The shutter on the window at the back of R. S. Dunlop's grocery was broken and access made into the store by breaking the window and the door leading into the front of the store. The safe was opened and books and papers were found this morning scattered in every direction.

The interior of the store, as the small boy would say, was a "mess."
The floor was covered with matches, gum, broken packages of tea, cigars, cigarettes, combs, thread, books, and in fact everything portable in the store was on the floor.

The cash register was touched for The cash register was touched for

The cash register was touched for a few coppers and a good part of the candy was minus.

At Pelett's the back window was broken open and by circuitous route through the refrigerator and refrigerator window the culprits got into the front store and secured about $3 in cash, principally coppers, a stopwatch and other small articles.

Mr. Pelett told a Planet reporter this morning that some beys had been seen hanging round the store at a late hour.

The taking of candies and cigarettes goes to show that the thiefs are young tellows. Dunlop's was evidently entered first, as an empty package of cigar-ettes was found in Pelett's and Pelett doesn't keep cigarettes.

The concensus of opinion is that Mr. Emmerson will be called upon to succeed Mr. Blair in the Cabinet vacated by Mr. Blair in the Cabinet vacated by Mr. Blair, and of Mr. Prefontaine to Public Works. The shifting of Mr. Prefontaine to Public Works. The shifting of Mr. Prefontaine to Public Works will create a vacanay in Marine and Fisreries for Mr. Emmerson, but will leave Hon. Mr. Templeman out in the cold, and the British Columbians are in hopes that the latter may be given a portfolio now that an opportunity has arrived. The next twenty-four hours will witness a solution of the question, as the Prime Minister evidently expects to announce that the Cabinet vacancy has been filled when he informs the House on Thursday of the cause of Mr. Blair's resignation.

The meeting was a confidential one, but there is little doubt that it had reference to the political situation created by Mr. Blair's retirement from the Government.

R. Brown 728, E. Buchanan 615, J. W. BIENHEIM. RIDGETOWN.

Mr. Blair's retirement from the Government.

The ex-Minister, it now appears, came into conflict with his colleagues not only on the question of the construction of another line between Quebec and Moncton, but in regard to the policy of extending the Intercolonial to the wheat fields of Manitoba. To the former he was apparently unalterably opposed; the latter he pressed with the utmost earnestness and vigor. As regards both questions his attitude seems to have been inflexible and unyielding, and when his colleagues did not give way he had no recourse but to resign.

The concensus of opinion is that Mr. Emmerson will be called upon to succeed Mr. Blair in the Cabinet. He may not get the Department of Railways, in which case there would be a shuffle, resulting in the transter of Mr. Sutherland to the department vacated by Mr. Blair, and of Mr. Prefontaine to Public Works will create a vacancy in Marine and Fisreries for Mr. Emmerson, but will leave Hon. Mr. Templeman out in the cold, and the British Columbians BLENHEIM.

HAWK'S DINNER

Chief Holmes and Col. Sam Holmes Chief Holmes and Col. Sam Holmes took a drive in the country Sunday and that is how the Colonel got a nice plump spring chicken for his dinner yesterday. The odd part of it is that Sam doesn't know who the chicken belonged to and the Chief watched him take it and never offered to make an arrest. The Colonel actually took some Harwich farmer's spring chicken. The story looks bad spring chicken. The story looks bad on the face of it, but when the facts are told there is nothing in it ex-cept a good that chicken for the man of war. The Chief and his brother of war. The Chief and his brother drove out as far as Dan Donovan's in Harwich. When they were returning they noticed two crows creating quite a fuss around a tree near the roadside. The crows would fly away a little distance then come back and circle round the tree. All the time circle round the tree. All the time they kept up an incessant chatter. Just as the Colonel and the Chief drove up something dropped from the tree and a hawk also soared from some of the branches near the top. On going over the Colonel found a nice plump spring chicken. Only the head and neck had been eaten off and the body was still warm. The hawk had touched some neighbor's barn yard and was imaking his meal in the tree top. The crows had discovered the bird of prey, and were bothering the hawk to make it drop its meal. The crows succeeded but they hadn't counted on the Colonel being hungry too.

MONARCHY OF MAN

Discussing the personal character of Pope Leo XIII., the Chicago Chronicle

In any rank of path of life Leo XIII. would have been a model of

No other man occupying a sovereign rank in the worsd, at any time during Leo XIII.'s pontificate has been met within his private precincts by so many human beings of so many different types of race, culture or station as the Pope. No matter who or what, all have withdrawn from his presence the given by the same witness to a chemical the same witness to be chemical that the same witness that the bearing the same witness to a charm of conduct justly described as inef-fable, to a phenomenal aspect of spir-ituality in flesh and ito a benignit due in equal measure to logic and cul-

The logical basis of living toward others is a realization that no one in this world is responsible for being in it and that all are equally entitled to commiseration and congratulation for being in it. It is an essential of such logic to realize that as to rank, possessions, power, talents, opinions, each one in the world is, as a rule, no more to be praised or blamed than for the mold of one's physiognomy or the roler of the eyes or hair.

the mold of one's physicgnomy or the color of the eyes or hair.

