took place to-day in St. Thomas' Church. The hour set for the begin-Church. The hour set for the beginning of the ceremony was 12 o'clock. At that hour the church was thronged with the representatives of New York's smartest society, gathered to witness the ceremony. The church was gorgeously decorated for the occasion, the floral display being, without doubt, the most lavish that New York has ever known. From 10.15 o'clock, carriage after carriage rolled up, their occupants quickly passing into the church. As the hour for the ceremony drew nearer, the crowd became larger. The steps of houses and the sidewalks up and down the avenue were jammed until it was almost impossible for the pedestrians to obtain a passage through the crowd. Traffic in Fifth-avenue was practically at a standstill before noon.

Gorgeous Decorations.

The Guests.

Among those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Burden, General and Mrs. Butterfield, Sir Roderick Cameron, Legrand B. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, the Rev. and Mrs. Morgan Dix, Hamilton Fish, jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, the Misses Morton, and Mr. and Mrs. Elbrids.

The bridesmaids followed them, and then came the Duke and his bride. After them came Mrs. Vanderbilt, on the arm of Mr. Guest. The party immediately entered carriages, and drove to Mrs. Vanderbilt's house, where the reception and breakfast followed.

One feature of the wedding which has excited much comment was the fact that few of W. K. Vanderbilt's femily were invited either to the family were invited either to the church or to the breakfast.

The reason for this is said to have

The fact that Mrs, Vanderbilt did not invite her husband's brothers and sisters to the marriage of her daughter caused much talk, but little surprise.

OSLER'S ARRAIGNMENT

The Crown Prosecutor Outlines His Case to the Jury.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY BEGUN.

Second Trial of the Notorious Twins Well Under Way.

or. Edmund E. King Tells of the Finding of the Body of Willie Wells in the Fatal Cellar-The Fearful Injuries Inflicted by the Cruel Weight-A Change in the Crown's Program Occasions a Falling Off in the Attendance. A number of the witnesses for the prosecution succeeded most admirably in delaying the proceedings in the Hyams trial yesterday morning. They seemingly failed to grasp the fact that the little blue documents commanding their presence are peremptory in their nature, and were far away from the busy scenes of the court room when their presence was essential to the uninterrupted success of the proceedings. It is doubtless more or less a matter of inconvenience to withesses sumnoned on a case of this importance to be compelled to remain away from their customary avocations and keep well within the beck and call of the gentlemen of the bar until they are finally excused, but it should be borne well in mind that such constant attendance is far more trying on the 12 jurymen who are removed from the sight even of their families and friends during the entire period of the trial day and night, and that the slightest unnecessary delay is an absolute injustice to them. The tardy witnesses of yesterday have occasion to congratulate themselves that they escaped without even a reprimand from the court, but if one may be permitted to read between the lines of His Lordship's subsequent orders relating to the attendance of witnesses, it may safely, be predicted that "something will drop," and drop with a dull, sickening thud should the wheels of the legal machinery again become clogged as they were just prior to the noon recess yesterday.

When the Court Opened. Immediately on taking his seat yesterday morning, His Lordship announced that he had not arrived at any conclusion regarding the convening of an additional Criminal Court, and then excused all jurymen not engaged in the present case from further duty until Monday, the 18th inst. The twins came upon the scene dressed as on yesterday, though slightly paler, as if in expectancy of the able chief prosecutor's opening statement they had passed a sleepless night. The prisoners were accompanied to their dock by two burly constables with drawn clubs.

Why the Crowds Were Absent.

There was a visible falling off in the attendance during the morning, and many vacant seats were noticed on the ground floor, though as the day, grew on the curious commenced to flock towards the scene of expected sensations, and the constables were again called upon to exert themselves in holding the crowds in check. Later on again there was a falling off, occasioned probably by the action of the Crown in changing the order of the Crown in changing the order of things as pursued in the former trial. and proceeding to introduce its evidence in what appears to be a more regular order. The spectators expected Ebenezer Aylesworth, as the occupant of the witness box, and were disappointed when Mr. Osler called Dr. E. E. King, Undertaker B. D. Humpherey and Expressman John Fox. who E. E. King, Undertaker B. D. Humphrey and Expressman John Fox, who are to testify relative to the finding of the body and the condition of things generally in and about the Colbornestreet warehouse on the fatal morning. This testimony is, of course, very material to the Crown's case, but it lacks sensationalsm, and, therefore, cannot be expected to attract very much outside attention.

