WANTED—A modern Solomon. The above is not a classified advertisement. It is merely by way of preface to an intricate and amusing and, to some extent, sorrowful little legal problem which has arisen recently in one of the Kings County courts.

The Province of New Brunswick is living up to its reputation as a paradise for big game. On Monday evening an automobile party of two ladies and two gentlemen arrived here from New York, one of the reasons for their trip being the fact that they were told that they would see some big game if they came down this way. The animals were right on the job as the visitors, while en route to the city, saw a moose, a caribou and a bear near St. George and further along the road, between Spruce Lake and Musquash, also saw three deer by the roadside.

Something like five hundred large piles will be used for the underpinning and in the vicinity of one hundred thousand feet of timber and plank for the stringers and cover. Coal handling machinery will be installed, designed to make big reductions in the cost of discharging vessels and rehandling coal for shipment inland and for local delivery. BIG WELCOME PLANNED FOR NAVAL MEN

TWO WARSHIPS DUE TO ARRIVE HERE TOMORROW

Wistaria and Valerian Will Spend Week in Saint John

CAPE TOWN WILL BE IN PORT ON JULY 22

Patriot, With Local Cadets in Training, Expected Next Day

The officers and crews of three British warships, the Wistaria, Valerian and Cape Town, which will be in Saint John shortly, will be generally entertained, it was learned last night. Each ship will remain in port about a week, and R. E. Armstrong, president of the Navy League, with Lieut. Paul B. Cross, of the Saint John Company, R.C.N.V.R., are working together on a program that should be pleasing to the crews of the warships.

WELCOME BY MAYOR

After docking, the commanders will be paid a formal visit by Mayor White, Collector of Customs C. B. Lockhart and other officials. The ships will remain here until July 22, when the Wistaria, the Valerian and the Cape Town, then making stops at Yarmouth and Shelburne before arriving at Halifax on August 2 to remain a week.

The Valerian will remain in Saint John until July 23, and then sail for St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, remaining there until July 29, and then going to Bar Harbor, Maine, to stay until August 9. On August 12 the Valerian is due at Halifax, two days after the Wistaria, has sailed from there for Sydney, C. B. The Valerian will sail from Halifax on Friday, August 13, and from August 18 to 23, the two cruising warships will be at St. John's, after each has made a stop for varying periods.

His Majesty's Canadian ship Patriot, a destroyer, will arrive in Saint John on Thursday, July 22, and the following day, Friday, July 23, H. M. S. Cape Town, light cruiser, will enter port and remain for a week before sailing for other places on a cruise. The latter ship, which has recently been cruising about Newfoundland and has on board ten men from Saint John Company, R.C.N.V.R., who have been in training on board the ship for six weeks. These young sailors will be paid off here and the Cape Town will sign on several R.C.N.V.R. men from Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton Companies, who will be taken on a training cruise for the same period.

SAINT JOHN PROGRAM President Armstrong, of the Navy League, and Lieut. Cross, of the local R. C. N. V. R. company, said yesterday that they were arranging a program for the entertainment of the visitors and to date had met with considerable success. It is expected that a large number of man-of-war-men will attend the annual divine service of the R. K. Y. C. to be held at Crystal Beach on the Saint John River on Sunday, July 25, and if arrangements can be made with the commanders of the warships, the sailors will be conveyed up the river in steam cutters and large boats from the ships.

On Tuesday evening, July 27, a regatta will be staged by the R. K. Y. C. at Millidgeville, when crews from the Cape Town, Patriot, R. K. Y. C. and

Plans Come-Back

Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, and one of Europe's outstanding financial powers, is spending his energies toward the restoration of European credits. Little the Italian lira and the French franc are brought back to normal, he sees no hope for Europe's real happiness.

The R. C. N. V. R. will compete in a cutter race.

Other aquatic events will be arranged and after the program the sailors will be guests at a dance in the clubhouse.

