

MOUNTIES HERE ON 28th

by Jeff Goldman

The highly spirited and much strengthened 1963 edition of the UNB Red Bombers meet their first competition of the new season on Saturday Sept. 28, when our arch-rivals, the Mounties from Mount Allison, invade our campus.

This year's team has the advantage of five home games as against three away contests. In addition to the Mountie clash on the 28th., home games will be played against Acadia, Dalhousie, Stadacona and St. FX. Over the Thanksgiving Day weekend, the Bombers are away to St. Dustans' on Oct. 12 and from there they travel to Halifax to tackle last year's Purdy Cup finalists, the St. Mary's Huskies on Thanksgiving Day. The only other away game will be against the Shearwater Flyers in Halifax on Oct. 26.

Last year's team, it will be remembered, did not fare so well in the Atlantic Football Conference because of the loss of many key players for the 1961 team through graduation. It is clear that with last year's team, inexperience played a great part in their poor showing. However, with one year's experience tucked under their belt, the many returnees should form a solid backbone for this year's squad. This, plus the added strength of several standouts from last year's undefeated Jayvee team, should add up to one of the strongest varsity aggregations in several years.

Another advantage with this year's team is the multitude of wall players that have showed up for football camp. Many of the new players have shown up well and barring serious injury, this should be an added asset to the new Red Bombers. All in all, this year's team shows a great improvement over that of past years and the sun should shine brightly this fall.

Role of Phys Eds in Intramural Sports

What is meant by the term "intramural"?

The intramurals form only one integral part of the total physical education program. Dr. Esslinger says, "The purpose then of intramural sports is to supplement the curricular activities of physical activities in order that the objectives of physical education may be more completely realized." Intramural athletics have the same meaning to Physical Education classes as the would-be term paper or essay in journalism or practical surveying to the engineer. The Physical Education curriculum functions largely on developing the basic skills, knowledge and appreciation connected with these skills. Specialization to any extent is virtually impossible. Consequently, it remains for the intramural program to offer opportunities for specialization in preferred activities.

Now let us turn to the Physical Education student at UNB. This person has a closer involvement with the Intramural Program, for a thorough understanding of its purpose and significance, per se, and related to Physical Education as a whole is not only essential, but beneficial to him as a future member of our profession. Consequently, when "Joe Doaks" first year Physical Education student, participates intramurally, he does so for several reasons:

1. In effect, he plays for play's sake.
2. It is to a Physical Ed's own advantage that he play as many different activities as he can in his four years at UNB. This would be exhausting physically and unsound academically. Rather he would avail himself of the opportunities presented to acquaint himself with each activity in turn so that he will be more capable of instruction in these activities when he graduates with a B.P.E.
3. Experience is always a keynote to success, and intramurals are no exception. Experience then is the best teacher to the Physical Education student.
4. Perhaps the last reason is not as apparent to non "Phys. Eders" but participation in intramurals provides an opportunity for the realization of the importance of co-ordinating

Freshman Week Success

Freshman Week got off to a flying start Thursday night when all loose freshman were found wandering the streets and put to task by early-arriving upper-classmen.

On Friday 13th the missing were counted at 9:30 in the morning. Upper-classmen stocked up on cigarettes and prospective dates, while freshmen ran around in circles in becoming poses, sang songs, and generally wished they weren't freshmen.

A scavenger hunt in the evening sent Frosh in search of weird and exotic items such as the Mayor's signature, Playboy pictures, a CONSCIOUS drunk, women's clothing with names attached. One rare article in the search was a Math 100 supp.

On Saturday night freshmen escaped running and jumping about in the gym, but only until Monday.

The freshmen were treated to a most interesting lecture on "The Story of the University" by Prof. W. S. MacNutt of the History Department.

The Lady Beaverbrook Rink was packed for the annual Do-I-Know-You Dance on Tuesday. Old friends and new acquaintances mingle together for a very pleasant evening of dancing.

Tally-men and crew measuring the distance from the lower other professions are the ones to the upper liquor store. Result: 923 - 34B lengths.

Academic Deadbeat

by Harry Golden

The deadbeat is a man who doesn't want to pay his own way. In my lectures around the country I have found a growing body of deadbeats populating the colleges. These are the boys who switch courses and drop math and then plan for graduate school. They want to stay in college because they are willing to deadbeat it for the allowance they get from home or for the pittance they earn at after-school jobs. They are willing to mark time to avoid meeting that big real world that lies in wait. It is not generally known, but there are literally thousands of boys and some girls whose profession is going to college.

In most of the colleges, the students who are preparing for law, medicine, architecture, the ministry, or one of the

COLLEGE BUDDIES

The summer of '63 is rapidly drawing to a close and from all types of haunts return the upperclassmen to renew old acquaintances and to make new ones. The questions are the same every year. How did you spend the summer? Where are you living this year?

