ST. PIERRE IS SENT TO THE GRAND JURY

Court Room Packed at Edmundston at Preliminary Hearing in Murder Case. EVIDENCE SIMILAR TO CORONER'S COURT

Chief Savage Repeats Story of the Blood Pools on Bank and River Search.

(Continued from page 1.) The prisoner was again brought into appearance at 10.30 that night. The evidence of the train despatcher left him in the vicinity of Emerson street about 4.30. At 10.30 that night he was at the dance hall underneath the Star Theatre, according to the evidence of Charles Johnson, manager of the building.

The witness testified to leaving the hall about 12.30 that night and of St. Pierre going to the same time. Practically the same story was told by Leon Gagnon. Gagnon told more about the alleged fight with three men as told to him by the accused who said he got blood on his blue suit from pounding one fellow while holding his head under his left arm.

Charles Magoon, the expected star witness of the Crown, had about 15 years of age was next called. When called the witness did not take his place in the seat occupied by previous witnesses. He sat beside the Provincial detective and this immediately started an objection on the part of Mr. LeBlanc. The Attorney General argued that the boy should sit where he was. Mr. LeBlanc wanted to know what was going on. The Magistrate ruled against Mr. LeBlanc. Charlie said he was well acquainted with the prisoner and the murdered girl. He was present when the body was taken from the water. On Monday night, October 11 he said he had some telegrams to deliver from the Western Union office about 8.15. He went towards Victoria Hotel, passing by the York Drug Store when he saw St. Pierre. The prisoner offered the witness a drink but it was refused. He said "Don't tell on me, and a good word to your sister."

Saw the Prisoner. Witness said he went from there to the Windsor Hotel. Returning he took a circuitous route which brought him into the vicinity of the Masonic Hall. He delivered a telegram to Mr. Belyea and came out and went to Emerson Avenue, when he saw St. Pierre sitting on a fence. He spoke to me, and I answered him. He held out a handful of money and offered them to me. I refused to take them. He afterwards offered me 25 cents, which I refused.

Why Anemia Prevails

The Strenuous Conditions of Life Today Are Responsible.

Mothers who remark that girls today are more prone to anemia than the girls of a generation ago, should look back at the surroundings in which they and their companions lived. They would easily see the reason in life's altered circumstances today. Now the school-girl's life is more strenuous; her more numerous studies are a severe tax upon her strength. Also, girls enter business soon after leaving school—at an age when they most need rest and recuperation. Their womanly development is hampered by the stress of working hours, hurried and often scanty meals. Girls are more liable to bloodlessness today, but there is this consolation that, where as doctors formerly regarded anemia as often incurable, the cure are now counted in tens of thousands. Such medicines as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have restored to good health thousands of weak anemic girls and women, simply because they contain the elements necessary to make new, rich, red blood which means good health and vitality.

When your daughter's strength fails and pallor, breathlessness and backache disclose her anemic condition, remember that you can make her well and assure her healthy development by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to make good red blood. Remember, too, that for women of all ages Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially helpful in the many ailments that result from watery blood. They make women and girls well and keep them well. This is amply proved by the case of Miss Eva MacKinnon, Glamis, Ont., who says: "As a school girl I grew very pale and would take dizzy spells and sometimes vomiting. My condition was such that I was not able to attend school regularly and my mother was very much worried about my condition. Finally she decided to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I took these for a considerable time, gradually gaining strength until I was perfectly well. It is some years since I took the pills and I have enjoyed the best of health, and I am certain pale, sickly girls will find new health if they give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Sir Henry Drayton, Canadian Minister of Finance, and Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, were guests of Major-General H. H. McLean at supper at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night at General McLean's residence, "The Grove," Rothsary. After addressing the Canadian Club in St. John, they came from the city in their private car, which waited on the siding here, and later was attached to the midnight train and carried the visitors to Moncton. Several other guests were present at the supper.

Fowler; Mrs. Harold Ellis; Mrs. J. M. Robinson; and Mrs. Walter Harrison. J. Royden Thomson is attending the convention of Dodge Brothers, auto manufacturers, at Detroit, and expects to spend a few days in Toronto en route home.

The Misses Fitch, of Halifax, are guests at the Kennedy House. On Monday evening Mrs. G. N. Hevenor left for Germantown, Philadelphia, to attend the funeral of her mother, Rev. D. M. Stearns, the news of whose death was received by telegram on Monday morning. Sincere sympathy is extended.

On Friday morning a deacons meeting was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Blair have closed their summer camp in the park and are occupying the house vacated by Miss Hendricks. Harry S. Morton is in Halifax this week attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Drug Company. Mrs. Lindsay Parker, of New York, who has been here visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Vroom, and J. H. A. L. Fairweather. Very sincere sympathy is being extended.

I took a jump when I saw him then jump off the fence and go down the hill." The witness then went back underneath the bars and saw St. Pierre go down and look over the water. After a while the accused moved along the bank towards the school house. The witness retraced his steps, going back to Emerson street and on about his business.

Sunday School Boy On cross-examination, Charlie said he was a Sunday School boy, but had not been there this year only once, and couldn't remember the teacher's name. It was also brought out that witness had been in court for beating up a little girl. The cross-examination was designed to shake the story of the young witness, leading up to the time he said he saw St. Pierre sitting on the fence. Charlie repeated his statement made on direct examination about meeting the accused while he was sitting on the fence in front of the Emerson House, located on the street of that name. No material change was made in the main features of his story. He said that at the time of the coroner's inquest he did not know all the things he related in court today. Charlie, again pressed for some information regarding his Sunday School attendance, was unable to recall the name of any teacher or text which was learned.

Four Champions Now In New York

Jack Dempsey, Jack Britton, Johnny Wilson and Pete Kid Herman All in Manhattan.

New York, Nov. 12.—Four world champions of the ring are now living in Little Old New York. This has never happened before. No wonder the boxing game is booming, and hundreds of youngsters are "putting their dukes" in practice all over the greater city.

Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion has rented an entire house in 94th street near Central Park West, for which he pays $450 monthly.

The welterweight champion Jack Britton lives in 75th street near West End avenue with his wife and two children. I don't suppose there are half a dozen people in the block who know him as a sensational fighter.

Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion lives in the heart of the Italian colony in East Harlem. His name is not Wilson. He is an Italian.

Pete Kid Herman, the bantam champion, lives in New Orleans. Johnny Kilbane, the weatherweight champion, makes his home in Cleveland.

BILL BROWN, A VETERAN, RESIGNS

New York, Nov. 12.—The resignation of Bill Brown, veteran boxing referee, from the list of available referees under the new State Boxing Law was announced today.

Brown's severance of connections with the Boxing Commission was said to have resulted from his objections to the commission's system of choosing referees by rotation instead of by their fitness for each particular bout.

Charges Against Commander Ross

Said to Have Sought to Embarrass Committee by Refusing Jockey to Ride.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 12.—The Maryland Racing Committee in a formal statement today charges Commander J. K. L. Ross, owner of Sir Barton, and other noted race horses, with having sought to embarrass the committee by refusing to allow Jockey Carroll Shilling to ride Pimlico yesterday, after he had been temporarily reinstated by the racing committee's order. Shilling was suspended by the New York Jockey Club for alleged rough riding at Havre de Grace, in 1912.

Declaring that Ross "has asked repeatedly for Shilling's reinstatement," the statement said in part: "Shilling was given a full and fair hearing, the New York Jockey Club was instructed to issue this license and did so. It was then squarely up to Commander Ross to ride Shilling. After making every effort personally and through his trainer, to secure a hearing for Shilling, and following Shilling's temporary reinstatement, Commander Ross back-tracked, refused to allow Shilling to ride, and has in this matter sought to embarrass in the most emphatic way the Maryland Racing Commission."

FREDERICTON SHOOTING CASE IS POSTPONED

Fredericton, Nov. 12.—Herbert L. Stevenson, who is charged with "wounding with intent to thereby, then and there commit murder," in the sensational shooting of Arthur L. Noble at Penniac, on the night of November 3, appeared in the police court this morning and was again remanded until Thursday, November 18th.

Police Magistrate Limerick later said that the reason Stevenson's case had not proceeded this morning was not because of the condition of Noble, who is now rapidly recovering, but because the prosecution were not ready to proceed. The information in the case was sworn to by Sheriff John B. Hawthorn, who said that he acted as the result of statements made to him by Mrs. Stevenson.

International Schooner Race

New York Telegram Says There Seems Lot of Lipton Brand, Around Halifax.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Evening Telegram today says: "There seems to be a lot of the Sir Thomas Lipton brand of folk around Halifax judging from the announcement of plans to build by popular subscription a fishing vessel to race in next year's international schooner regatta of Halifax harbor."

"It is hard to recall an international event that passed as pleasantly, with less of anything savouring of rancor, than the contest between the Esperanto and Delaware, and the reputation of that and any similar events that can be devised is something to be fostered."

With the cold weather coming on, the car shortage assumes a more serious aspect.

WEST IS DEEPLY INTERESTED IN ISSUES

Speaker Suggests Educational Political Campaigns Should Not be Allowed to Lapse.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 11.—In the provincial capital, Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. J. A. Calder tonight addressed two meetings with a total attendance of 2,500 to 3,000 people and brought to an end their tour of Alberta, which was inaugurated at Lethbridge on Monday. Tomorrow morning the Premier and the Minister of Immigration leave for Saskatoon, where they speak in the evening and on Saturday the Regina meeting concludes the present visit to Saskatchewan.

