No matter where he is, or what other tobacco he can get, the Island soldier who chaws tobacco is never satisfied with anything but HICKEY'S TWIST.

In hundreds of letters from the boys in Flanders, France, England and the training camps, they ask for HICKEY'S TWIST—and the 105th took along 20,000 figs with them.

Talks To Students

[Excerpts from brief chapel talks on a variety of subjects delivered by the late Archbishop Ireland to his students at St. Paul Seminary. The series is copyrighted by the San Francisco Monitor. All rights reserved.]

METHOD OF STUDY.

The great trouble with many students is that although they read a great deal they do not remember any of it. They put a book aside and it is soon forgotten. Our minds are like a sieve. Whereas if we read with pen in hand, and made summaries or took notes on what we read, our minds would soon become rich with a vast fund of suggestive and valuable thoughts which we could utilize in time of need.

We should also have an index for what we read. Later on in life if we are called upon to prepare a speech or to write an article on short notice, it is necessary to know what the sources are and where to find them: If we keep an index of what we have read, we can turn immediately and find out where we read about the question. Perhaps we may find that our note books contain something about the subject. At any rate we will be ready men and prepared to get up articles or addresses in short order when we know just where to find what we want.

I want you to become convinced of the immense moral and intellectual influence which can be exercised over a community by the power of intellect. A man who can draw the people and keep them wide a tremendous power over them. People will come to you if they can get something.

I have been travelling in Northern Manitoba recently and I met a young Protestant minister. It was surprising to hear him talk. His language was entertaining and he was quite well informed on all modern questions. He was really making his mark in the town. The people were impressed by him and were anxious to hear him talk.

People love to hear a man who has thought these questions out. Listen to your lectures, read up on the matter and reflect. Students often make little progress because they trust to memory and do not write enough. Memory is very vague and treacherous. Writing is a powerful help to memory, and besides it enables us to communicate a vast store of material.

I want you to get the habit of doing these things now. In your note books write your professors' lectures, what you read yourself and your thoughts on the whole question. Have a special note book for fine thoughts, quotations and summaries of good articles from the papers and magazines. I never yet knew a man who amounted to much who didn't keep a scrap book to contain good articles he had read.

Listen, read and reflect. Embody the results in your note books. Make abstracts of your text books. Boil down twenty lines to three. You thus see through the subject and memorize it. By thus reading, thinking and writing, your mind becomes full and ready, and you can find material easily for an address or special article. Keep an index also of where the articles are to be found.

How do those men who write and show great erudition get their fine thoughts? They do not carry them all in their memory. They have this system of writing down fine thoughts; cutting out good articles. All serious men do it. It is the only way to study.

If your mind is full of a subject it will flow out as naturally as water bubbles from a spring. In the summer time the bee gathers honey. Now is your summer time. Every moment should be spent in gathering information to give out later on. In the winter when an address or article is needed turn to your index. You will have the honey in the honey-comb.

Archbishop Stagni Dead

News was received in Montreal that Most Reverend Pellegrino Stagni, former Apostolic Delegate to Canada, died in Rome, October 23. He had been Delegate for the past seven years.

Archbishop Stagni was born in Badio, near Bologna, Italy, April 2, 1859. He was a member of the Order of the Servants of Mary. He spent some time as pastor of St. Mary's Church in London, England. Here he acquired a perfect mastery of the English language. In 1892 he was made professor of philosophy in the College of Propaganda in Rome, the same institution in which he had completed his ecclesiastical studies. His genial personality endeared him to clergy and laity alike in the Eternal City. His exceptional abilities were soon recognized by the Holy Father, and he was made a member of various Roman congregations. He became procurator General, and eventually, Superior General of his Order.

In 1907 Father Stagni was appointed Bishop of Aquila in Italy. On November 3, 1910, he became Titular Archbishop of Ancira, and was sent as Apostolic Delegate to Canada. A few months ago he returned to Rome after having been ill for some time. He was succeeded as Delegate by Archbishop Di Maria. Archbishop Stagni was looked upon in Rome as a man possessed less of brilliancy than of depth of intellect and solidity of judgment. His opinion in ecclesiastical matters was frequently sought by the Holy See itself.

