NEW DUTCH MODEL

Here we show an illustration of what is sometimes termed the "Library Design," or Dutch model, in Flemish oak, suitable for library or sitting room. Almost severely plain in its lines, it is yet particularly pleasing in design. The rigor of its ensemble is softened by that which, least of all, one would expect to exact a softening influence—the hinges—but it is remarkably effective in this one artistic touch. Solidity is the standard of all Dutch architecture, and this quaint design, whilst suggesting the old world in appearance, contains in its tonal qualities and inner mechanism the highest standard of piano construction.

This is one of the several handsome designs on view in our unrivalled exhibit at Toronto Industrial.

The Eyes of Great Men.

Bismarck had eyes of steely grey, deep sunken, almost hidden under bushy eyebrows.
Robert Louis Stevenson had brown eyes, humorous and very expressive.
Von Moltke, the soldier, had bright blue eyes.
An Indian, seen here in melodrama last season, assisted by Miss Maricetta, gives wonderful and daring feats with the rifle and pistol.
The feature of the olio, however, is the fascinating Wrona Trio of Hungarian singers and dancers, introducing all the Hungarian dances, including the gypsy dance. They are splendid performers and are graceful and clever.
The performance closes with a farce comedy entitled "Buncoed." The costumes are handsome and the choruses of the right kind.
Daily Recitals.
The first of the series of the daily organ recitals during the exhibition, from 11 to 12 o'clock, by Dr. Torrington on the Metropolitan organ was much appreciated by the large audience present. Miss Eileen Millett sang with her accustomed beauty of tone and expression "I Will Exalt Thee" (Costa), and as an encore "Show Me Thy Ways" (Torrente).
Charles Lamb had very glittering eyes, of two colors, grey and hazel, with red spots on the iris.
Julius Caesar had black eyes of great brilliancy.
In the younger Pitt, the sole evidence of genius lay in his brown eyes, which glowed like live coals.
Cowper, physically timid, had weak blue eyes devoid of animation.
Mahomet had coal-black eyes.
Milton had grey-blue eyes, clear and round.
Michael Angelo had hazel eyes.
Dr. Johnson's poor health so affected his eyes that they were dull and lifeless—of a watery blue.
Isaac Newton had blue eyes, small, bright and piercing.
Dante had, according to Boccaccio, large black eyes.
Caryle's eyes were described as "the very handsomest ever seen in a man's head—dark blue."
Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, had small eyes, full of spirit.
Goethe had beautiful dark-brown eyes.
Voltaire had deep-set eyes of marvellous brilliancy.
Pope Leo XIII. had piercing black eyes, rendered more striking by his white, emaciated face.
Beethoven had small brown eyes, very mobile.

"PREVENT CONSUMPTION AMONG THE LABOR CLASSES" PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

James Simpson Gives Address—Sanitary Precautions in the Workshops.

A lecture, was delivered last evening in the lecture hall of the science building, by James Simpson, on Tuberculosis, presented by stereopticon views illustrating the awful ravages of tuberculosis amongst stonemasons, printers and other trades and professions, and also showing the cause of New York and Chicago's enormous tuberculosis death roll in the densely inhabited and filthy sweatshops of the lower city.

New York was not so much to blame for its increasing tuberculosis as its European agent for the influx of infected emigrants.

It was a fact that children of the age of 3 and 4 were employed for 14 and 15 hours daily, with their parents in unsanitary rooms and cellars, to earn a meagre 25 cents a day, and imposed the wages of an entire family in thousands of cases.

Mr. Simpson suggested that a more extensive use of proper literature would aid the prevention of the unsanitary condition of many factories and workshops. He also stated that he was proud to be president of the typographical union, whose executive had four years ago erected at Colorado Springs a consumption sanitarium.

It had proved beyond doubt that the spread of tuberculosis was not due so much to hereditary causes as to contagion. Therefore, it was necessary to insist on better precautionary measures with regard to sanitary factories, workshops and dwellings.

Mr. Simpson thought that some portion of every dollar of the provincial succession dues should be given over to establishing and maintaining hospitals and sanitariums.

