CHAPTER IX.

It struck me, when, after his bow to madame and the girls, he came to shake hands with me, that he looked tired. But it was one of old Dizarte's days at Market Waxford, and it was only natural that he should look tired; so I did not notice that very much. What I did notice was the frown which darkened his face as his eyes fell upon Fraser Froude, a look which the other man reciprocated as a few stiff words of greeting passed between them. Then, as Roger moved across to Alice to receive the message, which she apparently whispered volubly in his ear, I caught a look upon his face, as his eyes rested upon Nat standing beside her, which almost sent me off my balance and quite made me gasp. I had never had the vaguest suspicion of it before. Poor old Roger! Was he another victim to the golden-black eyes of our nursery maid? The speculation so confounded me that I only seemed to come to my senses to hear madame say in her most gracious tones—

"I must introduce you to Mademoiselle Valdin, Doctor Yorke."

Roger bowed, and followed madame to the piano, looking rather curiously at the tasteful dress of Parisian make which mademoiselle wore, and at the elaborate wreaths and twists of dark hair, dressed in Parisian fashion, which crowned mademoiselle's head. She must have forgotten everything but the slow mechanical movements of her hands over the unsounded keys, it appeared, for it was not until my mother spoke that she seemed to be aware of any one near her.

"Let me present Doctor Yorke to you, mademoiselle," madame said, graciously.

Mlle. Valdin rose with the graceful self-possession which seemed natural to her, and slowly turned her head. As her face was thus revealed Roger started violently, and uttered an exclamation of disconcerted astonishment. He stared as though he could hardly believe his eyes. Mademoiselle smiled.

"Doctor Yorke and I are old friends, madame," she said to my mother sweetly. "We met in Paris more than a year ago."

CHAPTER X.

"I say, Ned, isn't it comical?"

"Eh? What?" I asked, looking down into Alice Deeping's blue eyes.

"What indeed!" she gave my arm a shake. "As though you didn't know! I believe you are thinking about it now. I know I am. I never saw anything so queer; and I'm sure it astonished you as much as it did me, for your eyes were almost as big as a couple of saucers. And now you say, 'What?' I wonder if all Mademoiselle Valdin's acquaintances look as disconcerted when they see her as Doctor Yorke did—that's all!"

"Oh," I returned, comprehensively,

"I see! Yes, it was queer enough, wasn't it?"

We were in the lane leading from Chavasse to Whittlesford, Alice and I—escorting her home to the rectory. She had thrown a scarlet wrap of Nat's over her white gown, and tied her broad hat down under her chin with the reckless indifference to appearances that characterized her. We had come out through the little side-gate opening on to the lane, and were scarcely outside it when she abruptly propounded the foregoing query.

"Queer?" she now echoed. "More than queer!"

"Oh, I don't know! There's nothing particularly odd, that I see, in a couple of people who have met once meeting again."

"Of course not—I don't mean that, you stupid boy!" She gave my arm another little shake. "That in itself would be merely a coincidence. But what in the world did they want to look so taken aback for?"

"They?" I questioned.

"Well, he, then?"

"Surprised, I suppose."

"Pooh! Surprise doesn't look like that. But she was cool enough!"

"Mademoiselle, you mean? It strikes me she would be cool over an earthquake."

"Oh, yes! She didn't care, but he did. It is something odd to see Roger Yorke thrown off his balance."

I assented with a nod, thinking that her phrase "thrown off his balance" expressed what had seemed to be Roger's state of mind better than any other could have done. Truth to tell I had been as much puzzled and surprised at the little scene in the Chavasse drawing-room as Alice herself and was cogitating over it now. Presently my reflections thereupon produced another puzzle which I proceeded to unfold.

"I say, Alice, this is odd! Roger has known the name of Nat's governess ever since we knew it ourselves. It has done nothing but bewail her fate, you know; it is strange that he never mentioned that he knew mademoiselle."

"Perhaps not; but I should have thought he would have said that he knew some one of the name. I don't think 'Valdin' is a common one."

"It may be abroad. As to mentioning it, I dare say, if she was only a casual acquaintance, he forgot it."

"Very likely. Besides, he told me it was a year since he had seen her."

I said, as we stopped at the rectory gate.

"Just so. And I'll tell you something more; he would not have been sorry if it had been twenty years before he saw her again. Good-night, Ned, and thank you for coming home with me."

The gate was opened, and she flitted up the path, turning gayly to kiss her hand to me. I watched until her

WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS

Many Unsuccessful — And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when often it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has restored the health of thousands of suffering women. Why don't you try it?

white dress, with the scarlet cloud over it, had disappeared within doors, and then turned back to walk through the village to Chavasse again. But I walked slowly, with my hands in my pockets, puzzling myself about the recognition of Roger Yorke and Mlle. Valdin which had taken us all by surprise. Not the recognition, itself; that, as Alice had said, would have been merely a coincidence, odd perhaps, but not puzzling. But what on earth could have possessed Roger Yorke to make him look as though he had seen a ghost at his first sight of that pale, sallow, composed face? I could not understand it at the time; and, going over the few words which had followed mademoiselle's announcement of their previous acquaintance, I could not understand it now. Yet, mademoiselle had explained the whole matter to my mother with the most charming ease and readiness. She had met Dr. Yorke at his sister's more than a year ago. She was the friend of madame's sister, and was then staying with her for her holiday—her vacation. But in England she had not expected the pleasure of again meeting Dr. Yorke.

So far so good. All Whittlesford knew that Roger Yorke had a sister, and knew at least as well that her place of residence was Paris; also that it was his custom, when he took his yearly holiday, to spend it in France with her and her husband. That he had done so last year I knew well enough, for at the time there had been some talk of my going with him. All very well, so far. But, if his acquaintance with mademoiselle had been merely a casual acquaintance with his sister's friend, why on earth had he looked so disconcerted—nay, dismayed to see her in the Chavasse drawing-room? Surely that was odd. I recalled the change which had come over him after that bland little speech of hers, how stiffly he had bowed to her, and how drolly he had touched her extended hand; again, now, by and by, when Nat was singing her delayed song, he had sat apart, silent and gloomy, the gay, debonaire manner which always made him so attractive gone, and with his stern blue-gray eyes always keenly, almost nervously resting upon mademoiselle's perfectly "got-up" figure. Yes, Alice was right. Roger Yorke had been completely thrown off his balance, and he could not help showing it. An uneasy sense of being at a disadvantage, of being awkwardly placid, and inwardly fighting against it had been, in my opinion, at least, expressed in his whole air and manner—nay, in the very attitude of his figure.

When he abruptly took his departure, with a muttered apology to madame about having a patient to see, I fancied that his eyes, when he shook hands, fell and avoided mine. It might have been fancy, for I know that I am given to be fanciful; but it puzzled me for all that. I was very fond of Roger Yorke—fonder, I really believe, than I was of anybody, even Natalie herself; and it gave me a queer jealous pang to think that he should have a secret from me.

