TOTAL OF 343 LIVES LOST ON CANADIAN PACIFIC SHIP

All on Board Perish When Steamer Princess Sophia Overwhelmed.

STORM HITS STRANDED BOAT ON LYNN CANAL

Worst Marine Tragedy in Annals of Pacific Coast Occurs in Southern Alaska.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 26.—The worst marine tragedy in the history of the Pacific coast occurred last night when the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Sophia, with Thursday morning crashed on Vanderbilt Reef, Lynn Canal, was hammered by a terrific gale and driven across the jagged reef and lost with all hands.

Two hundred and sixty-eight passengers aboard the steamer when she galled up were dashed to almost instant death. The first news of the disaster was received here late this afternoon, having been flashed out from the United States wireless station at Juneau, Alaska, and was picked up by the Canadian government wireless service here.

There were no survivors, the wireless message stated. Everything possible was done to aid the passengers, who on the vessel breaking up were hurled into the water, whipped up by the Alaskan gale.

Vessels which were standing by were powerless to render aid.

Hurled Across Reef. The ship apparently was hurled right across the reef. The text of the wireless message reads: "Princess Sophia driven across reef last night. No survivors, seventy-five in crew, 268 passengers, everything possible was done. Terrible weather prevailed within 400 yds. yesterday morning, but anchors account of northerly gales and heavy sea. Two hundred and seventy passengers lost. Cedar got within 400 yards yesterday morning, but anchors were not held and sea drove her away. Last night Sophia told us they were sinking. Cedar made full speed to her through the blinding snowstorm but could not find her. Last heard from Sophia was at five o'clock. No survivors so far as known. Cedar returned to the scene of wreck early this morning, found the anchor till daylight. At 8.30 the Burnside reported only foremast showing. No signs of wreckage or life. Cedar found body of one woman and four boats overturned on Lincoln Island. No sign of life. Cedar still at scene of wreck. The King and Wing, a gasoline boat, is still in the vicinity, also U. S. S. Peterson.

Blizzard Raged. Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 27.—Officers of the Canadian Pacific steamer Amy which returned from the scene of the wreck of the Princess Sophia said last night that two feet of snow fell in forty hours and a strong northeast wind developed into the blizzard which was responsible for the Sophia's heavy loss of life.

When the Amy left the Sophia that vessel was resting for about two-thirds of her length on the rocks of the reef, which is four miles west of Southeast Island and half way between Juneau and Skagway. The Sophia was then taking in water. She was surrounded by deep water on both sides, but with only her stern over deep water, it was thought there was no danger of the steamer sliding off the rocks. The reef was covered, however, at half tide and the heavy seas had prevented attempts to take off the passengers.

The Sophia's only freight cargo is said to have consisted of forty horses.

Women and Children. Skagway, Alaska, Oct. 27.—Many women and children were aboard the steamer Princess Sophia when she left here Wednesday. Among the passengers were Mrs. Marks and children, Captain James Alexander and wife, and William A. Malong and wife.

Mrs. Marks was the wife of a Fairbanks, Alaska, dredge operator, and Captain Alexander and Mr. Malong were mine operators from interior Alaska.

Germany Without Her "Military Brain" Now

Resignation of Gen. Ludendorff Will Probably Shake the Faith of German People in Their Military Machine—Before War General Was Unknown, But He Soon Became Prominent.

London, Oct. 27.—(British Wireless Service.)—General surprise was caused in Berlin on Saturday afternoon by the fact that the daily report from German headquarters was not signed as usual, with the name of General Ludendorff. Later the following official announcement was issued: "The emperor accepting the request to be allowed to retire of infantry General Ludendorff, the first quartermaster general and commander in time of peace of the 25th Infantry Brigade, has placed him on the unattached list. The emperor decided at the same time that the lower kithenish regiment No. 3, of which the general has long been chief, shall bear henceforth the name of Ludendorff."

His resignation, it is believed in London, will still further shake the faith of the German people in their military machine.

Soon after his appointment as first quartermaster-general, Ludendorff began to be looked upon as the "real boss" and was recognized as the representative of the pan-Germans at great headquarters. It was Ludendorff who brought about the retirement of Chancellor von Bethmann, Hollweg, and he was reputed to have been responsible for the appointment of the chancellorship of Michaelis and von Hertling, both of whom were dismissed through a neutral country on October 19 said that General Ludendorff was reported to have told the imperial crown council that Germany might be invaded in a few weeks.

As first quartermaster general, Ludendorff was responsible for the 1918 German political institutions. He is the man who has explained, to the German people how the German troops during the past three months have carried out "strategic withdrawals."

Had Physical Collapse. Early in October reports from Berlin were that Ludendorff had suffered a physical collapse and that he had decided to resign. On October 15, Ludendorff was reported to have issued a statement to the German press that he had decided to resign. There also have been reports recently that he was not on good terms with other German military leaders, especially Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. A news despatch through a neutral country on October 19 said that General Ludendorff was reported to have told the imperial crown council that Germany might be invaded in a few weeks.

Germany Is Awaiting Armistice Proposals

Sends Reply to President Wilson—Military Command Now Under Control of Civil Government at Berlin—Austria's Reply to Wilson Ready—Is Conciliatory—Lloyd George Goes to Paris.

Copenhagen, Oct. 27.—(By The Associated Press)—Germany's answer to President Wilson's latest communication says: "The German government has taken cognizance of the answer of the president of the United States. The president is aware of the far-reaching changes which have been carried out and are being carried out in the German constitutional structure, and that peace negotiations are being conducted by a peoples' government in whose hands rest, both actually and constitutionally, the power to make the deciding conclusions. The military powers are subject to it."

Change at Berlin. London, Oct. 27.—The German Reichstag by a great majority, has adopted a bill placing the military command under control of the civil government, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen.

Austrian Reply. Basel, Oct. 27.—Austria's rejoinder to President Wilson's note is ready, according to Vienna papers. It was submitted to authorized quarters today and will be sent this evening or tomorrow to Washington. It is conciliatory in the most conciliatory terms.

British Capture City of Aleppo. Aleppo is a city of Asiatic Turkey, in North Syria, and has a population of 210,000. It is situated on the River Kolk in a fine plain, sixty miles southeast of Alexandretta, which is its port, and 195 miles north northeast of Damascus. It has a circumference of about seven miles and consists of the old town and numerous suburbs. Its appearance at a distance is striking, and the houses are well built of stone. On a hill stands the citadel, and at the foot the governor's palace. From 1823 Aleppo contained about 100 mosques, but in that year an earthquake laid the greater part of them in ruins, and destroyed nearly the whole city.

British Hurl Back Strong German Attacks South of Valenciennes—French Forces Take Numerous Villages in Five Mile Advance Between Oise and Serre Rivers—Italians and Americans Do Well.

London, Oct. 27.—The Germans launched heavy counter-attacks against the British south of Valenciennes today, but were repulsed with losses. Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters tonight. The statement reads: "A hostile counter-attack preceded by a heavy bombardment was carried out this morning against our line in the neighborhood of Englefontain; the enemy was repulsed, leaving many dead. Our positions were maintained intact. "Another counter-attack was launched in the afternoon against our positions in the neighborhood of Arres; this was also repulsed with heavy losses. We captured a few prisoners. "There were patrol actions on different parts of the front."

Arthur Henderson Unable To Sail

London, Oct. 26. (Canadian Press Despatch from Reuters)—Arthur Henderson and the Belgian Socialist, Camille Huysmans, were unable to go to France yesterday with Albert Thomas and M. Vandervelde, because the crew of their ship refused to sail if they were aboard. The men said they would not sail with the pacifists and pro-Germans. Mr. Henderson and his two companions left the ship and hailed a taxicab, but the driver refused to take them and they had to carry their luggage to the station. Mr. Henderson subsequently stated in London that he was going to Paris to meet Samuel Gompers in connection with the organization of the world's labor conference after the war.

FOUR ARE DEAD IN ONE FAMILY

Eleven in One House Were Ill—Three Dead Young Men Were in Uniform at Camp Sussex. Special to the Standard. Moncton, Oct. 27.—The most distressing case from the ravages of the flu in this section of the province is reported from Buctouche. In the home of Wilfrid LeBlanc, who lives on the Buctouche River, five or six miles from Buctouche, four deaths have occurred, three sons died on the same day and the mother fell a victim of the disease today. There were eleven in the family, and all were down with influenza and pneumonia at the same time.

Much Heavy Work Will Have to Be Faced Yet is London Opinion.

London, Oct. 26.—(British Wireless Service.)—The German armies should not be considered as definitely and finally beaten, military observers here say. Allied soldiers who are fighting their way forward in the face of great enemy resistance, know that the enemy is not broken and that much heavy fighting probably will have to be faced. At the same time reliable reports continue to reach London of increasing dissatisfaction among the German soldiers. The disaffection and lack of discipline has led to actual mutiny in many cases. Several drafts of new soldiers have refused to go to the front in the past three months and they have been taken there by force in small batches.

ITALIANS DO WELL

Rome, Oct. 27.—Heavy fighting took place Saturday in the Monte Grappa area, the Italians repulsing Austrian attacks, the war office reports today. The Italians captured 514 prisoners in this region.

The official statement issued by the war office tonight says: "The attack of our tenth army across the Piave in the area of the Island of Grave Di Papadopoli commenced at 6.45 o'clock this morning. The Italian troops on the right met with strong resistance. According to the latest report, after heavy fighting this resistance was overcome and the advance successfully commenced."

