MR. LABILLOIS ASKS INFORMATION

Answers to Queries Regarding Steel Bridges in Existence.

NO PAINT FOR YEARS

In reply to some pertinent questions Hon. C. H. LaBillois received the following answers to his queries:

1. How many steel bridges exist in New Brunswick?

A. Seventy-seven.

2. How many steel structures have been repainted since March, 1908?

A. None.

3. How many were repainted during 1911?

A. None.

4. Has the chief engineer been instructed to examine any of the steel structures in view of the condition of corrosion setting in? If so, how many did he examine during 1910 and 1911? Did he make any report to the chief commissioner? If so, what was the nature of such report?

A. The chief engineer was never instructed to make any direct examination of the steel structures throughout the province with a view of making a direct report relative to corrosion conditions; but he has on various occasions when dealing with repairs generally to such structures mentioned the advisability of an appropriation being made to meet the metal preservative attention required generally to this class of structure.

5. How much money has the province invested in steel superstructures or near about?

A. See board of works reports of previous years.

6. Is the Government aware of the great loss sustained by other provinces by neglecting the painting of steel bridges?

A. No.

(Special to the Graphic)
NEW YORK, April 19.—The Titanic disaster as written into history today by many of the 639 survivors, accounts for the loss of 1595 persons at sea, off the Newfoundland banks early Monday morning and the subsequent death of six persons who had been rescued, bringing the total of lives lost up to 1601.

These official figures magnify greatly the estimates which had come by wireless and make certain that the disaster is the greatest that ocean travel has ever known.

The Carpathia landed the survivors here last night. Practically the only women not saved were those who chose to die in their husbands' embrace. Nearly all the survivors saw the Titanic sink and heard the band play, "Nearer My God to Thee," amid the shrieks of those whom the sea claimed as the vessel sank in two thousand fathoms.

The Titanic struck an iceberg about ninety feet high, which ripped the sides open and made the water-tight compartments useless. While the vessel was gradually sinking, the icy water reached her steaming boilers, causing an explosion which sent her to the bottom. The liner rushed upon a submerged iceberg on a clear night, about 10.30 o'clock. The shock was so light that people playing cards in the smoking room continued their game. Once the women had been assured that there was no danger, the greatest difficulty was found getting them into the boats. Many had to be thrown overboard, loss of life ensuing, while in other cases boats were lowered half empty. Five of the steerage passengers who escaped, died from exposure before they were picked up by the Carpathia. The Canadians lost are Charles M. Hayes, Thornton Davidson, Montreal; Quigley Baxter, J. Hudson Allison, Mrs. Allison and daughters, H. Markland Nelson, Vivian Payne, J. R. Levy, all of Montreal; Dr. Pain Hamilton, Hugh Ross, Toronto, and Mark Fortune, Winnipeg. The Canadians saved are Mrs. C. M. Hayes, Mrs. Thornton Davidson, (Mrs. Hayes' daughter) Master Allison, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. James Baxter, Miss Alice Bowerman, all of Montreal; Mrs. J. G. Hogabin, Toronto; Major Arthur Peuchen, Toronto; Miss Alice Fortune, and Mrs. Mark Fortune, Winnipeg.

Major Peuchen was the last man on the Titanic to say good bye to Charles M. Hayes after assisting the members of the crew in filling up the first five boats. The major, an experienced yachtman was assigned by the second mate to take charge of boat No. six. Hayes said good bye.

Mr. Hayes had no idea according to Major Peuchen that the ship would sink as soon as it did but believed that help would be at hand sufficient to care for all before the vessel went down. Mr. Hayes thought the steamer would float for eight or nine hours. Mrs. Hayes and daughter reached Montreal this morning. They said they never expected the ship would sink until all were saved and parted from their relatives without even kissing them good bye. There were heart-rending scenes at the docks as the passengers came ashore from the Carpathia and waiting friends found there was no hope of their missing ones.

The whole world was startled on Monday morning to receive word that, according to wireless dispatches received, the Titanic, the largest ship afloat struck an iceberg on Sunday night in lat. 41.16 N, long. 50.14 W, and that several vessels were alongside rendering assistance.