The afternoon meeting of to-day (Tuesday) will be addressed by J. S. Robertson, secretary of the National Association on the tuberculosis problem, as seen by a layman, at 3 p.m. at the Muskhogon Free Hospital, the Canadian Medical Association will be the speaker.

Of the 129 members of the British Medical Association took in the Muskoka excursion of Saturday to Monday, 125 constituted the party that visited the Muskoka Cottage Sanitarium, and the Muskogon Free Hospital for Consumptives. Among these were: Sir Thomas Barlow and Lady Barlow, Sir James Barr, London, S.W.; London, England; Thomas McCrae, Baltimore, Md.; R. Conroy, Joyce Ports, South Wales; Col. J. M. Beamish, R.A., Philadelphia; W. Cahoon, Belfast, Lond.; Thomas Davidson, Los Angeles, Cal.; James Craig, Glasgow, Scotland; J. C. Rankin, Ottawa; Fred Hugh Clarke, Belfast, Ireland; W. Oliphant Walker, Edinburgh, Scotland; C. S. Day, Wexford, Ire.; W. Wall Carlier, Birmingham, Eng.; John Lindsay Steyn, Glasgow, Scotland; James W. Wallace, Glasgow, Scotland; W. Barry Dow Dunlop, London; Linnaeus E. LaFabra, New York; Reid Hunt, Washington, D. C.; William Lewis, London, S.W.; Peterboro, Ont.; J. Darter, Wexford, Ireland; C. C. Probst, Columbus, Ohio. Besides the medical men, the following were present: Hon. W. prominent laymen accompanied the party. On arrival of the special train carrying the party were taken over by the steamer "Wolff" of the Muskoka Navigation Company, to the Muskogon Sanitarium. Here they were received by the executive committee of the sanitarium, and the executive committee of the sanitarium, and the executive committee of the sanitarium.

OUR FRIEND FROM CANNINGTON FINDS NEED FOR YONGE ST. BRIDGE

James Simpson Gives Address—Sanitary Precautions in the Workshops.

A lecture, was delivered last evening in the lecture hall of the science building, by James Simpson, on Tuberculosis, presented by stereopticon views illustrating the awful ravages of tuberculosis amongst stonemasons, printers and other trades and professions, and also showing the cause of New York and Chicago's enormous tuberculosis death roll in the densely inhabited and filthy sweatshops of the lower city.

New York was not so much to blame for its increasing tuberculosis as its European agent for the influx of infected emigrants.

It was a fact that children of the age of 3 and 4 were employed for 14 and 15 hours daily, with their parents in unsanitary rooms and cellars, to earn a meagre 25 cents a day, and imposed the wages of an entire family in thousands of cases.

Mr. Simpson suggested that a more extensive use of proper literature would aid the prevention of the unsanitary condition of many factories and workshops. He also stated that he was proud to be president of the typographical union, whose executive had four years ago erected at Colorado Springs a consumption sanitarium.

It had proved beyond doubt that the spread of tuberculosis was not due so much to hereditary causes as to contagion. Therefore, it was necessary to insist on better precautionary measures with regard to sanitary factories, workshops and dwellings.

Mr. Simpson thought that some portion of every dollar of the provincial succession dues should be given over to establishing and maintaining hospitals and sanitariums.

The afternoon meeting of to-day (Tuesday) will be addressed by J. S. Robertson, secretary of the National Association on the tuberculosis problem, as seen by a layman, at 3 p.m. at the Muskhogon Free Hospital, the Canadian Medical Association will be the speaker.

REASONS FOR SIMPLIFIED SPELLING. Reforms are sometimes most easily begun with the big stick, and President Roosevelt once again has taken up the big stick, this time in favor of reformed spelling.

But all this care and skill will go for naught if in the course of transit exports are submitted to manipulation and reach their destination in a condition other than that represented.

A despatch from Ottawa states that complaints are being received by commercial agents of Canada in England to the effect that Canadian wheat shipped from United States ports is badly doctored.

Corroborative testimony is given by a merchant importing heavily from Southern Russia, who adds that much dissatisfaction could be prevented if all wheat were shipped direct from Canadian ports.