Welcomed By Huge Crowd.
 Edmonton was reached at 4.30 p.m. and the Prime Minister's party received a cordial welcome from the station crowd. The brief interval before the night meeting was taken up with a reception tendered the Prime Minister and Mrs. Meighen by the local Women's Organisation, the reception of some deputations and an informal dinner.

Mr. Meighen and Mr. Calder each spoke at both meetings. The minister speaking first said he had never seen the people of Western Canada so deeply interested in public questions.
 No Election in Sight.
 There was no election in sight, but meetings held by Mr. Meighen, Mr. King and Mr. Greer had been very largely attended, and it was, he said, a mighty good thing for Canada that such was the case. He hoped the educational campaign will be carried on.
 Mr. Calder reviewed, as in previous addresses, the war record of the Union Government, which, he said, had fulfilled its mandate to carry on the war to a successful finish.

Soldier Settlement.
 The Premier was given a splendid reception. The work of soldiers' land settlement was reviewed briefly by Mr. Meighen by special request, he said: "We had to blame the trail," commented the Premier, "but after two years they saw, as a result, 'the biggest land settlement scheme in the civilized world with more practical results than secured by all other countries put together that attempted this work."

ST. JOHN, N. B. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1926.

FARMERS AND THE TARIFF

The Monetary Times declares that the towns and cities of Canada have for the past forty years imposed a tariff upon an unwilling country. There is nothing in the political history of Canada to justify any such statement. In 1878 a majority of Canadian farmers supported the National Policy. In 1882 they voted overwhelmingly to continue the first Conservative tariff. Indeed, it is doubtful if in any election since protection was adopted a majority of the farmers have voted against the tariff as maintained by Conservative and Liberal governments.

Possibly in 1881, when free trade with the United States was the Liberal policy, there was a fairly even division of rural opinion. But in the elections which followed, the publication of Hon. Edward Blake's letter to his constituents in West Durham, in which he exposed the commercial and political tendencies of unrestricted reciprocity, it was almost impossible to elect a Liberal candidate. So the Laurier government throughout its whole history had strong rural support. While it is true that that government established the British preference, it is just as certain that the tariff was not materially reduced. After a few years of trial even the British preference was relinquished to us to protect Canadian industries from dangerous British competition.

It will be remembered, too, that in the trade agreement with Washington in 1911 there was practically no reduction of customs duties on manufactures, although reductions probably would have followed if the agreement had gone into effect. In that contest Quebec gave a majority for Laurier, as it did in many contests, but no one seriously argues that Quebec is against protection. Only in Saskatchewan and Alberta have the farmers ever pronounced decisively against protection, and even those provinces gave a majority for the Laurier tariff in successive elections. British Columbia is as protectionist as Ontario or Quebec, while never since 1878 have the Atlantic Provinces given a clear verdict against the tariffs of Conservative or Liberal governments.

It has to be remembered also that the cities are grossly under-represented as compared with the farming communities. One vote in a city constituency counts for half or less than half a vote in the average rural riding. In many elections since 1878 the country would have polled at least two-thirds of its total vote in favor of protection if the cities had enjoyed representation at Ottawa equal to that possessed by the farming population. The Monetary Times, therefore, wholly ignores the facts of history when it suggests that the towns and cities of Canada have imposed the tariff upon an unwilling country.

THE "UNHECKLED" MR. KING

Hon. Mackenzie King says that no one heckled him in the West. That is because he gave nobody a chance. Orators who have nothing but words, words, words to offer their hearers escape heckling. The man who ventures to say something is the one who is heckled, and even he will not be heckled unless his opinions are robust enough, as well as distinct enough, to attract to his meetings people who do not agree with him. Mr. King may have interested some who were politically opposed to him, but he gave them no occasion to interrupt him with challenges of his statements.

What crowd would heckle a man who, as the Mail and Empire says, "talks about the long-awaited triumph of Liberal principles," who declares that "all that is needed to secure the triumph and education of Liberal principles is co-ordination or unification of effort on the part of all progressive groups?" The crowd would feel that he was talking more to the purpose if he would tell them precisely what course he considered to be consistent with the Liberal principles he so often falls back upon as rhetorical resource. They would like him to say what tariff scheme he has for co-ordinating and unifying effort on the part of all progressive groups. But it takes courage as well as political grasp for a leader to come forward with a clearest policy.

Mr. King seems to think dignity is more important quality than courage. He told his Yorkton audience that he does not consider the Prime Minister to be enhancing the dignity of the Dominion by facing audiences which are so frankly critical of them.

Mr. Naigheon errs, in Mr. King's judgment, by not straightforwardly adding his colors to the mast and year would know enough for the purpose. But the Globe's article yesterday afternoon emphasizes once again the great need there is for some legal censorship.

A little more "padding" and the Reverend Mr. Spracklin will soon become as renowned a celebrity as the late lamented Mr. MacSwiney. There is just this difference between the two men, however. MacSwiney took his own life, but Spracklin was careful to take another man's.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Disagree With MacKenzie King.
 (Regina Post.)
 Most of the country will support Mr. Hanna in his effort to keep C. N. R. employees out of politics. It may be hard in individual cases, but it will be of considerable advantage to the Government railways.

Better Than Fighting.
 (Kingston Whig.)
 It is said that Roosevelt will take a referendum to see whether or not she will retain the monarchy or establish a republic. This is a new way of settling the question, and one quite preferable to the old.

Fortunately.
 (Calgary Herald.)
 The Meighen government policy is to do everything possible to aid and turn men to help themselves. Some returned men find fault with this policy. Fortunately they are but a small minority of the whole veteran body.

The Waste of Bad Roads.
 (Minneapolis Daily News.)
 Minnesota people will spend more than sixty-five million dollars this year in buying automobiles. How much of that staggering amount is wasted because roads are unfit for motor travel? And for the same reason, how much is lost by the people of the state because the freight which now overburdens the railroads cannot be diverted to motor trucks?

Birds Discriminate Quickly.
 (Hamilton Times.)
 The Hamilton Bird Club will be interested in learning that at the bird sanctuary in Grey County it has been found that safety and suitable nesting places will invariably attract birds. The provision of safety requires protection from enemies, including the farmer and his dog. In this case, the Ontario Government assisted the owners by putting up notices, in the autumn of 1917, forbidding all shooting on the property. The sagacious Canadian goose has also come to know Jack Albert's place, and now thousands of these birds stop at every season.

 They wear with the cowslip called

 And when they've used them they grow

 And if you look when they think you've

 Perhaps you'll see them trying them on.

We was eating breakfast this morning and pop sed, O by the way, mother, I'm going to bring a customer home for supper tonight but you won't have to bother getting anything special because he's a dyspeptic and hardly eats a thing but he's a queer duck and he won't give me an order unless I show him a lot of attention.

And when he came home this afternoon there was some skinny looking man with him named Mr. Boggs, and we went in the dining room and started to eat supper, being veal and stuffing under thick gravy and peech pie for dessert, Mr. Boggs saying, Now you people go ahead and eat, I'll just have some hot milk and eat my gram crackers with it if you don't mind.

And he took some gram crackers out of his pocket all rapped up in tissue paper and I ate a hole plateful of veal and stuffing under thick gravy and then I passed my plate for another plateful, Mr. Boggs saying, O my goodness, is he going to eat another entire dose of that?

O chaps mild for him, you must come some time when we have something he's really fond of, sed ma.

I don't think I could stand it, sed Mr. Boggs. And he kept on drinking his hot milk and taking little bites out of his gram crackers like a imitation of a bird and kept on looking at me still eating, wick after I finished I sed, I haven't trackly had enuff but I want to leave room for my peech pie, can I have it now, ma? I sed, Wich ma cut me a slice saying, Thats all the pie there is for you, so eat it accordingly.

Wich I did, eating it slow to make it look as if it was taking longer, and then I sed, Well if I cant have any more pie, ma, can I have some more veal and stuffing and gravy, I still feel a pritty big of a space. Wich Mr. Boggs quick got up saying, O horrors, I cant stand any more and drank them with water, took 2 pills out of a little bottle and drank them with water, saying, My stomach cant stand siles like that without soda mints, ware did I leave my hat?

Wich Mr. Boggs, we haven't had a chance to talk bizness yet, sed pop, and Mr. Boggs sed, May be we never will.

And he went, and I had to go to bed sety. Proving how the innocent suffer.

 Little Eleanor gazed long and thoughtfully at the young man who was calling on her grown-up sister Kate. "May I climb up on your knee, Mr. Greene?" Commercial Club Annual Meeting

Large Attendance Last Evening—C. H. Peters President.

An analysis of the results of the first year's application of the Club efforts, probably did not, in the least, measure, meet either your expectations. In this connection it is only fair to weigh certain facts, while unexcused, did not, to a very great extent prevent more successful execution of the Club's efforts.

In the selection of most important subjects for consideration by the Executive no doubt selected most urgent.