The next word received was from the Olympic, a sister ship to the Titanic and one of the vessels which hurried to the assistance of the stricken ship, that the Titanic had foundered at 2.20 a. m. Monday morning and about 675 were saved, crew and passengers, the latter mostly women and children. These were on board the Cunard Steamer Carpathia making for New York.

The place where the Titanic sank, according to an official of the marine department, is about five hundred miles from Halifax, and the water at that point about seventy miles south of Grand Banks, is at least two miles deep. It is midway between Sable Island and Cape Race, and in line with those dangerous sands, which, however, might have been a place of safety had there been time to run the Titanic there and beach her on the northern side.

After the first desperate calls of the Titanic for help had been sent flying through space and brought steamers for hundreds of miles around speeding to the scene, what seems to have been an impenetrable wall of silence was raised between her and the anxious world. The giant liner, so far as advices appear, went to her fate without so much as a whisper of what must have been the scenes of terrific tragedy being enacted on her decks. In the lack of even a line from a survivor, imagination pauses before even trying to conjecture what passed as the inevitable became known and it was seen that of more than 2,000 human lives with which she was freighted there could be hope of saving, as it appear, far less than half.

The Titanic was insured at Lloyds for $5,000,000, according to advices from London and it was said that the International Mercantile Marine Company also carried a surplus fund for insurance purposes which could be applied to the loss. The cost of building the great liner has been estimated at $10,000,000, although Vice-President Franklin, of the White Star line, insisted tonight that her value was not over $8,000,000.

The total monetary loss caused by the sinking of the ship, however, will, it is certain, run into many millions more, but the total amount cannot even be conjectured. It is generally understood that the vessel had aboard diamonds of great value, estimated as high as $5,000,000, and also a large amount of bonds.

TOWN ELECTIONS HELD TUESDAY

Small Vote in Both the Contested Wards—D. A. Stewart leads the Poll.

THE NEW COUNCIL

The elections for councillors for Wards Two and Three were held on Tuesday in soft, disagreeable weather. Four candidates appeared in Ward Two for two seats and three in Ward Three for two seats. The polling was very light and at no time was there a rush to vote. Councillor Max Mowat was defeated in his ward but Councillor White survived, tying with Thos. Ellsworth in the number of votes. The polls closed at four o'clock and the Town Clerk announced the results.

WARD TWO

D. A. Stewart 83.
S. Laughlan 74.
M. M. Mowat 71.
A. C. Belle-Isle 62.
D. A. Stewart and S. Laughlan being declared elected.

WARD THREE

John White 52.
Thos. Ellsworth 52.
Chas. A. Goss 41.
John White and Thomas Ellsworth were declared elected.

After the declaration of the poll dissatisfaction was expressed with the official ballot which is used in Town elections, many voters making a cross on their ballot the same as for the Dominion election, but which was the cause of a number being spoiled. At the same time, however, it might be pointed out that a ratepayer, if asked to vote for two representatives and only votes for one, is not doing his duty to the town, and if an election is called for two seats the ballot, which only votes for one, should also be called a spoiled ballot.

The new Council was sworn in on Wednesday afternoon by His Honor Judge McLatchy. All the Councillors were present excepting Dr. Pinault, who was engaged at his profession. The following compose the new Council:

Mayor, F. M. Murray; Councillors for Ward I, H. Lunam, M. D., and L. G. Pinault, M. D.; Ward II, D. A. Stewart and S. Laughlan; Ward III, John White and Thos. Ellsworth; Town, W. H. Miller and Charles A. Alexander.

The first meeting of the council will be held on Monday evening.

You wouldn't be satisfied to use a scythe to cut your grain, when a modern harvester can do it so much better, would you? Nor to use the old soft-iron plough-share that your ancestors walked behind, when you can get an up-to-date riding plough? Every Canadian farmer realizes the advantages of Twentieth Century implements.

The next step is

The 20th Century Material—Concrete

Concrete is as far ahead of brick, stone, or wood as the harvester is ahead of the scythe or the riding-plough is ahead of the old iron plough-share.

Concrete is easily mixed, and easily placed. It resists heat and cold as no other material can; hence is best for ice-houses, root cellars, barns, silos and homes. It never needs repair; therefore it makes the best walks, fence-posts, culverts, drain-tiles, survey monuments, bridges and culverts. It cannot burn; you can clean a concrete poultry-house by filling it with straw and setting the straw on fire. The lice, ticks and all germs will be burned, but the house is unharmed.

