Kingston, Belleville, and Port Hope. Kingston is an exception to what I have said ; Port Hope is also improving ; but the officers at most of these stations know nothing of their work.

At Toronto, the 2nd Brigade Artillery (Col. Spicer) I inspected on 28th October. You will see by last year's report that this brigade was in an inefficient state. I have no longer to say this : on the contrary, everything has been done to render it in an efficient state. It is as well drilled as it is possible to be in the very short time allowed for drill.

At Stratford, where Nos. 5 and 6 Batteries are now stationed, they are equally good. They have a very improving brass band, and also fife and drum, which they keep up at their own expense. Major Patterson in command here is an enthusiastic as well as an efficient officer, and helps materially to produce this state of affairs.

I was at Brantford on the 26th October, and inspected there and elsewhere, this battalion—the 3rd Battalion (Col. P. J. Stevenson.) The drill and general working of the force is good ; the officers take a great interest in their work ; and all the force from Brantford to Sarnia is in good working order. The band at Brantford is improved, and the fife and drum at Sarnia is a credit to them at that point. Inspected the companies of the 1st Battalion (Lieut.-Colonel Bailey). They are in good order.

Boards of Examination having assembled, according to my suggestion, at Montreal, Toronto, and Brantford, last winter, nearly all of the officers of the Grand Trunk Railway Brigade availed themselves of them, and now almost all the officers in the force have certificates. I should suggest the same annually, as it has worked well.

An excellent order of the commandant has helped very much to keep up an interest, and at the same time it helps the Government officer in his work. The adjutants of each battalion receive a stipend of $50 per annum. It encourages them, and makes the post to be sought after, and is of assistance to the commanding officer.

The whole force is now sworn in for a further term of three years. The service rolls are in my possession.

The annual target practice has been regularly done throughout the brigade—a great improvement on last year. The best shots have received their prizes, and this method has given much satisfaction.

I enclose full details of the shooting strength and distribution of the brigade.

And, in conclusion, I must add that my duties are made light in consequence of the assistance I receive from the commandant, Lieut.-Col. C. J. Brydges.

The Grand Trunk Railway Brigade, under the command of Lieut.-Col. C. J. Brydges, numbers 2,326 officers and men. The following return shews the present strength and distribution of corps in this brigade :—

CONCLUDING REMARKS ON STATE OF ACTIVE MILITIA FOR 1872.

In concluding the Report on the state of the active militia for 1872, and on the manner in which the annual drill has been performed, I feel that I should fail to do justice to the officers and men under my command if I omitted to bear testimony to the admirable manner in which they conducted themselves during the time of the Annual Drill last year;—it is very satisfactory to state that only one fatal accident is reported to have occurred, notwithstanding the large number of men who attended the various camps. This fatal accident occurred at Niagara camp, one man having been drowned whilst bathing at a dangerous place in the Niagara River, in disobedience to orders.

It is also very satisfactory to report that the ease and rapidity with which the force was concentrated in the various camps of instruction was remarkable; and there are no miscarriages of any importance to record.

The medical officers who were present at the various camps discharged their duty with zeal and ability, and these gentlemen have submitted many valuable suggestions.

They state that the badly-shaped boots, with high heels, which the men bring to camp with them, are the cause of many blistered feet; and that the cap worn by the men—which is without a peak, or other protection from the sun—is the cause of inflamed eyes, and in some cases of sunstroke.

To remedy these evils, I would suggest the propriety of adding one pair of military boots to the periodical issue of clothing—these boots, like the clothing, to be worn only when on duty or at annual drill; and to add a peak, with a white cotton cap-cover, to the present forage cap. By this means, the comfort, health, and efficiency of the men would be greatly increased.

The medical officers observed a great improvement in the health of the force last year, at the different camps of exercise, as compared with the previous year, and they report the rations to have been good in quality and sufficient in quantity.

The regulations and instructions contained in the General Orders of 31st May, 1872, for the transport, supply, and military instruction of the active militia assembled in camps of exercise last year, are reported to have been found complete, and to leave little room for addition or amendment.

P. ROBERTSON-ROSS,
Colonel Commanding the Militia and Adjutant-General.

The accompanying return shews the actual numerical strength of the Reserve Militia in the four Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, according to the last enrolment made and reported to headquarters.

From this return it will be seen that in these four Provinces alone six hundred and ninety-four thousand and eight men between the ages of eighteen and sixty have been actually enrolled under the law for the defence of the Dominion.

In accordance with the Militia law of the Dominion, this enrolment has to be taken every second year in the various regimental and company divisions by the officers of the Reserve Militia.

Only two enrolments of the Reserve Militia have been made since the Confederation of the British North American Provinces into the Dominion of Canada.

According to the first enrolment made in 1869 the numerical strength of the Reserve Militia was six hundred and fifty-six thousand and sixty-six men; the increase to the strength of the reserve in two years was therefore thirty-seven thousand nine hundred and forty-two men.

There is no doubt but that the third enrolment for the Reserve Militia now being made in these four Eastern Provinces of the Dominion will show a corresponding increase to a reserve in these four Provinces alone, already numerically far more powerful than that of some European nations. It is expected that the enrolment now being taken will prove that the strength of the reserve in the above four Provinces is considerably more than seven hundred thousand men.

Circumstances have not as yet admitted of any enrolment being taken in the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia.

It may be necessary to explain that the most valuable feature in the Canadian military system is the reserve organisation of the force. Strangers and those unacquainted with the Militia law might suppose that officers of the Reserve Militia may be intended under certain circumstances to command corps or battalions in the field in the event of hostilities, or to train them to military exercises in time of peace.

Such a supposition, however, would be very erroneous, for these officers are appointed for different, although quite as important duties in connection with military organisation.

In the event of war, it would be the duty of the officers of the Reserve Militia to act as recruiting agents for the active force in the field in their respective company, regimental and brigade territorial divisions, so soon as it became necessary to apply the ballot for recruiting purposes. In time of peace this duty would also devolve upon them in the event of an insufficient number of men coming forward voluntarily to fill the ranks of corps required to train annually for the defence of the country, and every second year it is their duty to make an enrolment of all the militia within their respective territorial limits, entering the names of the men enrolled for the reserve, according to age, &c., in one or other of the four classes of the reserve, and to transmit these rolls through the proper channel to the Adjutant General at headquarters.

In time of war, therefore, their services would be most valuable and indispensable as recruiting agents. In time of peace by acting as military census takers periodically, not only is the actual numerical strength and resources of the country in men made known at headquarters, but the military machinery required for the ballot is kept in working order, and in addition it is found that the periodical enrolment of the Reserve Militia made by the officers of the reserve affords the most reliable proof of the accuracy or inaccuracy of the census of population taken periodically for the whole Dominion.

The value of such a reserve organization which has so frequently called forth the approval of eminent statesmen and soldiers is self apparent.

RECONNAISSANCE OF THE NORTH WEST PROVINCES AND INDIAN TERRITORIES OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA, AND NARRATIVE OF JOURNEY ACROSS THE CONTINENT THROUGH CANADIAN TERRITORY TO BRITISH COLUMBIA AND VANCOUVER ISLAND.

On the termination of the annual training of the Militia in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, I proceeded, in the first instance, via Lake Superior and the "Dawson Route" to Manitoba, and in accordance with instructions, subsequently crossed the Continent through Canadian Territory to the Pacific Coast and Vancouver Island, travelling nearly the whole distance from Fort Garry on horseback.

Leaving Collingwood on the 16th July, in the steamboat for Thunder Bay, (Lake Superior,) the vessel reached her destination early in the morning of the 28th, stopping, en route, at the settlements of Owen Sound, Leith and Killarney, on the shores of Lake Huron, and at Gargantua Bay, Michipicoton Island and Neepigon, on Lake Superior.

Neepigon Bay is a good and safe harbour, and the place itself is probably destined to be of great importance in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

On arrival at Prince Arthur's Landing, I found that a considerable and apparently thriving settlement had already sprung up at that place.

The population now numbers about 500; many good houses have been erected, and Municipal Government has been established.

Thunder Bay is one of the best and safest harbours on the north shore of Lake Superior, and the surrounding scenery is very beautiful.

For want of a proper wharf, considerable inconvenience is experienced, but as the one now in course of construction will be completed shortly, the landing facilities will then be greatly improved, and be all that is likely to be required for some time to come.

Owing to the great mineral resources, and valuable silver and copper mines which exist in this neighbourhood, and from the excellence of its harbour, it may reasonably be expected that a wealthy and important settlement will, ere long, be established at Thunder Bay.

From Prince Arthur's Landing, I proceeded on the 22nd July, by waggon, in one day, to Lake Shebandowan, a distance of about forty-five miles, by what may now be fairly considered a good road.

All the streams have been bridged, and a very substantial structure is erected across the Matawan.

When this road shall have been gravelled throughout its entire length, which will probably be effected this summer, it will be as good a one as can be desired.

The country through which the road passes from Lake Superior to Shebandowan is well wooded and much better suited for settlement than is generally supposed. Although the soil in the immediate neighborhood of Prince Arthur's Landing is somewhat sandy, the greater part of the country passed through is perfectly well suited for farming and agriculture.

At the Matawan River farming operations had commenced; very fine timothy hay had already been raised at that place, and the growth of the vegetables and cereals which had been but a short time before planted, gave excellent promises.

From Lake Shebandowan I proceeded by canoe to the north-west angle of the Lake of the Woods in seven days, a distance of three hundred and ten miles, through the chain of inland waters known as the "Dawson Route," towed part of the way by tug steamers.

Considerable progress has been made in opening up and improving this line of communication through the Dominion to the vast and important territories of the North West, and I am satisfied that if greater means could have been placed at the disposal of Mr. S. J. Dawson, much greater progress towards completing the work would have been made by that able Engineer.

The portages have been greatly improved. There were horses or bullocks with carts or waggons on nearly all. In many instances a shorter and better route than that originally followed has been adopted, and altogether it is now not only a perfectly available and valuable line of communication during the open season, but it is an indispensable work towards the settlement of the country through which it passes.

At Fort Frances two steamboats of considerable size are being built; one has already been launched, and both are expected to be finished early next spring. One of these steamboats is intended for Rainy River and the Lake of the Woods, the other for Rainy Lake. Additional tug steamers are also to be obtained, so that by next summer it is expected there will be steam power on all the waters. When this is carried out the journey from Lake Superior to Manitoba through Dominion Territory will be made comfortably in four or five days, and the transport of passengers, freight, waggons and horses by the "Dawson Route" effected without difficulty.

For the passage of troops, during the summer season, there is now no difficulty. In October last a detachment of 215 soldiers with two light field guns were conveyed in twenty-five days from Collingwood in Ontario to Fort Garry, in the Province of Manitoba; and by next summer, I consider there would probably be no great difficulty in conveying, if required, both cavalry and artillery, as well as infantry, in considerable numbers by the "Dawson Route."

The country along the banks of Rainy Lake and Rainy River is well wooded with valuable timber, extremely picturesque, and still better suited for settlement than the country between Lakes Superior and Shebandowan. The Lakes and Rivers teem with fish, and self-sustaining settlements could be readily established there with advantage.

From most careful enquiries, it appears that the number of Indians occupying the country along the line of the "Dawson Route," and who belong to the Ojibbeway tribe, does not exceed a total population of four thousand, of whom it is believed about eight hundred are men capable of bearing arms. Although among these Indians there may be some restless characters, they are considered good Indians on the whole, and if kindly but firmly treated, they are not likely to cause any interruption along this route, or offer opposition to the peaceful settlement of the country.

During the past summer, the Ojibbeway tribe were apprehensive of an attack from the Sioux, their hereditary enemies, dwelling west of the Red River on the American side of the International boundary line. With a view, therefore, of preserving the peace of the country, supporting our Indian commissioner when engaged in making treaties, and for the protection of settlers, I am of opinion that it would be advisable to encamp a detachment of about one hundred (100) soldiers during the summer months at Fort Francis. This Force could be taken from the Militia now on duty at Fort Garry, returning to that station for the winter months. To send an Indian Commissioner unaccompanied by a military force to make a treaty with this tribe last summer proved a failure.

I would further suggest that the employés of the Department of Public Works stationed along the line of the "Dawson Route," who will this summer number about four hundred (400) men, should be organized into a Naval Brigade, to be armed and equipped by the Militia Department; and that the offer to raise two Volunteer Companies of Militia at Prince Arthur's Landing, Thunder Bay, be accepted.

The existence of such a material power along the line, would, I feel sure, prove of the greatest importance. There is no doubt that the passage of troops for the last three years proceeding to and from Fort Garry in support of the civil power, on missions of peace, has already been attended with the best results.

From the North West Angle of the Lake of the Woods, I drove to Fort Garry, in Manitoba, in a waggon with two horses, a distance of ninety-five miles in a day and a half; the journey from Prince Arthur's Landing thus occupying nine and a half days.

The road from the Lake of the Woods to Oak Point, where the Prairie commences, is now as good a one as can be found in almost any country part of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec—and from the North West Angle of the Lake of the Woods, the ordinary carts and waggons of the country, and almost any kind of light carriage or vehicle can be driven without difficulty during the summer season, for thirteen or fourteen hundred miles across the great Prairies of the North West, through one of the most fertile and beautiful countries in the world, to the Rocky Mountains.

CHAP. II.

Inspections in Manitoba.

Arriving at Upper Fort Garry on the 31st July, I inspected the Military Force on duty there the following day, and the detachments stationed at the Lower Fort and in the Hudson's Bay Company's Post near Pembina, subsequently.

The Military Force authorized at present to be maintained on duty in Manitoba consists of three hundred Infantry formed into a Provisional four Company Battalion, under the command of a Major, and an Artillery Detachment of one officer and 25 gunners; but at the time of my inspection the Force was considerably below its strength, and divided as follows:

At Upper Fort Garry.....	181	(all ranks)
At Lower " ".....	20	"
At the Hudson's Bay Company's Boat near Pembina.....	42	"
Total..	243	all ranks.

The decrease in the strength authorized which then existed resulted from the discharge of time-expired men, but a considerable detachment was despatched to Fort Garry from the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec in October last, to complete the authorized strength.

I am happy to report that on inspecting the Infantry Battalion, I found it to be in as satisfactory a condition with regard to drill and discipline, as could reasonably be expected, considering the very short periods allowed for the enlistment of the men, and the officers' uncertain tenure of office.

The companies stationed at Upper Fort Garry were encamped at the time of inspection on the banks of the Assiniboine, about one mile from its junction with the Red River; the cleanliness, neatness and good order of this camp, which was occupied during the whole summer, reflected much credit on Major and Brevet-Lt.-Col. Irvine, the officer commanding the Battalion.

On inspecting the detachment at Pembina I found that there was insufficient accommodation in the small trading post of the Hudson's Bay Company at that place for the number of men there stationed.

In view of this fact, therefore, and the desirability at the time of strengthening the force at Upper Fort Garry, with the entire concurrence of the Lieut.-Governor of the Province, I directed the strength of the detachment at Pembina to be reduced to 1 sergeant, 1 corporal and 12 men—and there being no necessity for keeping any detachment at Lower Fort Garry, with the concurrence of the Lieut.-Governor, I directed the return of the party there stationed, to the Upper Fort.

The Battalion is now concentrated at the Upper Fort, and as the majority of the men have been recently enlisted to serve for a period of three years, it may be expected that before long the corps will attain to a higher degree of military discipline and training.

The respectability of character and good conduct as men exhibited by the majority of the individuals composing the corps during the last twelve months, has been conspicuous. The soldier-like bearing and discipline displayed by the Battalion on a recent occasion when called out in aid of the civil power to quell a riot at the time of the elections, proved it to be a corps upon which the Government and the country can rely.

The Artillery Detachment was sent to Fort Garry subsequent to my inspection.

With regard to the barrack accommodation provided for the Battalion in the Hudson's Bay Company's trading post, known as the Upper Fort Garry, I found it to be very inadequate, unsuitable, and generally unfit for permanent military occupation. The store buildings used as barracks for the men required a considerable amount of repair to make them fit for occupation in winter. They consist of wooden sheds, some of them mere shells.

The building used as the Officers' quarters, which originally was an excellent one, is now very old and decayed. A very considerable amount of repair is required in it—the roof should be entirely new shingled, though it is a matter of doubt whether the building will stand such repairs.

The storage room required for military stores is very inadequate and unfit for keeping such stores with safety—and they are in eight different buildings; one good storehouse being all that is required.

The Armory in which the spare rifles and arms are kept, is very damp.

A powder magazine is required—the Hudson's Bay Company's magazine is generally well filled with their own powder, and is, moreover, very damp.

While making this report on the state of the barrack accommodation at Fort Garry, it is but due to the Hon. the Hudson's Bay Company, to state that every assistance and facility in providing for the want of the troops has been afforded by the gentlemen belonging to that great trading Company, as far as circumstances and their own requirements would admit. In very many instances they have placed themselves and their employés at no inconsiderable personal inconvenience, in order to accommodate the troops, meet the wishes of Government, and the emergencies of the case.

For the last three years, it has been found necessary to maintain a military Force in Fort Garry, where only temporary accommodation, as a sort of makeshift, can be provided.

The men suffer much during the severe weather in winter from want of proper shelter and accommodation, it is difficult moreover to maintain good order and discipline among a body of soldiers when mixed up with civil employés in a Hudson's Bay trading post, and the arrangement altogether, except as a temporary measure, is very inconvenient and unsatisfactory.

Under these circumstances, provided it be in harmony with the policy of Government I would respectfully urge that no further time be lost in taking the necessary steps to supply the Military Force required with proper Barrack accommodation. On enquiring of the men if they had any complaints to submit relative to their pay, rations, &c., and general treatment, in accordance with my duty, they expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with their rates of pay, scale of rations, and treatment by their officers, but invariably in the most respectful manner complained of the wretched Barrack accommodation.

I feel bound to say that their complaints on this head were just, and to state that it would be only fair to meet the reasonable wants of the men on this point.

At no great expense, and with very little trouble, suitable log huts can be erected on advantageous ground, and the greater portion of the work carried out by the men themselves.

This arrangement would, I believe, eventually be found the most economical one for the country, if it be the intention to keep a Military Force in Manitoba, and it certainly is a very essential one for maintaining the efficiency and welfare of troops. Already the amount of money spent on repairing old buildings and constructing new ones in the Hudson's Bay Company's Post would have sufficed to defray the cost of providing proper Barrack accommodation in log huts for the Force stationed at Fort Garry.

I would further urge, if it be the intention of Government to retain any military force on duty in Manitoba, that one hundred (100) men of the Provisional Battalion be supplied with horses and equipped as Mounted Riflemen, that an addition of 1 officer and 25 gunners from the School of Gunnery at Kingston be made to the Artillery detachment, and the Artillery supplied with four of the Horse Artillery guns recently obtained from England. Thus the Force would form a small but effective Field Brigade, and its military power be greatly increased.

With regard to the necessity for maintaining any Military Force at Fort Garry, no doubt whatever exists in my mind as to the propriety of doing so, in view of the presence of many bands of Indians, considering the primitive state of society in the Province, the strong political party feeling which exists, and the fact that on both sides of the International Boundary Line restless and reckless characters among both white men and Indians abound.

It is undoubtedly very desirable to maintain a certain number of Police Constables in the Province under the civil power, some of whom should be mounted, but I feel satisfied that the great security for the preservation of good order, and the peace of the North West Territories, under the changing state of affairs, will for some years, be found to lie in the existence and presence of a disciplined military body, under its own military rules, in addition to, but distinct from, any civil force which it may be thought proper to establish.

Whatever feeling may be entertained toward Policemen, animosity is rarely, if ever, felt towards disciplined soldiers wearing Her Majesty's uniform, in any portion of the British Empire.

In the event of serious disturbance, a Police Force, acting alone, and unsupported by a disciplined Military body, would probably be overpowered, in a Province of mixed races, where every man is armed, while to maintain a Military without any Civil Force is not desirable.

I believe that a small number of Constables will be sufficient to maintain order in the Province, provided the Military Force is maintained; but that, in the event of serious disturbance, a large Police Force would be unable to do so, should the military be withdrawn, and I consider the presence of a military Force in the North-West Territories for some years to come, as indispensable in the interests of peace and settlement.

During my inspection in the North West I ascertained that some prejudice existed amongst the Indians against the colour of the uniform worn by the men of the Provisional Battalion—many of them had said “who are those soldiers at Red River wearing dark clothes? our old brothers who formerly lived there”—meaning H. M.'s 6th Regiment—“wore red coats,” adding, “we know that the soldiers of our great mother wear red coats” and are our friends.”

With the view therefore of re-assuring the Indian mind, and for other reasons, I recommended a change of uniform—this has been carried out, the Militia on duty in Manitoba now wear red coats, and the matter apparently small in itself, will probably prove of great value and importance hereafter.

On the 8th of August I inspected the Winnipeg Field Battery, a Militia Artillery Corps recently organized and composed of citizens resident in the town of Winnipeg,

This Battery is under the command of Major Kennedy, a very zealous officer, but it has not as yet been armed.

On the occasion of inspection, the corps took part in a field day, brigaded with the Provisional Battalion. The battery was armed for the day with some light field guns belonging to the Hudson's Bay Company, kindly placed at their disposal by the Hon. Donald Smith, M. P., chief factor.

As soon as circumstances will admit, it is recommended that this battery should be armed with four of the horse artillery field guns recently obtained from England, and supplied with the necessary harness and artillery stores.

The militia in the Province of Manitoba is under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Osborne Smith, C. M. G., Deputy Adjutant General, who reports that in the month of May 126 men of the Provisional Battalion will probably obtain their discharge on completion of service. That number of men should, therefore, be sent to Fort Garry by the Dawson route so soon as the navigation opens, to maintain the force at its authorized strength, and one officer and twenty-five gunners should be despatched in addition, to render the artillery detachment more effective.

CHAP. III.

From Fort Garry to the Rocky Mountain House.

Having concluded the inspection of the militia in Manitoba, accompanied by my son, a youth sixteen years of age, as travelling companion, I left Fort Garry on the 10th of August for the Rocky Mountains and British Columbia, with one guide only, and an Indian lad of the Saulteux tribe, to cross the continent through Dominion territory to the Pacific coast.

The Hudson's Bay Company provided ten horses, two Red River carts, and a suitable equipment for the party, and undertook to supply any guides, horses, and provisions required en route, from the different posts in the Swan River and Saskatchewan districts as far as Fort Edmonton or the Rocky Mountain House; but beyond these posts they could not guarantee further progress, nor a safe passage through the country of the Blackfeet Indians, should circumstances require the adoption of that route.

Every possible assistance, however, was afforded me by the Hon. Donald Smith, M. P., and the gentlemen connected with the Company at the various posts visited, and my best thanks are due to them, not only for many acts of kindness and hospitality, but for much valuable information respecting the Indian tribes.

At the time of departure from Fort Garry, some doubt was expressed as to the propriety of so small a party travelling without a guard through the Indian territory, and especially through the country of the Blackfeet tribe, if found necessary to do so; and I have to thank the Government very much for the authority conveyed by your telegram to Fort Garry, to take with me, if desired, a personal escort of six soldiers from the battalion on duty in Manitoba.

On full consideration, however, and with the advice of those best able to judge, I did not think it advisable to do so. A military escort of only six men would be inadequate to afford protection in case of any real danger from the Prairie Indians, and might possibly invite attack. Considerable additional expense, moreover, would have been entailed for their transport and subsistence.

Proceeding from Fort Garry through the Swan River and Saskatchewan districts, via the Hudson's Bay Company's posts of Fort Ellice, Carlton, Pitt, Victoria, and Edmonton, I arrived at the Rocky Mountain House—about twelve hundred (1,200) miles distance from Fort Garry—in thirty-one days, of which twenty-five days only were occupied in actual travel.

The prairie road or cart trail extending the whole way from Fort Garry to the Rocky Mountain House, and which has been used for many years by the Hudson's Bay Company, was at that season of the year in excellent order. Many of the streams have been roughly bridged by the Hudson's Bay Company's servants; and except at the crossing of the South Saskatchewan River, where we lost a whole day from the necessity of swimming our horses across, and repairing a damaged scow on which to convey over the carts and baggage, we met with very little difficulty or trouble at any time. For great distances the road led over prairie ground almost as level as a race course.

It would be desirable to bridge the Little Saskatchewan River, Bird-tail Creek and Snake Creek, between Fort Garry and Fort Ellice, and to improve the descent to and ascent from the Assiniboine River at Fort Ellice, as owing to the steepness of the road it is somewhat difficult to pass at this point during rainy weather with loaded carts. In addition to this, some repairs and improvements are desirable on the road between Forts Pitt, Victoria, and Edmonton, and across one or two swamps near the Rocky Mountain House; but on the whole a very trifling amount of labour is all that is at present required.

On the journey from Fort Carlton to Edmonton, a distance of between three and four hundred miles, we were accompanied by the wife of our guide (an employé of the Hudson's Bay Company), who with her three young children travelled in a light four-wheeled canvas-covered waggon, driving the vehicle herself nearly the whole way.

It was my intention to overtake at Edmonton, if possible, Mr. Fleming, Chief Engineer of the Pacific Railway, who had started from Fort Garry ten days before me for British Columbia, and in company with him cross the Rocky Mountains by the "Tête Jaune Pass:" on arrival at Edmonton, however, I found that he had quitted that point seven days previously.

As no guides could be obtained at Edmonton either for the Tête Jaune or any other pass, it was necessary to proceed to the Rocky Mountain House, a trading post for the Blackfeet Indians, distant about 180 miles South West from Edmonton, in sight of, and about forty-five miles distant from the first range of the Rocky Mountains.

Between Fort Garry and Fort Ellice, a distance of 230 miles, the country is diversified and undulating, generally speaking very good and fertile. In some parts alkali lakes are occasionally met with. The open expanses of prairie are relieved with numerous clumps or patches of wood, termed "bluffs." There is plenty of wood suitable for fuel, or for sheltering stock. The wood consists of spruce, willows, birch and poplar, and in the valley of the Assiniboine there is a good deal of oak.

The land in the lower part of the valley of the Assiniboine, for nearly one hundred miles before its junction with the Red River, is of great richness and fertility.

Between the western boundary of the Province of Manitoba and Fort Ellice, the country in the vicinity of Pine Creek, the Little Saskatchewan River, Shoal Lake, Birdtail Creek, and Snake Creek, is well suited for settlement and farming purposes, more particularly for the raising of stock, but I do not think the soil, generally speaking, so well suited for wheat crops as along the lower parts of the valley of the Assiniboine and Red River.

Fort Ellice is situated a short distance from the junction of the Qu'appelle with the Assiniboine River, on the right bank of the latter stream.

It is well placed in a military point of view, being built on a plateau at the top of a high, steep and thickly wooded bank, about two hundred feet above the river. The river is here about sixty yards in breadth and about fifteen feet in depth. The banks are thickly wooded. The Hudson's Bay Company have erected a bridge across the river.

The Valley of the Assiniboine is depressed about 250 feet below the Prairie level, and is about three quarters of a mile in breadth.

The country around the immediate vicinity of Fort Ellice is well wooded and suitable for settlement.

The wood consists chiefly of poplar of no great size, and there is some oak.

The Fort itself merely consists of some wooden houses, built of poplar, and surrounded by a stockade, but it might easily be made very defensible, and accommodation for 50 soldiers in addition to the present occupants, readily created.

The Assiniboine River is navigable for good sized boats all the way from Fort Garry to Fort Ellice, and I believe much further. In spring no great difficulty would probably be experienced in navigating the river with a stern-wheel steamer of light draught the whole way from Fort Garry to Fort Ellice.

Between Fort Ellice and Fort Carlton, on the North Saskatchewan, lies a great extent of country—more than three hundred miles. Throughout a considerable portion of the road followed alkali lakes are prevalent, and for several days I found no good water.

Upon the whole I do not consider the country between Fort Ellice and the Touchwood Hills, which are about midway between Fort Ellice and Carlton, and the country beyond the Touchwood Hills for two or three day's journey towards the North West, so well adapted for settlement as the Province of Manitoba, and the country between it and Fort Ellice.

From that part of the country, however, where the "Round Hill" (a conspicuous object about two day's journey south of Fort Carlton), is situated, to North Saskatchewan River, and from thence for several hundreds of miles westward to the Rocky Mountains, the value and fertility of the country for agricultural and stock raising purposes has certainly not been exaggerated in the accounts of any travellers.

The North Saskatchewan at Fort Carlton is about four hundred yards in breadth, with a current of between two and three miles; and it nowhere exceeds that breadth upwards to the Rocky Mountains. Although there are numerous sand bars, it is navigable for large sized boats, and I believe for stern-wheel steamers of light draught from within about twelve miles of Lake Winnipeg nearly to the base of the Rocky Mountains. When the river is low, steamboats probably would not be able to pass at Coal Rapids below Carlton. At the proper season of the year for navigation, however, it is only necessary to make one or two portages the whole way from Fort Garry, on the Red River, to the Rocky Mountain House.

The land lying between the north and south branches of the Saskatchewan River, near Carlton, and for many miles to the east and west, is particularly well adapted for settlement, and the whole country along the north bank of the North Saskatchewan, extending for hundreds of miles to the westward, is very fertile and admirably adapted for settlement. There are two half-breed settlements at no great distance from Fort Carlton—one at St. Laure, (French half-breed) on the South Saskatchewan, about 30 miles south-west from Fort Carlton; the other, an English half-breed settlement (Prince Albert), 50 miles east from Fort Carlton, on the North Saskatchewan. The population of St. Laure, last year, was 68 men, 58 women and 198 children, possessing 577 horses; that of Prince Albert, 35 men, 57 women, 81 children, and 181 Indians. The population of these two settlements is probably much increased since this census was made, and it is believed that a considerable number of the half-breed population in Manitoba will leave that Province next summer and move to these settlements.

The country to the south of the North Saskatchewan, leading towards what are called the Great Plains, I understand is by no means so fertile or so well suited for agriculture; and there is there, I believe, a scarcity of both fuel and water.

Some doubts may exist as to the possibility of raising as large wheat crops along the valley of the North Saskatchewan, from the occasional occurrence of summer frosts, as can be raised in the Province of Manitoba; but I believe that for stock-farming, vegetables and the hardier grains, such as oats, barley, &c., the fertile belt of British North America can hardly be surpassed.

With regard to the temperature of the climate, on very few occasions was there any interruption to its mildness in the past summer during the months of June, July, August, September and October. On the night of the 17th August, when travelling between Fort Ellice and the Touchwood Hills, I experienced a slight frost, but not sufficient, so far as I could judge, to materially injure wheat crops. Again, on the night of the 10th September, when about two day's journey from the Rocky Mountain House, I experienced another similar frost—these were the only occasions during the past season that I experienced any frosts or cold, until reaching the foot of the Rocky Mountains on the 21st September near the Porcupine Hills, being then at an altitude of between 3,000 and 4,000 feet above the sea level—and at the time of the Equinox, I was stopped for several days by a snow storm, which not unfrequently occurs in the mountains, but rarely so early on the plains. This snow disappeared from the plains in a few days, almost as rapidly as it came, and with the above exceptions, from the time of quitting the Lake of the Woods, one hundred miles east of Fort Garry, until reaching the Pacific Coast, a period of three months, the climate was delightful—it was frequently quite unnecessary to pitch a tent when camping for the night; for many nights I slept out in the open air, or lay underneath the cart.

It takes twenty days to go with large sized row boats, carrying cargo, from Carlton to Fort Edmonton, but a light draught steamer would accomplish the distance in a short time.

Gold is to be found in the sand bars of the Saskatchewan the whole way from Fort Edmonton to Carlton, and almost throughout its entire length.

I was informed that at Carlton a man can earn from two to three dollars daily, during the proper season by washing the sand of the river,—and at Fort Edmonton from five to six dollars daily for seven or eight months in the year.

At Fort Edmonton during the past summer there were only five or six men engaged mining, from one of whom I obtained some good specimens of the Saskatchewan gold, which is considered equal in quality to that obtained in the mines of British Columbia.

The few miners who have as yet penetrated into the Saskatchewan country state that gold is to be found in nearly all the streams which flow into the Saskatchewan River, and they are of opinion that quite as rich deposits exist on the eastern as on the western side of the Rocky Mountains.

The Hudson's Bay Company's Forts along the line of the North Saskatchewan at Carlton, Pitt, Victoria and Edmonton consist of wooden houses surrounded by stockades; these stockades are about twenty feet high with small bastions at the angles to afford flanking defence—although probably sufficient to afford protection from Indians, they are of slight strength.

At Forts Carlton, Pitt and Victoria, accommodation for companies of soldiers, 50 strong, could be found in these Hudson's Bay Company's Forts, in addition to the present occupants, and at Fort Edmonton for about 125 soldiers.

These Forts are conveniently enough situated for purposes of trade, but in a military point of view are badly placed, being in nearly every instance commanded from the rear by higher ground.

The Rocky Mountain House, however, is built on a good military site, and could easily be put in a defensible condition.

The scenery about the Touchwood Hills, as well as in many other sections of the country lying between Forts Garry and Edmonton is extremely picturesque and park like. At the time of the year I passed through, the wild flowers were in full bloom; the prairie covered with beautiful plants and countless roses, both red and white, presented a gorgeous appearance; not unfrequently when camping for the night the traveller literally makes his bed upon roses.

Fort Carlton and its vicinity is a desirable spot for settlement, but the whole country along the north bank of the Saskatchewan to Edmonton is at least equally so, offering in many places superior advantages from the greater quantity and better quality of the timber.

From Edmonton to the Rocky Mountain House, especially in the neighbourhood of the Battle River and Wolf Plain, the country is still richer and better wooded.

At Fort Victoria, where a small settlement has arisen, and at Fort Edmonton I saw several fields of excellent wheat being harvested.

I have no doubt whatever that when the valley of the North Saskatchewan is opened up and settled, it will be found to be very productive.

That beautiful country lying in the territory of the Blackfoot Indians, extending for about 300 miles along the Eastern base of the Rocky Mountains towards the International boundary line, with a varying breadth of from 60 to 80 miles, is in respect of fertility, of surpassing richness—in regard to scenery, magnificent.

The effect produced upon the mind of the traveller who journeys day after day through these vast and beautiful solitudes is of an elevating character; the recollection of the scenes visited remains deeply impressed upon the memory.

The average temperature during the Winter months along the base of the Rocky Mountains in this section of the country, is higher by 15° than that of the Western portion of the Province of Ontario; all over the Saskatchewan country, horses and cattle winter out.

All travellers and old residents in the West, testify to the healthiness of the climate—in indeed in the pure air of the prairie, sickness is almost unknown.

Scattered through the whole of the Saskatchewan country, are numerous lakes generally of no great size; they are the favourite haunts of great numbers of wild duck, and geese.

Some of the Lakes between Forts Carleton and Edmonton, such as Egg Lake, Jack fish and Saddle Lake are, however, of considerable size, and contain immense quantities of White fish.

Wild pigeons, and prairie hens abound everywhere.

In the Touchwood Hills and along the Eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, several kinds of deer and bears are very numerous.

When travelling through the Touchwood Hills, I killed a bear of the grizzly species, but one of no great size.

On the 23rd of September near the Porcupine Hill, at the base of the Rocky Mountains, I killed another grizzly bear of very large size, the animal weighing about 1100 lbs.

In the country adjacent to the Bow River and thence southward towards the Boundary line, numerous herds of antelope were seen, and some of them killed by our party.

During the past summer, the buffalo were very numerous on the Great Plains that lie between the North and South Saskatchewan Rivers.

CHAP. IV.

From the Rocky Mountain House across the mountains, via " Wild Horse Creek," to Victoria, Vancouver's Island.

On arrival at the " Rocky Mountain House," I learned that to cross the mountains into British Columbia by the " Vermilion Pass" with horses was impossible owing to the immense quantity of fallen timber caused by a great storm in the mountains last spring.

An attempt to cross by this Pass had been made by a party of Assiniboine Indians early in the summer without success.

Under these circumstances it became necessary to undertake a journey of about 300 miles through the country of the Blackfoot Indians and to cross the mountains by the North Kootenay Pass.

Through the kindness of Mr. R. Hardesty, the gentleman in charge of the Hudson's Bay Company Posts in the Saskatchewan District, I obtained the services of three guides from the Post of the Rocky Mountain House, one of whom was " William Munro," the Hudson's Bay Company's Interpreter for the Blackfoot Indians, better known throughout the Saskatchewan Country by his Indian name of " Piskaan." This guide is a brave man, and one of the most famous travellers and hunters in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company.

In company with him and the two other guides, one of whom was a Rocky Mountain Assiniboine Indian, the other a French half-breed, I started along with my son from the Rocky Mountain House, on the 16th September, to pass through the country of the Blackfoot Indians, and cross the Mountains by the Kootenay Pass into British Columbia.

The Blackfoot tribe of Indians have always been much dreaded and their country carefully avoided by travellers. From information obtained at the Rocky Mountain House, and while travelling, it appears that this tribe which is the most numerous and warlike one of the Prairie Indians in Dominion Territory, is divided into five distinct bands, or rather clans, each band under its own chief, but all maintaining a close connection. These bands are called and known as follows:—

1st. The Sik-si-ka or Blackfoot proper; this band numbers about 700 men, 1000 women, 1100 children, possessing about 3000 horses and ponies, 400 dogs, and having the following arms:—

105 Rifles,
260 Revolvers,
436 Flint guns.
236 Bows,
48 Spears,
37 War Axes,

2nd. The Piegans, (subdivided into Northern and Southern Piegans) numbering nearly 800 men, 1,100 women, 1,400 children, possessing about 3,500 horses and ponies, 600 dogs, and the following arms:—

213 Rifles,
412 Revolvers,
320 Flint Guns,
181 Bows,
54 Spears,
41 War Axes.

3rd. The Ka-na-ans, (or Blood Indians) numbering about 600 men, 800 women, 900 children, possessing about 2,500 horses and ponies, 480 dogs, and having the following arms:—

141 Rifles,
318 Revolvers,
202 Flint Guns,
216 Bows,
45 Spears,
32 War Axes.

5th. The Sar-cis, (or Beaver Indians) numbering about 100 men, 130 women, 150 children, possessing about 150 horses, 300 dogs, and having the following arms:—

6 Rifles,
14 Revolvers,
64 Flint Guns,
26 Bows,
4 Spears,
7 War Axes.

Although the Blackfeet may number altogether about 2,350 men, many of these are old, and some of them mere boys.

It is not believed that they could bring into the field more than 1,000, or 1,100 men, if as many.

They keep together by bands for mutual protection, in what is termed in Military language standing camps; as many as 100 or 150 tents being pitched together, and their chiefs have control over the young men.

Their war parties usually consist of only 50 or 60 men, and when on raiding expeditions against hostile tribes, they can make with horses extraordinary marches.

With the Blackfeet, as with all the Indians in the Western Prairies, when at war, murder and assassination is considered honorable warfare.

There are many fine looking men among the Blackfeet, Sioux, Plain Crees, and other tribes, and they have a bold and military bearing. Their active wiry figures, and keen glittering eyes, betoken high health and condition, and they can endure great hardships and fatigue; but on the whole, the Indians are not equal, in point of physical strength or appearance, to white men hardened by active exercise and inured to labor.

As a rule, the Prairie Indians are bold and skilful horsemen, but they are not very skilful with firearms.

The Blackfeet and Plain Crees follow the Buffalo, subsisting entirely by the chase they therefore require a great many horses and dogs for transport and hunting purposes.

In the present year, peace having existed for the past two summers between the Crees and Blackfeet, and accompanied as I was by a guide well known, and related to the latter tribe, I did not think there was much danger in travelling through their country.

There is always, however, great danger, if mistaken for an American citizen, and on approaching the International line, near the Porcupine Hills, of meeting with hostile bands of the Gros Ventres and Crow Indians, from the Territories of Dacotah and Montana, U. S., who frequently cross into Dominion Territory on horse stealing expeditions, and who are not likely, if they fall in with travellers, to make distinctions.

From the Rocky Mountain House, the party being increased to five, we took with us twelve horses, one Red River cart for baggage, and carried twelve days' provisions, intending to take the cart as far as practicable, and then c ache it.

After leaving the Mountain House, no path or trail could be seen, and we journeyed through the country and over the prairies, led only by the instinct of the guide.

After travelling for two days through thick wood country, in a south-easterly direction, and crossing the Red Deer and Little Red Deer Rivers, we emerged on the Great Plains, following a route seldom taken by the white man.

On the 18th September, we reached the South Saskatchewan, here called the Bow River, but owing to the difficulty of finding a practicable ford, did not succeed until the following day in effecting a passage with our horses and baggage.

Whilst carrying out this operation, the Assiniboine Indian deserted, but subsequently rejoined the party, fearing, probably, to be left alone in the country of the Blackfeet, the hereditary enemies of his tribe.

We found the water here of the South Saskatchewan icy cold, flowing as it does out of immense glaciers in the Rocky Mountains.

On the 21st September we reached the North West bank of the Porcupine Hills, and when almost at the foot of the Livingstone Range of the Rocky Mountains, about eighty miles to the north of the International Boundary line, our progress was stopped by a violent snow storm, and we were forced to camp on the open prairie.

For two days and two nights it snowed without intermission, the mountains were soon covered, and by the evening of the 22nd the snow lay two feet deep all over the plain. The situation became somewhat difficult—stopped at a point 250 miles from the Rocky Mountain House, and as far from any other source of supply, with only five or six days' provisions left, the guide declaring that to cross the mountains had now become impossible.

Fortunately the storm occurred before entering the mountains or the probability is the animals would have been lost, and our party placed in a very critical position.

On the 23rd the weather cleared, and on the afternoon of that day we killed a large grizzly bear, which had approached to within a few yards of our camp, the animal having lain all the previous night close to it. This event afforded us a timely supply of meat, relieving our anxiety on that point, although in a case of extremity the horses would have supplied food, it was necessary to save them if possible for transport. We remained snowed up for six days, then, abandoning the cart and all superfluous baggage started on the 27th with the horses for the Kootenay Pass, resolving to push through the mountains if practicable, and if unable to do so to make for Fort Benton, on the Missouri, a United States Military Post in Montana, distant about 250 miles to the South East.

Owing to the depth of snow we did not make more than four miles on the 27th.

On the 28th we made about sixteen miles, the snow disappearing rapidly, the weather now very fine, and on the following day clearing the snow altogether (our route lying in a southerly direction), we crossed the Belly River, and reached the south end of the Porcupine Hills, opposite the entrance of the Kootenay Pass, about 50 miles to the north of the International Boundary line.

The country around the Porcupine Hills is justly considered the richest and most beautiful part of the Saskatchewan territory. It is a favourite wintering ground for great herds of Buffalo, and of the Blackfeet Indians, who at that season of the year pitch their camps on either slope of the Porcupine Range, or in the sheltered and fertile valleys along the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains.

During the nights of the 27th, 28th and 29th we kept on the alert, having during the day time observed the fresh trail of a mounted man, keeping always a short distance in advance of our party, but never visible to us.

From certain signs well understood by the Guides from their knowledge of Indians, and Prairie life, they were of opinion that we were being watched at this time, by some scout belonging to a hostile party of the "Gros Ventre" or "Crow" Indians from south of the line, with a view to horse stealing; it was necessary therefore to keep the horses close to us at night and well hobbled, and to keep a lookout for our own safety.

On the 30th September, when entering the Kootenay Pass, we observed a mounted Indian galloping along the side of a mountain.

After some hesitation this Indian approached, and on finding that we were not a party of the dreaded Blackfeet, he exhibited great pleasure.

He proved to be a scout belonging to a band of Kootenay Indians who had crossed the mountains from the Western side, to hunt Buffalo on the Eastern Prairies.

After proceeding a few miles accompanied by this man, and passing several mounted Indians, posted as scouts on the look-out, we met the main body of the Band on the march, and at the request of the chief, camped and remained a day with them, being treated in the most friendly manner.

There were about sixty or seventy men in the band, exclusive of those scouting---they had with them more than 200 horses, among which were some good animals; most of the men were armed with guns some carrying revolvers in addition, a few, however, were only equipped with bows and arrows, war axes and knives.

Although not actually at war with the Blackfeet, they were apprehensive of attack, and the manner in which these poor Indians performed outpost duty, would have taught a lesson to the soldiers of more civilized countries. One of the leading men insisted upon presenting us with a horse, and when I expressed a desire to obtain one or two of their men as guides and to assist in crossing the mountains, the chief directed three to accompany us as far as we wished.

The Kootenay Indians from the western side of the mountains are much more civilized than the Crees or Blackfeet (these latter as regards habits of life being little better than mere animals.)

During the day I was with the Kootenay band, a bell was rung three times in the Camp for prayers. They are noted hunters, good horsemen, and were quite prepared for a brush with the Blackfeet if called on.

Continuing our journey we crossed the Rocky Mountains in two days, riding and scrambling over rough ground.

Owing to the quantity of fallen timber, some of which was of great size, we experienced considerable difficulty in getting the horses through, but except on the summit of the Pass there was no snow on the trail.

The weather was then, on the 1st of October, very fine and quite mild. On the 4th of October, by which time the provisions were exhausted, we reached the Gold Miner's Camp of Wild Horse Creek, in the Kootenay District of British Columbia, where we were most hospitably received by the Gold Commissioner and Stipendiary Magistrate of the District, Mr. Arthur Vowell, and our wants supplied.

In crossing the Rocky Mountains by the Kootenay Pass, there are two distinct ranges. The height of the summit of the first Pass is about 6,300 feet above the sea—the mountains on either side, however, being double that altitude and capped with perpetual snow. The height of the second Pass is nearly the same; the track is well defined, and has been used for many years by the Kootenay Indians. In some places the path is very narrow, leading over high and dangerous ground—we found it necessary frequently to dismount. The distance from the eastern to the western entrance of the Pass in the Kootenay Valley is about 47 miles. It would be difficult to describe, in adequate language, the beauty and grandeur of the scenery all through. It is impossible to take any wheeled vehicle at present through the Kootenay, and when there is snow in the Mountains in any quantity, horses cannot pass.

The present horse trail, however, might be easily improved—a party of fifty men could, in the course of a single season, make it equal to the ordinary horse trails in the Province of British Columbia. Considerable labour however would be required to make a waggon road, and to carry a railway across the Mountains by this Pass, it would be necessary to tunnel through two mountains.

The Stipendiary Magistrate of the Kootenay District, British Columbia resides at Wild Horse Creek; there is a population of from twenty-five to thirty white men, gold miners there, and about one hundred Chinese, The miners, at that time, were not making more on an average than five or six dollars per man per day. Ample supplies of beef and flour, at moderate price, can be obtained, but the price of clothing and other supplies is very high—such supplies having to be brought on mules or pack horses, either from Walla Walla, in Washington Territory, U. S., or from the town of Hope, on the Fraser River, B. C., a distance of four hundred and fifty miles.

A Custom House has been established at Joseph's Prairie, about 14 miles from Wild Horse Creek with an excellent effect, and if a similar one was established on the Eastern side of the mountain with a military guard, at the Porcupine Hills, a still better result would be obtained.

The Postal communication from the Kootenay District to Victoria, is as yet very bad, and it is very desirable to improve the present trail leading via Osoyos and the Simil-Kameen to the town of Hope, on the Fraser, or to make a waggon road.

The District of Kootenay is of great extent, embracing an area of 32,000 square miles. The total population amounts to about eighty-five white men, two hundred Chinese, and 400 or 500 Kootenay Indians.

There is an immense quantity of fine timber in the Kootenay District and in the Valleys of the Rocky Mountains, chiefly cedar and pine trees of great height and size, and the mineral resources are believed to be very great. The Valleys between the different Hill ranges, in the Kootenay District are generally speaking fertile and well adapted for farming.

There are four gold mines in the District, namely: Wild Horse Creek, Perry's Creek, Palmer's Bar and Weaver's Bar—only the two former, however, are being worked.

The Government of the District was at the time of my visit under the able administration of Mr. A. Vowell, Stipendiary Magistrate and Gold Commissioner.

"Wild Horse Creek," although situated in a lovely country, is itself one of the most desolate spots imaginable; a narrow rugged valley, surrounded by lofty hills, in the heart of the Rocky Mountains.

From Wild Horse Creek, the guides who had accompanied me from the Rocky Mountain House, after obtaining fresh supplies, started on the 8th of October to return to the Rocky Mountain House, intending to take what they hoped might prove a shorter route, and one safer from risk of Indian molestation.

After my return to Ottawa I learnt that they effected the return journey to the Rocky Mountain House with safety in eighteen days recrossing the Mountains by the Ispasquehow Pass; ten days were occupied in crossing the Mountains, and much difficulty encountered—two of the horses rolled down an immense Ravine, but were fortunately not much hurt.

The Assiniboine Indian deserted the two other guides in crossing the Mountains thereby greatly increasing their labour.

Arriving at the spot where the cart had been "cached," the two guides recovered it, and returning from thence by the route originally taken reached their home at the Rocky Mountain House towards the end of October without accident or the loss of a horse.

These two guides alone completed a trying and adventurous journey of several hundred miles with no further damage or deficiency, than the loss of two saddles and an axe.

They saw immense herds of Buffalo on the return journey, and at the Bow River fell in with a party of American smugglers, having waggons with them, containing whiskey and ardent spirits, with which to carry on their illicit and nefarious traffic with the Black-foot tribe—a kind of traffic which enables these unscrupulous traders to realize large profits, rob the Indians of Buffalo robes, and valuable furs, and causes annually certain bloodshed amongst the Indian tribes.

On the 8th of October with one guide only and five horses obtained at Wild Horse Creek, I continued the journey from there, and after fifteen days' travel, proceeding via the Mooyais River, Lake Pen d'Oreille, the Spokane, and Snake Rivers, arrived at the settlements of Walla Walla and Walula, in Washington Territory, U. S.

It had been my intention to proceed from "Wild Horse Creek," to the town of Hope on the "Fraser," a distance of about 500 miles via Fort Shepherd, Lake Osoyoos, the Okanagan country and Similkameen River, but owing to the lateness of the season the guide was unwilling to take this route.

The journey from Wild Horse Creek to Lake Pen d'Oreille was tedious and fatiguing having only one guide to share with me and my son the labour of travelling with horses for many days along an Indian Track encumbered with fallen timber, and through a rugged densely wooded, and difficult country. The scenery from Wild Horse Creek to Lake Pen d'Oreille, and especially about that Lake is very beautiful, but further south on reaching the Spokane River, U.S., the country presents the appearance of an arid waste—Washington Territory, U. S., being partly situated in what is known as the great Columbian Desert.

Washington Territory, U. S., is, however, as well as many parts of British Columbia, admirably suited for horses and cattle, from what is known as "Bunch grass," growing there in great perfection.

From Walula, descending the Columbia, I proceeded via Portland, in Oregon, Olympia and Puget Sound, to Victoria, in Vancouver's Island, arriving at Victoria on the twenty-eighth day of October, having accomplished the journey from Fort Garry in seventy days, of which only fifty-one were occupied in actual travel—the distance by the route followed from Fort Garry to Vancouver's Island being nearly three thousand miles—of this distance considerably more than two thousand miles were travelled on horseback.

