GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS BROKEN AFTER SANGUINARY LOSSES

French Hold all Captured Ground--All the German Ships Taken Yesterday in Good Shape and Carried Valuable Cargoes--Disorders in Petrograd--185 Sentenced as Result of Food Riots at Dusseldorf--Great German Labor Demonstration Demands Peace Without Annexations or Indemnities.

12,000 GERMAN WORKMEN DEMAND PEACE WITHOUT ANNEXATION

COPENHAGEN, July 18.—Twelve thousand workmen attending a meeting at Bielefeld, the centre of the Westphalia linen industry, adopted a resolution demanding peace without annexation or indemnities and asking the Reichstag to support only a government making unequivocal declarations along these lines.

NEW ITALIAN MINISTER OF MARINE

ROME, July 18.—Admiral Debono has been appointed Minister of Marine to succeed Vice Admiral Arturo Triand.

PREMIER LI YUAN HUNG RESIGNED

TIENTSIN, July 18.—President Li Yuan Hung has resigned.

GERMAN SHIPS CAPTURED HAD VALUABLE CARGOES

LONDON, July 18.—A despatch from the port where the German ships, captured in the North Sea, were brought says that all are in good shape and carry valuable cargoes of coal and provisions. An unconfirmed report states that one of the vessels is believed to be the Steamer Brussels whose Captain, Fryatt, was executed by the Germans after his capture a year ago.

FRENCH ENGAGED IN VIOLENT ARTILLERY FIGHTING

PARIS, July 18.—French war office reports that on the left bank of the Meuse after a violent bombardment the Germans last night made severe counter attacks on the positions captured yesterday by the French from Avoncourt wood to the western slopes of Hill 304. All these efforts were defeated with sanguinary losses to the enemy. There was violent artillery fighting west of Cerny.

Belleville Will Respond to Her Veteran's Appeal--Next Week's Musical Festival to Be Very Largely Attended

From one end of Canada, in fact, our citizens, and the program will from one end of the Empire to the other. Therefore, surely there will be no citizen of Belleville who will fail to attend at least one of these concerts, and great numbers will attend every concert. The Veterans need money, to get their headquarters established. Furniture, etc., costs money, and there is no doubt that the people of Belleville if called upon would subscribe all the necessary amount, but the veterans, in view of the many noble responses made by Bellevillians to the numerous funds, have taken this method to raise money which is absolutely needed in the Belleville Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association is to continue in existence. Therefore, citizens of Belleville go to Doyle's Drug Store, or the C. W. Lindsay, Limited, and secure your tickets for the series of concerts, thereby showing that you are heart and soul, and pocket-book, which is more substantial, behind will never forget. Music such as will be heard during this series of concerts, will appeal to all classes of for you.

SERIOUS DISORDERS IN PETROGRAD

PETROGRAD, July 18.—Another manifestation of armed sailors and soldiers and workmen and women in which shots were fired took place along the Nevsky prospect yesterday. The extent of the casualties is unknown.

REICHSTAG SUMMONED TO RECEIVE COMMUNICATION

AMSTERDAM, July 18.—A despatch from Berlin announces that Chancellor Michaelis has asked the president of the Reichstag to summon Thursday afternoon's session for a communication from the government.

185 PERSONS RECEIVE HEAVY SENTENCES

COPENHAGEN, July 18.—Advises from Dusseldorf says the state of siege there, the result of food riots, has been raised after 185 persons received sentences averaging eighteen months.

MICHAELIS MERELY A STOP-GAP

AMSTERDAM, July 18.—According to news brought by arrivals from Berlin, belief in liberal circles there is that Chancellor Michaelis is merely a stop-gap who will prepare the way for something in the way of a dictatorship with General Ludendorff in supreme control.

EXTENSION CARRIED; GENERAL ELECTION WITHIN TWO MONTHS

Sir Robert Borden's Resolution Passed Commons 82 to 62—Hon. George P. Graham's Amendment Defeated, Which Called First for Conscription of Wealth, Organization of Resources and Lowering Living Cost—Sir Geo. Foster Announces Income Tax This Session.

OTTAWA, July 17.—The die is cast. Within the next two months Canada will witness a general election, the first in six years. By a vote of 82 to 62 the House of Commons at midnight approved the extension resolution submitted by Premier Borden. Six Liberals voted with the Government. Six Conservatives voted with the Opposition.

Sir Robert told the House frankly that unless the resolution carried with practical unanimity it could not go forward to the Imperial Parliament at London. The division leaves the members speculating as to whether they will go before their electors in August or September. Few look for the election as late as November. Coalition Government is off until after polling. Mr. Fred F. Pardee, the chairman of the war-winning Liberals, who supported the principle of the military service act, made that to "different and conflicting elements on both sides of the House."

The Prime Minister, in proposing the resolution for a year's further extension of Parliament, pleaded the war crisis, the diversion and dissipation of energy which would result from the turmoil of an election, and the practical disfranchisement of the men at the front. He cited the precedent of Great Britain, and declared that the destinies of Canada and the civilization of the world overbore any technical constitutional conventions. He pleaded that there should be a setting aside of all partisanship and political strife, and with an extended Parliamentary term "a Government formed by fair union of both political parties."

MASONIC PARTY ON A TOUR

Of Prince Edward County as Guests
Of Belleville Brethren

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the General Purpose Board of the Masonic Order, were the guests of the local lodges, on a tour of Prince Edward County during which they visited Picton and toured through to the Sandbanks by way of Cherry Valley. Nature's work at the Sandbanks aroused the wonder of the Masonic brethren. After a short stay there the twenty seven automobiles in the party, started for Wellington. At the hotel in that village, a fish supper was served. The party reached Belleville at 8.15 P.M. Although the weather was not of the best, rain starting to fall about five o'clock, the trip was very much enjoyed as it enabled the visitors to see much of the garden county of the province.

ALSO PUPILS PASS AT POINT HOPE

Mr. Robert Gilles, principal of the Public Schools at Port Hope, has the distinction of passing his full number of candidates in the Entrance examination this year, thirty-seven in all. But this is no new record for this successful teacher. He has established a record which cannot be equaled in the Dominion. This is the seventeenth entrance class to write under Mr. Gilles, in this period 717 pupils having written and 718 have been accepted.

AN 18 POUND LUNGE

Mr. Chas. T. Walters and a party of friends spent yesterday at Crowe Lake and report a great day's sport as well as a fine catch of Muskellunge. Mr. Sam Boardman landed a beauty of 18 pounds with a rod and bass outfit after a fifteen minute tussle and incidentally members of the party narrowly escaped a ducking as well as loss of outfit in their first experience with this King of fish.

AN ONTARIO JEWEL

The Lake of Bays is one of the jewels in the Highlands of Ontario. The whole territory is one great mass of lakes, streams and forests. Speckled trout, salmon trout and black bass are plentiful in these waters. The altitude is 1,000 feet above the sea, making the air rare and invigorating. Splendid hotel accommodations. Literature telling you all about it free on application to C. E. Hornings, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

POLICE COURT

A man named Hoad after a week's remand in jail, was given an hour to get out of town this morning.

FIRE ALARM

The firemen had a call at noon to the vicinity of the Rolling Mills near which a fire was reported. There was no damage.

TRENTON

TELLS OF WORK OF THE I.W.W.

Mr. S. A. Gardner Tells How Industrial Workers of the World are Uprising Things in South-western U. S.

Bisbee, Ariz., July 10, 1917. Editor Ontario:

These western mining camps and border towns are centres toward which gravitate adventurous spirits, both good and bad, from nearly every country on the face of the globe. They come, bringing with them the peculiar ideas of their native country, which they are anxious to exploit in the community favored by their presence. Hence it naturally follows that we have here, nearly every type of religious belief to be found anywhere. Such, for instance, as the Latter Day Saints or Mormons, Theosophists, Buddhists, New Thought, Babism, and a score of other fantastic beliefs, religious, social, political, and moral.

This western country seems to be the home of various labor organizations of this continent. In what I am about to say, I have no reference to legitimate labor unions, which I believe, when properly conducted, are a good and, under existing conditions, a necessary thing. But I refer to that body of men who style themselves "The Industrial Workers of the World,"—the I.W.W.'s more familiarly and more appropriately known here as the "I Won't Work class" or the "Wobblies."

They are said to be under the leadership of Haywood, who some years ago had a rather unenviable notoriety, if I remember right, in connection with the "Orchard" disclosures and the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho. Their organizers travel from camp to camp and use every endeavor to poison the men's minds and render them dissatisfied with their conditions. Then when the leaven has worked a while, one of their "soap-box" orators comes along and gathers a crowd, to which he preaches the rankest red socialism.

They talk very volubly, if not very learnedly, on the rights of man and kindred subjects, and as their audiences are generally at least one-half Mexicans and foreigners, and a large share of the rest are uneducated, it is easy to imagine what the result will be.

Then they present to the mining companies a list of grievances in the form of an ultimatum which, if not granted, a meeting of miners is called, which the organizers have packed with men not employed in the mines, a vote is taken and a strike is called. Having thus started it, the leaders leave the management of it in the hands of their deputies and seek for new grounds.

It is the general opinion of those who have looked into the matter that these organizers are in the pay of the Kaiser, receiving pay from the nation with whom they are at war and endeavoring to embarrass the Government and paralyze, as far as possible, the copper mining industry, at a time when that metal is so much needed for the manufacture of war munitions.

It is said that Haywood made a threat that he would tie up the copper mining industry and send strikers into the wheat fields to destroy the grain if the United States sent soldiers overseas.

To give you an example of their demands, miners are being paid $5.85 for an eight-hour day's work in Bisbee, but they demanded $6.00 for six hours' work. One of the El Paso dailies sent an expert to Bisbee to find out the real conditions here, and after a week's investigation decided that the miners had nothing to strike for and that the companies are paying a higher wage than any other camp in the United States.

Owing to the vigorous action of Sheriff Wheeler, aided by the rank and file of the residents, everything is running smoothly so far, and the greater part of the men have gone back to work. Last night's Daily Ore and this morning's Review contain the news that the citizen miners of Jerome founded up the I.W.W.'s, put them on cattle cars with plenty of water and sent them out of that part. This seems to be the best way of getting rid of this troublesome element which is a blight wherever they go.

The Red Cross War Fund was a decided success in the Warren district. The National Headquarters at Washington decided to raise $100,000,000, of which $10,000 was allotted to this district. But when the returns came in it was found that they had raised $22,485. Primarily this fund is for the relief of soldiers at the front, soldiers' widows and families and other dependents.

The weather has been very warm lately and although we have had a few light showers, still the summer rains have not set in yet and the weather will still be hot until they begin.

Quiet reigns along the border just now, the only excitement being the strike and we are in hopes that will soon be broken.

Between here and the coast there is a stretch of sand called the Yuma Desert, and this is no doubt the hottest place in the United States. So hot is it that women and children are prohibited from crossing it just now even at night.

The people are just waking up to the fact that the country is at war, engaged in the greatest war this world has ever seen; and one thing is certain, and that is that 1917 will not see the end of it.

Just now a great many have gone on their vacation—some to the mountains, others to the coast and others back east. I must close this rambling screed, and hope that when I write next it will not be such a dolorous tale. All well. Kind regards to all.

S. A. Gardner.

MADOC

The Summer Model School is in full swing at present. About sixty students are enrolled, with R. A. A. McConnell, Principal, and Thos. E. Moffat and Mr. Nethercott, assistants.

Mr. J. E. Minns, Tweed, Public School Inspector of Central Hastings, was in town Friday.

Mr. Hugh M. Blair, of Weyburn, Man., is visiting friends here.

Mr. Jno. Winters, of Cloyne, was in Madoc Saturday. Mr. Winters has purchased a property in Trenton and will build a number of new houses this summer. While here he was the guest of W. J. Hill.

Mr. Chas. N. Whytock and family, accompanied by Mr. Robt. Wickham visited Napanee and Mohawk Camp, Deseronto, on July 12th.

Rain in this district is quite frequent. During the week of July 8 to 15 there was only about five hours of sunshine.

Mr. Ezra Smith was in Foxboro July 12th assisting Foxboro Band at Frankford.

A large number of Madoc members will attend the Masonic Grand Lodge to be held in Belleville July 18 and 19.

Mr. Herbert E. Polson, of the Dominion Bank, Lindsay, is renewing old acquaintances in Madoc. We are glad to see Herb. looking so well.

Miss Ruby Pym, of McIntosh Bros., store, who has been quite ill, is, we are pleased to say, improving.

The Hill Brick Co. have erected a new wind mill at their brick-yard. Business is brisk with them at the present time.

A mineral exhibit from Madoc will be on exhibition at Belleville July 18 and 19.

Many of Madoc's citizens spent Thursday afternoon half holiday at the lake, and all were quite successful in their fishing. The best bass we saw weighed a little more than four pounds and was landed by Master Jack Foster.

VICTORIA

Church next Sunday at 10.30 P.M. The ladies will quilt in the church on Thursday afternoon, for the soldiers in the hospitals. The meeting was well attended last Thursday at Mrs. Lorne Brickman's. We were treated to ice cream and strawberries by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Stafford motored to Campbellford on Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Glen of Belleville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sager for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman and Audra, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman motored to Mohawk Camp on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rae Fox, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lont motored to Frankford on Thursday and celebrated the 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ferguson spent Sunday at Mr. Oscar Glenn's.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hennessey motored to Madoc on Sunday and spent the day with the latter's mother, Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Francis Brickman and Vera took tea at Mr. Will Hubbs' on Friday evening.

Lorne Deeltle spent the week end at his home in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Weese and family motored back to Trenton on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Arnett.

Beryl Weese spent the week-end at Everett Brickman's.

Mr. Basil Doolittle of Belleville took tea at Mr. Everett Brickman's on Saturday evening.

ALEXANDER IN DRAMA FOR FIRST TIME

Big Actor Deserts Comedy Field for More Serious Work in Lasky Pictures

Frank Alexander, who has been acting for Keystone film comedies, plays his first dramatic role in "Tennessee Partner", starring Fannie Ward, which is announced for exhibition at Griffin's tonight and Tuesday night. Mr. Alexander is a Pacific coast man from start to finish. He was born in Olympia, Wash., and his career in almost every line of business imaginable, has rarely taken him on the eastern side of the great divide. He was a travelling salesman a few years ago, and was winning every prize his company offered for the greatest amount of goods sold. Then a friend who saw him for the first time in many years, suggested that he go into pictures. As a boy, Mr. Alexander had been active in amateur theatricals. He had at one time cherished a desire to go on the stage, but threats from his father and tears from his mother determined him not to do so. When the friend suggested the movies however, Alexander thought he'd make a try at it. So he got a few weeks of vacation from his firm, ran down to Los Angeles and was well received at the Keystone Comedy Company Studio, and then and there decided that his future endeavors should centre in the moving picture colony at Los Angeles.

WEDDING BELLS REEVES-SPRY

A most pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spry, of Rawdon Township, on Tuesday, July 10th, when their daughter, Miss Florence Spry, was united in marriage to Mr. Loomis Sanfield Reeves, of Madoc Village.

The house and lawn were tastefully decorated with ferns and flowers. Promptly at seven o'clock p.m., to the strains of the wedding march, the young couple took their places on the beautiful lawn in the presence of one hundred and fifty guests and friends. The Rev. W. S. MacTavish, of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her father and looked beautiful in a gown of white Georgette crepe over white satin, carrying a large bouquet of white carnations and roses. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Myrtle Spry, who wore peach crepe-de-chêne with silk over lace. She also looked beautiful. The ring was contained in a basket of violets and fern and was carried by the younger sister, Miss Irene Spry, who was daintily clothed in white satin.

The groom was supported by Capt. F. Burrows, of the aerial corps, Kingston.

After the interesting ceremony, the guests were invited to partake of a dainty and sumptuous luncheon, after which a toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. W. S. MacTavish, and responded to by the groom, and also by the bride's father.

The Madoc Band were in attendance and furnished music during the evening. The presents to the bride were both numerous and costly, which speaks well of the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Spry left on the C.P.R. midnight train for western cities. Upon their return they will take up their residence in Mr. Reeves' beautiful home, Durham St.

GRAVELROAD

Some of the farmers have started to cut their hay.

Miss Berna O'Neill returned to Toronto on Sunday evening after spending a few days with her aunt, Miss M. A. Dewcey. She was accompanied back by Miss Helen Fahey.

Mrs. Byron Scanlon and son, Jack, are spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Nellie Meagher.

Mr. J. Toppings spent Sunday with his father, Mr. J. Toppings, Sr., second concession.

Miss F. Dwyer, Napanee, spent Sunday with Miss Maggie Cassidy.

Miss Mary Sweeney, Belleville, spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss M. D'Arcy.

Miss Mary Hunt spent Sunday with Misses Doyle's, Melrose.

A few from here spent Sunday at Erinville.

The picnic held by the Women's Institute of Marysville on Wednesday last was a decided success. Refreshments were served in the evening, dancing and sports of different kinds were indulged in during the afternoon.

The bands were published in St. Mary's Church on Sunday for the marriage of John S. Meagher and Miss Grace McCormick, Sharpton, and the wedding to take place on Thursday, July 19th.

Miss Mary Brennan spent a Sunday, recently, with Mrs. J. F. O'Sullivan.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Fields was held on Saturday. We extend our sympathy to the sorrowing relatives.

