SOVIET RUSSIA IS WARNED BY BRITAIN TO FULFIL PROMISES

MANY IMPORTANT ASSESSMENTS WILL DECIDE ON DISPOSITION OF SEIZED CABLES

APPEALS TO BE HEARD

Part of Revision To Consider Business District—Ex-Ald. John G. Richter To Assume His Duties in Reorganizing Department Very Shortly.

A. G. Richter will assume his duties in connection with reorganization of the assessment department at once. Mr. Richter has been gathering information about the work for some time, and it is possible that he will take any part in the reorganization or not. A general discussion of the assessment situation may result from the meeting of the court tonight. This will complete the list of appeals and make it possible to proceed with any rearrangement of the department. Some delay has occurred in Mr. Richter assuming his duties, which has never been explained. It is possible, however, that he required an accurate definition of his authority, so that he would know whether he acted in an advisory capacity, merely or would have power to authorize changes in the system.

A meeting of the special assessment committee of the council likely will be held next week, at which time he will receive income assessment and other matters were dealt with.

Both the new theatres are appealing against the increase made in their assessments this year, and several other large business buildings are included in the list.

ATTITUDE OF U. S.

Total Liabilities of Dominion Over Billion and a Quarter.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—By the Associated Press. Bounding revenues again marked the monthly statement of the finance department. Heavy receipts from inland revenue, the chief factor, and, under this head, are included receipts from the luxury tax, which has increased during the seven months of the fiscal year ending on September 30, 1920, from $2,431,813. In the corresponding months of last year inland revenue collected was $7,065,233. During the same period alone income tax receipts showed a similar heavy increase. During the seven months of this year they were $5,585,413. During the seven months of last year they were $4,725,386. Revenue from business profits tax shows a slight decline. For the seven months periods it was $1,015,120, as against $1,189,472 in the corresponding period of last year. During the same period revenue from the total revenue of September was $37,170,789, as compared with $38,844,000 in the corresponding period of last year. During the seven months periods ending September 30, 1920, the total revenue was $191,150,055,595; 1920, $219,905,911. Public debt increased by $32,738,738 last month, the total net debt, now stands at $2,276,516,165.

AVERAGE HOUSE COSTS $3,500

WINTER SETTING IN EARLY IN THE YUKON

This is $700 Greater Than Price a Year Ago.

How rapidly London is developing along domestic lines as well as industrial, was indicated today when Building Inspector A. M. Piper announced that 138 homes have been built or are under construction. This growth has been accomplished in spite of the fact that the average cost of the houses is $700 greater than last year.

The exact average cost of houses built in London last year was $2,722. Piper was not able to give a precise statement today as to the average cost this year, but estimated that it was $3,500.

The housing commission, directly or indirectly, has been responsible for about fifty of these homes. Twenty-four of the houses constructed under the direction of the commission, and two more will be ready for occupation by the end of the month.

Building figures for the month are mounting rapidly, although they are not yet equal to the total for October. In 1919, twenty-seven permits have been issued for a total of $138,360, making the total for the year thus far $1,661,715.

The principal permits today were: Dwelling, one-story brick veneer dwelling, 125 Oxford street, $2,800; housing commission for E. F. Bodley, Windward avenue, one and a half-story brick veneer dwelling, $2,815; T. H. Legg, house, Windward avenue, $4,000; Arthur Handley, one-story frame house, 946 Colborne street, $3,255.

Several Loud Reports Cause Excitement Around Newark, N. J.

Newark, Oct. 8.—Newark, Jersey City and surrounding towns were startled shortly after 10 o'clock today by a mysterious explosion. Police and fire departments immediately began an investigation but an hour later had been unable to learn the location of the explosion. Several loud reports caused considerable excitement, newspapers and police officers soon were swarmed with telephone calls, many persons believing that one of the numerous powder plants in the eastern section of the state had blown up.

Canvass of all big powder manufacturing companies and of the Government arsenal at Camden, however, brought no information.

Belief that the reports have come from big guns at the Fort Hancock proving grounds was dispelled when the military authorities announced that there had been no firing this morning.

OPPOSED PROJECTED CANAL

New York, Oct. 8.—By the Canadian Press.—The projected St. Lawrence River canal was opposed today in a resolution adopted yesterday by the New York State Chamber of Commerce at its first monthly meeting of the fall session.

The resolution said the body was opposed to any participation by the United States in the expense of the scheme, and authorized the committee on internal trade and improvements to represent the views of the body before the International Waterways Commission when it meets in New York, and if necessary before Congress.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT CONSIDERS IT HAS CLAIM TO A SHARE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Delegates from five of the Allied and associated powers met today at the United States state department in the preliminary session of the international communications conference. Representatives of Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States were present. Two Canadians were included among the British delegates, and the Canadian department of external affairs and C. P. Edwards, superintendent of the radio telegraph department of the Canadian naval service, representing the Dominion. The British delegation was headed by P. J. Brown of the general post office.

Foremost of the problems to be settled at the conference is the disposition of the German cables seized by Great Britain, France and Japan at the beginning of the war, and of which the United States proposes to claim a share. German cables to be allocated to the United States are 25,500 miles. The cable which is expected to be the chief concern of the United States is the transatlantic cable from New York, which is said to have been cut by the British in 1914 and one end diverted into Halifax and the other into Penzance, England.

Other cables involved. The second German transatlantic cable was seized by the French in 1914, and while the western end was left in New York, the German end was directed into Brest, France.

Germany's cables to Africa and South America were also taken over by the Allies.

The United States delegates are known to be interested also in the final disposition of German cables in the Pacific, as well as the high spots of the cable, which with Guam, occupies a strategic position in the Pacific for cable communication with Japan.

The program of the main conference and the place and date of meeting also are to be determined at the preliminary sessions, which are expected to continue for at least a month.

Discussion of the South American cable situation, it is now understood, so far as it concerns the issue recently raised by the United States, is being postponed until after the main conference. A cable from Miami, Florida, connecting with the Barbados cable, a British cable from Brazil, is to be postponed for private settlement after the conclusion of the main conference.

Betterment of press and commercial communication is expected to be an outcome of the conference.

TREATY MAY NOT BE FLAWLESS BUT IT IS BETTER THAN WARFARE

Llandudno, Wales, Oct. 8.—Premier Lloyd George, in a political speech here this afternoon, declared that "the conflict of parties in America has led to the result that they have not yet signed a treaty of peace with Germany." He asserted that if there had been a conflict like that in Great Britain the latter would have had no peace and there would have been no treaty.

"There are some who criticize the treaty of Versailles," the premier declared. "Better than that a state of war should be going on for years and nothing done."

Mr. Lloyd George added that there were some people who imagined that to ignore disagreeable facts was proof of exalted principles.

HARDING IS MAKING NUMEROUS SPEECHES ON CAMPAIGN TOUR

Repeats His Opposition to U. S. Entry to League.

Abroad Senator Harding's speech today was a Republican again along the political borderland. Senator Harding, headed by Missouri today to preach his gospel of "representative party government" and a foreign policy free from the entanglements of the League of Nations.

An afternoon meeting at St. Joseph and a night address in the Kansas City convention hall were the high spots of the day's program. Besides, there were a number of short stops scheduled at smaller cities along the way.

The nominee's voice showed today the strain of yesterday's vigorous campaign. He spoke with a hoarse voice, but he was ready to meet as many audiences as could be reached by a fast train schedule.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT PLANS TO FIX FAIR STANDARD OF RENTS

Raney Declares Legislation to That Effect To Be Introduced.

AT JANUARY SESSION

PROFITING LANDLORDS MAY BE FORCED TO RETURN EXORBITANT AMOUNTS

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Acting Premier, Attorney-General Raney this morning after receiving a deputation from the city of Toronto, composed of Mayor Church and the board of control, who charged that legislation would be introduced early in January providing for fair rent controls and fixing some standard of rentals.

In the meantime, said Mr. Raney, "the warning may go out to landlords that any rent increase they make from now on may be subject to recovery by the tenants."

Assessment commissioner Foreman of this city presented figures, showing that landlords were asking from 13 to 20 per cent as rent on the assessed value of houses in this city. He suggested that 10 per cent on the actual value of a house, not its assessed value, could be a fair basis for rents. The attorney-general will take advantage of all the data the city can present before bringing down the proposed legislation.

BRITAIN TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST SOME RUSSIAN PRISONERS ARE LIBERATED BY OCTOBER 10

London Labor Organ Prints Texts of What It Claims Are Notes Exchanged by British and Bolshevik Government—Krasin Charges That British Aided Enemies of the Reds and That Agreement Was Not in Effect As Result.

London, Oct. 8.—Great Britain has threatened to take "certain actions" against Soviet Russia if steps are not taken by October 10 for the release of British prisoners held by the Bolsheviks. In reply to this threat, Leonid Krasin, head of the Russian Bolsheviks, said the Russian government would promise to fulfill the conditions required by Great Britain when the latter carries out her part of the bargain made last July for the mutual release of all prisoners, and cessation of all hostile actions.

The note sent to Moscow by Earl Curzon, British foreign secretary, was dated October 1, according to the Herald. It charged the Russians with "flagrant violation" of the conditions which the soviet accepted in July regarding prisoners and proposed release of British prisoners.

Krasin's Charge. "We have given," he noted, "further, he says, and suggests that we have scrupulously adhered, that we will not assist in any hostile action against the soviet government, but by August 10 we have definite evidence that conditions then laid down regarding the release of British prisoners are being complied with, we will take whatever action we consider necessary to secure the release."

Mr. Krasin replied on October 6 with a charge that Great Britain had not only failed to fulfill her part of the conditions, but had helped enemies of the soviet government. He added that in view of all these facts, the Russian Government is led to assume that the agreement of July cannot be considered as being in force since its fundamental conditions are disregarded by the British Government.

Assertion that the soviet government was ready to comply with conditions of the July agreement, and he proposed that British should proclaim on October 15 that all Russian prisoners in British hands would be free to return to Russia by routes to be arranged.

COURZEN RECOMMENDS EARLY CONFERENCE

Paris, Oct. 8.—Early summoning of a Franco-British conference is insisted upon by Earl Curzon of London, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, in an important note on the subject of reparations received by the French foreign office yesterday, says "Perrinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris.

Further, he says, and suggests that this meeting be followed by a "veritable international conference" at Spa recently, at which the subject of reparations was discussed. It is said, would be to transform into a definite convention plans elaborated by financial experts.

Hope that objections of France to the financial conference, which was to have been held in Geneva last August, are not permanent, are expressed in the note, it is declared by "Perrinax."

KANSAS CITY HAS A BOMB MYSTERY

Hutchinson, Kas., Oct. 8.—A bomb plot mystery engaged the attention of local authorities today.

Finding last night of a cylinder containing a powerful charge of explosives under the approach to the city. Absence of threatening letters and a close check recently which indicated suspicion of any radical activities here put officials at a loss to understand the presence of the bomb.

Early today the police had no clues to follow, other than the story told by boys who picked up the bomb while working on the approach to the city.

The bomb, which G. M. Knowles, chief of police, alleged, contained sufficient explosives to destroy the viaduct, and other nearby buildings, had several fuses attached, but no detonating device.

MOTORMAN'S LEGS AMPUTATED TO GET HIM OUT OF WRECK

Doctor Removes Limb in the Light of Lantern.

New York, Oct. 8.—Physicians working with the aid of a lantern in the dark, amputated the right leg of Henry Helms, a motorman, in order to rescue him from a wrecked car. Helms was pinned under the car when physicians arrived, persuaded him to permit amputation without an anesthetic in order to save time. Later, his other leg, badly mangled, was also removed in a hospital. Helms and the conductor, William Wherax, who received a fractured skull, are said to have slight chance of recovery.

The accident happened when the brakes failed to function on the descent of a steep hill in Amsterdam avenue. Many of the passengers, who became hysterical when the car sped uncontrolled down the hill and ended in injury by huddling together on the rear platform.

MANY RUMORS, BUT NO FACTS

Specific Details Regarding Rent Profiteering Seem To Be Lacking.

Rent profiteering and methods of checking it were still topics of considerable interest in city hall circles today. The meeting of No. 1 committee of the city council next Wednesday is being awaited with some interest, as the matter is likely to be discussed.

So far, however, there have been many general allegations of unfair rentals, no specific complaints have been laid before the council. It is possible, however, that the committee of the city will be ready for the committee by next week.

Landlords also may be asked to give their version of the state of affairs. Many of them claim to be justified in refusing to rent their houses to certain families who believe will not care for the houses properly. They also assert that the view of the council is being taken at the expense of the cost of repairs and other additional expenses of that kind that increases the rental value of the houses and if they were to get any return on their money at all.

MILK PRICES ARE LOWER IN OXFORD COUNTY

Action of the Powder Factories Is Cause of the Decline.

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The milk flow was somewhat reduced by the unusually warm weather of the latter part of September, but is about normal for the season. Dairy farmers, however, in some of the dairy counties of the western part of the province have been more or less seriously affected by the closing-down on short notice of a number of milk powder plants.

Brant reports that about four hundred farmers in that county are concerned, and adds: "Some are now selling to dealers in the city of Brantford, others are separating and selling the cream, and a few are feeding the milk to pigs."

Oxford also speaks of the stoppage of milk powder operations, but states that the plants are now making butter or collecting milk for the cream. "One factory that formerly paid $2.85 a hundred for 3.5 per cent milk for powdering, is now offering only $2.50, at a time when patrons were looking for an increase in the price of milk."

Selling Car Loads. The Prescott and Russell representative states that some farmers' clubs are selling livestock by the carload and on a grading basis.

Cattle in Brant weighing from 700 to 800 pounds are being picked up by drovers at from 7 to 8 cents a pound.

Grey reports a number of cattle and sheep moving, although lambs have taken a slump in price during the week.

Little pigs are bringing from $16 to $18 a pair in Brant. The recent action of a number of milk powder plants in Western Ontario which have shut down or have changed operations in handling their milk, has caused dairy farmers to again look upon swine raising with favor. Bacon hogs are now selling at from $20 to $25.50 a hundred.

A carload of horses were shipped from the county of Grey during the week.

Brant states that live poultry, both cockerels and hens, are selling around 25 cents a pound.

Wheat is being marketed freely in Simcoe County at $2.35 a bushel. In Oxford $2.45 a bushel has been paid recently, but prices dropped considerably during the past week.

The new fall wheat is said to be looking in fair condition generally speaking.

Getting Good Yield.

All grains except spring wheat continue to show well in the threshing—better than was anticipated at harvest time. The quality is also good as a rule.

One lot of alfalfa in Peel County threshed out ten bushels to the acre, and sold for $18 a bushel from the machine.

Grey states that sweet clover has started a second growth, and that the crop will be much less than was anticipated.

Huron reports that $1.50 a barrel is being given for apples under the tree, and that evaporator plants are paying 40 cents a hundred for peeling apples.

Thousands of bushels of peaches are rotting on the ground in Lincoln, owing to the shortage of containers, high freight rates, and the scarcity of pickers. The hot weather toward the end of September also ripened the fruit sooner than was expected.

Grey reports that some farmers are buying threshing machines on the co-operative plan.

Corn cutting and silo filling are being rushed in order to get ahead of the frost. The tractor is being called on to assist in this work in a number of places.

INTERNATIONAL CREDIT SYSTEM IS URGED

Committees At Brussels Financial Congress Submit Recommendations.

Brussels, Oct. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Questions relative to free trade and protection were dodged in the recommendations made by the four standing committees of the international financial conference which were presented here today. An international credit system based on a pledge of the products of borrowing countries as collateral security was urged by the committee.

The international trade committee decided the question of tariffs was a political one and consequently not within its jurisdiction. It advised, however, that all other trade restrictions due to war conditions be softened immediately where possible and as soon as could be everywhere.

Economy and thrift are urgently recommended by the resolutions, and governments and municipalities are called upon not to appropriate money not visibly coming in. The reduction of floating debts is demanded, and it is declared that there should be no borrowings for other than productive enterprises.

Finally, in the reports of two of the committees, complete peace is declared to be essential to economic recovery, and the committees express their trust in the league of nations to bring to an end the wars now in progress.

London, Oct. 7.—The Gaelic League announces that Mayor MacSwiney yesterday sent a message to his fellow hunger strikers in Cork, asking them to join him in prayer "for the intercession of God in behalf of suffering and martyred Ireland."

POSSIBILITY OF USING SULPHUR SPRINGS TO ADD TO CITY SUPPLY

Public Utilities To Investigate For More Sources of Drinking Water.

WOULD COST $1,000

Some Commissioners Favor Kilworth Plan—Fear Attempt To Exploit There.

Investigation of the possibility of using sulphur springs to increase the city's drinking supply was decided upon by the public utilities commission Thursday afternoon. No immediate action will be taken pending the results of well tests at the asylum and on Front street. If large supplies of water can be obtained from these sources there will be no need to go elsewhere for water. Elimination of the iron from the Horton well water also will be tried.

A representative of the Morris Knowles Company, Windsor, said that the cost of such investigations would be about $1,000. He said it was quite feasible to build a plant which would eliminate all traces of sulphur from the water.

Whether the commission proceeds with this plan or not, an endeavor will be made to improve the Horton street water.

General Manager Buchanan may be asked later to prepare an estimate of the cost of establishing a plant for purifying and pumping the sulphur water.

Slacken Pumping. Commissioner P. G. Mitchell contended that the iron in the Horton street water could be eliminated by slackening the pumping. He claimed that the trouble there has arisen since the turbine pumps were installed. He advocated abandonment of the search for wells and immediate steps to secure more springs in the vicinity of Kilworth and Komoka. Even if these were not used immediately, he thought they should be procured, because if they waited longer the owners might want exorbitant prices for them. There are at least three million gallons of water available there which was not listed in General Manager Buchanan's report on the field, he said. He also differed with Mr. Buchanan's estimate for connecting the supply with the present system.

Commissioner Vining favored the continuation of experiments with wells. "If we find any considerable quantity of water it will do for two or three years," he said.

"We could afford to let the matter rest for a while. If no water is found, then I agree with Mr. Mitchell that we should go further afield and make preparations now for acquiring this supply next spring. But it should be carefully considered because it will mean doubling the present water rate."

Organized Attempt. T. W. McFarland, chairman of the commission, thought there was no need for haste in acquiring the spring lands for fear exorbitant prices would be asked. These had been considered as part of the city's supply for years, and the owners were not likely to part with them at more reasonable prices now than later. It would likely be necessary to expropriate, anyway, he thought, and stated that there even were rumors that an organized attempt was being made to acquire the whole land and exploit it at the expense of the city.

The chairman and the manager will investigate the possibilities of having the waterworks department operated under the public utilities act.

This would give power to lay water mains on a frontage basis. At present a resident at the far end of a new street has to pay the full cost of a water main to his premises if he does not wish the water service. Mayor Little was strongly in favor of the frontage plan.