The Crown's Dumb Witnesses. Prior to the convening of court this morning many of the articles which will figure so prominently in the prosecution of the case were brought into the court room. There were the ponderous weight, which played the principal part in the killing of Willie Wells, and the smaller weight, which had been cut in two. In another place were boxes full of addressed envelopes, said to be the result of the work done by Wells, Aylesworth and Miss Latimer, and sacks and baskets full of various and sundry things, all of which the and sundry things, all of which the Crown expect to find ample use for in making out a reasonable case against the accused. In a sealed hand-bag,lying on the barristers' table, rested the fractured skull of the dead rested the fractured skull of the dead boy. Yesterday it was employed by Mr. Osler in pointing out the nature of the injuries which had so unhappily terminated a young and promising life. As the gruesome object was brought from its hiding place, there was a craning of necks to see the cracked and distorted object, but it was shortly returned to its hiding place, and later in the day a little "play skull," from the shelves of a dealer in old bones, was employed when found necessary in the prosecution of the case. in the prosecution of the case.

Mr. Osler's Opening Address. The Crown prosecutor lost but little me in presenting his statement to he jury. It was an able presentation f facts as the Crown expects to prove them during the progress of the trial, and was eagerly listened to until the last word had been spoken. Mr. Osler spoke for an hour and three-quarters, saying in substance as follows:

On Monday, Jan. 16, 1893, three years in the basement of a warehouse in Colborne-street in this city. Death was occasioned by injuries to the head. His head was crushed—the bones of the skull broken. The question to be tried by you is whether that death was by design or whether it was acci-To-night "Trilby," Jessie Alexander; was by design or whether it was accidental. If the death was the result of design, then that design was the act of the prisoners at the bar. If it was accidental no crime has been committed, and the prisoners are entitled to be discharged from the charge against them. The question for you to solve is different from the ordinary way in which such cases are present. way in which such cases are presented, namely, that a crime has been committed, and is it that the prisoners at the bar are guilty? The question here is, has a crime been committed? I think you will agree that if a crime has been committed the evidence will show that the responsibility of that crime is upon the prisoners and the prisoners alone.

Now, gentlemen, your task is a serious one. You have to bring to beaupon it all your patience and intelligence.

A Legal Aspect The Crown has to make out its case, the Crown has to satisfy beyond reasonable doubt of the guilt of the prisoners. No man is to be adjudged guilty on suspicion, however grave that suspicion may be. If the Crown fails to satisfy you that there is guilt, then no matter how griev-ously the prisoners may be suspected they are entitled under our laws to be discharged. But if the circumstances related in the witness box bring to your minds that conclusion of guilt that is in some respects automatic, then you have to render that canclusion no matter what the consequences may be. We are here mere-

The eldest, Harry, the jury had nothing to do dealt with in this case occurred. The other boy, William, was the victim in this case. One of the girls, Annie, married a man named Aylesworth, who will be a witness in this case. Martha, the other girl, married Harry Hyams, which was an important circumstance in the consideration of this case. She (Martha) is now ill in a hospital in this city, and may or may not give her evidence. The Hyamses, Mr. Osler conevidence. The Hyamses, Mr. Osler continued, came to this city from the States in company with their mother, and he went on to tell of the meeting of the two families and their relationship immediately prior to the occurrence of this case. The Hyamses had boarded with the Wellses, and subsequently H.P. Hyams had begun to woo Martha Wells, but had impressed upon Martha Wells, but had impressed upon her very strongly the fact that they could not be married until after his could not be married until after his mother's death, as she was opposed to him marrying. The Hyamses, Mr. Osler said, were men without private re-sources and with considerable ability sources and with considerable ability for spending money. They were largely dependent on their mother, who had an income on which they all lived. They had what was called a financial brokerage on King-street west. It was a business in which they would borrow and lend money, although there had been many many there. been many more transactions of borrowing than of lending by the prison-ers. In February, 1892, they borrowed $3000 from the Wellses without security, but on an agreement. It was taken at 12 per cent. interest, and employment was also on the strength of the transaction given to Aylesworth and Willie Wells. An attempt was made by the Wellses to get this money back, and once it was offered by the Hyamses, but with the statement that the young men would lose their posithe young men would lose their posi-tions if they took it. Aylesworth refused, but on Sept. 13 $30,000 was taken out on the life of Wells. It was taken out on the life of Wells. It was in the Crown's case that this insurance was taken through the persistent efforts of H. P. Hyams. Martha Wells, who subsequently married H.P. Hyams, was Willie's beneficiary. It was a 20-year endowment policy which was taken out and the payments of premium amounted to $384 per quarter. In 20 years this meant that more than $30,000 would be paid in for this policy. The premiums by agreement were to be paid by H. P. Hyams, who induced Wells to take out the policy. We get gued that no work was done, no goods in modern days complex motives, skilstored, beyond a few empty boxes and fully and craftily designed plans for making money plans which intolling preparing for the death. Mr. Osler argued that no work was done, no goods stored, beyond a few empty boxes and $50 worth of groceries. 'here was plenty of office room for all the Hyamses' work in the King-street building. It would be contended, however, by the defence that they were trying to establish a mercantile agency, but Mr. Osler urged that the copying of the lists in connection with this idea and the idea itself were nothing more than a pretence for the purpose of side-tracking suspicion and giving the prisoners a better opportunity of carrying out their design.