It is of little avail to maintain an expensive system of official inspection if after it is made the exports certified are to reach the consignee disconforming to the certificate on which he relies.

Not only is it an immediate cause of complaint to him, but it destroys his confidence in the reliability of Canadian official inspection generally.

Apart from this, the first and main consideration, it is a wise and prudent policy to utilize Canadian exports for the furtherance of Canadian shipping interests and for the development of home harbors.

As has been well said transportation is the key to the Canadian commercial situation, and it is being more clearly seen that despite earlier misconceptions Canada possesses the speediest and most convenient routes to the European markets.

The establishment of these should proceed without loss of time, and meantime it would be well to consider whether it should not be a condition precedent to inspection and certification that the products certified remain till shipment within the jurisdiction of the Canadian authorities.

There can be no hardship in a regulation protecting the shippers and European consignees, and incidentally making for the general prosperity of the country and the development of allied industries.

OPEN THE PLAYGROUNDS. The World's entirely approves the proposal to make the school playgrounds available for the children of the city during the vacation season.

Innumerable reasons could be advanced for this concession, any one of which would be sufficient. Against them there is but the petty plea of the expense entailed by the provision of a caretaker.

At the most this cannot be a serious item and he would be but a churl who places the safety and happiness of children condemned to spend their holidays in the streets below a small addition to the expenditure side of the school board accounts.

Much larger sums have been expended which produce less practical benefit to the young, but it appears to be a characteristic of almost all bodies to strain at a gnat and swallow a camel when the matter of cost

London Times' article, it is that there are enough of progressive Englishmen and especially the best philologists of England who are prepared, now that the matter has been set in motion by President Roosevelt, to enter into negotiations with the Simplified Spelling Board of America.

Some of the most eminent teachers and students of languages in England are in favor of a change, and we will not be surprised if the universities of Oxford and Cambridge were willing to act on the suggestion of The Times.

What spelling reformers have all along contended for was that it should be an international movement and such now seems to be in sight. Spelling reform, to our mind, is coming with a rush.

When there is a well-directed board or academy made up of representative scholars of England and the United States who will direct the movement and who will let it run no faster than the public will follow, a surprising change will soon be noticed.

There is a mechanical, commercial and financial view of reformed spelling that many people forget. Reformed spelling, when it is realized at its best, will cut down from one-sixth to one-eighth of all the type-writing that men have to do.

One-eighth of all the type-setting that has to be done; one-eighth of all the press-work, and correspondingly, when we have simplified spelling, one out of every eight linotypes, writing machines, newspaper presses will be out of commission, and, most far-reaching of all, one-eighth of all the white paper now consumed can be saved.

Nothing is more essential than that the reputation of Canadian products should be maintained in British and foreign markets.

To that end the Dominion and provincial governments have established and maintain various offices and agencies, with the object of affording all possible assistance to the farmers and manufacturers and enabling the ultimate purchaser to rely upon the quality and condition of the articles in which he deals.

It is a highly proper and beneficial system, and has greatly aided in the promotion of Canadian trade and in enhancing the place Canada holds in the commercial world.

But all this care and skill will go for naught if in the course of transit exports are submitted to manipulation and reach their destination in a condition other than that represented.

A despatch from Ottawa states that complaints are being received by commercial agents of Canada in England to the effect that Canadian wheat shipped from United States ports is badly doctored.

A report to that effect is made by Mr. John B. Jackson of Hull, where the local mill takes 12,000,000 bushels of wheat every year. Little of that considerable quantity comes from Canada because the shipments via the United States do not come up to the desired quality.

Corroborative testimony is given by a merchant importing heavily from Southern Russia, who adds that much dissatisfaction could be prevented if all wheat were shipped direct from Canadian ports.

Here is given the one of the most effectual remedies and the regulation suggested is one in the highest degree desirable, not only for wheat, but for all Canadian exports.

In calling attention to this The News also commends the strong representation made by Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of neglected children, for the dedication of playgrounds for the use of his proteges.

This is an excellent suggestion, and should be given favorable consideration by the city council. Meantime and in any event the school enclosures must be thrown open, and next year should see this laudable proposal an accomplished fact.