Another thought came to me, as I strolled along in the September moonlight, a fancy that I might find a solution of the problem, after all. I recalled that look which had been a revelation to me—a revelation not only of his love for her, but of the reason for the barely veiled dislike which he had of late shown to Fraser Froude. Could it be, I wondered, that that acquaintanceship with mademoiselle had in reality been a love affair which he had grown tired of and got out of, and that in her appearance at Whittlesford he foresaw awkward complications? And yet—pshaw!—I thought mademoiselle looked a round half dozen years older than he did, to start with, not to speak of her being the reverse of pretty. No; that could not be it. In fine, I reached Chavasse at least as far from any satisfactory conclusion as ever, and feeling inclined to "bother" mademoiselle as heartily as Nat had done herself.

Entering, I found the drawing-room deserted, early as it was, and, ringing the bell, was told by Virtue, who answered it with her usual quiet promptness, that the ladies had retired—madame because she had a headache, mademoiselle on the plea of fatigue, and Miss Natalie in a temper. Not that the demure Virtue said this—gathered it. Obviously there was nothing to do but to go to bed myself,

Not that the demure Virtue said this—gathered it. Obviously there was nothing to do but to go to bed myself, and I went taking my perplexities with me.

Perhaps it was the heat of the night, or it was unusually sultry for the time of the year, perhaps it was on account of being bothered; but, try as I would, I could not go to sleep. I tossed and turned about, tumbled the bedclothes, got up and walked about, tried again, counted as long as my arithmetic held out—all in vain! At the end of a couple of hours I thought I had never been so staringly wide awake in my life. In despair I rose, and, going to the window, pulled aside the blind and looked out.

The full moon was up, the great disc shining out serenely from the dark-blue sky, and its pale light silencing the starry trees of the park. The contrast to the hot room and the unbedded bed was too great. I made up my mind to dress and go out, and try to walk myself into sleepiness.

No sooner thought of than done, I slipped on my clothes, opened my door cautiously, and crept slowly along the corridor and across the great landing, laughing to myself to think what a scare there would be if I chanced to encounter one of the maids. But I reached the hall without any mishap, unbarred the small side-door and so got out into the air in safety.

Now just at this time I had taken to smoking, rather to the terror of madame my mother, who had no great admiration for the practice; and as my pipe and cigarettes were absolutely forbidden in the dining-room, and regarded with disfavor in the rest of the house.

Not that I minded that much. Roger Yorke and the vast amount of consolation and enjoyment which he appeared to find in his pipe had first made me begin, and, having once got over the inevitable preliminary pangs and throes, I was not likely to leave off. So, whenever I got out of madame's way, I smoked, and enjoyed it. Nat, I must say, was a little brick, and let me pull away as much as I liked in her company. I had my cigarette case and matches in my pocket now, and lighted up as I strolled to and fro in the moonlight, the crisp gravel crunching under my feet.

Try This Home-made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with 1 cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis, and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacal and all the natural pine elements, which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

All You Need is a Cascaret To-Night

No Sick Headache, Biliary Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

A useful apron of generous housewifely size designed to protect the entire dress. The back is held in position by a strap of material that is buttoned to the front at the waistline. A pocket is a useful addition that will be appreciated by the wearer, although it may be omitted if desired. Anderson Gingham, Denim, Holland and cambric are all suitable for the making, and finishing braid or narrow edging may be used for trimming. The Medium size requires 3½ yards of 36 inch material. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large.

The full moon was up, the great disc shining out serenely from the dark-blue sky, and its pale light silencing the starry trees of the park. The contrast to the hot room and the unbedded bed was too great. I made up my mind to dress and go out, and try to walk myself into sleepiness.

No sooner thought of than done, I slipped on my clothes, opened my door cautiously, and crept slowly along the corridor and across the great landing, laughing to myself to think what a scare there would be if I chanced to encounter one of the maids. But I reached the hall without any mishap, unbarred the small side-door and so got out into the air in safety.

Now just at this time I had taken to smoking, rather to the terror of madame my mother, who had no great admiration for the practice; and as my pipe and cigarettes were absolutely forbidden in the dining-room, and regarded with disfavor in the rest of the house.

Not that I minded that much. Roger Yorke and the vast amount of consolation and enjoyment which he appeared to find in his pipe had first made me begin, and, having once got over the inevitable preliminary pangs and throes, I was not likely to leave off. So, whenever I got out of madame's way, I smoked, and enjoyed it. Nat, I must say, was a little brick, and let me pull away as much as I liked in her company. I had my cigarette case and matches in my pocket now, and lighted up as I strolled to and fro in the moonlight, the crisp gravel crunching under my feet.

REDUCING TAXATION.

We understand that Sir Edward Morris at Bay Roberts claimed consideration for his Government and asked for its return next fall on the ground that he had reduced taxation and off-hand, instanced airily the case of hay. Even if the instance was meritorious, it did not proceed from any settled policy or legislative action of the Morris Party. There has been no change in the Tariff enactment as to hay. What happened was that the duty was suspended by the Executive temporarily, because there was a big shortage in the hay crop last season. The suspension was forced on the Government, because many cattle-keepers found nothing before them but the sale or starvation of their cattle. The season was calamitous, and was in a way aggravated by the failure of the Government to stimulate Agriculture as they had promised. Farmers in most cases not only did not get the two blades of Morris grass, but owing to the elements over, which they have no control, they failed to find at harvest time one blade, which the Morris Party was to convert into two.

Owing then to these circumstances, cattle-keepers called upon the Government to suspend the duty on hay to give them a chance to import hay and keep the cattle alive through the present winter. The Government responded. Their action was purely a response to a demand from farmers. It was not on the initiative of the Government, nor was the tariff law changed. The Morris Government has met the Legislature for five sessions, in four of which they had a working majority in the House of Assembly, but at none of these sessions has the Minister of Finance recommended the placing of hay on the Free List, nor even any reduction of duty on it. This did not even form a part of the promises made by Sir Edward Morris in his manifesto of 1908, or that of 1909.

This temporary suspension of duty on hay can be in no way a carrying out of Sir Edward Morris's pledge to Reduce Taxation.

If we turn to the Tory Manifesto of October, 1908, we shall find exactly what Sir Edward Morris promised, set forth in his own words, over his own signature. The section is illuminating and well worth recalling. Here it is in black type:

"REDUCTION OF TAXATION, so that it will bear equitably on the working classes, can be best accomplished by placing on the free list such items as TEA, SUGAR, PORK, and the PRIME NECESSARIES of our people on which very heavy taxes are now imposed. That this can be easily accomplished without in any way affecting the necessary revenue required to maintain the various pub-the services of the Colony, is shown by the fact that nearly $100,000 has been collected annually for the past eight years over and above what was required to meet the demands of the public services."

With the Puck.

Interest in hockey is getting on the increase and the 'fans' are anticipating a better and livelier series of games than ever before witnessed here.