Subscribers, Attention

As this is the season of the year when the bulk of Herald subscriptions are usually paid, it is most proper that we should call the attention of our friends to the conditions with which the newspaper business is confronted. Probably no business has been harder hit by the onerous conditions consequent upon the war than that of the newspapers. The prices of everything pertaining to the business have advanced out of all proportion the price of news-print paper has increased a hundred per cent news-ink has increased over fifty per cent in price: type has gone up out of sight, and fuel, lighting, wages and etc., have soared away up. The consequence of these onerous conditions has been that a large number of papers, all over Canada as well as elsewhere, have ceased publication, and nearly all of those remaining have increased their subscription prices, in order to preserve their existence. The Herald has not yet decided to increase its subscription price; but may eventually be obliged to do so. The increase will not be made, however, unless our subscribers force our hand. Statements of subscription accounts will be in the hands of our subscribers within the second week in November. Of course those of our friends who remit regularly every year, need no statement of account. It is not unreasonable to expect that the subscriptions be paid by the first of December.

Up to that date no increase will be made in the subscription price: Now Dear Subscriber, the matter rests with you. Will you be so kind as to send in your subscription, within the next fortnight and thus enable us to continue publishing the Herald at the present rate?

A SENSIBLE MERCHANDISE

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains, and leave no bad after effects whatsoever. Be sure you get Milburn's Price 25 and 50 cts.

GOT UP IN MORNING WITH HEADACHE AND SICK STOMACH.

Mr. P. M. Phelps, Stanbridge East, Que., writes:—I have been taking Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills with such good results I thought I would write you. I had stomach and liver trouble, and would get up in the morning with a headache, stomach sick and feel dizzy. After taking two vials I was cured of these troubles, and constipation as well. Carelessness and neglect, and offences willful disregard of nature's laws will put the system all out of order. The stomach becomes upset, the bowels clogged, and the liver inactive. To bring the system back to its normal state must be the object of those who wish to be well. This can quickly be done by using Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills. They loosen up the liver, get the bowels back to their normal condition and tone up the stomach, making the entire system sweet and healthy. Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Toronto, Ont.

Like Work of Crusaders

Damascus, the capital of Syria, was occupied by Gen. Allenby's forces on October 1, according to an official statement issued by the British War Office. More than 7,000 Turks were taken prisoners there.

The capture of Damascus, capital of Syria, by the troops of General Allenby, opens the way to Aleppo, on the Constantinople-Bagdad railroad, 180 miles to the north. Damascus is 160 miles from Jerusalem and 90 miles from the line where Allenby's great offensive was launched on September 14. It is the most beautiful, and after Bagdad, the most historically romantic city in Asiatic Turkey. It is situated in a fertile plain, at an altitude of 2,350 feet, at the base of the Anti-Libanus. Its water supply still survives as one of the marvels of Jewish engineering work, with many improvements that were wrought by the Arabs. Its population is 150,000.

The War is Finished

As will be seen elsewhere in this issue, an armistice embracing the conditions of the Allies, has been signed by the German authorities. As a consequence hostilities have ceased, and we may be sure they will not be resumed; as the armistice is tantamount to the unconditional surrender of the enemy.

On Thursday of last week, a report was flashed over the wires that the armistice had on that date been signed. This report turned out to be premature, but relying upon its accuracy this city, as well as most of the principal centers in Canada and all over the United States, celebrated the event with universal rejoicing.

Among all the countries participating in this great world war, none has achieved greater fame, or come into more prominent notice than Canada. Canada's brave and patriotic sons are acknowledged to have been the greatest soldiers on the field of carnage, and in consequence of her marvelous achievements in this great war, Canada has become the world over an honored name.

The rejoicing on this occasion was world wide in extent, and embraced every section of the Great British Empire, of the United States, and all the Allied countries in Europe. Humanly speaking, the event celebrated in this connection was the most momentous in the world's history.

When we consider the demands which brought this war about, and the dreadful scenes of carnage, of murder and cruelty, which have been perpetrated by the most powerful of enemies, after near half a century of studied and careful preparation, we surely have great cause for thankfulness that this glorious victory has been won.

In the first place our grateful thanks are due to the Lord of hosts, without whose guidance and assistance we could not have won. Then we have to thank the great British Navy, that has guarded our coasts and kept free the ocean lanes. We have to thank the armies, generals and soldiers, not only of our country, but of all the countries allied with the British Empire in this titanic struggle.