An ideal democrat in his posture to all his fellow misn, Leo XIII. had the same manners to the humblest peasant that begged alms of him on the street when Archbishop of Perugia as to Emperor William and King Edward. In his heart he probably Edward. In his heard he probably congratulated the peasant more and poured his commisseration upon the monarchs.

There was perhaps never a time in the history of civilization when the world stood more in need of a living model of good manners than it does to-day; of manners, we mean, that are more than deportment; of manners that are the real expres of an attitude towards one's fellow beings. Consideration for the rights, privileges, feelings and opinions of others is unfortunately not one of the characteristics of the age. The tendency is rather to scoff at toleration and self-restraint as an evidence of weakness. The strenuous life is the life that appeals to the imagination, and the stremuous life means the vigorous assertion of self. Paradoxical as it may appear this growing impatience with even the appearacne of self-restraint seems to be the natural outgrowth of the development of democracy. The individual first convinces himself that he is just as good as anybody else; and when he has reached that stage iit is not hard for him to take the next step, and convince himself that he is just a little better than anybody else. He has views of his own, or imagines that they are his own, and he has the right to give expression to them. After that it is not difficult to convince himself that he is the only one who has the right to entertain views and to give expression to them. This is doubtless an extreme statement of the case, but certainly it cannot be denied that the tendency of the times is to ignore what the Chronicle calls "the logical basis of living towards others." The example of Leo's life, in this respect, should be a valuable legacy to the world. To no ruler, perhaps, in the world's history was ever entrust. ed the guidance of a mightier empire than Leo's. His kingdom extends throughout the known world, and his rule is over not merely the outward forms and conditions of life, but over the very hearts and consciences of his people. Yet, in spite of all, he was "a model of manners," and had the same consideration for the beggar as for the king, knowing and feeling that the beggar was, perhaps, as little to blame for being a beggar as the king was to be praised for being a king.

KING DODDS MAKES REMARKS. Canadian Sportsman.

The Globe, founded by George Brown and edited by such men as Gordon Brown and Mr. Willison, commanded the respect of even its political opponents. It hit hard, but it was done in a fair, manly fashion. Now how great the drop, and to add to the misery of the degradation is the thought that it is a clergyman who has so lowered the editorial tone of the paper. Rev. Mr. Macdonald has mistaken his vocation. He can beat a Bowery tough at slang-whanging, but his arguments are on a par with the sermons he used to preach. One used to feel inclined to turn on the or gan at the end of ten minutes. The pages of a slang lexicon must have been industrial scarched by him to secure the bundle of odorous epithets he KIII. would have been a model of manners.

Manners mean more than deportment. Deportment is the shell of the individual's philosophy of living. If the individual philosophy be logical it will be reflected in a certain attitude of mind toward all other human beings.

In proportion to the validity of the logic that mental attitude will be a judicious blend of dignity and urbanity, of permanency of conviction in what ought to be deemed the unchangeable and of a gracious flexibility in what is incidental, personal and transitory. has used in discussing the Gamey

TILBURY.

July 14 .- Comber and Tilbury

July 14.—Comber and Tilbury juniors played a game of ball in the forencor of the 13th, and the youngsters are developing some good material. Tilbury won by a score of 7 to 5 and one innings to spare. Lee and Macklem formed the local battery, with Anderson, of Comber, as umpire. Before a crowd of several hundred, in the afternoon of the 13th, Tilbury and Harrow played one of the best games of ball ever seen on the local diamond. It was anybody's game up to the 8th innings, the score standing streak and before the Harrowites recovered, scored six runs. Harrow got one man across the plate in the 9th, leaving the score 8 to 3, and the crowd went wild with enthusiasm. Several rooters came over with the visitors, but not much money was wagered on the result. Harrow played an excellent article of ball, however, and but for going to pieces in the fatal 8th might have won out. But the locals played an almost errorless game and deserved to win, the battery work of Early and Richardsom being particularly good. Lee at short put up an excellent game for Tilbury. tery work of Early and Richardsom being particularly good. Lee at short put up an excellent game for Tilbury, his timely two-bagger in the 8th innings sending two men across the plate. Doc. Milligan played an errorless game at first and also hit well. It is to be hoped the two teams will meet again soon, as it was by far the best game of bell played here this season. Ferris, of Harrow, officiated as umpire and although coming in for considerable roasting from the crowd, his decisions on the whole were impartial. Following is the score:—

The other day I met the Colonel and remarked, "You surely have nothing to complain about now. You have splendid weather, splendid crops, you have splendid prices for your grain; what can you possibly kick about."

"That may be true," remarked the Colonel in an aggrieved voice, "but there aren't any grasshoppers for the "You take the average farmer and

Extending Double Track on Grand Trunk

The Grand Trunk have given out a contract for the construction of another section of their main line on the Middle Division between Sarnia Tunnel and Hamilton, the successful contractors being Messrs. Ross & McCrae, who have done much railway building in Canada. The contract embraces that portion of the main line lying between Sarnia Tunnel and Kingscourt Junction—a distance of 22 miles, and the work will be continued eastward through Strathroy, London, Ingersoll and Woodstock.