For years the citizens of St. John have recognized the need of a modern hotel. The need is no greater than ever. A committee appointed and after several months with leading transportation hotel interests, a course of procedure was decided upon in order to see St. John a new and modern hotel of sufficient capacity to meet its requirements. It is to be regretted that the anticipations of the members of the Commercial Club in this respect were not realized as yet, but a complete statement regarding the realization, has been made and doubt received your kindest wishes. That the delay in starting St. John a new and up-to-date hotel is only a temporary one, should opinion of this Club, and the experience serve as an incentive, pressing upon the officials, in a future campaign, the necessity of affording the members of the Club an opportunity to more fully cooperate.

The Athletic Committee, with approval of the Executive and membership of the Club was recently organized as The Athletic Association of the Commercial Club of St. John.

Clean athletics deserve all the praise possible by any community because of a most valuable asset in creating thereby, through the development of healthy minds and affording opportunities for solving the laboring time problem which looms up today as a large labor problem.

The results from the efforts of the Athletic Association in stimulating athletic interest, through the must be a source of great pride for the officials and members who have performed the duty assigned them.

That the association is deserving congratulations from the club membership, and is entitled to all support and co-operation which it deserves, but if any members should be termed a personal opinion.

Housing

The Housing Committee has about appreciated by this time the subject assigned to it, is a considerable magnitude, through the must be exercised in securing five results.

This committee is expected to solve the housing problem, to furnish signs for sanitary and economic houses, and to promote their construction, having in mind the loss which occurs from the construction of low cost buildings, increase the fire hazard, and crowding, which tends to foster disease and crime. As a preliminary all this work is the compilation of a building code.

It would appear, that there are many opportunities for the application of much study and effort in solving the problem, but if an entire report of this committee, to be prepared to you, will no doubt fully the amount of progress which has been made, and be satisfactory to the members of the club.

The combination of these subjects, while to some extent overlapping would appear as a pretty large program for one committee.

In the three I assume that the committee has received the amount of attention, but this is only founded upon the amount of work which has been done, and is not intended as a detail of the main objective in view, to give you a better place to live in might be opportune to suggest that the committee apply some of the funds secured, better instruction in street railway service, make some study of the transportation. If transportation of the may be included, as a detail subject, the Telephone Company should be included.

The report of this committee no doubt, contain further and information, which I am expected to furnish as it would passing upon the property of the club.

In an attempt to make St. John a better place to live in, and consideration for the desire of the community, I deem it preferable to refer to the Legislative of Mans Co-operation.

There are very obvious limitations to the customary efforts of the club, to improve conditions. One of the most serious limitations, of course is the bodies are not expressive of the community, but only of its more elements.

While they are, as yet, the most effective organizations their communities, they speak for the advancement of the and only secondarily for the benefit of general welfare. While that definite community results from the general civic

Commercial Club Annual Meeting

Large Attendance Last Evening—C. H. Peters Chosen President.

An analysis of the results achieved from the first year's application of Club efforts, probably did not, in the fullest measure, meet either or all of your expectations. In this connection it is only fair to weigh certain conditions, which were unforeseen, and obtain, and to a very great extent prevented a more successful evaluation of the Club's efforts.

In the selection of most important subjects for consideration by the Club, the Executive no doubt selected the most urgent.

For years the citizens of St. John have recognized the need of a new and modern hotel. The need today is greater than ever. A committee was appointed and after several conferences with leading transportation and hotel interests, a course of procedure was decided upon in order to secure to St. John a new and modern hotel of sufficient capacity to meet its requirements. It is to be regretted that the anticipations of the members of The Commercial Club in this respect have not been realized as yet, but a full and complete statement regarding conditions which obtained and prevented the realization, has been made and no doubt received your kindest consideration.

The Athletic Committee, with the approval of the Executive and general membership of the Club was subsequently organized as The Athletic Association of The Commercial Club of St. John.

Clean athletics deserve all the patronage possible by any community, because of a most valuable asset accruing thereto, through the development of healthy minds and bodies, and affording opportunities for recreation, which will materially assist in solving the leisure time problem, which looms up today as large as the labor problem.

The results from the efforts of The Athletic Association in stimulating amateur athletics through the season, must be a source of great pleasure for the officials and members who so diligently performed the duties assigned them.

That the association is deserving of congratulations from the club membership, and is entitled to all the support and co-operation which can be rendered it in the future should not be termed a personal opinion.

Housing
The Housing Committee has no doubt appreciated by this time that the subject assigned to it, is of considerable magnitude, and devolution must be exercised in securing effective results.

This committee is expected to study the housing problem, to furnish designs for sanitary and economical houses, and to promote their construction, having in mind the economic loss which occurs from the construction of low cost buildings, which increase the fire hazard, and overcrowding, which tends to foster disease and crime. As a preliminary to all this work is the compilation of a modern building code.

It would appear, that there are opportunities for the application of much study and effort in solving this problem, but I am sure that the report of this committee, to be presented to you, will no doubt fully express the amount of progress which has been made, and be satisfactory to you.

Manufacturing and Transportation
The combination of these three subjects, while to some extent co-related, would appear as a pretty large order for one committee to handle.

Of the three I assume that Transportation has received the greater amount of attention, but this assumption is only founded upon the fact, that I have not seen the complimentary remarks passed upon efforts made to secure improved accommodation by the C. N. R.

Also the interest expressed in improved harbor facilities by the street mass meeting, and presentation to Dr. Barnhill of a resolution pertaining to the necessary harbor improvements and the securing of photographs describing the congested conditions obtaining both in railway yards and harbor conveniences and which were exhibited throughout Canada, having the main objective in view, "to make St. John a better place to live in" it might be opportune to suggest, that this committee apply some effort towards securing better intercommunication in street railway service, and make some study of the transit situation.

If transportation of the voice may be included, as a detail of the subject, the Telephone Company might be included.

The report of this committee will no doubt contain further and detailed information, which I am not expected to furnish as it would be trespassing upon the property of such report.

In an attempt to make St. John a better place to live in, and having due consideration for the desire of this Club, to promote the general welfare of the community, I deem it proper to refer to The Legislative of Business Mens Co-operation.

There are very obvious limitations to the customary efforts of commercial bodies to improve community conditions. One of the most important limitations, of course is that these bodies are not expressive of the entire community, but only of the business element.

While they are, as yet, generally the most effective organizations of their communities, they speak primarily for the advancement of business, and only secondarily for the promotion of general welfare. While it is true that definite community benefit results from the general civic activity of business men's organizations, it is equally true that the non-commercial aspects of civic service receive only incidental attention at their hands.

A complete community program cannot be framed, merely by dealing with a city's physical equipment, or by initiating the progressive steps taken by other communities.

If there is one thing more necessary than any other in public affairs in St. John today, it is that the people shall try to become as well acquainted with what goes on at City Hall as they are with what transpires at Fredericton or Ottawa.

Thousands of citizens who follow every detail of Provincial or Federal administration are content to remain in ignorance of civic affairs.

Usually commercial bodies give more attention to what a city government does, than to how it does it. More pressure is applied to extending services and to introducing new practices, than to tending up present positions of the work, and expressing and promoting efficiency in existing activities.

While the Commercial Club is non-political, it must not be construed as being political when interesting itself in civic affairs and it might not be considered as untimely to suggest, that now is the accepted time.

As a basis for constructive work, civic organizations and the public should have information regarding the economic problems confronting the wage-earning population in order that city health work and public education may not be negated by the inability of any considerable number of citizens to maintain decent living conditions and to find fully continuous employment. No private business men should be permitted to enjoy the benefits of community expenditure for public improvements which exploits his employees through underpayment or unwholesome working conditions.

Business men, therefore, who seek to better their communities must see to it that they themselves do not manufacture conditions which no amount of governmental efficiency or public expenditure can overcome.

That the Club is not possessed of the means for disseminating knowledge of its purposes and general information regarding the accomplishment of similar organizations, is I believe, detrimental to its best interests, and in direct contradiction of methods pursued by other and successful Commercial Clubs.

In commencing operations the Club had a bulletin, the publication of which was discontinued for a short time. The expense was considered and the bulletin discontinued.

The office and committee room quarters as provided for the Club are not satisfactory, but probably were the best available at the time they were needed. The matter of a change or a decision in regard to existing expenditures for improvements in case of removal will be arrived at in the near future.

Attendance at meetings and the application of the rules and the penalties governing this matter is worthy of very serious consideration.

If the Club is to justify its existence, the mere fact of membership is not enough. It is the small change of the very ordinary type of aristocracy.

I did not come to the Commercial Club to spend one or two years of my time in being a figure-head for the office, and having only such responsibility as attaches to notices and minutes. I came intending to and am willing to give all the time necessary if supported in a clear-cut, unequivocal and proper manner in any opportunity to bring about economic and social reforms which this community stands desperately in need of, but under no other condition.

With the opportunity for our young on growing less instead of greater, so that they are forced to go away to avoid dry-rot, with the city in desperate need of underlining in every branch of its activities to catch up with its competitors, we have been, in the past, cheerfully and faithfully dispensing our energies. Enthusiasm and individual selfishness precludes any other proposition, than that involving a percentage of profit to those sensitized. They are the small change of the very ordinary type of aristocracy.

there will be no half way, or let the other fellow do it, support extended. A suggestion that speakers be furnished for each meeting of the Club in the future might be considered by a committee appointed for that purpose.