"On our left the British troops are advancing satisfactorily and have reached their first objective according to programme, overcoming strong resistance."

THREE MURDERERS DIE OF EPIDEMIC IN MAINE STATE

Two Defendants in Case Well Known at Time of Commission Pass Away in Prison and One in Asylum.

Bangor, Me., Oct. 27.—The death of Paskal Luroussi of influenza at the Thomaston Prison is the third of men charged with murders in this state within a few days. John Robens alias John Roberts, died last week in the State Prison of pneumonia while a petitioner for a pardon was pending. Robens was convicted of murdering Edwin Dickinson at Smyrna Mills, Aroostook county, in 1906. He was tried at Houlton.

The murder of James Scott, known in Lewiston and Yarmouth as an apple buyer and trader, attracted wide attention. He was murdered during the winter preceding July 31, 1908, when the decomposed remains were found buried under an old stable in a remote section of East Livermore. Hon. Frank A. Moroy of Lewiston was the county attorney. When the body was notified of the finding of the body, he immediately left by auto for the scene. He was accompanied by Arsene Callier, then city marshal of Lewiston and Coroner H. A. Teague.

PEACE BY CHRISTMAS IDEA NOT SO STRONG JUST NOW

Allies Disappointed With Prince Max's Address, But They Are Not Discouraged.

THEY HAVE GAINED IMPORTANT POINTS

'Abdication of the Kaiser Seems Likely to Come Soon in Draper's Opinion.

(By Arthur S. Draper.)
Special cable to N. Y. Tribune and St. John Standard.

London, Oct. 25.—Though a rich harvest has been gathered in the public eye, it is not as great as the public expected when Foch began to reap late in September. The capture of Lille, Ostend, Bruges and other places, the drive which swept the Germans from Flanders coast, gave civilians as well as soldiers deep satisfaction, but the army concentrated on the heights across the Aisne, east of Verdun. The enemy, however, showed no intention to withdraw, except under the most violent pressure. The Americans have made considerable progress in breaching the Kriemhilde which is almost as difficult as the Germans found at Verdun. It is still far from recovery.

If any doubt remained, Prince Max removed it in his speech at the Reichstag when he said: "We are now equal to the task of carrying out either war or peace. The problem of peace by Christmas dropped many points when that speech became known to the Allied countries. Though the Allies are disappointed, they are not one whit discouraged, nor has the determination lessened not only to beat Germany but make her admit it.

Some Important Gains.

The exchange of notes between Washington and Berlin has produced some real gains. First, the commitment of Germany to Wilson's fourteen points; second, the promise to evacuate Belgium, France and all other occupied territory; and, third, the promise to cease attacking passenger ships and limit the destruction of property to the battlefield. Foch's attacks are directed against the battle front.

Ludendorff, who is a very great soldier, has succeeded in saving his armies, at least temporarily, from complete demoralization, and simultaneously has withdrawn them to a shorter line where they can withstand Allied attacks to better advantage.

Max, who is showing himself to be something of a statesman, has given way to the masses, reducing the government opposition to the reactionaries or extremists alone, and thus has solidified the home front for peace or further fighting.

Hits Enemy Morale.

Unless it is contended that any mention of peace means weakening Allied morale, then Wilson's diplomatic offensive must be considered a big asset to Foch's military offensive. But even if the discussion of peace lowers Allied morale none can contend that it does not lower that of the enemy even more. Apparently we have reached the point where Foch will occupy the centre of the stage.

Germany is unprepared for unconditional surrender and she is not as ready to ask forgiveness for her wrongdoing as she is ready to be good in the future, because it pays and not because it is right.

Abdication of the Kaiser seems likely to come soon, however, the exchange of notes finally results. Not only the Socialists but a considerable number of Liberals consider him a stumbling block in the way to peace.

Marden's Opinion.

BOSTON BANK TELLER HELD FOR SHORTAGE

Charged With Taking $13,700 from Second National Bank—Paymaster Also in Trouble.

Boston, Oct. 25.—Edwin H. Corey, a teller in the Second National Bank in this city, and Arthur L. Warfare for Corey and Stevens were issued several days ago on complaint of Daniel C. Mulloney, national bank examiner, and both men appeared voluntarily before the United States commissioner.

has raised his voice urging the emperor to sacrifice himself as he demanded of many millions of his subjects. He must solemnly declare that he intends to be nothing more than a true citizen in the new German commonwealth.

"Secondly, he must take up the cross and at once conclude a peace, assuming the hard task, humbling himself if he need be.

Karl Desperates.

Wilson's reply to Austria gave great satisfaction to the Allies, especially to Italy. Karl is in a desperate situation with apparently no possibility of holding his empire together. Hungary is reported to be about to open separate negotiations. There is reason to believe that the German military leaders made their plans in anticipation of the early withdrawal of Austria and Turkey.

Austria has been more of a drain than a help to Germany in the last year. Ever since Austria's failure at the Piave Germany has been sliding down hill. The exchange of notes has served another extremely useful purpose; it has shown America that her war associates were lacking in political teamwork.

Milch's new famous interview did much good if only because it gave America an opportunity to see the approach to peace from another viewpoint. Northcliffe and Premier Hughes of Australia attacked Milch secretly. We have come to a point in the war where frankness is necessary, where we must confab without heat and where we must give and take in a generous spirit.

Wilson's Position.

Wilson's new famous interview did much good if only because it gave America an opportunity to see the approach to peace from another viewpoint. Northcliffe and Premier Hughes of Australia attacked Milch secretly. We have come to a point in the war where frankness is necessary, where we must confab without heat and where we must give and take in a generous spirit.

Behind Water Defences.

During the week the Germans fell behind a long series of water defences running from the Dutch frontier to the Argonne. In Flanders canals and rivers were used for the best kind of defence against tanks and the Germans are making full use of them in their rapid retirement toward Brussels.

King Albert's army followed in close pursuit of the enemy to Derivation Canal while the British second and fifth armies under Plumer and Birdwood respectively hurried his retreat to the Scheldt. By the middle of the week the British were before Tournai and Valenciennes and the larger part of the independent main of North-east France was rid of the wonder who had paralyzed the country for fifty months.

While the fighting from Valenciennes to Holland was largely between patrols and rearguards with artillery figuring a little, fierce battles were waged on all the rest of the front right to the Meuse where the Americans are slugging away under heavy handicaps and discouraging conditions.

Where Canadians Were.

The British 2nd and 4th armies attacked almost constantly north and south of Le Cateau meeting the sternest kind of resistance but overcame it and driving the Germans back toward the Valenciennes-Meuse line. North of Laon the French found difficulty in breaking the Hindenburg line of which the Serre river is an integral part.

Here the crown prince is established almost as strongly as in the defence along the Chemin des Dames. Gouraud is also.

Solf's reply to Wilson came as a disappointment; it reflected the change in the military situation; it showed that the German military staff had recovered its equilibrium. It showed that the Allied peoples had exaggerated the weakness of the Germans.

In less than three weeks Ludendorff and his associates had recovered from a bad case of nerves and the armistice clause in Solf's note is a certainty that is completed. The raids in Alsace have aroused speculation about the possibility of an offensive in this quarter. How many weeks the fighting can continue before the weather early a halt is hard to say. In other years October was the last real fighting month but it is possible that Foch will be able to continue the pressure well into December.

HUNS DESTROYED SUGAR BEET CROPS

Caused Much Damage in France During Their Last Drive—Cuban Crop is Fairly Good.

That the last big German push towards Paris had effects that are being felt in St. John this fall is not generally known. In speaking with The Standard last night, Ralph Fowler, of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, stated that the Germans in their drive destroyed immense crops of sugar beets in France that the Allies were counting on to add to their supply of sugar. He added that part of the sugar shortage was due to the scarcity of ships which meant decreased tonnage.

Asked as to the new Cuban sugar crop, Mr. Fowler stated that from last reports he had received he judged the crop would average about the same as last year, which was a fairly good year.

A U. S. PAYMASTER IS $25,000 SHORT

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Because it was learned that he had $7,000 in his suitcase a man was arrested in a hotel here. Federal authorities said the prisoner was James Aloysius Donahoe, charged with having embezzled $25,000 when he was paymaster in the Navy Yard at New London, Conn. Officials of the Department of Justice said he had been turned over to the Naval authorities.

They also said that a vaudeville actress whom he met in Grand Rapids, Mich., came to Chicago with him on his promise to marry her, and that the wedding was to have taken place at once.

UNCLE SAM'S SLOWER BATTLE IS IMPORTANT

Where American Troops Are Germans Are Defending Germany Itself.

ENEMY FIGHTS WITH UTMOST DESPERATION

The Advance of the United States Troops is Slow But Steady.

By Wilbur Forrest.
(Special Cable to The N. Y. Tribune and The St. John Standard.)

With the American armies in the field, Oct. 25.—Though the greatest events since 1914 are occurring in Belgium and Northern France today, nothing should dwarf in American minds the character or extreme importance of Uncle Sam's slower but sterner battle in Eastern France. Here the Germans are defending Germany, itself. Wonder the battles for Belgium and Northern France are still proceeding.

Here the Americans are now flush against the outpost defenses of the German Fatherland, and the enemy is fighting with every ounce of his fanatic strength and enormously sacrificing his waning effectiveness to hold up his strategic railway—from Metziers through Sedan and Montmedy to Metz—which makes Metz the powerful feeder it is for territory west as far as the River Aisne.