The first League match comes off at the Prince's Rink on Monday evening next between the Crescents and Victorias and it promises to be of exceptional interest. The Crescents line up will be practically the same as last year, while the Vics, it is said, got a clever aggregation, having two new men in their ranks who never played on local ice before, but who are excellent puck chasers.

Building the Trestle.

Engineer Cobb and his men are now hard at work building the temporary trestle work to span Leach's Brook where the railway bridge was swept away recently. The work of putting down the piles is in progress and is going forward under much difficulty as they must be driven through ice several feet thick. The bridge was badly damaged and is only fit for the scrap heap. A new and solid structure will be erected in the spring.

Our prices are cheaper than all advertised sales. Every day is bargain day with us. Try and see for yourself. THE NATIONAL STORES, Greaves & Sons, Ltd.—Jan 13, 13

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram. HALIFAX, Jan. 15. Last night and this morning five big steamers put into Halifax, the majority of them for coal, having met with damage during the recent extraordinary severe weather conditions. The steamers were the Mexico, of the Generale Transatlantique Campaigne Line, from Havre for New York, for coal; the Leyland liner Columbian, from Antwerp to Baltimore, short of coal; the Abyssinia, a Hamburg-American line freighter, crippled, though she entered harbour under her own steam with steering gear patched up, 25 days from Hamburg to New York. The officers of the Abyssinia report that on January 4th the rudder stock became broken. Later on they were picked up by the steamer Armenian, which vessel took her in tow. After twenty-four hours the tow lines parted while the weather was thick and the Armenian was seen no more. The captain then made an improvised steering gear, sufficiently strong to enable the steamer to be steered to Halifax. The fourth steamer was the Caroline, a French liner, which left Havre on Dec. 29th for Halifax and New York, with passengers and cargo, short of coal. The Lucileum, Morse & Co.'s new oil tank steamer put into port with depleted bunkers. She left London 17 days ago for Philadelphia. All the steamers were encased with ice.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. Evidence pointing to the existence of an arson trust in Chicago, composed of at least twenty persons, who have mulcted insurance companies out of a million dollars yearly, has caused State Attorney Royno to start a widespread investigation. Joseph Clark, fire inspector and adjuster, has been arrested in connection with alleged attempt to bribe the Assistant State Attorney, who was conducting a grand jury investigation into a fire. Clark is said to have offered $1,000, if "No Bill" was returned in the case, and his arrest promptly followed.

Religious Reception

AT BALTIMORE. On the 21st of November, the Feast of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin, the religious ceremony of Reception took place at Mt. St. Joseph's College, Baltimore, the young man who received the Holy Habit of Religion was James MacPherson (in religion Bro. De Sales), son of Mr. S. J. MacPherson, of Atlantic Avenue, St. John's, Newfoundland. We extend our heartiest congratulations to Bro. De Sales and wish him many years of health and happiness in his religious life.

Splendid Photographic Work.

Yesterday, it was our privilege to visit the Photographic Studio of S. H. Parsons & Sons, and view the specimens of high-class photography exhibited there. The place is certainly worth seeing, citizens of all classes are welcome and we would advise all to go there for what will be presented to their view will certainly delight them. The holiday season witnessed a new departure on the part of the firm which is now making a specialty of showing Christmas cards depicting local scenery and subjects. These are artistic gems as well as the calendars they are executing for the year 1914. These latter are beautifully mounted in double and triple tints, are done in sepia and are vivid pictorial representations of 'home scenery'. The Messrs. Parsons will visit any house or premises, photograph them and will reproduce them on cards or calendars in color. An important and interesting department of their business is the new style of photography technically known as the "Sketch." This class of work is done in a delicate grey print on pure white mounts, and very closely resemble steel engravings and are very pretty. Another beautiful style of picture is a "Semi-tint Sketch" with the flesh and draperies of the subject delicately colored. Miniatures in color, framed in gold rims and done on ivory or paper form a unique and striking, as well as artistic feature in the studio. An innovation in the photographers business is a handsome delicate water color on paper, measuring 8 x 10 inches enclosed in a neat folder and making a very pleasing gift. The "Cosway" a type of work which renders water coloring most attractive when done, on opal, takes the eye of the artist or connoisseur and another feature is a photo finished in lead pencil, and beautifully and finely tinted later. These are known as stained drawings and must be seen to be properly appreciated. They are very fashionable in London and other great cities of England. Life-like and beautifully and faithfully wrought water colors from photographs form another important departure in the work of these excellent photographers, and seeing what local talent can accomplish, the wonder is that business people and others should send abroad for calendars or cards when they can receive such splendid service here. We bespeak for Parsons & Sons the reward their energy, enterprise and ability merit.

A Modern Miracle.

He Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors Said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk has Worked Complete Cure.

This is the experience of a man of high reputation, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated. Mr. T. M. Marsh, the gentleman referred to, lives at 101 Delormier Avenue, Montreal, and has lived there for years. For twenty-five years he has had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in red blotches, which itched, and when scratched became painful. Bad sores followed, which discharged and the discharge spread the disease until his hands were one raw, painful mass of sores. This state of affairs continued for twenty-five years. In that time four eminent medical men tried to cure him, and each gave up the case as hopeless. Naturally, Mr. Marsh tried remedies of all kinds, but he, also, at last gave it up. For two years he had to wear gloves day and night so terrible was the pain and itching when the air got to the sores. Then came Zam-Buk! He tried it just as had tried hundreds of remedies before. But he soon found out that Zam-Buk was different. Within a few weeks there were distinct signs of benefit, and a little perseverance with this great herbal balm resulted in what he had given up all hope of—a complete cure! And the cure was no temporary cure. It was permanent. He was cured nearly four years ago. Interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsh said: "The cure which Zam-Buk worked has been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was cured to the present moment I have had no trace of eczema, and I feel sure it will never return."

If you suffer from any skin trouble, cut out this article, write across it the name of this paper, and mail it with one cent stamp to pay return postage, to Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld. We will forward you by return a free trial box of Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores sell this famous remedy, 50c. box, or three for $1.25. Refuse harmful substitutes.

RESUMED DUTY. — Constables Whalen and Kelly, who were up country during the holiday season have resumed duty in the West End.

DECLARED 7½ PER CENT.—The Root & Shoe Co. held its annual meeting yesterday, and declared a dividend of 7½ per cent.

QUITE RECOVERED.—Mr. C. O'N. Conroy has recovered from scarlet fever, at the Fever Hospital, and in a few days' time will be discharged.

ESCAPED THE TURKS.—By the Carthaginian there arrived here a Syrian gentleman, named Abraham Berket, a native of Jerusalem, who carried on a big business in that city. Mr. Berket was recently ordered by the Turkish Government to prepare to go to the front but was given at his earnest request a short time to dispose of business affairs in Jerusalem and Beirut. He went by rail to Jaffa, thence to Beirut became perdu on board a steamer there and escaped in her to Liverpool via Marseilles, thence here. He says that shortly before he left 250 Christians of Jerusalem were commandeered by the Turks and all but five escaped.