To the officials who piloted this craft through the currents of its first year tides, and which at times did threaten to capsize or founder the craft, and especially to the Vice-President and Past Secretary who gave freely of their time in launching the craft, are due your most favorable commendations.

In conclusion permit me to thank the officers and members of this club for the courtesy extended me during my tenure of office, and to my assistants who have efficiently performed their respective duties, and express the hope that The Commercial Club during the ensuing year, in its various endeavors, may prove sufficiently effective, and to introduce new practices, than to tending up present positions of the work, and expressing and promoting efficiency in existing activities.

Respectfully submitted,
H. R. McLELLAN,
Secretary

Athletic Committee.

The report of the Athletic Committee showed that six general meetings had been held. The first proposition was to get a professional ball team and entering it in the New England League. The committee got opinions on several sites for grounds, had practically an option on the nucleus of a team that was dropping out of the New England League; but as this league was not organized, the baseball proposition had to be dropped.

The committee had donated a cup for the City Amateur Championship; and this cup had been won by St. Peter's. The question of an arena was looked into carefully. Plans and estimates were got to the cost of a suitable building, and possible sites looked up, but in view of certain conditions, the matter had to be allowed to stand. An effort had been made to get the Drill Hall for skating and hockey purposes, but owing to the large amount of material in this building, the matter had to be abandoned.

The sum of $10,000 had been granted by the City Council for the building of the Allison Field at Rockwood Park.

A series of rowing races had been held in July, in August, and the prospectus was completed by the holding of a marlin championship in September.

Action was also being taken with a view to possibly having a bonspiel here next winter.

Auditor's Report.
The auditor's report showed that the total receipts for the year amounted to $5,276.57, and disbursements to $5,246.10, leaving a balance of cash on hand and in bank of $30.47. Out of a gross membership of 407, some forty have automatically resigned owing to non-payment of fees.

The Housing Committee was of the opinion that St. John must provide suitable houses, flats and apartments to meet the demand of a transient population, and also recommended that some plan be adopted to make the paying of house building more easily possible.

The Manufacturing, Industrial and Transportation Committee reported the question of hydro-electrical development had received very attention;

The Canadian Fisher will take tourists on five weeks trips between Halifax and the West Indies. It was announced today.

Several matters of train service in and out of St. John, such as a Sunday service between here and Moncton, had been improved upon as the result of its action. This committee also pointed out the need of repairs to the river wharves.

The Affiliation Committee reported that as a result of which, a fund of $3,000 had been secured for the Boy Scouts' Association of New Brunswick.

A. M. Belding, in presenting his committee's report, cited conditions existing with boys and girls of this city; and gave the record of the case of a boy who appeared in Court fifteen times and was now in Dorchester. A probation system and establishment of a Juvenile Court were recommended.

NO ATTEMPT TO LAND NEW CABLE ON U. S. SHORES

Navy Department at Washington Much Disturbed Over Rumor of New Plans.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The United States Navy Department today advised the commandant at Key West, Fla., that there was a report that another effort would be made soon to land a submarine cable from Barbadoes at Miami, Fla., without an executive permit.

The Western Union Telegraph and Cable Company has sought to land a cable from Barbadoes to Miami, but the United States State Department has withheld a decision as to granting a permit pending the conclusion of the International Communications Conference now in session here.

Naval officers would not discuss the report that led to the instructions to the commandant at Key West. The commandant at Key West will determine whether it will be necessary to send warships to Miami. The Navy has one or two submarine chasers there now. It was announced at the navy department.

Nothing in Story
New York, Nov. 12.—G. W. E. Atkins, first vice-president of the Western Union in the absence of Newcomb Carlton, president today denied that the company soon would attempt to land a submarine cable from Barbadoes at Miami, Fla., without executive authority.

THE LONG SHADOW OF A MAN

WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

The International Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 14 is "The Power and Authority of Jesus," Matthew 9 and 10.

What a long shadow a life may cast! Here we gather, millions of us, under prolonged personality of a Roman Centurion who lived and died almost two thousand years ago. The immortality of his deeds is surely a sobering thought. Once I took a Belgian soldier, who had helped me in an emergency in Russia, to call upon John Wannemaker, more than a year later I learned that this personal contact with the great American merchant had become the glowing promise level in the treasure-house of my friend's experience. Mr. Wannemaker doubtless straightway forgot his friendly, inspiring greeting, and his gift of a book; but he had provided his personality into far-distant Belgium and into unmeasured years.

The editor of the most widely read and influential magazine in the world looks on the cleared, flat-topped desk, a silver-framed photograph of his father, who was a Christian minister. This editor wields great power, and the highest among men, even to governments seek his favor in honorable ways, many causes and persons endeavor to affect his policies; but all the while dominant and abiding influence upon him is the remembered man who daily looks out at his son from his desk as he toils. The father was a great preacher and leader when alive, yet who would deny that his greatest work is at present being done through his son, upon whose ideals and service, his shaping guiding hand is still laid? The closest disciples who spoke of thousands, is now casting the prolonged shadow of his personality upon the uttermost parts of the earth. He is a father to the Roman Centurion of our Lesson, who has been a force for faith for many centuries.

In the Roman's Trials
No one person ever does a completed work, yet is able to measure the sphere or scope of his service. There are prosperous business men working in Sunday School today in whom this labor of love is but incidental to the activities which cross their time; and who would freely say that their success is in making money or in building up a business. Nevertheless, by the test of years, it may appear that their real service to the world, although unguessed of them, is the influence they are exerting upon plastic young life. The shattering shadows of their characters are lengthening in ways they know not.

Peculiarly is this true of a parent and a teacher. They live again in lives they have affected. Their own convictions and characters are multiplied over and over, in generations and circles far beyond the reach of their expectations or intention. The nameless Roman Centurion of old Capernaum did not for an instant imagine that his faith, his broadness and his reverence would enrich centuries and continents far beyond the reach of imperial Rome.

Of central interest in the ruins of Capernaum, today, as many of us know from personal observation, is the ancient synagogue presumably the very one built for the Jews by this liberal and reverent Roman. Most of the triumphal arches and mansions, and all the palaces, erected by emperors and senators and other ancient dignitaries have been sunken by the gnawing tooth of time, but the Capernaum synagogue, built in a broad spirit of good will and service, today survives, along with the deathless story of our Lesson, as a memorial to a soldier who lived at his best.

A Model Master
"Social service" may be a new name, but the thing for which it stands is as old as the nobility of human nature. This nameless Roman centurion of the metropolis of Galilee has a sick slave. As an alert man, aware of all the significant news of the day, he had heard of the ministry of Jesus. So he sought the service of the Good Physician for the healing of his retainer. He was a genuine philanthropist, interested in large matters of public beneficence, but no less interested in the needs of the lowliest individuals closest to him. There were no strikes or rebellions among this class's workers, we may be sure.

With the keen eye of a trained observer of men, he saw that Jesus was genuine. He knew he could call upon Him for service. As a man of authority himself, he had respect for authority, and he paid unique tribute to the greatness of the Master by the form of his request, and by asking only for a word of healing—he professed himself unworthy to call for the personal presence of Jesus. This fine spirit of reverence and consideration is of the very fibre of greatness. His significance needs driving home to a generation which justly and justifiably declares itself "as good as anybody else"—if not a little better. Respect for one's superiors is a virtue that is not fashionable in the twentieth century. What a thrill this centurion with the thoroughbred Roman gentleman must have given to Jesus! Here was an understanding heart. Amid all the inconsiderateness and selfishness of the rabble by whom He was surrounded, there came this rare instance of tactful appreciation, reverence and overwhelming faith. Of course the Master healed the servant. His own sore heart had been given healing by the conduct of the centurion.

All four of the Roman centurions recorded in the New Testament contrast favorably with the dignitaries of the Jewish organization. There was Cornelius, the praying centurion to whom Peter sent word with the gospel for the Gentiles. Paul, the gentlemanly escort of Paul the prisoner; this Capernaum centurion, and the one at the cross who testified, "Truly, this was the Son of God!"
Religion Outside The Church.
Narrow sectarianism received a tremendous rebuke when Jesus healed the son of this Roman ad-greater than any that had been shown by God's chosen people themselves. Jesus had looked the Jews in the face; instead, He found it in Rome. Judaism had an elaborate wrought-iron casement; but the level for which it was made was outside. We are led to wonder whether the priceless pearl of faith can ever be confined in any structure or organization of men's devising.

Even the visible Church does not hold all of religion. "Other sheep have I which are not of this fold," said the Lord. "One of the deeper phenomena of our own day" is the amount of real reverence and spirituality and faith to be found outside all ecclesiastical organizations. Questing hearts, with an unshakable confidence in the existence and goodness of God, are seeking Him by many avenues, having failed to find Him to their satisfaction in available churches.

Obviously, more vital type of religion—a truer proclamation of the Christian message and a simple exemplification of the Christian character—is the need of the Church herself. The most devout disciples are the first to confess this. Until the breath of God has blown into the smoldering embers of Christian devotion we shall continue to witness the rebuke of having men and women seek for their living Jehovah outside of His Church. What Jesus said about the centurion's faith was a fact about Israel as well as about the Roman soldier.