After remaining fourteen days at Victoria, visiting the Island of San Juan, in company with the Senior Naval Officer of H. M. ships, and arranging for the organization of the militia in the Province of British Columbia, I returned to Ottawa, via San Francisco and the U. S. Pacific Railway, stopping for two days to visit the Mormon City at the great Salt Lake in Utah Territory.

CHAP. V.

General Remarks.

During the journey from Manitoba to the Pacific Coast, an opportunity was afforded me of becoming acquainted with the state of affairs in the Saskatchewan, and the condition of the Indian tribes.

Every possible information was furnished by the missionaries whose acquaintance I made, and by the employés of the Hudson's Bay Company; in the course of the journey I met with many bands of Indians.

Between Fort Garry and Portage de la Prairie three large camps of the Sioux tribe were visited—a portion of the same band who in 1862 massacred some American settlers in Minnesota, U.S., in retaliation for the many wrongs and outrages committed in the first instance on them by American citizens. Ever since that event this band has sought refuge in Dominion Territory. These Sioux Indians live quietly enough apparently among our people, and occasionally assist the farmers at harvest time. The presence, however, of such a wild and warlike looking band in the settlement frequently causes no small apprehensions amongst the settlers dwelling near Portage de la Prairie; and it should be remembered that at the time of the Minnesota massacre, this very band, although living quietly apparently among the Minnesota settlers, rose suddenly in one night and swept the settlement, committing horrible atrocities.

Before reaching Fort Ellice I met two bands of the same tribe, one consisting of about one hundred men, unaccompanied by women or children, who told me they had been to visit the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba in hopes of obtaining presents. This band belonged to the United States, and had come all the way from the plains south of the Missouri River whither they were returning. These Indians were bold and wild.

looking fellows, fantastically dressed and all armed. They were perfectly friendly in their manner.

On one occasion when far out on the prairie, a band of ten mounted Sioux, after reconnoitring from a distance, rode rapidly towards our small party of four (two of whom were only boys), surrounding us in a moment; on being told by the guide, who spoke their language very well, that I was not an American citizen, but a British officer travelling towards the Rocky Mountains, they became quite friendly in manner, shaking hands with us heartily.

Subsequently, this band were somewhat bold and pressing in their demands for presents, which we resisted in a firm but friendly manner, it being bad policy to comply with extortionate demands, or to appear in dealing with Indians to act from intimidation.

Between Fort Ellice and Fort Carlton I met some bands of the Saulteux tribe,—at the various forts along the North Saskatchewan, several of the Cree tribe (plain Crees), and at the Rocky Mountain House some Blackfeet and Assiniboine Indians.

Although there may not at present be much risk in travelling through the Saskatchewan territory along the well known track followed for so many years by the Hudson's Bay Company, especially when associated with an employé of the Company, speaking the Indian language, it is a matter of doubt if such can long continue under the changing state of affairs, without the introduction of some Government supported by material force.

Beyond the Province of Manitoba westward to the Rocky Mountains, there is no kind of government at present whatever, and no security for life or property beyond what people can do for themselves.

The few white men there are in the Saskatchewan country, and at the H. B. C. Forts, frequently expressed to me their conviction that unless a military force is established in the country, serious danger is to be apprehended.

The clergymen of all denominations whom I met with, expressed similar convictions; those at Forts Victoria and Edmonton, as representatives of the community, urged me in the most impressive manner to lay their claims for the protection of themselves, their wives and families, before His Excellency the Governor-General of the Dominion, and the Government of their country.

It appears that of late years no attempt has been made to assert the supremacy of the law, and the most serious crimes have been allowed to pass unpunished. Hardly a year has passed without several murders and other crimes of the most serious nature having been committed with impunity.

During the present year, about three weeks before my arrival at Edmonton, a man by name Charles Coudin, a French speaking half-breed cruelly murdered his wife at no great distance from the gate of the H. B. Company's Post. I was informed that the criminal might have been arrested, but that there was no power to act. This same man had previously most wantonly and cruelly mutilated an old Indian woman by cutting the sinews of her arm so as to incapacitate her for work.

At Edmonton there is a notorious murderer, a Cree Indian, called Ta-ha-kooch, who has committed several murders, and who should have been apprehended long ago. This man is to be seen walking openly about the Post. Many instances can be adduced of a similar kind, and as a natural result there is a wide spread feeling of apprehension. The gentleman in charge of the H. B. C. Post at Fort Pitt, as well as others elsewhere, assured me that of late the Indians have been overbearing in manner, and threatening at times. Indeed, the white men dwelling in the Saskatchewan are at this moment living by sufferance, as it were, entirely at the mercy of the Indians. They dare not venture to introduce cattle or stock into the country, or cultivate the ground to any extent for fear of Indian spoilation.

When at Edmonton and the Rocky Mountain House I was informed that a party of American Smugglers and Traders have established a trading post at the junction of the Bow and the Belly Rivers, about 30 miles due east from the Porcupine Hills, and about 60 miles on the Dominion side of the boundary line; this trading post they have named Fort Hamilton, after the mercantile firm of Hamilton, Heaty & Company, of Fort Benton, Montana, U. S., from whom it is said they obtain supplies. It is believed that they number about 20 well armed men, under the command of a man called John Healy, a notorious character.

Here it appears they have for some time carried on an extensive trade with the Blackfeet Indians, supplying them with rifles, revolvers, goods of varrious kinds, whiskey, and other ardent spirits, in direct opposition to the laws both of the United States and the Dominion of Canada, and without paying any custom duties for the goods introduced into the latter country.

The demoralization of the Indians, danger to the white inhabitants, and injury resulting to the country from this illicit traffic is very great.

It is stated upon good authority that during the year 1871 eighty-eight (88) of the Blackfeet Indians were murdered in drunken brawls amongst themselves, produced by whiskey and other spirits supplied to them by those traders.

Year after year these unscrupulous traders continue to plunder our Indians of their Buffalo robes and valuable furs by extortion and fraud, and the shameful traffic causes certain bloodshed amongst the Indian tribes.

At Fort Edmonton during the past summer whiskey was openly sold to the Blackfeet and other Indians trading at the Post by some smugglers from the United States who derive large profits thereby, and on these traders being remonstrated with by the gentlemen in charge of the Hudson's Bay Post, they coolly replied that they knew very well that what they were doing was contrary to the laws of both countries, but as there was no force there to prevent them, they would do just as they pleased.

It is indispensible for the peace of the country and welfare of the Indians that this smuggling and illicit traffic in spirits and firearms be no longer permitted.

The establishment of a Custom House on the Belly River near the Porcupine Hills, with a military guard of about 150 soldiers is all that would be required to effect the object.

Not only would the establishment of a military post here put a stop to this traffic but it would also before long be the means of stopping the horse stealing expeditions carried on by hostile Indians from south of the line into Dominion Territory, which is the real cause of all the danger in that part of the country, and the source of constant war among the Indian tribes.

Indeed it may now be said with truth, that to put a stop to horse-stealing and the sale of spirits to Indians, is to put a stop altogether to Indian wars in the North West. The importance of the Porcupine Hill in a strategical point of view is very great, commanding as it does the entrance of both the Kootenay Passes towards the West, and the route from Benton into the Saskatchewan territory on the south and east; the country can be seen from it for immense distances all round. Although hostile to citizens of the United States it is believed that the Blackfeet Indians would gladly welcome any Dominion Military Force sent to protect them from the incursions of other tribes, and to stop the horse-stealing which has for so long been carried on. With excellent judgment they have pointed out the southern end of the Porcupine Hill as the proper place for a Military Post.

In order to satisfy myself on this point, I spent the greater portion of the 29th September in reconnoitring the ground recommended by them, and if it be the policy of Government to take steps to stop the illicit smuggling which is being carried on, at this part of the Dominion, there is every convenience for establishing a Custom House and Military Post. Timber of large size and good quality for building is close at hand, and the surrounding country is most fertile and favorable for settlement.

The distance from Fort Edmonton to the Porcupine Hill is about six or seven days journey on horseback, and from the Kootenay Valley on the western side of the Rocky Mountains, from whence supplies could be easily obtained, about fifty or sixty miles.

Frequent intercourse, and an active trade between the Kootenay District of British Columbia and the Saskatchewan country, would result from the establishment of a Custom House and Military Post at the Porcupine Hills. Many individuals are prepared to settle there, if any protection is afforded, and the Indian trade of the country at present tapped by U. S. smugglers, would remain with our own countrymen. There is a general belief prevalent, moreover, that valuable gold deposits are to be found near the Porcupine Hills—the unsettled state of the country hitherto has not admitted, however, of much prospecting. A party of four American miners, who crossed through the Kootenay Pass two or three years ago, were all killed by the Blackfeet, near the Porcupine Hill, the moment they entered the plain on the eastern side; since which no attempt at prospecting for gold has been made in that part of the country.

With regard to the measures which should be adopted for the settlement of the country, I feel satisfied that the introduction of a civil police force unsupported by any Military into the Saskatchewan Territory would be a mistake, and that no time should be lost in establishing a chain of military posts from Manitoba to the Rocky Mountains. The appointment of a Stipendiary Magistrate for the Saskatchewan, to reside at Edmonton, and act as the Indian Commissioner, is also a matter of the first importance. The individual to fill this important post, should be one, if possible, already known to, and in whom the Indians have confidence. I consider that it is very necessary to invite the co-operation of the Hudson's Bay Company in the adoption of any steps towards establishing law and order in the Saskatchewan for the first few years, and no Indian Commissioner should proceed unaccompanied by a military force.

A large military force is not required, but the presence of a certain force, I believe, will be found to be indispensable for the security of the country, to prevent bloodshed and preserve peace.

The number of the Indians dwelling in the extensive country which lies between the Red River and the Rocky Mountains on Dominion Territory, has been much exaggerated. It is very difficult to arrive at any accurate Indian census, but having made every enquiry during last summer on this point, whilst travelling through the country, from those most competent to judge, I doubt if there are more than four thousand Prairie Indians capable of bearing arms in the Dominion Territory, between Fort Garry and the Rocky Mountains, south of the Sub-Artic Forest, and north of the International Boundary Line,—the total Prairie Indian population amounting, perhaps, to 14,000 or 15,000.

These Indians are scattered over such an immense extent of country, that anything like a formidable combination is impossible; most of the tribes, moreover, have been hostile to one another from time immemorial.

It is believed that the Blackfeet and the Plain Crees, the two strongest tribes of prairie Indians, may have respectively about one thousand fighting men, but it is doubtful if either tribe could ever concentrate such a number, or if concentrated, that they could long remain so from the difficulty of obtaining subsistence.

Although many of the Blackfeet have breech-loading rifles, the Indians generally are poorly armed and badly mounted.

Under these circumstances, it will be readily understood, that comparatively small bodies of well armed and disciplined men judiciously posted throughout the country, could easily maintain military supremacy. A body of fifty mounted riflemen, armed with breech-loading rifles, is a formidable power on the Prairies.

One regiment of mounted riflemen, 550 strong, including non-commissioned officers, divided into companies of fifty, would be a sufficient force to support Government in establishing law and order in the Saskatchewan, preserving the peace of the North West Territory, and affording protection to the Surveyors, Contractors, and Railway Labourers about to undertake the great work of constructing the Dominion Pacific Railway.

Although the proposed military strength, and consequent expense, may appear somewhat considerable, I have been guided by every consideration of economy in recommending the above number.

It is wiser policy and better economy to have one hundred soldiers too many, than one man too few; the great extent of the country, and detached nature of the service, must also be taken into account, and it should be borne in mind that the only thing the Indians really respect, and will bow to, is actual power.

It should be borne in mind too, that in addition to the Indian element, there is a half breed population of about 2,000 souls in the Saskatchewan, unaccustomed to the restraint of any government, mainly depending as yet upon the chase for subsistence, and requiring to be controlled nearly as much as the Indians.

If it be in harmony, therefore, with the policy of the Government to do so, I would recommend the establishment of Military Posts at the following places, strength as below :

1. At Portage de la Prairie	- - - - -	50	Mounted Riflemen
2. „ Fort Ellice	- - - - -	50	„ „
3. „ „ Carlton	- - - - -	50	„ „
4. „ „ Pitt	- - - - -	50	„ „
5. „ „ Victoria	- - - - -	50	„ „
6. „ „ Edmonton	- - - - -	100	„ „
7. „ Porcupine Hill	- - - - -	150	„ „
		500
Total	- - - - -	500

With a proportion of officers and non-commissioned officers.

If no permanent Custom House and Military Post is established at the Porcupine Hills, then the strength of the force at Edmonton should be 250, of which 150 men should be encamped during the summer months at the Porcupine Hills, or at the junction of the Bow and Belly Rivers, returning to Edmonton for the winter; but the establishment of a Custom House and Military Post at Porcupine Hills, is of far more importance and would have a much better general effect towards securing the peaceful settlement of the country than at any other places named. During the summer months a detachment of 50 men from this Post might with advantage be employed in improving the communication across the mountains with the Kootenay District of British Columbia.

It would be necessary that each of the companies of mounted riflemen should be made as far as possible self supporting communities, provided with a few carts, intrenching tools, agricultural implements, seed for raising corn, and some cattle. These military posts would partake of the character of military settlements, in the vicinity of which many settlers would ere long establish themselves.

It would be very desirable moreover that a medical officer should be appointed to each military post, and his duties not confined to the medical charge of the military only, but extended to all the Indians in the vicinity.

Past experience has proved that no measure is better calculated to secure the confidence and attachment of the Indian tribes than by attending to their wants in time of sickness, and supplying medical aid.

The men to compose the corps should be enlisted to serve for three years, receiving on the termination of the engagement, (provided they have performed their duties in a satisfactory manner,) the same amount of land as is granted on discharge to the men of the militia in Manitoba; I would recommend that the corps be raised by volunteers out of the active militia. It would be desirable to attach to the military force at each post three or four half-breeds, or Indians, as scouts, who could serve as interpreters and usually carry the mail.

At the places indicated for military posts no great difficulty would be experienced, or expense incurred in hutting the men, they themselves performing the work, or an arrangement might be more easily made with the Hudson's Bay Company to provide barrack accommodation and rations at the different posts for the number of men required.

In the event of this proposed arrangement meeting with the views of Government, I have the honour to state the probable expense that would be incurred for the establishment and maintenance of the militia force proposed, would be about $300,000 annually.

I would further beg to suggest, if it be decided to establish any chain of military posts, that for the first year the soldiers be employed in laying down a telegraphic wire from Manitoba towards British Columbia, if not required to hut themselves.

From my own knowledge and observation of the country, I think that if proper energy be used, the very desirable work of establishing telegraphic communication from Fort Garry through Dominion Territory, with British Columbia, could be carried out by the soldiers in one or two seasons. I would further observe that no time should be lost in making the preliminary arrangements. The men and horses should, if possible, be concentrated at Fort Garry in the month of May or June, their equipment forwarded sooner, and the companies despatched without delay.

An easy and agreeable march of a few weeks duration would suffice to establish them in the respective posts of occupation.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

With regard to the organization of the militia in British Columbia it is recommended that one Staff Officer as Deputy Adjutant General of Militia be appointed for the province, as soon as the Government finds it convenient to do so. It is not necessary at present to appoint any Brigade Majors.

The formation of two companies of riflemen (volunteer militia) in Victoria, and one at Nanaimo, is recommended, also the formation of one company of riflemen at New Westminster, another at Burrard's Inlet, on the mainland, and that the New Westminster Battery of Garrison Artillery be reorganized.

The total white population of the Province is only as yet about 12,000. There are about 4,000 half-breeds and 45,000 Indians—the latter mainly dwelling along the coast. The Indians dwelling in the interior of British Columbia are not numerous; the policy of treating them much in the same manner as if they were settlers, appears to have succeeded admirably.

The following amount of military stores have recently been despatched, by order of the Dominion Government, from England direct by sea to Victoria, for the equipment of the Militia of the Province:—

- 1,000 Snider Enfield Rifles.
- 1,000 Sets of Accoutrements.
- 1,000 Rifle Uniforms.
- 1,000 Great Coats.
- 300,000 Rounds of Ammunition.
- 60 Tents.
- 20 Targets complete, with flags.
- 100 Camp Kettles.
- 1,000 Knapsacks complete, with Mess Tins and Straps.

It is very desirable with a view to ultimate economy as well as present efficiency that some building be acquired in Victoria to serve as an Armoury and Storeroom, and that a storekeeper be appointed to the charge of this public property without delay.

I submit with this Report a map of the North West Provinces and Territories of the Dominion, shewing the route which I followed across the continent; the places recommended for military posts are marked, and the point where it is stated that U. S. smugglers have established a post at the junction of the Bow and Belly Rivers, is also shown.

The portion of Territory north of the 49th parallel, and west of the Lake of the Woods, on the "Dawson Route" now claimed by the U. S. authorities, and which intersects the present Canadian line of communication with Manitoba and the important Territories of the North West is shaded dark.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

P. ROBERTSON-ROSS,

Colonel Commanding the Militia of Canada, and Adjutant-General of Militia.

59. The same form to be used by troops, batteries and companies, and the Ration Returns, when received by the quarter master from the several companies in battalion, will form the basis for his demand upon the issuing officer for the rations in bulk required for the day for his battalion. The accuracy of this return No. 176, can be checked by the Daily Parade State No. 164 of the corps or battalion, and should any excess of rations be drawn by any corps, the same will be made good by such corps.

The description of supplies and conditions for their receipt in camp, inspection, issue, and payment will be as under:—

80. When straw is so required to be issued the scale will be as follows, and is not to be exceeded:—12 lbs. per man, which is considered sufficient for the whole period of the encampment, whether used in the shape of loose straw, or converted into mats. When straw is issued for the use of troops, it should be made into mats and not left loose in the bottom of the tent. Mats may be best made as follows:—The straw is twisted into ropes; two rows of tent pegs are driven into the ground parallel to one another and two feet apart, and the ropes passed round the pegs to form the web. Other straw ropes are interlaced, so as to form the woof, and an excellent mat is made in a short time. Each man should have two mats, one for his head and shoulder, the other for his legs. Four men will make the mats for an entire tent in one day, two twisting the ropes and two weaving.

81. No straw will be allowed for those tents for which tent flooring is supplied, and tent flooring will not be issued to corps under canvas except when they are encamped in the vicinity of a District store, and there is a supply available for issue.

82. Palliasses will not be supplied to corps under canvas.

CONDITIONS TO BE OBSERVED.

83. If any contractor shall fail to deliver at the time and place appointed any of the supplies contracted for and required in camp, the supply officer shall, under direction of the commanding officer, forthwith purchase the supplies which may be deficient, and the extra cost, if any, of the articles purchased, shall be deducted from any sums which may become due to such contractor.

The officer commanding may, whenever he deems fit, appoint a Board to inspect any supply offered by any contractor for issue, and if the Board be of opinion that the supply offered is not of the quality specified in the contract, it shall be rejected, and the supply officer, under direction of the commanding officer, shall, without further appeal, purchase the necessary supply in place of that rejected, to be paid for as provided in the preceding clause.

The value of the several supplies furnished under contract will be paid by the Department of Militia and Defence through the District Paymaster on final completion of contract. MEDICAL REGULATIONS.

85. The medical arrangements for every battalion and corps will be carried out regimentally under the direction of the senior medical officer of the district in divisional camps of exercise, acting as principal medical officer of division. A portable medicine chest, with the requisite supply of medicine, &c., will be furnished by Government to every battalion of infantry, field battery of artillery, and regiment of cavalry; on the breaking up of camp these medicine chests will be returned into the district military store, and such medicines, &c., as may have been expended, replaced in order that they may be at all times available for actual service.

86. In brigade or battalion camps of exercise, the medical arrangements will be carried out regimentally, under the direction of the medical officer of each battalion and corps.

87. A medical inspection of every officer, non-commissioned officer and man, if possible, before the men leave the corps or company head quarters; when that is not possible, then the medical examination must be made immediately after the concentration of the corps or battalion.

88. This inspection is with a view of ascertaining, 1st. Whether the man is labouring under disease of any kind at the time, such as rheumatic affections; diseases of lungs or heart; or any of the viscera of the abdomen; or under any form of syphilitic disease; or is short sighted; or has any disease or injury of any of the joints; or badly shaped feet or overlapping toes which would prevent his marching. 2nd. Of ascertaining if the man has any predisposition to any of the above diseases, or has recently suffered from any of them, or if he has any other disqualification which may render him unfit for service, or predispose him to become inefficient from exposure.

89. Such men, if any be found, are not to be permitted to go to, or remain in camp, as well for their own sakes, as to prevent claims for compensation being made upon the public on account of illness on the part of men who are not fit for service.

90. Medical officers of corps or battalions will, as soon as practicable, examine all their non-commissioned officers and men to ascertain if they have either had small pox or been vaccinated; and they will vaccinate, with as little delay as possible, all those men who have neither had small pox nor been already vaccinated.

91. The medical officer of each corps or battalion will make out a sick report every morning and transmit a copy to the commanding officer of the battalion; and if attached to a division, a copy also to the principal medical officer of the division; he will also inspect all prisoners before they are brought before the commanding officer. (Form of sick report A.)

92. The surgeon of each battalion will keep an admission and discharge book, of all cases taken into hospital, according to Form B.

93. Every surgeon will give a receipt for all articles of medical equipment which may be issued to him for the use of his corps or battalion, for the care and proper expenditure of which he will be responsible; and on being relieved from duty he will return all medical stores, articles of equipment and medicine remaining unexpended into the District Stores, with a list of the materials which have been expended by him, on complying with which his receipt will be returned to him.

94. One medical officer will be detailed daily for duty in the camp, as medical officer of the day. This officer will remain in the camp during his tour of duty; and a medical officer will be detailed daily for duty at the rifle range, and attend during the rifle practice. With the exception of those detailed for the above duties, all medical officers will attend and accompany their corps upon the occasion of brigade and other field days.

95. Such wine or spirituous liquor, as may be prescribed for use in cases of illness must, if procured, be paid for by the person requiring same. The attention of medical officers of corps is specially called to paragraphs 138, 140, and 141 of the Orders and Regulations of the Active Militia.

96. No expense to be incurred by medical officers on account of Government without previous authority for such being obtained.

97. Medical officers will, from day to day, keep a list of the names of all men and officers to whom medicines or medical advice may be given during the 16 days' drill,—according to Form A, page 54, Regulations for the Active Militia,—stating the medicines given in each case, and transmit a copy to head quarters on the breaking up of camp, together with a list of such medicines as have been expended.

98. In any cases of serious illness or accident, the medical officer shall, in conjunction with the commanding officer of the corps, make such immediate arrangements as may be necessary, sending the patient if possible at once to his home or the nearest hospital; he will make a minute report to head quarters of all circumstances connected with the case; and he will make a weekly report of the state of his patient, through the commanding officer to head quarters.

99. The medical officer of the day will inspect the camp and vicinity, the guard tents, cooking kitchens, latrines, &c., and will report any dirty or unhealthy condition of the camp to the commanding officer of the camp.

SELECTION OF SITE FOR ENCAMPMENT.

100. The following are the principles which have mainly led to the established forms of military encampment, and, however troops may be encamped, these principles should govern the disposition of the camp:—

1st.—The front of the camp should correspond in extent with the front occupied by the force when deployed in line.

2nd.—The means of passing freely through the camp with a large front should be maintained.

3rd.—The tents, bivouacs, or huts should be disposed with a view to the greatest amount of order, cleanliness, ventilation, and salubrity.

4th.—The camp should be compactly arranged as the above considerations permit.

101. Battalion tents should never be arranged in a double line ; short single lines are best. The tents in line should be separated from each other by a space at the very least equal to a diameter and a half of a tent, and the farther the lines can be conveniently placed from each other the better. Where troops are at a distance from an enemy, and are to remain some time in camp, and ground is available, the camps may be formed at double intervals.

102. Whenever troops remain in camp more than three days, tents should be struck every two days. All arms, straw, and blankets to be removed from the ground covered by the tents, and the ground should be swept clean with a broom, or branches of trees, and left exposed to the sun and wind. Blankets, clothes, &c., should be spread out to air, and the camp tents roughly pitched in the intervals of the camp with slack ropes, and the fly loose to allow it to be well blown about ; tents should never be pitched in the intervals. Men invariably at night urinate round the tent and consequently pollute the ground.

103. Whenever troops remain more than one night in camp, the tent flies should be rolled up the first thing every morning ; in rainy weather, the fly may always be rolled up on the lee ward side of the tent.

104. As a rule, the doors of tents should face the head of the column, but this rule should never prevent their being turned away from the prevailing wind.

105. Trenches should be dug round tents, and a drain should connect these trenches so that the water may not lodge in them, but may run freely off. The first wet day after the camp is formed, officers commanding companies should personally examine the ground on which their companies are encamped, and should see that proper drains are constructed ; half-an-hour's work on a wet day, when the natural run of the water can be seen, will do more to keep the camp healthy than a day's labour in dry weather.

106. In encamping large bodies of troops, it is very desirable that a sketch of the ground, no matter how rough, showing the place to be occupied by each corps, should be prepared beforehand ; by this means the officer charged with forming the encampment can in a few minutes place the whole of the camp-colour men, so that when the regiment arrives they may proceed at once to the position assigned to them. Cavalry and Artillery should never be placed on a flank, unless the latter may be necessary for defensive purposes, in which case the guns should be protected by a strong guard of Infantry. The reason for this is that, in case of attack, mounted corps take longer to turn out, and the horses, if frightened, are apt to produce much confusion.

107. The Commissariat Dépôt should be placed in a central position, with easy access to all parts of the camp, and close to a good road by which supplies can be brought up. The Engineers usually encamp close to Head-Quarters of the Division.

WATER SUPPLY.

108. Few things are of more importance to the well-being of troops when encamped, than a plentiful supply of pure water.

109. Water is usually obtained from streams, ponds, or existing wells. When troops are encamped for a considerable time, or when stationary dépôts are formed on the line of communications, it may be necessary to sink wells, make reservoirs, and lay pipes.

110. From whatever source the water supply is derived, it is absolutely requisite that it should not be polluted. The officer entrusted with the duty of forming the encampment will therefore post sentries over it, taking them from the first troops that arrive on the ground ; when the camp is completely formed, a regular guard will be posted over the water supply. If the supply is from a stream, great care should be taken that the watering place for the men should be distinct from that for the animals. The latter must be lower down the stream than the former, and it is advisable to send patrols up the stream to prevent men washing or bathing in it.

111. All washing in the neighbourhood of wells or watering places used for drinking, should be strictly forbidden, as the foul water percolates through the soil.

112. If the stream have a muddy bottom, great care should be taken not to stir up the mud by dipping vessels into it; small field pumps, which form an article of engineer equipment, should be fixed and the supply obtained in that way. If the stream be shallow, dams should be made on it; these are easily constructed with a few pickets and sods,—a small piece of tarpauling may be used with great advantage for the purpose of making them water tight. A barrel sunk in the bed of the stream affords a convenient place into which to dip the sucker of the pump, or collect water.

113. Filters can be easily made by placing two barrels one within another, and ramming the place between with clean straw, coarse sand, and charcoal if it can be procured, or branches of trees with the bark taken off. The water is allowed to flow into the outer barrel and rises through holes pierced in the bottom of the inner barrel. In a standing camp, if the water is not good, charcoal should be made, and the water regularly filtered: an average of one gallon per head is sufficient for troops when encamped; if in standing camp, this allowance should be increased, as men should be encouraged to wash themselves as much as possible.

114. If the banks of the stream or pond are steep, they must be cut down so as to allow the animals to drink easily. If the soil is muddy, branches of trees, fascines, and stones should be let down to prevent the animals sinking in the mud. A horse, bullock, or mule drinks about one and a half gallons at a time, and takes about two minutes to drink, or, if unavoidable confusion be allowed for, about three minutes. The time requisite to water any number of animals may therefore be easily calculated by the number that can drink at one time is known. If many animals have to be watered, and the frontage is small, the hours at which each corps is to water should be laid down, to avoid unnecessary crowding.

115. An officer should invariably accompany all cavalry parties, and instructions should be given that each horse as soon as he has drunk should leave the water, and the party should fall in at a little distance clear of the next comers.

116. If the animals have to be watered at a very shallow stream, it should be deepened, either by making dams or by excavating the bottom; animals drink more rapidly when the water is from four to five inches deep than if it be shallower.

117. There are three kinds of pumps generally used for military purposes.

1. A small hand, lift and force pump with flexible hose. This will draw water from 18 feet and throw it about 16 feet, working with a lift of 18 feet and a throw of 7 feet (the height of an ordinary water cart; it will yield seven gallons per minute.

2. The Norton tube well. This consists of tubes driven into the ground with a monkey, and with a pump screwed on the top. One of these wells takes about three hours to fix it; it will yield about seven gallons per minute, and will keep three horses drinking at one time. These pumps are very useful in searching for water.

3. The "Bastier Pump" is a pump with an endless chain, working over a wheel; it yields from a depth of 45 feet (worked with two men), 2,200 gallons per hour.

118. If the water supply is from wells, troughs should be provided for the animals to drink out of. These may be made by simply excavating the ground and roughly paving it with stones, or they may be made of wood or sheet iron if it can be procured.

LATRINES.

119. Latrines should be made by fatigue parties as soon as the troops arrive on the ground, the places having been previously marked out for them by the quarter-masters of corps and battalions. The trench should be made as narrow as possible, and about four feet deep, a rail or post supported upon forked posts at both ends, and about eighteen inches from the ground, laid along the edge, will serve for the men to sit on, and the whole should be screened with bushes, trees, or lumber from public view.

120. A fatigue party should throw a couple of inches of earth over the soil every day. This, if carefully done, will prevent all smell.

121. When the trench is filled up, another one should be dug near it.

122. The camp police and sentries should have orders to prevent the men from committing nuisances in the vicinity of the camp.

CAMP POLICE.

123. At every camp of exercise, a certain number of men are to be detailed as a military police force, the strength of which will vary at the discretion of the officer commanding the troops encamped, according to circumstances. The military police to consist partly of infantry and partly of cavalry, who will, at stated times and in rotation, patrol in the vicinity of the camps, for the preservation of good order, and to suppress all irregularity of conduct on the part of the troops. The men detailed for duty as military policemen, should wear a piece of white cotton or linen fastened on the right arm above the elbow, or some such distinguishing badge, and officers and men of all corps attending camps of exercise should be warned to obey their orders, and to afford them every support.

124. At divisional camps of exercise, the military police will be under the orders of the Assisting Adjutant-General.

125. At brigade camps, under the Brigade-Major, and at all camps, a non-commissioned officer will be appointed by the officer commanding to act as Provost-Serjeant.

126. In cases where camps are formed in the vicinity of towns or villages, should the civil authorities require any support to the civil force during the period such camps are in operation, the assistance or co-operation asked for is to be promptly afforded by the officer commanding.

DUTIES IN CAMP.

127. The ordinary routine duties to be observed in these camps of exercise will be such, modified by circumstances, as would be observed by Her Majesty's regular troops under similar circumstances as laid down by Regulations.

128. One gun will be fired by the field battery at day-break, immediately after which the Reveille will be played by bands or corps of drums and fifes belonging to battalions appointed daily for this duty in succession; and at sunset another gun will be fired, when the Retreat will be sounded in the same manner as above. As a general rule the breakfast hour will be at 8 a.m., dinner at 1 p.m., and the evening meal at 6 p.m. Tattoo will be sounded at half-past nine, when the reports will be collected and handed to the field officer of the day by orderly officers of battalions and corps; and at ten o'clock the bugle will sound for lights to be extinguished; after which no one will be allowed out of camp except passed by authority, and all officers and men are to sleep in camp.

129. There will be a field officer and medical officer of the day appointed daily in brigade orders, and in addition to the supply officer, they will form the Board of Inspection and Examination as to the quality of the provisions supplied by the contractors for issue to the troops. The decision of the officers composing this Board will be final as to the rejection or otherwise of the daily rations; and when such are passed, no complaints will afterwards be admitted as to quality. This Board will assemble at the time of the delivery of the provisions in camp, and the officers composing it are to be very punctual in their attendance at the proper hour, in order that the troops may obtain their provision supplies without unnecessary delay.

DISTRIBUTION OF RATIONS.

130. Simultaneously with the assembly of the above Board of Examination, the quarter-masters, and quarter-master sergeants of corps, accompanied by the orderly corporals of troops, companies or corps, and one orderly from each of the troop and company messes, will attend at the places appointed for the receipt and issue of rations, and after quarter-masters have received over from the supply officer, in bulk, the quantity of provisions their respective corps are entitled to, they will distribute to the orderly corporals of troops, companies and corps, the quantities such corps have to receive, when the same will be sub-divided into the proper proportion for each mess by the orderly corporals.

131. It will be the duty of the orderly sergeants of troops, companies and corps, to furnish the quarter-masters of corps with the daily ration return of such, upon which quarter-masters will base the general ration return for the supply officer who is charged with the receipt, custody, and issue of all provisions, fuel, forage required for the use of the troops, and his duties are detailed under the head of Supply Regulations.

132. The Assistant Adjutant-General at Divisional, and the Brigade Major at Brigade Camps of Exercise, is the proper channel through which all orders are received and issued to the troops.

133. The Assistant Quarter-master General at Division Camps, and the Camp Quarter-master at Brigade Camps, will issue to, and take over from the various corps, all articles of camp equipage. They will issue daily the ball ammunition required for target practice by the companies and corps detailed, also blank ammunition when required for field days, and they will exercise a general supervision over the cleanliness of the camp. One tent will be allowed to every regimental field officer, and one tent for the company officers, one tent to each surgeon, and another tent as the regimental hospital tent, one tent as commissariat store when no better place for storage can be obtained, one guard tent to every battalion, one tent will be allowed to each of the staff officers and one marquee tent to every battalion and regiment for the officers mess.

134. The musketry instructor will attend daily to the musketry instruction and target practice of the troops during the period of exercise; he will see that officers understand and carry out the system of registering in the returns the points obtained by the men; he will be constantly present at the rifle range during the target practice, to take general superintendence and control of the system of firing; he will be the referee and sole umpire, in all cases of dispute as to accuracy of marking, &c.; he will be responsible for the target practice returns, which, on the conclusion of each day's firing, he will carefully collect and record, initialing the whole for purpose of verification, handing in the same to the officer commanding the camp in accordance with such instruction as may be issued; he will also carry out any further orders connected with musketry instruction which may be issued by the officer commanding the camp.

135. It will be the duty of brigade majors to keep the roster of all brigade duties and to issue daily to the adjutants of corps the orders for the following day, and adjutants are to attend at the brigade major's tent at the hour appointed to receive such orders.

136. The orderly officer will perform such duties as the Deputy Adjutant-General or the officer commanding the brigade may direct.

137. It will be the duty of adjutants to keep the officers' roster of duty for their respective corps, and to promulgate under instructions from their commanding officers the necessary orders; the sergeant major will give out the orders of the day to orderly sergeants of troops, companies and corps, and keep the non-commissioned officers duty roster.

138. There will be an inlying piquet told off daily from every corps in camp, whose duty it will be, under the officer commanding the brigade and field officer of the day, to patrol in the vicinity of the camp or in such other places as may be directed, for the purpose of supporting the camp police if necessary, checking any irregularities on the part of any men belonging to their own corps, and bringing back any unauthorized absentees to camp, but except under urgent and unavoidable circumstances, the piquet of one corps will not interfere with men of another.

139. Officers commanding brigade camps will take care that the number of men detailed daily for guard and sentries, also for regimental duties, do not exceed the usual number authorized by the Queen's Regulations and the customs observed in the regular army.

140. A field officer of the day, taken in succession according to seniority from all regimental lieut.-colonels and majors, will be detailed daily in brigade orders.

141. Canteens for the supply of such extra provisions or articles as may be required (to enable the men to purchase for themselves such additional provision supplies, as butter, milk, eggs, cheese, &c., as they may desire), will be allowed in camp at the discretion of the officer commanding; but under no circumstances will spirituous liquors of any kind be allowed in the camp, and it will be a special duty of the field officer of the day and camp police to visit frequently all canteens, to take care that this order is strictly observed. In the event of any sutler selling or bringing spirituous liquor into camp, he is to be turned out and not re-admitted.

142. The necessary forms of marching in, marching out states, ration and musketry returns, &c., required, will be furnished from head quarters to Deputy Adjutants General commanding districts for distribution to corps; but officers commanding battalions and corps will be required to furnish the necessary stationery, daily parade states, guard and sick reports, as heretofore, and all corps will bring with them their regimental and company order and defaulting books.

DISCIPLINE.

143. Unless strict discipline be observed men cannot be formed into an effective military body. Good discipline is acquired by a constant and habitual obedience to orders without murmur and without question; the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of all corps are reminded of this and they should bear in mind that during the period of annual drill they are for purposes of military discipline under the Queen's Regulations and Articles of War the same as if employed on actual service as defined in the Militia Act of the Dominion.

144. Commanding officers of corps in dealing with any cases of irregularity which may occur, are in all first offences not of a serious or aggravated nature to have recourse to admonition, but on repetition of offence the minor punishment authorized should be enforced according to the nature and degree of the offence, every repetition of an act of drunkenness will be visited by the stoppage of one day's pay, and the confinement to camp of the offenders at the discretion of the commanding officer, and with a view to the prevention of irregularities, every effort should be made by commanding and all other officers to stop the introduction of all spirituous and intoxicating liquors into camp, for it may generally be relied on that when drunkenness can be prevented there will be no crime.

145. In the event of any man being found with spirituous liquor in his possession while in camp, or bring the same into camp, the liquor is to be immediately thrown away, and the man should be punished by his commanding officer.

146. The minor punishments that may be awarded by commanding officers are confinement to the camp for any period not exceeding 14 days, and stoppage of pay, accompanied by confinement to camp for repeated drunkenness. Men awarded punishment of confinement to camp by their commanding officers will not be allowed beyond the precincts of the camp (except on duty), during the period of confinement to camp awarded, and they will in addition to taking their own share of brigade and regimental duty, be employed as an extra duty, under the direction of the Camp Quarter Master, in preserving the cleanliness of the camp.

TARGET PRACTICE REGULATIONS.

147. The carrying out of the annual target practice of the Militia of the Dominion is of primary importance. The non-commissioned officers and men of all corps armed with the Snider rifle will fire five rounds at 200 yards, five rounds at 400 yards, and five rounds at 600 yards, and money prizes with badges will be given by Government to the best shot in every company, corps, battalion and military district, who perform the prescribed course of target practice at the annual drill, as follows, viz. :—

148. To the best shot in every company or corps, $5 with badge. To the best shot in every battalion, $10 with badge. To the best shot in every district, $15 with badge; and the Adjutant General of Militia will give a prize of $50, with a silver medal, to the best shot with the Snider rifle in the Active Militia of the Dominion for the year 1871.

149. The annual target practice of all brigades and batteries of Artillery, whenever practicable, will be carried out with field guns, or guns of position at their disposal, under special instructions from the Inspectors of Artillery, and money prizes with Artillery badges will be given by Government.

To the best shot in every brigade or Field Battery of Artillery, $10 with badge. To the best shot in every Garrison Battery, $5 with badge, and $5 in addition if no prize is drawn by battery for rifle shooting. Troops of Cavalry or other corps armed with the Snider carbine will fire five rounds at 200 and five at 400 yards, the best shot in such corps will receive a prize of $5 with badge, and where troops of Cavalry are formed into a regiment, a prize of $10 with badge, in addition to the troop prizes, to the best shot in such regiment. The Grand Trunk Brigade will carry out its annual target practice at such times during the season as may be directed by the Commandant, and will be entitled to receive the prizes before mentioned, and this brigade will also be entitled to receive the district prize of $15. To entitle a company or corps to compete for and receive the above prizes, not less than two-thirds of its establishment or authorized strength must be present at the time and perform the prescribed annual drill and target practice (the men to be bona fide enrolled members of the same according to the Militia Act) their names being duly registered in the company target returns. To entitle a battalion or brigade of Artillery to receive the battalion prize, all its companies or batteries must have been exercised, and have established a figure of merit as laid down, and with the strength as mentioned above, at the prescribed course of target practice at the annual drill. The above prizes for good shooting will only be open to the non-commissioned officer and men of the Active Militia, and officers are not to practise during the annual course prescribed for the non-commissioned officers and men. It is directed that the target shall be 4 feet wide at 200 yards, bull's-eye 8 inches square, and two feet centre; at 400 and 600 yards, 6 feet wide, with a bull's eye 2 feet square, and a centre 4 feet square. Bull's-eyes to count 4, centre 3, and an outer 2, at all ranges. Position when firing shall be standing at 200, kneeling at 400, and any position at 600 yards, but without artificial rests.

150. The figures of merit for a company, battalion or district, will be obtained by dividing the total number of points obtained at the three ranges, 200, 400, and 600 yards, by the number of men actually firing, and carrying out the quotient to two places of decimals.

151. The best shot in the company, battalion, district, and Dominion, will be that man who obtains the greatest number of points at the three distances, viz.: 200, 400 and 600 yards.

152. Ties will be decided by the greatest number of points obtained at 600 yards; if still a tie, by the greatest number at 400 yards; if still a tie, by the greatest number at 200 yards; if still a tie, by the inverse order of shots counting backwards from 600 yards. And to decide ties for the Adjutant General's prize, the score of each shot made by the district prize winners will be furnished in detail by Deputy Adjutants General to head quarters.

153. The prescribed course of target practice will be performed by the different companies, under the command of the captains, who will keep and sign the register of each man's performance, certifying the same as correct.

154. At the conclusion of the training the register of target practice will be sent by the Brigade Musketry Instructor to Brigade Majors, who will make out district returns from the company returns and forward them to the Deputy Adjutants General for transmission to head quarters.

155. The greatest possible accuracy must be observed in keeping the registers, as ^{as} these depend the selection of individuals for the annual prizes.

156. As a general rule there should be two markers in each butt, one N. C. O., and one man of a different company to the one firing, and a bugler at the firing point.

157. The Musketry Instructor will be on the ground during the time each company is firing its course, to see that the course is conducted according to regulation.

The squad will form up ten paces in rear of the firing points, "ground arms," and retire six paces in rear of the arms, which are not to be taken up except by word of command. The squad commander will remain at the firing stake, and call up each man successively who will fire his five rounds in succession, and then rejoin his squad, his score having first been read to him. The squad commander will be careful to caution his man as to the target he is to fire at, and see that he is aiming at it, and that no shot is fired until the flag or disc is entirely down. No loading is to be permitted except at the firing stake. No one but the squad commander or scorer is to be permitted within ten paces of the firing point.

FIELD EXERCISE AND EVOLUTIONS.

159. As a general rule, when not otherwise directed by officers commanding a camp of exercise, there will be three daily parades for drill for all companies and corp of Infantry, not engaged at target practice, at the following hours, viz. :—

160. At 6 a.m., for company drill, under captains or officers commanding companies, superintended by the field officers ; at 10 a.m., for battalion drill, under commanding officers of battalions ; and at 3 p.m., or such other times as the Deputy Adjutant General or senior officer commanding may direct, for brigade drill and exercise.

161. At the morning parades for company drill, under captains or officers commanding companies, the movements and exercises contained in part II. of the Infantry Field Exercise Book (latest edition), will be practised from pages 58 to 101, and especial care will be taken to instruct each company in the mode of skirmishing as laid down at page 91 and 101, every company officer will also be practised at these morning parades in the modes of sizing, forming and telling off a company, also in the proper mode of inspecting a company, and in the manual and platoon exercise ; the men will be instructed in the manual exercise prescribed for the short rifle, except as regards the mode of fixing and unfixing bayonets, in which instance the directions laid down for the long rifle will be followed. All orders contained in the Field Exercise for the guidance of troops carrying the short rifle, are applicable to men although armed with the long rifle, and whilst performing the platoon exercise, both officers and men are to be instructed in position and aiming drill, as laid down in the book of Rifle Exercise and Musketry Instruction at page 176 to 185. Officers and men will also be practised in the mode of mounting and relieving guard, in marching reliefs, and posting and relieving sentries, in challenging at night, in receiving grand or visiting rounds, and in paying the proper compliments, and the non-commissioned officers and men will be instructed in the mode of saluting, as laid down in section 6, part I., page 14, of the Field Exercise. It is not necessary that the men should be instructed in the slow step.

162. At the parades for the battalion drill, the field officers and Adjutants will be mounted, and the companies equalized. The strength of each company when formed for drill purposes to be not less than twenty files. Battalions will be practised in the mode of firing prescribed a page 106 of the Infantry Field Exercise Book, when the battalion is in line at close order, in forming advanced and rear guards, and in skirmishing as directed in page 205 to 244 ; they will also be practised in the few simple movements required from Infantry when in action, as laid down in the Field Exercise Book.

163. Whenever the brigades parade for field manoeuvres the whole of the corps will attend (the necessary guards and one cook per troop or company only being left in camp). At these parades the troops will be drawn up in such manner as the officer commanding may direct, and if circumstances admit, should then move off a short distance from camp in column of route, throwing out advanced, flank and rear guards, moving always as if in the close vicinity or actual presence of an enemy, deploying from time to time as circumstances and the nature of the ground may suggest into a line of battle, each arm of the service being posted so as to afford mutual support. The usual positions for Field Artillery when moving with a brigade is laid down at page 278 of the Infantry Field Exercise Book, and the principles upon which these manœuvres should be conducted in contradistinction to mere drill, is explained at page 279.

164. The established rule relative to the employment of Horse and Field Artillery when manœuvring, directs that officers commanding divisions or detached brigades should indicate to the officer commanding Artillery under their orders the general object of the movements about to be executed, and these officers should give directions to the captains of batteries as to the best mode of co-operating with and supporting them.

Officers commanding batteries should be permitted (under the direction of their own commanding officers), to use their own judgment in selecting the best positions to enable them to operate with advantage either in covering an attack or retreat, conforming of course, as much as the nature of the ground will permit, with the movements of the corps to which they are attached.

Any special directions received by the officer commanding Artillery from the officer in command of troops relative to the change in the disposition of the batteries during the movements will of course be promptly carried out.

A battery ought not to be exposed to the risks of Infantry fire, unless under unavoidable circumstances, which occasionally occurs in action.

165. The brigades should be practised in taking up positions for defence, or forming for purposes of attack, in the mode of attacking and carrying positions, and retiring as if in presence of a superior force, in regular military order, from one position to another, the various arms supporting, covering, and relieving one another in retreat. Whenever circumstances will admit the troops should be exercised, whilst taking up positions for defence, in creating artificial where no natural cover is available, by constructing shelter trenches for the Infantry, in the manner laid down in the Field Exercise Book, and in throwing up breastworks to protect the field batteries. Very valuable practice may also be afforded on these field days by dividing brigades into two forces, under commanders previously named in brigade orders, one side to act on the offensive and the other on the defensive. The officer commanding the division with suitable Staff officers to act as umpires. The troops on these occasions being supplied with blank ammunition. By carrying out properly the above system of practical field days and sham battles, officers and men are best instructed in their duties, and their military intelligence becomes greatly developed.

CAVALRY.

166. The drill for all troops of Cavalry and mounted corps, when such are not required for brigade exercise, will be carried out regimentally by the officers commanding, and the mode of forming advanced and rear guards practised as laid down in the Cavalry regulations; also the mode of extending as mounted skirmishers, and in firing with blank ammunition when mounted, whenever circumstances will admit.

The necessary instruction for Cavalry corps is detailed in the Cavalry Drill Book of 1st of August, 1869, and, in addition to the introductory remarks contained in that code of instruction, particular attention will be paid to sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, comprising military equitation.

FIELD ARTILLERY.

167. Whenever possible the annual shot and shell practice of batteries of Field Artillery will be carried on during the time the battery is in camp; if there is no available range, or if the firing of shell would be attended with danger, the practice will be deferred till a suitable range can be obtained.

168. Requisitions for ammunition and all other stores necessary to complete the equipment will be forwarded by officers commanding batteries prior to the commencement of the drill season.

169. No annual training of a field battery will be considered effective unless during that time at least one march of twenty (20) miles or thereabouts has been made, with limbers and waggons properly packed, all entrenching tools, camp equipage, small arms, etc., strapped in the places ; on these occasions officers commanding will mount their detachments when the state of the roads will admit of it.

170. During the period allotted to "Regimental Drill" in camp, officers commanding will select the most simple and useful of the movements laid down in the "Manual of Field Artillery exercise." The drivers will be instructed in riding, driving, cleaning harness, &c., the gunners in gun drill, dismounting and mounting guns, righting guns which have been upset, changing wheels, removing disabled field artillery, &c.

171. Where facilities exist, officers commanding should practice those under their command in throwing up cover for guns in action, moving guns and horses over walls, ditches, ravines, small streams or other obstacles, and without adhering to strict rules, endeavour to stimulate the ingenuity and interest of all concerned.

172. On the conclusion of the training and return of field batteries to their respective head quarters, all harness, saddlery, carriages, waggons, and small stores will be replaced in the sheds in a perfectly clean state and fit for immediate service ; the drivers cleaning the harness, the gunners the guns and waggons. Officers commanding field batteries will be held responsible at any time when their batteries are suddenly ordered out, that the service ammunition and other necessary stores are complete and in good order.

173. Lieutenant-Colonel French, Inspector of Artillery and Warlike stores, Commandant of the School of Gunnery, "A" Battery, Kingston, will transmit to head quarters a detailed report on the annual inspection of all Artillery corps in the Province of Ontario, and a special report on the School of Gunnery, "A" Battery, Kingston.

174. Lieutenant-Colonel T. B. Strange, Inspector of Artillery for the Province of Quebec, and Commandant of the School of Gunnery, "B" Battery, Quebec, will transmit to head quarters a detailed report on the annual inspection of all Artillery corps in the Province of Quebec, and a special report on the School of Gunnery, "B" Battery, Quebec.

175. Lieutenant-Colonel Jago, New Brunswick Artillery, will make the annual regimental inspection of all Artillery corps in that Province, transmitting his report thereon to head quarters.

176. The annual regimental reports of the inspectors in that special arm of the service to be transmitted to the Adjutant General at head quarters not later than 1st November, 1872.

177. The annual drill of all corps for 1872-73 to be completed before 31st October, 1872, and the annual inspection reports and target practice returns of corps transmitted by Deputy Adjutants General along with their own annual reports to head quarters immediately after the inspection of the whole of the corps in the respective districts is concluded, to enable the Adjutant General to prepare his annual report on the state of the Militia in proper time for presentation to Parliament.

P. ROBERTSON-ROSS,
Colonel Commanding and Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS,

OTTAWA, 31st January, 1873.

REPORT OF DISTRICT MUSKETRY INSTRUCTOR.

WHITBY, November 30th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to submit herewith the nominal lists of the company and battalion prize winners in the various corps of Military District No. 2, assembled at Niagara, for the annual drill.

The division having been divided into three brigades, the return of each brigade will be found separate.