Mending the Family Purse

FOR NINETEEN-THIRTEEN.

It is an old story of the Doctor who fell asleep in his easy chair with his empty purse in his hand. It was the day after Christmas and as the old Doctor fingered the opening in the empty purse he murmured in his sleep:

"It's a bad wound, a very bad wound, it will take at least thirteen stitches."

"Now there is a way of mending the family purse for 1913, so that we may not only keep more in it, but may at the same time take more out of it for our own comfort and luxury. And if we can do this everybody, including the merchants, will be glad."

The way for us to accomplish this result is very simple. Briefly it consists in our doing exactly what the merchants and the manufacturer do. It consists in anticipating our needs.

For example all over the city to-day there are big White Sales in progress. There are big Dry Goods Sales and Furniture Sales. In fact there are sales of every kind of merchandise not in season at this time.

The reason for this is that months ago every manufacturer anticipated his dull season. He therefore arranged with his retailers to order a certain amount of his merchandise at a reduced cost, in order that he might make up this merchandise during his dull season and so keep his factory in full swing.

The merchant agreed to accept this merchandise, provided it was delivered during his dull season, because in this way he could offer exceptional bargains to the Public and thus keep his store in full swing.

Now it remains for you to anticipate your wants just as the manufacturer and the merchant have done, and thus keep your household in full swing.

If you see from the advertising in this paper to-day that you can buy shoes, or clothes or furniture or pianos, at a reduced price, now, the thing of course to do is to buy them now.

Most people live as if to-day were going to be their last day on earth, and a great part of the misery of the world to-day is due to this Hand to Mouth existence.

There is nothing being offered in these sales now that will not soon be in demand again. And there is hardly anything being offered upon which money cannot be saved.

If you will read this advertising to-day with a view to anticipating your future wants, you will find that your family purse will be a happier, healthier, fatter purse throughout the year.

Masonic Installation.

Quite a number of the members of the members of the Masonic Fraternity left here this morning by train for Harbour Grace and Carbonar to install Masters of Lodges at these places. To-night Bro. W. J. James will be installed at Harbor Grace, and to-morrow night Bro. J. Duff at Carbonar. After each ceremony a banquet will be held. The brethren from the city will return by Saturday's train.

That Fruit Display.

Dear Sir—In your recent notice of the exhibition of beautiful fruit now on view in the Royal Stores window, a slight error has been made in the statement that I imported this consignment. There has been such a widespread discussion as the outcome of this display that I would be glad if you would correct this statement, as I had nothing whatever to do with this consignment.

The apples were sent by Mr. W. J. Brandrith, who is Exhibition Commissioner for the Province of British Columbia, in order that Newfoundlanders might realize some of the many occupations that their fellow-countrymen adopt on the other side of this Continent. There are a great many Newfoundlanders in the beautiful district of Kilmora in the Okanagan Valley; one of the loveliest fruit districts in B.C., where this fruit was grown.

These apples are the property of the Exhibition Commissioners as are also the samples of preserved fruits. I am glad to say that the Commissioners have given me permission to send the bottled fruits over as a gift to our Museum and Mr. Howley has very kindly promised to make a place for them there.

This display has been on view at all the principal Exhibitions held last year; they were part of the Show at Toronto, visited by our Cadets last September.

I think it was through the kindly offices of our friend Mr. James Mellis, that this fruit was sent to St. John's.

Yours very truly,
Jan. 14th, '13.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Jan. 16, 1913.

Williams' Talcum, like Williams' Shaving Soaps, are easily among the first of their kind. The J. B. Williams Co. has a reputation for the purity and quality of their goods which is a valuable asset to their business, and though their brand of Talcum Powder is a comparatively new addition to their list it has caught right on, and has already many friends. Williams' Violet, and Williams' La Tosca Rose are the outstanding kinds in this line, and both are pronounced by good judges as being first class. Price 25c. a tin.

Wyeths Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer occupies an honourable place among hair preparations, and is much asked for. You can obtain it at either of our stores. Price 60c. a bottle.

Coal Too High.

It is now a certainty that the big steamship Borderer bound from Immington to New York which reported off Cape Race by wireless, has gone to some other port to have her bunkers filled, probably Louisburg or Sydney. It was falked of around town last evening that the reason the liner did not come here for coal was that the price was too high and it is generally known that coal can be purchased at either Sydney or Louisburg three dollars cheaper than in St. John's.

Personal.

Rev. Dr. Curtis left yesterday for Broad Cove, Bay de Verde, where he will assist in dedicating a new Methodist Church.

Mr. W. D. Reid, President of the Reid Nfld. Co. left here by the express last evening for Canada and the States and will proceed to England also. He will stay a few days at Leach's Brook looking after the repairs being effected there, and will then proceed on his journey.

No farmer says, "By heck." It is only actors who do that.

St. Andrew's Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Congregation was held on Tuesday night, J. C. Hepburn, Esq., presiding. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was manifested.

The reports submitted by the treasurer showed that the congregation was in a healthy condition financially. Reports received from other branches of the institution were read and accepted and all showed that excellent work had been accomplished during the past year.

Considerable adverse comment was expressed concerning the General Protestant Cemetery which was reported to be not in a creditable condition.

The election of officers for the ensuing year took place and resulted as follows:

J. A. Ledingham, Secretary; Board of Managers:—Hon. James Baird, John Syme, J. C. Hepburn, T. A. Macneil, T. McNeil, D. M. Baird, A. Mann, J. A. Ledingham and J. J. McKay.

Here and There.

LEFT FOR HERE.—The Earl of Devon left Greenspond yesterday under her own steam and convoyed by the D. P. Ingraham. She should arrive to-night.

C.C.C. MEETING.—The ladies committee of the C.C.C., met last evening in the O'Donnel Hall and made final arrangements for the annual "At Home" which takes place on Feb. 3rd, in the British Hall.

NFELL ON STREET.—Mr. A. Noonan, clerk, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. While walking down Prescott Street, he fell inflicting a deep cut in his head. The blood flowed profusely and Mr. Noonan was brought to the surgery of Dr. Anderson, who inserted three stitches in the cut.

Surprising as it may appear, the father of twins generally is proud of it.

One Good Resolution

One good resolution is to pay up your bills when they're due; to hand out the tin with a soul warming grin, and say something nice when you're through. This method's a method that wins; it covers a legion of sins; the town will forgive many follies that live in the man who pays up as he grins. I know I'm a weary old bore, with stories I tell o'er and o'er; yet all through the land I get the glad hand, in office, in parlor and store; for I pay up my bills with a smile, without exhibitions of bile; and you don't hear me say to collectors, "Go 'way! Your bills I'll pay after a while." Oh, it's true that the human goliath can't have a much better repulse than the same he will win when the bills are sent in, and he pulls a big roll from his boot. You may have a beautiful face, you may be a model of grace; but if you are slow paying up what you owe, you won't gawk as high as an ace. You may be both gifted and wise, and genius may burn in your eyes; but if you don't pay in the old-fashioned way, the townsmen will greet you with sighs. So hand out the glittering swag from the depths of your long money bag; pay up with a smile, in a sportsmanlike style, and never stand chewing the rag.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Jan. 15.
Nine of the crew of the Russian barque Californian, were drowned to-day when the vessel was blown on the Northumberland coast and totally destroyed during a gale. Capt. Fekhom and seven men were saved. The Californian had just left the Tyne, with a full cargo. She was 2,600 tons register.