Since our world is so full of pilgrims after God, who pass the doors of the churches, we Christians should walk softly and charitably and in constant self-examination, without a shred of arrogance. This is no time for self-righteousness or censoriousness. The Church's only concern is to know how she may better make known the true God to the world, so that all seekers may find Him Whom to know is life. For Jesus so made the Father known by His works and by His word.

A Leader For Democracy.
During the early days of the revolution in Russia I often heard a stereotyped phrase from the lips of English-speaking Russian aristocrats, and from foreign diplomats, when alluding to the workman and peasant. "Two years later in Cairo I heard exactly the same words over and over at the demonstrating Egyptians by British officers and civil servants—"Damn swine! Damn swine!" Not a clean garment. It revealed, though, the state of mind which caused the revolutions. Failure to enter sympathetically into the spirit and needs of the masses had ever been the cardinal defect of aristocracy. The Jewish sanhedrin displayed it when it snarled at Nicodemus when he feebly tried to champion Jesus. "This multitude is accursed!"

How a person views people is the test of his character, and also of his leadership. For leadership, Jesus went with compassion upon beholding the multitude. His heart ever beat in the needs of the mob. In this second part of our Lesson, we have the key to the question of Christ which made Him a leader in His own day and a Saviour for the whole world. Weymouth translates the central passage thus:—
"And when he saw the crowds He was touched with pity for them, because they were distressed and were fasting on the ground, like sheep which have no shepherd."

One of our modern poets depicts the Apostle Paul's similar attitude toward people:
"Oh! when the World is on me to deliver
Lifts the thudion and the truth lies bare:
Desert or throng, the city or the river,
Meets in a lucid Paradise of air."
"Only like souls I see the folk thereunder,
Bound who should be free,
Slaves who should be kings,
Fleeting their one hope with an empty wonder,
Sadly contented in a show of things."

"Then with a rush the intolerable craving
Slavers throughout me hits a trumpet-call—
Oh to save these! to perish for their saying,
Die for their life, be offered for them all!"
Selfishness and selfishness have blotted the world of today with blood and menace and a universal class struggle. Relief can come only through the spread of this spirit of Christ, which actuates loving mankind, and is full of yearning for their welfare. There can be no real leaders in the day's democracy who have not this passion for people. This is the touchstone for teacher and preacher and politician and editor, and for every other person who would serve his generation.

Love for folk is the bequest of Jesus to all who would be His disciples. The call of the Lesson, for laborers in an ever-wide harvest-field, may be translated into social and economic and political and industrial terms: our day needs men and women with the shepherd spirit.

GIVEN SCORPION BREAD INSTEAD OF BREAD

Methodist Ministers Praise Spracklin and Condemn Government and Citizens.

Cottam, Ont., Nov. 11.—At a meeting of the Methodist ministers and laymen of Windsor district, held here this afternoon, the following resolution was unanimously passed:
"That the Windsor district meeting of Methodist ministers and laymen assembled are greatly gratified in the speedy and authoritative justification of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin as touching the altogether regrettable tragedy in Sandwich. We deeply mourn the clash of law and order with lawlessness which culminated in the death of a fellow citizen, for whose bereaved relatives we have tender sorrow and unfeigned sympathy."
"We also express our abiding confidence in the Christian manhood, integrity and seal of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin in the exercise of his task assigned to him by the Government in guarding vital interests of the community at this critical juncture of provincial events."
"We regret the absence of hearty co-operation of many prominent citizens of the border cities, whose apathy or thirty-walled opposition has increased the peril of law enforcement."
"We impeach the legislative and executive bungling over the liquor legislation which has caused tragedies in our midst. A scorpion instead of bread is the guilty response to the prohibition of the liquor traffic."
"We summon loyalty and patriotism to the task of standing behind His Majesty's law and his duly appointed officers in the prosecution of lawless bootleggers and rum-runners, who are devoid of self-respect or civic virtue."

To sit still and contemplate—to remember the faces of women without desire, to be pleased by the great deeds of men without envy, to be everything and everywhere in sympathy, and yet content to remain where and what you are—is no little to know both wisdom and virtue, and to dwell with happiness.—Stevenson.

"My! How I did used to dread having the Threshers come—but I don't mind now."

WHY, a year ago I could no more think of cooking a big dinner than I could fly.

"I did not seem to have any strength then, and a little extra work or excitement would use me up for a week.

"The doctor said my nerves were weak and that I had nervous prostration. I was always worrying about something.

"It all looks very foolish now. But that is just the difference between being weak and strong.

"Why doesn't every woman use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when she gets run-down in health?

"But I suppose they do not all know about it or do not realize what it will do for them. Then perhaps some of them do not use it long enough to build up their exhausted nervous systems.

"One thing sure, the women of this community will know all about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for they know how miserable I was, and I will see that they know what I used to make me well.

"I certainly did get into a terribly run-down condition, but no one would believe it to see me now since using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can now take a real pleasure in life and its activities.

"And why shouldn't I? I sleep like a top, enjoy my meals and get outdoors where the fresh air and sunshine help to keep me feeling fine.

"I don't believe people appreciate good health until they have been sick for a time. I am sure that I did not. The credit for my splendid health now is undoubtedly due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I want every woman to know it."

The bride looked becoming as she entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lobengrin's Wedding March, beautifully rendered by Miss Effie Milton. The bride looked winsome in a suit of navy serge and fox fur with taupe picture hat. Immediately after the ceremony, and showers of confetti and rice, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon trip to New Brunswick. The best wishes of their many friends attend them for a long and happy married life.

PREMIER READY FOR CONTEST ON TARIFF PLANK

Crerar a Free Trader But No One Can Tell What King Wants.

HON. MR. MEIGHEN AT SASKATOON NOW

Government Takes up Challenge of Tariff and Willing to Fight Campaign.

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 12.—The Avenue Methodist church, the largest auditorium in Saskatoon, was packed tonight when the Prime Minister and Hon. J. A. Calder addressed the electors in this city. Hon. Arthur Meighen and his party preached Saskatoon this evening from Edmonton and left at midnight for Regina, where Saturday will be spent, and the electors of the provincial capital addressed.

Mr. Calder said that three years ago he did not understand the tariff question as well as he did at the present time, for the reason that he had never had occasion to study it. "I was," he said, "more or less of a parrot, just as other people are parrots. I got up in our legislature and advocated free fertilizers when I did not know the first thing about it and forty other members knew no more."

The Premier's View

The Prime Minister, who was given a very hearty reception, said he was prepared to talk tariff freely. Tariff, he said, had been made the issue by their foes, and the government took up the challenge. Fees of the government were divided into two camps, the farmers' party and the laborer under Mr. King, said the premier, ought to unite and should state if they can agree on one platform, but the labor leader, he said, was taking care they did not unite before an election.

"Mr. Crerar," said the premier, "denounces protection; but when members of the Farmers' Party argue out the question before the tariff commission, they say if protection is necessary they won't object." Mr. Meighen said British omissions appalled during the war had reported that every industry had been handicapped by the lack of protection in Great Britain. "If Great Britain," he said, "had not had her navy, which we should have been helping more to support (cheers), she never could have fed herself and her allies. Germany's protective principle enabled her to hold out; Germany was more self-contained."

Drugs Excite Your Kidneys, Use Salts

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

BOLSHIEVIKI PAY LARGE SUMS FOR PASSPORTS

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.)
Warsaw, Nov. 12.—American passports, particularly those issued to naturalized citizens, are worth $2500 to $3000 in gold in Bolshevist Russia, the value being determined by ability to detach the photographs, substitute others and send the new owners to Bolshevist agents.

As a result naturalized citizens who lose their passports in Poland and the Baltic states are now compelled to wait until Washington approves the issue of new documents. Previously the American legation at Warsaw issued the papers, but the rapid increase in the number of losses aroused suspicion. The new ruling is decreasing the total loss in passports.

ICE CREAM—A Real Food

During the past four years science and necessity have taught us many things about food. Some things we once thought indispensable as food, we have since found wholly unnecessary. Others we thought of only as luxuries, we have found are food necessities.

Ice Cream, a short time ago, was thought of and used only as a luxury, but during the war it was declared by the government to be an essential food. Science and actual experience in both home and hospital have proven it to be a necessary and very nourishing food. The cream and milk from which it is made contain growth-promoting and health-giving substances absolutely necessary to child growth and the health of all ages.

Ice Cream soothes and nourishes the sick back to health and strength, because it is so easily digested and so rich in food value. It strengthens and sustains the health of all ages, because it contains the element of food so necessary to health and strength. It puts color in the cheeks of youth and laughter in the eye of age. Eat more of it, ye young and old, because it is a real food, an all-year-round food.

District Nurses Would Be Valuable

Provincial Red Cross Executive Held Quarterly Meeting Yesterday.

The need of a number of District Nurses throughout the province was brought to the attention of the Provincial Red Cross executive at their quarterly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Provincial Government rooms. In the absence of the president, E. T. Hayes, Colonel MacLaren presided, and there were present from Fredericton Lady Ashburnham and Miss Kate Stewart.