The advice of Commissioner Mitchell, the manager will discuss with the fire chief the question of better fire protection for the schools. Mr. Mitchell said there were not sufficient hydrants in the vicinity of some of the buildings. In the question of establishing a municipal bowling green was referred to the playgrounds committee. McClary's Hunt Club asked permission to use the city's golf course. Mr. Mitchell thought that it would be of more general advantage if the city built the green and charged a small fee to organizations who wished to use it.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS DISCUSSED AT DEBATE

United Farmers' Club Held Fine Meeting at Crumlin.

Members of the United Farmers' Club of Crumlin and Dorchester held a closely-contested debate at their regular meeting at Crumlin on the subject of "Consolidated Schools." Messrs. Stanley Shaw and Harris of Dorchester supported the affirmative, and Fred Bailey and Miss Etta Mossip of Crumlin the negative, the latter winning by a close margin. The judges were Miss Banks of Dorchester, Mr. Yeo of London and John Judd of the Crumlin club.

In addition to the debate, a very excellent program was presented by a number of Crumliners, including a choral selection by Messrs. Potts, Howe, Wansley, Squires and Burdon; vocal solos by Miss Lethbridge and Scotch dances by Little Miss and Master Smith. The entire program was accorded a hearty reception.

C. Smith occupied the chair. At the conclusion of the program the Crumlin club served refreshments. The November meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Collier.

PAY SYSTEM AT BYRON BAD, SAY PATIENTS

Veterans' Council To Write Govt. Asking Semi-Monthly Payments There.

G. T. R. DISCHARGES UP

Appointment of Mrs. R. M. Graham As Pension Investigator Opposed.

Patients at Byron, by means of a petition complained to the Central Veterans' Council last night because they have been getting paid monthly instead of twice monthly as was formerly the rule. The council has learned that Col. Shannon, assistant director of the soldiers' re-establishment commission, is firm in his stand to continue the monthly payments, so an appeal for a remedy will be made to the Government.

The petitioners claim that the present system of paying them has resulted in their dependents suffering hardships. The petitioners, headed by Harry Wray, complain that some of the soldiers receiving since the Government took over the management of the road, because he is crippled, decided to take the matter before the prime minister, the minister of railways, the minister of labor, and Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades Congress.

Opposition will be made to the appointment of Mrs. R. M. Graham as pension investigator for the veterans' council. The council has instructed the secretary, R. Lavender, to write to the prime minister, asking for the appointment of a full-time pension investigator to the name of the applicants from London and the reason for the appointment was made. "The veterans," said Mr. Lavender, "are very much dissatisfied with the appointment."

The three soldiers' organizations of the city will be asked to support the matter of tax exemption for soldiers. The secretary of the veterans' council, Mr. Wray, is asking for their support in pushing the matter of tax exemption for soldiers. He is asking for their support in pushing the matter of tax exemption for soldiers.

It was decided to ask all the organizations interested in the establishment of a juvenile court to send representatives to a meeting to be held upon the city council the necessity of such a court in London.

An inspection of the Government employment bureau by a committee was declared satisfactory.

FLAT RATE FOR PRESENT, PLAN

Mothers' Pensions Limits To Be Fixed Later—Need Experience First.

The applications for mothers' allowances now coming before the local board are being investigated in the order in which they are received. When thorough investigation has been made and the case proved worthy the board will fix a flat rate temporarily. The rate is but temporary because the commission has not sufficient data to fix a maximum or minimum allowance.

The mothers' allowance act states that a minimum and maximum must be fixed, and the commission believes that by experience in handling cases it will be better able to judge what the rate should be.

The flat rate for the city will be: widow with five or more children, $5 per month; widow with four children, $4 per month; widow with three children, $3 per month; widow with two children, $2 per month.

In the country the rate will be: widow with five or more children, $4.50 per month; widow with four children, $3.50 per month; widow with three children, $2.50 per month; widow with two children, $1.50 per month.

CHILDREN'S HOSTEL TO BE CONSIDERED

Executive Meeting of Soldiers' Aid Commission On Friday.

The Soldiers' Aid Commission will hold an executive meeting in the city hall tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The commission is considering the erection of a children's hostel which will be one of the most important projects of the commission. The Soldiers' Aid Society is anxious to co-operate with the Soldiers' Aid Commission in the erection of the hostel, but it is alleged that some of the prominent members of the commission view the matter with skepticism. The Soldiers' Aid Society is an unprogressive, and for this reason it is doubtful whether it will show any great eagerness to work with the Children's Aid Society.

COL. BROWN TO SPEAK.—The Education of a Citizen will be the very timely subject with which Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of Western University, will deal before the men of Askin Street Methodist Church Men's Brotherhood on Sunday morning next at 10 o'clock.

PRINCIPALS' REQUEST FOR WAGE INCREASE FILED FOR PRESENT

Board Committee Argue It Will Mean Increases To Other Teachers.

TO AUGMENT STAFF

Manual Training and Domestic Science Instructors To Be Sought.

No. 1 committee of the board of education Thursday afternoon filed the application of the public school principals of London to be advanced to their maximum salaries the 1st of January, 1921. In a letter to the committee the school principals contended that the granting of their request would only mean an additional $1,000 in salaries, but the committee took a different view of the matter. Mrs. A. T. Edwards said that some of the women teachers already think they are being fairly treated than are the male teachers and Chairman A. T. Edwards expressed the view that to grant one section of the teaching service special increases would result in a strike from all the other teachers. Then the $4,000 would multiply into $50,000. Hence the school principals will have to wait until the next general increase in salaries is under consideration.

The women trustees and Inspector C. D. Edwards were authorized to attend the child welfare convention at Ottawa on October 20.

Complaints having been made by ratepayers against the half-day sessions, arrangements will be made to secure additional cottage accommodation for Wortley road and Victoria road. The school principals will be required to move to 63 Bruce street, and an adjacent cottage will be secured for the Wortley road school, where the progress of the building in making additions is crowding out the old building.

The secretary will advertise for domestic science teachers, and probably a preference will be given returned soldiers in the latter class. Inquiries are being made of the returned soldiers already employed are giving admirable service.

Miss Josephine Grant, who was recommended for appointment to the permanent substitute teachers' list.

Kingsville Has "Masher" Problem. Council Instructs the Chief of Police To Take Action.

[Special To The Advertiser.] Kingsville, Oct. 7.—This town has a "masher" problem as well as London, and the council is taking steps to deal with the matter. The chief of police has been instructed to take action.

The council, a delegation from W. C. T. U. composed of Mrs. E. E. Millard and Miss Ritchie, addressed the members regarding children of very tender years having cigarettes in their possession. The council decided to make a fine to find out who was supplying the little boys with the cigarettes. They also drew attention to the practice induced in by certain drivers of autos and buggies of accounting for the children on the street and urging them to go for a ride. The council went on record that it would have the chief of police attend to both complaints.

FINED $10 FOR BEATING HORSES

Magistrate Scores Teamster Found Guilty of Cruelty to Animals.

Alex. Shannon, an employee of W. J. Ross, contractor, was fined $10 and costs, or one month in prison, and given a scolding lecture by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court today because he was found guilty of cruelly beating a team of horses on the river bank near Blackfriars bridge on October 4. Because his team could not haul a heavy load of wet gravel up a steep incline, Shannon unmercifully beat them with whip and lines about the head and body.

P. C. Sidney Scagell, who laid the complaint, said that from the bridge he saw the accused try to make the grade eight times, but every time the wagon rolled back. Each time he beat the horses with lines and whip, so that the blows sounded like someone beating a carpet. After about fifteen minutes of this, he discovered that the horses were covered about the head and body with marks. Shannon told him, he said, that others' teams had made the grade, and that he could if they wanted to do it. The grade was about 50 per cent steep.

Mrs. Selma C. Myers, who lives on Westmoreland avenue, was called as a witness. She corroborated the policeman's evidence as far as she saw the incident. Mrs. Evelyn Brown was also called.

Shannon told the magistrate that he was not abusing the horses, although he hit them three times and used the lines mostly.

"Your idea of abusing horses is different from mine," said the magistrate. "I know Mr. Ross and I know his horses and I have no reason to believe that the team refused to go up that hill as you say. Mr. Ross owns a good team and it could be done. This cruelty to animals will go on until someone is imprisoned. You are liable to three months in prison or $50 fine."

CLAIMS $200 FOR CELLAR FLOODING

P. C. Chas. Reick Demanding Settlement From Utilities Board.

Claim for $200 damages was made against the public utilities commission at its meeting Thursday night. Charles Reick, 15 McDermott avenue, because his cellar was flooded three times to the depth of four feet by water from a broken pipe. The first accident happened last January when the meter was damaged by frost. The damage could be repaired. No further trouble occurred until June. Mr. Reick was away at that time for two weeks, and did not shut off the water. When he returned he again found his cellar flooded and articles stored there badly damaged. He shut off the water immediately and telephoned the waterworks department for a pump. Both pumps were in use that time in connection with the live water coming from the pipe. He then decided it was time to ask for damages.

According to Commissioner Mitchell, the pipes were broken by the concussion caused by the use of a nearby hydrant, which is at the end of a long stretch of pipe. He thought the housing commission would be responsible for the damage, as the hydrant was used in connection with a house they were building. Mr. Mitchell claimed there were several dead ends of the water main.

The general manager will see Mr. Reick to arrange a settlement.

COMING TO LONDON
Henry Deacon takes Position With Local Cigar Firm.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Leamington, Oct. 8.—Henry Deacon, manager of the Foster Tobacco Company's factory here for several years, has moved to London, where he has accepted a position in the Ward cigar factory.

Groups of southerners from Virginia and North Carolina, who have been curing bright leaf tobacco in this locality for several weeks past, are leaving for home daily, carrying fat bank rolls with them. They commended from $50 to $80 per week and transportation both ways, more than double the pay of former years.

Word has been received here of the death at Cape Girardeau, Missouri, of George A. Turner, one of the proprietors of the Cape Ash novelty works.

Mr. Turner is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, a sister, Mrs. W. W. Watts, both of Chatham, Ont., Canada, and a brother, Wilson Turner of Toronto, all of whom, with his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. S. Winton of Leamington, attended the funeral.

BUSINESS GOOD.—London reports to Bradstreet's say that the general volume of business passing is satisfactory on the whole, and there is little in the way of pessimism apparent. Farmers are busy on the land, and a good year, finishing up their fall work. Some of the milk condensers which recently closed down have commenced operations again in the manufacture of butter which will provide an outlet for dairy farmers' surplus milk. Some declines have been recorded recently in certain farm products, such as oats, wheat and potatoes in consequence of the large crops. Payments on the whole are satisfactory.

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY
With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

SPEND $70,000 ON GOOD ROADS

County Commissioners in Session Here To Discuss the Work.

The road commissioners of Middlesex County, a body comprised of the representatives of all the municipalities in the county, outside of the city, met this morning and received a report of County Engineer Talbot on the county roads appropriation for the current year. Of the county estimates for work this year there still remains unspent $25,000, which, with the government grants to be added, will make the total amount still to be expended this year approximately $70,000.

On account of a considerable mileage of county roads being taken over as provincial roads under the Ontario Government's new highway scheme, the county road commissioners will have to take over new roads as designated in the future as county roads. It is understood that the county will maintain the same mileage as heretofore and that there will be no slackening of good roads efforts on the part of the county as a result of the Government undertaking to do more work. The result will be felt all along the line. The county will take over the townships and other municipalities of the care of additional mileage and the townships and villages in turn will be able to concentrate more strongly on the improvement of the remaining mileage of county roads and village streets.

The county roads commission is continuing in session this afternoon.

WIDOWS' ALLOWANCES ARE BEING HELD UP

Delay in Appointing Nominees Is To Blame, Says Major Murphy.

"The delay by several townships in the district in appointing a governing body for the mothers' allowances is keeping many of the widows from receiving their allowances," said Major Murphy, local representative for the Mothers' Allowance Commission, at the advertiser today. "If the councils do not appoint the governing bodies, the provincial commission of Toronto will do the appointing."

This was decided upon at the meeting of the commission in Toronto on Tuesday. The commission has experienced difficulty with several townships in the London district, and the result is that the widows are complaining to the provincial commission, asking why their cases are not investigated.

Major Murphy stated that up to the present there are more than 100 applications in the local board's hands to be investigated, but he believes the greater number will be eliminated after being looked into by Miss R. M. Graham, the local investigator. In general, applications for allowances are to be made to the first instance to the local board, which will consider them in relation to the terms of the mothers' allowances and regulations and will forward the same with their report and recommendations to the provincial commission.

LONDON DRAMA LEAGUE HOLDS FIRST MEETING
Fall Season Is Inaugurated by Splendid First Meeting.

At the first meeting for the fall London Drama League in the Institute of Musical Art last night Miss Grace Blackburn read a play from her own pen, entitled "A Fashionable Milliner Establishment." The play itself was most entertaining. "More delightful than anything we have had yet, and it was a real success," declared the president, Tamblin. Indeed, Madame Taffeta, with her peculiar words and her blarney, the central figure of the drama, is remarkably true to the life in which she is placed—a New York dressmaking establishment.

Dr. Barnett of the Western University spoke at length on the words on the great help which the university library might be in the study of drama, and asked the members to come and make use of it. Dr. Tamblin made an announcement that already several reading circles had been started among the members of the Drama League.

A short selection from "The Widow Thurns," by Barrie, was given by Miss Jean Walker, and some excellent vocal numbers by Mrs. Scofield, lately from England, and by Miss Hilda McMillan of Innesville.

Two places in the executive made vacant by the departure from the city of Sydney Reid, and Robert Hanahan were filled last night. Mrs. E. H. Johnston being selected as vice-president and Sidney Reid as a member of the executive. Miss Madeline Simpson was made temporary secretary in the absence of Miss Piddar, and Miss Marjorie Ross her assistant secretary.

MASONIC GATHERING.—While no invitations have been sent to out-of-town lodges to attend a meeting of the St. John's Lodge, 209, A. F. and A. M., to be held in the Masonic Hall this evening, several visitors from various Western Ontario are expected to be present. It was expected that the members of Tuckson Lodge of Toronto were to be here for the occasion, and preparations had been made for the visit, but they have sent their regrets. The third degree will be conferred by the past master. It is expected that at least 150 will be present.

F. P. Betts Is New Chancellor

Takes Important Position in Connection With Diocese of Huron.

F. P. Betts, K. C., has been appointed chancellor of the Diocese of Huron, succeeding the late V. A. Cronyn, K. C., who held that office from 1887 until his death, some months ago. The bishop of Huron, in making this appointment, has recognized the long career of Mr. Betts, who has been a member of the Diocese of Huron since the Diocese was created.

MAY RECONSIDER CLOSING OF OFFICE

Many Protests Against Action That Was Proposed At Ottawa.

Nothing definite is yet known as to the disposition of the London immigration office. The department at Ottawa has not intimated in any way to Immigration Inspector John Riggs, at present in charge of the office, his intention to close the office, although Mr. Riggs himself, in common with hundreds of other veteran Government employees, has been offered an opportunity to be added to the retired list. A report that the local office was to be closed became current, however, and has never been either denied or confirmed. Vigorous protests against the closing of the office have been made to Ottawa by the London Chamber of Commerce and other London and Western Ontario bodies, by S. Frank Glass, M. P., on several occasions, and by Major Hume Cronyn, M. P., before Major Cronyn left to become secretary of the opposition developed at the reported prospect of closing the office was much greater than might have been expected, and it is believed that if the Government actually did have any intention of closing the office, it would likely be led to reconsider such an intention.

SIDNEY SARE IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

Was Unable to Explain Why He Left County Jail Unconsciously.

Sidney Sare did not believe it was becoming for a man to work in a kitchen, so on August 3 last, when as a prisoner he was put to work in the kitchen of the county jail he left without asking leave. This morning in the police court he was asked to explain his breach of prison etiquette, and as he could not give a satisfactory explanation he was sentenced to not more than two years less one day and three months in the Ontario Reformatory.

The prisoner pleaded guilty and attorney for the defence decided to accept summary trial by the magistrate. He had been a trusted prisoner while in the jail and had been allowed to work in the kitchen one day and did not return. Since that time he has been wandering around the city.

His sentence is to run concurrently with his unfinished sentence. He was also arraigned on the charge of vagrancy, but no evidence was taken.

Lower Prices of Milk and Bread

Important Reductions Are Already in Effect At Tillsonburg.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Tillsonburg, Oct. 8.—At last the reduction in prices is beginning to be a reality in Tillsonburg, and the settlement really started with the advance in the price of milk last week. A committee from the town council, composed of Councillors Perry and Ribble and Deputy Reeve Putnam, was appointed, along with the local food controller, E. L. Torrens, to interview the local dealers as to the high prices of milk, and this announcement already had its effect today when milk dropped to 11 cents per quart at the vendor's stand, with a likelihood of another drop to 10 cents. The local bakers will drop the price of bread to 13 cents per loaf on Monday, while sugar is retailing at $19.99 per 100 pounds today, the cheapest figure in a good many months, and with every likelihood of another drop very soon.

NINE FINED.—J. Bobler, George, Gilmore, R. S. McKay, T. A. McMahon, Robert Hean and John Quinn, all of this city, were fined $5 and costs in the local police court for breaches of the motor vehicle act. W. H. Payne, Fred Sawyer and John Quick were assessed $2 and costs for breaches of the same act.

PLENTY OF APPLES FOR THE ORPHANS

Utilities Commissioners Give Fine Supply To Local Institutions.

Ready response from the public utilities commission to the appeal of the Children's Aid Society for apples to be used at the various orphan homes in the city, has insured an adequate supply of fruit for the kiddies' enjoyment.

Although most citizens are not aware of it, Springfield Park contains a good orchard, where prize specimens of many kinds of apples are grown. Snow apples in particular were an excellent crop this year, and when an appeal was made for supplies the commission immediately agreed to give as many of these as were wanted.

Inspector W. J. Kelly acknowledged the donation and pointed out that while sufficient apples for all needs were in sight, supplies of potatoes were still badly needed, and donations of this kind would be gladly welcomed.

MAY TAKE VOTE ON JUVENILE COURT

Question Likely To Be Put Up to the Ratepayers.

Establishment of a juvenile court in London may be decided upon by the electors next January, F. B. Lavendar, secretary of the Central Veterans' Council, said today. The matter was discussed by the Veterans' Council last night.

It was decided to seek an interview with Mayor Little in regard to the matter, and to ask other local bodies who are interested to co-operate. According to Mr. Lavendar, the conference of these representatives with the mayor will be for the purpose of agreeing on some person who can be recommended unanimously as a suitable magistrate for the court if established. Several names have been mentioned in connection with the appointment, and it is therefore considered desirable to recommend a person who will be satisfactory to all concerned. It has not been settled whether the appointee recommended will be a man or a woman.

The suggestion that the advisability of letting the people decide whether the court is wanted will also be advanced. Those advocating its establishment are confident that the citizens will approve it, particularly as they claim the cost of it will be but two or three thousand dollars.