Cable News.
Special Evening Telegram.
FREDRICKTON, To-day.
Hon. Thomas Ashburnham received a cable announcing the death of his uncle, Earl Ashburnham in England. Hon. Mac Ashburnham, who resided here several years, succeeded to the title and estates in England, which is said to be extensive. Major Ashburnham arrived at New Brunswick twelve years ago, and went to Fredrington where he met Maria Anderson, daughter of a well-known resident of Fredrington, who had been engaged as an operator at New Brunswick Telephone Company's Office. They were married, and since that time have lived in Fredrington. Former "Hello" girl now becomes a Peeress of the realm of Great Britain and her husband an Earl. That Earl was in the British army having served through the Egyptian campaign and also in South Africa during the Jameson raid; when Earl Aberdeen was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Major Ashburnham was his A.D.C.

ATHENS, To-day.
The Turkish cruiser Mejidiah performed a sea-faring feat in which during a heavy fog she steamed out through the Dardanelles and passed unperceived through lines of Greek destroyers cruising off through the Straits at noonday. She appeared off the Island of Syra and bombarded the powder magazine and coal depots; these were not damaged but the electrical power station was wrecked; the Mejidiah also fired on the Greek auxiliary cruiser Macedonia which was undergoing repairs in Syra Harbour. When 15 shells had been fired the Commander of the Macedonia, after landing his crew for the purchase of maintaining order in the town and strengthening the guard over the Turkish prisoners, sank the Macedonia to prevent her destruction by the warships. The Mejidiah then left in the direction of Smyrna. Greek fleet has been ordered to intercept her. So far as is known other Turkish warships have not left the Dardanelles.

BERLIN, To-day.
The question of a naval demonstration, by the fleets of the European Powers against Turkey, was shelved. According to official circles here that prior to attempts, the Foreign Ambassadors in London will formulate a joint note to be delivered to the Turkish Government. The reason for shelving was that several Great Powers including some of those not belonging to the Triple Alliance, had declared against such demonstration. A sharp denial is given an assertion which appeared in the foreign press, that the delay which occurred in handling the joint note to the Powers to Turkey was due to Germany, which it was alleged, alone had pronounced against collective naval demonstration before Constantinople.

SOUTHAMPTON, To-day.
The Oceanic of the White Star Line, which arrived from New York last night, reports that she had her wireless equipment wrecked during a severe gale which lasted three days.

Coastal Boats.
REID'S SHIPS.
The Argyle left Sound Island at 1 p.m. yesterday.
The Glencoe arrived at Port aux Basques at 12.15 p.m. yesterday.
The Home is at Port aux Basques.
The Invermore left Port aux Basques at 10.15 last night.
The Solway left St. John's at 4 p.m. yesterday, for Sydney.
There is no report of the Duchess of Marlborough, since leaving Seldom.

HOWLING'S SHIPS.
The S. S. Porus is at North Sydney getting bunker coal and leaves this midnight.
The S. S. Prospero has reached Bell Isle in the Straits.

Scalded to Death.
When the Ingraham was at Greenspond a terrible accident occurred in the home of Mr. J. Loveys when his three-year-old son fell into a large tub of boiling water left on the kitchen floor by his mother. The child was literally boiled alive and died after a couple of hours of awful agony.

Entertainment at the Asylum.
Last night, the members of the staff of the Insane Asylum held their annual dance at the Institution, which proved to be one of the most successful events of the kind yet held there. Dancing commenced at nine o'clock and continued up until 2 a.m., and was participated in by about thirty-five couples, amongst whom were a number of guests from the city. Supper was served in the large dining hall, and was presided over by the Matron, Miss Field, who with her assistants, left nothing to be wished for in the matter of entertaining those present. Doctor and Mrs. Duncan were also present during the evening and by their presence added in no small measure towards the general enjoyment. Entertainments of this kind without doubt tend to break the monotony of the very arduous and painful duties which devolve upon the members of the staff and last night's successful affair brought forth the congratulations of all those who were fortunate to be present.

The Police Court.
A drunk was discharged, and a vagrant was discharged.
A charge of being drunk and disorderly and of obstructing the police in the discharge of their duty, preferred against a young man residing at Petty Harbour was withdrawn, as the defendant was able to prove an alibi.

Change the Day.
St. Patrick's Day this year will fall on Monday, and as the day has always been observed as a general holiday we would suggest to the Mercantile people to celebrate it on Saturday, the 15th of March, Monday, the 17th, is the beginning of Holy Week in Lent, and of course it could not be observed that day owing to Good Friday coming in that week.

Post Mortem.
Yesterday afternoon Dr. Mitchell held a post mortem examination on the body of the late John W. Green. The physician's report as to what caused the death of the deceased has not yet been received by the authorities. The remains is still at the morgue and will be transferred to-morrow morning to the residence of Mr. E. J. Horwood, brother-in-law of the deceased. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.

Big Steamer Arrives in Port.
At 2 o'clock this afternoon the s.s. Borderer, of the Border Union Steamship Company, of Glasgow, slowly steamed into port with her machinery partially disabled and without a lump of coal in her bunkers. The Borderer is a large vessel, 2,600 tons nett, and has never been in St. John's before. She left Imington, near Hull, England, on Dec. 28th, bound for New York in ballast. She experienced terrific weather, gale succeeding gale, and was badly buffeted. In consequence her machinery got out of order. This mishap greatly retarded her way. On Sunday last the engineers reported to the captain that coal was running short. The Borderer was then about a hundred and fifty miles off Cape Race. The next morning the captain decided to put into St. John's, but not being familiar with the coast, sent a wireless message to Harbour Master English as to ice conditions. The ship has been coming along slowly ever since, as all coal was consumed. On left, some of the woodwork of the ship had to be burned in order to make the coal last until port was reached. It was well the weather was moderate the past few days, as under adverse conditions the Borderer would have had a hard time of it. The ship is berthed at A. Harvey & Co's. pier, getting her bunkers replenished. Messrs. Bowring Bros. are her agents.

Fiona Back.
The Revenue Cruiser Fiona, Capt. English, arrived in port at one o'clock to-day from Bay of Islands where she had been engaged since November last on bait protection service. She reports stormy weather along the West Coast. Nearly all the Gloucester vessels have left the coast. Herring are very scarce at Fortune and Connaigre Bays and a number of fishermen have taken in their seines for the season having abandoned the voyage.