On Saturday, July 24, a team from H. M. S. Cape Town will play a cricket match with a team at Robbsey, Col. W. B. Anderson has granted permission for games on the Barrack Square when it is not in use by the military. Messrs. Armstrong and Cross are also in communication with the Riverside Golf and Country Club. The club on every arrival of a warship in port entertain the officers and give the naval visitors the opportunity of playing on the links. It is also expected that free rides on street cars will be given to the naval men and an endeavor will be made with the managers of the theatres to allow the sailors to see performances free of charge.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue — no laundry

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way. Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending. Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy. Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

KOTEX No laundry—discards like tissue

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO YOUNG JOHN MARCH

Son of Former Saint John Newspaperman Dies in Moncton

SACKVILLE, July 14—John Desbarres March, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar March, passed away at the Amherst Highland View Hospital this afternoon, following injuries received when he was burned here last Monday afternoon. The young lad had been playing, with other children, on the lawn of Dr. Hart's residence with a toy engine, when a match ignited some alcohol which had been used in the toy to make the engine "go." His clothing became ablaze and he received severe burns. He was immediately rushed to the hospital in Amherst.

The young boy, with his mother, was spending the summer with his grandparents, Professor and Mrs. F. W. W. Desbarres, at this place. His father, J. Edgar March, at present located in Winnipeg, having been advised of the accident, is en route to Sackville and is expected in town tomorrow. He was formerly editor of the Saint John Daily Standard, was later associated

For National Naval Day

THE OBSERVANCE of a National Naval Day in the Dominion is the hope of the Navy League of Canada, according to R. E. Armstrong, president of the New Brunswick branch. Mr. Armstrong said yesterday that at the recent meeting of the organization in Winnipeg the delegates present voted for the observance of a naval day. Each district had the privilege of voting for a particular day. Mr. Armstrong said that the province of Ontario voted for Trafalgar Day, which is October 21. New Brunswick voted for the same day. It is hoped that the other provinces will fall in line and accept this day, as it is generally felt that this date would be the most appropriate for a general observance.

MYSTERY ABOUT MAN DEAD IN WEST

Following the receipt of a telegram by Chief of Police Smith from Frank A. Nance, of Los Angeles, Calif., seeking relatives of John R. Polley, who died there recently, the case was handed over to Detective Biddiscombe. This officer yesterday communicated with Joseph Polley, of St. Stephen, a brother of John R. Polley, who up until a few years ago resided in this city, and learned that the latter was last heard of in Boston. Mr. Polley promised to learn if his brother was still in Boston and to inform Detective Biddiscombe this morning the result of his investigation. The man who passed away in the western state had given his address as the North End of this city. SAINT JOHN, N. B., JULY 15, 1926.

THE TEACHERS' TOUR.

Whilst accounts of the tour of New Brunswick school teachers in the British Isles as yet only deal with their landing and early adventures in Scotland, it is nevertheless abundantly clear that the party, directed by Lady Beaverbrook, is being afforded unrivalled opportunities to see what is worth seeing, to meet people really worth meeting and to absorb impressions of a variety of subjects, which impressions will eventually sort themselves and settle into a true appreciation of life in the Old Country.

The usual visitor to Great Britain makes a bee line for London and, as likely as not, so overwrought by the mingling of antiquity and modernity in the world metropolis that their curiosity is gorged immediately and their ideas of other cities of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland are measured by those of London, which is manifestly unfair. The New Brunswick school teachers will see London late—perhaps almost last. London will be the climax and what a climax it will be to move at a single step from the clearing house of the world's finance in Lombard and Threadneedle Streets to the very spot in the Tower where Lady Jane Grey laid her head on the block.

Meanwhile Lord Beaverbrook's visitors pursue the highways and byways of the Old Country, drinking in the spirit of the land—possibly in the literal as well as in the figurative sense—collecting and analysing their impressions which will be sure they will store up and share with us on their return. New Brunswickers will follow their itinerary with the keenest interest. Some may indulge in a little friendly envy at the good fortune of those chosen to make up the lucky party. All look forward to their return and a first-hand story of their experiences.

GENERAL HERTZOG AND THE EMPIRE.

"The Nation" publishes an interesting article entitled, "What is the British Empire?" The article is in reality the text of a speech delivered by General Hertzog, Premier of the Union of South Africa, at Capetown, on May 17 last. General Hertzog is a Nationalist and naturally does not agree with his opponent, General Smuts, whose doctrine is that the future existence of the British Empire can only be assured by maintaining Imperial unity in foreign relations.