REVISITS BELLEVILLE

Charles Fisher, of the 4th Machine Gun Company, a former 39th Battalion soldier, has been spending a few days in the city. He has served at the front since a short time after going overseas. After many months in France, he was struck in the right eye with a piece of shell, which destroyed that organ, the steel going down inside his cheek and knocking out a tooth or two. He now wears a patch over the eye. Prior to enlisting he was engaged in farming on the fourth of Sidney, near the Town Hall.

The Militia Department says that farmers this year will not receive the aid that was given last year by the granting of a month's furlough to soldiers at the camps. There are not enough men to allow it, and conditions have changed.

To prevent further accidents in the district, an official landing place is being made at Barriefield Camp on the main parade grounds in front of the administration building. An immense "T" of white-washed boards is being made, and a few trees in the centre of the field have been cut down.

The Volunteer Aid Detachment is evidently very fascinating to the girls of the district, as letters are being received from Gananoque, Brockville and other places from girls volunteering for the work. There are eight girls on duty now, and they are employed in the linen room and in the recreation room. The hospital authorities are very pleased with their work.

CHEESE BOARD

At the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday 2,330 boxes of cheese were boarded, 500 at 21 1-16, the balance at 21 1-16.

ENTERTAINING MASONIC GUESTS

Large Auto Party Visits Sandbanks Today and Dines at Wellington

The Masonic brethren are pouring into the city by every train today for the sixty-second annual communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, which will open in the armouries here tomorrow morning, the Most Worshipful Bro. S. A. Luke, of Ottawa, the Grand Master in the chair. The delegates were met at the trains by local members of the fraternity and escorted to the Church street armouries, where they were assigned their billets throughout the city.

The Board of General Purposes, met yesterday and was divided up into various committees. These reported this morning and their reports will be incorporated with the other reports and the Grand Master's address, which will be given tomorrow.

This afternoon the Masons already in the city were the guests of the Belleville brethren. A party of about twenty-five automobiles left at two o'clock for the Sandbanks, where the visitors can think on nature's architecture. After some hours at this ideal spot, the party will motor to Wellington, where at the hotel fish supper will be served. They will arrive back in the city about eight o'clock this evening.

This evening a garden party will be tendered visiting members of Grand Lodge at the home of Lt.-Col. S. S. and Mrs. Lazier, Victoria Ave. and John street.

MORE SOLDIERS ARRIVE IN CANADA — EIGHT LOCAL MEN.

Thirty-eight returned soldiers arrived in Kingston yesterday morning, ten of whom were taken to Queen's Military Hospital, the remainder being taken to Barriefield camp where they will be attached to the Special Service Company. Eight men from this locality who have already taken an active part in the great conflict are among these returned heroes. Their names are: E. Cousins, Belleville; J. Sullivan, W. Woodell, Frankford; R. Bertram, R. Livingstone, Picton; T. Glen, Napanee; G. Morris, Bloomfield; J. Smith, Trenton.

A WELCOME GIFT.

A Midget Automobile for a Wounded Soldier

Napanee, July 14.—"Jimmie" Stevens, returned soldier, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens, at present in a hospital in Toronto, received a most acceptable gift in the shape of a midget automobile, built especially for legless soldiers. He was also presented with a $5 bill to buy gasoline. The circumstances surrounding the gift are as follows: A New York lady whose heart was in the right place, was visiting the hospital for returned soldiers, and evidently was attracted by the youthful appearance and the nature of the battle scars which "Jim" wore. Receiving a negative answer to her enquiries as to whether "Jim" was the possessor of a midget automobile she went down to Eaton's store and purchased a car for him, and also presented him with a $5 bill to buy the first lot of gasoline. It is needless to say "Jim" was delighted.

MILITARY NEWS

There will now be good landing places for aeroplanes from Deseronto at Napanee, Picton and Kingston. Belleville has no good landing place yet.

The Militia Department says that farmers this year will not receive the aid that was given last year by the granting of a month's furlough to soldiers at the camps. There are not enough men to allow it, and conditions have changed.

To prevent further accidents in the district, an official landing place is being made at Barriefield Camp on the main parade grounds in front of the administration building. An immense "T" of white-washed boards is being made, and a few trees in the centre of the field have been cut down.

USEFUL CITIZEN LEAVING

By the removal of Mr. Henry Sneyd, manager of the local branch of the Merchants bank, this city is losing a useful and public-spirited citizen. During his ten years' residence here he has not sought any position in the lime-light or on the band-wagon but when there was work to be done in the interest of the public he has not been slow to offer his services. The board of trade and the board of education have benefited much by his reliable judgment and good business sense. In these capacities he has rendered faithful service but it has been as one of the most active members of the local committee to administer the Canadian Patriotic War Fund that he has carried on a labor of love with conspicuous energy and success. The debt that is owed by the dependents of soldiers and therefore by the entire community to Mr. Sneyd for this noble work is one that can never be repaid. For all this work he has never received one cent of remuneration. It was enough that he could in this way give some assistance to those who were gallantly fighting our battles at the front.

In his business relationships Mr. Sneyd was dignified, courteous and obliging. He retained the good will of his customers because he was unfailingly fair.

He will carry with him to his new and more responsible position the united good wishes of the citizens of Belleville.

THE SENTINEL AND GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

From every side The Ontario was being showered with favorable compliments because of our timely exposure of the "massacre" plot. For having, by this warning saved the lives of nearly ten thousand Protestants in Belleville alone, we were being held up as the greatest benefactor of the age. We were reminded that great public services like this might most properly be recognised by some such honor as a baronetcy, a knighthood or at least an honorary colonelcy. Only of late years, especially since the beginning of the war, these distinguishing marks have been reserved for those who can best rob the soldier of proper munition supplies at the front or the soldier's family of cheap food at home. Our ambition was certainly becoming aroused and we were pretty well satisfied with the way matters were going when The Orange Sentinel had to come along and spoil everything. Just listen to this:

"The Belleville Ontario is guilty of a clumsy piece of sarcasm at the expense of the Orange Order and the Tory party, which the editor probably regards as clever."

Then with overmastering, corrosive scorn The Sentinel goes on to quote a paragraph or two from our "massacre" article and winds up with this stinging rebuke,—

"A man who writes and publishes such stuff at a time like this is quite incapable of teaching good citizenship to any class of people."

We assure The Sentinel that it quite misapprehends our attitude when it states that we regarded our production as "clever." Cleverness, as far as this province is concerned, has been monopolised by Toronto, or, as The Hamilton Spectator would remark, "hogged by Hogtown." In rural communities like Belleville our best efforts in the direction of cleverness get little beyond "clumsy" conceit and bucolic bluntness.

But Toronto—whew! Just as the philosophy of Nietzsche has produced in Germany a race of supermen that have become the marvel of the universe, even so the philosophy of The Sentinel and of Jack Canuck has produced in Toronto a race of supernuts that have become the marvel of all Canada. They naively admit their own superiority and from their lofty branch of nutty perfection they look out with pitying complacency upon all other poor humanity that is so misfortunate as to find its domicile outside the main nut-forest. Unfortunately the towering genius of these Toronto prodigies is often associated with chronic hysteria, egomania, neurosis, myopia and wear-the-hull-showism.

Why just think of it! The Sentinel spells "massacre" with only one "e" and no doubt pronounces it "massacur!"

But "good citizenship" is a different matter. Those who are not clever may at least be exemplars of good citizenship. The Sentinel intimates that we are "quite incapable of teaching good citizenship." This is a very serious charge. Before admitting the truth of the charge may we be permitted to make a few statements in defence or extenuation.

A damnable lie has been invented about our Roman Catholic fellow citizens. This falsehood has been sedulously whispered from one end of the province to the other by thoughtless people who did not stop to think whether there was the remotest basis of truth for the story or to think of the mischief the propagation of the story might occasion in the midst of this disaster of war. The story was in effect what has already been published in The Ontario, it told of the bringing in of arms in piano-cases and dry-goods boxes and the storing of the weapons in churches, separate schools and nunneries. Wherever there was a Catholic church or a group of Catholic families the story has been repeated and given a local application. In short, the Roman Catholics, who worship, in common with the Protestants, a God, just, merciful and benevolent, and who have been living for the past hundred years as brothers, at peace with their neighbors, were represented as harboring murder in their hearts, and to be secretly preparing for a "holy war" and another St. Bartholomew's.

No doubt The Sentinel has heard very many times lately these ominous tales of the concealment of weapons and of a contemplated "holy war" to be waged by Catholic against Protestant.

Does The Sentinel believe that the concocting and spreading of these vile fabrications had anything to do with "good citizenship"?

What has The Sentinel done, as the apostle of "good citizenship" to discredit or discourage this highly dangerous campaign of secret slander and falsehood?

The Ontario has heard the blood-curdling yarns from many different sources and with many varying details but with sufficient points of resemblance to indicate a common source and origin.

Ignorance, superstition and interested bigotry do not yield to the ordinary processes of argument. Against such forces ridicule is the only effective weapon.

Strictly in the interests of "good citizenship" and to do our humble part in bringing about the early demise of this imbecile canard we published our now famous burlesque, "Massacre Planned," never dreaming that even in the unsophisticated sanctum of The Sentinel it would be taken seriously.

The Ontario is not the special pleader for Catholicism, Orangism or any other form of religious belief or secret order. That is not our business as publisher of a newspaper. But when we speak of "good citizenship" we can meet on common ground. Our friends of the Roman Catholic faith are at least entitled to decency and fairness of treatment. Diabolical slander, cruel suspicion and gross insult, whispered about, are coward's weapons and neither decent nor fair.

Union, harmony, mutual trust, respect for one another's likes and dislikes and forbearance are more needed in Canada today than ever before. What has The Sentinel been doing since the outbreak of the war to bring about harmony and good feeling among our various national and religious elements? Has it not been trying its best to create in Canada another Mexico by stirring up strife, fomenting discord, unduly emphasising small differences, hunting for bones of contention? Demanding one's rights is one thing. Aggressive mischief-making is another thing.

Another point about its "good citizenship" we would like The Sentinel to explain. We have repeatedly challenged The Sentinel on previous occasions to produce the explanation. So far it has failed to do so.

The Sentinel has itself intimated that it is in active alliance with the Conservative party. Upon that point there can be no doubt for The Sentinel itself admits it.

That being true The Sentinel will also admit without argument that—

Henri Bourassa is the most dangerous man we have in Canada today.

Henri Bourassa is preaching the same anti-British doctrines today as he preached in the year 1911.

An alliance was formed in 1911 between Henri Bourassa and his Nationalist followers on the one side and the Dominion Conservative party on the other.

In the campaign of 1911 the Dominion Conservative party financed the Nationalist campaign in Quebec province.

All through the years 1911 and 1912 there was an effective alliance between the Conservative party and the Nationalist party. Since these facts are so The Sentinel itself was also in virtual alliance with Nationalism in 1911 and 1912.

We have previously challenged The Sentinel, and we now challenge The Sentinel gain, to quote any editorial expression from its columns in the years 1911 and 1912 con-demning Nationalist doctrines or condemning the Nationalist-Conservative-Sentinel alliance, enrolled itself on the register of the Grand Lodge of Canada. It changed its name to followers were threatening to shoot holes in the British flag.

And during those very years was laid the foundation for the anti-British, anti-Canadian policy that has since been so successful and so disastrous to recruiting and to British interests in the province of Quebec.

The Sentinel was silent in those momentous years, or favorable to this anti-British policy, as long as it worked out to the temporary advantage of the Conservative party.

Had The Sentinel spoken with no uncertain tone at that time it might have prevented the enactment of one of the most disgraceful chapters in Canadian history.

Without Conservative and Sentinel support it is highly improbable that Nationalism could ever have become important in Quebec.

As it is a most dangerous cleavage has been set up in Canadian public life.

Does The Sentinel think that its tacit alliance with Bourassa and Nationalism in 1911 and 1912 was an illustration of "good citizenship"?

Does not The Sentinel itself think that it ought to be "massacred" because of its failure to support British and Canadian interests at a most critical time and because of the bad leadership it has been giving to the excellent Order it represents or rather, misrepresents?

THE MASONIC ORDER

All classes of citizenship join today in welcoming to Belleville the Grand Lodge of Masons who are assembling here to hold their annual convention. Visitors always receive the right hand of goodfellowship when they come to our city. But the Masonic body will be doubly welcome because of what it represents and what it has done.

Masonry is not the most numerous but it is the most influential and widespread of the secret societies and orders. Its various branches permeate every civilised country on earth. Everywhere that it exists it is inclusive of only the best grades of citizenship. The utmost care is always exercised to maintain the high character of its membership. It is quite true that unworthy people do get past the guard of Masonry, while multitudes of worthy citizens have never joined the order. But as far as it is humanly possible the individual lodges keep up the strictest censorship over those who seek admission.

In welcoming a thousand or more Masons to Belleville, therefore, we greet the men of affairs, influence and fine reputation in their respective communities.

Masonry does not believe in tawdry show, callithumpan processions or indulge in any perfervid appeals to passion or prejudice. Masonry is dignified but it does not take itself too seriously. It does not consider that it has substantial classes are loyal to the British Empire, as this war has shown. Not given home ternal. But fraternity is a big word and to Masons it has an important meaning.

The great work of fraternity in which Masonry is engaged is carried out so quietly and unostentatiously that few are aware that the work is being accomplished at all. They do good by stealth, but the very secrecy with which their beneficent labors are carried on has led to the wildest and most erroneous rumors in reference to the character of the order.

To those on the inside all these stories about intrigue to defeat the ends of justice, and unholy influences set to work to interfere with churches, politics and even business affairs cause only amusement. They simply smile and then go on and do what they consider to be their duty.

The work of benevolence, charity and fraternalism carried on in the most inconspicuous manner, coupled with a system of moral teachings applied to the individual life, gives to the order a usefulness far surpassing that of any other beneficiary society.

Welcome, Masons!

THE CRADLE OF MASONRY

This Bay of Quinte district is virtually the cradle of Masonry in Ontario. When Masonry first introduced into the pioneer villages and settlements of this province, became dormant and virtually dead it was the Bay of Quinte lodges that kept the flag of Masonry flying at the mast-head. Those were the trying years following the war of 1812 and listing to 1820.

As long ago as 1794 a lodge of Masons was organised at Kingston. This old St. John's Lodge is No. 3 on the roll of the Grand Lodge of Canada. It was eight years later when a lodge was organised at Belleville and was named Thurlow lodge. It continued under that name until 1816 when Belleville became a town. It then changed its name and was known until 1857 as "Belleville" lodge. In that year it surrendered its English warrant and the Nationalist-Conservative-Sentinel alliance, enrolled itself on the register of the Grand Lodge of Canada. It changed its name to "Moirs" lodge and by that name it is known to this day.

The present Belleville lodge was organized in 1860. Eureka lodge was instituted thirteen years later. The three lodges are still in a most flourishing condition and have a combined membership exceeding seven hundred.

Moirs lodge is not only the parent lodge of the two others in this city but of many throughout the district, including those at Trenton, Madoc, Stirling and Marmora.

It is a remarkable fact that five of the lodges in the district organised prior to the war of 1812 are still going strong. These are St. John No. 3 of Kingston, Moira No. 11, of Belleville, Union No. 9, Napanee, Prince Edward No. 18, Picton and St. John No. 17, of Cobourg.

All five took part in the Grand Lodge which met in Kingston in 1817 when R. W. Bro. Simon McGillivray, having been sent out from England by the Duke of Sussex to go to Canada and reorganise the Order, was present and set about his work. The work of reorganization was not completed until 1820.

Volumes might be written about the history of Masonry in the district in those early years. It is a history inseparably bound up with the pioneer settlement and development of the Bay of Quinte section of Ontario. Suffice it to say that since the dawn of the nineteenth century this district has been a radiating center for Masonic influence.

IRISH LOYALTY.

The death of a man like Major William Redmond on the battlefield should do more for the future of Ireland than Sinn Fein riots or election victories and the hate songs of New York emigres. Many thousands of Irishmen have suffered in this war for their valorous loyalty to the Empire, but none of such eminence as the brother of the Nationalist leader, himself also an orator, statesman and writer of mark. The blood of William Redmond killed in action speaks to the whole world of better Ireland's worth and faith.

There have been in the past suspicious questionings of Nationalist Ireland's loyalty. At the present time also, it is clear that Sinn Fein is winning ground. But what did the critics expect Ireland to be loyal to? To Castle Rule and to English domination? Here in Canada that sort of thing was never known, and any approach to it passed away in the 1840's; we should have been quite as loyal as Ireland to a boss overseas. But the Irish people have been and are intensely loyal, even fanatically loyal, to what they perceive to be worthy of their affection and reverence. They are loyal to their religion, whether Roman Catholic or Protestant. They love Ireland and its shamrock, its poetry, history and traditions. The substantial classes are loyal to the British Empire, as this war has shown. Not given home rule yet, merely promised it, they have made what Lord Kitchener called "a magnificent response" to the call to arms.

Loyal to England one can hardly expect the Irish population to be, but loyal to the British Empire, yes, more indeed than might have been expected. What is the British Empire? It means to Ireland, once she has received the justice of home rule, free government, free religion, free education, humane ideals, peaceful and kindly co-operation, gentle manners, equal rights of men and women, chivalry and light. By these things Ireland will stand to the death. For them men like William Redmond and Professor Kettle died in France. Though there is at present showing itself in elections and otherwise a renewal of irritation among the Irish masses and among some of the feverish intellectuals, there can be no doubt of what Ireland morally thinks of the British and German empires. Only Carson made up to the Kaiser.