He then asked, in view of all these things he had brought to their attention, was there or was there not relationship between these arrangements and the death? Were they not simply a preparation?

The Bothersome Hoist.

The next matter Mr. Osler dealt with was the hoist in the warehouse. This hoist had for years served its purpose for Imrie & Graham, who did a large business. But with the Hyamses, who had no business at all to speak of, the hoist was being continually tinkered with and repaired. Then, in connection with this, there were the continual and aggressively pronounced prove by direct evidence. So that it is your absolute duty to give just as much attention to the circumstances leading to a conclusion of 'guilt as to evidence of the witness in the box who swears that he saw the transaction. Now let me make one other preliminary remark. You are here to judge solely upon the evidence. You cannot but have read of this transaction in the newspapers. You all know of the previous trial. You all have knowledge perhaps more or less of the details of the transaction, perhaps you have come more or less to the conclusion on that which your minds have received. You are here to get rid of imwere told it was utterly worthless, as it was only half the weight of the cage. But it was necessary to their purpose that they should get this other weight, because the hook which held the old weight was so pressed in and safe that the weight would not come off it at all. Their whole intention in getting the little that You are here to get rid of imnot come off it at all. Their whole intention in getting this light weight was so that they might be able to get a hook which they could manipulate. Now, having regard to all the circumstances, the jury, Mr. Osler said, would have to consider what importance they would give to these matters concerning the hoist. Was there a relationship. Were they a preparation for the death of Willie Wells?

The Coast was Clear.

Continuing, Mr. Osler said there was a mechanical situation fitting in with the financial. What happened preparatory to the moving on the 16th? Immediately prior to that H. P. Hyams that is in some respects automatic, then you have to render that conclusion no matter what the consequences may be. We are here merely performing the functions the law has assigned to us. It is not your verdict that affects the prisoners, it is the law as the result of your verdict. You must perform your duty fearlessly and courageously, and you have to perform your duty without regard for the lives of the accused. Sympathy has no part in this trial. If sympathy had affy part in it I might just as well appeal for your sympathy for the poor young man lying dead that morning as my friend has for the men in the dock. the dock.

He would only give some of the details, he said, as there was evidence for the Crown that might not be received, and as it might be ruled against by the Court he would avoid all which could be regarded as possibly gutside the borderland. There were four orphan children, Mr. Osler said, who came to this country. Two were boys and two were girls. Their friends

On the morning of the death Willie Wells left his home on Mutual-street at 8.45, and would get to the warehouse about 9 o'clock. The next thing known is H. P. Hyams going to Dr. King's office on Queen-street east, and telling him to come down, that there had been an accident at the warehouse. He did not go to any telehouse. He did not go to any telephone, call on any neighbor, summon in any help or give any alarm. He simply went personally and called Dr. King down. When Dr. King got there Dallas was present alone with the dead body. So that the jury had now the dead body—dead by violence—in possession of the prisoners, and of the prisoners alone. The next many in the dead body—the dead body—the dead body—the dead by violence—in possession of the prisoners, and of the prisoners alone. prisoners alone. The next man in was Expressman Fox. In the meantime Dallas had been sent home in a hack; the next to come was Coroner Aikins, and the next Undertaker Humphrey.

The Mechanical side of It.

The defence, Mr. Osler said, would place much stress on time, and would try to show, that H. P. Hyams was not there. The Crown would place all the evidence before the jury, and would submit that there was no great importance in the question of time. It was shown that Harry Hyams had taken the weight off the head, and by doing so had injured his hands. He had taken the weight off before any other person was around. The Crown would submit that the man who could be there to take the weight off the head could also be there to put it on. The question of time, therefore, was not very material. Continuing, Mr. Osler asked was that death by design or accident? That brought one, as it were, to the mechanical part of the case. He pointed to the motives and said if it were accident, then accident had intervened to carry out what motive had intended.

The Kneck-Down Blow.

Speaking of the injury to the skull, Mr. Osler stated that the medical evidence both for the prosecution and the defence agreed that the head when it was struck was lying on the ground. There was no question of this. There was a consensus of opinion, too, that The Kneck-Down Blow. was a consensus of opinion, too, that the breaking of the skull was by force applied to the right side. How did it come that a young man in health and strength was lying prone when such a blaw was received? The medical

The Concluding Remarks.