OUR FRIEND IN CANNINGTON. Cannington Gleaser: "Our friend from Cannington, Mr. William Glynn is now doing things as only a Cannington man can. He is writing on The Toronto World and has made his mark as the reading public testify.

Since The Gleaser has been the property of the present editor two literary geniuses and half a dozen job printers of note have graduated from its sanctum. They hold the best positions in Washington, Toronto and other large centres. Not far from the tutelage of a village office. We question if there is another office in Canada that has done so much in the space of eighteen years.

Thus writes Editor Robinson of The Ontario Gleaser, and the only regret is that he seems so confined by his modesty. It is indeed worth while to be editor of The Ontario Gleaser. ESTATE AGENT COMPLAINS CITY OFFICIAL EXPLAINS

Trouble Over Laying Spur Railway Line to East End Factory Sites.

The claim that the city officials are discouraging factories from locating here is made by Estate Agent F. B. Robins, who criticizes Commissioner Forman in connection with the proposed Coleridge avenue siding.

Mr. Robins, acting for the Dovercourt Land Company, has been negotiating for the sale to the Philip Manufacturing Co. of Cincinnati, of a block of land 785 by 1290 feet in size, lying to the west of Papas-avenue, and having an entrance from that street and one from the north side of Queen-street. This property is only of use to the company providing there is a railway siding into it from the spur line, to be constructed thru the city property to the west.

Mr. Forman, in laying out the city land for factory purposes, has reserved a strip two feet wide on the east and north sides of the land, which will be retained by the city and access over which to the other lands for a siding can only be obtained at a price.

Mr. Robins holds there will be objections to paying for the right to a siding.

Commissioner Forman says that the reservation of the two feet will not affect prospective purchasers at all, but will insure to the city assistance from property owners, whose lands will be enhanced in value, in paying the cost of the spur line.

Mr. Forman offered to sell that block of land to the Cobban Manufacturing Co. for $3500 per acre, with railway facilities. The land in its present state is worth, at the outside, $1000 per acre. It would not be the Cobban Company that would have to pay us for the siding, but the owners of the land, who are enabled to ask the price they are asking only by providing such facilities to the contemplating purchaser.

After Advertising Men. Some advertising men who have been selling space on boardings around buildings in course of erection will be prosecuted by the city engineer for breach of the by-law and perhaps for obtaining money by false pretences. Only contractors can use such places for advertising, and then the consent of the building inspector is necessary.

The State of the Streets. There are 80 miles of cedar block and tar macadam pavements in Toronto in such a state that new pavements should replace them, according to Roadways Engineer McPhail. With present facilities the city can lay but 12 miles a year. In regard to complaints that the department was not keeping the roadways in proper repair, Mr. McPhail points out that many recommendations for resurfacing and new roadways and pavements were petitioned against by the property owners. He cited a number of such cases. The department has spent $27,000 so far in asphalt repairs and will spend $15,000 more.

Mayor Thanks William Ward. Mayor Coatsworth has written to William Ward and his crew appreciating their bravery in rescuing the crew of the ill-fated schooner Reuben Dowd.

Distance Lands Eminent. The neighbors don't like a Chinese laundry to close. A protest was received yesterday afternoon against the establishment of such an industry at 107 Pape-avenue. George Briggs visited the city clerk's office on behalf of property owners, and at to-day's meeting of the board of control it will be urged that no permit be issued. Not long ago an unsuccessful attempt was made to have a Chinese laundry at 105 Pape-avenue.

Russell Wants Land Back. Ex-Ald. John Russell wants to redeem from the city a block of property formerly owned by him on Carlaw-avenue. He saw the mayor and assessment commissioner about it yesterday, and the matter will be before the board of control to-day. The property is on the east side of Carlaw-avenue, thru which the city contemplated running a spur line from the Fair Trunk.

Refuse to Lay Roadbeds. General Manager Fleming wrote the mayor stating that the street railway company cannot accept the proposition in regard to the relaying of rails and roadbeds on King and Queen-streets. The proposition was that the company do the work, and that the cost be left to the courts to determine.

THE CHURCH AND LABOR. The Presbyterian Church in the United States has officially established a "Department of Church and Labor."