Once this line comes under our guns Metz loses much of its efficiency as a bastion defense of German soil, because its rail tangle out to the west would leave its other tentacles stretching out only to the north and east. A retreat probably from almost all of Southern Belgium, nearly to the

be the watchword. Pershing's turn will come.

The character of the Americans' battle is no better illustrated than in the terrific fighting which preceded the capture of the Cote de Chatillon by one of our famous veteran divisions. Chatillon Hill lies immediately southwest of the village of Landres at Saint George, marking the apex of the Kriemhilde Stellung. With heavily wooded slopes running to the crest, 718 feet high, it dominates the encircling hills around it and the tangled forests of Romagne and Bantheville on the east. Possibly no natural stronghold at Verdun ever offered such a formidable barrier to advancing troops.

It was the task of this division, some of whose men hail from New York State, and the forty-eight hour battle here will doubtless gain mention in the histories of the future, sadder days. Foot by foot, hour by hour, night and day, the Americans fought through the vast spiderweb of wire entanglements woven through and around trees and underbrush on the slopes. The Germans, knowing their position to be the key to the surrounding hills and valleys, massed machine guns between every belt of wire encircling the stronghold from top to bottom. Snipers lurked everywhere and hand grenades fighting advanced constantly in the never-ending combat.

Covered with mud, with hair matted, their beards growing, their faces black, the Americans crawled mostly on their stomachs, cutting the wire, bobbing through it, wiping out resistance wherever it was found. Meaningless hail of machine-gun bullets swept them from the crest and a lone "seventy-seven" cannon fired constantly at direct range. German and American dead intermingled thickly on the slopes when the doughboys began to approach the crest Thursday morning. And here, encircling the summit, they found in the thickness a centre spiderweb which the soldier formed of scores of spattering machine guns and the lone cannon still belching direct fire. A heavy belt of wire completely enclosed the crest.

While others held the positions under terrific fire some descended again and dragged heavy trench mortars up the hillside to deal with the wire. Fighting at less than 100 yards range, the mortars soon tore great gaps in the entanglements, and the doughboys, with yells, leaped ahead with only the cold steel in their hands. Fire burst from the summit, and the Germans stuck to their posts under protection of their well built pits and machine-gun nests, and the gunners in most cases had to be bayoneted at their weapons.

The agonized screams of those who gave up their lives so hard were wined and unweaned, according to the men who recounted their experiences today. Some Germans rushed out to surrender before the cold steel reached them, but the majority died the deaths of fanatics, howling like wounded wild beasts. The lone "seventy-seven" was taken intact, its crew still firing as they were run through with the bayonet.

Once the crest of Chatillon Hill was taken the descent toward the village of Landres at Saint George was easier and once again the Americans bit a large hole in the Kriemhilde Stellung. One of the few German prisoners taken in the battle for the crest cried out:

"My God, these men do look wild!" "Why?" queried the American officer who was interrogating the German. "Because," the prisoner said, "when they charged us on the top of Chatillon they looked like wild men of prehistoric times. Seeing them here, I can't imagine they are the same type that was fighting up there."

The Germans, still highly nervous from his experience, said he never expected to emerge from the fight alive. "I can still hear the screams of our men as the American bayonets pierced them," he added. "I have seen them here, and they had sworn to fight to the death for Germany, and they did. Resistance was foolish under such circumstances. This battle for Chatillon Hill is an example of America's battle just now in Eastern France."

The division responsible for this victory is now overlaid in the world news. During its service it has taken prisoners from twenty-three enemy divisions, including three Guards and one Austrian division. It has also captured more men from nineteen enemy units, including foot battalions, including foot artillery and storm battalions, minenwerfer, labor, agricultural, signal, railway and other battalions.

Really cheaper in the end

We could not hope to maintain the present rapid increase in the sale of Goodyear Cord Tires did they not cost less in the end.

Their advantages in speed, comfort and freedom from trouble are very real and very desirable. These qualities have made possible the use of Goodyear Cord Tires on five-ton trucks, travelling at passenger car speeds; on all the winning cars on all the speedways of America.

But long mileage, less gasoline consumption and slower car depreciation are the real factors in Goodyear Cord success.

Users write us of mileage far exceeding that rendered by ordinary tires.

Goodyear Cords are standard equipment on more than a dozen famous cars.

These facts are more convincing than anything we could say to you of the merits of these tires.

They are ample reason why you should have Goodyear Cord Tires on your car.

You can obtain Goodyear Cords at fair "made-in-Canada" prices from Goodyear Service Stations.

The extra thick and extra good Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tube gives service equal to the Goodyear Cord Tire. It comes in a handy, handsome bag.

Tube, bag and box are stamped "Heavy Tourist" for your protection.

Goodyear Cord Tires and "Heavy Tourist" Tubes are higher priced—and better.

Signs of Improvement in Aroostook Jct.—Many Cases at Minto and Elsewhere.

Special to The Standard.

Fredericton, Oct. 25.—There have been 505 cases of influenza and fourteen deaths here up to today, according to Secretary Dobbles of the local board of health. Requests for physicians have come from Kegwick, Restigouche county, and from St. Leonards and from Geary's, Sunbury.

Miss Colwell Dead.

Miss Christina Colwell, one of the most popular young ladies in the city, died at five o'clock yesterday afternoon from pneumonia, following influenza. She was 23 years old and is survived by her father, Robert Colwell, and one sister, Miss Margaret Colwell, R. S. Barker, secretary of the lieutenant-governor, is an uncle.

AN IMPROVEMENT AT AROOSTOOK JUNCTION

Special to The Standard.

Aroostook Jct., N. B., Oct. 27.—The influenza situation is showing signs of improvement. Several of the sick families are recovering, but there are still one or two serious cases.

MANY CASES IN AND AROUND HARTLAND

Hartland, Oct. 25.—Last week the Spanish flu seemed to be at a standstill if not on the downgrade in our town. And while every precaution was being taken to keep it down it has since flared up with unexpected fierceness.

Dr. R. W. L. Earle, of Perth Jet, who has been very ill, has now recovered and is attending patients in addition to the C. P. R. medical officer and all the sick are well cared for.

Mr. C. S. Gaines and family are much better, and Mr. Gaines hopes to resume duty in about a week, having been ill two months, since being injured in an auto accident in August.

THE ONE CRIME OF ROBINS, "BAD MAN"

Death in Prison of Aroostook's Reputed Terror - Recalls Murder of Dickinson.

Houlton, Oct. 26.—John Robins, a life convict, who died Tuesday in the state prison at Thomaston from pneumonia, was convicted in October, 1907, of the murder of Edwin Dickinson of Smyrna Mills, Aroostook County, in October, 1906, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

He had recently presented a petition for a pardon to the governor and council and hearing on it had been ordered for Wednesday, Nov. 27.

The murder of Edwin Dickinson was one of the most brutal and so it has always been believed, one of the most carefully planned in the history of Maine.

While suspicion instantly centered upon Robins, once the murder was publicly known two trials were necessary before his conviction was secured.

Edwin Dickinson was a farmer. He lived about two miles from the village of Smyrna, in a small story and a half house. He was a hard working man, who had more back luck than good. Things seemed always to break wrong for him.

On the morning of Thursday, Oct. 19, 1906, Perley Dickinson, aged 17, in answer to a call by his mother arose from his bed, dressed and made his way downstairs and into the kitchen.

As a lighted lantern stood on the floor beside the dead man it has always been felt that he was in the act of starting the fire, when shot. This assumption was strengthened by the fact that the bullet which killed Dickinson was fired from outside the house, the ball breaking one light of the glass, as shown by a microscopic examination of the hole, was upward as was the course of the bullet which killed Dickinson.

Had the killing been caused in that way, it was an accidental killing, that of a deer, missed and the bullet, becoming spent had struck a rack which was close to the Dickinson house, ricochetted, smashed through the window and killed Dickinson. Careful examination of the glass disposed of this theory.

Various experiments made by scientific men and others made it very evident that the fatal shot was fired at a point about 20 feet from the window by a man kneeling.

Robins Under Suspicion.

At once Robins became an object of suspicion. For some months prior to the murder his name had been linked by gossips. Several men of Smyrna Mills and Oakfield recalled having heard Robins make remarks which were in the nature of threats against the dead man.

Robins was arrested at Corliss's lumber camp, some miles from the scene of the murder. He denied all knowledge of the crime and told a story which seemed to establish a perfect alibi.

On the previous Sunday Ed. Dickinson had taken him and Perley Dickinson to Jack's camp at Duck pond. Perley remained at the camp Sunday, returning home that night.

Robins explained his reason for changing the night by saying that he wished to be able to shoot in the early morning and late evening.

After the night had been changed, Robins said, he went back to the camp at Duck pond and spent the Tuesday and Wednesday going to the Corliss camp on Thursday morning.

It was later established that not only did he go to Island Falls on Monday but that on Wednesday, the day before the murder, he was there. This was absolutely proved at the second trial and it has always been felt that this was the evidence which convicted him because the proving of it placed him within a few miles of the Dickinson house.

As he at both trials testified positively that he hunted in the woods on Wednesday and was not at Island Falls, the establishing of this break in his alibi was of great consequence.

The interesting feature of Robins' career in Smyrna Mills and vicinity was the fact that he had a widespread reputation as a bad man, yet it was impossible to bring to light a single really bad thing he had ever done.