There have been a few out and out disloyalists, as there are in every country. Case-ment was pigheaded, his judgment was overclouded by passion. Frank Harris is a shallow-hearted scoundrel, who having done all in his power years ago, as editor of the Saturday Review, to inflame England against Germany, came out on the opening of the war in 1914 as an advocate of the enemy he had assailed. But such are exceptions. Ireland as a whole, of whichever religion, detests the foe that tears babies to pieces, desecrates the shrines of faith, insults and outrages humanity. There can be no question of the loyalty of Ireland to the essentials of which the fabric of the British Empire is made.

Those who talk of a split in the Liberal party should go farther and emphasize the cordiality, good-will and single-mindedness that exist between Sir Robert Borden and Sir Sam Hughes.

THE WAY TO WIN THE WAR

It has taken some time for the full import of the battle of Messines Ridge to be realized. In many respects the British success stands as the most remarkable feat of the war. And unlike other battles, the attack was most extraordinary in its details. A high French officer has said of the action: "It is a model of what a modern attack should be."

A model attack then should begin underground. Operations comparable to the building of subway tunnels, leading directly under the enemy positions and undermining whole ridges, must be pushed relentlessly for months. When the objective is attained, the most powerful of explosives must be packed into the galleries and made ready for firing by an electric spark. On the surface every device formerly employed, including tanks, machine grenades, bayonets, gas bombs, hand guns, infantry and cavalry must be multiplied.

The artillery must be of all dimensions, from the great howitzers, mounted on railroad trucks and operated miles behind the lines, to quick firers that push right into No Man's Land with the infantry. There must be long distance shelling of the enemy approaches, depots and munitions dumps; also the spaces where reinforcements may be massed to reinforce the trench or for counter attacks. All this besides the heavy guns for demolition of what is left of the mined fortifications; guns to provide the barrage fire that protects advancing troops; anti-aircraft guns; guns that throw up illuminating shells and poison shells.

Added to these devices the British used "oil cans" which threw boiling oil into the enemy ranks, shells which upon striking exploded and spread a new kind of destruction in all directions. But this is not all. Any one who has read of the part played by the various branches of the air service in the Messines Ridge battle must have been thrilled as never before by an account of modern fighting. In this respect the attack was more than a model. It was superb. Nothing like it has ever taken place before. British flyers literally clouded the skies and played a most significant part in the whole performance.

The lesson of this battle is plain. The Allies have beaten the Germans at their own game. The ruthless terrorists have been overmatched in every department. Tactically, technically and in materials, supremacy has been attained. There is no longer any doubt that Germany can be beaten in the field. All that remains in doubt is the length of time it will require. This in turn depends in a large measure upon the support this country gives to the Entente in making such operations possible, adding to their duration, extent and frequency. Verily, as President Wilson says, "the war has begun to go against Germany."—Brooklyn Eagle.

CANADA'S G. O. M.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is likely to retire from public life owing to his dislike of conscription; but he is 76 and the step could not perhaps have been long delayed. I remember a talk with him in which he spoke in glowing terms of the ennobling effect of liberty upon men, as illustrated in the lives of many thousands of immigrants into the Dominion from the lands of oppression in eastern Europe. He declared that there was no race or nationality, however down-trodden and spiritless, which did not provide human material capable in the second generation of contributing valuable material to the strength and prosperity of the Empire. He mentioned, I remember, the Galician peasant, his native condition and the new conditions in the free air of the prairies, and went on to discuss the characteristics of immigrants from every part of Europe, coming last to these islands. It will please some of my readers, and perhaps not offend others that his closing words were these: "The Scottish, Sir—the Scottish are the salt of the earth."—London Daily News.

The indication of worms are restlessness, grinding of the picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions the best remedy that can be got is filler's Worm Powders. They will rid them to atoms that pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

THE DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY

Sixty years ago July 16th, Albert College, then known as Belleville Seminary, entered upon its successful educational career. From the beginning the school has stood for education and is a living monument to the fact that young men and women can be educated together under proper restriction, form true friendships and have a healthful spirit of rivalry, without destroying the purity, modesty, culture or Christian graces that constitute a womanly woman and without weakening either the moral or intellectual strength which tends to develop the manly man.

REPORT OF EIGHTH ANNUAL CONVENTION

The eighth annual W.C.T.U. Convention of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, was held at Deseronto, June 26 and 27 with a full attendance of officers and a large number of delegates.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

The official report is as follows: Mrs. Gibson, County President, who was in the chair, conducted the devotional exercises. After the election of Miss Farley as Recording Secretary, and the appointment of Plan of Work, Resolutions and Courtesy Committees, the County Officers reported the work accomplished during the year. The Corresponding Secretary, Miss Anderson, reported nine departments being worked. Miss Reeves, treasurer, reported $538.00 collected; balance on hand $23.10.

Mrs. Douglas, Parlor Superintendent, reported twelve meetings held with thirteen new members added. Great interest and much support have been given to Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. work through this department.

The Khaki Club of Trenton, composed of young girls, organized for Y.M.C.A. work have sent $325.00 for the soup pots, 15,000 bowls of hot soup often being served to soldiers in one night by Y.M.C.A. representatives at the front through this department.

Mrs. Hatton, Superintendent of Law Enforcement, showed what a very earnest woman could do in causing existing laws to be enforced, and congratulated the women of the united counties on the good work done in assisting the franchise.

Miss Farley, Belleville, reported a very successful medal contest. Miss Vandyske's report on Franchise was read showing much work being done to educate the women to fill the new positions given them by the passing of the Suffrage Bill.

The Evangelistic Superintendent, A. A. Dunwoodie, emphasized the need of prayer and urged upon the women to take more time for devotional exercises.

The Superintendent of the Flower, Fruit and Delicacy Department reported a large amount of jam and other fruit donated, and impressed the importance of keeping a record of all work done, great or small, for Provincial reports.

Mrs. Hennes, Belleville, gave an interesting report on Moral Education and Social Reform, this being an important matter in this century. Mrs. Marks, Press Superintendent, of Napanee, reported a willingness on the part of most newspapers to print the literature sent to them.

Mrs. Graham's report on Scientific Temperance was given—text books being used in public schools.

Mrs. Sager reported temperance being taught in Sabbath Schools.

Miss Gaudier, Newburgh, L.T.I. Superintendent, reported four Leagues. These have been active and the children are doing their part in this department. The moral and temperance education of the soldiers, lumber camps and missionary.

Mrs. Madole, Superintendent, reported Miss Sproule again at work and all Unions contributing liberally to this branch.

Mrs. Gibson led the noon-tide prayer.

The afternoon meeting was held in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Johnson, Trenton, led the devotional exercises, reading from Exodus 13th chapter. Her remarks were very instructive and enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Gibson gave an able address on the "Pioneer Work" of the W. C. T. U.

A discussion on Parliamentary Law led by Mrs. Symington, proved very interesting.

A solo by Miss Richardson, proved a very pleasing diversion.

Miss Farley gave a paper on the "Importance of Details" which should prove very helpful.

Mrs. A. E. Stevens, Prov. President, Toronto, was then introduced and conducted a "Round Table Conference." This was much appreciated, many problems, which from time to time confront the members of the W.C.T.U. being ably explained.

The evening meeting in the Methodist church was opened by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Tucker. Mrs. Struthers welcomed the Convention to Deseronto, and was ably responded to by Mrs. (Rev.) Boyce, Napanee.

Mrs. G. James and Mr. Acton delighted the audience with solos.

Mrs. Stevens, Prov. President, gave a splendid address on the "Greatness of Our Work," telling of the wonderful work done since the organization of the first Union in Owen Sound in 1875. The Wednesday morning session was opened by devotional exercises by Mrs. Kerr, Belleville.

The officers for the coming year were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. J. Williams, Belleville.

Pres.—Mrs. S. Gibson, Napanee. Pres.—Mrs. S. Gibson, Napanee. 1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. N. Miller, Napanee.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Hatton, Trenton. L.T.L.—Miss Gaudier, Newburgh. Rec.-Sec.—Mrs. Acton, Deseronto. Cor.-Sec.—Miss L. Anderson, Napanee.

Treas.—Miss Reeves, Belleville.

The closing session was held at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Gibson presiding.

The following plan of work was adopted for the ensuing year.

PLAN OF WORK

1.—Recommended that we urge a deeper concentration of our women along lines of Temperance work, that the spirit of self sacrifice may dominate their lives in this, as it does in other patriotic work these sad days and lead them to take up such work as may lie in their immediate localities.

2.—That the plan of work be taken to every local meeting by having it in the secretary's book.

3.—That the Department of moral education and mother's meetings be changed to moral education and social reform and that a Committee confer with prominent workers of the local churches and map a definite course of action.

4.—That parlor or public meetings be held and addressed by competent speakers for the purpose of educating our own people in citizenship and that suitable literature be distributed showing the responsibility of the ballot, and that we solicit the co-operation of other women's societies in this effort.

5.—That the advantages of the attendance of the Local Union members at the Provincial Convention should be earnestly impressed upon our societies, and that they be urged to send at least one delegate to each of our annual gatherings.

6.—That Unions be advised to ask for some report from Superintendents monthly, or at least quarterly, thereby keeping up an active interest in departmental work.

7.—That our Unions begin to stir up our membership with anti-cigarette programs and literature; that they instruct their Press Superintendents to put into their columns facts and figures with regard to the cigarette; but that they carefully refrain from arousing antagonism; that they use their influence to prevent, where possible, the sending to the soldiers of this injurious pleasure.

8.—The W. C. T. U. is the oldest Franchise Society in Ontario. We have said "Give us the ballot that we may protect our homes and our children from the blighting moral curses that have been permitted to fasten themselves upon our civilization." Are we now going to join any political party or other woman's organization and forget our plea, or shall we stand true to our principles to uphold the right and condemn the wrong, irrespective of all political organizations?

COURTESY AND RESOLUTION

Resolved that our grateful and heartfelt thanks be extended to the ladies of Deseronto Union, and to the friends who have so graciously and courteously entertained us; to the trustees and pastors of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches; to the Soloist and Organist; to Mrs. Stevens for her information and inspiration which she has given us all through the sessions, especially for the delightful and instructive addresses; and to all who helped in any way to make our Annual Convention such a decided success.

Resolved—

1.—That this County Convention express their appreciation of the splendid work of Premier Hearst and Mr. Rowell and the Ontario Legislature in placing upon the Statutes of this Province the Ontario Temperance Act. But in view of existing conditions in our country at the present time, let this great world war, we are convinced we should put forth every effort to bring about Dominion Prohibition and thus prevent the deplorable waste of food stuffs which is going on in the manufacture of Alcoholic Beverages.

2.—In view of danger of doctors becoming liquor vendors by dispensing liquor as a medicine, it is resolved that we bring again before the Legislature making the measure more drastic.

3.—Resolved that we as members of W.C.T.U., we protest against illicit sale of liquor that is still being allowed and to do all in our power to assist in having the law enforced more rigidly.

4.—Resolved that despite the great volume of appeal that has poured out from the mother hearts of this country to military authorities across the water our men are still subject to fierce temptations of alcohol. We again protest strongly against the wanton injury done to the manhood of a country that has shown its detestation of the liquor traffic by doing its utmost to banish it. We are grateful for the efforts of former Minister of Militia and others to protect our men from the curse and implore that stronger efforts be made to banish the wet canteen from our boys in England. The mothers and wives of Canada have been called upon to give freely of their best and bravest in defence of the Empire and to the call they have responded as true patriots, in their manhood and purity and we who have given our husbands and sons respectfully claim that we have a right to expect that the moral condition surrounding them, both in the training camp and on active service, shall be such as will conduce to clean living. To this we urge our Provincial organizations to send strong representations to Federal Government pressing upon them the need of such action.

5.—That we will make a determined effort to inform ourselves on the topics of the day, that we may use our franchise intelligently.

6.—That we constantly affirm our belief in principle that where a woman is doing the same work as a man she should receive the same rate of pay and that a principle of equal pay for equal work should be rigidly maintained.

7.—That the Department of moral education and mother's meetings be changed to moral education and social reform and that a Committee confer with prominent workers of the local churches and map a definite course of action.

8.—That parlor or public meetings be held and addressed by competent speakers for the purpose of educating our own people in citizenship and that suitable literature be distributed showing the responsibility of the ballot, and that we solicit the co-operation of other women's societies in this effort.

9.—That the advantages of the attendance of the Local Union members at the Provincial Convention should be earnestly impressed upon our societies, and that they be urged to send at least one delegate to each of our annual gatherings.

10.—That Unions be advised to ask for some report from Superintendents monthly, or at least quarterly, thereby keeping up an active interest in departmental work.

11.—That our Unions begin to stir up our membership with anti-cigarette programs and literature; that they instruct their Press Superintendents to put into their columns facts and figures with regard to the cigarette; but that they carefully refrain from arousing antagonism; that they use their influence to prevent, where possible, the sending to the soldiers of this injurious pleasure.

12.—The W. C. T. U. is the oldest Franchise Society in Ontario. We have said "Give us the ballot that we may protect our homes and our children from the blighting moral curses that have been permitted to fasten themselves upon our civilization." Are we now going to join any political party or other woman's organization and forget our plea, or shall we stand true to our principles to uphold the right and condemn the wrong, irrespective of all political organizations?

13.—That our grateful and heartfelt thanks be extended to the ladies of Deseronto Union, and to the friends who have so graciously and courteously entertained us; to the trustees and pastors of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches; to the Soloist and Organist; to Mrs. Stevens for her information and inspiration which she has given us all through the sessions, especially for the delightful and instructive addresses; and to all who helped in any way to make our Annual Convention such a decided success.

14.—That this County Convention express their appreciation of the splendid work of Premier Hearst and Mr. Rowell and the Ontario Legislature in placing upon the Statutes of this Province the Ontario Temperance Act. But in view of existing conditions in our country at the present time, let this great world war, we are convinced we should put forth every effort to bring about Dominion Prohibition and thus prevent the deplorable waste of food stuffs which is going on in the manufacture of Alcoholic Beverages.

15.—In view of danger of doctors becoming liquor vendors by dispensing liquor as a medicine, it is resolved that we bring again before the pass and dropped back. Once again the signal was given and again the road was given and the local auto came alongside the other and as before. They were approaching a corner and as it had been raining Mr Longden feared to take the corner and went straight ahead. The other car struck the auto on the left which rolled twice over. There was no suggestion of overspeeding. It will be seen that the Port Hope story is at variance with this in some points.

HUGH GALWAY WAS INJURED

Face Burned by Explosion of Gasoline Vapor in Motor Boat Tank

Mr. Hugh Galway, an employee of the John Lewis Company was the victim of a painful accident this morning by gasoline burns while at his work in the shop in the rear of the company's premises. Mr. Galway was about to remove a tap and solder from a fifty gallon gasoline tank belonging to a motor boat. There was no vent for the gasoline vapor in the tank and unfortunately Mr. Galway applied a torch. The heat caused the gas in the tank to expand and the presence of fire caused a loud explosion. The flames shot into the face of Mr. Galway through the seam of solder, which was torn open by the explosion. Mr. Galway's eyebrows and lashes and part of his hair was burned and his face blistered. He was given emergency treatment at McKewen's drug store. Later Dr. Dolan attended him and took him home. It will be some weeks before he is able to be around. Fortunately his eyes were not injured.

GOES TO THE TORONTO OFFICE

Mr. F. M. Tait, Local Manager of Sloan's, Will Be Succeeded By Mr. T. J. Madden of Toronto

Mr. F. M. Tait, after five years as manager of the Belleville branch of John Sloan and Co., will leave about the end of July to take up the important position of credit manager in connection with the head office of the firm in Toronto. Mr. Tait has been fifteen years with John Sloan and Co. and came to Belleville five years ago from Oshawa. During his residence in Belleville he has won the esteem of all classes of citizens. He will be succeeded in the management of the local branch by Mr. T. J. Madden of Toronto, who has been one of the most successful salesmen of the firm in that city. Mr. Madden will reside at 275 John Street North. He has been in the city some days and will return to Toronto at the week end. At the beginning of the following week he will take charge here.

Mr. Tait was agreeably surprised when the staff made him a presentation of an address of appreciation and of a gold-headed cane, suitably engraved. In replying to the address, he expressed his deep regret at severing his connection with the Belleville staff and his many customers, all of whom he had got along so pleasantly and agreeably with, and who had assisted very materially in making his term here both pleasant to himself and profitable to the firm. He bespoke for his successor, Mr. Madden, the same support, feeling certain that both the staff and customers would be served as heretofore.

Mr. Arthur Anderson of the Universal Film Corporation, Los Angeles, California, is in the city on a visit. He was educated in this city.

MAKING POLITICS

Is it not pitiful, at a time when our energies should be devoted to cementing national unity, to find political capital being made out of a domestic situation that nearly all Canadians deplore? Even the Montreal Gazette, which is usually not by any means the most rabid of the Tory papers, falls into line and in what at first glance has the appearance of being a calmly-reasoned article, rolls up all the political capital it can for its party. After some platitudes about the deeply lamented racial divisions, the Gazette goes on to say:

"Certain it is that from the leader of the Liberal party down there has been no vigorous, sustained, adequate preaching of the great cause in which the Allies are pouring out their blood and treasure. The feet of the French Canadians have been set upon a wrong path, upon a path whose end is isolation, ignominy and shame, when they should be marching side by side in great numbers with their fellow Canadians of British origin that liberty and democracy may not perish."