Mr. Osler contended that if the hook was not properly attached to the weight, and the weight ascended askew it would not go into the completed shaft at the top, and it would not be necessary for anyone to look up the shaft to see the weight. If the weight were descending the Crown well stight were descending the Crown would show that there was not play enough in the shaft or slack enough in the rope The Testimony Begins.

drawn by him. The witness spoke with a decidedly English accent. He described the building in question as a very modest-looking warehouse on the north side of Colborne-street. As the north side of Colborne-street. As the present arrangements are there is no connection between the ground floor of the building and the basement. In this respect a change had been made since the time of the accident. The elevator shaft had also been cut off at the first floor and did not continue into the basement as in January, 1893. The plans were made shartly before the opening of the trial in May last.

May last.
J. F. Bryce, photographer, swore to having made several photographs of the different floors of the Colbornestreet warehouse on Feb. 16, 1895, a few days after the arrest of the twins. Humphrey and Joseph Fox were called in turn, but the best efforts of the constables failed to produce any of them, and a delay of some few minutes was thus occasioned. In the absence of any witnesses, Mr. Osler pointed out to His Lordship the points illustrated by the photographs, and the prisoners chatted merrily with Mr. Murdoch. The court crier announced that any Crown witnessses who were not present when their names were called were likely to be arrested on bench warrants. to be arrested on bench warrants.

Responding to queries propounded by Mr. Osler, Dr. King stated that he had known the Hyamses, Harry particularly, since 1891. They lived with other members of their family at 57 Gould-street. He did not know how long they had lived in this city, or where they had come from. He remembered having had a call from Harry on the morning of Jan. 16, 1893, at his office, corner Queen and Bondstreets, and being requested by him to "Hurry up to Colborne-street; there has been an accident there and I don't know whether the man is dead or not."

What the Doctor Found.

What the Doctor Found. The witness hurried down on foot, Harry preceding him. Arriving at the warehouse he found Dallas on the ground floor, leaning against an office railing and believed that Harry was also there, but no one else. Asked where the accident occurred and we three went down into the baseand we three went down into the basement, where we found the body of a young man lying prone on his back, dead. Would judge that life nad been extinct but a short time, as body was still warm. The body was lying south of a straight line from the south side of the elevator shaft, in an easterly and westerly direction, and inclined somewhat obliquely. The body was well extended, and gave me the impression that it had been dragged there. The head was inclined slightly to the left so that the right ear was of a straight line from the south side of the elevator shaft, in an easterly and westerly direction, and inclined somewhat obliquely. The body was well extended, and gave me the impression that it had been dragged there. The head was inclined slightly to the left so that the right ear was easily visible. The head was about 18 inches from nearest point of elevator shaft, and about two feet one or two inches from weight shaft. The arms were carelessly hanging, one across the body and one alongside. Was positive that they were bare when I first saw the body. Was also positive that there were no spectacles or eyeglasses on the deceased's face, nor did I see any lying about the floor.

The Condition of the Bedy.

The Condition of the Body. The witness examined the body closely and found the head very severely crushed, which satisfied him that death had come quickly. The crushing was particularly severe on the fore part and right side of the head, which had been crushed into a cone by the exbeen crushed into a cone by the excessive pressure. Blood was oozing from a wound over the right eye. There was no blood around the lower part of the body, but plenty of it at the head and in the vicinity of the weight shaft. Was effusion of blood at eyelids and could not see the eyeballs. Bloodstains leading from weight shaft to body. The weight was south of the right shaft and west of the head, I think, standing perpendicularly, and about two feet een crushed into a cone by the exing perpendicularly, and about two feet from buffer block of weight shaft. no rope or hook.

Some discrepancy having been discovered in the witness' testimony concerning the position of the weight, his former testimony was shown him, but he still asserted that he believed the weight was standing on its end when weight was standing on its end when first seen by him.

When he was in the basement he was told that deceased had been struck by the weight, which they had removed from the head. The Hyamses told witness that the weight had fal-len down the shaft, but nothing fur-ther was said with reference to de-tails, other than that the hoist had been out of order and the weight had aught. The witness thought the weight had not struck the buffer block in its fall, nor was there any mark of violence of any kind on the block, though there was some blood. Had the weight struck the block, there would have been a difference in the condition of the blood thereon.

A Few Technicalities. At this stage of the proceedings a make-believe skull was produced by Mr. Osler and some time was taken up by the witness in an explanation of the temporal accipital perietal protuberance, in other words, that is the portion of the deceased's head that was resting on the floor at the time he first saw the body. The doctor then went into a minute explanation of the wounds as he had found them when making his first examination of the evidence for the prosecution would claim that there was a knock-down blow, or rather two blows, showing different lines of foyce, before the crushing blow was received.

Mr. Osler was proceeding to outline the contention of the defence on this point when Mr. Lount objected.

The Concluding Remarks.