This reputation for being a "bad man" was due entirely to his own talk. He delighted in bragging of his badness. He told of having been an outlaw for years, hunted by officers, of killing men and of hand to hand conflicts with wild animals of the woods but never a thing worse than getting drunk and swearing could be actually proved against him in this section of the world.

Robins and Mrs. Dickinson, wife of the dead man, were jointly indicted for the murder and tried at the April term of the supreme court in this town in 1907. The woman was acquitted, but the jury failed to agree in the case of Robins, who was tried for the second time and convicted in the following October.

A feature of the first trial was the refusal of June Dickinson to testify against her mother.

But the murder of the father and indictment of the mother for having knowledge of the crime was not the last of tragedy for the Dickinson family. In April, 1915, Mrs. Harriet Weeks, a waitress, took her own life in Portland by swallowing four poison tablets.

She was 18 years of age and the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickinson.

THE OLD TIME

The time for turning the heads of the clock back one hour was fixed for two o'clock yesterday morning, but it is needless to say that the majority of citizens performed the act before they retired Saturday night, which caused them to almost believe that they were retiring earlier than usual, and again when others made the change yesterday morning it made them think that they should remain in bed another hour just because the hands of the clock went back.

Turn Your Coin Into Cannon

They've cracked. The 1918 Victory Loan will make them crumble when Johnny Canuck turns his coin into cannon.

The Dardanelles will be opened up before you buy another straw hat, and Bulgaria's King who ran to Vienna to get under cover will have to move to Berlin for shelter.

The British will give the Huns an excuse to get out of Belgium—the French will give them a good reason to get out of France, and the Americans will furnish sufficient inducement for the Kaiser to back out of Alsace-Lorraine.

In the meantime, we will receive a selected assortment of "Made in Germany" peace feelers.

But just as long as the Hun continues to fill our hospitals and burn up Belgium, we will continue to load our ships with food for our boys and feed for our cannon—and in addition to this, we will collect right now enough cash to send over the traveling expenses for a return trip to Berlin.

600 operations and not a patient lost!

This was Nicole Girard-Mangin, the woman doctor who was mobilized and sent to the front by mistake because they thought she was a man.

"What! a woman?" cried the head doctor. "This is no place for a woman! But, good God, if you know anything, roll up your sleeves and stay."

Dorothy Canfield tells the story in this remarkable living document. Simply, intimately, dramatically this story comes to you from the battlefields of France. It is a burning page torn from the war. Don't miss it! In this number of Pictorial Review.

Thoroughly representative of today's loyal, inspired womanhood, every woman should read this November issue—the greatest woman's magazine ever issued. Pages and pages of fashions, some in full color, showing advance winter models.

Special with this issue: Two wonderful full-page war pictures for framing, by the greatest French war artist of today, Lucien Jonas

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H. M. The King.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

DO IT TODAY.

The selling campaign for the 1918 issue of Victory bonds opens this morning and it is expected that every resident of this city and province will do his utmost to make the campaign the success it must be if Canada is to keep the wheels of war industry turning until the glad time when the boys come home.

The purchase of Victory bonds is something in which all have a duty limited only by their buying ability. The man of wealth is expected to buy liberally. It is good business for him to do so as the bonds afford the best and most profitable sort of investment. The interest rate is higher than can be secured elsewhere when the safety of the investment is considered, and the purchaser is assured of the very best and most easily convertible security for his money.

Upon the wage earner the duty is even more imperative. Not only is a bond a good investment but its possession will tend to inculcate the habit of saving, of putting by a portion of one's surplus earnings as a nest-egg for the future. Wages are higher now than they have ever been; after the war conditions may be less prosperous with fewer avenues for profitable safe investment. The wise man will take the opportunity as it presents itself today and become a subscriber to the 1918 Victory Loan issue. He will never regret it, for, in addition to making a safe and profitable investment, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has done his bit in helping Canada to maintain her war effort to the limit. He will have carried out his command to "make his dollars over here support the boys over there" who have written the name of Canada in indelible letters upon the most important pages of the world's history.

THE INFLUENZA SITUATION.

The most encouraging feature of the influenza situation so far as St. John is concerned is the low death rate. Evidently the type of the disease epidemic in this city is very mild, or the degree of care and attention shown to those afflicted is greater than in less fortunately situated communities. In this connection too much praise cannot be given to the graduate nurses and the volunteer workers, who, with a devotion comparable to that of the soldier who leaves home and friends to journey to Flanders to fight the battle of humanity, are sparing neither strength nor ability to combat the enemy in our midst. To those noble women and there are scores of them, St. John owes a debt that will not readily be paid.

It is not fair to say in this connection that the supply of such workers is by no means equal to the demand. St. John is the chief centre of the province and appeals for assistance from outside points are being received hourly, appealing to meet the local situation, too, is not yet in hand.

Already the suffering resultant from the epidemic is great and the hardship widespread but, as already stated, the death rate is remarkably low. The disease may not yet have reached its peak, but there should be no public nervousness over the situation. Worry is one of the most dangerous aids to disease, as the strain of worrying lowers one's powers of resistance, renders one more susceptible to infection and less able to combat it if it should come. Clear instructions have been given as to what to do and every man or woman affected should have sufficient intelligence to follow them. Go home, go to bed and stay there until the last symptoms have departed. Then no serious effects are likely to follow. In the meantime those who have, as yet, escaped must be thankful and continue to "carry on" as cheerfully as possible, getting all the fresh air possible, avoiding crowds, and taking advantage of any preventative that may be available. Also: Don't worry.

CAN GO ON FIGHTING.

Germany may now go on fighting as long as the Hun armies are able or willing to stand the whipping the Allies will administer to them. For the last and most formidable peace drive to start from Berlin has failed and the German diplomats who for the past two or three weeks have prated of democracy may now drop the mask and show to the world that they have not changed in appearance, except for the bumps and scars with which Allied soldiers have adorned them.

The leaders of Germany are not to be believed. That is the plain, un-

GERMANY'S LAST HOPE.

Official figures of the loss sustained by British shipping in the month of September as the result of the operations of the German U-boats show that what once aroused considerable nervousness as a possible menace has now passed away. In this connection it is interesting to note that the restrictions in regard to street lighting which have prevailed in Halifax for many months have now been removed. This, in itself indicates that the danger, so far as concerns the Atlantic coast of Canada, is thought to be non-existent.

It was by the submarine and the operations of her land army that Germany expected to win this war. The submarine has definitely failed to do more than set a new record for Hunish brutality. The land army is fighting with the Allies everywhere in pursuit. The war is not yet over and it is unwise to become too optimistic, but there is no longer any possibility that Germany can win. The complete failure of the U-boat marks the departure of Germany's last hope.

WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT.

The decision of the British House of Commons that women have the right to sit in Parliament cannot but have an important effect upon the cause of woman suffrage all over the Empire. In some of the Canadian provinces women are already eligible to membership in the legislative bodies and after the war, when a general woman suffrage will come into effect in the Dominion, the possibility of women members of the Federal Parliament will doubtless attract more than passing attention. The opening of the British House of Commons to women also opens all sorts of possibilities. The details of that development have not yet been completed, but can one imagine Great Britain with a woman as Prime Minister?

A CALL TO SERVICE.

The mass meeting of women to be held in the Great War Veterans' rooms this afternoon, to consider ways and means of combating the epidemic of Spanish influenza, should be attended by every woman who can spare the time to go. And all those who do go should decide in advance that the call is for service. Those who know of the effort the work of carrying for stricken families has entailed during the past week or two realize that while many heroic women of the city are devoting practically all their time and strength to this most noble endeavor the supply does not commend to meet the demand. There are hundreds of women in St. John who have not yet met the call for service. The opportunity is at hand.

A BIT OF VERSE

THE WEEKLY FUMIGATION.

(American Exchange.)

A sneeze was but a sneeze in days of old,
It merely meant a simple wheezing cold.
But now one pulls a good old-fashioned sneeze,
And one is driven rudely from the fold.

They call it Spanish Flu—I wonder why.
A Spanish germ would never bat an eye,
Nor show enough ambish to turn its head
Though Noah and his Ark were floating by.

The hapless victim sneezed, and, having sneezed,
Men gazed upon him with a gaze that froze.
The very soul beneath his woolen shirt—
It hurt him more than many wicked blows.

In street cars men will calmly sit and hear
The German tongue, which rasps upon the ear,
But when a person sneezes in their midst
They draw aside in anger and in fright.

But I, for one, would rather hear a sneeze,
A good old-fashioned, honest Yankee wheeze,
Than listen to a lot of German talk
Which lingers nightly on the North Side breeze.

Time was when on your tongue the Doc would look
And pondered while your beating pulse he took,
But now he looks you coldly in the eye
And feels the heart-throbs of your pocketbook.

In Summer, when the burning sun rays beat,
A taxi slays a stranger on the street.
Next morning, when we read the news we learn
John Jones was overcome by heat.

Or if a man, decrepit, wan and old,
Should die when blizzards sweep across the fold,
We learn, by looking up the morning Hank Hoots was a victim of the cold.

Not Always.
"The young fellow who's calling on my daughter, Smith, has a lot of 'go' in him."
"Not any to notice when he's calling on my daughter."

A FREE LOVE BUREAU.

London, Oct. 26.—(British Wireless) Russian maidens under the jurisdiction of certain provincial Bolshevik services become the property of the state when they reach the age of eighteen years and are compelled to register at a government "bureau of free love," according to the Official Gazette of the Vladimir Soviet and Soldiers' Deputies, which recently published that Soviet's decree on the subject.