It is cheap—sand and gravel can be taken from your own farm. Cement, the only material you must buy, forms from one-seventh to one-tenth of the whole volume.

Do you want to know more about Concrete on the Farm? Then write your name and address in the lines above, or on a postcard, mail it to us, and you will receive by return mail a copy of

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

Not a catalogue, but a 160-page book, profusely illustrated, explaining how you can use concrete on YOUR farm.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor of the Graphic.

In Collier's Weekly of April 6th inst. (Canadian Edition) will be found an illustrated account by Kermit Roosevelt of a "sporting trip" entitled "After Moose in New Brunswick." The trip was made in September of last year. Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied by three friends. They landed at Bathurst, took six guides, and went up the Nepisiquit River to the main camp. Thence on slaughter bent, the friends branched off in different directions. The account chiefly concerns itself with Mr. Roosevelt's doings, with the exception of Thompson's one of the friends, who is credited with the killing of two bull moose, and Jamieson another friend with the slaying of one.

It is interesting to learn that after many days and many disappointments Mr. Roosevelt was successful in bagging a fine bull moose and it was more interesting and noteworthy to be informed that he also killed a cow-moose. The manner of the killing of the cow, the humane deliberation of the act is illuminating, in showing the cold contempt and disregard for the suffering of a creature of the wild by the specimen sportsman.

Cutting the description short, I beg to set down a few words of Mr. Roosevelt as follows:—"So we reached the lake, we saw her (the cow moose) standing at the edge of the woods on the other side, half hidden by the trees. I fired and broke her hind quarters. After going a little distance, she circled the lake and went out to stand in the water. We portaged a canoe from the river, and took some pictures before finishing the cow."

The sportsman-like way in which male and female beavers were shot, shouts to Heaven as murder, as it gave the poor intelligent, hard working animals no sporting chance for escape and life. To quote the hunter words once more:—"In one of my long tramps with Bill we had come across a large beaver pond, and at the time Bill had remarked how easy it would be to break the dam and kill the beavers." Well, avoiding a detailed description, they provided to make a break in the dam by prying out the logs. It was a big dam eight or ten feet high stretching across the lower end of a pond. As the animals came out through the opening made Mr. Roosevelt shot two, to use once more his own words "they were fine large specimens, the male was just two inches less than four feet and the female only one inch shorter." The one great satisfaction one derives from reading the description of the breaking into the beavers house and of the murder of two of the defenceless animals as they attempted to escape, this is the fact that Kermit and Bill had to work waist high in ice cold water, as they pried away the logs of the dam. Again to quote Mr. Roosevelt words "Shivering and frozen we headed back to camp." Is there a pity to my mind that did not stay frozen. If Mr. Roosevelt's house was flooded by two museum hunters after specimens of present day human hides, and when Mr. Roosevelt and his wife were shot down by these said hunters, then parents and the public would call it murder, but when the poor beaver, an intelligent animal, (more intelligent than the human animal in many ways) is shot down by a museum specimen hunter, the foul deed, the cowardly act, is laid before the public in the printed page to his the killer's own special glorification.

At the opening of Mr. Kermit Roosevelt's article, he states that "My purpose was to collect specimens for the National Museum at Washington. I wanted moose, caribou and beaver a male and female of each species, whole skins and leg bones were to be brought out."

Mr. Roosevelt makes no mention of having the Government of New Brunswick's permission for this expedition and its purpose.

Presumably, he would not say, and admit that he had slain, cow moose and beaver, without permission. How many cow moose were shot and killed is not stated. As was set down before the description of the expedition chiefly centered in himself and his doings. The whole tenor of his sporting printed contribution convey the impression that he and his three friends, Clark, Jamieson and Thompson had a roving commission to enter the wood of New Brunswick and slaughter as many moose, caribou, beaver, male and female as they wished. It may be noted here, that early in Mr. Roosevelt's tale, he speaks of the killing of two moose by Thompson.