The work of completing the second track on the Western Division between Port Huron and Chicago is progressing very favorably, and the total distance between Montreal and Chicago over the main line will be completed with the complete The Grand Trunk have given out total distance between Montreal and Chicago over the main lines will be completed within a comparatively short time. There are only some 65 miles to be finished on the Western Division, and but a few miles between Toronto and Port Hope, and the line between Toronto and Niagrara Falls is completed.

THE OLD FIRE HORSE.

Pathetic Ending to His Brilliant and

The story of a veteran fire horse that was disabled and found his way into the street cleaning department is told by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine." The author says:

There was no delay about his initia-tion. Into his fore hoofs they branded this shameful inscription, "D. S. C., On his back they flung a forty pound single harness with a dirty piece of canvas as a blanket. They hooked him to an iron dump cart, and then with a heavy lashed whip they haled him forth at 5:30 a.m. to begin the inglorious work of removing refuse from the city streets.

Perhaps you think Old Silver could not feel the disgrace, the ignominy of it all. Could you have seen the lowered head, the limp hung tail, the dulled eyes and the dispirited sag of his quarters you would have thought differently.

It is one thing to jump a hook and adder truck up Broadway to the re-lief of a fire threatened block and quite another to plod humbly along the curb from ash can to ash can. How Silver did hate those cans! Each one should have been for him a signal to stop. But it was not. In consequence he was yanked to a halt every two minutes.

Sometimes he would crane his neck and look mournfully around at the unsightly leg which he had come to understand was the cause of all his misery. There would come into his great eyes a look of such pitiful melancholy that one might almost fancy tears rolling out. Then he would be roused by an exasperated driver, who jerked cruelly on the lines and used his whip as if it had been a flail.

To another horse, unused to anything better, the life would not have seemed hard. But to Silver, accustomed to such little amenities as friendly pats from men, and the comradeship of his fellow workers, it was like a bad dream. Had he not lost his caste? Express and dray horses, the very ones that had once scurried into side streets at sound of his hoofs, now insolently crowded him to the curb. When he had been on the fire truck Silver had yielded the right of way to none, he had held his head high; now he dodged and waited, he wore a blind bridle, and he wished neither to see nor to be seen.

What Ailed the Clock. Mrs. Benson's clock, after having kept excellent time for several years, suddenly stopped. After trying for some time to make it go she removed it from its shelf and sent it to a clock repairer.
"Madam," he said after inspecting.

"is this clock kept in a damp room?"
"No," she replied. "We keep it in the driest room in the house.'

"Has it ever had a fall into a tub of water or anything of that sort?"

"Well, I can't understand it. Its works are as rusty as if it had been left unused in a cellar for a year." "I can't see how that can be," said Mrs. Benson. "We are so careful of that clock that we always keep our vials of muriatic and sulphuric acid inside of it, where we know they will never be touched."

Then the jeweler understood.

Sixteenth Century London. It is a mistake to imagine that the streets of London in the sixteenth century presented a much more lively appearance than they do at present. The everyday dress of the people, even of the highest rank, was almost invariably made of broadcloth of a sober color, occasionally enlivened with velvet and smart ribbons. It was only on state occasions or festivities, parties. balls and public entertainments that the gay silks and velvets and the cloth of gold were exhibited, and it must be remembered that so costly were the materials which could then be employed in male or female dress that not infrequently parents left their best clothes by will to their favorite children as a much valued legacy.

Old Comical Pictures.

There is in the museum of Turin,
Italy, a papyrus roll which displays a whole series of comical scenes. In the first place, a lion, a crocodile and an ape are giving a vocal and instru-mental concert. Next comes an ass, dressed, armed and sceptered like a pharaoh. With majestic swagger he receives the gifts presented to him by a cat of high degree, to whom a bull acts as proud conductor. A lion and gazelle are playing at checkers, a hippopotamus is perched in a high tree and a horse has climbed into the tree and is trying to dislodge him.

The Mean Height of Land. The mean height of land above sea level, according to the most scientific geographers, is 2,250 feet. The mean depth of the ocean is 12,480 feet. Only 2 per cent of the sea (oceans in general) is included inside a depth of 500 fathoms, while 77 per cent lies between 500 and 3,000 fathoms. If the land were filled into the hollows of the seas, water would roll over the earth's crust to a uniform depth of

That Gold Spoon.

There are some men who seem to be favorites of fortune. They are industrious, cheerful workers, full to overflowing of the energy of splendid health, and success seems fairly to drop into their hands. It is of such as these that the less hardy and less successful man says enviously, "That fellow was born with a was born with a gold spoon in his mouth."

And yet on analysis it will be found that this success is largely due to endowment of splendid health, the endowment of a healthy mother.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the mother health to give her child. It cures nervousness, nausea and sleeplessness. It makes the body comfortable and the mind content. It gives physical vigor and muscular elasticity so that the baby's advent is practically painless.

baby's advent is practically painless.