Could cynical audacity go much further? Was it the Liberal or the Conservative leader who encouraged the Nationalists during the election campaign of 1911? Was it the Liberal leader or the Conservative leader who rewarded the Nationalists with portfolios in the newly-formed government? Was it the Liberal leader or the Conservative leader who filled every Cabinet vacancy that belonged to the French Canadians with a Nationalist, as fast as a vacancy occurred? Was it the Liberal leader or the Conservative leader who set the feet of the French Canadians on the wrong path? The answer is known to everyone whose knowledge of politics in this province dates back to 1911, when the Tory party carried on a lively educational campaign in Quebec with Mr. Bourassa's daily "Le Devoir" as the principle text book. The direction in which the Tory party then wanted the French Canadians to travel had Mr. Bourassa as its signpost.

Has the Tory party since made any sincere effort to turn the French Canadians from that path? Certainly Mr. Bourassa has not.

So the blame for all this must be placed on the shoulders of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his henchmen! Perhaps we may be pardoned if we quote one of our own editorials, from The Herald of August 3rd, 1914—the day prior to Britain's formal declaration of war:

"CONSULT SIR WILFRID"

"It would be a statesmanlike move on the part of Sir Robert Borden if he were to call Sir Wilfrid Laurier into consultation as an advisor during the European war. Thus the responsible heads of the parties on both sides might be fully cognizant of the situation as it progresses, and the Cabinet, by its actions, would express the united sentiment of the country. So far, we have not heard of the Liberal leaders being consulted. Surely in a time of grave national crisis like the present the leaders of public opinion have an equal right to the fullest possible information as to eventualities and methods of meeting them. Canada will do her part; the question is, what is best to do."

The Herald's suggestion was received in ministerial circles with derision. In discussing it next day with a staff correspondent of The Herald, some of the ministers most active in giving out contracts could not abstain from profanity. We were told it was their business to run this war and they were going to do it, without interference from the Liberal party!

But in spite of all this, is it a fair presentation of the case to charge that "from the leader of the Liberal party down, there has been no vigorous, sustained, adequate preaching of the great cause in which the Allies are pouring out blood and treasure?" Every reader of the newspapers can recall the burning words of Sir Wilfrid, of the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, of Sir Lomer Gouin, of Senator Dandurand, of the Hon. Charles Marcell and others who are gifted with the silver tongue of their race. Man for man, they need not fear comparison in the matter of vigorous, sustained, adequate preaching with any of Sir Robert's lieutenants from this province or from any other. Does the Tory party not think that it, as the party in power, had any duty in the matter of vigorous, sustained, adequate preachment, if it realized that, for the cause of the Allies and for the cause of national unity—and we make no apology for joining the two causes—vigorous, sustained, adequate preaching was necessary? Montreal Herald.

NOT TO BE OVERLOOKED

In these days of fixed assessments the time has just about come for greater recognition of the part the hotel plays as a modern convenience for the travelling public, and while we have put off this question the conditions under which some of the hotels are compelled to operate indicate that some attention must be paid before long to this point. Recently W. S. Dingman, Vice-President of the License Board, and a very sensible man on all such questions, said:

"I feel strongly, now that the hotels are down to the regular business, that municipalities should show readiness to recompense them for important free services rendered to the public as general meeting places, as costly comfort stations, etc. Whilst lucrative liquor licenses existed, these services went unrecognized, perhaps excusable; it is now very different. The hotel man has to scrutinize every outlay and watch every cent, like any other business man. It would be no more than fair were municipalities to select useful hotels in the respects mentioned and set about the policy deliberately of reimbursing them in some way for these services, by partial exemption or otherwise. I do not say every hotel, but selected useful hotels, to which business tax exemption is insufficient recognition."

There is a great deal of common sense in the idea outlined by Mr. Dingman, and by putting off the matter too long we may place it out of our reach to select the kind of hotels to whom assistance should be given to continue running as a public necessity, for we do need some place to accommodate the visitors and travelling public every large city has to provide for. It is worth while giving serious consideration to this question.—Guelph Herald.

GOOD SENSE

DOMESTIC DEMOCRACY

Mr. Proudfoot, new Liberal leader for Centre Huron, makes the notable declaration that when conscription passes, the Government ought, by the same majority, to extend the life of parliament. The Drayton-Acworth plan of evading the evils of popular government by setting up self-perpetuating bureaus or governments is making headway. Mr. Proudfoot rests his declaration on the ground of an unusual situation. Once it is granted that the people are not to be trusted, in unusual situations, there will be no lack of unusual situations. High finance and big business, for example having in prospect a very unusual situation when the war ends, are preparing an indefinite exclusion of the people from government and the setting up of a national government wholly composed of men of large calibre, men of executive ability in the large sense and the best minds in business. The Globe, whose homilies about democracy are, doubtless, echoing in Mr. Proudfoot's soul, is like the preacher who locates sin in a far country. It ought to domesticate democracy and to teach that democracy without the virtues of Liberalism may become as odiously despotic as the worst autocrat.—Toronto Weekly Sun. (Ind.)

WELL PAID FOR HER CHICKENS

A Whitty woman living just west of Oshawa, got back at a chicken thief the other day in neat style. On getting up one morning she found all her hens gone. Looking around for traces she picked up a hundred-dollar roll of bills. A day later the thief called and offered to give her $50 and take the other $50 if she would keep her mouth shut. "No!" she answered. "You keep your mouth shut; I'm well paid for my hens."—Oshawa Reformer.

TRUE PATRIOTISM

The true patriot is not the orator who sways the multitude, the writer that excels in the prowess of pen. The true patriot is born of the individual idea of rendering some real service, and such a service calls for sacrifice. The definition of patriotism is this: "Love of one's country; the passion which moves a person to serve his country, either in defending it from invasion or protecting its rights, and maintaining its laws and institutions."—Silent Partner.

VETERANS OF THE SHOE GAME

Shoe & Leather Journal has Interest Stories of Two of Belleville's Veteran Business Men

The last issue of The Shoe & Leather Journal, of Toronto, contains the following interesting article in reference to two of Belleville's most honored and respected business men, who are "veterans of the shoe game":—

"Belleville can boast of two veterans in the shoe game, who were doing business when the scattered provinces of Canada were welded together in a homogeneous whole. Today these self same gentlemen are still going down to business on the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation. These pioneers are J. J. Haines and John McKeown. Both have been in business for fifty-three years, although Mr. Haines started some months before Mr. McKeown. The former is the head of the J. J. Haines Shoe Houses, who have stores in Belleville, Napanee, Trenton and Smith's Falls.

"In conversation with the Shoe & Leather Journal the other day, on conditions in 1867, he said: "Yes sir, there have been some changes in fifty years in the shoe business. Long boots were the order of the day then, and lots of them. Our shelves were crowded with them and how our arms ached on Saturday night in the fall when the head of the family had been to town and fitted all the children out. Everything came loose, no cartons, and for the ladies, prunella boots were the thing. These were tied together and packed in shelves and drawers, and were the correct thing to wear laced, gaiter and button style, plain, and foxed with leather.

No Credit Then, Says Mr. Haines "We did not give credit and were not troubled with appropriation till later years when styles multiplied our troubles. Appropriation and credit in and gave us all kinds of trouble, but lately we have got rid of both of these evils. We also did repairing years ago but this has been dropped in late years as it was a big expense and a source of all kinds of evils. We notice in our cash book of 1864 that we paid 50 cents a pair for half-soled calf boots, and from the same book we observe that cordwood had a prominent place at $3.50 per cord, and cutting same 75 cents. No coal in the good old days. "We had only silver money, which did not pass for face value and was always a loss in exchange. All merchants in the country petitioned the Government when we got our dollar bills, which was a great relief and saving. "At night big wooden shutters were put on our windows outside. We always used newspaper advertising from the beginning, and large fence and barn space as well, and still find it pays to keep our name before the public. We have always given good value on the dollar, and find it pays to give our customers the very best we can for the money. "Fifty years ago you could get a man's good boot for $3.50; that was about the limit. We dealt with Geo. Offord & Co., Kingston; Mul-larkey & Donovan, Montreal; O'Thobaneau, Montreal; Smythe & Edmondson, Montreal; and Brown & Childs, Montreal.

Mr. McKeown Closed Shop to Fight "The other veteran in the shoe trade ranks is John McKeown, of Belleville, who has been selling shoes in that city for fifty-three years. He was in a reminiscent mood when speaking of old times. "Yes," he said, "I closed up my shop for three weeks during the Fenian Raid in 1866, and did duty at Prescott. I was a member of the 15th Battalion at that time, and enlisted with several others. As to how many business men would close their shops now, and volunteer to go overseas, and fight I cannot say, but I know that I did it cheerfully in those anxious days. With us the protection and interest of our country came first and business afterwards.

Mr. McKeown is seventy-eight years of age, and is still active. He was born in Kingston, but it was in Picton that he got his education and learned shoe-making. Coming to Belleville in 1860, he served at the bench for four years, and then launched out for himself in 1864. For some time he conducted in connection with his shop, a flourishing custom shoe department, employing as many as fifteen men. But factory-made goods gradually came in, and more general use and displaced

THE MAN WHO CAN'T REVERT

(Special Correspondence to The Evening Telegram from Douglas S. Robertson.)

London, July 18.—England contains many dissatisfied officers today and no doubt many have arrived in Canada with grievances. These are the senior officers who, being there no vacancies for them, have under the now more stringently enforced regulations, either to revert to lieutenancies or go home. It does seem hard and it is hard, that captains, majors and lieutenant colonels who have recruited enthusiastically in Canada, and rallied thousands of men to the colors, should on arrival find themselves in such a plight. Many a colonel has told me his story. After gathering with what he deemed proper pride "one of the finest battalions in Canada" about him, spent much of his own hard cash on it, learned to know his men personally, and generally put his whole soul into the work, he is told that the battalion must be broken up for drafts, and stands broken-heartedly by as company after company is sent off to reinforce other regiments.

WILL ATTEND EXECUTIVE MEETING

Messrs. L. E. Allen and W. W. Anderson, members of the Executive of the Ontario Good Roads Association, will attend the Executive meeting in Toronto tomorrow. The program calls for a meeting at Toronto; Wednesday a tour over the proposed Hamilton-Toronto Highway and through Peel, Dufferin and Simcoe Counties; a visit to Long Branch aviation school; Ennasciere Horse Farm, owned by Mr. Herbert C. Cox, near Oakville; luncheon at the Village Inn, Oakville; a visit to Mayor Oster's Lakeview Farm, Bronte; dinner at the Caledonian Mountain Trout Club, Thursday; the Toronto-Hamilton Highway and tour through York, Peel and Simcoe; luncheon at Warrington; visits to Collingwood, Devil's Glen, and Camp Borden.

BIG DAY IN TRENTON

Plans are being laid for a big day in Trenton on Wednesday afternoon, August 8th, the Trenton civic holiday, under the auspices of the Trenton firemen.

There will be a baseball match between the Senior Ontarios, of this city and the Trenton Seniors. Geo. H. Goulding, world's champion walker, will engage in exhibition contests. There will also be a wrestling bout between Jean Paradise and Arthur Bernard, two of the best wrestlers in America. There will in addition be $200 in prizes for running races and other athletic features.

THE LATE PATRICK McAVOY

Patrick McAvoy, whose demise was noted in Saturday's issue, was one of the most respected and worthy yeomen of the Township of Thurlow. He had been ailing for about three weeks past from pneumonia and his death occurred on Friday last. The funeral was held Monday morning from the family residence to Stirling where service was held in the Catholic church and where interment took place. The late Mr. McAvoy was a native of the Township of Huntingdon, where he was born on the fifth concession, seventy-five years ago. There he spent his boyhood and after his marriage engaged in farming operations. For a number of years he resided on the Ryan farm in the third of Huntingdon, but removed to Thurlow in 1896 where he purchased a farm in the seventh concession. His farm was a model of skilled cultivation and he was known as one of the best farmers in his neighborhood. In addition to his sorrowing wife (neé Miss Green) he is survived by three sons and two daughters. Patrick, at home; Owen, of Bogart; Larry, of Edmonton; Mrs. Marjorie Fitzgerald, Edmonton; and Mrs. Michael Fitzgerald, of Maynooth. He is also survived by one brother, Owen, of the fifth of Huntingdon, and two sisters, Mrs. John Boyie, Springbrook, and Mrs. R. Green, Toronto. The late Mr. McAvoy was a member of the Roman Catholic Church and in politics a Liberal. Though a very faithful member of his church, he was broad-minded and liberal in his views. He was a most obliging neighbor, and in his home a most affectionate husband and father. The Ontario joins with a multitude of friends in extending sincere sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

W. A. TENNEY

William A. Tenney, of Point Anne, passed away on Monday at his home. He leaves a widow, one son, E. Tenney, of Point Anne, and one daughter, Mrs. Archibald Leach, of Guelph. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters. Prior to living in Point Anne, he resided in Deseronto. Lately he had been living a retired life. He was 62 years of age.

THE MAN WHO CAN'T REVERT

(Special Correspondence to The Evening Telegram from Douglas S. Robertson.)

London, July 18.—England contains many dissatisfied officers today and no doubt many have arrived in Canada with grievances. These are the senior officers who, being there no vacancies for them, have under the now more stringently enforced regulations, either to revert to lieutenancies or go home.

It does seem hard and it is hard, that captains, majors and lieutenant colonels who have recruited enthusiastically in Canada, and rallied thousands of men to the colors, should on arrival find themselves in such a plight. Many a colonel has told me his story. After gathering with what he deemed proper pride "one of the finest battalions in Canada" about him, spent much of his own hard cash on it, learned to know his men personally, and generally put his whole soul into the work, he is told that the battalion must be broken up for drafts, and stands broken-heartedly by as company after company is sent off to reinforce other regiments.

As for himself, falling some job at the base, there is only one finale. After a brief sojourn in England, perhaps a two-weeks' tour of the front, if he be lucky, and a taste of the real thing in the trenches, he must go home. A lieutenant-colonel cannot become a subaltern. With the majors it is scarcely less hard. A lieutenantancy is no small step down in pay, and for married men with families a positive financial barrier forbids the reversion. Majors, too, are generally on the elderly side for lieutenants' work. So they too, unless one of the rare base jobs comes their way, must, after an interval, take ship back to Canada.

For Captains there is less excuse. Most of them are youthful enough for subaltern duties, though in the case of captains with families the consequent reduction in pay is also a serious matter. "They put it up to me," declared a Toronto captain not long over with a battalion which has been broken up. "They told me I would have to revert to a lieutenantancy or go home. Well, I told them that I would revert if they would assure me that I would be sent to France at once, but they couldn't. Now, scores of lieutenants are waiting to go over, and some have been waiting for months. I guess I will go home. I can't afford the long reduction in pay." This captain is a young married man with a wife and two children. "Just picture me going, back to Canada, back to the town where I recruited a battalion, and facing the mothers whose sons they thought would be under me at the front! What am I to tell these people? What will they think of me for not going to France?" Such was the lament of one lieutenant-colonel I talked to. A major with a family, a school teacher who works hard for his living, is another example. Financial reasons make it impossible for this man to revert. And yet he hates to return to his home town and be upbraided as a slacker. These are examples. Many of these officers deserve sympathy. And yet surely at this late date they must have known what was likely to be their fate. For long past almost every new battalion has been broken up and its senior officers perforce stranded.

Heavy, as have been the officer casualties at times, the Canadian Army Corps has never lacked a surplus. Scores of lieutenants in English camps are anxious and ready to go to France. Besides, for some time past there has been, as indeed there should be, a large promotion from the ranks. Each battalion in France is supposed to send one private or non-com. every week to take a cadet's course in England. And, needless to say, these men who have fought it as rankers in the trenches have practical experience far beyond anything possessed by lieutenants who have never seen the front. The whole ubiquitous system of raising battalions after battalions in Canada with full complements of officers, in face of what was happening on their arrival in England, was the fault of the old regime at Ottawa. The reserve battalion system should have been adopted long ago. In the meantime the present Canadian military administration here is striving hard to remedy the evil results of the old mismanagement and steadily has been clearing England of the host of unattached officers who, through no fault of their own, have been costing the Canadian Government a tidy sum in pay.

Capadians should be considerate at least, of these older officers who are returning. Don't be too critical until you know the exact circumstances. To tell of colonels and even majors going to the front as privates is absurd, and people who argue thus don't know how nonsensical their contentions sound to those in the trenches.

Finally, remember that spry young fellows are what they want out in France as lieutenants. And who are better suited for the job than the scores of Canadian boys in France rising from the ranks every week to doh Sam Brownes?

SURPRISE AND PRESENTATION

The pupils and friends of S. S. No. 15, Thurlow, gathered at the home of Mr. D. L. Palmer on Thursday evening, June 28th, to bid their teacher, Miss Badgley, farewell. The first part of the evening was spent in games on the lawn. Then all were asked to come into the house. After the chairman, Mr. R. Reid, had called the company to order, Miss Helen McMullen read the following address:— To Miss Badgley, Dear Teacher and Friend,— Two years have quickly passed by since you came to take charge of our school. During this time we have become attached to you and all too soon we find we must part. We wish to tell you of our gratitude to you, although sometimes you may have thought we did not appreciate your patience, zeal and untiring efforts. We have been led to respect you for your real worth. You have been an example in many ways, in patriotism, a leader in Red Cross Work, a cheerful and generous contributor, quiet but unassuming and always on the side of right, holding up the highest ideals. We have always found you ready to share in our games and merriment while all the time we knew you had a great sorrow, known only to those who have dear ones in this awful "World Struggle." We sympathize with you and hope that your dear brother may be spared, and now as an expression of our love we present you with this necklace. Bessie McMullen Letitia Palmer Although surprised, Miss Badgley made a suitable reply, thanking them for the gift and for the many kindnesses shown her during her stay in the neighborhood. The rest of the evening was spent in music and conversation. "God be with you till we meet again" was sung just before she gathered dispersed.