It would seem scarcely credible that the New Brunswick government would give four American young men a foot-loose, and hand-free license to kill moose, caribou, deer, beaver (male and female) in the New Brunswick woods. Still so it would appear to be. These four young men were in the woods for nearly a month, accompanied by six guides. Extended comment methinks, is unnecessary. The facts are openly admitted yet let me say at the end of this letter, if the National Museum at Washington was very desirous of obtaining skins and bones of moose, caribou, etc., and Mr. Kermit Roosevelt and his three friends were very anxious to meet their desire, does it not seem strange that they should have chosen alien ground, and would if not have been more fitting to remain on American soil, to have gone to their own woods, the Maine woods for instance? If a government granted them the right of indiscriminate slaughter and violation of the game-laws, it should not have been the New Brunswick government. There is game in the United States, and there are Federal and State's governments.

A STUDENT'S TRIBUTE

Six Volumes in Praise of his school by an Indian Prince.

A new record for an "old boy's" tribute to his school has been made by the Maharajah of Bhavnagar in the history of Rajkumar College, Rajkot, which has been published in London.

The Maharajah was a pupil at the college, as his father was before him, and he testifies to his love and appreciation of his old school in six bulky volumes and an index. Each volume is gorgeously bound in red cloth, ornamented with gilt scroll work. The leaves are gilt-edged, and every page is decorated with an elaborate red scroll work encircling the text. Hosts of illustrations are scattered through the six volumes, the whole representing, as is stated in the preface, "enormous pains and perseverances, to say nothing of expense."

The Rajkumar College is one of two or three seminaries specially established in India under the guidance of the Government for the training and education of the sons of chiefs. One of the most interesting of the old scholars was Ranjitsinhji, famous as a cricketer, and it is interesting to learn that even in his college days he was "the best all-round player in the College."

Copies of the work have been presented by the Maharajah to King George and Queen Mary.

PRINCE ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT, son of the Governor-General of Canada, and brother of Princess Patricia, is taking part in advancing the cause of education for young men desiring to enter work in the trades. He has consented to become a patron of the Apprenticeship and Skilled Employment Association, which has its offices in Denison House, and he has made several suggestions of methods which have already been adopted by the association.

STILL AT IT.

We publish in our columns this week a letter signed by two of the jurymen who were sitting at the Doherty trial. We commend this letter to our readers for careful consideration, as it shows very clearly that the cry of the people for an investigation is well founded. We also recommend it to the attention of the Hon. Mr. Grimmer, who stated in the House that the prisoner was acquitted by a jury of his peers. In the light of this letter the Hon. Mr. Grimmer is wrong and the contention of the GRAPHIC is correct that a grave misunderstanding, through ignorance or otherwise has arisen. The jury were led to believe that, in acquitting the accused of murder, they did not prejudice the Crown in re-arresting the prisoner on a lesser charge. This fact was stated by Mr. Powell in his address and was not disputed by the Crown Prosecutor. Nevertheless, the jury were distinctly instructed that they had the three verdicts open to them. Now comes the point where his ignorance of the English language or his stupidity, caused the foreman of the jury to return a verdict, WHICH WAS NOT THE FINDING OF THE JURY.

According to the letter of the jurymen, published in this issue, the verdict that the jury came to was "not guilty to the indictment," which was the charge of murder; to allow the Crown to re-arrest the prisoner on the lesser charge, as they were led to believe could be done. When His Honor Judge White questioned the foreman as to the meaning of the verdict, as he had said: "Do you find the prisoner not guilty of the charge of manslaughter?" he would have received a very different answer than he did. This is where the people of this county claim that a grave miscarriage of justice has been caused through ignorance and misunderstanding and the GRAPHIC would respectfully point out to the Hon. Mr. Grimmer that we are not stating our own views merely, but the feelings of all the right thinking people in the county, and we beg to take exception to the Hon. gentleman's remarks in the House that we had gone very far in our criticism of the case. The Hon. gentleman says he has his own opinion of the case. Would it be too much to ask that opinion? We have the opinion of two of the jury and as far as we can learn the rest of the jury were all of the same opinion. We know from Judge White's charge to the jury what his opinion is likely to be. From the rumors which are current in Campbellton, we know what Mr. H. A. Powell's opinion is, especially when we remember the fact that he stated in open court that his client did not deny killing D. J. Bruce. Gathering all these opinions into one we find that, to call it by a simple name, a grave misunderstanding has been permitted, and it is not outside the power of the government to order an investigation. Why should they refuse it? If the verdict is just and lawful and has been returned in a proper way, the people of Restigouche will say nothing more, although they may be grieved and shocked. But the great point is:—HAS EVERYTHING ABOUT THE TRIAL BEEN CONDUCTED IN A FAIR AND JUST WAY?