In the 1st Brigade, the best shooting company is No. 5 Company 38th (Brant), with the figure of merit 25.12, and the best battalion, the 38th (Brant), with the figure of merit of 17.62; being, in each case, the best in camp.

In the 2nd brigade, the best company is No. 2, 36th (Peel); figure of merit 23.62; and best battalion, the 36th (Peel); figure of merit 13.40.

In the 3rd brigade, the best company is No. 6, of the 31st; figure of merit 21.33; and best battalion, the 31st (Grey); figure of merit 13.77.

The Brigade and divisional figures of merit are as follows :—

1st Brigade.....	13.42.
2nd „	11.49.
3rd „	11.81.

Divisional average..... 12.26.

The highest battalion figure of merit obtained in this district in 1871, was 17.08. This year it is 17.62; a slight increase.

The total number of men who fulfilled the prescribed course was 4,421; divided into 4,167, using the Snider Enfield, and 254 cavalry, using the carbine of the same make; 65,045 rounds of Boxer cartridge were expended. The quality of the ammunition this year was invariably good.

I would again call attention to the need of having an armourer in camp. Many rifles were found to be quite unserviceable, and it is a pity to lose the opportunity of having those that are defective put in good order while in camp; and this would be much less expensive than to send a skilled artizan to each company's head-quarters.

The range used was the same as that of last year, but was newly laid out by Lieut.-Col. Denison, whose judicious re-arrangement of the targets and firing points rendered the range almost absolutely safe; and, by placing the firing points in close proximity, much diminished the labors of the superintending officers. Twelve targets were used, four of each class.

I beg to reiterate my recommendation that plans and specifications of the butts used would be of great service if embodied in the annual Militia report.

The rules as to firing worked satisfactorily. I would further recommend their modification, by directing that two men should be called out together, and should fire their five shots alternately, one loading and getting into position while the other is firing. This rule has already been adopted at Wimbledon, and I found it worked well this year at Niagara. The Ontario Rifle Association have also adopted it with satisfactory results.

There was no accident of any kind during the practice; and the weather, on the whole, was extremely favourable.

I doubt the propriety of insisting upon "Hythe position kneeling," at 400 yards. The skirmisher will never use it when he can lie down. Its absurdity if not impracticability in case of the cavalry men wearing spurs is obvious.

The rule as to two men marking in one butt should be modified. Practically, owing to the small available staff of markers, it was not possible to carry it into effect; and I find, that when two men are in a butt, they will talk to each other, and become inattentive while a single marker (often relieved) is much more on the alert than if with another.

Efficient markers were again in want, those hired at Toronto were for the most part a nuisance and inefficient. By taking the men of one brigade to mark for another they need not be away from their camp duties for more than a few days; and a steady body of men will be trained for work at the butts.

It seems to me that the reduction of the 600 yard range to 500 would be productive of good results.

I would again urge that instruction in musketry should have a more prominent place in the curriculum of our military schools; and, in particular, that the cadets should themselves be put through the same course of ball practice as prescribed for the annual drill. The advantages are obvious.

I found the whole practice this year was conducted more smoothly and efficiently than last year. This was partly owing to the improved laying out of the ranges; but chiefly to the experience gained in the last camp by both officers and men. I must here speak in the highest terms of the valuable assistance rendered to me by Captain Johnson (20th Battalion), Brigade Instructor, for the 1st Brigade, Mr. St. John (19th Battalion), for the 2nd, and Captain White, (34th), for the 3rd.

I trust that at the next camp the system may be still further enlarged and improved by the appointment of battalion musketry instructors, who could give some attention to instruction in aiming and position drill.

I have again to call attention to the large number of men who failed to fulfil the prescribed course. The deficiency in the 10th Royals alone being 142 men, and in the whole camp 692: Some commanding officers have sent every man (not actually in hospital) to the ranges. It is obvious that in such cases the battalion figure of merit is fallacious. The best shots are sure to put in an appearance, and unfairly raise the figure of merit of that battalion whose recruits, or inferior shots, are not permitted to perform the prescribed practice.

The rule requiring company's officers to score for their men is open to objection. The temptation to unfairness, I have no doubt, has in some cases been yielded to. One gross case of falsification would (if undetected) have given the District prize to a man who never made the score attributed to him.

I append a diary of the daily detail and of the weather.

Staff Sergeant Durnford, of the 2nd Queen's Own Rifles, was again in charge of the markers, ranges, &c. I wish to reiterate my sense of his soldierly qualities to which I gave expression in my last report.

A very general feeling was expressed in the camp that some of the men (say the highest scores in each brigade), should be accorded the privilege of attending the competitions preliminary to the selection of the Wimbledon team.

I think the suggestion is worthy of being brought to the notice of the Provincial and Dominion Rifle Associations.

Of the 161 prize winners, 56, or nearly one half, were non-commissioned officers.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

To Lieut.-Col. DURIE,
D. A. A. G. M., Toronto.

GEO. H. DARTNELL,
Major, D. M. I.

COBOURG, July 8th, 1872.

To Lt..Col. JARVIS, C.M.G.,
Deputy Adjutant General, Kingston.

SIR,—I have the honor to submit herewith the nominal roll of prize winners in each regiment which performed its target practice under my supervision at the camp lately assembled at Kingston.

The total number of men who fired the rounds prescribed by the General Orders are, Infantry, eleven hundred and sixty-seven; Cavalry, two hundred and thirty-three. Owing to two of the troops of Cavalry which have recently been raised and put in commission not having as yet been supplied with carbines, the course for them necessarily had to be dispensed with; the other six troops fired ten rounds per man at two hundred and four hundred yards, five rounds at each range. This been the first occasion on which the men had been able to use the Snider carbine, the shooting was rather below the average, but with a little more practice considerable proficiency can be attained.

I have heard no complaints about the ammunition which appeared to be in excellent order.

The ranges at Kingston are well situated, and for the two hundred and four hundred yard ranges all that can be desired; but at the six hundred yards on the southernmost range great difficulty is experienced in scoring correctly on account of a rise in the ground, which, however, can be obviated on a future occasion by raising the firing platform.

Owing to the admirable and exhaustive directions for carrying out the practice as contained in General Orders, the firing proceeded with as great rapidity as could be desired, consistent with allowing proper time for aiming, and any necessary instruction the man's firing might require. This last was most essential, as a great majority of the men coming up to fire had, previous to that occasion, never handled a Snider rifle, and knew nothing of position or aiming drill. I would suggest that in future the first drill men coming into camp be subjected to, should be position and aiming drill as laid down in the firing exercise.

The employment of a staff of permanent markers was a great convenience and saving of time. I would suggest that permanent scorers also be employed, and also a Staff bugler for each range; many of the companies not having buglers, and in most cases those who had I found incapable of blowing the simplest calls. A bugler is most necessary on a range and should be thoroughly conversant with his duty. ●

To prevent mistakes in scoring I took the precaution of having all scores kept in ink on the ground, and signed by the officers keeping the same, and handed in to me or my assistant before the squad marched off.

The weather was all that could be desired.

I am happy to say that the whole practice was conducted without any casualty.

I cannot close this report without expressing my satisfaction at the able and efficient manner in which I was assisted in carrying out the duty by the Brigade Assistants, namely: Captain John Macauley, 49th Regiment, for the first Brigade; Lieutenant Johnston, 51st Regiment, for the second Brigade. and Captain Regan, of No. 1 Troop Northumberland and Durham Squadron, for the Cavalry Regiment; and also Musketry Staff Sergeant John Bailey; who I would recommend to your favorable consideration.

I must also thank you, Sir, for the kind advice and assistance given me whenever occasion required.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. VANCE GRAVELEY, Major,

Chief Musketry Instructor, Military District No. 3.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE DETACHMENT OF MARKS MEN SENT TO REPRESENT THE MILITIA OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA AT WIMBLEDON, ENGLAND, IN 1872.

SIR,—In compiling the following report, I purpose giving a daily account of the detachment from the time of their reporting themselves until the close of the meeting.

Friday, 21st June.—The detachment reported at the Brigade Office, Quebec, except (3) three men belonging to New Brunswick. All present were medically inspected, and signed the rules.

Saturday, 22nd.—Embarked on board the steamship Scandinavian at 9 o'clock. Sent an officer to the railway station to see if the men who had not reported came by the mail train, and if so, to conduct them on board. They came, but in consequence of their being so late they could not be medically inspected. On being questioned as to the cause of their being so late, they stated that it was caused by their Provincial Association.

Sunday, 23rd.—The detachment attended divine service in uniform.

Monday, 24th.—Could not have any drill in consequence of the dampness of the weather

Tuesday, 25th.—Weather still foggy and raining. Passed the ship Pequot, of Liverpool, G.B. Took on board some sailors belonging to the ship Tweeddale which had collided and foundered.

Wednesday, 26th.—Clear, but strong N.E. wind blowing. Could not drill. Two of the detachment are sea sick, but on the whole most of them are looking extremely well.

Thursday, 27th.—Weather clear; strong westerly wind and a heavy sea. The greater number are sea sick.

Friday, 28th.—Clear; strong westerly wind. Most of the detachment are getting over their sea sickness, except Quarter Master Thomas, Privates Sheppard and Copping.

Saturday, 29th.—Cloudy; strong westerly wind. Had the detachment up for drill except those who could not leave their cabins, Sunday, 30th.—Cloudy; strong westerly wind. Such of the detachment as were members of the Church of England attended divine service.

Monday, 1st July.—Dominion Day; weather clear. Paraded the detachment at noon in uniform. Having procured some Snider ammunition, had the bullets extracted and made blank of it, with which we fired a Feu-de-joie, Captain Ballantine hoisting a number of flags, and using the ship's guns in honor of the day. Some gentlemen from St. Catharines, Ontario, asked the detachment together for a glass of wine in honor of Dominion Day, when some very loyal and patriotic speeches were made by both sides. Sighted land soon after 12 o'clock. Lord Lisgar, the second Governor General of the Dominion of Canada, being a passenger, and landing at Londonderry, I paraded as a guard of honor for him the first guard of honor ever furnished by Canadians in British waters. After presenting arms Lord Lisgar addressed the detachment, thanking them for the compliment they had paid him, and wishing them all kinds of success at Wimbledon. He also explained what a deep interest he felt in Canada and her militia, and ever should.

Tuesday, 2nd.—Weather fine and clear. Arrived at the mouth of the Mersey about noon, but could not proceed as it was low water. After waiting some time, a tender came alongside and took the passengers and their baggage into Liverpool. After passing the baggage through the Customs, marched the detachment to the Russell Hotel, Clayton Square. Wrote official letters, reporting arrival.

Wednesday, 3rd.—Having made arrangements for the use of the Altcar ranges, left Liverpool at 9.10 a. m. Took rooms at the Hightown Hotel, the only one near the ranges. Turned out at once for practice. Weather cloudy; wind light but gusty from the right front. Fired at Queen's distance, viz.: 200, 500 and 600 yards, making an average of $38\frac{80}{100}$. Fired at the same distances in the afternoon, when the light was better, and the shooting consequently improved, the average being $39\frac{57}{100}$. It was now quite evident to me that for our detachment of 20 men to compete for the Kolapore Cup that we had not the least chance, our only hope being in reducing the numbers, as three or four of our men could not be depended on for anything. Seeing this, I at once wrote to Capt. Mildmay, requesting that the Cup might be shot for by eight a side instead of twenty, to which letter I received an answer that the N. R. A. would shoot an eight.

Thursday, 4th.—Men up early, taking exercise, &c. Turned out for practice at 9 o'clock. The atmosphere was hazy, wind light from the right front. Shooting was very good, most of them having quite got over their sea-sickness, and I think it was greatly assisted by causing them to feel that there was something to shoot for besides practice. In order to get up this spirit of emulation, I caused the team to be made into squads by Provinces, Ontario having 7, Quebec 6, and the Lower Provinces 7 between them—I made one squad of them, as the numbers were not equal. The squad making the highest average was, of course, the best shooting squad. I also gave £1 to the man making the greatest aggregate at Altcar, which was won by Corporal Larkin, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, who in six practices at Queen's distances, made the splendid total of 277. Arrangements having been made for a match with the 1st Cheshire Volunteers (the same that beat the detachment of last year by 30 points). It came off in the afternoon about 5 o'clock. The light was good; wind light from the right rear. The scoring was good on both sides; the match ending in favor of the Canadians by 36 points. The totals were as follows: Canadians, $843 \div 20 = 42\frac{30}{100}$; 1st Cheshire $810 \div 20 = 40\frac{50}{100}$.

Left Liverpool for London for the purpose of making the entries for the matches in which our men could shoot, and also to report myself to Gen. MacDougall. I handed over the command of the detachment for the time to Capt. Wall, he being the senior officer.

Friday, 5th.—All up and out for exercise before breakfast. Turned out at 9.30 a. m. for practice. The morning was dull, a misty haze hanging over everything, though there was a strong wind from the left front. This was the most difficult wind we had as yet to contend against; the average was the lowest yet made. Made arrangements to shoot a triangular match in the afternoon with the 1st and 5th Lancashire battalions. During the day the wind shifted round until it came from the right rear, with a clear light. Match commenced about 4.45, and ended in an easy victory for the Canadians, who beat the 1st battalion by 46 and the latter by 27. After the match was over the 1st Lancashire entertained the detachment at supper. Broke up at about 10 p. m., having spent quite a pleasant evening. I may mention that while at Altcarr the Lancashire and Cheshire volunteers gave us ammunition for practice ad libitum.

Saturday, 6th.—Left Liverpool for Wimbledon at 11.40; arrived at Putney about 6.30 p. m. Took cabs and drove to camp (about two miles). Tents were pitched, and stores found ready for issue. I addressed a few words to the detachment, explaining the temptations they would be exposed to in a large camp like Wimbledon; appealing to their good sense that for the honor of their country and their own good that they would not give way or forget themselves.

Sunday, 7th.—Went to the refreshment rooms to endeavor to make arrangements for the messing of the detachment; I found it was not practicable, for many reasons that they could all do so together. I then made a fair calculation of what it would cost a man, per day, to live fairly, and found it to be about five shillings sterling, which sum was paid to each man daily. While on this subject, I may add that refreshments of all kinds are much dearer than last year. I had an officer and three rank and file warned daily for duty in camp. Most of the members of the Church of England attended divine service in camp. Sir Peter Tait sent an invitation to six of the members to dine with him, which was accepted.

Our camp is most pleasantly situated at the north end of the enclosure (close to the Iron House of the London Scottish), commanding one of the most beautiful views in the camp, and during our stay was the centre of attraction, thanks to the kindness of Sir Peter Tait, who left no stone unturned to make it, as it undoubtedly was, the prettiest spot in the great camp.

Monday, 8th.—To-day begins the competitions. I shall soon see if we can hold our own against the cracks of the United Kingdom. I must certainly say the odds against us are great.

There is no use trying to describe the weather, as our men are shooting all day from gun fire at 9.15 to gun fire at 7.15; but attached will be found a meteorological report of registrations taken each day at 9 p. m. and 3 p. m.

The principal competitions to-day are the Alexandra, 200 and 500 yards; H.R.H. the Prince of Wales' Prize, Snider, Nursery and 1st series Snider extras, in all of which we had some one placed.

Tuesday, 9th.—Our men had unfortunately to shoot their first distance in the Queen's in a perfect gale of wind; good shoulder shooting was a thing that could not be expected. None of the twenty, as will be seen by reference to the register attached, made more than 15 points. This I could see at once broke our backs for the Queen's.

Wednesday, 10th.—The weather to-day has been almost perfect for shooting, and our men have been quite anxious to get through their second distance of the Queen's, viz., 500 yards, in hopes of retrieving their ill luck at 200. But fate seemed to be against them, for just as they commenced to shoot at 6.30 p. m., the wind got up, and the light began to fluctuate in the most embarrassing manner, the consequence of which was that all our hopes were blighted.

Thursday, 11th.—This is one of the most interesting days of the meeting, being the last day of the first stage of the Queen's, when everyone appears to be rushing madly about to find out who is the silver medalist, and who are in the first sixty. I am sorry to have to state that there is not one of the detachment in. I can only attribute our want of success to bad weather, not want of skill. Our men complain of the great difference of the light here and in Canada.

Friday, 12th.—Most of the Snider competitions are drawing to a close. The principal ones to-day are the St. George's Challenge Vase and the Windmill, 500 yards. The detachment are all well, and making good shooting as a team; but for Wimbledon that sort of shooting is not the thing—what you want is some fellows who can make all bull's eyes; nothing short of that is likely to take first prizes here.

There was quite a commotion in our camp this afternoon. Mr. Morley, M. P., Alderman Beasley and several other gentlemen assembled to present the detachment with a cup from the merchants of London. The conditions of the competition were as follows:

To be competed for by three representatives from each Province; the Province making the highest aggregate to hold it for the year, afterwards to be competed for, subject to the rules of the D. R. A. After the presentation (which took place in the open air) the whole retired to the reception tent, where refreshments were provided for all. Speeches were made by Mr. Morley, M. P., Alderman Beasley, Sir John Rose, Sir Peter Tait, and others.

Saturday, 13th.—This is the day on which we are to be pitted against a picked team of the United Kingdom. Now comes the question, Who is to shoot in the eight? How are they to be selected so as to represent each Province, if possible, but still to have in the best men? To arrive at this, I took the whole of the practices at Altcar and matches at Wimbledon in which the whole of the detachment had fired. Taking the eight highest aggregates, they stood by Provinces as follows: Ontario, 2; Quebec, 3; Nova Scotia, 2; New Brunswick, 1; I took them in that order. At 2.30 p. m., both teams were at the shooting points. Now comes the tug of war for the first time at Wimbledon. It is now a trial of skill, the United team had the best of it in point of arms, as they had the steel barrels, while our men had the iron barrel or, as they are more commonly called, gas pipes. However, each man knew his rifle, and what its powers were. The United were composed as follows:—England 3, Scotland 3, Ireland 2, each led by the champion of their respective twenties in the International match. The shooting at 200 yards was very good. On the finish of the seven rounds when totals were called, the numbers were as follows:—"Canada 183, United Kingdom, 177." People then began to stare, and think can this be true? One Londoner was heard to say: "Never mind, our fellows will pull up at 500. When the shooting at 500 was finished, the totals for both distances were, Canada 366, United Kingdom 361. At 600 the shooting of our men was something grand, in fact it was the admiration of the anxious crowd that stood around. No man having been less than 20 or over 22, this might be fairly called the quintessence of team shooting. The last few shots were fired amidst a curious silence, everyone talked in whispers, and when, after casting up totals, it became known that Canada had won by eight points, there seemed to be but one feeling—English, Scotch and Irishmen were aware that they had done their best, and had been beaten in a fair fight. Capt. Field, who commanded the English team, called for three cheers for the Canadians, when there was such a ringing cheer as is not often heard. I called for three cheers for the United team, to which our men responded with such good will, that a bystander remarked "By George? those fellows know how to cheer," when some one was heard to answer, "Yes, and how to shoot."

Sunday, 14th.—Cloudy and rainy at intervals during the day. Members of the Church of England attended divine service in camp. Sir Peter Tait sent an invitation for six of the detachment to dine with him, which was accepted.

Monday, 15th.—Weather dull, chilly, and threatening rain. The only match of any interest to-day is the great small bore match, the "Albert" first stage. In the evening the Princess Mary and the Prince Teck visited our camp, besides a large number of distinguished personages, all of whom were full of congratulations.

Tuesday, 16th.—This may be called the day of the meeting, as the second stage of the "Queen's" is finished, and the winner fêted. This year the winner is Color-Sergt. Michie, London Scottish; his score is 65. Our shooting is over, I may say, except for any rifle matches, and I may mention that Corporal Larkin, of Nova Scotia, is making some splendid scores. Sergt. Turnbull, Grand Trunk Rifles, has won the Secretary of State for War's prize of £20, with a score of 26 out of a possible 28 at 900 yards, using the Martini-Henry rifle.

Wednesday, 17th.—There is nothing of interest to record to-day, except some good shooting made by Corporal Larkin, in the "Any Rifle Nursery," at 500 and 600 yards, making at each distance the highest possible score. In the evening, Mr. Gladstone visited the camp, staying to dine at Earl Ducie's cottage, where they were trying a new system of signalling. He sent some messages to our camp congratulating us on our victory, and expressing a hope that we would come again next year.

Thursday, 18th.—The Merchant's Cup and Canadian Prizes were competed for to-day. The result of the shooting will be found attached. The day was by no means favorable for shooting, the light being very indifferent, and the wind shifting in the most puzzling manner.

In the afternoon, the whole of the detachment was entertained by Sir Peter and Lady Tait, at his house, Putney. Among the guests present were Gen. Sir Jas. Lindsay, K. C. B., Major Gen. MacDougall, Sir John and Lady Rose, Colonel and Mrs. Chambers, Colonel and Miss Warde, Colonel and Mrs. Vickers, Colonel and Mrs. Laborn, and a number of volunteer officers and others specially invited by Sir Peter Tait to meet the "Canadian Team."

After the déjeuner, General MacDougall, in returning thanks for the toast of "The Army, Navy and Reserve Forces," bore testimony to the excellence of the Canadian Militia—a distinguished portion of the army of the Empire—which had recently shown the extreme readiness and alacrity with which the people of Canada picked up their military education. Sir John Rose responded to the toast "Success to the Dominion of Canada." I responded to the toast of "The Canadian Team," thanking the English for the generous hospitality which had been extended to us; and that I thought the success of the Canadians must be a cause of congratulation to their brethren in this country, as showing that the Canadians would prove, if need were, not merely willing, but able to aid in sustaining the honor and position of the mother country.

When the party broke up, Sir Peter invited the detachment to pay a visit to the Crystal Palace, where there was a grand fete; the Prince and Princess of Wales being present to see the grand display of fire works. This kind invitation was accepted by all, and we spent a most enjoyable evening; the greater portion of the team having never seen such a display before.

Friday, 19th.—This is the last day of the meeting, and there is nothing connected with the detachment worth noting, except an invitation having been received from Messrs. Copestack, Moore & Co., to dine with them in London. The whole detachment were ordered to be present, and I took them by train from Putney to Waterloo Bridge Station, thence to the above establishment. Covers were laid for 150 people, and we were entertained in a most sumptuous manner. A large number of well-known London merchants were present. Amongst the number of gentlemen present were Mr. Morley, M. P. for Bristol, the ex-Lord Mayor, Mr. Hughes, &c., &c. The kindest possible feeling seemed to be shown towards Canada, and they hoped to see a detachment each year. I stated that we had hardly dared to hope for any great success, when such large numbers were entered; but as we had been successful, I was quite sure that the public of England were more gratified at our success than if we had been beaten; and we were happy to be able to show that the Dominion had able, as well as willing, hands to help, if necessary, the Empire. After a very pleasant evening we all left about 11 p. m.

Saturday, 20th.—This is our last day in our pretty little camp, as we all part this evening. I paid each man his share of the prizes won (viz., £11 18s.) also subsistence money, at the rate of 10s. per day, till Thursday next, the 25th inst., the day of departure of the first mail for Canada; each man signed the Acquittance Roll as being perfectly satisfied.

The detachment paraded in the afternoon to receive their prizes from the Princess of Wales. The first of our men called was Sergt. Turnbull, to receive the Secretary of State for War's Prize which he had won. As he advanced to receive his prize he was loudly cheered. The Duke of Cambridge also presented to him, from Mrs. Cardwell, the Martini-Henry Rifle with which he won the prize.

Loud and long continued was the applause as I led forward that plucky little band who had crossed the Atlantic, to wrest from the best shots of the mother country the Kolapore Cup, by the finest display of skill ever seen on Wimbledon Common. As I led the party forward, the Duke of Cambridge, who had previously congratulated me on our success, explained to the Princess by what splendid shooting the cups had been wrested from English hands. The Princess handed the cups with her most winning smile. The Prince of Wales, who shook me heartily by the hand, desired me to convey to the people of Canada his great pleasure at their well-deserved success, and his hope that we should return again next year to show that we could hold our own.

The special prizes were then presented: the Merchant's Cup to the representatives of the Province of Quebec; Ensign Adam, £30; Private Smith, £20; Ensign Adam and Gunner Shand were also presented with Martini-Henry Rifles.

In conclusion, we must thank most heartily the National Rifle Association for their co-operation with us, Lord Ducie, the chairman, in particular, and Captains Mildmay, Costin and Drake. The kindness of these gentlemen helped to make it a most enjoyable fortnight.

To Sir Peter Tait, for his great kindness, energy and assistance. Sir Peter took the deepest interest in everything connected with us. The exemplary conduct of the detachment reflected credit on the country which they had the honor to represent. I have had no trouble with them at all. I enclose Acquittance Roll, Scores, Vouchers and Statement of Accounts.

And, in conclusion, I trust another year will see another detachment, as skilful and as well-behaved as this one, on Wimbledon Common.

I have the honor to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

P. W. WORSLEY, Major,
Commanding Detachment.

The Adjutant General of Militia,
Canada.

 REPORT OF DIVISIONAL ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL.

CAMP NIAGARA, 27th June, 1872.

SIR,—In obedience to your order, I now beg to submit a memorandum of what transpired, within my own observation, during the manœuvres here on the 24th inst. I also submit a sketch map of the ground, made to a scale which I have prepared, and to which, for convenience, I shall refer.

I have the honor to remain, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

A. BRUNEL, Lieutenant-Colonel.

Assistant Adjutant General.

MEMORANDUM.

I awaited the firing of the signal gun, which had been ordered to fire at 10 a.m., at the bridge (D). While here, I noticed a troop of cavalry, a battery of Artillery, and a battalion of infantry, attached to the defence, posted, as nearly as I could judge, in the position indicated on the map. There was also a party of pioneers, with tools ready to destroy the bridge. The remainder of the defensive forces were, I believe, posted in the position indicated on the map.

The troop of Cavalry, to which I have referred, moved across the bridge (D) to the front, the moment the gun fired. I rode with them as far as the road (C), along which they continued as far as the first cross road; then they wheeled to the right, crossed the railway track, then wheeled to the left, and disappeared beyond my sight. The men of this troop wore oak leaves in their forage caps, and were the only cavalry that advanced by that route.

Immediately after the above-mentioned troop had disappeared, I observed the Governor General's Body Guard, attached to the attacking force, advancing by the road (C); and about the same time the 39th Battalion had advanced by the defile from (D) to (C), deployed some of its companies, and lined the ditch of the road which crossed its front to the right and left of (C) with skirmishers, who took up their ground with excellent judgment, keeping well under cover. Their supports were, however, too close up with the skirmishers, and the reserve was posted immediately opposite the road (C), and fully exposed to the advancing enemy. The attacking cavalry advanced to within about fifty or sixty yards of these riflemen, who, however, did not open fire very promptly, although the horsemen were fully exposed to the fire both of skirmishers and supports. I told the officer commanding the cavalry (Captain Denison), that his further advance was impracticable against the force in his front. He retired across the railway track, and took up a position on the second cross-road, where there are some wooden houses, which partly concealed the troop.

The 39th now pushed forward a company along the road immediately in their front. These men advanced carefully, lining the side-ditch, and keeping well under cover. Had they opened fire on the cavalry, as they might have done after they passed the first cross-road, I should again have directed the cavalry to retire. They did not do so, however, until too late, for before they had fired a dozen shots the cavalry was upon them within ten yards; and as they had not fixed bayonets, I adjudged them to be prisoners, and directed the captain to march them off the ground as such, which he did.

While the above-mentioned events were passing, a field gun belonging to the defence came into action, commanding the road by which the attacking cavalry had advanced. This gun was well posted in a dip of the road (C), so as to fire over the crest of the rising ground. Just as this gun came into action, I observed a column of the attacking infantry advancing by the road swept by it. I rode forward, and told the officer in command of the attacking column (Major O'Brien) that his further advance was barred by a superior fire. He posted his advance guard under cover of the railway crossing, which rises slightly above the common road, affording good cover, and he placed the remainder of his column in the side-ditches, where he held his ground. At this moment, a second field gun of the defence came into action on the higher ground in rear of the position first taken by the gun above mentioned, and which was now retired, so that both these guns were now on the high ground, and exposed to the musketry fire of the force posted under cover at the railway crossing. The reserve of the 39th Battalion had also retired under cover of the dwelling house which stands nearly opposite to the road (C). The attacking cavalry had now passed further to the left of the attack, as I did not again see it at this position.

The movements above described had occupied about fifteen minutes; and at this juncture I first heard musketry firing on the extreme right of the attack.

The defence at the point (C) had up to this moment a decided preponderance over the attacking force; but it was now entirely withdrawn, and the defile from (C) to (D) was apparently left undefended. Of the opportunity thus offered the attack did not avail himself.

I now rode across the railway to the right front of the defence, and then observed two columns of the attacking infantry advancing parallel to the railway through the defiles formed by the streets of the town. Leaving this part of the field, I rode to the open ground between the old hospital and the ruins of Fort George. From this position I observed that a column of the attacking skirmishers had established themselves opposite the left of the defence, with supports and strong reserves in their rear; these had forced their way across the bridge over the inundated railway cutting. The attacking artillery—two guns, I think—were also firing upon the defence from the opposite side of the railway cutting. Their fire was replied to by a single gun from the ruins of the Fort. Returning towards the right of the defence, I found that the head of the two defiles—(F, G)—held by the 37th Battalion, had been so well barricaded with timber, that a few determined men might reasonably be expected to resist successfully the advance of any number of infantry from that direction. I told Lieut.-Colonel Davis (commanding the 37th) that I considered his position as impregnable to the attack of infantry, but that, if artillery were brought against him, he would be obliged to give way, unless he were also supported by artillery; and I pointed out to him that, should he be forced to retire, the remains of his barricades might come to be as useful to his enemy as they had been to him.

Passing again to the left of the defence, I found that the attack had brought up an overwhelming force in that direction. The opposing skirmishers were here within less than seventy-five yards of each other, the attack largely outnumbering the defence, and gradually pushing it back. The two lines being on a perfectly level plain were unreasonably near each other. At this time, I observed that the field gun which the defence had placed in the old Fort was adjudged by one of the umpires to be silenced as captured, and was moved off the field. This was about three quarters of an hour after the commencement of the manœuvres.

At this time, a squadron of cavalry emerged from the cover of the old Fort and charged the attacking skirmishers, who appeared to have been reinforced, as they formed a very strong line. As soon as they observed the advancing cavalry, they gathered together in clumps, fixing bayonets as they did so, and continued firing. Their fire would undoubtedly have been sufficient to drive back the cavalry. An unfortunate accident now occurred. In consequence of some misconception of an order, the heads of the two troops of cavalry wheeled inwards, and, coming into contact with each other, a dozen saddles were emptied, the horses rolling over each other and over their riders, some of whom were badly hurt, especially Captain Spillett, Adjutant of the 2nd Regiment of Cavalry.

Immediately after this cavalry charge, I observed that the 20th Battalion, which had been formed up in quarter column, within less than two hundred yards of the heavy line of attacking skirmishers above referred to, had been adjudged to be hors de combat, and was ordered off the field.

It was now evident that the left defence had entirely failed, and I returned towards the right, where I joined the other umpires. It was now near eleven o'clock; the greater part of the defending forces had sought cover within the ruins of Fort George, some in the dry ditch, others within the ruined parapets. While the events above related had been passing, the attack had brought his field artillery to bear upon the barricades at (F, G) and the defenders of these defiles had retired, covered by a line of skirmishers. The attack now appeared in force by all the defiles (F, F, G, &c.); and although the defence had two guns so placed in the old Fort as to command the heads of these defiles, they were not brought into action, and the attack brought up his guns, deployed his infantry, and firmly established himself without encountering much opposition.

The defile at E was not very carefully observed by the defence, though the formation of the ground made it an important point. By this defile the 31st Battalion advanced, under command of Major Brodie, who took advantage of the folds of the ground in a most admirable manner. His officers and men evidently appreciated the value of the cover which the ground afforded, and of the dispositions made by Major Brodie for taking advantage of it. He kept his men well covered while extending his skirmishers; but in their eagerness one of his companies trespassed on the "morass," and I was obliged to adjudge about twenty of them hors de combat.

The advance of the 31st was but feebly opposed, and its position was therefore speedily and firmly established. The defence then withdrew within the shelter of the earthworks.

In the meantime, the right of the attack had extended its skirmishers so as to join hands with its left. The heads of the attacking columns made their appearance at the defiles (H & I), and it became evident to the umpires that the defence was entirely overpowered, and at an end for all practical purposes, though it might have required some time entirely to subdue it.

- " Trajectory ;"

and shew, with the aid of a diagram, of what forces the latter is the resultant.

2. Define windage. Does it exist in all guns? What are its advantages and disadvantages?

3. Explain why an elongated projectile from a rifled gun will penetrate an iron-clad better than a spherical shot fired from a gun of the same calibre, and striking with the same terminal velocity?

4. Give the formula for finding the energy of a shot striking, in terms of its weight and velocity.

5. The accuracy of spherical common shell will not be as great (especially at long ranges) as that of shot of similar calibre, fired with the same charge. Will this also be the case with elongated shot and shell fired from rifled guns? Give reasons.

6. Shew how you calculate the charge and length of fuse for mortars? Give charge and length of fuse for 13" mortar at 1,390 yards, as an example.

7. Why does shrapnel shell require a shorter time fuse than common shell? And give a rough rule to find the length of fuse for ordinary smooth-bore guns.

8. How many tangent scales and sights are there for an ordinary smooth-bore seige gun? Are the degrees the same length?—if not, why?

9. Is it sometimes required to render captured guns available. Give a ready rule to find the length of a degree for a tangent scale for any gun.

10. How is the derivation or constant deflection of the projectile from rifled guns arranged for, and the accidental deflection right and left?

Ammunition.

The ammunition in the different district stores, as well as that in reserve, is shown in the statement underneath, which also details the receipts and issues of the past year. The expenditure for practice has been about a million and a quarter rounds of Snider ball, and nearly three-quarters of a million rounds of blank. Included in the first quantity named, are 95,399 rounds, which have been sold to various corps and Rifle Associations, and for which a sum of $2,280.32 has been received by deposit receipts. A return in the Appendix shows who have been the purchasers.

In addition to the above sales, 500,000 rounds of Spencer ball have been disposed of, realizing a sum of $4,500. This ammunition became obsolete on the withdrawal of the Spencer carbines, in the possession of the cavalry and artillery. These arms have been replaced by the Snider carbine, a much more desirable and efficient weapon in every respect. At the same time that the ammunition was disposed of, 1,871 Spencer arms were sold for the sum of $21,475.50; both being purchased from the Department by a New York firm. There still remain in possession 1,572 Spencer, and 228 Starr carbines, and over a 160,000 rounds of Spencer ball ammunition, which are not now required for the service of the militia, and might as well also be disposed of. There are also in store 2,971 Peabody rifles in the same category. For these last mentioned, there is no ammunition whatever, excepting a small quantity at Fort Garry, which was purchased for the 250 rifles of that description which were sent there.

Targets.

No iron targets were procured during the past year, the supply obtained in the previous year having been found sufficient for what was required for the service of 1872.

Arms, Accoutrements, &c.

At the close of the year there remained in store the following articles. These being the most important are the only ones enumerated. It would be quite impossible in the limits of a report, such as this, to detail all the articles in charge.

There were also received from England during the past year, fourteen muzzle-loading rifled nine-pounder guns, of the latest pattern introduced into the Imperial service. One battery of four guns came out complete with carriages, waggons, limbers, ammunition and small stores. The complete battery was issued to the London Field Battery, the guns in their possession previously being transferred to the Wellington Field Battery. The remaining guns, excepting one issued to the "A" Battery for instructional purposes, are in the Montreal stores, awaiting their fitments.

Camp Equipage.

The different encampments were supplied with camp equipage in the usual way. At the large camps at Niagara and Windsor the supply of tents did not quite meet the demand, and in consequence in some instances, the men were overcrowded. Another unforeseen difficulty, with respect to the supply of blankets, occurred at the Niagara camp, from the loss of 1,500 of them, which were burned on board the steamer Kingston, on her upward trip to Toronto, a short distance above Brockville. Those blankets were to have crossed from Toronto to Niagara, with part of the force proceeding there, and their inopportune loss at this juncture was the cause of serious inconvenience. Their place had to be supplied by others purchased at Toronto. The blankets thus lost, formed part of a consignment of 3,500 just received from England, the balance of the shipment went to the Windsor camp, which they reached in ample time. The mess marquees, which had been provided for the service of the officers, were found of the greatest use, and added much to the convenience and comfort of the officers in camp. On the whole, with the exception of the mishap to the blankets above referred to, the camp service was satisfactory.

The underneath statement shows the quantity of camp equipage at present in possession, also the receipts and issues, with the losses of the past year.

Manitoba Expedition.

Towards the latter end of September of the past year, I received instructions to proceed to Collingwood, for the purpose of making arrangements for camping, rationing, and equipping the men who had been recruited, to replace those men at Fort Garry, whose term of service had expired. I reached Collingwood on Monday the 23rd September, and immediately made the necessary ration contracts, and selected a camping ground. On the following, and next day, the several contingents from the different districts had arrived, under the command of their respective staff officers. On the 26th the detachment had been armed, accoutred, and equipped, and was ready to move. At two o'clock in the afternoon, of the 27th, I received a telegram from Ottawa, directing its embarkation on board the steamer Frances Smith. Tents were struck, baggage packed, and the men embarked, and long before dark the steamer had proceeded to her destination. Great credit is due to all the officers concerned, for their zealous and cordial co-operation, in preparing and expediting this force, the whole having got ready in the short space of four days.

Forts, Armaments, and Lands.

Under the provisions of the General Order of the 20th October, 1871, paragraph 20, the whole of the forts, with their armament and stores, and the Tête du Pont Barracks at Kingston; the new fort, and armament and stores, Toronto; the forts and works at Quebec and Point Levis, with the armament and stores of the first named; and the barracks with the mounted guns, St. Helen's Island, Montreal, were handed over to the officers commanding "A" and "B" Batteries respectively.

No change has taken place with respect to the lands, excepting at Kingston, where the Fuel Yards Nos. 1 and 2, and Lot No. 19, opposite to them on the Place d'Armes, have been sold to the Kingston and Pembroke Railway Company. A small water lot at the same place, has also been sold to Mr. Bajus, in completion of a promise previously made to him by the Imperial authorities. Twenty-seven new leases have been executed for lands and buildings unoccupied at the time of the transfer, viz., at Kingston, Point Levis and New Brunswick. The sum of $6,405.47 has also been collected for rents due since the transfer of the property to this Department.

At the time of receiving over the naval reserves (upwards of 4,000 acres of land) I reported that the Royal Engineer Department from whom they were received, could give me no information whatever respecting them, than what was conveyed in a bald list of the lands and their localities. I think it advisable that some steps should be taken at an early day to ascertain their present condition, and other matters relating to them.

In conclusion, I beg leave to bring under your notice the efficient manner in which the different storekeepers have performed their several duties during the past year. With many of them their duties have become much more onerous, from the charge of lands and buildings at many of the stations. This additional duty has been cheerfully undertaken, and faithfully performed by those concerned, and I have therefore much pleasure in now bringing it specially under your notice.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

THOS. WILLY, Lt.-Colonel,

Director of Stores, and Keeper of Militia Properties.

The Honorable

The Acting Minister of Militia and Defence,

Ottawa.

THOMAS WILY, Lieut.-Col.
Director of Stores, &c.,

OTTAWA, January 1, 1873.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

ON THE STATE OF THE LIBRARY OF PARLIAMENT.

TO THE HONORABLE THE HOUSE OF COMMONS OF CANADA IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

The Report of the Librarian, upon the state of the Library of Parliament,

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That the Librarian has still to deplore the delays in the completion of the building intended for the reception of the Books under his charge. Within the past year, the masonry of this magnificent structure has been further advanced, but the interior remains in an unfinished state ; so that it is impossible to predict, with any certainty, when the transfer of the Books into their permanent place of deposit, can be effected.

In the meantime, the gradual increase of the Library renders it exceedingly difficult to shelve or to classify aright, the existing collection : but the best possible arrangements, under present circumstances, have been made, for the convenience of Members frequenting the Library.

A printed supplementary Catalogue of the books purchased within the year is ready for distribution. A few copies of the larger Catalogue, issued in 1868, remain on hand, and are available for any new members of either House of Parliament who may desire to obtain one.

Among the additions of the year, the Librarian would call attention to a file of The British Colonist, a leading journal published in Victoria, British Columbia, which he has succeeded in obtaining, by purchase, from the proprietor of the paper, for the past twelve years. Though difficult to procure, and expensive to buy, there is nothing of greater historical interest and value, in a National Library, than complete series of the principal newspapers of the Country. The assistance of Members, generally, is solicited in the enrichment of the Library in this important particular.

Pursuant to the directions of the Joint Library Committee, the Librarian applied to the Executive Government, in November last, for certain recent Canadian publications, for distribution to the Library Exchanges. He was favoured with copies of the following works, for that purpose, which were duly distributed, viz :—

Statutes of Canada, 1872.

Geology of Canada, 1870-71.

WHITE, Post Office Gazetteer of Canada.

TURCOTTE, Le Canada sous le Union, 2 volumes.

MILES, History of Canada under the French régime.

CLARKE, Criminal Law of Canada.

Pamphlets : By Dr. Hurlburt, on the Climate and Resources of Canada ; and by Mr. Beaumont Small, on the Resources of the Ottawa District.

A list of the Donations received, and of the works deposited under the Copyright Law, since 11th April, 1872, is appended to this Report.

The number of Volumes in the Library last year was estimated at 67,750. Since then about 1,750 have been added, making a total of 69,500 Volumes.

All which is respectfully submitted,

ALPHEUS TODD,
Librarian.

SIR HUGH ALLAN,
Montreal.

MONTREAL, 14th October, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to transmit you a memorandum from the Executive Committee of the Canada Pacific Railway Company in reply to the statement submitted to the Government by the Interoceanic Railway Company, and I beg the favor of your laying the same before the Council.

I have, &c.,

HUGH ALLAN,
President, Provisional Directors.

Hon. J. C. AIRKINS,
Secretary of State, Ottawa.

Memorandum of the Canada Pacific Railway Company upon the Statement submitted by the Interoceanic Railway Company to the Government of Canada :

The undersigned, the Executive Committee of the Canada Pacific Railway Company, have to express their obligations to the Honorable the Privy Council for the courtesy of a communication of the statement of the Interoceanic Railway Company, purporting to set forth the reasons which have induced the latter Company to decline the proposal of amalgamation made by the Canada Pacific Company. And they avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded them, to make some remarks upon the contents of that statement, though they do not feel that any good result would be attained by answering it fully and in detail.

They regard with regret the decision of the Interoceanic Company, but as they conceive that it has been brought about chiefly by errors upon matters of fact, they are not without hope that it may be reconsidered.

In making the proposal of amalgamation, the Canada Company felt that so vast an enterprise required all the strength that could be enlisted in it. They believed that the Government aid with all the advantages which the Government are empowered to grant would not be in excess of the requirements of the undertaking, and that there was no room for attempting to diminish such aid or advantages by competition. They considered that the Government had adopted a wise policy in endeavoring to create by consolidation the strongest company possible, rather than to attempt to effect some insignificant saving by placing the two companies in competition with each other; and they felt that the only public-spirited and patriotic course was to meet the desire of the Government frankly; and to consent to amalgamation without undue solicitude as to the terms of it. They believed that the gentlemen who represented the Interoceanic Company would be prepared, as they themselves were, to lay aside any feeling of rivalry that may have existed, and to act vigorously in concert with them for the benefit of the undertaking. But at the same time they were, and are, fully prepared to undertake and carry out the enterprise alone as they have already ascertained, by negotiation with English capitalists, that the plans they have formed for the requisite financial arrangements can in all probability be carried out.

With respect to the propositions which the Interoceanic Company seek to establish by the first portion of their statement, namely, that the organization should be pre-eminently national in its character; and that its means must be drawn first from Canadian and second and chiefly from British sources; the undersigned have simply to say that any argument for the purpose of sustaining such proposition was quite superfluous although possibly European capital may require to be sought for, outside of Great Britain—no one will dispute the advantages of committing the construction and running of the Pacific Railroad to a Company of Canadian origin and composed of British subjects; nor the disastrous results that might be expected from placing the enterprise under the control of the American Northern Pacific Railway Company. The Canada Company have always entertained the opinions enunciated in their statement on this subject: and as proof of that fact it will appear, on reference to the draft charter submitted by that company to the House of Commons, that they proposed to make their Board of Directors exclusively British: while on the other hand, the Interoceanic Company proposed by their draft charter to create a Board which of necessity needed only to be British as to the majority of it. And it was only in consequence of the desire of the Government and Parliament that the two charters should be identical, and of the objection of the Interoceanic Company to make their Board of necessity exclusively British, that the Canada Company took from the Interoceanic Company's charter the clause requiring only a majority to be British instead of the whole. And, moreover, the Canada Company have been actively engaged since their incorporation in negotiations with British capitalists, exclusively tending to the acquisition of means for the construction of the railway with every prospect of favorable result, should they be authorized to undertake it.

In the face of these facts it would seem that the somewhat elaborate argument of the Interoceanic Company, to prove the expediency of making the Company entirely Canadian and British was not only unnecessary and inapplicable; but possibly might be said to be out of place as coming from that Company.

The Interoceanic Company having however submitted various arguments in support of these propositions, proceed to apply them to the disadvantage of the Canada Company.

They assert that it is a matter of notoriety that one of the leading members of the Canada Company and its provisional President, has been engaged in negotiation with gentlemen connected with the Northern Pacific Railway, for the organisation of a Company for the construction of the road; and they say that the impression still exists everywhere, that his original scheme is unchanged, and that his company as they term the Canada Company, is intended to co-operate with parties in the United States interested in the Northern Pacific Railway. And they declare that the Interoceanic Company share this belief.

That, in reality, is the chief ground stated by the Interoceanic Company for declining amalgamation; and as it is easy to shew that this ground is entirely unsupported by facts, the Canada Company hope, that this erroneous impression being removed, the course of the Interoceanic Company may be materially changed.

With regard to the assertion that a belief "exists everywhere" that the Canadian Company still intend to carry out the design of combination with American capitalists, it is only necessary to say that the gentlemen who say so, no doubt speak truly as to some limited circle with which they are in immediate communication. But the Canada Company emphatically deny that beyond such a limited circle any such belief or even any idea of such a state of things is entertained.

The Canada Company are aware that a negotiation was commenced during the summer of eighteen hundred and seventy-one, between Sir Hugh Allan and certain American capitalists for the formation of a Company to construct and run the Canada Pacific Railway; but they are informed by Sir Hugh Allan, and have satisfied themselves by a full enquiry into the circumstances and details of that negotiation, that it was not initiated by Sir Hugh, and that it was commenced and supported by influential persons in Canada, as being the only combination that offered itself at that time for the construction and running of the road; but they are satisfied that that negotiation never possessed the character attributed to it by the Interoceanic Company, and they know that Sir Hugh Allan would never have consented to embark with foreign capitalists in a Canadian enterprise in which he takes so great an interest without the most perfect securities and guarantees for its control and conduct in the interest of Canada. But the discussion of the negotiation is entirely foreign to the proposition now being considered. That negotiation terminated when Sir Hugh Allan, engaged with others in the formation of the Canada Company and it has never been renewed.

The Canada Company never participated in that negotiation, and never considered or entertained any proposition, suggestion or intention of asking aid from American capitalists, or of combining with them for the prosecution of the Railway, or for any other purpose. The only negotiations they have carried on are those already alluded to with British capitalists, and they have never even communicated on the subject of the Railway, with any one outside of Canada or Great Britain.

The Canada Company would further remark on this branch of the subject, that they are unwilling to attempt to gather from the terms of the statement of the Interoceanic Company any meaning which does not plainly appear upon its face. But they cannot omit noticing that the weight of this objection rests upon the suggestion, rather implied than expressed, that the Canada Company is prepared to lend itself to the obstruction of the Canada Pacific Railway, by placing the control of it in the hands of capitalists interested in a rival road. Unless the objection is taken as having this bearing, it would have no weight, and the Canada Company are therefore forced to make a single remark upon this view of it. They desire expressly to state that their Company is composed of gentlemen as fully alive to the interests of Canada, and as deeply interested in its welfare, as the members of the Interoceanic Company, or any one else can be. And they protest formally and energetically against any imputation, whether expressed or implied, contemplating the possibility of their taking the course which they cannot but interpret as being imputed to them by the statement of the Interoceanic Company. Although probably the Interoceanic Company will accept the positive and unqualified disclaimer which the Canada Company now place of record, it may not be amiss to remark upon the impossibility of any such course being taken as that which is implied in the Interoceanic Company's objection.

It will be observed that the aid in money and lands is only to be granted by the government as the work actually progresses. It is also necessary that the periods for the completion of the various sections of the road should be fixed by the agreement with the Company entrusted with the enterprise. It is also necessary that the government should fix a period within which the work should be commenced and proceeded with. And it is reasonably to be supposed that there would be a provision in any agreement made with the government that upon failure in any of these conditions the Company should forfeit its rights to the government aid. Again, in the proposition of amalgamation which the Canada Company made to the Interoceanic Company it was suggested, that the former Company should name a small proportion of the provisional Directors; the Interoceanic Company naming a similar number; the intention being that the remainder of the Board, constituting a majority of it, should be agreed upon between the two companies and the government.

Under these circumstances the undersigned would observe, that the carrying out of any such plan as that implied by or imputed to the Canada Company is simply impossible. Supposing for argument's sake, that they entertained the intention of placing the control of the enterprise in the hands of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, the persons named by them on the board would constitute but a small minority of it. And without the concurrence of the Interoceanic Company's nominees and those approved of by the Government, it would be utterly impossible not only to alienate the aid given by the Government, but even to obstruct in any material degree, the operations of the majority of the Board. And if, which is impossible, the small minority could control the majority so far as either to purport to alienate the aid or obstruct the work, the remedy would be in the hands of the Government, as no portion of the proposed assistance could actually be alienated from the purposes for which it was intended, and the attempt would only result in the forfeiture of the agreement.

With regard to the assertion of the Interoceanic Company, that they "very generally and equally" represent all the Provinces of the Dominion, and the comparison of importance they draw between the Interoceanic Company's organization and that of the Canada Company, the undersigned would prefer not to discuss it at any length. At the same time, in justice to themselves they would remark, that they have not a word to say against the respectability of the three gentlemen from the Province of Quebec, whose names appear upon the minute of the meeting of the twenty-sixth day of September; but they would ask in what sense or from what point of view can these three gentlemen be said to represent that great and flourishing Province? And as to the other gentlemen from the Province of Quebec, whose names appear in the Bill of the Interoceanic Company, but who did not take part in that meeting: the well known circumstances of their reception into that Company prevent the expectation that they will exercise any influence in its favor. A list of the provisional directors of the Canada Company is submitted herewith to the Government, and the Company challenge a comparison of them with the provisional directors of the Interoceanic Company. And they do not hesitate to assert that the public of Canada will feel at least as much confidence in the Board constituted of those gentlemen as in the Board of the Interoceanic Company. They regret the necessity for saying even so much as this on the subject, as they earnestly deprecate any approach to recrimination or anything that could by any possibility arouse any feeling on the part of the member of the Interoceanic Company; for it is their desire in answering their statement, rather to endeavour to remove any wrong impression which that Company may have entertained than to enter into controversy with them, and they have studiously avoided remarking upon many matters contained in the statement of the Interoceanic Company though they have been in many instances strongly tempted to do so in order that by avoiding all recrimination and controversial comment upon the line of argument contained in the statement they might manifest their earnest desire to carry out the wish of the Government for amalgamation; not only because such is the desire of the Government, but also because they feel that it is in the interest of the enterprise that all possible strength should be concentrated upon it.