The council also registered a vigorous protest against the commission of sexual offences against the G. T. R. car shops. This was forwarded to the minister of justice, J. S. Macdonald, and Thomas Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress.

INSPIRING ADDRESSES DELIVERED TO FORTY STUDENTS OF I. C. S.

Town Planning Opponents Observe Armistice During Evening of Dinner.

City Clerk Samuel Baker and John Cottam, whose diplomatic relationships have been torn and strained by the town-planning problem, declared a truce on Thursday night long enough to deliver two inspirational addresses to 40 young men of this city in the Indian room of the Tecumseh House. It was formed by the local branch of the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Pa.

Mr. Baker addressed the assembly on "How To Make Education a Means of Inspiration." He defined education generally as the enlargement of the power of the enjoyment in doing things. It need not be secured in school alone, but in the factories and homes. Inspiration, he said, was that force which turned an ordinary man into a truly successful one.

Nothing, the speaker continued, could be secured without work or sacrifice. If one is to be worthy of the name of a man, he must be willing to sacrifice many pleasures. A student must not limit himself to the mere absorbing of facts. He must become original, to learn to play his own hand. It was this accomplishment, he said, which made many of the great men of the world.

Concentrate. Mr. Baker said that a man must learn to depend on himself. To make final decisions and to do things promptly. It was a good plan to burn bridges behind one and to concentrate all attention to the attack. If one is industrious, faithful and a gentleman the willing-to-do spirit would be the beckoning hand leading to success.

A man must create a reserve force, he claimed. He must also educate himself physically as well as mentally. If there was a danger in overstudying. After John Cottam had said many things in the praise of Mr. Baker, he said, he had great respect for the profundity of the differences of their opinions on some subjects, and lauding the members of the club, he spoke on education from two angles, which he described as unusual. He did not think that the members of the club needed so much inspiration as guidance. He believed absolutely that the members of the class should meet together often in order that they might be helped by each other. He advocated cheerfulness and optimism.

Diet Essential. One of the most essential things in a great success was the diet upon which a man lived. The food question must be studied carefully and with as much importance as it is not more important than sleep. Self-control must be learned, or else a man's success would be minimized.

Mr. Cottam said that people today were living their lives unconsciously of the sacrifices made by the men overseas. He said that if great care and tact was not employed in solving the problems of the day the world would be plunged in another bloody war. He called upon every member of the club to do his part in solving the problems.

He predicted harder times in the future, when the inflated balloon of abnormal prosperity was pricked. He did not believe that workmen would be content to return to pre-war conditions. Proper laws should be enacted to protect the workman and their dependents. He strongly advised economy, although, he said, a reasonable amount of pleasure was necessary.

A. W. Branch acted as chairman.

BEST METHODS OF FIGHTING THE BORER

Farmers Urged To Exterminate Pest Destructive To Corn.

Instructions regarding the best method of fighting the European corn borer, which has been causing considerable damage in some sections, is contained in a pamphlet sent out by the entomological branch of the department of agriculture at Ottawa.

The bulletin in part is as follows: "All parts of corn which is the most favored food plant are attacked, except the fibrous roots. The most serious damage is caused to the stalks and ears, which are partially or totally destroyed. The borer generally enters the stalk at the upper end, near the base of the tassel, and at first tunnels upward. The damage so weakens the tassel stalk that it breaks over before the tassel matures, resulting in loss of pollen and normal fertilization of grain in the ears. After destroying the tassel the borer tunnels downward through the stalk gradually increasing the size of their tunnels as they develop.

Means of Control. 1. Cut corn stalks as close to the ground as possible, thus reducing the number of borers left in the stubble. The earlier the season the corn is cut the better. Some farmers this year are cutting the worst infested patches by hand with a sharp-pointed, short-handled hoe. With such a tool the stalks may be cut almost level with the ground. Flowing under infested stubble will not kill the borers. Experiments have shown that they will walk their way up through sixteen inches of soil. 2. Put corn fodder in the silo, or at least feed the stalks free from weeds. The borers have already been found in the smartweed, lambs-quarters, ragweed, and certain thick-stemmed grasses and other weeds.

3. Burn or bury deeply in the spring all infested corn stalks, cobs, waste, etc., after winter feeding of stock, or manure with horse manure. There is not sufficient heat generated in cow manure to destroy the borers.

Important Don'ts. Don't leave corn stalks standing in the fields all winter to be plowed under in spring. Unused corn stalks should be burned in early spring. Don't throw old stalks, cobs, litter, etc., in the cow yard to be trampled on the borer. Don't spread the corn borer into new territory by shipping infested stalks, corn on the cob, or corn cobs, either for feed for stock or packing purposes.

INSPECT HOUSES ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Mothers' Club To Serve Tea in Buildings At Pine Lawn.

Thanksgiving Day the new houses erected at Pine Lawn by the housing commission will be open to the inspection of the citizens, and two of the houses will be completely furnished, so that it will be apparent just how occupied. Tea and cocoa will be sold by the Union Mothers' Club for the benefit of the Sick Children's Hospital.

At the meeting Thursday evening, presided over by E. R. Dennis, all reports indicated that business has no dull moments for the housing commission. F. B. Lavender, business agent, reported that nine or ten new inquiries for houses for purchase, or loans to erect houses, are being received daily. Light, gas and water connections will be made immediately for the houses on Gerrard avenue, as applicants are waiting to move into practically all the houses.

Beatrice street, Pine Lawn, will be opened through from Hydro to Price streets, purchase of land for the purpose from residents on either side being recommended by the commission. The amounts to be paid being $204 and $55.

Among the latest applicants for houses are employees of the new Riverdale Motor Company. Several of them cannot be provided with the houses they desire at once, and the housing commission is endeavoring to accommodate in other houses.

VETS HAVE PLAN TO DEFEAT MASHERS

Appoint Committee To Encourage Amateur Boxing in London—Secure Instructor.

Believing that much of the trouble reported to the police by citizens of London, especially recently in connection with the activities of would-be masher, could be eliminated if the clean-living men of the city had a proper knowledge of the "manly art of self-defence," the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans has decided to initiate a practical course of education in boxing, and has secured the services of one of its members, Thomas Wallace, as instructor. A committee has also been named to take the matter in hand and to arrange a series of classes.

Classes will be formed and tournaments held from time to time, winners to receive silver cups and runners-up, gold medals.

Wallace was three times champion in the bantamweight and featherweight classes of the Imperial Army in India. In this war he served four years, most of the time being in prison camp in Germany. While there he taught fellow-prisoners the art, despite the fact that there were strict regulations made by the Germans prohibiting boxing.

It was brutal sport, "Nevertheless," said Mr. Wallace, "they have since appointed a number of instructors in Germany to teach the German youth and soldiers."

While in India, he was connected with the 1st Battalion, Bedfordshire Regiment. One of his fellow-prisoners in Germany, was "Bob" Watt of this city, he stated. Mr. Wallace holds a diploma for his work in the German camps, it being issued to him by the British authorities. Among his pupils in the prison camps were Pte. W. S. Reynolds, Sgt. Mitchell, and Corp. J. Hillier, all former members of the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles and now believed to be residents of Toronto. "I have not seen them since my return, but I would like to meet some of my old pals," he said.

TORYISM IN THE SADDLE.

The Tory element in Canada is making a desperate effort to rehabilitate itself through the person of its new leader, Hon. Arthur Meighen. The tributes that were paid to Sir Robert Borden as the man who led the country through the trials of the war years are put in the shade by the extravagant praise that is being poured out upon Hon. Arthur Meighen. The country has a leader at last, we are told; again we are informed that already (although the new premier has been but a few weeks in office), the party in power is tremendously stronger and some of the Tory writers can scarcely keep from making belittling remarks about the man who has just passed out of office.

There is no doubt that the Tory party thinks it has a real dyed-in-the-wool leader in Mr. Meighen, and the utterances of the premier lend a good deal of support to that view. Toronto narrowness and prejudices will be encouraged by the denunciations of all opposed in their views as dangerous citizens. All the forces that stand for the old order of things in social, industrial and political life, will feel that they may safely leave their fortunes to the new premier. But on the other hand all those forward-looking Canadians, who believe that there are wrongs to be righted, greater happiness to be bestowed, wider opportunity afforded every man, will find no favorable place in the classification of Canadians that Mr. Meighen is making. There is nothing that the young man of this country will find of stimulus in the Meighen policies. They are old men's policies, even though a young man enunciates them.

What is there to hope for from a Government that with two exceptions remains the same as before the new head took charge? Mr. Meighen would not be there today if some of the ministers now serving under him had had their way. Possibly they also would not be where they are if he had had his way. It is no happy family that gathers around the comeli table at Ottawa, and there is as much incompetency as ever. Sir George Foster still holds on to office, although so strong a ministerialist organ as the Montreal Gazette recently made a scathing charge of incompetent direction of the Canadian trade service in England and hinted that it was a generation behind the times. This, of course, is a small matter to a cabinet that is so busy setting up paper windmills through the Labor Gazette in order to have the joy of tilting at them.

DANGER IN PRICE COLLAPSE.

Those who are joyfully heralding a reduction in the prices of necessities should reflect that a too great drop would be disastrous to business and industry. A collapse that would at once bring back the prices that prevailed previous to the war might very easily start a panic that would bring a winter of idleness for many thousands with great misery. If financial and commercial conditions are to remain stable, if industry is to keep on producing steadily as at present, reduction in prices must be of a gradual nature. Business can stand just so much strain at a time. If the drop in prices be too sudden the structure on which finance, industry and trade are based will, if it does not break, at least bend seriously and produce a depression that must close many plants and throw immense numbers out of employment. In time we will have cheaper commodities, but it would be fighting with disaster to cut prices at a pace that would drive manufacturers and traders into bankruptcy or curtailment of production that would take the means of living away from the worker. It is natural that the consumer should be impatient at this slow method of bringing down the cost of living, but that way is the safe and sane way.

ITALY'S FESTIVAL.

On the twentieth of September the Italians celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of Victor Emmanuel's entry into Rome. Italy is in a way a younger nation than the Dominion of Canada, a younger state though an older people.

The Italian people has existed since in ancient times, about the beginning of the Christian era, practically the whole body of free Italians had become Roman citizens. They then ruled the world for five centuries, a people imperial and proud. But at the close of the fifth century A. D. they disintegrated and the Italian peninsula became a bundle of petty states, largely hostile to one another, for the next 1400 years. However, all spoke various dialects of one language and about 600 years ago Dante and then the great artists of the Renaissance after him, revived the proud self-consciousness of Italian nationality. But nevertheless the peninsula remained politically divided down to 1860. Even after that the Austrians held Venice till 1866 and the Pope continued his temporal and separate power over Rome itself, supported by a French garrison. The withdrawal of this garrison in 1870 at the crisis of the Franco-Prussian war, enabled the army of the Italian king to march into the Eternal City. Since that 20th of September Rome has been once again the capital of a reunited Italy.

A writer in the London Times says that "if Germany and Austria had won the late war, the Temporal Power of the papacy would probably have been restored in some form." The transfer of the Government of the city of Rome back to the Vatican would have been a deathblow to the young kingdom of Italy. Whether or not Austria would have gone that far, there can be little doubt that the splitting up of national Italy would have been one of the revenges of those Central Empires who trampled on weaker nationalities, just as the Entente's victory has meant the splitting up of anti-national Austria, the Celtic Anarch, as Shelley called the Hapsburg.

Italy's sensational progress, industrial, political and scientific, since 1870, is well known. The part played by her armies in the late war was highly important, five million men mobilized and maintained. Her success is a guarantee of what may be achieved by the nations just set free from Russian, German, Austrian and Turkish tyranny.

At present, of course, the economic situation in Italy is chaotic. Great burdens of debt and taxation have made the people restless, and business is in a transitional state, passing apparently from pure capitalism to some sort of compromise between the old system and general co-operation. As Italians have a genius for constructive and original administration, as well as for diplomacy, they may be trusted to pull safely through the present stress and anxieties to at least some modus vivendi. The future of Italy is assured by its stalwart nationality, its prolific birth-rate and the unique combination of brilliant talents with capacity for patient toil in its inhabitants.

"LETTERS TO THE EDITOR."

The press generally has long been recognized as a medium through which the individual could eliminate from his system the well-known seethe. Via "Letters to the Editor," many a hearty "kick" has been registered, that if not given public expression, might have produced a dangerous cerebral explosion. But, while The Advertiser, with other newspapers, recognizes the necessity of its acting as a safety-valve, and welcomes communications on all subjects, it insists once more that all letters must appear above the correct name of the writer. At the present moment there are in this office numerous excellent letters on a variety of subjects of great general interest that cannot be published because they are unsigned. Many of these views are strong ones. Some of them are indignant and reasonable arraignment of public abuses. They display a healthy citizenship. Why, then, hide behind anonymity? Modesty is a charming virtue, but it is not necessary in the above disguise, and, indeed, is much more likely to be considered as displaying a lack of courage.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Taking a bottle as company on a holiday trip to Windsor is a carrying of coals to Newcastle.

The aroma of roasting macaroni broke an Italian hunger-strike. Perhaps MacSwiney would surrender to an Irish stew.

If boasts of their daily consumptions are just ones, some citizens must have a good-sized cemetery at the rear of their homes.

Some girls lament the fact that they are shy. Nevertheless, the angler who does the least talking generally gets the fish.

One New York restaurant has engaged a French chef at a salary of $40,000 per year and an assistant at $20,000 a year. At that scale how would you like to be a dishwasher?

Italy does not take long to find out her mistakes. Her experiences with the Triple Alliance, and more recently with the "Red" epidemic are sufficient evidence as to that.

They ought to build skyscrapers higher in New York so that Mr. de Valera, the so-called Irish "president," could get an occasional glimpse at the place of which he claims he is chief executive.

THE BOSTON LUNCH BOX.

Boston carrying lunch boxes to work as a protest against profiteering by the restaurants is thoughtfully reminiscent of New York parading in overalls demonstration against excessive clothing prices. Of course, lunch boxes cannot be a complete cure of the evil any more than overalls were, but they can be just as effective as a barometer of public opinion, a plain warning that it has ceased to be safe to exploit the people. If Boston continues long enough to carry its lunch in boxes, restaurant prices will come down. he boycott is an infallible remedy against profiteering, and the restaurants are peculiarly vulnerable to the boycott.

NAPOLEON AND HIS QUILL.

Who won the war? Why, of course, Lord Northcliffe, with the assistance of his trusty knight, Sir Campbell Stuart. This great discovery is being proclaimed daily, not only by "The Thunderer" and all the other Dandle Dimmons of Harnsworth Hope, but also by the defeated and discomfited Hun. If the Germans say so, it is so. And they are saying it daily, at the suggestion of the subtle Ludendorff, who is perfectly willing to admit that the home front was pierced by Lord Northcliffe as long as he himself has not to confess that he was routed by Marshal Foch, and who is quite prepared to acquiesce in the cunning of Sir Campbell Stuart as long as he is not asked to bow to the soldiership of Lord Haig. When the Drocourt-Queant switch line was broken, the German general staff suddenly sent its poisoned leadets from Creve House. It was perfectly clear that some explanation, other than the true one, had to be found for the collapse of Germany, and with their characteristic modesty the noble viscount and Sir Campbell were good enough to come forward. "Blame the propagandists," will now be the refuge of all unfortunate generals. And so persistent are the Germans in their claim, plimentary damnations that just as a certain Mr. Joseph Smedley in the end came to believe that he won the Battle of Waterloo, so a certain English peer may in time come to say, "When Foch failed, when Haig wavered, I came in." For ourselves, we are quite convinced that the men who broke the German war and home fronts were not the heroes of Creve House, but Marshal Foch and Field-Marshal Haig, and the gallant officers and men who worked under them on land, and Lord Jellicoe and Lord Beatty and the might of the British navy at sea. Further, the forces which broke the Hapsburg and Italian shells and bayonets. But in an age of quackery the quick remedy always gets a hearing.

From Here and There

COLLEGE VACATION.

[Montreal Gazette.]
Whether the college student has too much vacation is again the subject of inquiry among university leaders. Following some researches conducted by the Yale News last spring, Dean Randall of Brown has now made investigations on his own account, and reached the conclusion that 205 days, the average length of the academic year, might be increased with profit both to the student and the college. It is pointed out that the argument in favor of long vacations is not as strong as it used to be. Time was when students utilized the various recesses to earn money with which to pay their way through college. In these days, too, many of them lived on farms, where their services were much in demand during the summer months. With the change in the character of the undergraduate body has come a feeling in many quarters that the proper training for a work-a-day life consists in going to college somewhat more than five months of the year.

THE NEW ERA IN SCIENCE.

[London Daily News.]
This year the presidential address of the British Association deals largely with our food supply of fish, and the change marks the advance of science as well as its outside relationships. Science made contributions to the conduct of the war which have illuminated the possibilities of its value in the arts of peace. The answer to the criticism of Professor Gardiner that the character of the body has come to provide a cure for maggots in the apple instead of deducing a cosmic theory from it is that science is willingly showing its ability to help the world in such ways. It will not suffer from keeping its feet planted on the common earth, for at the same time such discussions as the forthcoming one on psychology and spiritualism prove that it is still reaching out towards the clouds beyond which lies the truth that men hope will embrace all science on its universality.

THE BEAUTY OF LANGUAGE.

[Canon Newbolt in London Morning Post.]
Something is gone from the words, written and spoken, of today. There used to be an unwritten standard of beauty, propriety and excellence by which human utterance was instinctively regulated. Self-respect, conventionality and etiquette required it. But it is not so now. Slang has almost become a dialect of its own. It has invaded our pulpits. We hear in sermons, in close juxtaposition with the most sacred things, the coarsest and most vulgar language. In the camp and barracks, which the army chaplains brought home with them. An oath or a profanity is not unknown; it adds points to the discourse, and the language of the soldier is a half of the daily conversation of social life men and women seem to vie with each other in casting away even the conventionalities of conversation, lest they should seem priggish and out of touch. And yet we feel instinctively that even conversation cannot bear impoverishing, and that language as it passes through each generation must be preserved from losing its beauty and its purity from contact with what is ephemeral and unworthy.

AMBASSADRESSES.

[Westminster Gazette.]
When Lady Astor urged the opening of diplomatic posts to the right, she was preceded from good old Tudor times. Raphael Holmsted, the sixteenth century chronicler, tells us that in 1529 (just at the time when Wolsey was in difficulties over the divorce) the Lady Margaret, Duchess of Savoy, and the Lady Isabella, Duchess of Anjou, mother of the French king, met to treat of peace, and that through their diligence peace was concluded between the emperor, the pope, and the kings of England and France. But the chronicler goes on to tell us that when all was finished a solemn Mass was sung, "the two lady ambassadors of the King of England sitting in great state." They might have been the wives of ambassadors, of course, but the context rather suggests the opposite, though it does not give the names of the fair diplomats. King Henry VIII, was, undoubtedly, a ladies' man, but was he ever represented at a peace conference by ladies?