We think not. Meantime, if the Hon. Mr. Grimmer cares to call at the GRAPHIC office, we will be pleased to hand him a batch of correspondence on this travesty of justice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the Graphic.

The undersigned were members of the jury who acquitted Dr. W. W. Doherty at the recent trial at Dalhousie, who was tried for the murder of the late D. J. Bruce. We have read what has appeared in your paper relative to that verdict, and the jury which rendered the same, and we deem it just to ourselves to make the statements here-in contained. We notice that you censure the jury in very strong terms for acquitting Dr. Doherty, and your correspondents follow in the same lines in language equally strong, pointing out that there has been a great miscarriage of justice in this case.

In this letter, we do not presume to speak for the jury at large, but only for ourselves. You say editorially that there must have been a misunderstanding on the part of the jury when they brought in a verdict which allowed Dr. Doherty to walk out a free man acquitted of having committed any crime. Speaking for ourselves we wish to say that your conclusion in that respect is absolutely correct. We wish to say to the public through the columns that we had not the slightest idea or thought that the verdict we agreed upon in the jury room, "Not guilty of the indictment" meant that the accused should be set free, and go wholly unpunished. We listened to the addresses of counsel, followed by the charge of His Honor the Judge, and in the multitude of words spoken to us, our minds became confused. We were satisfied that it was not a case that warranted a verdict of murder, and we thought that a verdict as first announced by our foreman, cleared the prisoner of that charge, and left it open to the Crown to pursue the case against the prisoner for any lesser crime which the act of the accused might call for. Most assuredly, if we had fully understood the situation then as we have come to understand it since, we would never have consented to the verdict being recorded as it was, but would have protested to the court that we did not intend to acquit the accused absolutely.

We do not wonder at the feeling that has been aroused throughout the country, nor do we blame you, Mr. Editor, or anyone else, for the strong language in which that verdict is being criticised, and we are not able to express the regret we feel for the part we unintentionally, ignorantly, if you will, took in bringing about what we believe and admit was a miscarriage of justice.

We agree with what you say editorially in the last issue of your paper, and we would welcome an investigation such as you propose. We believe that someone was blameable for the manner in which the case was presented to us, that is, for having the accused indicted for murder instead of manslaughter, and that the case being brought in that way was calculated to mislead and confuse the minds of the jurors who are not trained in legal matters, and are not always able to retain in their memories what is explained to them by the court. We believe that a large share of the responsibility in this case rests upon him or them who presented the matter to the trial jury in that way.

We beg you to excuse us for taking up so much of your valuable space, but we feel keenly the false position in which we have unfortunately placed ourselves by allowing that verdict to be given, and we deem it right and just to ourselves to lay our statement before the public. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for granting us the opportunity, we remain

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor of the Graphic.
The verdict in the Doherty case has been a surprise and a shock to the whole community, and they would like to know if anything further can be done in the interests of society.
Is there no government protection for women from the hands of an assassin?
If the jury—just look at its personnel—were led to their decision by sympathy for the prisoner, did they steel their hearts against the bereaved family who were so cruelly deprived of a husband and father?
To accept the statement of the prisoner on the stand that Mr. Bruce struck him and that the umbrella was lifted in self defence, is utterly incredible in the face of evidence by an eye witness to the contrary, and is a stigma on a good name, and a cruel blow to the distressed family. The issue of the trial makes the women ashamed of their country, and tremulous about the safety of their homes, and they would appeal to those who are vested with legal authority to give us in the future something approaching decency.
The Graphic deserves the thanks of the whole community for its strong and fearless editorials, which find a response in the hearts of right thinking men and women. Let us have more along these lines for "liberty in every blow let us do or die."

CHATHAM'S MANTLE FALLS FROM THEM

Defeated by Campbellton in Fast Hockey Game by Score of 5 to 4.