Secretary's Report

Miss Ethel Jarvis submitted a report, which was in part, as follows: "The last month has shown a good deal of activity among the branches. In a large measure the visits of Miss Riddock during the summer, and also to the natural bucking down in the autumn to the winter work. Several branches have had their annual meeting and elected their new officers or retained their old ones for the coming year. Among these are the St. John Local Red Cross, who regrettably were obliged to accept the resignation of their war president, Mrs. John Meavily, who for so long a period has borne the great responsibility. They are, indeed, most fortunate in securing their new president, Mrs. Frank White, whose valuable experience in Red Cross work will prove of incalculable benefit. From Rothesay comes the word of their annual, and Mrs. John Thomson, fortunately for them, is still at the helm. Fredericton, too, has had their annual meeting and have decided to continue in their splendid work. We congratulate them in having organized the first Junior Red Cross Branch in the province. Already the children have achieved wonders under the competent guidance, Miss Kate Stewart, assisted by Lady Ashburnham and other members of their branch.

Requests Received

From Hexton has come a request for health charts for the schools, such as used by Miss Riddock. Chatham also would like them in their school. Newcastle has sent for suggestions for work, and from Jacquet River has come the same request. St. Stephen has sent inquiries concerning District and Victorian Order Nurses with a view to installing one of the other in the future.

Your secretary was privileged to visit Sackville, Riverview, Albert Co., and St. George. At Sackville Mrs. Lawrence and Dr. Roberts were present. The visitors went at invitation of the mayor and all addressed a meeting in the interests of a projected hospital and state of health matters in general and the present work of Red Cross. We were most gratefully and kindly received.

At Riverview Miss Riddock and your secretary were the only visitors. Their hospital is nearing completion, and too much praise cannot be given Albert Co. for the thoroughness and completeness of their plans. We met the hospital board and addressed a large and interested audience. We met with much kindness, particularly from E. B. Jones and family, whose guests we were during our stay.

Your secretary accompanied Mrs.

H. Lawrence and Mrs. Riddock to St. George. We met the ladies of the Red Cross and were delighted with their activity. They were most anxious to see a hospital in their midst and spoke of many instances of the great need. We addressed a meeting in connection with Red Cross matters and the proposed hospital.

Appeal From Headquarters

The chief work on hand is the appeal from headquarters. For various reasons we were not able to complete the arrangements this week, but your secretary has sent to all the branches a circular letter asking them to at once organize and enlist the sympathy of other societies. Literature was also sent to the different branches on the subject. At the request of head office letters are being sent to all clergy throughout the province.

A very splendid gift was given last month to the Red Cross in the shape of an adjustable chair, given by Wm. Brodie in memory of his mother. This chair was handed over to the Military Hospital Committee.

Told of Visits

Miss Bertha Riddock told of her visits through the province, saying that in many places a district nurse could do wonderful work, both in caring for the sick and in their education. She recommended clinics for dental, mental and cure of defects, more health teaching in the schools, thus leading to the establishment of hospitals. Four communities are considering supporting a district nurse, two have asked for one to be sent by branches are carrying on, eight have reorganized, seven are considering reforming, six will answer Red Cross calls, and one new branch has been formed.

The secretary told of a message received from Mrs. Allen Dyart, of Buctouche regarding a district nurse, asking if the Red Cross would finance one for a year and stating that patients would pay what they could for her services. C. B. Allan told of the system as worked out at Toronto and its success, and Mrs. Kahring spoke of how valuable the nurses' work is in Manitoba.

Miss Kate Stewart, organizing secretary of the Junior Red Cross societies are a power in the other provinces spreading health education as well as assisting in child welfare work. It is expected that Alberta will have 1,000 branches this year.

Hospital Committee

For the Hospital Committee, Mrs. Anglin read a splendid report telling of the work of Mrs. Eille, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Bonnell, Miss Payson, Mrs. Duddy, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Barbour. Drives have been given at a cost

AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

There are just three kinds of marriages. A few are ideally happy. But most marriages are merely "uncomfortable." That is the theory of Mr. W. L. George. And isn't he right—oh, isn't he right! Ask any average wife—or husband. We know, we know, WE KNOW!

Love does not die, half so often, from a violent stab as from a thousand little pin-pricks. Nor from a great disillusionment as from a million little disappointments. Of course, every woman prays to be "ideally happy." But she can endure being tragically and passionately miserable. (There is, at least, some consolation in feeling sorry for herself.) It's being drably, dully, stupidly, eternally UNCOMFORTABLE, that it's so deadly!

Never to be able to do exactly what you want, as you want. Nor to have exactly what you want when you WANT it! Never to be able to retire when you like, get up when you want to, eat when you're hungry, mope when you're sad, or laugh when you're gay!

Always and forever to be subject to some other human-being's will, moods, tempers, tastes, and prejudices! Never to put on a new frock or a new hat or a new shade of face-powder, without the fear of somebody's disapproval or criticism.

Nor to serve a meal without a chigger at the thought that something may be forgotten, or overlooked, or overcooked.

Never to be able to SAY what you think, to be frank or amusing or confidential, without starting an argument.

Nor to have a cosy, chummy, interesting conversation. But always to have to keep up a running monologue, to an accompaniment of grunts and monosyllables.

THAT'S what an "uncomfortable marriage" means to a woman! And, to a man, it means— Never to be able to spend a perfectly quiet evening, without being chattered at, or "hoovered" over.

Never to be able to come down to breakfast without the painful foreboding that you are going to be asked for "more money" or confronted with a bill.

Never to be able to glance at a pretty woman, without being accused of "mental infidelity."

Never to be able to enjoy a nice, quiet grouch, or a good round swear, or a smelly old pipe.

Or to go without a shave, or put your feet on the divan and your ashes on the rug, without a debate or a scrap.

Never to be able to overeat, or to sneeze, or to go out in the rain, without being followed around with admonitions and a hot water-bag!

Never to be able to stay down town or at the golf club for dinner, without calling up and "reporting"—like a policeman!

Oh Lord, what a normal servitude we make of marriage! When we COULD so easily make it a heavenly refuge of mutual comfort.

Just by letting each other ALONE! By minding our own business! By having as much regard for one another's personal liberty, as we have for one another's co-ownership and one another's naphkin.

THAT'S what makes marriage a prison—instead of a privilege. A wrestling-match—instead of a rest-cure. An atrocity—instead of a delectable feast.

A purgatory—instead of a Paradise. Yes, verily, if I could write the Ten Commandments of Matrimony, the first NINE would be, "Mind your own business!" "And the tenth would be—'Partn' errip—'not ownship!'"

The Fall Weather

Hard On Little Ones

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Insist on Windmill Barbados Super-Fancy Molasses

WHY insist? Because that is the only SURE way to get the best Barbados in all its goodness! The market is flooded with stuff in cans and other worthless substitutes for Barbados. You must have wondered what had become of the old-time Barbados. The trouble was simply this. The refineries took the high-priced sugar out of the cane syrup and the refuse was sold you as Molasses,—or blended with glucose and chemicals. No wonder it was little use as a "sweetener", and lacked flavor! But in "Windmill" Brand you can get

The Real Genuine Barbados

And it Costs no More than Common Molasses, Blends and compounds.

The old reliable planters of Barbados have united for the purpose of delivering for sale in Canada the PUREST whole-sugar Barbados. We call it "Windmill" Brand, because in the Islands, the ripest cane was originally crushed by the old windmill process, securing just the finest of the juice for concentrating in the old-fashioned, open copper kettles.

All that is good in 100 pounds of cane goes into the making of one gallon of "Windmill" Barbados. Nothing is added—nothing is taken away but water!

We guarantee Windmill to be absolutely pure and highest grade Barbados Molasses.

Never sold in sealed containers. It is too full of life for that. Buy any quantity you wish, but be sure it is Windmill Brand, drawn from the barrel shown below.

Kindly Deeds Make Happy Lives

Dear Little Friends:—I have told you, for the benefit of our out-of-town members, about the many lovely pigeons which inhabit our King Square in the city of St. John. Most any time during the day you can see dozens of these beautiful birds strutting about as if they were just for your special use.

Answers to Letters

RAY L.—So pleased to get your nice letter and to hear all about your pet. It must be interesting to care for so many kinds and train them all to do tricks. Of course there is danger in over-feeding animals, just as there is in little boys over-feeding themselves.

GLADYS R.—So you were pleased with the new contest too. It seems to be very popular already, and so you say "yes" appeal to all. Glad you are able to begin your music again and now you must practice well to catch up the lost time.

STELLA G.—You write a very nice little letter, though short and sweet. Hope to learn more about yourself in the next one.

JIM R.—Do not be too anxious for the winter to begin, think of those who find it hard to keep warm and also of the many birds and animals who must often be hungry during the winter. No doubt the skating will last long enough to give you a good time. Hope to hear again soon.

NEED G.—Your description of Halloween is so very funny and you must have had a real old-fashioned good time. It always pays to dress up and look ridiculous if you want folks to have a laugh and then the fun begins. Enjoyed your letter and will hope for more.

MAY S.—You are quite a stranger to the C. E. I think, and it was good to know you hadn't forgotten an entirely. Of course your studies do take up most of the spare moments and are very necessary. How nice that you are progressing so well in school and I too hope the marks for the fall papers will bring you good results.