The undersigned are desirous of making one remark more as to the observations of the Interoceanic Company's statement with regard to politics. The Canada Company have not in any manner or way interfered in politics, and they are at a loss to know to what circumstances the Interoceanic Company can refer in their remark on this subject.

The Canada Company is composed of persons holding different views in political matters, and those persons have acted in accordance with those views when called upon in any way to act politically since they joined the Company as they did before, and as they probably will continue to do; and the Canada Company have not in any way resorted to sectional or any other pressure to induce the Government to negotiate with them for the construction of the Railway. On this point also it will be perceived that the Canada Company confined themselves to vindicating their own position, without assailing or attempting to assail the position or acts of the Interoceanic Company.

In conclusion, the undersigned respectfully state, that the members of the Canada Company claim for themselves in every respect a strong sentiment of patriotism and as much public spirit as any of their fellow subjects, and they consider that their names and antecedents are a sufficient guarantee that their claim is well founded. They are sensible of the disadvantages of any obstruction to the gigantic undertaking in which the Government of Canada is about to embark, as any other person or Company can be. They believe themselves to be as competent as the Interoceanic Company or any other Company or body of men to carry out the undertaking, and they are prepared to assume the responsibility with a complete recognition of the weight of that responsibility, but with assured conviction that they are justified in assuming it. They desire an amalgamation with the Interoceanic Company. They are willing to make it upon terms that may be agreed upon as being perfectly just to both Companies, and satisfactory to the people of Canada. And in the event of such amalgamation they are prepared to act cordially with the gentlemen who may be associated in the Board of Direction with such members of the Canada Company as may be chosen to form part of it; but if the Interoceanic Company are not prepared to meet them in a similar spirit, they respectfully ask that their proposition to undertake the building and running of the Canada Pacific Railway may meet with the favourable consideration of Government. The whole respectfully submitted.

(Signed,)

HUGH ALLAN.

Copy of a Report of a Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council on the 16th October, 1872.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had under their consideration a letter addressed to the Secretary of State by the Honorable D. L. Macpherson, enclosing copy of a report from the Executive Committee of the Provisional Directors of the contemplated Inter-oceanic Railway Company, which has been unanimously adopted by the Directors. The Committee of the Privy Council have learned with regret that the suggestion of the Government, that there should be an amalgamation between the two companies, which obtained during the last session of Parliament Acts of incorporation for the construction of a railroad between a terminus on the Pacific Ocean and one in the vicinity of Lake Nipissing with which all the Canadian Railroads could connect in equal terms, has not been acted on by the contemplated Inter-oceanic Company for reasons which are given in the report of their Executive Committee. The Committee of the Privy Council admit the importance of securing as much unanimity as possible among the Canadian capitalists who are disposed to assume the responsibility of constructing the great work which by the terms of the union of British Columbia with the Dominion became the duty of Parliament to undertake.

In the opinion of the Committee of the Privy Council there is no ground for rivalry between the Province of Ontario and Quebec, especially as the eastern terminus has been fixed by Parliament at a point convenient for both Provinces.

The Committee of the Privy Council has not failed to give their attentive consideration to the reasons adduced by the Committee of the Inter-oceanic Company for opposing the amalgamation with the Pacific Company in deference to the wishes of the Government, has expressed its readiness to agree to.

The Committee of the Privy Council concur in the opinion expressed in the report, that the success of the Pacific railway project most mainly depends upon its complete identification with the public sentiment of the country, and that the lands appropriated for the construction of the work should be so dealt with as to enlist the whole energies of the country in their early settlement, and they therefore admit that the organization should be essentially and pre-eminently national in its character, and that success in the British money market is more likely to be attained if the Canadian people themselves become interested in the undertaking.

It is unnecessary for the Committee of the Privy Council to discuss the question raised in the report as to the inexpediency of looking to aid from the United States for the construction of the Pacific Railway, as they do not contemplate seeking such aid, but on the contrary most earnestly desire to accomplish the very object recommended in the report under their consideration, viz : the united action of the Canadian people in the Work. It is assumed in the report that the Canadian Pacific Company would be under the control of citizens of the United States connected with the Northern Pacific Company. It is said to be a matter of public notoriety that the original proposal of Sir Hugh Allan, relative to the Canada Pacific Railway, was made in association with the American gentlemen most prominently connected with the Northern Pacific Railway."

The foregoing statement is the avowed ground of the refusal of the Interoceanic Company to amalgamate with the Canada Pacific Company. The Committee of the Privy Council avail themselves of this opportunity to place on record all that is come to their knowledge regarding the negotiations on the subject of the Pacific Railway ; when it became known that the Canadian Government was about to invite the consideration of Parliament to the subject of the admission of British Columbia into the Dominion on conditions, one of which was that Canada would undertake to procure the construction of a Pacific Railway, an enterprising gentleman, an inhabitant of British Columbia, the late Mr Alfred Waddington, who had already made extensive surveys at his own expense, petitioned Parliament for a charter to construct that line, intending, it is believed, to obtain aid in England and United States.

Mr Waddington had a bill introduced and printed, but did not proceed with it during the Session of 1871 ; after the close of the Session, Mr Waddington, in conjunction with one or more gentlemen in Toronto, visited the United States, having, as he always stated, failing in securing any co-operation in Canada, with the view of interesting foreign capitalists in the undertaking. He took with him his own printed bill, and the resolutions which had been adopted by Parliament for the admission of British Columbia into the Dominion, on condition that the Pacific Railway should be constructed, and he succeeded in interesting in his project a number of influential capitalists, some connected with the Northern Pacific Railway, others entirely unconnected with it.

On his return to Canada, Mr. Waddington employed a respectable legal firm in Toronto, as solicitors to the promoters of the railway, and visited Ottawa, armed with a document, signed by a number of gentlemen of known wealth, in which they stated the terms on which they would undertake to construct the railway. The deputation had interviews with some members of the government, who received them courteously, and listened to their proposals, but informed them that the government was not then in a position to enter into negotiations. Meantime, the members of the government, aware of the necessity that existed of proposing a definite scheme during the next session of Parliament, availed themselves of every opportunity of endeavouring to ascertain the terms on which Canadian capitalists would be willing to undertake the work.

The scheme, however, was, so far as they could learn, coldly received, and for several months no proposition was received by the government for the construction of the road, except that already referred to, which was obtained through Mr. Waddington and some friends of his in Toronto. At this stage, a member of the government, during a casual visit to Montreal, to meet Sir Hugh Allan, when he informed him of the proposition which had been made, and mentioned to him the names of the Americans who had made the proposition to the government. He expressed to Sir Hugh Allan his regret that such a work should be allowed to fall into the hands of foreigners, owing to the apathy of Canadian capitalists. It was after, and in consequence of this conversation, that Sir Hugh Allan put himself in communication with the American gentlemen already referred to, and it is not a little remarkable that the suggestion made to Sir Hugh Allan, arose from a desire to carry out the object which the Committee of the Interoceanic Company appear to have in view. That object was to secure the construction of the work under Canadian management, no doubt being entertained that there would be no difficulty in finding safeguards against the dangers anticipated by the Interoceanic Company ; such were the circumstances under which Sir Hugh Allan's connection with the American capitalists took place. Sir Hugh Allan was the first Canadian capitalist who made a proposition for the construction of the line, and to him the government is indebted for the information which enabled them to decide with confidence as to the scheme to be submitted to Parliament. The Committee of the Privy Council think it inadvisable to enter into any discussion of the respective merits or influence of the rival Companies, especially because they remain of opinion that it would be highly unexpedient to select either company to the exclusion of the other.

Should they fail in obtaining the concurrence of both companies to their proposition for an amalgamation on just and equitable principles, they will be compelled from a sense of duty to adopt other means to secure their object, which is a cordial co-operation of the Canadian people of all classes, and from all sections of the Dominion, in the construction of the Pacific Railroad.

The Committee of the Privy Council have, in conclusion, to state that they have received the most positive assurances that it is not contemplated by the promoters of the Canadian Pacific Company to associate themselves with foreigners, and also that the company is prepared to accept any proposition made by the government for the purpose of preventing the enterprise falling into the hands of an alien proprietary. They cannot, under the circumstances, recommend that the individual who was the first Canadian capitalist who entered into negotiation with the government for the construction of the Pacific Railroad should, with all his associates, be excluded from the management of a work which, as is admitted in the report under consideration, requires, in order to ensure success, the cordial co-operation of the Canadian people. The Committee of the Privy Council are not without hope that on a reconsideration of the subject, the Interoceanic Company may come to the conclusion that the course which would be most for the advantage of the country, that they should follow, would be to act on the suggestion of the government, and to consent to an amalgamation with the Pacific Company, and they therefore recommend that a copy of this minute be sent to both companies, and that they be urged to make an early and earnest attempt to reconcile their differences, and to form an united company for the construction of the Pacific Railroad.

Certified.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
OTTAWA, October 22nd, 1872.

SIR,—I am directed to forward you the enclosed Copy of an Order in Council on the subject of the correspondence between the Government of Canada and the Executive Committee of the Provisional Directors of the contemplated Interoceanic Railway Company, relative to the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Under Secretary.

Hon. D. L. MACPHERSON,
President, Interoceanic Railway Co., Toronto.

Sir HUGH ALLAN,
President, Canadian Pacific Railroad Co., Montreal.

MONTREAL, October 25th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor, on behalf of the Canada Pacific Railway Company, to acknowledge receipt of a Copy of a Report of the Committee of the Honorable the Executive Council, approved by His Excellency on the 16th instant, and I here request that you will be good enough to lay before the Honorable the Privy Council the following remarks upon that minute:—

In deference to the desire of the Government which they consider is in accordance with the best policy under the circumstances, the Canada Pacific Company are prepared to amalgamate with the Interoceanic Company upon reasonable terms to be approved by the Government.

With regard to the statement in the minute that there would be no difficulty in finding safeguards against the danger anticipated by the Interoceanic, I would further say that the Canada Company is prepared to consent to any safeguard that can be devised against the possibility of the money or land subsidy being diverted from its purpose.

I would desire further respectfully to remark that the Canada Company is prepared to make such addition to its members from the Province of Ontario as may be considered necessary to constitute a complete representation of that Province in the proprietary and on the Board of the Company. And, in the event of the Interoceanic Company declining to accede to the suggestion of the Government, that the Canada Company will be prepared to submit additional names from Ontario, in order that that Province may be represented in the Company to the satisfaction of the Government.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

To all to whom these presents shall come,—GREETING.

WHEREAS, by an Act of the Parliament of Canada, passed in the thirty-fifth year of Our Reign, intituled, "An Act respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway," it is provided, upon the considerations therein declared, that a Railway, to be called "The Canadian Pacific Railway," should be made, in conformity with the agreement referred to in the preamble to the said Act, and should extend from some point on or near Lake Nipissing, and on the south shore thereof, to some point on the shore of the Pacific Ocean; both the said points to be determined by the Governor in Council, and the course and line of the said railway between the said points to be subject to the approval of the Governor in Council.

AND, WHEREAS, it is by the said Act further provided, That the Government of Canada might further agree with the Company with whom they shall have agreed for the construction and working of the said railway, for the construction and working of a branch line of railway, from some point on the railway first thereinbefore mentioned, to some point on Lake Superior in British Territory, and for the construction and working of another branch line of railway from some point on the railway first mentioned, in the Province of Manitoba, to some point on the line between that Province and the United States of America, the said points to be determined by the Governor in Council; and that such branch lines of railway should, when so agreed for, be held to form part of the railway first thereinbefore mentioned, and portions of The Canadian Pacific Railway.

AND, WHEREAS, amongst other things, it is by the said Act in effect provided, that if there should be no company either incorporated originally for the construction of the whole line of railway, or formed out of two or more companies for that purpose, or if the Government could not agree, or did not deem it advisable to agree, with any such company for the construction and working of the whole line of railway under the said Act, or if the Government should be of opinion that it would be more advantageous for the Dominion, and would better ensure the attainment of the purposes of the said Act, that a Company should be incorporated by Charter as therein provided, then if there should be persons able and willing to form such Company, and having a subscribed capital of at least ten million dollars, secured to the satisfaction of the Governor in Council, and ready to enter into such agreement with the Government for the construction and running of the said railway, the Governor should have power, upon the conditions in the said Act mentioned, to grant to such persons, and those who should be associated with them in the undertaking, a Charter embodying the agreement made with such persons which should be binding on the Company and so much of the said Act, and of the Railway Act (as such Railway Act was modified by any Act of the now last Session, with reference to any Railway to be constructed under such Act on any of the lines or between any of the points mentioned in the said Act now in recital) as should be agreed upon between the Government and such Company: and that such Charter being published in the Canada Gazette, with any order or orders in Council relating to it, should in so far as it is not inconsistent with the said recited Act, have force and effect as if it were an Act of the Parliament of Canada.

AND, WHEREAS, the Government has failed to induce the two Companies incorporated by Parliament during its last Session for the purpose of constructing the railway, to form one Company, and does not deem it advisable to agree with either of the said two Companies for the construction of the Railway, and is of opinion that it will be more advantageous for the Dominion, and will better ensure the attainment of the purposes of the Act first above mentioned, that a company shall be incorporated by charter as in such Act provided.

AND, WHEREAS, the agreement so made and entered into between the said persons and the Government, is embodied in this Our Royal Charter.

NOW THEREFORE KNOW YE, that WE, of our especial grace, certain knowledge and mere motion, and in pursuance of the power vested in us by the Act hereinbefore in part recited, DO ORDAIN, GRANT AND DECLARE that the said Sir Hugh Allan; Honorable Adams George Archibald; Honorable Joseph Octave Beaubien; Jean Baptiste Beaudry, Esquire; Egerton Ryerson Burpee, Esquire; Frederic William Cumberland, Esquire; Sandford Fleming, Esquire; Robert Newton Hall, Esquire; Honorable John Sebastian Helmcken; Andrew McDermot, Esquire; Donald McInnes, Esquire; Walter Shanly, Esquire; and, John Walker, Esquire; together with all such persons as shall become associated with them in the undertaking, for the purposes herein mentioned, shall be and are hereby constituted a body corporate and politic by the name, style and title of "The Canadian Pacific Railway Company," and by that name, they and their successors shall and may have continued succession; and be capable of contracting and being contracted with, of suing and being sued, pleading and being impleaded, answering and being answered unto in all courts and places whatsoever, in all manner of actions, suits, complaints, matters and causes whatsoever. 2. AND WE DO FURTHER ORDAIN and DECLARE, that the Capital Stock of the Company shall be Ten Million Dollars, which shall not be increased but by Act of Parliament (such capital stock having been already subscribed as aforesaid), to be held in shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall in all respects be deemed personal property, and ten per centum thereon shall be paid into the hands of the Receiver General of Canada, in money or Canadian Government securities, within one month after the date of these presents, to remain in his hands until otherwise ordered by Parliament. And the interest received by the Receiver General from the investment of such money and from such securities shall be paid to the Company as received, until he shall be authorized by the Government to withhold and retain the same by reason of some default incurred by the Company in the performance of the conditions of this Charter, or of any subsequent agreement between the Government and the Company.

3. That the shares of the said capital stock shall, after the first deposit thereon has been paid, be transferable; but no transfer made within six years from the date hereof shall be valid or effectual, unless it be made with the consent of the Government and of the Directors, and registered in the books to be kept by the Company for that purpose; nor after six years, unless it be made with the consent of the Directors, and registered as aforesaid. After such expenditure the Directors may, from time to time, if necessary, with the approval of the Government, call upon the shareholders for such instalments upon each share, and in such proportion as the Directors may see fit; except that no such instalment shall exceed ten per centum on the subscribed capital, and that ninety days' notice of the time fixed for the payment thereof shall be given in such manner as the Directors shall think fit. 9. That the railway shall be constructed and equipped according to specifications to be hereafter agreed upon between the Government and the Company, and the materials of, and manner in which the several works forming part thereof shall be constructed, and the mode of working the railway, or any part thereof, including the description and capacity of the locomotive engines and other rolling stock for working it, shall be such as may be hereafter agreed upon between the Government and the Company: Provided always, that if the Government and the Company should be unable to agree as to the details of any of the matters in this clause mentioned, the same shall be, from time to time, referred to the determination of three competent Engineers, one of whom shall be chosen by the Government, one by the Company, and a third by such two Engineers, and the expenses of said references shall be defrayed by the company. And in order to establish an approximate standard whereby such matters may be regulated, the Union Pacific Railroad of the United States is hereby selected and fixed as such standard, but in a general way only, and not with respect to any minor details in its construction or working which may be found to be objectionable, nor with respect to alignment and grades, which shall be as favorable as the nature of the country will admit of without undue expenditure.

10. That whenever any portion of the railway exceeding twenty miles is completed, the Company shall, upon being thereunto required by the Government, work the same for the conveyance of passengers and goods, at such times and in such manner as shall be from time to time agreed upon between the Government and the Company, or in case of failure to agree, as shall be determined by three Engineers selected as hereinbefore provided.

11. 14. That to secure the construction of the main line of railway, and in consideration thereof there is hereby appropriated a grant to the Company of fifty million acres of land; which land, with the exceptions hereinafter mentioned, the Company shall be entitled to demand and receive in the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia, and in the North-West Territories, in blocks not exceeding twenty miles in depth on each side of such main line, and not less than six nor more than twelve miles in width, alternating with blocks of like depth and width on each side thereof, reserved by the Government.

That to secure the construction of the branch lines, and in consideration thereof, the Company shall be entitled to demand and receive from the Government in the North-West Territories, a land grant in aid of the branch line to Lake Superior, of twenty-five thousand acres per mile; and a land grant in aid of the branch line in Manitoba, of twenty thousand acres per mile.

That the land to be granted in aid of the main line, which shall not be comprised within the alternate blocks hereinbefore mentioned, or be within the Province of Ontario, shall be allotted to the Company in alternate blocks on each side of a common front line or lines, in like manner as the blocks granted and reserved along the line of the railway. And the land grant which the Government may be enabled to make to the Company for the purposes aforesaid, under any arrangement with the Government of the Province of Ontario, shall be received by the Company as part of the said land grant in aid of the main line.

That the lands to be granted in aid of the main line of railway from out of the lands of the Dominion, and the lands to be granted in aid of the said branches, shall consist of such land as shall be found east of the Rocky Mountains, between parallels forty-nine and fifty-seven of north latitude, and the Company shall not be bound to receive any lands which are not of the fair average quality of the land in the sections of the country best adapted for settlement, lying within those limits : and the same shall be laid out, as nearly as may be, contiguous to the lands granted along the main line of the railway, and to the Lake Superior branch.

The Company shall also have a right of way for the railway through the Dominion Lands.

The lands hereby appropriated to the Company shall be granted from time to time, at intervals of six months, as any portion of the railway is proceeded with, in quantities proportionate to the length, difficulty of construction and expenditure upon such portion, to be determined in such manner as hereafter is provided.

15. That the price at which the alternate blocks of land retained by the Government shall be sold by the Government, shall be from time to time adjusted by agreement between the Government and the Company, according to the price that is found to be obtainable for such lands without obstructing the settlement of the country. But unless the Company shall sell lands granted to them at a lower average price, or shall otherwise agree, the Government shall, for and during the term of twenty years from the date hereof, retain the upset price of such alternate blocks at an average price of not less than two dollars and fifty cents per acre. The provisions of this clause are, however, subject to the sanction of Parliament.

16. That the subdivision of blocks of land granted to the Company shall be made in conformity with the system of survey prescribed by the Dominion Lands Act and any amendment thereof; and shall be made by the Company, and be subject to the inspection and approval of the Surveyor General of Dominion lands.

That a subsidy or aid in money, amounting to Thirty Million Dollars, is hereby granted to the Company, payable from time to time by instalments at intervals of one month as any portion of the railway is proceeded with, in proportion to the length, difficulty of construction and cost of such portion, such proportion to be ascertained and settled in the same manner as is herein provided with respect to the grants of land.

19. That the Company shall allow as part of the subsidy, the cost of the survey made in the years one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and to be made in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, by the Government of Canada, for the purpose of ascertaining the best line for the railway.

20. That it shall be lawful for the Company to accept and receive from the Government of any Province, or from any Municipality in Canada, or from any Corporation, a subsidy or aid in money, or bonds, or securities, payable in such manner, at such times, on such conditions, and at such places in Canada or elsewhere as may be agreed upon with the Company.

21. That the Company may by By-Law create a Board of Trustees, to consist of three persons, to be chosen and to be removable at pleasure, as follows, that is to say : one member thereof by the Government, one other member thereof by the Board of Directors, and one other member thereof by or on behalf of the bondholders, in such manner as may be provided by such by-law; and upon the completion of such Board by the choice of such members, the same shall be published by the Secretary of the Company in the Canada Gazette.

That the removal, resignation, mental incapacity, or insolvency of any Member of the Board shall vacate his appointment as such; and thereupon or upon the death of any member, the vacancy occasioned thereby shall be filled by the choice of a person to be a member of the said Board by the Government, the Board of Directors, or the bondholders, as the case may be, by whom the member whose vacant seat is to be filled was originally chosen. And such change shall be published in the manner aforesaid.

23. That the duties and powers of the Board of Trustees shall be as follows:—

iii. To pay the Board of Trustees for their services, such sums of money as shall be from time to time fixed by by-law of the Company.

iv. After payment of the expenses of the trust, to invest all moneys received by them as Trustees in the securities of the Government of Canada, or of any of its Provinces, or of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or of any of the Colonies of the United Kingdom, or of the British Possessions in India, or of the United States of America; and the Board may from time to time sell any such securities, and shall in any such case forthwith reinvest the proceeds of any such sale in other securities of the nature and kind hereinbefore mentioned, or in lieu thereof, when so directed by resolution of the bondholders, passed in accordance with a by-law of the Company, purchase outstanding bonds of the Company.

v. The investments to be so made as hereinbefore directed, and the securities whereof the same shall from time to time consist, shall form a sinking fund, to be held by the Board of Trustees, upon the trusts following, that is to say: upon trust to pay all costs and charges, which may be incurred in respect of the execution of the trusts hereby created, and in the investment and re-investment as hereinbefore mentioned, and thereafter upon trust to pay the interest upon the bonds of the company, as the same shall, from time to time become due and payable, and thereafter upon trust to pay and discharge the bonds of the company as the same, and the principal money thereby secured, shall mature and become due and payable; and upon this further trust, after full payment and discharge of all sums of money of principal and interest upon the bonds of the company, and of all costs and charges incurred in respect of the execution of the trusts hereby created, to transfer the said sinking fund, and the securities thereof, to the Company, to and for the absolute use and behoof of the company; and the trusts hereby created shall, thereupon cease and absolutely determine.

vi. The Board of Trustees shall conform to any order or direction respecting the performance of its duties, which may be concurred in by the Company and by the Bondholders acting as provided by by-law.

24. That the Board shall have such further and other powers in the premises, as may be conferred upon them by any By-Law of the Company approved by the Government. But no such By-Law shall be contrary to, or inconsistent with, the provisions of this charter.

25. That a majority of the Board of Trustees may lawfully exercise the powers of the Board, and the action of such majority shall be held to be the action of the Board. But none of the powers hereby vested in the Company or in the Board of Trustees or the majority of them, shall be acted upon contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of any agreement which shall be duly entered into by the Company, or the Board of Trustees, or by both, with any person or persons who may agree to become holders of the bonds of the Company. And any agreement, resolution or proceeding made or taken contrary to, or inconsistent with such agreement, to the detriment of such bond-holders, shall be absolutely null and void in law, and shall have no force or effect whatever.

31. That the Company may, with the approval of the Government enter into and conclude any arrangements with any other incorporated railway company in Canada or the United States, for the purpose of making any branch or branches to facilitate a connection between the railways of the Company and of such other incorporated company, and they may, with like approval, enter into arrangements for the mutual interchange of traffic with all railway companies completing their lines to the lines of the Company; and they may with like approval, lease or acquire such last mentioned railway or railways, or make running arrangements therewith, and generally may, with like approval, enter into such arrangements as will secure uniform and complete railway connection with the system of railways now or hereafter existing in Canada or the United States.

33. That the Company may, until such right is determined by Parliament, undertake the transmission of messages for the public by any line of telegraph they may construct on the line of their railway, and collect tolls for so doing ; or may, with the approval of the Government lease such line of telegraph, or any portion thereof, subject to any provisions herein contained ; and, if they think proper to undertake such transactions; they shall be subject to the provisions of the fourteenth and following clauses of chapter sixty-seven of the Consolidated Statutes of Canada.

The Directors so to retire at the end of the first year shall be selected by ballot of the Board. Those to retire at the end of the second year shall be selected by ballot among the nine Directors remaining of the original Board. And at the third and succeeding elections they shall retire by seniority, but the retiring Directors shall be eligible for re-election; and any Director appointed by the Board to fill a vacancy, shall also retire at the end of the current year of office, and a Director shall then be elected by the shareholders in his stead—which Director shall occupy the same position with regard to retirement and seniority as the Director who first vacated the seat. And on the first Wednesday in February, in each year thereafter, or on such other day as may be appointed by a by-law of the Company, there shall be held at the principal office of the Company, a general meeting of the shareholders, at which meeting they shall elect such a number of Directors for the ensuing year as shall be required to supply the places of the Directors so retiring ; and public notice of such annual meeting shall be given at least one month before the day of election. Each Director shall be a subject of Her Majesty, and a holder of at least two hundred and fifty shares of the said stock. The election of Directors shall be by ballot, and the President of the Company, and a majority of the Directors shall reside in Canada.

37. That the chief place of business of the Company shall be at the City of Ottawa' but other places at which the Directors or Committees of the Directors may meet and transact business may be fixed by the by-laws of the Company.

38. That whenever it shall be deemed expedient by the Board of Directors that a special general meeting of the shareholders shall be convened for any purpose, the Directors shall convene such meeting at the City of Ottawa, by advertisement, in the manner herein-before mentioned, in which advertisement the business to be transacted at such meeting shall be expressly mentioned.

39. That any deed required and authorized to be executed on behalf of the Company, shall be held to be valid and binding on the Company, if it be signed by the President or Vice-President and by the Secretary, and the seal of the Company be affixed thereto ; and no special authority shall be required for affixing the seal to any such deed.

40. That the Directors of the Company shall have power to administer, conduct and manage the affairs and business of the Company ; and shall have and exercise all the powers requisite to enable them to do and perform, make and execute, all such acts, matters and things, deeds and instruments as shall be necessary to carry out the provisions of this charter, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, including the power of selling, leasing or otherwise disposing of the lands granted or to be granted in aid of the railway, and of any other lands of the Company not required for the purposes of the railway ; except in so far as their powers are expressly limited by the provisions hereof. And they shall also have power, from time to time, to make by-laws for the conduct, management and administration of the affairs of the Company generally ; and for the remuneration of the President and Directors of the Company, if such remuneration be deemed advisable ; and also, such by-laws as are contemplated by the provisions of this charter for the regulation of divers matters herein required or authorized to be so regulated ; and the same to amend or repeal: Provided always, however, that such by-laws shall have no force or effect, in any respect in which they, or any of them, shall be contrary to or inconsistent with this charter, nor in any respect in which they shall require the approval of the Government, until they have received such approval. And such by-laws shall in no case have any force or effect after the next general meeting of Shareholders, which shall be held after the passage of such by-laws by the Board of Directors, unless they are approved by such meeting ; and any copy of the by-Laws of the Company, or any of them, purporting to be under the hand of the clerk, secretary or other officer of the said Company, and having the seal of the said corporation affixed to it, shall be received as prima facie evidence of such by-law in all courts of the Dominion of Canada.

41.—That the Directors of the Company are hereby authorized and empowered to issue bonds, which shall be a first charge on the railway and its appurtenances, and on the tolls and revenues thereof, and on all lands, whether the property of the Company at the time of the issue of such bonds, or thereafter acquired. And such bonds shall be in such form, and for such amount, and with such coupons attached, and they and the coupons attached thereto shall be payable at such times and places as the Directors from time to time shall provide. And the payment to the Treasurer of the Company, or to any other person appointed by by-law for the purpose, by any bona fide purchaser of any lands of the Company, of the purchase money thereof, and the acquittance by such Treasurer or other person so appointed, of such purchase money, shall operate as a release of the lands so paid for from the effect of such charge ; and the Company shall keep all moneys so received separate and apart from its ordinary funds, and shall pay over the net proceeds thereof to the Board of Trustees as hereinbefore provided. The bonds shall be signed by the President, or the Vice-President and the Secretary, but the signature of the President or Vice-President to the bonds, and the signature of the Secretary to the coupons, may be lithographed or engraved thereon; and such bonds shall be valid without having the seal of the Company affixed thereto.

Provided that the amount of such bonds shall not exceed forty thousand dollars per mile, to be issued in proportion to the length of railway to be constructed under and by virtue of this charter, unless the issue of bonds to a larger amount be authorized by the Government. And all bonds issued under this charter shall have the same and equal rank and priority, as a first charge on the assets of the Company hereinbefore described.

42. That if, at any time, any agreement be made by the Company with any persons intending to become bondholders of the Company, restricting the issue of bonds by the Company, under the powers conferred by the preceding section, or defining or limiting the mode of exercising such powers; the Company thereafter shall not act upon such powers otherwise than as defined, restricted and limited by such agreement. And no bond thereafter issued by the Company, and no order, resolution, or proceeding thereafter made, passed or had by the Company, or by the Board of Directors, contrary to the terms of such agreement, shall be valid or effectual.

43. That the Directors of the Company may, by by-law, appoint an agent or agents in the City of London, England, and may by such by-law make provision for the payment of dividends, and for the transfer of the stock and bonds of the Company at the said City of London, in such manner, and upon such terms and conditions as shall be provided by such by-law. Provided that all such by-laws for the transfer of stock passed within six years after the date of this Charter, shall be subject to the approval of the Government.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

44. That for the purpose of making an allotment of the land and money subsidies, the railway shall be divided into convenient sections; and so soon as sufficient information has been obtained respecting the difficulty and cost of construction of such sections, the proportion of land and money subsidies applicable to each of them shall be determined by agreement between the Government and the Company; and if the Government and the Company are unable to agree upon such proportion, the same shall be decided upon by three Engineers selected as hereinbefore provided.

45. That "The Railway Act of 1868," as modified by any Act of the Parliament of Canada, of the Session held in the year 1872, with reference to any railway to be constructed under any such Act on any of the lines, or between any of the points mentioned in the Act in this charter first recited, in so far as the provisions of the same are applicable to the undertaking authorized by this charter, and in so far as they are not inconsistent with or contrary to the provisions thereof, are hereby incorporated therewith.

46. And as respects the said railway, that the eighth section of "The Railway Act, 1868," relating to Plans and Surveys, shall be subject to the following provisions:—

It shall be sufficient that the map or plan and book of reference for any portion of the line of the railway, not being within any district or county for which there is a Clerk of the Peace, be deposited in the office of the Minister of Public Works of Canada, and any omission, mis-statement or erroneous description of any lands therein may be corrected by the Company, with the consent of the Minister, and certified by him; and the Company may then make the railway in accordance with such certified correction.

The eleventh sub-section of the said eighth section of the Railway Act shall not apply to any portion of the railway passing over ungranted lands of the Crown, or lands not within any surveyed township in any Province; and in such places, deviations not exceeding five miles from the line shown on the map or plan, approved by the Government and deposited by the Company, shall be allowed, on the approval of the Government Inspector, without any formal correction or certificate; and any further deviation that may be found expedient may be authorized by order of the Government, and the Company may then make their railway in accordance with such authorized deviation.

The map or plan and book of reference made and deposited in accordance with this section, after approval by the Government, shall avail as if made and deposited as required by the said "Railway Act, 1868," for all the purposes of the said Act, and of this charter; and any copy of, or extract therefrom, certified by the said Minister or his deputy, shall be received as evidence in any court of law in Canada.

It shall be sufficient that a map or profile of any part of the completed railway, which shall not lie within any county or district having a registry office, be filed in the office of the Minister of Public Works.

The Company shall not commence the construction of any bridge over any navigable water, until they shall have submitted to the Government plans of such bridge, and of all the intended works thereto appertaining, nor until such plans, and the site of such bridge shall have been approved by the Government; and such conditions as it shall think fit to impose touching such bridge shall be complied with; nor shall any plan of any such bridge be altered, or deviation therefrom allowed, except by permission of the Government.

47. That the provision made in sub-sections thirty, thirty-one and thirty-two of section nine of "The Railway Act, 1868," as to incumbrances on lands acquired by the Company, shall apply to lands acquired by the Company in the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia, and in the North-West Territories; and as respects lands in the North-West Territories, the Court of Queen's Bench for the Province of Manitoba shall be held to be the Court intended by the said sub-sections.

48. That in the Provinces of British Columbia and Manitoba, any Judge of a Superior or County Court shall have all the powers given by the said Act to a County Judge, and in the North-West Territories such powers shall be exercised by a Judge of the Queen's Bench of the Province of Manitoba.

49. That it shall be lawful for the Company to take from any public lands adjacent to or near the line of the said railway, all stone, timber, gravel and other materials which may be necessary or useful for the construction of the railway; and also to lay out, and appropriate to the use of the Company, a greater extent of lands, whether public or private, for stations, depots, workshops, buildings, side-tracks, wharves, harbors and roadway, and for establishing screens against snow, than the breadth and quantity mentioned in "The Railway Act, 1868," such greater extent taken, in any case, being allowed by the Government, and shown on the maps or plans deposited with the Minister of Public Works.

50. And whereas, it may be necessary for the Company to possess gravel pits and quarries, and lands containing deposits of gravel, stone, brick clay, iron or coal, as well as lands for stations and other purposes, at convenient places along the line of railway, for constructing and keeping in repair, and for carrying on the business of the railway, and as such gravel pits, quarries or deposits cannot at all times be procured without buying the whole lot of land whereon such deposits may be found; therefore, that the said Company may purchase, have, hold, take, receive, use and enjoy, along the line of the said railway, or separated therefrom, and if separated therefrom, then, with the necessary right of way thereto, any lands, tenements and hereditaments which it shall please Her Majesty, or any person or persons, or bodies politic, to give, grant, sell or convey unto and to the use of, or in trust for the said Company, their successors and assigns; and it shall and may be lawful for the said Company to establish stations or workshops on any of such lots or blocks of land, and from time to time, by deed of bargain and sale or otherwise, to grant, bargain, sell or convey any portions of such lands, not necessary to be retained for gravel pits, quarries, sidings, branches, fuel-yards, station grounds or workshops, or for effectually repairing, maintaining and using, to the greatest advantage, the said railway and other works connected therewith.

51. That as respects places not within any Province, any notice required by the Railway Act, 1868, to be given in the "Official Gazette" of a Province, may be given in the Canada Gazette.

52. That deeds and conveyances of lands to the Company for the purposes of this Charter (not being letters patent from the Crown) may, in so far as circumstances will admit, be in the form following, that is to say :—

"Know all men by these presents, that I, A.B., in consideration of _____ paid to me by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, grant, bargain, sell and convey unto the said The Canadian Pacific Railway Company, their successors and assigns, all that tract or parcel of land (describe the land) to have and to hold the said land and premises unto the said Company, their successors and assigns for ever.

or in any other form to the like effect.

53. That Her Majesty's naval and military forces, whether Imperial or Canadian Regular or Militia, and all artillery, ammunition, baggage, provisions, or other stores for their use, and all officers and others travelling on Her Majesty's naval or military or other service, and their baggage and stores, shall at all times, when the Company shall be thereunto required by one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, or by the Commander of Her Majesty's Forces in Canada, or by the Minister of Militia and Defence of Canada, or by the Chief Naval Officer on the North American Station on the Atlantic, or on the Pacific Ocean, be carried on the said railway on such terms and conditions, and under such regulations as the Government shall from time to time make.

54. That the Justices of the Peace for any county or district in British Columbia and Manitoba, assembled in general or quarter sessions, shall have the power vested by section forty-nine of "The Railway Act, 1868," in the Justices so assembled in the Province of Ontario as to the appointment of Railway Constables, and in places where there are no such Sessions, any two Justices of the Peace in any Province, or in any place not within a Province, shall have the powers given by the said section to any two Justices of the Peace in Ontario for the appointment and dismissal of any such constables; and where there is no Clerk of the Peace the record of the appointment of a constable shall be dispensed with.

55. That it shall be lawful for the Government, by order to be published in the Canada Gazette, on or before the first day of May, 1874, to declare this charter, and the several provisions thereof, and all contracts and agreements made thereunder between the Government and the Company to be null and void, if the Company have not by the first day of January last preceding that date, made arrangements to the satisfaction of the Government for raising the money required for the construction and working of the said railway.

56. That the expression "the Government" and "the Governor in Council" in this charter, mean the Governor General in Council; and the expression "railway" includes as well the branches as the main line of the Pacific Railway, except when the contrary appears from the context.

And WE do, for ourselves, our heirs and successors, grant and declare, that these Our Letters Patent, or the enrolment thereof, shall be in and by all things valid and effectual in the law, according to the true intent and meaning of the same, and shall be recognized as valid and effectual by all Our Courts and Judges, and all officers, persons, and bodies politic or corporate, whom it doth or shall or may concern.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. INTEROCEANIC RAILWAY COMPANY OF CANADA.

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1872.

At a meeting of the Provisional Directors of the Interoceanic Railway Company of Canada, held this day, present in person or by proxy :—

The Hon. D. L. Macpherson, President ;
Chas. H. Fairweather, Esq., Vice-President ;

The Hon. Messrs. Wm. McMaster, Frank Smith, John Simpson, G. W. Allan, Is. Thibaudau, John Carling ; J. W. Cumberland, Esq., C. S. Gzowski, Esq., J. G. Warts, Esq., John Walker, Esq., W. H. Howland, Esq., David Torrance, Esq., John Boyd, Esq., T. Kenny, Esq., Edwin Russell, Esq., J. F. Randolph, Esq., John Starr, Esq., the Hon. D. E. Price.

A communication was read from the Government, suggesting that the Interoceanic Railway Company should amalgamate with the Canada Pacific Railway Company. The following report thereon from the Executive Committee was also read :—

To the Provisional President, Vice-President and Directors of the Interoceanic Railway Company :

Your Executive Committee have had under consideration a communication from the Government, expressing a wish that the Interoceanic Railway Company should amalgamate with the Canada Pacific Railway Company, and they now beg leave to report :—

That they have given their best attention to the proposal, solely with reference to the successful and early completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The construction and management of an undertaking involving such vast and varied interests must, in their opinion, mainly depend for success upon its complete identification with the public sentiment of the country.

The subsidy in money, though in itself large, is still insignificant relatively to the enormous outlay that must attend the construction of the work. The Company having to rely upon the disposal of their lands for the greater part of their expenditure, renders it desirable, nay, necessary that the land should be dealt with so as to enlist the whole energies of the country in their early settlement.

It is therefore of supreme importance that the organization through which the Railway is to be built should be essentially and pre-eminently national in its character.

The sources from whence the Company's means must be drawn are two fold :

1st, Canadian ; 2nd, (and chiefly) British.

Success in the British money market will, in the opinion of your Committee, depend in a great measure upon the extent to which the Canadian people themselves become interested in the undertaking.

It is perfectly futile to look to the United States for aid in this work, as it is necessarily a rival to the several existing Pacific railways. While this remark applies generally to its future as a commercial enterprise, it is in the mean time still more applicable and weighty in reference to the measures required for the early settlement of the vast regions traversed by the rival lines through the United States. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company must compete in Great Britain and Europe generally for the emigration thence, and this can never be done advantageously or successfully in association with any of the American interests concerned in the trans-continental traffic. The suggestion for amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Company, more generally known as that organized by Sir Hugh Allan, forces upon your Committee the consideration of the matters above referred to.

It is a matter of public notoriety that the original proposal of Sir Hugh Allan, relative to the Canada Pacific Railway, was made in association with the American gentlemen most prominently connected with the Northern Pacific Railway. It is generally believed that the Government are themselves aware of this; and it was mainly owing to the apprehension that the control of a work, upon which the future of the Dominion so much depends, might pass into American hands, that the Interoceanic Company was called into existence.

The public of Canada instinctively felt that if the parties interested in the Northern Pacific Railway were permitted to control the Canadian line, that such a combination would obstruct the material as well as political alliance with the British possessions on the Pacific coast, and retard and endanger the successful settlement of the fertile Western Territory of Canada.

From one end of the Dominion to the other, but more especially in the great Province of Ontario, (upon whose people the greater part of the burden of the cost of the Railway must fall,) there have come unmistakable indications of public opinion on the subject, and the names connected with the Interoceanic Company conclusively shew the general determination to make the work distinctively national and Canadian. It may appear invidious to institute comparisons between the relative importance of the Interoceanic Company's organization and that of Sir Hugh Allan's Company, but this cannot be avoided when the proposal is one for amalgamation.

Your Committee must therefore remark that the Interoceanic Company is probably the largest and most influential combination of men of capital and position which could be found in the Dominion, not confined to one Province, but very generally and equally representing all.

With respect to the other Company, your Committee submit that it is not in any broad or national sense representative of the Dominion.

Its active influence is almost exclusively confined to the Province of Quebec, and in that Province to the city of Montreal; but excepting Sir Hugh Allan himself, and two or three other gentlemen, it cannot with fairness be designated as representing the capital and enterprise of even that community.

It is no injustice to say that the claims of Sir Hugh Allan's company rest not upon general public support, but mainly upon the position of Sir Hugh Allan himself. Early though it be in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the dangerous character of such an organization as the Company you are invited to amalgamate with, has already been made apparent by its promoters resorting to the arena of politics for that strength and support not due to its intrinsic merits.

The Interoceanic Company, on the other hand, has relied solely upon general public support, and has in no instance appeared as desirous of unduly influencing the government.

If the Canadian Pacific Railway is to be made the subject of undue and improper pressure by one section of the Dominion to the prejudice of others, it will soon acquire a reputation which will destroy public confidence in the enterprise, and occasion either its abandonment or completion at sacrifices far beyond any that the country now contemplates.

Your Committee readily admit that it would be desirable to secure the united strength of the Dominion in support of this work, and if the company organized by Sir Hugh Allan really represented Canadian interests, though local, it would be well to have their co-operation.

But, unfortunately, the impression still exists everywhere, that Sir Hugh Allan's original scheme is unchanged, and that his company is intended to co-operate with the parties in the United States interested in the Northern Pacific Railway, and your Committee sharing this belief, cannot regard the proposal of amalgamation as otherwise than ill-advised and dangerous to the public interests.

Your Committee are convinced that such an amalgamation would at once destroy public faith in the company as a Canadian undertaking.

They believe that if amalgamation were accomplished, the best friends of the enterprise in Canada would refuse their aid, and that in consequence an excuse would be found for placing it under the control of the rival American Company, or of its chief promoters, in the illusory hope that they would carry it through to completion.

Your Committee fail to find an adequate reason for asking the Interoceanic Company to part with its individuality,

The public everywhere evince confidence in it as it is.

Assurances have been received from every Province in the Dominion (except Manitoba), that the quota of stock allotted to each by the Act of Incorporation would be subscribed, and in some of the Provinces much more than such allotted quota would be taken.

In this way all classes of the community would be closely indented with the great national work, and the fulfilment of such assurances would vastly strengthen the Company in its negotiations in England and on the continent of Europe.

By entrusting the execution of the Pacific Railway to the Interoceanic Company, the government will, in effect be dealing with the representatives of their own people.

They will be assured of the application of every dollar and every acre to the sole object which Parliament contemplated in granting the subsidies, and that the lands will not be permitted to pass under foreign control, or be held back from settlement for years, or until those of the Northern Pacific Railway Company are occupied. Your Committee cannot avoid drawing attention to the fact, that the promoters of the line—which is our nearest rival route—the gentlemen with whom Sir Hugh Allan has been acting, depend wholly upon the sale of their lands for means to construct that railway. It is, therefore, of extreme importance to the promoters of that line, the Northern Pacific, to get control of the Canadian lands (which almost equal in area England and Scotland), and to retard their settlement until their own are disposed of.

No more suicidal policy could be pursued by the people of Canada than to allow their rivals to have such an interest in this national undertaking, as would virtually transfer to them the ownership and control of 50,000,000 acres of Canadian Territory; would invest them with the direction of the immigration policy, which must be inaugurated for the settlement of those lands; confer upon them the power to influence the construction and progress of the railway; and grant to them, in perpetuity, a monopoly of the traffic over the Canadian, which is the shortest and best Trans-continental route.

Your Committee firmly believe that amalgamation means the admission of this rival United States interest into the organization of the Canadian enterprise, and that once admitted and wielded for one object, it would speedily master the divided and weakened Canadian representation. They consider that this danger far outweighs any possible advantage that could result from union with Sir Hugh Allan and his associates. They are convinced that the public would shrink from committing themselves and their means to the undertaking, and they therefore respectfully recommend that the Board of Directors of this Company inform the government that they cannot be parties to any amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Company, but are prepared forthwith to enter into arrangements on behalf of the Interoceanic Company for the construction and working of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

All of which is submitted.

Memorandum of the Executive Committee of the Interoceanic Railway Company of Canada, upon the Memorandum submitted to the Government by the Executive Committee of the Canada Pacific Railway Company, dated 12th October, 1872.

The undersigned, the Executive Committee of the Interoceanic Railway Company, offer their acknowledgments to the Honorable the Privy Council, for communicating to them the memorandum of the Canada Pacific Company upon the communication addressed to the government by the Interoceanic Company, on the 30th September last; setting forth their reasons for declining amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Company.

The undersigned beg to say that when transmitting that statement to the Government, the Interoceanic Company had no intention of entering upon a controversy with the Canada Pacific Company through the medium of the Government. But they do not regret that the Government saw fit to communicate it to the Canada Pacific Company. The object of the Interoceanic Company was merely to communicate, frankly, to the Government the reasons which prevented their complying with the request of the Government to amalgamate with that company.

The Interoceanic Company decided against amalgamation after mature deliberation, and under the firm persuasion that they were acting in the true interests of the country. The undersigned will now proceed to comment briefly upon the memorandum of the Executive Committee of the Canada Pacific Company.

The undersigned observe that the Committee of the Canada Pacific Company profess to concur fully in the opinion which the Interoceanic Company holds, namely that the importance to Canada of the Canadian Pacific Railway being owned and worked pre-eminently as a Canadian enterprise cannot be exaggerated. It is matter for regret that the Canada Pacific Company, or its chief promoter, did not always entertain this opinion; had they or he done so, it is probable the Interoceanic Company would never have sought incorporation.

The Committee of the Canada Pacific Company seem anxious to establish that the promoters of that company are more Canadian than the promoters of the Interoceanic Company, because the draft Charter, as originally submitted to Parliament by the former company, provided that all the Directors should be British subjects, while that of the Interoceanic Company only required that a majority should be so. The undersigned must express surprise that any importance should seem to be attached to what is manifestly unimportant, if not, positively trivial. To make the company really Canadian it is necessary that the greater part of the stock should be bona fide held by Canadians and British subjects.

It was the purpose of the Interoceanic Company to secure that object, and it once secured they saw no reason for excluding any class of their fellow-citizens, whether native born or alien, from participating in the management of the company.

Shareholders have the power to control the policy of companies; Directors are merely their agents or deputies to carry it out. If Canadians hold bona fide a controlling amount of the stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway, they will see that the Directors, whatever their nationality, manage the undertaking for the advantage of the Shareholders and of Canada; but if a controlling portion of the Stock is held by citizens and residents of the United States interested in a rival railway, they will see that their Directors carry out their policy regardless of Canadian interests, even if the law required every member of the Board to be a British subject and a resident of Canada, under such circumstances if any of the Directors prove too patriotic to give effect to the designs of the foreign shareholders, they will be removed and more subservient men elected in their stead.

The Committee of the Canada Pacific Company argue, at great length, that under their proposal for amalgamation it would be impossible to alienate any portion of the public subsidies from the purposes for which they were intended, and that an attempt to alienate them, if made, would result in a forfeiture of the agreement.

The undersigned see no force or weight in this argument. But even if it has some force, as far as it applies, it would be of little moment; for desirable though it be that the advantages resulting from the construction of the railway should insure to Canadians, yet these advantages are insignificant when compared with those that would follow the ownership of the road after completion, viz: the possession of a vast territory in the heart of the Dominion, and the control of a large trans-continental traffic.

The undersigned regret that the Committee of the Canada Pacific Company, while admitting the respectability of the Directors of the Interoceanic Company from the Province of Quebec, should have made three of those gentlemen the subject of invidious attack. The gentlemen referred to are too well known, at home and abroad, as successful merchants of high character and wide influence, to require any vindication from this covert and unwarranted attack. They compare favorably with any gentlemen upon the Provisional Board of the Canada Pacific Company, or any other Board of Directors in the Dominion.

The undersigned do not know what is referred to in the following extract from the memorandum of the Committee of the Canada Pacific Company:—"And as to the other gentlemen whose names appear in the Bill of the Interoceanic Company, but who did not take part in that meeting, the well-known circumstances of their reception into that company prevent the expectation that they will exercise any influence in its favor."

If the insinuation is intended to charge that the names of any gentlemen were introduced into the Charter of the Interoceanic Company, either as Provisional Directors or Corporators, without their knowledge and consent, the undersigned meet that charge by the most unqualified denial. Of the one hundred and seven names which appear in the Charter of this Company, no name was placed there except at the solicitation or with the permission of the gentleman named; but the undersigned have been given to understand that of the eighteen names which appear in the Charter of the Canada Pacific Company, more than one, and that too of the more influential among them, were used without permission.

The Committee of the Canada Pacific Company deny, in most distinct terms, that that Company have in any way interfered in politics.

The undersigned can only assume that the Committee desire to state that no interference in politics took place under authority of a formal resolution of the Provisional Directors of that Company.

The public press has made the whole country aware of pressure having been brought to bear upon the Government by Sir Hugh Allan during the Montreal election.

On the eighth day of August last, Sir Hugh Allan delivered a public speech, of which a report appeared in the newspapers published on the following morning. Sir Hugh then, as now, President of the Canada Pacific Company, in that speech, referring to the contract for that enterprise, declared that he had received pledges from Sir George Cartier which were entirely satisfactory to him. His own words were: "I have every reason to be satisfied with what Sir George has done." Unless it can be shown that the Provisional Directors of the Canada Pacific Company disapproved of and annulled the agreement or arrangement which Sir Hugh Allan, their President, declared he had concluded to his own entire satisfaction, the undersigned submit that the Canada Pacific Company must be held to be parties to that agreement.