INSANE MAN BROUGHT IN

A man was brought into the city from the country yesterday in charge of a constable and taken to the jail for the present. He was working on a farm and had the hallucination that he was going to be poisoned by his employer.

GRAND LODGE OF MASONS MEET

On Wednesday — Board of General Purposes Now in Session at Armouries

The 62nd annual communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario will open in Belleville on Wednesday morning. Mayor Ketcheson will present the welcome on behalf of the city, which is peculiarly fitting as he is the present district deputy. The three local lodges will each extend a welcome.

Yesterday at eleven-thirty the members of the Board of General Purposes met in the armories to prepare the business for Wednesday and Thursday. This committee is composed of over one hundred members. This is election year in Grand Lodge. The present Grand Master is Most Wor. Bro. S. A. Luke and he will likely be followed by M. W. Bro. W. H. Wardrope, K.C., of Hamilton. The Grand Treasurer, M. W. Bro. E. T. Malone, K.C., of Toronto, and Grand Secretary R. W. Bro. R. L. Gunn will be re-elected without opposition.

The Deputy Grand Master will likely be R. W. Bro. F. W. Harcourt, K.C., Toronto, a prominent Belleville mason who was in line for the position having, it is said, signified his intention of not being a candidate at this time.

Tomorrow afternoon the members of the Board of General Purposes will be entertained by the local brethren.

CAPT. TROUSDALE OF THE 80. BATT. WEDDED IN AUCKLAND

Captain A. C. Trousdale of the 80th Battalion, who is well and favorably known here, was recently married to Miss Clyssie Macklow of Auckland, Australia.

Five years ago Captain Trousdale was a member of the 6th regiment of Vancouver, B. C., and was chosen as a member of the Cadet Company of that unit which accompanied the British Columbia Cadets on their tour of Australia. He spent several months there and in New Zealand, and one day met a charming young lady, who was an interested observer of the military drill which was being given in the city of Auckland. At their first meeting neither dreamed of the events which were to follow, or of the striking change in the currents of their young lives which were then being accomplished. When the young cadet came back to his home, he remained but a short time in Vancouver. He came east and took up the management of his grandfather's farm near Sydneyham, following the latter's death, and remained till the war broke out. His early training as a cadet had awakened a love for military life, and he soon heard the call to arms. He enlisted with the 80th Battalion and was for a time located with that unit at Barrielfield and later in this city. He went overseas with that unit and was wounded several times, being finally invalided home, reaching here early last spring.

The excitement of the war and the trying experiences he had passed through had not caused him to forget the pretty maid whom he had left five years before in Auckland, and as soon as he had recovered from his wounds he left Vancouver and sailed for the Orient to claim her hand. After a short honeymoon in the vicinity of the bride's home, Captain and Mrs. Trousdale embarked on the Niagara for the long voyage to Canada, arriving at the home of his mother, Mrs. Laura Trousdale, Sydneyham on Wednesday last. Captain Trousdale will immediately take up his duties as O. C. of the 21st Reinforcing Draft and he and Mrs. Trousdale will take up residence in Kingston.

Give each of Your Children a War Savings Certificate.

LET them feel that they are Canada's partners — that they have each a definite share in the stern struggle — the certain victory — and the free and glorious future.

Encourage them to save and buy Certificates themselves! You'll be developing their patriotism, their thrift and their business sense — for Canadian War Savings Certificates offer absolute security and excellent interest return. More important still, you will be guaranteeing their future, for every dollar lent to Canada helps win the war.

For each $21.50, $43 or $86 lent now, the Government issues a Certificate, payable in three years, for $25, $50 or $100. This means that interest is added at over 5% per annum. Certificates may be purchased at any Bank or Money Order Post Office.

For the sake of Canada and your children, save and invest in War Savings Certificates.

GREECE ACTUALLY IN STATE OF WAR

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Uncertainty as to Greece's status in the world war was cleared away today with the receipt of official information that the Greek Government not only has severed relations with all four of the central powers, but is actually in a state of war with them.

Information has reached the state department that the Greek minister in Paris has notified the French Government Greece considers herself a full belligerent and will act accordingly. He said it was not necessary to issue a formal declaration of war, as the government feels it is bound by the declarations previously issued at Salonica by Premier Venizelos, who took with him to Athens all the responsibilities and commitments of the temporary Salonica government.

As a belligerent Greece is expected to lose no time in mobilizing her war resources and joining effectively in the common allied operations in the Balkans. The strength of the Venizelos army is placed at about 60,000 men and the remnant of the former regular army, while not over 30,000 now, has at times been mobilized to a total of 200,000 men, and is capable of reaching 300,000 if munitions are provided.

FOUR GERMAN VESSELS CAPTURED BY BRITISH DESTROYERS

LONDON, July 17.—The Admiralty announces the capture of four German steamers by British destroyers in the North Sea. The vessels are the Pellworm, Brietzig, Mariehorn and Heinz Blumberg.

BRITISH GAINED GROUND NEAR WIRNEMON.

LONDON, July 17.—The war office statement says the British troops gained ground during last night northwest of Wirnemon. In the Nieupert sector a British raiding party encountered a large party of the enemy in front of the German positions and drove them back to their lines after sharp fighting.

FRENCH VERY ACTIVE IN CHAMPAGNE

PARIS, July 17.—The French war office reports that in the Champagne the Germans made another serious attack but their assaulting waves were caught under the French fire and compelled to retire in disorder on the left bank of the Meuse. The positions occupied by the Germans on June 28 and 29 were retaken by the French in a spirited attack last night.

CIVIC WELCOME

A civic address of welcome was presented by Mayor H.F. Ketcheson, Ald. Woodley, Ald. Deacon and Ald. Nicholls.

To the Grand Master, Officers and Representatives of the Grand Lodge A.F. & A.M. in the Province of Ontario.

On behalf of our citizens I welcome you on this your third visit to the City of Belleville.

We are led to believe that your previous visits were pleasant and profitable else we should not have been honored by your presence at this time.

You are meeting at one of the most historic localities in this Province, on the shores of the Bay of Quinte. It was here that the United Empire Loyalists with their families, landed down the forests and builded their homes.

The seven years that have passed since your last meeting here have brought many changes. There has been a wonderful growth throughout our Province, and I am pleased to inform you that this City and its surrounding country has shared in this prosperity.

Most Worshipful Sir and Members of this Grand Lodge I welcome you on behalf of the City Council and our citizens, and desire to extend to you the freedom of the City.

Belleville on Historic Ground

"We are assembled in a locality alike renowned in Canadian National and Masonic history," said the Grand Master in his address after extending fraternal greetings to the delegates.

"In those days the settlement and stream nearby was called 'Meyers Creek,' deriving its name from one of the first settlers, Captain John Walden Meyers, who built a grist mill here in 1794, and is claimed as the first brick house in Upper Ca-

But what of Nemesis! Pity it is that the German people have not a 'Cromwell' to tear out the canker before it is too late. Nemesis will come, but unlikely in similar oppression and affliction as they have meted out to others—town for town, eye for an eye. Certainly not in wild shrieks of ill-treated women. The people of Great Britain still believe that there is a divinity that shapes our end. When peace terms are made, they will be just and clean so far as our people are concerned. The Germans in their passion for world power, forget that there is but 'One' who has world power, and the golden rule. 'In that day—not far distant—the German people will not have further use for the Kaiser and his lot will be among the many ex-kingdoms and ex-rulers of which just now there are so many. Nationally she will have to live amid neighbors, will be an object of distrust and loathing with every civilized nation.

The gallantry of the Canadians, some of them Masonic brethren at Courcellette, Givency, Ypres, and Vimy Ridge called forth the Grand Master's praise.

Need for Men

"It is unfortunate for our men at the front, some of whom need a well earned rest from war, and also for the reputation of young and fit men that have slacked under the excuse that there is no necessity, and for others hiding behind the subterfuge when Confederation was agreed upon, a pledge was given that certain inhabitants were to be absolved from having to take part in any war conducted outside of the Dominion.

In reply to the first class, one can only say that the situation is still serious, demanding that vast armies be kept on the field and that England and her Ally, France, have been denuded of men fit to keep the ranks up to full strength, and consequently Canada must supply the requirement in this regard.

The ladies met in Foxboro, July 17 and had a splendid packing—seventeen boxes. Several letters of acknowledgment had been received, telling how much these goods are appreciated.

THURLOW RED CROSS

The ladies met in Foxboro, July 17 and had a splendid packing—seventeen boxes. Several letters of acknowledgment had been received, telling how much these goods are appreciated.

It was decided to have a garden party on Dr. D. W. Faulkner's lawn, Wed., Aug. 8th. This will be given by the whole of Thurlow and should be the event of the summer. A splendid supper will be served—lots of icecream, Mr. Leroy Kenney, the comic entertainer of Toronto, will give the program; Foxboro band will furnish music; everyone will have a good time.

The Oak Lake Camp Meetings have been proceeding this week under some difficulties which are gradually being cleared away. Lighting arrangements by electricity are now completed and other details are well in hand.

Substantial Increases

"As the reports will show" declared the Grand Master in his concluding remarks, "we have made substantial increase in membership and gained financially. Our progress however is not completely covered by these, for in addition Masonry in this province is more and more winning its way to the hearts of men who are not prejudiced by false reasoning and sectarian bigotry.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BRIDGE STREET PAVEMENT

Editor Ontario.

At the last meeting of the City Council I opposed the passing of the By-law for the pavement and it may be of interest to the public to know why. I was informed by the City Clerk that the City had no plans or specifications of this work and I believe this to be the case. If the members of the City Council were spending their own money they could do as they liked with it. Every man of experience when constructing important work procures plans and specifications. Aldermen are trustees for the Public and it is more important on that account to adopt usual prudence in making large expenditures of Public money. Plans and specifications prevent disputes and enable aldermen to give an intelligent vote and protect the already heavily burdened taxpayer.

Mayor Ketcheson had the audacity at the last meeting of the Council to say that if the Council did not pass the by-law without these necessary plans and specifications it would not be passed at all while he was Mayor. Is our Mayor to defy the people just because they don't approve his arbitrary methods right off the bat?

If the Public Works Department of the City Council cannot prepare the necessary plans and specifications I believe so necessary, and he Council objects to the expense, I will procure same at my own expense.

INFORMATIONS AGAINST BOYS

Charges in Railway Cases Remains Until Saturday July 21st

Shortly after noon on Saturday, Roy Sanford and Frank Wilson were each charged with eight alleged offences on the C. N. O. R. on June 19th and the morning of the 20th, and also on June 29th, under Section 282, 283, 517, 518, of the Criminal Code. A fifteen year old boy is also held.

The charges were as follows: Under Sect. 282.—"did unlawfully with intent to injure or endanger the safety of the person or persons travelling or being on the Canadian Northern Railway, put upon said Railway stones or other matter or thing or turn, move or divert a point belonging to said Railway or hide or remove a signal or light from the same, contrary to Section 282 of the Criminal Code.

Under Sect. 283.—"putting upon the Canadian Northern Railway stones or other matter or thing or turning, moving or diverting a point belonging to said Railway or hiding or removing a signal or light upon said Railway, endanger or cause to be endangered the safety of a person or persons conveyed or being in or upon said Railway, or did aid or assist therein contrary to section 283 of the Criminal Code.

Under Sect. 517.—"In a manner likely to cause damage to valuable property, place an obstruction upon the Canadian Northern Railway or interfere without authority and did the same to cause such damage, contrary to section 517 of the Criminal Code.

Under Sect. 518.—"did unlawfully obstruct or interrupt or cause to be obstructed or interrupted the free use of the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway or some part thereof at or near Thurlow, contrary to section 518 of the Criminal Code.

Four charges for similar offences on the Canadian Pacific Railway were read.

Mr. Peter White, K. C., for the C. N. O. R., asked why the youths should not plead.

Magistrate Mason said as far as he was concerned, he would not ask them to plead. It seemed a case that should not be tried summarily.

Mr. Mikel, K. C., for the youths, asked why there was delay in proceeding with the case.

Crown Attorney Carnes said there was no desire to delay, but a mass of evidence had to be analysed.

The magistrate said he did not propose to entertain an application for bail. The cases were enlarged to come up on Saturday July 21st.

SPLENDID SUMMER TRAVEL TO ALASKA

Montreal, July 14th.—Grand Trunk Pacific officials report there is every indication of excellent summer travel through Canada, particularly from points in the United States to the North Pacific Coast and Alaska. A large number of tourists are now returning from the trip to the most northerly point on the Yukon River, where on June 21st, the mid-night sun shone in all its glory. In addition to travel attracted by the scenic marvels of the northland there is an increased movement of traffic of all kinds to the new copper and gold districts in the Yukon and Alaska and to the many additional salmon canneries which have been established, while the work on the United States Government Railway has also served to maintain heavy traffic movements.

Local Automobile Turned Turtle at Port Hope—Car Smashed

A Belleville automobile party met with a very serious accident yesterday afternoon near Port Hope and as a result Miss Gertrude Scriven, daughter of Mr. James Scriven of the Standard Bank apartments, Belleville, is lying in Port Hope Hospital in a precarious state.

Mr. Joseph Longden, George St., had driven to Toronto with a party of Belleville residents, Mr. George Kelley, Miss Ethel Ling, trained nurse, and Evelyn Longden, a little girl. Returning from Toronto, they had with them, Miss Gertrude Scriven of 9 Balesy Street, Toronto. When their car was on the outskirts of Port Hope, they met with another machine and in allowing space for it to pass, the Belleville auto turned turtle. Everyone in the party was out and bruised except Evelyn Longden, Gertrude Scriven was found in an unconscious condition and was taken to the Port Hope hospital. She is believed to be suffering with a fracture of the base of the skull.

This morning at ten o'clock, she was still unconscious, according to word which her father received. Mrs. Scriven has gone to attend at her daughter's bedside.

Miss Ling suffered a sprained wrist.

The auto was a Buick, recently purchased by Mr. Longden. It was badly wrecked.

FINED $200. AND COSTS

Before Magistrate Mason on Saturday, Mr. Bruce Shore of this city, was fined $200. and costs for having intoxicating liquor in a place other than his dwelling. He had pleaded guilty, previously, to the charge.

WHAT MRS. H. K. HEWER SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

They Greatly Benefitted Herself and Her Little Girl and Her Husband says They Are the Best Medicine He Ever Took.

Washington, Alberta, July 18th.—Further evidence that Dodd's have no equal as a family medicine is furnished by Mrs. H. K. Hewer, wife of a well-known settler living near here. Mrs. Hewer, her husband and little girl, were all suffering from sore back and kidney troubles. Dodd's Kidney Pills proved to be the remedy they all needed.

"My husband says Dodd's Kidney Pills have done him more good than any other medicine he has ever used." Mrs. Hewer states "I myself, was suffering greatly with my kidneys and I feel ever so much better since using Dodd's Kidney Pills. My little girl, eleven years old, was also suffering from sore back, and I gave them to her with splendid results." Dodd's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble. They are no cure-all, but they do cure sick kidneys, no matter where they are found or of how long standing the case is. Ask your neighbors about them.

OBSEQUIES OF LATE JAMES C. BALS

The funeral of the late James C. Bals took place on Saturday afternoon, an impressive service being conducted by Rev. Dr. Baker, assisted by Rev. Dr. Scott, at the residence, Commercial Street. A large attendance of citizens and many beautiful floral offerings bore testimony to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Bals has been held by the public. A hymn composed by the deceased, was rendered by a choir and musicians—Prof. Hunt, Miss H. Hunt, Miss Potter, Mrs. Ray and Miss Ketcheson. Rev. Dr. Scott officiated at the burial rites in Belleville Cemetery. The bearers were Rev. Dr. Blagrove, Prof. D. R. Coleman, Prof. Geo. F. Stewart, William Nurse, Henry B. Hunt and T. Blackburn.

HOTELS AND "TEMPERANCE" DRINKS.

The Ontario has been greatly surprised to learn of the sweeping nature of the "monopoly" that the promoters of the bylaw proposed, at Monday night's council meeting, to grant to our standard hotels. If this bylaw, as it stood, had been passed, it would be illegal for ice-cream parlors, confectionary stores or any other places of business in the city to sell soda-water, ginger ale or even lemonade or buttermilk, and the standard hotels would have the exclusive right to deal in these drinks. Surely any such proposal comes very near to the height of absurdity.

A glance at the following clause will show how unlimited in its nature was the restriction that those backing the bylaw had planned.—"The Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville enacts as follows: That the keepers of Standard Hotels shall have the exclusive right of re-selling in the municipality of the City of Belleville any and all other temperance beverages, manufactured from ingredients other than malt, but no such products or beverages shall contain more than two and one-half per cent. of proof spirits."

Several of our merchants have spent many hundreds of dollars in fitting up attractive soda-water fountains. Surely there can be no reasonable argument in favor of depriving them of a privilege that has been enjoyed without limitation from time immemorial.

Had the framers of the bylaw restricted their efforts to confining to Standard Hotels the sale of malted liquors and those with an alcoholic content their case would have been much stronger. In fact we would heartily favor such a proposal.