Marine Notes.
The S. S. City of Sydney is expected to leave Halifax to-night for this port. The schr. Freedom which left here for Pernambuco has gone to Bahia to unload the balance of her fish cargo. The S. S. Florizel arrived at Halifax on Tuesday after a 66 hour passage from this port.
The R. M. S. Sardinian is due here Sunday from Liverpool.

The Premier and Home Rule
Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The Prime Minister in concluding his great speech said: "In building a great Empire it is always necessary to take the risks we have run; we have been justified by experience, we have had our reward, more than our reward in increased loyalty and affection of the Empire as a whole. We believe, confidently believe, this will happen again. It is no use now analyzing short comings on one side or the other, as if weighing in the balance the burden of blame; on both sides bitter words have been spoken, bad things done; almost from the first unkindly fate seemed to brood over these two islands to frustrate their common life and sever their national enjoyment. Entertainments of this kind without doubt tend to break the monotony of the very arduous and painful duties which devolve upon the members of the staff and last night's successful affair brought forth the congratulations of all those who were fortunate to be present.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. Patrick Costigan wishes to thank Drs. Francis Carberry, Knight and Cowperthwait; also Miss Southcott, Nurses Forsey Taylor, Edgar, Fitzpatrick, Lundgren, Pomeroy and Daymond, for the kindness shown him during his illness at the General Hospital.—advtd.

Mr. A. Berket who escaped out of the hands of the Turks, fears that his business in Jerusalem will be confiscated by them. He kept a large novelty store. He speaks English, French, Italian, Greek and German fluently. He hopes that the Balkan allies will drive the Turk out of Constantinople and Europe when he intends to go home and resume work after he returns from Chicago where he will spend a time.

QUICK WORK.—The auxiliary schooner Geo. B. Cluett, Capt. Pickles, arrived at Maceo on the 13th after the very quick run of 23 days. She went down under motor power and sail.
THE FIRST SEAL.—When the Ingraham was about 8 miles off Greenspond the first seal, a beaver, was seen in the slob. Birds are very plentiful in Bonavista Bay and hundreds are killed daily.
HERRING FISHERY A FAILURE.—The American herring fishery this season, at Bay of Islands, has been a total failure. This is a great hardship on the large number of fishermen who were engaged at the industry.

DEVON REMAINS AT GREENSPOND.
The tug Ingraham, Capt. M. Ross, arrived here at 1 a.m. to-day from Greenspond. The ship has been there since December 27th and had a good run to port. Shipwright John Taylor and his diver and men who were working floating the stranded s.s. Bell of Devon, returned in the tug. The men worked under trying circumstances as almost every other day was stormy and cold and the diver had to go under the ship through thick slob. The men succeeded in getting the 'Devon' off King's Rock, where she stranded, on Monday week. They at first cemented the damaged bottom and then pumped her out. The night after she floated off she again sank in deep water at the Government wharf and only by strenuous endeavor was she again re-floated on the 8th inst. For several days the diver could not get down owing to the presence of the slob. The ship is now berthed in the mud near Edger's wharf and will come here in the spring for permanent repairs.

Sour Grapes.

After eating crow over his denial of the Telegram's circulation, the Herald is now doubting the veracity of our news items, being green with envy of the prestige of the "People's Paper." The shooting of the man Oates on the Nevada, Monday night, is set down as a lie because Head Constable Peet did not know it. He certainly did not neither did any other member of the police force. Oates received a bad flesh wound as the result of a revolver shot and we know the man who did it. All the exclusives are not nowadays for the Herald. The "Little Jap" is not the only "tin can on the dump" as Jack Rossley would say.

C.L.B. 'At Home.'

Last night at the British Hall, the sixth annual "At Home" of the C.L.B. under the management of the Non-Commissioned Officers, took place, and it was the biggest success yet. Upwards of four hundred persons attended, including representatives from sister brigades. Dancing commenced at nine o'clock and all enjoyed themselves to the fullest. The music discoursed by the battalion's band was exceptional. At eleven o'clock, the customary interval took place and the entire company repaired to the lower flat of the hall where a sumptuous supper, served by the lady friends of the brigade, was partaken of. Dancing was continued at midnight. At three o'clock this morning the affair was brought to a conclusion.

Being Abandoned

The subjoined message was received last evening by the Fisheries Department—

"Herring at Harbor Breton and in Bay; two barrels per dory. Nothing doing at Connaigre Bay at present. Some seines abandoned the fishery yesterday owing to the scarcity of herring. At Miller's Passage, one to three barrels, but weather stormy and interfering with fishery."

The Triduum of the Holy Name Society began at the R. C. Cathedral at 7.30 last evening, there being present several hundred men and the pupils of St. Bonaventure's College and Christian Bros. Schools, who are members of the organization. Rev. D. O'Callaghan, the Spiritual Director of the Society, preached an eloquent sermon on the Holy Name of Jesus, after which Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imposed, the choir of men singing the Tantum Ergo and O Salutaris, while later the whole congregation sang the hymn to the Sacred Heart. Later the Society held a meeting in their rooms to arrange for Sunday afternoon's parade at St. Patrick's Church. His Grace Archbishop Howley will preach to the members of the Societies of the Cathedral and St. Patrick's.

Mate Held for Murder.

Charged With Throwing Negro Member of Crew Overboard in Shark-Infested Waters of the South.

San Francisco, Jan. 3.—That J. Berberman, second mate of the "power schooner Leonor, now being held by the Mexican authorities, threw overboard Thomas Hunt, a big negro, following a terrible battle during the early hours of Dec. 18, and that a general mutiny followed is declared in mail advices here to-day. The ship was off the coast of Mexico at the time.

The fight was the result of threats issued against Berberman, it is said, because of his treatment of the crew. Hunt was alone at the wheel about 2.30 a.m. cries for help were heard. Investigation revealed traces of blood all over the afterdeck, smashed woodwork and other evidence of a frightful struggle.

The wheel was lashed and the negro missing. The schooner laid to for five days in the hope of finding Hunt's body. The sea was infested with sharks, and it is believed the negro was devoured almost as soon as he struck the water.

Has Fun Riding Freight Train.

Apparently Well-Bred Young Woman, Arrested for "Beating Way," Puzzles Chicago Police.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 1.—"I've been beating my way on freight trains over all the country, and, say, I've had the time of my life. Honestly, I'd rather ride in a box car than on a soft cushion in a parlor car."

This was the surprising statement made to the police to-day by a good looking and apparently well bred young woman who was arrested Sunday for trying to get aboard a freight train out-bound from Chicago.

"Oh, call me Hazel Johnson and say I'm a Western girl," said the prisoner. "It isn't my name, but it's cute and it'll do for the police. Every effort of the police to learn the identity or home of the girl has failed.

"What's your idea in travelling around at all?" asked a detective.

"Don't ask me that," she rejoined. "I'm not telling any one that. I've beaten my way to New York and back and I've been to Ogden, Utah, Salt Lake City and all over the West."

"I put on boys' clothing often while I was beating my way on trains. But I travelled like a girl most of the time, and no one ever tried to hurt me."