Among all the countries participating in this great world war, none has achieved greater fame, or come into more prominent notice than Canada. Canada's brave and patriotic sons are acknowledged to have been the greatest soldiers on the field of carnage, and in consequence of her marvelous achievements in this great war, Canada has become the world over an honored name.

The victory is grand, the achievements of our soldiers are glorious; they accomplished all that could be desired. But the price was great; very many of Canada's and Prince Edward Island's brave and patriotic sons have made the supreme sacrifice. They sleep in Flanders Fields and will not come back, when our armies return to receive the homage and gratitude of our people.

Paris, Nov. 7.—German grand headquarters requested Allied grand headquarters by wireless to permit the passage of the German delegation for armistice negotiations through the lines. The order was given to cease firing on this front at three o'clock in the afternoon until further orders. The German wireless message asking for an appointment to meet Marshal Foch says: "The German government we might be free. In no nobler cause can anyone die. Nothing can be nobler than that a man to give his life for his friends. Then again let it be remembered that their death in this noble cause is sanctified by sacrifice. Nothing is really great that is not founded on sacrifice. Sacrifice is the test and measure of true greatness.

Briefly reviewing this terrible war, its inception and progress, and considering the magnitude of the powers against us, we surely have great cause for thankfulness that the end has come and that once more our glorious flag waves over a free and untrammelled people. The Kaiser, the cruel tyrant, that like a colossal incubus menaced the whole world, is hurled headlong from his throne, shorn of his powers, executed by his people, and a fugitive from justice.

Finish of the War

London, Nov. 6.—The British are continuing their advance to the east of Mormal Forest, according to Field Marshal Haig's report tonight from headquarters, and have occupied numerous villages and the important railway junction at Aulnoye. The statement says: "We progressed along the whole battlefield today in spite of a heavy continuous rain. Sharp fighting has taken place at a number of points with German rear-guards and some hundreds of prisoners have been taken by us."

In France and Flanders the enemy forces are being given no rest. Along the whole battle line in France, the British, French and American troops have made further material gains and reclaimed numerous towns and villages. Thousands more of Germans have been taken prisoners on all the sectors under attack. Generally the enemy forces are in slow retreat, but nevertheless at some points they are offering sharp resistance, particularly against the Americans in the Meuse River region and the French in the old Argonne sector. The latest gains of the British on the western side of the battlefield, have been productive of the capture of several towns of great importance, the gaining of more territory east of the Scheldt Canal, where the Canadians are on the attack, and in the taking of several strategic junctions of high value.

Paris, Nov. 7.—With ever-increasing speed the French troops are forcing the Germans back north of the Aisne and on all the rest of the front which the French are fighting over, according to the war office announcement tonight. An advance of ten miles has been made at certain points since yesterday. The statement reads: "Our troops continued without cessation their pursuit of the enemy during the day. On our left we crossed and went far beyond the road between Vervins and Avesnes, north of Lachapelle, south of this locality we reached the west the railway between Lachapelle and Hirson on the general line of Effey and Origny-En-Thierache."

Paris, Nov. 7.—German grand headquarters requested Allied grand headquarters by wireless to permit the passage of the German delegation for armistice negotiations through the lines. The order was given to cease firing on this front at three o'clock in the afternoon until further orders. The German wireless message asking for an appointment to meet Marshal Foch says: "The German government would congratulate itself in the interests of humanity if the arrival of the German delegation on the Allies' front might bring about a provisional suspension of hostilities." The message announces that the German plenipotentiaries would arrive at the French outposts on the Chimay-Guise road on Thursday between eight and ten o'clock in the evening.

London, Nov. 8.—The capture of the important towns of Avesnes and the occupation of the western portion of Tournai are reported in Field Marshal Haig's official communication tonight. Both north and south of Avesnes the British troops have passed the line of the Avesnes-Mauberge Road. The text of the statement follows: "Despite the very difficult weather our troops advancing in a driving rain have made substantial progress on the front south of the Moas-Condé Canal. On the right we have captured Avesnes and have passed the line of the Avesnes-Mauberge Road both north and south of the town. In the centre we have cleared Pautmont and are approaching the railway west of Maubeuge. On the left we have taken Maillequet, Fayt-Le-Franc, Dour and Thulin and are advancing along the Mons-Condé Canal. Farther north, his flank threatened by our advance on this battlefield, the enemy has commenced to withdraw south of Tournai. We have captured Condé and crossing the Scheldt Canal south of the town of Antoing, have taken La Plaigne and Belloy. We hold the western portion of Tournai. Since the first of November we have captured about 18,000 prisoners and 700 guns."