We realize there is much force in Ald. Platt's contention that this would be "class legislation." There is no getting away from the fact that class privilege is involved in any attempt to pass monopolistic laws, and all special privileges granted in this way tend to produce special evils.

But, on the other hand, we consider that there is a good case to be made out in favor of withdrawing from general sale the so-called "temperance" drinks that have a malt base or that contain proof spirits.

The effect of these liquors upon the drinker is, as yet, imperfectly understood. It is already known that they cause occasional drunkenness and create an appetite for themselves. This is especially true of immature boys. There will, we believe, be provincial legislation placing an age-limit for the buyers of liquors of this class. That they should at present be exposed for general and unrestricted sale to all and sundry and by all and sundry, we think is unwise.

Aside from this, our Standard Hotels are perhaps deserving of some special consideration. Good hotels mean much to a city. The fine hostelry maintained by Mr. Jenkins is undoubtedly one of the best advertising features that is possessed by this city. It is in the public interest that good, clean, attractive hotels be maintained.

Hotels do much for the public besides providing travellers with meals and sleeping accommodation. They are general meeting-places for business and social appointments and for other purposes. They furnish public lavatories, rest-rooms and other services that afford a basis for a limited amount of special public recognition. As long as those services are freely placed at the disposal of the public, and not restricted to "guests only," the public very properly might do something in return.

The way of the hotel-men, since September 16, last, has not been smooth. Few of them have been making money. A large number have lost heavily and been compelled to close down. It is all very well to say this is due to lack of business efficiency but we cannot get away from the fact that other complications, aside from prohibition, have combined to make their position one of extraordinary difficulty. The removal of the large returns from the barroom has not been the only source of trouble. The prices of food and of house-furnishings, as well as wages, have risen to an unprecedented height. The hotelkeeper on the other hand is the victim of fixed values,

That is to say he cannot change the prices of meals and of rooms to correspond with the fluctuations in the prices of commodities. He therefore suffers and often loses.

In view of these facts and considerations, we can see a reasonable justification for the modest special privilege of the exclusive right of retailing malted and alcoholic temperance beverages. But to extend this monopoly to "all other temperance beverages" is a proposal so ridiculous that the wonder is that it could have been seriously entertained by five out of six of the members present at Monday night's council meeting.

THE WHEAT CYCLE OF THE WORLD.

We hear a good deal about the wheat crop of the Canadian and American West, but few of us realize that wheat is being garnered every month in the year, in the course of an impressive sweep of days and parallels of latitude. In an interesting article on this subject in the Chicago Herald, it is pointed out that the annual cycle begins in January with the wheat harvest in Argentina, New Zealand, Chile and Australia. In February and March come the wheat harvest of Upper Egypt and India, and in April those of Lower Egypt, Syria, Cyprus, Persia, Asia Minor, Mexico and Cuba. Not only Texas, but Algeria, Central Asia, China, Japan and Morocco harvest their wheat in May. In June Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain, Portugal and Southern France as well as the south central tier of States in America advertise for harvest hands.

In July States in the latitude of Nebraska, and also Rumania, Bulgaria, Austria, Hungary, Southern Russia, Germany, Switzerland and Southern England are busy with their harvest. August is perhaps the most important month of all to the grain, for it is then that Western Canada, Northern Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Poland and Central Russia gather the king of crops. In September and October are the harvests of Scotland, Sweden, Norway and Northern Russia. November is the harvest month of Peru and South Africa. Burma and New South Wales harvest in December.

A study of this wheat calendar emphasizes the importance of transportation. The crops of the whole world never have failed yet in any one year, and they possibly never will fail. But they do fail in localities and even in entire countries. Formerly this meant local famines, but now famine can only come as a result of lack of transportation. That is the kind of famine Germany is hoping to create now by the destruction of the means of transportation.

If it is true that the German crops are this year being destroyed by an unprecedented drought, and if it should also happen that Germany destroys such a large proportion of the world's tonnage that it becomes physically impossible to meet the world's needs, then a famine in Germany may result in appalling consequences to Germany. Peace then would bring but little relief, for the vessels would not exist to meet the German needs.

PLACING THE BLAME

Every now and then some discussion springs up as to whether the German people as a whole should be held accountable for bringing on the war and conducting it in the Hun manner, or whether only the militarist clique, headed by the kaiser and his son, ought to be blamed. In this connection, interest attaches to the speech of Wolfgang Heine, member of the Reichstag, delivered before a Social-Democratic meeting in Berlin recently. After declaring that Wilhelmstrasse was afraid to offer peace terms consistent with the nation's desire, because of some newspaper opposition and the Prussian tradition which gives vastly more importance to the words of generals than to those of other people, Heine says:

"But since the belligerent Governments are now so involved in the cul-de-sac that it is unlikely that they will come together to talk peace, it only remains for the people themselves to raise their voices for peace and to take in hand the task of removing the influence of those people whose mischievous activity is largely blamable for the war; whose avowed policy of domination is wrongly regarded abroad as the aim of the German people, and to whom must be ascribed the fact that Germany is hated by the entire world."

This is placing the blame with a vengeance, and facing the fact that Germany is universally hated, a truth that is not generally admitted by the Teutons. Heine's is, perhaps, a voice crying in the wilderness, but sooner or later it will make its impression on the nation. More and more the people are becoming receptive to such thoughts as Heine is flinging broadcast, and are asking why they should continue the unequal struggle, into which they have been treacherously led. They are beginning to take the statements of military authorities with the proverbial grain of salt. When the German nation does realize how vilely it has behaved, what will be the result? On the answer to this question largely depends the accountability. If the people turn on their militarist leaders and remove them, sue for such peace as the Allies will grant, and admit their culpability, they may be forgiven. If they insist on continuing along present lines they must accept equal responsibility with the kaiser, crown prince, von Tirpitz and Hindenburg.

IMPORTS DECREASING.

The value of imports into Canada is increasing steadily, in spite of the war, the total for the eleven months ending with February of this year being $742,995,017, an increase of $292,246,261, or 66.7 per cent. over that of the corresponding period ending February, 1916. It is also true that the value of exports is increasing, the total for the eleven months ending February of this year being $1,052,686,059, or an increase over 1916 of $362,966,167, or 52.6 per cent, but this latter fact is largely accounted for by the huge quantities of munitions being shipped to Europe.

Statistics for the last year indicate that money is "no means scarce" in the Dominion, and that economy has not taken a very serious hold on the people, as luxuries are being brought in more plentifully than ever. A few figures will suffice to illustrate this: In the year 1915, $1,774,237 worth of automobiles were imported, while in 1917 the value rose to $6,201,641; feathers, etc., for decoration of hats rose from $245,430 in 1916 to $438,010; toys and dolls, although the German trade was shut off, and Canada was supposed to be supplying herself rose from $599,865 to $872,406; jewelry, too, jumped from $604,154, to $871,511. It might also be noted that Canadians paid for imported boots and shoes $92,434 in 1916, and $163,323 in the last year.

Two notable exceptions there are from this list of increases. Ales, beers, etc., dropped from $676,415 in 1915 to $133,394 in 1917, and spirits and wines from $3,535,074 to $3,511,599. Buying of war bonds, subscribing to patriotic causes and paying increased prices do not seem, as yet, to have strained the national purse very seriously. It is impossible to calculate accurately how much money has been foolishly squandered on imported luxuries, but it is certain that if it had all been saved Canada would now be wealthier by a great many millions.

THE WAR AND INDIA

There can be little doubt that great developments are brewing in the life of India as a consequence of the war. As the women of Great Britain have won the suffrage in recognition of their patriotic efforts, so Hindoos expect that the signal loyalty of India, its cheerful sacrifices in men and money, will be rewarded by some great political boon after the war.

Whereas formerly an argument against Indian self-government was that the people had not the political intelligence to look after themselves, the very fact that the masses of the country have shown the good sense to realize the advantages of British rule, to spurn the intrigues of German agents, to understand the peril to their liberties in the oriental designs of Germany or in a possible Teutonic victory, and to make supreme sacrifices in support of British democracy, goes to prove that a people so sound and sensible must be intrusted with a considerable share in the shaping of their political courses. Hindoos are as opposed as we are, or more so, to militarism. Some people in Canada are less alive to the German peril than are millions of Hindoos. One Indian writer has published a book, in which he finds the root cause of the war in a mad perversion by the Huns of Darwin's principle of "the survival of the fittest," in the Hun conception of man as a material mechanism or animal—a pretty shrewd analysis of the matter.

As for the other argument against the enfranchisement of India, that it would thanklessly fall off from British connection and become more a foe than a friend, again the loyal comradeship of the Indian troops with our own is proof of India's heart of gold. We must trust them now. They are our brothers-in-arms and in democratic aspiration. The exquisite Indian poetess, Sarojini Naidu, has written a poem in which India, the speaker, concludes as follows, addressing the Occident: "When the terror and tumult of hate shall cease,
And life be refashioned on anvils of peace,
And your love shall offer memorial thanks
To the comrades who fought in your dauntless ranks,
And you honor the deeds of the deathless ones,
Remember the blood of my martyred sons!"

Not only the men of India are giving their blood for the Empire, but the women are as busy as elsewhere in their gentle tasks of knitting and sewing and nursing for their heroes.

Already much progress has been made towards the political emancipation of the Indian peoples. Gradually more influence has been accorded to their representatives in the management of affairs, both in the general administration and in local government. Some of the ruling princes have in their own dominions granted representative self-government, and every year constitutional government extends. One of the maharajahs speaking recently in England urged that there should soon be established at least some kind of regular imperial conference on Anglo-Indian concerns, in which British and Hindoo representatives may co-operate. It has been announced that a British parliamentary commission may shortly be sent to India to look into questions of reform and progress.

Many will be anxious as to the effect of the war upon Christian missions in India. It seems that for one thing the people are more interested to buy and read books and papers on the war than the literature of Christian religion. Some think the war the sign of Christianity's collapse, and propose the Indian ideals of meekness, altruism and cosmopolitan humanitarianism in its place. Yet information spreads and the opinion gains ground that Germany is really a nationalist, materialistic, pagan power attacking the culture of Christianity, its anti-militarism, protection of the weak, and world-wide humanity. Among the keen-witted people of India the Christian religion will suffer no more injury from the war than among ourselves. Rather, as with us, it will appear more clearly what Christianity truly is.

That report of a submarine off the Atlantic coast in Virginia is likely to be a fish story.

It is to be hoped that Russia will be favored with warm weather for the "naked parade" near Odessa.

Better get into training by sampling coarser breadstuffs. White bread is soon going to be a luxury in Canada.

It will require more than official despatches to the Spanish ambassador in Washington to persuade the world that the situation in Spain is normal.

The premier of New South Wales must have been nearer the front than some who have visited France, otherwise he would not have been bruised by a German shell.

Writing of his experiences in Germany, one man says: The law allows you to buy all the fish you want. The only real trouble about it is that there is none to be bought.

It is not strange that the military expert of the Frankfurter Zeitung should have concluded that the German submarine campaign cannot force a decision; the remarkable thing is that the censor permitted the publication of that opinion.

REAL COOKING

My maw she cooked no table dotes or ally carts or such,
And when it come to throwin' style, she wasn't very nuch.
There wasn't no French names hooked onto vittles she would cook,
She got 'em from experience, not from a furrin book.

She didn't have no casseroles, like they have now in grills,
No caviar, no curried things, no mutton chops in frills,
Or other high-toned rig-ma-jigs—just some vittles, that was all,
But she could cook the biscuits that, by jing, would never fall.

Her pie crust, gosh, 'twould simply melt right in a feller's mouth,
Her johnnycake seemed like it came right from the sunny south;
Her crullees made a feller sit right up and call for more,
Her bread was one thing upon which she set a lot of store.

No, friends, she wasn't very long on what they now call style,
But she could surely cook the stuff that made a feller smile.
There wasn't no dyspepsy 'round our place, or gouty feet,
For she cooked up the kind of food that's really meant to eat.

CAMPBELLFORD

Embury—Died in Campbellford on Tuesday, July 10th, Theodore Embury, aged 56 years.

Pte. Chas. Nicholle, who was badly wounded last June, arrived home on Saturday of last week. He lost an eye and also suffers from an injured ankle. Pte. Nicholle enlisted in Peterboro in April, 1915, with the 39th Battalion, and has been in a hospital in England since receiving his wounds last summer. Campbellford is proud to welcome home Pte. Nicholle, who has so nobly "done his bit."

Mrs. C. Nanarrow left last week for Montreal where she will meet her son, Lieut. Frank Nanarrow, who has arrived in Canada. Lieut. Nanarrow's many friends will be pleased to see him safely home again and all will hope that he may speedily recover from his injuries.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tucker on Wednesday, July 11th, when their daughter, Elizabeth C., was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest E. Cochran, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cochran of town, the Rev. C. F. McIntosh officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eva, and Mr. Lee Wilkinson, cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

The newly married couple left shortly after the ceremony for an extended motor trip.

On Friday evening fire was discovered in the Trent Valley woolen mill, but the automatic sprinklers had it well under control when the brigade arrived.

Mr. Harry Smith, who has been attending the University of Michigan for the last two years, has been successful in taking his Pharmacy degree with honors.—News.

FRANKFORD'S GREATEST ORANGE CELEBRATION

Thousands of Visitors in the Village for the Twelfth—Lodges in the Walk—Addresses by Prominent Orangemen—Ireland and Home Rule—Quebec and Conscription—Plea for Economy

The Battle of the Boyne was fought and won again yesterday at Frankford in the biggest Orange celebration the village has ever had. Four thousand visitors swelled the population of the Trent River village to overflowing and the streets were jammed. Twenty-five or more Orange Lodges were in the walk and many others were represented by small delegations.

"The Glorious Twelfth" was a gala day for Frankford. The village had put on all its finery and decorations for the anniversary of the Boyne. A large evergreen arch stood at the corner of the main streets near the river bridge, while banners with such words as "No Surrender," and "God Save our King" were flung across the streets. Refreshment booths, restaurants and hotels plied a very successful trade. Patriotic workers were active collecting for the wounded soldiers and selling tags. Dinners were served at the fair grounds and at the Anglican church by the Orange celebration committee and thousands were fed sumptuously.

A Riot of Color

"The Twelfth" always gives occasion for a gorgeous riot of color display. Ribbons of orange were hung on every imaginable place in honor of the Prince of Orange. The Orangemen's wives, daughters, and sweethearts needless to say wore ribbons in bunches and orange lilies, although these were rather less plentiful than usual owing to the backwardness of the season (but King William's followers could not wait for them.) Prancing white horses proud in their yellow and red caparisons and brilliant saddle cloths, carried directors of ceremonies who made the sun almost green with envy as he looked down from his celestial course in the heavens. King Willie's garments at the Boyne could not have been any more dazzling than those worn by the Hastings lodge marshals. Plumes were everywhere blowing in the breeze. All had been dolled up with wondrous care and the effect was instantaneous as these brilliantly-clad individuals came in view. The battle was won.

The Sun Shone

The weather was about all that could be desired. Old Sol had got tired out staying in his tent sulking for nearly a week. At seven o'clock he looked out of his cloud tent in the heavens and saw the Orangemen gathering in all parts of the county and endangering his hold on the human race, and out of rivalry he decided to give himself to celebrate the Boyne. Just to recall to Orangemen's minds that there was water in the Boyne and some of the heroes got splashed in the chase after King Jimmy. Sol called up Jupiter Pluvius who upset a little water out of the Dipper. But about one o'clock the dipper ran dry, and a little later the sun came out to join in the walk.

Gathering of Orangemen

Belleville Orangemen, Trenton brethren, and others from Northumberland hastened early to the demonstration. They were met at the depot by the Frankford Ironsides who escorted them down town. At 11.20 the northern lodges arrived by train in great numbers, while many came in by wagons. The drumbeats were heard coming over the hills and the fife were turning out patriotic music. Hundreds of automobiles brought in celebrants from all points of the compass.

Belleville's delegation was noted for the appearance of an Orangeman who has been in the order for 42 years—Bro. W. David Ketcheson. His son beat the drum in the Frankford band and his grandson took part in the walk.

The "process" organized at the fair grounds at 1.30, the marshal of the parade was District Director Ernest Hubble of District No. 1. Following is the order of parade:

Frankford's Biggest Crowd

Rev. Bro. B. F. Byers, M.A., D.D., of Stirling, who had much to do with the organization of the celebration, presided at the opening of the speech-making. After he had called to the platform before the grand stand well known Orangemen from this county and Northumberland, and after the band had played the National Anthem, he commented upon the success of the proceedings. "I don't suppose Frankford has had a celebration with as many in attendance. There have been demonstrations here in the past but they were nothing like today's event. Judging from the proceedings, I feel that every Orangeman in Frankford and the vicinity will be delighted. One thing it shows the people—the Orangemen around Frankford are by no means dead." (Cheers.)

Orange Order Pre-Eminent

Bro. Arthur Jones, Manager of Molson's Bank, Belleville, at this juncture took the chairmanship as Rev. Mr. Byers was compelled to leave to attend to pressing duties. No words that Mr. Jones offered were too good. "I must congratulate Frankford on the splendid crowd which I see here. I want to tell you all that the Orange Order is the supreme order of this country. It stands head and shoulders above all others." (Cheers.)

A thoughtful address on "Freedom" was delivered by Rev. Bro. Dr. B. C. Blagraye, rector of Christ Church, Belleville. He was made a member of the Orange Order in Rawdon, not far from Frankford, and perhaps his presence among many of his old friends lent him the inspiration. In the course of his remarks he touched on the Irish and French Canadian crises and on conscription, showing how even by surrendering our liberty temporarily for the sake of fighting for that very liberty, we may maintain our freedom and preserve Quebec for her own sake and for Canada's.