GERALD B.—Having been in the woods so many hunting trips you must have thought the Tree Contest was for your special benefit. Anyway, I am glad you like it, and good luck to your efforts. Hope your school will open soon, it is a pity to miss such valuable time.

MILDRED L.—Your nice letter reached me in good time, pleased to hear from you again, and to hear the good news of your school opening. You will need to be very studious, so as to catch up for valuable time lost. Yes, the weather is more frosty, but the snow flakes we have had in the city melted as soon as they struck the earth. Always enjoy hearing from you.

RETA M. T.—Thanks for your appreciation. I am well repaid when your name in the birthday list inspires you to write such a nice letter. Indeed, I should like to have seen that flower garden of yours. After all your care you deserved to have such pretty blooms. Time is never so valuable that the letters from the little friends have to be neglected in any way, so do not hesitate to write often.

ANDREW G. E.—So glad that you are glad about our new contest. Of course it would appeal to you living among such beautiful trees and as sure you will do your best with your drawing. How well you are doing with your school work and yet have time for the necessary romps and games. Both are needed to develop an all-round good fellow.

CONTEST NOTES.—Very encouraging indeed are the results of our Tree Contest thus far. Already many very fine drawings have been received and there are many days left in which to enter the competition. It is to be hoped that every member will make an attempt at least of proving how great a talent they possess. It is true that all cannot win prizes, but there will be a list of those deserving honorable mention printed with the prize winners, so that many will know how their work compares with that of the deserving ones. Take time to make your drawings as artistic, true and neat as possible, and then forward them along with your letters to—

What is Good? (John Boyle O'Reilly.) "What is the real good?" I asked in a musy mood. Order, said the law court; Knowledge, said the school; Truth, said the wise man; Pleasure, said the fool; Love, said the maiden; Beauty, said the page; Freedom, said the drummer; Honor, said the soldier; Fame, said the seer; Spade my heart full sadly; "The answer is not here." Then within my bosom Softly this I heard: "Each heart holds the secret; Kindness is the word."

A TALKING CROW

By Ila Clark. Several years ago a small boy living in a village not far from St. Thomas, Ontario, caught a young crow, split its tongue, and christened it "Joe". In a short time Joe could talk quite plainly and intelligently. The boy's home was next to the school, and Joe's favorite position was the lofty bough of a maple tree situated near the entrance to the school grounds. He soon became a general favorite with the school children, and was necessarily talking to them, generally to their extreme delight, but sometimes to their discomfort. In the mornings it apparently afforded him the greatest pleasure to call from his high perch, "You're late! You're late!" His tone of voice was a high-pitched treble very much like that of an old woman. This warning generally had the desired effect, especially upon the younger children, for they would unconsciously quicken their paces. Joe was always an interested on-looker and an enthusiastic rooster at the baseball games that took place at the school grounds. "That's a foul!" he would shriek. "Sure it is!" would come from the boy in the field. "Keep quiet," would come from the one at the bat; but to these commands Joe was entirely indifferent. Sometimes an angry player would aim a stone at him, but Joe seemed to be aware of the fact that he was making enemies by being partial to one side, and was always in readiness to dodge any chance unfriendly blows. As is generally the case, the children would play all recess without thinking of getting a drink, then, as soon as the bell would ring, they would make one grand rush for the well to quench their thirst. Joe, who had learned that the ringing of that bell meant a change of programme, would call, "Bell rang." He had possibly learned this from the few faithful who always heeded the call to

THE DRAFTSMAN

By R. S. Alexander

"What's a draftsman dad?" "You thinking of being one?" "Oh, sort of." "Well a good many engineers go through the drafting room and many big executives in manufacturing plants come up by that route. A big engineer I once knew, said drafting is the universal language by which the designer conveys instructions to the workman. It is the method by which the men who make the plans for a piece of work lay out all the details of that work and then pass on to the men on the job instructions down to the smallest detail as to just how it is to be carried out. "Every big plant has a corps of draftsmen. Many of these men merely carry out plans or trace drafts prepared by other persons. You want to get on as a draftsman as you will work out new sets of plans for the making of various parts of structure. "From this position you may have your chance at an executive job in the office or field. You may work up to a position as Chief Designer, Chief of the Office, or perhaps Chief Engineer. "Be sure before you plan to become a draftsman that you have the natural qualifications for it. You must be careful and neat. You must have a natural knack for drawing accurately and clearly. Then you should have an interest in some sort of engineering. "It will mean a long hard grind of school. I can afford to send you to a technical school. You ought to go about four years. Of course you could get a job as draftsman as you would, but that's not so good unless you have exceptional ability. "Where could I read more about it?" "You can start with most any book on elementary mechanical drawing. Then study a book on projections or descriptive geometry. These studies form the basis of your training. "Billings: 'I've heard that some of the greatest achievements in the photographic art have been made by amateurs. Is that so?' "Amateur: 'Of course. If you don't believe it, ask any—' "Photographer: "No, any amateur."

Ten Dollars a Day For Any Boy

This heading is not a factory placement for a boy to leave school but a suggestion that boys in school "Just what you see" following figures:

Educated man's average yearly income $2,500

Uneducated man's average yearly income $1,000

For every $1,000 a boy earns in school equals $22,000 the difference earnings of educated and uneducated men, which is the value of an education.

To obtain this education requires twelve years of schooling, months per year, or 3,160 days. Two thousand dollars divided by 3,160, equals $10, respectively, value of each day's schooling training.

These figures were compiled a year ago when salaries and wages were lower than they are today. Some proportions are true, each day in school is worth ten times as much as a day in the street. Let us look at the weekly wages boys leaving school:

At 14, end of Public School—Age 14, wage $4; age 15, wage $5; age 16, wage $7; age 17, wage $9; age 18, wage $11; age 19, wage $12; age 20, wage $13.

At 18, end of High School—Age 18, wage $10; age 19, wage $15; age 20, wage $20; age 21, wage $24; age 22, wage $30.

The $30, the end of the sixth year, due to the of the four years in High School $17, and this multiplied by the weeks in the year gives $384.

This is equivalent to an investment of $17,680 at five per cent. Can a son permanently increase his income as well or as fast in any other way? Here is a statement as to the worth of working with various degrees of training:

Unskilled Labor—At 22 years, at 23 years, $10.25; at 24 years, $11.50; at 25 years, $13.00; at 26 years, $14.50.

Skilled Labor—At 22 years, $13.50; at 23 years, $15.80; at 24 years, $18.50; at 25 years, $21.50; at 26 years, $25.00.

Technical School—Trained Clerk At 22 years, $31; at 23 years, $43.

The boy who in the United States leaves school at the age of 14 to work earns on the average $26,000 to the time he is 65 years old. The boy who remains in school till he is 18, or through High School earns on the average in the United States $65,000 up to the time he is 65 years old. Sixty-five thousand less minus $26,000 equals $39,000. This is equivalent to an investment of $12,000 at five per cent. for a period of 65 years.

What about a High School education as a financial investment? In November is "Stick-to-School" month for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Stick it out, boys; if you have school, go back, or get in some study somewhere by correspondence evening courses.

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

"FIRELIGHTER"
 On Saturday night last there were in St. John 54 happy boys; they were the "Trail Rangers" who composed the Grand Camp held at the St. M. C. A. Under the leadership of Mr. N. F. McEwen and his assistant Mr. H. Moron, they enjoyed a very good time at the Gym and in the tank, after hearing Mr. J. H. Fowler in a very eloquent address.

St. Mary's report this week shows the new boys initiated into the "Lovers" Trail Rangers' Camp on Tuesday.

Ludlow street article also report a "Trail Ranger" Camp with R. J. Rupert as monitor, for 40,000.

Ten Dollars a Day For Any Boy.
 This heading is not a factory advertisement of getting a boy to leave school, but an advertisement for a boy to go to school. Just what you get over the following figures:

Educated man's average yearly income $4,000
 In forty years $160,000
 Uneducated man's average yearly income $1,000
 In forty years $40,000
 Forty thousand dollars minus $40,000 equals $22,000, the difference in earnings of educated and uneducated men, which is the value of an education.

To obtain this education requires twelve years of schooling, nine months per year, or 1,080 days. Twenty-two thousand dollars, divided by 1,080, equals $20, respectively, the value of each day's schooling and training.

These figures were compiled a few years ago, when salaries and wages were lower than they are today, but in same proportions are true, and each day in school is worth today eleven to fifteen dollars than ten.

Let us look at the weekly wages of boys leaving school:

At 14, end of Public School—Age 14, wage $4; age 15, wage $5; age 16, wage $7; age 17, wage $9; age 18, wage $11; age 19, wage $12; age 20, wage $13.

At 18, end of High School—Age 18, wage $10; age 19, wage $15; age 20, wage $20; age 21, wage $24; age 22, wage $30.

The increased annual income at the end of the 25th year, due to the value of the four years in High School, is $17, and this multiplied by the 52 weeks in the year gives $884.

This is equivalent to an investment of $17,880 at five per cent. Can a person permanently increase his capital as well or so fast in any other way?

Here is a statement as to the wages of workmen with various degrees of training:

Unskilled Labor—At 22 years, $10; at 23 years, $10.20.
 Shop Trained Labor—At 22 years, $13.50; at 23 years, $15.80.
 Industrial or Trade School Trained Labor—At 22 years, $15; at 23 years, $17.