It is exactly this Imperial unity in foreign relations which General Hertzog would break—declares, in fact, already broken and so acknowledged by the Locarno pact. The full speech of the Nationalist Premier must be read to get a just appreciation of his arguments, but a brief précis must here suffice. The General traces the striving for freedom and gradual extinction of national aspirations of a Dominion, illustrating first the mental attitude of both British and Dominion statesmen prior to 1919 when at Versailles the Dominions signed as co-partners of a group to which they and Great Britain herself were all subordinate. Thence he argues his way along to Locarno, where he claims the last vestige of subordination, namely to the group, was torn by the specific exemption of the Dominions from obligations contracted.

One would have thought that would have satisfied the Nationalist aspirations of General Hertzog, but evidently it is the recognition of independence of the component of the Empire by other nations that he most desires. He is apparently satisfied that independence within the Empire is recognized, but is not satisfied on the score of international recognition of the status of affairs, and there he will encounter difficulty.

One can imagine a foreign power pushing over the query, "How can I be at war with King George of England and not with King George of South Africa, seeing that he is one and the same person and a state of war exists between him and us?" Nations can well appreciate the conclusion of a trade agreement between Dominions without obligation to the Empire, but hardly the separation of issues vital to the existence of Great Britain or one or more of the Dominions.

Then does not General Hertzog blink facts when he says "When thus at the outbreak of the great World War the Dominions suddenly appeared on the battlefields as belligerents, fully armed, the international significance thereof could not be concealed either from the Dominions themselves or from the outside world?" There are some who remember a contemptible little army and the British Navy which gave the Dominions the chance—unhesitatingly grasped—to appear partially, not fully, armed soon after, not at, the outbreak of war.

Now these are things no Nationalist must be allowed to exclude from his

SCORES RICH MEN WHO BREAK LAW

By JOHN G. SARGENT, U. S. Attorney-General, in a Recent Speech.

THERE is being sown a wind from which we all shall reap a whirlwind. There are men of wealth and influence who take occasion not only to violate the law themselves, but to heap disparagement and ridicule on the officials engaged in its administration and enforcement. Such conduct has but one tendency to sap the respectability of our government, of our country.

Disrespect of the law is more threatening to the nation and its institutions than any European nation ever was. It is quite the fashion of late to more or less openly flout some of the provisions of the constitution and statutes enacted in consonance with and under its authority.

In some newspapers, even, the advice is carried that the best course is to continue to violate the law until its enforcement appears so hopeless that it will be changed.

Whether an existing law can be beneficial to the welfare of the people in the view of the writer in the newspapers or the individuals disparaging the official and his work is not all the question.

The authority he is defying is in the matter wherein his individual inclination differs with it is the same and only authority that stands between him and the despotism of someone stronger.

The Very Idea!

THIS tiny bit of sentiment, just now appeals to me. It's just a farewell message to the withered Christmas tree.

How short the life of wonderment. How quickly things can die. We all look up today at that which soon we pass right by.

They nursed you in your growing; then they quickly hacked you down. They packed you and they sent you to a store in any town. A kindly soul made purchase. You continued on your roam and then, dressed up in tinsel, you were used to cheer a home.

You spread the Christmas spirit and till New Year's held your place. And day by day you seemed to lose the beauty of your face. Your pointed little needles dropped and withered on the floor. In just a week you served your time and now—you are no more.

The glowing of your yesterday is gloominess tomorrow. You go from home to alleyway without a trace of sorrow. It hardly seems you get your dues for spirit you have spread. How quickly we can all forget, when Christmas trees are dead.

Isn't it odd that whenever a woman seeks a doctor's advice and tells him she's all tired out, the first thing he does is look at her tongue.

There was a man in any town Who told his wife some lies. Then wifely closed his optics and It opened up his eyes.

NOW, HONESTLY.—Gosh, but the world gets tired of hearing you complain. Maybe something HAS gone wrong, but Have you got health—friends—a job?