The undersigned consider that it would have been proper in the Canada Pacific Company, to have communicated that agreement to the Interoceanic Company when proposing amalgamation.

The Interoceanic Company have at all times studiously avoided everything calculated to arouse sectional feeling, and have always held that all traffic intended for the Maritime Provinces and for shipment to Europe, via the St. Lawrence, should go by Montreal; but they have likewise held that the interests of the Railway Company and of the Dominion require that the location of the Pacific Railway shall be as near the settled and tax-paying Districts of Ontario as the reasonable directness of the line to tide-water may permit. While the Interoceanic Company have avoided all sectionalism, it will be noticed by those who may read Sir Hugh Allan's speech already referred to, that he unfortunately excites it, and to justify his doing so, advances the extraordinary doctrine, that those, for the transport of whose products and merchandise railways are constructed "have a less direct interest" in their location and economical construction and running than those who have merely the handling of the property at a port of transshipment.

The Committee of the Canada Pacific Company admit that negotiations were carried on between Sir Hugh Allan and certain American Capitalists for the formation of a Company to construct and run the Canadian Pacific Railway, but they say "that this negotiation was not initiated by Sir Hugh, but was commenced and supported by influential persons in Canada, as being the only combination that offered itself at the time for the construction and running of the road, and they are satisfied that that negotiation never “ possessed the character attributed to it by the Interoceanic Company, and that they “ know Sir Hugh Allan would never have consented to embark with foreign capitalists “ in a Canadian enterprise, in which he takes so great an interest, without the most perfect securities and guarantees for its control and conduct in the interest of Canada.”

If, as may be implied from the above, Sir Hugh Allan provided “ securities and guarantees” for the control of the Railway by Canadians, the undersigned submit that the production of the agreement would be the satisfactory mode of enabling the Government and country to judge of their sufficiency.

They must add, however, that in the opinion of the Interoceanic Company, nothing short of the ownership of the undertaking by Canadians would afford real security or guarantee for its control and conduct in the interests of Canada.

• The undersigned are not aware who the influential gentlemen are to whom the Committee refer. They never heard any influential gentleman named as having negotiated with American capitalists except Sir Hugh Allan himself. The Committee of the Canada Pacific Company declare that their company “ never participated in the negotiations “ referred to, and never considered or entertained any proposition, suggestion or intention “ of asking aid from American capitalists, or of combining with them for the prosecution “ of the Railway or for any other purpose. The only negotiations they have carried on “ are those already alluded to with British capitalists, and they have never even communicated on the subject of the Railway with any outside Canada or Great Britain.”

The undersigned confess that this statement surprises them, and they have reason to believe the American capitalists with whom Sir Hugh Allan has been negotiating would be equally surprised if they had communication of it, but the undersigned assume that the Executive Committee only mean it to be understood that the Canadian Pacific Company did not authorize, by formal resolution of the Directors, any negotiations with capitalists in the United States. While accepting the denial made on behalf of the Canada Pacific Company, the undersigned assume as they have already stated, that it is not intended to apply to the acts of their President, for the undersigned learn from one of the promoters of the Interoceanic Company, who has had the opportunity of communicating with gentlemen in the United States who were parties to and interested in the arrangement made with Sir Hugh Allan, that they consider the same to be still in force, but that owing to the feeling existing in Canada against the Canadian Pacific Railway being owned by Americans, they, the Americans, would not in future be known in the project.

The American capitalists had been led to expect that the amalgamation of the two Canadian Companies would have been effected in September last.

The undersigned are given to understand, through the same source, that the scheme of the “ American” or “ Allan” combination for constructing and running the Railway, is to connect at Sault St. Marie, and at Pembina with the Northern Pacific Railway, and use that line when built between the two points named ; that it is intended to send all the traffic between the West, including British Columbia and the Atlantic cities, by the American Lines of Railway, via St. Paul, and sending through Canada only the traffic destined for Europe and the Maritime Provinces.

This information was obtained by the undersigned about the time the memorandum of the Committee of the Canada Pacific Company, under consideration, was written. The undersigned feel bound to communicate it to the Government. It confirms in a remarkable manner the opinion expressed to the Government by the Interoceanic Company, and justifies the decision of that Company against amalgamation.

The correspondent, to whom the undersigned are indebted for this information, uses the following language in commenting upon it, in which the undersigned fully concur: “ If “ this (scheme) is carried out, our great national enterprise, instead of being the successful “ rival of the American Company, competing for the Asiatic trade, which is now in its “ infancy, and building up the Dominion as no other undertaking can do, will simply be “ the Canadian Branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad, entirely under its control and “ dictated to by it relentlessly.”

The undersigned beg to say that they do not yield to any company or individual in the earnest desire to promote the earliest possible construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway compatible with its being a strictly Canadian and British enterprise, and the Canadian Pacific Company cannot more sincerely than the undersigned, desire to aid the Government in carrying out this great national undertaking. It would however be doing the Government poor service to agree to amalgamation unless the Interoceanic Company believe that the Amalgamated Company would constitute a distinctively Canadian Company of sufficient strength to carry the undertaking to a successful issue. The undersigned are of opinion that amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Company would not lead to this result. They deem it their duty to state to the Government that in their opinion the admitted negotiations of Sir Hugh Allan with gentlemen in the United States, resulting in an arrangement or understanding which is considered opposed to Canadian interests, and which the undersigned, from information in their possession and referred to above, have reason to believe is still substantially existing, will continue to cause the Canadian people to view with suspicion, and prevent their subscribing stock in any company in which Sir Hugh Allan and his associates appear controlling parties. The undersigned are of opinion that this feeling instead of being confined to a limited circle, as the Committee of the Canada Pacific Company allege, will be found to influence the people of the whole Dominion.

The undersigned venture to remind the Government that Books for applications for Stock in the Canada Pacific Company have been open for months at the Capitals of, and large Towns in, all the Provinces of the Dominion.

The Pacific Company have thus had the best means of ascertaining the favour with which they are regarded by the capitalists and people of Canada.

It is somewhat surprising that their Committee do not, in their memorandum, inform the Government what amount of Stock has been applied for and subscribed up to a given day, say to the first day of October last. Instead of doing so the Committee's Memorandum is conspicuously silent in respect to the countenance and aid their Company expect from Canadian sources.

From this silence, were it not for their repeated protestations that their Company would be pre-eminently Canadian and British, it might fairly be assumed that the Directors had little or no expectation of making it so. For the reasons given above, and those stated in their communication of the 30th September last, the undersigned on behalf of the Interoceanic Company feel themselves under the necessity of again declining amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Company; but they beg to reiterate, that from the assurances they have received from capitalists in this and the other Provinces and in England, the Interoceanic Company, as an independent organisation, can undertake to construct and run the Pacific Railway in the full confidence of carrying the work successfully to completion, through the instrumentality of a Canadian and British Proprietary.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MEMORANDUM.

The undersigned Executive Committee of the Interoceanic Railway Company of Canada have the honor to state, that they have had under consideration the report of the Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council upon the subject of amalgamation of the Interoceanic Company and the Canada Pacific Railway Company, approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council on the 16th day of October last, and transmitted to the Provisional President of this Company. In reply, the undersigned beg respectfully to state for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, that the communications addressed to the Government by this Company, on the 30th day of September last and on the 25th day of November inst., fully set forth the reasons which induced this Company to decline amalgamation with the Canada Pacific Railway Company.

The undersigned deem it unnecessary to re-state those grounds. They will merely add that the promoters of the Interoceanic Company are satisfied that the amalgamation of that Company with the Canada Pacific Company would not fulfil the anticipations of the Government, because, in their opinion, it would not secure the confidence of the people of the Dominion for the amalgamated Company, and that consequently amalgamation, under such circumstances, would be followed by certain failure when the time arrived for organizing the Company upon a Canadian proprietary basis.

The principal matters referred to in the report of the Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council having been, as already stated, discussed at length in the two communications above referred to; the undersigned only consider it necessary to remark upon one other point now, for the first time, brought under the notice of the Interoceanic Company.

The undersigned, with the utmost respect, beg to state they gather from the report of the Honorable the Privy Council that the Government impliedly charges the promoters of the Interoceanic Company with remissness in not communicating with the Government during the Summer of 1871, and making a proposition for constructing and running the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The undersigned submit that they do not see how they could have done so before the Government had announced its readiness to receive propositions.

The Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council furnishes, in the opinion of the undersigned, an answer to this charge, as it appears by the report that when Mr. Wadlington and his associates approached the Government to tender for the construction and running of the Railway, they were informed that the Government was not in a position to enter into negotiations.

Should the refusal of the Interoceanic Company to amalgamate result in excluding it from all connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the undersigned and their associates will nevertheless have the satisfaction of knowing, that if that great national undertaking remains in Canadian and British hands it will be due in no small measure to their efforts, and that if it should unfortunately fall into foreign and rival hands, it will be through no fault of theirs, but in the face of their most strenuous exertions to avert so great a calamity.

All of which is submitted.

TORONTO, 11th January, 1873.

Right Honorable Sir John A. Macdonald, K.C.B., Minister of Justice, &c., &c.

SIR,—As you are already aware from a personal interview had with you since my return, I have been to England with the view of interesting English Capitalists in the formation of a Company, under the Act of last Session, for the construction of the Canada Pacific Railway.

In this object I have succeeded, as I informed you on the 24th and 27th December last in Ottawa, immediately on my return to this Country.

I, fortunately, by previous correspondence, had prepared the way to carry out this project speedily, and it only required a few days' negotiation to form a combination of gentlemen well known in political and financial circles and in every respect able to carry out this gigantic undertaking to a successful issue.

These gentlemen, I may here mention, are from different classes, noblemen, members of parliament, ex-ministers of state, bankers, financiers, contractors, merchants, engineers, railway men, and men of great wealth, fully capable of appreciating the magnitude of the undertaking in hand, and at the same time as capable of meeting every emergency, either from a financial or skilful point of view, that can possibly be now foreseen as likely to arise.

They are prepared, as you saw from the document by me submitted to you on the 24th December last and prepared by them, to send out skilful and competent engineers to examine the information to be obtained in reference to the nature of the Country, the difficulties of construction of the road, and other questions only to be answered by personal investigation, and if upon such examination they find the probable cost not to exceed their calculations already made, based on the best information attainable by them, they will at once be prepared to subscribe $10,000,000 stock, and pay down twenty-five per cent or two millions and-a-half of dollars, and within twelve months pay in the same amount additional, or in all five millions of dollars.

Upon this they propose to build with four millions of dollars, leaving one million of dollars for the Government security as the Act requires, as much of the road as that sum may construct, before any money or land is asked for from the Government.

This sum may reasonably be calculated to build not less than one hundred or more miles of road, and fully equip it for public use.

With such guarantees of sincerity and earnestness of purpose in the first instance, I am fully persuaded you must see there is no sham in this.

I know, and you must know, that the money cannot be raised in this Country to execute such an extraordinary work, and as you have already informed me, and as I believe it to be now the settled policy of the Government not to admit Americans in the Company, and indeed more, not to admit American capital, lest the Northern Pacific Railroad interests should obtain by any means a controlling influence in our Canadian Railway, there is no resource left but English capital—that capital is now ready. All its proprietors require is reasonable information as to what is expected of them efore they embark their capital, and enter into obligations involving so great demands on financial and engineering skill, I need scarcely say to so astute a statesman as yourself that this is the substantial and only proper way to promote and further the interest of this great enterprise.

This would at once remove from local, political and sectional influences this great national undertaking so necessary to our national well being and prosperity. Failure in the outset in relation to this matter, or deficient power to grasp the means necessary to accomplish the work would impair the efficiency of the whole enterprise if not frustrate it altogether. This is a calamity judicious action may avert. I need scarcely repeat the thorough capability of the means in skill and influence to perform all that can be expected in connexion with this work. They moreover ask no more, and expect no more from this Country than what is already guaranteed under Sir George Cartier's Act. I may add, if bonds are floated before a considerable portion of the road is built with a view of raising the necessary capital which a Company ought to possess in the first instance, such bonds cannot and will not meet with that reception in financial circles which they ought to receive, and would receive if issued after the construction of a substantial portion of the road. It must be borne in mind also that such a Company issuing bonds for others to negotiate cannot command the influence in British or other European markets, that a Company can which is already in the centre of such business, and within reach of all the appliances necessary and requisite in such cases. I therefore thus freely call your attention to a few points demanding reflection, in determining whether the proposal such as I invoke must be refused without consideration.

Before therefore any final action is taken, I, on behalf of the English Capitalists whom I represent, and whose names and positions will be frankly submitted to your Government, once they are informed you are open to negotiation, state, that they are prepared at once, on their engineers making a favourable report, to subscribe all the capital on the terms previously indicated, and I submit herewith a copy of the document prepared by them, and given to me to present to you, the original of which you have previously seen. I understand that Honorable W. McDougall, C.B., is about to leave for England. I therefore propose that he, as friendly to, and an agent of your Government, should enquire into the character and standing of the gentlemen whom I represent, and I will arm him with all necessary authority for that purpose, this I do simply to satisfy you of the bona fide character of the combination, and to show to you, and if need be to the Country, that there is no reason why this magnificent line of railway may not be successfully and satisfactorily constructed in the spirit and in accordance with the terms of the Act already sanctioned by Parliament and the Country, and without further demands on the Treasury of the Dominion.

I have the honor to remain, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

WILLIAM KERSTEMAN.

P. S. A copy of the documents referred to, will be forwarded by the next post from this place.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

An English combination has been provisionally formed for the purpose of carrying out this undertaking under the provisions of Sir George Cartier's Act.

The combination consists of former Ministers of State, financiers who have held office under Government, Members of both Houses of Parliament, bankers and capitalists of position, and contractors for public works of undoubted competency.

They are prepared to comply with the requirements of the Government of Canada as to the deposit of money, and they are also prepared to satisfy the Government that they have ample funds and a financial organization ready to insure the due completion of the railways.

They have arranged to send a deputation from their body to Canada forthwith, accompanied by a staff of engineers and representatives of the contractors, for the purpose of examining the plans and sections of the lines, in order to ascertain whether the railways can be completed for the sum upon which their financial calculations have been based, and, upon their being satisfied on this point, the deputation will be fully empowered to accept a charter from the Government in pursuance of the Act of Parliament, and they will also be empowered to pay down in cash the money required to be lodged in the hands of the Government.

The members of the combination before taking any active step in the matter, and even before disclosing their names, require first to have a direct positive assurance from the Government of Canada that in case they satisfy the Government as to their position and standing, as to their financial ability, and as to the means and mode of action by which they propose to ensure the due completion of the undertaking, the Government will grant to the combination the charter which they are empowered to grant under Sir George Cartier's Act, with the benefit of the subsidy and grants of land, and all other benefits and advantages appertaining to it.

Wm. Kersteman, Esq.,

Dear Sir,—Enclosed I have the pleasure to send you the promised statement as to the combination formed here for carrying out the undertaking, and as to the assurance required from the Canadian Government before taking action.

I must now leave it to you to get this assurance from the Government. In case you obtain it, the better course will be for Sir John Macdonald to telegraph direct to me (as Secretary of the combination) at the above address.

Yours faithfully,
J. J. RIDLEY.

Right Hon. Sir J. A. Macdonald, K.C.B.,
Minister of Justice, Ottawa.

SIR,—I wrote you a letter on the 11th inst., making a proposal in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway on behalf of English capitalists, to be submitted to your Government, not having received an acknowledgment of its receipt, and so many days having since elapsed, I am anxious to know that it has not miscarried.

I have the honor to remain, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

OTTAWA, January 28th, 1873.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, and your reminder of the 22nd.

The Government have made such progress in the arrangements for the establishment of a Company by charter to build the Canadian Pacific Railway, that it is too late to enter into negotiations with a new body of capitalists.

To do so would be to postpone all hope of progress in the work during the present season; and this in my opinion is an insuperable objection to breaking all present arrangements, which have nearly been completed, and entering into new negotiations with parties in England.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
(Signed) JOHN A. MACDONALD,

WM. KERSTEMAN, Esq.,

To an ADDRESS of the SENATE, dated 21st April, 1873;—For copies of all Powers of Attorney used by J. A. Macdonald, J. J. C. Abbott, H. N. Nathan, jun., and D. and M. N. Smith, on behalf of F. Cumberland, D. McInnis, J. B. Beaudry, jun., J. S. Helmcken and Andrew McDermot, in their subscription of certain articles of agreement in reference to the Canada Pacific Railway, dated the 31st day of January last, and also in the subscription of stock for the formation of a Company for the construction of the said Railway, also dated 31st day of January last.

By Command.

No. 68.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,
MONTREAL, 29th April, 1873.

Etienne Parent, Esq.,
Under Secretary of State,
Ottawa.

SIR,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of a certified Copy of a Resolution of the Senate of the Dominion of Canada, dated the 21st instant, asking for all Powers of Attorney used by the Right Honorable Sir John A. Macdonald, Honorable John J. C. Abbott, H. N. Nathan, jun., Esq., and D. and M. N. Smith, Esq., on behalf of certain Directors of this Company, in their subscription of certain articles of agreement, in reference, as it is said in said Resolution, to the Canada Pacific Railway, dated the 31st day of January last, and also in the subscription of stock for the formation of the aforesaid Company :—the said Resolution referred to me as Secretary of the Canada Pacific Railway Company, with request to furnish the information thereby sought for.

In reply, I have the honor to state that, although the above Resolution only mentions the Canada Pacific Railway Company, no doubt by mistake, I have reason to believe that the information demanded by this Resolution refers not to the Canada Pacific Railway Company, with which as far as I am aware, no articles of agreement have been signed, but to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. If this be the case, I must state in answer to the aforesaid Resolution that the Powers of Attorney used by the gentlemen here above-mentioned having been given before my appointment as Secretary pro tempore of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, I can only answer to the Resolution of the Senate that I will place said Resolution before the Directors of this Company at their next meeting, and ask them for the papers demanded by said Resolution.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

E. LEF. DEBELLEFEUILLE,

Secretary pro tem.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

Made and entered into this Thirty-first day of January, in the year One thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, between Her Majesty Queen Victoria, of the first part, and the several persons, parties hereto, whose hands are hereto affixed, of the second part.

WHEREAS it is in and by a certain Act of the Parliament of Canada, passed in the thirty-fifth year of Her Majesty's reign, and intituled "An Act respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway," amongst other things in effect provided: That if there should be no company either incorporated originally for the construction of the whole line of railway, or formed out of two or more companies for that purpose, or if the Government could not agree, or did not deem it advisable to agree with any such company for the construction and working of the whole line of railway under the said Act, or if the Government should be of opinion that it would be more advantageous for the Dominion, and would better insure the attainment of the purposes of the said Act, that a company should be incorporated by charter as therein provided; then, if there should be persons able and willing to form such company, and having a subscribed capital of at least ten million dollars, secured to the satisfaction of the Governor in Council, and ready to enter into such agreement with the Government for the construction and running of the said railway, the Governor shall have power, upon the conditions in the said Act mentioned, to grant to such persons, and those who should be associated with them in the undertaking, a charter embodying the agreement made with such persons, which should be binding on the said Company, as by the said Act, reference being thereto had, will appear.

AND WHEREAS the Government has failed to induce the two companies incorporated by Parliament during its last session for the purpose of constructing the Railway, to form one company, and does not deem it advisable to agree with either of the said two companies for the construction of the said railway, and is of opinion that it will be more advantageous for the Dominion, and will better insure the attainment of the purposes of the Act first above-mentioned, that a company shall be incorporated by charter as in such Act provided.

AND WHEREAS the said parties of the second part have agreed together to form and constitute themselves into a company for the purposes of the said Act, to be incorporated by charter by the name of "The Canadian Pacific Railway Company."

THESE PRESENTS therefore witness, that the said parties of the second part, do hereby promise and agree, to and with Her Majesty, Her Successors and Assigns, as follows:—

First: That they, the said parties of the second part are able and willing to form a company for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Second: That they, the said parties of the second part, have a subscribed capital of ten million dollars, and have hereunto annexed a duplicate original of the stock list, signed by them, the said parties of the second part.

Third: That they, the said parties of the second part, shall and will, within one month after the date on which a charter shall have been granted, incorporating them as a company for the purposes of the said Act first above named, will and truly pay or cause to be paid into the hands of the Receiver-General of Canada, in money or securities of the Government of Canada, one million dollars.

Fourth: That they, the said parties of the second part, shall and will, well and sufficiently construct the Canadian Pacific Railway, upon and subject to the terms and conditions and within the time set forth in the paper hereunto annexed, marked *A, which said paper the several parties hereto do hereby declare shall form part of this Agreement, and which they accept as the draft of the charter to be granted to them, the said parties of the second part, incorporating them as a body corporate, by the name and for the purposes aforesaid.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said parties of the second part have hereunto set their hands at the City of Ottawa, in the County of Carleton, in the Province of Ontario and Dominion of Canada, the day and year first above hereinbefore written.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT,
OTTAWA, March 5th, 1873.

THIS AGREEMENT, made the first day of February, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, between Sir Hugh Allan, of the City of Montreal, in the Province of Quebec, in the Dominion of Canada, Ship-owner, and the Honorable Alexander Campbell, Postmaster-General, of the said Dominion, witnesseth that :—

1st. The said Sir Hugh Allan doth hereby promise and engage, and bind and oblige himself, his heir and assigns, to establish, maintain and keep up a regular line of large and powerful steamers to ply between the Port of Liverpool and the Port of Quebec, or Montreal, once in every seven days during the season of, and for the navigation of the River St. Lawrence, and between the ports of Liverpool and Portland once also in every seven days during the winter, subject to the modifications as to ports of call which may be required under subsequent clauses.

2nd. That the said steamers shall be first-class vessels, and the line shall consist of the Austrian, Hibernian, Moravian, Peruvian, Nestorian, Prussian, Polynesian, Sarmatian, Scandinavian, Nova Scotian and Circassian, and such other vessels as may be subsequently built or purchased; but no steamer thus built or purchased is to be of less size or power than the Hibernian.

3rd. That the said Sir Hugh Allan agrees to perform the service to and from Liverpool, and to and from Quebec, or Montreal, during the St. Lawrence navigation until its close, every year, and to make at least twenty-six trips from Liverpool to Quebec, or Montreal, during the St. Lawrence Navigation, and at least twenty six trips from Quebec, or Montreal, to Liverpool during the said time, and the communication between Liverpool and Portland shall commence each year at the time of the close of the navigation of the River St. Lawrence, and shall continue until the opening thereof, and during that time the said Sir Hugh Allan shall be bound to make weekly trips from Liverpool to Portland, and weekly trips from Portland to Liverpool, so that during each year there shall be provided a weekly service of fifty two voyages, both to and from America; the said contractor hereby binding himself to call with each of the said steamers, and receive and land the mails at Londonderry, or such other port in Ireland, as may be from time to time decided upon by the Postmaster-General of Canada.

4th. That one of the said steamers shall leave Liverpool, and one shall leave Quebec or Montreal once every seven days during the St. Lawrence navigation season, and that one shall leave Liverpool and Portland, respectively, also one every seven days during the time when the navigation shall be closed on the River St. Lawrence in the winter.

5th. That the said contractor shall have the option, from time to time, of deciding on the Port of Quebec, or that of Montreal, for the termination of the trips of the said vessels to the St. Lawrence, as the state of the water in the river and lake or other cause may in his judgment make it advisable; but he shall not have the right to terminate the voyage at Quebec without the sanction of the Postmaster-General, except in cases when the steamer may reach Quebec too late to admit of an extension of the voyage to Montreal.

6th. That the steamers are never to approach Jape Race when the weather is so foggy or tempestuous as to make it dangerous to do so.

7th. That the service under this contract shall commence on the first day of April eighteen hundred and seventy-three (1873) and shall continue up to and until the first day of April, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight (1878) and shall not then terminate, but shall continue in force thereafter in all its provisions until either party to the contract shall give to the other party twelve months' previous notice of a desire to terminate the same, and then, and in such case, at the expiration of such twelve months' notice, the contract shall absolutely cease and determine, and during the continuance of the contract the said contractor shall be bound to carry by each trip of the said steamers, such mails as may be given to him, or to the officers in charge of his vessels, by the Postmaster-General of Canada, for transmission to Liverpool, or Ireland, or by the Post Office authority in Liverpool, or Ireland, for carriage to Canada, or such other mails between the said ports as may be required to be carried at the instance or by the command of the said Postmaster-General.

8th. That the mails be received and delivered respectively by the contractor at Liverpool, Londonderry, Quebec, or Portland, as the case may be, and the expenses of conveying the mails to the steamships from the said places, and from the steamships to the said places, is to be borne by the contractor.

9th. That there is to be no liability under this contract on the part of the said contractor for the contents of the said mails, when the same are not delivered, in case the failure to deliver the same is the result of the dangers of the sea, or of such as are peculiar to steam navigation, and not caused by neglect or want of proper skill, or by misconduct on the part of the said contractor, his agents, or servants.

10th. That the said contractor shall find and furnish sufficient accommodation and space on board each of the said steamers for keeping the mails, and for assorting and distributing the same on board, and to be called "Post Office," and to fit up such apartments in such manner as the said Postmaster-General shall require, and also shall and will carry and transport on board each of such steamers, such officers and clerks, not exceeding two in number, in each steamer for the purpose of guarding, assorting and taking care of such mails, and to find and provide them with the usual rations and cabin accommodation.

11th. That the said contractor shall furnish and supply the said steamers with sufficient fuel, stores and provisions, tackle, and all things needful and necessary to enable them to perform the voyages contracted for, and to secure the safety of the mails and passengers.

12th. That the said contractor shall and will from time to time, and at all times during the continuance of this contract, make such alterations or improvements in the construction, equipments, or machinery of each and every of the said vessels which shall be used by him in the performance of this contract, as the advanced state of science may suggest, and advertise the sailing of the steamers in Europe and America in such manner as the Governor in Council may direct.

13th. That the said steamers shall, in summer, call to land and receive mails at Father Point, or any other point in the St. Lawrence, to be fixed by the Postmaster-General, so soon as adequate facilities for that purpose shall be afforded on their way up and down the St. Lawrence.

14th. That the said steamers shall terminate their winter voyages at Portland, or such other port as the Postmaster-General may from time to time designate for that purpose, and shall call at Halifax on those voyages should the Postmaster-General so require.

15th. That the days for the departure of the said steamers shall be appointed by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, and so often as he may think fit and proper for the best interests of the public service, provided that in case of changes, two months' notice be given to the contractor by the Government.

16th. That the said Postmaster-General shall, in case of need, have the right to delay the sailing of any of the said ships for the space of twenty-four hours.

17th. That the Postmaster-General shall have the right to delay the sailing of any of the said ships for a further space of time, not exceeding forty-eight hours, and for such additional delay the contractor shall be entitled to claim payment at the rate of one hundred pounds currency for each twenty-four hours of delay, beyond the first twenty-four hours provided for in the preceding clause.

18th. That the said Sir Hugh Allan doth bind and oblige himself to have, at all times, the command of a sufficient number of steamers of the description aforesaid to perform the trips hereinbefore mentioned and agreed upon, and that the time occupied by the said steamers on the outward passage from Liverpool, shall not exceed fourteen days, and on the homeward passage, shall not exceed thirteen days on an average of the trips performed every three months, but if, from the prevalence of tempestuous weather, the outward passages from Liverpool to Portland during the months of December, January and February, should in any year exceed fourteen days on an average of the trips performed during said three months, the said Sir Hugh Allan shall not be subject to any penalty in consequence thereof, provided the average of such outward trips for the said named months does not exceed fifteen days.

19th. That in reckoning the time occupied by the steamers on the outward voyage, allowance shall be made for the time during which the steamers may wait at Londonderry for the arrival of the mails for Canada.

20th. That when the presence of fog or ice makes it dangerous to run the vessel at full speed, it shall be the duty of the captain either to slacken the speed, or to stop the vessel as occasion may require, and the time lost by doing so, if proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General, as hereinafter mentioned, shall be allowed to the contractor in addition to the time specified for the length of the voyage.

21st. That the proofs shall be by a report of the facts, made and sworn to by the captain, and such other evidence as the contractor shall adduce, or the Postmaster-General shall require, or obtain; and the proof to be submitted by the said Sir Hugh Allan, shall be submitted to the Postmaster-General immediately after the arrival of the steamer at her port, namely, at Quebec, Portland, or Liverpool, such report and affidavit of the captain as to the time lost and the necessity thereof, shall be sufficient prima facie evidence for the purpose of the preceding clause.

22nd. That in the event of any serious accident happening to any of the steamers employed under this contract, whereby she may be disabled from making her homeward voyage, the contractor will be at liberty to substitute another steamship to carry the mails for that trip only.

23rd. That the said contractor shall not be called upon to pay for Dominion lights, or other similar dues during this contract, to which the said contractor, as owner of the steamers to be employed on the said service, should be liable.

24th. That in case the average length of the homeward voyages in any three months exceeds the contract time subject to the allowances already provided for, the contractor shall pay one hundred pounds currency for every twenty-four hours of such excess for the first one hundred and forty-four hours' excess upon the aggregate of the voyages of such three months, as compared with the contract time, and two hundred pounds currency for every twenty-four hours of excess upon the first one hundred and forty-four hours of excess upon such three months' voyages.

25th. That no penalty shall be incurred by any delay occasioned by shipwreck or accident, not arising from misconduct, or from want of skill or foresight on the part of the contractor or his servants, or occasioned by aiding vessels in distress, or their passengers.

26th. That the said Sir Hugh Allan doth bind and oblige himself to pay to the Receiver-General of Canada, for every trip not performed according to this contract, a penalty of five thousand dollars; and shall not be entitled to the payment for the trip or trips not made in proportion to the amount of the present contract for the whole of the trips contracted for.

27th. That the present contract is made for and in consideration of the sum of one hundred and twenty-six thousand five hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cent ($126,533.33) per annum, to be paid quarterly to the said contractor by the said Postmaster-General, the first payment to be made on the first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-three (1873).

28th. That it shall be the option of the Government of Canada to put an end to this contract, and render the same null and void at any time, should the terms and conditions thereof not be fairly fulfilled and carried out in their true and honest meaning, and this without being obliged to have recourse to law; but this contract shall not be voidable by the Government so long as the terms and conditions of it are fairly fulfilled and carried out in their true and honest meaning, and the right of the Government to annul the same for any cause shall be decided on by some tribunal having jurisdiction in such matters, if such there be, or by any tribunal which may be created or appointed by Parliament for this purpose, and such tribunal shall decide summarily, and without appeal by the said Sir Hugh Allan, and may, for the sake of expedition and substantial justice, dispense with the forms and rules of procedure applicable to other cases.

29th. That should the Government of Canada determine upon annulling the contract no penalty shall be payable for the breach or any of the breaches for which this contract shall be so annulled.

30th. that should the Postmaster-General appoint any other port in Ireland than Londonderry for receiving and delivering the mails, such other variations shall be made in the conditions of the contract as may be equitable in consequence of such changes of port

A statement, Appendix C, is given, shewing the approximate force employed upon the several contracts.

Appendix D gives the names of the Contractors, total amount of each Contract, amount paid, and amount still unpaid.

The following is a brief description of the condition of the work upon each Contract :—

Nos. 1 and 2.—These sections are completed, and track laid upon them.

No. 5.—This section is now complete and ready for track-laying upon the opening of spring. The iron bridging has been delivered, and is all erected except two spans.

No. 8.—This section (the lightest upon the whole line) has been long since completed.

No. 13.—The works upon this very heavy section have been vigorously prosecuted during the past season. The fact, however, of the greater part of the work being rock excavations, upon which only a limited number of men can be employed upon the face of a cut, has necessarily retarded the completion of the works. It is now expected that the Contractors can hand over their work ready for the track-layers by the close of the present season.

No. 14.—The work upon this section, with a few trifling exceptions, has been completed. The whole will be handed over within a very short period after the opening of the present working season.

Nos. 17 and 18.—The exceptional position of these sections was pointed out in the last report of the Commissioners.

The Contractor upon Section 17 has pushed the masonry more vigorously during last year, and there is reason to expect that this part of the work will be completed during the coming season.

Upon section 18 but little masonry has so far been executed. The Commissioners when upon their tour of inspection last fall, not being satisfied with the progress of the works upon either of these sections, gave the Contractors notice that much greater progress must be shown for the future.

The Commissioners believe that these notices have had a beneficial effect, and they will insist now upon such a rate of progress as will secure the completion of both sections, so as to be ready by the time the works on either side are completed.

No. 19.—Unexpected difficulties have occurred in the foundations for the bridge across the Restigouche River upon this section, necessitating the piling of the foundations for the piers and the west abutment, involving delay and additional expense.

Suitable stone for a portion of the masonry of this bridge has, after much difficulty, been obtained in the vicinity of the work, and this will hasten its completion after the foundations are in; the exposed face of the piers will still require to be of granite from Bathurst; the rest of the work on this section is in a satisfactory state.

Nos. 3 and 6.—Upon No. 3 the masonry is completed, and the rest of the work is in a very forward state. Track can be laid over it as soon as the bridge superstructures are put in place.

On No. 6 there is still a good deal of work to execute ; but it will be ready for the track-layers by the time they can reach it from Campbellton.

Nos. 9 and 15.—No. 9 is practically finished, requiring only a little trimming in a few places. On No. 15 the masonry is completed, with the exception of one abutment for a moderate sized structure.

The earthwork can all be completed in time for the track to be laid, as soon as it is laid over No. 9.

No. 16.—The Commissioners cannot report favorably in reference to the progress of the works upon this section. The difficulties of construction from the inaccessibility of its position have been serious, and it is believed that by the time the sections on either side of it are completed, it will be ready for the track-layers.

No. 10.—The work upon this section is well advanced ; and the Contractor promises to hand it over, ready for the track-layers, by the close of the present season.

No. 20.—The Contractors have not met the expectation of the Commissioners in the prosecution of the heavy bridge works upon this section, and notice to this effect was given by the Commissioners on their last inspection. The Commissioners trust, from the preparations now made, and being made, that no cause for a similar complaint will again arise.

Nos. 21, 22 and 23.—The state of the works upon these sections, although not all that the Commissioners could have desired, are such as to warrant the belief that they will be ready throughout for the track-layers by the close of the present season. They are difficult of access, which has greatly retarded the progress of the work.

Nos. 11, 4, 7 and 12.—These have all been completed and track laid over them, thus connecting the railway systems of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

In reference to section 12, in consequence of the slow progress made by the Contractors, the works were taken out of their hands and completed by the Commissioners, involving a present outlay greater than the contract sum.

For this increased expenditure the Contractors and their sureties are held liable, under the terms of their contract. This contract was let in November, 1869, before the heavy advance took place in wages and materials.

BRIDGES.—The Commissioners append hereto, Appendix E, a list of the various bridges required for the road, shewing in the margin those erected, and those in course of construction. The whole of the iron work will be delivered during the present year.

RAILS.

19,573 tons of steel rails have been delivered for the main line, and 1,140 tons of iron rails for sidings.

The Ebbwvale Company have completed their contract for 7,000 tons.

The Barrow Company delivered, up to end of last year, 12,500 tons. They will deliver a further quantity of 13,500 during the present year, and the balance of their contract in the spring of 1874.

TIES

Have been delivered under existing contracts to meet the requirements of Contractors for track-laying. All the ties required have now been contracted for.

TRACK-LAYING AND BALLASTING.

This service has been performed upon Sections 1 and 2, and the contract for Sections 5 and 8 is in the hands of Mr. James Worthington, an experienced contractor. The ties are all upon the ground, and a sufficient supply of rails to last until the arrival of the spring fleet.

The track-laying to Metis River will, therefore, be pushed to completion without delay.

Section 11 is completed, and the first lift of ballast has been placed upon Sections 4, 7 and 12, and the completion of this work will be proceeded with at the opening of spring, and finished during the coming season.

Tenders for additional sections have been received, but contracts have not been awarded.

BUILDINGS.

The extensive workshops at Moncton have been completed, and are now in use. A supply of machinery necessary to meet present requirements has been purchased, and is now in course of delivery. Commodious passenger and refreshment rooms have been erected at Amherst and Truro, and passenger buildings at Moncton and Painsec Junction, and all these are now in use. Station buildings have also been contracted for at Cacouna, St. Arsène, Isle Verte, Trois Pistoles, St. Simon, St. Fabien, Bic, Rimouski, St. Luce, and Metapediac Road, in the Province of Quebec; at Newcastle, in the Province of New Brunswick; and at Nappan, Maccan, Athol, Salt Springs, River Philip, Thompson, Grenville, Wentworth, Folly Lake, Iron Mines, Debort, and Ishgonish, in the Province of Nova Scotia.

These are in the course of erection.

Engine houses are also under contract, and being erected at Rivière du Loup, Metapediac Road, Newcastle, and Truro, and another is being contracted for at Campbellton.

Tenders have also been received for the erection of passenger and refreshment rooms at Newcastle and Campbellton, but the contracts have not yet been awarded.

ROLLING STOCK.

The following Locomotives and Cars have been contracted for:—

Locomotives	44	Box Cars	250
1st Class Passenger Cars	6	Platform Cars	325
2nd do	2	Snow Ploughs	2
Post Office Cars	3

And the following have been delivered, and are now in use:—

Locomotives	19	Post Office Cars	3
1st Class Passenger Cars	6	Box do	220
2nd do	2	Platform do	325

All Locomotives are now being constructed with a view to change of gauge, should that be determined on at a future time.

DEEP WATER WHARVES.

The Commissioners have provided deep water wharves at Campbellton and Newcastle, to facilitate the landing of rails and rolling stock.

RIGHT OF WAY.

The Commissioners have nearly completed the purchase of right of way; and, on the whole, upon reasonable terms, and without, so far, the exercise of the power given them by the Intercolonial Act, of resort to the Dominion Arbitrators.

STAFF.

The Commissioners have steadily pursued the policy of reducing the staff as the work progresses. Appended hereto, Appendix F, is a sheet shewing the staff as at 1st April, 1873, compared with that in force at 1st April, 1872.

The total amount paid for engineering expenses, to 28th February, 1873, is	$1,021,557 91

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Contractors upon the whole (with the exception of Section 12) have, in view of the difficulties to be overcome, carried on their work in a satisfactory manner during the past year. The heavy increase which has taken place in the price of all labor and materials, since most of these contracts were let, has added largely to the cost of executing the work. If any of the Contractors had failed, and the works had been re-let, it could only have been done at considerably higher rates.

The Commissioners, under the circumstances, believed they were acting in the interests of the country, and securing the economical completion of the line, by affording the Contractors every reasonable assistance that was possible within their contracts, when they were satisfied that every effort was being made to fulfil the terms of each contract.

The Chief Engineer was instructed, when it could be done without affecting the general character of the work, to make any changes that he might consider feasible, tending to diminish the total quantity of work to be executed.

A careful study of the location has enabled this to be done in several instances, and in some cases, with a positive improvement in the whole work.

Where possible, also, tunnels in the solid rock have been substituted for culverts, this being both a decided improvement, and an economical arrangement.

To assist the Contractors, the Commissioners, after a full investigation into each case made advances to some of them, to help in the prosecution of the work.

These advances are within and to be deducted from the total amount of the contract sum, when the work is finally completed, and the accounts adjusted.

By adopting this course, the Contractors have been kept at work, when otherwise they would have been compelled to suspend, and thus the loss has been avoided which must have resulted if the works had to be re-let.

The following are the advances made :—

The keys to the completion of the entire line are still the heavy work on Section 13, and the bridges across the Rivers Restigouche and Miramichi. Section 13, there is every reason to believe will be completed this year ; but it will take another season to finish the large bridges.

The monthly expenditure upon the whole line is now diminishing, and after the present year, will be comparatively small.

The Commissioners have pleasure in recording the very satisfactory circumstance, that for the period of four years, since the first contracts were let, this extensive and important public work has been prosecuted without, so far as the Commissioners are aware, the occurrence of a strike, riot, or disturbance of the peace.

This fact is a high tribute to the industrious, orderly, and law-abiding habits of the people of the country through which the road passes, by whom the work has been almost exclusively executed.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to your instructions that I should furnish certain Returns ordered by the House of Commons, respecting Section No. 5 of the Intercolonial Railway, I beg herewith to enclose a statement which I have for some time back been preparing for the purpose of showing in a concise form the decrease or increase of quantities on each section of the line. This statement is as complete as the information in my possession will enable me to make it just now, and it furnishes the quantities referred to in the order of the House of Commons.

With regard to the question of prices payable under the contract for Section 5, I beg to refer to my letter to you dated the 5th ultimo.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF ENGINEER,
OTTAWA, February 5th, 1873.

Ralph Jones,
Secretary,

DEAR SIR,—The District Engineer reports Section No. 5 completed, all except those works agreed by the Commissioners to be taken off the contractor's hands.

This section may be considered to have been completed by the 31st December, 1872. It was contracted to be finished by the 1st July, 1871.

Since the work was placed under contract, changes have been made in the original location and plans, which, without in any way lowering the engineering character of the section, have rendered its completion easier. As under the contract it is the duty of the Commissioners to fix a value on all such alterations, with the view of adding the same to, or deducting it from the contract sum, I herewith furnish a statement of quantities as finally measured up, showing what has been executed on the section, compared with the original quantities ascertained to be in the work at the time tenders were received, and the section let to the present contractor.

From this statement, it appears that the contractor has done work in excess after original quantities, as follows :—

Rock Excavation.....	21,500 cubic yards.
Common Earth Excavation.....	42,000 " "
Also Iron Pipes.....	13 $\frac{394}{2240}$ tons.
The statement also shows that the work has been reduced in the following items :—
Fencing	2,049 lineal feet.
Bic Embankment being rock barrowing on long haul.....	321,000 cubic yards.
Rip rap.....	975 " "
Concrete.....	413 " "
1st Class Masonry	1,473 " "
2nd Class Masonry.....	2,240 " "
Paving.....	601 " "

I shall be prepared to make out a final certificate for this section so soon as the Commissioners place a value on the altered quantities above referred to, and furnish me with authority to add or subtract the same.

I should observe that the contractor for this section has done some work outside of his contract, in grading Station Grounds at St. Fabien and Bic, but this work has not yet been measured up.

Yours very truly,
(Signed,)

SANDFORD FLEMING
Chief Engineer.

DUFFERIN.

The Governor General transmits to the House of Commons the accompanying Report of the Commissioners for the construction of the Intercolonial Railway and the Minute in Council of 19th June, 1872, founded thereon in reference to claims made by the original Contractors for Sections Nos. 1 to 7 of that line.

ANNUAL REPORT

ON

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING JUNE 30 1872.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Sir Frederic Temple, Earl of Dufferin, P. C., K. P., K. C. B., Governor General of the Dominion of Canada, &c., &c., &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY :

I have the honor to enclose, for Your Excellency's information, a copy of the Deputy Superintendent's Report, with documents annexed, showing the condition of Indian affairs throughout the Dominion, and the progress made within the year to carry on the work of civilization.

In the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec—where for a long period, efforts, honorable to the public men of both, have been persistently made, where the clergy of all denominations have zealously co-operated, where valuable lands have been sold and large funds accumulated—the work of the Indian Department is easily managed by correspondence and by personal intercourse with the chiefs, who often come to Ottawa for consultation with the Superintendent General, or who can be easily visited when special missions are required either by myself or by officers of the Department.

In those Provinces many of the bands exercise nearly all the powers of municipalities, and are being rapidly trained to self-government. They zealously co-operate with the chiefs, who derive their distinctions by descent, or are elected by the free suffrages of the bands; they have their own Council Houses, which often resound with bursts of natural eloquence, or are enlivened by displays of mother wit and shrewd good sense; they maintain their own agents, doctors, and schoolmasters; and in their general intercourse with the Department, with rare exceptions, are courteous, intelligent and reasonable. It is a good deal to say, that in the schools maintained by these people, or by the religious bodies who labor for their improvement, upwards of two thousand Indian children were trained last year; and that in the Canadas it is not a rare thing to meet Indian gentlemen as well educated, as well dressed, as careful in their habits, and as courteous in their manners as are the higher class of white men to be found in our rural districts, or even in our cities.

In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, I regret to have to acknowledge that much less has been done. The Micmacs and Milicites of those Provinces were fine races, and the few thousands of them who remain often illustrate in single families, or by splendid specimens, the physical proportions and mental resources which a century ago made them formidable and respected. Ashamed of the condition to which the Micmacs had been reduced in my own Province by the neglect of the Government and the indifference of the whites, when I first went into Lord Falkland's Government in 1840, I had an Act passed making partial provision for the Micmacs, and gave the leisure of two years of life to their service. I traversed the country, visited their villages, slept in their camps, had their lands surveyed and divided, educated some of their children, and without reward or the hope of it, did my best to set an example of devotion to a good work which the pressure of other duties shortly after compelled me to relinquish. The grants were continued down to Confederation, but were never increased. They were faithfully distributed by Samuél P. Fairbanks, Esq., for many years Commissioner for Crown Lands, who protected the Indian Reserves, and divided the annual appropriations. He was unable to give much personal superintendence to the band, and gradually the semi-annual distribution took the form of eleemosynary gifts, calculated to foster habits of idleness and dependence, rather than of bounties to encourage industry, thrift, and social elevation. On coming into this Superintendency, my first care was to increase the grants annually voted for Indian affairs in the Maritime Provinces, to appoint Local Agents, and to change the system and objects of expenditure; in short, to introduce, so far as the funds would enable me, some faint resemblance to the Canadian system. Up to this time the results are encouraging, and although I regret that the state of my health will soon compel me to relinquish the oversight of the work, I trust it will not be neglected by those who may come after me, and who ought never to forget that the crowning glory of Canadian policy in all times past, and under all administrations, has been the treatment of the Indians.

In dealing with the new Provinces of British Columbia and Manitoba, and the wide Territories of the North West, it has become already apparent that Indian affairs cannot be managed by the application of the old machinery which has been found to work so well in the Canadas. In these vast countries no very extensive or valuable Reserves have been set apart for the Indians, no large funds are invested, the missionary labor (though zealous and self-devoted men have from the earliest times penetrated into those regions) has been less in proportion to the mass of ignorance and pagan superstition to be encountered, and the distances from Ottawa are so formidable, that after a short experience of the utter hopelessness of the task of carrying on Indian affairs by correspondence with this Department, I have felt it my duty to advise that Boards should be appointed, one at Victoria and another at Winnipeg, to whom should be largely entrusted the management of Indian affairs both in British Columbia and the North West. These Boards need not consist of more than three persons, of whom the Lieutenant Governor in each Province should always be one. His occasional presence will give dignity and weight to negotiations with the wild tribes, while the work should be done, under his general guidance and management, by the paid officers with whom it will be his duty to co-operate. Quarterly accounts and reports will be sent to Ottawa, and the whole machinery, without too much weakening the comparatively independent action of the Provincial Boards, will still be brought under the general superintendence and control of the Minister to whom may be intrusted the charge of Indian affairs.

I regret to have to state that no new treaties could be formed with any of the Indian Bands of the North West during the last year. The reasons are stated in the Report of Mr. Commissioner Simpson. The stipulations entered into in 1871 have been faithfully fulfilled by the Government in every particular. I regret to notice in certain quarters a disposition to encourage the Indian Bands to make extravagant demands upon the Government, and to alarm the Dominion with idle rumors that a reckless and extravagant expenditure for the maintenance of garrisons in the North West may be encouraged. The motives of the parties are sufficiently transparent, but it should be borne in mind that the Indians of the North West are still subjects of the Queen, and are bound to obey the laws. As their hunting grounds become depleted, there is a rich soil under their feet. To pauperize them with extravagant bounties, or to enter upon a system of reckless military expenditure, merely to put money into the pockets of traders who would enrich themselves by the supply of these scattered garrisons, would be not only bad military strategy but a great error in an economic and moral point of view.

In closing this, which will be my last Report to Your Excellency, I cannot but express my regret at having soon to separate from the staff who have lightened my labors in the Indian Branch, and have generally carried out my wishes with zeal and ability. For the Deputy Superintendent, William Spragge, Esq., whose large experience, indefatigable industry and high sense of honor, have so materially aided me in the management of the Indian Branch, I shall always entertain feelings of respect and personal esteem.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOSEPH HOWE.

INDIAN OFFICE, OTTAWA,
DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE PROVINCES,
March 14, 1873.

SIR,—In submitting the usual annual report relative to Indian affairs, with which will be placed in appendix form particulars concerning the receipts and expenditure; the state of the various Indian funds; the surveyed disposable lands; the population returns; the number of Indian schools, and of the pupils attending them; the progressive increase of business, and other subjects of information, it is gratifying to state that the general duties of the officers, acting as superintendents and agents, have, with scarcely an exception, been performed in such a manner as essentially to benefit the Indian people entrusted to their charge. And although the tendency of the attempts continually making to induce various bands to remove from the Reserves which they have so long occupied and regarded as their permanent homes, and to transfer them far into the interior, is to depress them and retard their progress; nevertheless, confiding, as they are assured they may do, in the protection which the laws enacted for that purpose afford them, there exists among the Indian population, especially in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, a spirit of contentment and confidence in the administration of Indian affairs, which it is trusted a judicious and equitable policy will extend to those Provinces and Territories which have latterly become connected with the Dominion.

The system which for several years past has been pursued, for aiding the Indians whenever they needed assistance in agriculture, has been extended wherever it has promised beneficial results; and gradually it becomes apparent that the deprivation which they experienced and sensibly felt when their hunting grounds ceased to be a source of subsistence, has been alleviated by their adopting the occupations of civilized men. Among the indications of progress will be found the greater value they attach to education, observable from the School reports, which will be found in the Appendix.

	Pupils.
In 1869, the attendance at Indian schools, according to the reports which were received at the Indian office, amounted to but.....	1635
Whereas in 1872 the number of scholars attending schools in the same Provinces was.....	2261
Shewing an increase of.....	626

The population returns for the same periods, compared, show an increase in numbers; but the increase is restricted to Ontario and Quebec. In the maritime Provinces there is an apparent falling off; but whether this is attributable to an actual decrease or to imperfect returns cannot be determined until the agents supply, and with regularity, details of births and deaths as well as population returns.

The receipts from lands and timber exhibit a considerable improvement since the date of the last annual report.

The amount realized for the year ending 30th June, 1872, for land and timber, was.....	$111,705 73
And for the preceding year.....	92,007 17
Exhibiting an increase of.....	$ 19,698 56

The quantity of land sold during the year ending 30th June, 1872, was $17,234, irrespective of town lots.