Germany is standing hat in hand at the door of Marshal Foch's headquarters humbly begging for peace. Deserted by all her former allies, her great military machine in the process of destruction by the onslaughts of the Entente Allied armies; her dream of world domination rudely dissipated, Germany begs for a cessation of hostilities, notwithstanding the hard terms she knows she must pay. Scarcely had the decision of the Supreme War Council of Versailles with regard to a cessation of hostilities with Germany been made public than Germany was speeding emissaries to Foch to learn what the commander-in-chief's terms are to be.

The terms of the Entente Allies under which Germany may secure an armistice have been handed to the German delegation at French army headquarters at a little village in the department of the Aisne, and a German courier now is speeding to Spa, German headquarters in Belgium, with the document. Seventy-two hours—or until Monday morning—have been given to accept or reject the stipulations. Emperor William is said to be at Spa awaiting the arrival of the courier with the momentous conditions. The German delegates endeavored to secure an immediate provisional suspension of hostilities, but Marshal Foch refused to acquiesce.

London, Nov. 8.—Prince Maximilian of Baden, the Imperial German Chancellor, has resigned, according to a German wireless despatch picked up here tonight. The wireless says that Prince Max tendered his resignation in view of the altered parliamentary situation, but that acceptance of it is still outstanding. Amsterdam, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Emperor William of Germany has declined to accede to the demands that he abdicate, says a German wireless despatch picked up here tonight. To the ultimatum of the Socialists the Emperor replied through Minister of the Interior Drows that he refused to abdicate voluntarily on the ground that he could not at the moment of peace undertake the terrible responsibility of handing over Germany to the Entente and delivering up the country to anarchy.

London, Nov. 9.—The terms of the Allies by which Germany may have an armistice have reached German headquarters by courier, but thus far there is no indication that a reply has been received by Marshal Foch. Whether the terms have been sent on to Berlin for action by the new chancellor is problematical. William Hohenzollern, the abdicated German Emperor and King of Prussia and his eldest son, Frederick William, who hoped some day to rule the German people, are reported to have fled to Holland. The revolution which is in progress throughout Germany, although it seemingly is a peaceful one, probably threw fear into the hearts of the former Kaiser and the Crown Prince, and caused them to take asylum in a neutral state.

London, Nov. 10.—(British Wireless Service)—The German courier bearing the text of the armistice conditions arrived at German Headquarters at ten o'clock this morning, according to official announcement from Paris. The courier, Captain Heldorf, was long delayed while the German batteries persisted in bombarding the route he had to follow. On Saturday morning the German delegates suggested that the courier's mission might be attempted by airplane. The French high command saw no objections to this and offered to furnish a machine on condition that the German high command pledge itself that the airplane would not be fired at. A radio message was sent to German headquarters, which was replied to without delay as follows: "We grant free passage to the French airplane bringing our courier. We are issuing orders that it should not be attacked by any of our machines. For the purpose of recognition it should carry two white flags very clearly marked."

The orders from the German headquarters staff, however, were inoperative as regarded the land batteries, for on Lacapelle Road the enemy's fire, despite reiterated requests to desist, went on without intermission. A French airplane, piloted by an officer of the French Air Service, was soon available, and the pilot was ordered to hold himself ready to start on his journey. About that time a message came from general headquarters announcing that orders for the cessation of firing had been given to the batteries directed against Lacapelle Road, and that Captain Heldorf was at liberty to start by automobile. Almost immediately the German fire ceased and the courier set out on the road for Spa at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. German headquarters was notified of his departure and informed that he might be expected to arrive in the evening. But the road was long and hard and many delays occurred.

London, Nov. 10.—The British have crossed the Franco-Belgian frontier south of the Sambre River Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters tonight. They advanced four miles east of Retnaix bringing them almost within gun-fire of Brussels. The statement says: "South of the Sambre our advanced troops have reached the Franco-Belgian frontier. North of the Sambre our progress continued against somewhat increased resistance from the enemy's rearguards. North of Mons-Condé Canal our troops have taken Leuze and our cavalry is approaching Ath. We have progressed four miles east of Retnaix. Our advanced detachments are pushing forward southwest of Mons and have reached the line of the canal west and northwest of that town. On the railway east of Maubeuge great quantities of rolling stock have fallen into our hands."