Why, man, if you have all those and know how to treat 'em, you've got nothing to kick about. Lots of people think you are lucky. Well, you are—only you don't appreciate it.

DOMINION STATUS (London Round Table.) The real alternatives before the dominions are not between a dependent status and independent nationhood, but between a nationalism which sees its fulfillment in isolation and a nationalism which sees it in an active participation in the world's affairs. So long as the dominions seek to avoid what is called entanglements with the rest of the world, then membership of the commonwealth cannot fall to present those irksome anomalies to which refer-

But as soon as they seek to assume what alone real nationhood means, that is their full share of responsibility for the conduct of world affairs, is there any question that they can pull their weight better as members of the British commonwealth of nations than in isolation?

A Letter to All Wives Written in the Heart's Blood of One Woman Who Deserted Her Stay-at-Home Husband for a Dancing Partner—How to Cure Your Childhood Romance Hangover—Questions Answered.

DEAR MISS DIX—The other day I read in your column a letter from a married woman, saying she was thinking of leaving a good husband because she had fallen in love with another man. I want to tell her my experience. I was married to a fine man, who was everything that was kind and generous to me. He was a good husband, devoted to his children, and a good father. Only he was not the pleasure-loving kind. I could hardly ever drag him out to a show or a dance. I met another man who had a car, and was a good dancer and always out for pleasure. I thought I fell in love with him and left my husband for him. I was happy for a little while, but I soon found out that this man was exactly opposite to my husband, and in a short time he grew tired of me and deserted me. He never married me. Now at the age of 50 I have to support myself. I have no friends, no family, no home. My children scorn me because I brought shame upon them. My husband is married again, prosperous, happy. Often after dark I go by his home and look in through the windows, wishing I was still his wife, mistress of his house, with a respectable place in society and my children about me. Instead of being the nameless, homeless, penniless woman I am, we are not punished FOR our sins, but BY them. C. M.

ANSWER: I commend this letter to the consideration of the hundreds and hundreds of women who write to me that they are tired of good, kind, plodding husbands, and that they have fallen in love with gay, dashing chaps, and are thinking of forsaking their husbands for them. This woman's letter tells the tale of what happens to these unfaithful wives far more poignantly than I can do. For it is written in the blood of her own broken and bruised heart. I am not disputing that it is hard for a gay, pleasure-loving woman to be tied down to a stolid, unemotional stick-in-the-mud sort of a husband, whose idea of an enjoyable evening is to get into his slippers and sit by the fire with his paper and a pipe. I am not denying that it is as much the duty of every man to provide his wife with a reasonable amount of amusement as it is to give her enough to eat, to feed her spiritually as well as bodily. And I am here to say freely that the man is lacking in ordinary intelligence who does not take his wife's temperament into consideration and who does not realize that if he does not give her the things she craves at home he is driving her to seek them abroad. It is when a man kisses his wife that some other man begins. It is when a man makes home too dull and boring that a woman runs away from it. It is when a man won't play with his wife that she hunts up another playfellow. But the point I am trying to make is that, no matter even if her husband isn't all her fondest fancy painted, if he is good and kind to her, the wife has no right to throw up her job just because she is no longer entertained and amused at home, and because, as an old colored friend of mine says, she "has lost her taste for him."

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, she is punished bitterly for her wrongdoing, for she finds that life isn't all dancing anywhere, that lovers soon cease to love, and that gay Lotharios have faults which make the defects of even stolid husbands appear loathsome of vision. Above and beyond all, she finds that to be happy one has to be tied with one's own soul and have one's own self-respect, and that is something that the quitter can never have. DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—When I was in my early twenties, I was deeply in love with a girl about my own age, but she broke our engagement. Later I met and married a much younger girl, who has been a faithful wife, a hard worker, a thrifty manager, and who has brought up a fine family for me. Recently I decided to correspond with this old sweetheart of mine, who is also married, and my wife is very much upset about it. The letters are only of a very friendly nature, but I have never thought it necessary to let my wife see any of them. They come to my place of business. Don't you think my wife unreasonable? BROADMINDED.