With Charles Steidle as superintendent. His work brings him into touch with the leaders of labor unions in every city, and during the past year mass meetings for workmen numbering from one thousand to ten thousand have been addressed.

The last annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor invited Steidle to speak to the men representing two million five hundred thousand trades unionists. This he gladly did, and at the conclusion of the address the delegates unanimously endorsed the work of the department and instructed Steidle to continue his work.

Mr. Steidle recognizes that as there is a science of business, so there should be a science of missionary work in every city, town and village. He comes to the Niagara Conference in September and all who are interested in social problems will hear Charles Steidle, this outstanding speaker in Toronto on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Niagara Falls and Buffalo. Via Niagara Navigation Company's magnificent steamers: six trips daily, except Sunday, from foot of Yonge-street, Niagara Falls, and return, $1.30; Buffalo and return, $2. Tickets good for two days.

Incendiarism Not Shown. Inspector Rogers has returned after opening an inquest into the Halleybury fire. He says that so far there is no evidence to support the stories of deliberate incendiarism.

SUCCESSOR TO DR. LANGTRY

Strong Man Wanted for Palpit-No New Archdeacon.

With the passing away of Archdeacon Langtry, the question of a successor to the rectorship of St. Luke's becomes a topic with the congregation.

In view of the fact that his lordship the archbishop is at present out of the city on a short holiday trip, no immediate action is considered probable. In some quarters the present incumbent is regarded as a probable successor, while a certain following are anxious to secure the return of the Rev. Mr. Beale, who was for some time minister in charge. Canon Farthing of Woodstock, who was prominently mentioned at the time, has also a following.

But it will not be a matter for surprise if a new man were to appear on the scene within the very near future. It is a well-known fact that the officials charged with the matter are at present in communication with one who is said to combine all the strong points of a successful parish priest.

One of the leading supporters of St. Luke's, in speaking of the condition of the church at the present time, said: "What we want is not alone a scholar, but a strong man physically, and a round man, one who can cement the musth together, and such a one we certainly have in the person of the Rev. Mr. Beale, who has played his own hand on the matter, if the prospect of a new man is known, his lordship will not oppose the will of the congregation."

Regarding the appointment of an archdeacon, well-known dignitary stated yesterday that he did not believe that a successor would be appointed. The appointment of Archdeacon Langtry, when made, was largely a compliment to the late archdeacon by reason of his seniority and a tribute to his worth and no cause exists for continuing the position. In the Diocese of Toronto there are at present two appointed, Archbishop Swensy of Toronto and Archbishop Warren of Peterborough.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 27.—Frost was reported in Iowa lowlands to-day for the first time this season, also it is not thought that the great Iowa corn crop will suffer damage because of it.

Salt Over Inland. The American Hotel Supply Company have issued a writ against the Messrs. Nelson, proprietors of the Rossin House, for damages for alleged breach of contract by which they agreed to use plaintiff's advertising ink cabinet on their hotel counters.

To Deport Cripple. Ottawa, Aug. 27.—(Special.)—Peter Crossley, a man who plays a trick for living, will be deported by the immigration department to Pennsylvania, whence he came. Within the past week he has been three times in police court for drunkenness.

A WORD TO THE WISE. Inspector Howe Will Give Winnipeg Fathers Food for Thought.

Inspector Howe, who has been investigating Winnipeg's water pressure and general facilities for coping with conflagrations, on behalf of the Fire Underwriters' Association, is expected to arrive in Toronto to-day. He will prepare a report, and, in view of the complaints that have been made that the western city is poorly equipped for fighting fires, the outcome will be awaited with interest, particularly by insurance men.

It is expected that the inspector's report will be ready in a few days. Copies will be furnished to insurance companies interested financially in recent fires in Winnipeg, while municipal authorities there will also have copies submitted for consideration. While it will not be the inspector's province to make recommendations for their guidance, it is understood that he will draw pointed attention to certain deficiencies.

"SEMI-READY" ADHERES

One Factor Which Has Established

"Semi-Ready" in its First Place

With People of the West.