WOMEN MASONS.

[London Daily Telegraph.]
One more masculine stronghold has been informed, fallen to the monstrous religion of women. The Grand Lodge of French Freemasons has declared itself in favor of the admission of women to the craft. The splendid works of charity which are the glory of English Freemasonry may suggest that women would be well suited for membership of the craft. It might be argued, on the other hand, that a society composed of both sexes, however valuable, however pleasant, would inevitably lose some of the valued qualities of a male fraternity. Just as affectionate and devoted wives have been known to thank Providence for the existence of their husbands, and the existence of many women would prefer the men of their families to enjoy the delights of the Masonic Lodge alone.

PEACE—A VITAL NECESSITY.

[The Outlook.]
The Polish-Russian war is not settled, though the omens are brighter; there is imminent danger of war between Finland and Russia; Mesopotamia is inflamed; Italy and Austria are no nearer a settlement of the Adriatic question; Serbia and Montenegro are still at cross purposes; the state of Ireland gets progressively unwholesome; Germany is wooed by the East as an ally against the West, by the West as an ally against the East; Tartar Muscovites are stirring up an anti-Russian revanche in the Caucasus; Turks and Arabs are preparing to fish more extensively in troubled waters; external conflict is reproduced in internal strikes. Such is the condition of the world. Peace has become a necessity so vital, so urgent, that nothing but its realization at almost any cost will save the body politic of Europe from complete and final extinction.

AGAINST PRICE REGULATION.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]
Interference by the government with the natural operation of the laws of trade during the war was made necessary because of abnormal conditions and national exigencies. Much other control of private matters was also assumed, but the only temporary war measure. The people want the government to head in the opposite direction, to surrender assumed power instead of assuming additional ones. What would be the result? Industrial, commercial and social life our people have had, is the result of the play of natural forces, with freedom of individual action, and only within the bounds of honesty and right by the action of law and the courts. There can be no freedom of development of industry and trade under the shadow of government interference through the operation of a bureau.

THE PASSING OF AN AGE.

[Vancouver Sun.]
We are reaching the end of the age of steam—ordinarily this phenomenon would have made a most profound impression; but the titanic world struggle affecting human evolution has in great measure overshadowed and dimmed in perspective the phenomenon which is recasting all our knowledge of mechanical utilities. About 130 years ago there was given to the world practical knowledge of the use of steam power in the development of industrial and transportation undertakings. The results were twofold. First, the power of human endeavor was increased in boundless measure by rendering subject to specific control the mechanical force of steam power, resulting in raising the standard of living throughout the world. Second, the active spirit of inventive genius was awakened, stimulated and set on a condition of continuous effort by a realization of the benefits derived from the inventions of machinery for steam use.

The raising of the standard of living has increased human demands for mechanical assistance to a volume which can no longer be supplied by steam-using machinery on any basis of cost which commerce can afford to pay. These have been invented and supplied by facilities for generating electricity from water power and for consuming fuel in and generating power by means of internal combustion engines. The ratio of reduction of cost in mechanical and transportation undertakings carried on under steam power invention is being improved on by means of the two latter and more elemental powers; and the ever-expanding ambit of their use is bringing to an end the age of steam. Probably children now living will in years to come gaze with interest upon museum specimens of steam machinery.

Poetry and Jest

OUR SHOP.

[B. Noel Saxely, in Chambers' Journal.]
Mother says it's awful, now, the price she has to pay When she goes to do the marketing for dinner every day. She says she wishes we could live on what the birds eat. With berries for our pudding, and a juicy worm for meat!

But underneath the gorse-bush, just above the old sea-wall. Phyl and I have a shop that isn't dear at all. And we are always most polite to customers, and say:

"How can I serve you, madam? Everything is cheap today."

"We have pebble new potatoes at a penny for a pound."

And we'll throw you in this pebble egg, so smooth and white and round. And Phyl has made some cakes and scones that look extremely nice. And a lovely slab of butter—may I offer you a slice?

"We can sell you needles, also, for they grow in dozens here. Or a yard of seaweed ribbon—would a penny be too dear?"

While today we're very lucky; we've been so busy that we haven't had time to put Mr. Rabbit caught his coat when passing by our door!

The reason why our price is sure to be within your reach is because we mostly get our goods for nothing from the beach.

Materials for our butter and our cakes are close at hand— They are made of best sea-water, and the very finest sand.

So when you're tired of spending in the ordinary way.

Just walk along the old sea-wall where, every sunny day, we are spending our time in our goods and hoping somebody will stop.

For we love to have a customer at our little shop!

NO TRICK AT ALL. [Detroit News.]

Artist—"With one stroke of my brush I can change a smiling child into a weeping one."

Friend (dryly)—"I can do the same thing with a broomstick."

YOUTH. [B. Preston Clark, Jun., in the Outlook.]

Wakens the languid sun, and the night Adorned our kingly castles and our halls.

And as we dreamed we heard with grave delight The homage of the waves beneath our walls.

When the end came, or how, we do not know. Others were wearing scarlet that was ours.

And in our castles others come and go. Dreaming our dreams and watching from our tower.

PASSING OF THE OLD RED BARN. [From the Summer Session Kananan.]

Boys' days without a stage. The auto like a play without a stage. The auto like a play without a stage.

As the cement bottomed pool has the swimming pool. The centre of boyhood life has disappeared. Imagine the gang sneaking off from trusting parents on a hot afternoon and congregating in the shiny new garage. Where can they conceal the forbidden weapons, or the thumb-marked yellow back that mother thinks has long since fallen into the sea? Where do they hide to escape the starched shirt and stiff shoes and the party? Where are the circus given? The train robberies planned? And the hair-raising stories repeated? The carefree scenes of boyhood are gone. Imagination has no field to grow and expand in. Half the boys of youth have vanished with the passing of the old red barn.

O FLOWER OF ALL. [Sir Gilbert Parker.]

"O flower of all the world, O flower of all! The garden where thou dwellest is so fair."

Thou art so gently and so queenly tall, Thy sweetness scatters sweetness everywhere. O flower of all!

"O flower of all the years, O flower of all! A day beside thee is a day of days; Thy voice is softer than the throbbing of the heart."

There is not song enough to sing thy praise. O flower of all!

"O flower of all the years, O flower of all! I seek thee in thy garden, and I dare To love thee; and though my deserts be small, Thou art the only flower I would know."

O flower of all!

THE RIGHT WORD. [Theodore Garrison.]

Customer—"There's a misprint in the title of this old song. You've got it wrong."

Dealer—"Oh, that's one of our editions for family hotels."

THE RETURN. [Theodore Garrison.]

Long, long he stood and watched alone, Her lighted window-pane, As though it were Love's face that shone Upon his grief again.

A vagrant in the village street, One with the rain and night, Bird-like he felt his wild heart beat And burn against the light.

EVERY MAN FOR HIS TRADE. [Theodore Garrison.]

An old kirk divine was one day walking along the streets of the capital of the Orkneys, when he met a well-known tinker.

"Well, John, can you say the Lord's Prayer yet?"

"Oh, man," said John, "every man has his trade. Can you make a tin pan?"

AFTER THE STORM. [Theodore Garrison.]

I heard the ocean calling on the beach, I saw the line of broken waters sweep In angry clamor where the black rocks reach.

Their fangs upon the deep.

Far up the beach the wild sea spume was thrown, Black water baring its long arms of snow;

Where secret shells sing in a mystic tone The secret things they know.

And ever as the tumult of the seas Swept to the land with never-ceasing roar, There echoed in the boom of the trees The moaning of the shore.

And as the faint winds blowing thyme And musk, Crept from the waiting woodlands near and far, Through the pale vapor of the gathering dusk, Glimmered the evening star.

How the Strike Against High Prices Is Being Won

For a long time, remarks the New York Times, "high prices seemed like the weather, about which, as Mark Twain said, everybody talked but nothing was done." Then the buying public, reacting at last from the wave of extravagance that swept the country in war time, began a few months ago to rebel against the ever-diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. The result of this action is seen in the dramatic price cuttings in the wholesale market last month, which affected wheat, corn, oats, wool, cotton, automobiles, textiles, clothing, foodstuffs, metal, leather, and many other commodities. The wholesale prices of these commodities have declined on the average about 20 per cent below the high prices of February, according to R. E. Edmundson of the New York News-Record, a commercial daily, who predicts that these cuts are "certain to be reflected in a reduced cost of living—removing the usual excuses for striking to get higher wages." Dispatches from various cities report that the procession of falling prices in the retail trade has already begun.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, October 9th, will be read with great satisfaction by the public. It gives a comprehensive review, drawn from all sources of information, of the conditions of trade in the United States, including the prospects for the country's getting back on a lower price level without affecting the hours or wages of labor.

THE MARRIAGE OF ANNE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

XXV.—Acquiescence.

My face went white. For a moment my heart seemed to stand still in utter consternation.

"Ask Neil Saunders for a thousand dollars!" I ejaculated. "Oh, Fred, I couldn't! I just couldn't!"

My fiancé drew definitely away from me. I could feel an immediate alteration in the atmosphere. It was exactly as though the sun had withdrawn and a little chilly wind sprang up.

"There's no need to fly into a temper, Anne. Temper doesn't become you. And I'm the last man in the world to press you to do a thing that is distasteful to you."

The finality in Fred's last statement frightened me. Oh, was he going to give me up? Was he going to leave me now, and turn to Julie—clever, artful Julie?

I couldn't bear that to happen. I had suffered so before. I had Fred now, and I was going to hold him, no matter what the cost.

"Tell me what you want me to do."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Little park that I pass through,
I carry off a piece of you
Every morning hurrying down
To my work-day in the town.
—Helen Hoyt.

REQUESTS.

Dear Miss Grey—I enjoy the Mail-Box very much, but have never written before. Mother would like the famous stocking-foot pattern, as we wear out a large number of stockings at our house. I would like to correspond with somebody my own age, 15. If they will write first. CUTEY.

Ans.—The pattern has been mailed for mother. Have writing please use one side of paper only. CUTEY.

Dear Miss Grey—It's a long time since I have written to the Mail-Box. I am sending a dime inclosed and an addressed envelope for a stocking foot pattern. If you have one to spare, I will close by sending a recipe for tomato relish. I am still.

East India Relish—20 ripe tomatoes, 4 onions (large), 1 or 2 red peppers (large), 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 cups vinegar. Cut tomatoes and onions into quarters and put to cook with vinegar three hours gently. Put in relish pepper, which has been chopped real fine. Also add spice.

Ans.—We have discontinued comments on handwriting in the Mail-Box for the present, Margaret. Thank you for hospital dime and recipe. Pattern has been mailed to you.

Dear Miss Grey—Have been a constant reader of your valuable Mail-Box for some time. I had a few questions to ask you, but thought I would write. Could you or any of the readers send me some comic or exciting readings? I have been a bit bored with my own.

When a boy is out walking with a girl friend, should he take the girl's arm or should the girl take the boy's arm? If a girl is expecting a Christmas present, should she ask for it? Should she be going to give her one, should he give him one, and could you give me some suggestions? Hope I haven't bothered you too much, Miss Grey. Inclosed you will find an envelope for the readings. Will sign. SOMEBOY'S.

Ans.—The boy should take the girl's arm where it is necessary to assist her. A gift of a book might be suitable if there is no engagement between you.

Dear Miss Grey—I was reading your column the other day and I noticed where Miss Nuisance wished to respond with someone about fourteen. Now, I am not fourteen, but I am twelve. I am also very interested in the fact, this is my fourth year, that Miss Nuisance would care to correspond. I would love to be in the Senior IV grade. I will have my address with Miss Grey and hoping I have not taken up too much room, I will sign myself as before, BERNICE.

Tree of Knowledge.

Dear Miss Grey—For the first time I would like the S. F. pattern. I will inclose a few cents for C. H. E. I would like if you have room in your column the Tree of Knowledge in print. Hope many readers will cut it out for a book-mark for their Bibles.

Ans.—Pattern has been mailed. Mrs. M. W., and thank you for gift for C. H. E. Sorry, but your arrangement of the Tree of Knowledge took too much space.

WOULD HAVE CHEER REPEL GLOOM IN BRITISH HOSPITALS

New York. —Paul Peiret, the French designer, made a public protest against the dreary interiors of London hospitals during his late stay in that city.

"Why perpetuate in the sickroom the sadness outside?" asks the famous exponent of sartorial art. He would combat the depression of illness by cheerful surroundings, by color harmonies that soothe then gently stimulate. Just the contrary of these conditions he found in the London institutions.

Were Peiret to visit the New York hospitals he would be better pleased there is a strong tendency to relieve the severity of strict utility and to introduce wherever possible an artistic touch not in conflict with hygienic laws. A pale buff wall and ivory tinted woodwork harbors no more germs than the monotonous white, but it is infinitely more pleasing to the tired mind in the aching body. There is also an effort to make the furnishings more attractive.

New York hospitals are strong on first impressions. When the patient arrives he is greeted not by a superiorly clerical, but by a woman specially trained for that specific duty. A person no longer is allowed to enter a hospital feeling that he is beginning a term of incarceration in a prison which will result in a likely execution. Hope and confidence pervade the atmosphere. Despair has long since been routed from the modern hospital.

Take the children's wards, for instance. In the dreary, old-fashioned all day at bleak walls? No, indeed

FROM OFFICE BOY TO HEAD OF COMPANY IN 25 YEARS

New York. —Twenty-five years ago an alert lad of 16 years walked confidently into the offices of the Waring Hat Manufacturing Corporation in Yonkers and announced that he had come in answer to an advertisement in the local newspaper for an office boy. In about fifteen minutes giving him the job and was busy playing the dust rag after a fashion calculated to earn the utmost scorn and contempt of a modern office boy. In due course he did everything that all those boys were supposed to do in those days; ran errands, met callers, filled inkwells and mended pens.

The cheerful smile, good nature and good sense of the new office boy soon attracted the attention of shrewd old John T. Waring, who never neglected the slightest detail that would tend to the upward and onward march of the business which he formed in 1849. The boy was given the opportunity of learning every branch of the hat business. When not employed in the office he would go out into the factory and watch the mechanics at work, cutting the fur from the skins, matting it into felt and giving the hat its first rough shape. He soon became familiar with the processes of "sizing," "blocking," "pouncing," "finishing," "trimming" and "dressing."

Sometimes the new boy was sent out with the salesmen on the road to bring back orders to the factory, so that he gained an insight into the most important branch of the organization.

Step by step the newcomer was promoted as other men quit or moved up higher, until at the age of 23 he was superintendent over the factory. Waring, and his O. K. had to go on millions of hats destined to adorn the heads of men and women made vice-president of the company, and a few weeks ago he was offered and accepted the presidency.

Thus at the age of 41, William V. Campbell, standing at the head of one of the most important factors in the hat-making industry in the United States. He succeeds Arthur B. Waring, who retired after half a century of activity in the corporation.

Mr. Campbell, who is one of the youngest executives in the hat industry, is a true type of a successful American businessman of the modern school, clean cut, quiet spoken and modest. He has a muscular development, bespeaking much exercise out of doors.

When asked to what he attributes his success, he usually replies: "Hard work and opportunity. I guess, and let it go at that."

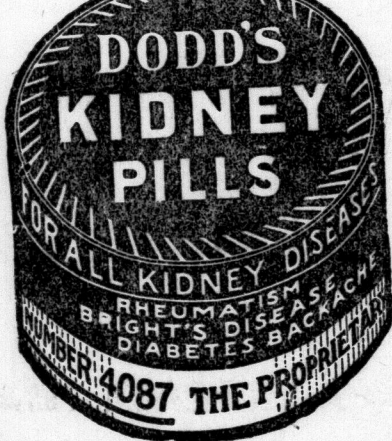

"I was no different from any other boy," began Mr. Campbell in reply to the query as to how he got his start, "and I tried one or three jobs before I found the right one. Few men get into their life work at the start, you know. I applied for the job in the Waring Hat Manufacturing Corporation because I decided that there are greater opportunities with large concerns. They paid me $3 a week to start."

"It occurred to me that I could make more money in the factory, where I saw boys earning two or three times my salary, and I sought the advice of an old factory hand. He urged me to stick to the office end of the business and took his tip. He was one of the first to congratulate me on my good luck the other day. After that I was more settled and began to enjoy my work."

"Having decided to stick to the hat business, I buckled down to work and tried to learn everything there was to learn, both in the factory and the office. Things came my way and I always seemed to be around when opportunities were going."

"Do you think there are as many opportunities in this age for young men with nothing but ability?" Mr. Campbell was asked.

"I believe," replied Mr. Campbell earnestly, "that under our democratic

PARIS HAS ABSINTHE
IN SPITE OF DECREE

Deputies Line Up For Fight
On Return of Drink
To Cafes.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The anti-liquor element in the French Chamber of Deputies is planning a fight to the death against the return of absinthe to the French cafes. Despite the prohibition decree, which was issued just before the election, there is hardly a cafe in Paris, in either the wealthy or the poor quarters, where it is not possible to get a drink of absinthe, which, according to scientists, was responsible for the decreasing birth rate in France and for filling the insane asylums and hospitals in the years immediately preceding the great war.

The drink being served here now is not known as absinthe, however, but the bottles containing it are distinguished by bright labels whereon is the famous name of Pernod often misspelled or joined with that of another, but fictitious, manufacturer.

The police have been making frequent inspections and chemical examinations of the liquor, but meanwhile the aperitif is gaining a tremendous vogue, and senators, among whom is M. de la Marzelle, are holding up the spectre of a nation doomed to a terrible catastrophe unless measures are taken immediately to prevent the sale of absinthe. Meanwhile the French public merely smiles as huge posters showing glasses containing the "green fairy" that is a great green god" appear on almost every billboard, while the boulevard cafes report a tremendous increase in the sale of the liquor.

The problem is not without its economic phase, as, according to the department of finance, the yearly income from the sale of absinthe reached the 50,000,000 franc mark, with an additional 10,000,000 francs for the improvement of roads, for charity and for the provinces. This income will be quadrupled under existing tax levies if absinthe in disguise wins in its new battle.

Detroit, Oct. 2.—Few of the problems that come to the average married man troubled Harold Barker, his wife, Mary P. The couple were married in Evansville, Ind., in 1916, and lived in Terre Haute and Indianapolis, finally coming to Detroit. Harold had two and three different jobs wherever he went, said his wife.

"Who has paid your board since you were married?" asked Mrs. Barker's attorney.

"I have," she replied.

"Ever pay his, too?"

"Yes, I have."

Mrs. Barker also testified that she bought her own clothes and paid her own doctor bill after an illness. She said she had lent money to Harold to buy clothes for himself, and once gave him ever came back, according to her testimony.

She was given a decree.

DIAMOND CUTTING

Five Hundred Disabled Men Are Employed at Work.