ANSWER: Not more than any other woman would be if she cared for her husband. Possibly she is jealous without cause, and probably after a while you will grow weary of the correspondence and drop it, anyway. Personally, I believe that there is no other such cure for the hangover of an early romance as to go and see the once beloved one.

Time casts a halo over our early days so that we see them, and every one who had a part in them, through a rose veil that transfigures them. The moderately pretty girl becomes a perfect Venus. The ordinary good-looking boy is a second Valentino. Our puppy loves are idealized into the grand passion, and we always have a secret ache in our hearts for our first sweetheart whom we didn't marry. We feel how much more beautiful and perfect life might have been if we had married him or her instead of the ones we did marry.

But if, after fifteen or twenty years, we go back, we are aghast. What! Is this fat, frowny woman, who can talk of nothing but babies, and who is a miserable housekeeper, the siren we have been pining for, and with whom we have been irrevocably comparing our own spin-and-spun, up-to-date snappy wife all these years? What! Is this bald-headed, bay-windowed fat man the ambrosial youth we have been regretting for twenty years? Never again. It is all over. The cure is complete.

So if your wife were more worldly wise, she would urge you to go and pay your first love a visit, and if it is safe but it would break off the correspondence. However, there is one very good way for a broad-minded man to settle the question of whether it is wise to stir up the ashes of an old love affair by starting a correspondence.

Would you like your wife to open up a correspondence with one of her old lovers and to have the letters come secretly to her, and refuse to let you read them? Try it out on your own plan. DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—First. Does love ever last? If so, why do they say that nothing ever lasts? Second. Why do they say that true love never runs smooth? Third. How can you prove that the one you love really loves you? So many people who think they have loved get divorced. Why are they deceived? A DREAMER OF DREAMS.

ANSWER: Don't pin your faith to ancient aphorisms and pretty phrases. They are poor guides to go by. Of course, love lasts sometimes, and the course of true love often runs as smooth as a mill pond. But there is no way by which you can really test love, except by time and experience. Sometimes what we think is the grand passion is only a passing fancy. Sometimes it is the love that is stronger than life, and that lasts beyond death. But the wisest man cannot tell you beforehand which is which.

DEAR MISS DIX—The other day I read in your column a letter from a married woman, saying she was thinking of leaving a good husband because she had fallen in love with another man. Coolness Is Feature of Summer Evening Frocks

COOLNESS is the one requisite—aside from the always necessary smartness, of course—for the summer evening dress. The sheers materials are used for the frocks designed for this purpose as well as for the lingerie worn under them. Above are two formal gowns that are simple in line and cool in effect as well as in reality. At the left is a model worked out in georgette with unusual silk trimming. The frock is the simplest possible straightline with a train and a scarf. The use of this latter accessory may be considered a contradiction of what has been said about coolness, but a scarf is a mere extra which may be worn or not at will and is very useful to drape about one's throat and shoulders when overheated by dancing. The odd trimming is achieved by bits of bright colored silk and gold lace worked out in a cubist design. The shades of coloring are pastel with blue predominating against delicate lavender tinting. Black is not generally considered a cool color, but in the sheer materials in vogue it is cool, especially for evening wear, and this simply draped gown (right) would be a striking one in any assembly of the popular white and pastel summer frocks. Black voile de soie is the material used with dead colored chiffon yoke cut high in front and low in the back—as is the fashion this season. The front drape is accentuated by a rhinestone motif in butterfly shape and the two back panels are prolonged into a train. The huge feather fan adds to the effect of the costume. The large "dop" hat so well liked this season is shown in the center. It is a tan Milan straw. These pictures are a welcome change from the small cloche that has been almost our only style of headgear for so long.

Fashion Fancies.

BLACK MOIRE AND WHITE CREPE MAKE AN EFFECTIVE DANCE FROCK

The black and white dance frock makes an ideal summer dress for wear either in the country or in town.

Above we see a most effective use of soft black moire and white crepe. The moire section is rather fitted and to this is joined a petal and flared skirt of the white, with two shaped sections in front and two in the back, extending up on the bodice.

Another smart frock reverses the use of colors, and has a white moire top, with black crepe for the skirt.

THE NINETEENS AGAIN. Mauve and yellow is an intriguing color combination featured in tafetta robes de style and in flowered chiffons and crepes.