Renewal of campus friendships is always one of the things that upperclassmen look forward to with pleasure. Friendships at University start up in the strangest ways — for in so many cases it is to help another freshman conquer the insurmountable tasks forced upon a fellow frosh by their most formidable enemy, the almighty sophomore. Sophomores, are in fact, the upperclassmen most in evidence during Freshman Week — to the Freshman they personify "Joe College" — attired in somewhat battle-scarred red jackets, continually extorting cigarettes, and seeming completely familiar with everyone and everything on campus.

In September '62, however these noble creatures were as beanie-topped, placarded and cigarette-less as Frosh of '63 are now.

On a campus the size of that of UNB — not too big, not too small — and because of an initiation that allows them to retain their self-respect — and their sanity — Frosh Week thus serves as a basis for friendships that will endure through undergrad years and beyond. The round of activities supervised by the now baggy-eyed, nerve-shattered, completely exhausted Soph President (who really loves freshman — who would far sooner be the one measuring the distance between the two liquor stores with a frilly bit of feminine under-apparel than that lucky frosh forced into doing it) are a help, not a hindrance. Someday, knowing that there are nine hundred and twenty-three lengths between the liquor stores will come . . . no, no, we won't go into that.

College life does consist, first and foremost, of attending lectures, learning, writing exams, and striving towards that degree — but it also consists of coffee in the Student Centre, dances, socials, parties of all sizes types, descriptions and sobriety — of attending or participating in hockey, football, basketball and many other extracurricular activities — and friendships are soon, easily, and plentifully made.

In another year — September '64 — it will be this year's freshman who will be saying —

HI THERE — HOW WAS YOUR SUMMER?

What's That? Can't Hear You!

We picked the following news items out of the Montreal Star, August 14 issue.

"A British Columbia high school teacher and a drama instructor from Montreal teamed up yesterday to urge university professors to 'project'.

Miss Norma Springfield, of Sir George Williams University, told the fourth annual drama seminar that 'speech in this country and particularly in the high schools and universities is appalling'.

She is often approached by students who complain that they cannot hear their professors.

High school drama teacher Tom Herr, from Kamloops B. C., agreed and said: "One of the disasters of Canadian universities today is that too many knowledgeable men in the teaching profession cannot project their voices'."

Professors please take note.

This paper was put together with the cooperation of a few stray freshman and some old friends. Ticking the keys were Nancy Tanton, Jennifer Black, Muriel Ann Walker, Mike Hutchins, and ME. Margaret Hagerman sat on a desk and wrote things on the back of pictures. Ann Colwell learned how to lay out a paper. Chas ran around looking worried. Tony Dew, Jeff Goldman and Dave Clark did some sports (heh heh). Jeff Andrews leaned on the layout table, picking up gobs of atmosphere. Ian Stoddard was here. Russ fought with Sandy, again, and again, about who was smaller and/or taller. And all sorts of people meandered in looking, in vain, for their yearbooks.

Schools Should Stop Experimenting

— from Telegraph-Journal, May 14, 1963.

Dear Sir:

I noticed an article in your paper recently, stating that educators would hold sessions at UNB for various purposes. In my opinion, if we would do away with a number of these educators and hold fewer sessions, not only would our pocketbooks be lined a little better but our children would be much better off.

Since World War II there have been a number of changes in our schools. One change was, instead of teaching the sounds of the letters of the alphabet, sight-reading was introduced. Now our high school students cannot spell or read.

Then the method of teaching arithmetic was revised and in order to add and subtract, balls and sticks entered the classroom. It is most annoying when I ask a high school student to add 14 and eight, and they stand and count on their fingers.

Now these methods have not confused the children and parents enough, so in September, a new experiment is being introduced in Grade 7 arithmetic. If this fails who is going to suffer? Not the educators, but your children and mine. I realize the world is moving ahead very fast, but don't two and two still make four?

Another thing that amuses but yet irritates me is when one of my children comes to me with a textbook and says: "Will you help me with this? We have six pages to read over and study". When I sit down to explain what is on the pages, I find a story of Jane and Bob or John and Judy, and about six lines of studying. In my opinion, if you give a child something to study he will do it, and it doesn't have to be candy-coated or served on a silver platter.

An Interested But Confused Mother.

The Creative Arts Committee

The Creative Arts Committee tries to provide for music drama and the creative arts in general. Each year it brings to Campus speakers, musicians, actors and others. This year most of its activities are concerned with music. A full program of these is attached to this sheet. KEEP THIS PROGRAM: it will help you in arranging to attend these concerts etc.

As part of your fees, you have paid some money towards the Committee's expenses and in return you are given a free ticket to each event the Committee sponsors. You pick up your ticket from the office of the Dean of Men's Residences in McConnell Hall on Campus usually a few days before each event.

We post notices and send circulars round the classes announcing each separate event. We also put announcements in the Brunswickan and on Radio U. N. B., (with the cooperation of these organizations). Watch and listen, and you will find much interesting, varied and excellent entertainment. We invite both established artists and young artists, so this is your chance to hear the best now and to judge who will be the best in the future.