The idea of starting diamond cutting and polishing in England as an industry for disabled men was suggested by Mr. Bernard Oppenheimer in 1917, and the result is now a factory at Brighton, erected at the cost of £350,000, with accommodation for some 1,750 persons, and three other centres at Cambridge, Wrexham and Fort William capable of accommodating another 250. The whole cost of erecting and equipping these buildings has been borne by Mr. Oppenheimer. Nearly 500 disabled men are now employed or in training at Brighton alone. The average earnings of men who have completed their two years' training are over £5 a week, exclusive, of course, of disability pension. It is possible for men to earn up to £6 or £7 a week according to their proficiency, as their wages are based on their weekly turnover, of which complete individual records are kept.

We are with you, Henry!

But Mr. Ford:

We've been selling made-to-order clothes at pre-war value standards for quite some time.

YOU'VE done a great thing, Mr. Ford, in your patriotic price reduction. Your timely action will compel makers and sellers in many lines to follow your example.

But in London alert men have not had to wait for price recessions, in their clothes buying, to enjoy the old-time values.

By Tip Top Tailors' maker-to-wearer selling plan—selling London men direct from wholesale tailoring plant—we have been able to deliver a dependable made-to-order suit—at a price comparable with the best values of pre-war days.

By cutting out the long roundabout selling routes that clothes usually follow in their travel from the producer to the wearer, we have been able to circumvent the acute labor and materials advances—giving the buyer the benefit of saved middlemen's handling costs and profits.

POLICE LOCATE MYSTERY AUTO LYING IN CREEK

Toronto Officers Find Car Wanted in Connection With Manslaughter Case.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—The mystery car which figured in the preliminary hearing of Harry S. Barnes, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of William J. Rossiter, and which could not be found by the police officers, has been located, partly submerged in the waters of Etobicoke Creek. Etobicoke Creek is the dividing line between the Counties of York and Peel and runs into Lake Ontario some few miles east of where Rossiter was killed.

Provincial Constable Rutledge of Port Credit yesterday inspected the car and satisfied himself that it was the Red roadster registered in the name of Harry S. Barnes, license number W5650.

Finding the car gives a new interest to the case and to the inquiry, which will be resumed tomorrow night. Barnes is at present on bail for trial at the fall assizes. At the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Gordon he declined to make a statement. The magistrate, when committing Barnes, noted that the car was missing, and said the onus was upon the defence to prove where it was at the time of the tragedy. Barnes, while in the custody of Chief Henry of the highway police, was asked about the missing car, and said "it might be dug up."

(Special to The Advertiser.)
 ESSEX, Oct. 7.—Ouis Barlow, aged 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barlow, had his left arm torn from the shoulder at the local canning factory yesterday afternoon, when he attempted to put a belt on a running pulley. The accident happened on the third floor of the building, and it is stated that the lad had been warned not to interfere with the belt which has slipped off the pulley. The lad's clothing was also ripped from his body. His injuries are very serious, and it is feared that he cannot recover.

OLD-LINE PARTIES DEAD IN THE WEST, SAYS COL. E. S. WIGLE

Tells Border Businessmen "Canada For Canadians," Western Farmers' Slogan.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—Addressing the Border Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, Col. E. S. Wigle, recently returned from a tour of the Canadian Northwest, told border businessmen that both old-line parties, the Conservatives and Liberals, were dead throughout the West, and the movement for a strictly business administration had gained powerful impetus.

He declared farmers throughout the western provinces are all enthusiastic protagonists of the "Canada for Canadians" slogan, although highly loyal to the British Empire.

CHURCH CENTENARY WILL BE CELEBRATED

Anglican Church Delegates To Gather At Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 7.—To celebrate the centenary of the establishment of the Church of England in Western Canada, the Anglican bishops of the whole of the Dominion, together with the delegates from the Provincial Synod of Rupert's Land, which embraces the whole of the Prairie Provinces, and the Anglican clergy of Manitoba, are expected to arrive here the latter part of this week. Commencing next Sunday the program of events will continue for eight days, and will comprise many features, devotional and historical in character.

Much interest is centred in the meeting of the groups, owing to the fact that the Lambeth Conference church reunion appeal will be one of the matters discussed. Difference of opinion exists as to whether or not action will be taken to formally place the issue before the other ecclesiastical bodies.

Delegates expected number 400, among them being some of the noted missionaries who labored in the West during its early stages.

American Versus English Type of Sportsman; A Plea For Better Understanding

Hagen's Golfing Exploits On Board An Ocean Liner Raised
Considerable Criticism Among British Sportsmen—
American Attitude To "S port" Incomprehensible.

Manchester, England, Oct. 5.—Lionel V. Manning, writing in The Dispatch, comes to the defence of the American as a sportsman, saying: "Hagen's recent golfing exploits on board a liner have been much criticized by English sportsmen. But has the criticism been just?"

It is a human weakness the world over to condemn what we do not understand. We do not understand the American as a sportsman—and we are apt to misjudge him. His supreme concentration, his frank belief in himself, his embarrassing habit of speaking aloud his inmost thoughts, and the national weakness for "stunts," have blinded us to his real worth as a sportsman.

When Hagen, the crack American golfer, came over to take part in our open championship, he drove some 600 golf balls spectacularly into the sea—just for practice. When he arrived, he gave the Deal course what he would term the "once over," took the nearest press man he guessed, and the Prince of Wales, and offered to take odds of 10 to 1 against himself winning the championship.

Upon the return voyage he fixed up a driving contest (from the boat deck) with the French amateur champion for "the championship of the Atlantic," and had the details wirelessly from mid-ocean.

Yet those who played golf with Hagen on this side vouch for him as a splendid sportsman and a chivalrous opponent. What is the explanation? It is partly that the American pursues his games as he does his work, fiercely. He is out to win, and concentrates just as severely upon the States a few months ago and broke records they were lionized to a far greater extent than were the Princeton athletes who defeated Oxford and Cambridge.

Again, what to us so often seems an impertinence, is in an American, the habit of saying just what he thinks. For instance, a friend will say, "Gee, that's a bully suit you're wearing. How much did you pay for it?" In Bond street we meet a friend and only think these things. It is better so, maybe, but which is the higher virtue, diplomacy or frankness? The American boxing man's method of "fighting with his tongue" is of course indefensible, but it is not quite so objectionable when one understands the Americans. It is when one comes to baseball that it is most difficult to get the American point of view, which is so alien to all our notions of fair play.

Imagine, say, Hobbs shaping to bat at Old Trafford. Just as he is about to make his stroke the whole of the crowd—if it were baseball—would consider it part of their business to throw him off his purpose of hitting the ball by hurling rude remarks at him. They would set themselves deliberately to confuse and upset the player.

No American has ever satisfactorily explained this to me. They say it is just part of the day's fun for the spectator; that it is meaningless, and that the players never take any notice of it. They point, in return, to our football crowds and their attitude towards the referee, but no football crowd—even at the most exciting cup tie—ever rose to the frenzied heights of abuse reached by the average "rooter" at an American ball park.

THE CANUCK MARE MAKING GOOD ON GRAND CIRCUIT

GRAND TRUNKS AND PUBLIC UTILITIES ARE READY FOR THE FRAY

Both Public Utilities and Grand Trunks, who will clash in the semi-finals for the McCutcheon city soccer cup at Springfield on Saturday afternoon, are training hard for the event, and a grueling contest is expected by the many fans who will be present. Tommy Hodge, trainer of the Wasps, and Tommy Hodgkinson, manager of the Utilities eleven, are camping on the trails of their respective charges in hopes of coping the bacon this week. The grounds are in good shape, and all that those interested are anxious about now is the weather probe for the week-end.

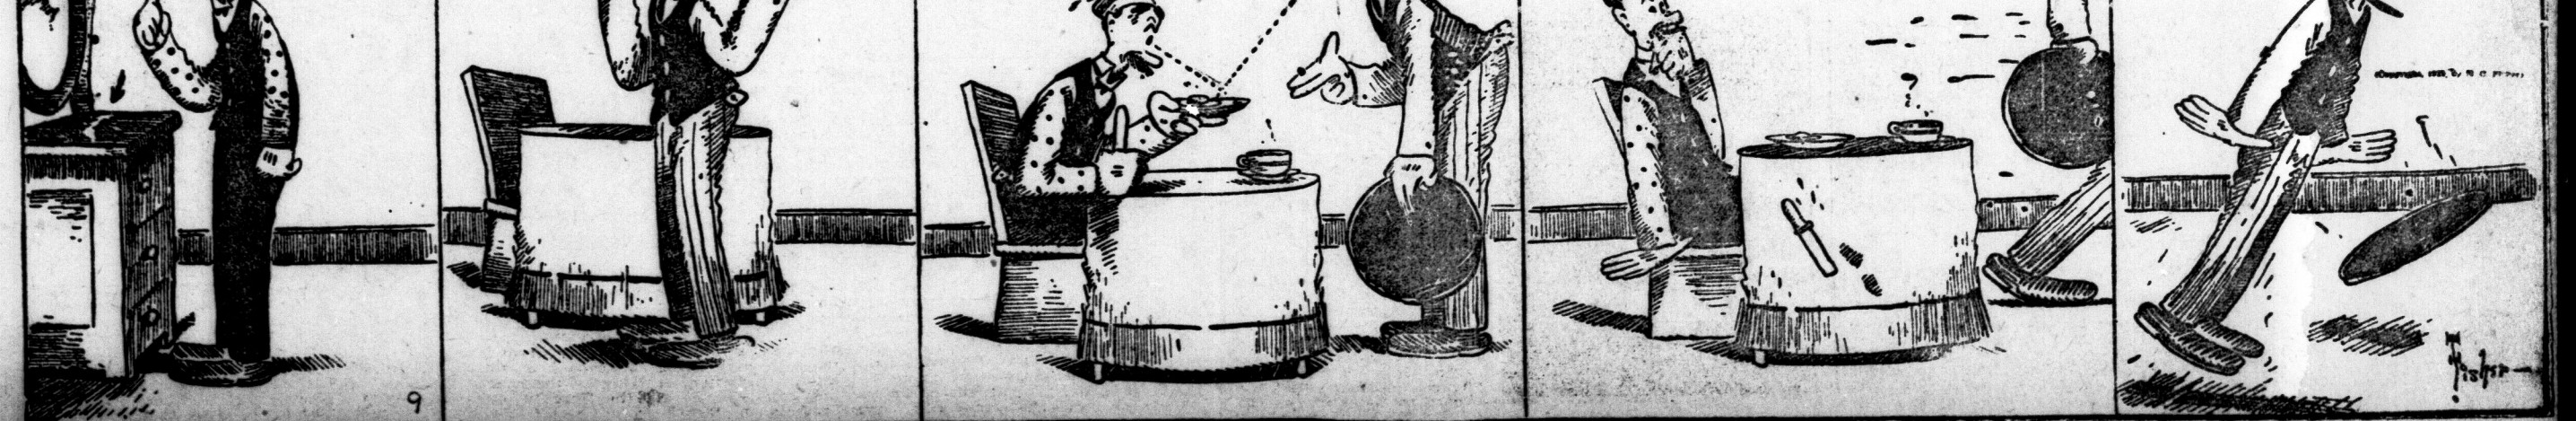

The probable line-up of the teams on Saturday will be as follows:
Grand Trunks—Garrow, goal; Ganny,

COMBING THE BEACH.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—A familiar figure at all seaside resorts just now is the beachcomber (observes the Morning Post). Every day, just after high tide, he may be seen walking along the shore, eyes glued to the sands which have been swept clear by the receding tide. Many people have speculated as to the object of his search. Like the rest of humanity, he is out for money. Children and adults have a habit of losing coins on the sands, a loss which to them seems irretrievable. But the beachcomber knows that the money is not hopelessly lost. The high tide sweeps the sands and rocky crevices, washing away the lighter soil and leaving the heavier articles high and dry. It is not difficult to find coins, because they have usually been rubbed quite bright. But they must be picked up at once or they are covered by the next wave and hidden. It may be, for several tides. The occupation is more profitable than the uninitiated think, and it is not unusual for a beachcomber to pick up 10s or £1 by following a single tide. Sometimes, when luck is especially favorable, more valuable contributions come to hand: a necklace or jewels dropped from some ocean liner and washed perhaps half a dozen times before being cast upon the shore where they are found.

ONLY 8 MEN WITH DODGERS WHO WERE IN 1916 SERIES

None of Present Hurlers Won a Game in That Clash.

New York, Oct. 4.—The Brooklyn Nationals will go into the world's series with a team of athletes, which so far as physical build is concerned, appears to be about right for a supreme test of the national game. Among the regulars the two oldest players of the team are First Baseman Konetchy and Shortstop Olson, each 35 years of age. That age is considered young among men who in virtually every line of endeavor except athletics, but notwithstanding that Konetchy and Olson are the seniors of Manager Robinson's entry their work, both at bat and in the field, has been an important factor in winning the National League pennant for Brooklyn.

The statistics of the Brooklyn players show that the average age is 28 years; the average weight 175 pounds, and the average height about 5 feet 11 inches.

What the Brooklyn club did in the world's series of 1916 against the Boston Red Sox given little data upon which to base the chances of the Superbas in the coming series. There are now only eight men playing with Brooklyn who took part in the 1916 series. Zack Wheat in five games batted for 210, which is far below the normal average, and fielded for a mark of 332. Myers batting average was .182 and his fielding mark 1000. Johnston took part in three games, hit for 300 and fielded for 500, having one out and one error. Miller had a batting average of .125 in two games and fielded perfectly. Olson went through the five games, hit for 250 and fielded for 840. The other three players in the 1916 series were Pitaro, Marquard, Pfeffer and Smith. Marquard did not get a hit in his two games, but had a perfect fielding record. Pfeffer in four games hit for 250 and fielded perfectly, while Smith in one game got a hit which netted him a batting average of .200. He accepted

SAYS WINDSOR FIRM IS DOING THE WORK

Dr. Neville of Western Denies Americann Firm Prepared Plans.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Regarding the protest of the Ontario Association of Architects over the action of the Western University, London, in planning the employment of a firm of architects in the United States, Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education, when spoken to this morning took the view that this was a matter of Government policy, not for his department.

Dr. K. P. R. Neville, registrar of the Western University, stated to The Advertiser yesterday that according to his information, the firm of architects employed by the board of governors is not an American firm, but a Windsor, Ont., firm. Lieut-Col. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of the university, is in Sarnia today, and Dr. Neville pointed out that the matter was not within the jurisdiction in any way of the faculty of the university, and he, therefore, was not in a position to discuss the matter.

SAY POLICE AIDED IN BIG BOOZE THEFT

Chicago Chief After Men Said To Be Wet Agents.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Chief of Police John J. Garity has begun an investigation to determine what members of the police department, if any, are involved in the huge whiskey ring hatched here by disclosures of a $200,000 liquor robbery. Police-men, federal officers and saloon keepers are said to have taken part in the robbery.

Government officials, according to reports, have taken bribes for fraudulent liquor permits; a number of Chicago policemen have protected truck loads of whiskey in transit from warehouses or trains to saloons; and a "cut" market for trading in illicit liquor has been organized by wholesale and retail dealers.

Three men have been arrested in connection with the theft of a carload of liquor. They are "Mike de Pike" Heiler, recently released from Port Leavenworth prison, and well known in Chicago's underworld; Robert Pearlman and Mickey Frank. Several saloon keepers are said to have admitted they bought liquor on the "boozie board of trade," of which Heiler is said to have been the head.

CLEVELAND HITTEES.
New York, Oct. 7.—The team batting average of the heavy hitting Cleveland Americans for the three games of the world's series dwindled today to .165, when the Indians could do little with Smith's puzzling curves. Brooklyn had been going at a rate of slightly under .300 for the first two contests and improved this today to .209.

By Nell, of the Indians, stands out as the series star thus far with five hits in ten times at bat, including two doubles. He is followed closely by Wheat of Brooklyn, who batted out three singles and two doubles in eleven times up. The Brooklyn outfielders outthrew the Cleveland outfield, eleven hits to five.

EXPECT TO REACH OIL DRILL DOWN 2,473 FEET

Oil Drillers Near Fiesherston Report
Increased Indications of Success.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 7.—Drilling operations in search for a great oil deposit are proceeding slowly but surely near Fiesherston by the drillers of the Canadian Oil Fields Limited, and the oil showing is much heavier than before. It continues to improve with depth, and there is a much stronger gas pressure than earlier in the season. The drill is now 2,473 feet below the surface, and great difficulty is being experienced on account of the great depth. Several serious delays were encountered during the summer through breakages and accidents. At the present time Manager L. G. Finch, who is in charge of the drilling, is more enthusiastic than ever over the prospects. To him there is no element of chance, and he is absolutely confident of the ultimate discovery of oil in the near future. Drilling will be carried on throughout the winter if necessary. The drilling is being done on the farm of Mrs. Minnie Lever, two and a half miles northeast of Fiesherston and 32 miles from Owen Sound.

United States Authorities Will Exert New Effort To Keep Coal Moving Towards Canadian Points

Encouraging Report From Washington Tells of Arrangements To Supply Canada's Needs — Anthracite Production Increasing in Satisfactory Manner Throughout Pennsylvania Fields.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—(By the Canadian Press.)—According to a report received today by the board of railway commissioners from Washington, the United States authorities have just completed arrangements to increase the coal tonnage destined for Canada by way of lake ports before navigation opens. From now on to keep the coal cars moving between the lake ports and the mines. Latest figures available show that receipts of water-borne bituminous coal via lake ports have totalled 2,362,000 tons as compared with 2,041,000 at the same period last year. Of this amount 707,000 tons have been received at the head of the lakes as compared with 1,094,000 tons last year at the same period. Satisfactory reports as to production in the American bituminous and anthracite fields have also been received. In the anthracite field the total production for the week ending September 25 was 168,000 tons of the output during the last week before the strike. As there is now a general resumption of work in the anthracite region the output should steadily increase. For the week ending September 25 the total output of soft coal totalled 1,857,000 tons, this being the biggest weekly production since January. It is believed that production for the last week of September, figures for which are not yet available, will be quite equal to those for the previous week.

AUTO CRASHED INTO POLE; OCCUPANTS SHAKEN UP

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 7.—Mr. Wallace, proprietor of the Campbell House, Kananis, and his wife and daughter had a narrow escape from serious injury when the car he was driving crashed into a telephone pole just west of this city. The occupants of the car escaped with a shaking up, but the machine was badly damaged. The car was taken to a local garage, and the Wallace proceeded by train to Detroit.

The report for the current year of the local police court cases show that crime in this city is on the increase. During the past year 91 criminal cases came before the magistrate, with 81 convictions as compared with 79 cases and 66 convictions last year. Altogether 348 cases were listed as compared with 438 last year, showing a decrease this year in total numbers of cases.