The assessment returns indicate that a considerable proportion of the lands sold, suitable for agricultural purposes, have been brought into cultivation; and the regulations under which sales of Indian land takes place requiring actual settlement within a limited period, although it occasions fewer sales to be made, is highly beneficial to the country, promoting as it does production and consumption. The favourable position of some of the Indian Reserves, and the inducements held out by farmers anxious to lease from the Indians their agricultural lands, has had an unfavourable effect upon the latter, disinclining them for arduous labour when they can contrive to subsist upon the moneys periodically received from the Department, and the rents they would thus obtain, and thereby inducing an indolence hindering all progress. The Department cannot too decidedly discourage and prohibit a practice so detrimental to the welfare of the Indian people. The Department has, in the same manner as in former years, been called upon to furnish medical assistance to various bands when the appearance of the small-pox—so fatal to Indian people—exhibited itself in the vicinity of their reserves; and the immediate adoption of precautionary measures, by resorting without delay to vaccination, has prevented its spreading among those people, and consequently the casualties under that head are immaterial in number.

It is satisfactory to state that the dissemination through the annual reports of information concerning our Indians, and the transmission of some of them to the societies whose philanthropic efforts have been directed for the welfare of the aborigines of America, appear to have awakened an increased interest in their behalf; and from all sections of the Dominion there are cheering indications that the civilization as well as the moral and social condition of the Indian population is gradually, and in some cases rapidly, advancing. Indeed, it has been the object of the Department to offer such inducements for the purpose of promoting those objects as the pecuniary means at its disposal will admit of.

The task has devolved upon the Department of organizing a system of management for those Provinces which have the more recently been added to the Dominion; and the collecting the necessary information for that purpose has to some extent been successful. The facilities which in the first instance existed were too limited to be of much value; but with improved means of information, it is trusted that the report for next year will be replete with valuable and highly interesting particulars.

The comprehensive report of the Superintendent for British Columbia (copious extracts from which accompany this report) has placed the Department in possession of very valuable knowledge concerning the Indian nationalities of that Province, and will, it is believed, afford opportunity for much being done to advance the condition of its Indian inhabitants. It contains strong evidence of the positive necessity for the adoption of active measures to place all who desire to undertake the cultivation of land upon suitable reserves, and aid the industriously disposed among them in commencing or in proceeding with farming operations. The high prices of the productions of the soil, and the ready demand for them on the part of the mining and other sections of the white population, must render agriculture highly remunerative, and this will act as an incentive towards prevailing with the Indians to take to the plough, and to rely less upon the chase and the results of fishing sports. The requisite steps having been taken to locate and set apart sufficient Reserves for the various bands, and to establish and survey the outlines of such Reserves, it is hoped that the apprehensions of certain of the Indians that the white settlers would absorb the very lands they desired to be secured to them will be effectually allayed, and confidence in the just intentions of the Dominion Government be firmly established; and further, the proposal to allot to the head of each family an ample quantity of land, corresponding as nearly as may be with the allotments in the older Provinces, will give to each family its homestead, and in this respect tend to assimilate the condition of the Indians with those of their white fellow subjects. The lucid report of Dr. Powell (the Superintendent of British Columbia) harmonizes very fully with these ideas; and it will be a great advantage to the Indians to have as their Local Head Chief a gentleman possessing the enlightened and humane views of the Superintendent. While on this subject, it is due to the leading religious denominations—the Church of England, the Church of Rome, and the Methodist Church—to refer to the praiseworthy and successful efforts they have made and are still making for the lasting good of the Indians of British Columbia. They are facts which ought to be known, and an official report cannot be silent on a subject, where both means and men are freely contributed to render those who were cruel and intractable savages orderly and useful members of society, and to teach them, among other things, the useful employments of civilized life, and by the introduction of industrial schools train them for occupations for which their natural ingenuity eminently fits them.

The Treaties made in August, 1871, with the Indians of Manitoba and the North West Territories have, during the early part of the last summer, been followed by the delivery of the various presents, consisting of light express waggons for the chiefs and councillors of the bands who were parties to these treaties, and of clothing, medals and flags, &c., &c., to those principal men. Supplies, consisting of 50 ploughs and 50 harrows, were purchased, under authority of the Department, by Commissioner Simpson, in order to be delivered to such Indians as were prepared to enter upon the cultivation of land. Several head of farming stock were also purchased by that gentleman and delivered to the chiefs for whom they were intended. And it is proposed to continue to provide stock for such others as are entitled to receive such animals, under agreements made by the late Lieutenant Governor in conjunction with Commissioner Simpson, so soon as the local officers of the Department are in a position to state that the chiefs have made arrangements for taking care of them. The Reserves, specified in the treaties entered into in 1871, are about to be surveyed under a requisition made by the Department for that purpose; and by this means the anxiety of the Indians, lest they should be encroached upon by the white settlers, will be removed. The requisite steps have also been taken for sustaining the several schools, which, under treaty arrangements, were to be aided; and further, it is proposed to extend to Manitoba and the North West Territories the system of providing medical treatment for the Indian population, which in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec has been productive of such valuable and satisfactory consequences.

The space which allusion to the newly added Provinces required, necessitates a but brief reference to the Indians in the older Provinces of the Dominion. From such information as has been obtained, it is believed that a progressive improvement is going on; and wherever exterior influences are not at work, to disturb and distract our people from acquiring and practising habits of industry, there is a visible improvement. One object of the Department has been to induce the Indians to refrain from incurring debts, and thereby forestalling their periodical distribution money, which they ought to have in the spring to purchase seed for their land and agricultural implements, and in the autumn, winter supplies and clothing for their families. And notwithstanding official notifications that storekeepers do it entirely at their own risk, great difficulty has been experienced in breaking up the old injurious practice, which often occasioned loss to the dealers and always caused misfortune to the Indians, and prevented their acquiring those habits of self-reliance and provident management which must always accompany progress.

The settlers on Indian lands in the Saugeen Peninsula (one of the largest tracts of Indian lands) received during the last summer a measure of relief, in the form of remission of interest on unpaid principal, which has placed them in a greatly improved position, and enabled a very considerable number of those who had expended large amounts in clearing and otherwise improving their farms to take out their patents. And the liberal grants made for opening out and also improving leading roads, much required in the Saugeen District, have greatly encouraged and benefitted the farmers who took up land in that part of the Province of Ontario. It is believed that this liberal policy will do much more than benefit the actual settlers. It will open also the way for the sale of the large quantity of disposable land in the Peninsula, into the heart of which the colonization roads, constructed with Indian funds under the direction of the Indian Office, have been formed, and have rendered access thereto comparatively easy.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

WILLIAM SPRAGGE,

Deputy Superintendent.

Abstract of the Report of J. W. Powell, Esq., M.D., Indian Superintendent for British Columbia, dated 11th January, 1873.

The extensive coast line of the mainland and adjacent islands are inhabited by numerous tribes of Indians speaking a variety of different languages.

The nationalities are known as the Cowichan Nation, the Comox Nationality, the Aht Nation, the Quackewlth Nation, the Billa Coola and Milbank Nations, the Isimpshean Nation, the Hydah Nation, the Takekie and Siccane Nations, the Shuswhap Nation, the Kootenay Nation.

The Cowichan Nation embraces a large number of semi-civilized tribes, extending from Victoria westward to Beechy Bay in the Straits of Fuca; and on the east coast, northward to Bogue's Sound, Vancouver's Island; and on the mainland, from the mouth of Fraser River to Yale; and northward to Bute Inlet, including all the islands in the Gulf of Georgia. It appears they have made considerable progress in agriculture; and in allusion to the Indians of Fraser River, Dr. Powell says they are useful aids to the settlers, that in general they are good workers, and in view of the scarcity and high price of white labor, their presence is essential to the development of that section of the Province. He refers to his having attended an Indian Industrial Exhibition at Cowichan, Vancouver's Island, inaugurated three or four years since for the special benefit of the traders of that nationality. He observed "good samples of wheat and of root crops, but especially the exhibition of needle work, knitted-work, and crotchet-work of the native woman was surprising and creditable; and the competition for these and various descriptions of goods, seed grain and agricultural implements was very active." He says also that the conduct and appearance of the Indian people of both sexes was highly satisfactory. Their Reserve at Cowichan occupies 2,700 acres of good land, which they desire to be subdivided among them. He computes the Cowichans, including their several tribes, at about 7,000.

The Comox Nationality, which is described as the smallest in that Province, adjoins on the north of the Cowichans. This tribe occupies land on the east coast of Vancouver's Island, and consists of two small bands numbering but about 100. They were refugees from Valdez Island, whence they were driven by the Euclataws, a warlike tribe. They appear to have made but little progress, socially or morally.

The Aht Nation, estimated at from 3,300 to 3,500 persons, are described by Superintendent Powell as a nation of savages, and that upon traders and merchantmen shipwrecked on the west coast of Vancouver's Island, which they occupy, they have committed atrocious cruelties. Among them was the murder of the captain and crew of a trading sloop in 1864, by people of the Asonsahts Tribe or Band. The perpetrators of such outrages have it seems been sometimes punished, but it appears they often have escaped. These Indians carry on a lucrative trade in furs, amounting, it is stated, last year to $75,000. The Superintendent suggests the establishment of a military post at Albernie, the centre of the Aht Nation; and he remarks upon the salutary effect it would have upon all the coast tribes.

The Quackewlth, or Quackuli nation, inhabit or occupy lands on the west coast of Vancouver's Island, from Woody Point to Point Day, Milbank Sound; and south to Loughborough Canal, on the mainland; and on the east of the Island to the country of the Comox Tribes. Their characteristics are similar to those of the Aht Nation. Their numbers amount to about 2,000, and they form sixteen or seventeen tribes or bands. The sub-tribes, called Euclataws, are classed with this nationality, and number about 1,500 additional persons.

Billa Coola and Milbank Nations.—These inhabit the country and inlet about Bentinck Arm, and Dean's Canal and Milbank Sound, as far north as Carter's Bay. Their population is about 2,000, consisting of eleven tribes or bands.

Isimpshean Nation.—These people occupy the sea coast north of the Milbanks, and inland up the Nap and Skuna Rivers, to the vicinity of Babuci Lake, to the country held by the Tahelies and Siccanies, with whom they trade. Their population is estimated at about 5,000, consisting of about twenty-five tribes or bands.

The Hydah Nation.—These people inhabit the group of islands in Queen Charlotte Sound. They number about 2,500, and from ten tribes or bands. Two tribes, the Kygahuic and Chatounic, live in Alaska, on Islands in the Prince of Wales' Archipelago.

The Tahelie and Siccanie Nations.—These constitute the interior tribes, north of a line from Bentinck Arm to Athabasca Pass, or Boat Encampment, by way of Chilcoatin. The Siccanies occupy the region of Pean River, north of Fort McLeod. Dr. Powell represents their social and moral character as extremely low; and the only christian teaching which they have received has been by occasional visits from one of the Roman Catholic Missionaries. He explains that it was one of the bands of these people which in 1863 massacred all but two or three of the late Mr. Waddington's party, while constructing a trail through the Chilcoatin Plains to Cariboo. They do not engage in agriculture, but live on fish and game. In their country, whitefish, sturgeon, salmon, and trout abound; and also wildfowl, moose, cariboo, beaver, bear, fox, mink, martin, lynx, wolf, otter, fisher, &c., and are obtained with facility. They number about 1,500, and as yet have no Reserves set apart for them. The Superintendent suggests that Reserves should, as a means of promoting their future welfare, be allotted to them.

The Shuswhap Nation.—Dr. Powell alludes to this people as a comparatively superior race of Indians. The territory which they occupy lies south of a line from the mouth of the Chilcoatin River to Boat Encampment, Columbia River, with the exception of the Fraser River region, below Alexander Bar. He describes them as industrious, and says they have accumulated money by packing and boating for the whites. They have with success prosecuted agricultural pursuits. Cereals of all kinds and potatoes are in considerable quantities produced by them, and they hold a considerable amount of farming stock. They number about 2,500 persons. Missions of the Church of England at Lytton, and of the Roman Catholic Church at Okangan and at William's Lake, are carried on among them, and, to judge from the condition of these Indians, with good results. They possess some good reservations of land, but no allotment thereof among the various families appears yet to have taken place; and they have labored under the disadvantage of there being no general superintendence exercised over them.

The Kootenay Nation.—This is a small tribe consisting of between 300 and 400 people. They live on the Kootenay, Pend D'Orillia and Columbia Rivers. Their character is warlike, but they are friendly towards the whites. They live by the chase and hunt the buffalo; and Dr. Powell states that they possess three or four hundred head of cattle and some twenty-five hundred horses. These they trade for blankets and fire arms, with the Stoney and Blackfeet Indians, and consume from $25,000 to $30,000 of flour, which they obtain from the whites. Their horses are often carried off by the Blackfeet, and retaliation is the consequence, with of course its attendant results. They hold no reservations, but cultivate small patches of land and grow potatoes and other vegetables. They take salmon and other fish on the Columbia and the Pend D'Orillia River. They are visited by the Roman Catholic Missionaries.

The Interior and Coast Indians compared.

Superintendent Powell informs us that the interior Indians are far superior in character and general condition to the Indians of the coast. Those of the coast retain many of their barbarous customs, among them the great medicine feasts. Their intercourse with the lower grades of the white race has induced depravity and corruption, and among them thievish and licentious habits. Among the Tsimpshians, Quackerewhs, and the Billa Coolas, slavery also exists. The Superintendent expresses his opinion that their mental capacity is very great, and he states that systematic education at Mitlakathla has been attended with results both satisfactory and surprising. He says they possess wonderful mechanical genius, and remarks that guns are stocked, mainsprings forged, and household furniture is manufactured by them with facility and elegance. By Superintendent Powell, the establishment of industrial schools is advocated, as a means of developing the natural gifts of those people. He says they are splendid carvers in wood, metal and slate, and that jewellery fashioned from an ordinary gold or silver coin would do credit to first-rate artists.

The Hydah and Ahts build superb canoes, perfections in design and workmanship; and Dr. Powell states that the lines of the first clipper-ship built in Boston were taken from a Nootka canoe. But, on the other hand, the people are depraved. Virtue is unappreciated, and vice and intemperance prevail. Hence may be accounted for the decrease in population which is evidently now taking place.

The necessity for, and the duty of effecting a thorough change, and of vigorously and systematically carrying out plans for improvement, are clearly established by Superintendent Powell's Report. And strenuous efforts, as he plainly shows, are required with a view to bringing about amelioration in the condition and habits of those coast northern bands. It is evident that the individual responsibilities of each member of society in these Indian communities are not understood, and general degradation is the consequence. Dr. Powell, in his comprehensive and excellent report, urges that an enlightened and liberal Indian policy should be adopted and pursued towards them. His description of their practices and propensities renders it abundantly manifest that civilization, in its best sense, and humanizing agencies are absolutely required as a means of elevating their condition, and also for rendering their future intercourse with an inflowing white population what it ought to be.

It seems that an important portion of the Indians of British Columbia are disposed for agriculture, that for Indians they are inclined to be decidedly industrious, and with qualities of that kind combined with the physical requisites, there will be good hope for the future, if the desire manifested to promote the welfare of these people, who but recently connected with the Dominion of Canada, be adequately seconded and opportunity afforded, under a well devised management, for training the Indians of that Province in such manner that their intelligence may be turned to more profitable account,—that greater encouragement shall be extended to the Societies who have been in a generous spirit laboring for their good,—and that laws adapted to improve their condition be enacted. With these aids their welfare may be promoted.

From Dr. Powell's showing, it is quite evident that the Indians, over whom he is Superintendent, are not deficient in enterprise. He describes the Shushwaps and Kootenays as the most advanced of all the Indian Nationalities of British Columbia. They evince a decided capacity for trade, and possess commendable business qualifications, and it seems that they contribute largely to the revenues collected in that Province. The British Colonist newspaper of 26th Nov., 1872, says, in respect to Indian Gold Mining, "That from $15,000 to $20,000 is annually contributed to the wealth of the Province by "mining on the Thompson and Fraser Rivers, which is carried on almost exclusively by "the Natives at low water; wherever a bar has collected some gold, a batch of Indians "may be seen during the coldest weather working their cradles, and saving the precious "metal." Dr. Powell states further,—the native trade is at least 70 per cent. of the whole trade of the interior. He also gives the following particulars, furnished as follows:—

"I may be permitted to call attention to the great value of Indians to the country as inhabitants. Being great consumers, they are large contributors to the general revenue. The exports from British Columbia of furs and fish oil nearly if not all obtained by Indians ; from date of Union with the Dominion, 20th July, 1870, to 30th June, 1871, were :—

“ Furs—United Kingdom	$121,989
“ United States.....	78,418
Fish Oil—United Kingdom	16,850
“ United States.....	10,788
	$228,045

“ Export of cranberries varies according to favorable seasons. In 1869 it amounted to $10,790 ; in later years less.” He adds—“ Of imports, the Indians are of course the chief consumers.”

Under Governor Douglas's administration of British Columbia, it appears that a policy was in the year 1858 inaugurated, which gave to the Indians the status of British subjects, the effect of which seems to have been to diminish the sort of despotic power exercised in former times by individual chiefs, and to render the Indians sensible that they are amenable in the same manner as other subjects of the Crown laws of the country. The chiefs still however imply practices peculiar to themselves, in order to maintain as large a share of influence as possible with their people. Some of them donate, under the name of “ Patlatches,” to their people, blankets, food, firearms, &c., &c. The gifts are dealt out with profusion, but it is attended with a strange feature ; for an equivalent in return at a future gathering is expected to be presented. The Superintendent considers that these usages have an injurious tendency, and encourage idleness, and expresses a hope that the custom will in time become obsolete.

The chieftship is a position which has been regarded as hereditary, and the usage is that it shall descend combinedly through both the male and female line, the son of the chief's sister being, in most cases, the heir presumptive. Among the Northern Tribes a system of heraldy or crests exists, which are rigidly respected and esteemed a distinction. Marriage among the Indians is conducted by, as the report expresses it, purchase, or presents, to the relatives of the female who is sought in marriage. Polygamy is not forbidden, but is resorted to as a rule, or in such cases as the inducement of special advantages offers as a pretext for it. Medical and surgical assistance has to no appreciable extent been furnished by Government in order to ameliorate the condition of the Indian population, and whatever benefit in that respect the Indians have received, has been due to the missionaries and some humane settlers. The introduction of a judicious system for the treatment of the sick, and those suffering from accidents, is imperatively called for. Dr. Powell suggests the establishing of a dispensary, supplied with medicines vaccine and a few surgical instruments, and the erection of one or two small and inexpensive hospitals in the most populous Indian centres.

On the subject of education, he suggests, as a means to the substantial improvement of the native race, the aiding of Industrial Schools. And he cites the institution “ on the north west coast of British Columbia, established by the Church Missionary Society,” as “ attended with the most signal success” in elevating the moral and social status of the Indians concerned, and tending to render the rising generation good and useful members of society. The agricultural prospects of the Indian tribes are such as to afford encouragement ; and it appears that there would be great utility in supplying good seed, grain and agricultural implements, and for which, the Superintendent believes that many of the Indians would be enabled to pay. He names the Shuswhaps and the Kootenays as among those to whom that opinion applies. The relations of the Indians with the Government is, in Dr. Powell's view of the matter, a subject of considerable importance. And he quotes the sentiments of Governor Douglas, an officer of high personal worth and discrimination, in connection with the question. His conviction was that satisfactory relations with the Indians “ required to be judiciously cultivated by "conciliating their good will, and treating them with justice and forbearance, and by rigidly protecting their civil agrarian rights. He gives it as his opinion "that the friendship of the natives is at all times useful, while it was no less certain that their enmity might become more disastrous than any calamity to which the colony is liable". He advocated as a means to secure their friendship the "forming Reserves at the favorite places of resort of the several tribes, and securing them against the encroachment of settlers, and to be held in trust, and the title continuing in the Crown.

The tribes of British Columbia may, it appears, under the laws of that Province, acquire land either by purchase, or by occupation under the pre-emption system, in the same manner as other classes of Her Majesty's subjects, provided they comply with the legal conditions of tenure by which land is held in that colony.

With regard to intoxicating liquors, it appears that the sale, or supplying them to Indians, except medicinally, is prohibited by law, under the Indian Liquor Ordinance of 1867. And the infliction of a penalty not exceeding $500, one-third of the fine to be paid to the party who gives the information resulting in the conviction before a Justice of the Peace, is provided for, and any vessel upon the coast, conveying liquor for the purpose of supplying it to Indians' may be forfeited.

Superintendent Powell states that the law has been, and is violated, with impunity especially among the coast Indians, and the suppression of the traffic has been found most difficult. He points out that the obtaining liquor, and that of a most injurious manufacture, has been continued notwithstanding the prohibition, and is disposed of at an enormous profit, and has been used by the Indians—"the poisonous effects of which he describes as producing frantic excitement, and wild and fierce riot, resulting in murder and other atrocious crimes, of which the perpetrators appear unaware after the phrenzy induced by the intoxication has passed off."

Upon the same subject, the Superintendent mentions that the American Superintendent for Indian Affairs for Washington Territory has addressed a letter to him, in which he states that demoralized Indians from Vancouver's Island, visiting settlements around Puget's Sound, have brought in liquor, and suggesting that probably degraded American Indians may be in the habit of frequenting settlements in British Columbia for similar objects. He has offered the proposition whether they should not on both sides be delivered over to the respective Superintendents, and punished according to the laws of the country to which they belong. It will be at once perceived that, in view of the rights conferred by law upon the British Indians, such an arrangement would be impracticable. And the principle among us is fortunately both well understood and carried out in practice—the white man, the red man, and the colored man, are in the eyes of the law the same. The suppression of an illicit trade in ardent spirits is, it must be admitted, difficult; but it is trusted that under improved management and active supervision, under a competent staff of officers, and the adoption of a paternal, humane, and considerate policy, the existing evils may be greatly mitigated. And that by prevailing with the Indians who are now living in localities most-exposed to the influence of vice, to remove to and remain upon the Reserves set apart or to be set apart for their benefit, an important step towards their reformation will have been accomplished. The influence of education when suitable arrangements are perfected, will, it is hoped, produce an improved social, moral and religious tone among a race so intelligent as the Superintendent represents them to be, and it is anticipated that these Indians will soon learn to value the efforts purposed to be made to promote their welfare.

Dr. Powell proposes that the Indian population around Victoria should be removed to a suitable Reserve, as they, while there, both contaminate and are contaminated. The American depraved Indians, alluded to by the Superintendent of Washington Territory, can be dealt with in the same manner as Canadian Indians when they fail to observe the provisions of law, and by punishing their misconduct as it may desire, they will probably soon cease to infest the British Territories.

The Superintendent recommends the disposal of the land at Victoria occupied by the Indians to the number of about 120, contiguous to the suburbs, and which while too rocky for tillage, could be sold to advantage for building purposes. Their presence there, where industrious employment cannot be followed by them, induces indolence, intemperance, and dissolute conduct, and the transfer of them to a locality where these temptations do not prevail would be highly beneficial in every point of view.

Dr. Powell refers to the circumstance that, as a rule treaties for cessions of territory have not been made with the Indians of the Province of British Columbia, but as respects Vancouver's Island, about one-fortieth part has by the Hudson's Bay Company been acquired by purchase from the Indians, and that fourteen different parcels of land were thus acquired; but the Indians reserved their village lots, and rights to fish and hunt.

In regard to efforts made and making for Christianising the Indians of that Province, this praiseworthy duty seems, up to the present time, to have been undertaken and carried on by the Church of England, the Church of Rome, and the Methodist Church, and so far as the information communicated to the Department goes, would seem not to have been participated in by any other religious denominations.

The Church of England has, it appears, missions at Comox, Nanaimo, Cowichan, Kinkolith, Metlakathla, Yale, and Lytton. The missionary at Kinkolith is a medical man, and has a native hospital and a boarding school.

At Metlakathla there is a successful industrial school conducted by the Rev. Mr. Duncan, and the Superintendent informs us that at this place there is an orderly village of 500 Indians, they have a saw-mill, a market house, and a soap factory, and a school at which a large number of Indians receive instruction. In connection with the missions at Lytton there are about 2,000 Indians, and at Yale about 1,000.

The Roman Catholic Church has missions at St. Marys, Fraser River, at Williams Lake, O'Kanaghan, Stuarts Lake, Fort Ruperts, Cowichan, and Victoria, and beside these, has itinerant missionaries.

At St. Marys there is a convent and boarding school, with from 40 to 60 persons attending it, and there are mission schools at Williams Lake and O'Kanaghan, and convents at Cowichan and Victoria, where Indian girls and Half-breeds are educated.

The Wesleyan Methodists have missions at Nanaimo, Victoria, New Westminster, and at Chilliwash, with sabbath and day schools at the first-named place, and sabbath schools regularly held at the second and third. We are also informed that their travelling missionary, the Rev. J. Crosby, visits very assiduously a large number of tribes of the Cowichan nationality.

It would be quite possible to collect from Superintendent Powell's report many more interesting particulars, but the foregoing seem quite sufficient to accompany the present report on Indian affairs.

W. SPRAGGE,

Deputy Superintendent.

INDIAN OFFICE, OTTAWA.

(Copy.—No. 122.)

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
FORT GARRY, December 13th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to call the attention of the Government of the Dominion to the attitude and present position of the Indian Tribes in this Province and in the adjoining Territories.

First.—With regard to the Indians in this Province, they are urgent that their reserves should be surveyed, schools opened and the other provisions of the Treaty carried out. I consider it of importance that an officer or officers of the Government should maintain constant communication with the tribes, and see that all the provisions of the Treaty are rigidly carried out.

Secondly.—I have to call attention to the singular position of a party of the nation of Sioux, numbering about two hundred men and about five hundred souls. These Indians came into the Province some years ago, having fled from the United States. They camp in winter at the Portage, where the settlers complain much of the annoyance and expense they are subjected to from their presence, and from their being obliged to provide them with food. Some of the Sioux assist the white settlers as labourers in the summer. They have asked for land, and were led to believe, as I am informed, that they would be assigned a Reserve, and if so, they would plant crops and could then be removed from the settlement. I think it would be wise to give them a Reserve, but would refer to the despatch of Governor Archibald, No. 305, of the 27th December, 1871, in which the matter is fully treated of.

Thirdly.—There is a movement of some kind among the Indian tribes in the North-West Territories and the American States. I believe it to be in part created by the Boundary Commission. They do not understand it, and think the two nations are uniting against them. A party of American Sioux came up here last summer, and left complaining that they had been insulted, and threatening to return in force in spring. This band are from the Black Hills, west of the Missouri, and, I am informed, number two thousand warriors. The Red Lake Indians, on the American side, have been sending tobacco to the Sioux in our Territory, as it is believed with the view of common action with regard to the Boundary Survey.

The Indians in the plains were, as I am informed, told that they would receive visit last summer from the Commissioner, to prepare the way for a Treaty, but this was not carried out, and as the Indians look for the rigid performance of promises, they should be complied with as speedily as possible.

Having submitted the position of matters with regard to the Indian Tribes, I think it right to make a practical suggestion as to the best mode of dealing with them. I believe that they can be retained in close alliance and friendship, by treating them fairly, kindly and justly. They should be advised by men they trust, of the real meaning of the boundary surveys, and explanations should be given them as to the intended Railway surveys; and all stipulations of the Treaties should be scrupulously carried out.

To attain these ends, I would propose that there should be a Resident Indian Commissioner here, who should be a good business man, competent to draw up Treaties, attend to matters of account, &c., &c., and that he should be aided by two Assistant-Commissioners, natives of the country, familiar with the Indian dialects, and in whom they have confidence, and taken from the ranks of the English and French half-breeds. Such a man as, for instance, the Hon. James McKay, who has great influence with the Indian Tribes, and who gives largely to them of his own means, having done so, in one year alone, to the extent of $1,500, would be of great value in such a position, and I believe the services of two such men could be secured at a very small annual sum.

It would be necessary also to place at the disposal of the Commissioners, an annual sum to be expended in presents, on occasions of their receiving visits.

As it is of the first importance to retain the confidence and maintain the friendliest relations with the Indians, I submit these views for the consideration of the Government.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,) ALEX. MORRIS.

The Honorable

The Secretary of State for the Provinces.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, FORT GARRY

December 16th, 1872.

SIR,—Since writing you on the subject of the Indians in this region, I have been waited upon by a portion of the Sioux Band already referred to, who asked for an interview.

I received them in company with the Indian Commissioner, Mr. Simpson, the Hon. James McKay acting as interpreter.

They numbered eighteen, of whom two were chiefs, White Eagle and the son of the late Standing Buffalo. They came to testify, White Eagle said, to their friendship to the English. They had clasped hands with them, and could never let them go. They wished a tract of land to settle on in spring.

I informed them that I would submit their request to the Government at Ottawa, and advise them of the reply.

The Commissioner distributed a few presents, and they went away well satisfied.

The Commissioner is to visit this band at an early date. I have to refer with regard to the subject of despatch of Governor Archibald No. 305, of the 27th December, A.D., 1871, and have to urge an early decision.

I have, &c.,

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,

FORT GARRY, January 9th, 1873.

SIR,—Referring to my Despatch, No. 122, under date of the 13th December last, in which I brought under the attention of His Excellency the Governor General, the position of a band of Sioux Indians resident within the Province, I now beg to enclose, in further relation to this subject, a copy of a letter which has been addressed to me by the Hon. John Norquay, the Minister of Public Works for this Province, who is Representative in the Local Assembly of the Division of High Bluff.

The facts stated in the letter shew the importance of an early decision being arrived at with regard to the request of these Indians to be allotted a reserve.

I have, &c.,

WINNIPEG, 8th January, 1873.

To His Excellency A. MORRIS,

Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba, &c., &c.

SIR,—I have the honor to draw your Excellency's attention to the fact that since the winter of 1863, the people residing in the three most western parishes of the Province, known as the Poplar Point, High Bluff, and Portage la Prairie, have to a considerable extent suffered from the depredations of a band of Sioux Indians (refugees from United States authority). These depredations consisted of horse stealing in some instances, and killing of settlers' animals, though I must say that this but rarely occurred. Petty stealing, though carried on generally by them, was not indulged in to such an excess as was done by other tribes, and generally the people utilized their presence by employing them on their farms. Last autumn there was an additional influx of about 200, which makes their number about 700. These later arrivals, probably trusting to their numbers, are beginning to assume a defiant attitude.

Before Canada assumed authority over the North West Territories, the people regarded the wood lands as common property, not even, excepting from their neighbours, use the wood that was on their own holdings. Now, since they are restricted from taking wood as formerly, they commence to look with a jealous eye on any depredation on the wooded portion of their present holdings, which constitutes the most valuable portion of their claims. It is unnecessary for me to mention what amount of damage is done by these savages to the properties of the residents of these parishes, and the feeling with which they contemplate a continuance of this state of affairs is anything but satisfactory. For these reasons I would respectfully ask Your Excellency to bring the matter before the Dominion authorities at as early a date as possible, and urge upon them the necessity of grappling with this difficult question at once, and, if possible, of bringing it to a satisfactory issue.

I have, &c.,

J. NORQUAY,
Minister of Public Works.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
FORT GABRY, 19th February, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that I have of late been waited upon by the Chiefs of several bands of Indians, who complain that wood is being cut on their Reserves.

I have directed Colonel Dennis to enquire into these cases, with a view to stopping the depredations complained of.

I find, however, great difficulties in dealing with the question, inasmuch as the reserves have not been surveyed and marked off.

As the matter is one of consequence, and is causing a good deal of irritation, I have to request that you will arrange with the Secretary of State that the necessary measures for marking off the Reserves, comprehended in the Treaty, may be adopted without delay.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
March 11th, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to enclose copies of letters from the Honorable D. A. Smith and Archibald McDonald, Esquire, in relation to the existing condition of affairs among the Indian tribes in the vicinity of Fort Ellice and elsewhere.

I have further the honor to state that the intelligence contained in the above mentioned letters is confirmed by the Honorable Pascal Breland, and by that gentleman's sons who are now resident in the Plain Country.

The Council of the North West Territories have by telegram, asked authority to send the Honorable Mr. Breland to ascertain what are the exact facts in reference to the matter, and it is intended to associate with him an active scout. I am unaware whether full credence is to be attached to these reports, but I think the precautionary measure suggested is a wise one, Mr. Breland is a very reliable man, a native of the Province of Quebec, who has been for many years a resident here, and has extensive acquaintance among the Indian tribes. I further learn from the Honourable James McKay, that a party of American Sioux, headed by "Little Knife" left here last Fall in a very dissatisfied spirit, and made sundry threats,

I have had representations to a similar effect from the Western extremity of the Province and have despatched the Honorable Mr. Norquay to ascertain what foundation there is for the anxiety that exists.—He will visit the locality of the Sioux Band and will make enquires while there. He is an English half-breed thoroughly familiar with the Indian character. Should it turn out that there is cause for the anxiety, as no incursion can take place until spring, I have made arrangements, if it becomes necessary, for the formation of two companies of mounted half-breed of both races. I have anticipated this despatch by telegraph, and think it of importance that communication should be had confidentially with the American authorities, as the Sioux in question have their head-quarters on the Missouri, in United States Territory.

FORT GARRY, 6th March, 1873.

To His Excellency

The Honorable Alexander Morris,
Lieut.-Governor of the North-West Territories.

SIR,—I have the honor of enclosing herewith for your information extract of a letter dated the 11th ult., from Mr. Archibald McDonald, the officer in charge for the Hudson's Bay Company of Fort Ellice and other Posts in the Swan River District of country.

The subject of protection in the Saskatchewan and Plain Country generally I have both verbally and in writing so frequently brought to the notice of the Imperial and Dominion Government as well as to that of your predecessor in the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Territories, that I deem it unnecessary at present to do more than respectfully, but earnestly, to draw your Excellency's attention to Mr. McDonald's representations, and to state it as my opinion that if early action be not taken in the matter, the safety of life and property will be seriously endangered, and that the consequence of continued inaction may be most detrimental to the best interests of the Dominion in these territories.

I have, &c.,
(Signed,) DONALD A. SMITH.

(Extract of a letter from Archibald McDonald, Esq., Chief Trader, addressed to D. A. Smith, dated 11th February, 1873, from Fort Ellice.

Rest assured that it will be for the benefit of both the Company and the Government that troops be sent up here before the end of March. In concluding my remarks on this subject, I beg to lay before you an extract, from the Plain dated January 29th.—“The fresh reports from the Sioux confirm the old. Antoine Glardien brought them when he came back from a trade among them; a large band has collected and is yet collecting at the White Mud River; “Little Knife” is at the head of the party in favor of raiding in a hostile manner. The famous “Sitting Bull” will not go with him unless he goes in a peaceful manner to make peace, &c., but I fancy “Little Knife” is head of the big party. Some say they are only to help themselves quietly without violence, until they settle with the Government, and another report says they are to commence hostilities right off.”

I am sorry to have to report a case of pillaging in this district at Egg Lake. There is a family of Indians at that place who have tried that game several times during the last two or three years; both there and at Touchwoody Hills they have drawn knives and guns to the Company's people. Last December, Mr. Thomas McKay, after great provocation, only prevented the same party from helping themselves by presenting his pistols and threatening to shoot them, and they would not move out of the store until they were pitched out. On their next visit to the place after he left Fort Pelly, they acted in the same manner, and after a scuffle with the two men there, they helped themselves to a bag of flour, a piece of pemican, less than half a bag and some pounds of sugar, and a few other small things of which I have not received full particulars, no goods were taken.'

"If two men are not sufficient to take care of property at such a small place as Egg Lake, it is high time that we should have law and order."

I will use, as I have always done, every precaution to avoid getting involved in difficulties, with Half-breeds and Indians, but it must be remembered that both these parties are very different from what they were under the rule of the Hudson's Bay Company, and they are every year getting more unmanageable, which is no fault of ours.

Thousands of pounds of provisions are yearly spent on Indians at this place about these very Tetons that now threaten this place. I myself, as well as a letter from my predecessor representing the case to Governor Archibald, his answer, both verbal and written, was that: "It is not necessary to give them anything, but wait for the Indian Commissioner; and on no account to visit the Province."

It is very easy for a person in his position at Fort Garry to give orders not to give anything to a lot of wild and starving savages who have come hundreds of miles to see him, but I would like to see him carrying out his orders. The Indians would never have gone back without some assistance in provisions and ammunition. Thus, while others have been to blame we are likely to be suffered.

(Signed,)

ARCH. McDONALD.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,

FORT GARRY, 21st March, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to enclose you a copy of a petition from the inhabitants of Palestine, a settlement of immigrants from Ontario, being the furthest beyond Portage La Prairie, towards the limits of the Province, in the direction of the Northwest Territories.

In consequence of the receipt thereof, I instructed the Hon. Mr. Norquay to visit the locality, and report to me. I enclose his report:

In thus acting and suggesting the mission of the Hon. Mr. Breland, I only do so from motives of precaution:

There is uneasiness about the American Sioux, owing to threats indulged in by "Little Knife" when in the Province last Fall, and owing to rumors from the plains. The settlement at Palestine is so situated that the settlers could be cut off one by one, without the knowledge of the others, if a hostile movement was threatened.

If Mr. Breland is despatched with assurances to the Crees and Assiniboines at Fort Ellice, of a coming treaty, it will quiet those tribes, and he will send forward scouts in advance of the Sioux Band, if on the move, should they design mischief, and in any event so as to arouse the authorities and population, and prevent a surprise. If there be mischief designed, the steps indicated will prevent it, and a sufficient force can be raised to protect the settlements.

I have been urged to send a detachment of fifty men to Fort Ellice, but Colonel Osborne Smith, in view of the reduction of his force by sixty men, whose services expire in May, is unable to spare them, and he, besides, is of opinion that so small a force would not be sufficient if there be a hostile movement.

I have not information to decide whether there is ground for the fears existing, but I am satisfied that the steps I have advised by telegraph, viz., the organization of the offered Volunteer Company at Palestine, the sending of Breland on a mission of enquiry, and of assurance of coming negotiations, and if necessary the eventual raising of a force of Metis and others, will be precautionary measures that will in any event commend themselves to approval.

As the Indians travel slowly, there will be ample time to take further defensive steps if necessary, the more especially as navigation will soon open and reinforcements can be thrown in if required.

The events of a few year's past in Minnesota justify precaution.

I have, &c.,

ALEX. MORRIS.

Hon. the Secretary of State for the Provinces,
Ottawa.

To His Excellency Alexander Morris, Governor of Manitoba :

May it please Your Excellency :

We, the inhabitants of Palestine, in public meeting assembled, have resolved to present to your Excellency the following petition :

Whereas, we have learned from reliable sources that a large party of Sioux Indians, now congregated at the Missouri River, consisting of some thousands of warriors, and led by some parties who considered themselves aggrieved by the state of matters in the Province, consequent on the transference of this country to Canada, do intend to make a raid on the outskirts of our Province with the design of plunder and murder, at the early opening of Spring.

Whereas, the settlement of Palestine, lying as it does on the pathway from the great Northwest, is exposed to the hostile and predatory incursions of the savages whose past history but too clearly shows their bloodthirsty character.

Whereas, the settlement is inadequate for self-defence, not only on account of the fewness of the people, but also on account of the want of arms and ammunition.

Whereas it would be to the interest and safety of the whole Province that a considerable body of troops should, without delay, be placed at or near this settlement.

Whereas, such steps as these, promptly taken, would not only be a safeguard to the Province against Indian hostilities, but would also materially encourage immigration.

Wherefore, we sincerely pray that your Excellency will be pleased to cause mounted scouts to be sent out a considerable distance towards the West, that the inhabitants in the western limits of the Province may be apprized of danger, and may thus prepare to resist the foe.

Your petitioners earnestly pray that at least one hundred soldiers be located at or near this settlement, without delay.

Also that your Excellency will be pleased to order that arms and ammunition for fifty men be sent to the inhabitants of this place, who will use them not only for self-defence, but also for the interests of the Province, if needs be, as loyal and dutiful subjects of Her Majesty.

We hereby promise your Excellency that we shall render every assistance in our power in preparing suitable quarters for the soldiers.

May it please your Excellency to think graciously on the prayer of your petitioners, as in duty bound will ever pray.

WINNIPEG, 17th March, 1873.

To His Excellency the Hon. A. Morris, Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba, &c., &c., &c. :

May it please Your Excellency :

In accordance with instructions directing me to proceed to Palestine to report on the cause of alarm that induced the people of that locality to petition the Government for troops to be stationed there, I have the honor to report that I proceeded to Palestine immediately, and on Friday, the 14th instant, convened a meeting of the inhabitants, and found that the alarm was caused by information that they had received from one Thomas McKay, in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company, who passed in some time ago from Fort Ellice, and who stated to them that there was a large number of Sioux Indians around Fort Ellice, whose intention was to make a raid on the Province in the spring.

He further, it is said, stated that the manner of these Sioux has considerably changed, instead of their former quiet deportment, they are now opening an arrogant tone, and behaving in a manner calculated to provoke a quarrel.

On my way up I made enquiries regarding those Sioux who have passed the winter in the country, and found out that a considerable amount of uneasiness prevails among them, and that they are holding councils very frequently, and some have been heard to say that in the spring they would do whatever they pleased, as they expected a large number of themselves in from the plains.

I have the honor further to inform Your Excellency that I saw two letters that were sent in by traders to their friends at the Portage.

Extract from letter written to Mr. Whiteway by trader Ooosoop or Backfat, states "the Sioux are going into the settlement, and I hear it is for no good."

This letter was written from a place called Red Ochre Hills.

Another letter to Mrs. Spence from her son Abraham Spence, at Qu'Appelle Lake, states "the Sioux are gathering at Wood Mountain and are going down to the settlement, but I don't know what is their intention."

From Mr. Rocha, at High Bluff, a man well acquainted with the Sioux, and one who is highly esteemed by them, I learnt also that he had been informed by certain Sioux that a large number of Sioux was expected in the spring.

The people of Palestine readily enrolled themselves, no one refused, many were absent—they elected their Captain, Lieutenant and Ensign, which fact I have communicated to Col. Smith.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, FORT GARRY,
March 22nd, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that I have arranged for Mr. Breland's immediate departure for Fort Ellice, and have obtained from the Deputy Receiver General here the sum of $200 towards the payment of his expenses. I have authorized him to tell the Indians in the neighborhood of Fort Ellice that the Commissioner will visit them in the summer.

Mr. Breland, being an elderly man, will at his own request be accompanied by an active and intelligent half-breed.

I am much pleased with the spirit displayed by Mr. Breland. When he accepted this important and somewhat difficult mission, he was on the point of starting on a visit to his old home in the Province of Quebec after an absence of thirty years.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE PROVINCES,

To an Address of the HOUSE OF COMMONS, dated 31st March, 1873, asking for “ Copies of all Communications from Indians or others in Manitoba, with the “ Government on the subject of the dissatisfaction prevailing among the “ Chiefs, Headmen, and Indians treated with in Manitoba, and adjacent ter“ ritory in the year 1871.”

JOSEPH HOWE,

For the Secretary of State.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

OTTAWA, 9th April, 1873.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,

FORT GARRY, 12th February, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to enclose for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, copy of a letter which I have just received from the Honorable James McKay, on the subject of the Indians with whom Treaties were made last summer and autumn.

It is impossible to be too particular in carrying out the terms, of the arrangements made with these people. They recollect with astonishing accuracy every stipulation made at the treaty, and if we expect our relations with them, to be of the kind, which it is desirable to maintain, we must fulfil our obligations with scrupulous fidelity.

It is quite possible the Indian Commissioner will have every thing ready for the opening of spring, but as it is uncertain where he is to be found, or how to address him, it seems proper to call his attention to the matter through the head of his department.

You will observe what Mr. McKay says, in reference to the seeds, agricultural implements, &c., required when the spring opens ; these must be carried to some of the Tribes, whilst the Lakes remain frozen, and unless every available moment is used after this intelligence reaches you, it will be too late for the coming season. It will be more to be regretted should any disappointment ensue after the sufferings of this rigorous winter. The intense frost has covered the lakes with so thick a body of ice, that the Indians have great difficulty in cutting holes through it to conduct their fishing. They are obliged to go far from the shore, to seek the deep waters of the Lakes, and there, the poor wretches, exposed to the pitiless breezes which sweep across the ice at a temperature of 30 ° below zero, strive through a thickness of six or seven feet of ice, to take a few fish to satisfy the cravings of hunger. How they can live through such exposure, is a subject of marvel.

When the Treaty was made at Lake Manitoba, the Indians understood, that they were to receive, as a present, a quantity of food that had been sent out there for the Treaty; but which was in excess of what was required in consequence of the shortness of the time the negotiations lasted, and of the limited number of Indians, who had received notice of the meeting. Perhaps it is fortunate the surplus was stored; if it shall be thought best, at this time of distress among them to distribute the provisions in alleviating the wants from which they are now suffering. I do not know the exact quantity on hand, but it cannot be too much for the purpose, and if judiciously divided among the most needy, would do great good. I have already telegraphed you on this subject, and shall feel obliged, if you have not sooner replied, you will do so by telegraph on receipt of this. It seems to me there ought to be some person here to look after these poor creatures. Whenever they are in distress they rush in to me or Mr. McKay. It is impossible to make them understand that we have nothing to do with them; and in point of fact we cannot resist the claims of humanity, or dismiss without something to eat; whole families on the very verge of starvation. Mr. McKay has been obliged to make some advances to them; they are not very considerable in amount; but ought not to be borne upon the private means of any person.

Since commencing this despatch, I have been waited upon by a deputation of Indians from Fort Alexander, headed by the chief from that quarter who signed the Treaty. They have come in, on purpose to see what arrangements are being made for carrying out the promises made at the time of the Treaty. I have been able to answer only in general terms; that they may rely upon all such engagements being faithfully kept, and I trust they will have no reason to complain. Meanwhile, of course, each visit from these poor creatures involves a long discussion and much waste of time, and as it would never do to send them away without a morsel of food, even if they have no right to it, it imposes a burden upon me from which I would gladly be relieved; if there were any person to whom I was at liberty to refer them.

It would be a mere mockery in reply to their request, for explanations or aid, to say, they may apply to a commissioner, distant a thousand miles from here. It seems to me, that if Mr. Simpson continues to reside, the greater part of the year, where he is inaccessible, it will be proper that there should be some person duly authorized to represent him in the Province.

Mr. Simpson is under the impression that by being out of the way of being called upon, he saves a great deal of importunity and some expense to the Government. This may be true, but if the saving is made at the cost of friendly relations with the savages, we shall not be much the better for the Treaty. The Government of Canada succeed to the position of the Hudson Bay Company with the Indians. And the usage of easy access to the representative of the governing power, which has continued for over a century, cannot be broken up at once without danger.

I have, &c.,

(Signed,) ADAMS G. ARCHIBALD.

Honorable James McKay to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba.

RED RIVER SETTLEMENT,
10th February, 1872.

SIR,—At the Indian Treaties which were concluded during the past summer, at Lower Fort Garry and at Manitoba Post, I explained, at the request of Your Excellency and Mr. Indian Commissioner Simpson, to the Indians in their own language, the terms of the said Treaties. In consequence of the promises then made, and which have not yet been fulfilled, I am constantly being waited on by Indians, claiming that the provisions of the Treaties should be carried out.

Owing to the absence of the Commissioner or to the want of our Indian agent for the Territories ceded, I am unable to refer them to the authority competent to deal with these affairs. I try to make them understand that it was with the Indian Commissioner the Treaties were made, and that to him is delegated the power to fulfil their conditions, but it is difficult to make the Indian believe that Your Excellency, who is the representative of the Queen, or myself, the medium by which the promises were made, are not the persons through whom they should be carried out. The Indians were promised that whenever they were ready to farm the Government would supply them with utensils, stock and seeds. The heads of families of the Tribes, with whom the Treaties were made, express themselves, without exception, as anxious as soon as spring opens to make a commencement in farming, and have sent to me to know when they can be supplied with these things. The Indians of Lake Manitoba have sent to me to remind me that after the month of March they will be unable to get them across the Lake until after the ice has left, and requesting that I should name a time when they could come for them. These Indians complain that a part of the provisions which were brought up to make the Treaty with, and which were promised to be divided among them were, after Your Excellency left Manitoba Post, put into store, and not distributed. These poor creatures are in great distress for owing to the great severity of the winter, and the great thickness of the ice they have been unable to pursue successfully their winter fishing, and they now ask that these provisions so stored be given to them.

Will Your Excellency kindly obtain the necessary permission from the Indian Department to give these provisions to them, and at the same time find out when the Indian Commissioner will be prepared to carry out the conditions of the Treaties. I am anxious to be able to give positive information to the Indians on the subject.

I have, &c.,

(Signed,)

JAMES MCKAY.

His Excellency
The Lieutenant Governor,
Fort Garry.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,

FORT GARRY, 6th July, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to acquaint you for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, that, on Thursday the 4th inst., Mr. Hart and Mr. Beatty, of the Land Department, the former the Inspector under Mr. Russell, the latter a contractor for certain surveys on the Upper Assiniboine to the south and west of Portage la Prairie, called upon me to say that the Portage Indians under Yellow Quill, their chief, had assembled where Mr. Beatty's survey was being carried on, and had forbidden him to proceed, and, in fact, had driven him and his party off the grounds. The Indians asserted that the surveyors were within their Reserve, and they were determined not to allow it to be laid off in lots.

I advised these gentlemen, in the absence of the Indian Commissioner, who is now at Fort Francis, to report the facts to the head of their department at Ottawa, and await his instructions, which I understand they did. To-day I was waited upon by Yellow Quill and a party of his braves. I had a long pow-wow with them, and succeeded in sending them away satisfied. On the explanations I gave them, they promised to withdraw all opposition to the survey. I have informed Mr. Hart of this, and told him he might direct the surveyor to return to his work.

This is another phase of the difficulties which arose at the River Roseau Reserve. When the Treaty of the 21st August last was made, the Indians were promised that a census of their different tribes should be taken with as little delay as possible, and that immediately afterwards the Reserves should be laid off, allotting to each soul thirty-two acres. A year, or nearly a year has elapsed and not a step has been taken towards ascertaining the number of Indians or laying off the Reserve. Meanwhile, at Roseau, the Reserve is robbed by whites, under color of an authority from an under officer of the Land Department, licensing them to cut anywhere on Dominion lands.

The wood and timber, which formed a principal object of the Indians in their choice of a Reserve, have been carried off, notwithstanding the solemnly plighted faith of the Crown. This of course, is known to the body of Indians all over the Province. Is it any wonder if it creates suspicion and fear, or that the Indians seeing nothing done to carry out the terms of the Treaty, should come to the conclusion to take the matter into their own hands?

This is not a state of things that ought to continue.

I am very glad I have been able to pacify these Portage Indians. They are on the highway to the West. Any dissatisfaction among them would spread further to the West and add to difficulties in dealing with the more savage tribes, great enough without addition to tax the best ability and tact to overcome them.

I feel a delicacy in interfering with matters outside my jurisdiction, but I cannot allow a feeling of that kind to prevent me doing what I can to put out sparks which, if neglected, might produce a serious conflagration. It is quite time these questions should be settled. Instructions should be given to have the Indian census taken and the reserves laid off, with the least possible delay, so as to avoid the very serious complications which may arise if the work is not done. Of course every pow-wow involves a small present, but I cannot hesitate between a few pounds of pork and the public peace, and have therefore ordered these Portage Indians a small present, which, if objected to by the Department I can pay out of my own pocket.