The young woman said she was robbed of a diamond ring valued at $300 by a railroad switchman whom she met in Portland, Ore.

In Destitute Circumstances

The Wickham and Kearney families who lost their homes and furniture in the fire of Tuesday evening, are in very destitute circumstances and are homeless. The little boy who was burned to death was buried yesterday Martin Finney, a neighbor, who Martin Finney, a neighbor, who sheltered the Wickham family and acted in a very kindly manner to them though a poor man himself. He yesterday made a collection to bury the infant and front the employees of Franklin & Coy., received $23.50 and from Mrs. Shortall, T. Wall and others received more donations which will go to those unfortunate people and their little ones. Mrs. Wickham and family took temporary refuge last night with her mother and Mrs. Kearney and family with a relative, Mrs. Fagan, Prince's Street. It is believed that one of the children was a boy, the one of kearsene oil which stood on the mantle in the kitchen and this falling on the stove fired the house. The families are destitute and we would again commend them to the notice of the charitable public.

Mate Held for Murder.

Charged With Throwing Negro Member of Crew Overboard in Shark-Infested Waters of the South.

San Francisco, Jan. 3.—That J. Berberman, second mate of the "power schooner Leonor, now being held by the Mexican authorities, threw overboard Thomas Hunt, a big negro, following a terrible battle during the early hours of Dec. 18, and that a general mutiny followed is declared in mail advices here to-day. The ship was off the coast of Mexico at the time.

The fight was the result of threats issued against Berberman, it is said, because of his treatment of the crew. Hunt was alone at the wheel about 2.30 a.m. cries for help were heard. Investigation revealed traces of blood all over the afterdeck, smashed woodwork and other evidence of a frightful struggle.

The wheel was lashed and the negro missing. The schooner laid to for five days in the hope of finding Hunt's body. The sea was infested with sharks, and it is believed the negro was devoured almost as soon as he struck the water.

Has Fun Riding Freight Train.

Apparently Well-Bred Young Woman, Arrested for "Beating Way," Puzzles Chicago Police.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 1.—"I've been beating my way on freight trains over all the country, and, say, I've had the time of my life. Honestly, I'd rather ride in a box car than on a soft cushion in a parlor car."

This was the surprising statement made to the police to-day by a good looking and apparently well bred young woman who was arrested Sunday for trying to get aboard a freight train out-bound from Chicago.

"Oh, call me Hazel Johnson and say I'm a Western girl," said the prisoner. "It isn't my name, but it's cute and it'll do for the police. Every effort of the police to learn the identity or home of the girl has failed.

"What's your idea in travelling around at all?" asked a detective.

"Don't ask me that," she rejoined. "I'm not telling any one that. I've beaten my way to New York and back and I've been to Ogden, Utah, Salt Lake City and all over the West."

"I put on boys' clothing often while I was beating my way on trains. But I travelled like a girl most of the time, and no one ever tried to hurt me."

The young woman said she was robbed of a diamond ring valued at $300 by a railroad switchman whom she met in Portland, Ore.

Advertising is Worth Doing Well.

A TIP TO OUR ADVERTISERS.

Even the smallest ad. should be gone over with microscopic care in order that valuable "white space" may be made effective.

In the Business-Philosopher, J. P. folks will waste even the small amount that a Want Ad. costs by dashing off any kind of "copy" running it in a newspaper, and serenely expecting the newspaper to dump the contents of an advertising Horn of Plenty at their feet.

Newspaper space is valuable in proportion to the efficiency of the written word that is set up into type and goes into that space. Even a Want Ad. can be given "pulling power" by the kind of careful, painstaking preparation that is necessary to make any kind of advertising worthy of the name.

So don't dash off that Want Ad. pill meil. Take a little time and trouble to convey your message just the way it should be conveyed. The newspaper can sell you white space. It is up to you to make that white space effective.

We can't all be Belascos, but we can learn something from Belasco's methods.

There's a thought worth while here. I have often wondered why

CRIMINAL APPEAL.

Judgment was given yesterday on the appeal in this matter. The conviction was upheld by the Chief Justice and Judge Johnson. In the opinion of Judge Emerson the appeal should be allowed, and the conviction quashed.

After the delivery of the judgment the prisoner was sentenced, by Judge Johnson, to two years in the Penitentiary, with hard labor, the time to run from August 21, 1912. The Judge said that in consideration of the meritorious service of the accused for a number of years, and also because of the manner in which the appeal had been presented, the sentence was much lighter than it would otherwise have been.

It was unanimously held by the Court of Appeal that the Criminal Appeal Act, 1907-8, (English) is in force in this Colony. This is the first decision on this point, and changes the practice here as to criminal appeals. The prisoner's counsel had said, at the outset of the appeal, that the Judge held this Act to be in force, he did not rely on the objections which would otherwise be made as to the manner in which the jury had been empanelled at Harbor Grace. Arguments on this point were therefore presented without prejudice. In view of the decision reached, that the Act is in force, it therefore became necessary to decide the question about the jury. But the Chief Justice referred to it in passing, by saying that as to the first jury panel, the action of the Crown officers, in asking to stand, is null because of what the Judge had done, had the effect of making the question of the legality of the Judge's action of no importance; and that as to the second jury panel, the fact that the prisoner had not challenged the full number he was entitled to had the effect of making the Judge's action of the importance which it might have possessed if the challenges had been exhausted. These remarks, however, not being a necessary part of the real decision, it appears that the vexed question which has so much interested the public—Can a judge deal with a jury as Judge Johnson did at Harbor Grace—has not been passed on by the Court.

The question that really has been decided by the Court in this case, beyond the decision that the Criminal Appeal Act applies, is this:—Tried for breaking and entering the shop of James Crox, with intent to steal, the prisoner on cross-examination was asked if he had been charged with stealing from Ernest Simmons. There was no connection between the facts in the two matters. The Chief Justice and Judge Emerson agree that the question about the Simmons matter should not have been asked or answered, because the facts of that matter were inadmissible. The charge on which the accused was being tried, and therefore a violation of the Criminal Evidence Act. But here these two judges differ. Judge Emerson holds that the trial Judge did not sufficiently withdraw this evidence from the jury, and that, therefore, the conviction should be quashed. The Chief Justice holds that the trial Judge's remarks to the jury robbed this evidence of its sting to such a degree that the jury could not have been affected, and therefore that the conviction should not be disturbed.