ONTARIO WILL HAVE PLENTY OF LAWYERS

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—There is no immediate fear of a scarcity of lawyers in this province. So far this year 1933, 193 law students have been admitted as barristers and solicitors, according to George M. Lee, registrar of the supreme court, whose duty it is to swear in applicants for the Ontario Bar. This constitutes a record. An average of 100 more will be sworn in.

There was a spirited discussion on trades unionism and it was decided to form a committee to look into the matter insofar as journalism was concerned.

Gen. Pershing was also given a cordial greeting. He expressed his pleasure in again meeting Gen. Currie, their first re-encounter since they were in France.

"While we held the Frenchmen in very high esteem," said Gen. Pershing, "and we got along well with the Tommy, we found a Canadian was one of us. We spoke the same language, and when we got together it was like a family reunion. And we soon came to know that when the Canadians moved something was going to happen."

I predict for Gen. Currie the same success as university president that he had as commander-in-chief of the Canadian army."

CURRIE EXTOLS CANADA'S WORK ON EDUCATION

McGill President Speaks Before New York Gathering.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press)—The commanders-in-chief of the expeditionary forces of Canada and the United States had a reunion tonight at the dinner of the New York Graduate Society of McGill University at the Hotel Commodore, when Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill, and former G.O.C. of the Canadian Forces in France, sat side by side with Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the United States troops during the war. Both were on the list of speakers.

Sir Charles Gordon, vice-president of the Bank of Montreal, and a governor of McGill University, also spoke. W. W. Colpitts, president of the society, acted as toastmaster, and about 200 guests, men and women, were in attendance.

Gen. Currie was greeted with prolonged applause when he was introduced as the first speaker, the dinner rising in his honor. He spoke of the value of university education.

"Education," he said, "is the one subject for which no people ever paid too much. The more they pay the richer they become. The wealth, power, security and success of existing nations depend upon the standard of their educational systems. Those nations possessing the best system and the highest standards are those which devote the largest means to their universities."

General Currie referred to the pleasant relations existing between the Canadian and United States soldiers in the war and recounted incidents of the struggle. He touched upon McGill's great war record, and spoke of the cordial relations that exist between Canadians and citizens of the United States.

Declaring that the nation and the university are inseparably associated in the larger view, he said: "The nation is the field for the exercise of citizenship, for the display and service of man's knowledge; the university is the place for preparing him for assuming his duty in the state. The two have that govern humanity have here their spheres of activity. The first is the law of self-culture, and the second is the law of service. The university provides opportunity for the former and the state, scope for the latter."

"Education for utilization purposes," said General Currie at another point in his speech, "has some justification. Education as a decoration is despicable, but education that kindles the imagination, awakes the vision power, and teaches man to create and evolve new ideas, to blaze fresh trails, this is the very loftiest aim of a university and the most splendid service to the state. Therefore, the first, the highest, and the holiest duty is to build up the university."

Change in Attitude. Sir Arthur declared that in recent years there had been a change in the attitude of business towards the university. Today a large percentage of graduates went into business, while every successful businessman sent his sons to college.

In the political field, also, the speaker saw the value of the university, remarking on the fact that in Great Britain governments were made up to a large extent of university men. The university was also of great value in the discovery and development of unusual talents.

Gen. Pershing was also given a cordial greeting. He expressed his pleasure in again meeting Gen. Currie, their first re-encounter since they were in France.

"While we held the Frenchmen in very high esteem," said Gen. Pershing, "and we got along well with the Tommy, we found a Canadian was one of us. Was Rewarded After Fifteen Years Search

Halifax Woman Says She Will Never Cease Praising Tanlac
for the Way It Has Restored
Her Health.

"I have been fifteen years looking for something that would relieve me of my awful sufferings, but it was only when I got Tanlac that I found just what I'd been needing all the time," declared Mrs. Frank Walker, 144 Duncan street, Halifax, N.S.

"For many years I was in a terribly run-down condition, and my nerves were in a dreadful fix. I had such awful spells of sick headaches that I was in bed for days at a time. At night I was so restless, I would lie awake for hours, and I felt tired and worn-out all the time. Every time I tried to do anything it was an effort, and I was so weak. I was to lie down and rest. I was advised to go away for my health, but toward I returned, I was worse off than before. My friends were all worried over my condition, and as I could find nothing to help me I was almost desperate.

"One day after hearing so much about the good Tanlac was doing others I decided to give it a trial, and it is surprising the way four bottles of the medicine built me up. My nerves are as steady as a clock, and I sleep good and sound all night long. I never have a sign of a headache, and have regained my strength and energy, and my household work is now a real pleasure."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

DUBLIN CASTLE AND SINN FEIN GIVE FIGURES

Former Says Reprisals Made
Because Offenders Escape
Police.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7.—Dublin Castle this afternoon gave out a list of outstanding "offences" from January 1 to the week ending October 2. It was accompanied by the statement that it was a "significant fact that for all the murders and shootings of police the number of perpetrators apprehended could be counted on the fingers of one hand."

"In this fact," the statement says, "might be found the motive for reprisals. The authorities cannot get the men responsible, or if they do, they get off through hunger striking or clemency of the Government. No one can be found to testify against them, either through intimidation or because of political sentiment. Therefore, many of the police feel that drumhead justice is the only way to deal with them."

The list of offences follows:
"Courthouses destroyed, 63; Royal Irish Constabulary barracks destroyed, 504; Royal Irish Constabulary barracks damaged, 168; raids on mails, 616; raids on coastguard stations and lighthouses, 33."

Raids for arms reported 2,075 (many of these raids do not come to the knowledge of the police); police killed, 109; police wounded, 174; soldiers killed, 16; soldiers wounded, 61; civilians killed, 27.

These figures do not include the casualties in the Ulster riots in July and September.

Sinn Fein Bulletin. Coincident with this announcement the Sinn Fein Irish bulletin publishes the details of attacks on 53 police barracks up to September 30, of which it is stated twelve were captured and two destroyed during fighting, while forty-four successfully resisted attacks. In the twelve barracks captured 31 police were made prisoner, disarmed and subsequently released without injury.

Seven men alleged to have taken part in attacks, the bulletin continues, "we captured, tried by court-martial."

WILL YOU PICK YOUR WIFE out of the WASHTUB?

Away back in the time when the Northmen invaded France and gave their name to the occupied territory, which is still known as Normandy, a sturdy old Norse king saw a young woman washing clothes in a small stream, fell in love with her and married her. That was in the olden days.

Today men do not pick their wives out of washtubs and they hate to see them working and slaving in one. The up-to-date home man buys his wife an Electric Washer, bringing comfort and economy to the household, and robbing wash day of its terrors for his life partner.

The Electric Washer washes anything that should be washed. It is no experiment. There are more than a thousand in use in London. It does no damage to the filmy, delicate things. The heavy things, such as blankets, are washed thoroughly clean.

The Hydro Shop will be delighted to explain to you how you can pay for a machine on easy terms. Demonstration are given daily.

FIVE ARE DEAD, THREE MISSING, BLAST RESULT

Explosion On Toronto Tank Steamer in Brooklyn Shipyard.

SCORE SUFFER INJURIES

Gases From Empty Oil Tank Believed Ignited by Blow Torch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Five men were killed and more than a score injured, while three others are missing and believed to have lost their lives this afternoon in the explosion which wrecked a forward compartment of the British tanker G. R. Crowe of Toronto, undergoing repairs at a Brooklyn shipyard. The blast, which endangered the lives of more than 200 workmen, employed on the ship's deck, is believed to have been caused when gases from an empty oil tank were ignited by a blow torch. City detectives, representatives of the fire marshal's office, and agents of the department of justice, however, began an immediate investigation.

Several workmen were trapped in the hold of the vessel, while scores of others were swept from the decks by the explosion. One man was thrown more than a hundred feet in the air, crashing to death through an iron roof of a nearby machine shop.

Two of the dead were burned beyond recognition. The majority of the wounded were burned and lacerated, but all are expected to live, it was stated at the hospital.

ACTION AGAINST ANTI-CHILDREN LANDLORDS

Premier Drury Assures Mayor of Windsor That Government Will Investigate.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—During its next session the Provincial Government will bring down legislation to curb the profiteering activities of landlords, and to provide a penalty that will bring to an end the policy of some property owners in refusing to admit tenants with children. This was the information received tonight from Premier Drury by Mayor Winter, in a letter replying to the appeal from the Windsor City Council that some action be taken at Toronto against the prevalent practice of charging excessive rentals and against other abuses against which there has been frequent complaints registered in the border cities.

When investigation disclosed that exorbitant rents were being charged by landlords on the border, that the growth of the municipality and the welfare of its citizens were greatly endangered, and that the city had no actual power to take action, Mayor Winter, supported by the premier, and asked that some situation, which has grown acute here, be suggested amendments to the landlords' and tenants' act that would provide prosecution and punishment to offenders.

In his reply Premier Drury says: "I am quite in sympathy with your views. I am also seriously considering and contemplate taking action against landlords and owners of apartment houses who object to people with children. This is a matter, I think, which should be put a stop to. When we are considering our legislation for the next session I will see that this matter is given serious consideration."

Thomas' Furniture Company
Sale Has Been One of the Greatest Successes in Many Years.

That Henry Ford started something when he announced that prices of Ford cars would be reduced is evident in the hundreds upon hundreds of firms throughout Canada and the United States who immediately announced sales events, announcing that prices were on the decline and the rare old times, when one could buy a ton of coal for $5.50 were coming back again. It may be true, and it might not. The manufacturers tell us that prices will not tumble—the retailers say the same, but some of the wise business heads are taking Ford's example, and announcing cut-prices on their entire stock, and taking chances on the downward trend of prices on all commodities. They may lose, and they might not—nobody knows. But following Ford seems a might good horse-sense, for there is hardly a man in the realm of manufacturers today who has proven so successful in the world of progress than Henry Ford.

and leaving the stock to the mercy of the creditors—but such was not the case. Thomas is still in business—and by the way, in the middle of the largest sale that London has witnessed in many years. The Pre-War Price Sale of Furniture has brought thousands to the store who have shared in the startling price reductions and availed themselves of one of the biggest opportunities of the year. The entire sales force of the store has been unable to cope with the swarms of patrons who have come to furnish their homes at pre-war prices. The delivery department with its huge motor trucks have been wholly inadequate to meet the demands for delivery. But as the volume increases, so has the staff, and with the addition of more trucks Londoners will have the usual service that has characterized the store in the past.

Furniture prices may be coming down to level, and they may not, but here is one man—one who follows the advice of the more successful merchants of the country, and takes his example from Ford, and slashes prices and takes a chance of prices taking a downward plunge in repurchasing.

ELECTRO-MAGNETISM.
Demonstrations took place at the Polytechnic Academy in Copenhagen on the occasion of the centenary of Hans Christian Oersted, the Danish philosopher, who originated electro-magnetism, in two new inventions by two Danish engineers, Messrs. Rabbek and Johnsen.

By sending an electric current through certain substances, for instance, lithographic stone (a slaty limestone) an adherent force in some respects resembling electro-magnetism, but really entirely different, is produced.

The two inventors picked up wireless messages from different European stations, and by a specially constructed apparatus were able to take them down at the rate of 600 words a minute.

One of the inventors went to a house which was connected with the demonstration room by wire and played on a violin. This was distinctly heard by the gathering in the demonstration room. In fact the sound was magnified so much that listening became almost unbearable. The inventor then talked into his violin, and another violin in the audience's room repeated his words.

Puppy Stories

THE CIRCUS DOG.
Teddy's aunt and uncle had a surprise for him—but our little friend was too sad to think about it. Who wouldn't feel sad if they had lost a nice pet like Monty. Teddy could not believe that Monty had run away, he felt sure that the little dog had been drowned in the stream.
"It's worse than when I lost old Dumbo, the elephant," Teddy sighed. "He was a nice pet, but he wasn't half the pal that Monty was."
"We are going some place today where we will see elephants like Dumbo," his uncle whispered to him.
"Not to a circus?" Teddy cried, forgetting his sorrow at the mention of the magic word.
"You've guessed it," his uncle told him.
"Not to THE circus?" Teddy gasped, as if there were only one circus in the world.
"Yes—the circus your dad is with," his uncle told him. "There! The secret is out, and we intended not to tell you." Even Monty was forgotten then. Teddy had not seen his father for months and months—nor since his leg was hurt, when he had been with him in a circus, and now that he knew his father was near he could hardly wait until the time came to go and see him.
There was great excitement in the tent where Mr. Bangs was. Someone had peeped in—it was Teddy, and a little dog had rushed forward to greet him. But Teddy, for the minute, did not notice Monty; he was looking past him, and then when Mr. Bangs smiled and held out his arms the little boy ran to him. Mr. Bangs was Teddy's father, you see. How wonderful it all

1000 Eggs In Every Hen

If You Keep Chickens, Cut This Out—Four to Seven Eggs a Week per Hen Through Cold Winter Season. With Eggs at Dollar a Dozen, Means $5.00 Profit per Hen in Next Six Months. Amazing Poultry Secrets Revealed By AMERICA'S FOREMOST POULTRY EXPERT

This is an offer no reader of this paper who keeps chickens can afford to ignore. We will tell you why. Henry Traford, Famous Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success," has developed a new and remarkable system of rearing, breeding and feeding chickens for heavy egg production that seems certain to revolutionize the poultry industry and give five eggs or more for every egg produced today. This plan or system is explained in Mr. Traford's "1,000 Egg Hen," a free copy of which will be sent to any person who keeps six hens or more.
Poultry keepers, following Mr. Traford's directions, learn how to start young pullets laying early; made old hens moult quickly and resume heavy laying during entire winter season. Most any hen will lay in spring when eggs are cheap. Mr. Traford tells how during coldest winter days when eggs sell at a dozen or more. His system shows how any breeder, with ordinary care, may get 1,000 eggs or more from nearly every hen in four years' time at a net profit of $5.00.

seemed to them all. It was a double joy for everybody, for Mr. Bangs had found Monty, and had also found his little boy better. Teddy had found Monty once more and his daddy had returned to him, while Monty had found that the two persons he loved best in the world loved each other, too.
That isn't all either: Mr. Bangs had decided to leave the circus and go back to the farm to live with Teddy, so of course, Monty was to go, too. The arrangements were made that night.
Poor old Billie the goat was feeling dismal for the hour for Mr. Bangs and Monty to leave had come, and he could not bear to see them go. Monty came to say good-by and they rubbed noses affectionately. There were tears in the old goat's eyes, and Monty had a lump in his throat.
"Come on, Billie," cried a merry voice close by. "You belong to me and you are coming to the farm." It was Mr. Bangs, and as he spoke he started to untie the knot that fastened Billie to a stake.
It was a gay party that started for the farm that night. Teddy, Mr. Bangs, and Teddy's aunt and uncle were in the buggy, and Billie and Monty trudged on ahead. On, on they went to the place of happiness and good times.

Producers Will Promise Price Cut As Soon As Costs Decrease.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—(By Canadian Press).—A conference was held today between the board of commerce and the milk producers of Ontario, represented by E. H. Stonehouse, president of the Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association, and Mr. D'Arcy Scott, secretary of the National Dairy Council.
The downward trend of prices and other matters bearing on the milk production were discussed. Mr. Stonehouse stated that it was the desire of the producers to co-operate with the board of commerce, and that the producers would undertake to reduce the price of milk as soon as the price of cattle, feeds, labor and other commodities entering into the production of milk, made a reduction practicable.
A further conference with a large representation from the producers will be held as soon as more definite information as to the reduced cost of the production of milk and the question of the rearrangement of the price of milk will be then reconsidered.

MOUER TO HANG IN JANUARY FOR KILLING ELLIOTT

March of Justice Is Swift in Case Heard At Sault Ste. Marie.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 7.—William Douglass Mouer, 28 years of age, who was convicted at the assizes here yesterday of the murder of George Elliott, a farmer in the township of East Korah, was sentenced today by Mr. Justice Orde to be hanged on January 8.
Before pronouncing sentence on the prisoner the judge referred to Mouer's habit of carrying firearms, which had finally led to his commission of the crime of murder.
The prisoner's counsel applied for a reserve case on the ground that the crown counsel had been unfair to the prisoner in his opening and closing remarks to the jury; also on the ground that the presiding judge, Mr. Justice Orde, had been unfair in his charge to the jury. The judge promised to consider the application.
The murder occurred on the night of Sept. 13, and Mouer's trial and death sentence following in a little over three weeks.

This may seem like a mighty strong statement to make—one to which you feel like saying, "Oh, they all claim that!" But wait a minute! We'll tell you why, and our story is short and simple.

FIRST—The Regent Tailors is the only tailoring organization in Canada which is owned and operated by the men who are at the head of its several departments. All these men work themselves, saving to customers the high salaries which other firms have to pay their managers And this is a big saving.

SECOND—The Regent Tailors import direct the materials they sell in their stores. You get them at rock bottom prices.

THIRD—They make up in their own tailoring shops all the clothes they sell in their stores. The Regent Tailors are therefore really manufacturers who sell to the public direct instead of through jobbers or wholesalers. This further big saving cuts down the price of clothes tremendously.

THAT'S WHY ours are the greatest tailoring values in Canada—and we offer you a

With the arrival at Kenilworth racing park this afternoon of Sir Barton and Man-o'-War, the two noted steeds will be quartered in lodgings at once unique and expensive. A specially constructed two-story bungalow in which the horses will be quartered on the ground floor, and jockeys, trainers and attendants above is surrounded by a high picket fence that will serve as a barrier against prying eyes as well as evil doers.

A score of detectives are here to watch over the horses, and distilled water is being brought here specially from Maryland. The horses will be given daily work out here until the day of the notable race for the biggest purse and highest honor in turfdom.

ing their arrival here today were much past crowded grandstands at Kenilworth the throng gave a mighty cheer in welcome to Sir Barton, while Man-o'-War trotted by a few minutes later in a review that was marked by its silence. Extra seating capacity has been arranged for 10,000 people, while it is confidently expected 40,000 people will witness the event.

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND.

The antics of the Katzenjammer Kids as portrayed in the Sunday papers have amused all America for several years, but the actual appearance of the two roughish youngsters at the Grand Theatre last night was responsible for as much laughter in two hours as their portraits have produced in two years. A packed house greeted this second edition of the Katzenjammer Kids, and it was an audience that delighted in every move of the two diminutive comedians, and the able company of principals and chorus which formed the background for their antics.

Of course, the Captain was there, ably portrayed by William J. Hoyt, and he was almost as popular as Henry Washer in character of Fritz, and George Bach in that of Hans. Mrs. Ludwina Katzenjammer, the captain's sweetheart, was another of the principal comedians.

The singing of Miss Olivia Myfanwyn was a feature of the production. She has a voice and a stage presence which are more often associated with opera than with musical comedy. Just how well her offerings were appreciated was indicated when a contest was staged to determine whether modern "jazz" or the old-time melodies were the most popular. The audience was judge, and it indicated in no uncertain way that its sympathies were with the old-fashioned music as sung by Miss Myfanwyn and Earle B. Bonner, although the ragtime was ably championed by Edna Burnett and Eddie Malden.