CHATHAM SORE

On Monday evening Chatham visited our town to play a friendly hockey game with the Victorias, the youngest team in Campbellton league. But little more than school boys, the Vics have given a brand of hockey which is no discredit to some of the larger clubs and stand undefeated in all their games. Monday's encounter was the first game ever played with a foreign team and the Chatham boys got a rude awakening when the half time score read 3 to 1 against. They roughed things in the second half disgracefully and got off with many things which should have been penalised. The final score was 5 to 4, in favor of Campbellton. The line-up was as follows:

Campbellton	Goal	Chatham
Kelly	Jardine
J. Matthews	Point	Synott
R. Matthews	Cover	Watling
Wallace	Rover	Currie
Keith	L. Wing	Flood
Schurman	R. Wing	Vineau
Delaney	Centre	McLean
Referee, R. J. Lavoie.

The Chatham team did not take their defeat too kindly, and it does not show a sportsman-like spirit to act as they did. It is certainly a feather in the caps of the Vics that they were able to trim Chatham even if they were short of two of their championship team.

BEST TOWN CRIER IN THE KINGDOM

William Law of Hortham ready to enter into a strange competition.

William Law, town crier of the ancient town of Hortham, England, is prepared to engage in contest with any town crier in England, Scotland, Ireland, or Wales to prove that he is the champion crier of the United Kingdom, such contest to be held before properly appointed judges. The man who issues this sweeping challenge does not do so in any vain spirit of boastfulness. He does it to prove his mettle and convince the Hortham Urban Council that they were in the wrong in refusing him the paltry cost of a uniform which would have brightened the life of the town and saved the wear and tear of his Sunday suit. William has no arbitrary ideas on the proper uniform for a town crier, but he says that he had thought of something such as the men wear outside the cinematograph theatre. "It would look more official," he says.

As for his challenge, he suggests that the competitors should "cry" a fast piece, such as the notice of a sale, and a semi-temporary piece—say the notice of a marriage meeting, which a good crier could embellish with a few well-chosen artifices. He suggests that poets should be given for carrying the poem, articulation and vocal tone.

ZAM-BUK IN THE HOME

Read How Useful it Proved in These Widely Different Cases

Zam-Buk's strongest point is its effectiveness in all kinds of skin diseases and injuries. Just note how excellent these persons, proved it in widely different directions.

Sore Heel.—Mrs. C. Campbell, of Port Huron, Ont., writes: "One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes, and the poisonous dye from my stocking got into it, and made it sore. For a week I could not put on a shoe, and suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in a few days it drew the poison out and healed the wound."

Bad Cut.—Mrs. J. Virgint, of Onondaga, Ont., writes: "Zam-Buk healed a bad cut which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. At the moment I did not realize how badly I was hurt; but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises—Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy."

Eczema Cured.—Mrs. A. Antoine Arsenault, of Maximville, P. E. I., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any person suffering from eczema. I had this disease and was under doctor's treatment for two years, without any good result. I then tried Zam-Buk and in the end it cured me. Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood-poison, festering sores, pimples, eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 60c. box all druggists and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet."

An Exciting Incident Recently in a Vancouver Park.

A very unusual incident—the hunting and shooting of a cougar in a city park—took place at Vancouver, B. C., in the world-famous Stanley Park. The keepers some time ago discovered a dead deer. Poison was laid and traps were set, but the marauder escaped and the continual toll of dead animals, despite all night watching and various other expedients, baffled every one. At length a hunt on a large scale with dogs and experienced hunters took place. The animal was "treed" and one shot fired with the result of wounding the animal. The cougar dropped from the tree, wounded one of the dogs badly and escaped up another tree. Four more shots were put in and the animal fell dead.—Rod and Gun.

DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED

Old Fallacy That Drunkenness Cannot be Cured Exploded.

Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whisky, however, has undermined the constitution and created a craving that is not to be denied, and the man must have whisky or something that will remove the craving, and build up the system and restore the nerves.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless, and odorless, and can be given with or without the patient's knowledge, in tea, coffee or food. It is used regularly by Physicians and hospitals. It has cured thousands in Canada, and restored happiness to hundreds of homes.