"DOWN WITH HINDENBURG" SHOUTS COLOGNE CROWD, DEMANDING PEACE

London, Oct. 26.—Such profound developments have come in the last fortnight that the British would not be in the least surprised if Germany should accept Wilson's terms. When Theodor Wolff's "Berliner Tageblatt" openly demands the overthrow of the Kaiser's secret military cabinet which, it charges, decided upon the war, the violation of Belgium and the unrestricted submarine campaign, it is clear to many that the upsurge which has taken place in Germany.

N. H. BANK PRESIDENT WAS $110,000 SHORT

Total Estimate Figured of Alleged Embezzlements By Harry P. Brown, Head of Conway National Bank.

Berlin, N. H., Oct. 26.—A sensation was caused in Berlin and Conway when it became known that Harry P. Brown, president of the Conway National Bank and treasurer of the Guaranty Trust Company of Berlin, had been arraigned before the United States Commissioner in Concord Tuesday and held in bonds of $10,000 for alleged irregularities and misapplication of funds. It is said that Brown is about $90,000 short in his accounts with the Guaranty Trust Company, and approximately $20,000 short with the Conway National Bank. Heavy speculation in mining properties is said to be alone responsible.

DIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from over-work, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

CLAMOR FOR PEACE.

Count Burian's resignation following those of von Hussarek and Wekerle, Emperor Karl's fragile and almost pathetic appeals and promises to his people and the clamoring for peace by the Turkish press and public, which are almost unanimous in urging desertion from the German cause, show that the Kaiser can find no encouragement whichever way he turns.

NOW WITH THE DEPOT BATTALION

Calixte Savoie, Former School Teacher, Now Training to Fight for His Country.

Among the numbers of the Depot Battalion now stationed in the city is Calixte Savoie, a former teacher in New Brunswick. Mr. Savoie entered the Provincial Normal School and graduated with second class honors in 1913. Not content, he returned soon afterwards and carried off a first class certificate with honors, at the same time gaining his superior license. Only last year he worked part of his grammar school papers and was highly successful again. It was then his intention to write the remainder of his examinations next year, but in the meantime he enlisted. His record is a good one, especially for one who had not the opportunity of taking a college course but worked assiduously during his leisure moments.

He has in the past taught in many places throughout the province, and was most successful in his chosen vocation.

HONOR ROLL.

Pte. H. Linton.
Mrs. Avernia Linton of Fairville has received the sad news that her son, Private Harold Linton, had died of wounds at No. 54 General Hospital, Auberges, on Oct. 15. Information had previously been forwarded to his mother that the young soldier had been wounded September 29 in the head, leg, arm and foot, evidently from machine gun fire or shrapnel.

Besides his widowed mother, now in the hospital, he leaves his elder brother, Kenneth, who is somewhere in France with the Fighting 24th, and two younger brothers, Byron and John at home.

Cor. O. Colwell.
George W. Colwell, of 45 Ermoth street, received word Friday that his son, Gunner Orland Colwell, had been admitted to No. 72 general hospital in France suffering from a gunshot wound in the head, sustained while in action on October 15.

Pte. Fred J. Rawkes.
Mrs. F. Newbury, of 117 Main street, Indiantown, has received word from her mother, Mrs. X. P. Hawkes of the Range, Queens county, to the effect that her brother, Fred G. Hawkes, who left St. John with the 140th Battalion, had died of wounds at the front. Private Hawkes had been transferred to the Princess Pals and it was while in this unit he received his mortal injuries. Besides Mrs. Newbury in this city there is another sister, Mrs. Herbert Shields. At home, in Queens county, there are three brothers—Stanley, Frank and Willard, also an unmarried sister, Miss Lina Hawkes.

Pte. Judson Arbo.
Harvey Arbo, of Milford, has received word that his son, Private Judson Arbo, was admitted to a hospital in France on October 11 with gunshot wound in the head. Private Arbo was one of the first draft from the Depot Battalion and was transferred into the New Brunswick Battalion in France, where he had been but a short time. A brother, David, is ill in hospital in England, invalided there from France. Another brother, Ernest recently arrived home wounded at the battle of Vimy Ridge, where his left hand was shot away.

Gunner W. E. Wasson.
John H. Wasson of 711 Main street, received word Saturday that his son, Gunner William B. Wasson, was admitted to a hospital in Rouen on Oct.

16 suffering from the effects of shell gas.
Sergeant G. A. Wiley.
After four years' service at the front, during which time he had passed unscathed through most of the big battles of the war, Sergeant George Arthur Wiley, artillery, is officially reported as having died at the General Hospital, Troyville, Oct. 16th, suffering from gunshot wound in the chest. A despatch announcing the wounding of her son was received Saturday by Mrs. Winnie Wiley, 101 Queen street, West Side.

A CARIBOU STORY.

Dawson, Y. T., Oct. 9. (Delayed)—Migrating caribou along the Yukon river near the American-Canadian border were so thick last week that the United States government steamboat General Jeff Davis had difficulty in navigating among the animals swimming the river. Thousands swarmed the shores and waters. Members of the crew said they lassoed a dozen and hauled them aboard for fresh meat.

DR. G. H. OSGOOD DEAD IN BOSTON

Distinguished in Medical Science and Specialized in X-Ray Therapy—His Wife a St. John Lady.

The following obituary on the death of Dr. Gardner H. Osgood is taken from the Boston Transcript:

Dr. Gardner H. Osgood, Roentgenologist of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital and one of the best known X-ray specialists in New England, has died at the Evans Memorial of that institution from pneumonia. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Nellie Cowan of St. John, N. B., daughter of J. E. Cowan, 95 Main street, and by one daughter, Constance Osgood. Dr. Osgood was born in Boston on Dec. 9, 1875, and received his early education in the public schools of Holyoke, Lowell and Bangs. Inclining to the study of medicine, he entered Boston University School of Medicine, and was graduated in 1909. He at once took up the study of X-ray therapy, and in this field of medicine spent his entire professional life. Dr. Osgood was connected with the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital for eighteen years in different capacities, becoming the Roentgenologist and director of the X-ray laboratory in 1909.

In addition to his institutional work, Dr. Osgood had an extensive private practice in his own particular field, which gave him a wide circle of acquaintances among the physicians of New England. In his more public activities Dr. Osgood had been a member of Medical Advisory Board No. 41-b, and was daily awaiting his commission in the naval service when his illness cut short a useful life with promise of valuable future service. He was a member of numerous professional and fraternal societies. Interment will be at St. John.

"We tried Goodyear Extra Power on our hardest pull before ordering in large lots"

"Now we have decided to replace with Goodyear Extra Power all other types of belt as they wear out"

The experience of the Pease Foundry Co., of Brampton, is the experience of hundreds of other users of belting in Canada. Read what Mr. J. G. McKinnon, Manager of the Brampton plant, says in his recent letter to us:

"Your Extra Power Belting is giving us splendid satisfaction. We were averse to trying Extra Power, but now we are sorry we did not use it when we installed our latest equipment.

"We now have about $1,500 worth in use in our plant.

"We tried Extra Power on our hardest pull before ordering in large lots.

"Now we have decided to replace with Extra Power all other types of belt as they wear out."

Such tests as this are the basis of the astonishing success of Goodyear Extra Power Belting. Where unusual service was needed—Goodyear Extra Power made good. The result has been a vast sale of Extra Power for ordinary drives—the "day-in-and-day-out" drives that factory men want to equip with good belts and forget.

Improved service and lower belting costs have come wherever Goodyear Extra Power Belting has been installed.

Often it has overcome conditions under which other belts failed completely.

In many plants it has speeded production amazingly.

Always it has cut belting costs and power cost.

The particular construction of Goodyear Extra Power makes it tremendously strong, yet flexible and pulley-hugging. A friction surface assures efficient delivery of power to the pulleys.

We train men to solve belting problems. The Goodyear Belting man has a big story to tell you. Perhaps he may help you. His service involves no obligation.

New Brunswickers Do Not Be Deceived

Were people to come this morning we must complete our quota to the 1918 Victory Loan. There will be German tricks to throw us off our game. There will be rumors of abdications, acceptances of the Allies' conditions, requests for guarantees, etc., after the regular Berlin manner. They must not stop us! We are building a giant structure—a new era, more glorious than has been known. We have laid the foundations. The walls are partly up. That's all! We must finish the structure and move the world into it. This loan must be fully subscribed and we must expect other loans to follow. With deepest solemnity we place the situation fairly before you, knowing you will do as you have heretofore done, put it over, away over!

She leaves her husband, Alderman Perley Russell, two sons, Lloyd and Edwin, and two daughters, Alice and Lauris, also her mother, Mrs. Annie Sweeney, and one sister, Miss Hazel Sweeney all of Newcastle. Mrs. Russell was a lady who was universally respected. She was very popular in all circles, and was a very talented musician, being for many years a leading member of St. James Presbyterian choir, and one of the chief members of the Newcastle Choral Society. Her early death is much lamented.

and David of Brussels street, according to several neutral observers who have just arrived in Sweden. While thousands, perhaps, have been executed, the list of victims is far less appalling than the ruthless manner in which political prisoners have been sent to death without a semblance of legal trial, the heartlessness with which they were treated and the utter indifference of the Bolshevik officials to appeals of heartbroken relatives who have been kept in suspense and not allowed to learn what has become of loved ones.