With the American Forces on the Lorraine Front, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The Second American Army this morning launched its initial attack in Lorraine. Its objectives were limited. The villages of St. Hilaire and Marcheville were captured as also were a number of woods. With the French Army in France, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The French General Gouraud made his official entry into Sedan at 2 o'clock this afternoon. With the American Forces on the Meuse Front, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—General Pershing's troops this afternoon captured Stenay on the east bank. With the Allied Forces in Belgium, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—There are many indications that the Germans do not intend to make a protracted stand this side of Brussels and Charleroi.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The world war will end this morning at six o'clock, Washington time, eleven o'clock, Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German representatives at midnight. This announcement was made by the State Department at 2:50 o'clock this morning, Washington, Nov. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Armistice terms have been signed by Germany, the State Department announced at 2:45 this morning. This announcement was made verbally by an official of the State Department in this form: "The armistice has been signed. It was signed at five o'clock a.m., Paris time, and hostilities will cease at eleven o'clock this morning, Paris time. The announcement of the signing of the armistice with Germany was received in St. John over the wires of the Canadian Press at 3:55 o'clock Monday morning, and was announced in Charlottetown at 7 o'clock."

Not all is known regarding the terms of the armistice. The terms will be made known without much delay, we may be sure. The German people for a generation the obedient and submissive servants of their war lords, for more than four years their pliant instruments in ravaging the world, have spoken a new word, and the old Germany is gone. From the confused, sometimes conflicting and often delayed advices from Germany in the last two days it has now become apparent that William Emperor and King has been stripped of his power. He is now plain William Hohenzollern a fugitive in Holland. With his fall topples into ruin William's mad design to rule the world. Little is known of the situation today in Germany for that country is in the first days of its adventure. It is not clear whether the old regime has been permanently dislodged or whether the new authorities with the unscrupulous adroitness which has long marked German politics are merely securing the chief figure-heads of Kaiserism in the hope of obtaining an easier peace.

Of course every city, town and district will earn its Honor Flag.

But how about the crowns?

For every twenty-five per cent. in excess of its quota, each city, town and district will be entitled to add a crown to its flag.

Can you do fifty per cent. better than your quota—that means two crowns for your Honor Flag.

But double your quota and it means four crowns.

Hang a Flag in your hall, that for years to come will show that your city, town or district did better than well—

That it was a real factor in the huge success of CANADA'S VICTORY LOAN 1918.

In the meantime elaborate instructions have been given for the slowing down of munitions production and the replacement of the workmen with a scheme of donations for unemployment to remain in force for six months.

Although no official statement is yet forthcoming from the department of Militia and Defence, it is understood that demobilization of the 35,000 Canadian forces at present in Canada will be proceeded with practically immediately. The situation of men enlisted in the Siberian Expeditionary Force was, more or less indefinite. It seems likely that there will be no change as far as the men are concerned.

The rear-guard troops of the shattered and defeated German armies opposite the British front have been for the past few days racing for their own border as though their lives depended on reaching there.

Sir Eric Geddes says that the revolt of the sailors on the German High Seas fleet began when orders were given to steam out to battle with the British fleet. The war lords decided on a last dying kick, but the men of the fleet had enough of battling with British fighting ships.

News of the signing of the armistice soon became known to those persons in the centre of the Imperial Metropolis, as flags were immediately flown to the breeze and the issuance of evening newspapers, for which there was a great rush, at eleven o'clock. The first official celebration came when the old air raid signals were fired from all police and fire stations. London then gave itself to the celebration of the event, which, although expected, was welcomed nevertheless.

John Robert Clynes, British Food Controller, said recently that the food situation in Europe continues to be serious necessitating larger shipments until spring. He said that he confidently expected America to back up any British sacrifice which might be necessary in behalf of the needy peoples of Europe recently freed from German domination. Mr. Clynes remarked that the situation had been prevented from becoming critical only by the fact that a certain amount of wheat flour reserves had accumulated in England.