"I will endeavor to tell you of the many benefits I have derived from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. B. E. Robertson, of Medicine Lodge, Barber Co., Kans. "In the fall of 1899 I was expecting to become a mother and suffered terribly with pains in the back of head; in fact I ached all over. Suffered with awful bearing-down pains; I was threatened for weeks with mishap. A lady friend told me to use Dr. Pierce's medicines. She had taken them and felt like a new woman. I began using the 'Pavorite Prescription' and took four bottles before my baby came and two afterwards. Requirements for a Poctor.

Requirements for a Doctor.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the well known novelist, practised medicine before he began to write, and in one of his scrapbooks he has a newspaper advertisement that he cherishes because it shows well the low standing of many doctors in the eighteenth century. Sir Arthur clipped the advertisement from a newspaper of the year 1787. It reads:

"Wanted, for a family not blessed with good health, a sober, discreet and steady person to act in the capacity of doctor and apothecary. He must often act also as a steward and butler, and occasionally dress hair and wigs. He will be required to read prayers, and sometimes, on wet Sundays, to preach a sermon or two. A good salary will be paid, and a preference will be given to such an one as, besides the above qualitications, can mend clothes."

The Mome and Happiness. The diffusion of happiness is one of the great primal laws of possessing happiness ourselves. The home is founded on this idea, and if it is not recognized the home is not an ideal recognized the nome is not an ideal one. The unity of the home depends upon the unselfishness of every member and the acceptance of the idea that each will try to make the others happy. In so doing we promote the happiness of ourselves through the indirect method which to-day is accepted as the moral law of human accepted as the moral law of human love and sympathy. In a broader sense this altruism should prevail in society and public life, but it must first be cultivated in the home. Unless it finds nourishment and encouragement there it can never permeate the great mass of humanity around.

> Sour Stomach —Bad Breath.

The body depends on the bowels to carry off all waste and poisonous matters from the system - it is Nature's drainage. If the bowels don't perform their functions properly and become clogged up, the system gradually absorbs this poison. It is this which causes sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath, mactive liver, lack of energy, hearthum, etc.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt will cure you by clearing away the obstruction and thoroughly cleansing the bowels. This brings healthy action to all the organs of the body and rids the system of the cause of illness.

In this way Abbey's Effervescent Salt permanently cures. A teaspoonful in half a glass of tepid water every morning.

CHLOROFORMED AND BURIED

Disappearance of an Indianapolis School Teacher Accounted For.

(Associated Press Despatch.) Indianapolis, July 15. — Acting on statements made in affidavits made by Rufus Cantrell, chief of the recently convicted band of Indiana grave rob bers, and who is now serving a sentence at the Jeffersonville Reformatory officers, accompanied by Cantrell, wh was brought here yesterday afternoon visited the Union Chapel Cemetery visited the Union Chapel two graves, near Nora, and opened two graves. According to the statement of Cantrell there should have been found the body of Miss Carrie Selvage, an Indianapolis school teacher, who disappeared from the Union State Hospital March 11, 1900, and never was found. According to the story of Cantrell, two men cound the union wandering on a counfound the woman wandering on a coun try road as they were returning from a grave-robbing expedition on the morning of her disappearance. They invited her into their buggy, found she was demented, and took her to a cabin in Hamilton County, where he was kept for weeks. She was moved later to a hut in Indianapolis, and when th search for her became so close they chloroformed her and buried her body in the Union Chapel Cemetery. Can-trell, when he arrived at the cemetery trell, when he arrived at the cemetery last night, was uncertain as to which grave she was buried in. He said she had been placed in a grave that had been robbed several months before Miss Selvage's brother was in the party. Two graves were opened, and one was found to have been disturbed as Cantrell said, with the rough box broken open and the coffin lid turned upside down. The body in it was not recognized by Mr. Selvage. Other graves will be opened to-day.

The Offertory.

The offertory occasionally yields its umors. I can see no fun myself in ropping into the plate buttons or peppermint drops or gilded farthings. But these and other such like votive offerings occasionally come our way.

On one occasion a mild hint was given to a dirty looking verger when a small coin was carefully wrapped up in a bit of was carefully wrapped up in small coin was carefully wrapped up in a bit of paper inscribed, "For a bath for a prominent church official." On another occasion, when the officiating clergyman had been somewhat bun-gling through a difficult litany, a simi-

After a somewhat rambling discourse from one of my colleagues, who shall of course be nameless, the church warden told me that a man at the bottom of the church when he offered him the of the church, when he offered him the plate, took out a sixpence and looked at plate, took out a sixpence and rowed at it ruefully and then cast it in with the remark, "Well, you shall have it, old fellow, but it's a deal more than that sermon was worth."-Cornhill Maga-

A Singular Method of Treatment. A peculiar case of poisoning by a physician was that of Dr. Stephen Eotphysician was that of Dr. Stephen Ect-vos in Hungary many years ago. Ect-vos undertook to hasten the death of patients whose cases he considered hopeless by putting them out of their misery, as he termed it, with fatal drugs. He encountered no opposition to his peculiar methods of benevolence while he practiced them on people of no particular standing, but when the doctor hastened the death of a well known land proprietor named Szlavy, who was slowly dying of cancer, the relatives of the dead man presented a violent protest and demanded the prosecution of Eotyos.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were se painfuk that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, os the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the marked to-day."

smoke and ashes, the taffy poured in the snow, and the delicious sugaringoff, have missed one of the joys of life. From, the time when alternating thaw and frost promotes the mysterious activity of the sap till the buds begin to swell and the sugar is demanded for the purposes of growth, the maple is the most bountiful of forest trees.

