Concerning Traitors and Spies. Ascording to the Mail there are many, very many, traitors in this country. They are not, upon the same authority, confined to either political party, and they are, moreover, capable of stealing "the old flag in the night." Men of cool, common sense had hardly done laughing at the loyal hysterics of the chief tory organ when the Globe made an exhibition o itself by charging certain members of its own party with being in the secret service of Sir John A. Macdonald, and being by him to attend the detailed of young liberals for the purpose of confusing their pur poses and betraying their confidences. does not state, because it no longer possesses the courage which it possessed in its better days, of saying "thou art the man;" but the charge points more or less directly at every liberal, young or old, who dares to doubt the wiedom and the efficacy of the plans for some time pursued by the party leaders and their organs That such liberals do exist, and in no insignificant numbers, is a fact, but that they are per consequence traitors and spies we do not believe. The delegates to the convention who are the objects of the Globe's bulldozing tactics must be left to vindicate their own integrity, but the general public has arrived at the very natural conclusion that there must be trouble in the camp when such tactics are deemed necessary. The real traitor to the reform party is the paper that thus denies the right of members of the organization to freedom of thought and speech. The real spy upon the movements of the young liberals is the party journalist who discounts their intentions, and who proclaims in advance that they are disloyal to their party and not to be trusted. If the Globe's charges are well founded there is no confidence to be reposed in the conevention; if fa'se, a wicked libel has been uttered in general terms agains! a number of the young liberals. In either case the Globe has done its utmost to serve the tories by creating suspicion and disthe tories by creating suspicion and distogether for the purpose of endeavoring to benefit the party, and the country in Should the threat to expel from the convention every man who dissents from the opinions of the party man-will advise the Governor General to commute the death penalty in Riel's case to one of imprisonment. The World has asserted that Sir John will probably let the law take its course. There are several reasons which may plausibly be urged in support of the World's view at this juncture:

I. Sir John Macdonald has no reason to feel personally well disposed towards Riel, who has caused him during the last fifteen years an enormous amount of humiliatien and solventy. Why should he interfere now to also a man who has brought his fate on all the volunteers. It is not safe to take stock in the assertion that he can do what he peases even with the Orang men. Mr. Blike turth both him and John sandfield Macdonald a slamp lesson in 1870 by his Scott murder resolution.

Three thousand five hundred pounds of butter; 3000 hams; 1600 pounds of biscuits, exclusive of those supplied for the crew; 8000 pounds of grapes, almonds, figs and other dessert fruits; 1500 pounds; soft jams and jellies; tinned meats, 6000 pounds; dried beans, 3000 pounds; protatoes, 3000 pounds; onions, 5000 pounds; potatoes, 3000 pounds; onions, 5000 pounds; potatoes, dozen.