Mr. Osler Concluding Remarks. witness explained that he believed the wound over the eye was caused from inward pressure, brought about by external head wound, which he believed had been caused by the falling weight. When Harry Hyams called to see me on Jan. 16, was about 9 o'clock in the morning. Noticed no blood on his clothing at that time. Was satisfied he had gone to the warehouse weight. When Harry Hyams called to see me on Jan. 16, was about 9 o'clock in the merning. Noticed no blood on his clothing at that time. Was satisfied he had gone to the warehouse and returned to his office by 10 o'clock. Harry had been in a serious condition for some time prior to the death of Wells, and had been obliged to undergo, three very complicated surgical operations. "Have you attended them since then?" asked Mr. Osler.
"Since the accident?"
"Since the killing?"
"Since the l6th of January, 1893, I have attended Harry Hyams a number of times," replied the doctor, and he explained that Harry had never fully recovered from the effects of the operations, and that he needed medical assistance quite frequently. tions, and that he needed medical assistance quite frequently.

During the re-direct examination the doctor admitted that a former statement of his fixing the time of Harry Hyams' visit to his office at between 9 and 10 o'clock was probably correct. Being brought down closely by the Crown prosecutor, the witness stated that the top of the buffer block was wet, as with fresh blood, when he made his examination of the cellar. He was willing to swear that he had telephoned the coroner, notifying him of honed the the occurrence.

To Mr. Johnston witness said he thought it was nearer 9 than 10 o'clock when Harry called at his office. The doctor had been in the witness box just three hours when his examination was concluded, and the court shortly thereafter adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Oakville Wants the T.J.C, Track.
Oakvillian writes: I notice by your issue of Nov. 5 that the York Riding and Driving Club has changed its name to the Toronto Jockey Club. The object of the new club is to construct a track, grand stand and stables necessary for holding a 20 or 25 days' running meet next summer. Newmarket is the point suggested. I would beg to call the attention of the management to the extra favorable location of Oakville asa place to establish a track.

As the projectors are mainly Toronto gentlemen, it is desirable to select a suitable locality as near that city as possible. Inthis respect Oakville has about 14 miles the advantage of Newmarket. Then there are no small number of racing people in Hamilton, and it would be equally easy for them to reach Oakville. I noticed The World favoring an electric railway between Toronto and-Hamilton, and once this was completed there could be no more delightful ride on a summer day than along the picturesque lake shore to Oakville. This road is now constructed to near Port Credit, and it would take but a short time to rush it through. Then, during the summer season, many visitors are at resorts along the line who would patronize racing. The G.T.R. at present give a service of six trains a day each way, and this could be increased, if necessary, to a suburban service. Besides, we have an excellent harbor, and he now narbor, and those who wished could travel by boat. George Gooderham, Esq., ran the Greyhound here last summer, and he now promises all the boat accommodation the route will pay for. The aHmilton Steamboat Company's boats also pass our town. Then, Oakville is on a direct railway line from Buffalo, Detroit or other American points Plenty of land could be obtained right on Pichty of land could be obtained right on the shore, and lake breezes would be a great pleasure at a meeting during the heated season. The soil is sandy, and those posted know what an aid this is in keeping a track in first-class condition. Should the management consider the above, they will certainly recognize Oak-ville's advantages. ville's advantages.

("Oakvillian" has evidently confused the town of Newmarket with the old Newmarket track, where the T.J.C. will locate.)

Rev. Rainsford on the Golf Links.

New York, Nov. 6.—The open scratch tournament at the Morris County Golf Club yesterday for a handsome silver cup and a medal brought out 33 contestants, the players representing six of the most prominent local golf clubs. J. A. Tyng of Morristown, a comparatively new golfer, won the honors of the tournament, and broke the amateur record for the course by covering the 18 holes in 86. His rounds were 45 and 41 each. A. E. Patterson of the Richmond County Country Club was second, with 43, 45—48, and Jasper Lynch of Lakewood third, with 47, 48—95.

At the St. Andrew's Golf Club, near Yonkers, W. H. Sands won the Reid medal, and thereby becomes champion of the club for 1895. His score for 36 holes was as follows: 48, 47, 44, 41; total, 180, an amateur record. L. B. Stoddart took second place with 186, and James Park third with 191. The field of players was unusually Field Trials at Chatham.

Chatham. Nov. 6.—The field trials under the auspices of the International Field Trials Association were continued at Mitchell's Bay to-day, with beautiful weather, but, as on the opening day, under great difficulty owing to almost entire absence of scent. If rain comes to-night there will be good scent to-morrow, and prospects are that the last event will be run off by 6 p.m.

The Derby followed some unsuccessful trials, and L. N. Smith, in giving the decision. said that the trial had not been as satisfactory as could be desired, on account of the scarcity of birds and absence of scent. He reported the decision of the judges as follows: 1, Mary Gold, liver and white pointer bitch of the Leahington Pointer Kennels (this dog was not the favorite of her own stable, Merry Bob having been picked as the winner; 2, Brighton Dick, white and black English setter dog, owned by T. G. Davy, London, Ont.; 3, Ightfield. Mentor, liver and white pointer, the property of Hayward, Lonsdale, Eng., with Brighton Maude, sister to Dick.