The leaf is distinguished from that of the soft or red maple by its rounded and comparatively shallow sinuses, smooth or sparingly toothed edges, says a writer in The Globe.
Three of its five lobes have three or four sharp points. The flowers are unfolded with the leaves, while the red maple is shedding its sterile flowers before the leaves appear. The sugar maple does not sow its seeds till the fall, and they lay dormant all winter, while the red maple seedlings take root before the frost suspends their vitality.

The silver maple has the most beautiful leaf of all the members of the family. Its deep sinuses and delicately, attenuated lobes make a most artistic outline, and the pale under-surface flashes a pleasing change of color when the branches are swayed by the wind. Like the red maple, it flowers before the leaves, and the seed falls and germinates before the close of the summer.

THE MAPLE LEAF.

Sugar Maple, a raid, Imposing Tree

Canada's emblem is now unfolded in all its beauty, and every tree is a solid mass of rich green foliage. The sugar maple is the member of the family selected to grace our insignia, and while it may not have the most leaves, and the seed falls and germinates before the close of the summer.

The spike maple and moose maple are smaller members of the family, with slightly more pretentious flowers. The box alder is classed as a maple by virtue of the form of its twin seeds, but its leaves suggest the ash sufficiently to give it one of its many names. The male and female flowers are on separate trees, a condition occasionally appearing in other members of the family. It may be regarded here as an importation.

The sycamore maple is a European immigrant. Its leaves have a thick, vegetable appearance, and the characteristic form of five-pointed lobes is smoothly regular. Another European importation, the Norway maple, has a leaf strongly resembling the accepted Canadian emblem. The patriotic spirit of the Dominion is mingled with a natural regard for this most beautiful of forest trees, a regard that naturally leads to a closer acquaintance and more intimate knowledge. As the season is approaching for gathering mushrooms I would like to sound a note of warning. The deadly death cup toadstool grows in many places in Canada and as it recently caused the death of one man at Toronto Junction, and nearly killed me, perhaps a description of it may not be out of place. It has a smooth, satiny top, which may be either white, spotted, or tinted yellow; it also has white gills and a white stem. As a whole, it looks much like a large meadow mushroom and for this reason is doubly dangerous. It also sometimes strays from its proper wood haunts, to lawns and meadow edges. Remember the fatal cup at the root, and the white gills; remember, also, that a single fragment is generally enough to kill a man, and beware of it, as there is no rank taste or odor to give warning, and the poison does not begin to work until eight or nine hours after it has been eaten, when it is generally impossible to do anything to overcome it. It causes death by paralyzing the heart, I had to take strychnine as an antidote, and it was a long time before I was fully recovered. There is also a notion that a toadstool may be distinguished from a mushroom by peeling it, but this is erroneous. The death cap can be peeled, and the edible puff ball can not. Hoping that this may be a warning to mushroom hunters.—Norman Willmott.

Remember that without physical health mental attainment is worthless. Let the children lead free, happy lives, which will strengthen both mind and Children are often selfish because they are thoughtless, and they can never be trained in thoughtfulness except by being led to do thoughtful things.

Josh Billings' advice, "To bring up a child in the way he should go, traver that way yourself once in awhile," has not lost its pertinence in the quarter of a century since it was given.

Rooms to be used as nurseries should possess large windows, which should be thrown open top : I bottom for an hour at least every morning when the children are out, so as to insure a thorough current of fresh air.

Door Decoration. Doors which are always kept closed are apt to present an annoying problem from a decorative standpoint to the woman who lives behind them. A business woman of artistic tastes, who boards in an old fashioned house, has solved this problem greatly to her satisfaction and the admiration of her friends. A closed door between her bedroom and the one adjoining had for some time been an eyesore to her when he hit upon this solution of the difficul-The door, a deeply recessed one, was covered with figured burlap in brown tones; fifteen inches from the top and less than one-half the door length from the bottom shelves were fastened and covered with the burlap. On the lower shelf from a brass rod was hung a silk curtain, the space behind it being utilized to pile magazines and old books. A row of blue plates decorated the upper shelf, and below it were arranged a large plaque in variegated coloring, an odd shaped bottle, a beer mug and various trinkets. On the case ment plaster bas-reliefs and oriental crolls were hung, relieving the bare woodwork.

The Marks of a Lady.

There are certain marks of a lady, which are easily recognized and possible to cultivate. These are a gentle voice, refinement in the use of language and neatness in dress. Not all girls can be educated, but they can be thoughtful in the use of words, and can eliminate from their vocabulary all slang. Slang from the lips of a woman is exceedingly vulgar. A gentle voice is possible. Thoughtlessness more than anything else is responsible for the loud, harsh tones often heard when girls are in conversation. Loud speaking spoils the attractiveness of the most beautiful face. It is worse than giggling, for the giggling girl may sober down when she gets older, but the loud mouthed girl is likely to become louder. Neatness is an essential characteristic of womanliness. The clothes may be poor, the wardrobe may be limited, but the true lady is neat in her dress. The slovenly girl who indulges in loud talk marred by slang should cultivate neatness, gentleness of voice and purity of language.