Freedom Must Be Defended

"We are here to commemorate and demonstrate the fact," said the clergyman, "that freedom has always to be defended. The fight for freedom is as old as the history of the race. No matter how far you go back, you cannot find a time when man did not fight for national freedom. Sometimes it looks as if the time will never come when freedom can be maintained without sacrifice of blood and treasure. The Orange Order demonstrates the principles which have been instrumental in maintaining liberty. As long as the Orange Order exists, it must stand pre-eminently for this thing, that though ages have progressed, yet we have not arrived at the time when freedom is secure without sacrifice. A state secures its own freedom when it is able to defend its existence against another's aggression. Today there is a state or a congeries of states menacing liberty. Freedom has to be defended against aggression. If the German forces were to gain more territory, the freedom of the world would be in jeopardy. We know that under German rule there is no freedom or liberty. If the time ever came when we were fighting against a state even with democratic principles, we could still justify ourselves in fighting for the development of our own national genius and the progress of the world. But we are fighting a plutocracy and how much more we are justified, as under German authority we should lose our liberty.

"There is another liberty—international. That is political freedom, more or less in danger of being lost sight of. There are always men ready to dominate affairs. There never will be a time when there will be absolute freedom from the politically ambitious.

"How is a great state to preserve liberty when there is diversity in race and interests? The answer is: Free communities must be given such a liberty as to develop their own inherent genius so far as is consistent with the greater state. If Ireland wants Home Rule as we have it in Canada, no freeman surely will object. But when sections do not agree as to whether they want Home Rule, it is not right to suppress the freedom of the minority and grant Home Rule."

The Problem of Quebec

"Quebec is agitating for independence of the federal government, and to establish a republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence. So we on the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation face the problem of the demands of the smaller communities. If the majority of Quebec favored secession from confederation, yet the provincial interests must be curtailed for the sake of the welfare of the Dominion."

Conscription

"There can never be absolute freedom as long as we have to live with one another. For instance, conscription. Some say, as in Quebec, that we as individuals are entitled to decide what we will do with our lives, if not with our property. There is a difference between conscription in Canada and the United States and that in Germany. The latter demands from everyone a dominating overlordship that he give himself to the state. Our idea of conscription is surrendering one's freedom for the present to fight for and maintain that very liberty. When a democratic state brings in conscription, it is the people, not an overlordship, that gives the call. The people say 'Don't draft us and then exploit us, but let us serve our country.'"

The Church and Recruiting

"We must not forget that many Roman Catholics lie dead in France. I have nothing to say against Catholics individually, but I do say that the Roman Church has not encouraged recruiting. There is no place where Romanism is so entrenched in all its bigotry and ignorance as in Quebec. We don't propose to shed the best in us for others, however just the cause. If the Government of Canada is strong enough, if it is courageous enough to put conscription in force, it will save Canada. It will link Quebec and the rest of Canada together."

His First Orange Walk

Yesterday was the first time Mr. Robert J. Graham, of Belleville, had had the opportunity of attending an Orange celebration since becoming a member of the Order, he said yesterday when called upon to speak. "I am proud to be with you and proud to wear the colors of an Orangeman." (Cheers.) Probably all were aware of the aggressiveness of the Roman Catholic Church. It seemed necessary to him that the Protestants should band together for their protection. "If there are any present who are not Orangemen it is your duty to your Maker, your country and your posterity to join with us," was the way in which he placed the situation.

Orangemen Helped Him to Get Out of Germany

"I know something of Germany and the Germans. I was fortunate enough to leave Germany by the last train after war was declared by which British subjects could escape. If it had not been for the courtesy of a brother Orangeman, I would be a prisoner of Germany today.

"Kaiserism is soon going to be a thing of the past. The revolution in Russia shows this: Russia's liberty has come through this war. While it has many evils, war has also its benefits. Many of our Orange brethren are over there giving their lives for us. All credit to those who volunteered to go. But the time has come when we should face the situation like men and go in to win this war. There is no land that compares with Canada in resources. There is a great future if we develop what God has given us. It is necessary to see that the education of our Protestant children is carefully looked after. If it is not, the time may come again when blood may be shed for this very cause."

Mr. Graham urged citizens to join the Orange Order and closed his address by remarking—"We are bound to lick these Germans; we've got to do it if it takes the last dollar and the last drop of blood."

Boyne Will Ever Be Commemorated

"Time will never be when it will not be necessary to commemorate the Battle of the Boyne. There is need of energy today, as then," declared Grand Treasurer W. C. Reid, of Belleville, who followed Mr. Graham. To the parent, he said: "Father, there is no place so safe for your boy as the Orange Lodge. It may save a lot of trouble some day perhaps. There was a time when Orangism was not understood. But now we recognize that we are fighting for liberty—for our opponents as well as for ourselves." He was delighted with the Frankford celebration.

Quite a Young Orangeman

"I am an Orangeman less than a month old. I am quite an infant," declared Venerable Archdeacon Beamish, of St. Thomas' Church, Belleville. "You may think I was a long time in joining but I belong to a race that had to leave France a couple of hundred years ago and live in the south of Ireland, so that if I did not join your order long ago, I was still brought up in your principles." Archdeacon Beamish was prepared for the teachings of the order, as he found therein his deepest convictions re-echoed. The Order has always stood for freedom. England has been a word for liberty. And we will maintain it.

The Root of the Trouble

"I know what is wrong with Ireland. The Irish of both religions are all right if left alone, but the one is not free. The same is true in the case of the French Canadian, whose sense of freedom, responsibility and right have been spoiled by church dominance. This is the organization we have to fear. It is now working, since it sees the turn affairs are taking, for peace through Austria and Bavaria, but we need not hope for help from that source. We must see that our leaders enforce conscription and prosecute the war without letting any influence work against it. Quebec must fall into line. She is a part of our confederation. We must hold fast for unity, giving all to understand that we are British subjects and that we will prosecute the war."

Archdeacon Beamish closed by saying that the demonstration was one that would be remembered in Frankford and the community for years to come.

Conserved Food Supply

Samuel Nesbitt, M.P.P. for East Northumberland, in a short speech emphasized the need of the country conserving all its resources, particularly its food. He had just covered 3,500 miles in the States and Canada and says the crops are bad, the best being between Toronto and Belleville. Time may bring a serious condition, if rigid economy is not practised.

This finished the speaking and the gathering dispersed after the National Anthem.

Other Celebrations

Successful Orange picnics were held yesterday at Ivanhoe and Thomasburg.

The "Prentice Boys and True Blues" of Belleville went to Napanee yesterday to the county demonstration. Twenty-seven lodges were in line. Rev. R. W. Spencer was chairman of the afternoon meeting. Grand Secretary F. M. Clarke, of Belleville was one of the speakers.

Shannonville L.O.L. 242 and Mohawk No. 29 gathered at Napanee.

LATE MRS. WESTON

The remains of the late Mrs. Weston, who died in Vancouver on April 17th, will be brought to Belleville, arriving here on Monday next. The delay was caused by the absence of her only son in active service in the motor transport at Gibraltar, as his friends desired his wishes as to the place of interment respected. Mrs. Weston was a daughter of the late James Moxam.

resident of Trenton and the family are well known here. The evidence disclosed that sometime after the marriage and after two children were born trouble arose between the parties resulting in a separation by the terms of which the husband paid the wife $1200 per year.

The husband later became suspicious of the wife's conduct and employed a number of detectives and made an application for divorce to the Senate based on the circumstantial evidence gathered by the detectives. The wife denied all charges, produced evidence for the purpose of explaining the circumstances relied on in her husband's evidence and alleged cruelty on the part of the husband. A large number of witnesses were examined from Toronto Muskoka and other places including some professional witnesses after which the Senate Committee adjourned to go over it.

THE STORE FOR STYLE PREFER EMPTY BUILDINGS OR EMPTY PENITENTIARIES?

Rev. Billy Sunday Say, if the man that drinks the whiskey goes to hell, the man that votes for the saloon that sold the whiskey to him will go to hell.

Some fellow says, "Drive the saloon out and the buildings will be empty." Which would you rather have, empty buildings or empty jails, penitentiaries and insane asylums?

"And what do you make?" "We make boards out of logs." "Is the finished product worth more than the raw material?" "Yes."

"What kind of a mill are you?" "A grist mill." "What do you make?" "Flour and meal out of wheat and corn."

"What kind of a mill are you?" "A paper mill." "What do you make paper out of?" "Straw and rags."

It appears from these facts that the success of the business lies in the creation of appetite among boys. Men who have formed the habit scarcely ever reform, but they, like others, will die, and unless there are recruits made to take their places the coffers will be empty, and I recommend to you that money spent to the creation of appetite will return in dollars to your tills after the habit is formed.

The father took him in his arms, carried him over to the side of the rattle and got on his knees and said, "Oh God, I would not give little Jim for all the rattlers that ever crawled over the Blue Ridge Mountains."

Listen! In a Northwest city a preacher sat at his breakfast table one Sunday morning. The door-bell rang; he answered it and there stood a little boy twelve years of age.

The preacher hurried to the jail and talked and prayed with the man. He had no knowledge of what he had done. He said: "I don't blame the law, but it breaks my heart to think that the children must be left in a cold and heartless world."

"You men now have a chance to show your manhood. Then in the name of your pure mother, in the name of your manhood, in the name of your wife and the pure, innocent children that climb up in your lap, and put their arms around your neck, in the name of all that is good and noble, fight the curse."

Rattray says: "I have been in the trenches almost continuously since the push with the exception of one day when I got caught in a gas trap preliminary to a Boche counter attack. The latter was much worse than the push itself. All that saved me from open war was my nervousness to it. The fragments going over me and the concussion knocking me down and my orderly with me. I heard one of my other men shout that the officer is wounded and he crawled a few steps toward me out of the shell gas and found I was alright. Now I am on a 'safety first' job making roads a mile behind the lines. You come in for some shelling of course but unless the first one gets you, you can usually dodge it."

Mr. Charles Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ferguson, of Utica, N.Y., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, of town, who enlisted with the United States Navy this spring, has landed in France. For some time he had acted as yeoman, or clerk on the scout cruiser, Birmingham and his parents were surprised to learn of his arrival in France.

Through the efforts of Reeve Fowlds at the Councils' Council and the co-operation of the Mayor and councillors of Campbellford, the bridge has been properly lit. On each side are three nitrogen lamps, one in the centre of each span. This is a much better arrangement than the arc light in the centre, the light being more evenly distributed along the bridge. The cost of installing is about $250, of which $200 was granted by the counties.

The sympathy of the community will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. Hore in the death of their little son, Aubrey, after a short illness. The little lad, who was nearly eight years old, was just getting better from an attack of tonsillitis and, owing to a weakness of the heart, was seized with a stroke on Friday morning and passed away on the following night. He was a bright, active boy, and his parents have universal sympathy in their loss. The funeral was held on Monday, interment being made in Trent Valley cemetery, Hastings. Services were held in the home, conducted by Rev. A. R. Sanderson. Among the floral tributes was a wreath from the Methodist Sunday School. —Herald.

Celebration at Eldorado

The glorious Twelfth of July was celebrated at Eldorado in Thompson's Grove, and although the weather was very discouraging a huge crowd assembled to do honor to their country and the glorious and immortal King William and the Battle of the Boyne.

The dinner was served by the Red Cross Society and was a good one. At one o'clock a large number of Orangemen with their respective bands had their walk, after which speeches were delivered by Rev. E. A. Sanderson, who spoke of how the Methodist clergy were willing to take up arms to fight the Hun, even if they had to wear their clerical gurb, as he claimed it was no disgrace for a minister to fight for the liberty of his country. Dr. McFarish, of the Presbyterian church spoke at length of the good work done by the Red Cross Society, under whose auspices the celebration was held. W. R. Northrup, M.P., took up the history of the German Empire and showed how the Hun had always been a turbulent, avaricious nation, grabbing a part of a country here and there wherever they walked and nobody to stop them. He claimed Frederick the Great never made a treaty but what he broke it, and from him the Kaiser still worked along those lines without anyone punishing his offences. He, the Kaiser, had always been a covetous monarch, wanting every country and public institution and claiming he was an agent of Almighty God and having his sanction to do this. Mr. Northrup also spoke of the unity which should be in Canada and not the party or politics. Probably this war would never have occurred had not the Naval Bill been kicked out of the Senate at Ottawa, and he expressed his belief that this country of ours should at once get the benefit we have to govern us in respect of politics, because not only now but after the war many great problems would be upon the hands of the Government. He also claimed that the seats in the Senate should be filled by the leaders of both Liberal and Conservative parties, and that they should select the wisest and best men irrespective of party. The chairman then asked Mr. Northrup to tell the people about the Congressional Bill, which he quite willingly did, and anyone who was at the gathering was more than pleased with the explanation. Rev. Mr. Sinclair, Presbyterian Minister of Eldorado, Rev. E. A. Smart, District Chaplain of Hastings County, and the chairman, Mr. Angus Nicholson, also spoke. Mr. Robt. J. Cook M.L.A. was unavoidably absent, but sent a letter of regret.

We noticed Rev. E. A. Sanderson, Chas. Rupert, Mr. Wright, Wm. Best and Hiram Post, all members of the Royal Orange Lodge for over fifty years, and taking the five brethren's ages they averaged 85 years apiece, which we think quite remarkable.

A cake was drawn for and won by Mr. John Miller, Councillor of Madoc Township, who very kindly donated it again to the Red Cross Society to be auctioned. A clock, donated by Mrs. Strabue, was won by Mr. Stanley Cooper.

The receipts of the day were very gratifying to the ladies of the Red Cross Society.

We also visited the celebration held at Queensboro, where there was a very large crowd and a number of lodges took part in the parade. The Orangemen of District No. 2 made up these two celebrations.

Mrs. Philip Arnold of Ottawa, has arrived in town and is staying with Mrs. Lorne Flindall.

Mrs. C. N. Barclay and Mrs. Durkin of New York, who are spending the summer at Presque Isle are in town today.

Lieut. Angus Mowat left for Kingston today, to pass before the Medical Board.

Miss Ethel Armstrong, accompanied by Miss Peggy and Master Robert Redpath left today for their camp, near Coneseon.

Mrs. R. A. Barber and Miss Alma Hicks of Oshawa, are in town today on their way to their cottage at the lake.

Trenton, July 13.—Mr. Vine of the British Chemical Co. left for New York this week to bring his wife back, he having taken a house on Bridge St. in Belleville.

Mrs. Stalker of Ottawa, is visiting friends in town.

A meeting of the Trenton Bowling Club is called for this evening in the Town Hall.

Mr. Donald Campbell of Renfrew, is in town.

The new Assembly Hall, (known as Quinte Hall) on the water front at the rear of the Hawley Block, will be open to the public shortly and no doubt will prove most popular.

Mr. E. Maybee is in Ottawa this week attending a convention of the Provincial Departmental Judges. There is a report that a shipbuilding company is looking for a location here. We hope the report proves true.

GIVES RED CROSS ALL THEN ENLISTS

San Francisco, July 10.—John Lampas, a young Greek, today gave the Red Cross his touring car, his gold watch, his bank deposit of $621 and $25 in cash. Having thus he said, disposed of all his worldly possessions, he enlisted in the army.

"That's all I have," he said, "and I'm glad to have it."

SHIPMENT OF CATTLE AND HOGS

Messrs. D. Scott and Sons this week shipped one carload of cattle to Toronto and three carloads of hogs to Montreal at $16.50 to $17.50 per cwt.

Mrs. E. A. Edkins, of Chicago has been the guest of her brother, Mr. Jas. Craighead, left on Saturday to visit relatives in Detroit.

OBITUARY

JAMES C. BALLS

The death occurred this morning of a well-known and highly respected resident of this city in the person of Mr. James Curtiss Balls, B.A., Commercial street. Mr. Balls for the past year has not been well, yet his death was very sudden and unexpected, even yesterday being down town in his car. Last night about 7.30 he complained of not feeling well, he became unconscious during the night, and at 10.30 this morning his death occurred, caused by leakage of the heart. Mr. Balls was born in Oriskany, N.Y., sixty-seven years ago and was one of the Mayflower descendants. When 18 years of age, just previous to his entering college, he suffered from a severe attack of spinal meningitis, which resulted in a total loss of hearing. Nothing daunted, however, he entered the Colorado College, Washington, and graduated with a B.A. degree. He was for years private secretary to the president of this college, following that office was Principal of the Baltimore School for the Deaf, then one of the organizers of the Pittsburg, Penn. School for the Deaf and finally last year finished a term of twenty-six years' teaching at the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The deceased was a highly educated man and one who had traveled and read much. He was the author of several poems and songs which are familiar to many. He was well known and liked by all who will regret exceedingly his sudden death.

His wife, Mrs. Sylvia Chapin Balls, is left, and to her sympathy of the whole community is extended. The deceased has one sister living, Mrs. Egan, of Omaha, Neb., also a brother, Mr. Clarence Balls, of Chicago.

ALICE EVA BATTY

The death occurred on Wednesday, July 11th, of Alice Eva Batty, aged 35 years, wife of John Batty, who resides on the Camillon Road. She had been ill for several days. She was a devoted wife and mother and her loss is mourned by all who knew her. Her husband, one son, Ralph Batty, and a brother, Mr. Edwin Batty, Rev. A. M. Hubby of Emmanuel Reformed Church, of which the deceased lady was a member, will conduct the funeral service.