The all-aged stake furnished fair work.

Grant Wins Varsity's Chase.

Varsity's cross-country run yesterday afternoon was a decided success. There were 16 starters. The run was one of seven miles, from the University to Davisville, by way of the ravine and the Don Flats, and was won by Grant, the favorite. The order of finish was as follows:

A. Grant, 50 min. 40 sec.

G. Cooper, 51 min. 35 sec.

L. G. Campbell, 52 min. 10 sec,

W. Sanderson, 53 min. 10 sec.

W. A. Ray, 53 min. 38 sec.

E. Andrews, 54 min. 38 sec.

The men finished well bunched, and were much closer than in last year's race.

The prizes were presented after the concert and dinner at the Davisville Hotel, where the students had their usual jolly time.

solicitor for the county of York, an explanation of their mission. The county council, he said, had passed a by-law under the Municipal Act, abolishing toll roads and transferring them to the minor municipalities and it was confirmation of the by-law that was sought. The City of Toronto had promised to abolish market fees when this had been received. The by-law had been assented to by the townships of York, Etobicoke, Scarboro, East Toronto, North Toronto, Aurora and East to, North Toront York, Etobicoke, Scarporo, East to, North Toronto, Aurora and East to, North Toronto, Aurora and East ting its richness.

of new roads which diverted traffic.

Moss, Q.C., in Reply. and the property has passed into the Mess, Q.C., in Reply.

Mr. Charles Moss, Q.C., opposed the confirmation on behalf of the township of Markham and the village of Richmond Hill, where it was considered an injustice to throw the maintenance of the roads upon the municipalities. It would be more in the interest of the public that the county while abolishing tolls should remain owners of the roads. Mr. Moss contended that if the roads were abandoned by the county there was no provision in the Municipal Act making them townships would not therefore be legally hands of the various heirs. There is no longer a Fair will trust. The trustees have been paid for their services What promised to be another cause celebre, has ended in a compromise.
A probate case involving $40,000,000 and promising to employ the courts and attorneys interested for some years to come has been settled out of Herman Oelrichs has been successful in his efforts to arrange an ami-cable settlement between all interestthem township roads; that the townships would not therefore be legally responsible for their maintenance at a proper standard; and that serious difficulties would arise in consequence of non-repair. The duty of the province was to see that no interference took place with the rights of the whole public over the thoroughfares.

The Question of Railways.

Mr. W. A. This would affect the relation of the bodies he represents: Captains J. B. Fairraye, S. Crangle, John Gaskin, S. feelon, J. Trowl and Charles Myles.

PRIVATE CONTRACTORS. Proposal to Insure All Buildings in the pal insurance for Toronto was submitted to the Mayor yesterday. The complete proposal is as follows:

make an offer to take charge of the business of insuring the buildings in the city of Toronto under the municipal insurance scheme, in which so much interest has been taken by the council the past year. Our clients are willing to take charge of the entire business, to assume all the risks, all the buildings in the city to be inwe'make is one which we think will be to the benefit of the city to accept. The city will not run any risk in connection with this business, while at the same time it will receive a share of the profits which will enable it to of the profits which will enable it to take up the business on its own account at a future date if it sees fit to do so, and at the same time a large saying will be made to the citizens at large.

The terms upon which our clients offer to take charge of the business are as follows.

as follows:*- (a) To invest $250,000 in Toronto debentures, to deposit same with city and maintain the deposit at that amount. (b) The rates of premium of insurance not to exceed those in force in the city of Toronto on the 31st December,

(c) The allowance for expenses and charge for shareholders to be 37 1-2 per cent. of the total premiums.

(d) All profits from the Toronto business to be invested in Toronto debentures and deposited with the city of Toronto until the same amounts to $2,-500,000. (e) as soon as the debentures deposit-

(e) as soon as the debentures deposited with the city amounts to $500,000 (including the $250,000 deposit above mentioned) 6 per cent. of the profits for the year to be set aside as an additional fund, and as soon as the debenture amounts to $1,000,000 a further 6 per cent. to be allowed until the $2,500,000 is reached, provided that if losses take place in any year exceeding the amount of premiums available for payment of losses, the percentage for additional fund above mentioned shall be suspended until the deposit again reaches the amounts above *pecified, reaches the amounts above *pecified, and so on from time to time. (f) The amount of insurance to be per cent. of the assessed value of respective buildings insured, provided, however, that if the contractors are of opinion that the assessed value of any building or buildings is excessive, then upon notifying the party assessed through the postoffice the amount at risk can be reduced to a proper proportion of the value.