Amita Smith was responsible for a number of clever dances which were decidedly popular while Malden and Stewart also appeared in some good numbers along this line. Next to the "Kids," however, it was the chorus, which was mainly responsible for the success of the evening. Composed of pretty young maids representing all known types of beauty it danced and sang its way into the hearts of every one present.

The audience was given plenty of chance to admire them, for they appeared in a score of different costumes from gymnasium attire and Mack Senet bathing suits to Hawaiian grass skirts. Their dancing numbers included everything from the old-time ballet to the modern "shimmy."

One particularly good number was "At the Style Shop," led by Eddie Malden. Costume representing a number of widely-advertised products was clerical combined in a pleasing singing and dancing skit. "The Shimmie Wedding" as the finale was also a hit.

"THE PRINCE AND THE PAUPER," A LABOR OF LOVE.

In writing "The Prince and the Pauper," which will be revealed by William Faversham in all its spectacular beauty at the Grand tonight, Mark Twain had a lot of love. It was his habit to read his MS. to Mrs. Clemens and the two children, Susy and Clara, to whom the book was subsequently dedicated, evenings after he had finished his chapter. He would assemble his little audience and read with this result: The children were old enough to delight in that half-real, half-fairy tale of the wandering prince and the royal pauper, and the charm and simplicity of the story are measurably due to those small listeners, to whom it was adapted in that early day of its creation.

So enthused was Mr. Twain over the way the story was unfolding that he never could find a copy of his brilliant delight in writing it would suffer no diminution. A week later his enthusiasm had still further increased, and he wrote Mr. Howells: "I take so much pleasure in my story that I am loath to hurry, not wanting to get it done. Did I ever tell you the plot of it? It begins at 9 a.m., January 27, 1547. He followed that with a detailed synopsis of the plot, which in this instance he worked out with unusual completeness—a fact which largely amounts for the unity of the two tales.

"My idea is to afford a realizing sense of the exceeding severity of the laws of the day by inflicting some of their penalties upon the king himself and allowing him a chance to see the rest of them applied to others; all of which is to account for certain mildnesses which distinguished Edward VI's reign from those that precede it and followed it.

"Imagine this fact: I have even fascinated Mrs. Clemens with this yarn for youth. My stuff generally gets considerable damping with faint praise out of her, but this time it is all the other way. She is become the horse leech's daughter, and my stuff doesn't find fault enough to suit her. This is no mean triumph, my dear Sir."

"EXPERIENCE," COMING TO THE GRAND NEXT MONDAY.

Ray Comstock and Morris Gest present George V. Hobart's much-discussed modern morality comedy drama of today, "Experience," called by critics the most wonderful play in America, at the Grand next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Hobart has taken the universal adventures of mankind, the struggles, the sins, the temptations—the elements which persuade man for right or wrong, and has woven them into a play of vital reality. He has aptly called it "Experience," for under that title may be included all the attributes of men and women, good and bad, in their relationship to each other.

In this unique play Mr. Hobart has written one of the most interesting and thrilling of modern dramas. He has directed his appeal and efforts in language and situations so universally accepted as true that whoever sees or hears the play may know.

"Experience" tells the story of the average young man of today—passes in his effort to achieve supreme happiness, and one is often reminded of

"Pierrot's Progress" while watching the show, although "Experience" is quite modern and up-to-date.

Youth leaves Love, his first sweetheart, and accompanies Ambition into the Highways of Life. He meets Pleasure, a very charming and captivating woman, on the Street of Vacillation as he enters the city, and fascinated by Pleasure, Youth turns from Ambition, refusing at the same time to heed the call of Opportunity, and with Pleasure visits the Golden Cabaret. "Experience," his guide, looks on while Youth goes the pace with Pleasure, Wealth, Beauty and intoxication.

There are ten scenes showing his downward career and his final regeneration. The play is handsomely staged and will be acted by a splendid cast.

AT THE ALLEN.

No one who has ever seen "Officer 666" played upon the legitimate stage need be told that it is one of the finest plays that has ever been written. In fact any person who saw it would find it hard to imagine that any more comedy could be crowded into the story. The picture which has been done, for in adapting the story to the screen many laugh-producing stunts which could not possibly be introduced on the stage, have been introduced into the version. The producer has gone further than that, he found the perfect Officer 666 in the person of sunny Tom Moore.

More than anything else in making the picture which is showing at the Allen theatre during the last half of this week, the great laughable success it is, Tom Moore, in the role of Travers Gladwin, made his every action a cue for a riot of laughter.

No clever plot has ever been worked out in the moving picture world than the intricate and involved creation which forms the basis of this picture. It was twisted and turned again and again to create laugh producing situations. It was well staged and the settings were excellent, although in this play they are really nothing but a background for the action.

As good as Tom Moore is, he must share much of the honor with his supporting cast. Jerome Patrick does splendid work as Alf Wilson, the most amusing of the picture. The picture of Dunkinson as the real "Officer 666" could hardly be improved upon. Ray Comstock, the picture's chief critic, for he showed tendencies to over-act.

There is no use in attempting to tell the story. It is too involved for that. It must suffice to say that it ranks among the best in genuinely funny pictures which have yet been shown in this city.

In itself, the Overture from William Tell, played by Allen's orchestra and pipe organ is a rich treat. But something novel has been introduced by interpretation of the music by lighting effects on the screen. The gathering of the storm is well depicted by drifting clouds and an overcast moon, and then when the music breaks out in the fury of the storm, darkness and realistic thunder and lightning with a deluge of rain replace the broken clouds. The storm subsides and a beautiful rain and brilliant moon scene follows.

A Charlie Chaplin comedy "The Pawn Shop" and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon pleased the kiddies, while a Pathe Weekly completed the program, which will be repeated today and tomorrow.

AT LOEW'S.

One of the finest films shown in London for many days is that which was seen at Loew's Theatre yesterday.

First of all come three excellent vaudeville acts, the biggest of which is "Cheer Up," a delightful succession of pretty dancing scenes, where costumes and stage setting are thrown up against each other in a riot of beautiful color, and where beauty, dancing and fun is the prescription of Dr. Cheer for the dreadful ailment known as "the blues." A dazzling club-throwing act by the Four Normans again introduces color with startling effect, while the little comedy sketch by Lanton and Roberts is irrepressibly funny, introducing the inevitable "ball" act of an Englishman.

"Sick Abed," the picture, starring Wallace Reid, is a succession of amusing scenes and screamingly funny predicaments. The hero is made to feign sickness so that he will not be available to appear in court as witness in a divorce case. His helpless efforts at play sick, about the house, and the retinue of quack doctors who wait upon him and the alarmingly pretty nurse who has been sent to feel his pulse and hold his head, are all part of a picture which is delightfully interesting from beginning to end. Will mountain scenery comes early into the picture, making the scenes a succession of beauty, oddly in contrast to the bachelor quarters of the hero, with a formidable Jap servant in charge, which forms the setting toward the end of the picture.

An exceedingly funny comedy, where Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed take a couple of street Arabs to the beach and then find them like bawdy colts on their hands, follows next. And lastly there is an admirable pictorial review and other fascinating little reels.

AT THE PATRICIA.

Patrons of the Patricia Theatre who are enthusiastic supporters of wild-west photoplays will have to content themselves with seeing a really thrilling episode from "The Scarlet Confession," serial, entitled "The Vanishing Dagger," this week end. As serials go this is a very good serial, and this week's episode makes a fascinating appeal to lovers both of the occult and of adventure and romance generally.

For feature films the Patricia on Thursday (to be repeated today and Saturday) offered Dustin Farnum in a splendidly produced, well-constructed and impressive drama, "Big Happiness." The plot is a difficult one, but is deftly handled and makes a clean, romantic story of absorbing interest.

Starting in the rue Paradis, in the underworld of Paris, where an aggressive English financier changes places with his twin brother and dons the scenes shift from high class hotels and cabarets, through picturesque French scenery and beautiful provincial castles to London, England, where the denouement finally takes place, after many situations of high dramatic force, fullness and subtle romance. Of course, there is a villain who changes places with his vagabond double on his wedding day, but the villain began badly by committing a crime in the rue Paradis of which the erstwhile vagabond was a chance witness. And so the villain flees.

The playright by careful handling of his plot, has avoided anything offensive, and although the story begins with a tragedy and ends with another, it is not excessively morbid.

The death of the original financier from Betty on his return permits the desirable romantic ending.

ORIOLES TAKE TWO STRAIGHT FROM ST. PAUL IN BIG SERIES

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—Baltimore made it two in a row in the inter-league series with St. Paul this afternoon, capturing the second battle by a count of 8 to 5. It was a free-hitting contest with the home club better able to bunch its bingles, and with one big inning to its credit, the Orioles had no trouble in winning.

The fielding on both sides was brilliant at times. Shortstop Doley, Baltimore, and Third Baseman Rapp, St. Paul, shining in this respect. About 7,500 paid admission to see the contest.

STRAW HAT UNSAFE IN ANATOLIAN CITY

But Fez Is Disappearing in Other Places of Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—With the crumbling of the Turkish authority and influence, the fez, the badge which all Turkish subjects, Christians, Jews and Turks alike, are supposed to wear, is rapidly disappearing. Although the Moslems still wear their fezzes in the streets, they no longer cling to them slavishly indoors. Soon the Turks may be wearing hats with brims in Constantinople. Moslems in other parts of Turkey insist the Mohammedans in the capital lost their religion long ago through their desire to imitate the infidels.

As all heads must remain covered in the mosques, and it is quite impossible to touch one's forehead to a prayer rug while wearing a hat with a brim, the fez is indispensable to the faithful Moslem who prays daily to Mecca. Even military and naval officers must wear visorless caps.

The fez still prevails in Anatolian cities. In fact, it is unsafe for foreigners to wear a hat in many of them unless he desires to attract a crowd of shouting small boys and run the risk of starting a riot. Osman Agha, the terrorist governor of Kerasse, recently checked the tendency of non-Moslems in that city to get away from old customs.

An Armenian who had just returned from Russia walked along the main street of the little city wearing a stiff-brimmed straw hat. It was worse than wearing a straw hat on the New York stock exchange after the season had passed. Osman Agha grabbed the hat from the Armenian's head, dashed the crown down on the Armenian's head, hitting it a heavy blow with the sword, and the unfortunate chap never again to appear in Kerasse in such unholly head-gear unless he wanted to go to jail.

JAPANESE CONTROL CABLES OF PACIFIC

Medill McCormick Blames Wilson For Weakness.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—"I am glad to see at least that the people in Washington realize what President Wilson has done to us in regard to the island of Yap," said Senator Medill McCormick today in a statement.

"Yap is the keystone of American trade in the Pacific. It is the cable junction of the Pacific through which pass, and are sorted or relayed, business messages of our businessmen between this country and East Africa. Under cover of the League of Nations Wilson turned over Yap to the Japanese. He would not pay attention to the American protests—he had no interest in them. Today Japan not only has shut John Hay's open door in our face, but practically has taken in hand all our commercial wire communications in the Pacific."

"At Yap the cablegrams to and from our American merchants are held until notice of their contents can be placed in the hands of the Japanese merchant. Even the messages from our diplomats in Asia are not safe. They can be decoded and laid down in the Tokyo foreign office before the state department in Washington sees them."

"In this, as in everything else, Wilson has given the Japanese a stiff-armed stranglehold unless they get that. They think he will yield everything they ask, and as Cox is pleased to the same policy, I don't doubt that Cox would do the same if he should get the chance."

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage

Hair that loses its color and lustre when it fades, turns grey, dull or lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother used to keep her locks dark and beautiful by using only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been dyed. You just dampen a sponge or brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the grey hair disappears; but what delights the ladies is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it brings back the gloss and lustre, gives it an appearance of abundance.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Prevention of Seasickness.

There are nearly as many theories advanced in explanation of sea sickness and car sickness as there are remedies suggested for their prevention and relief. My own theories and remedies are gathered from many sources.
Begin two days before the journey taking a daily dose of some saline cathartic, such as a bottle or half bottle of solution of magnesium citrate effervescent. Also take three times each twenty-four hours, but not within an hour of mealtimes, five drops of tincture of belladonna, or in place of the tincture a tablet of atropine (the active principle of belladonna) may be taken, one-two-hundredth grain. The aim of these medicines is to maintain peristalsis downward and oppose the tendency to upward waves in the alimentary tube. The same regimen should be continued for the first three or four days of the journey.
Avoid lying semi-reclining. It is better to lie fully reclining, with no pillow or only a small pillow under the head, particularly if the ship is rolling.

Eat less than you ordinarily eat, and let the diet include fruit, green vegetables or salads, to oppose the tendency towards constipation.
Army medical corps officers observed that soldiers who wore coats of tightly rolled gauze in the rear, to shut out most of the sounds of battle, were far less likely to become seasick than soldiers who wore nothing in the rear.
The dizziness and nausea of seasickness and carsickness are associated with disturbance of the lymph circulation in the semi-circular canals of inner ear (labyrinth). Strains of the eye might contribute materially towards the condition. Gazing out of a car window at rapidly passing things, or watching a horizon rise and fall at sea, favor mal de mer.
Drinking as much water and as often as possible is preventive, but is a mistake to imagine clean broth or any other broth prevents seasickness unless you really like it. It will produce nausea if you dislike it.
Persons subject to carsickness on short rides should have the vision carefully examined, while the accommodation (unconscious or involuntary focusing of light) is placed at rest under drops.

Confidential Communication.
Please inform me whether a practicing physician is required by law to keep a confidence a patient gives him or whether such a physician is permitted to divulge to any third person such a confidence under any circumstances. (R. E. X.)
Ans.—Both by high Hippocratic oath and by law the physician is required to keep all such confidential information secret. The courts hold that anything a patient tells his physician or anything the physician learns in the course of the existence of a communicable disease, a recent case (Simonsen vs. Swensen, 177 N. W. 831) illustrates this. The supreme court of Nebraska held that the physician did right in disclosing to a hotel keeper that a guest, who had syphilis in the recent and very communicable stage, had a communicable disease and endangered those who came in contact with him. It is pertinent to explain that the patient in this case refused to obey the physician's instructions for the protection of persons who might be endangered; had he obeyed, as any fair-minded person would, there would have been no trouble at all. Where there is no question of an infringement of the rights of other persons the patient may rest assured that confidences to his physician will never be betrayed.

SLIP-STITCHING AND WHIPPING.
The thumb and finger of your left hand, so that the raw edge is hidden. Roll over the edge of the cloth, and make the stitches so close or tight that it will be difficult to pull the thread afterwards. Make your stitches pass under, never through the roll. Use short threads. Edges which have been rolled and whipped are then overhanded to the garment, and each overhand stitch should take one fold or garter made in the whipping.

The edge of a garment, as the neck and wrists of baby dresses, may be rolled and whipped to gather the fullness to its place, and then heading may be overhanded to the rolled edge, and narrow lace overhanded to the heading. It makes a very dainty finish.

ELECTRIC COOKERY.

The electric range economizes every thing except money. There is no denying that it is still a luxury, an expensive form of heat, but once you have used it you understand why people are willing to save the money for it in other ways.
There is no excessive heat, no gas fumes, no smoke, no sooty pots or pans, no carrying coal or dusty ashes, no dirty stove to be blackened after every meal, no need to cut and carry.
Only one who has struggled with every form of fuel known to woman, with wood, coal, gas, and oil, and then uses an electric range, can fully appreciate the difference. It saves the heavy lifting, so bad for a woman, so often the cause of serious bodily ills. It is steady and certain. The desired heat, high, low, or medium is secured by the touch of a button. It is almost like a fairy story. If the tough meat is to simmer, there is no danger of its suddenly starting to boil. If the fire must be left, it will neither go out nor get too hot while you are gone.
No space is required for storage of fuel, no dirty, noisy delivery of coal, no removal, and no sitting of ashes. In time, in labor in continuity of service,

HESTER.
(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)
Still another Puritan name which has great value in this country is quaint, old-fashioned Hester. We think immediately of the demure grey-clad maid with their immaculate white kerchiefs folded across their breasts and their forehead even bent upon a prayer book. Certainly Hester is "Keating's" name of great spiritual significance.

The Romans called her Hester, a star. The name comes originally from the Latin "stella," meaning "star," which, in modern times, becomes "stella." The fair daughter of the tribe of Benjamin, whose royalty insured her people safety, was known in her own tongue as Hadassah; others called her Atossa. Hers was the first "star" name, which the Romans rendered as Hester, and the English adopted and changed into Hester.

Hester has figured to some extent in English literature. Hawthorne called his ill-starred heroine of "The Scarlet Letter" by that quaint name.

The sapphire is Hester's talismanic gem. It is believed to bring her great good fortune and to protect her from all evil. Friday is her lucky day and 7 her lucky number.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. A one losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK.

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative, and health-giving properties, which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD, TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water swells and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life-saver for regular bowels. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithe-water drink.

MODERN YOUTH AS SEEN BY FAMOUS ENGLISH PREACHER

Canon Newbolt Deplores Way of Things in Present-Day Life.

London, Oct. 7.—Canon Newbolt is the first to join the discussion on modern youth, proceeding in the Morning Post. He says:

Is it a grace or is it a virtue? And what shall we call it? Shall we call it reverence? Is that the right name for a very beautiful attitude of the mind, which has been felt rather than described, which is a growth from within, rather than something taught from without?

We know it when we see it, and we admire it, even when we undervalue it. But it is difficult to register and to name anything so elusive. There is modesty, to which Aristotle refuses to give the name of virtue. He would call it a desirable quality in tender age before the character is formed; but in mature life, he would say that the necessity for it, and therefore its merit, would cease to exist.

Is this a grace which is gone from society today or is it going? And are we prepared to lose it? Certainly our modern youth would not dispute with Aristotle that it is a quality suitable for tender age. And our elders would say that the crush of life was too fierce to enable them to perpetually be taking off their hat to qualities or states which have no invariable value; or to give precedence to anyone, except on the principles which govern a competitive examination.

Obsession of Slang. We find that something is gone from the words, written and spoken, of today. There used to be an unwritten standard of beauty, propriety, and excellence by which human utterance was instinctively regulated.

Self-respect, conventional, social etiquette required it. But it is not so now. Slang has almost become a dialect of its own. It has invaded our pulpits. We hear in sermons in close juxtaposition with the most sacred things, the words and phrases common in the camp and barracks, which the army chaplains brought home with them.

An oath or a profanity is not unknown; it adds point to the discourse, and weakens the languid interests of the audience.

In the daily conversation of social life men and women seem to vie with each other in casting away even the conventionalities of conversation, lest they should seem priggish or pedantic. And yet we feel instinctively that even conversation cannot bear impoverishing, and that language as it passes through each generation must be preserved from losing its beauty and its purity from contact with what is unbecoming and unworthy.