Read what Mrs. G. of Hull says of it and what it did for her:

"It is four months to-day since I followed the directions and had the best results. One week after I started using your remedy the patient stopped drinking and has not drunk a glass of liquor since. I hope you will accept my heartfelt thanks. Hoping God will bless your remedy wherever tried, remain,

"Mrs. G.—Hull, Que."

(Name withheld by request)

Now, if there is anyone in your town who needs this Remedy tell them of it. Practical philanthropy can take no better form. If you have a husband, father, brother or friend who drinks, help them help themselves. Write to-day.

A Huge Fish Freezing Plant Has Been Erected in That City

The waters surrounding Prince Rupert teem with halibut, ling and grey cod, salmon, sole, herring, etc., the market for which is unlimited and with the completion of the railway the fish can be in transit to the Eastern markets on the same day as caught, thus assuring, with speedy transportation, their arrival in first-class condition at destination. The new cold storage plant of the Canadian Fish & Storage Company building is constructed of reinforced concrete throughout. The foundation is built on solid rock, and is of sufficient strength to carry the building to the height of ten storeys. The present structure is six storeys high, and can be extended as soon as trade permits. The daily fish freezing capacity will be sixty tons, and the storage capacity of frozen fish about 6,000 tons. The ice-making plant is of 25 tons daily capacity, and space has been left for an additional 25 tons for future installation. Over 30 miles of piping was required for the refrigeration installation. Twenty-three carloads of cork were used in the building for the flooring and for the partitions between each room.

Displeased with Church "Settings."

At a meeting of Inverkeithing Town Council a letter was read from Mr. Orvison, a local resident, in which he pointed out that he had been offered three sittings in a pew in the Parish Church which he understood was occupied by Mr. Duncan Morrison, his wife, and three of a family. He failed to see where he could get sittings for three should they all turn out. He did not want to be insulted in the same manner as he had been in the old pew, and he would leave the Parish Church severely alone. (Laughter.)

DOHERTY CASE UP AT FREDERICTON

In the legislature on Monday night, on the item of $400 for administration of justice contingencies, Mr. Byrne asked for information as to the investigation in the Ryder case in Kings county, where a man had met his death under suspicious circumstances and the jury in the case had failed to agree on the verdict. There was also a case in Restigouche county where a man had been charged with murder, and the fact that he had been acquitted had caused a lot of comment.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer said that there had been two investigations in the Kings county case, and there was no evidence to warrant him laying a charge against anyone, although he did not believe from the evidence that had been placed before him that Ryder could have committed suicide. An offence had been committed in Restigouche county, resulting in the death of a resident of Campbellton. All the machinery of the law had been available in the carrying on of that case, but the man accused had been acquitted of the crime by a jury of his peers. He had his own opinion of the result of that case, but all he desired to say was that some of the newspapers in Campbellton had gone very far in their criticism.

Mr. Currie said that there had been six deaths by violence in Restigouche, and there had been no convictions. Mr. Hartley, the crown prosecutor in the Doherty case, had made the statement that the trial must be finished in two days in order to accommodate the lawyer for defence. Mr. Hartley had not an opportunity to look up the case.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer said that he had placed the depositions in the hands of Mr. Hartley on the Tuesday preceding the trial.

Mr. Currie said that Mr. Hartley had no lawyer to assist him in the selection of the jury.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer said that Mr. Rene Richard had assisted Mr. Hartley.

Mr. Currie said that Mr. Hartley was a comparative stranger and he had said himself that he did not know the jury.

A legal friend had suggested to him (Currie) that prosecuting attorneys should be appointed for each county.

Mr. Baxter inquired if hon. gentlemen were familiar with the fact that a great injustice was done in Restigouche county in connection with the trial of civil cases. It was certainly impossible to obtain justice on account of local prejudice.

Mr. Copp said that the argument of his hon. friend was not a credit one. If his argument meant anything, this House should change the mode of procedure. Every precaution should be taken to have the administration of justice properly carried out.

Mr. Byrne said that there could be no comparison between the civil and criminal cases. He hadn't any doubt but his hon. friend intended to reflect on the morals of the people of Restigouche.

Mr. Baxter—Not at all. The member for Restigouche has already done that.

Mr. Byrne, continuing, said that it was the duty of the crown officers, if justice could not be secured in any county, to have a change in venue. It was useless for hon. members to attempt to throw the people of this House.

The item passed.