VELVET FOR LINING. A very charming style that will doubtless be the vogue six months from now is the velvet-lined coat. Wool, silk and fur coats are treated in this regal manner.

VELVET FOR JUMPER. With the sports frock or the pleated crepe skirt the jumper of velvet in orange, green or Alice blue is stunning.

FROST ON SNOW. White is always excellent taste for the evening frock, and the use of crystal and rhinestone trimming is sure to raise it to the right degree of sophistication.

NOT SO SOMBRE. Envelope purses for the summer have taken on a very light and frivolous appearance. One is made of squares of green and yellow leather in checkerboard pattern.

MODERATE IN PRICE. White flannel coats in tailored styles worn with printed scarfs are seen at all the country clubs.

SOFTER LINES. The jabot never is seen on the new wool coats for fall and has a grace and femininity that recommends it.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Cheese Souffle—Two tablespoons butter, one heaping tablespoon flour, three eggs, one-half cup milk, one cup grated cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, speck of cayenne. Put butter in saucepan. When hot, but not brown, add flour and stir until smooth. Add milk and seasonings, cook two minutes, add well beaten yolks and cheese. Cool. When cold, add well beaten whites, turn into oiled and baked dish and bake about 20 minutes in a rather quick oven. Serve immediately.

Buttered Potatoes—Cook new potatoes with skins on, drain and peel. Melt butter in saucepan, add chopped parsley and potatoes, shake until each potato is covered with butter and parsley.

Cantaloupe Pie—For one nine-inch pie select one large or two small ripe cantaloupes, cut in halves, remove seeds, scoop out pulp with a tablespoon and put in the top of a double boiler with one cup of sugar. Mix two tablespoons of cornstarch with a little cold water and add it to the cantaloupe. Stir thoroughly and cook until mixture is thick. Cook add the beaten yolks of two eggs, cook a little longer, add a pinch of salt and let cool.

When partly cool pour into a baked crust and spread with the beaten whites to which has been added two or three tablespoons of sugar. Brown in oven and cool pie before cutting. This is also good for a cake filling.

BELTS OF SUUDE. Just as suddenly as belts disappeared from all our gowns, so they returned. The suede belts in bright colors vary in width from quarter of an inch to three inches. Suede hat bands often match the belts.

BETTER THAN SODA. For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

INSIST UPON "PHILLIPS". Each bottle contains full directions any druggist.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

THE business of "turning night-time into daytime" has overlapped the bounds of the joy palaces. Just across the street from Grand Central station there now blazes an electric sign on a shoe store reading: "Open all night."

A DRISK all-night trade is enjoyed, the manager informs me. Many of the customers are new arrivals in Manhattan who, brushing the dust of the middle west from their shoes, decide to change to eastern styles. They notice the sign, glance in the window and go to their hotels with shoes in the "New York manner."

AMONG other customers, I was told, are men who decide at a late hour to "step out." They decide to get a pair of dance pumps or other dress shoes, rather than spend considerable time going back home for them. It's the very early morning buyers that puzzle the manager. He admits he doesn't know where they come from or why they choose the hour of 4 o'clock in the morning, or thereafter, to make a purchase.

SPREADING of shoes, the summer styles for men seem particularly attenuated and those for women strikingly masculine. Suede and cloth shoes in various shades of brown are to be seen everywhere along the avenue and on some with all the earmarks of "ho-men." While very mannish looking "sport shoes" of interlaced leather appear in the most fashionable shops for milady. AND while on the subject of masculine styles, the announcements from London that dinner jackets had been banned in favor of the good old "swallowtail" may have caused considerable consternation in upper New York, but it found the East Side all prepared. The patriarchal Hebrews, ward politicians of Irish and Italian descent and other dignitaries of many lands have stubbornly refused to give up the swallowtail coat. Let fashions change, they have appeared in swallowtails on the slightest provocation. And now, by virtue of London dictate, they will be months ahead of their "well" brothers of the uptown club belt. SWIFT BRICKLAYER. LONDON, July 14—Jobbs Dean is the champion bricklayer. He erected the skeleton of a detached house in eight days. Dean declares that in one day he laid 1,500 bricks. During the eight days Dean laid about 9,000 bricks, unaided.