Banishing Pimples.

There are three ways to banish pimples. One is to heal them prematurely, only to have them break out again. To this end cold creams are used to effect a transitory cure which is far from radical.

The second method is the use of astringent lotions, which dry up but do liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelleus cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs. not drive out the impurities, they simply seek another outlet. The third and only sure and permanent method is to seek the cause, eradicate it and drive the pimples out. Better suffer a slight temporary increase of the evil than to endure intermittent disfiguration for years. The pores of an olly skin are simply inert, lazy. They must be stimulated to do their part in eliminating waste matter. If When a woman has no confidential friend she is very apt to over-estimate the retained sebum be left in the pores it hardens, festers and becomes a pimple. Other People's Failings.

The reason why some women have few friends is because they cannot for-give each other's little failings. A happy, generous nature will overlook what a selfish, narrow nature will regard as an impediment to future friendship. Who wishes to have friends must be willing to see and admire their virtues and overlook their faults. Many of those disappointments that blight the tender blossoms of friendship might be averted if we did not expect too much from others, but satisfied ourselves in accepting and returning little kindnesses and attentions in a gracious way. Speaking of collisions at sea, a sea captain recently said:

I think I can explain the cause of many collisions which otherwise seem to be mysterious. They arise from the fact that green and red are complementary colors. Every ship under way carries at night a red light burning on her left or port side and a green light burning on her right or starboard side. Yet vessels go crashing into each other upon nights when these lights must be plainly visible from their decks. And when the case comes up in court and an effort is made to establish the blame of the accident honest men swear directly opposite to each other and believe they are telling the truth.

"The captain of one ship, for in-stance, will swear that he saw a red light on his port bow and held his course. A little later he saw a green light there, starboarded his helm, and the collision followed. The men on the other ship swear that where the captain says he saw a green light a red light was burning. "Now, how does this happen? It happens this way: The captain looks for awhile intently at the red light on the other vessel. Then for some reason he changes his line of vision, probably due to a bulging sail above the light, and, lo, he sees at once a green light, shifts his helm, and, crash, he goes into her! He really does not see any light at all when he looks at the sail, but an optical illusion makes him think he

"Try it yourself. Just gaze intently at a bright red, round object for awhile and then suddenly look at a blank white wall. A green spot will appear to you. Winking the eyes will hasten its appearance."

PLANTS THAT CLIMB.

Peculiarities of Their Leaves and Their Modes of Movement.

It is in the twining plants, such as bryony and hop, and the tendril bearers, like vetches, that we find the highest development of the climbing habit, These plants live under unusual conditions. In order to gain the light they must seek rather than avoid overhanging foliage, and so we find the vetches, instead of turning away from the shadow toward the light, like most of their neighbors, boldly pushing up into the center of a bush to burst into blossom amid its upper branches far above their less daring neighbors.

But it is in the leaves of these plants that we find the most remarkable modifications adapting them to a climbing habit. The leaves of the vetches and vetchlings are pinnate—they bear a number of opposite ovate leaflets. The tip of the leaf stalk and the uppermost pair of pinuæ are in the climbing species changed into tendrils—sensitive, twining, whiplike structures—which exhibit remarkable features. If the slightly curved, extended tendril of a young leaf of pea or vetch be watched care fully it will be found that it is slowly but incessantly moving round and round in a circle. If the tendril comes into contact with a twig it bends to-ward it and eventually takes several turns around it. Even a slight temporary irritation is sufficient to cause a bending toward any side.

Finally the tendril becomes woody and strong and forms a secure anchor cable for the plant. Not only does the young tendril rotate, but the whole leaf on which it is borne is in constant motion. The shoot to which the leaf belongs is rotating also, so that the tendril is sweeping the air with a compli-cated motion, in the course of which it stem or twig of the surrounding vege-

Open Coffins In Greece.

The American tourist in Greece is often shocked by the sight of a funeral procession passing through the streets with the dead body borne in an open coffin. This custom originated in a curious way. When the Turks were masters of Greece they discovered that Greek revolutionists carried arms about the country in coffins, so they decreed that all coffins must be carried open. After the Greeks regained their freedom they continued the custom from force of habit.

A Real Bargain.
"In time," said the struggling artist, "that painting will be of great value. All you have to do is to tuck it away in an attic somewhere and keep it for about 200 years, by which time I will have become one of the old masters. Then you can sell it easily for $10,000. You see, I know the rules, but unfortunately I am not in a financial position to carry them out. So, if you want a real bargain, I'll let you have this little gem for $1.50."-

The pupils are well taught and firmly grounded in their studies, and when they pass the entrance they are able to take a firm stand at the C. I. They look for no side-lights on entrance questions, but simply stand on their merits—the foundation that alone endures.