(g) Stocks, furniture and other contents of buildings, if insured by contractors, are not to be charged higher rates than the respective buildings in which the same are contained.

(h) The agreement to continue for twenty years and to be then renewed for periods of five years from time to time, with the right to the city at the end of the twenty years or of any fiveend of the twenty years or of any five-year period on one year's notice to terminate the contract and take over the business if they see fit, the amount of the deposit being paid over to the contractors at the end of the year's notice, proper guarantees being given for payment of the losses (if any) then unpaid. The extra or additional fund above mentioned allowed out of the profits as set out in paragraph (e) to be retained by the city as a reserve for insurance if the business be taken up by the city. If not taken up, fund an be used for general city purposes

(i) The city to hold all premiums and out of the same to pay quarterly the amount of losses paid by contractors during the quarter then ended, and one-fourth of the 37 1-2 per cent. above city at 80 Per Cent. of the Assessed Value at 1894 Rates—Contractors to Take 37 1-2 Per Cent. of the Premiums Paid.

The following proposal as to municial insurance for Toronto was submitted to the Mayor yesterday. The complete proposal is as follows:

We have received instructions to make an offer to take charge of the susiness of insuring the buildings in the city of Toronto under the municipal contractors, less the percentage to be allowed to the city under paragraph (e), the interest, on such additional fund to be added to same.

Sir John Schultz Prospecting.

Sir John Schultz is on a visit to Edmonton, Alberta, presumably in search of health; but an item in the South Edmonton News just received would indicate that the ex-Governor would indicate that the ex-Governor would not be unwilling to accept the new constituency of Alberta in the House of Commons. The article in question winds up as follows:

"And we trust that one who has done so much for Manitoba and the whole Northwest may find here the healthfulness he seeks. To do this implies his residence in the district; then it may have the desired affect, as we stated in our last issue. For his health alone he should become an Albertan. Then, should he become an Albertan, as he has been a Manitoban, we may yet persuade him to give his talents and his eloquence to our service at and his eloquence to our service at Ottawa and we assure him that the longer he lives with us the more he will be convinced that we have a country with resources which make it second to none in the empire, and worthy of the best efforts in its be-half by a man as distinguished as even Sir John Schultz."

The Court of Revision did a con-6. Lieut.-Col. G. T. Denison had fyled a large number of appeals and his land in Dovercourt-road was reduced from $2200 to $1700 per acre. His Havelock-'street land was reduced from $10 to $9 on the east side and from $12 to $10 on the west side. His College-street property near Dovercourt-road was as-sessed at $40 and $34 and reduced to $30. His whole assessment was cut about $6000. North Parkdale properties in the vicinity of Gladstone-avenue, College and Dufferin-streets were as-sessed at an average of about $30 and a general reduction of 10 per cent.

Dr. Sheard announced that permits would be given for cutting ice on Ashbridge's bay for cooling purposes. The water is in better condition in that district since measures were taken to exclude all Don water from Ashbridge's Ray. wooden curbing, which is only fit for a back street. AT OSGOODE HALL.

Interesting Decision in a Real Estate Dea Action on an Unsigned Covenant.

Osgoode Hall, Nov. 6, 1895. Mr. Justice Street has given judgment in the three following cases: 1, Kimmitt'v. Larkin, tried without a jury at St. Catharines. The plaintiff sought to recover $2700 as compensa tion as accountant and confidential agent of defendant, who counter-claimed for money paid plaintiff for defendant's use. The learned judge dismiss action with costs and allows countercaster (St. Catharines) for plaintiff.
D. McCarthy, Q.C., (Toronto) and R.
Gregory Cox (St. Catharines) for defendant. claim at $148, with costs. E. A. Lan-

2, Larkin v. Gardiner. Action for specific performance tried at non-jury sittings, Toronto, on Oct. 21 last. The plaintiff placed certain freehold property in the hands of J. A. Nesbitt for sale. Defendant went to Nesbitt on April 22, 1895, and offered to purchase for $1900. Nesbitt said he would fendant signed at 7 p.m., an acceptance of an offer prepared by Nesbitt, read-ing as follows: "I, Jane Larkin, * * * of an offer prepared by Nesbitt, reading as follows: "I, Jane Larkin, * * agree to sell through John A. Nesbitt as my agent, and I, David Gardiner, agree to buy," etc., etc. Next morning Nesbitt procured plaintiff's signature, but before he notified defendant, the latter, about 1 o'clock on April 23, gave Nesbitt written notice that he withdraw his offer. Held that the instrument was a mere offer by defendant and its acceptance not having been communicated to him before he withdrew it, he was not bound. See Brogden v. Metropolitan Ry. Co., L.R., 2, H.C., at p. 691. Action dismissed with costs. H. E. Irwin for plaintiff. James Bicknell for defendant.