You are sure now of firm tender Jam and Jelly—and it needs only one minute's boiling.

IMAGINE starting your jam and jelly with the same unconcern, the same gay confidence you feel when you put the water on for tea, or mix your favorite dessert.

Think of being sure beforehand that every glass you make of any kind of jelly is just bound to set and yet will be so tender that it quivers in the dish and melts in one's mouth.

You can know this happy certainty to-day; millions of women do. Certo makes failure impossible with any kind of jam or jelly.

Why Certo cannot fail you. Certo is the very element that makes fruit jelly—taken from the fruits themselves in which it is abundant.

Some fruits, like pineapple, never have it—you have never before been able to make jelly of them alone. Even in the fruits that usually have this jellifying property it grows less as they ripen. That is why you often had bad luck with fully ripe fruits.

But now Certo itself supplies this necessary jellifying substance. When you use Certo every batch is bound to set; you need never again re-boil your jam or jelly.

Just boil hard for at least one minute—save fruit juice—save flavor and color. Just one minute's active boiling is all the fruit and sugar needs when you make your jam or jelly with Certo. What a saving of your time and effort!

What a saving of the rich fruit juice, too, that used to boil away during the long old-fashioned "boiling-down." With Certo you make half again as many glasses of jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. And Certo's short boil saves all the delicacy of the flavor, all the clearness of the color that used to boil away. Get Certo to-day from your grocer. A booklet with each bottle gives nearly 100 recipes for delicious jams, jellies and marmalades.

REV. B. D. KNOTT IS COMING TO LOCAL CHURCH

Yarmouth Minister Accepts Call to Central Baptist—Selection Unanimous

H. A. Prebble, clerk of Central Baptist church, yesterday afternoon received a telegram from the Rev. Brice D. Knott, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Yarmouth, accepting the unanimous call of the local congregation to become their pastor at the expiration of Rev. James Dunlop's term Sept. 1, although Mr. Knott will be unable to take up active work here until Oct. 1.

Formal announcement of Rev. Mr. Knott's acceptance was made by Deacon Sheriff A. A. Wilson at the midweek prayer service in Central church last evening over which he presided in the absence of Pastor Dunlop who is on vacation. The news was received with much gratification by the Baptist flock as the invitation to Rev. Mr. Knott was endorsed by a perfect secret ballot, not one dissenting paper being cast. This is distinct from a show of hands or a standing vote was considered a remarkable tribute to the "seaman invited."

Rev. Brice D. Knott is 80 years of age, an Englishman by birth who came to this country when quite young and during his 10 years of pastoral work has had three charges, Mahone Bay, N. S., Truro and Yarmouth. In all three churches his pastorate was fruitful of results in church membership, Sunday school work and spirituality. It was said last evening. The Yarmouth clergyman was graduated from Acadia University in 1897 and there are some in Saint John and the province who were fellow-students with him, all of whom speak favorably of his personal qualities and sense of duty.

The Anglo-Canadian clergyman has been assisted in his pastoral work by Mrs. Knott and together the clergyman and his wife are said to have embraced themselves to the people of Truro and Yarmouth where their residence was marked by a fine spirit of citizenship with all classes in the community. Therefore, the Telegraph-Journal was informed last evening the coming of Rev. Mr. Knott and his partner is being anticipated by the Central congregation with profound satisfaction.

N. B. TEACHERS HONOR GUESTS IN EDINBURGH

Lady Beaverbrook Speaks on Empire Relations to Gathering

EDINBURGH, July 14—Lady Beaverbrook presided at a brilliant function here last evening in honor of the party of New Brunswick High School teachers now touring the country. With them among the Scottish guests, were the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, Sir Wm. Lewis Sleight and Lady Sleight, Lord and Lady Minerva, professors of the University of Edinburgh and leading educationists.

The speakers included the Lord Provost, Mr. Justice Crockett, Dr. Philip Cox, of Fredrickton, N. B., and Lady Beaverbrook. The latter proposed the "welcome to the Mother Country."