The status of affairs at the Separate school is not "a shameful one," but on the contrary, the methods employed by "the Separate School Supporter" are truly shameful, and, to say the least, ungentlemanly and in very bad taste. ABOUT OUR IMMIGRATION,

MR. SIFTON REPLIES TO SOME GENERAL CRITICISMS.

Work Not Made Scarce-A Large Factor in the Prosperity of the West-An Excellent Class of People Brought to Canada.

Ottawa, July 15 .- The proceedings in the House yesterday were disappointing to the crowds in the galleries. Some statement on the Ministerial situation was expected, but Mr. Monck precipitated an hour and a half debate on the Ottawa Valley Railway bill, so that before Sir Wilfrid rose to make the brief announcement that Mr. Blair had resigned, Hon. R. W. Scott had given the information in the Senate, and it was generally known in the House. The balance of the day was taken up with a discussion on immigration. The House rose at 12.40 a.m.

On the opening of the House Mr. Monk moved to refer back to the Railway Committee the portion of the committee's report throwing out the preamble of the bill respecting the Ottawa Valley Railway Co. He spoke nearly an hour in support of this mo-

The motion to refer back was lost on

On the motion to refer back was lost on a division by 87 to 51.

On the motion to go into supply, Mr. Uriah Wilson took advantage of the opportunity to discuss the immigration policy of the Government. He complained that the Canadian officials did not turn back immigrants affected with minor diseases, such as tragoma and lupus, only rejecting those who have smallpox, fever or similar dis-with minor diseases, such as tragoma and lupus, only rejecting those who have smallpox, fever or similar diseases. No provision was made to keep out criminals or paupers, with the result that many undesirable immigrants, who would not be allowed to enter the United States, were permitted to remain in Canada. In support of his statements Mr. Wilson quoted a letter from Mr. Robt. Wanchorn, the United States immigration officer at Montreal, and insisted that this Government ought to make arrangements with the Government of the United States for mutual action in reference to the inspection of immigrants, on the ground that people who were not desirable settlers for the United States were not good enough for Canada. The great increase in the number of immigrants coming into Canada Mr. Wilson attributed to the fact that the steamship agents in Europe, knowing that the inspection was lax, booked undesirable immigrants to Canadian ports. During the season of 1002, of 4,986 persons immigrants to Canadian ports. During the season of 1902, of 4,986 persons inspected at the port of Montreal by the United States officers 2,028 were rethe United States officers 2,028 were rejected, 419 because they were contract labor, 812 were paupers, 8 idiots, 5 exconvicts, 496 as having loathsome and contagious diseases. None of these, Mr. Wilson said, had been deported by the Canadian authorities. In consequence, we get in Canada all the diseased and all the undesirable immigrants which the United States refuse to accept. Mr. Wilson questioned the accuracy of the statistics of homestead entries and arrivals in Canada. Upwards of five thousand of the fourteen thousand homestead entries were by wards of five thousand of the fourteen thousand homestead entries were by Canadians, therefore the entries by immigrants from abroad only represented but a small proportion of the reported arrivals, indicating that the people were not going on the land. The expenditure by the department on immigration was criticized by Mr. Wilson, who claimed that the money paid to agents in the United States was thrown away, those settlers coming from the States having been induced to come by the efforts of the land companies by the efforts of the land companies and the railways. He appealed to the Minister to abolish the system of com-mission agents in the United States. Minister to abolish the system of commission agents in the United States. Discussing the influx of immigrants during the last few months, Mr. Puttee said there has been altogether too large a percentage of the arrivals who were anxious and determined to settle in the cities, and the influx has been to some extent alarming to the man who has to earn his living. In the city of Winnipeg this influx has had deleterious effects, so that the wage earners could hardly live at all. It was not a reasonable policy to put before the working men, that they should be taxed in order to keep immigration agents at work sending people out here to compete with them and keep their own wages down. Now that the immigrants were coming in such large numbers, he suggested that an efficient inspection of the accommodation given by the steamships be provided, also a stricter scrutiny physically of the people who come to Canada.

At 11.30 Mr. Sifton rose to reply, and said that he would not at that late be provided, also a stricter scruting physically of the people who come tac Canada.

At 11.30 Mr. Sifton rose to reply, and said that he would not at that late hour detain the House very loag, but would reply briefly to some of the criticisms that had been made by the Opposition. It was not, he said a wise policy for the Government to spend public money, to aid the movement of population from one part of the Dominion to another, and he had no hesitation in making the statement that so long as he was Missister of the Interior he would not be in favor of such a policy, for the reason, first, that it would have the effect of reducing the population of the astern Provinces, and, secondly, be cause it would tend to pauperize the people. He did not believe the people of Canada desired or required the expenditure of public money for such had been at the head of the department no person had been given assistance except under the most pressing circumstances, and then when the circumstances were beyond the control of the person to whom it has been given. In regard to the difficulties of transportation, representations have from time to time been made to the railway companies, who have so fair refused to give the same rates to people desiring to move from easter Canada to the west as are given to the foreign immigrants. They had however, made arrangements for the movement of large numbers of peoply from Ontario and Quebec, particularly who had been of the greatest value.