The War Ended In

Historic Mons

Phillip Gibbs, the well known war correspondent, writing on the historic eleventh day of November, says: Our troops knew early this morning that the Armistice had been signed. I stopped on my way to Mons. Outside brigade headquarters an officer said: "Hostilities will cease at eleven o'clock." Then he added, as all men in their hearts, "Thank God for that."

All the way to Mons there were columns of troops on the march with their bands playing ahead of them, and almost every man had a flag on his rifle, the red, blue and white of France, the red, yellow and black of Belgium. They wore flowers in their caps and in their tunics, red and white chrysanthemums given them by crowds of people who cheered them on their way—people who in many of these villages have been only one day liberated from the German yoke. Our men marched, singing with a smiling light in their eyes. They had done their job, and it was finished with greatest victory in the world.

The war ended for us at Mons as it began there. When I went into this town this morning it seemed to me a most miraculous coincidence and a joyful one. Last night there was a fight outside the town before our men forced their way in at ten o'clock. The Germans left many of their guns in the garden before they ran.

This morning Mons was full of English cavalry and Canadian troops, about whom there were crowds of townspeople, cheering them and embracing them. One old man told me of all they had suffered in Mons, but he wept only when he told me of the suffering of our prisoners. "What a shame for Germany," he said. "What a shame when these things are known about your poor men, starving to death. Our women tried to give them food, but were beaten for it, and fifteen days ago down there by the canal, one of your English was killed because a woman gave him a bit of bread. Little children came up to me and described the fighting the night before, and many people narrated the first fighting in Mons in August of 1914, when the "Old Contemptibles" were there, and fought their battle through the town, and then, on their way of retreat outside.

War Aftermath

Maastricht, Holland, Nov. 11 (By The Associated Press)—Amid exorcisms from two thousand Belgian refugees, the former German Emperor's special train left here at ten o'clock this morning northward bound. A tremendous crowd of sightseers had gathered but the platform was strongly cordoned and William Hohenzollern did not show himself.

London, Nov. 12—The British battleship Britannia was torpedoed near the west entrance to the Straits of Gibraltar, on November 9th. Three and a half hours later, according to Admiralty announcement tonight, thirty-nine officers and 637 men were saved.

Paris, Nov. 12—The area of German territory west of the Rhine which passes temporarily into the hands of the Allies as security for German good faith is about 180 miles in length from north to south, exclusive of Alsace-Lorraine and about 80 miles in width at its greatest breadth, tapering to less than ten miles where the Rhine passes into Dutch territory. In this German land to be occupied and in the neutral belt to the Rhine are most of the celebrated great centres of munition making, such as Essen, Creffield, Dusseldorf and Elberfeld.

Berne, Nov. 13—The body of Frederick William, former German Crown Prince has been found covered with bayonet and bullet wounds on a military train bound for the Dutch frontier. It was reported here today.

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST

TO MAKE GOOD BREAD You must have Good Yeast

GOOD BREAD is without question, the most important article of food in the catalog of man's diet; surely, it is the "staff of life." Good bread is obtainable only by using the Best Yeast, the best flour, and adopting the best method of combining the two. Compressed Yeast is in all respects the best commercial Yeast yet discovered, and Fleischmann's Yeast is indisputably the most successful and best leaven known to the world. It is uniform in quality and strength. It saves time and labor, and relieves the housewife of the vexation and worry she necessarily suffers from the use of an inferior or unreliable leaven. It is, moreover, a fact that with the use of Fleischmann's Yeast, more loaves of bread of the same weight can be produced from a given quantity of flour than can be produced with the use of any other kind of Yeast.

This is explained by the more thorough fermentation and expansion which the minute particles of flour undergo, thereby increasing the size of the mass and at the same time adding to the nutritive properties of the bread. This fact may be clearly and easily demonstrated by any who doubt that there is economy in using Fleischmann's Yeast. If you have never used this Yeast give it a trial. Ask your Grocer for a "Fleischmann" Recipe Book.

Peccavi.