How the "Semi-Ready" Company has built up an immense business in nine years, a business far exceeding in volume that of houses established fifty years ago, is being told in a series of articles in The Canadian Magazine.

With several strong and new ideas as the basis of their system, the Semi-in the confidence of the people which they placed on each garment their

WOMAN'S WORLD

A Talk With Mrs. Horsley.

During the past week the name of Victor Horsley has been prominently before the public, and he has been of special interest as representing what is highest and best in the British medical profession. But with the exception of a privileged few who have had the pleasure of meeting Lady Horsley personally, Canadians are not generally opportunities to learn anything of this cultured Englishwoman, who is, from another viewpoint, quite as interesting and representative as her distinguished husband.

There are two great classes into which English women of social position can be divided. The one includes those who take a prominent part in the great movements of the day, to whom publicity is the prerogative of sense, and who, apparently, believe that enfranchisement for women is the panacea for all earthly evils. In the other class are women to whom home and all that that word suggests, is entirely sufficient; who find the glare of the public platform and the notoriety of the stage, and all that is undesirable, but abhorrent, and it is to this latter class that Lady Horsley belongs.

Typically English in appearance and dress, and with softly modulated voice, gracious expression, and an unassuming graciousness and ease of manner, Lady

Horsley appears the embodiment of that good old-fashioned word gentlewoman. A few minutes' conversation severed below her eyes, that is, no lack of ability that she has never made an appearance on a public platform. For if Lady Horsley could be induced to speak here as eloquently for woman's suffrage as she did when giving her reasons for objecting to any personal suffrage, the cause would be greatly furthered.

It is very apparent, however, that Lady Horsley's interests are purely domestic, and that her family, consisting of two sons and a daughter, have received that personal care and supervision which are only too rare in these days when fads and clubs have superseded the home. It is cheering to observe, tho, that Lady Horsley lays no claim to being a carter's wife, and that English society possesses even a small fraction of such women, the sturdiness of English stock is not likely to deteriorate, or home life become a relic of the past.

Lady Horsley left for home last night, called thither by her son, who suffers from tonsillitis.

Malta-Vita

You don't have to "prepare" Malta-Vita in any way, or do anything to make it better. It couldn't be any better than it is when it comes to you in the big airtight, moisture-proof packages. That's because Malta-Vita, the only malted whole-wheat food, is made just right, always "short" and crisp and ready to eat. Every little flake is a whole grain of malted wheat that simply melts in the mouth. Get some Malta-Vita today. Eat it with milk or cream or fresh fruit.

TWO BRITISH SCHOLARS OUT FOR SPELLING REFORM

Senior Editor of the Great Oxford Dictionary Backs Up the Movement.

New York, Aug. 27.—The simplified spelling board today announced that two distinguished British scholars had accepted membership to testify their sympathy with the new movement to improve English orthography.

One is Dr. J. A. H. Murray, the senior editor of the Great Oxford Dictionary of the English language, of which the associate editor is Henry Bradley, who joined the simplified spelling board some weeks ago.

The other is Prof. Joseph H. Wright, editor of the English Dialect Dictionary.

Announcing these elections Brander Matthews, chairman of the board, said: "Prof. Skeat, the editor of the English Etymological Dictionary, became a member two months ago. The simplified spelling board now contains the editors of the three chief English dictionaries—Webster's, the Century and the Standard. The adoption of the 'foremost' linguistic authorities of both branches of the English-speaking race ought to be reassuring to those who have dreaded that the recommendation of the simplified spelling board might work harm to our noble tongue or to its etymology.

"It serves to show that those who know best about English spelling believe that it ought to be improved."

REFORMATION A PUNISHMENT. London, Aug. 27.—Among the numerous opinions canvassed by the newspapers of English orthography's order with regard to a reform in spelling, George Bernard Shaw says: "There has been nothing like it since Malton reformed the calendar by making the year consist of 12 lunar months. It serves us right. The thing had to be taken in hand somehow and if we refused to attend to our own experts we must make the best of the two energetic amateurs who have forced our hands."