Children Dead.
Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nobles, 103 Millidge avenue, will sympathize with them in the loss of their six-year-old daughter, Mary Catherine, whose death occurred Saturday morning.

Pro-German Barbarism.
Verified stories of scenes at Moscow and Petrograd prisons eclipse descriptions of the barbarism of the middle ages and make the cruelties of the French revolution seem almost humane. Women prison officials—and many of them are women—are even more heartless than men, and trample under foot all the better instincts expected of their sex.

THE POLICE COURT.
Two men who were charged with drunkenness appeared in the police court Saturday morning and were fined $8 each.

Nature's Healing Herbs for Headache
A BLOOD FOOD
PRACTICALLY all headaches come from two causes—Biliousness and Nervousness. Bilious headache means upset stomach, and constipation—with severe throbbing pains all over the head. Nervous headaches mean that the nerves are exhausted and need rest and food.

TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL
This Woman Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.
McLean, Neb.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance, as it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since taking it I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise and I both rejoice to all suffering women."—Mrs. JOHN KOPPELMANN, R. No. 1, McLean, Nebraska.
This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been restoring women of America to health for more than forty years and it will well pay any woman who suffers from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" to give this successful remedy a trial.
For special suggestions in regard to your ailment write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

SPENDING THE EVENINGS HOME

During the Time of the Epidemic is a Good Opportunity to Become Acquainted With Your Own Family.

"There's nowhere to go." This is the speech which has been frequently on people's lips during the last few weeks. It is rather a significant thing when one comes to think of it that so many persons feel they must have some amusement, some entertainment, some diversion, some excitement, some interest in the evening the lamp was lighted, the fire kindled in the open fireplace, the basket of apples placed on the centre table and the family, as a matter of course, gathered around with books and sewing for a happy evening at home.

This time of closed churches, theatres and committee rooms has been a time of testing as to whether people have not become just a little too dependent upon outside attractions.

It has been suggested that this is a good time for sons to get acquainted with their parents, brothers with sisters, fathers with their children. After all other persons' brothers find "sister" pleasant to talk to and may be you had forgotten that "Dad" was once a baseball fan and knows all kinds of interesting facts about the old favorites. Then nobody would be happier than the mother, who has been so much for everybody, to have all the family together with leisure for the jokes and good natured teasing which is common in every large family. It has been a long time in many households since the whole family have gathered around any table except the dining room table.

Many homes have books filled with useful knowledge or literature which have been only taken off the shelves by the careless housewife, dusted and put back again. Would it not be a good thing if some could stay at home and discover the joys of reading and the rewards which come to those who seek after learning?

The presence in our midst of this epidemic has brought much sorrow and sadness. To those who have been privileged to assist, it has been a time of the greatest activity. For others amid the rather feverish whirl which city dwellers live it may be that this period of rest will bring results which will be of the utmost benefit.

Sad News Received By Toronto Man While in St. John—Wife Also Seriously Ill.

Friends of F. R. Lennon, of Toronto, will be sorry to learn that Mr. Lennon's only son, a boy of seven years of age, was killed in an automobile accident on Saturday, and that his wife is seriously ill with influenza.

Mr. Lennon, who was formerly manager at Toronto for the Canadian Universal Film Company, is now a director of the Exhibitors' Distributing Company, Ltd. He arrived in St. John on Saturday intending to remain several days but received a telegram summoning him home.

Mr. Lennon left Saturday evening for Toronto accompanied by Albert Donaghy, local manager of the Exhibitors' Distributing Corp., Ltd.

NINETY JARS FOR THE RED CROSS

The result of the ham, pickles and preserves appeal made by the Provincial Red Cross Hospital Committee resulted in ninety jars being brought to the DeForest Hotel. The committee are deeply grateful to the management of the DeForest for their courtesy in allowing their rooms to be used for this collection.

The committee feel that this number of jars was a good answer to the call, particularly considering the number of those who are unappreciated, and that many who would otherwise have contributed were kept at home by family duties.

Another opportunity to housewives to donate to this cause will be given after Christmas.

In order that American soldiers over there should be able to enjoy a stage at any place the entertainment in which they have been coached by the dramatic directors. Uncle Sam is providing them with a new device in the way of portable stage equipment, which occupies no more space than a small-sized trunk and can be set up, taken down, and packed away within a few minutes.

Salisbury Court, Favorite Hunting Box of Charles I., Now a Hospital.

London, Oct. 23.—Salisbury Court, an old Jacobean mansion that stands back almost hidden by the tall alms off the Southampton road and is said to have been one of the favorite hunting boxes of the first King Charles, has been converted into a hospital for 3,000 Americans by the American Red Cross.

The work of the latter organization now comprises more than twenty departments, and is carried out by American women who were residents of Great Britain before the war, many of them the wives of Englishmen and the others wives or relatives of Americans in business in this country.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, widow of the former American Ambassador to Great Britain, was a pioneer in the work of the American Red Cross in this country. As soon as the United States came into the war Mrs. Reid and Ambassador and Mrs. Walter Hines Page organized the London Chapter of the American Red Cross, and when the first American troops began arriving on this side they were able to present to the American Red Cross a highly efficient machine in Great Britain.

Some of the women who have been Mrs. Reid's coworkers are Mrs. John Astor, Mrs. Curtis Brown, Mrs. Henry Chapin, the Hon. Mrs. Spender, Mrs. Walter Hines Page, Mrs. Robert P. Skinner, Mrs. Arthur Vincent, Mrs. H. S. Waite, and the Hon. Lady Ward.

The American Red Cross has provided a number of hospitals in Great Britain, some of them established before America entered the war, for the use of the British wounded; others established since that time for the accommodation of both British and Americans.

One of the best is the Mossley Hill Hospital at Liverpool which is staffed by American army doctors and nurses under Major Udo J. Wilo, formerly professor of surgery in the University of Michigan. Another American hospital de luxe in London is the new naval hospital on Park Lane, which occupies Aldford House, the home of Capt. Frederick Guest, M. P., who generously placed it at the disposal of the Red Cross.

There are several other American hospitals in London, notably the Lancaster Gate Hospital No. 24, given by Mr. and Mrs. A. Chester Beatty of New York. But the largest of all the American hospitals in Great Britain is that at Salisbury Court.

No more ideal spot for the purpose could be imagined. Standing in a great park of 138 acres of thickly wooded pure lands the grounds dip down to a half mile frontage along Southampton waters, where off shore is anchored an ancient British frigate used as a training school for midshipmen of the British Navy, while from the battlements of the great keep of the Manor House one commands a twenty mile sweep of country on one side, across the busy Southampton harbor, a smoky forest of masts and funnels, and on the other a distant glimpse of the sparkling blue waters of the Solent and the chalk cliffs of the Isle of Wight.

Already the woodland acres of the estate are resounding with axe and saw and several hundred trees have been selected to furnish the heavier timber and joists for the hospital buildings. With the Manor House as apex, these cover over ten acres of frame hutments.

The contracts signed by the Red Cross provided for the opening of the hospital with about 400 beds available in six weeks from the time the work started. Part of these beds will for the time being be located in tents of the Rosseneau type, with windows set in the walls to make them light and airy, and a double roof with air chamber between to insulate them from the heat of the sun.

Tents to House Sick.

During the pleasant English summer these tent wards will be very comfortable and agreeable, and long before the first chilly weather of autumn the frame but wards, steam heated, will be ready. It is possible that some of the tents will be retained for the use of convalescents or for overflow purposes in the event of a big offensive on the northern part of the western front.

The hospital will have its own electric lighting plant and water supply. There will be probably a double system of water supply, water from the river being used for ordinary purposes, while special distilled or spring water will be used for drinking purposes and in the kitchens and operating rooms.

The construction of the hospital will be under the general supervision of Capt. F. Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y. Capt. Sibley has been in charge of the American Red Cross work at Southampton since his arrival in England last April.

The Manor House, which will be the

Use More Milk

LET milk play a bigger part in your daily diet. Use more milk—for health's sake. Use more milk—for economy's sake. Use more milk—for loyalty's sake.

Food specialists, doctors, experts all say that milk is one of the richest and most nourishing foods that Nature provides. And it is one of the most economical.

At this season of the year you should use lots of milk. Drink it at every meal—as a food. Let it take the place of meat, bacon and other foods needed "over there." Use more of it in your cooking—because it adds a richer flavor, because it is more nourishing, because it aids digestion.

Try using more milk in your diet—for one week. See how much better you feel. See how much you save.

BECOME better acquainted with the goodness, the many uses, the economy of milk—Nature's first food. And become acquainted with Carnation Milk—Nature's first food in absolutely pure form.

Into thousands of homes—all over Canada and the United States—we are introducing this better milk.