I have, &c.,

The Honorable

(Signed,)

ADAMS G. ARCHIBALD.

The Secretary of State for the Provinces,
Ottawa.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA,

August 2nd, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th July, 1872, requesting me to communicate with Mr. McMicken and such surveyors as are intrusted with surveying the Townships in the vicinity of certain Indian Reserves, with a view of having the outlines of these reserves defined.

I have done so, and no time will be lost by me in settling the exact localities.

Your letter also contains copy of a despatch from Lieutenant Governor Archibald on the subject of interference in the surveys by the Portage Indians, and complaining that although a year has elapsed since the Treaty of 3rd August was made, "not a step has been taken towards ascertaining the number of Indians or laying off the Reserve," and that in the meantime an officer of the Land Department has issued licenses for the cutting of timber anywhere on Dominion Lands.

Lieutenant Governor Archibald says also "Is it any wonder if it creates suspicion and fear, or that the Indians, seeing nothing done to carry out the terms of the Treaty, should come to the conclusion to take the matter into their own hands."

I am unaware upon what authority Lieutenant Governor Archibald grounds his belief that no step had been taken to obtain a census of the Indians; but I may inform you that he is altogether wrong in his supposition. Those means promising most success were adopted last autumn, and I have a fairly accurate list of every band included in the Treaty, with the exception of one. Steps were taken to ascertain the number of Indians included in this band, but, up to the present time, I have not been able to obtain any trustworthy account of them. Probably at their payment, which takes place in about a week's time, I may be more successful.

I am at a loss to understand Lieutenant Governor Archibald's expression that nothing has been done to carry out the terms of the Treaty, because I do not know what stipulations contained in the Treaty have been omitted, saving the definition of their Reserves.

No definite time was spoken of for this survey, and I am unable to control the action of other federal officers who may adopt courses of which I disapprove. In a former letter Lieutenant Governor Archibald referred to the delay in furnishing the Indians with ploughs, harrows, &c. These things, however, were promised to be given to them only when they adopted the habits of white men and settled on their respective portions of their band's reserve. No Indian has yet applied to me for agricultural implements.

With regard to the surveys, you will be aware that the Government have only lately been able to deal with the pressing demands of the white population of the Province. The half breed grant, although given long prior to that to the Indians, has been unavoidably postponed, and I had neither power nor instructions to ask the Superintendent of Surveys to discontinue the work laid out for him in order to define the limits of the Indian Reserve.

Mr. McMicken informs me that he telegraphed to the head of the Lands Department, asking permission to appropriate certain lands in order to change the Reserve of about 204 Indians, who, by the terms of the Treaty, were to be settled on the Roseau River. The land these Indians desire is not so valuable as that to which they are entitled, but will suit them better.

I have, &c.,

Indian Commissioner

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, August 10th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that I have commenced a prosecution against one of the policemen of Winnipeg for shooting at and wounding an Indian. The act on the part of the policeman seems to have been totally unnecessary and unjustifiable, and has caused considerable disquietude amongst the Indians. It appears that some few Indians had obtained liquor in the town, and, having become intoxicated, were shouting and making a noise at a place some little distance from the town. They were not apparently doing any harm beyond making a noise; some policemen, undistinguishable by uniform or badge from other civilians, approached the spot, and, at the same time, two Indian lads hearing the noise came up to see what was going on. Some attempt was made to arrest these latter, but they turned to run away, on which one of the policemen fired his revolver at the Indian, and, having missed with the first shot, fired a second time and wounded the Indian in the side. A third shot was fired, but it has not yet appeared at whom.

The policeman says that the Indian had a tomahawk, but all the evidence that I have been able to gather on the subject tends to substantiate the Indian's account, which was that he was a mere spectator, and was at some distance from the policeman at the time of the shot; that he was endeavoring to escape for fear of being locked up—a thing of which Indians have a great horror—and that he never held a tomahawk in his hand in his life. He admits having had a burnt rocket stick which he had picked up, and which can hardly be called an offensive weapon.

I have entrusted the conduct of the case to Mr. Cornish, believing him to be one of the most competent lawyers here, and the case has been adjourned until Wednesday next, the 14th inst.

I may add that the Indian is a lad of about 18, and has the reputation of being quiet and orderly.

His chief and friends of course applied to me, trusting that I would afford them the protection promised them in the Treaty.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
(Signed,) WEMYSS M. SIMPSON,
Indian Commissioner.

WINNIPEG, 21st September, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 17th of August, referring to the proposed attack of Chippewas upon the Sioux at the Portage, and containing instructions as to communicating with them; and also referring to the demands made by the band of Indians known as the Portage Indians.

With reference to the first subject, your views shall be carried out as far as possible. I hear of some collision having taken place between some outlying parties, but I do not think that any one was killed. The Chippewas of Red Lake—in the United States territory—appear to have been the aggressors, and if it is possible to arrest and identify them they will be punished.

With reference to the Portage band of Indians, I have refused to accede to their demands, and, in consequence, they refused to take their payment this summer. I am going on Monday next to meet them again, by their own request, when doubtless they will receive their annuity.

At the same time I have to inform you that it is absolutely necessary to supply these Indians with food for the few days during which they are being paid.

They are called together from their hunting and fishing, and being assembled in large numbers have no means of procuring food.

I have thought it beneficial to give to Indians who are actually settling down certain articles which they believe were promised to them, such as hoes, axes, &c., and which are really necessary to their undertaking the cultivation of the land, the advantages of which it has been my object to impress upon them from the first.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
(Signed,) WEMYSS M. SIMPSON,
Indian Commissioner.

W. Spragge, Esq., D.S.I.A.

(Copy.)

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, 23rd September, 1872.

SIR,—I beg to lay before you certain facts connected with the Indian branch of your Department in this country which may be of service to the Government, together with some suggestions thereon, the whole of which are very respectfully submitted.

You are, of course, aware that the treaty relations entered into, or said to have been entered into, with the Indians between Lake Shebandowan and the Lake of the Woods, have been of so unsatisfactory a nature that the bands on the line of route have this year totally refused to accept the Government payment.

You have doubtless also been informed that one of the bands in this Province, that at Portage La Prairie, have likewise refused to take the Treaty money for this year.

As I am not conversant with the facts of the two cases mentioned, I will confine myself to the complaints made by the Indians of the district I have the honor to represent, and the feelings existing between them.

They say, first, that at the Treaty of August, 1871, certain promises were made to them by the Commissioner which have not since been fulfilled.

That these promises included work oxen, ploughs, harrows and other agricultural implements, indispensable to a people who, by the sale of their lands, would be compelled to give up the hunt and depend upon agricultural pursuits.

That, owing to the high price of merchandize here, the three dollars per head which they get is quite insufficient to supply even fishing twine for their nets, and is not even equivalent to the loss of time entailed on those living at a distance in coming to the payment.

That the treaty now in print is not as they understood it at the times when it was signed in August, 1871.

That it was stated to them that no Indians in the other Provinces ever received more than three dollars per head for their lands, and that they have now reason to believe that the Government has before paid as high as four dollars per head.

That the chief councillors and headmen alike only get three dollars per head, whereas in other parts of Canada the chief, councillors, &c., receive a considerable amount more than the ordinary members of the tribe.

These are the complaints made by the band to which I have last alluded, and I have reason to believe that the same complaints are made by all the Indians of the Province; and it has lead to a general feeling that they are unfairly dealt with, and that the Government should take some steps at once to redress the grievance.

To have, then, a wide-spread dissatisfaction among the Indians of the Province; this feeling is more likely to increase than decrease, and is certain to influence the Plain Crees and other tribes west of us, and may possibly lead to serious complication if the matter is not at once dealt with by the Government. I have therefore the honor to suggest that, as one of the means of arriving at a better understanding with the Indians, that you should make an appropriation sufficient to cover the expense of taking the principal chief, his subordinates and some competent interpreters to Ottawa, and allow them to confer with the Government in the same manner as is pursued so often at Washington and with such good results.

The Indians urgently wish this themselves, and I am strongly of the opinion that the effect would be good; while the expense to the Government need not be great, while the Government route is available for their transportation.

I have the honor respectfully to urge that you will favor me with a reply at as early a date as you can, and I sincerely trust that the decision of the Government will be to allow those chiefs and headmen to see you in person at the seat of Government.

I have, &c.,
(Signed,) JOHN SCHULTZ

The Honorable
The Secretary of State for the Provinces,
Ottawa.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, 27th September, 1872.

SIR,—I have to inform you that having heard that Dr. Schultz had promised to take a certain number of the Indians of the Band occupying St. Peter's Reserve, to Ottawa, in the event of their aiding his return to Parliament, and hearing also that liquor was expected to be brought on the Reserve for the election time—I went down to see the Indians and to prevent the sale of liquors if possible. I found that both reports were correct and explained to the Indians that the Government would not listen to any proposal to bring Indians down to Ottawa, unless permission was first given, and that in such an event, it would be done through the proper channel. As I found it impossible to obtain direct proof as to whom the Indians were indebted for the liquor, I engaged twenty-five special constables for service on the reserve on the polling day, fearing that without them there would be a disturbance as the Indians were much excited.

The payment of these men will appear in the Accounts.

I have &c.,

WEMYSS M. SIMPSON,
Indian Commissioner.

MANITOBA, 12th December. 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt [of your letter of 9th October, embodying extract from letter from the Department to Dr. Schultz, as follows: "With reference to the proposition that a deputation shall proceed to Ottawa; I am desired to state that should their presence here be deemed desirable instructions will be forwarded to that effect."

I have but to say in reference to this, that if such a course was permitted, the authority of the commissioner and agents throughout the Indian country would be entirely destroyed, and the Department would be subjected to endless applications from Indians for receptions at Ottawa.

I have, &c.,

WEMYSS M. SIMPSON,
Ind. Commissioner.

Hon. Jos. Howe,
Secretary of State for Provinces,
Ottawa.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, 4th January, 1872.

SIR,—Referring to your letter of October last, on the subject of Indian affairs in Manitoba, I beg to state that I communicated its contents to the chiefs and headmen of the complaining Bands, but that they still insist and even with greater earnestness than before, that the conditions of the treaty as interpreted to and understood by them have not been carried out, and have sent me the enclosed affidavit of parties present at the treaty, to bear out the statements which they made before and which they desire to be substantiated to you.

On enquiring among respectable natives, who did not receive the treaty money, but who were present at the Councils which preceded the signing of the treaty. I am led to believe that the Indians have good grounds for their present state of dissatisfaction and in view of the consequences which are sure to follow a widespread disaffection among the Indian tribes I respectfully urge the Department to give the subject the immediate and earnest attention it is entitled to, with a view to removing the difficulty.

I have also to state that I will be in Ottawa in about a month and will endeavor to furnish any particular information the Department may desire.

I have, &c.,

JOHN SCHULTZ.

Personally come before me, William Henry Prince, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the county of Lisgar, David Prince, James Letter, Sen., Henry Chief, Thomas Flett, William Bear, Thomas Spencee; all of the said District of Lisgar, who being by me duly sworn, depose as follows:—

That they are natives of the country and they understand both the English and Indian languages.

That they were present at the signing of the Treaty at Lower Fort Garry last year, and did hear all the discussions which took place previous to the signing of said Treaty.

That on the day when said Treaty was signed the chiefs did enumerate the articles which they demanded in addition to the Treaty money.

That these articles enumerated were agricultural implements for the chiefs and headmen; waggons, horses, harness and suits of clothing; work oxen, bulls, cows, hogs, sheep, turkeys and fowls; on each reserve, medical aid and a school and school master; If they wished to take their treaty money in goods they would be supplied at Canadian prices.

That Governor Archibald and Commissioner Simpson did both promise to the Indians that the things demanded should be given, but said that we will not put all these things in the Treaty paper, but we will promise to make a separate paper which will do as well, and you will be sure of the things.

That these things have not been given, and that when they were demanded by the chief, Henry Prince, at the payment of this year, he could get no right answer from the Commissioner.

INDIAN OFFICE, WINNIPEG, March 1st, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 8th, enclosing copies of letters from John Schultz, Esq., M.P., the Department's reply thereto, and of an affidavit by certain Indians on the subject of the promises made at the first Indian Treaty at the Stone Fort. My letter of the 24th ult., in reply to a telegram received from Deputy Superintendent Spragge, will have explained the asseveration of the Indians.

There is however the question of medical aid, about which you specially ask, I do not remember any promise of this nature and I have never heard the subject mentioned until the receipt of your letter.

I am a little surprised that the Indians should never have spoken of this in their recapitulations of the many things they believed themselves entitled to, until Dr. Schultz's meeting with the respectable natives who did not take the Treaty "money," and I can only assume that it may have occurred to them, that having been fortunate enough to secure that gentleman as their representative in Parliament, they would do well to cement the alliance by obtaining his services as their medical adviser.

Your obedient servant,

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
FORT GARRY, December 13th, 1872.

SIR,—I have the honor to call the attention of the Government of the Dominion to the attitude and present position of the Indian Tribes in this Province and in the adjoining Territories.

First.—With regard to the Indians in this Province, they are urgent that their reserves should be surveyed, schools opened and the other provisions of the Treaty carried out. I consider it of importance that an officer or officers of the Government should maintain constant communication with these tribes, and see that all the provisions of the Treaty are rigidly carried out.

Secondly.—I have to call attention to the singular position of a party of the nation of Sioux, numbering about two hundred men and about five hundred souls. These Indians came into the Province some years ago, having fled from the United States. They camp in winter at the Portage, where the settlers complain much of the annoyance and expense they are subjected to from their presence, and from their being obliged to provide them with food. Some of the Sioux assist the white settlers as labourers in the summer. They have asked for land, and were led to believe, as I am informed, that they would be assigned a Reserve, and if so, they would plant crops and could then be removed from the settlement. I think it would be wise to give them a Reserve, but would refer to the despatch of Governor Archibald, No. 305, of the 27th December, 1871, in which the matter is fully treated of.

Thirdly.—There is a movement of some kind among the Indian tribes in the North-West Territories and the American States. I believe it to be in part created by the Boundary Commission. They do not understand it and think the two nations are uniting against them. A party of American Sioux came up here last summer, and left complaining that they had been insulted, and threatening to return in force in spring. This band are from the Black Hills, west of the Missouri, and I am informed number two thousand warriors. The Red Lake Indians, on the American side have been sending tobacco to the Sioux in our Territory, as it is believed with the view of common action with regard to the Boundary Survey.

The Indians in the plains were, as I am informed, told that they would receive a visit last summer from the Commissioner, to prepare the way for a Treaty, but this was not carried out, and as the Indians look for the rigid performance of promises, they should be complied with as speedily as possible.

Having submitted the position of matters with regard to the Indian Tribes, I think it right to make a practical suggestion as to the best mode of dealing with them. I believe that they can be retained in close alliance and friendship, by treating them fairly, kindly and justly. They should be advised by men they trust, of the real meaning of the boundary survey, and explanations should be given them as to the intended Railway surveys; and all stipulations of the Treaties should be scrupulously carried out.

To attain these ends, I would propose that there should be a Resident Indian Commissioner here, who should be a good business man, competent to draw up Treaties, attend to matters of account, &c., &c., and that he should be aided by two Assistant-Commissioners, natives of the country, familiar with the Indian dialects, and in whom they have confidence, and taken from the ranks of the English and French half-breeds. Such a man as, for instance, the Hon. James McKay, who has great influence with the Indian Tribes, and who gives largely to them of his own means, having done so, in one year alone, to the extent of $1,500, would be of great value in such a position, and I believe the services of two such men could be secured at a very small annual sum.

It would be necessary also to place at the disposal of the Commissioners, an annual sum to be expended in presents, on occasions of their receiving visits.

As it is of the first importance to retain the confidence and maintain the friendliest relations with the Indians, I submit these views for the considerations of the Government.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
FORT GARRY, 19th February, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that I have of late been waited upon by the Chiefs of several bands of Indians, who complain that wood is being cut on their Reserves.

I have directed Colonel Dennis to enquire into these cases, with a view to stopping the depredations complained of.

I find, however, great difficulties in dealing with the question, inasmuch as the reserves have not been surveyed and marked off.

As the matter is one of consequence and is causing a good deal of irritation, I have to request that you will arrange with the Secretary of State that the necessary measures for marking off the Reserves, comprehended in the Treaty, may be adopted without delay.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

INDIAN OFFICE,
MANITOBA, 24th February, 1873.

SIR,—In reply to your telegram of the 22nd inst., asking for "a report showing obligations to be yet fulfilled underagreements and additional to annuities;" I have the honor to inform you that this vexed question is the foundation of what little trouble we have had with the Indians at the times of their payment, and of that which may be yet to come. The circumstances of the case are these: When Treaty No. 1 was in process of negotiation, the spokesmen of the several Indian bands enumerated the gifts and benevolences which they required from Her Majesty's representatives in return for the surrender of the Indian country. Some of these were accorded, some refused; but, in the natural desire to conclude the Treaty, His Excellency, the then Lieutenant Governor and Mr. Commissioner Simpson, assumed, as it afterwards proved too hastily, that their distinctions and decisions were understood and accepted by the Indians.

Amongst the several speakers on the part of the Commission was a clergyman who had been for many years in pastoral charge of the St. Peter's Reserve, and this gentleman supplemented the articles enumerated by the Indians by mentioning others, which the Lieutenant Governor, he said, had authorized him to say they were to receive. Though immediately interrupted by Mr. Commissioner Simpson, the words had been spoken; and, at that juncture of affairs, it would have been difficult and probably inexpedient to entirely disallow them. So the Treaty was signed, the Commissioner meaning one thing, the Indians another. The proceedings were over but a short time before it became evident that there was some misunderstanding, and with the view of setting the matter at rest, as far as regarded one side, His Excellency the then Lieutenant-Governor, asked Mr. Commissioner Simpson, the Hon. James McKay and myself, as the persons knowing best the circumstances and details of the matter, to join with him in signing a list of articles which we severally and collectively understood to be the things promised to the Indians but not mentioned in the Treaty. Some little discussion took place about this, but it was eventually signed, and, I believe, forwarded to Ottawa with the Treaty, in October, 1871.

This list expressed our understanding of the matter, but it by no means covered the understanding or expectations of the Indians; and, from that time to the present, we have not visited any band, parties to that Treaty, without the untrustworthy nature of the Commissioner's and Governor's promises being thrown in our teeth.

You will, perhaps, remember that in the summer of 1871, the Pembina bands refused to receive their first annuity without the fulfilment of the promises they alleged had been made to them, and we were obliged to return, leaving them unpaid and discontented. In the summer of 1872, the Portage bands refused to receive their annuity and we returned, leaving them in the same condition, and it was merely a fortunate circumstance that I induced them later in the season to accept the annuity and leave the settlement of the questions in debate until the Government at Ottawa could be induced to deal with the subject.

The Indians of St. Peter's Reserve also were loud in their complaints, and, as I informed you in a former letter, kept me for six hours in discussion with their Chiefs and spokesmen before they could be pacified and persuaded to accept the annuity.

There is no difference of sentiment amongst them on this point; however remote they may be from one another, their demands and assertions are alike. In every case the cry has been the same, and there is not a shadow of a doubt that when they left the Grand Council at the Stone Fort they were firmly impressed with the idea that the demands which they had made had been, with few exceptions, granted by the Queen's representatives.

I am not aware whether or not Mr. Archibald was a joint Commissioner with Mr. Simpson, but he was the central figure at the Council table, and the Indians attached as much weight to his utterances as to those of Mr. Commissioner Simpson.

In after times they constantly visited him on the subject of the Treaty. It is necessary to know this to understand some of the conflicting accounts that are given by the Indians themselves. For instance, the Pembina bands based their expectation of a complete settlement of the matter in 1871, on their understanding of a conversation with Mr. Archibald. When we visited them in the Fall of that year they asserted that they had been told by the Lieutenant Governor to go back to their Reserve (Roseau River), and that when the Commissioner visited them to pay them he would satisfy them as to the articles they asked for. Mr. Simpson made them repeat the assertion, and took it down in writing, signed by the Rev. Mr. Cochrane, himself an Indian, who acted as interpreter, for he denied having given any authority for such a promise. The Indians, however, thought that what the Lieutenant Governor had said was as binding as the word of the Commissioners, and so they became sulky and unmanageable.

The following is a copy of an unsigned list in Mr. Archibald's handwriting, and is a nearly correct enumeration of what we have always called "the outside promises":—

"MEMORANDUM of things outside of the Treaty which were promised at the Treaty at the Lower Fort, signed Third day of August, A.D. 1871.

"For each chief that signed the Treaty a dress distinguishing him as chief.

"For two braves and two councillors for each chief a dress; it being supposed that the braves and councillors will be two for each chief.

"For each chief, except Yellow Quill, a buggy.

“ For the braves and councillors of each chief, except Yellow Quill, a buggy.

“ In lieu of a yoke of oxen for each Reserve, a bull for each and a cow for each chief.

“ A boar for each Reserve and a sow for each chief.

“ A plough and harrow for each person cultivating the ground.

“ The animals and their proceeds to be Government property, but to be allowed for the use of the Indians, under the superintendence and control of the Indian Commissioner.

“ The buggies to be the individual property of the Indians.”

There was another promise—a promise the Indians never omit to mention—that they should be supplied with a male and female of each animal used by a farmer.

And this appears on another fragment of a memorandum, also in Mr. Archibald's handwriting. Besides these promises, which unfortunately we read in one way and the Indians in another, and to which I will again refer, is the question of reservations and schools. They say it was promised them that their reserves should be laid out at once; so I believe it was. They refer to the promise mentioned in the Treaty that a school should be maintained on each Reserve when the Indians were ready for it.

My report to Mr. Commissioner Simpson, of 15th September last, pressed this subject on his attention, and in his letter to the Department of 21st September, you will observe that he asks for certain authority to be given that the matter may be set at rest; failing, the Government school on the St. Peter's Reserve, the Indians were assessed for the money to pay for the school master, &c., and regarding this as a tax imposed by the Government which they were bound to pay, they made grievous complaint of the non-fulfilment of the Treaty promises. They have since learnt that it was a parish assessment, not a Government tax, and the clergyman of the Reserve, who has more than once asked for relief in this matter, tells me that the Indians will not pay anything towards the school till the Government have fulfilled the undertaking contained in the Treaty. There are two schools on this reservation, and the method in which I proposed to deal with the matter—the Government being bound to maintain only one school—was submitted for the approbation of the Department by Mr. Commissioner Simpson on the 21st September, 1872. The same letter opened the question of a School for the Fort Alexander Band, and one for Fairford. I do not think that any other bands are yet prepared to make use of a school, but of this I shall be more certain after my tour of visits for payments in the summer. To refer once more to the alleged promises :—

The Indians claim that each head of a family was to receive, as he settled down on his share of the Reserve, a male and female of all animals used by farmers (horses, I think, were especially exempted during the discussion about the buggies). They claim a plough and a harrow, a spade, an axe, and a hoe for each head of family. A yoke of oxen with yoke and chain. A farmer to teach them to cultivate the land, and a blacksmith and a carpenter to assist them in building, &c. Seed wheat and implements to cut their crops, and other matters. Clothing for themselves and their families, and food when they require it in the winter.

As most, if not all, of these things were spoken of during the negotiations of the Treaty, and as the Indians never understood the line of assent and dissent of the Commissioner, the latter has given, in those cases where he deemed it expedient, such articles as he thought would really benefit the Indians.

On the 6th of September last, I received a large deputation from the Pembina bands and I formed a memorandum of their wants and the substance of my replies. I send herein copy of it, as it may afford you some light on this question, the speedy settlement of which is so desirable :—

18. D.—Surveyor. R.—To be sent as soon as Commissioner returns.

You will observe in this that there are several matters not spoken of in the Treaty or mentioned in the outside promises. It would be a long and tedious story to show the expressions which led to such and such a demand, and to explain the why and wherefore of each misunderstanding. It has been palpable from the first that the present unsatisfactory state of the relationships was inevitable, and Mr. Commissioner Simpson, though always seeking to tide over any difficulty in the hopes that time would exercise its usual influence in such cases, has always expressed his regret at having allowed the signing of the first Treaty to be rushed as it was, when as subsequent events has shown it was so necessary to have a perfect understanding. The full demands of the Indians cannot of course be complied with, but there is nevertheless a certain paradox in asking a wild Indian, who has hitherto gained his livelihood by hunting and trapping, to settle down on a reservation and cultivate the land without, at the same time, offering him some means of making his living. As they say themselves: "We cannot tear down trees and build huts with our teeth, we cannot break the Prairie with our hands, nor reap the harvest when we have grown it with our knives." The Indian can of course be dealt with on the basis "$3 a head and continue hunting and fishing till you die or are civilized off West"—or he can be induced to settle on his reserve and add to the working portion of the population. In the former case all the promises real and alleged could be commuted for a sum of money down, and the Indians would gradually disappear from here to re-appear in diminished numbers farther west; but taking the latter view as the more desirable one, the necessity of helping the Indian rather with what he really requires than with what he thinks he wants seems to me to be beyond a doubt. And it must be remembered that there is a wide difference between one band of Indians and another. The Portage Indians are hunters living in skin lodges on the Prairies; the St. Peter's Indians live either in houses or in canvas and birchbark wigwams. And even on this Reserve there is a difference of sentiments and customs between the Sauteux and the Swampies, and therefore no inflexible rule will serve to overcome the little difficulty that has wound itself round the Indian question.

I would venture to suggest that the first thing to be done is the immediate survey of the reserves; that is not only defining the outer line, but laying off a sufficient number of quarter sections (as per Treaty), in order that some families may settle down at once. You will observe that the deputation from Pemioua told me of thirty families (they gave me the names of thirty-four) who desired to take up their locations at once. The most ample power and authority should be given to myself, or whoever may be, in the opinion of the Government the proper officer, to prevent the cutting of wood on the Indian reserves. Tools and farming implements might be given or lent to them, according to the nature of the article and circumstances of the case.

I believe I could supply them to the band and make the chief and councillors responsible for them. That is, not responsible in the sense in which we use the word, but in a manner answerable for their safe keeping.

The animals promised must of course be given. The question for decision is "To whom were the animals promised?"

The four persons referred to named a limited number of Indians; (the Indians say the animals were promised to every head of a family as he settled down on the Reserve.

It is but common honesty to say that although this was not promised, the things which were promised, and those which were refused, mentioned as they were by three apparent authorities and spoken of in no regular communication, were so mixed up that it is little wonder if even the four persons most likely to know the exact state of the case, could hardly agree in the precise definition, when that was attempted to be made, within a month after the Treaty; and not at all surprising that the Indians believe their demands were complied with at the time, and that we are now trying to shuffle out of our obligations.

It is not necessary to give all these things at once; I certainly would not recommend it, but I should be in a position to tell the Indians exactly what they will have, in addition to what they have received, and when they will have it. And there can be no better criterion as to when to give them than the demand of the Indian and the approval of the agent.

It is useless giving a pair of animals to A, who has neither place to put them in nor food to keep them through the winter, when it may be proper to give them to B, who has both. In the same way with tools or implements, schoolmasters, and indeed most of the articles they claim. By dealing in a liberal yet careful manner, we may convert those who are now a nuisance and a danger into a population of peaceful, and in their own way, useful members of the community.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

INDIAN OFFICE, WINNIPEG,
24th February, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you, that in reply to your telegram, asking for Pay Lists of Fort Ellice and Behren's River Indians, I telegraphed to you, stating that the Fort Ellice Band was the same that as described in the pay sheet as the Riding Mountain Band, under the chief "Mekis." The Behren's River Indians did not come to the place of rendezvous at the time of the first payment, (1871), nor did they, I believe, make an appearance when Mr. Commissioner Simpson went out to Lake Manitoba, in the summer of this year. They are probably amongst those to whom I referred in my report to Mr. Commissioner Simpson, of 15th September, 1872, in which I suggested the propriety of the Indian Agent being permitted to pay the Indians of Lake Winnipeg in convenient localities without respect to the question of their belonging to Treaties No. 1 or 2.

By reference to that report, which was forwarded by Mr. Commissioner Simpson, for the information of the Secretary of State for the Provinces, it will be seen that the arbitrary line drawn in defining the Territory surrendered by Treaty, throws many Indians into Treaty No. 2, who never go near the place hitherto appointed for that payment. I suggested that some latitude should be allowed to the Indian Agent in the matter of paying Indians in convenient localities, without respect to their belonging to country surrendered by a treaty not covering the country where they might happen to be assembled.

I purpose to make several alterations in the places of payment during the present year, and I believe that with your authority to deal with such matters, when they present themselves, as I may deem best, I shall be able to execute my duty with more satisfaction to the Indians, and without any detriment to the public service.

To provide for the possibility of my telegram failing to reach you, I may state that the amount paid to the Fort Ellice Band was five hundred and thirty-one (531) dollars.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Indian Agent.

INDIAN OFFICE, WINNIPEG,
5th March, 1873.

SIR,—Referring again to your letter of the 8th ultimo, in which you ask “what amount will be required to supply a limited quantity of seed to such of the Bands as are prepared to cultivate the land for the maintenance of their families,” I have the honor to inform you that the question is not easily answered. It is impossible to obtain information on this subject until the summer, and then I shall not be able to depend upon what the Indians themselves say about it. If a few of the leading men express a desire to have some seed wheat, &c., for the purpose of farming, all the relations of those men, if not the whole band, will declare that they too are about to farm; and in connection with this matter, as with the gift of animals, is an unsettled point. We never understood that Indians already settled and tilling the land, the chief excepted, were to receive those things which were intended to assist an Indian in starting a small homestead—a plough and harrow for instance—but the Christian Indians claim to be treated in all respects the same as the others. Every man in this Reserve will want seed, and some of them will not perhaps use it for the purpose intended.

I would suggest that the Department should empower me to supply such persons as really require it, in such proportions, and on such conditions as would ensure its proper use. It will then be the duty of the Indian to show that he requires it; not mine to show that he does not.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Indian Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

INDIAN BRANCH,

OTTAWA, 6th May, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to forward herewith, in compliance with the Address of the 28th ult., from the House of Commons, “a Copy of the Report of the Superintendent of Indian Affairs for British Columbia, for 1872-73;” and also, copies of “any subsequent correspondence which has been received at or despatched from this Office, “concerning the Indian Affairs of that Province.”

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

The Honorable J. C. Aikins,
Secretary of State for Canada, &c. &c.

BRITISH COLUMBIA,

VICTORIA, January 13, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to transmit herewith my Report upon the native tribes of this Province, together with the accompanying map, shewing their geographical division according to dialect, which will be delivered to you by Mr. McLennan, of the Canadian Pacific R. R. Survey Corps.

The limited time which has intervened since I assumed the duties of my office has prevented me, perhaps, from entering more fully into details respecting many important subjects of the Report, but I trust it will be found sufficient, as a basis upon which to inaugurate some wise policy for the future government of British Columbia Indians.

Application has been made to me for a grant of five hundred dollars, to be presented to the Indians of Fraser River in prizes, at the celebration of Her Majesty's birthday at New Westminster, 1873. This has heretofore been the custom of the Colonial Government, and I shall be glad to have instructions as to its continuance or otherwise.

I have refrained from proposing any other money grants, as they will quite depend upon what the future treatment of our Indians is to be, and which, I need not add, a personal explanation in connection with my Report would much facilitate. If consistent with your own duties to afford this by an early visit to our Province, it will, no doubt, be attended with much benefit, and it will give me great pleasure to extend to you a hearty welcome.

Immediate action is very desirable, as soon as practicable, in locating Reservation lands for Indians in those portions of the Province where white settlers are now anxious to pre-empt homesteads. The Local Government at present frequently urge this upon me, with a view of withdrawing reserves which have been put upon land in order to allow Indian Reservations to be made previous to white settlement.

I have the honor further to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram, authorizing a credit in favour of this Agency of fifteen hundred dollars; and, in my next letter, I will enclose vouchers for any payments made from that sum.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

 BRITISH COLUMBIA.

 REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

BRITISH COLUMBIA,

VICTORIA, January 11th, 1873.

SIR,—In submitting my first Report upon the native tribes of British Columbia, agreeably to your instructions, I have the honor to state that the short period which has intervened from the date of my appointment as Superintendent of Indian Affairs for this Province, the lateness of the season, with the consequent difficulty of obtaining the required material, have precluded me from accompanying it with very desirable statistics in respect to the precise number of our Indian population,—only to be obtained by a careful census, which, I need not add, will be a work of time, in respect to the vast interior and extensive coast-line of the main land and adjacent islands, all inhabited by numerous tribes of Indians, speaking a variety of different languages.

In order to convey some systematic idea of the native tribes of this Province, I have made for the purposes of this Report a geographical division of the several nationalities of Indians using entirely different dialects, and which you will find more particularly exemplified and shown in the map of the Province transmitted herewith. Generally, the generic name of the principal or chief tribe of any nation is that by which such nation is distinguished. The Chinook jargon, usually alluded to as the common language of the coast, and which, according to a celebrated author, “does not baffle all attempts at its mastery,” is very little used or understood by natives outside of white settlements, and is generally (I think justly too) despised by them, as being far inferior in every way to their own tongue.

COWICHAN NATION.

Beginning at Victoria, the capital of the Province, the nation of “Cowichan” includes a large number of semi-civilized tribes, extending eastward to Beechy Bay, on the Straits of Fuca, and on the east coast northwards to Baynes Sound, Vancouver's Island; on the main land, from the mouth of Fraser River to Yale; and northwards to Bute Inlet, including all the islands in the Gulf of Georgia. Southwards, the Clallum tribes of the Territory of Washington, United States, at one time very powerful and numerous, also use the dialect of the Cowichans.

These tribes are in a much better condition than many others in the Province, and for many years have had Roman Catholic missions established among them, and for the last eight or ten years missions under the Anglican and Wesleyan Churches. They have made considerable progress in agriculture, and many of them, especially on the Fraser River, speak the English language well, and some of them can even read and write. They are most useful aids to the settler, and as a general thing very good workers; and with the scarcity and high price of white labour, their presence seems almost essential to the development of this magnificent part of the Province.

In November, I visited Cowichan, Vancouver's Island, for the purpose of attending an Indian Industrial Exhibition, inaugurated some three or four years ago for the benefit of the tribes of this portion of the nationality. I observed some very good samples of wheat and root crops; but the exhibition of needle, crochet, and knitted work, by the native women, was both surprising and most creditable. There was a lively competition for the prizes, which consisted of agricultural implements, seed grain, calico, cotton, woollen goods, yarn, etc., and much interest was manifested in the conduct of the Exhibition generally.

I afterwards addressed the Indians, congratulating them on this evidence of thrift and industry which I had witnessed, and assured them of my warm co-operation in all future efforts of the kind. Great satisfaction was expressed on their part, and three hearty cheers for Her Majesty terminated the colloquy. These Indians were all well dressed and well behaved, the women of the tribe especially being remarkably clean and neat in appearance.

They have a beautiful reserve, containing some twenty-seven hundred acres of land, the garden plot of the district, but have made but little use, comparatively, of it. The burden of their complaint is the necessity of proper allotment of the land among themselves, and the constant dread of having some portion of it taken away from them. Crime is not uncommon among them, and numbers of the tribe have been executed from time to time for the most atrocious murders.

The Cowichans include many tribes, and number probably some seven thousand in population.

COMOX NATIONALITY.

Further north, on the east coast of Vancouver Island and adjoining the Cowichans, the Comox nation is the smallest in the Province, and composed of two tribes numbering about one hundred. Originally, the Comox were driven from Valdez Island by the warlike Euclataws, and were hospitably entertained by the Pumlchts or Puntledges, then residing at Comox, and of the same general family of the Cowichans.

The larger tribe has gradually absorbed the smaller, almost decimated by war and disease.

The Comox dialect is quite different from any other in the Province, and I am told by an intelligent informant is very similar to that spoken by the Umpquaws in California. The Anglican Church has a mission among them, but as yet very little can be said of their social or moral progress. Fish of all kinds are most abundant here, and constitute their chief article of diet. Game—such as bear, elk, deer, mink, marten, beaver, wolverine, otter, &c., is as yet easily procured in this district. They number two tribes, with a population of one hundred.

ALIT NATION.

The nation of Alits inhabit the west coast of Vancouver Island, from Woody Point south to Port San Juan, at the entrance of Fuca Straits. I believe one tribe of this nation—the Markah or Classets—live south of the Straits, at Cape Flattery, United States. They are a nation of savages, and are without the civilizing influences of any Christian mission. Quite a large trade in furs and oil is carried on with them, which I am informed last year amounted to $75,000.

They have suffered greatly from bloody internecine wars, and have committed, from time to time, the most cruel atrocities upon white traders and luckless merchantmen shipwrecked upon their coast. Punishment has, no doubt, followed some of these crimes, but the great difficulty of securing the real perpetrators has more often led to their escape. A notable instance of this kind occurred in 1864, when, in consequence of the murder of the captain and crew of a trading sloop, Admiral Denman, with two or three of Her Majesty's ships of war, proceeded to Klawuhat Sound to demand the murderers from their tribe, the Ahousahts. On this occasion, notwithstanding all their villages were shelled, numberless canoes destroyed, and some of the Indians killed, the guilty chief still defied capture. The Admiral gave the tribe a month in which to deliver him, promising to return in that time, if they failed to comply. Fortunately for the chief, but unfortunately for the execution of the law, the fleet never returned. The chief enjoys his liberty, and the tribe to this day consider themselves to have been victorious on that occasion. A wholesome dread, however, of Her Majesty's war ships was firmly established.

No reservations of land have as yet been made for the Alit tribes, and they consequently claim all the land on the coast. A portion of land at Alberin was purchased from the Seshahs by Messrs. Anderson & Co., who subsequently pre-empted it under the Colonial law; and complaint is now made to me by the agents of that Company on account of recent threats on the part of the Seshahs to drive them off.

Should it be the intention of the Militia Department to establish posts anywhere in British Columbia, there is no place where it would be attended with so much satisfaction and general utility as at Alberin, the centre of the Alit nation. The prestige and moral force of such an establishment would be felt by all coast tribes of the Province, and be productive of good alike to the Indian and settler.

The Alit nation number twenty tribes, the population of which is estimated at three thousand, or three thousand five hundred.

QUACKEWLTH NATION.

The Quackewlth or Quakule nation extends from Woody Point, on the west coast of Vancouver's Island, to Point Day, Millbank Sound, and south to Loughborough's Canal, on the main land, and on the east coast of Vancouver's Island to the country inhabited by the Comox tribes, including all the intervening inlets. The Quackewlths partake of the general characteristics of the savage tribes of the coast, and are not more enlightened as to the right and wrong than the Alit nation just described.

The first murder of a white man in the country was by members of one of these tribes (the Newitte or Clatilseaquilla), and the first expedition of white men against Indians was undertaken by the crew of Her Majesty's ship Dædalus, during the administration of Governor Blanchard. Their population is estimated at about two thousand, and the number of tribes sixteen or seventeen. The sub tribes, called Euclataws, are classed with this nationality, and number about fifteen hundred additional.

BELLA COOLA AND MILLBANK NATIONS.

These nationalities seemingly have no affinity in dialect with either the Tsimpshean or Quackewlths.

They inhabit the country and inlet about Bentinck Arm and Dean's Canal and Millbank Sound, as far north as Carter's Bay. They consist of eleven tribes, and a population of about two thousand.

TSIMPSHEAN NATION.

The Tsimpshean nation occupies the sea coast of British Columbia, north of the Millbanks, and inland up the Nass and Skeena Rivers to the vicinity of Babnie Lake, where they trade with the Tahelies and Siccanies, the adjoining interior bands. This nationality consists of about twenty-five tribes, and a population roughly estimated at five thousand.

HYDAH NATION.

The Hydahs inhabit the Queen Charlotte group of islands. Two tribes of this nation (the Kygahine and Chatseenie) live in Alaska, on the southern islands of the Prince of Wales' Archipelago.

The Hydahs include some ten tribes, numbering about twenty-five hundred.

TAHELIE AND SICCANIE NATIONS.

The Takalie or Tahelie nation (signifying people who go upon water, from the fact that they used to go from one village to another in canoes,) embraces with the Siccanies all the interior tribes north of a line from Bentinck Arm, by way of Chilcoatín, to Athabasco Pass or Boat Encampment.

The Siccanies are not very numerous, but have a dialect quite different from the Takalies. They occupy the region of Peace River north of Fort McLeod. The general condition of these Indians is wretched, and their local, social, and moral character extremely low. An occasional visit from one of the Roman Catholic missionaries is the only Christian teaching they have had. One of their chief characteristics is treachery; and it was a tribe of the Takalies (the Chilcoatins) who, in 1863, massacred all but two or three of the late Mr. Waddington's party, who were employed at the time in constructing a trail through the Chilcoatin plains to Carriboo. From sixteen to twenty thousand pounds sterling were expended by the Government (and even then without complete success) in the endeavour to bring the guilty parties to justice. They live upon fish and game, and know nothing whatever of agriculture. Among the fish, easily obtained, are whitefish, trout, carp, sturgeon, salmon, &c.; of game—besides wild fowl—moose, cariboo, bear, beaver, fox, mink, marten, lynx, otter, fisher, wolf, wolverine, musquash, &c., are procured with facility. They have particular places for hunting and fishing peculiar to and claimed by each tribe. The boundaries of these localities cannot be transgressed without tribal consent, obtained by purchase or otherwise. There are as yet no reservations of land made for them, and the early prospective development of that part of the Province, together with the future welfare of these Indians, render the immediate selection of their lands imperative. They number a population of some fifteen hundred.

SHUSWHAP NATION.

The territory south of a line drawn from the mouth of the Chilcoatin River to Boat Encampment, Columbia River, with the exception of the Fraser River region below Alexandra Bar, is inhabited by a comparatively superior race of Indians, the Shuswhapmouch or Shuswhaps; though of a nomadic disposition, they are industrious, and many of them have accumulated considerable wealth by packing and boating for the whites.

Being of a religious turn of mind, successful missions have been established among them:—at Okanagan and William's Lake by the Roman Catholic, and at Lytton by the Anglican Churches.

Their prospects in agriculture are most favourable; and in addition to the favourite product of the natives generally—potatoes—they have, without much encouragement, produced cereals of all kinds in considerable quantity.

Notwithstanding their prominent vices, gambling and prostitution, they are beyond the average of other Indians in honesty and trustworthiness. They are also more prone to habits of economy and a desire to acquire wealth, many of them indeed being shrewd usurers. An old settler among these Indians told me, that the only objection he has to borrow money from one of them, is, not only the amazing regularity with which he comes for interest, but the desire he manifests at each time to see the principal as well.

There are some good reservations of land among the Shuswhaps; but without allotment, or indeed any Government superintendence, they are at the present unsatisfactory to all concerned. They possess considerable stock, and obtain all kinds of fish and game with facility.

I have no doubt but these Indians would benefit immensely by judicious efforts to promote their educational and agricultural interests. They number about two thousand five hundred.

KOOTENAY NATION.

The Kootenay Indians are a small tribe of some three or four hundred, who are located on the Kootenay, D'Oreille and Columbia Rivers, in the Kootenay District, and seemingly have no affiliation by language to any other nation. They are a most warlike band, living principally by the chase, but of a friendly disposition towards the white settlers. The tribe possesses some three or four hundred head of cattle, and some twenty-five hundred horses.

There are no reservations in this district, but the Indians generally cultivate small patches of land, and already imitate the whites successfully in growing roots and vegetables. They procure salmon and other fish in the Columbia and Penn D'Oreille Rivers, and obtain all varieties of game, including buffalo. In their general condition and character they are not inferior to the Shuswhaps, with more careful internal organization, and I believe less of their vices. I am informed by the Adjutant-General, who visited this locality during the present year, that they are frequently exposed to horse stealing raids from the Blackfeet Indians; and in their efforts to retaliate, "the south-eastern part of the district is frequently rendered unsafe."

A detachment of soldiers, stationed somewhere near Tobacco Plain, he considers would not only put a stop to this warfare, but promote and secure the peace and development of the district.

The Kootenays barter chiefly in cattle, horses, blankets, fire-arms, &c., with Stoney and Blackfeet Indians, and consume from twenty-five to thirty thousand dollars' worth of flour and other articles purchased from the whites annually.

The Roman Catholic are the only missionaries who visit the natives, and they have exercised much beneficial influence in controlling and christianizing them.

GENERAL CHARACTER AND CONDITION OF THE INTERIOR AND COAST INDIANS.

If we except the Takalies and Siccancies, and many tribes of the Cowichans on the coast, the interior Indians are far superior in general character and condition to those of the coast. The coast tribes retain many of their barbarous customs, the existence of which totally unfits them for the higher life of civilization, and, morally speaking, are most degraded. Being both thievish and licentious, their corruption and depravity under the present system is promoted by the lower grades of the white race, with whom they are mostly brought into contact. The charge of cannibalism, as a characteristic of the coast tribes, I think is without foundation in respect to its true form, but has probably arisen from the fact of slaves being sacrificed and devoured at the great medicine feasts, held by the Tsimpshians, Quackewlths, and occasionally by the Bella Coolas. Slavery exists among these tribes at the present time, but I believe the custom of sacrificing them for the purpose just mentioned has generally fallen into disuetude.

The mental capacity, however, of the coast Indians is very great; and where education has been attempted with any kind of system, as at Metlakathlah, the results have been not only surprising, but highly satisfactory.

The native mechanical genius of these tribes is wonderful, and a great incentive to the future establishment of Industrial schools.

Guns are stocked, mainsprings forged, and household furniture manufactured by them with facility and elegance. They are splendid carvers in wood, metal, and slate, and the jewellery fashioned from an ordinary gold or silver coin by them would do credit to first-class artists. The superb canoes made by the Hydahs and Alits are perfections of design and accurate workmanship; and it might be added, that the lines of the first clipper built by an eminent ship-builder of Boston were taken from a Nootka canoe.

The women of the coast tribes are depraved and corrupt—virtue being almost unknown and unappreciated by them. The young girls of the northern tribes, especially the Quackewlths, are sent down regularly to Victoria and various places on Puget Sound for the purpose of prostitution. After a sojourn of three months, they return with canoe loads of whiskey and other proceeds of their ill-gotten gains, which are given over to the chiefs and their tribal relations. The disease and drunkenness consequent upon this disgraceful mode of life causes the large decrease in the population of these tribes.

The women also practice abortion and infanticide: among some of the nationalities, the proportion of female children destroyed in this way is probably fifty or sixty per cent.

In appearance, the general characteristics of the natives of British Columbia do not differ very much.

The salmon-eaters of the southern coast are shorter, with broader and darker features than the Indians of the interior. Those living near lakes and streams, who diet on both fish and flesh, are much better featured, with more handsome stature. The Indians living north, especially the Hyāahs, are tall, good-looking, with fair complexions and almond-shaped eyes. They are shrewd traders, and decidedly intelligent.

The Shuswhaps and Kootenays are superior in condition and general character to any of the other nationalities in the Province, and will, no doubt, improve and profit much, almost immediately, by a liberal and enlightened Indian policy. They take well to agriculture, and are industrious in any pursuit which gives a prospect of profit. To show the importance of their trade, I quote the following item of the British Colonist newspaper of November 26th, 1872 :—

“INDIAN GOLD MINING.—From $15,000 to $20,000 are annually contributed to the wealth of the Province by the mining on the Thompson and Fraser Rivers, which is carried on almost exclusively by the natives at low water. Wherever a bar has collected some gold, a batch of Indians may be seen, during the coldest weather, rocking their cradles and saving the precious ore. The native trade is at least seventy-five per cent. of the whole trade of the interior.”

INTERNAL ORGANIZATION.

The policy of the late Colonial Government, inaugurated by Governor Douglas in 1858, was to treat Indians as British subjects; and it had the effect, in a great measure, of doing away with their customary internal organization.

The former hereditary chieftain, alike powerful in war and peace, is now the possessor of merely nominal influence and authority; and the birthright, unless accompanied by wealth, gift of oratory, or some very superior trait of character, is a poor inheritance. The distant interior tribes pay much more attention to the internal organization, especially those controlled and influenced by Roman Catholic missionaries; and their chief has not only his sub-chiefs, but officers of a lower grade, who are empowered to execute his orders in every particular.

Chiefship is hereditary, descending in both male and female line.

I believe nearly if not quite all the nationalities favour nepotism in this respect, and a chief's sister's son is the heir presumptive. Should the line of succession fail, or the succeeding heir not have any of the qualities appertaining to a chief, the whole tribe assembles and elects a man of their choice to assume that dignity. Chiefship is generally maintained by a system of free donations, or “patlatches;” and the more a chief can donate or “patlatch,” the greater his power and popularity. To accumulate food, blankets, &c. &c., for this purpose, a chief will often not only deprive himself of the necessaries of life, but allow his family to suffer from want, practising meantime the most rigid and miserly economy.

The custom of holding these free-gift festivals is quite common among the coast tribes. The presents generally consist of blankets purchased for the occasion, or preserved from former “patlatches;” and it is expected that they will be returned by some equivalent at a future gathering. The person who gives away or wantonly destroys the greatest amount of property acquires much praise, and frequently obtains the highest tribal rank.

“Patlatches,” no doubt, not only retard civilizing influences, but encourage idleness among the less worthy members of a tribe, and will, I trust, by wise administration become obsolete in time.

N. B.—Among Northers, there is a system of heraldry or crest, which is rigidly respected.

MARRIAGE.

Marriage among these Indians is effected simply by purchase or some presentation to the relatives of the girl on the part of the suitor. Polygamy is permitted by all the bands, but is only resorted to where financially convenient.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL TREATMENT.

Beyond practising sorcery and the most arrant witchcraft, the Indians generally have no system of medical or surgical treatment among them, and though subject to phthisis, pneumonia, scrofula, syphilis, &c., nothing has been heretofore done for them by the Government in respect to any humane or proper system of treatment. The missionaries and some of the old settlers have been in the habit of keeping a few medicines for them, and have occasionally, when application has been made for it, received a small allowance from the Government Charity Fund for this purpose.

A feeling of humanity alone suggests the establishment of a dispensary supplied with medicine, vaccine, and a few surgical appliances and instruments, in different parts of the Province, where it would be most useful, and where any one could be found capable of taking charge of it. The erection of one or two small and inexpensive hospitals in the most populous Indian centres, would also, I feel assured, be highly beneficial.

EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS.

Very little progress has been made as yet in educating the Indians of this Province. So far all efforts in this way have been confined exclusively to missionaries, and they have received no local aid whatever for this purpose.

Without any system of union among those of different persuasions or joint co-operation, it cannot be said that the labor of educating the Indians under these circumstances has been attended with much practical success.