in gathering the crop. The movement of young men to the cities and towns of the east instead of to the lands of the west was because they did, not desire to follow agricultural life. It had been the policy of the Government to encourage the movement of no laborers to Canada except agricultural laborers. The Government have not encouraged the movement of mechanics of any other country to Canada. Replying to Mr. Puttee, Mr. Sitton said he had no great degree of sympathy with the views he had expressed. Certain organizations in Canada had persistently opposed immigration of all kinds and under all conditions, and have made strong statements. But, so far as the people of Winnipeg were concerned, they were happy and prosperous, there is a great demand for labor at good wages, all of which were the result of the immigration policy of the Government in settling up icy of the Government in settling up the lands of the west, which he was quite prepared to justify. Mr. Sifton combatted the statement that many of combatted the statement that many ef the immigrants remaining in Canada were of an undesirable class. He in-sisted that, man for man, the 125,000 people who have come to Canada this year will compare favorably with a like number anywhere. The 40,000 that came from the western States were the very salt of the agricultural popula-tion there. The English immigrants were of the best, and with respect to the continental immigrants, he had to say that they were industrious and self-reliant, and no class of people who reliant, and no class of people who come to Canada were more thoroughly capable of taking care of themselves. From the moment they landed in Winnipeg, and were directed to the place they were bound for, there were no people gave the officials less trouble than they. Who would have taken off than they. Who would have taken off the magnificent crops of recent years had it not been for these people? The crop would have rotted on the ground if these people had not been available. If, following the advice of the hon. gentlemen on the opposite benches, the Government were to stop the entrance of these people at the Canadian ports, he ventured to say that within one week the farmers of Ontario and the northwest would be prepared to vote the Government out of power.

ment out of power. THE PONTIFF RALLIES.

After His Condition Sank to the Low est Ebb.

July 15. — 1.20 Another remarkable rally Pope Leo's condition yesterday afternoon, after morning in the course of which his Holiness suffered spells of delirium, and at times his strength sank to the lowest ebb, and now to-night he lies in no worse condition than he was on Monday evening, except for the steady diminution of his strength Monsignor Bisleti, Master of the Chamber, visited the sick room just after midnight, and on emerging stated that the Pontiff's condition was unchanged. A little later the Pope fell into a sleep, which, it has just been announced, is fairly tranquil, although the patient's respiration is troublesome.

Yesterday's rally was characteristically opposed to every medical theory, nd consisted in the patient getting out of the bed on which two hours previously he himself had made all preparations for death. Unsatisfied with this exhibition of vitality, he transacted business, and received four Cardinals, with whom he talked in an animated way. In fact, Pope Leo's record for yesterday, little of which appeared in last night's official bulletin, would be incredible if it were not confirmed by the doctors and Cardinals present in the sick chamber. None seemed more perplexed that the doctors the results of the sick chamber. than the doctors themselves. Dr. Lap-than the doctors themselves. Dr. Lapponi said frankly: "I cannot imagine how the Pope manages to keep alive."

According to the physicians, the Pontiff may die at any moment, even in the midst of one of those extraordinary intervals when his mind and body present a comparatively sound appearance. All those around the patient have long since ceased to hold definite populous regarding the duration of the have long since ceased to hold definite opinions regarding the duration of the Pontiff's existence. The slow but progressive diminution of the strength of the august patient foretells the approaching end of the struggle with death, but the doctors will not venture to predict how near the end is. Constant relapses, they say, such as created alarm early vesterday, are gradually stant relapses, they say, such as created alarm early yesterday, are gradually wearing down the Pope's constitution, which seems immune from any specific disease. Most persons are inclined to the idea that Pope Leo may go through perhaps two or three repetitions of yesterday's ups and downs, till, as Dr. Rossoni puts it, "his pulse stops forever."

STRIKERS ARRESTED.

Charged With Assaulting a Farmer at Wingham.

Wingham, July 15. — The moulders' strike in the Western Foundry was dragging quietly along until Monday, when a stranger, supposed to be a moulder, was assaulted by four or five men near the Kingsley House, and very badly injured. However, it turned out yesterday that the man was a farmer, living a few miles north of the town, and he laid information this morning against four of the striking moulders for assault The Magistrate's hearing is set for Friday, 17th inst. The strike is being fought to the bitter end, though the company seem to be winning.

Inquest at Harrow.

Harrow, July 14.—The Coroner's inguest on the death of Edmund Matthews opened here this morning at 10 o'clock. Only nine of the witnesses had been examined at 6 o'clock this evening, when an adjournment was made until Friday. The evidence on the different sides so far has been very conflicting. Richardson was present in the custody of Detectives Campau and Mahoney, and was taken back to Sandwich jail to-night. He seems very little affected by his position.

July 15.—Mr. Fairman left to-day to take charge of the mission stations of Charing Cross, Irwin and Raleigh. In October he expects to attend Huron College.

Mr. McNutt, who represents the Noxon machinery works here, has moved into the store lately built by Mesers Crookshanks and Rutherford. It was a pretty sight last evening to see the might bloomling Ceris in the custody of Detectives Campau and Mahoney, and was taken back to Sandwich jail to-night. He seems very little affected by his position.