Many of the TESTED recipes are given in "The Story of Carnation Milk"—a splendid booklet you should have. These recipes will help you to combine variety with nourishment in your meatless meals. Write for a free copy to-day—mention this paper, please.

central building of the Salisbury Hospital is a large and handsome building of what Englishmen call modern construction, inasmuch as it dates back only thirty-five years. It is in the Tudor style, standing on a level plateau on the highest point of the estate. It is built of brick with Portland stone dressings and has a slated roof with artistic red ridged tiles, while the chimneys of brick and stone are made a prominent architectural feature. The most notable parts of the exterior are the magnificent carved stone main entrance and the stone balustrade. The house contains about fifty rooms, and more than half of these are large enough to be available for use as wards containing from six to six teen beds each. The great entrance hall is easily the feature of the interior. It is as large as many an American church, open to the roof, and with a balcony or gallery running all the way around it. An American housewife would perhaps be most impressed by the kitchen, a room large enough to be used as a ballroom, white tiled and with a ceiling thirty feet high. It is said that the original builder of the house planned to use it as a home for poor boys, where they could be trained to make themselves useful in the world, and the kitchen would undoubtedly be able to provide for a large number of youthful appetites, stimulated by the fresh country air and the invigorating work of the English farmstead. The ambulance which will bring the American wounded from the piers at Southampton will approach the hospital by a long carriage drive through picturesque woodland and well kept lawns. At the entrance to the estate they will pass a gabled stone lodge in the finest type of English country architecture, which probably will be used as the residence of the superintendent and chief medical officer of the hospital. The wounded man, if his cot faces southward, will look out over the river toward Southampton, with an occasional view of warships and transports. If his bed faces north he will still get a river view, this time across the estate tennis courts and cricket field to where the narrowing river disappears amid the gray shadows of the hills. The convalescent soldier will find several miles of sunny or shaded walks without going outside the hospital grounds. Strolling northward he will cross a broad meadow and a little patch of woods to the hospital piggery and chicken farm, and just below this he will come to the boathouse and the jetty, where he may dangle his legs just above the water and sit fishpole in hand, with good prospects of a profitable catch. If he chooses to stroll northward from the main hospital buildings he will find the forest denser and wilder, and at the other side of the forest he will come to the hospital vegetable gardens and greenhouses.

Thousands of new homes have learned that Carnation Milk is milk in its handiest form—in its safest form —that, unopened, it will keep fresh for weeks!

—that it is economical (no waste)

—that it can be ordered with your groceries!

CARNATION MILK is rich, pure milk "from Contented Cows." It is "whole milk"—evaporated to the consistency of cream. Then sealed in air-tight cans and sterilized. Nothing but water is taken out of it. Nothing is put in to sweeten or to preserve it. It is just pure whole milk—of uniform richness and quality—sealed safe from contamination.

And you can use it for everything—for cooking—for creaming vegetables and soups—as cream for coffee—diluted, as a safe, nourishing drink for your children. It is the only milk supply your home needs.

Order a week's supply of Carnation Milk from your grocer—he is the Carnation Milkman. Always keep a few cans handy for unexpected needs.

COMPLEX PROBLEMS AHEAD DECLARES COL. E. M. HOUSE

President Wilson's Personal Representative Arrives in Paris—Did Not Go To Arrange Armistice, He Says.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Col. Edward M. House, who has arrived in Paris on a confidential mission for President Wilson, today made the following statement to The Associated Press: "It is with the keenest pleasure that I find myself again in France. Upon my last visit some eleven months ago the Allies' fortunes, it seemed, had struck their lowest level. Those memorable days, when we consulted together and formulated plans looking toward a civil and military unity and the co-ordination of war economies and industries can never be forgotten. From that hour the clouds began to lift and we could see, dimly at first, the stars of hopes and victory which today are shining with such a steady and effulgent glow. "We are now confronted with different and more complex problems—problems which I feel confident will be met with high courage and with the wisdom which comes from lofty motives and unselfish hearts." Col. House told - the semi-official Havas Agency that his trip had no correlation with an armistice and he had not received from President Wilson and the American government special powers to negotiate on this question. As regards future negotiations which might arise, Col. House declined to talk. The colonel added that the American press has been a faithful interpreter of the general feeling of the United States during the exchange of notes with Germany.

 SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for purchase of Tug Mabel Reid," will be received until 12 o'clock noon, on Wednesday, November 13, 1918,
 for the purchase of the Tug Mabel Reid, registry No. 12297.
 The tug is hauled out at Fort Lawrence, the port of Amherst, N. S., where it may be inspected by arrangement with J. K. Blenkinsop, Superintendent of Dredges, St. John, N. B.
 The hull is 88 ft. long, beam 15 ft.
 9 in. and 8 ft. 6 in. working draft.
 The hull has been condemned.
 The engine is 10hp. and 18in. x 14in.
 boiler vertical type, 5ft. 7in. diam., 6ft.
 5in. high; surface condenser; pumps;
 propeller 5 ft. diam., 9 ft. pitch.
 Intending purchasers are to assure themselves as to the accuracy of this information, which is not guaranteed, and to satisfy themselves as to the condition of the plant. The tug will be turned over to the purchaser as it now lies.
 The successful tenderer must complete the purchase and take possession within one week of date of notification of acceptance of tender.
 The party whose tender is accepted must make cash payment before taking possession of tug.
 Each tender to be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, equal to 10 per cent. of amount of tender, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to carry out his bid. War Loan Bonds of the Dominion will also be accepted as security, or war bonds and cheques if required to make up an odd amount.
 The Department does not bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.
 Sale is subject to a reserve bid.

Charlie Chaplin denies that he held back the release of his comedies because he wanted to avoid the payment of income tax to the United States Government. Somebody started the story that Chaplin was trying to keep down his income so that his tax payment to the United States would not amount to a big figure. The comedian declares that he was not satisfied with his parts of his forthcoming release,
 "Shoulder Arms," and various scenes were taken and retaken until the best effect was obtained.

THE CREW SAFE. The crew of the schooner Effort, reported on Friday dismantled and destroyed, has been landed at Windsor. The vessel has been towed to Bear River, where she will be repaired. The wreck was due to high winds encountered in the bay.

SETTLED BY BET. Late Saturday evening some argument ensued on Waterloo street regarding the rental of a certain building. Discussion waxed warm and was only settled by a bet which will decide the question this evening, when the one holding the bet will make enquiries and report to the ones interested.

ARCHBISHOP CASEY. Archbishop Casey, D. D., Vancouver reached the city last Friday and left Saturday morning for St. Andrews, where he will visit relatives and friends. Before being appointed to Vancouver the Archbishop was formerly of the St. John diocese. He is being greeted by his host of friends in the east and may be expected in the city again in the near future.

Y. M. C. I. SPORTS. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the Y. M. C. I. sports which were to take place Saturday were postponed and will be held this afternoon at 3.30, weather permitting. The events are as follows: Handicap, 440 yards; handicap, 100 yards; handicap standing broad jump; handicap running broad jump; handicap throwing baseball. Relay race. Prizes will be given for each event.

TWO MAINS CONNECTED. Yesterday the new East St. John main was connected up with the main leading into the city and on the completion of the pipe laying it will only be necessary to turn the valve to give the residents of this suburb city water. The water was turned off at midnight on Saturday night and the men worked from that time until last midnight when the water was turned on again. The two mains were connected just opposite the One Mile House.

PERSONAL. Rev. W. D. Wilson, chief inspector, will not be in the city today owing to the illness of his wife at their home in Fredericton. T. V. Monahan, proprietor of the Barker House, Fredericton, was a week-end visitor in the city.

BUSINESS HOUSES DECORATE WINDOWS FOR THE BIG DRIVE

Particular Pains Given By Window Dressers in the King and Charlotte Street Stores—Thousands of People Make Favorable Comment.

All day yesterday and Saturday night the windows of some leading merchants on King and Charlotte streets drew the attention of the passersby and many favorable comments were heard on the readiness with which they had responded to the appeal of the Victory Loan Committee to help out in this way. In every case the message of the hour was emphasized and brought forcibly to the attention of the onlooker.

Among those which drew special mention from the passerby might be mentioned the following: W. H. Thomas and Company. This window represented the sitting room of a home. Seated in the chair is the mother knitting khaki socks, presumably for "Daddy over there," and on the floor in front of the green fire is a little one looking at a picture book. In the foreground is seen a card with these words: "Buy a Victory Bond and keep the home front burning."

T. McAvity and Sons' windows have a number of battle pictures and souvenirs. The latter drew a lot of attention and comprises German battle helmets, bayonets, pistols, etc., picked up on the field of battle and sent home. There are also samples of the different pieces of equipment carried by the Canadian "Tommy" and his officer, and the British officer. One feature of this window is the showing of shells in the several stages of manufacture from the rough ingot to the finished article ready to bring death and destruction to the Hun.

Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd. have in their centre window for a background a large shadowgraph of "Tommy" going over the top with this motto "Lead as they fight, with all your might." In the foreground is a life size soldier going full tilt against the enemy in a bayonet charge and to one side is Miss Canada cheering him on. In another of their windows is a number of dollar bills on strings agitated by a fan and the motto "Keep the dollars moving." In other windows are battle pictures and photos of war heroes, all making their special appeal at this time.

Macaulay Bros.' window is prettily decorated with flags and pictures, among the latter being: "The Tale of a Glorious End," "The Taking of the Guns," "The Death of Nelson," and a splendid photo of the 4th Siege Battery, the latter coming in for a lot of attention as the faces of many of the members of that now famous unit could be plainly distinguished.

The window of Allan Gundry caused a lot of comment. In the centre is a large chain with the centre link broken and the admonition, "Don't be the weak link in the chain." The window is trimmed with maple leaves and bonds and each person is urged to buy to the limit of their ability, whether it is $50 or $50,000.

F. A. Dykeman have all their windows trimmed for the occasion. In one is "Miss New Brunswick" holding in her hand a large honor flag and underneath this appeal, "Help St. John to win this honor flag, given to those constituencies which oversubscribe their quota," and in one corner of the window is a life size wounded soldier appealing for help for his comrades. In another window is a big war map with tiny Canadian flags, marking the places where the boys from Canada are fighting, and in the third is a life size representation of the "Flanders' Fields" poster.