ATHLETICS WON GAME

Defeated the Ponties yesterday by score of Ten to Five.

Yesterday afternoon the Athletics came out of the game with the Ponties the winners. This is the first time the Ponties have actually been beaten although they had a game given to the Athletics by a decision of the executive of the Jr. League. The Athletics came with a lineup somewhat changed. They generally led the scoring, but the Ponties several times evaded up. The seventh innings saw the great break-away, when the Athletics scored four runs, the heaviest of the day. That made the game certain. The lineup was:

Table listing Athletics team members and their positions: Catcher R. Arnott, Pitches Smith, First Base Smith, Second Base Smith, Short Stop P. Smith, Third Base Lynch, Coon, Hunter.

Score by innings: Athletics—3,1,0,1,0,4,0,2—10; Ponties—0,0,3,0,0,1,0,1—5.

TRENTON

Trenton, July 11th.—The King St. Methodist Church are having their Annual S. S. Excursion to Twelve O'Clock Point today. Mrs. W. H. Bensley went to Toronto today for a fortnight's visit with friends in that city. A large number from here intend going to Pigeon Lake this evening to attend the Wednesday night dance.

R. went to St. Olaf today. Teen-agers generally were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Ruliff Grass of Toronto, (formerly of Trenton) as she had many friends here.

NEW ENEMY FOR THE POTATO

Householders, who were building hopes on early relief from the potato famine, may suffer disappointment. A new enemy of the elusive spud, has appeared and threatens much of the crop with early destruction. Several gentlemen from the potato-growing section at the south of Huntington township have informed the Ontario that a very large black beetle has appeared in that section in large numbers and having an insatiable appetite for the growing potatoes now just beginning to form at the roots of the growing plants. The beetle burrows in the potato-hill until it reaches the root-center of the plant. Here it lays its eggs. When the eggs are hatched, the larvae feed upon the young potatoes and leave of them nothing but an outer shell. The loss already occasioned is extensive, some promising patches being already destroyed.

AN APPEAL TO BE SOON MADE FOR FURLONGS-FOR CANADIANS

Plans are under way to petition the Minister of Militia to arrange for furloughs to the Canadian boys who have spent the past three years in the trenches.

In view of what has happened it is felt that remnant of that brave body who have made, and are still making, history for our grand Dominion should be given at least three months furlough away from the sights and sounds of war to enjoy a much needed rest in their own homes and country.

A great many of the first contingent were from the Mother Land and when on furlough could visit their homes. Not so with the Canadians. Their furloughs were with comparative strangers; they missed the home touch, the home associations. To give them this would require three months, and this is the hope of the mothers. They intend to ask for it. The boys deserve it, the mothers are worthy of it in view of all the dreadful tasks the men have performed and the bravery and endurance they have displayed.

RECOMMENDED FOR LIEUTENANCY

Word has reached the city that Sergeant Thomas E. Hyland has been recommended for his commission and that when opportunity offers, he will take up the work preparatory to being granted his lieutenantcy. Sergeant Hyland has been at the front for many months and his promotion has been well earned. He has been in many of the heaviest engagements of the war.

VETERANS PROTEST AT APPOINTMENT

A protest was made at a well-attended meeting in Kingston of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association against the recommendation and appointment of John Weil for the position of turnkey at the county jail. The meeting claimed that all appointments should be offered to returned soldiers. Mr. Weil is a retired Pittsburg farmer, who resides in Kingston and began duty on July 1st. A night telegram was sent to W. D. Macpherson, Provincial Secretary, against the appointment.

CROOKSTON

Mrs. Robt. Patterson of Niagara Falls, was the guest of her sister, Nurse Ryan and also Sylvanus Patterson, her son of Niagara Falls.

We are sorry to say that James Johnson died on Saturday morning at six o'clock. We have much sympathy for the bereaved father and mother, sisters and brothers.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Sam Fargey of West Huntingdon, is not improving. Nurse Ryan was called back on Monday. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Walter Mills of Stirling, was the guest of his mother, Sunday last.

Captain Thomas Ashmore Kidd, aide-de-camp to Brig.-Gen. T. D. R. Hemming, G.O.C., has been appointed casualities officer of military district No. 3, and will assume the rank of major. The recipient went overseas with the first Canadian contingent from Valcartier as a subaltern of the now famous 2nd East-ern Ontario Battalion. He was a brother officer to the late Capt. George T. Richardson and the late Lieut. H. Stewart, who left Kingston at the same time and went into that unit.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS

Mrs. M. Mills of Crookston, hasley, to bury them there. How many received the following letter from times I think how Earl and I tried to meet each other and failed. I felt so all alone; then my Lieutenant was missing, believed to have been killed.

Dear Mother, Just a few lines to let you know I am fine. Hope you are well. I received your kind and welcome letter, and was glad to hear from you. Mother, don't worry about me, I am getting along O.K. It is a nice country, out here in England. You like it fine. Every one knows me. Well Mother, tell brother Herb to be good and take care of himself. Be good, Mother, don't fretting about me for I am looking up to One, that will care for me, that is my Saviour. If it is the will of God, I will be back some day and if not, I am just doing my duty. It would be better if all the country turned out and tried to end this awful war. Well Lillian, I will send her a present when I go on pass to Liverpool; that will be pretty soon. Mother, please tell Mrs. N. Fleming that her son, Donald, is getting along all O.K.

The sun seems a lot hotter out here and we are all burned with it. We do not drill very hard, at least, not as hard as we did in Canada. I am going to church this Sunday; that is what I do every Sunday. Tell brother, Vane, and Eliza send my love to them; tell them, in across the sea all right. Write soon as you get this, for I like to hear from all at home. Tell Emma send my love to her and to all our other friends and the most to other.

Well, I guess I have sent you all the news for this time. Good bye, hoping to hear from you soon.

from your loving son Pte. R. B. Mills, 235th Batt. C.E.F., c/o Army Post Office, London, England.

Mrs. Harvey Wallace, Glead, has received the following letter from her son, G. C. Wallace, now at Bramshott Camp. Dear Mother, I have been down to Shorncliffe, I guess poor Earl had written a good many letters home, in the old club; I saw a lot of the 39th boys names, written on the wall. I am going to send you some picture post cards of the war and also, Earl's 39th Badge and regimental colors. So with love to all, I remain your loving son G. C. Wallace, "C" Co., 21st Battalion, London, England.

the visible act. We thus gather false impressions and men live and die misunderstood. The writer is reminded of a woman, not one of pious personality, but rather of shy, diffident manners, but under whose commonplace exterior beat a heart of gold. After her death, a friend in speaking of her, said: "To know her was to love her; not to know her was to misunderstand her. How true that many live and die misunderstood."

Many lives are sundered through misunderstanding; the ties of friendship cemented by years of test and trial are often thus broken. A thoughtless word or a fancied slight with no intentional thought of harm, will sometimes cause trusted friends to doubt each other and lead to life-long separation.

Men of great ability, who move in great reforms, and on whose far-seeing vision depends the moulding of the age, are of necessity misunderstood by those of narrow vision. Men of narrow minds fail to understand those of greater intellect. As a servant girl was once heard to remark of her mistress, a woman of more than average ability, "I can't understand her."

Would not the world be better and its people happier if we endeavored to understand the hearts of others? Rudyard Kipling has fully answered this question in the following lines:

If we knew the cares and trials. Knew the efforts all in vain. And the bitter disappointment, Understood the loss and gain— Would the grim eternal roughness Seem, I wonder, just the same? Should we help; where now we hinder, Should we pity where we blame? Ah! we judge each other harshly, Knowing not life's hidden force; Knowing not the font of action Is less turbid at its source: Seeing not, amid the evil, All the golden grains of good; And we'd loved each other better If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives That surround each other's lives, See the naked heart and spirit, Know what spur the action gives, Often we would find it better: Just to judge all actions good; We should love each other better If we only understood.

Interesting Curio Exhibited Here

G. W. Sulman Secured Interesting Specimen in South America

Perhaps the most interesting of the South American countries is Peru. Not only for its wonderful Inca and Pre-Inca ruins, but also for many wonderful tribes of Indians now living there.

These tribes are practically all savages, and have many strange and weird customs. One tribe paint their body an orange color and wait out stain, while another will wear fantastic costumes. Another tribe judges beauty by the size of a piece of wood piercing the ear, another the right to chieftainship by a bean suspended from the nose. However, the most interesting tribe is one called the Huambiza, who are head hunters.

Prescott, the writer of the conquest of Peru, one of the most complete and best works on this ancient country, never mentioned this tribe, probably from the lack of knowledge for otherwise he certainly would have done so.

This tribe of Indians, as mentioned before, are head hunters and exhibit the most marvelous of their wonders in what is called the "Shrunken Head."

The Shrunken Head is, as its name denotes, "shrunken," viz.: a man's head in its natural form shrunken to the size of an orange without the loss of an expression or feature.

The hair on the head and face is still retained, as well as the eyebrows, which are visible. In fact you would be able, if you knew the savage before his death, to recognize his head in miniature.

The head is almost black, most likely from the process used in shrinking, and is hard. It is impossible to tell the method used in doing this, although it is thought that the savages first place the head on a stick and leave it for three days, then, when the bones and brains are removed, it is treated with hot stones and smoke, which has the qualities of alum, until the head is contracted.

It is said that no youth may be admitted to the caste of a warrior, with the right to marry, until he has prepared the head of an enemy. Mr. G. W. Sulman, M.P.E., who has recently returned from a trip to the south, was very fortunate while in Lima, Peru, in securing one of the few specimens known to the civilized world.

The head which Mr. Sulman has secured was one of the best possible as it is perfect in almost every detail. It is as described and has wonderful black, silky hair. Through the nose of the specimen is a cord by which the Indians led their captives before decapitating these poor victims. The ears of the specimen have large holes punched in the lobes for ear-rings similar to the Incas', but not so large, as the Incas' ear ornaments often pulled the fleshy part of the ear almost to the shoulder.

Many of the largest museums in the world are without a specimen of these heads; in fact there are only three in North America. Mr. Sulman has placed this head on view in the show window of his brother's store, Mr. C. N. Sulman, Front St., and it will no doubt prove an interesting sight.

INDIAN CHIEF'S HEAD BRINGS $710 AT SALE

Many unique examples of the pre-Inca art of Equador, gathered for more than three centuries by the Alvarado family, and consigned by Senor Don Jesus Alvarado, were dispersed at the first session of the sale which took place yesterday afternoon in the Anderson Galleries. For 156 lots sold, $2,595.50 was received.

Representatives of museums in New York, Philadelphia and Boston attended the sale and participated in the bidding. The feature was the purchase by J. D. Stoddard, of the shrunken head of the Indian Chief, Narigosa, and the uniform of the chieftain for $710, the highest figure of the session.

This head of Narigosa, famous warrior of the Huambiza Indians, was captured by the Ayall Indians, who reduced it to its present size, and held it as a great war trophy. The manner in which the reduction was made, retaining the hair and skin intact, has long been a mystery, and has baffled science.

The uniform of the Huambiza chieftain consists of a coat, head-dress and lance, and the decorations include feathers of the Guacamayo bird, monkey teeth and beads.

New York American, Mar. 22, 1917. Mr. Sulman has kindly loaned this head to his brother, Mr. Chas. N. Sulman, who is placing it in his store window, on Front Street, where everyone can see this terribly gruesome but interesting curiosity.

MOUNT ZION

What might have proven a serious accident occurred here Thursday morning. When Mr. Chas. Wannamaker was on his way to the King cheese factory with a load of milk, in going down a hill a bolt came out, allowing the tongue of the wagon to drop and frightening the horses which started to run. Mr. Wannamaker was thrown to the ground under the wagon, but fortunately was able to free himself and get from under the wagon. He sustained a few bruises and scratches about the face. Nearly all of the milk was spilled.

Mrs. Percy Way and Mrs. B. Reddick were visiting at Mr. C. Ostrander's on Friday.

Mr. W. Scott and Mrs. W. Holden of Sidney, called at Mr. Way's on Thursday evening.

The strawberry and ice cream social held here on Monday night was a decided success. Before serving the refreshments a short program was given. Miss Bell, of Foxboro, as soloist, was greatly appreciated and responded to enthusiastic enclosures. Rev. Mr. Honey, the pastor, acted as chairman.

Mrs. C. Wannamaker, who has not been well for some time, was in Kingston on Thursday, consulting Dr. Third.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY

Not Understood

Written for The Ontario by "Wayfarer"

Not understood, we move along and understood. Our paths grow wider as the seasons creep along. The year; we marvel and we wonder why. Life is life, and then we fall asleep.

Not understood, we gather false impressions. And hug them closer as the years go by. Till virtues often seem to us transgressions; And thus men rise and fall and live and die. Not understood!

Not understood! Poor souls with stunted vision. Oft measure giants with their narrow gauge. The poisoned shafts of falsehood and derision. Are oft impelled against those who mould the age. Not understood!

Not understood! The secret springs of action. Which lie beneath the surface and the show. Are disregarded; with self-satisfaction, we Judge our neighbors, and they often go. Not understood!

O God! that men would see a little clearer, Or judge less harshly where they cannot see; O God! that men would draw a little nearer. To one another,—they'd be nearer.

The world has produced and is still producing men of giant understanding and of brilliant brain—scientists, who have understood and laid bare the secrets of science; writers, who have understood thoroughly the art of expression; politicians, who have understood the most intricate workings of the machinery of government; theologians, who have delved deep in the mysteries of God; philosophers, whose words of wisdom have been a shining light to the simple; military generals, who have thoroughly understood the art of leadership; painters, who with skillful brush have pictured scenes most real—but in the long list of illustrious and capable men is there one who can fully understand the human heart? Men, versed in the lore of sages, are frequently ignorant on this subject. It is given to but few to understand the heart and character of another, the secret springs that underlie all outward acts.

There is no more interesting study than that of people, but how little it is practised, and in consequence, how many of our most ardent mis-understandings it has been said that Charles Dickens studied men; he walked about the streets of London simply to study the character of those with whom he came in contact, and word-pictures, descriptive of these people, he has reproduced for us in his many interesting books. But in this busy age, few of us take time to study and understand our fellow-men, but on the contrary, often judge them harshly without understanding the motive underlying

BOY REMANDED

This morning in police court, the fifteen year old boy accused of tampering with the C.N.O.R. switch at Thurlow station, was remanded in charge of the Children's Aid Society. It is likely that the other boys, Wilson and Sanford, will be remanded tomorrow morning for a week. Mr. Michel appears on behalf of the boys. Lt.-Col. Fenton K. C. was acting crown prosecutor this morning in the absence of Crown Attorney Carrow.

WEDDING BELLS

LAVER-LANE

Mar. 22, 1917. A kindly loaned brother, Mr. Chas. Wain, placing it in his front Street, to see this terribly resting curiosity.

"Valley Farm," Sidney, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Clara Gertrude, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester E. Lane and Oscar Frederick Laver, eldest son of Mr. Fred Laver, Norham, were married, Rev. L. M. Sharpe officiating.

PETERBORO PROTESTS

Against Newly-Arrived Russians and Poles Being Provided with Work

Upwards of fifty Russians and Poles arrived in Peterboro on Friday, and they soon will be provided with work, as there appears to be a dearth of laborers in that city and vicinity. The matter was taken up at the regular meeting of the Trades Council.

MYSTERY SOLVED

Peterboro, July 10.—The mystery of the dynamite which was found in the river near the C. P. R. bridge has been solved by the local police. It was not the work of Germans or any one with designs on the railway, but simply that of a local tamperer who thought that dumping the sticks in the river was the easiest way of getting rid of the damaged stuff.

ENJOYABLE GARDEN PARTY AT HALLOWAY

Last night a very happy and enjoyable ice cream and strawberry festival was put on at Holloway by the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church, there. Although the weather did not look propitious yet it did not discourage the people from attending.

NEIGHBORS WERE ALARMED

The tenants of Doyle's terrace, Pinnacle Street, last evening, were thrown into excitement because a man was acting in a manner to arouse them. They stated that the gentleman was pretending to be a detective. The police were called in and as a result Alfred Hoad, Pinnacle St., was taken into custody on the charge of vagrancy. He was remanded today for a week.

STRAWBERRIES WERE HIGHER

Cherries Sold Today—Eggs Dearer—Potatoes Were Very Scarce

Prices advanced on Belleville market today in some lines. Eggs were higher at 34c and 36c, the buyers paying 32c. Butter was held at 43c. Chickens sold at $1.00 each.

Potatoes were almost as scarce as hen's teeth. The price for old spuds was $3.00 per bushel. New potatoes were not very numerous.

Strawberries were scarcer, and dearer, selling generally at 15c, and some as high as 17c and 18c per box.

Cabbages and beets are getting larger. Some of today's cabbages tipped the beam at three pounds each.

Hogs are again easier, the outlook being $15 for next week. Some dressed hogs were sold this week at $23.

The grain market is unchanged. Wheat $3; oats 80c; buckwheat at $1.75

The undertakers are going to be busy around Kingston one of these days. For, whisper it not in Gath, there is going to be a wholesale massacre of Protestants in this vicinity.

Joking? Not a bit of it. It has come to our knowledge that a priest of the Archdiocese of Kingston is about to raise the standard of a "Holy War" in the very near future.

Apparently this projected assault upon Protestantism is not confined to Kingston. The Belleville "Ontario" assures us that it has been informed from several reliable sources that the Catholics of the district have for some time past been collecting arms and ammunition.