Before riding to speak, Lady Beaverbrook was presented on behalf of the Canadians with a handsome basket of flowers by Miss Mary Jones, daughter of the chancellor of the University of New Brunswick.

N. B.-SCOTTISH BONDS. Lady Beaverbrook emphasized the bonds which had long existed between Scotland and New Brunswick. Scotland had sent to the Maritimes many of the father and forefathers of the members of the present party. Scotland and New Brunswick had developed very similar systems of education.

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM. The churches and the universities of Scotland, so well represented among their distinguished guests, Lady Beaverbrook continued, had done much to assist in the matter of educational system. If it were not for this fact, she might not have been there this evening.

WEDDINGS. Myers-Murphy. A very pretty wedding took place at Norton yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, when their eldest daughter, Ethel May, was united in marriage to Ralph H. Myers, of Allenstown, N. B., Aug. 20 to 25. The bride entered the parlor with her father, who gave her in marriage, and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and a sword under an arch of ferns and roses, which was especially arranged by girl friends. The bride was smartly attired in a suit of blue with hat to match. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the bride's home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Myers left by motor for their future home in Rhode Island. Many beautiful gifts were received, testifying to the popularity of both bride and groom.

It is no secret After all, there is no mystery about Heinz Ketchup—no secret process or ingredient. Briefly, the story of its better flavor is this: Heinz develops the pedigreed seed and supervises the growth of the tomatoes. The tomatoes are picked when sun-ripe, then cooked and blended immediately with selected spices and pure sugar. All surplus water is boiled away. Pure, rich Ketchup—and pure rich Ketchup only—is left. But all this is done in the Heinz way, which gives uniform quality, and is the only secret—the real secret of our success. NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY TO STAGE SERIES

Excellent Brand of Ball Being Played in Local Minor League

IF PRESENT negotiations are successful Saint John ball fans will have an opportunity of seeing the Imperials, the leading intermediate team of the city, play a series of games here early in August with the fast Yarmouth Intermediate aggregation.

The only bar to putting the series over is the financial one. The Imperials are to date won ten straight games and appear due to win the intermediate pennant. The series between the Imperials and the Yarmouth team since an outside intermediate team was brought in here. It is the opinion of experienced fans that the class of intermediate ball in Saint John is of a particularly high standard as is shown by the fact that so many intermediate players have made good this year in the senior ranks. A good test, however, would be furnished by the Yarmouth team.

COUNCIL TO ASK TENDERS FOR SPRINKLERS

Decision Reached After Underwriters Assure City of Lowest Insurance Rate

DELEGATION HEARD ON TAX INSTALLMENTS

Case of Retail Merchants Presented at City Hall; No Action Taken

The City Council this morning, sitting in special session, decided to call for tenders for the installation of sprinkler system in the West Side sheds, tenders to close on July 26.

LOW RATE ASSURED

This morning he had received a reply from the secretary of the board saying that if the installation was made under the general specification which they had approved, the rates promised last year would apply.

TAX INSTALLMENTS

The adoption of the policy of installment payments for taxes was urged on the council by a delegation from the Retail Merchants' Association and Board of Trade.

As an evidence of the interest which had been aroused in the question, Mr. Magee told of a man calling him on the telephone last night who said his taxes were $85 and if he had to pay them all at once some one else would have to wait while he could pay in three installments he could pay the butcher and grocery bills as well each month.

SCHEME EXPLAINED

Mr. Vaughan said the city requiring that all taxes be paid at once in order to get the discount resulted in too much money being taken out of circulation in July and generalized business.

PENALTY TOO SEVERE

A. E. Everett said he felt the penalty imposed for not paying on time was too severe. The man lost the 8 per cent. discount and on top of that had one-half per cent. a month added to his bill.

STREET MATTERS

Commissioner Frink reporting on the communication of the Eastern Trust Company, re the boundaries of Viart street, said he had found that the street was not incorporated and was not on the plan of streets in the North End, approved by the council and sanctioned by the Legislature.

On motion of Commissioner Bullock the Exhibition Association was given a renewal of their lease to a lot in Sydney ward for 7 years from May 1, 1924.