This year, we are also helping to sponsor the concerts by PAUL HELMER the University's Resident Musician. His work was so popular last year that special arrangements have been made to keep him here again this year. We hope you will enjoy hearing him.

An innovation this year is an open meeting of the Committee, at which anyone who wishes to attend will be most welcome. This meeting will be held in Memorial Hall at 7 p.m. on Thursday 26 September.

DRAMA SOCIETY

As in previous years, the U.N.B. Drama Society provides an opportunity for all students interested in acting, set designing, stage management, stage crew, lighting, make-up, costuming, scenery, publicity and production in general.

The society plans to have two major productions, several one-act plays and a number of rehearsal readings this year.

We would like to see as many new faces at our first meeting as possible, as well as old familiar faces. Among these we wish to have several junior, senior or post-grad. students who would be interested in directing a one-act play.

Our first meeting will be held in the Memorial Students' Center at 7:30 P.M. on Tuesday, September 24. Your presence will be appreciated.

(FREDERICTON CHANGES LITTLE IN FOUR YEARS)

The new student at UNB will find off-campus entertainment in Fredericton lacking in variety. Admittedly, there is often enough for the student to do, but he has little choice of where to do it.

There is a noticeable lack of "dining and dancing" in the city. One may eat and one may dance but never the twain shall meet. The most popular eateries for college students fall into four categories.

First, there are the restaurants where the students go for light snacks after the show. The most popular of these restaurants are the Paradise on Queen Street, the Imperial Restaurant on Carleton Street, and the Sun Grill on Regent Street.

Secondly, for a lunch counter with longer hours, many students frequent the Club 252 on the corner of Regent and Charlotte Streets which remains open until 3:00 a.m.

Thirdly, there is the Outpost Restaurant, 7 miles from the centre of the city on the Saint John highway. This is the closest one can get to dining and dancing in Fredericton, although the dancing must be done to recorded music. The Outpost, open until 3:00 a.m. provides rustic atmosphere for a meal after a big dance.

For a different type of atmosphere, there is the Kent Inn on Waterloo Row. During the winter students rent the Kent Inn for parties.

The consumption of liquor in Fredericton, as in the rest of the province, is governed by the Intoxicating Liquor Act. According to this law, the distribution is controlled by the provincial government, which operates three outlets in Fredericton. One liquor store is situated on Queen Street, opposite the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel. There is another on the corner of Queen and Westmorland Streets. The store hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on weekdays, and from 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturdays. No permit is required to purchase liquor in the stores.

Liquor may not be sold to anyone under 21.

There is one radio station, CFNB, which broadcasts from Fredericton. It is affiliated with the CBC Trans-Canada Network. You can pick up CHSJ-TV from Saint John, Channel 4.

There are two motion picture houses in the capital city. The Gaiety Theatre is located on Queen Street and generally runs fairly current movies of a better quality. The Capital at the corner of King and Carleton Streets, usually runs western and horror films often on double bills. Both theatres run one matinee and two evening shows. There are no movies on Sunday.

The New Brunswick hunting season opens October 1 and closes November 30. There is a closed season on caribou. UNB students from outside the province may purchase resident hunting licenses. These are sold at all sporting stores in the city.

GOLDEN DAYS RETURN?

Red & Black Squad Darkhorses of AFC

by Dave Clark and Tony Dew

The 1963 edition of the U.N.B. Red Bombers looks more promising than in past years if the training camp performance is any indication. Coaches Nelson and McIntyre have a generous number of recruits trying out for the many available positions on this year's club. Fifteen returning veterans give the team a solid nucleus which is rounded out by eight former J. V. players and a promising group of rookies. Pete Bjorn, center, Gabe Barban, tackle, Wayne Spino, guard, Wayne Crone and Bob Burt, ends, are returning first-string offensive linemen who should give the Bombers a strong effort this year. Danny Waters, Jack Anderson, Tom Pink-ard and Norm Lajeunesse are all new-comers who have appeared promising at this early stage.

Coach Nelson is fortunate in having one of his strongest potential backfields in some years. The depth has been so great that Nelson can formulate four complete backfields. Mike Ross and Bob Hubbard are working out of the quarterback slot; each making the coaches job difficult to pick a starter. Tony Dew and Pete Harvey, last Years speedsters are having a great camp, showing their heels to tacklers. The offense is strong in fullbacks with Rich Forsythe and Rich Logie showing well. Alex McNaught, Mike Ward

The Red Bombers are employing a renovated offense this year which appears to be ideally suited to the personnel on hand. It employs control, ball artistry and some surprise manoeuvres which are meant to startle the opposition. The passing attack this year should be greatly improved as the club boasts an abundance of sure handed pass receivers to combine with the good arms of our quarterbacks.