Down the valley of death I strayed In misery and gloom, With burdened soul and heart dismayed—

A gilded lie—a fool outcast, My sin had borne its fruit at last, The Nemesis of doom Hung like a pall that banned the light,

And darker round me pressed the night— The shadow of the tomb. Behind, the door of hope was slammed;

Down, down the vale I sped— My thoughts a cauldron of the damned, The virtues cherished in my youth—

The fear of God, the love of truth, Reproached me as I fled, Until I crushed what light they gave—

I flung them in a coward's grave And trampled on the dead. I shunned the grace contrition brings—

Unto myself I lied, And honor fled with bruised wings; For I had made the wilful choice, Nor heeded the appealing voice Of Him I crucified.

But still His pleadings followed me, Upbraiding, yet entreatingly, That I might turn aside. I knew not peace—I knew not rest,

His trust I had betrayed! And Satan's the bond possessed That bound my soul with chains of fire—

That bowed my will to His desire— That mocked me as I prayed; In vein I fought the evil way— That lured me down the Stygian way

Itching Skin

Distress by day and night— That's the complaint of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum—and outward applications do not cure. They don't.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It was taken with itching on my arms which proved very disagreeable. I concluded it was salt rheum and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two days after I began taking it I felt better and it was not long before I was cured. Have never had any skin disease since. Max, J. E. Wynn, Cove Point, Md.

then, with shop talk? She pushed rumpled black hair from a face like a naughty boy's. It's gotten those letters from Peter makes me think of war, dear," she went on, suddenly serious,

At that instant the telephone burred sharply. "A-ah," Julie said, darting toward it, "Nicky Rinn at last."

Kathleen settled to her drawing while the other girl laughed, light banter into the phone. Julie's telephone conversations were too numerous and complicated for her artist roommate to follow.

"Oh, Kath you might, just this once," pleaded Julie, tearful. "Nicky says his friend is nice and fearfully handsome. You can draw him afterwards."

Kathleen laughed at the wheedling and got up. "Have I anything to wear?" she queried. Julie flung open her roommate's closet door. "No," she announced with tragic promptitude, "you have not! Your evening gown is crumpled in a ball in one corner. Oh, Kath, I'll lend you my yellow one."

Her roommate protested helplessly. "It's all right," Julie insisted, "it looks best on you, anyway. Now go wash and do your hair—and don't waste any time. I'll let out one tuck in the yellow dress and—v-la! Now—go."

Obedient, Kathleen snatched soap, towels, powder, a comb and started. When she returned the frock of misty yellow chiffon was spread on her bed.

Twenty minutes after a transformed Kathleen, exquisite in pale yellow that skillfully called attention to her creamy skin, that emphasized the blackness of her hair, came face to face with Nicky Rinn's friend. As the stranger bowed the artist in Kathleen experienced a thrill of quick pleasure. He was handsome! Sunburned, fair complexion, sleek reddish-brown hair, firm, merry lips—

TWO MONTHS OLD BABY HAD BAD COLD.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP SAVED HIS LIFE.

It takes the life out of a mother to see the child she idolizes sick—slipping away, succumbing to the cruel cough that all the remedies she has tried won't cure.

Two years ago I used it for one of my girls. She had a cold and cough, but the doctor's medicine was no good for her. I got six bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and it gave her a perfect cure. I can not praise it half enough."

Julie shivered at the scorn in her companion's voice, and drew the drift-of-apple-blossoms kimono closely about her. Don't stamp up and down on him," she pleaded. "Nicky says he's very clever. He's only twenty-six and has worked his way up to a very good position. It's hard to give it up."

"What have some given? Eyes, arms, life itself! Pat McKean has a face like St. George of England and he stays here, selling motors! He's so secure so—smug, when the whole world is fighting super-devils."

"Looks like a bit like a military ball," Pat McKean remarked. "Yes," agreed Kathleen, who, at that moment was drawing an imaginary portrait of him in tennis flannels.

"It is funny how young kids all rush to enlist," he went on reflectively, the soft green wall a lovely background for his reddish hair.

"The draft will get them eventually," he continued. "They say draftees get treated far better than enlisted men."

"I may be gone for a long, long time. A long—long—time." Again he smiled across at her. Though her lips returned the smile, her eyes narrowed. I couldn't enlist if I wanted to," he disclosed to her. "I'm with a big motor truck concern. We do practically all government work. Business fairly zips along. The head manager said the other day that he never could spare me." Polite disparagement in his tone.

"I see," said Kathleen; you make the motors." He laughed delightedly. "Lord, no, he answered; 'I'm not in the factory.' " "You inspect them for the government?" she essayed then.