The Roman Catholic, Anglican and Wesleyan Churches have schools established at their several missions in the Province, but apart from the want of effective pecuniary aid, the supineness of Indians in allowing their children to attend has very greatly obstructed their efforts. The promotion of industrial habits I regard as a necessary adjunct not only to their secular but religious instruction, and I believe the different missions of British Columbia would be glad, if sufficiently aided, to establish industrial schools under proper Government inspection, as being the most successful mode of obtaining the future welfare and happiness of the Indian. I am informed that the industrial school established on the north-west coast of British Columbia, at Metlakathlah (already alluded to), under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society, has been attended with the most signal success, not only in elevating the moral and social states of the Indians concerned, but in being a source of pecuniary profit to them.

No doubt a number of such schools in different parts of the Province, with some similar or approximate mode in their conduct, would be of incalculable benefit in making the rising generation of the native race good citizens and useful members of society.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS.

The nomadic character of the coast tribes is the greatest obstacle to the development of their agricultural interests, as the season of the year most necessary for cultivation is taken up in wandering from one place to another in search of their winter supply of fish, berries, roots, &c., &c.

But, a policy calculated to wean them gradually from their migratory habits, by locating appropriate reservations, and regulating existing ones (which they much desire), will no doubt encourage their interests in this subject. The agricultural prospects of the interior tribes, as the Shuswhaps and Kootenays, are much more flattering, and a supply of the best seed grain, agricultural implements, wagons, harness, &c., furnished them at the mere cost of these articles (and for which I am generally informed they would gladly pay), would, no doubt, greatly stimulate them to renewed and more successful exertions.

Among the Shuswhaps many of the reserves require irrigation, which a little assistance in the way of a loan to the industrious and honest, under certain restrictions, would easily accomplish.

Among the Siccanies, the Batines and Carriers, the summer frosts which open prevail in these high latitudes, are a great drawback to all farming operations. (For Indian Reserves, vide Appendix A.)

TREATMENT OF INDIANS, BY PAST COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS.

Perhaps the system of treatment of Indians inaugurated by the first Colonial Government of Vancouver Island, and carried out by succeeding Governments, cannot be better described than by quoting the following exurt from the speech of Governor Douglas, delivered at the opening of the first Legislative Assembly of Vancouver Island, in 1856, notable from the fact of being that in which representative institutions were first granted to the Colony :—

“ The Colony has been again visited this year by a large party of northern Indians, and their presence has excited in our minds a not unreasonable degree of alarm.

“ I shall continue to conciliate the good will of the native Indian tribes by treating them with justice and forbearance, and by rigidly protecting their civil and agrarian rights.

“ We know, from our own experience, that the friendship of the natives is at all times useful, while it is no less certain that their enmity may become more disastrous than any other calamity to which the Colony is liable.”

Again, at the opening of the first Legislative Council, on the mainland at New Westminster, in January, 1864, the same gentleman, after alluding to some other matters, said :—

“ The native Indian tribes are quiet and well disposed, the plan of forming reserves of land, embracing the village sites, cultivated fields, and favorite places of resort of the several tribes, and thus securing them against the encroachment of settlers, and forever removing the fertile cause of agrarian disturbances, has been productive of the happiest effects on the minds of the natives.

“ The areas thus partially defined and set apart in no case exceed the proportion of ten acres for each family concerned, and are to be held as the joint and common property of the several tribes, being intended for their exclusive use and benefit, and especially as a provision for the aged, the helpless, and the infirm.

“ The Indians themselves have no power to sell or alienate these lands, as the title will continue in the Crown and be hereafter conveyed to trustees, and by that means secured to the several tribes as a perpetual possession.

“ That measure is not intended to interfere with the private rights of individuals of the native tribes, or to incapacitate them, as such, from holding land ; on the contrary, they have precisely the same rights of acquiring and possessing land in their individual capacity, either by purchase or by occupation under the Pre-emption Law, as other classes of Her Majesty's subjects ; provided they in all respects comply with the legal condition of tenure by which land is held in this Colony.

“ I have been influenced in taking these steps by the desire of averting evils pregnant with dangers to the peace and safety of the Colony, and of confirming by these acts of justice and humanity the fidelity and attachment of the native tribes to Her Majesty's rule.”

It will therefore be observed that beyond giving Indians the protection of the law, and reserving certain lands for them in the settled portion of the Province, which, I have previously stated, have never been regulated by allotment or indeed any superintendence whatever, no particular Indian policy has ever been adopted. Money payments by the Government, on account of the native race, have been restricted to expenses incurred by Indian outrages (in one case, as already stated, from £16,000 to £18,000), and no efforts have been put forth with a view to civilizing them, it having been considered that the best mode of treatment was “ to let them alone.

Under such a policy, I believe it was mainly owing to the kindness, well known fact and firmness with which its author, Sir James Douglas, was accustomed to treat Indians, that more trouble was not at that time experienced with them.

Naturally they have had little experience in the virtues of the good, but have participated freely in the vices of the bad with whom they have been mostly associated.

PRESENT OBSTACLES TO INDIAN CIVILIZATION.

Among the greatest obstacles in the way of elevating the Indian there is none more potent than the present illicit whiskey traffic, with a view to removing which, the following prohibitory Act was passed and made law. An ordinance to assimilate and amend the law prohibiting the sale or gift of intoxicating liquor to Indians, 2nd April, 1867. Whereas it is expedient to assimilate the law prohibiting the sale or gift of intoxicating liquor to Indians in all parts of the Colony of British Columbia, and to amend the same, be it enacted by the Governor of British Columbia, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

1. "The Indian Liquor Act, 1860," of the Colony of Vancouver Island and its dependencies, and "The Indian Liquor Ordinance, 1865," of the Colony of British Columbia, are hereby repealed; Provide, however, that such repeal shall not have the effect of reviving any Proclamations, Ordinances or Acts respectively repealed by the said Act or Ordinance hereby repealed or either of them; and, Provided also, that all liabilities and penalties imposed and accruing due under the said repealed Act or Ordinance, or either of them, and all remedies and punishments for recovering and enforcing the same shall, still, notwithstanding such repeal, remain in full force and effect, and be capable of being enforced and inflicted as if such Act and Ordinance were still in force, but not further or otherwise.

2. Any person selling, bartering or giving, or attempting to sell, barter or give, intoxicating liquor to any Indian of the continent of North America, or of the islands adjacent thereto, shall be liable on conviction for each such offence to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

3. Any person found in possession of any intoxicating liquor of any description in any house, tent, or place of abode of any Indian, is liable under this Ordinance to be deemed prima facie to be in such house, tent, or place of abode, for the purpose of giving such intoxicating liquors to Indians, and shall upon conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and imprisonment not exceeding six months.

4. When it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the convicting justice that the person charged has been before convicted under this Ordinance, or either of the Act or Ordinance hereby repealed, the justice may, on conviction, commit such offender to prison for a term not exceeding twelve months with hard labour, without the option of a fine, should such justice see fit to do so.

5. In any case where it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the convicting justice that the offender has not attained the age of sixteen years, the justice may order such offender to be once or twice privately whipped, in lieu of or in addition to the aforesaid penalties, at the discretion of the justice.

6. Any person holding any wholesale or retail liquor license in the Colony, who shall be convicted under this Ordinance, shall, at the discretion of the convicting justice, be liable to the forfeiture of his license, in addition to the other penalties, and shall not be entitled to a renewal of such license in any part of the Colony for a term of two years from the date of such conviction.

7. When it shall be proved before any justice that any vessel, boat, canoe, or conveyance of any description, whether on the coast of British Columbia, or on any river, or lake, or stream, in the Colony, is employed in carrying intoxicating liquor to be supplied to any Indian or Indians, such vessel, boat, or canoe or conveyance so employed shall be declared forfeited; and every person engaged in the conveyance, sale, or distribution of such liquor, in manner aforesaid, on board of such vessel, boat, canoe, or conveyance so employed shall be liable to all the penalties provided for under this Ordinance for persons convicted of selling liquor to Indians.

8. It shall be lawful, nevertheless, for any justice before whom any charge is brought under this Ordinance, notwithstanding anything herein contained to the contrary, to acquit any person who has given intoxicating liquor to Indians medicinally, or under such other circumstances as may appear justifiable.

9. Any person giving information leading to the conviction of any person under this Ordinance, shall be entitled to receive one-third of any pecuniary penalty inflicted under this Ordinance, at the discretion of the convicting justice.

10. It shall be lawful for any Officer of Customs, or for any Superintendent or Inspector of Police, or any other officer specially appointed by the Governor for that purpose, or for any Officer of Her Majesty's Navy, on full pay, at his discretion to rummage and search for fermented, spirituous, or intoxicating liquor, any ship, boat, canoe, or other vessel suspected of containing intoxicating liquor for the use of Indians, and upon reasonable ground in that behalf, to detain and seize the same, and bring her, for the purpose of investigation and adjudication, to any convenient port or place within the said colony, and every master of a ship, boat, canoe, or other vessel having on board his ship, boat, canoe, or other vessel any fermented, spirituous, or intoxicating liquors not satisfactorily accounted for, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding one thousand dollars, and all such last mentioned fermented, spirituous, or intoxicating liquors shall be forfeited.

11. No ship, boat, canoe, or other vessel having fermented, spirituous or intoxicating liquors on board shall leave any port in the Colony of British Columbia for any part of the coast of the said colony, or for any port or place on the coast of Russian America, or to the northward thereof, without the master of such ship, boat, canoe, or other vessel making a declaration, in the form marked 1 in the schedule to this Ordinance, setting forth the quantities, description, and destination of such liquors as aforesaid as may be on board, and obtaining from the Officers of Customs, at the port of departure, a permit to carry such liquors, which permit may be in the form marked 2 in the said schedule. It shall be lawful, however, for the Governor to exempt any vessel from the operation of this section of this Ordinance, whenever the circumstances shall be such as, in the opinion of such Governor, to render such exemption expedient and desirable.

12. Every person obstructing any Officer of Customs, or of Her Majesty's Navy on full pay, or any Peace Officer, or other officer specially appointed by the Governor for the purpose of this Ordinance, or any person lawfully acting under their or any of their orders respectively, in pursuance of the powers given under this Ordinance, shall be guilty of an offence, and on conviction thereof shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding the sum of five hundred dollars.

13. Whenever any penalty is imposed for any offence under this Ordinance, the same may, unless otherwise provided, be recovered and inflicted by way of summary proceedings before any single Justice of the Peace, and every such penalty may, with costs of conviction, be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of any offender; and in case such goods and chattels shall prove insufficient to satisfy such penalty and costs, then by imprisonment of such person so offending for any term not exceeding twelve calendar months.

14. In the construction of this Ordinance, the word "Governor" shall be held to mean the Governor of this colony or other the officer administering the Government of this colony for the time being; and whenever in this Ordinance in describing or referring to any person or party, matter or thing, any word importing the masculine gender or singular number is used, the same shall be understood to include and be applicable to several persons and parties as well as one person or party, and females as well as males, and bodies corporate as well as individuals, and several matters and things as well as one matter or thing unless it otherwise be provided, or there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

15. In case of any summary conviction under this Ordinance no warrant of commitment upon a conviction shall be held to be invalid by reason of any defect therein, if it be therein alleged that the person offending has been convicted, and there be a good and valid conviction to sustain the same.

16. This Ordinance may be cited for all purposes as "The Indian Liquor Ordinance 1867."

Among the Coast Indians especially, the above law has been and is violated with impunity by the unscrupulous classes of the community, and it has been debated with much force and argument in political circles whether it might not be prudent to legalize this nefarious traffic under certain restrictions, since its suppression under the present law would seem impossible. Under existing regulations a most vile compound is manufactured, principally in Victoria, which is not only freely retailed, but cargoes of it, both by canoe and the ordinary coasting sloop, are obtained and despatched with the greatest facility.

It has been urged that the inability of the Indian to procure good liquors at a moderate rate, tempts him to pay a most exorbitant price for this wretched substitute. The very large profits resulting from such a trade, induce the principal offenders to engage in its manufacture, while the inadequate means employed by the Government for detection generally allow the minor agents to retail it without punishment. The direct effect upon the Savage is most untoward and disastrous, producing wild riot, fierceness, rage, and the most frantic excitement.

During periods of intoxication, murder, and rapine are rampant among them—horrrifying even the participants when the poisonous effects have passed off, and when they are cognizant for the first time perhaps of having committed some bloody crime. The most depressing languor, sorrow and despair rapidly follow, and infirmity, disease and death soon sweep off the victim. Under the present system, apart from the multiplication of difficulties in governing the native tribes, their decimation and utter extinction is only a matter of time, and before advocating its abrogation, I think the attempt should be made to enforce the provisions of the law—especially since all intended reforms in respect to the civilization of Indians are dependent upon this—the most important one being effected first.

In pursuance of this object, the Superintendent should be invested (ex-officio) with the powers of a Magistrate and Preventive Officer of Her Majesty's Customs.

The employment of two or three detectives, and an occasional "search" for what is known as Indian Liquor, would disclose some of the large stores of it in possession of the principal parties concerned in its manufacture.

A small steamer to be used as a Revenue Cutter is an absolute necessity, not only for the purpose of visiting the numerous Coast Tribes, but would be most effectual in overhauling craft suspected of being engaged in this illicit trade; such a steamer might also be employed in supplying lighthouses, laying buoys, and much other work required by the Marine and Fishery Agent, the joint expense to be borne by the two Departments. Confiscation and fines would materially assist in diminishing the expense of enforcing the law by the Indian Department. In respect to the trial of these cases, as local influences have been known to interfere with the rigid administration of justice, discretionary power on the part of the Superintendent would enable him to transfer any case from the jurisdiction of one Magistrate to that of another.

In connection with the above subject, I have received the following communication from General Milroy, Superintendent of the Indian Affairs for the Territory of Washington, complaining of our Indians who visit his Superintendency, and the want of authority to reach them, owing to their claiming to belong to British Columbia.

OFFICE SUPERINTENDENT INDIAN AFFAIRS,
WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
OLYMPIA, NOV. 29TH, 1872.

Dr. J. W. Powell,
Superintendent Indian Affairs,
Victoria, B.C.

DEAR SIR,—During our personal interview at your residence, in Victoria, on the 27th ult., I spoke to you about Indians from Vancouver Island and other points in your superintendency, coming over and causing trouble among our Indians around Puget Sound, and on the southern side of the Straits of San Juan de Fuca. Since then I have visited many points in these localities, and learned more about these matters, and desire more especially to call your attention to them in the hope that some efficient measure may be concerted between us, or our respective Governments, that will lead to measures that will give each of us the same power and control over all Indians who come into our respective Superintendencies from each other, as over those who are natives and resident. Both the Congress of the United States, and the Legislature of this Territory, have enacted stringent laws against the sale or giving of intoxicating liquors to Indians, but, it has been held by our courts, that these laws are only applicable to Indians subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and residents of the States or Territories, and hence, not applicable to Indians belonging to British Columbia or the British Provinces. These Indians come over and hire out in large numbers to the many Logging Camps and Saw Mills around the Sound; and having the same rights and privileges as white British Subjects, they purchase intoxicating liquors with the same impunity that it is sold to white citizens, and sell and give away the same to resident Indians, occasioning much intemperance, degradation, trouble and often bloodshed and murder.

Another fruitful source of evil and degradation, flowing from the free intercourse of the Indians of your Superintendency with this Territory is, that large numbers of Indian women come over with their husbands, parents and friends, and lay around our logging camps, saw mills, villages and towns, for prostitution; several large brothels at different points around the Sound are wholly supplied by Northern or British Columbia Indian women, and are having a most baneful influence upon both whites and Indians of their localities.

Doubtless the Indians of this Superintendency, cross over into British Columbia and occasion trouble and degradation among your Indians and whites, more or less, as your Indians do here.

In view of the evils that now exist on both sides, without any prescribed remedy, I respectfully suggest that an arrangement be made between us (or authority be obtained for making such arrangements if not now possessed), by which offending foreign Indians of both sides shall be arrested and sent home, and delivered to the Superintendent to whom they respectively belong, with the charges and proofs against them, to be dealt with as may be thought best, and that each Superintendent defray the expenses of the arrest, and bringing home of their respective Indians. I make this suggestion for your consideration, and will be pleased to here your views thereon.

The evils spoken of are growing and must be met.

I have the honor to be, with much respect,

Your obedient Servant,
R. N. MILROY,
Superintendent Indian Affairs, W.T.

In my reply, I considered that the fault rested in the law, or interpretation of it, which made any discrimination between the two Nationalities,—that on this side all are treated alike—and the man who sells whiskey to any Indian, American or British, is equally subject to punishment. No doubt a very slight amendment of the American law would reach the difficulty the worthy Superintendent complains of. In regard, however, to the prostitution of our Indian women, I think the same principal should apply, but if not, I would gladly welcome any reciprocal arrangement by which we might assist each other in checking this gross evil. I have already alluded to the prostitution of native women carried on in Victoria, without any hinderance whatever, the suppression of which I consider quite possible, were they prevented from living in town for that purpose, and the Reservation for the Shoughees located elsewhere.

CONCUBINAGE.

The custom among the lower classes of white men in this Province, of purchasing Indian women (the Indian form of Marriage), and keeping them for a time, is another of the obstacles in the way of their social and moral advancement. After a short time the women, with the issue of their concubinage, is returned to her tribe to eke out a future miserable existence, and in this way a generation of half-breeds is growing up, for which provisions will have to be made, or suffer them to become a disgrace to society and trouble hereafter to the State.

I am not sure that the people who choose this way of living are not, "ipso facto," married "in the eye of the law;" but if not, it is a matter of great importance that the sooner they are made so, by the proper legal remedy, the better.

Previous to closing a Report, which (from the brief tenure of my Superintendency thus far) is to a certain extent imperfect; I may be permitted to call attention to the great value of Indians to the country as inhabitants. Being large consumers, they are large contributors to the general revenue. The exports from British Columbia of furs and fish oil, nearly if not all, obtained by Indians, from date of Union with the Dominion, 20th July, 1870, to 30th June, 1871, were:—

Furs—United Kingdom.....	$121,989
" United States.....	78,418
Fish Oil—United Kingdom.....	16,850
" United States.....	10,788
	$228,045

Export of cranberries varies according to favorable seasons. In 1869 it amounted to $10,790 00, in later years less. Of the imports, the Indians are of course the chief consumers.

By the very large quantities of fish, game, &c., with which they supply all the white settlements, the cost of living is materially reduced, and the poor or unfortunate are enabled at all times to prevent even a risk of hunger. The high price and scarcity of labor make the men invaluable aids to the settler and manufacturer, while the women often make excellent laundresses and general servants. I have no doubt that the Dominion survey parties, while exploring the wilds of British Columbia during the last two years for a practicable railway route, experienced what many an old pioneer trader or miner has heartily felt, i.e., the great importance of the natives as expert boatmen and industrious packers. These considerations point to the great necessity of preventing, as far as possible, even in a financial point of view, the ruin and decimation of this class of our inhabitants now going on; but when added to this, the higher and holier purpose of elevating them from a savage and degraded state to the position of useful citizens, the duty of judicious administration in their behalf on the part of a wise and humane Government becomes imperative. Not by providing them, according to their own simple and primitive custom, with gifts which encourage a want of ambition and idleness, but by measures calculated to improve their moral condition and promote their regular and systematic employment.

They soon understand how strong the arm of the Government is to punish their wrong doing, and none therefore, appreciate more, the ability of that power to protect them and redress their grievances.

Some five or six sub-agents, who will reside among the different nationalities, having as a chief duty, their instruction, improvement, and protection. Men who will acquire their respect and confidence, I regard as a necessary, in addition to the recommendations I have already had the honor of making.

Annual reports from such appointees, would not only furnish necessary statistics in respect to the several native tribes, but might convey much additional information of great use and profit to other departments of the Government.

I am well aware that innovations of whatever nature, must be most cautious and gradual to be even hereafter effective, but, I believe that a policy which is characterized by firmness, kindness, and justice—with the requisite power, independence of action and machinery, to make these virtues felt and appreciated by the Indians of British Columbia, will vastly contribute to their welfare and future happiness.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. W. POWELL,

Superintendent Indian Affairs, British Columbia.

To the Honorable

The Secretary of State for the Provinces, Ottawa.

APPENDIX A.

RESERVATION OF LANDS, FOR THE USE AND BENEFIT OF INDIANS.

During the existence of British Columbia as a Colony, the power of reserving lands for the Indian Tribes was solely vested in the Governor, by virtue of his commission ; after being made, the reserves were published in the "Gazette." Under the articles of agreement, by which British Columbia was united with the Dominion, it will be seen that the charge of the Indians, and the trusteeship and management of the lands reserved for their use and benefit, shall be assumed by the Dominion Government, and a policy as liberal as that hitherto pursued by the British Columbia Government, shall be continued by the Dominion Government after the union.

To carry out such policy, tracts of land of such extent as it has hitherto been the practice of the British Columbia Government to appropriate for that purpose, shall from time to time be conveyed by the Local Government to the Dominion Government, in trust for the use and benefit of the Indians, on application of the Dominion Government, and in case of disagreement between the two Governments, respecting the quantity of such tracts of land to be so granted, the matter shall be referred for the decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The following letter with accompanying schedule of existing reservations in the Province, from the chief Commissioner of lands and works, dated, October 16th, 1871, will explain the system hitherto pursued by the Colonial Government, in laying off and locating lands for the sole use and benefit of the native tribes :—

LANDS AND WORKS OFFICE,
VICTORIA, 16th October, 1871.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your instructions under date of 5th September, to prepare tracings of the Indian Reserves existing in this Province, together with statistics of the natives generally. I have now to transmit herewith a series of tracings, lettered from A to Q inclusive, shewing all the Indian Reserves which have been surveyed, together with a schedule showing the locality, number of section, general description, acreage, name of tribe in whose favor each reserve has been made ; also, an appendix one (1), shewing what portion of any particular reserve have been leased to white men, together with the terms of lease. Parts of the Soughees' Indian Reserve opposite to Victoria, have been so leased by Commissioners appointed by Sir James Douglas. These leases have all expired or been cancelled.

A certain sum of money, nineteen hundred and eighty-four dollars and eighty-two cents is now lying in the treasury to the credit of this reserve, and is constantly increasing.

The leases shewn in the appendix were executed by me, in virtue of the authority of the late Governor, and are only binding so far as the Government may have the power. The rents shewn in the appendix are due from the date of each respective lease. I have no statistics as to the number of Indians in each tribe, and have no means of obtaining them. It would cost a great deal of time and money, and would involve a visit to each Indian village throughout the Province. There are, especially in Vancouver Island, a great many tribes which have no reserves marked out, either on plan, or on the ground.

The Land Ordinance (1870) under which alone lands can be acquired by intending settlers, specially exempts all Indian lands and settlements from its operation. It has generally been the practice to lay out on the ground, the Indian reserves synchronously with the settlement of the district by the whites. This system has been found effectual, and far less costly than that of surveying the reserve altogether, as they are materially scattered, and often at great distances apart.

In the latter case, the posts and marks on the ground might become obliterated before the white men advanced; as the Indians, though tenacious of their rights in the lands, when once surveyed will not take the trouble to perpetuate these posts and marks, or to preserve them in any way.

Appendix two (2) shews the portions of land included in the Quamichan District (sheet B) which have been promised to certain settlers in the district, with the consent of the natives.

There are various missions established in different parts of the Province, but as they are chiefly located on lands taken up under the pre-emption laws, I have not reported them as existing, inasmuch as the Indians have no direct interest in the land.

The Metlakatlah Mission on the north-west coast of the Province, is established on lands specially reserved by the Government for the purposes and uses of the mission.

Other reserves can be made from time to time as may be found necessary.

No titles to lands held by the Indians have been issued.

The Executive has always exercised a general control and supervision over the Indians and their lands, and has always prevented them from alienating in any way, any portion of their reserves. No Indian reserves have been laid out on Vancouver Island on the west side, and none beyond Comox, on the east side. No Indian Reserves have been laid out on the coasts of the mainland beyond Burrard's Inlet.

The total area of land laid out on the ground for the use of the natives is 28,437 acres.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,)

The quantity of land intended for each family was (as previously stated) in no case to exceed ten acres, and was to be held as the joint and common property of the several tribes.

No census of Indians has ever been taken, and no surveys of reservations, with a view of allotting to each family concerned, the proposed quantity of land, has ever been made. As a consequence, no system of cultivation has been pursued, and very little of the land comparatively utilized, though in many of the districts the choicest pieces have been so reserved. In consequence of a want of regulation in this respect, it has been too customary for the most powerful Indian to claim the greatest quantity; and instances have come to my knowledge of an individual member of a tribe claiming one, two, and three hundred acres, though making actual use of perhaps a fraction of an acre—widows, orphans, and the weak among them being wholly ignored.

No doubt, a properly organized system of allotting these lands and holding them in certain quantities open to pre-emption by any Indian, upon condition of improvement and giving the possessor full rights of ownership among members of his own tribe, would quiet prevalent apprehensions of encroachment, now so frequently indulged in by them. Some equitable apportionment, I am free to add, would in any event be far more satisfactory to the different tribes concerned, and much more effectual in promoting their welfare, than the present system.

In prospect of the early settlement of more remote parts of the Province in which reservations have not as yet been made, as on the west coast of Vancouver's Island, the coast of the main land, and many parts of the interior, I consider it highly desirable, both for the safety of the white settlers and the satisfaction of the Indians, that such reserves should be made as soon as practicable. The plan pursued in the adjoining Territory of Washington—of gathering Indians upon large reservations—I do not think at all feasible nor politic in British Columbia.

The native tribes are ardently attached to their ancient village sites and places of birth and burial; and I opine their consent to our adoption of the American custom, in this respect, could not even be purchased. Indian lands, to be hereafter located and reserved, should not only include arable soil, but, where practicable, the village sites and favourite haunts of the natives. Salmon and other fisheries, from which they draw the principal portion of their food, should be set apart for them along the coast; and some regulations are necessary, at the mouths of the great rivers, whereby salmon will not be prevented from running up to spawn. I am informed that some three or four thousand interior Indians suffered greatly during the present year, owing to the absence of any system of this nature at the mouth of Fraser River. Reservations for interior tribes should also be larger than those on the coast, in order to afford future and ample stock-runs, of which they are now much in need.

CULTIVATION OF INDIAN LANDS.

In respect to the cultivation of Indian lands, I may state that no system whatever has been hitherto followed.

With very few exceptions, from an eighth to two acres are the extent utilized by each family, and these consist of mere potato patches. They know nothing of the rotation of crops, and very little of the necessity of renewing seed. They possess no agricultural implements, and, except at some of the most forward Christian missions, do not attempt to raise grain of any kind. With a coast celebrated for abundant fisheries, interior lakes alike productive, and plenty of game among the mountains and woodland, the natives have neither the desire nor the necessity of paying much attention to agrarian pursuits.

The coast tribes, too, are very migratory in their character, leaving their villages in early spring after planting their potato patches. They wander during the summer months, collecting such articles of food as they are able to obtain for winter use, such as dried berries, kammass root, clams, &c. &c. At the beginning of autumn, they return, and devote a few weeks to the "catch" of salmon, now filling the bays and rivers.

Upon the "run" of this splendid fish depends the staple stock of provisions for the coming winter.

The objects to be obtained, by the almost necessary migratory habits, are gradually growing less, owing to the progress of white settlements in the Province; and it becomes a question of paramount importance, in view of the future, to encourage them to depend mainly for subsistence upon the cultivation and production of their lands. I believe the judicious distribution of seed grain, agricultural implements, &c., would be attended with the greatest benefit. Ingratitude being one of the general characteristics of the native race, I do not think the system of free gifts advisable; besides, the return of a "quid pro quo" would not only make these presentations more appreciated, but would beget a spirit of manly independence so essential to their civilization and happiness. Industrial exhibitions, with prizes of utility, should supplant the present "patlatches" (free donations) of molasses and biscuits; and the encouragement of Christian missions to organize and establish industrial schools, should succeed the present custom of allowing the coming generation of native children and half-breeds to become worthless and vagrants.

The most important Indian reserve in British Columbia is the Soughees, in the suburbs of Victoria, which, though comparatively useless in an agricultural point of view, is valuable on account of its proximity to the city. Some two or three thousand dollars have already accumulated from the portions of this land which have been leased, and in view of the prospective and important growth of Victoria, no doubt a handsome sum could be realized by further rental or its absolute disposal. The land itself—being composed mostly of rock—is quite unfitted for cultivation, and at present, without any proper superintendence, is simply a disreputable rendezvous.

A reserve, procured a little farther from the city, for the Soughees (numbering about 120), and a regulation compelling all Indians coming to the place to camp upon it, or some adjoining one, during their sojourn, would materially assist in preventing prostitution, already referred to, and the illicit whiskey traffic at present carried on without any apparent or effective interference.

APPENDIX B.

STATUTES OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, NOW IN FORCE, RELATING TO INDIANS.

1. Act to prevent the violation of Indian burial places, imposes a penalty of not exceeding one hundred dollars for removing anything from Indian graves; second offence—liable to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.
 2. Act for the admission of evidence in certain cases provides for the reception of Indian unsworn testimony. How such testimony shall be taken. Preliminary caution. Indian declaration of evidence. False declaration, perjury, &c. &c.
 3. Act for prohibiting sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians (already quoted).
 4. Act to regulate Indian Reserves, and give certain powers to magistrates to settle disputes; also, to remove trespassers from said reserves.

MEMORANDUM OF TREATIES MADE WITH INDIANS FOR PURCHASE OF THEIR LANDS.

I may state that the Colonial Government has never acknowledged, by any treaty, the pre-existing right of the Indian (as such) to the lands of the Province.

The Hudson's Bay Company previously, however, made several treaties with natives of Vancouver's Island, an abstract of which—although published last year in the able report on British Columbia, by Hon. H. L. Langevin, C.B.—is hereto appended, in order to complete the history of the past treatment of the Indian tribes of the Province.

No treaties have ever been made with natives of the main land.

MEMORANDUM OF TREATIES MADE WITH INDIAN TRIBES FOR PURCHASE OF THEIR LANDS.

I append hereto an abstract made by the authorities with the Indians, for the purchase of their Lands in order that the same might be thrown open to settlement by the whites.

These treaties embrace the country from Victoria to a few miles beyond Sooke Harbor, and from Victoria to North Saanich, also the lands around Nanaimo. The total area might probably be one-fortieth of the whole Island.

I am not aware of any similar treaties having been made with the natives of the mainland.

APPENDIX F.

THE CHRISTIAN MISSIONS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Roman Catholic Church has had Missions for many years at St. Mary's, Fraser River, William's Lake, Okanagan, Stuart's Lake, Fort Rupert, Cowichan and Victoria, besides itinerant missionaries. There are at St. Mary's a convent and industrial boarding school, with an attendance of from forty to sixty male and female Indian pupils. I believe a large additional number of natives receive instruction here. There are mission schools at William's Lake and Okanagan, and the well regulated and comfortable convents of the Sisters of St. Ann at Victoria and Cowichan, where many Indian girls and half-breeds receive the ground work of a good education. Of the praiseworthy efforts in this way, of these good sisters, I have had personal observation for the last ten years.

Church of England.

The Anglican Church has Indian missions at Comox, Nanaimo, Cowichan, Kincolith, Metlakathlah, Yale and Lytton, and mission schools at Nanaimo, Cowichan, Kincolith, Metlakathlah and Lytton. I am informed that the Rev. R. Tomlinson, the missionary at Kincolith, is a medical man, and in addition to a boarding school has also a native hospital.

At Metlakathlah there is a most successful industrial school, under the supervision of Mr. Wm. Duncan; some 500 Indians form an orderly village, and they have a saw mill, soap manufactory and market house. About 2,000 more Indians receive instruction at schools for both sexes at this place. A new church is now building.

In connection with the mission at Lytton there are some two thousand Indians, and about one thousand at Yale.

The Wesleyan Methodists have missions at Nanaimo, Victoria, New Westminster and Chilliwack.

There are Sabbath schools held regularly at New Westminster and Victoria, and there is a day and Sabbath school at Nanaimo. They have one travelling missionary, the Rev. T. Crosby, who is both zealous and untiring and visits a large number of tribes in the Cowichan Nationality.

INDIAN BRANCH,

OTTAWA, February 8th, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th ult., with report and map relative to Indian affairs in British Columbia, and have to express satisfaction with the comprehensive information which it conveys.

BRITISH COLUMBIA,

DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,

VICTORIA, February 20th, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3rd ult., acquainting me that my powers as Indian Superintendent are limited by the laws of British Columbia until legislative enactments, in respect to the Indian affairs of the Province, are passed by the Dominion Parliament. Doubtless important amendments are in contemplation for the native population of British Columbia, and in connection with the importance of a clause prohibiting the supply of intoxicating liquors, more stringent than the same for other Provinces of Canada.

I beg leave herewith to transmit a letter from Mr. Wm. Duncan, who has been very successful in the establishment of an industrial school among some of the northern Indians, under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society. In respect also to one of the pernicious customs alluded to in Mr. Duncan's letter, i.e., the indiscriminate donation of property for display commonly called a "Patlatch." I enclose a list of articles with their value thus disposed of, at a recent gathering of the kind at Bella Bella, and which, I am told, was not considered as one of their usual "Grand Feasts." Should you regard the statement of any importance beyond curiosity, it might be appended to the report which I have had the honor of submitting to you, and which I might add was necessarily curtailed on account of the limited time at my command for collecting information previous to despatching it.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your most obedient servant,

Superintendent Indian Affairs, B. C.

The Honorable Joseph Howe,
Secretary of State for the Provinces, &c.

METLAKHTLE, February 3rd, 1873.

DEAR SIR,—I was only able briefly to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 6th November last, by the steamer which brought it, but now I have much pleasure in returning you the circular you sent me filled up, to the best of my judgement, with this supplementary letter, as you ask me to state "what system of Government I would recommend for the civilization of our Indians." The subject is one of acknowledged difficulty, but the system which presents itself to me the most likely chance of success I divide into two branches. The First branch should embrace measures to be applied to the Indians while in a savage state, and are the following:—

1. To keep intoxicating liquors from them.
2. To discountenance and gradually abolish those degrading customs which tend to perpetuate savage taste.

3. Keeping the peace among them.
4. Assisting them medicinally in times of epidemic.
5. To secure each tribe ample reserves of land.

The Second branch would consist of measures adapted for those who have broken away from degrading Indian customs, are under the influence of christian teaching, and in a fair way to become worthy members of society, are as follows:—

1. Keeping intoxicating liquors from them.
2. Keeping whites and lawless Indians from settling in their midst.
3. Granting allotments of land (of say ten acres) to each family, which they may not be allowed to sell at all or even transmit but to Indians of same village.
4. Civil authority gradually handed over to a native corporation.
5. Grant made for educational and medicinal purposes, or any other purpose which would promote the public wealth of the settlement.

In order to carry out these laws, so far as the coast tribes are concerned, a steam vessel would be necessary to visit each tribe occasionally; the vessel might hold the additional business of protecting the revenue laws. Say captain and crew of thirty souls, with magistrate and doctor on board. If care was taken to select only men of good character for the work, the influence of the vessel, in a moral point of view, would be very great indeed.

I would also recommend that in each tribe an indian or two (the best that can be found, perhaps a chief in the first instance) be selected and invested with some authority as constable and Government agent for the tribe.

His cost would be very small—the honor would be an inducement to fill the office—say twenty or thirty dollars a year. I pay ten constables at Metlakahtle fifty cents per week each and they are amply satisfied. These persons would report any matter concerning the tribe at every visit of the steamer. It might be difficult at first to obtain reliable men, but very soon that difficulty would disappear, at least I have found it so.

You will perceive I do not advise the Government to take any direct work in the education of the Indians. This work I would leave in the hands of the various christian bodies, who could combine christian teaching with secular instruction.

When an agent of any christian society has produced a work among the Indians which is approved of by the Government, and should the society he represents call for pecuniary aid for educational purposes, this would afford the proper opportunity for the Government to aid in educational matters.

Next, as to assisting Indians in a pecuniary manner—I am strongly opposed to the system of presents—pauperising the Indians is a very pernicious practice.

The Government should not make individuals the recipients of their bounty but the tribe. Anything that can be done to elevate the tribe, and something that all could benefit by, then the money would not be lost, and the people would be made better and the villages become a more attractive home. Another very important branch of the duty of Government, is protecting these tribes from the baneful influence of intoxicating liquor. Unless this is attended to there can be no progress, nothing but a chapter of crime and misery for every tribe, and to stem which will cost the Government many a dollar and the Government servants nothing but disagreeable and fruitless work. As to the cry got up by interested persons in the liquor trade, that the law cannot be carried out is pure nonsense. How have we managed it here? There used to be some six or seven small craft vending liquor up this part of the colony a year gone by. Not one is left. The Indians used to bring up quantities of liquor from Victoria, but one bold dash of H.M.S. Sparrowhead, in 1871, soon struck a death blow to that traffic. We have only got to follow up the work done and all is well. I do most certainly hope and pray, sir, that you will not lend your ear or aid to those who would abrogate that most salutary and humane Indian liquor law now existing. I had occasion some years ago to write more fully on this subject in one of the local newspapers. I have sent the only copy of the paper I have for your perusal. The two leading and most degrading Indian customs which I would recommend the Government to wipe out of the land as soon as possible are, (1) cannibalism and dog-eating orgies, (2) giving away property for display, commonly called in Chinook jargon “Patlatches.” While these customs are allowed to prevail in a tribe there can be no progress in civilization. The cannibalism ought to be stamped out at once by a fiat from the Government, and as to the other custom, though less revolting, is no less enslaving, and should be forbidden in the first efforts of the Government to govern the Indians. It would make my letter too long to enumerate all the misery and sin which have their root in these degrading customs, and I fully believe many of the best disposed Indians are only watching for the voice and command of the Government in this matter. I hope, sir, you will speak and let your voice be heard at once to drive the demons, who has long lorded it over them our people, to regions where they can do us no further harm. I can speak, for Fort Simpson, that the Indians there will hail the stroke as a release from a burden under which they have too long groaned.

As to the land question, I wrote fully on that subject to Governor Musgrave, so far as it effects this mission, and the same argument will apply to all the Indians who are becoming civilized. The letter was dated 16th December, 1870, and the Governor sent me a very encouraging reply through the colonial secretary's office.

Heartily wishing you every success and God's blessing upon your great undertaking.

I remain, my dear sir,

Yours faithfully,

(Signed,)

W. DUNCAN

DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,
VICTORIA, Feb. 28, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to enclose a copy of a letter from the Provincial Secretary in respect to the sum of $1,984.82, a fund which has accrued from rental of portions of the Soughees' Indian Reservation. This sum was held in trust for the Indians for some years by a Board of Commissioners, who, upon dissolving in 1869, paid the balance which they had in hand to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works—who deposited it for safe keeping in the Provincial Treasury. It further appears that this amount was taken over by the Dominion Government as Provincial Assets, without any special mention. I am of opinion, therefore, that this sum ought to be credited to the Indian Department of this Province, along with the other sums thus paid in since, amounting to $527.24. I have the honor also to enclose duplicate receipt for a balance of $37.50 paid to me on account of the same fund.

CANADA.—PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

INDIAN CONCUBINES AND INFANT HALF-BREED CHILDREN.

Memorandum for the Secretary of State for the Provinces.

1. In the Session of the Provincial House of Assembly, British Columbia, 1872 An Act was passed for reserving the old English law—never, I believe, attempted to be reversed since the famous "Nolumus leges anglie mutari" of the Parliament of Newton, 600 years ago, and declaring (among other things), that the marriage of a man with a woman who had been his concubine should ipso facto legitimize the previously born issue of such concubine. The act was, however, reserved by the Executive here for the approval of the Governor General, and that approval was refused.

2. It is, of course, quite unnecessary to go into the reasons for that refusal. I shall only say that I cannot conceive myself arguing in favor of such an Act, much less approving or suggesting.

3. At the same time I should wish to be allowed to point out that the supporters of the measure in the House here had a very real grievance and public hardship to allege, for which they proposed their measure as a remedy; and which I also should wish to see remedied, but in a very different way.

4. There is in this Province a large class of very useful, hard-working, but not highly educated or refined set of men, who form as it were the van of the settlers. They generally pre-empt land far up the country, and employ themselves in stock-raising or other agricultural pursuits, sometimes in mining, in isolated localities, or packing; sometimes in a combination of these or other occupations, according to the season of the year; but generally in having a log house, which they consider their home, and generally an Indian concubine, whom they consider and treat in all respects as the wife of a man in similar circumstances of life would be considered and treated by him in Great Britain.

There is very often issue of the concubinage. These men, being enterprising, frugal and industrious, and their concubines being, in many respects, "help" more "sweet" to them than woman of European descent or education would be, live in a rude comfort, and often amass property of considerable value—from a few hundred dollars to $10,000 and upwards. They are generally men separated from their heirs or next of kin by long intervals of time and space, and often ignorant and careless whether there be anybody in the whole world living to claim kinship with them at all. The concubines, it is to be observed, consider themselves to be, and are according to the native customs, lawful wives generally.

5. In the rough and exposed life which these men lead, they are often cut off suddenly, without making the smallest continuing provision for their concubines or children. They invariably, I think, die intestate. Probably most men do; and this is a well-known weakness of human nature, which it is the business of the Legislator not to ignore.

I had a case before me in this present week, in which the property left by the intestate will probably realize over $1,000. When realized, it will be paid into Court, under the Trustee Relief Act, to await some application by the next of kin. The deceased, an Englishman, left England in 1845, as a common sailor; has never been in England since, and has been settled in British Columbia ever since 1858. All that is known of his next of kin is, that he once told his partner here that he believed that when he left England, he had a brother working somewhere in London. That seems to be the latest and most detailed information which he had, or cared to have about them. He has left a concubine of many years standing and an infant child quite unprovided for.

Another case occurred last fall. The estate of the deceased, a thriving farmer, realized close upon $12,000; he died suddenly at Victoria, whither he had come to get his will made, and to place his eldest girl at one of the best schools there. The girl he placed at the school, and paid one year's charges in advance, so she is still there. But he died suddenly without making any will. There are none but collateral (legitimate) relatives. The concubine and three or four children, whom the deceased was educating with great care, will of course be thrown utterly destitute on the hill-side. There are many of such cases yearly; the children are worse off than those of full Indian blood, less useful to the community when grown up, and far more expensive in the meantime; for, of course, they have to be maintained alive somehow.

6. It was partly as a remedy for these cases of manifest hardship, that the late abortive Act was proposed. In addition to the inherent and general objections to the principles of such an Act, however, it was of course obvious to remark, (1st) that a remedy so much more extensive than the evil it was to cure, might be suspected of being intended, or at least of being hereafter perverted, to cover cases of concubinage other than, and of a very different nature from the cases alleged; (2nd), that it was not, after all, a satisfactory remedy; for a man in such a position might well desire to make some provision for persons thus dependant on him, without wishing or thinking that they required, or desired, to inherit his whole property; (3rd), that it was at the same time a very imperfect remedy, as it did not guard against the fatal consequences of procrastination any more than his testamentary power did—and finally (4th) that a man might always make such provision as he thought fit by making a will.

7. I do not propose to evade the force of any of these arguments, on the contrary I think them so forcible that, in particular the third of them, would have rendered expedient some such measure as I now propose, even if the late proposed Act had been passed into full effect. It is clear that men would, or that men might delay, until too late their marriage, just as they would delay their will. The mother of the children might be dead. The children might be by different mothers.

8. The measure I would suggest would meet all these cases, and satisfy (to some extent) our humanity, without (I hope) insulting our Christian morality.

It is shortly to enact, that in cases of intestacy, where the deceased has left connections of the kind alluded to, recognized or maintained by him within the year before his death, and when he has left no legitimate widow in the Province, and there is a net estate after payment of all creditors—the Supreme Court may apply for the maintenance, &c., of such concubine, or children, so much of the real and personal estate, &c. (the course of descent of lands here is, generally, exactly the same as of personality), as may seem proper, within certain defined limits in preference to the legitimate next of kin.

For obvious reasons, I would not suggest that this power should be given to the Court when the deceased has left a widow in the Province; nor where he has made a will; nor over the whole estate, except when it is of small amount; nor at all, unless all creditors be satisfied; nor unless the deceased has recognized the connexion.

10. It is not a sentimental hardship alone, or even cruelty, but only some concrete evil to the community which can call for the intervention of the Legislature. I venture to think I have pointed out such, especially in paragraph (5) sub-finem; and there is the same general reason for some such measure as there is for the general statutes for the distribution of intestate's estates at all; and the parties who alone could complain of the measure I propose—the heirs or next of kin—could only complain that their windfall was diminished. They are generally, besides, distant collateral relatives, of whose very existence the deceased is often ignorant—and who often are roused to enquiry, not by the promptings of blood or the voice of natural affection, but by the correspondence of some consular Agent.

I enclose a rough sketch of a Bill. All Indian matters being, by the British North America Act, 1867, exclusively reserved to the Dominion, I venture to trouble the Dominion authorities with this communication.

(Signed,)

MATT. B. BEGBIE,
Chief Justice, B. C.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Sketch of a Bill for providing for Indian Concubines, and Destitute Half-breed Children of persons dying intestate and leaving property in the Province.

WHEREAS, in the [Province of British Columbia] or [remoter parts of divers Provinces in the Dominion,] it sometimes happens that divers persons die intestate and possessed of considerable property, and without any legal relatives in the Province, but leaving native Indian women their concubines, and children, the issue of such concubines, or of other concubines, them surviving.

AND, WHEREAS, no provision can now be legally made for such concubines and children out of the assets of the deceased, and such concubine and children being thrown on the charity of their neighbours for support, the community are put to undue expense, and the children are exposed to physical and moral deterioration, to the further injury of the community. AND, WHEREAS, it is just and reasonable that some provision should in some cases be made out of the assets of such intestate, for the maintenance and education of such concubine and offspring.

Be it enacted, &c :—

I. Where any man shall die intestate in the said [Province of British Columbia or "remoter Districts"] leaving him, surviving, an Indian concubine, who may at the time of his death be actually maintained by him, or under his protection, or leaving him any illegitimate child or children under the age of (16) years, reputed to be by him begotten on any Indian woman, for the support, maintenance, or advancement of which child he shall have made any provision within the twelve months next before his decease; then and in such case it shall be lawful for the Supreme Court, or any Judge thereof, in their or his discretion, to order that there be retained, allotted and applied for the support, maintenance and benefit of such concubine, and of every such child respectively, so much of the net, real and personal estate, or either of them, of such intestate (after payment of all his debts) as to such Court or Judge shall seem fit, not however allotting to such concubine, or to any such child, a sum greater for each than $250, or than the amount of 5 per cent. on said net residuary, real and personal estate, whichever limit may be the largest.

II. DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,

VICTORIA, March 8th, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to enclose for your consideration, a memorandum and sketch of a Bill for providing for Indian concubines and destitute half-breed children, of persons dying intestate, and leaving property in the Province, by the Hon. M. B. Begbie, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia. Judge Begbie's long service in this Province, enables him to understand thoroughly, the many evils of Indian concubinage, and I have therefore great pleasure in forwarding his views upon one of them.

In the absence of some Act to legitimize the issue of Indian concubinage, Mr. Begbie's proposition is most desirable, and would be, if adopted, both useful and popular in this Province.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,)

J. W. POWELL,

Superintendent Indian Affairs.

The Honorable Joseph Howe,

Secretary of State for the Provinces, Ottawa.

SIR,—Reverting to your letter of the 28th November last, relative to difficulties apprehended with British Columbia Indians at Alberni, I enclose herein, a Copy of an Order in Council of the 21st instant, and I have to notify you that, as provided by the said Order in Council, the sum of $2,000 will be placed to your credit on account of expenses in connection with the proposed surveys of Indian Reserves.

I am, Sir,

Visiting Superintendent and Commissioner, Indian Office,
Victoria, B. C.

The Committee have had before them a memorandum from the Deputy Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, submitting a letter from J. W. Powell, Esq., local Superintendent at Victoria, relative to difficulties apprehended with British Columbia Indians at Alberni.

The Deputy Superintendent states, that the apprehended trouble appears to arise, as shown by correspondence, copies of which the Superintendent has furnished, in consequence of sales of land in that locality having been made by the Local Government to Messieurs Anderson & Co., and a contention on the part of two settlers who had attempted to pre-empt lands at that place.

That it would seem that no reservation for the Indians had been made there, nor other satisfactory arrangements entered into with them.

That they objected to surveys being proceeded with, and that Mr. Taylor, a farmer at Alberni, had been driven off the Post with knives, and that no property is safe with them at present.

That this and other communications transmitted by Superintendent Powell, prove the absolute necessity of his being empowered to confer with the Local Government, with the view to sufficient reserves, on a liberal and just scale, being set apart for the various bands of that Province.

He accordingly suggests that each family be assigned a location of 80 acres of land, of average quality, which shall remain permanently the property of the family, for whose benefit it is allotted.

That it is a matter of urgent importance to convince the Indians of that Province that the Government of the Dominion will do full justice to the rights of the Indian population, and thus remove the spirit of discontent, which in various quarters appears to prevail.

That Superintendent Powell proposes to make a general visit to the Coast Indians, at an early day, with a view to a settlement of their land disputes, for which purpose he would require the use of a Government vessel, and he names the Dominion Government steamer "Sir James Douglas" for that service.

The consideration of this proposition, the Deputy Superintendent suggests, may probably occupy time, he submits therefore, that authority be at once given to Mr. Powell, to confer with the Local Government in regard to Indian reserves already set apart, which may require to be extended, and the outlines marked out in survey; also, for the setting apart such additional Reserves as in his judgement he may deem to be important for the purpose of fulfilling the just expectations of these Indians.

That it will be requisite to supply the Superintendent with sufficient funds to carry out the plans proposed, and he therefore suggests that from the amount voted by the Legislature, the sum of $2,000 be placed in Dr. Powell's hands, to be accounted for in due course.

On the recommendation of the Honorable the Secretary of State for the Provinces, the Committee advise that the suggestion submitted in the foregoing memorandum of the Deputy Superintendent be approved and acted on.

DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,

VICTORIA, March 27th, 1873.

SIR,—I have the honor to suggest for your consideration the desirability (in making arrangements for the Government of British Columbia Indians) of procuring a number of medals and Dominion flags for presentation to the various chiefs who may merit the same for good conduct and loyalty. Our Indian chiefs are exceeding fond of any symbols of authority or distinction, and invariably evince their gratitude for them by fidelity and attachment.

The late Governor Seymour had a number of bronze tips for flag staffs sent out from England, the presentation of which, with the accompanying flag, was highly prized by the recipient of such an honor. The medals might be made of bronze or silver, with some appropriate Canadian device, and would tend much to attach them to the country and Government affording them justice and protection, and of which their knowledge is at present very limited.

I had the honor of addressing you on the 26th of February, respecting the balance remaining to the credit of the Department here on that date. The vouchers for this sum, now about exhausted, owing to the calls made upon me by sick and destitute Indians, will be transmitted in due course.

I shall be glad to be advised of a further credit, which may anticipate future requirements of the Department in this Province.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

(Signed,)

J. W. POWELL,
Superintendent of Indian Affairs.

The Hon. Joseph Howe,

Secretary of State for the Provinces, &c., &c.