3, Burton v. Burden, tried at the non-jury sittings, Toronto, on Oct. 24 last. In 1890 plaintiff sold certain land to R. W. Goode, taking back a mortagage for $1715, balance of purchase money. Goode then sold to David McAlden, subject to the mortgage. McAlden, subject to the mortgage. McAlden on April 4 1890 conveyed the Alden, subject to the mortgage. Mc-Alden on April 4, 1890, conveyed the equity of redemption to defendant, the consideration being "the assumption of the existing encumbrance and $840," and after habendum it was stated as follows: "Subject also to $840, portion of existing mortgage, (being $4 a foot frontage), with interest which party of Beautiful P. of existing mortgage, (being $4 a foot frontage), with interest which party of second part hereby assumes, and agrees to pay off according to terms thereof." This conveyance was not executed by defendant. Defendant never repudiated this conveyance, though aware of it. The plaintiff sues on an assignment from McAlden of covenant and his right to indemnity from defendant. The defendant alleged that he took the above conveyance as security for a debt owed to him by one Ottaway upon the understanding that he was not to be liable for the encumbrance, Defendant does not know McAlden, and alleged that McAlden had no rights not to be liable for the encumbrance. Defendant does not know McAlden, and alleged that McAlden had no rights against him to assign. The learned judge holds that defence falls, first, because it is not shown that McAlden was a party to the defendant's arrangement with Ottaway, and, second, because on the evidence it must be held that defendant must be taken to have been aware of the terms of the conveyance to him, and has accepted the benefit of it, and if not bound on the covenant is bound in equity to indemnify McAlden in absence of agreement with him to contrary. Under the authorities he holds that the direct liability of defendants to McAlden ig assignable to plaintiff, though McAlden is not directly liable to plaintiff. Though McAlden is not directly liable to plaintiff. Judgment for plaintiff. R. U. McPherson and J. M. Clark for defendant.

Chief Justice found that there had not been an actual and continued change of possession to satisfy the statute, and without calling upon defendants lirected judgment to be entered for lefendants with costs. D. M. Defoe for plaintiffs. Wallace Nesbitt and R.McKay for Bank of Toronto. George Lindsey for defendant Moyle.

At the conclusion of this case counsel in the other cases on the peremptnever been out of court when a case of his had been called. After a short delay counsel in Walsh v. McCarthy were ready. It

Walsh v. McCarthy were ready. It was an action by James J. Walsh, broker, of Toronto, against William Charles McCarthy of Toronto, a barrister, upon a mortgage made by defendant to plaintiff for $1000 and interest. The defendant admitted the execution of the mortgage, but claimed that the plaintiff who had cold him. ed that the plaintiff, who had sold him the property, had not kept his agreement to do certain work upon it be-fore the transaction was to be complet-ed by deed. Afterwards the first mortgagees sold under the power of sale in their mortgage, and defendant says that the purchaser, John L. Coffee, acted in collusion with plaintiff to defraud him. Defendant claimed a refund from plaintiff of $800 paid to plaintiff on account of the mortgage sued on, and $500 damages for breach of the agreement and for $26, a rebate of taxes for year 1894, which plaintiff obtained from collector of taxes for 6th Ward, and to benefit of which for 6th Ward, and to benefit of which defendant was entitled. J. Kelly for plaintiff; W. G. McWilliams for defendant. Judgment for plantiff for $1044.60 and full costs of suit.

Then Mitchell v. Mitchell was, upon application of J. A. Paterson, fixed for Tuesday next at 10 a.m.

Curtin v. Toronto Railway Co., an action against the railway for infringing a patent for cleaning dirt. etc., from tracks, such as are used by defendants, was on motion of Mr. Loftus for plaintiff, upon consent of defendants, adjourned to next sittings. Rands v. Crocker not being ready, Rands v. Crocker not being ready, the court adjourned until Thursday,

Henry A. King & Co. received the followposing element in the market, which ought to make an active business, only serves to make both buyers and sellers reserved. The movement of spring wheat is fully maintained, and the aggregate receipts at primary markets are now nearly double what they were one year ago. The only prospect of any material change in this direction in the next week or two lies in the possibility of a strike on the Great Northern Railway.

OYSTERS, OYSTERS, OYSTERS. Corn and oats were slow and very quest throughout the session. Options are neglected. Trading light and mostly local being confined chiefly to room operators. The cash demand was a little slow, due largely to the situation east of Buffalo. Bradstreet reported increase in corn. 234,000 bush, and oats increased 849,000 bush. Provisions ruled higher to-day, principally on smaller estimated receipts for tomorrow. 29,000, and fair buying by packers. The bulk of the business was in January contracts, with occasional transfers to May. Outside orders were light. Shipping demand was moderate and offerings not very large. ings not very large. Domestic and foreign markets quiet.