GRAIN COMMISSION. Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 27.—(Special).—The grain inspection commission has issued the following official statement bearing on the week: "The members of the grain commission have held a number of preliminary meetings, and have mapped out a general plan for the conduct of their enquiry. As the grain growers will be occupied with the harvest and the shippers with coming to the commission's attention, the first investigation of the handling of grain and grain products from Winnipeg to the Atlantic coast will be held in Winnipeg. The first formal meeting will be held in the board room of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning. It is not the intention of the commissioners to ask for representatives from farmers or shippers' organizations during the present visit to Winnipeg. This branch of the enquiry will be taken up later when harvesting and threshing have been completed and farmers can more conveniently attend. "Meetings will then be held in Winnipeg, and many other points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, at which the farmers of the west will be afforded every opportunity to present their views. The present sessions in Winnipeg will be devoted to the representations of shippers, dealers, millers and others upon all subjects relating to the shipping of grain to the east and south, such as railroad and lake freight rates, damaged cars, elevator facilities and charges, grading, etc. "On the conclusion of the preliminary meetings the commissioners will proceed to Port William and Port Arthur, where they will investigate the elevator facilities and hear representations from all parties there who are interested in the grain trade. They will then visit the lake ports and proceed to Toronto, Montreal and other important ports. At each point visited in Eastern Canada an opportunity will be afforded to all interested parties to make representations upon any branch of the grain trade. With a view to saving the time of the shippers and dealers, the commission will be held in the morning at each point. It is requested that application for hearings be made to the secretary, J. R. Boyle, at the Leclaire Hotel, or the secretary of the commission, in order that appointments may be made for certain hours."

Where You Are Invited. The obligations placed upon women—married or single—to have their own savings account for their own use in the case of men—perhaps more so. Women are invited to make use of the savings department in connection with the Women's Room—the Crown Bank of Canada—34 King-street West. Visitors to Toronto are asked to come. There are always souvenir books for them to carry home.

Scientists in Shipwreck. Yokohama, Aug. 27.—The magnetic survey yacht Galilee, which sailed from San Francisco about a year ago in the interests of the Carnegie Institute, was driven on the breakwater here during a typhoon on the 24th. She was considerably damaged, but has been refitted, and docked for repairs. Her crew and scientists aboard are safe.

Caught in Montreal. Montreal, Aug. 27.—William Emmerston-Worley of Pittsburg, Pa., was arrested before the extradition commissioner today on a charge of forgery. He is accused of having forged the name of the late John D. Rockefeller for $288 and $235 respectively in March and June of 1905, since when he is said to have been living in Canada. Worley pleaded not guilty.

Canadian Wheat Doctored. Ottawa, Aug. 27.—J. B. Jackson, commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, has advised that Canadian wheat shipped from American points is badly doctored. He says there will be a big demand for Canadian wheat.

A boom in Canadian canned meat is predicted.

J. W. T. FAIRWEATHER & Co.

OPENING FURS

With the opening of Toronto's great Fair, the season's opening for Toronto's greatest fur house—FAIRWEATHER'S—is usually announced. At any rate it takes that place on the calendar this year, and coupled with it go a thousand welcomes to Toronto's citizens and their visiting friends to see the best display of fine manufactured furs that it has been our pleasure to show.

Ten years is a short time to be in business in the city, but it has been long enough for us to build up the largest and finest fur trade in Canada today, and every dollar's worth of trade has come to us on the quality, style and value merit of the goods that come from our workrooms.

It is only fair to suppose that in making a fur purchase you will see all that is to be seen in furdom, in the big shops and the little shops—we count this in you, and as confident as can be that we can trust your judgment when you have made the rounds and argue in a position to make an honest comparison. Remember, it's not what you pay, but what you get for what you pay, that's the value test.

AGED PORT PERRY CITIZEN INSTANTLY KILLED BY TRAIN

Port Perry, Aug. 27.—Watson Hodgson, one of Port Perry's oldest citizens, was killed at the Perry-street railway crossing Saturday on the arrival of the 11:40 train from the north. The old gentleman was returning home in his carriage, and owing to the cover of the buggy being up it prevented him from seeing or hearing the approaching train, there being a sharp curve in the track. The locomotive struck the vehicle with such force as to throw its occupant against a telegraph pole, causing instant death.