Technical School Trained Labor—At 22 years, $31; at 23 years, $43.
 The boy who is in the United States leaves school at the age of 14 to go to work earns on the average $36,000 up to the time he is 65 years old.
 The boy who remains in school until he is 18, or through High School, earns on the average in the United States $65,000 up to the time he is 65 years old. Sixty-five thousand dollars minus $36,000 equals $29,000. This is equivalent to an investment of $12,000 at five per cent. for a period of 65 years.

What about a High School education as a financial investment?
 November is "Stick-to-School" month for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Stick it out, boys; if you have left school, go back, or get in some extra study somehow, by correspondence or evening courses.

FIRELIGHTER.

CAUGHT IN CITY OF "THE LIVING BUDDHA"

Dozen Americans to Try to Rescue Two Comrades from Tribesmen.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Urga, the Mongolian city famous as the home of "The Living Buddha," is the center of an outbreak which, according to official advice, has reached serious proportions, the lives of foreigners, among them two Americans, being in danger. The two Americans are named Mills and McLaughlin, both of them in the employ of the Mongolian Trading Company.

The uprising in Urga is the result of a combined attack on the city by Russians, Burials and Mongols. Urga is the capital of Outer Mongolia. According to State Department advice, Chinese soldiers were reported to be looting Russian residences in Urga. The telegraph wires have been cut and the city is now without means of communication with the outside world.

Start Rescue Party.

Friends of Mills and McLaughlin are organizing a rescue party and have taken up with the American legation in Peking the matter of obtaining permission from the Chinese Government for the party to proceed at once to Urga. The party is organized consists of twelve men, all Americans. They are armed and have provided themselves with a motor convoy. It is not known what action the legation has taken on their request for permission to proceed to the rescue of Mills and McLaughlin. They would have their operations on Kailan, on the Great Wall of China, and near the southern border line of Mongolia.

The American legation has already represented to the Chinese Government the perils of Mills and McLaughlin and made urgent demand that the Chinese Government afford every possible protection to them.

Urga is the holy city of Buddhists of Mongolia, and is the home of the head of the church, who is known as the "Living Buddha." It is one of the most isolated cities in the world. The Burials concerned in the outbreak are a mongrel tribe inhabiting Siberia near Lake Baikal.

"77" FOR COLDS

The first feeling of having taken a cold, by "nasalitis," depression, prostration, as if some serious illness was pending; a dose of "Seventy-seven" at this time is worth its weight in gold. If you wait till you begin to cough and sneeze, have sore throat and aching bones; it may be longer.

Announcement of Policy to National Truck Dealers and Buyers

National Truck

Dealers and Buyers

THERE have been no war prices placed on National Trucks.

Since 1916, the average increase in the price of Nationals has totalled only a bare 12 1/4 per cent.

Our ever-growing output and our holding to a close margin of profit have enabled us to weather a period of inflation with but a minimum advance in our prices.

Now, as to the future:
 Steel is scarce, high in price, and the indications are that this condition will obtain for a long time; 90 p.c. of the material used in making a National Truck is of steel.

It has ever been the policy of this company to build quality trucks, employing engineering and mechanical skill of the highest order, and embodying in National Trucks superior units only.

From this policy we shall not deviate.

Should manufacturing costs come down, however, enabling us to reduce our prices, we will protect the buyer.

To that end, the National Steel Car Corporation, Limited, announces that should any reduction in price be made possible between this date and May 1, 1921, both the dealer and the buyer will benefit by such reduction.

Backache? Rheumatism? Run-down?

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to get too much meat and in consequence deposit lime in the arteries, veins and joints. We suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," usually gives immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poison by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store. Ask for Dr. Pierce's "Anuric" (anti-uric acid) for kidneys or backache, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

ANXIOUSLY AWAITING PRICE ON TOBACCO

Kingville, Nov. 12.—There is considerable discouragement among tobacco growers as a consequence of the delay on the part of buyers in announcing prices for this season's crop.

Practically all the fine-cured tobacco is ready for market and most of the air-cured ready to take the show. Only a year most of the crop was bought by this time, but none of the buyers have had instructions from their companies to offer any price up to the present date.

Common Sense.
 (Guelph Herald.)
 Hon. James A. Calder, minister of Colonization and Immigration, is reported to have said, in the course of his speech at Moosejaw recently: "Neither the east nor the west can obtain the full measure of their demands, but must agree on a Canadian policy, protecting industry, agriculture and labor, and making for a united and prosperous Dominion." There is a lot of sense in such talk.

SUGAR CRASHES NINE POINTS ON MONTREAL MARKET

Closed at 31½ and 20 is the lowest it ever sold before.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The selling of stocks again found poor absorption today on the local exchange, and the break in sugar, together with the depressing effect of the New York market on most other stocks, so that recessions of from 3½ to 4 points were recorded in the paper group, although some stocks rose in the late afternoon against the wave of selling.

Sugar dropped nine points to a new low of 21½, being only 1½ above the lowest price ever recorded on this exchange.

In the papers, Abitibi sold down three points net to 59½, Brompton 2½ at 62, Laurin down 2 at 122, Howard Smith down a point at 123, Riordan down 9½ to a new record low of 109½, Spanish common down 3½ at 94½, and the preferred down four at 87, Wayagamack down 2 at 112.

Elsewhere in the list, Lyall scored a new low at 40, down 15 points from the previous last sale; Ontario Steel lost three points at 90, Iron Works and St. Lawrence four were each down 2½ points.

A few issues managed to hold up, among which were Associated Preferred up three points at 88, Brazilian, which netted a fraction at 36½; Detroit up a full point at 103, Quebec Railway, which advanced a further fraction to 25, and Canadian Ovens and Textile up half point each.

Both Dominion Steel and Steel of Canada lost a point, the former at 47, recent low price for the year, and the latter at a new low of 60, Steamships decline of a fraction to 51, and one point losses were recorded by Steelers, Glass, and Royal Bank.

Bank of Commerce moved up three points to 190.

Total sales listed, 18,844; bonds, $32,200; rights, 571.

WALL STREET IS AT RECORD LOWS FOR WHOLE YEAR

Pessimistic Rumors Current Everywhere Result in Losses on All Stocks.

New York, Nov. 12.—Quoted values in the stock market continued to tumble today, selling for both accounts, in which voluntarily liquidation probably predominated, carrying the list to lowest levels of the year.

In several noteworthy instances today prices were the lowest for a longer period. United States Steel declined to 82½, an extreme loss of 1½ points, and the minimum since 1911. Many popular shares were 25 to 40 points under earlier maximums of a few months ago.

Gross recessions of 3 to 10 points for the session marked the extent of the sellings of shippings, equipments, motors, oils and various specialties, whose rise and fall are involved in the movements of the more distinctive issues.

Aside from the money market, in which yesterday's promise of greater ease was not fulfilled, there were no developments or announcements to account for the further collapse of the stock market.

Many Pessimistic Rumors

There were rumors, however, of a pessimistic nature dealing with general industrial and commercial conditions. These assumed a degree of plausibility from the reduction of output in the textile and allied trades, the failure of a local silk commission house and the dismissal of some 300 men by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona, Pa.

Selling of stocks was at its flood in the final hour, the reaction then engulfing dividend-paying rails, especially Pacific and coals, heading making a net decline of 6½ points.

Other net losses of 2 to 5 points included Bethlehem, Baldwin, Atlantic Gulf, American International Marine preferred, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific, Mexican Petroleum and General Electric over-topping the list, losing 6½ and 9 points respectively. Sales amounted to 1,250,000 shares.

Bonds were not especially affected by the break in stocks, although all Liberty issues and various convertible titles eased.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $12,820,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

RAW SUGARS HALF CENT POUND DOWN

New York, Nov. 12.—Plunging down after half cent today, the raw sugar market settled into new low ground for the season. While no further changes occurred in refined sugar from the ten cent level established yesterday, a decline is expected by traders owing to the further break in raw sugar prices today.

SHE NEVER EXPECTS TO BE WITHOUT IT

"I'll Always Keep Tanlac in My House," Says Mrs. Champagne - Restored Health.

"Honestly, for the first time in three years I was able to eat without suffering afterwards," said Mrs. Agnes Champagne, 1727 Notre Dame St. East, Montreal, P. Q., in relating her experience with Tanlac recently.

"My stomach got in such a bad condition I could hardly eat enough to keep me alive, and everything I ate seemed to turn to gas, which bloated me until I could scarcely breathe, and the pains in my stomach were simply terrible. My nerves and kidneys bothered me so I couldn't get enough sleep to rest me, and my back hurt so bad at times it seemed that I couldn't endure it another minute. I lost a lot of weight, became badly run down and got so weak and dizzy I couldn't stay on my feet to do my housework."

"Tanlac's sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Moore under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

Brandon, Nov. 12.—Principal Cartwright of St. Hilde's College, Toronto, addressed the Brass chorists this afternoon at Grace Church, speaking on "Women Within the Church." She admitted that the enabling of women to undertake priestly work would at the present time be disastrous, but women could do a great deal of work, more than at present they were allowed to do, though at all times the work a woman did in the home would be most important.