The Imperial Theatre is one big advertisement for Victory Bonds. On every window there is a large gold disc bearing the word in 12-inch gold letters, "Lead," visible across King Square. In the centre of the building hanging from the top is a twenty foot Union Jack, in the centre of the flag appears the following appeal: "Who will buy a bond for me? How Old Friend Union Jack. On one side of the building is flown the Stars and Stripes and on the opposite the tricolors of France. Over the entrance is a large sign, "Lead as our heroes fight," the whole making a striking appeal.

F. W. Daniels' window shows a life size Miss Victory holding ribbons attached to Victory Bonds. In the centre of the window is a large picture of the officers of the 3rd C. G. A., a large number of whom are overseas. The following are marked as killed in action: Lieut. W. Cressy, Lieut. W. G. Kerr, Lieut. H. D. McDonald, Lieut. S. K. L. McDonald and Lieut. A. G. DeYoung. In the end of the window are photos of the 104th Battalion officers, the 58th Howitzer Battery and B Co. of the 69th Battalion and a number of souvenirs received from the battlefield.

Marr Millinery Co., Ltd. have a most unique trimming. Across each window are pasted strips of paper after the Paris fashion of making the windows bombproof. The windows are dressed in patriotic style and a number of cards exhort those passing to buy Victory Bonds. These windows have attracted a lot of attention.

THE DORNFONTEIN WILL SAIL AGAIN

Hull Purchased By Americans and Towed to Rumery's Bay—Will Be Rebuilt and Vessel Ready to Sail Next Spring.

A few months ago when the Germans overhauled the fine new schooner Dorfontein, off the Atlantic coast while she was on a voyage from this port with a valuable cargo for South Africa, the Huns saw the ship on fire, and while they watched the flames destroy the masts, rigging, sails and the upper works of the vessel, little did they dream that the hull of the St. John built ship would once more plough through the ocean, notwithstanding this a fact, and it will not be many months before the bottom of the Dorfontein with a new top will be in commission again.

The fire burned the vessel almost down to the water's edge, but the hull was kept afloat by the cargo of lumber in her holds, and she finally drifted ashore at a point on the coast. The derelict was last week towed into Rumery's Bay, near North LaCaze, Maine, and anchored, and it is said has been purchased by parties at Dennysville. It is said that the hull will be rebuilt and a new top added during the coming winter, so that by early spring the vessel will be ready for launching under American ownership.

SUB-INSPECTORS ARE KEPT BUSY

Three Men Arrested Saturday and Sunday on the Charge of Having Liquor in Their Possession.

The sub-inspectors were busy Saturday and Sunday. On the City and Saturday afternoon Inspectors McAnish, Garnett and Police held up a resident and found he had four bottles of liquor in his possession. They then searched his home and found a large quantity of the same in kegs and bottles. He was locked up.

Saturday evening Inspectors McAnish and Garnett caught a young man leaving a house on Carmarthen street and arrested him on the charge of having a bottle of liquor in his possession. He was arrested and informed the inspectors that he purchased the bottle from another man for $5.00. The latter will be called on to appear in court this morning.

REV. F. J. CORRIGAN DIED IN TORONTO

The Priest Was Victim of Spanish Influenza—Recently Assisted in Mission Services in St. John.

Word reached the city yesterday of the death in Toronto of the Rev. Francis J. Corrigan, C. S. R. Father Corrigan was a victim of the Spanish influenza. At the time of the outbreak of the influenza in St. John the reverend priest was assisting in a mission in the church of St. John the Baptist, and previous to this had conducted a mission at St. Peter's church. During his stay in the city he was the friend of many who will sincerely regret his early demise.

Some of his powerful sermons delivered in the churches, mentioned above, are remembered well by the Catholic people of St. John, as well as by a large number of non-Catholics, who were attendants at the several exercises. They will all regret to hear of Father Corrigan's death.

WHOSE LIMIT IS ALL THAT HE CAN.

Let us turn our own eyes inward—Let us search our hearts—and see that no selfish streak remains unconsecrated to the service of the men we love.

Would we not die for them, Our fighting men in France? Then let us buy for them, all the Bonds we can, with the same great unselfishness with which they fight and die. This is the spirit with which they and we—fighting—working—serving—together—will, as God sees us, inevitably win.

Our limit is all that we can Buy Victory Bonds today. And buy and buy—buy more.

WEARING A SMILE.

James McKloney, Jr., customs appraiser, is wearing a smile that won't wear off, for the story arrived in the city on Saturday and made him the father of a bouncing baby boy.

"This Red Line," and under it this motto "Go over the top with the boys and buy Victory Bonds."

F. E. Holman has a window of war pictures, some dealing with the present struggle and some with wars of yesterday, but all are full of interest and many persons crowded around to see them.

SACKVILLE MAN RETURNS FROM RUINED CLOQUETTE

Wilbur Hunt One of Ten Thousand People Driven from Thriving Minnesota City Which Was Wiped Out By Forest Fires.

Wilbur Hunt passed through the city recently en route to his home in Backville from Cloquette, Minn. He has returned to New Brunswick to get a fresh start and try to forget the horrors of the past few weeks as Mr. Hunt is one who has passed through the fire of horrors of Minnesota, as Cloquette was one of the Minnesota towns wiped out by the devastating forest fires about two weeks ago.

Cloquette was a little lumbering city of 10,000 population, between Duluth and Minnesota, on both the sides of the St. Louis River. Three weeks ago last Friday it was humming with life and activity, the mills and factories operating day and night. By Sunday morning the entire town was a mass of smouldering ruins, not one house being left standing. The fatality happily was comparatively light, the charred and unrecognizable bodies of four or five being subsequently found, but the mass of the population escaped by train or on foot. Two lumber mills, a box factory, the tooth-pick factory and the little red brick school house miraculously escaped the general wreck.

The exodus before the scorching breath of the advancing fire defied description, but must have somewhat resembled the flight of Belgian refugees before the hordes of the invading Huns. The dead awaiting burial were left behind, while only light luggage could possibly be saved.

MORE HEROES RETURN TODAY

Party of Returned New Brunswick Soldiers Left Halifax Last Evening—They Are Invalued Home.

A number of New Brunswick boys will arrive in the city this morning at 8.05, on route to Fredericton, Chas. Robinson, secretary of the Returned Soldiers' Commission, was called to Halifax to meet the soldiers, and will return with them today.

Following are the men who left Halifax last evening in a special car: James Ross, 140 Elliot Row; H. Setchell, 25 Sewell street; N. Downing, 53 Stanley street; Bennett Wilson, 135 Victoria St.; F. M. Hamm, 15 Middle street; St. John West; F. I. Parks, 45 Canal street; R. Rollins, St. John; R. Cooper, 369 George St.; Fredericton; C. Moorehouse, Coronation, N.B.; C. Gillies, Imjah, Kings County; G. G. Bshaw, Forest Glen, N. B.; Leon Smith, Sackville; W. D. Mills, Marysville; J. D. Scampell, 337 Aberdeen street, Moncton; N. L. Shaw, Coldstream, Charlott County; R. J. Hascan, 32 1/2 street, Moncton; A. Harrington, Bessar Ridge; Y. J. Bernard, Moncton; C. E. Colwell, Jemseg; R. C. Reicker, Wickham, Queens County; F. Williams, Beaver Harbor; C. LeBlanc, 123 1/2 street, Moncton; James Derechle, Jacques River; Truman Gambin, Collins, Kings County; J. Jeffries, Sussex.

Among the St. John boys is at least one who has lost a limb. Benjamin Wilson. This young hero left St. John in 1915 in the ammunition column and did good service in France until last spring, when one night while asleep a German bomb deprived him of one foot. The peculiar part of the incident lies in the fact that when he first lay down to sleep his head was where his feet were when the bomb exploded. After lying down he was restless and could not get to sleep, and got up and turned his bed to see if that would make any difference, with the result that he comes home minus one foot instead of filling a soldier's grave in Flanders.

WOMEN'S MASS MEETING CALLED THIS AFTERNOON

Minister of Health Asks Women to Meet in War Veterans' Rooms—Will Discuss Urgent Need of Nursing Help.

Under a special emergency health permit and with the provision that persons attending do not come from households affected with influenza, a mass meeting of women is called by Hon. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Health, for 8 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon in the rooms of the Great War Veterans' Association, Wellington Row, to discuss the urgent need of nursing help in the city and elsewhere throughout the province.

The gathering will be addressed by Dr. Roberts, Mrs. G. A. Kuhring of the V. A. D. workers and others competent to make known the true situation.

Present conditions as regards nursing and sick-room help will be gone into frankly and thoroughly. Hundreds of homes are in dire need of the simplest nursing care and attention. Many lives can undoubtedly be saved by a prompt and energetic volunteer nursing movement in supplement to the heroic efforts now being put forth.

Well-to-do homes require help as well as the poor ones—the need is general. Frank, serious statements will be made at the meeting, not sensational but truthfully outspoken so there will be no confused or mistaken ideas. So many lives are in danger at this height of the epidemic that the quicker the women know the truth the better in order to bring forth the greatest response to the appeal for help. A few days will doubtless see the epidemic abating, the call is for immediate help, and this afternoon's meeting will bring about a full discussion of the matter.