Where, again, is reverence, modesty, and self-respect in much of the ordinary life around us today? Young girls with painted face and scanty clothing move up and down the streets, even in our business centres. Women in the most light bathing dresses are photographed for exhibition in the cheap illustrated press.

Woman Less Woman. Wherever men may go, whatever men may do, women may go and do likewise. Are they casting away one of women's distinguishing excellences as women, without gaining any of the eagerly-coveted powers of men?

Perhaps it is not an old man's fancy to think that we are losing something out of life, that a young man's world lacks something of the beauty and grandeur of the manhood, as compared with the tent or the bungalow by the sea. There are certain things which we cannot part with without making the world a poorer place than it is.

Dean Church has spoken in memorable words of the sense of beauty which seems to be implanted in us. "Beyond that which is useful, and that which is true, and that which is good, and that which is orderly and well proportioned, there clings obstinately to the soul of man this idea of what is beautiful in its infinite forms and degrees."

If we lose the sense of reverence for God, for self, for anything which we know ought to command our respect, then our life becomes impoverished. We are as one who writes verses without a sense of poetry; as one who paints pictures without the inspiration of art; as one who looks into Nature, from which he has lost God.

LIBERAL HARVESTS BRING PROSPERITY

Bank Finds Presidential Campaign Doesn't Interfere With Business.

Detroit, Oct. 7.—"This is the closing month of a memorable month of a memorable presidential campaign of great importance to the American people," says the October letter on general business conditions put out by the Dime Savings Bank of Detroit. "There are tremendous issues involved, but the country is not getting excited, nor permitting politics to interfere with business."

"In this respect the struggle has been unique, for on previous occasions a striking campaign has often caused great business unsettlement. The businessman these days is limiting risk, he is thinking straight, acting calmly, and adopting safeguards. The nation is not only losing its partisan spirit, but its extreme partisanship. Party ties are still strong, but they are not binding men as they formerly did to the essential needs of the people. This is a huge advance compared with conditions prevailing two or three decades ago and shows that common sense—an immensely valuable national asset—is on the increase everywhere."

Bountiful harvests mean much for the increased wealth of the American people and sustained prosperity during the next year or two. The vital facts are the promise of record crops of corn, rice, sugar beets and tobacco. Cereal, fruit and vegetable crops are apparently above the five-year average. This insures a large food supply which is very comforting in view of the average 10 per cent reduction in acreage compared with a year ago.

"Favorable weather conditions have made up for the smaller area planted. The position of all crops is most significant, for in the last analysis genuine prosperity cannot come to this country at a time when the agricultural states are hard up, or showing heavy losses."

"The American people are not speculating. They are living carefully and working overtime to make good. Extravagant display now causes resentment, whereas, a year or two ago, it was the fashion. When spending in days of inflated prices is a fine art, the average man, realizing that his dollar is still bringing him little more than 50 cents of pre-war values, is apportioning his funds accordingly. Savings accounts are increasing, the worker is less intolerant, and the influx of laborers from the other side is making itself felt in those industries where unskilled workers long have been at a premium."

"The readjustment is causing unsettlement in some quarters, which is natural in view of the volume of business done. Commercial failures in August increased over July and over a year ago. But the increase was not sensational."

"CAPT. KETTLE" EXPLOITS

New Irish Peer Relates His Adventures.

London, Oct. 7.—A man who has led revolutions in South America, fought Red Indians in the wilds of North America, searched for gold in Klondike and for oil in Texas, and performed a Captain Kettle exploit which was talked about in three capitals, now (remarks the Daily Express) succeeds to an Irish barony.

Lord Fermoy, of Rock Varton, Bruff, Co. Limerick, died suddenly on the 31st instant during the holiday at Barinagh. His brother and heir to the barony is the Hon. James Boothby Burke Roche, who becomes the third Lord Fermoy in his 69th year.

The new peer has sat as a Nationalist M. P. in the House of Commons and as a model to Sir John Mills. He is probably the only living man to whose memory a tombstone has been erected. It stands out in Montana, where it was placed by his mother, Lady Fermoy, after an expedition against the Indians in the early seventies. He had merely started straight from the light on a long hunting expedition in Wyoming, and was unawares until his return that he was being sorrowed for as dead.

Venture Recalled. The name of this adventurous Irishman will be best remembered in connection with the running of the torpedo-boat-yacht Caroline from the Thames to Libau when the Russo-Japanese war had started, in the teeth of the admiralty, the coastguard, the foreign enlistment act, and a strong combination of formidable penalties.

Mr. Roche undertook this merely for a daredevil wager of £500 and to prove to a number of Russian officers, whom he heard scoffing around him in a St. Petersburg club, that British pluck had not disappeared.

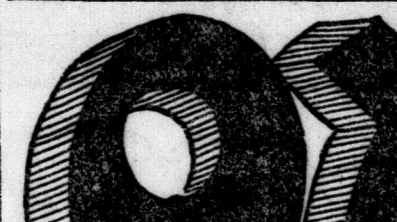

He wedded a beautiful American, the daughter of the late eccentric millionaire named Frank Work, but the marriage proved unhappy, and Mrs. Roche obtained a divorce in 1890.

The sequel was told at the end of last year, when, rather than avoid visiting England, where they were born, and forswear their British allegiance by changing their name to Work, Francis G. Burke Roche and Edmund M. Burke Roche, twin sons of the millionaire's daughter, put themselves in the position of technically forfeiting their shares in the grandfather's estate of nearly £3,000,000.

The loyal British twins were not actually losers, however, because the family made an agreement voluntarily under which they each received £243,000.

COLD REFUSAL OF APPEAL ON RAILWAY RATES

Meighen Cabinet's Decision
Amounts To Absolute Rejection of Request.

HOPE FOR WEST REMOTE

Holds Carvell Should Not Have Considered National Lines' Needs.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Whatever relief may accrue from the judgment of the cabinet council on the railway rates appeal will not be perceptible to the public for some time to come. The new rates, which are estimated to bring an additional 120 million dollars to the revenues of the railways, and to add double that amount to the burden of the people, will remain in effect for the present year at least, inasmuch as the Government has declined to interfere with them. And any revision which may take place as a result of the carrying out of the Government's recommendations will not become effective for some time thereafter. The new rates have been designated as "temporary" in their application, and subject to revision by the board in 1927. It is fairly safe to predict that such revision will be little hastened by the recommendations of the cabinet of council.

Fair Reasonable Rate.
There is a reference back to the commission, it is true. "What constitutes a fair and reasonable rate," says the report of the council should now be arrived at without reference to the requirements of the Canadian National system (built not as a purely railway enterprise of a business character, but in a substantial degree for colonization and other purposes), and your committee recommends that the order in this case be referred back to the board to be corrected in its findings in such a manner as to determine what are fair and reasonable rates, without taking into account at all for the time the order shall be in effect, the requirements of the Canadian National system."

Was Not Unmindful.
It will be recalled that in the original judgment, Hon. F. B. Carvell was not unmindful of the Canadian National, holding that a rate sufficient to maintain the self-respect and morale of the managers of the Canadian National should be granted, even if that rate were slightly in excess of the minimum amount absolutely required to keep the Canadian Pacific in comfortable circumstances. The suggestion of the report of the cabinet is that it was not in the province of Mr. Carvell to have regard for the reference back to the board on this point might be taken to imply that there will be a reduction in the rates as a result of the new computation. But unfortunately, at the tail end of the report, the Government declares, as a result of a new computation that the Canadian Pacific will have no surplus worth mentioning from the increased rates, and that the rates do not appear a probability of any return so unwarrantable as to be evidence of such error on the part of the board as would justify, for this cause alone, interference on the ground of mistake.

The new estimates for the C. P. R. places increased costs from wages, etc., at $47,310,000, and increased revenues from the new rates at $47,378,000. Under the circumstances it would not appear that there is any likelihood of reduction from the technical reference back.

Desire Equalization.
The board emphasizes the "desirability of bringing about with the least possible delay equalization of eastern and western rates, and recommends that as conditions have probably changed materially in recent years, tending more and more to render equalization practicable, an inquiry by the board be directed to be held at the earliest date with a view to the establishment of uniform rates to the utmost extent possible the above requirements as to equalization."

This contemplates an entirely new inquiry and has nothing to do with the reference back. The hearing on the question of discrimination occupied over two years, between its opening and the going into effect of the judgment. And it was only partial in its scope. During the hearing of the recent appeal, F. H. Chrysler, K.C., speaking for the Railway Association, stated that an investigation on the matter of discrimination would occupy from three to five years. That may be a railway counsel's exaggeration, but in any case such an inquiry must occupy a very considerable time. And, in the meantime, the new rates continue in force.

Absolute Refusal.
From the standpoint of Eastern Canadian appellants, who simply demanded disallowance of the new order until such time as normal conditions had returned, and who deprecated any consideration as between East and West, the Government's decision constitutes complete and absolute refusal of the appeal. From the standpoint of Western appellants who requested disallowance, but who desired that, in the event of the increases being upheld discrimination as against the West should be removed, the judgment of council provides hope only in the remote future.

JUDGMENT GOES BACK TO COMMISSION FOR FURTHER STUDY
OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The judgment of the board of railway commissioners increasing the passenger and freight rates goes back to the board for further study of certain definite features. The ruling of the cabinet on the appeal taken from the judgment of the railway board was issued at noon today. It lays down the principle that for the Government to weigh evidence and substitute their own judgment for the judgment of the board upon the questions of fact arising would defeat the purpose for which the board of railway commissioners was created and would in the end be highly prejudicial to the public interest.

At the same time, it is felt that the board had applied principles that it should not have applied, principles which the cabinet consider not in consonance with public policy, such appropriate action should be taken as would lead to a finding in which only correct principles would be applied.

New Rates Stand.
While therefore not interfering with the new rates in force, the cabinet recommends that the order be referred back for determination of:

1. Fair and reasonable rates without taking into account at all for the time the order is in effect, the requirements of the Canadian National system.
2. Establishment of rates meeting to the utmost extent possible, equalization of freight rates between the East and West.

In regard to western rates it is averred that the question one which requires minute and expert investigations, such as could be best conducted by the railway board, but the cabinet "is strongly impressed with the very great desirability of bringing about with the least possible delay, equalization of eastern and western rates."

Review of Judgment.
A review of the judgment follows: In connection with this appeal it must be observed that one of the duties, if not indeed, the principal task, of the Board of Railway Commissioners, is to determine upon application, what are fair and reasonable rates to be charged from time to time for the various services performed by public utilities under the jurisdiction of the board. In such determination there must, of course, be taken into account, as has been done in the present case, all relevant circumstances, such as changes in the scale of wages, and the cost of materials, the effect of competitive means of carriage, whether by lake route or by lines to the south, and such other facts as may be established and as are found pertinent to the issue by a lawfully constituted judicial tribunal.

For the purposes of this work the commission not only has the advantage of hearing the evidence and following the cross-examination, but brings to bear the experience of its own members, extending in many cases over a considerable number of years, and the familiarity with railway problems thus acquired. It has, in addition, at its disposal, a permanent staff of expert officials trained in the various branches of the work of the board, and able to advise the commissioners in the many intricate and more or less technical subjects that are before the board for adjudication.

MEIGHEN CHANGES HIS SPEAKING TOUR

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—It has been found necessary to make an alteration in the date on which the prime minister will open his Western speaking tour in Winnipeg. Instead of speaking in Winnipeg on the 15th of this month, Premier Meighen will make the opening address of his tour in that city on Monday, October 18.

He will speak at St. John's, East Elgin, on Tuesday next.

SAYS REPORTS EXAGGERATED.
LONDON, Oct. 7.—Dispatches received here from Madrid telling of widespread strikes in Portugal, declared to be of a revolutionary character, drew a statement today from the Portuguese legation in London that these "reports of Spanish origin" are "exaggerated out of all proportion."

The legation made public a telegram from Portugal, dated last evening, which only refers to a partial railway strike, and says public order is undisturbed in any way.

ALL FUNDS EXPENDED.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—Admitting that all its surplus acquired by the issuing of debentures, when the purchase of the border street railway system from the Detroit United Railways was consummated in the early months of the year, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission today assured a deputation from Windsor that the Government would be asked to authorize borrowing of further funds to provide for purchasing of new equipment and extension of present lines to meet expansion of the district served.

MAKING FAST TIME.
Three miles of 100-pound steel will be laid on the east-bound track of the G. T. R. between London and Dorchester on Friday. The rails have already been distributed. To facilitate the work all section men from Sarnia to Princeton, and from Wingham and London, will be brought to the scene by special trains. While the construction work is going on, the west-bound train will be used by both east and west-bound trains. When the work is completed there will be new 100-pound rails on the east track from Hyde Park to Dorchester.

DISCUSSING WAGE SCALE.
Superintendent C. F. Forrester and his chief clerk are in Toronto today conferring with other divisional superintendents and officials on the final arrangement of the application of the increase for clerks under the recent wage award. The final arrangement in the local division was worked up last week, and the scales agreed upon were forwarded to Superintendent Bowker of the Ontario lines for his approval. So that the wages for jobs in all divisions will correspond, the superintendent called a meeting in Toronto today to discuss the matter.

Owing to the fact that the approval was not received from Toronto in time for the increase to be included in the pay roll which was recently sent in from the local office, the new scale will not be effective until October 15. It was planned by Montreal that all back pay would be paid by the end of the month, but this, too, will be postponed for some weeks.

Until the scale for the clerks is entirely agreed upon, the increases for Brisk Demand For Potatoes, But Quotations Show No Change.

Light offerings of hay during the past two days and an active demand sent the price up to $22 and $21 per ton at the market today. Up to 10 o'clock not a load was offered for sale, and the result was a jump in price. If the supply does not equal the demand for the remainder of the week, quotations will be much higher on Monday.

GOING TO CHICAGO.
Ottawa, Oct. 8.—That approximately 200 delegates from Ottawa will attend the provincial Conservative convention, to be held in Toronto during December 1 and 2, 1920, the number being a substantial percentage, according to the estimate of the local division of the party. In Ye Olden Time hoop skirts were worn by those who first asked the druggist, and insisted on having the genuine Golden Medical Discovery put up by Dr. Pierce over fifty years ago. Dress has changed very much since then! But Dr. Pierce's medicines contain the same dependable ingredients. They are standard today just as they were fifty years ago and never contained alcohol.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the stomach and blood cannot be surpassed by any remedy today.

"At this time of the year some people feel 'all out of sorts'—their vitality is at a low ebb—the blood becomes surcharged with poisons! The best blood medicine and tonic is called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts vim, vigor, vitality into the blood. Try it. This is what folks say about it:

LINDSAY, ONT.—"Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine I have ever taken for stomach trouble. For many years I suffered with gastric stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. I would be so bad at times that it was necessary for me to be in bed two or three days at a time. I have doctored and taken many different medicines with little relief. Just recently I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it has given more relief than all the other medicines I have ever taken. My stomach does not bother me and I have not had any indigestion since taking this medicine. I can highly recommend the 'Discovery' to others who suffer with this ailment."—MRS. GEO. WELLINGTON, No. 6 John Street.

You can wear Woollen Underwear if the "Itch" is taken out

Overheard at a Club—
One day at the Club I overheard two fellow members talking of the coming cold weather—one chap said,
"I do hate cold weather; I wish I could wear woollen underwear, but my skin is too sensitive."
And the other said, "Well, there's one make of woollen underwear you or anyone can wear, no matter how sensitive their skins may be—and that is 'CEETEE.'"
It is the softest stuff I have ever seen or worn—you just try it. I know you will like it."

He spoke the truth—"CEETEE" pure wool underclothing is so clean and soft a baby can wear it. There is none other like it made in Canada. Only the finest Australian Merino wool is used. There are no seams, as it is knitted with selvedge edges, which are knitted (not sewn) together.

RATES CASE WILL NOT BE REVIEWED UNTIL RETURN OF CARVELL

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—(By Canadian Press).—At the railway board office this morning it was stated that there is no possibility of the railway rates judgment being reviewed until the return of Chief Commissioner Carvell from the west at the end of the month. It was agreed that at the close of the Ottawa hearing that this case would be taken up next at a meeting to be held in Toronto during the first week of November. In view of the necessity for further inquiry under the terms of the Government's reference back to the board it is not regarded as probable that there will be any disturbance of the present rate situation before the close of the year.

KOREAN DELEGATE ASKS PRAYERS OF CHRISTIAN WORLD

Tokio, Oct. 8.—After the fire which destroyed the building in which the world's Sunday school convention was to have been held, arrangements were hastily made for a staff of tailors to fashion new costumes to be worn in the pavilions. Scores of Japanese girls, who insisted on making their own costumes, worked all night on them.

Messages of greeting to the nations of the world were read at Wednesday night's gathering.

A feature of the evening was a speech by the venerable pastor, Pak, the only Korean delegate attending the convention. Robed in white, and trembling, he emphasized the strength of Christianity in Korea. He believed that the purpose of the Korean Church should be the medium for the conversion of the Mohammedans and the Buddhists of the Far East.

"I am sorry that I alone represent of my countrymen are in jail and sorrow reigns in the land because so many Christians have met with unhappiness, ask you to pray for me and my people."

The visitors had better medal play than either of their opponents for the first round. Ray's 12 being a new record for the course.

185 times - no difference!

Miss Betsy Lane Shepherd, famous concert soprano, has made this test 185 times. 185 public audiences, in 185 cities, have heard her compare her voice with its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. No one, out of a total of more than 100,000 listeners, has been able to tell when Miss Shepherd was singing, and when the New Edison—except by watching her lips.

4,000 similar tests of direct comparison, made by over fifty other celebrated vocalists and instrumentalists, have given this same result.

The New Edison is perfect realism—achieved!

What kind of music "gets" you?

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Perfect realism is your one vehicle to the inner joys of music which you crave.

Mr. Edison spent three million dollars in the research work which gave the New Edison perfect realism. He did this in order that the phonograph might transcend its former limitations and (here we quote Mr. Edison's own words), "bring into every American home, music so realistic and so perfect in its rendition as to be an unending source of benefit and pleasure."

The instruments which proved this perfect realism in Miss Shepherd's 185 tests were all exact duplicates of the original Official Laboratory Model on which Mr. Edison spent his three million dollars. You can also have an exact duplicate of this three million dollar original. We have it in our store, and guarantee it to be capable of sustaining the same test of direct comparison.

A Sale of Shirts By Orth

Lucky again, men! We received a wire from Canada's largest shirt house: "Can you sell at 25 per cent discount 100 dozen of fine shirts? Wire reply subject to previous sale." Did we wire reply! Well, the shirts are here, ready. We cannot very well tell you the brand of shirt through the press for advertised brand reasons, yet we will show you the labels when you come to the store. The lot consists of white shirts, fancy stripe and some neat hair-line patterns; all sizes, 14 to 17. Regular $4.00 value, $2.95 at $2.95

Two for $5.75.