Upon one point of great interest to lawyers, the Chief Justice gave an opinion, but Judge Emerson made no remark whatever, though his decision seems to imply disagreement with the Chief Justice on the point. He has, however, promised to deliver a reasoned judgment for his decision, and if he does so he may deal with this matter. Relying on an English decision (Rex vs. Nicholls, 1908, 25 T.L.R. 65.) the Chief Justice holds, in effect, that where there has been non-direction by a judge to a jury (which seems equivalent to misdirection) the Court of Appeal will not quash the conviction on the ground of "Misdirection of Justice" unless the Court is of opinion that if the jury had been properly directed it would have found or ought to have found the prisoner not guilty. This seems to constitute the Appeal Court a second jury in the action, and to amount to this, that nothing illegal done in the course of a trial is a "Misdirection of Justice" if the Appeal Court concludes that the accused was really guilty. This seems to be opposed to another English case, Rex vs. Dyson (1908) 2 K.B. 454, where it was held that "where the Court of Appeal were of the opinion that even had they been properly directed the jury would in all probability have convicted the prisoner, the Court nevertheless quashed the conviction on the ground that they were unable to say certainly that the jury must have convicted even if properly directed."

On the question of fact, the Chief Justice and Judge Johnson said that they were convinced the prisoner was guilty, and Judge Emerson said he did not express any doubt of this. The sentence was a merciful one in this light, and in passing it Judge Johnson had evidently given consideration to all that could be said in favor of the accused.

Officious Little Officials

A railroad attorney travelling on a personal mission, requested the train conductor to file a telegram at an approaching station and was curtly advised to attend to his own business.

As the train came to a stop, he sought to leave his car but found the vestibule doors locked. By the time he had run through the train it was too late for him to accomplish his desired purpose, and an important connection was missed.

Meeting the conductor, he informed him of his status with the road and roughly rated the man for his surliness.

"Why didn't you tell me who you were?" was the reply. "I would gladly have accommodated you; I took you for one of the passengers in the tourist car. I am sorry that I was hasty."

"You are not sorry that you were disobliging," rejoined the lawyer, "but sorry that you made the mistake of being insolent to some one with sufficient influence to have you reprimanded."

There are far too many little men, who mistake a tiny responsibility for great power. The average citizen is constantly insulted and inconvenienced by minor employees who overestimate the extent of their authority. All men who pay an equal price for service are entitled to an equal degree of civility. The world is filled with petty bullies. One of the hardest tasks of public service corporations is their inability to secure complaints against bad servants. Big business, however much it may be criticized for its grasping and greed, is none the less intelligent and realizes the profit that lies in good will. Every protest against neglect and officious officials guarantees better treatment to the next man.—Herbert Kaufman in Woman's World.

Obituary.

MRS. JAMES ANDREWS.

The death of Mrs. James Andrews took place at her home, 57 Brazil's Square, last evening. Death came very unexpectedly as she had been confined to her bed less than one week and previous to that, had been in her usual good health. Deceased was a native of St. John's, and was in her 69th year. She leaves behind her besides her sorrowing husband, one son and one brother and four sisters. Mrs. (Anton) Bell, of this city is one of the sisters. The funeral will take place on Friday at 2.30 p.m. and will be conducted by officers of the Salvation Army, of which organization the deceased had for many years been a most faithful and respected member, and her passing away will be deeply regretted, not only by members of her own family, but by hundreds who knew her as a good soldier of Jesus.

Servant of Christ well done.

LONDON, Jan. 15.

The Home Rule Bill started its final stage to-day, and it was marked by two speeches seldom excelled in the House, by Asquith and Balfour. Other speakers, representing all parties followed, and the debate was adjourned until to-morrow, when a division will be taken. The bitterness which bills of a similar nature aroused in the past was absent in the discussion, but with "harder hitters" on the programme to-morrow, this may not be continued. When the order of the day was called, Balfour, at the request of Bonar Law, moved the rejection of the measure. There was a crowded house, and Balfour, who had been absent from Parliament for some weeks, while not so fluent as the Prime Minister, delivered one of those telling speeches for which he is famous. He dealt with the Bill in a general way, and particularly laid stress on the case of Ulster, which he likened to the revolution of the American Colonies. He charged the Government with showing a dangerous appreciation of the situation, and pointing his finger at the government bench, concluded with saying if blood be spilled the real assassins would be those who never had the courage to face the situation. Asquith defended the bill from every standpoint. He pleaded with the House to forget the past, and give Ireland what the vast majority demanded. He laid stress on the safeguards in the Bill to prevent Protestants from being oppressed by the majority; and repeated the Government's offer to insert any other reasonable safeguards if only the Opposition could tell what was wanted. He recalled that Balfour had made the same gloomy prediction he did to-day when the Liberals gave self-government to South Africa. Unionists and Liberals, continued the debate until after dinner, when T. P. O'Connor gave the bill his blessing on behalf of the Nationalists. Hon. Thomas C. R. Agar, Robertes, one of two Liberals opposing the measure, regretted the refusal of the Government to hold out the olive branch to Ulster, and denounced the bill as one of coercion. William O'Brien, leader of the Independent Nationalists, criticized some provisions of the Bill, and said that while he could not accept it as a final settlement, he regarded it as a sincere and courageous message of peace to Ireland. He suggested that if the former Chief Secretaries and Under Secretaries of Ireland and three representative Irishmen, including John E. Redmond and Sir Edward Carson, could be got together, they might come to some measure of agreement. The Liberals' adhesion to Home Rule was declared by James Parker sitting for Halifax. Rt. Hon. Louis Samuel, P.M.G. who had charge of the financial provisions of the Bill, defended it at length. Rt. Hon. J. Heiry Campbell, as leader of the Ulsterites, in the absence of Sir Edward Carson, opposed the Bill in its entirety. The whips have been requested to get busy for to-morrow's division.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.

A flood of petitions for damages, resulting from the Titanic disaster, were filed to-day. They included one from Mrs. Irene Wallach Harris, wife of Henry B. Harris, theatrical manager, for $1,000,000; one from the widow of Jacques Futrelle, author, for $400,000; from Mrs. Lily B. Millet, widow of Francis D. Millet, artist, for $100,000. In all 279 claims have been made for about $10,000,000. The White Star line contends its liability under the U. S. statutes does not exceed $1,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 15.

The reason for striking, put forward by two thousand Welsh miners, who quit work, is that they were kept waiting for their pay for half an hour on Saturday in drizzling rain, without shelter, while the cashier finished his luncheon. The men were so incensed that they gave the Colliery officials 24 hours to dismiss the cashier, as they did not do so the men stopped work, against the advice of their leaders.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.

More than seventy thousand children, mostly under ten years of age, were deprived of one or both parents by divorce in this country during the past year, according to figures with which the Rev. Mr. Moody presented to the members of the New York State Marriage Divorce Commission at its meeting.

Just a Word or Two of Advice to Business Men

UNIVERSAL OZONATOR

For Air Purification in Banks, Restaurants,
Cafes, Billiard Halls,
Bowling Alleys, Etc.

The Universal Ozonator produces about 4000 cubic feet of ozonized air per hour. A motor-driven blower draws fresh air into the ozone generating units and expels the ozonized air into the room. As the ozone diffuses very rapidly, this feature assures a wide distribution of the ozone. The two-point switch produces means for varying the amount of ozone. For deodorizing purposes the ozonator will be found invaluable.

Sterilize and deodorize all rooms or halls where human beings live or congregate, as:
